SIX HUNDRED DELEGATES ARE PRESENTHigh Chief Ranger Darch
Presents His Report.ORGANIZATION
IS FLOURISHINGIs Progressing Numerically and Financially—Some Facts
Gleaned From Report.

The thirty-first annual meeting of the officers of the high court of Ontario of the Independent Order of Foresters opened in the city hall this morning with an attendance of delegates estimated at about four hundred.

The city hall is beautifully decorated with flags and fraternal decorations symbolical of the order, and presents a most attractive appearance.

The meeting will be presided over throughout by High Chief Ranger Fred J. Darch, of London, and will be one of the most important ever held.

Beside the questions and discussion regarding the recruitment of the rates the election will take place. The candidates in the field are numerous, and are all men high up in the order, so that the election will be most keenly contested.

The Candidates.

They are as follows:

High Chief Ranger—Robert

Foster, Hamilton.

Vice High Chief Ranger—Rev.

Dean Davis, London.

High Secretary—Dr. W. A.

Henderson, Sarnia; Harry Hamby,

London; M. J. Wigle, Essex.

High Treasurer—Frank Adams,

London; R. D. Cameron, Luck-

now; W. McAndrews, Hamilton.

High Counsellor—John Porter,

Simcoe; W. E. Fitzgerald, Watford; J. N. West, Woodstock.

High Physician—Dr. C. A.

Camackie, Dr. Dunfield, Petrolia.

High Auditor—Frank Metcalfe,

Blyth; J. W. Sheppard, Cayuga;

C. N. Greenwood, Stratford; Geo.

Brown, St. Marys; W. Sweet,

Sarnia.

Mr. Darch Will Retire.

High Chief Ranger Fred J. Darch, who has played such a prominent part in Foresters' meetings in the past will retire, notwithstanding the many requests that have been made for him to continue.

His duties as supreme chief auditor, to which position he was appointed some months ago, will, Mr. Darch thinks, occupy all the time he can give to them and his place as high chief ranger will be filled by the present vice high chief ranger, Robert Foster, of Hamilton.

Registration Booths.

Registration booths have been provided at the hotels where the visiting delegates are stopping and a large number of them have registered. Each delegate wears a handsome badge bearing the emblem of the Foresters and the inscription "Thirty-First Session, High Court of Ontario, I. O. F., London, Aug. 25, 26, 1908."

Among the delegates are a large number of ladies representing the Companion courts of Ontario. The Companion courts throughout the province are in the most flourishing condition.

This morning, following the opening address of welcome by High Chief Ranger Darch, the high court degree was conferred upon a number of the delegates who had not already received it.

Annual Report.

The annual report, which has been prepared and which was circulated among the members shows that the Foresters are in splendid shape.

High Chief Ranger Darch's report shows that in Ontario there are now four high court jurisdictions. The membership in Ontario has increased in the last thirteen years by many thousands. Western Ontario alone having now nearly two-thirds as many members as at that time were in the whole province. The high treasurer's statement shows a healthy condition of affairs. The report speaks most highly of the efforts of P. C. R., C. H. Merryfield, whose work as chief organizer of the district has been most successful.

During the year 1,545 members have been accepted in the district.

The report of W. A. Henderson, high secretary, shows that during the year the supreme court in this jurisdiction paid out $154,375.81 for mortuary benefits; for sick benefits, $25,012.97; for funeral benefits, $2,132.77; for permanent disability benefits, $14,500, and for old age benefits, $28,450, making a total altogether of $258,461.55.

High Chief's Report.

High Chief Ranger F. J. Darch's report is as follows: "To the officers and members of the High Court of Ontario, Companions and Brethren:

"I, another Forester year having come to a close it becomes the duty of those charged with the administration of its affairs to render an account Continued on Page Ten.

—Committees Named and Degrees Conferred.

Early this morning those delegates to the thirty-first annual session of the high court of the Independent Order of Foresters, who had not arrived last evening, reached the city and registration recommenced at the city hall, several hundred new names being added.

When the high court convened at 10 o'clock the auditorium of the city hall was seated by upwards of 600 delegates, including members of both subordinate and companion courts.

Officers Present.

High Chief Ranger Fred J. Darch presided, and other high court officers were present as follows:

H. J. S.—R. A. Harrington, Chatham.

H. O.—Rev. E. Jennings, Kingsville.

H. S. W.—Geo. Brown, St. Marys.

H. J. W.—Wm. McAndrew, Hamilton.

High Auditors—John H. Hamby,

London; Frank Metcalfe, Blyth.

Degrees Conferred.

Soon after calling the court together the high court degree was conferred. There were a couple of hundred delegates who had not been present at a high court meeting before and these retired when the high chief ranger instructed the high marshal, the high conductor and the chairman of the credentials committee to introduce the delegates.

This was done, and the impressive work of the high court degree was exemplified, after which the private work of the court was taken up, the first order being the naming of standing committees as follows:

YEAR IN JAIL FOR A BIGAMIST
MARRIED WEST LONDON GIRLAlthough He Already Had a Wife and Family in Scotland—
Thought His Crime Would Never Find Him Out, But the World Is Small After All.

Magistrate Love this morning made it pretty plain to George Henderson, a young Scotchman from Edinburgh, that he does not approve of a man marrying a woman in Scotland and then coming out to this country and marrying another.

Henderson admitted that he was guilty of this crime and was sentenced to one year in the Central Prison for bigamy.

A Cowardly Act.

"You have acted in a most cowardly manner," the court said to Henderson in passing sentence upon him. "Your letters to your wife show that right along you had led her to believe that you loved her, and your little children. You spoke of having them join you here as soon as you were in a position to look after them. You told this woman this, and then went deliberately and wrecked another young woman's life by marrying her. It was a cowardly act on your part."

The Crime.

Henderson, it will be remembered, came here from Edinburgh in the fall of 1906. For some time he sent money to his wife regularly. Then he wrote and told her he was leaving London as he could not make it go, and she need not expect to hear from him again. Shortly afterwards he married a well known West London lady and lived with her until his arrest in July.

The proceedings were taken on behalf of Mrs. Henderson by the Attorney-General of Ontario, and Henderson was arrested at his home by Detective Eglinton.

He admitted the charge from the start and saved the province the expense of bringing Mrs. Henderson from Scotland.

LOOKS LIKE FALL ELECTION
GOVT. FAVORS AN APPEALCabinet Gathered for Council at Capital Today and Question of Election Certain To Be Settled—Standing of Parties at Present.

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier came back to Ottawa this afternoon looking greatly benefited by his holiday. Many of the other cabinet ministers are in the city, and all the rest except Mr. Templeman will be here tomorrow to attend a meeting of council. There is no doubt the question of the election will be tentatively settled. In fact, it is settled now, as a majority of the Government favor an appeal to the country this autumn, and the chances are ten to one the appeal will be made. This is well understood by both sides, as the political activity throughout the country indicates. However, there will be no dissolution of Parliament, and no definite announcement of an election date immediately. The election will probably take place in October or November, and there is ample time still for dissolution.

TRIP FOR HARDIE.

Ottawa, Aug. 25.—The local labor unions are arranging a reception to K. Hardie, M. P., on his arrival here tomorrow. Among the events will be a moonlight trip on the river.

THE WEATHER.

TOMORROW—FINE.

FORECASTS.
Toronto, Aug. 25.—8 a.m. Light to moderate winds, mostly easterly; fine today and on Wednesday; not much change in temperature.

The first column in the above table records the temperature at 8 o'clock this morning, and the second column records the minimum temperatures during the 24 hours previous.

WEATHER NOTES.

Rain is falling heavily over the Qu'Appelle valley and in Manitoba, while elsewhere in the Western Provinces showers have been more or less general. The weather remains fine and cool from the lake region to the Atlantic.

MR. C. H. MERRYFIELD,
High Organizer of the I. O. F.WATER SERVICE TO CLEVELAND
NEXT YEAR SAYS MAYOR STEVELYHis Worship States That American Capitalists Have Been Investigating and Think It Will Pay—More Hotel Accommodation
Is Needed at the Port if Visitors Are to be Brought Over From American Cities.

There will be a steamship service between Port Stanley and Cleveland next summer.

This is the opinion of Mayor Stevely and the American capitalists who have been looking over the situation for the past few days.

An effort was made to put on such a service this year, but it was impossible owing to the stringency of the money market in the United States.

MAYOR STEVELY SPEAKS.

"I had a long chat with the men behind the scheme yesterday," said Mayor Stevely, "and all seem enthusiastic about it. They are confident that it can be managed successfully, and there is no doubt in their minds but that it would pay handsomely. The passenger end of it is certain, and they are looking at the freight side of it."

"Many inquiries were received this year about excursions, and there is no doubt that many American visitors would have been here this year had there been such a service. The only difficulty to the minds of the Clevelanders was the accommodation. The hotels will have to be enlarged at the Port to accommodate visitors."

ARE INVESTIGATING.

President Rumball, of the Southwestern Traction Company, and others interested in the project are investigating the freight side of the question, and it is probable that such a service will be profitable from a freight standpoint.

Mayor Stevely expects to hear more of it later on.

On his return he drove into his yard and his family of little children ran out to meet him and help him unhitch. Suddenly they all ran back into the house and told their mother, "Father has fallen down."

Mrs. Jones went out and found her husband lying on the ground.

Medical aid was summoned, but Mr. Jones had died instantly from heart failure.

He was about 35 years old.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Only Through Blockade
Can Castro Be PunishedWar on Venezuelans by Dutch
Out of the Question.

London, Aug. 25.—The correspondent of the Daily Telegraph at The Hague says that after discussing the Venezuelan affair with diplomats there he has arrived at the conclusion that there can be no question of war, such as advocated by those who are calling upon the Dutch Government to make forcible action, because, says the correspondent, in the first place, Venezuela has no navy worth mentioning, and in the second place, apart from the fact that the Monroe Doctrine would prevent the Dutch from landing the Dutch warships could do nothing against Venezuela's steep cliffs, and that portion of the Dutch army destined for service in the colonies is far too small to effect anything.

"On the other hand, insults to national honor are not matters for arbitration; therefore, the only course left is a blockade."

General Luard's Wife Was Murdered

London, Aug. 24.—The wife of Major-Gen. Charles Edward Luard was mysteriously murdered this afternoon in a desolate wood near Seven Oaks, which is a short distance outside London.

No trace of the murderer has been found, but the motive apparently was robbery, valuable rings having been taken from the woman's fingers.

Major-Gen. Luard is a retired officer of the Royal Engineers. He entered the army in 1857 and was executive officer in London during the Fenian disturbance of 1867. He devised the scheme for the rearmament of Gibraltar. He founded the Society of Miniature Rifle Clubs in 1901 and the Patriotic Society in 1907. In 1875 he married the youngest daughter of Thomas Hartley, of Gilfoll, Cumberland.

Support Pledged to the Strikers

Calgary, Alta., Aug. 24.—There was a big meeting of all railway labor unions at the Trades Hall Saturday to discuss the strike situation, representatives being present from the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Railway Conductors, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, Order of Railroad Telegraphers and Maintenance of Way Men. These compose the whole of the operating organizations of the C. P. R. at Calgary. Representatives of the press were not admitted, but it was learned after the meeting that every phase of the strike was discussed in a very thorough manner.

Ultimately a resolution was passed endorsing the action taken already by the organizations now on strike, and ordering necessary steps to be taken to give them proper support.

The meeting began at 8 o'clock and did not adjourn until midnight. The resolution is of a very important character. It practically pledges support of other railway unions to the strike.

Colored Man Resented the Insult

An American visitor to London has not a very good opinion of this fair city, and he declares that he is going to take the first train home to the United States.

The story is a very interesting one, and has its funny side. This morning a southerner was going along King street. He had looked a little an Canadian beverage when it was red. As a result he was very playful and felt like singing.

Coming down King street he saw a son of Ham walking along the street, and the southerner shouted:

"Get out of my way, nigger."

The colored person, who in this case happened to be rather a big one, unloosed one of his fists and tossed it violently at the Southerner. It caught him on the jaw, and the visitor scrambled up after some difficulty.

Made Complaint.

Then he started looking for a policeman. "Now, what do you think of this country," he told the officer, "You can't even call a nigger a nigger without getting punched. It ain't no crime to call him a nigger, is it. Why, then, should he hit me?"

The problem was too deep for the policeman, but he told the Southerner to keep away from the colored population.

Then he was "sore." He went into the barber shop, and started to talk loudly about the colored people.

Another One.

There happened to be one of the disciples of Joe Gans in the building at the time, and he came back with this:

"Now, see here, you; I'm colored, but I ain't no nigger. If you call me a nigger I'll jes show you how bad a man you are. Now be good."

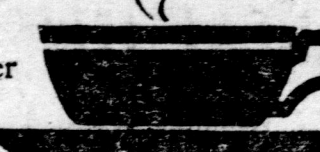

The Southerner remembered that he had been "swatted" once before and kept quiet.

"I'm going to take the next train right out of this town," he declared, "You all seem to like niggers here."

CERTAIN VICTORY BOTH CLAIM

The C. P. R. and the Strikers Issue Statements As To Battle.

West Toronto, Aug. 24.—The first serious break in the ranks of the striking mechanics took place this morning, when seven men employed in the mechanical department as car repairers, car inspectors and employees of the boiler shops applied for and were given their old positions.

"This is the beginning of the end," said a C. P. R. official. "It is getting cold out there and the men are waiting to come in and get warm."

Some of them, the official continued, would not be taken back, as some of the men recently taken on are doing good work and will not be discharged to make room for the strikers. A rumor was spread here today that the company would shortly call back the strikers and leave the question of wages to be settled by subsequent arbitration. No official confirmation of this, however, could be obtained.

The official's statement handed out by the strikers today announces that "another bluff is to be sprung by the C. P. R. in the near future. Clearance papers are now being made out for each man, and will likely be forwarded in a few days in the hope that the men will stampede back to work rather than be struck off the roll of employees."

"Indications point to a speedy collapse of the train service," the bulletin adds. "A shipper has reported that the company today that he had been five days and six nights going from Sudbury to Winnipeg with a carload of horses, and that he was unable to get any water for the horses except on one occasion during the entire time. Passenger trains are being run from North Bay to Winnipeg without being iced, oiled, inspected or watered," says the report.

C. P. R. officials are saying nothing. Those at the yards here are guarded by a line of detectives, and when they come out at night they are dumb on matters relating to the strike.

The strikers here claim that they are gradually obtaining control of the situation. Fifty men, they say, quit work on Saturday. They complained of the food, the beds, the work and the imprisonment at the yards.

THRESHERS IN RUSSIA

American Manufacturers Are Under-selling the Canadian Machines.

London, Aug. 24.—Consul Medhurst states that four American agricultural machine makers have established a combine at Rostov, on the Don. If Canada is to maintain the slight trade hold obtained she must reduce prices, which are from 2 to 5 per cent higher than her competitors, and also display considerable energy.

OUT OF BUSINESS

Hamilton Brokerage Firm Unable to Meet its Obligations.

Hamilton, Aug. 24.—Meadows, Williams & Co., stockbrokers, with headquarters at Buffalo, have gone out of business. The firm is said to be an agent for the well-known house of Post & Flag, New York. Some years ago it started an agency in Hamilton, and is said to have done considerable business. Local speculators could hardly believe their eyes when on going to the local office this morning they found the door locked and the following notice posted:

"Buffalo, Aug. 24.—The firm of Meadows, Williams & Co. is unable to meet its obligations and has been compelled to suspend. (Signed) Meadows, Williams & Co."

Philip R. Bowdley, the local manager, is out of the city today, and no statement could be secured as to how much local speculators will suffer. It is not known how many agencies the firm had in Ontario.

CONSERVATIVES NAME METCALFE MAN

Mr. Robert McLachlan to Run for Dominion House.

Glencoe, Aug. 24.—West Middlesex Conservatives today chose Mr. Robert McLachlan of Metcalfe to contest the seat for the Commons. There were a large number of names put forward, and considerable bad feeling kindled in consequence. Names proposed were Messrs. Mark Walker, Moss; Isaac Walker, Woodgreen; A. B. MacKellar, Moss; Neil Galbraith, Glencoe; D. G. Donaldson, Caradoc; Dr. Roome, London; Hume Elliott, London; Dr. Woods, Mount Brydges; Mayor James Cameron, Strathroy; A. J. McCreary, Mount Elgin; George Lewis, Napier; Robert Lucas, Caradoc, and Major Beattie, London.

Resolutions of confidence in Mr. Borden and Sir James Whitney were passed.

Short speeches were delivered by Mayor Cameron, of Strathroy; S. J. McCreary, of Glencoe; Major Beattie and Hume Elliott, of London. The meeting closed with hearty cheers for the King, the Conservative leaders and the candidate.

GERMAN'S DEATH.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—Coroner J. Milton Cotton opened an inquest at the morgue today into the death of Jas. BITTEN BY MAD DOG

Son of Rev. Mr. McDiarmid Taken to the Pasteur Institute.

Hamilton, Aug. 24.—Hubert McDiarmid, oldest son of Rev. Hugh McDiarmid, pastor of Herkimer Baptist Church, was rushed to New York on Friday last and placed in the Pasteur Institute as a precaution against hydrophobia. The little lad, who is only 2 years of age, was at Villa Nova, county of Norfolk, last week, where Rev. and Mrs. McDiarmid were spending their holidays with Mrs. McDiarmid's parents. While there a dog which had developed the first stage of the rabies, attacked and bit the child. On Friday Mr. McDiarmid left for New York with Hubert and had him under treatment at the Pasteur Institute the next day. No symptoms of trouble have developed in the boy, and it is not thought there is any cause for alarm, but every possible precaution has been and is being taken.

Mr. and Mrs. McDiarmid have the deepest sympathy of the people of the Herkimer Street Church, and of friends throughout the city, during their period of anxiety.

EVELYN THAW NOT BROKE

Has Money and Wants to Buy Country House.

New York, Aug. 24.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is not suffering from the hard financial condition that is alleged to have driven her husband into bankruptcy. She was in a real estate office on Madison avenue yesterday hunting for a "nice country place," as she put it. She wore a gown of royal purple, a big-brimmed hat with a mass of black feathers, high-heeled, low-cut shoes, which showed stockings to match her gown.

"I would like a little house on the Hudson," she said, "somewhere near Nordica's place. I may want to try my voice."

While in the real estate office she mailed in a special delivery envelope $10 in bills to a Pittsburgh address.

RUSS MUTINEERS COMING

Men From Kiaz Potemkin for Canada—Labrador Coast Unlighted.

London, Aug. 24.—A dispatch from Bucharest says that thirty of the crew of the Russian warship Kiaz Potemkin, which mutined and took refuge in Roumania, have sailed for Canada. Having to the Labrador coast moves the Westminister Gazette to demand the establishment of meteorological stations for the purpose of warning fishermen of a coming storm. The Gazette complains of the unlighted state of the coast.

MAY CHEAPEN PRINTING

Austrian Invention Prepares a Matrix Ready for the Stereotype.

London, Aug. 25.—The Vienna correspondent of the Chronicle describes the invention of a Viennese journalist as likely to revolutionize newspaper and book printing.

The machine is similar to a type-writer, and is worked in a similar manner. It produces a matrix ready for the stereotype. The matrix can be made from two inches to six feet wide. From 70 to 80 words per minute can be easily printed.

It is said that the machine will reduce the cost of printing 90 per cent.

DENISON PROBING

Wants to Get to the Bottom of the Knox Leslie Muddle.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—Preliminary hearing in the case of J. Knox Leslie charged with theft from the National Industrial Exhibition, of which he was treasurer, was again continued before Police Magistrate Denison today. Mr. Denison evinced a great determination to probe matters to the bottom and particularly examined witnesses as to what pressure was brought to bear on Mrs. Leslie to make her mortgage properties to meet her husband's shortness.

May Ask the Citizens to Subscribe to Entertain the Sheffield Choir

The City Is Short of Money, But London Wants the Distinguished Visitors.

The proposed trip of the Sheffield choir to London was discussed at a meeting of the manufacturers' and reception committee last night. The consensus of opinion was that it would not be advisable for the council to entertain the choir owing to the many demands on the funds of the city at the present time.

A conference will be held between Mayor Stevely, Ald. Ferguson and Mr. John Fringle, who brought the matter to the attention of the council, to see if a reception cannot be arranged by subscription.

Ald. Ferguson, in bringing the matter before the committee, pointed out that it would be a distinguished honor to London to have the choir visit the city. It would be an advertisement of much greater value than the amount of money that would be spent on it.

Personally, he was very much in favor of the visit. However, there were many demands upon the funds at the present time, and he thought that the council could not take up the matter under the present circumstances.

Ald. Gerry's Views.

Ald. Gerry was of the same opinion. The council would have to deal generously with the families of the victims of the Westman fire, and there were other very pressing needs that must be met. The visit of the choir would be a good thing, and would, no doubt, extensively advertise the city in England. However, he could not see his way clear to advocate the expenditure of $500 on entertaining the choir under the present circumstances.

Private Subscription.

Ald. Saunders suggested that a private subscription be taken up to entertain the choir. He thought that 50 businessmen of the city could give $10 each towards a fund for the entertainment of the visitors, and that would be sufficient to entertain the choir. He thought that they would be glad to do this. The city could not afford to expend much money on entertaining the choir under the present circumstances.

Strongly Favored a Visit.

Ex-Ald. Forristal was strongly in favor of the choir coming to London. He favored the idea of a subscription, and he was satisfied that there would be a large number willing to subscribe. He was not in favor of the city assuming the responsibility under the circumstances, but thought it a pity if some arrangements could not be made to have the choir come to London.

Mayor Stevely.

Mayor Stevely was also of the same opinion. He had discussed the entertainment of the choir with some prominent ladies of the city, and it was thought that they could be entertained by subscription quite easily. His wish was also of the opinion that a subscription would readily be made by many of the leading citizens of London to have the choir here. It would be a splendid advertisement for the city.

It was decided to ask Mayor Stevely and Ald. Ferguson to confer with Mr. John Fringle, relative to the subscription plan and report.

No Steamship Service.

The committee was informed that owing to the stringency of the money market on the other side, it was impossible to inaugurate the steamship service between Cleveland and Port Stanley as was anticipated.

Mayor Stevely was satisfied that such a service would be put on very shortly, probably next year. He had a conversation with a number of American capitalists, who had the matter under discussion, and they were of the opinion that such a scheme would go.

An English Industry.

Richard Schofield, of Leeds, Eng., wrote saying that he had decided to come to Canada to start a plant for the manufacture of brick manufacturing machinery, and asked what inducements London could offer. City Clerk Baker was instructed to write and set forth the attractions of London as a business center.

Those present were Ald. Ferguson (chairman), Ald. Gerry, Ald. Saunders, ex-Ald. John Forristal, Assessment Commissioner Grant and Secretary Baker.

Personal Mention

Willie Bedgood is visiting friends in the F. H. C. at Port Stanley.

Detective Thomas Nickle arrived home today, after having a two-weeks' vacation.

The boys of the F. H. C., consisting of G. Nott, P. Love and H. Granger, are spending jolly days at Hill Crest, Port Stanley.

Daisy M. Austin, who has been visiting her uncle, R. M. Morgan, of Kerwood, Ont., for the past three weeks, has returned to her home on English street.

Mrs. Galbraith has returned from a six weeks' visit to Kingston, Gananoque and the Thousand Islands.

Mr. W. B. Major, of the Needles, California, who has been visiting his mother at 209 Clarence street, returns to his home tonight, accompanied by his wife and daughter. Mr. Major left here in 1889 and has prospered in the southern climes. He is now a conductor on the Santa Fe Railroad. It is his intention to spend two weeks in Colorado on the way home.

ST. ANN'S PROTEST.

Montreal, Aug. 24.—Preliminary objections by Dennis Tensley to the petition of M. J. Walsh against his election in St. Ann's provincial constituency, were set aside this morning. This gives Walsh the right to go on with the protest.

A LONE BANDIT HOLDS UP TOURISTS

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 24.—Information is received at the Northern Pacific Railroad headquarters here that a lone highwayman today held up seven coaches of tourists in Yellowstone Park and compelled them to turn over their valuables to him. The hold-up took place between Old Faithful Inn and Yellowstone Inn, and the robber, after securing his booty, took four horses and with them started in the direction of Jacksonville country. The desperado was masked and was about 50 years old.

There are four troops of United States cavalry in the park, and a portion of the troops have been ordered to scour the country for the bandit.

Reduced Rates to Toronto.

Via Grand Trunk Railway System, on account of Canadian National Exhibition. TEN SOLDIERS ILL.

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—Ten soldiers of the military camp at Petawawa are ill at the cottage hospital, Pembroke, with typhoid fever.

THE CATTLE EMBARGO.

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—Mr. W. Henderson, one of the Scottish agricultural commissioners now here, says the present is an opportune time to press for the removal of the British cattle embargo. He says the cabinet are favorable in England, but that the stumbling block is the Irish party.

BABY HAD DIARRHOEA FOR SEVEN WEEKS

Thousands of infants die annually who could be saved by the timely use of Dr. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY.

There can be no doubt about it, sixty-three years experience has proved this sterling remedy to be the best for Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Colic, Cramps, Cholera Infantum, Cholera Morbus, Summer Complaint, and all bowel troubles in both children and adults.

Many of the imitations sold are positively dangerous, as they often check the diarrhoea too suddenly and cause inflammation.

Always insist on the genuine Dr. FOWLER'S. Sold at all medicine dealers at 25 cents a bottle.

Mrs. A. B. De Marchand, Bath, N.B., writes: "My baby was troubled with Diarrhoea for nearly seven weeks. I tried three different doctors, but none of them could do her any good. I was advised to try Dr. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY, and less than half a bottle cured her."

Manufactured by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

A CENTURY OF PEACE.

The Governor-General suggests a celebration in 1914 of the completion of 100 years of peace between the United States and Canada.

It is a fact unique in history that two countries, whose frontiers meet for thousands of miles, should have enjoyed unbroken pacific relations for a century. This is the more remarkable as there have been various causes of friction, and incessant irritation, arising mainly from this very contiguity. Undoubtedly a beneficent influence has been the agreement for the limitation of armaments on the great lakes. It was a happy sequel of the war of 1812-13. The proposal emanated from the United States, and was accepted in a letter (April, 1817), from Sir Charles Bagot, British minister plenipotentiary, to Mr. Rush, acting secretary of state for the United States. Hence the name, the Rush-Bagot treaty. It limited the naval forces to one vessel of 100 tons on Lake Ontario, and two vessels of similar size on the upper lakes.

The absence of reminders of international antagonism, such as warships on the lakes and forts on the frontier, has been an object lesson to the whole world. In periods of ill-feeling, as during the Trent affair, the existence of armaments along the border would have fostered the spirit of belligerency and been an incentive to acts of rashness, which might have precipitated hostilities.

The Oregon, Maine and Alaska boundary disputes, the Trent affair, the Fenian raid, the Venezuela message, the Bering Sea question, the fisheries, the joint use of canals and waterways—most of these matters have held the germs of war. We on this side of the line feel that we have not always received justice, but today the field is almost cleared of disputed issues, and the growth of mutual good-will is a guarantee that future differences will be adjusted amicably. This friendliness will be stimulated by such an event as the Governor-General proposes.

U. S. GRAIN PORTS SIDE-TRACKED.

The diversion of the export grain trade from the great United States ports to the St. Lawrence route, via Montreal, is still subject of discussion across the border.

During June and July last the exports of wheat from the Canadian port to various points of Europe amounted to 7,901,262 bushels, while from the five chief Atlantic ports of the United States the combined shipments totaled 7,585,281 bushels. Commenting on these figures the Baltimore American says:

"That is surely capturing the export wheat traffic with a vengeance. The discouraging phase of the situation consists in the fact that grain can be carried by the all-water haul at a figure which would be ruinous to the railroads delivering to United States points if they dropped to it."

The American finds some comfort in the fact that the loss sustained by Baltimore in the export wheat trade is less proportionately than that of New York. The reason given for this is that Baltimore taps a wheat zone that lies far enough south of the wheat region to render the water route seaward less easily available. A big wheat surplus is annually grown by Kansas and Missouri, and geographically Baltimore is in a much better position relative to the more southerly wheat area than any more northerly Atlantic port.

Further light on the situation is thrown by the New York Commercial, which, in a recent issue, said:

"For nearly a whole month prior to last week not one bushel of grain was shipped from Boston to a foreign port, and the limited shipments in the closing days of July were due directly to the overflow of grain receipts at Montreal for foreign shipment. Every Atlantic city herebefore and commonly accounted a grain port, is suffering in its export trade as Boston is, and from the same cause—the lower rail rates to Montreal from the grain centres of the west. There has not been a bushel of grain shipped from New York to London in four months," said P. A. S. Franklin, vice-president of the International Mercantile Marine, in commenting on the local situation yesterday."

It is not surprising, therefore, to find trans-Atlantic steamship companies maintaining a freight service from New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Baltimore, again appealing to the Transatlantic Association for relief. They point out that steamships have been withdrawn from those United States ports on account of their inability to get cargoes, while Montreal is not only leading the regular tonnage, but the favorable grain rates to that port are also attracting tramp steamers in addition to the regular line.

While not asking that the lower Montreal rail rate be equalled for United States seaports, the companies making the appeal suggest that some moderate concessions be made which will enable the United States ports, by the expert use of banking and other facilities, to get a share at least of the business.

The railroad charges from the interior grain centres to the seaboard are not, however, wholly responsible for the state of affairs complained of. At a recent conference of leading New York business men resolutions were adopted calling for action that would cause the reopening of the closed New York State canals; for the pushing to completion of the new barge canal and all other waterways; for the improvement of New York City's terminal facilities; for the cheap and convenient handling, storage and transportation of freight; for the reduction of port charges to a minimum; for the removal of exactions and annoyances, and generally for placing the city and state in a position where they will be on a parity with other communities in the competition for the world's commerce. As the Winnipeg Free Press says, our neighbors are beginning to realize "that they must compete largely through canals, and that our route has the great advantage, in addition to all others, of shortening the distance to be traversed across the Atlantic."

THE DAYLIGHT SAVING BILL.

Although the measure known as the daylight saving bill did not finally pass the House of Commons at the recent session of the British Parliament, its promoters are still hopeful that it will sooner or later become a law of the land. The progress thus far made has encouraged this expectation. After passing the second reading the bill was referred to a select committee of the House, which committee not only agreed with the principle of the measure, but recommended than an alteration of one hour in the time of the United Kingdom be made in April and September. The Government, believing the matter to be one of too great importance for hasty action, did not allow the bill to go to a third reading, but referred it to the Board of Trade for consideration. That body is now making an official inquiry, and it is expected its report will be ready for the cabinet in time for the reassembling of Parliament in the autumn.

The object of the framers of the bill, as has been explained in The Advertiser, is to obtain the use of 80 minutes more daylight each day for several months in the year by advancing the clock twenty minutes on each of the first four Sundays in September. This alteration, it is contended, would utilize morning air and daylight, and enable all to spend an additional hour and twenty minutes of their leisure out-of-doors at the end of the day during certain of the spring, summer and autumn months. It is urged that this would materially increase the health, happiness and moral well-being of every individual, and more especially of workers in large towns, who, being engaged until late in the day, at present get little time for open-air recreation. Another argument is that the change would mean a vast saving in artificial illumination.

In its report the select committee declared that the object sought would benefit the community if it could be generally attained, and that the weight of evidence submitted agrees with and supports this view, though there was divergence of opinion as to the best mode of accomplishing it. The paramount advantage of the passage of the bill, in the view of the committee, would be the moving of the usual hours of work and leisure nearer to sunrise; the promotion of the greater use of daylight for recreative purposes of all kinds; the lessening of the use of licensed houses; the facilitation of the training of the territorial forces; the benefitting of the physique, general health and welfare of all classes of the community, and the reduction of the industrial, commercial and domestic expenditure on artificial light. For the sake of simplicity and general public convenience, however, the committee believes that a single alteration of one hour in April, and a similar alteration of one hour in September, is the best made of attaining the object of the bill.

The principle of the bill is supported by leading chambers of commerce, borough councils, railway companies, and other large industrial corporations and educational bodies.

THOSE FOOL QUESTIONS.

[Illustrated Bits.]
"Why, my boy! Did you fall in that open coal hole?"
"No; course not. I wuz in there, an' they built a pavement over me."

FAITH IN ORATORY.

[Judge.]
"I suppose, Uncle Jim, you remember a good deal about the politics of the early days?"

"Well, I never tuk much int'rest in politics, but I kin recollect when John C. Fremont was 'lected president."

"Fremont! Why, Fremont was never elected."

"He wunt't? Well, now, that gits me. I heard a leavin' speaker talk the night 'fore 'lection, an' he said if John C. Fremont wunt't 'lected the country would fall to ruin an' everybody would have to shut up shop. Course, I didn't take the papers; but, noticin' that things went on 'bout same as before, I calculated John C. wunt't be 'lected? Well, y'jinks! That gits me!"

USED TO IT.

[Exchange.]
Farmer's Wife: A motorist whose machine has struck a fence and thrown him forty feet into the yard—Did you have an accident?
Motorist (picking himself up)—Bless you, no; that's the way I always stop.

FATHER HAD BEEN THERE.

[Army and Navy Life.]
Lieut. Jones—Sir, I'd like permission to marry your daughter.
Capt. Knowey—Humph! How do you propose to support her?

Lieut. Jones—On my pay, sir. You married when you were a lieutenant, did you not?
Capt. Knowey—Yes, that's what I did, and I lived her father, but you've got to go some if you think you're going to live on me!

MUST NOT SMOKE IN THEATRE.

[Sports of the Times.]
Paul Mounet appeared at Havre recently, as the Missionary Bishop in "Le Duel," which we saw in New York last year, with Eben Plympton and Otis Skinner. As he lighted a cigar at the wings an officer of the fire brigade informed him that he must not smoke in the theatre.

"But it is in the play," explained Mounet; "I am smoking as I go on, and then I throw my cigar on the stage." "Very well," replied the officer. So M. Mounet made his entire act following him with two firemen, one with a bucket of water and the other with a huge sponge. The audience, appreciating the situation, roared and applauded with delight, and M. Mounet carefully deposited his cigar in the bucket and wiped his fingers on the sponge before proceeding with the dialogue. They enforce the regulations against theatre fires in France.

HER VERSATILE PEN.

[Cleveland Plaindealer.]
"She has a very versatile pen."
"Yes, I've seen her using it for pulling out basting threads and manuring her nails."

TASTE IN MUSIC.

[Vienna Neue Welt.]
Snobishness is on the wane. We find hundreds of classical dilettanti and lovers of Wagner who are not ashamed of appreciating the light music of Strauss. This is quite human and reasonable.

A "GREETING" DEFINED.

[Tit-Bits.]
A neighbor called to sympathize with an old woman whose husband had been carried to the churchyard the day before. He found her sitting in a rocking chair, with a good appetite. She looked up and saw him standing uncertain in the doorway. "Well be wunnerful! I'm nas greetin'!" (crying), she remarked, going on with her meal; "but I hev been greetin', and I'm gawn to greet again as soon's I've suppit this drapple o' milk parritch."

TOO MUCH SUCCESS.

[North American Review.]
Too much success is that which is gained by the sacrifice of something worth more than itself. The great objection to it, outside of its own unreasonableness, is that it disturbs the balance of things. It is unstable, impermanent, the exploit of imperfectly civilized people, and ending in itself the seeds of its own dissolution.

AN INCH OF RAIN.

[Philadelphia Bulletin.]
The rain fell in buckets, the thunder rumbled terribly, and the lightning drew zigzag lines of bright gold upon the violet sky.
"So you, too, don't know what an inch of rain is exactly," said the weather clerk, as he looked at his rain measuring instrument. "Very few people do, it seems. I'll explain it to you."
"An acre is 6,272,640 square inches. An inch of water on an acre is therefore 6,272,640 cubic inches. That amount, at 27 cubic inches to the gallon, equals 229,000 gallons, or 23,000 pounds, or 100 tons.
"An inch of rain is, in other words, rain falling at the rate of 100 tons to the acre."

HAVING HIS OWN WAY.

[Washington Star.]
"So you have decided to give the people a constitution?"
"Yes," answered the eastern autocrat; "I don't mind a constitution. But you can wager that I'll be on hand when the bylaws and the amendments are discussed."

OBEDIENCE.

[Washington Star.]
"Leonidas," said Mr. Meekton's wife, "will you mind the baby for awhile?"
"Certainly," Henryetta, said Mr. Meekton, body else around the house. I don't see why I should make any exception of the baby."

T'WAS EVER THUS.

[Chicago News.]
This would be a better world if the average citizen took as intelligent an interest in politics as he does in baseball.

August Canada-West.

One of the features of the August number of Canada-West is a strong article by William Whyte, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, on "Regulating the Common Carrier," dealing with the work of the railway commission of Canada. Mr. Whyte's paper shows that while the railway act clothed the commission with powers far greater than those of the interstate commerce commission in the United States, it was passed with the approval of the railways themselves, and has given to Canada more railway mileage per capita of population than any other country on the globe can show.

Aside from this and other serious articles in this August number, the fiction and lighter reading make it one of the most interesting magazine issues of the year.

Forrest Crissey, of the Saturday Evening Post, leads off with a story of Toronto Life, called "The Shop of the Six Heads," and deals delightfully with the experiences of a group of "near artists" in the field of aesthetic handicrafts. Arthur M. Dickenson contributes a fine tale of love and brave adventure at a trading post in the far north. "The Pot and the Kettle" is a clever middle-class comedy sketch by Hubert McBean Johnston. There is an Indian story by Cy Worman; another series of Samuel Ellsworth Kiser's "Office Boy" sonnets, with pictures by Florence Pretz, the creator of "Billikin"; some excellent verse by Agnes Lockhart Hughes; and the regular departments filled with good bits and bright comment. The illustrations in this number are lavish and beautiful. The cover designs by H. B. Lachman is a fine, spirited picture, and the frontispiece in colors by Edith Cary Farrell is good in subject and artistic in execution.

HEADACHES ARE DANGER SIGNALS

They Tell Us Plainly That Something Is Wrong Inside.

There are tablets and powders that will stop a headache promptly—but removing a danger signal does not take away the danger.

In nearly every case a headache—of whatever kind—is a symptom of poisoned blood, due to bowels, kidneys and skin failing to thoroughly remove indigestible food and waste, worn-out tissue from the body. Then digestion is poor, causing sick headaches, or uric acid is formed and deposited on the nerves, causing neuralgia.

Not only the danger signal, but the danger itself as well, is quickly removed by "Fruit-a-tives." "Fruit-a-tives" are tablets made of the combined juices of oranges, apples, figs and prunes, containing all their medicinal properties, concentrated and intensified. They cause the liver to secrete more bile, which moves the bowels freely and regularly, and cures the most obstinate cases of constipation. They stir up kidneys and skin to throw off all the urea, or dead tissue, which has been poisoning the system. They sweeten the stomach, improve digestion and take up the whole body. The headaches disappear—because the source is removed. 50c a box—6 for $2.50. Trial size, 25c. Fruit-a-tives, Limited, Ottawa.

PORT YACHTSMEN WENT TO SLEEP

They Were Drifting "Out to Sea" When Picked Up by Launch Lakeside.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Port Stanley, Aug. 24.—A prominent citizen and two of his friends, who are summering at Erie Rest, went for a sail on the placid waters of Erie yesterday afternoon. Before setting out, however, the trio had imbibed of something stronger than tea, and as a result they soon became drowsy, and it was not long before they were in slumberland. The sailboat drifted aimlessly about until the expansion launch Lakeside went to investigate matters. Policeman Campbell was summoned, as it was deemed absolutely necessary to have the already overworked officer take a hand in the affair. The constable only conducted the unfortunate men to their homes, where they were sobered up.

The McClary family, of London, representing four generations, spent Sunday at the White House, Hill Crest.

Recent registrations at Hill Crest are: T. H. Hutchison, W. J. Kent, Ted Banks, Dr. Homer Black, London; Clara Linke, Hamilton; Kathleen Vrooman, Walkerville, and K. Sutherland, St. Thomas.

Mrs. St. Clair Leitch, St. Thomas, is the hostess of a private children's dance at the clubhouse, Hill Crest, tonight.

Wm. Stanton's pet dog was run over by an automobile on Saturday afternoon.

Great preparations are being made for the fancy dress ball to be held at Hill Crest on Wednesday evening. The management also announce a special old folks' dance for Friday next, after which a German luncheon will be served.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Simson, London, are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Henderson at Valley View, Erie Rest.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cowley, London, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Mills, at Detroit Cottage, Erie Rest.

The cottagers on Erie Rest held a monster corn roast on Saturday evening, in celebration of the birthday of Mrs. Pratt, of Wheeling, W. Va., who is summering at Detroit Cottage.

Miss Beatrice Rowe, Erie Rest, London, spent the week-end at the Bungalow, Erie Rest.

Miss Florence Burdon, of London, returned home today, after having spent the last two weeks with her friend, Miss Beatrice Rowe, Erie Rest.

The Misses Hattie and Lizzie Stoney, of Hill Crest, spent Sunday with relatives in Chatham.

Miss Clara Goodhue, chief saleslady of C. Taylor & Co., is in St. Thomas. O. Oatman, of the P. M., has resigned his position here, and left for St. Thomas, where he will in future reside.

Miss Jean McSherry, of Ingersoll, who has been summering here, is spending the week-end with relatives in Iona.

Hershall Goodhue and Arthur Stogey, both of this village, accompanied by Glen Rowley, of St. Thomas, yesterday started on a voyage to Port Talbot in a gasoline launch. When they had proceeded but a mile and a half the gasoline tank ran low. The young men were forced to row back to the village. They then hired Fred Pollock's mule, thinking it more advisable to take the land route than trust themselves to the whims of a fickle gasoline boat.

Jack Farrell and family, of St. Thomas, with Miss Brady, of Chicago, spent Sunday at Fern Cliff Cottage, Invererie Heights. Miss Brady leaves on Tuesday for a trip up the lakes and around Georgian Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Beltz, of London, are visiting their sisters, the Misses Hanson, at Grantham Cottage, Erie Rest.

The Hotel Invererie was filled from cellar to garret on Sunday. Local Manager Stacey reports that it is altogether probable that Invererie will remain open till the end of September.

Chester Smith, son of E. A. Smith, of St. Thomas, has accepted a position on the launch Lakeside.

The steamer City of Ottawa arrived yesterday with a large cargo of freight for London from Montreal. She had a large number of tourists on board.

The pen is mightier than the sword when it comes to making an obese bank balance look like 30 cents.

Retail Grocers' Picnic at Springbank Wednesday Will Be Last Half Holiday

Big Time Is Looked For at the Summer Park—the Programme.

The final arrangements for the retail grocers' annual picnic to be held at Springbank on Wednesday afternoon have been completed, and all that is now needed to make the outing the biggest success ever is favorable weather.

In former years the grocers have held the biggest picnic of the season, and this year will be no exception. A trophy ball game will be played in the afternoon between a team selected from the grocers of the city north of Dundas street and those from the south. They will line up as follows:

North Team—O. Falkner, c.; O. Boug, p.; C. Hayes, lb.; R. Donohue, 2b.; E. Shaw, s.; H. Bird, 3b.; R. Morgan, l. f.; H. Ranahan, c. f.; C. Leith, r. f. South Team—C. McLeod, and J. Tupholme, c.; Fred Parker, T. H.

James and J. Nixon, pitchers; N. McLeod, lb.; A. O'Dell, 2b.; B. Treblcock, 3b.; Jack Map, s. s.; T. Vincent, l. f.; Frank Ball, r. f.; A. Younge, c. f.

In addition there will be a boxing match between Dick Woods and Chaney Smith. An excellent sports programme has been prepared.

Last Half Holiday.

The weekly half holiday season closes with tomorrow's outing, and it is expected that there will be a big turnout to take advantage of it.

A meeting of the programme committee was held last evening and the following programme verified:

Boys' race, 100 yards, under 10; girls' race, 75 yards, under 10; ladies' race, 100 yards; Salada tea race, 100 yards (grocery drivers, married); grocery drivers, single, 100 yards; Red Rose tea race, 75 yards (for married ladies); clerks' race, 100 yards; Com. throwing baseball (for ladies, 18 years or over); flag race, for men, 100 yards; three-legged race, 100 yards (for lady and gent); grocers' race, bosses, 100 yards; lady grocery clerks, 75 yards; sack race, 100 yards; travellers' race, 100 yards; tug-of-war, north against south; boxing in barrels; watermelon contest; baby show; best comic costume; committee race; baseball match North vs. South; fat man's race, over 200 pounds.

NEW IMMIGRATION AGENT.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—The new office of Immigration Inspector for the Ontario Government at London, England, has been filled by the appointment of Neville B. Colcock, former vice-consul for the United States at Niagara Falls. He will leave Montreal on Sept. 4, and expects to meet Sir James Whitney and Mr. Monteith in London, where he will learn what policy they wish to have pursued in the matter of immigration. Mr. Colcock was for many years editor of the Welland Telegraph and as he has acted both as customs inspector and broker his knowledge of commercial affairs will stand him in good stead.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

The Wings of the Morning

BY LOUIS TRACY.

CHAPTER IX.

The Secret of the Cave.

The sailor went after those monkeys in a mood of relentless severity. Thus far, the regular denizens of Rainbow Island had dwelt together in peace and mutual goodwill, but each diminutive wou-wou must be taught to pull any strings he found tied prominently to trees or stakes. As a preliminary essay, Jenks resolved to try force combined with artifice. Failing complete success, he would endeavor to kill every monkey in the place, though he had in full measure the inherent dislike of Anglo-Indians to the slaying of the tree-people.

This, then, is what he did. After filling a biscuit tin with good-sized pebbles, he donned a Dyak hat, blouse, and belt, rubbed earth over his face and hands, and proceeded to pelt the wou-wous mercilessly. For more than an hour he made their lives miserable, and at the mere sight of him they fled, shrieking and gurgling like a thousand water-bottles. Finally he constructed several Dyak scarecrows and erected one to guard each of his alarm-guns. The device was thoroughly effective. Thenceforward, when some adventurous monkey—winging with hands or tail among the treetops in the morning search for appetizing nut or luscious plantain—saw one of those fearsome bogies, he raised such a hubbub that all his companions scampered hastily from the confines of the wood to the inner fastnesses.

In contriving these same scarecrows—which, by the way, he had vaguely intended at first to erect on the beach in order to frighten the invaders and induce them to fire a warning volley—the sailor paid closer heed to the spoils gathered from the fallen. One, at least, of the belts was made of human hair, and some among its long strands could have come only from the flaxen-haired head of a European child. This fact, though ghastly enough, confirmed him in his theory that it was impossible to think of tempering with these human fiends. Unhappily such savage virtues as they possess do not include clemency to the weak or hospitality to defenceless strangers. There was nothing for it but a fight to the finish, with the law of the jungle to decide the terms of conquest.

That morning, of course, he had not been able to visit Summit Rock until after his cautious survey of the island. Once there, however, he noticed that the gale two nights earlier had loosened two of the supports of his sky sign. It was not a difficult or a long job to repair the damage. With the invaluable axe he cut several wedges and soon made all secure.

Now, during each of the two daily examinations of the horizon, which he never omitted, he minutely scrutinized the sea between Rainbow Island and the distant group. It was, perhaps, a needless precaution. The Dyaks would come at night. With a favorable wind they need not set sail until dusk, and their fleet sampans would sever the intervening fifty miles in five hours.

He could not be positive that they were actual inhabitants of the islands to the south. The China Sea swarms with wandering pirates, and the tribe whose animosity he had earned might be equally noxious to some peaceable fishing community on the coast. Again and again he debated the advisability of constructing a seaworthy raft and endeavoring to make the passage. But this would be risky all on a frightful uncertainty, and the accidental discovery of the Eagle's Nest had given him new hope. Here he could make a determined and prolonged stand, and in the end help must come. So he dismissed the navigation project, and devoted himself wholly to the perfecting of the natural fortress in the rock.

That night they finished the rope-ladder. Indeed, Jenks was determined not to retire to rest until it was placed in situ; he did not care to try a second time to carry ladders to that elevated perch, and it may be so marked that the tinge of the girl, before going to sleep, simply changed one ragged dress for another.

One of the first things he contemplated was the destruction, if possible, of the point on the opposite cliff which commanded the ledge. This, however, was utterly impracticable with the appliances at his command. The top of the rock sloped slightly towards the west, and nothing short of dynamite or regular quarrying operations would render it untenable by hostile marksmen.

During the day his Lee-Metfords, at ninety yards' range, might be trusted to keep the place clear of invaders. But at night—that was the difficulty. He partially solved it by fixing two rests on the ledge to support a rifle in exact line with the centre of the enemy's supposed position, as with a variant, on the outer rest he marked lines which corresponded with other sections of the entire front available to the foe.

Even then he was not satisfied. When time permitted he made many experiments with ropes reeved through the pulley and attached to a rifle action. He might have succeeded in his main object had not his thoughts taken a new line. His aim was to achieve some method of opening and closing the breach in the rock by means of two ropes. The difficulty was to secure the preliminary and final lateral movement of the lever bolt, but it suddenly occurred to him that if he could manage to convey the impression that Iris and he had left the island, the Dyaks would go away after a fruitless search. The existence of ropes along the face of the rock—essential to his mechanical scheme—would betray their whereabouts, or at any rate excite dangerous curiosity. So he reluctantly abandoned his original design, though not wholly, as will be seen in due course.

In measure of his latest idea he sedulously removed from the foot of the cliff all traces of the clearance effected on the ledge, and, although he provided supports for the tarpaulin covering, he did not adjust it. Iris, without their retreat being found out. This development suggested the necessity of hiding their surplus stores and ammunition, and what spot could be more suitable than the cave?

So Jenks began to dig once more in the interior, laboring manfully with pick and shovel in the locality of the fault with its vein of anthony. It was thus that he blundered upon the second great event of his life.

Rainbow Island had given him the one thing a man prizes above all else—a pure yet passionate love for a woman beautiful alike in body and mind. And now it was to endow him with riches that might stir the pulse of even a South African magnate. For the sailor, unimpaired of purpose other than providing the requisite cache, shoveling and delving with the energy peculiar to all his actions, suddenly struck a deep vein of almost virgin gold.

To facilitate the disposal at a distance of the disturbed debris, he threw each shovelful on to a canvas sheet which he subsequently dragged among the trees in order to disguise its contents. After doing this four times he noticed certain metallic specks in the fifth load which recalled the presence of the antimony. But the appearance of this cargo was so remarkable when brought out into the sunlight that it invited closer inspection. Though his knowledge of geology was slight—the half-forgotten gleanings of a brief course at Eton—he was forced to believe that the specimens he handled so dubiously contained neither copper nor iron pyrites but glittering yellow gold.

Somewhat excited yet half-skeptical he returned to the excavation and scooped out yet another collection. This time there could be no mistake. Nature's own alchemy had fashioned a veritable ingot. There were small lumps in the ore which would need alloy at the mint before they could be issued as sovereigns, so free from dross were they.

Iris had gone to Venus' Bath, and would be absent for some time. Jenks sat down on a tree stump. He held in his hand a small bit of ore worth perhaps twenty pounds sterling. Slowly the conjectures already pieced together in his mind during early days on the island came back to him.

The skeleton of an Englishman lying there among the bushes near the well; the Golgotha of the poison-filled hollow; the mining tools, both Chinese and European; the plan on the piece of tin—ah, the piece of tin! Mechanically the sailor produced it from the breast-pocket of his jersey. At last the mysterious sign—"321"—revealed its significance. Measure thirty-two feet from the mouth of the tunnel, dig one foot in depth, and you came upon the mother-lode of this gold-bearing rock. This, then, was the secret the cave had hidden. The Chinese knew the richness of the deposit, and exploited its treasures by quarrying from the other side of the hill. But their crass ignorance of modern science led to their undoing. The accumulation of liberated carbonic acid gas in the workings killed them in scores. They probably fought their unseen demon with the tenacity of their race, until the place became accursed and banned of all living things. Yet had they dug a little ditch, and permitted the invisible terror to flow quietly downwards until its potency was dissipated by sea and air, they might have mined the whole cliff with impunity.

The unfortunate unknown, J. S.—he of the whitened bones—might have done this thing, too. But he only possessed the half-knowledge of the working miner, and whilst shunning the plague-stricken air, adopted the more laborious method of making an adit to strike the deposit. He succeeded, to perish miserably in the hour when he saw himself a millionaire.

Was this a portent of the fate about to overtake the latest comers? Jenks, of course, stood up. He always stood square on his feet when the volcano within him fired his blood.

"No, my God!" he almost shouted. "I will break the spell. I am sent here by Providence, not to search for gold but to save a woman's life, and if all the devils of China and Malay are in league against me, I will beat them!"

The sound of his own voice startled him. He had no notion that he was so hysterical. Promptly his British phlegm throttled the demonstration. He was rather ashamed of it.

What was all the fuss about? With a barrow load of gold he could not buy an instant's safety for Iris, not to mention himself. The language difficulty was insuperable. Were it otherwise, the Dyaks would simply humbug him until he revealed the source of his wealth, and then murder him as an effective safeguard against foreign interference.

Iris! Not once since she was hurled ashore in his arms had Jenks so long forgotten her existence. Should he tell her? They were partners in everything appertaining to the island—why keep this marvelous intelligence from her?

Yet was he tempted, not ignobly, but by reason of his love for her. Once, years ago, when his arduous professional studies were distracted by a momentary infatuation for a fair face, a woman had proved fickle when tempted by greater wealth than he possessed. For long he was a confirmed misogynist, to his great and lasting gain as a leader of men. But with more equable judgment came a fixed resolution not to marry unless his prospective bride cared only for him and not for his position. To a staff corps officer, even one with a small private income, this was an unattainable ideal. Then he met with his debacle in the shame and agony of the court-martial. Whilst his still quivered under the lash of that terrible downfall, Iris came into his life. He knew not what might happen if he were rescued. The time would quickly pass away after he was resumed, she to go back to her position in society, he to become again a disgraced ex-officer, apparently working out a mere existence before the mast or handing plates in a saloon.

Would it not be a sweet defiance of adversity were he able, even under such conditions, to win her love, and then disclose to her the potentialities of the island? Perchance he might fail. Though rich as Croesus he would still be under the social ban meted out to a cashiered officer. She was a girl who could command the gift of coronets. With restoration to her father and home, gratitude to her father would assuredly remain, but, alas! love might vanish like a mirage. Then he would act honorably. Half of the stored wealth would be hers to do as she chose with it.

PRINCESS SNUBS SINGER

Leaves Reception When She Learns Artists Was Honored Guest.

Paris, Aug. 24. — Princess Victoria of Teano has written from London to a friend here a most interesting letter, but it is not made public. Princess de Teano is a Colonna of Rome—that is to say, belongs to the old order older than many of the reigning houses, its nobility dating back over twelve centuries and which has given to the church five popes.

Donna Vittoria married seven years ago the eldest son of Prince Casteletti Wilbraham of England. The princess is tall and dark, with perfect features, and were she dressed as her ancestors would be a perfect type of Roman empress. She is lady-in-waiting to Queen Elena, while her father is a prince assistant to the papal throne, a position which obliges him to ignore the royal family, although he was at one time a gentleman-in-waiting to Queen Margherita. With this blood in her veins the princess possesses proper pride.

Upon going to a reception given by the Duchess of Sutherland she was told that the honored guest of the evening was Lina Cavalieri, the singer. Now, all Rome knows Cavalieri began her career by selling flowers at the smallest cafes and concerts in Rome. Donna Vittoria described how embarrassed she was, but she soon recovered her presence of mind and immediately left the house, remarking that she was not accustomed to meeting such persons. She afterwards understood that King Edward, having heard of the incident, said she was perfectly right.

IZZET PASHA IS A REFUGEE

Former Secretary of Sultan of Turkey Escapes the Young Turks.

London, Aug. 24.—The Daily Mail says this morning that it has discovered Izzet Pasha, former secretary of the Sultan of Turkey, and father of Mehmed Ali Bey, ex-Turkish minister at Washington, refuging in London. At the beginning of the recent reform movement Izzet Pasha fled from Constantinople, and took refuge aboard the Steamer Maria, which despite the protests of the Young Turks, party to the British ambassador, sailed for the Mediterranean with the Sultan's former secretary as a passenger.

In an interview printed in the Daily Mail, Izzet Pasha gives the palace view of the revolution in Turkey. He claims that the commission sent to Saloniki to investigate the mutiny of the third army corps, was composed of unscrupulous men, whose report confirming the disaffection of the corps he distrusted, but the situation was such that great delay was dangerous, and, therefore, the council of ministers advised the Sultan to grant a constitution in preference to risking civil war by sending troops to suppress the alleged mutiny. The Sultan willingly agreed, as he always had, as likewise had Izzet Pasha, been in favor of a parliamentary government.

Izzet Pasha added that he had long wished to retire, but had waited for the completion of his favorite project the Mecca Railway. The immediate reason for his departure from Constantinople, according to the interview, was that the Sultan himself, counselled him to go to Europe. He shipped aboard a British vessel, he said, in order to escape any protection against the Young Turks.

Arriving at Genoa, Izzet Pasha sent his family to a place of safety and himself proceeded to Paris, and he intends to make England his home.

MUST PAY LOSSES IN EARTHQUAKE

Privy Council's Decision Caused Rejoicing on the Isle of Jamaica.

London, Aug. 24.—The judgment has been delivered in London on the above case. The committee consisted of those famous judges, Lord Atkinson, Lord Macnaghten, Lord Coleridge, Lord Halsbury, and Lord Arthur Wilson.

It was the ninth and concluding day of the hearing of the upper case, "The Scottish Union and National Fire Insurance Company vs. Alfred Pawsey & Co., Ltd." The judgment of the supreme court of Jamaica, dismissing a motion by the appellant company to set aside a verdict given and judgment entered for the respondents, or to direct a new trial, was recovered from the respondents to recover from the company loss or damage under four policies of fire insurance of their premises at Kingston, Jamaica, which were destroyed by fire on Jan. 14, 1907, the day of the great earthquake, and in consequence of fire during or in consequence of an earthquake unless it be proved by the insured that the loss was not occasioned thereby.

Famous Counsel Engaged.
Sir Robert Finlay, K. C., Mr. Henry Dickens, K. C., Mr. Sims Williams, and Mr. Otter-Barry appeared for the appellant company; Mr. Hemmery, K. C., Mr. F. E. Smith, K. C., Mr. Maurice Blane, and Mr. Croom-Johnson for the respondents.

The Company's Case.
Reviewing the evidence, Sir Robert Finlay, for the insurance company, read the evidence given by Sir Alexander Swettenham, the governor, in putting out the fire, and also that of the witness who testified that during the earthquake he ran to a window and there saw the inside of his next-door neighbor's bedroom in a blaze, that his arm became pinned under a beam, and fearing he might be burned alive, he wrenched his arm away, tearing and leaving behind some of the flesh. His terrible injury resulted in the loss of his arm.

The board having deliberated in private for a short time, Lord Macnaghten said: "As we understand that the parties desire to have an announcement at once of the decision at which the court has come, their lordships are of the opinion that there was evidence before the jury from which they could reasonably come to the conclusion at which they arrived. They will humbly advise his majesty that the appeal should be dismissed with costs."

Result of Decision.
The decision thus makes the company liable for damage done by fire.

CANADA BUYS MANY STALLIONS
Was Largest Purchaser From Britain During the Past Twelve Months.

London, Aug. 24.—Great Britain in 1907 exported to Canada 9,232 horses, the biggest export ever known, though the total value of £1,240,000 was exceeded in 1905. Yet Canada comes first in all countries as the purchaser of stallions, and second only to Belgium as the purchaser of mares.

The Weided Company's colonial dairy produce review states that the Canadian butter export was the smallest known since 1886. Three years ago it reached its highest level, 15,145 tons. Last year it fell to 1,882. The quality, again, showed an improvement over the previous year, as refrigeration on board the steamers to the United Kingdom and on the landing wharves here is now perfectly up-to-date. Canada had ought to further increase in quality and bring higher prices in our markets. Some of inferior quality which yet comes is due to the damage caused by want of proper refrigerating arrangements before it is shipped, and the remainder to defects in its manufacture, which are avoidable if proper care be taken.

There has been a steady decrease in cheese from Canada to the United States. This decrease has given an opportunity to New Zealand to make up some deficiency in the imports from New Zealand, which have advanced in ten years from 5,570 tons to 13,352. An improvement in quality continues to be shown. Canadian imports of cheese have advanced largely to the better quality which now prevails in this article. Australia last year saw a steady increase in cheese to London, and the quality was very satisfactory. One shipment from New South Wales was superior to the best Canadian, owing to it being made on the English Cheddar principle, and it appeared very closely to English conditions of manufacture in having the milk-herd close to the factory door, so that the milk was always in a sweet condition when it came under the cheesemaker's coat at. An advantage was shown in Canadian cheese of 9 shillings per cwt. or 10 per cent. The average price during the last twelve months was one-third less than in 1907.

SHIP RISK IS SCORED
Insurance by eMn Who Do Not Own the Vessel Is Condemned.

London, Aug. 24.—Recent shipwrecks and insurances claimed on ships by people who have the least proprietary interest in them, no interest whatever in fact, except their disappearance off the face of the waters, remains a subject of much discussion in shipping and other business circles in the city.

As one who could discuss this subject with more authority than most men, a subject which has so much grave import alike to shipowners, shipbrokers and shipmasters, Sir John Lubbock, chairman of Lloyd's, was asked to explain what was this P. P.

Explains Technical Point.
Sir John explained that the meaning of "proof of interest" is that the claim is paid without demur of any kind, supposing anything happens to a vessel insured. Anyone can insure a ship almost in the same sense as as any outsider may insure the life of the King or back a race horse in which he has not the smallest interest save the owner's belief in his property.
Many people are of the opinion that P. P. I. insurances should disappear and it seems that communications lately have been exchanged between Lloyd's and the board of trade on this topic, the former's opinion having been involved. It is probable also that Winston Churchill will raise the question in the House of Commons during the autumn session, with a view to seeing whether something cannot be done to abate the evil.

Tells of Lloyd's Reply.
Sir John implied that Lloyd's have replied in the sense that the difficulty in legislating lies in the fact that whereas there may be numerous wrong maritime insurances there are also a great many right ones.
"Who, then," he said, "shall say that one has or has not insured a ship with felonious intent? There are certain shipowners, no doubt, whose business is not very attractive to underwriters, but the stoppage of these insurances opens a wide question. One thing is almost certain. The board of trade will take some action in course of the coming season."

SOME MARKET METHODS.
Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 24. — George Smith, a middle-aged man, was arrested on Central Market this morning on a charge of stealing eight chickens from a man named Bamberger living in Ancaster township. Smith brought the chickens to the market on a wheelbarrow, which he pushed all the way from the township. Such an unusual outfit on the market aroused the suspicions of the police and he was arrested, being remanded until Monday.
J. J. Sager, Winona, offered for sale on the market this morning two baskets of short measure peaches. He did not stamp them shortage on each basket, and the magistrate fined him twenty-five cents for each basket, as well as ordering that the peaches be confiscated.

Beef	1 whole steer
Coffee	90 gallons
Bread	25 gallons
Butter	60 pounds
Potatoes	9 bags
Eggs	60 dozen
Pies	5 gallons
Pickles	5 gallons
Apples	1 barrel
Jam	1 barrel

Toronto, Aug. 24.—When the C. P. R. first undertook to feed their strike-breakers in the yards at West Toronto they had both hands full, and sufficient to fill a third hand.

One chef, one waiter, and one stove failed to touch the appetites of the hungry strike-breakers. And there was trouble.

Men grumbled, left their jobs and went elsewhere. Officials were busy keeping engines hauling cars over 10,000 miles of track, and things got bad. Then came a change.

How Staff Was Increased.
They shipped down a special man from Montreal to make things go. They gave John Handley, the chef, two assistant cooks, four waiters and two dishwashers. And they gave him two stoves.

Besides this, after a visit by the West Toronto health inspector, the three box cars, which had been used as kitchens and dining-rooms, were given up, and one end of the paintshop was used as a kitchen and dining-room.

This removed one of the strike-breakers' grievances. Now everyone could sit down together. Before had to wait in the middle of the day for dinner.

Cooking Operations.
Tremendous cooking operations are carried on within the confines of the chef. When porridge is given to the men in the morning twelve gallons must be made. And to keep this amount from burning is no joke.

When ham and boiled eggs are served, 300 eggs are cooked, and some ninety pounds of ham. This is aided by twenty loaves of bread. It is cut up into thick slices.

Thirty gallons of coffee, or the same amount of tea, is served with this meal. The two long tables are covered with white oilcloth, and each man has a tin plate, tin cup, and a knife, fork and spoon. The men sit on long benches without backs.

Feats at Dinner.
At dinner, which is in the middle of the day, the strike-breakers have consumed a whole steer. On another occasion they ate two whole sheep. Three bags of potatoes are eaten at each meal, either fried or boiled.

At this meal, by way of dessert one day, six gallons of bread pudding, three gallons of prunes and three gallons of boiled raisins were served. They are also given a small barrel of apples.

In the days of the one chef, one waiter and one stove, the men used to run from the workshop to the cars, to get their place; but now they take their time.

And Then Supper.
At supper the chef has not so many men to look after. A great number of them go home. But he has the 150 men who live in the yards.

These men can, besides eating beef, veal, potatoes and various other things, put away at supper 40 pies. They also do away with a five gallon pail of pickles and a pail of jam.

Midnight dinner is for the detectives and night gangs, and the chef usually feeds sixty at this meal.

Sixty pounds of butter are used every day, as are eight loaves and thirty-five gallons of milk. It's a big job feeding all the men.

Lodge 'Em and Wash 'Em.
And besides feeding them, the C. P. R. has to lodge 150 and also wash them.

The paintshop at one end is partitioned off, and 150 spring cots are put up. Each cot has the spring raised at one end instead of having a mattress and the mattress covers this. Each man is given a pair of blankets. The men pay $4.50 a week for board and lodging.

There is a shower bath and tubs, with hot and cold water, walled off from the sleeping rooms by tarred paper.

A typewritten notice, signed by Mr. Preston, draws, in nicely-worded sentences, the attention of the men to the fact that hot and cold water may be had, and to the sanitary necessity for cleanliness.

The skulls of two missionaries, Dr. Chalmers and D. F. Tomkins, of the Loma Missionary Society, who were killed by cannibals at Goabari, New Guinea, seven years ago, have been recovered by Judge Murray, who took his life in his hands to get them.

CANADA'S PRODUCE IN GREAT BRITAIN

A Better Quality Is Now Being Received in Butter and Cheese.

London, Aug. 24.—Great Britain in 1907 exported to Canada $1,783,000, the biggest export ever known, though the total value $1,240,000, was exceeded in 1906. Canada comes first of all countries as a purchaser of stallions, and second only to Belgium as a purchaser of mares.

Butter Imports Small.
The Weddel Company's Colonial Dairy Produce Review states that the Canadian butter export was the smallest known since 1895. Three years ago it reached its highest level, 15,145 tons. Last year it fell to 1,862 tons. The quality again showed an improvement over the previous year, as was refrigeration on board steamers to the United Kingdom and on landing wharves here is now perfectly up-to-date, Canadian butter ought to further improve in quality, and bring higher prices in our markets.

Some inferior quality, which yet does, is due to damage caused by want of proper refrigerating arrangements before it is shipped, and the remainder to defects in its manufacture, which are avoidable if proper care be taken.

Decrease in Cheese.

In cheese there has been a steady decrease. Canada and United States. This decrease has given an opportunity to New Zealand to make up some of the deficiency. Imports from New Zealand have advanced in ten years from 5,870 tons to 13,152 tons. Improvement in quality continues to be shown in the Canadian. Improved methods of curing and better transit arrangements have added largely to the better quality which now prevails in this article.

Australian Product Good.

Australia last year sent a small shipment of cheese to London, and the quality was very satisfactory. One shipment from New South Wales was of superior quality to the best Canadian, owing to it being made on the English cheddar principle and it approached very closely to English conditions of manufacture in having the milking herd close to the factory door so that the milk was always in sweet condition when it came under the cheesemaker's control.

The advance made in Canadian was 9 shillings a cwt. or 16.6 per cent. The average price for the past twelve months is 1-3 less than in 1907.

TWENTY-DOLLAR WHEAT

Harvested 70,000 to 75,000 Bushels of Wonderful New Variety.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 23.—In the Juliaetta country, in Northern Idaho, Abraham Adams, formerly a lumberman in Wisconsin, will clean up more than $1,000,000 from 700 acres of land this season, in addition to producing grain which gives every promise of revolutionizing the wheat production of the world. Conservative estimates place the crop at from 70,000 to 75,000 bushels of grain, which Adams and his son-in-law, O. K. Hobe, a wholesale lumber dealer, of Minneapolis, have contracted to sell to farmers at $20 a bushel, not more than one bushel going to each buyer.

Adams acquired a tract of land in the Gem State six years ago and sowed his land to wheat, harvesting from 23 to 30 bushels of blue stem club and other varieties from every acre under cultivation.

One day early in 1904 he received a single stalk of wheat, picked by a friend in one of the fertile valleys in Alaska, and sowed the kernels in his garden. A crop of seven pounds resulted the following summer. This Adams planted in the spring of 1905, harvesting 1,545 pounds of grain in July, or over 200 bushels per acre. Emboldened by his success he sowed another crop in the fall of 1906, and this summer cut enough grain to sow 700 acres of land, from which is now being cut what is believed to be the world's record yield.

The nature of the affair was purely social, with an impromptu programme. The grounds and verandah were very prettily decorated with Japanese lanterns. During the intermission, Rev. A. L. G. Clarke, the popular and efficient curate and assistant rector of St. John's Church, who has had charge of the parish in the absence of Ven. Archdeacon Richardson, who has been attending the Pan-Anglican Conference in London, England, was called upon and made the recipient of a well-filled purse and address, as a small token of appreciation for the earnest zeal and endeavor in his duties, by the members of St. John's Guild and congregation. The address was read by Mr. Athol Marshall, and Mr. R. A. Powell made the presentation.

PUNISHED THE CAPTAIN.
Montreal, Aug. 24.—Commander Spence, chief commissioner, was severe today in his judgment in the Imperial Quebec collision of July 5 on Capt. Jean, of the Imperial, not only declaring that the captain caused a menace to navigation as well as to his passengers in allowing an apprentice pilot to run his vessel, and also suspending his certificate for one year. Both steamers were found to have been at fault but the Quebec was properly manned, while the Imperial had only an apprentice pilot at the wheel.

HOW TO FIGHT HESSIAN FLY

Ontario Agricultural College: Issues
Warning and Advice to Farmers.

Guelph, Aug. 25.—The department of entomology of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, has recently been informed of a somewhat serious outbreak of the Hessian fly in several parts of the northwest of Ontario, particularly in the counties of Norfolk, Brant and Bruce. In Norfolk a reliable correspondent reports a loss of thirty per cent in some wheat fields.

In order to fight this pest intelligently a short account of its life history is necessary. The Hessian fly is a tiny, two-winged insect about one-tenth of an inch long and looking like a very small mosquito. There are two broods of these flies in Ontario in a year. The adult flies lay their eggs during May and June in the groove on the upper surface of the leaves of fall or spring wheat, or less frequently of barley and rye. After a few days tiny maggots hatch out and work their way down between the stem and leaf to near the joints. Here they remain until full grown, sucking the juice out of the plant and causing it to become weak at the affected part, usually the first or second joint, so that it falls over before it is ripe. When the maggots are full grown they change their color from nearly white to dark-brown and become hard. This stage is known as the flaxseed stage from its resemblance to flaxseed. When the grain is cut, some of the flaxseeds will be in the straw of the sheaves and carried to the barn, but most of them will be left in the stubble. About the end of August or early in September from these flaxseeds there emerge the full-grown winged flies. These now lay their eggs on the young and tender wheat plants, whether these be merely volunteer wheat that has sprung up in the old stubble or the freshly sown wheat for next year's crop. When these eggs hatch out, the young maggots work their way down to the crown of the plants and do much damage before the winter, causing the wheat to lose its healthy appearance and look white and sickly. At the close of autumn most of the maggots have become full-grown and enter the flaxseed stage in which they remain through the winter until May or June when as said above, the two-winged flies come forth.

How to Combat It.
The following suggestions for lessening the attack of the fly are in accordance with the recommendation of Dr. James Fletcher, Ottawa, and Mr. F. M. Webster, Washington, and will be found of much service if tried.

(1) Choose only good plump seed for sowing, not shrivelled or sprouted seed.

(2) Do not sow wheat in the same fields as were infested this year, but rotate your crops.

(3) Prepare the soil with extra care in order to produce as rapid growing and vigorous plants as possible. This helps to enable them to recover from attacks.

(4) Do not sow your wheat this fall before Sept. 15. If the ground has been well prepared this will leave plenty of time for a good growth before winter and the damp weather of August practically insures that the fly will nearly all have emerged and laid their eggs before Sept. 15.

(5) Plough down the volunteer wheat, barley or rye growing in the stubble fields not later than the end of September, because if the maggots are left long enough to enter the flaxseed stage many of them may escape next year in spite of the ploughing.

(6) Often much benefit has been gained by burning all the rubbish that falls beneath the threshing machine. This will naturally contain many of the flaxseeds.

JEROME CLEARED

Investigation Finds Famous District
Attorney Innocent of All Charges.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 24.—Richard L. Hand, of Elizabethtown, who was appointed by Governor Hughes to take testimony and report his findings upon the charges filed against District Attorney Jerome, of New York County, by a minority stockholders' committee of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company, in a report submitted to the governor today finds that not one of the charges is proved, but that a series of disclosures upon the evidence. He recommends the dismissal of the charges. A request was made for Mr. Jerome's removal.

Governor Hughes has not acted upon Commissioner Hand's report. "My conviction upon the whole case," says the report, "is that the respondent has been shown to have discharged the onerous duties of his office with zeal and ability, having the public good as his motto, and that no incapacity, indifference or neglect of duty has been shown in any case."

CAUGHT IN THE ACT.

New York, Aug. 24.—After following three men from New York City through Providence, R. I., Boston and Philadelphia, and then back to this city, seven detectives from police headquarters yesterday arrested the men as they were about to blow open a safe in Newark, N. J. Weeks were spent in trailing the men, who are suspected of a series of daring safe robberies in New York city. Inspector McCallerty finally assigned his keenest detectives to the job, with instructions to keep on the trail till the band were caught in the act of blowing open a safe. The detectives learned that the men suspected had headquarters in Brooklyn, and Hoboken. In the house in Brooklyn was found an extensive counterfeiting outfit.

PORT STANLEY'S MERRY EVENINGS

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Port Stanley, Aug. 22.—The dance at Hill Crest tonight was, as usual, largely attended. The White House is crowded to capacity. Great preparations are being made for the monster fancy dress ball to be held on Wednesday next, Aug. 26.

Miss Florence Burdon, of London, is spending two weeks with her friend, Miss Beatrice Rowe at Erie Rest. The Misses Henderson, of Valley View Cottage, Erie Rest, are spending a few days in London.

A party of "Broom Stick" witches paraded Orchard Beach last night. Miss Belle McLaughlin, of London, is the guest of Miss Blanche Rowe, Erie Rest.

Mr. Cy Edy, of London, who has been holidaying at the White House, Hill Crest, for the past month, returned to his home today.

Miss Elva Coulter, Miss Grace Loun and Miss Pearl Shipley, of St. Thomas, took a trip to Connetquot on the steamer Marquette and Bessemer No. 2 yesterday.

The new derrick for Haney & Miller, to be used on the harbor work here, has been completed.

The launches Lakeside and Venus had a short race this morning. The Lakeside winning by three lengths.

Mr. Hodgins, the well-known bank manager, of Hamilton, is the guest of Mr. Alfred Pulver at the Clinton Hill Crest.

Miss Flossie Roache, of Lingerlinger Cottage, Orchard Beach, gave a kodak party on Friday afternoon in honor of Miss Beatrice Rowe's guest, Miss Florence Burdon, of London.

Rev. O. D. Fournier, of Idlewild, Orchard Beach, is spending the week-end in Rodney and West Lorne.

Clinton Dunsmore, of Elgin street, St. Thomas, is visiting Harley Ponsford, on Orchard Beach.

Miss Gertrude Walsh, Miss Marjorie Cline and Miss McMillan, of London, spent Friday in Port Burwell.

Last evening Broadview Cottage, New Orchard Beach, was the scene of a very enjoyable affair in the form of a musical masquerade. There were about 40 guests, everyone being dressed to represent a song or a piece of music. Among the most striking costumes were Cheyenne, The Bird in the Guilded Cage, Silver Hairs, Red Wings, The Rosary, The Maple Leaf Forever, America, and others.

Spoon With Me, Harrigan, Two Little Girls in Blue, Waiting at the Church, Wedding March, School days, and many others. Mr. Alfred Pulver looked very much like a king. Messrs. Bud Manning and Robert Warner should have the prize for Two Little Girls in Blue. Mr. Fare Waterbury was fine as Old Black Joe. Mr. E. A. Smith, as Wedding March, was an ideal chaperon for the party. Dainty refreshments were served on the verandah, after which the guests enjoyed a fine bonfire, where corn was popped, peanuts indulged in, and, in fact, all other little delicacies, which only Port Stanley can boast of. The hostesses were the Misses Campbell, Torry and Smith.

Mr. John Hobbs, who has been visiting on Hill Crest, returned to his home in Toronto today.

Miss Drake and Miss Murray, of St. Thomas, are Hill Crest guests.

John Stuart Robertson, the actor, returns to New York today.

Miss Ella Smith, of Toronto, is the guest of Miss Mary Campbell at Broadview, Orchard Beach.

Mr. George Morley, of Chicago, who has been visiting on Hill Crest, returned home last night.

Miss Macfie, of London, is spending a few days with Miss Dillon on Orchard Beach.

Thursday night Mr. Norman Lindop was the host at a very enjoyable musical. Among the artists were: Mr. Heard, of Detroit; Miss Haap, of Rochester, N. Y.; Miss Jones, of St. Thomas; and Mrs. Tomlinson, also of St. Thomas. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Pennington, Miss Macfie, Miss Dillon, Mrs. Mills, Mr. H. Brown, of London; Mrs. Poole and Miss Poole, of Dutton; the Misses Torry, of

BASEBALL, ROWING,
BOWLING, RACING, TENNISDONOVAN SHUTS
OUT WASHINGTON"Wild One" Holds Cantillon's
Senators to Two Scattered Hits.

Washington, Aug. 24.—Bill Donovan was the hero of today's game, which the Tigers won, 1 to 0. He was complete master of the Washington batters at every stage of the game. He got careless a couple of times and let pass, and two hits were made off him, but his passes being given to Charlie Street, Ganley and Unglaub made the hits. These men got to first in different innings and none got beyond second, which was going some. The day was dark and Bill used a fast straight ball almost entirely, with the result that the outsmen were sending easy ones to the infield or high flies to the outfield when they weren't striking out. Donovan fanned the side in the third, and the first two in the fourth. The morning dope on the game went wrong. Bill Coughlin started to practice and found his arm in good shape, so he remained there and took care of everything that came his way, participating in a fast double play. Cantillon also switched pitchers, using Johnson because of his good game on Friday.

Johnson pitched some ball, too. Ten hits and only one run shows that he had to put on steam in pinches. His team mates backed him up in perfect style and had to play faster ball than the Tigers to prevent the latter from getting around the bases more frequently.

Umpire Egan got through the game with little roasting. He had only two close decisions and went wrong on one, certainly, which was against Detroit, and according to the crowd, on another at first when he called a fast one on a fly to Coughlin. Had he not missed a play on Schaefer at second base in the first inning the Tigers would have had another run. He called Germany out after he had stolen the bag. This was followed by a long single by Crawford on which Schaefer could have counted.

The game opened as if it were going to be a cinch for the Tigers. McIntyre started with a hit, but was forced by Schaefer, who was called out on his attempt to steal second. Crawford followed with a hit, but was left when Cobb fouled to Shipke. In the second Rossman started with a safe roller to Freeman, but Schmidt filed to Pickering. Coughlin singled to left, but O'Leary fanned and Rossman was caught at third on an attempted steal. The only run came in the sixth. After Schaefer had fanned Crawford poked one to right on Cobb's head, and a fast one to the clubhouse for three sacks. Rossman was purposely passed and Cobb was caught at the plate on an attempted double steal after Schmidt had fanned. Another run threatened in the seventh on O'Leary's single, one being gone. The latter was forced by Donovan, who took third on McIntyre's single, but Schaefer sent an easy one to McBride and forced McIntyre. With one gone in the eighth Cobb singled to left and was caught trying to stretch it into a double. In the ninth Schmidt opened with a hit, but was forced by Coughlin. The next two were easy outs.

JOYNER'S ENTRIES
MAKE A CLEANThe Golden Pearl and Hessian
Carry Off Whirl Stakes
With Ease.

Empire City, N. Y., Aug. 24.—Golden Pearl and Hessian, A. J. Joyner's entries, ran first and second in the Whirl stakes, one mile, the feature of the card at Empire City today. Mr. Joyner had declared to win with Golden Pearl, and the race was run very nicely to orders. Magazine went out to make the pace, followed by Golden Pearl. Magazine continued to show the way to the far turn, where Hessian moved up from last to first place. Here he took a two-length lead and could have won by many lengths but when his stable mate, Golden Pearl, came through on the rail, E. Dugan, on Hessian, began to ease him up and Golden Pearl won by one and one-half lengths, with Hessian a couple of lengths before Frizette.

Acting District Attorney Elder of Kings' County was a visitor at the track today, but gave no statement. He was followed about the course by a big crowd. Summaries:

First race, mares, 3-year-olds upward, selling, six furlongs: Ida D. 104 (Butler), 5 to 2, even, 1 to 2, won; Boema, 104, (Gilbert), 15 to 5, even, 1 to 2, second; Belle Strome, 113 (McCahey) 12 to 1, 5 to 1, 5 to 1, 5 to 1, third. Time, 1:12 3-5. Comedienne, Trouvair, Adrians, Jane Swift, Miss Delaney, Lady Karma and Tea Leaf also ran. Dainty Dame and Miss Cassie left at post.

Second race, 2-year-olds, 5 1/2 furlongs—Trance, 119 (McDaniel) 9 to 1, 4 to 1, out, won; Royal Captive, 112 (Notter) even, 1 to 2, out, second; Tom Hayward, 107 (Gilbert), 10 to 1, 5 to 2, 3 to 5, third. Time, 1:07. Personal, Krikina and Adele C also ran. Third race, handicap, 3-year-olds upward, selling, one mile—Woodard, 111 (Gilbert), 2 to 1, 5 to 1, out, won; Aster Dor, 105 (Smith), 4 to 1, 4 to 5, 1 to 4, second; D'Arkle, 100 (McCarthy), 20 to 1, 7 to 1, 3 to 1, third. Time 1:42. Alauda, Campaigner, Sunfire and Easton also ran.

Fourth race, the Whirl Stakes, 3-year-olds, one mile—Golden Pearl, 121 (Butler), 1 to 6, 1 to 12, out, won; Hessian, 106 (E. Dugan), 1 to 6, 1 to 12, out, second; Frizette, 109 (J. Lee), 6 to 1, even, out, third. Time 1:42 3-5. Magazine also ran. Golden Pearl and Hessian coupled.

Fifth race, maidens, 3-year-olds and upwards, selling, one mile and a sixteenth—John E. McMillan, 111 (E. Dugan), 11 to 20, 1 to 5, out, won; Alabama, 99 (McCarthy), 10 to 1, 8 (Mugrove), 5 to 1, 7 to 10, 2 to 1, second. Time 1:51 2-5. Sulley's Son, Grace Cameron and Tender and True also ran.

Sixth race, 3-year-olds and upwards, selling, 1 1/4 miles—Trash, 92 (Upton) 4 to 5, 1 to 5, out, won; Golconda, 97 (McCarthy), 4 to 1, 6 to 5, 2 to 1, second; Molesey, 105 (G. Burns) 16 to 5, even and 1 to 2, third. Time 2:09 1-5. Tipping, Killierack, Fillman and Crackshot also ran.

PLAN EXPERIMENT
IN GREAT DERBYNovel Starting Scheme To Be Inaugurated In $50,000
Readville Event.

Readville, Mass., Aug. 24.—The great harness event of the year, the American Trotting Derby, with a purse of $50,000 as an incentive, will be held tomorrow on the Readville track, in connection with the second day of the Grand Circuit, with conditions which make the event unique in the history of horse racing in this country.

Forty-four harness horses, most of them well-known, are entered for the event, and will compete not on equal terms, but upon a system of handicaps. The slowest horses will start from the three-quarters of a mile post, or a quarter of a mile behind the wire, and the fastest horses 500 feet in the rear, all the horses leaving their marks at the sound of a bell, from practically a standstill. Instead of scoring side by side for the wire. As the field is believed to be too large to send away at the same time, the race will be decided with two preliminary heats, with eight horses to qualify for the final, which will be held late in the afternoon. The heaviest handicapped horses in the race are Sweet Marie and Sonoma Girl.

The conditions of the race are so novel to both drivers and horses that past performances are not expected to count in estimating the result. The fastest horses will have large fields through which they must push their way, while the distances are all new and the starting unusual.

There is great interest in the race, not only among the owners and drivers, but among the general horse-loving public, as it is believed that if the race proves a success, it may revolutionize the sport in this country, and make it immensely attractive, not only for horsemen but for spectators.

CURRENT SPORTING GOSSIP

BY SOUTHPAW

Jo Jo Keenan is still with the Toronto base team. He is an enthusiastic member into the bunch down there, and as a hustler ought to be worth some money to that outfit. He can play the game just some faster than one or two of the dead ones drawing pay for that bunch.

Young Hickey, a Toronto boy, was given a chance with the Toronto, and has pitched some very creditable games for that bad crowd. It is something strange for a Canadian to get a chance with the Toronto. He ought to get busy, that boy, as he has some stuff.

Detroit's position at the head of the American League is not a hard one to understand when one goes over the statistics. The Tigers have five of the ten leading sluggers of the League, four of the ten leading run-getters, and two of the ten leading pitchers and some other plays.

Kidd McGregor, the fast young trotter owned by Kidd Bros. of Listowel, is not doing so well down the big line as was anticipated. He is in the hands of "Pop" Geers, who is in the hands of his usual good luck this season. The colt has been up in the money in nearly every race, but he has so far failed to come home with the races.

Tommy Burns had go at a fast clip to beat the Kangaroo Bill Squires. The antipodean lemon handed over Thomas a few nice wallops during the festivities, and once or twice had him headed towards the music and the lights. It looks as if Tom had better pick all the lemons pretty soon, or he will be slumbering among the has-beens of these fine autumn days.

Neither Sonoma nor Sweet Marie will start in the $50,000 handicap at Readville today. Neither horse is in prime condition for such a race.

Ty Cobb still leads the American League, and is hitting with a good safe margin over Schweitzer, of St. Louis, and Rossman, of Detroit. Honus Wagner and Mike Donlin are still batting for premier honors in the National, and at the present time the Flying Dutchman has a few points to the good.

A Toronto writer says that lacrosse does not take in the United States. Right you are. The fierce forms of exercise in the United States are soccer ball and divorce suits. We have everything on this side.

Pittsburgh and Detroit stand up well against New York, and the result are now in second position. The First have a great team, but in the drive they will have to show better class than at present. Wagner and Gibson cannot stand the strain forever.

Larry Lajole did not make a hit in the three games at Boston. The once peerless slugger has a slump as well as the common or garden variety of club-swingers.

They are preaching sermons and writing articles on Tom Longboat's morals, and holding him up now as a terrible example for future generations. It must not be forgotten that Tom is an Indian, and consequently his ideal of morality is not the most advanced that could be instilled. If one is looking for an ideal athlete why look for the moralists pick out Bobby Kerr, Archibald, and a hundred others one could name.

Catcher Street caught a ball from Washington Monument. There are many big league ball players who can catch highballs all right.

For the first time since the American League was organized the National League is depending on a real beauty, enough to make a man forget his hay fever.

The western teams in the American League are doing better than at first, and if they do well in the last series will come home with a good majority of the games. Detroit and St. Louis each have tough propositions to go up against in Philadelphia and Boston, and both are liable to lose the series.

John L. Sullivan, Jake Kilrain, and Jim Corbett, former heroes of the prize ring, in the role of baseball umpires; a handbook syndicate with a clearing house similar to that used for recording racing wagers; the tendency of baseball winners, shows the tendency of the times, the immense popularity and hold of the great national game on the American people. While the three former fighters to doubt were signed to umpire as a drawing card for local semi-pro games, these three men now before the public in a theatrical way appreciate the publicity and indirect advertising which their baseball efforts will bring them. Betting on the races is decreasing in Chicago for the perfectly logical reason that with no racing allowed here no new players are being educated to its fascinations, while some of the former bettors inevitably go broke or tire of their losses.

with low records, for breeding purposes. Albert H. Merrill, of Danvers, Mass., is starting judge at the meeting, A. J. Keating, of New York, is the presiding judge, and associated with him is George W. Leavitt, New England's famous horseman.

BOWLERS COMING HOME

Had a Battle Against Great Odds, Says Daily Telegraph.

London, Aug. 24.—The Daily Telegraph says the embarkation of the Canadian bowlers marked the departure of a team which most pluckily battled against the colonies, the rinks here being a decided contrast to the lush grounds of Canada and the States.

Lord Strathcona states he is unable to go so far as Hamar Greenwood, but hopes to see within four years the service to New Zealand accelerated by six or eight days.

Sir C. Ross is endeavoring to induce the war office to test the comparative merits of the Ross and the Lee-Enfield rifles.

Winners Yesterday.

Brighton Beach—Ida D. 5 to 2, Trance 9 to 10, Woodcroft 2 to 1, Golden Pearl 1 to 6, John McMillan 11 to 20, Nash 1 to 4.

Fort Erie—Anna Daley 5 to 1, Allico 4 to 1, Awawegand 4 to 5, Salvatille 7 to 2, Servile 6 to 5, Tagane 30 to 1, Bitter Hand 8 to 5.

KIDNAPPED THE TWINS.

Hagersville, Aug. 24.—About 8 o'clock this morning the twin sons of Sylvanus Dixon, of Milton, were kidnapped from the home of their grandfather, Dr. Peter E. Jones, on the New Credit Reserve, about three miles from Hagersville. The children were on the road in front of the doctor's house when two women in a buggy drove up and put the children in the buggy and hurried away. It is supposed that one of the women was their mother, who resides in Toledo, Ohio.

Readville, Mass., Aug. 24.—Czarvna, owned by Dr. Cronyn Moran, of New York, won the American Horse Breeders' Futurity for trotting foals of 1906, the feature race of the opening day of the Grand Circuit meeting at Readville race track, and her second heat in 2:15 1/2 lowered the previous record for the stake of 2:17, made last year by The Leading Lady. She was far superior in speed to the rest in the field of starters, Belvasia and Czarine Bingen barely escaping the field in the final heat.

Lou McDonald was very successful in the three events on the card, winning easily with Leslie Waterman, the 2:10 pace, though in a couple of heats he drew the finish close with Arrow, driver by the New Hampshire reinsman, "Long Shot" Cox.

Ward was a handy winner of two heats in the 2:21 trot, but in the third was nipped by Kidd McGregor right at the wire, Ed Geers having slipped through next the pole.

McDonald's third win was the Horse Breeders' Futurity for 3-year-old pacers, with Master McKerron. It was simply a big job for the son of John A. McKerron, it being only in his last year by The Leading Lady that he did not distance the other starters. Clover Patch, the Buffalo entry, was off her form through having torn off a portion of a forward foot while being jogged this forenoon.

The city is fast filling with visitors from all parts of this country, Canada and even from abroad, to see the $50,000 Derby tomorrow, Baron Auschko and a party having arrived from Russia. The baron two years ago bought the sensational 2-year-old of John P. Hall, of Milton, Mass., besides several noted trotting mares.

in Double-Header at Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Aug. 24.—New York assumed the leadership in the race for the pennant of the National League today by taking two games from Pittsburg by scores of 4 to 1 and 5 to 1, before a crowd of nearly 17,000 baseball enthusiasts.

In the first contest neither side could score until the seventh inning, when Pittsburg made a run when Wagner got to first and went to second on an error by Tenney, and scored on Abbaticchio's single.

Ground rules, making a hit into the outfield good for two bases, kept Pittsburg from scoring in the first inning, when Wagner knocked what would have been good for a three-bagger with Leach on first. Willis weakened in the eighth inning with the result that New York got a home run, a triple, a double and two singles thereby placing four runs to their credit.

New York started to score early in the second game, getting one run in the first inning on a hit, an error, a base on balls and a sacrifice. The home team scored in the fifth on a triple and an infield out, but the visitors came back in the same inning with two runs on two singles and an error. In this inning Doyle grounded to Abbaticchio, who made a wild throw to second in an effort to catch Tenney.

Lefield was taken out in the seventh inning after New York had made two runs on a single, a base on balls, and a sacrifice.

HAPPENINGS OF A DAY IN BUSY EAST LONDON.

Children May Have a Longer Holiday

It is not unlikely that the children of Lorne avenue school will have a longer holiday than is usual this year for the work of rebuilding the building is but well started, and the school will not be ready for occupation by the time of the regular opening in September.

A meeting of the board of education will be called this week to discuss the question and decide on what course to take.

The front section of the school was torn down after the school closed, about July 1, and the contractor has not had time to finish the work.

Several of the rooms may be opened, but there are many objections to such a course, as it would be dangerous to have children around where the work is going on.

The new heating plant has been installed at Chesley avenue school and it is a great improvement on the old hot air system. The temperature was at the freezing point in the school many times last winter, and it was therefore found necessary to put in a new plant.

A NEW CHURCH FOR POTTERSBURG

Contract is Let and Work Has Already Begun.

Owing to the fact that the attendance of the London Junction Methodist Church has rapidly increased, the contract for a new church, with a seating capacity of 250, was recently let to Messrs. Reavely & Pilibank.

Building operations have already commenced, and it is expected that it will be ready for occupation by Oct. 1. It will be a frame structure, and is situated on Hale street, south of the postoffice.

A QUIET WEDDING IN THE EAST END

Mrs. Ann R. Allen, of Belfast, Ireland, Married to Mr. Albert Travers.

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Saturday evening at the manse of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, when Mrs. Ann R. Allen, of Belfast, Ireland, became the wife of Mr. Albert Travers, of Sheffield, England.

Mr. Robert McLoughlin assisted the groom, and Mrs. Sarah Pugh attended the bride. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Wm. Lowe, the pastor, of St. Matthew's Church, in the presence of a few friends.

They will reside in East London.

CURBS AND GUTTERS FOR HAMILTON ROAD

Work Was Commenced on Local Improvements Today.

Work was commenced this morning on the construction of the new curbs and gutters on the Hamilton road, between Rectory street and Anderson avenue.

The curb and gutter was petitioned for some time ago by the C. P. R. tracks in Toronto, as the water was causing considerable trouble by backing up on the roadway.

JAMES B. GERMAN A FORMER LONDONER

A RUNAWAY IN SOUTH LONDON

Bad Condition of the Roads Said To Be Responsible.

The condition of Wootley road between Elmwood avenue and Bruce street was responsible for a small runaway yesterday afternoon, which nearly resulted in a local painter receiving serious injury.

He was driving north with a wagon full of ladders and other parts of his outfit, when the horse became frightened at the noise of the bouncing wagon and ladders.

About thirty feet apart along the block are bumps nearly a foot high, and as the wagon struck these, the driver was finding it difficult to hold his seat.

He was clinging to the edge of the seat and trying to stop the horse, when a pedestrian came to his assistance and succeeded in quieting the animal.

Beyond having to gather up his outfit, which had been distributed along the road, the painter was none the worse.

CATHCART ST. IS BEING IMPROVED

Was in Bad Shape After the Sewer Had Been Completed.

Cathcart street, between Elmwood avenue and Bruce street, is being put into better shape by the corporation men.

The road was dug up for a sewer recently, and as a result it was in very bad condition when the work was completed.

The ground was of clay, and when the earth was being put back into the trench it was found that much could not be packed in. The road was consequently left in ridges where the main trench and the side drains were put in.

The road is now being plowed up, and it will be leveled over and rolled. At times during the wet weather this summer it was almost impossible to go over the road.

RESIDENTS COMPLAIN OF THE STATE OF THE PATH NEAR LORNE AVENUE SCHOOL.

Residents of the east end continue to complain that the sidewalk in front of the Lorne avenue school is in bad condition, and that it is very dangerous to pedestrians.

While passing the school last night after dark a well known east end lady tripped over a quantity of wire and sand, and was thrown heavily to the ground.

A few minutes later a gentleman passing along the same way was also tripped over and sustained painful cuts and bruises. Some alterations are being made in the school building and a large quantity of rubbish has been strewn over the walk.

Complaint will be made to the board of education regarding the matter.

FUNERAL SERVICES IN ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Late John Bouye Buried in St. Peter's Cemetery Today.

The funeral of John Bouye, formerly of London Township, who died in Victoria Hospital yesterday, was held this morning from the undertaking parlors of D. Stewart to St. Mary's Church. Mass was sung by Rev. Father Tobin. Interment was made at St. Peter's Cemetery, the services at the grave being conducted by Father McKeon.

SOUTH LONDON NOTES.

Rev. L. E. Davis, son of Dean Davis, of St. James' Episcopal Church, South London, leaves on Thursday morning for England, where he will take a course at Oxford University. He will sail from Quebec on Saturday.

Misses Gladys and Grace Baker, of King street east, have left to spend their vacation with Mr. Sinclair, at St. Mary's.

Mrs. Coak, of Queen's avenue east, has returned home after spending six weeks' vacation at Glencoe.

BROTHERHOOD WILL HOLD A MEETING

A New Leader Will Be Chosen to Succeed Mr. James Moore.

The regular monthly meeting of the Brotherhood of Andrew and Philip will be held in the South London Baptist Church Thursday evening.

The meeting has been called earlier than usual for the purpose of electing a new leader, as Mr. James Moore will leave shortly to take up his college course at Woodstock on Saturday.

During the summer months the meetings have been held in the form of outings at Springbank, with great success.

The members met on the first Thursday of the month at the park, and after attending to the business, sports were run off.

The idea met with the approval of all, and it is likely that the same plan will be followed next year.

VICTORIA SCHOOL WILL BE READY

Many Much-Needed Improvements Have Been Made.

The work of improving Victoria school has been practically completed and it will be ready for the opening in September.

The portion of the ceiling which caused trouble last term has been rebuilt, and there will be no danger from the falling plaster this autumn.

New cement walks have been laid around the building during the holidays. A portion of the school has been repaired.

MISSING LADY TURNS UP.
Windsor, Aug. 25.—Mrs. Annie Simon, the former inmate of the Home of the Friendless, who mystified the officials by disappearing on her way to take a position, has returned, and applied for readmission. She lost the slip bearing the address of the house to which she was directed, and then, owing to her chagrin decided to cross to Detroit, and look for her daughter. She walked twenty miles to Mt. Clemens, and then decided to return.

A London Invitation.
Resolutions from subordinate courts were presented and the hours of meeting then named.

Bro. John H. Hamblin at this juncture presented the invitation of the reception committee from the London and the coming of the fraternal societies. In so doing he referred to the fact that it was in London Independent Forestry saw its birth, and that it had ever since been a city where the order had prospered.

Bro. Hamblin also referred to the fact that the present high chief ranger was a native of this city, and on behalf of the members of the I. O. F. in London, he extended a hearty welcome, with the hope that the visit here would be pleasant and profitable.

Mayor Extends Welcome.

The civic deputation was then announced, and Bro. Backus of Aylmer, introduced His Worship Mayor Stevely, ex-Mayor Essery, Ald. Ferguson and J. A. Cottam.

H. C. R. Darch expressed the pleasure of the city court in having the city representatives and the fraternal societies present, and invited them to the dais, first calling upon Mayor Stevely.

His worship then extended the welcome of the city, and as a representative of the city, and as a brother Forester. He recalled his initiation twenty-two years ago, when the late S. C. R. Dr. Oronhyatekha presided. Of the five aldermen who received the highest vote in the city, four were members of the I. O. F. His worship referred to the I. O. F. as being chairman of the water commission. London had the honor of being the place of residence of the late S. C. R., and when Court Hope No. 1, the first order, had been instituted, Middlesex was the birthplace, too, of the present S. C. R. He gave them all a most hearty welcome. His worship was enthusiastically applauded.

"London is the old homestead of the I. O. F.," was the way Ald. Ferguson expressed it, and he added warm words of welcome that were likewise applauded.

Ex-Mayor Essery.
Ex-Mayor Essery was also delighted to add his welcome. As president of the National Fraternal Congress, he represented the 900,000 fraternalists in Canada, he extended greetings as the Canadian Order of Chosen Friends, he also conveyed their best wishes, and as representative of the Orange Order, too, he welcomed the I. O. F.

No soldier or sailor in the Empire had done as great work as the people in the fraternal orders were engaged in today. Poorhouses, he said, were many in the old country; here there was no need for them, and he paid an eloquent tribute to the fraternal societies, which he said, put Canada 1,000 years ahead of other countries. The result was the best men and women in the world.

Fraternal Greetings.
Vice High Chancellor of the Royal Arcanum, J. A. Cottam, extended fraternal greetings from the council of his order. He bore testimony to the great work being done by the I. O. F., and he said it was always a pleasure to extend fraternal greetings between sister societies. He spoke of the work of co-operation as compared with the work of trusts and big corporations. The fraternal work, he declared, was going to have an effect on the race. The Royal Arcanum knew what the experience of raising rates was, and he complimented the I. O. F. on its recent action, which he said would redound to all the community.

Praise for London.
Past High Chief Ranger Goodman, of Cayuga, congratulated the mayor on presiding over such a beautiful city as London. He also referred to the growth of Independent Forestry since its inception in this city. He thanked the civic deputation for their kind words.

High Secretary Henderson said the 20,000 members of Western Ontario appreciated the fraternal spirit shown by the sister societies. The broadness shown was appreciated and was an encouragement to them, and Dr. Henderson made an eloquent reference to the work of fraternalism, and assured the sister societies they had the best wishes and goodwill of the I. O. F. They felt honored that they were meeting where High Chief Ranger Darch, who had been such an able officer, dwelt, and where there were so many associations with the progress of Independent Forestry.

Following the applause of the high secretary's eloquence, the deputation retired, the members of the high court expressing their goodwill by singing: "For He's a Jolly, Good Fellow."

The court then adjourned until this afternoon.

Advance In Rates Discussed Today Foresters Hear the Arguments

One Delegate Says Fraternal Insurance Must Not Be Interfered With.

The advance in rates was the subject of consideration at the high court of the I. O. F. this afternoon, representatives of the supreme court, Bros. Alex. MacGillivray, P. H. C. R., and Matheson, supreme secretary, being heard, prior to adjourning for the outing at Springbank.

Just before they were introduced, however, a significant statement was made in reference to the insurance bill.

Fraternal Insurance.
Bro. E. B. Smith, of Parkhill, in presenting the report of the distribution committee, expressed the hope that the supreme court would be memorialized to oppose any action of the legislators to wreck fraternal insurance companies. He said that as far as the committee individually were concerned, they were determined to vote for no action on the coming Dominion elections who would not pledge himself to oppose any scheme of the corporations might advance to wreck fraternal societies.

The representatives of the supreme court were then heard.

Supreme Secretary Speaks.
Supreme Secretary R. Matheson expressed the regret at the inability of Supreme Chief Ranger Stevenson to be present. He, however, represented the supreme court. Bro. Matheson referred to the fact that he had spent six happy years in the order, and he had been an officer at the asylum.

The matter came before the supreme court, was thrashed out, and became the law of the order, and which it was the duty of every local Forester and Companion to carry out.

The address was still going on at 2:30.

Hotelmen Paid the Sum of $509.85 More Old Boys' Week Cases Dealt With

One Man Was Fined $50 but Others Got Off Lighter.

Police Court Clerk Moule has a wad of bills and change in his office at the police station this morning that a giraffe could scarcely have seen over as a result of the fines that have been imposed in the local hotelkeepers.

Twenty-two hotelmen in London, 21 of whom had been fined for breach of the I. O. F. law, were brought before the court, Aug. 3, when the Old Boys were coming home.

The last batch to appear came up this morning, and one by one they walked up and paid their fine of $20 and $25 costs each.

Magistrate Love commenced the proceedings by fining W. H. Thompson $50 and $25 costs for breach of the liquor laws.

Then one after another the names of J. B. Jennings, A. Saddler, W. P. Hanford, L. L. Walper, F. McLean, J. H. Cook and W. H. Mahon were called, and they were fined $20 and $25 costs each.

One man paid up yesterday. Altogether, as a result of the proceedings, Mr. Moule gathered in $509.85, which is going some, and doing a good business.

Indian Drunk.
Thomas Phillips, an Indian, charged with being drunk, admitted the offence. Phillips said he came from Oneida and was on a little excitement by explaining that he got his whiskey in Stratford.

Tramps Dealt With.
Magistrate Love believes in breaking up gangs of tramps, and J. H. Jarvis, James Gallagher, of Montreal, and J. Thibault, of Rochester, who were gathered in at the C. P. R. yards last night, were told that they could not be liberated together.

Jarvis, who says he has a wife and family in Toronto, was allowed to go today.

Gallagher will be released on Friday, and Thibault will be let go next week.

Assault Case.
Emma Hackett, a colored woman, pleaded guilty to assaulting Levi Cochran, and was bound over in the sum of $100 to keep the peace.

Case Adjourned.
The case of Dan Carroll and Frank McLean, charged with assaulting Joseph R. Wilson, and occasioning actual bodily harm, was adjourned until Sept. 9, and bail was taken for the appearance of Carroll and McLean in the sum of $50 each.

Wilson alleges that he was injured very seriously while being ejected from the barroom of the Duke of York Hotel by Messrs. McLean and Carroll.

Arthur Davis, a young man who refused to move, was asked to do so by a policeman, was fined $1.

When through catching cold you seem to be choking up, difficulty to breathe, pain or soreness over the lungs and other symptoms of pneumonia, the instant relief from Hyomei air is marvellous.

It penetrates quickly to the inner recesses of the bronchial tubes and lungs, where no liquid or moist medicine can reach.

When an asthmatic condition presents unusual wheezing and oppressed breathing, Hyomei will bring rest. Complete outfit $1.

LOCAL MARKET.

London, Tuesday, Aug. 25. The market today was well attended by farmers and buyers. Vegetables and fruits were again the most important items offered. Sales were inclined to be slow, but there was not much change in prices.

Grain—The best oats sold at $1.20 to $1.30 per cwt; a couple of loads of inferior quality sold at $1.10; old oats were scarce, at $1.50 per cwt. Wheat was sold at $1.50 per bu.

Hay and Straw—There was a fair demand for the 16 loads that were offered; prices were not as strong as yesterday, sales being made at $10 to $11.50 per ton. Straw plentiful and slow, at $5.50 per ton.

Butter and Eggs—Although there was not a large supply of butter, the grocers and dealers did not seem anxious to purchase, and as a consequence trade was a little slow; prices were unchanged, at 22c for crocks and 24c for pound rolls in wholesale lots. Eggs were in fair demand, at 18c for crate and basket lots, and 20c for a single dozen.

Vegetables and Fruits—Potatoes were easier, selling at 7c to 8c per bu and at $1.10 per bag; turnips and carrots, 35c per bu, and beets, 30c; onions, 8c to 9c per bu; tomatoes were plentiful and slow, at 20c per basket wholesale and 25c retail; cabbages, 40c per dozen; cauliflowers, 50c to $1.50 per dozen; celery, 40c per dozen; cucumbers, 5c to 10c per dozen; pickling cucumbers, 20c per 100; pickling onions, 12c to 15c per 100; and 70c to 75c per peck; rhubarb, 20c per dozen; lettuce, radishes, beets, carrots and onions, 15c to 20c per dozen; Hubbard squash, $1 to $1.50 per dozen.

Fruit—Apples scarce, but prices are no higher, at 30c to 45c per bu; pears in large supply, at 25c to $1 per bu for large and 50c for small; peaches could be had at 20c to $1 per basket, the latter price for early Crawford's; plums, 40c to 50c per 1-quart basket; black cherries sold at 10c to 12c per box; muskmelons varied in price from 40c to $3 per dozen.

Poultry—Old fowl were easier, at 7c per lb alive and 8c to 9c dressed; spring chickens, 10c per lb alive and 12c dressed; ducks, 8c alive and 10c dressed.

Dressed Hogs—The demand was brisk, at 25c per cwt.

Butchers' Meats—Beef sold at 55c to 57c per cwt; lamb, 12c to 13c per lb by the carcass; veal, $3 to $4, and mutton, $5 to $6 per cwt.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

Toronto, Aug. 25.—Trade slow; quality inferior; 50 loads in today, including 1,600 cattle, 1,500 sheep and lambs, 300 hogs and 150 calves. Quotations:

Men Should Strike

the best possible arrangement between their cash account and their tailor—there is downright economy in getting clothes made for yourself, from the best materials, with good fittings, and good workmanship. They hold their shape until the end, wear longer and give evidence of good tailoring up to the very last—provided, of course, that you order from the tailor who can guarantee. We are in the business for that purpose.

Late Mrs. Porter.

The funeral of Margaret Porter, who died on Saturday after a lingering illness, was held yesterday afternoon from the residence in New Street, Mrs. W. J. Marshall, concessioner, 15, corner of the Proof Line road. The services were conducted at 1:30 by Rev. Mr. Smith, the pastor of the Hensall Presbyterian Church. Interment was at Hyde Park Cemetery.

Mr. Wm. C. Coo and Miss Maud Coo are attending the annual convention of the Chartered Stenographic Reporters' Association of Ontario at Toronto. A number of the prominent stenographers of the United States are going to be present, including Col. Deming, of Harrisburg; Messrs. Beale, and Eldridge, of Boston, and Dettweiler and McBride, of Philadelphia, and Mr. E. V. Murphy, chief of the Senate corps, Washington. The session will be held at the Parliament Buildings and Normal School. Stenographers from London will be made welcome.

of their stewardship, and of matters of interest to the order. "It is a pleasure to greet you as companions and brethren, in the great work of fraternalism, and bid you welcome to this beautiful Forest City, London, the early home of Independent Forestry. I trust that no matter how diverse our views may be on matters which may come before us, that our deliberations and acts will be characterized by care and thoughtful consideration, but will demonstrate that our obligation at the alter of Independent Forestry. To do all that lies in my power to alleviate the needs, protect the honor and advance the welfare of the members of this order," is a vital living force with us, and not empty words or tinkling cymbals.

The Order.

"2. It is just thirteen years since the mother high court convened in this beautiful Forest City. At that time the high court comprised all of Ontario. It is now divided into four high court jurisdictions. These thirteen years have been eventful in the history of Forestry. Wonderful success has attended our efforts. At that time there were only a few members in all of Ontario had only a membership of 35,000. Today Western Ontario alone boasts of a membership of over 20,000. This numerical progress speaks volumes for the energy, ability and loyalty of the members of this jurisdiction.

"3. This past year has been a momentous year in the history of our order. You all know that at our high court meeting held at Berlin that Bro. E. G. Stevenson, supreme chief ranger, in addressing our high court meeting, in his address that the question of rates would have to be dealt with at the next supreme court meeting.

"At that time the royal commission had made its report and the recommendations contained therein considered by our supreme executive to be adverse to our society were summarized as follows:

"(a) It was proposed to divide our society into two classes—one to be composed of the members already in the society, the other to be composed of members who should thereafter join;

"(b) The moneys of the two classes were to be kept distinct and separate and no part of the funds of one class could be used for the purpose of the other and assistance could be rendered by one class to the other.

"(c) The readjustment recommended for the members already in the society was to transfer them to the new class upon their paying the new rate of association.

"(d) Transfer the present members to the new class giving them in the place of their present policies reduced insurance for such amount as the rate of premium paid would bear on the National Fraternal Congress table at attained age.

"Shortly after this a bill was introduced which was understood to have Government approval, giving legislative sanction to what were considered by our supreme executive to be objectionable features of the recommendations of the royal commission.

"The high standing committee at its meeting Dec. 31, 1907, discussed that part of the insurance bill dealing with the National Insurance societies, and passed a resolution to be forwarded to the supreme executive indicating our willingness to co-operate with them in having that part of the bill which we also considered detrimental to our society, and a committee at that meeting to co-operate with the supreme executive should they so desire. The middle of January, 1908, we had a call from the supreme executive to meet in the afternoon representatives from the various high courts in Canada re the proposed legislation. After a full and thorough discussion it was unanimously decided that a delegation proceed to Ottawa to interview the Government and endeavor to have that part of the bill dealing with fraternal insurance societies laid over until next session of parliament. This was consented to with the understanding that we, as a fraternal society, undertook to make reasonable provision for meeting our obligations to our members.

Supreme Court.

"4. The supreme court met in the city of Toronto, June 16, 1908. At that time important legislation re rating members who joined our society previous to 1899 was introduced and passed. As it is of the utmost importance that a complete and comprehensive report be submitted to this high court, I considered it wise to appoint a special committee from the delegates to the supreme court to bring in a report of the proceedings of that body. Said report will be laid before you at this session.

Finances.

"5. Our finances are in a healthy condition, as you will observe by an examination of the high treasurer's report. There is $6,876 57 credit balance on hand June 30, 1908, after providing for all outstanding checks. I am pleased to report that there are no outstanding accounts of officers, all being paid up to June 30, 1908.

"Our expenditure this Forestry year was somewhat higher than last year, owing to $327 50 increased expenses for the high court meeting at Berlin, largely due to the increase per diem allowance to delegates; also $407 increase of prize claims, an uncontrollable expense, besides incidental accounts which were incurred last year. Taking these items into consideration the other expenditures were somewhat less than a year ago.

"You will notice by the high treasurer's report that we have to our credit in the United Trust Company, $2,550. This is an amount of $2,500 (and interest) deposited on Jan. 1, 1908, after careful investigation as to the safety of the company, they having offered us 4 per cent per annum, whereas we were only obtaining from the Molsons Bank 3 per cent per annum.

Appeals.

"6. I am pleased to report that no appeal is to come before you at this session. A few minor matters came before me during the year, which were adjusted.

Appeals For Aid.

"7. Only one appeal for aid was received during the year, from Court Report No. 318. The appeal was made for a brother who had his finger taken off with a saw, blood-poisoning set in, which necessitated amputation at the wrist. In this appeal mention was made that it was understood that the brother had been offered by employers a large sum of money to give further information and to prepare a circular setting forth the facts, nothing further was heard from them, and I conclude that the company made settlement, thus relieving the court of issue.

Organization.

"8. It will not be necessary for me to give an extended report under this head as Bro. C. H. Merryfield, past high chief ranger, has full charge of this department under the supreme court, and your high standing committee thought it wise to place all the organizers of the high court also under his charge. He is therefore submitting a special report to this high court, giving full information on matters pertaining to the field work. I am pleased to say that this arrangement has proved very satisfactory, not only to the high standing committee, but to the local courts throughout the jurisdiction as the many scores of letters which I have received from them will bear testimony.

"Bro. Merryfield has been of invaluable assistance to me as high chief ranger. He was ever willing to co-operate with me in furthering the service of the order and was of special service in straightening out many difficult matters in the local courts.

"I heartily recommend that the same arrangements be continued by the incoming high standing committee, and I sincerely hope that the supreme chief ranger continues Bro. Merryfield as chief organizer of this jurisdiction.

"I would like to make individual mention of the valuable services of the sub-field workers, but as the chief organizer has dealt with this question I will simply say that I have been gratified with the excellent work performed by all.

The Work.

"9. During the year it has been my pleasure to officiate in instituting two subordinate courts, London Junction and Stratford, also in organizing Perth district committee, comprising the county of Perth and adjacent courts. Excellent and energetic work has been done by a large number of Companion and subordinate courts. Many of these deserve special mention, but for fear that I should overlook any I will not attempt to enumerate. Special credit is due to the courts that have materially increased their membership during the year, when we bear in mind the financial stringency and the thousands who were out of work on account of the prevailing industrial conditions. During the year many public and court meetings have been held. I have endeavored to attend all calls upon me, but at times they were so numerous that it was impossible for me to fully meet the demands.

"I am indebted to Brother R. D. Cameron, P. H. C. R., Bro. R. A. Harrington, P. H. C. R., Bro. John Porter, P. H. C. R., and Bro. John Peables, D. H. C. R., as well as the members of the high standing committee, who were ever ready to respond when called upon.

Correspondence.

"10. The correspondence during the year has been exceptionally heavy. I have endeavored to answer all communications promptly, but in a few cases this was impossible owing to absence from place of business.

Fraternal Dead.

"11. The scythe, that emblem of time, which cuts the brittle thread of life, has been at work, and during the Forestry year 159 of our members have been removed from earth's activities to "that undiscovered country from whose bourne no traveller returns," and while we bow our heads in sorrow and our hearts go out in sympathy for the sorrowing friends, let us be reminded of our own approaching end and be stimulated to greater endeavor in the cause of humanity, while the blessings of health and strength remain with us.

Guards of Honor.

"12. In accordance with resolution passed at St. Thomas, H. C. meeting that prizes be offered for the presentation of ritualistic work I have inspected the following guards of honor:

"Court MacGregor, No. 6, Chatham.
"Court Dresden, No. 164, Dresden.
"Court Success, No. 191, Oil Springs.
"Court Huron, No. 163, Sarnia.
"Court Orontyatekha, No. 23, Hamilton.

"And have awarded prizes as follows:

"Court MacGregor, No. 6, Chatham, first prize, $50.
"Court Success, No. 191, Oil Springs, second prize, $40.
"Court Orontyatekha, No. 23, Hamilton, third prize, $30.
"Court Huron, No. 163, Sarnia, fourth prize, $20.
"Court Dresden, No. 164, Dresden, fifth prize, $10.

Supreme Officers.

"13. I desire to acknowledge my indebtedness for the assistance and aid so freely given by the supreme officers and staff, especially our supreme chief ranger, Bro. E. G. Stevenson, who has ever been ready to meet members of your high standing committee and give counsel and advice in matters pertaining to the welfare, prosperity and permanence of our order, and notwithstanding the demands made upon him from all over the supreme court jurisdiction he readily responded to every call to address meetings in Western Ontario.

Bylaws.

"14. Re resolution adopted at Berlin, "That the bylaws be revised, and that the same be published in report of this high court meeting, and that the revision be made under the instructions of high standing committee," on account of time required to go through the high court reports, since division it was found impossible to have revised bylaws ready to be published in last year's high court report. Since that time a committee has performed the work and the bylaws will be printed in this year's report.

Recommendations.

"15. During the year I have made a copy (for filing) of each prize claim as it passed through my hands. By this method I was enabled to compare with the claims before check was issued thereby preventing payment of duplicate claims which through error sometimes came forward for payment. As this method entailed a large amount of work for the H. C. R., the high standing committee, acting on my recommendation, passed a resolution requiring the prize claims to be made in duplicate. The subordinate and Companion courts have hardly got into the way of this regulation. I would strongly recommend that this practice be continued.

"16. I would also recommend that the financial secretary be required to sign prize claims so that checks can be issued to him instead of recording secretary, as this officer carries in closer touch with the membership, thereby enabling him to pay prize money to proposers more promptly.

"17. I have asked the high secretary to prepare a statement of cost of supplies for the year, which has been done. See statement, high secretary's report, No. 6. I would recommend that the practice be continued, showing us the net cost of supplies each year.

Conclusion.

"18. I desire to thank you for your confidence in electing me to the non-
