

DIED SUDDENLY WHILE AT WORK

Mr. Samuel Friendship Found Dead in Room of Sterling Shoe Factory.

WELL-KNOWN SHOE MAN

Had Been Employed for Many Years by the Firm of Hyman & Co. Before Entering Sterlings'.

Mr. Samuel Friendship, who gained a wide acquaintance during his many years in London, was stricken with heart failure while at work at Sterling's shoe factory this morning, and died instantly. He was in his 64th year.

Mr. Friendship has lived in London for practically his whole lifetime, and was formerly employed in an official capacity at the old Hyman shoe factory on Carling street 20 years ago.

Upon leaving that concern he accepted a position at St. Hyacinthe, Que., and remained there for a year before returning to London. Since then he has acted as superintendent of the cutting department at Sterlings'.

This morning he left for his work in his usual good health, but was discovered by one of the employees, dead in a room into which he had gone alone a few minutes before.

Mr. Friendship was first found by Mr. George T. Broome, who endeavored to open the door of the room into which the old gentleman had gone.

He then called Superintendent Durgin, and the door was removed from the hinges, and the body was found sitting with his pipe in his hand, his death apparently having come most suddenly.

Dr. George Wilson was summoned, but life was extinct. Coroner MacLaren conducted an investigation but deemed an inquest unnecessary.

The deceased is survived by the following sons and daughters: James, of Chicago; Frank, of Cleveland; Albert, of London; Samuel, of London; Mrs. G. Khordis, of London; Mrs. A. Shinnick, of London, and Miss Annie, at home.

Awaiting Relatives.

Pending the arrival of relatives in his city from outside points, the funeral arrangements have not been completed. However, interment will be made at Woodland Cemetery, and the services will be conducted by Rev. Canon Craig of the Church of St. John the Evangelist.

Ottawa, Jan. 18.—Sir William Mackenzie, president of the C. N. R. company, was in Ottawa today interviewing members of the Government with reference to Government co-operation in securing the completion of the company's transcontinental line. Sir William was very non-committal in his replies to interviews as to the exact nature of his "agreement" with the Government, merely stating that "he was passing through Ottawa," and would leave for the west tonight, in connection with various matters in which the company was interested.

It is learned, however, by your correspondent that the main object now in view by the Canadian Northern system is to secure from the Government liberal aid towards the completion of the British Columbia link of the transcontinental line from Vancouver Head Pass to Westminster and Vancouver.

FINDS COFFIN READY ALTHOUGH MUCH ALIVE

Prospector Reported Frozen To Death in Porcupine Turns Up All Right.

[Canadian Press.] Ottawa, Jan. 19.—To have the story of his tragic death by freezing spread about and currently believed, and to come out of the back and find a coffin waiting for the bodies of himself and his companion, was the somewhat unique experience of Wm. A. Muir, formerly of this city, who was reported last week as having lost his life with a companion named Joseph Legault on Night Hawk Lake, in the Porcupine country. Muir has joined his wife and family at their home in Halesbury, and his relatives in Ottawa today received a letter from him in which he describes his experience and tells how the story originated.

Muir and Legault were on their way into Thomas Township with a toboggan loaded with provisions. The thermometer stood at 61 below zero. They met another prospector, Dick McGregor, who was coming out with his face badly frozen. McGregor advised the two men of the danger of making the journey, but being experienced prospectors, they decided to go on to their camp. Next day an Indian, crossing the lake came upon the bodies of two sleigh dogs, which had died of the cold. They were partly covered with snow, and the Indians, assuming they were human bodies, made no further investigation. He met McGregor and related his story of the finding of the frozen bodies of two men.

McGregor naturally concluded that the bodies were those of Muir and Legault, and the report rapidly spread through the mining country. Search parties were organized, but found nothing until they reached the Muir camp in Thomas, and found the two men alive and well.

Walter Smith, who was prostrated by the story of his death, the party immediately started out for Halesbury. "When I arrived at Porcupine," says Muir, "I found my coffin and that of Legault awaiting me on the station platform. I have been doing nothing but shake hands, read flattering obituaries in the newspapers, and answering letters and telegrams ever since." Legault's father resides in Montreal.

BROTHER AND SISTER WILL GET THE ESTATE

Late Walter Smith, Killed at Glencoe, Died Without Leaving a Will.

Proceedings are being taken by Blackmore and Veckes to wind up the estate of Walter W. Smith, who was killed, with his brother, Henry Smith, in a level-crossing accident at North Glencoe on the C. P. R. two weeks ago.

Walter Smith left an estate valued at a little less than a thousand dollars, but died intestate. His property will, therefore, be divided between the only remaining brother, Herbert, of Seattle, sister, Louisa, of Engle, and nephews and nieces in the same city.

Smith had prepared for his wedding to Miss Hattie Lewis, of Nelson street, and had purchased a house and furniture at a home on C. P. R. avenue, East London.

J. C. McDONALD IS A STRONG CANDIDATE

McDonald, reeve of West Williams, is regarded as a particularly strong candidate. He is an old-time member of the council, in which he has sat for no less than fourteen years. His term has been consecutive with the exception of a break of two years a few terms ago, and his experience in previous councils would be very useful should he be elected warden.

DOVE OF PEACE AT CITY HALL

Everyone Appears Satisfied With the Glaubitz Arrangement Decided Upon.

EMPLOYEES HAD TALK

Consider That Their Rights Are Sufficiently Safeguarded by the Commission.

Secretary Ellwood.

Peace reigns supreme at the city hall today, now that the question of the authority of General Manager Glaubitz has been definitely decided by the board of water commissioners. When the matter was brought up, it was apparently well satisfied with conditions. The Advertiser declared that he had nothing to say—that everything would continue as it had been in the past. He does not worry about the matter, whatever it may be, but will continue to go along as he did during the year just closed.

Secretary Ellwood is not agitated either, nor are the heads of the other departments. There was a conference between them Thursday evening, when the work of the various interests was gone over, and any differences existing were got rid of.

"Everything is all right," said Mr. Ellwood. "I have no complaint to make." The members of the board thoroughly understand the situation, and are working harmoniously. They are all pleased that a situation that had threatened to demoralize the business of the commission was satisfactorily settled.

ST. THOMAS WON BY FIVE SHOTS

Semi-Finals in the Colts' Bonspiel Are Being Played Today.

The semi-finals in the colts' bonspiel are being played today, and it is likely that this evening in time to permit the finals being played this morning at the London Club rink only two games remain to be played. The St. Thomas rink participated, St. Thomas coming out in the lead by five shots. Both games were close, the St. Thomas rink being defeated by St. Thomas, by one shot, the score being 15 to 14. The other game resulted in a win for Skip Stanbury, of St. Thomas, over Skip Carven, of Paris, by 13 to 9. The other games in the semi-finals are being played this afternoon, the London Whistles and Drumbo rinks taking part.

At the Thistle Rink. The first game for the consolation prizes were played by the St. Marys rinks winning out from Petrolia by six shots. The contest between Skip A. A. Hessey, of Petrolia, and Skip L. G. Maxwell, of St. Marys, was one of the best since the bonspiel opened, the final score ending at 10 to 10. The other St. Marys rink, skipped by Mr. F. J. Petrolia, by 14 to 8, the round going to St. Marys. The other games will be played today.

BUILD ANOTHER BRIDGE OR TWO MORE SCHOOLS

Trustee A. M. Hunt Points Out the Need of the West London Structure.

Trustee A. M. Hunt, of the board of education, stated this morning that it was his opinion that unless the bridge were built of the southern and western districts of the city, it would be necessary to construct two schools instead of one in the near future.

"There is need for more school accommodation in West London," he stated, "and if the bridge was constructed it would be possible for some of the West London children to come over to South London. It will be a difficult matter to construct a bridge without piers for the sum of $20,000, however."

FIVE OF A FAMILY HURT BY EXPLOSION

The Whole Side of a House Blown Out in Dover Township.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Chatham, Ont., Jan. 19.—Five members of the Chappel family, who live on the sixth concession of Dover, are now in the hospital, and one may die, as a result of a gas explosion in the house last night. When one of the members of the family tried to light the lamps the explosion took place. The whole side of the house was blown out, and every window in the place was smashed. Every member of the family was seriously injured. They did not use gas in the house, but they have a gas water well in the yard, and a windmill is used to force the water from this well to the house. It is thought that the gas worked its way into the house through the water pipe, and as it is odorless its presence was not detected until the match was lit.

LONDON MAY FEEL A COAL PINCH

Cold Weather and Car Shortage Come at the Same Time.

DEMAND IS VERY GOOD

Londoners Must Keep Warm and Are Not Sparing the Money to Beat King Frost.

If the cold weather continues for the next two weeks with as great a persistency as it has during the past two weeks, the city of London will likely be facing a shortage in the coal supply.

The cold weather has been so general as to cause an unprecedented demand for coal, and the result is that the mines cannot handle all the shipments as the dealers in the city are facing.

There is also a shortage of cars to transport it in, and unless relief comes soon in the shape of milder weather, the situation will be serious.

A Big Demand. The great demand comes from the big cities in the States, where the cold has been as intense as in Canada. The dealers there were not prepared for the continued cold weather, and during the past week or so orders have been pouring in for such quantities that it is almost impossible to handle them. On this side of the border the demand has not been so great, many of the dealers are getting low in their supply, and although they have carloads on order, there is no immediate prospect of their reaching here for a couple of weeks yet.

A Coal Famine. If the cold continues until that time London and likely many other cities and towns in the city will be facing a coal famine. The local dealers, however, are optimistic over the situation, and claim that it will not be very serious. Many of them have large supplies on hand, and can handle all their orders for the next three weeks. Some of the dealers are very low, but there is no likelihood of the coal being raised. The railways are endeavoring to supply the mines with all the available cars, and unless some line is snowed out of the line until the coal can be by the end of the month.

At the Thistle Rink. The first game for the consolation prizes were played by the St. Marys rinks winning out from Petrolia by six shots. The contest between Skip A. A. Hessey, of Petrolia, and Skip L. G. Maxwell, of St. Marys, was one of the best since the bonspiel opened, the final score ending at 10 to 10. The other St. Marys rink, skipped by Mr. F. J. Petrolia, by 14 to 8, the round going to St. Marys. The other games will be played today.

REFUSED TO LEAVE HIS POST

Rev. R. Elliott, of London, a Hero in the Chinese Fighting Zone.

PLACE IS A WILD ONE

Is at Work Upon a Combined School and Hospital, and Is Determined to See It Through.

In a little Christian settlement, founded by the famous "Cambridge Seven," and situated on one of the rivers of Chung-Ling, where the worst of the Chinese battles has occurred, Rev. Dr. Elliott, son of Mrs. J. H. Elliott, of 556 Ridout street, London, is holding his post despite the fact that the wilder of the revolutionists are situated in the district.

While practically all of the missionaries have left the district where the fighting has been at its height, upon being urged by the consuls, and in many cases forced to leave whether they wanted to or not, Dr. Elliott has persisted in remaining at his post.

Recently his colony began work on a combined school and hospital for the district, and were they to leave there is no doubt that the uncompleted work would be demolished by looters, with whom the district is filled.

STUCK AT HIS POST. The community in which the "Cambridge Seven" is located is largely populated by Christians, and is an isolated party in the territory through which the wave of revolt has rolled. On every hand, however, are bands of brigands, the most dangerous element in the revolution.

It was known that the danger was to confront the Canadian missionaries in China, friends of Dr. Elliott in this city made the prediction that no matter what came he would not leave his district.

A letter was received a few days ago by Mrs. Elliott, and while by this time it is several weeks old, there are many facts of interest.

One of Dr. Elliott's letters reads in part as follows: "A few days ago every one was panic-stricken. Hundreds fled to the hills. Houses nearest the city walls were torn down, and money was collected to try and buy the release of things, however, are quieter now, and it is expected that the bulk of the fighting will be done in other places. It is wonderful how friendly both sides are to the missionaries. The motto of the revolutionary party is 'Destroy the Manchus. Protect Christians. Give Peace to the People.'"

Dr. Elliott states that the difficulty he has in getting help for his new hospital. Owing to the disturbed state of the country it is impossible to procure money.

Mrs. Elliott states that people in China are confident that the revolution will succeed.

SAFE AT SHANGHAI

Mr. J. H. Mortimore, of 456 Grey street, has received word of the safe arrival at Shanghai, China, of his son, Rev. J. H. Mortimore, together with Mrs. Mortimore (formerly Miss Cassidy), and their children.

Mr. Mortimore did not come from Shanghai with the party of twenty-five Canadians who arrived last Friday, and whose thrilling flight to safety was described in a special cable dispatch to The Advertiser, but arrived early in December, and has taken up housekeeping there. He will remain at Shanghai for some time until the trouble has subsided somewhat, and does not intend to come back to Canada, as he was home on furlough one year ago.

While Mr. and Mrs. Mortimore were in the thick of the trouble they were not molested, and they were able to save all their property.

A JUBILEE FUND

Baptists of City Organize for Expansion in Home Mission Work.

Last evening in Adelaide street Baptist church the pastors and representative men of the Baptist churches of the city were entertained to supper for the purpose of meeting the Rev. W. E. Norman, D. D., superintendent of home missions in Ontario and Quebec.

Dr. Norman delivered a most interesting and informing address upon the proposal to raise a "Diamond Jubilee fund" of $60,000 for forward movement work in Ontario and Quebec.

During the address many illustrations were given of the prospects of the work in Ontario, and the need of definite evangelistic work among our foreign-speaking population.

After the address a conference was held, in which many took part, after which it was decided to form a local committee, consisting of three members from each church, with Mr. J. N. McDermid as convener, to lay before the churches the purposes of the fund. Pledge cards were then handed around, some of which were immediately signed, and the amount promised being over $800. The fund already stands at over $32,000.

ARABS AND TURKS IN TERRIFIC ATTACK

Forced Italian Troops Into an All Day Battle But Were Finally Repulsed

[Canadian Press.] Tripoli, Jan. 19.—A terrific attack was made by a large body of Turks and Arabs yesterday on an Italian column which was on the march about ten miles from the town of Tripoli.

The Italian troops, which consisted of detachments of all arms, left Tripoli early in the morning on the way to Chirganish, a small oasis situated 10 or 11 miles along the coast to the west of the town, and surrounded by a number of fortifications which had hitherto given shelter to Arab irregulars.

Suddenly, as the soldiers were marching along the road, which runs parallel to the coast, they were attacked by a series of onslaughts by a large force of Turks and Arabs.

The Italians immediately took up position and threw up fire trenches, and the enemy continued their attacks throughout the day, but finally retired.

Details of the losses have not yet been reported.

JUDGMENT GIVEN FOR HALF A DOLLAR

Judge Elliott Rendered Decision in Harris vs. Whitney Today.

Judgment for fifty cents and no costs was given by Judge Elliott in the case of Harris vs. Whitney in the division court this morning. Mrs. Lucinda Harris alleged that George Whitney owed her $50, the balance of a loan of $55 which he had borrowed from her.

Whitney admitted borrowing the $55, but claimed that he had paid her back $12 in small payments, and that she was indebted to him for an account of $43.50 for board.

According to evidence given in court, Mrs. Harris kept house for Whitney before his marriage. Afterwards she and Mrs. Whitney did not live apart, and Whitney had words with her because she allowed Blackstock to visit her. The Whitneys lived on Wilson avenue, West London. Whitney claimed that he had ordered her to leave, telling her he would pay her back the loan in small payments. She refused, declaring that she Lucknow, Jan. 18.—This season, in the opinion of Reeve Mitchell, will mark the passing of Lucknow's last sawmill. Mr. Mitchell, who has been in the lumbering business for years, and now controls the business in Lucknow, is of the opinion that the industry which was formerly the mainstay of Northern Bruce is played out.

"This is about the last year I shall be able to run," he told The Advertiser today. "This winter will about clean up the country, and we shall have to get into Algoma for our hardwood and pine. The furniture factory here is now importing almost all of its lumber, and I am at present manufacturing the last of the maple."

ULSTER WOMEN ENTER THE HOME RULE FIGHT

Fifty Thousand Issue Fiery Appeal for Help From Their English Sisters.

Belfast, Jan. 18.—Fifty thousand women members of the Ulster Unionist Associations have issued today a fiery manifesto to their sisters in Great Britain, asking them to defeat the home rule bill.

The Duchess of Abercorn presided at the meeting of the council of the Ulster Unionist Associations, which adopted the appeal to the women of Great Britain. In the course of a speech she said:

"We will not have home rule, and if we are thrown out of our heritage we shall stand by our menfolk, resisting to the uttermost the domination of a rebel parliament in Dublin."

The manifesto declares the Unionists' determination to hold Ulster for the empire, and asserts that home rule "will reduce the whole country to the rage and riot which are found in Ireland only in those districts where the rule of the National League is supreme."

BEEKEEPERS MEET

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Guelph, Jan. 18.—Beekeepers from all over the district attended a most interesting illustrated lecture on "The Present and Future of Beekeeping," given by E. R. Root of Medina, Ohio.

Mr. Root's talk was of great practical value, and during the address he entered a cage in which was a swarm of bees, and showed how to handle them without being stung.

GREAT OPPORTUNITIES FOR SATURDAY SHOPPERS

There is no time like the Annual Stocktaking for rooting out the odds and ends in all departments. During the last few days every dollar's worth of merchandise in this store has been handled and listed for stock inventory, and anything in the shape of broken lines and odds and ends which may have missed the eye of the merchandise man during the pre-stocktaking sales, or perhaps many lines, though broken, he had not the nerve to sacrifice—thought too good. Many of these in listing have been severely dealt with, and customers who have been attending the sales of the last ten days will know what to expect Saturday, when many additional clearings will be added to the already long list. We particularly draw the men's attention to the clearing of Turnbull's and Ellis' Underwear, $2.00 to $2.50 finest lines, at $1.39, broken sizes and ranges, and Men's Fur Coats, and remind ladies of the Millinery clearance and Half-Price Sale of Ladies' Misses' and Children's Winter Cloth Coats.

All Ladies', Misses' and Children's Winter Cloth Coats Half Price

$4.50 TO $40.00 COATS,

Sale Price $2.25, $20

Ladies' Ready-to-Wear—Second Floor.

Final Clearing of Trimmed Millinery

98c and $1.98 $2.39

Ostrich Feathers, 15c and 29c

Second Floor.

Every Coat listed at half price, and now on sale. The entire stock to choose from. Tweeds, Beavers and Serges, all this season's styles, and with our winter only just beginning, adds much to the importance of such reductions, as greater would not be expected on the last day of winter. Those who come first will get best coats, and a deposit will hold your choice if you are not prepared to purchase tomorrow. Imagine stylish $10.00 Coats for $5.00, $20.00 Coats for $10.00, and $40.00 Coats for $20.00. The price you pay now is the amount you save.

Stock listing in this department has rounded up the balance of trimmed felts, etc., also all shapes, ornaments and hat trimmings, feather sprays, wings, etc., which have been priced ridiculously low in order to clear every dollar's worth of merchandise in this section quickly.

The cost of the shape or the amount of trimming is no consideration now, as it is, in this department more particularly, our set rule that nothing shall be left over from one season to another, hence these sweeping reductions.

Saturday in the Men's Store

From the standpoint of quality never since this Men's Store was opened have such high-grade goods been offered at such reductions. We speak particularly of Turnbull's "Ceetee" and "Ellis" Brand Underwear, the finest grades manufactured in Canada. In three years we have not had a broken-price sale of these goods. Tomorrow all broken lots will be cleared; also Tiger Brand, Watson's and Penman's goods. All odds and ends must go. Boys' Sweater Coats and Men's Fur and Fur-Lined Overcoats are on the programme for Saturday.

Boys' and Men's Sweater Coats and Children's Toques

Here is one of the best items listed for Saturday, but unfortunately they are not in large quantities, and certainly will not be enough for all who will be after these, and we hope that those who cannot come early will be disappointed if all are sold, as we expect they will be at an early hour. We cannot avoid these disappointments. When stocks are sold down to a few odds and ends they must be cleared, and all have equal chances, as none are sold before the opening hour of the day of sale.

You have the same opportunity now. We are offering the choicest lands along the new railroad at prices ranging from fifteen dollars per acre up. North Coast Land Company, Limited. LONDON, FRIDAY, JAN. 19.

THE DISCREDITED CHAMP CLARK.

The Washington correspondent of the London Times has given a little more light to the British mind on the subject of the reciprocity campaign in Canada and the United States.

Writing of Mr. Champ Clark's clumsy attempts to explain away his annexation talk, the Times correspondent says:

"The point of the statement is not its denial that Mr. Clark has advocated forcible annexation—for neither in his speech in Congress last winter nor in his speech in Nebraska (summarized in a Reuter telegram published in the Times of Nov. 3) was Mr. Clark understood to be favoring forcible annexation—but the way in which he is evidently trying to back down. Mr. Clark is a candidate for the Democratic nomination in the presidential campaign. Did he really believe that nine-tenths of the American nation wanted union by mutual consent, he would hardly have tried to drop so popular an issue.

"The fact is that Mr. Clark's candidature has suffered considerably from his supposed views upon annexation. They are held to be not only impractical, but, what is worse, unrepresentative. They have caused his 'soundness' to be questioned on all hands."

So British readers are plainly informed through the columns of the Times that the great mass of Americans have not the remotest notion of annexing Canada by suasion, let alone by force.

This is, of course, exactly what the reciprocity press of this country tried to make plain last September, and the reverse of what the anti-reciprocity press pretended day in and day out. That tale of Americans plotting annexation is coming to be seen by nearly everybody in what it really was, in plain English, a campaign lie.

The Times correspondent proceeds: "His (Champ Clark's) statement in Congress was discounted by his evident desire to 'put the President in a hole' by discrediting reciprocity in Canada. His Nebraska speech cannot be so explained. In it he deliberately took issue with what is undoubtedly the overwhelming sentiment of America, the sentiment being unimpeachable, political union with Canada is undesirable. Were there any wish for union, it would have manifested itself in the form of less bitter disappointment when reciprocity was rejected by the Dominion. But, as I pointed out in a previous letter, there has been a very real and genuine feeling of disappointment in the United States to whether the Speaker will be able to extricate himself from a position which he is evidently beginning to find uncomfortably false."

Evidently, Mr. Champ Clark made a mistake in his tactics and now knows it. He is not so stupid, at least, as a few Canadians who may still entertain the idea that the mass of the Americans contemplate annexing Canada, somehow, some time. At first he thought it very cunning politics to make Canadians think that the Americans would get them if they didn't watch out, and so to defeat Tat's aims. He may be credited with some success in this. Then he thought that surely the Democrats of his own country would hold up their hands for some sort of annexation, and he could therefore carry favor with his party by sticking to his guns in resolute style. But all his efforts fell flat, and his belated attempt to pull the fat out of the fire only makes him more ridiculous than before in the eyes of his countrymen. He utterly mistook public opinion. That is the end of him in the Republic.

"MERRY ENGLAND" STILL.

The last number of the London Tatler to come across is full of glided accounts of the Christmas festivities celebrated by the nobility and their friends. Isn't that a pleasant disappointment now? Who would have thought it?

A year ago there was nothing but gloom in the peerage camp. Society was getting ready to quit. A black Christmas had ensued upon the crusher of the lords' vote election. It was all as melancholy as the passing of Arthur. But one short year has elapsed, bringing all the woe that Radical vindictiveness could devise, and yet the Tatler chronicles a perfect din of revel throughout the length and breadth of the best society in Merry England. They dance and sing, there is marriage and giving in marriage, they ring the bells and twine the holly wreath, hunt and make house-parties, laugh and scream as happily as ever under the mistletoe. Who now thinks of leaving those stately homes, those grand baronial halls for vulgar America, or labor-ridden Australia, or Latin Europe that is all turning into a republic just like China? No, the bondholders and landholders stick to the old ship yet, they consent to live on the same island with Lloyd George, and have a good time as of yore. Oh, what a merry place is England still; after all, it is hard to beat, especially when trade flourishes somehow more than ever under that work of darkness, the Radical budget. So, in the Christmas tide, they "Do nothing but eat, and make good cheer,

And praise God for the merry year;
'Tis merry in hall when beards wag all.
Be merry, be merry."

Under the apas shadow of that budget the social princes talked of selling out; when the Parliament bill was up they yelled. Asquith down and threatened to die or leave the country. Only the Marquis of Queensberry, of prize-fighting renown, has left, saying that England is no place for a nobleman. All the rest of the dukes and belted earls manage to live on and stay on. The shadow has passed, they have had a most enjoyable Christmas, thank you, and the only real shadow is the sort that hangs over cotton mill operatives and such fry.

Those Canadians who mingled their tears with those of the nobility will be glad to hear that society in the old country has plucked up heart.

THE LAW OF THE JUNGLE.

The members of the Transcontinental Railway Commission have been asked to resign.

There is no cause for this except the desire of the Government to reward or silence some of its followers by high-salaried positions. The commissioners were not accused of partisanship or incompetence. No more were the members of the International Waterways Commission, who were replaced by friends of the Government.

Two of them defeated candidates. The Quebec Conservatives in the House have petitioned to have the same treatment meted out to the Montreal harbor commissioners, but as these are relatively minor offices, the present holders may continue to hold them. Perhaps it is fortunate for some of the judges that they have statutory protection against the spoilsman.

The law of the jungle has been sanctioned by several cabinet ministers. Mr. Borden has tried to lay a restraining hand on them, he has failed, or only partly succeeded. The measure of his failure in this respect will be the measure of his failure in everything else. Mr. Borden preaches civil service reform, but he is like the man who makes a profession of piety without working at it. As the Toronto Star aptly remarks, Mr. Borden is credited with Good Intentions, but what is he going to do?

BOARD WILL DISCUSS SUPERVISOR'S NEED

School Trustees Will Hold a Special Meeting on Tuesday Next.

There will be a special meeting of No. 1 committee of the board of education on Tuesday afternoon next to discuss the question of appointing supervisors for the kindergarten and the domestic science departments of the public schools.

The abolition of the position of relieving principal will also be taken up. The session promises to be very interesting.

Since the resignation of Miss Jean R. Laidlaw there has been no supervisor of educationists in the city and of course a supervisor is necessary. It is also thought that the domestic science department should also have a head.

As for the relieving principal, Dr. Truesdale and other trustees consider that the necessity for such a position has passed. It is pointed out that it was impossible under former conditions to allow the principal time to visit the various departments of the school, and the relieving principal was named in order to permit this. With the establishment of domestic science and manual training classes the principals have plenty of time for visiting the rooms in the school.

Consequently the trustees think that the position could be dispensed with, and the relieving principal given a school in any event, the question will be thoroughly discussed before action is taken.

Victim of Chronic Catarrh Cured.

I contracted a severe cold while following my occupation of furniture travelling, and eventually it developed into Catarrh. I bought a large package of Catarrhozone, used it as per directions, and have never been bothered since. I will be only too glad to give any information I possess to any person suffering from the disease that was the bane of my life two years.

NO HIGHER CRITICISM FOR THIS WOMAN

Mrs. K. McDowell, of Cleveland, Says Men Are Deviating From Right Path.

Mrs. K. McDowell, the Cleveland, Ohio, colored evangelist, who is conducting revival meetings in the B. M. E. Church on Grey street, is a youthful-looking, amiable-appearing woman, with a clear, strong voice, which lends itself readily to a certain fluency of speech which she has the talent to possess. Of a comparatively light complexion, and wearing a small black bonnet after the fashion of a deaconess, which becomes nicely her glossy black hair, she is a very attractive preacher when she appears in the pulpit.

Essentially orthodox in her teaching, in the course of her sermon she took occasion to denounce the higher criticism and the new theology with which she quite evidently is not in accord.

She took for her text Matthew xvi, 15, "He saith unto them, but whom say ye that I am?" The world has had to confess Christ, Peter knew. He asked his disciples whom they thought He was.

"The time comes in our life," said the speaker, "when we for ourselves have to confess Christ. Peter knew. He asked his disciples whom they thought He was."

"Know Little About Christ." "God is the source of all life. Jesus Christ is the fountain of life."

"Today people know very little about Christ or the Word of God. Their interest is centered in religious novels, in magazines and all the trash on the bookshop shelves. Through the Spirit, through the Word, and by being alone with God, can we arrive at the truth."

"Christ answered, 'Thou art Peter.' Has Christ changed your name and nature since you have become a Christian?" she asked. "Peter had been called Cephas, a little stone. As he grew in knowledge of Christ and the truth he became a rock."

"Christ said, 'Upon this rock I will build my church.' Whether on the faith shown by Peter or on the which Peter himself, it is not his merit, faith, too, will Christ build."

Decrying new doctrines and isms, Mrs. McDowell observed that today men are trying to make every man his own savior. The higher criticism and the new theology are abroad. The world says that Christ is not divine, but Jesus still asks his disciples, 'Whom say ye that I am?' Jesus is still changing the hearts of men and saving them from sin."

A New Sect.

Here the evangelist referred to a new sect which has become numerous in American cities among the colored people, which is known as the "Saints of God." This new sect, she declared, does away with the new birth and the intercession of prayer, and worship their prophet, Crowley, rather than God.

"But you can't change the Word of God or the laws of God," she declared. She will speak every night the remainder of this week and all next week.

The usual testimony service was held, and the old-time revival hymns and songs were sung with a zest that had inspired the most callous and unconverted heart. Since the commencement of the services quite a number have expressed a spiritual quickening, and much good work is being accomplished.

The funeral of Mrs. May Lillian Clark, who dies at Victoria Hospital on Wednesday, will be held tomorrow afternoon from the undertaking parlors of Mr. George E. Logan. Services will be conducted there by Rev. Dean Davis at 2 o'clock, and interment will be made at Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

HAMILTON SAVED BY LONDON AND TORONTO

"Times" Tells of Reception Accorded Delegation in Regard to Conduits.

The Hamilton Times says: The board of control was indignant this morning when it discussed the throw-down it got from the hands of Premier Whitney at Toronto yesterday, when it tried to get legislation to force companies using overhead wires to place them underground.

The lethargy of the Premier will likely result in Hamilton being forced to delay its underground construction or else wait for perhaps a year until legislation is secured. Controllers Allan and Gardner said this morning that when they approached the Premier he gave them the icy stare, but managed to open up a smile and the glad hand when the Toronto delegation arrived on the job. Otherwise it is doubtful if Hamilton's delegation would have received any consideration whatever.

Strong Language.

The plea of Whitney that the matter should have been taken up before they consider utterly foolish. Hamilton has been given a deliberate insult. It was planned all along that, as soon as the frost left the ground, about March or April, the underground work for the hydro system would be commenced, and that the city would likely be taken by the Hamilton would have fared worse if she had played a lone hand and had not been accompanied by officials from both Toronto and London.

CHOIR ENJOYED A PLEASANT EVENING

Members of New St. James' Church Royally Entertained on Thursday.

Thursday evening was an especially happy one for the choir of New St. James' Presbyterian Church. After a merry sleigh ride of two hours around the city, the members were driven to the home of their president, Mr. Charles Mountjoy, 443 Piccadilly street, and Mr. and Mrs. Mountjoy proved themselves ideal entertainers.

After a dainty supper and some interesting games, a musical programme was given, consisting of a laughable musical sketch by Dr. Pearce; selections composed of four choir members (the Misses A. McKenzie, C. Decker, M. Sutherland and E. McCormick); solos by Miss Garner and Mr. Ed. Webster, and a duet by rs. Chapman and Miss Stratch.

At the conclusion of the programme, Dr. Pearce, the new organist and choir master, who has made very warm friends among the choir members, conveyed to Mr. and Mrs. Mountjoy the hearty thanks of all present, to which Mr. Mountjoy replied neatly.

After singing Auld Lang Syne and the National Anthem, the party broke up at an early hour.

CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETY WANT INCORPORATION

London Men Desire to Open a Store in This City at Once.

At a largely-attended meeting of the shareholders of the London Co-operative Society held Thursday night, it was decided to send a deputation to Toronto to urge the Government to issue them a charter to open a co-operative store in the city. Deputations will also be in attendance from Berlin and Waterloo.

The society has been in operation for nearly two years in London, and the promoters claim that they have met with considerable success.

A delivery wagon is owned, and the goods are purchased wholesale. They are delivered to the various members of the society, the regular tariff being charged. At the end of the year the books are balanced, and the profits are divided among the several members.

It was thought that a store would be of decided advantage to the members of the society, and a deputation will go to Toronto. It will be headed by Mr. G. Dickson.

Cynthia Grey and EVERY MAN'S Page

The Artistic Temperament.

(By Cynthia Grey.)

Once upon a time there was a man. He had a common malady. It was artistic temperament.

He showed symptoms of it early. In the very tender years if his new suit did not please him he went into a tantrum, and his family, having money, immediately bought another.

The fond mother would consolingly say, "He has such individual tastes." When he went to school he just hated figures. He did not join in the sports of boys, for, really, now, they were too "rough."

He was sent to a boarding school, and while the other fellows were building muscles he could be found in a little corner of his room in a dressing-gown reading things—mostly things.

He would rather stay indoors and play ping-pong than go out and play ball. The poor child had so-called fits of despondency, and on the first provocation he had to go home to mother.

And then dear, fond mother coddled and humored him, for didn't the boy have "temperament?" He was so high strung!

The dear child was really like no other. He had such a refined sense of the fitness of things (whatever that is).

Then he took to writing. It was indeed difficult to live with him in those days. But think of his chosen calling! It isn't everyone who goes in for art and writes for magazines.

If he lost a collar button—heavens! the whole household was upset. And so it went on, and, strange to say, he was no uncommon variety of the species. There is scarcely a family that has not someone suffering from the affliction and inflection.

Everywhere he went he had an air of touch-me-not-or-I-break attitude. Then he went in for painting and all the rest of it. (The artistic temperament has many outlets). He gave teas and things.

He sought the occult and attracted his kind. All had to be "just so." He was so "aesthetic," don't you know. If it was a dark day his nerves were all on edge. A startling bit of news in the morning paper spoiled his entire day.

If the laundry man did not bring his linen on time he became peeved. And throwing things at servants was one of his favorite diversions.

Now, in the everyday course of events it came to pass that (money being but a transitory god) by no unusual turn of the fortune wheel he was suddenly left without it, but with the full-grown artistic temperament.

Not having mingled with real souls that do things, he was somewhat at sea in the seething centre of it. He had had things done for him, rather than being the doer. In truth, he had not observed the real note in life, which is, as our friend Lampton puts it, "Do what you want to have done, rather than what you want to do."

For, before he had wanted to do the things that pleased him, and now he was compelled to do the things that he had done for him. He had no fighting facilities. And there he was left with his foibles and fancies and dreams. For even his friends who had sipped his tea and eaten his toast were so busy, you know.

They had "so little time these days." He had to choose the little out-of-the-way places to eat his frugal meal.

But, to make a long story short, here he came in contact with the real, the tangible, the live souls. He found earth-bound spirits—the workers who do in the dreaming, rather than dream in the doing.

Perhaps it was not too late and he may have conquered his early tendencies.

Moral: You cannot pay bills with artistic temperament!

The PRODIGAL JUDGE

The Famous Novel by VAUGHAN KESTER

Copyright, 1911, The Bobbs-Merrill Company

"That was very nicely said, Mr. Betts," observed the judge. He smiled widely and sweetly. The sheriff gave him a hostile glare. "Do you know that Morrow has left town?" the judge went on. "I ain't got nothing to do with Judge Morrow. It's my duty to see that this building is ready for him when he's a mind to open."

"You are willing to assume the responsibility of throwing open these doors?" inquired the judge affably.

"I shoudly am," said Betts. "Why, some of these folks are our leading people!"

The judge turned to the crowd and spoke in a tone of excessive civility. "Just a word, gentlemen—the sheriff is right; it is your court house and you should not be kept out of it."

No had been there for some time, and some of your whose presence in this building will sooner or later be urgently desired. We are to have a new building to enter, but I beg you to remember that there will be five men inside whose prejudices are all in favor of the old one."

He pushed past Hues and entered the court house, followed by Yancy and Hannibal. "We'll let 'em where I can talk to 'em," he said almost gaily. "Besides, they'll come in anyhow when they get ready, so there's no sense in exciting them."

In the court house, Murrell, bound hand and foot, was seated between Carrington and the Earl of Lambeth in the little raised-off space below the judge's bench. Fear and suffering had blanched his unshaven cheeks, and given a wild light to his deeply-sunken eyes. At sight of Yancy a smothered exclamation broke from his lips—he had supposed this man dead these many months!

Hues had abandoned his post, and the crowd, suddenly grown clamorous, surged the narrow entrance. One of the doors, borne from its hinges, went down with a crash. The judge, a fierce light flashing from his eyes, turned to Yancy.

"No matter what happens, this fellow Murrell is not to escape—if he calls on his friends to rescue him he is to be shot!"

The hall was filled with swearing, struggling men. The floor shook under their tread; then they burst into the court room and saluted Murrell with a great shout. But Murrell, bound, in rags, and silent, his lips frozen in a ghastly grin, was a depressing sight, and the boldest felt something of his unrestrained lawlessness.

From him. Less noisy now, the crowd spread itself out among the benches or swarmed up into the tiny gallery at the back of the building. Man after man had hurried forward, bent on passing beyond the railing, but each had encountered the judge, formidable and forbidding, and had turned aside. Gradually the many pairs of eyes roving over the little group surrounding the outlaw, focused themselves on St. Cum Price. It was in unconscious recognition of that moral force which was his, a tribute to the grim dignity of his unshaken courage, what he would be seemed worth considering.

He was charmed to hear his name pass in a whisper from lip to lip. Well, it was time they knew him! He squared his ponderous shoulders and made a gesture commanding silence. Battered, shabby, and debauched, he was like some old war horse who sniffs the odor of battle that the wind incontinently brings to his nostrils.

"Don't let him speak!" cried a voice, and a tumult succeeded.

Cool and indomitable the judge waited for a subsidy. He saw that the crowd was stealing back into Murrell's face. The outlaw was feeling that he was a leader not overthrown, that he was a hero and a follower, his safety was their safety too. In a lull in the storm of sound the judge spoke in a low, steady voice.

But his words were lost in the angry roar that descended on him.

"Don't let him speak! Kill him! Kill him!"

A score of men sprang to their feet and from all sides came the click of rifle and pistol hammers as they were drawn to rest on a breath. He swung about on his heel and gave a curt nod to Yancy and Carrington, who falling back a step, tossed their guns to their shoulders and covered Murrell. A sudden hush grew up over the tumult, and the judge, with a jeering, dwindled to a murmur, and a dead pall of silence rested on the crowded room.

The very taste of triumph was in the judge's mouth. Then came a commotion at the back of the building, a whispered ripple of comment, and Colonel Pentress, elbowed his way through the crowd. At sight of his enemy the judge's face went from white to red, while his eyes blazed, but for the moment the force of his emotions left him speechless. Here and there, as he advanced, Pentress recognized a friend and bowed coolly to the right and left.

"What does this ridiculous mockery mean?" he demanded harshly. "Mr. Sheriff, as a member of the bar I protest! Why don't you clear the building?" He did not wait for Betts to answer him, but continued: "Where is this man Hues?"

"Yonder, Colonel, by the captain," said Betts.

"I have a warrant for his arrest. You will take him into custody."

"Wait!" cried the judge. "I represent Mr. Hues. I desire to see that warrant!"

But Pentress ignored him. He addressed the crowded benches.

"Gentlemen, it is a serious matter for me to seize a man without authority from the courts and expose him to the danger of mob violence. Mr. Hues will learn this before we have done with him."

Instantly there was a noisy demonstration that swelled into a burst of applause, which quickly spent itself. The struggle seemed to have narrowed to an individual contest for supremacy between Pentress and the judge. On the edge of the raised-off space they confronted each other—the judge, stout and unyielding, and Pentress, thin and wiry, with a burst of applause, which quickly spent itself. Dear Miss Grey: Will you give me some mushroom recipes?

YOUNG HOUSEWIFE.

A.—Below are two mushroom recipes. 1. Peel, cut off stalks, which, if tender, may be fried until half done. Then add caps and cook gently till quite tender. Serve on toast. 2. Take 3 cups chopped mushrooms and 2 cups cracker crumbs, rolled into a ball, put alternate layers of cracker crumbs and mushrooms, pour on one cup cream, dot top layer of crumbs with butter, and bake about an hour.

Stammering.

Dear Miss Grey: Can you tell me the cause and cure of stammering?

A.—There are various causes for stammering, and the treatment differs with the nature of the affliction. If the case is really bad, and of the type where words cease altogether, you had better consult a specialist. If you merely repeat the same words, or slowly as you possibly can, and stick to this no matter how trying it may be. Sometimes it helps to move one's hand up and down at the same instant as the tongue utters the words.

Missionaries Safe.

Dear Miss Grey: Can you tell me if the Methodist missionaries have escaped from the Chinese? I have heard they are safely out of Chengtu. Most of them have come down the Yangtze in convoy of a British gunboat, and have arrived at Shanghai.

Leap Year Dance.

Dear Miss Cynthia Grey: Kindly suggest some Leap Year ideas for a large informal country dance.

DORINDA.

A.—Better combine the Valentine idea with your Leap Year affair, and hold it on or near St. Valentine's Day. This gives one a wide scope in pretty decorations, favors, etc. Colored Japanese lanterns, huge red tissue-paper hearts and alternate streamers of red and white bearing the line "1912—Leap Year" in gilt and black letters should make a satisfactory decoration for a hall or house. The dance programmes and table arrangements should also carry out the joint idea.

This is about all the information I can offer without a further knowledge of the kind of a function it is to be.

BRAVERY MEDALS FOR TWO POLICE OFFICERS

Necessary Affidavits Have Been Secured By Inspector

Joseph Sanders.

Steps are being taken by Mr. Joseph Sanders, of the Humane Society, to obtain medals for Police Sgt. Macdonald and Policeman John Cobden, who risked their lives in rescuing the Pinches family from death in a fire in their apartment above the office of Dr. N. H. Beal, at 534 Dundas street, Oct. 17.

Affidavits, relating the details of the rescue, were yesterday sworn to by Miss Mary and Miss Phoebe Pinches, two young girls who were carried from the building in their night clothing by the officers.

The evidence in the case will be submitted to the Royal Canadian Humane Society shortly and it is expected that favorable action will be taken.

The fire was first noticed by the officers at about 2 o'clock in the morning of Oct. 17, and at that time flames were issuing from the rear of the building. Sgt. Macdonald ran to the front and rang the bell at Dr. Beal's office, while Cobden hastened to the rear and smashed in the door there. He shouted first to aunts and then to the children, accompanied by the sergeant, made his way to the apartments of the Pinches.

Mr. Pinches awakened his father, an aged gentleman, and leading him to the stairs, on their return, however, the fire had gained in fierceness and the heat in the hall made it almost impossible to breathe.

However, by crawling along the floor they made their way to the young ladies' room and with the greatest difficulty brought them safely out. The Misses Pinches, in their affidavits, state that had it not been for the police officers they would probably have lost their lives.

Mr. Charles Pinches, who returned to his room at the same time that the police rescued the young ladies, was cut off in an instant by the flames and had made a rope of the bed clothing to drop from the third story when the firemen arrived and placed a ladder at his window.

FATALLY SCALDED. Hamilton, Jan. 19.—Word was received here yesterday afternoon, at Bowmanville, of Fred Rhoder, formerly of Hamilton. He was employed in his father's silverplating mill, where a boiler exploded yesterday afternoon, scalding him so badly that he died today.

Mr. Frederick Cheesborough, Mr. Truman Vanderlinck, Mrs. Vaelet and children, left yesterday for New York, en route for an extensive southern tour to Cuba, Mexico and Texas.

THE CITY TODAY

A Disclaimer. The Maudsley family, of this city, deny that P. J. O'Brien, this morning, who is charged with highway robbery in London, has been at their house, and they say they know nothing of him.

Division Court. Twenty-six cases were tried in the division court this morning. Judgment was reserved in the case of Chapman vs. Wilkins, the plaintiffs, J. H. Chapman & Co., allege that Jos. Wilkins, of Ridgetown, was indebted to them for an account of $58.

Finger Crucifix. George Wilson, of 572 Hill street, an employee of the Globe Casket Company, had his finger crushed in a machine at which he was working this morning. He was attended by Dr. Cline, who dressed the injury at Victoria Hospital.

Payroll Bulge. The Grand Trunk pay car is scheduled to arrive in London this evening. As this will be the first time that the new rates arranged for at the settlement of the office go into effect, the payroll will be many thousands dollars greater than usual.

Letter of Thanks. The Rev. Mr. W. C. A., wish to thank the ladies who responded so well to the appeal made in The Advertiser for clothing for the poor and adults. Also to the gentlemen who brought the parcels, and for money received to be used in aid.

Paper-Bag Cookery. The Advertiser's paper-bag cooking demonstration at 213 Dundas street, continues to daily attract crowded audiences of ladies. Yesterday Demonstrator Smith showed how to bake fish to a delicious brown color in the same oven and at the same time with tea biscuits, without the slightest suggestion of fishiness attaching to the taste of the biscuits. The macaroni and cheese demonstration was repeated, so popular has it been found. Today and tomorrow Mr. Smith will give a demonstration of cooking croquettes in the same bags.

Mr. E. T. Essery has issued a writ against the C. P. R. Company on behalf of William Alfred Robert, acting through his next of kin, Mr. C. E. Baker, asking for unpaid damages for injuries received while in the employ of the railway company last July. William Alfred Robert was working on a hand-car at the time he was injured. When he alleges, as a result of the fault of the man directing the car, he was thrown under the car and had his leg broken. The case will be tried in high court sessions.

The Greatest Clothing Sale London Has Ever Known Is Now On at the Greatest Clothing Store in Canada

Thousands of Suits and Overcoats Have Been Reduced One-Third

At Our Great

Of course it isn't the one-third off alone that makes this opportunity so remarkable. It is the fact that the third has been taken off prices that were already 25 per cent or more below those of any other store in the city.

The reason for this difference in favor of our prices is because you buy directly of the makers when you buy of us and save the middleman's profit.

The actual saving, therefore, afforded by this great sale based on other store's prices is fully 50 per cent or more.

All the clothing in this sale is of this season's make and has all the latest style touches. Many of the suits and trousers are of a weight that can be worn all the year around. We also include some light weight overcoats, suitable for spring wear.

Every man, young man and boy can be fitted and every taste pleased. Mail orders will be carefully filled for those who are unable to come to the store, but it will be well worth coming to the store, no matter how great the distance, if you can possibly do so. None of these goods will be sold to dealers. All ordinary alterations will be made free of charge.

BOOKS WITH RECORDS HAVE DISAPPEARED

Documents Wanted By the Beef Packers' Prosecutors Are Quite Evidently Destroyed.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Two defendants in the trial of the packers were mentioned today as having had personal knowledge of the test cost of beef through weekly reports mailed to them by a subordinate.

Walter A. Wall, branch house manager of Morris & Co., at St. Joseph, Mo., testified that in 1906, 1907 and 1908, he mailed to Edward Morris and Louis H. Heyman, two of the defendants, reports giving the figures on the test cost of beef.

He mailed the reports to these officials at the Chicago office of Morris & Co. until January, 1909, when Mr. McFarland, head of the dressed beef department, instructed him to stop sending the reports to Edward Morris. The witness said that after he sent two copies of the test cost of beef figures to Louis H. Heyman.

the defendants with the much-disputed test cost of beef, which the prosecution contends played such an important part in the alleged packers' combination.

John Hunter, employed as office manager by Morris & Co., said he had searched for the margin and beef cost books used from 1906 to 1908, and had been unable to find them.

"They must have been destroyed," said the witness.

"Did you order those books destroyed?"

"I may have in the regular course of business, but I do not remember in regard to these particular books. I frequently ordered old books destroyed to make room for current volumes," replied Hunter.

MANUFACTURERS OPPOSE INDIVIDUAL LIABILITY

Views of Employers Regarding Workmen's Compensation Presented Commissioners

[Canadian Press.]
Toronto, Ont., Jan. 18.—F. W. Wegman, representing the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, today presented to Sir William Meredith, as commissioner to investigate workmen's compensation, the views of employers. They are entirely opposed to anything like an individual liability system. They rather favor the German system of collection for the actual sum required during the year for compensation for injuries.

Mr. Wegman presented a comprehensive brief on behalf of the manufacturers. He enunciated as principles that for reasons both humanitarian and economic the prevention of accidents should be a prime consideration in any scheme of workmen's compensation; relief should be provided in every case of injury arising out of industrial accidents, but such relief should not be contingent upon proof of fault on the part of the employer and gross carelessness, drunkenness or intentional wrong on the part of the workman, should be penalized in some way, the system of relief should be adapted to cover wage workers in every industry or calling involving occupational risk, and should not be confined to such industries as railroading, manufacturing, building, etc.; the relief should be as far as practicable by way of substitution for the wages of which the injured workman and his dependents are deprived by the injury and the relief as a rule should be periodical and not in a lump sum; relief should be certain and should not depend upon the continued solvency of the employer in whose service the injury was sustained; the amount of compensation should be determined by the injury and the workman and the employer, and this system should displace entirely the present method of compensation by an action for damages, funds for relief should be provided by joint contributions from employers, workmen and the state.

The system of relief should be such as to secure in its administration a maximum of efficiency and economy and as large a proportion as possible of the money contributed should be actually paid out in compensation.

Procedure for the adjustment of claims should be as far as possible dissociated from the regular courts of law, and should involve a minimum of friction between employer and employee; the system of compensation should be directly associated with a system of inspection designed to prevent accidents as far as possible, and with a system of prompt and expert medical attendance to mitigate the effect of injuries.

The system should be such as to secure a liberal measure of relief as possible without undue strain on industry.

A Home Formula That Stops Dandruff
Bay Rum 6 oz.
Lavender de Composee 2 oz.
Menthol Crystals 1/2 dr.
These are all staple, standard and inexpensive pharmaceutical products that you can buy from any good druggist. You can mix them yourself at home, or the druggist will do it for you. Allow it to stand one-half hour before using. Apply night and morning, rubbing briskly into the scalp with finger tips or a medium stiff brush. The one 8-oz. bottle should, in most cases, be sufficient to completely clear the head of dandruff and kill the germ, thereby preventing its return. This treatment is also excellent for making the hair grow and to keep the hair from falling out, and although not a stain or dye, will restore natural color to gray, streaked or faded hair in from 15 to 30 days simply by its action on the hair roots. Be careful not to apply where hair is not desired.

The Tuckett Cigar Company, yesterday afternoon completed the deal for the Gorman-Eckert warehouse on Clarence street, near York. The price is said to be about $25,000. The Tuckett Company at present occupy quarters at 77-79 Dundas street, where 80 people have been employed. It is their intention to extend the business, and within a month it is expected that at least 250 cigar-makers will be at work in their new building.

The Clarence street building is a 55 x 110 feet, four stories in height, with a large and roomy basement. A portion of the building is occupied by the Thomson Knitting Company, who will secure quarters elsewhere, so that their business too may expand.

GRIP IS DREADED

Because It Lowers Vitality—What To Do.

It is not the disease itself, but the dangerous complications that follow it, that people fear with such good reason; the lingering coughs, the terrible weakness, and the liability of being attacked by pleurisy, pneumonia, or some other serious ill.

We say it is highly important to free the system of every trace of grip, and nothing is so good for this as Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron preparation, which creates strength and builds up the body.

BOARD WILL WIDEN ROADWAY

People of Weston Street Win
a Point at Meeting Last Night.

OPENING CROMWELL ST.

Progress Reported by Chairman Robinson—City Engineer Will Seek Information.

The widening of Weston street, a subject that came up annually before the board of works, was again in evidence at last night's meeting.
City Engineer Wright submitted plans for grading and widening the street, and after some discussion it was decided to proceed at once with the work. A sidewalk was initiated in connection with it.
The draining of the subway at Talbot street, under the C. P. R. tracks, was again to the fore, and City Engineer Wright was instructed to proceed at once with the construction of the necessary sewer. It is over the maintenance of this drain that the board of works and the C. P. R. have been disputing for some months. The company agreed to pay $200 of the cost, which is estimated at $375, provided the city maintain the drain for all time to come. This was agreed to, and the work will be constructed at once.
A list of the employees of the board of works was submitted to the members of the committee. They were asked for last week.

on the matter of opening up Cromwell

Mr. W. J. Ambrose on the matter, but no agreement had been considered as yet.
He will continue to negotiate regarding the matter, and see if it could not be possible for the city to purchase the land
and use it for park or other purposes.

City Engineer Wright will go to Tor-

A SOLDIER'S COT IN THE SANATORIUM

Garrison Sergeants Will Give an "At Home" to Raise Necessary Funds.

An interesting function is being arranged for Feb. 16 next in Dayton & McCormick's Dancing Academy in the shape of a "garrison sergeants' "At Home," and a very pleasant gathering is expected. A well-attended committee meeting of the sergeants of the various military corps in the city put the affair in shape last evening, and as the proceeds are to be devoted to the establishment of a soldier's cot in the public Byron Sanatorium, extensive public support is sure to be accorded. The R.
C. R. Seventh Regiment Fusiliers,
First Hussars, and No. 15, P. A. U., were represented, and other corps are taking a keen interest.

Music and Drama

"McPadden's Flats" comes to the Grand next Tuesday night, in an entirely new dress. The piece is the most humorous exposition of New York life since the days of Harrigan and Hart. The fact that the comedy has endured so long as it has is due to the fact that the characters are drawn from actual life. There is not a dull moment in the piece. The action is incessant, the situations funny, and side-splitting, and the music and specialties of the sort to make anyone
"sit up and take notice." The new version of the play is said to be tenfold funnier than the original, while the company gathered is said to be one of the strongest aggregations of vaudeville and comedy stars found in any theatrical organization.

IMPROVEMENTS NEEDED AT AGED PEOPLE'S HOME

Heating System Is Out of Date, and
the Bedrooms Are Too Small.

At the Aged People's Home in this city there is much difficulty in arranging the interior of the house so as to have anything like comfort during the winter months. The bedrooms are too small, the storerooms very insufficient, and the heating apparatus quite out of date, while added to this there is a lack of funds for remodeling and properly equipping the institution. The management, therefore, will be under the necessity of considering ways and means, and will be glad of any assistance which citizens may kindly give to this object.

LULU GLASER GETS DIVORCE

Ralph Herz, Summons to Court, Admits Beating Wife to Show Mastery.
Chicago, Jan. 18.—Mrs. Ralph C.
Herz, known on the stage as Lulu
Glaser, was given a decree of divorce
today by Judge McDonald in the superior court.

Some weeks ago Miss Glaser told the court her husband had beaten and choked her a number of times. Judge McDonald withheld the decree because of newspaper reports that Herz
did not contest the suit for chivalric
reasons. Herz was summoned into court, and there admitted he had beaten his wife "to show her who was master."

LIB. AMENDMENTS WERE ACCEPTED

Sir Wilfrid Secures Counsel for Employees in Civil Service Investigation.

DESECRATION OF FLAG

Mr. Verville Protests Against Dismissal of Correspondents of the Labor Gazette.

Ottawa, Jan. 18.—It is a dull day indeed that Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his followers do not take a round out of the well-filled Government benches in the House of Commons. Today it was over the flag.

Mr. Bradbury introduced a measure
"respecting the use of flags," and availed himself of the opportunity to rally plaud-
its from his fellow-Conservatives by vigorously arraigning the commercial and advertising uses to which the Union Jack was not infrequently put. He proposes to prohibit its use at auction sales and the like, and to prevent its reproduction
as an advertising medium on various brands of merchandise and bill-posting.
Hon. Mr. Emmerson gravely concurred,
but he was disappointed that the member for Selkirk had not gone further. The old Union Jack had been put to uses baser than any he had mentioned. He suggested that the bill go farther and prohibit "the defilement of the flag in political contests." His recital, to the embarrassment of the Government benches, that during the late electoral contest there had been sent out, under the auspices of a certain political party,
posters and handbills with an unwarranted portrait of the Union Jack and the flag of the United States, the political exploitation of the emblem being completed by the words "Union, which flag?" Mr. Emmerson characterized such political advertising as an unworthy defacement of the flag. "No political party,"
said he, "has any exclusive monopoly of the Union Jack. It is the flag of all parties."

Hon. Mr. Pugsley.
Then came Hon. Mr. Pugsley to further add to the discomfiture of the Government benches. He had rejoiced in hearing the members of the Administration approving the proposal to take steps to secure respect and loyalty to the Union Jack.
Particularly was he pleased, owing to the fact that during the election campaign certain of the Government
supporters had declared that in order to breathe the air of freedom it had been necessary to "burn holes in the British flag," and that for resenting this insult both to the flag and to the Empire in a letter to the press
one public official had been promptly dismissed. He had been put to rest as soon as the new Government took office.

Nothing was forthcoming from the Government benches, and the bill was given its first reading, amid Liberal applause.

Battle for Amendments.
The battle of Sir Wilfrid Laurier
and Hon. Mr. Pugsley for amendments in the Government bill defining the lines upon which the Marine Inquiry into the various departments of the Administration has borne fruit. The Minister of Justice announced, when the House again in session, that the committee on the bill that he would insert
a clause giving any official against whom a charge was being investigated
the right of being represented by counsel, and the Liberal amendment
was accordingly withdrawn.

In reference to the objection raised by Sir Wilfrid to the wholesale granting of the right to the commission to delegate its powers to sub-commissions, Hon. Mr. Doherty was prepared to meet the Liberal leader half way. He provided that such subcommittees could only issue on Government orders in council.

Sir Wilfrid stated that the proposal
was an improvement, but he regretted that the minister had not decided to accept his second suggestion also.
He thought the doors should not be opened for the unjustifiable
harassing of my subject of his majesty
in the course of the investigation.

Hon. Mr. Emmerson and Messrs.
Guthrie and German arraigned the composition of the Marine Commission as designed for party purposes.
The commission appointed by the Laurier Government for a similar task had been a high court judge.
"This is not a judicial tribunal," quoth
Mr. Guthrie, "it is a highly partisan and biased body, and it is idle to argue that it is going to be as impartial as a judge or jury."

Winter's Chill

Upset Kidneys

Pains in Back Tell of Congestion
Caused by Cold.

You Can Prevent Serious Complications by Using
KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

When the surface of the body is suddenly chilled, the millions of pores in the skin are quickly closed.
Under ordinary circumstances, these pores are of enormous assistance to the system in removing poisons from the body. Their failure means greatly increased strain on the kidneys, and frequently congestion, which leads to serious disease.

This explains why kidney troubles are so frequent this season of the year, and why you require something to quicken the action of the kidneys and keep them in healthful condition.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are particularly effective under these conditions because of their combined action on the kidneys, liver and bowels. The whole filtering and excre-tory systems are thoroughly cleansed
and invigorated; the poisons are removed from the blood, and you feel like a different person.

The digestive system does not have half its chance when these other organs are clogged with waste matter and sluggish in action. But once you get the liver and kidneys right
the mass of food being digested
moves quickly through the alimentary canal, your appetite improves, digestion is good, and life is worth living.

pill a dose, 25c a box, at all dealers,

NOT ONE WOMAN IN TWENTY

HAS A STRONG BACK.

THE KIDNEYS ARE TO BLAME
NINE TIMES OUT OF TEN.

Women are coming to understand that weak, lame and aching backs from which they suffer are due to wrong action of the kidneys.

The poisons that ought to be carried off
are sent back into the blood, taking with them a multitude of aches and pains.
There is no use of expecting relief until
the kidneys are restored to health.
Doan's Kidney Pills are the quickest
and most reliable remedy. Mrs. Ed.
Baxter, Upham, N.B., writes:—"I take a good deal of pleasure in telling you what Doan's Kidney Pills have done for me. I was troubled with my kidneys for a number of years, and my back was so lame I could not sweep the floor.
A friend of mine advised me to try a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I did, and after using three boxes I am as well as ever. I highly recommend them to anyone suffering from lame back or kidney trouble."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box, or three boxes for $1.25, at all dealers

When ordering direct specify "Doan's"
to readjust the salaries of private secretaries of ministers by increasing their emolument was laid over that the Government might consider Sir Wilfrid's request that its provision concerning retirement be made to apply to the secretaries of members of the late Government.

When the House was moved into committee at the night sitting Mr.
Verville renewed his protest against the dismissal of the correspondents of the Labor Gazette, and the new system under which the monthly reports are now published anonymously
instead of with the names of the correspondents, as under the late administration. "Why," declared the Labor member, "under this new system we might have letters written by members of the Manufacturers' Association. How do we know? If," continued Mr. Verville, "the minister contended that the dismissal was made on political grounds, he might have some justification, but as he urged that they had taken place
on the ground of incompetence only,
there was no justification for the dismissal of such men as Mr. Gerard at Maisonneuve."

Hon. Mr. Crothers repeated his statement that none of the correspondents had been dismissed for political reasons, and declared he would be guided in all matters by his officials.

In reply to Hon. Mr. Maclean (Halifax), the minister said that the correspondent at Amherst had not been dismissed. He had written just after the election saying he expected to be "dred," so he would resign. "I do not propose to dismiss any employee, because he is a Liberal," said
Mr. Crothers, "but when vacancies occur I intend to replace every one
by a good Conservative."

To Mr. Carvell the minister said
there had been no change at Cape Breton.
Despite Premier Borden's continued
refusal to yield to the demands of the Quebec French Conservative and Nationalist members for the dismissal
of the present efficient and experienced Montreal harbor commissioners, the agitation for their removal is being strenuously kept up, and the family row between the English-speaking and French-speaking supporters of the Government is being openly waged.
Hon. Mr. Doherty and Mr. Ames are insistent that it would be politically unwise and disastrous to the best interests of the port to allow the axe of the spoilsman to be wielded on Messrs.
Stephens, Ballantyne and Geoffrion, whose disinterested and invaluable services as harbor commissioners are recognized by the whole business community of the city. On the other hand, Sir Rodolphe Forget is heading the agitation for their removal, and a round robin, signed by a definite number of supporters of the Government in Quebec, asking for the heads of the three commissioners, was presented to the Premier today.

Mr. Borden is now looking for some way to get out of the dilemma between the two fires. In the House today
Mr. Ames endeavored to force the hand of his leader by asking for a definite statement from the Government as to whether the Montreal harbor commissioners would be continued in office. Premier Borden asked that the question "stand."

TORONTO SUFFRAGISTS PLAN A DEMONSTRATION

Request for Extension of Vote
to Married Women To Be Largely Supported.

Toronto, Jan. 19.—With the extension of municipal franchise to married women as the desideratum, the rally cry went out to all good and true suffragists at the annual meeting of the Toronto Suffrage Association
last night. They are asked to join the deputation which will appear before the city council at 4:15 p.m., on Monday next in support of the proposed resolution to the Provincial Legislature on behalf of the cause.

Meantime, preparations are being made for the presentation of the petition to Sir James Whitney. The association has sent out a letter to the mayors of the Provincial cities and towns asking them to have resolutions passed by their councils and sent to the Government in support of the cause.

Margaret Gordon said she didn't think they would obtain the provincial franchise until they had secured the municipal vote for married women. She believed they would get the municipal vote because the Government would want to do something to placate the women. Someone had suggested to her that their petition signed by married women, but Dr. Gordon said that when they carried a ponderous roll of names to Sir James Whitney the last time he had not deigned even to look at it.
She thought they would carry the same old bundle back to him.

SHEIKS WELCOME KING

A Demonstration For His Majesty at Red Sea Port.

Port Sudan, Jan. 18.—The steamer
Medina, with King George and the other members of the royal party
aboard, returning home from the Durban, stopped at this Red Sea Soudanese port today while his majesty
granted an audience to the native
sheiks and all the prominent members of the Soudan tribes.

Sir Reginald Wingate, sirdar of the Egyptian army and governor-general of the Soudan, welcomed their majesties on behalf of the Khedive. King George, in reply, said he was greatly touched by the welcome accorded him. The complete religious freedom now enjoyed by the people, asserted
his majesty, recalled the sacrifices Great Britain had made in Egypt, the gallant deeds at Khartoum, the chivalrous Gordon, and Lord Kitchener's memorable victories.

"I trust," concluded the King,
"that this splendid record proves the aim of my Government is to bring the Soudan into closer touch with civilization and with the commerce of the world."

DARING SMUGGLER WAS UNSUCCESSFUL

Tried to Bring Chinamen Across on Paddle Wheel of Steamer.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Detroit, Jan. 18.—Something decidedly new in the way of smuggling came to light here today, when Kenneth Baker, of Windsor, and an unknown Chinaman were arrested.
While making his usual rounds on the Grand Trunk car ferry Lansdowne as she came down the river from Windsor,
United States Customs Officer Charles Hoolihan discovered two men in the darkness clinging to the outer rail of the ferry a few yards in the rear of the paddle-wheel boxes. The position of the men was dangerous in the extreme.
Seated on the narrow ledge, which was partly covered with ice, the slightest move would have precipitated both into the river.

When the Lansdowne arrived at her Detroit slip at the foot of Nineteenth street, Officer Hoolihan called to the men to come ashore, and placed both under arrest. One proved to be a well-dressed young man, who afterwards gave his name as Kenneth Baker, while the other was a China-
man. Baker was non-committal,
while the Celestial preserved a stolid silence, and appeared to be ignorant of the English language.

The two were handed over to United States Chief Immigration Inspector Frick, who, after examining

Baker, ordered both men locked up in the county jail for the night.

Baker has a rather unenviable
record with the Windsor authorities.
He has been arrested several times for minor offences, but always escaped with a fine. At the present time the police of Walkerville want him in connection with a petty robbery committed in that town some time ago.

CHORUS GIRLS HURT.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 17.—A serious accident occurred at the Imperial Opera House this afternoon. During the rehearsal of an opera "Tristan and Isolda" the floor collapsed, and 20 female members of the chorus were taken from the wreckage, badly hurt.
The Russian basso, Sibirakoff, was more seriously hurt than any of the other performers.

He is suffering from concussion of the brain and a fracture of the leg.

AVOID BLOOD POISON!

The best and simplest way of insurance against blood poisoning is to apply Zam-Buk to a cut, burn, cold sore or any open wound or diseased
part as soon as sustained.
Of all the myriad forms of germs
which set up blood poisoning, not one has yet been found that Zam-Buk does not kill! A thin layer of Zam-Buk over a wound or sore acts in two ways. It prevents all harm coming into the wound or sore from the outside, and on the underside it stimu-lates the cells to renewed activity,
provides for the healing, tissue-building material needed, by causing the blood to deposit this more rapidly
and thus brings about rapid healing.
Apply it to that cold sore, those chapped hands, that frost bite or this eczema.

Sold at 50c. box, all stores or druggists, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse substitutes.

GEO. R. COCKBURN DEAD

The Former President of the Ontario
Bank Succumbs When Abroad.

Toronto, Jan. 19.—Word was received by cable from London, England, last evening of the death of Mr. G. R. R.
Cockburn, at Rembrandt Hotel, consequent upon three serious surgical operations, which he had undergone since leaving Toronto eleven months ago.
Dr. Armour, son of the late Chief Justice Armour, was attending Mr.
Cockburn and has been in regular communication for the past ten days with Lady Tait, daughter of Mr. Cockburn, who is residing at the Prince George Hotel, Toronto.

The failure of the Ontario Bank,
of which Mr. Cockburn was president, and the largest shareholder, was a severe blow to him, financially, and,
although he was wholly exonerated of any responsibility on the bank's collapse, by Magistrate Denison, the worry is believed to have undermined his once rugged constitution. He dropped completely out of public life
when the litigation was concluded.

Mr. George Ralph Richardson Cockburn was a public man of considerable eminence. He was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, 78 years ago, and after a distinguished scholastic career
in that city and on the European continent, he came to Toronto as rector of the Model Grammar School for Upper Canada. He was shortly afterwards commissioner to inspect the higher educational institutions of the province. He was appointed principal of Upper Canada College in 1867,
and a member of the Senate of Toronto University in which positions
he continued for over 20 years.

In 1887 he was elected to the Dominion House for Centre Toronto, and sat until defeated in 1896.

BRIDE SUICIDES.
Battle Creek, Mich., Jan. 18.—Because her husband could not secure employment, Mrs. Paul Kellogg, a bride of three months, committed suicide by taking strychnine.

Paul Kellogg is an adopted son of
Dr. J. H. Kellogg, of the Battle Creek Sanatorium. It is said that the young man and his foster-father were never reconciled since the former's marriage, which Dr. Kellogg did not approve.

[Canadian Press.]
London, Jan. 18. — Until the conclusion of the conference of the delegates of the Miners' Federation, now being held at Birmingham, no definite steps can be taken to prevent a national strike of the coal miners. The hope, however, is expressed that the conference will make peace easier of attainment.

SCOTCH CURLERS WIN AGAIN AT OTTAWA

The Ice Was Not So Fast, Owing to Mild Weather, and Visitors Were
at Their Best.

Ottawa, Jan. 18.—The visiting Scottish curlers were winners again today, de-

by two. The weather was milder, and the Scotsmen consequently were dead-

sman played the Ottawa Valley clubs,
and this evening they were tendered a farewell banquet at the House of Commons restaurant. They leave in the morning for Kingston, thence going to Toronto. Messrs. McEwen and Car-

Western Ontario branch of the Royal Caledonian Society, came to Ottawa this morning, and will take charge of the visitors when they entrain tomorrow.

WAS ALL RUN DOWN.

Doctors and Medicine Failed To Cure Him.

Many people become run down, but don't know just exactly what their trouble is. As a rule it is improper circulation of the blood, owing to not just taking proper care of themselves.
All they want is a good tonic to build up the system and put their blood in proper shape, and for this purpose there is nothing to equal Burdock Blood Bitters. It regulates the stomach, liver and bowels, purifies the blood and tones up the entire system. Mr. Murdoch A.
Morrison, Tarbot, N.S., writes:—"I am now writing to tell you what Burdock Blood Bitters has done for me. Last Summer I was all run down, and doctors and medicine failed to cure me. At last
I decided to try a bottle of Burdock
Blood Bitters, and after taking one bottle
I began feeling better, and after I had taken the remedy for two months I was completely cured. I can safely recommend your remedy to anyone."

A NARROW ESCAPE FOR MILK DEALER

Pere Marquette Train Hit His Horse and Whirled the Animal Around.

A Pere Marquette coal car all but collided with a milk vendor's wagon on Ottawa avenue Wednesday morning.
The milkman was looking over his account book or memorandum and failed to notice the coal cars, which were being shunted across the avenue. An insurance man, Robert Gallagher, saw the milkman's danger and shouted at him from the sidewalk. The vendor suddenly jerked his horse just as the car struck
the animal's head, knocking it around in its tracks. The horse was not seriously hurt, but the driver was badly frightened.

HATCHET BURIED
BY COMMISSION

Trouble Over Mr. Glaubitz's Powers Is Finally Settled.

SORT OF COMPROMISE

Engineer Must Submit All Important Matters to the Chairman or the Whole Water Board.

The dispute between the water commissioners and General Superintendent Glaubitz as to the powers of the latter was amicably settled Thursday afternoon at the regular meeting of the board. It was in the nature of a compromise, and virtually maintains the right of the board to veto any action of the general manager, as he is now styled. There was little discussion, and when Commissioner Chapman moved his resolution that the general manager refer all matters of importance to the board or the chairman before final action is taken on any important question, all voted in favor of it with the exception of Commissioner Stevenson.

The session was marked with a few rather pointed passages at arms. Commissioner Stevenson filing his objections to the pre-arranged programme. He and Mayor Graham said a few things.

After same routine business had been disposed of, Chairman Pocock asked Superintendent Glaubitz if he had anything to submit to the board.

The Discussion.

"Yes, the submission again of the plan for the reorganization of the water department," answered Mr. Glaubitz. "As was explained to the commissioners at the last meeting, this is practically the same plan as was in operation last year.
Some slight changes have been made,
such as changing the name of the commission to that of utilities commission,
changing the name of the general superintendent to that of general manager,
and placing the meter and turn cock
men under the control of the waterworks foreman."

Commissioner Chapman stated that he wished to introduce a motion.

"I wish to move a resolution as follows: That the general manager refer
all matters of importance to the board or chairman for consideration before final action is taken," he declared. "I have no desire, whatever, to impair the efficiency of the department. I am hoping for the best results. It often happens that matters of importance
are brought before the board, and as it is necessary that they be settled at once,
I have provided that Mr. Glaubitz consult with the chairman before final action is taken."

"There was no intention when this plan
was adopted to interfere with any man in the employ of the departments," explained Chairman Pocock.

"There must be central authority, and that is what we have been seeking to obtain. We are jealous of our reputation as businessmen, and we want to put the same business ability into the city's business as we do into our own."

Chairman Pocock declared that he Chapman if he intended moving a motion to adopt the scheme as introduced declared that he did not.

"I will move the same motion I did at the last meeting," declared Mayor Graham. "The question of defining Mr.
Glaubitz's powers would have been considered later and settled."

"Unfortunately it was not so understood," answered Commissioner Chapman.

"I will not support the scheme for reorganization, and want to go down on record as such," declared Commissioner Stevenson.

The motion was put and carried. Commissioner Stevenson only voting against it.

The motion of Commissioner Chapman
was then put, and started something.

"Let it go through," commented Commissioner Stevenson. "It has all been pre-arranged."

"I take exception to the statement
that was pre-arranged," retorted Mayor Graham. "I do not think any member of this board has any right to talk like that. There is no need to deal in personalities; let us get down to business."

The motion carried. Chairman Pocock declared that he was not a supporter of the department last year being a satisfactory guarantee that the water commissioners would look after the interests of the city.

"The board will make no mistake in allowing this man to direct its policy," commented the chairman.

"What is the use of discussing it any more?" said Commissioner Stevenson.
"This thing was all pre-arranged at some meetings."

"I attended no meetings, and do not know that there were any meetings," declared Mayor Graham.

"There is this difficulty in handling
city business," said Chairman Pocock.
"If, for instance, a man is dismissed,
his little faults are sometimes commented on, and we cause him unnecessary humiliation when it gets in the papers."

"You should expect to be criticized,"
said Commissioner Stevenson.

"There have been meetings among the members," explained Commissioner Chapman. "The resolution is not the result of one of these conferences."

"However, the members continued to discuss the matter, until Chairman Pocock asked for another item of business."

The Concludes.

Commissioner Stevenson asked about the meeting in Toronto relative to condults, and taxed Chairman Pocock with another motion made by himself
last November to have the various
