POOL RESOURCES WITH STATES CANADIAN MANUFACTURERS ASK AND LIFT THE GREAT HANDICAP

Tariff Committee Says U. S. Export Embargoes Give Americans Advantage Over Canadians, and Wants Two Governments To Go Fifty-Fifty On Raw Material.

Montreal, June 12.—A vigorous defence of the present fiscal system for Canada, a protest against what was styled the propaganda being waged against manufacturers and a denunciation of the alleged violation of the war-time political truce by western grain growers, who are accused of agitating against the tariff, form the features of the address delivered this afternoon to the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, in annual convention at the Windsor Hotel, by S. R. Parsons, president, of Toronto.

Mr. Parsons recommended the appointment of a trade board to confer with the Government in tariff changes. A plea for better relationship between labor and capital in the working out of after-the-war problems was also contained in Mr. Parsons' speech.

Montreal, June 12.—A pooling of resources between the United States and Canada is recommended by the tariff committee, which reported to the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at the opening session today in the Windsor Hotel at its annual convention.

The committee complains that behind embargoes placed on certain raw materials by the U. S. Government, American manufacturers are able to dominate and undersell Canadians in the dominion market. The committee alludes to legislation at Ottawa last year as "representing the opposite of protection and as stifling domestic industry while stimulating and encouraging the importation of foreign manufactures."

The U. S. Embargo.

The report of the committee dealing with the United States embargo follows:

"Your tariff committee, during the past year, has dealt with many trade problems arising out of the war, constantly changing regulations governing foreign trade, and obstacles which had the effect of retarding industry, in addition to the usual routine work. The tariff changes enacted by Parliament this year were designed wholly to meet revenue requirements, owing to the enormously increased Government expenditure on the war. This policy has been adhered to by Parliament since the outbreak of war, and has received indorsation in the recent general election. Your committee believes that no other action is practicable in the country's general interests whilst the war continues.

Critical Condition.

"The mobilization work of the United States commands our highest admiration; but the very efficiency and nation-wide scope of this concentration on the one object of hastening the successful ending of the war has created temporarily critical conditions for this country, as in the case of war trade embargoes, which prohibit the exportation to Canada of various basic materials indispensable to essential industries. Canadian industry has been built up in close relation with the growth of United States industry; we draw necessary materials from adjacent United States territory, just as an industry in one state draws materials from another state or Canada.

Offer Lower Price.

Now, however, a U. S. manufacturer is using materials which a Canadian manufacturer cannot obtain; and, in other cases, a United States manufacturer is buying his basic materials at lower prices than the same materials, which are equally essential to his work, can be purchased in the United States by the Canadian manufacturer. Since the United States still allows the production of such manufactory, representing completely finished articles as sold to the ultimate user, to be exported to Canada, the manufacturers of that country are able to offer lower prices here than our manufacturers can meet. This works to create unfair domination

MAJOR A. G. SMYTHE, OLDEST CITY MASON, DIED THIS MORNING

MAJOR A. G. SMYTHE.

Major Alfred G. Smythe, one of London's oldest residents and the oldest member of the Masonic Order in the city, died early this morning at his residence, 347 Princess avenue.

Major Smythe, a veteran of the Northwest Rebellion, had lived the greater part of his 94 years in London, and was a well-known businessman. For many years he was an active member of St. Paul's Cathedral.

Besides his Masonic affiliations he was a veteran member of the Independent Order of Oddfellows.

The funeral will be held on Friday afternoon from his late residence, on Princess avenue, and will be conducted by Rev. Canon Tucker, rector of St. Paul's Cathedral. Interment will be made at Woodland Cemetery.

The insurance and immigration departments and the pensions board of Canada will also take part in the proceedings, and the Actuarial Society of America, the Union of Canadian Municipalities and the Municipal Improvement League will be represented. It is further intended to have a leading vital statistician of the United States present.

Sir George Foster will open the conference at 10 a.m. Wednesday, June 19.

CAPTAIN BAILEY, WHO SLANDERED CANADIANS, ESCAPES PRISON TERM

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, June 12.—Capt. George T. Bailey of the Army Medical Corps, who was sentenced to three months' imprisonment for slandering the Canadian Expeditionary Force at the annual meeting of the Dominion Alliance, and who was to have gone out to the Industrial Farm to do his penance tomorrow, has been extended clemency by the federal authorities.

He will be permitted to serve his sentence under license. That is a little better than a ticket of leave; in fact, it is about equivalent to an acquittal, for Capt. Bailey, who by the way, was struck off the militia list for his offence, is allowed his freedom and doesn't even have to report.

BOLT HITS BARN.

Clandeboye, June 12.—A barn owned by Mr. Ovens, on the 2nd concession of McGillivray Township, was struck by lightning about 10 o'clock last night and destroyed, with contents, which included a large quantity of hay.

19-YEAR OLD MEN WILL NOT ANSWER CALL BEFORE FALL

Not Likely To Be Required To Actually Report For Some Months.

Ottawa, June 12.—Call to the colors of 19-year-old men is delayed. When the proclamation requiring these men to register was published, it was intimated that they would not be required actually to report for duty before July. It is now considered improbable that many, if any, of the men will be summoned before September or October. Up to the present 51,883 men of 19 years of age have registered for military service. Of these it is estimated 75 per cent would probably rank in medical category A, that is men fit for general service overseas.

The difficulty arises over the limitation stipulated in the military service act on the number of reinforcements which may be secured under its provisions. The act provides that these reinforcements shall not exceed 100,000.

Muddle Over 100,000.

During the session the act was amended and extended by order-in-council passed under the war measures act, but no change was made to the 100,000 provision. It was further intimated that any amendment to it would not be made by order-in-council.

Now up to the present, 58,663 men have actually been placed on active service under the act. In addition, 11,814 men have been ordered to report by registrar, making a grand total of men ordered to report of 71,640. From these figures have to be deducted "duplicates," that is, men ordered to report in one district and voluntarily enlisting in another; men who have voluntarily enlisted in the States before ratification of the "slackers" treaty and men who had not been medically examined before being ordered to report. How far these will affect the total of 71,640 is now under investigation by the military service branch of the department of justice. Approximately, it is thought, the total will be brought down to 65,000, leaving another 35,000 recruits which may be secured under the military service act. Further additional reinforcements are daily being made available by the expiry of exemptions granted to Class One men already called out.

In view of these circumstances, it is regarded as improbable that the 19-year-old men will be called for the time being. While no decision has been reached in the matter, it is suggested that, should military needs continue, Parliament may be called in the early fall to consider the situation with a view to possible extension of the 100,000 limitations.

NORSE TARS DEMAND MURDEROUS METHODS OF GERMANS CEASE

Neutrals Are Barbarously Treated, Say Transport Workers.

London, June 12.— (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—The Scandinavian committee of the International Transport Workers' Federation, which met at Copenhagen, passed a resolution, expressing strong condemnation of German war methods, "which are not confined to impeding their enemies imports, but also by preventing imports of the necessities of life into neutral countries and expose to hunger the wholly disinterested inhabitants of these countries.

"In addition," the resolution says, "Germany, in a base and murderous fashion, has exposed neutral seamen to great suffering and painful death by sinking, without warning and regard to natural circumstances, peaceful and unarmed merchant ships. Further, as from Norwegian quarters, complaints have been received that U-boat commanders look on with cold indifference at the death struggles of neutral seamen without making any attempt to save them, it must be demanded in the name of humanity that these acts should cease. The barbarity of such methods cannot be defended, but will remain throughout all time as a dark blot of shame on the shield of the country concerned."

NO FRESH PEACE OFFER FROM FOE

London, June 12.—In her forthcoming statement of war aims, Germany does not intend to make any fresh peace offer, according to Berlin newspapers, says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Amsterdam.

QUARTER MILLION PER MONTH OF AMERICANS SOLDIERS ARE CROSSING TO BATTLE FRONTS

Boston, June 12.—"The flow of troops from this country to Europe is at the rate of a quarter of a million a month, and nothing can stop it, certainly not the kaiser with his U-boats," declared Lieut.-Gen. Thomas Bridges, British high commissioner to the United States, at a dinner tendered him last night by a number of prominent British and Canadian residents.

"I have it on the best authority," he continued, "that General Foch, with whom I am intimately acquainted, is very certain he has the situation well in hand, and can now hold the Germans.

"We have today 200,000 American troops brigaded with British and French soldiers, and this intimate association will have a far-reaching effect on the future of the nations."

COMMISSIONERS GROW WARM IN DISCUSSING ASSEMBLY REPORTS

RESIGN FROM COMMITTEE

Through the tactfulness of the moderator, Rev. Dr. Colin Fletcher, storm clouds which threatened the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church on more than one occasion this morning were effectively dispersed. A whole week of steady application to the weighty business of the church is evidently having some effect at last upon the nerves of the commissioners.

The process has begun of cleaning up the slate of unfinished business. This included further progress in connection with the report of the board of education on a wartime policy for the colleges; the report of a special committee appointed to name a committee of 50, representing the whole of the church in the dominion, to prosecute the survey and formulate other plans in connection with the forward movement launched during the assembly; the report of the judicial committee in connection with appeals, submitted by Judge Farrel of Moosomin; the report of Rev. W. R. McIntosh on overtures submitted to the committee on religious education, and the report of the committee on applications for leave to place names on the roll of presbyteries, the ruling in the case affecting three local ministers, Rev. J. G. Stuart, Rev. John Currie and Capt. Rev. A. Graham.

Objects to Committee.

One of the liveliest passages of arms occurred in connection with the report submitted by Rev. Robert Laird in connection with the naming of the forward movement committee.

No sooner had Mr. Laird named the fifty men chosen after hours of careful consideration, and associated the presentation of the list with the recommendation that an executive be formed, with Principal Gandier of Knox College as convener, consisting of the moderator of the assembly and the Toronto and Hamilton presbytery members, with a view to saving traveling expenses, than Rev. Dr. Knowles of Hamilton was on his feet to register objection. The committee, he stated, contained the names of men on other boards of the church. He mentioned three or four from Hamilton, who already have large responsibilities in connection with assembly business. There were other men in the church who could do the work and would be prepared to act.

Rev. W. J. Clark of Westmount stated if Dr. Knowles' motion carried, he would refuse to act on the committee again. Already the committee had given the most careful consideration possible to the selection of names.

Dr. Knowles' motion carried, and Rev. Robert Laird requested the moderator to relieve him of further responsibility, as he was leaving at noon, and since Dr. Clark would not act again, to name another committee. Agreed.

Would Injure Colleges.

Continuing his address in connection with his motion that the report of the board of education on the keeping open of the colleges be accepted by the assembly, President Walter C. Murray of Saskatchewan University declared: "I believe the greatest injury that could be done to any state university in Canada today would be to take away all the religious influence so permanently represented in the theological colleges."

In support of this he referred to the effect upon the large universities in the United States of entire separation from denominational colleges. The attitude of the universities in these cases, he said, is characterized by indifference, even hostility. He further pointed out that so far as he new colleges in the west are concerned, practically the whole support of them, within a thousand dollars at least, is contributed within their own synods, an indication of the value placed upon them in the communities which they especially influence.

Due to War Only.

Seconding the motion, Rev. Dr. Clark stated that three things had emerged from the deliberations of the board of education, (1) The colleges are face to face with a situation they had nothing to do with creating, namely, depletion of the ranks of the students for war service. It would be an eternal honor to the colleges that they had thus responded. The professors, he declared, could not be accused of taking advantage of the circumstances, but had addressed themselves to the task of doing the best they could.

In the second place, the colleges had

TEACH ENGLISH IN ALL PUBLIC SCHOOLS DESIRE OF WOMEN

Mrs. Torrington Delivers Annual Address at National Council.

Brantford, June 12.—The report of the social service and health committee of the National Council of Women, which will be presented this afternoon, gives individual activities of the local councils throughout the country in war work, health of children, gardening, food pledge campaigns and other lines. The report drew attention to the entry of women into public affairs, as shown by the election of women members to public boards in Brantford, Calgary, and Brandon, and to the good fights put up by women candidates in other centres.

The President's Address.

Mrs. F. H. Torrington will also present her annual address as president this afternoon. After extending thanks to Brantford ladies for the hospitality shown, she dealt with the granting of a partial franchise to women, the privilege of government was theirs, as was the responsibility, which meant the defence of every righteous cause.

Emphasis was placed on the national preservation of health, reference being made to the request made of the Government for a department of health. She urged that "as the traditions of a people can only be taught in the language of that people, that the English language be taught in every school in Canada, and also that the present system of education be extended to include the teaching of French, the language of our ally."

Compulsory Music.

A plea was made for compulsory teaching of music in the schools—the only language understood by all the world. She expressed the hope that the enforcement of prohibition would continue as a peace measure, that art galleries be opened to the people, that the best in choral music be made available at popular prices to the people at large.

"In all these points, national health, education and moral uplift, in relation to the stranger at our gates, success can be best attained through united effort on the part of women of Canada."

TRANSPORT AUSONIA SUNK BY SUBMARINE

New York, June 12.—The British transport Ausonia, owned by the Cunard Steamship Company, has been torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine several hundred miles from the British coast, while on her way westward, according to private cable messages received here. Ninety members of her crew were picked up by another steamship eastward bound, and landed on the English coast, the message said. Search is being made for forty more of her crew who are reported missing. The Ausonia was a steel four-masted steamer of 8,153 gross tonnage, built at Newcastle, England, in 1907, for the cattle and immigrant trade between London and Canada.

TODAY LIKELY TO SETTLE BIG BATTLE'S ISSUE

POILUS FULL OF FIGHT

Paris, June 12.—Today's fighting probably will decide on which side victory will rest in the present battle, says Henri Bidou, the military critic, in reviewing the situation. He says the fighting is taking the classical form in which each side has won on one wing. The scales are now even.

By their counter-attack the French stopped the enemy from carrying out his plan and at the same time assured themselves of a better line of defence. The Germans are now obliged, M. Bidou believes, to keep their effectives on the fighting line and to dip into their stock of reserves for fresh divisions.

The German plan for the present battle, says Marcel Hutin of Echo de Paris, in reporting the statements of prisoners, included the attacking and storming of Compeigne by the cavalry of the Guard under Gen. von Schoeler on Sunday evening. Now the Germans not only are not at Compeigne, but they show a great deal less vigor in their efforts, except on their left.

HIT SWIFTLY AND HARD.

With the French Army in France, Tuesday, June 11, Night.—(By the Associated Press).—The Allied troops today showed the Germans they could not have it all their own way by executing a number of counter-attacks, which were invariably successful. Some important territory was won back and inroads even were made into the German positions. It was, in fact, a thoroughly good day for the Allies, who, in addition to regaining ground captured more than 1,000 prisoners.

Supported by Tanks.

The principal counter-attack occurred between Domfront, near Rubescourt, and Wacquemoulin, south of Belloy, a front of about twelve kilometres. Allied infantry, supported by tanks, achieved an advance averaging 1,500 metres. They retook Belloy, reached the edge of St. Maur, arriving north of Porte and Loges farms, and obtained a foothold at Antheuil.

The French troops displayed remarkable courage and willingness to get at the foe, who appeared completely disconcerted by their dash. Horse teams could be seen galloping forward to save their guns, and some of the Germans lost their heads completely. The battleground is literally covered with German dead.

The counter-attack on the French left wing, which was the first carried out today, took the French close to the original lines as they stood Sunday. The Allies also got beyond Mery in another assault, while a further fierce return blow enabled them to reach the vicinity of St. Maur.

ITALIAN TORPEDOES BREAK CORDON AND WORRY BATTLESHIPS

"At dawn on Monday, near the Dalmatian Islands, two small Italian torpedoboats, under command of Commander Rizzo Luigi Debilazzo, attacked an Austrian naval division consisting of two large battleships of the Viribus Unitis class, escorted by ten destroyers. Our units, having broken through the line of destroyers, hit the leading battleship with two torpedoes and the other with one, and returned to their base unscathed.

Battleships of the Viribus Unitis type are four in number and are the largest in the Austrian navy. They displace 20,000 tons and carry 1,000 men each.

Additional Progress Made By French Left During Heavy Night Battle While the Right Holds Firm and Centre Throws Back Counter-Onslaughts—Many German Divisions Terribly Mauled In Three Days Struggle—Enemy This Morning Reopens Drive Between Soissons and the Marne.

Paris, June 12.—The battle continued during last night on the front between Montdidier and the River Oise without great change in the situation, the war office announced today. On the French left additional progress was made by French troops in the region east of Mery and Genlis Wood. Near the centre, along the Aronde front, in the region of St. Maur, the Loge Farm and Anthueil, the French repulsed violent attacks by the enemy. Despite repeated efforts, the Germans on the French right were not able to debouch on the south bank of the Matz River. The French are holding in that part of the battle area south of Chevrincourt and Marest-sur-Matz.

South of the Aisne, on the front between Soissons and the Marne, the Germans attacked this morning. Fighting is going on between the river and the Villers-Cotterets Forest. Violent combats are being fought on the front of Dommiers, Cutry, and south of Ambleny.

NO CHANGE DURING NIGHT.

The text of the statement reads:

"The battle between Montdidier and the Oise continued without great change during the night. On our left, all attempted attacks by the enemy against positions we had reconquered were broken.

"The French troops have realized new progress east of Mery and the Genlis Wood. Violent German attacks have likewise been repulsed by the French on the Aronde front, at St. Maur, the Loge Farm and Antheuil.

"The French troops have withstood the shock of attacks and inflicted heavy losses upon the assailants while guarding their positions.

UNABLE TO DEBOUCH.

"On the right, the Germans, despite the repeated efforts, have not been able to debouch south of Matz. The French are holding that part of the field south of Chevrincourt and Marest-sur-Matz.

"According to new information from the battlefront, the French counter-attack yesterday occurred while a powerful German attack was in preparation on the same front. French troops came in contact with heavy forces of the enemy and threw them into disorder.

"Prisoners taken by one French division are found to belong to four different German divisions.

"South of the Aisne, the Germans attacked this morning between the river and the Villers-Cotterets Forest. Violent combats are going on on the front of Dommiers, Cutry and south of Ambleny."

HUN DIVISION CUT TO PIECES.

With the French Army in France, Tuesday, June 11.—French cannon and machine guns have reaped a heavy toll since Sunday. An entire division of the famous Jaegers was cut to pieces at Ressons-sur-Matz, while a Guards division lost a great proportion of its effectives. Other divisions, it is learned, suffered equally during the preparation for the attack, and the advance to the narrow valleys, all the passes of which were dominated by the Allied guns. Every prisoner taken seems horror-stricken at the slaughter of his comrades.

HEAPED WITH GERMAN DEAD.

Paris, June 12.—The ground over which the French advanced in their counter-attack Tuesday was literally heaped with German dead, says the Havas correspondent at the front. In retaking Belloy and reaching the southern outskirts of St. Maur, the French surprised the Germans, who until then thought they were masters of the situation. The Germans retired in disorder and brought horses to the first line in full gallop in order to carry away their guns. The ardent and valiant counter-attack, the correspondent says, proved that the French have not lost their hitting power.

GERMAN CENTRE IN GREAT DANGER.

Paris, June 12.—The brilliant counter-attack delivered by the French left has undone most of the advantages gained by the Germans in the first two days of the battle, threatening as it does the flank of the enemy columns in the centre marching on Compeigne, from which they are now only six miles away.

BAFFLED BY FRENCH.

DISTRICT BAPTISTS DECIDE TO SUPPORT NEW MISSIONARY

Women's Response to Missions Plea Commended by Speakers.

"That in view of the splendid response of our women to our medical fund and the fact that Miss Laura Allyn has been assigned to us, we recommend as an association that we adopt her and contribute to her maintenance while she is in the foreign field."

"That the Middlesex and Lambton Association of Missionary Circles record their deep appreciation of the splendid work done by Miss Baskerville during her tour of our circles, and also our pleasure at meeting one whose life has been given to foreign work. We assure her our prayers will follow her on her return to India."

The above resolutions were unanimously passed at the opening sessions of the 45th annual meeting of the Middlesex and Lambton Association of Baptist Churches, being held in the Wortley Road Baptist Church, on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. R. R. McKay, Sarnia, president of the Women's Mission Circles, presided.

The two meetings yesterday were devoted to the work of the women's mission circles and mission bands.

Addresses were delivered by Miss E. Aldridge, Toronto; Rev. J. Janes, Ingersoll; Mrs. Harry Stillwell, Toronto; Miss Laura Allyn, Mrs. Barber, Sarnia; Mrs. N. Mills, London, and Mrs. Rev. J. N. Norton, London.

The following are the officers of the Women's Circles and Bands for the ensuing year: Mrs. (Rev.) R. R. McKay, Sarnia, president; Mrs. Dr. Stewart, Ailsa Craig, vice-president; Mrs. J. J. Baldwin, London, director; and Miss Piggott, London, assistant director. The president in her address gave a resume of the work of the past year.

The delegates were asked to convey to their respective churches her appreciation of the support that she had received. She also urged her hearers to seek to recognize the fact that each one is a co-worker with Jesus.

That the great majority of women members of the Baptist churches do not belong to the women's mission circles was a fact, the speaker stated. In the average missionary society there are a few members who do nothing but attend the meetings and give some financial support. This could also be said of many church members. This condition should not be. It could be remedied, however, by each member being brought to realize their individual responsibility.

Value of Prayer.

"The value of prayer was also emphasized by Mrs. McKay. She was pleased to see that the missionary donations had been increased during the past year.

Miss E. Aldridge of Toronto gave an address on "The Young Ladies' Circles," which she referred to as "Our Reserve Battalion." The glorious opportunities awaiting the young women of today was emphasized by the speaker.

"I am glad that I was born in Canada, the great and glorious country in the making, and I am glad that the best part of my life lies ahead of me," said the speaker. "I can have a part in the glorious work that is opening up for young women as a result of the war. We all deplore the awfulness of war, but it would be more terrible if we did not learn the lessons it has for us.

Prepare To Take Places.

Referring to the opportunity for service, she thought God had planned that the young women's mission classes should be formed in time for the members to be prepared to take their places in the various fields which have opened to them. This reserve battalion is called upon today to hold the front line of missionary endeavor as the Canadians were called upon to hold the line at Ypres to save Calais.

"Disastrous as the loss of Calais would have been, how much greater is the loss of a human soul?" was the query.

That giving which causes no sacrifice is not recognized by God was the opinion of the speaker. A comparison was drawn between the $1,000 check of a wealthy woman and the $25 gift of a working girl, who had to sacrifice her summer vacation as a result. The latter gift would aid Christ's work more than the former, she thought.

Investment Repaid.

Rev. J. Jones of Ingersoll described the work of the home mission board as he had found it during his student days and since. Instances were pointed out, where churches had been aided for twelve years, until they became self-sustaining. That the investment had paid in every case was the opinion of the speaker.

M. DUVAL MUST DIE; APPEAL IS REJECTED

PARIS, June 11.—(Havas Agency).—The council of revision has rejected the appeals of the men convicted of treason in connection with the famous Bonnet Rouge case.

On May 11 a court-martial in Paris found seven men guilty of treason in connection with the German propaganda carried out by the newspaper Bonnet Rouge. Of the men convicted, M. Paper, was sentenced to death, and the Duval, who was director of the newssix other defendants to terms of imprisonment from twe to ten years.

WARM PROTEST FROM VETERANS AT APPOINTMENT

Local G. W. V. A. Declares Returned Men Passed Up for Civilian Postmaster.

LT.-COL. COLES ELECTED

Strong protests were made against the action of the Government in appointing a civilian to the position of postmaster of the East London postoffice at a largely-attended meeting of the Great War Veterans' Association last night. A resolution embodying these protests will be at once forwarded to Major Hume Cronyn, M.P., and the civil service commission.

As a result of the nominations for the annual election of officers, Lieut.-Col. W. G. Coles was unanimously elected to head the association for the coming year. Other officers who received another term by acclamation were First Vice-President Ball, Treasurer Ingram, Secretary Cunliffe, Sergeant-at-Arms Graham and Auditors Ivey and Muxworthy.

The members did not beat around the bush in expressing their feelings concerning the action of the powers that be in ignoring the returned soldiers when the appointment of a postmaster was being made.

"It is time that something was done" declared one member of the association, "when, in spite of the fact that according to the order-in-council and the pledges of the present Government, returned men are entitled to the preference for appointments in the public service, they are given the 'go-by' in this and similar cases.

Unionists No Better.

"The pledges of politicians are seldom to be relied upon, and the present Government, though expected to be different, is apparently not any better in this regard."

"Returned men do not wish to monopolize all the appointments," declared another veteran, "but they wish to have the preference if they have a man who is capable of filling the particular position in question. If they have not such a man, they are willing to pass it up. In cases of doubt, they ask a fair trial, so that if a man appointed temporarily is not satisfactory, they nor anyone else would reasonably expect the Government to retain him in the position.

"The Government has simply broken its word in this case, and it should not be allowed to pass unnoticed."

Others spoke along similar lines, demanding that some strong action be taken to remind the Government of its pledges. As a result, it was decided unanimously that a strong resolution of protest be drawn up and forwarded to the secretary of the civil service commission and to Major Hume Cronyn, M.P. A special committee was chosen to look after the wording of the resolution, composed of President Coles, Treasurer Ingram, Secretary Cunliffe and Comrade Aiken.

Restrict Enemy Aliens.

The question of the failure of the Government to take any action with regard to restrictions on enemy aliens will be pushed to the limit at the Dominion convention of Great War Veterans, which takes place in Toronto on July 29, if the local delegates follow the instructions given them at last night's meeting.

"Push it as far as you can," was the trend o fthe resolution instructing them how to deal with it there.

Local members were also decided in their views that no discrimination should be shown between drafted men and volunteers as far as membership in the association was concerned. The whole question of the rights and privileges of associate members is to be threshed out at the Dominion convention, and in the meantime a referendum on several phases of the question is being taken among the individual members, the result of which is to be forwarded to the headquarters of the association.

No "Y" Discussion Yet.

On resolution it was decided not to discuss the Y. M. C. A. question here until the case was dealt with at the Dominion convention.. It was the opinion of President Coles and other members that that was the proper place for its discussion.

Preceding the nomination of officers, Comrade Warburton was chosen temporary chairman. The executive committee was re-elected as it stood, with one exception, the name of Lieut. Warburton being added, and now consists of Comrades Ryder, Bates, Bullen, Lee, Ashley, Dawe, Murphy, Maguire and Warburton.

Five nominations for the office of second vice-president were received, and they will be balloted on at the next meeting. The house and entertainment committee and the investigating committee will also be chosen at the next meeting from those nominated last night.

President Coles, Treasurer Ingram, Secretary Cunliffe and Comrade Aiken were chosen delegates to the Dominion convention, and Comrades Warburton, Bullen and Capewell were named substitutes.

The sick and visiting committee was re-elected, consisting of Comrades Bates, Murphy and Maguire. Their work was highly praised by the members.

The scope of the work of the investigation committee will probably be enlarged as a result of a suggestion of Major Buchanan, traveling representative of the board of pension commissioners, who attended as visiting member of the association.

Co-operate With Commission.

The plan had proved successful elsewhere of having this committee cooperate with the board of pension commissioners, and investigate complaints regarding pensions, and also to look after assigned pay, separation allowance and other matters.

Major Buchanan paid a striking tribute to the local branch of the association. "I have traveled from coast to coast, have attended 67 different branches of the G. W. V. A., and have met probably 35,000 soldiers, but this is the most orderly and best-conducted meeting I have ever had the pleasure of attending," he declared, amid applause.

"I am more than pleased to see the orderly way in which you conduct your business, without fuss or fume," he added, "and I certainly must congratulate you on the excellent decorum of your meetings. It has been indeed a pleasure to be present."

On behalf of the members, President Coles thanked Major Buchanan for his kind remarks. The attendance at meetings throughout the country by officials was a great benefit, he said.

As a result of a resolution, a letter will be forwarded to Ottawa congratulating that branch of the G. W. V. A. on its good work done through Major Buchanan.

The building committee reported that it would meet the board of control today to take up the question of a home for the association. This committee is to be supplanted by the house committee in the near future.

Membership Now 720.

The reports of the secretary and treasurer showed remarkable progress. During the past twelve months the membership had jumped from 90 to 720 members. Among the activities of the year worthy of note in the secretary's report were the Christmas treat for the kiddies, the work of the relief committee in securing coal, and the work of other committees in handling complaints regarding asigned pay and separation allowance, etc. The president was also commended for having devoted much time to the work of the association.

The treasurer's report showed total receipts of $6,947.50. Votes of thanks were accorded the reader of each report.

Since so many suffer disappointment, hoping to economize by buying cheap tea, it should be pointed out that inferior tea is actually an extravagance, since a pound of Salada yields so many more cups, and, besides, has that delicious flavor.

OBSERVATIONS ON THE ASSEMBLY

BY G. ALLERY

PRINCIPAL BRANDT.

Without any idea that it was going to be what it was, the biggest night of the assembly was last night. Most people forgot, or never knew, what was to be served up by the business committee, and when Principal Brandt was announced by the moderator, the assembly sat up and came to attention. Principal Brandt, monsieur est tres joli in the assembly, and last night he added new lustre to his fame. The man himself interests an audience of Scots, Hibernian, English, Canadians. His appearance, his accent, his personality have charm and grace, and his theme—the youth of Quebec—is one that no kirkman, no anti-burgher, no free churchman thinks lightly of. In the fascinating diction of Principal Brandt the story of the work in the school at Pointe-aux-Trembles is as pleasant and pleasing as the singing of the kettle on the hob of the camp, when the wind is making lyrics in the pine trees overhead. Brandt is an orator when he gets time enough to allow his personality to come to the aid of his speech. He loves Canada, he lives for the youth of Quebec, and his work among them is as fine as anything that was done at Rugby among the youths of England.

NEIL, DUNCAN, MACDONALD, DODDS.

Following Brandt's story of how one hundred and twenty graduates of his school had enlisted for overseas service came Dr. Neil's report of the military service board's work for the past year. When he got through with the bones of it he began to recall vividly the experiences of the three months he spent overseas in England's pleasant land and in France's wasted stretches. He told of the heroic chaplains and their labors, with a warmth of regard for them that caught and held the wide-awake interest of the sleepiest commissioner in the front seats, east side of the church. Dr. Neil's prelude was followed by a tremendous trio from men who have looked war-death in the face and felt the hot breath of it near at hand. Major Duncan of Port Credit spent a hard year "over there" helping the boys in the thousand and ten ways a padre can and does help. He was in at Vimy Ridge. So was his brave son, Lieut. Duncan. Major Duncar came out, but the lieutenant sleeps beneath the poppies. Duncan's address was a marvellous bit of soldier courage. How his heart must ache when he thinks of his boy! But he hid all that and pleaded for interest in those that are alive and remain and "carry on" the cause. Right on the heels of Duncan came Capt. Macdonald Kintore. He was given ten minutes and found twenty minutes more, to the delight of the enthralled audience. Macdonald is a Stornoway man, a typical Scot, with the humor of an Irishman, and the keenness of an Aberdonian. He had the assembly in the land of laughter most of the half hour he used in spoking for "ten minutes." When he told the commissioners he had no use for hygiene after this, and explained himself, the fine choir that led the evening's praise nearly choked in their effort to smother laughter, while the ministers and men cut loose and roared right out in the solemn meeting. Macdonald had always been "fussy" before he got to France. He had also been thin in those days. Living in a dugout 50 feet below ground, among the rats and the vermin and the mire, he actually got fat and came through all the gruesome experience in better health than he ever had in earlier cleaner years. O, Donnalach! It was hard on ta solemn folk to hear you. Macdonald had 21 relatives in the fighting force at one time. Eight remain unwounded and alive, and they are each doing their bit. Capt. Dodds of Sonya rendered the fine third part of the trio of chaplain speeches, and with his recital of experiences there was more laughter and then tears on the faces of the listeners. Dodds is a brawny, big man, with a heart to match his body. The very sight of him must have helped many a stricken lad on that awful day when Passchendaele was taken by Canada's sons.

D. T. L. McKERROLL

followed all that wonderful, soul-opening talk with a big, big scheme to help the returned soldier. McKerroll had a good plan, which he fluently and pleasingly explained, and the roused assembly caught at it with a commendable eagerness. How long a time we have wasted in this crying work of helping the brave, maimed men to get on their feet again in our Canadian life! Now the churches are at work, the Government is at work, the military are at work, and if we all jump in and lend a hand, the boys who have bled and borne for us will yet come into as much as we can give them, and that ought to be everything they need.

J. A. MILLER

is well known in London for his work in securing men for the farms. He is well known in every part of Canada because of his identification with big forward movements in Y. M. C. A. affairs, in immigration work, in church work of several denominations, particularly his own. Miller is a fine "push." If anyone who knows his gifts, wishes to get a big drive on for some good objective, and wants the thing done in a hurry and well done, he just gets in touch with Miller, tells him the high spots of the case, and Miller says to himself: "Go to it, Jim!" and the thing begins to get done. Miller has few equals and no superior in the difficult task of rallying a scattered and disgruntled crowd of Presbyterians that enjoy the name of a congregation. He has achievements in that kind of work to his great credit in cities and countrysides, in towns and villages, east and west. He is a photographer of note and has some negatives that are strictly a class for artistic selection and sharp outlines. Nearly everybody likes Miller, the other ones love him. He is in with boys and girls, men and women of all sorts and temperaments. He is a man's man. He knows how to approach men on a proposition affecting church or country. He can hardly be called a woman's man, nor can he be regarded as possessing that peculiar knowledge of a woman's heart that makes him a success when he proposes to a woman, for Miller has no maid nor married wife to lead him around the ring of life. And yet the ladies are all pleasant to Miller. Good Jim Miller!

THE REGISTRAR.

Assembly has a registrar, and a good one, a royal good one, in the person of Edward Blake Carruthers, B.Sc. Blake was the distinguished man of his year in "Varsity—a "whale" in science, as his standing and his classmates all testified. After his graduation he entered the civil service and wrought for a time at Ottawa doing difficult things in applied chemistry. Now, while still a young man, he is the admired because obliging and most efficient accountant in the offices of the church treasurer, and the registrar of the assembly what time it meets and where it meets and when. He is very well informed on church affairs and is always ready and willing these days to tell commissioners who ask him questions, things they need to know. He exercises a fatherly oversight of "some" of the press table group, especially two of the younger scribes from Toronto. In this he is doing a good work, and a needed work that is doubtless prized by these two.

DAYLIGHT WASTING.

The commissioner of power should investigate the practice of assemblies, conferences, synods, etc., etc., in the matter of daylight wasting. Take this assembly and its offence against the daylight saving law. The commissioners assemble at 10 a.m. and adjourn at 11 p.m. daily. That is to say they do not get at their job until five hours after sun-up. Why not ring them in at 9 a.m. and adjourn at 10 p.m.? Is not only the lighting of the assembly church that is involved in this unseemly attitude to Sir Fodge Joster's long-postponed-on-his-part-law? Every home where a commissioner is billeted, every hotel where he lays his tired head keeps the lower lights burning and the upper lights burning until he gets housed. It is said that the venerable moderator wants to meet at 9 a.m., but the Toronto delegation influenced by the representative of the Globe stand out for Toronto hours here in London. If it is true then it is a pity. This Toronto attitude to hours of rising and resting should not be allowed to rule in London. We move that the assembly meet on Saturday morning—when it meets—at 9 o'clock a.m. Carried!

SANER THAN WE ARE?

A doubtful compliment was offered to the women of the church last evening by one of the commissioners when speaking of the work of the women helping the soldiers in certain hospitals. This excited man lifted up his voice and said: "The dear women who help in this work show far more sanity than some of us do." Agreed, on condition that the some of us does not mean the sum of us. Why, of course, the women are saner than "some" of us are. That is an obvious fact. Why advertise the obvious? Carried!

LONDON MINISTER ELECTED HEAD OF BAPTIST PASTORS

Rev. A. C. Bingham the New President of Conference.

"That a letter conveying our deepest sympathy be sent to the wife and family of Rev. Dr. Thomas Trotter, who until his death a few days ago was a valued member of the faculty of McMaster University," was a resolution at the Baptist Pastors' Conference held in Knox Presbyterian Church on Tuesday afternoon. Rev. John Trickey of Poplar Hill occupied the chair.

The following officers were chosen for the next term: Rev. A. C. Bingham, London, president; Rev. Joseph Yule, secretary-treasurer.

C. W. Senior of Toronto addressed the conference on the boards of the denomination.

A theological discussion on the Book of Revelation was opened by James Hamilton. It was decided to hold the next meeting of the pastors' conference in Watford in September.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT SECOND RECITAL IN KINSMAN HALL

Versatile Artist Provides Most Pleasing Program.

Largely attended was the second recital given by Irene H. Bartlett. On Tuesday evening in Kinsman Hall, under the auspices of the Associated Kin. The feature of the evening was 33 Greek posings by Miss Bartlett who, possessed of great dramatic ability, and clad in the flowing Grecian robes, held her audience spellbound throughout this feature. Imitating birds in a most realistic manner in several readings and vocal numbers brought the audience near to ecstasy.

By request, Miss Bartlett repeated several of the numbers given on Monday evening, among them an old negro melody, and a clever reading, imitating a speech by a chairman "On Education."

Readings given by Mr. Steer, elocutionist; 'cello solos by Rev. Q. Warner, and vocal numbers by Master Douglas Westman completed an excellent program.

Mayor C. R. Somerville presided and spoke of the work the Next of Kin Association has undertaken and the faithful way in which it is serving the citizens of London.

A GOOD FLIGHT.

Beamsville, June 11.—Flight Lieut. Lloyd Huber, bringing with him Lieut. J. L. Dickson of Woodstock, his observer, arrived here tonight on their flight of 350 miles from Ottawa. They left the capital just before 9 o'clock and the trip here was made without accident.

Flight Lieut. Huber has completed 5,000 flights and has never had a passenger injured. He hesitated to take his observer up from Lansdowne Park this morning, but picked him up in a hay field from which the start was made to Smith's Falls.

COMPANY AGREES TO ARRANGEMENTS TO SATISFY MEN

Differences Over Street Railway Schedule Settled.

The differences between the London Street Railway Company and its employees, in reference to the proposed action of the company in cutting off eight cars, were settled at a conference of the representatives of the company and the union on Tuesday evening, it is reported.

The men claimed that the company had no right to change the list in the middle of the month. Objections were also taken to the new schedule of runs as arranged. The union officials refused to sign the list as posted.

The company, it is claimed by the men, has agreed to make some changes in the proposed schedule, which will make it satisfactory to the men. The new list will be ready for signatures tonight, and as far as can be learned all the men will sign it. The company will take off the eight cars as proposed, however.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

WE STAND CORRECTED.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

In your issue of June 8 there appears in your editorial notes the following statement:

"Cardinal Begin's ideas as to whether priests ought to fight apparently differ from those of the padres who are giving valuable service with rifle and bayonet in France."

Being of the opinion that utterance to the statement quoted was given through lack of information, rather than through any desire to wilfully place his eminence in a manifestly false position, I would take the liberty of reminding you that while great democracies like the British Empire and the United States exempt the clergy of all denominations from bearing arms, the Government of France does not, and it is due to this fact, rather than through any difference of opinion between Cardinal Begin and the padres of France, that they are actively engaged in the bloodshed precipitated by the present terrible war.

Thus the falsity of the position in which you have inadvertantly placed his eminence may be removed, I trust you will, in justice to him, give space to these few remarks.

Thanking you in advance, I am,

Yours truly,

FAIRPLAY.

THE SPRINGBANK GATE.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

In a horse trade, a little trickery or tight squeezing may be picturesque. In the administration of public affairs it is apt to be ridiculous, if not contemptible. And it is time for protest when the city of London seeks to lift $500 out of an adjoining municipality by fencing its boundary and denying citizens their established right-of-way to and from.

When the city goes beyond its jurisdiction and comes back like a pirate from the high seas, enriched by a few dollars illegally extorted by threats to turn the $200 unlawfully taken and seek the necessary legislation to legalize our claim to a fair and honorable tax.

JOHN COTTAM.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Dear Sir,—I would like to ask permission of you the liberty to inquire through your valuable paper the reason why our able government at Ottawa exempted land owners who have their farms all in grass and not even grazing any cattle or growing any crop of any kind whatsoever that could be converted to the use of King or people? I know of one man who has 300 acres in this condition, and his brother, who has another 100 acres in this similar condition, all in the same vicinity, and reputed to be wealthy gentlemen and bachelors. I would think if this avenue of wealth was investigated that a considerable amount of money could be realized for the prosecution of the great war, and the masses would be benefitted thereby. I mean particularly the land of such men were taxed by a per centage on the assessor's valuation. Respectfully yours,

S. E. CAMPBELL.

THE APOLOGIST OF TORYISM.

"The Globe does not believe that Mr. Cronyn made a bargain with the Free Press for its editorial support on a cash basis. The Free Press would have given its support without payment." What do you think of the Globe now? How do you like the Globe in its new garb? There is nothing so low as that which has fallen. Once the brilliant mouthpiece of Liberalism it fell from its high pedestal into the cesspool of Toryism. How innocently she now speaks of Tories and Toryism. These are nothing but repetitions. The Tories whose ranks she has joined are the same Tories whom she used to tell us about—the same only a little worse. The outrages committed prior to and during the last election campaign are without parallel in the history of Canada. Tammany could not produce a photograph of it. Yet all had the hearty indorsation of the Globe and its pet, that political misfit known as Newton Wesley Rowell. Shade of George Brown! His bones must have turned in the grave last December.

COUNCIL ECONOMY SHOWS SOME RARE "OUTBREAKS" NOW

PAVING HEAD ANOTHER

$300 Was Lost and $300 "Saved" by Firing and Rehiring of Superintendent.

Economy was the people's mandate to the 1918 council delivered at the municipal election. It has, in a measure, been practised. Tuesday night, however, the board of works disposed of two interesting and doubtful cases of economy, the garbage strike and the rehiring of Paving Superintendent W. R. Hunter.

It is just eight days since there has been any garbage collected in London. The cause of it all was $4.75 cents a week. The city did not want to pay this, and the council allowed the men to go on strike. It has cost the city $172.80 to feed the garbage horses to date, while they have not been working. True, the city did not pay out the sum of $600 that would have been due the collectors had they worked. But to offset this, there is, in addition to feeding the horses, the wages of the stableman, the engineers at the incinerator and the cost of fuel to heat the hospital, omitting the fact that no garbage was collected in the city, and that when the collection is resumed extra efforts will have to be put forth for a few weeks until the collectors catch up. In addition, the money paid out to feed the horses is a direct loss. Not a cent's worth of work has been received in return.

The case of Supt. Hunter is equally amusing.

The proposal to dismiss Mr. Hunter was first broached in February. It was in the air until well on in May. During that time Mr. Hunter was fired and not fired several times. Mr. Hunter was drawing $150 a month salary. For two months he has done nothing but mark time. He was waiting for what seemed the inevitable dismissal. For two months he did not know where he was at. It is safe to say the city got little for the $300 paid in wages. Mr. Hunter never knew where he was at. How could he work? Now he is hired again, after his dismissal from his $1,800 a year job goes into effect on June 30. His new salary will be $1,200. He got $900 for the first half-year and will get $600 for the second, $1,500 in all. This makes a grand saving of $300 to the city for the year, and the city lost just $300 by keeping Mr. Hunter in the air for two months.

Wives and Families Brought to Court to Prove Prisoners' Cases.

Two Austrians and one Rumanian appeared in police court today charged with a breach of the military service act because of their failure to have passports or documents in their possession showing their nationality.

Gulick Advick, 515 Simcoe street, was asked by the magistrate if he understood English, to which the prisoner replied "No."

Through an interpreter he stated he was 53 years of age, and his employer stated that the prisoner had been in the city six years.

The prisoner claimed that he was unaware of the fact that he was required to report to the police as an alien enemy. The fact was firmly impressed upon his mind, and he was allowed to go on the understanding that he report regularly.

William Doran, Manor Park, who claimed to be a native of Rumania, and Joseph Kornivick, the other Austrian, fortified themselves by having their wives and children present in court. After looking over the women and children, Magistrate Graydon ordered Kornivick to report once a month to the police as an alien enemy, and advised Doran to carry his marriage certificate.

The three men summoned today are the first to be called to court because of their failure to have documents to prove their nationality.

Former Londoner Tells of the Campaign to Increase Acreage.

R. A. McVean, traveling passenger agent of the Canadian Government Railways, with headquarters in Toronto, and a former well-known Londoner, is in the city. Mr. McVean is enthusiastic over the special production campaign being carried on by the road. In an interview he said:

"Employees of the Canadian Government Railways located conveniently near sections of the right of way where the soil is suitable for cultivation, are being urged to apply for such land as they can cultivate, and do their utmost to boost along the greater production movement.

"In places where it is not feasible for employees to utilize arable land along the right of way, the owners of property adjoining are urged to make proper use of it, not for pasture or grazing, but for the purpose of raising such crops as will materially add to the food supply.

"The question of food is vital and pre-eminent. Next to munitions, the allied countries need food. Everything in the way of food that can be grown is an important contribution to the Empire's needs. Whatever is raised for home consumption releases as much more for export. If our people generally raise their own potatoes and garden truck, the farmers will raise more oats and grain and buckwheat. On comparatively small patches of land enough can be grown to feed several people, and if many individuals make even what might be considered a humble effort, the total result will be of vast importance.

"In many sections there is excellent land along the right of way. It has been the practice in some localities for station agents and sectionmen to utilize strips convenient to their neighborhood for garden patches, and for growing oats, hay and buckwheat or potatoes. Last year there was considerable gardening, but when the total acreage of land available is considered, the agricultural attempts were really insignificant. It is felt that many miles of this land could be brought under cultivation, and the railway is showing its earnestness in the matter by offering the use of whatever land is available along the right of way.

"Applications for railway land can be made to the superintendent of the district. Preference will be given first to employees and then to the property owners adjoining. In cases where the right of way is through unoccupied land, any person who will guarantee a bona fide intention of raising crops may make application.

"All inquiries regarding land permits addressed to the railway will be promptly answered and the fullest information given."

LONDON OFFICERS WIN C. M. G. HONORS

BRIG.-GEN. L. W. SHANNON.

COL. FRANK REID.

MAJOR-GEN. W. E. HODGINS.

THREE LONDON OFFICERS WIN HONORS IN DECORATION LIST GAZETTED IN OLD COUNTRY

Generals Shannon and Hodgins and Col. Frank Reid Made Companions of St. Michael and St. George.

Three London officers are included in the list of Canadian soldiers whose honors have been gazetted in England. Major-Gen. W. E. Hodgins, Brig.-Gen. L. W. Shannon and Col. Frank Reid have all been made companions of the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

The three honored officers are possibly the best-known London soldiers. Until the outbreak of the war Gen. Hodgins was D. O. C. here, but was shortly afterwards transferred to Ottawa, promoted from colonel to a brigadier-general and made adjutant-general for Canada—and some time ago went to England in connection with the demobilization work of the Canadian forces overseas.

Brig.-Gen. Shannon, now on sick leave, has been commander of the local district since the transfer of Gen. Hodgins to Ottawa. He has been on the headquarters staff here for many years, and has enjoyed an enviable reputation for the administration of the affairs of his department during the war years.

Col. Frank Reid, the third of the trio of London officers who will now be able to write C. M. G. after their names, is slated for still further honors, for it is believed that his promotion to brigadier-general will be announced shortly. He has been on overseas duty since the formation of the 1st Canadian Contingent, and is now a base commandant in France. During the recent federal election, Col. Reid was in charge of the elections in France.

Col. Reid is a former commanding officer of the 7th Regiment, and his work in connection with the transport of the first contingent overseas brought him prominently into the public eye.

The complete list of Canadians whose honors have been gazetted follows:

Companions of the Bath.

Companions of St. Michael and St. George.

Major-Gen. Thomas Benson, Major-Gen. Willoughby Gwatkin, Major-Gen. William Hodgins, Brig.-Gen. Donald Hogarth, Col. George Armstrong, Medicals; Brig.-Gen. James Biggar, Major Harry Elliott, Col. Frederick Gaudet, Brig.-Gen. Reginald Gwynne, Brig.-Gen. Richard Helmer, Col. Henry Osborne, Col. Charles Perreau, Lieut.-Col. Frank Reid, Lieut.-Col. George Badgerow, Col. Harold Bickford, Col. Malcolm Colquhoun, Col. Stanley Gardner, Col. John Alexander Gunn, Lieut.-Col. Charles McEachren, Col. Aleyn Palmer, Col. John Rattray, Brig.-Gen. Henry Ruttan, Brig.-Gen. Lewis Shannon, Major Everett Bristol, Major Furry Montague, Col. Frank Morrison.

Major-Gen. W. A. Logie, C.B., for three years in command of the Toronto Military District, is at present overseas on a mission connected with the work of the militia department. He was born in 1866, and is a son of Judge Logie of Wentworth. He was called to the bar in 1890, and became connected with the Canadian militia in 1883.

Major-Gen. Garnet Burke Hughes, C. M. G., D. S. O., is the only son of Major-Gen. Sir Sam Hughes, and being only 36 years old, is one of the youngest officers in the British service to reach his present rank. He is serving overseas.

Brig.-Gen. Donald McDonald Hogarth, M. P. P., C. M. G., was born at Osceola, Ont., in 1879. He represents Port Arthur in the Ontario Legislature. About three months ago he was appointed Canadian quartermaster-general in England, and before that he was director of supply and transport for the Canadian forces.

Col. H. C. Bickford, C. M. G., of the Toronto Military District, was born in Toronto a little over forty years ago. With the 6th Dragoon Guards, he served in India and South Africa. When the war broke out he was for some time assistant adjutant-general with a Canadian division in England.

Col. H. C. Osborne, C. M. G., military secretary to the minister of militia, was formerly deputy assistant adjutant-general of the 2nd Divisional Area. He is a Toronto man, and holds the rank of major in the Grenadiers.

Major Everett Bristol, C. M. G., is the only son of George Bristol, Hamilton, and nephew of Edmund Bristol, M. P. He was severely wounded in December, 1915, when serving with the 15th Battalion, C. E. F. He was in England when the war commenced, and at once joined the King Edward Horse, but transferred to the Hussars, and then to the Canadians.

Major-Gen. J. Lyons Biggar, C. M. G., is quartermaster-general at Ottawa. He has been an officer in the Canadian militia since 1881. He has seen service in South Africa, and in 1911 was appointed to the staff at Ottawa. His position as director-general of supply and transport was an onerous one in the early stages of the war.

Major-Gen. Willoughby Gwatkin, C. M. G., is a member of the Canadian Council of Militia, and was made chief of the general staff in 1913. He came to Canada in 1905, after serving with distinction in Egypt and South Africa.

Brig.-Gen. R. J. Gwynne, director of mobilization in 1917, comes from Grenfell, Saskatchewan. He is known as a pioneer in the work of organizing Canada's Cadet Corps.

Lieut.-Col. John A. Gunn, president of Gunn's, Limited, Montreal, was instrumental in raising the 24th Battalion in 1915. He is a Toronto man, having been born here in 1873. He is an old member of the Tecumseh Lacrosse Club.

FURANNA—GASTE

Most impressive was the wedding ceremony performed at 9 o'clock this morning in St. Peter's Cathedral, when Lucile Eulalia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jose Gaste, Ridout street south, was united in marriage to Frank Furanna, Rev. Father McKeon officiating.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in her nuptial gown of ivory charmeuse with court train and bridal veil wreathed with orange blossoms, the latter worn by the bride's mother on her wedding day. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses, sweet peas and orchids, and wore a pearl and amethyst lavallier, the gift of the groom.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Leontine Gaste, as bridesmaid, who wore an ivory jersey suit and white Milan hat. She carried a shower bouquet of sunset roses and wore the gift of the groom, an onyx bar pin set with pearls.

The mother of the bride was gowned in mauve cattitude silk with corsage bouquet, and wore a hat to match.

The groom was supported by Vincent Cusilito, the groom's gift to the groomsman being a ruby tiepin.

After the celebration of wedding mass, Miss Uma Conner sang Schubert's "Ave Maria," and the ceremony being performed the bride and groom left the church amid showers of confetti.

A dainty wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's father, the color scheme in the dining-room being carried out in pink and white. Later the bridal couple left for eastern points, the bride traveling in a tailored suit of navy blue serge and hat to match.

WITNESSES CALLED TO PROVE ALIBI OF ALLEGED FORGERY

Defence Testimony Includes Niagara Falls Men.

CASE NOW PROCEEDING

The trial of Frank R. Pohlmann, charged with forgery, is being held today before Judge J. C. Judd at the court house.

The case for the crown was closed at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon, when witnesses for the defence were called. At 3 o'clock J. M. McEvoy, counsel for Pohlmann, commenced his address.

Pohlmann is charged with forging the name of M. M. Fergusson, a former employer, to a check for $65, which was cashed on April 22nd at the market branch of the Huron and Erie Mortgage Corporation.

Malcolm M. Fergusson, of the firm of McConnell & Fergusson, advertising agents, was the first witness called. Pohlmann, he testified, had worked for the firm for over a year and his business relations throughout that period had been satisfactory.

The check for $65 was produced in court. The signature of Mr. Fergusson was pronounced by himself as a forgery.

Miss Margaret McGregor, teller in the market branch of the Huron and Erie Mortgage Corporation, testified that the check, produced in court, was presented to her on April 22nd last by Pohlmann. The check was made payable to E. J. Carter. A few days later Miss McGregor made a trip to Hamilton, located Pohlmann at the place where he was employed there and identified him as the man who presented the forged check.

Willis Wilkin, 108 Wharncliffe road west, ledgerkeeper at the Huron and Erie market branch, handled the check, and believed the signature of M. M. Fergusson to be genuine at the time it was presented at the bank.

Police Magistrate Called.

Police Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon stated that the prisoner, Frank R. Pohlmann, was arraigned before him on April 26th. After electing summary trial in police court Pohlmann had pleaded guilty to the charge of forging the name of M. Fergusson to the check for $65.

Reginald A. Shirley, a member of the detective force of Hamilton, accompanied Miss McGregor to the place of business where Pohlmann was employed in Hamilton. Witness placed Pohlmann under arrest.

Pohlmann had asked Detective Shirley if the case was a serious one, and had been informed by the detective that it was regarded as such.

Detective Harry Down of the local department, testified that no conversation had taken place between the prisoner and witness concerning the charge on the trip from Hamilton. While in the police station, as preparations were being made to take Pohlmann's finger prints, the latter had used the expression to the detective, "I don't know what I am here for." Detective Down had then informed him that he was wanted for forgery. When the date was mentioned on which the check was cashed at the bank, Pohlmann informed the detective that he was at Niagara Falls that day.

Produces Alibi Evidence.

Joseph Fleming, superintendent of the Dominion Suspender Company, Niagara Falls, Ont., was the first witness called by the defence. Witness remembered seeing Pohlmann at the factory in Niagara Falls on Monday, April 22. At 1:15 o'clock in the afternoon. This was the date on which the forged check was cashed at the Huron and Erie Bank here.

Ernest Edy, manager of Dunkirk Seed Company, Niagara Falls, Ont., said Pohlmann was in his office in Niagara Falls on Monday, April 22. Witness stated there was no doubt in his mind as to the day being April 22nd, and that Pohlmann was the man.

Court adjourned at 1 o'clock, and resumed one hour later, when additional witnesses were called.

TOO MANY COOKS SPOIL BROTH, TOO MANY PAPERS SPOIL ALL CHANCES OF M. S. A. IMMUNITY

A question frequently asked among men some time ago was, "Have you got your papers?" As a means of passing the time of day that expression has now become sadly "passe." In other words it is no longer in good form to greet your male friends in the morning with, "Produce your exemption papers." Like every other good thing it was overdone, and has now been ticketed among the has-beens.

So let those who would keep step with the gay trippings of the Madame La Mode, take heed. No more must they fill in the dull pauses, which inevitably occur in the flow of conversation on the back of street cars, with the query, "Have you got your marriage certificate?"

All these one-time modish pleasantries have now been blacklisted. They have been supplanted by the last word in up-to-the-minute patter, "Have you got too many papers?"

Among the things which men have to worry about in this great war is not whether they have their papers with them, but whether they have too many papers or not.

If you are totoing a young traveling bag in your inside pocket, containing divers copies of the Magna Charta, the Habeas Corpus Act, and the Ontario Temperance Act, all weighted down with wax impressions of the great seal, you are liable to cause cruel suspicions to rise in the minds of wandering M. S. A. policemen who, shocked by the truckload of engraved stationery, may think that you are altogether too well-supplied with billets-doux in these days of high costs of white paper, and may plant you in the ranks of the King's army before you know what's up.

That in a word is what befell E. F. Miner of Sarnia, who was found in possession of so many papers, documents, registration cards and passports (not to mention cigarette papers), conferred on him by both United States and Canadian authorities that the Dominion police officers pricked up their ears at the sight of them. They apparently could not decide in which country he was supposed to be exempted, and not wishing to contract brain fag, they sent him under escort to this city.

Under the new order-in-council, until a man can show that he is not liable he was placed in uniform, and while the officer commanding is looking into the sundry documents carried as excess baggage by Miner, he will enjoy the care-free life of a soldier at Carling Heights Camp.

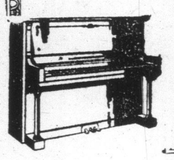

Moral.—Too much is worse than plenty.

of this market. In this, the fourth year of the dominion's war work, this new attitude on the part of the United States, which cripples our industries, must result either from lack of understanding of conditions in Canada or from oversight. We are confident that this unexpected development is capable of immediate relief, without impeding the efforts of the United States in its concentration on war work.

Would Pool Resources.

The United States would be treating the Dominion of Canada no better than they treated it throughout the first three years of this war, when they were a neutral nation, if they would arrange to admit Canadian manufacturers to their sources of supply under the conditions which they apply to their own manufacturers. There can be no doubt that the United States is receiving freely from Canada numerous necessary materials and that this country is solicitous for complete co-operation with the United States in war work; and now that both countries, actuated by the same high ideals and purpose and governed by similar laws and regulations, are united in a life and death struggle against the common enemy, there should be a pooling of resources and unity in war work, instead of crippling trade embargoes. Canadian industries were permitted to obtain indispensable materials in the United States on the same terms as govern their use by corresponding United States manufacturers this policy could not fail to produce better effort in the war work of North America. Full control of such equitable arrangements could be assured under regulations of the Canada War Trade Board.

Get Together.

"If these conditions cannot be brought about by more direct methods, we believe the arrangements ought to be negotiated at once by the two governments. Unless this is done, our own Government will find it necessary to arrange with the British authorities for shipping space to carry materials direct which heretofore have been shipped into the United States and thence into Canada, and to provide conditions whereby we may ourselves produce the other indispensable materials which are now only obtainable in the United States.

"These and other conditions arising from the war, and new ones which will continue to arise, make it necessary that thorough and permanent organization and co-operation should be completed in respect to each group of manufacturers affected by the conditions referred to."

One for Government.

"Within the year our Government has remitted duties on importations of various manufactured articles used by the ultimate consumer, whilst leaving duties in force against materials which must be imported for the successful manufacture in Canada of such finished products. Legislation of this kind represents the antithesis of protection; it stifles domestic industry whilst stimulating and encouraging the importation of foreign manufactures. Your tariff committee believes every businessman must consider such legislation to be hasty legislation, and contrary to the interests of his own country. And we have taken the position that before considering the remission of duties on manufactured products the Government should in all cases, make a thorough survey of the domestic situation, consult with the manufacturers in Canada producing the class of goods under question, and afterwards, if determined to remit the duties, that the same order-in-council should remit the duties on commodities which must be imported for the manufacture in Canada of similar finished products.

Even remission of duties on materials does not give Canadian industries equality in competition against importations of the foreign manufactured articles. A manufacturer of farm trucks goes to the United States for his materials and he must pay higher prices for iron and steel than his United States competitor who can lay down his finished tractor in Canada free of duty.

Want Terms of Equality.

"Your committee has urged in respect to such cases that the Government of Canada provide terms of equality to its own domestic industries.

"The effect of Government encouragement to greater imports of finished products from the United States seems to have been overlooked or disregarded. It increases the difficulty of exchange situation resulting from the fact that the balance of our trade with the United States is heavily against Canada."

Substantial progress has been made towards securing a decision of the vexed question of the rights of provinces as regards controlling companies incorporated by the Dominion, the legislation committee reported.

The committee informs the members that the issue has been framed in a concrete form for submission to the privy council, and it holds that the Dominion Government should bear the expense of the reference.

Insurance Report.

The insurance committee said in its report that $50,000,000 went up in smoke last year in Canada, and it could not be disputed that this was largely the result of carelessness and deplorable unpreparedness. Experts had made the statement that at least half of this enormous loss could be prevented if taken in hand seriously.

Deplorable as was the effect of fire waste upon Canada's domestic affairs, in the present crisis it assumed an immeasurably greater significance. Other countries were to a large extent depending upon Canadian production. Our Government was making strenuous efforts to stimulate food production and curtail home consumption. Yet practically nothing was being done to protect from destruction by fire, that which has been produced.

The Waste by Fire.

When the fire waste in Canada bears the same relation to our property value as in the case of Great Britain, they might expect to be paying about one-third of the present insurance rates, but until the fire waste was considerably reduced, there was no possibility of any material reduction in rates.

Legislation to deal with fire waste the committee thought, should be framed to deal especially with (1) standard minimum requirements, and (2) provisions for adequate inspection.

The executive committee refers to the fact that "a statement was issued to our members, explaining that by positive acts, which left no room for argument, the association had pledged itself to assist the cause of Union Government in the last general election. Many expressions of approbation were received by your secretary."

The committee also reported a surplus of $2,097, total revenue received being $79,069.

QUERIES REGARDING MILITARY SERVICE

Send In Your Problems and They Will Be Answered From Official Information by The Advertiser.

AMERICAN: Q.—1. I am an American; have been here 4 years. Am unmarried, was born 1892. Will I have to register here, and if so, where will I apply for my birth certificate?

2. An American was born 1881, has been here 4 years, and is married. Will he have to have his marriage certificate and birth certificate? Where will he have to register? He has six children.

A.—1. In both questions the national registration on June 22 is confused with registration under the military service act, which is going on all the time. Every person over 16 years of age, resident in Canada, must register June 22 at the booths provided for the purpose of national service. This applies to everyone no matter what their nationality. They need no certificates or anything else for this, but both must register at any booth they wish.

With regard to military service, every man who appears to be of the age liable for military service must carry some papers to show, in case he is questioned by a police officer, that he is not liable for service.

The American born in 1892 should have papers to show that he is a citizen of the United States, and, therefore, not liable to the act here.

The American born in 1881 should have the same papers, or either his marriage or birth certificate would do, as he is married and over the age for Class 1.

READER: I was born in the year 1866, and am 52 years old; where should I apply for registration papers to prove the date of my birth. I don't know whether I was registered or not; in a case of this kind how could I prove the date of my birth?

A.—You do not state where you were born. If you do so we can then advise you where to apply for the information. A certificate signed by two reputable citizens having knowledge of his age would do.

R. L. M.: Q.—I am 22 years of age, and am called to report for service under the M. S. A. Three years ago I purchased a farm at $2,300, for which I paid $700 in cash; there remains $1,600 of a mortgage against it. I have given several promissory notes, payable in the fall. If I were left on the farm I would be able to meet these liabilities. What provisions are made to preserve this property and protect these securities?

A.—See the person to whom you owe the money and explain the facts, and he will no doubt give you an extension of time for payment.

F. J. C.: Q.—1. My husband and myself are Canadian-born. While living in the States some 12 years ago my husband took out his first papers. Does that make him a full-pleged American citizen?

2. When the married men are called would he have to report here or in the States?

3. My father became an American citizen while I was quite a child, which I believe makes me a citizen also.

4. Will my husband and myself have to register on June 22nd under the above conditions?

A.—1. No.
2. Here.
3. No.
4. Yes.

S. S. VOLUNTEER: Q.—1. I was 19 May 11, 1918. Was honorably discharged on April 21, 1916, from an overseas battalion. Had eight months' service and was discharged for being under age. I asked in this column May 6, and was told that I was not in this draft, and now I hear that all honorable discharges are cancelled, and that such men are now in the call. Is this true?

2. If not, can a person go for a visit in United States?

3. Would an honorably discharged paper be all right to carry?

4. Would I be arrested by a military policeman if I was stopped and showed my discharge?

5. Could a person join the U. S. army?

6. Would a man of 19, married, with one child, but not keeping his wife, be called up in this draft?

7. If a man joined now, could he get a month's leave by July 1?

A.—1. You must have failed to put your case clearly in your question of May 6. Unless you have served in France or some other war area, you are bound to register your name and address and date of birth, with the deputy registrar. The order-in-council distinctly states that only those who have served in a theatre of actual war (and service in Great Britain, Ireland or the high seas is not included), are excepted from the provisions of the act and do not need to register.

2, 3 and 4.—If you have registered, write to John Riggs, Dominion Immigration Office, Carling Block, London, Ont., regarding visit to U. S.

5. Not likely, unless there was some special reason.

Urges That Every Support Be Given the Boys Overseas.

WOODSTOCK, June 11.—Woodstock was aglow today with decorations, in honor of the visit of the governor-general of Canada. The vice-regal party was met at the Grand Trunk Railway depot by Mayor West and other officials and escorted to the courthouse, where the official address of welcome was read. The duke, in replying to the official welcome, contrasted the peaceful state of affairs in Canada with those which exist in France and Flanders, and stated that at the present time we are fighting for the defence of our homes, and urged aid for our gallant troops overseas. In conclusion, he said that the Allies are determined to win and asked Canadians to stand together and have confidence in the future. The vice-regal party afterwards visited the hospital, Children's Shelter, and other public buildings.

LONDON YOUTH LET GO.

Don't Hawk, Blow, Sneeze or Cough; Use "Catarrhozone"

When germs attack the lining of the nose, make you sneeze and gag—when later on they infest the bronchial tubes—how can you follow them with a cough syrup?

You can't do it—that's all. Cough syrups go to the stomach—that's why they fail.

But Catarrhozone goes everywhere—gets right after the germs—kills them—heals the soreness—cures the inflammation—makes Catarrh disappear. Not difficult for Catarrhozone to cure, because it contains the essences of pine balsams and other antiseptics that simply mean death to Catarrh. Large size costs $1, and contains two months' treatment; smaller sizes, 25c and 50c, all druggists and storekeepers.

Lift Off Corns Doesn't Hurt!

Few drops stop soreness, then corn or callus lifts off with fingers

The world owes thanks to the genius in Cincinnati who discovered freezone.

Tiny bottles of the magic fluid can now be had at any drug store for a few cents. You simply apply a few drops of freezone upon a tender, aching corn or a hardened callous. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callous so loose and shriveled that you lift it off with the fingers. Not a bit of pain or soreness is felt when applying freezone or afterwards. It doesn't even irritate the skin or flesh.

For a few cents one can now get rid of every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, as well as painful callouses on bottom of feet. Everyone who tries freezone becomes an enthusiast because it really doesn't hurt or pain one particle.

BELIEVES IT HAS SAVED HER LIFE

Superintendent's Wife Gains Thirty-One Pounds by Taking Tanlac.

The following statement, made recently by Mrs. Annie Pasco, 57 Spadina avenue, Ottawa, is not only interesting, but altogether remarkable:

"I have not only gained thirty-one pounds by taking Tanlac, but I firmly believe it has saved my life, and all who know of my dreadful condition are astonished at my wonderful recovery."

Mrs. Pasco's husband is superintendent of the J. R. Booth Paper Pulp Mill.

"I had been bothered with stomach trouble off and on for about three years," she continued, "but it was only during the past year that my condition became so serious. I first noticed my appetite failing, everything seemed to taste the same to me,—and I had no relish for food of any kind. Then I began to suffer from gas, sour stomach and indigestion after meals. I had terrible headaches and felt weak and sluggish all the time. No one will ever know how I suffered, because I cannot describe it. None of my friends or neighbors believed I would live three months.

"I had fallen off from one hundred and seventy pounds to one hundred and thirty-two, and got so weak I couldn't walk from the kitchen to the front door without holding on to something. I had to spend over half my time in bed, and was so nervous I was afraid to be left alone, and I could hardly sleep a wink at night. I took so much medicine without getting relief I became discouraged and out of heart.

"Finally I decided to try Tanlac as I had seen it recommended so highly, and before I finished the first bottle I noticed a decided change in my feelings. My appetite soon got better, the nervousness and indigestion began to disappear, and I could feel my strength returning. Then, I began to regain my lost weight, and now I weigh one hundred and sixty-three pounds—have actually gained thirty-one pounds and haven't had a touch of indigestion or stomach trouble in six months. My appetite is fine, I can eat just anything I want without the slightest discomfort afterwards, and my nervousness is gone entirely. I am feeling stronger and better than I have in years, and am doing all my housework. I think it nothing but right that I should tell others about this wonderful medicine."

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug, Limited, and by an established agency in every town.

CANNOT TOLERATE LONDON DIRECTION OF ASSOCIATED KIN

'SPLENDID,' SAYS WRIGHT

Queen City Association Is Healthy One, According to Organizer.

"We have a good healthy association down there, and everything is going on splendidly. We just scraped some barnacles off the hull," was the statement of President B. G. H. Wright of the Associated Kin today, when asked by The Advertiser regarding events that took place at a meeting of the Toronto members of the organization.

This is the way the Toronto Star in its issue of Tuesday evening reports the affair:

"We do not know where we are at. I do not see how we can carry on the work, but I am sure that it is necessary," said Mrs. John Sloan, in regard to the break up of the Associated Kin, at the meeting which was held last night, when the general organizer of the movement from London, Ont., Gordon Wright, refused to withdraw a letter from the Dominion executive which contained statements of a libellous character against a number of leading citizens of Toronto.

The result of the meeting was that a small minority decided to carry on the work under the name of the Associated Kin, Toronto Branch, but leading supporters of the movement withdrew from the meeting in a body, and when interviewed today declare that it will be difficult, if not impossible, to continue the work of the association.

How Foes Are Divided.

The proposals of the Dominion executive as explained by Mr. Wright were that of the $1 membership fee which was payable by the members, 40 cents should remain in Toronto to carry on the work and 60 cents be sent to London for administration purposes, which the local executive could not agree to accept.

Aemilius Jarvis, who is one of the members attacked by Mr. Wright in the letter, said today: "We were never affiliated with the London branch of the Associated Kin. We consider that there is room for such a body, which can stand between the soldiers and the war office at Ottawa, and we are anxious that the movement should go ahead.

"I do not know what the present position of matters is. We cannot go on as we have done, although we are most anxious to do all in our power to help the soldiers and their dependents."

Mr. Jarvis will pay for an audit of the books.

Among the members of the executive attacked by Mr. Wright were Mr. Charles W. Kerr, Col. Wellington Wallace, Hamilton Cassels, K.C., and Mrs. John Sloan.

Mrs. Sloan, who was a member of the executive which resigned last night, was in charge of the work in the office in Toronto, and said that she has had many extraordinary letters from Mr. Wright.

"My Heart in Work."

"My heart and soul is in the work," she said, "and I offered to keep the office open at my own expense, but I feel that we cannot work under directions from London. From the time I commenced the duties here I have been bombarded with letters from Mr. Wright, who began to direct me. I was urged in these letters to affiliate with the London association, and I got so tired of receiving abusive letters that the last letter, which I got on Saturday, I returned unopened to Mr. Wright in London."

Mrs. Sloan said that she hoped that some way will be found to carry on the work which she believes is very necessary, but that any direction from London cannot be tolerated.

Following the meeting last night Mr. Wright formed a provisional executive for his association for the city as follows: R. Hamer, M.A., provisional president; Mr. Kelly, Capt. C. E. Harrison and J. A. Allan, executive.

LYING LITERATURE SOUNDS LIKE HUNS

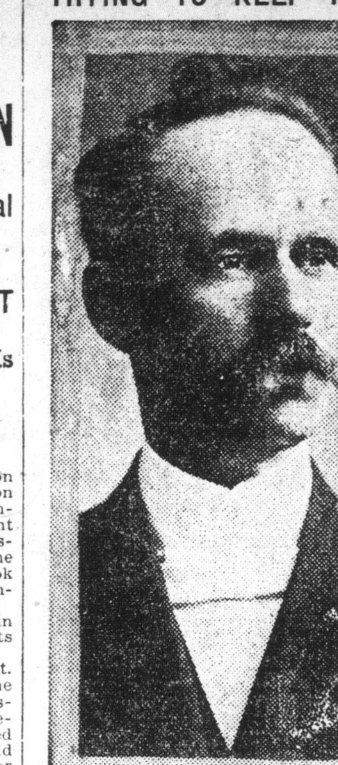

BRANTFORD, June 11.—Very Rev. Dean Brady of St. Basil parish reported today that some "filthy, lying literature" against the Roman Catholic Church was being circulated in this city and that he had received a copy of the same. Dean Brady said that what he had received had all the earmarks of "Made in Germany" upon it, and the circulation of it appeared to be part of home German propaganda to stir up strife between the Catholics and Protestants, who were now living in harmony in Canada.

BAPTIST BELIEFS GREATEST BARRIER TO CHURCH UNION

New Testament Teachings Prevent Reconciliation.

SO SAYS MISSION HEAD

Interesting Declarations at Morning Association Meeting.

An address by Rev. H. B. Coumans, superintendent of home missions, and a conference on the work of the various boards, led by Rev. J. G. Brown, D.D., were the principal features of this morning's session of the Middlesex and Lambton Association of Baptist Churches, in Wortley Road Baptist Church. Moderator Rev. J. D. McLachlan, B.A., Strathroy, presided.

Several ministers, who have moved into the district during the last year, were welcomed into the conference. Rev. T. Bingham, father of Rev. H. H. and Rev. A. C. Bingham, was one of those who were introduced this morning. Rev. C. W. King of Arkona, Rev. E. J. Harris, Sarnia Tunnel; Pastor Geer, who has recently taken charge of the work in West Nissouri; Rev. J. R. Baldwin, Mount Brydges; Rev. H. G. Martin, Courtright, and Rev. J. N. Norton, city, were also accorded a hearty welcome to this association.

Committees Named.

Committee on Arrangements—Rev. Joseph Yule, Rev. C. W. King, Rev. A. C. Bingham and W. Gurney.

D. Gillies and W. Gurney were unanimously reappointed auditors.

Church Union Barrier.

Rev. H. B. Coumans, speaking on the subject of doctrine, asserted that he considered the Baptist teaching followed the New Testament principles as laid down by Christ. The speaker intimated that this was a great barrier to church union.

"Some people say that there are too many churches. I maintain that there are not enough New Testament churches," was his declaration. If the dividing line between the Baptist and other denominations had been laid down by some convention, the speaker thought the barrier might be overcome.

"We believe that we as Baptists hold closely to the tenets of the faith which were delivered by Christ. I fear that we are in for a stormy time, however. Our faith will be tested severely, and if we are not well grounded we will fall."

The Baptist Church is a most absolute monarchy with Christ as king, who is recongized as the head by all members, said the speaker.

Referring briefly to the war, Rev. Mr. Coumans said that there could be only one end to the great conflict. Prussian militarism must and will be stamped out before the sword is sheathed. The world must be made safe for all nations, the weak as well as the strong.

Like Early Church.

The work accomplished by the Christian forces of today was compared with that which the early church members were able to do. The small number of conversions today in comparison with the number of church members was deplored. A church could be doctrinally correct and yet accomplish nothing for Christ.

"Some men have visions of work to be accomplished. I am not sure that I have a clear one yet. However, my aim is to see every member of the Baptist Church a personal worker, who will tell the Gospel story to everyone with whom he comes in contact. There are some churches where this is being done, and many are being brought to Christ as a result."

NO MALE TEACHERS LEFT IN CHARGE OF SCHOOLS OF ELGIN

ST. THOMAS, June 11.—Urging that every day they shortened the session means a day more of production for the Allies, Reeve Tolmie of Aldboro Township at the opening of the Elgin County Council this afternoon made a plea for a short meeting. The business, he said, should be finished easily in three days.

Inspector Smith told the council that when the schools reopen in September there will be no more male teachers in charge. All have been called for military service or production, and their places will be filled by women.

In his annual address Warden N. S. Cornell of Port Stanley referred to the progress being made for good roads. Much new legislation had been put through at the last session of the Legislature of interest to municipalities, and he urged the councillors to familiarize themselves with the statutes, especially the requirements regarding the fuel situation.

A report by County Treasurer McKay showed that on January 1 the current liabilities exceeded the assets by $6,546, owing to the expenditures on the county roads. The estimates for the year show an increase of $90,357, showing $17,000 for a grant to the Y. M. C. A.; $64,993 for county roads; schools, $1,750; House on Industry, $1,000; interest, $1,000; courthouse, $500; extra sessions, $700.

FOCH STRIKES HEAVY BLOW TAKING PRISONERS AND GUNS ON FRONT OF SEVEN MILES WINNING BACK SEVERAL POINTS

German-Held Ground to a Depth of Mile and Quarter Is Carried by Dashing Advance of the French Troops On Tuesday—Mery, Belloy, Genlis Wood, Heights Between Courcelles and Mortemer Stormed and Outskirts of St. Maur Reached—Good Gain Also in Centre—Americans Below Ourcq River Capture Belleau Wood and Three Hundred Prisoners.

Paris, June 11.—The French have struck the Germans a hard blow along a front of about seven and a half miles between Rubescourt and St. Maur, recapturing Belloy, Genlis Wood and the heights between Courcelles and Mortemer.

The official announcement by the war office tonight of this gain says that the Germans suffered heavy losses and left more than a thousand prisoners and some guns in the hands of the French.

Several violent enemy attacks on Chevincourt were repulsed, but the Germans gained a footing in Machemont and Bethancourt, which places are being bitterly disputed.

As Told Officially.

"The battle continued today from Montdidier to the Oise.

"On the left our troops, supported by tanks, counter-attacked this afternoon along a front of twelve kilometres, between Rubescourt and St. Maur, and despite desperate resistance on the part of the enemy reached the southern approaches of Le Fretoy, captured the heights between Courcelles and Mortemer, and carried our lines more than two kilometres to the east of Mery.

"We have also retaken Belloy and Genlis wood and reached the southern outskirts of St. Maur.

Over 1,000 Prisoners.

"The enemy, who suffered heavy losses, left more than 1,000 prisoners and several guns in our hands.

"In the centre the Germans, who had succeeded in pushing forward to the south of Loge farm and Antheuil, were driven back beyond these two points by our troops, acting in concert with adjoining units.

"On the right the enemy increased his pressure, seeking to gain the Matz valley. Several violent attacks launched against Chevincourt were repulsed.

"The enemy succeeded in gaining a foothold in Machemont and Bethancourt, which were bitterly disputed.

Americans' Fine Stroke.

"South of the Ourcq River the American troops this morning brilliantly captured Belleau wood and took 300 prisoners.

"Our day bombing machines continued their operations on June 10, despite the bad weather, against points of a more exposed nature on the battlefield. Airplane groups flying low dropped projectiles on enemy concentrations, dispersing reinforcement troops and causing considerable losses.

"Certain squadrons made sorties, and during the day eight tons of explosives were employed in this manner, giving the best results.

"On the night of June 10-11 the bombing of the enemy's rear areas was continued actively. Our escadrilles dropped twenty tons of projectiles on convoys, cantonments and railway stations, as well as on two munitions depots. An explosion occurred in the region of Chaulnes and another in the neighborhood of Soissons. A fire is reported to have broken out in the station at Fismes. On June 10 four German planes and one captive balloon were brought down by our pursuit machines."

Mery Is Recaptured.

Last night on their left the French offered effective resistance. They recaptured the village of Mery.

The principal German effort was directed against the centre. Attacking with heavy forces, the enemy drove back the French as far as the region of the Aronde River, but by a brilliant counter-attack the French hurled back the enemy all along this front and re-established their lines south of Belloy, at St. Maur, south of Marqueglise and at Vandelicourt.

On their right the French engaged in violent combats with large forces concentrated by the enemy, who was able to gain ground. The French withdrew their line to the west and south of Ribecourt.

Severe Reverses for Germans In Three Sectors of Battlefront

LONDON, June 11.—The third day of the German offensive on the front between Montdidier and Noyon saw the Germans making progress eastward to the Oise River, but more than held back in the centre and westward, where the French have struck a successful blow on a seven-mile front.

Having reached the Oise in the region of Ribecourt the enemy, if he purposes to try to fight his way along the west bank of the stream, soon must emerge in force upon the lowlands bordering the waterway, where the troops of General Foch are said to be in strong array—both in men and guns—waiting to dispute the road to Paris.

Although nearly three hundred thousand men are being employed by the Germans in their efforts to open a way to the French capital, their progress is slow when compared to progress on other days. Numerous divisions of the attacking troops have been cut to pieces by the French gunners and forced to withdraw from the battle in order that the gaps may be filled with fresh men. Not an inch of ground has been given up without the exactment by the French of a terrible toll in men killed or wounded. And nowhere has the defending line been pierced.

In one of the most ambitious operations carried out in many days Field Marshal Haig's troops in the Amiens sector have struck the Germans a nasty blow. It was the Australians who carried out the manoeuvre, and they succeeded in advancing their line half a mile over a front of a mile and a half, and took nearly 300 prisoners, including five officers. In addition, 21 machine guns and a trench mortar were captured.

The German war office claims the capture of 10,000 additional prisoners, which, with the number of captives since Monday, would bring the total to 18,000 in the present fighting. Since the new offensive began along the Soissons-Rheims sector, May 27, it is asserted by the German official communications that the army group of the German crown prince has taken about 75,000 Allied troops captive.

COMMISSIONERS

addressed themselves to the different situation with greater wisdom than might be imagined. Great use is being made of the colleges for national service purposes and a large number of the professors have taken up the work called for by the war. Under present conditions, Dr. Clark believed the best thing the assembly could do would be to accept the plan recommended by the board of education after bravely and intelligently considering the whole situation.

Urges College Union.

James Rodgers of Montreal, as a layman, supported the motion. A new voice was heard in the assembly at this point, and a dissenting voice at that. Rev. W. O. Mulligan, Bedford, N. S., who mentioned the fact that he had been a student in Dalhousie during the past winter, presented what he claimed to be the view of the younger men on the matter. He urged college union on the principles on which church union has been urged, namely, to make one, two or three weak congregations into one good strong one.

It had cost the church $75,000 under present arrangements to educate 125 theological students in the past year, about $600 apiece.

Bonusing Marriages.

Moreover, he referred, as something "not to be laughed at," to the statement made by Dr. Murray on Tuesday afternoon that a number of the students in Saskatchewan Theological College were married men, engaged on mission fields, and that from an expense standpoint, it would be more costly to move the students than the professors. He termed this "bonusing of matrimony," and charged that such things were keeping good men out of the ministry, also the exceptions made concerning the educational requirements for the ministry.

The noon-hour devotions order brought the young commissioner's maiden speech to the assembly to a close before he had time to present an amendment to the resolution.

On a motion submitted by Rev. Principal Mackay of Westminster Hall, Vancouver, the General Assembly granted permission to have the names of military chaplains in Canada placed on the constituent rolls of the presbyteries in which they are located. This will mean that the name of Capt. (Rev.) A. Graham, who has been transferred from No. 1 Military District to Winnipeg, as senior chaplain with the rank of major, can have his name placed without further legislation, on the presbytery roll in Winnipeg.

Heated Passages.

A lively little tiff occurred between J. K. Macdonald, convener of the aged and infirmed ministers' fund committee and Rev. Dr. W. D. Reid of Montreal, arising from a decision of the judicial committee re an appeal concerning the restoration of a minister to the fund. Dr. Reid claimed that the church is not just a business proposition, and that the case was one in which the regulations of the church might be set aside. Further, he charged that side-stepping of regulations had been practiced by the aged and infirm ministers' committee on more than one occasion.

Mr. Macdonald protest with much dignity that during all the years of his convenership not once had the regulations been broken, and challenged Dr. Reid to name cases.

If it were outside the assembly, said Dr. Reid, he would quickly tell any man who answered him as Mr. Macdonald had done. Mr. Macdonald advised with considerable heat that Dr. Reid go ahead, whereupon the conciliatory moderator pleaded for the maintaining of the dignity of the assembly, and asked Dr. Reid to withdraw his statement. Dr. Reid agreed to do so.

Action Justified.

One feature of local interest in connection with the report of the judicial committee was the decision re an appeal sent up by members of the London Synod, protesting against the manner in which a traveling expenses fund for the commissioners had been established by levying an assessment without first consulting presbyteries and sessions.

The judicial committee ruled that such an action might be justified in view of the emergency that had faced the committee, none of the presbyteries or sessions objecting, but that the sending down of such questions to presbyteries and sessions is more in accord with the principles of the Presbyterian Church in regard to democratic government.

A vote of thanks to Prof. Michael A. Mackenzie of Toronto University, was moved by Rev. Dr. Donald Currie of Beaverton and heartily indorsed by the assembly, for the valuable service rendered to the church by Prof. Mackenzie in making each year an actuarial investigation of the widows' and orphans' funds without charge. This, stated Dr. Currie, is all the more significant from the fact that Prof. Mackenzie is not a member of the Presbyterian communion.

Dr. Shearer's Decision.

The discussion on the educational policy of the church will be continued this afternoon, and it is expected that Rev. Dr. Shearer's final decision will be made known today in connection with reconsideration of his resignation from the superintendency of the department of social service and evangelism; in view of the offer made him of the secretaryship of the Social Service Council of Canada.

A number of the commissioners have already been excused to return home to keep important appointments, and efforts are being now made to wind up business by tomorrow at least. An avalanche of "left overs" is anticipated for this evening.

CLINTON REARRANGES ASSESSMENT WORK

CLINTON, June 11.—At an adjourned meeting of the town council last night it was decided to make a change in the assessment department, and an assessment commissioner was appointed.

B. J. Gibbings received the appointment, and he will in consultation with the mayor appoint the assessors.

It is thought that this method will secure a more uniform assessment, and a better observance of the assessment act.

Dr. J. W. Shaw was appointed medical health officer in place of Dr. J. C. Gandier, who was temporarily filling the position during the absence of Major Shaw, who has been in charge of the medical department in the 161st Huron Battalion.

Major Shaw has resumed his medical practice.

OTTAWA WILL SETTLE SHIPBUILDERS' STRIKE

PORT ARTHUR, June 11. — The differences between the Port Arthur Shipbuilding Company and its employees over the wage scale are to be transferred to Ottawa as a result of the conferences arranged by Senator Robertson, who has been here endeavoring to adjust the difficulties.

STILL HOLDING FARRELL.

DETROIT, June 11.—The Mount Clemens police are still holding Hugh Farrell of Brantford, arrested there on Sunday evening for embezzlement. No word has been received from Canadian authorities as to what action is to be taken in his case.

STANDARD OIL CO. (New Jersey),
BAYONNE, N.J.

Gentlemen:—

I have now much pleasure in stating, with full knowledge of the importance of such a claim, that the benefit I have received from the use of Nujol is incalculable.

While I am in the prime of life, I had suffered for a considerable time with constipation in an aggravated form, partly induced from a sedentary occupation.

My knowledge of mechanical affairs responded to the suggestion of lubricating parts of the human system, and with the idea in mind, I sent for a supply of Nujol.

A very few doses effected a marked change in my condition, but to thoroughly rehabilitate my system, I extended the treatment to more than one bottle, with the result that within a surprisingly short time, regular and proper movements were obtained and my health was improved generally.

I intend to always keep Nujol on hand for the correction of any slight irregularity, and firmly believe that all suffering from constipation and elderly people particularly will find it invaluable.

Yours very truly,

January 10, 1917. (Name and address on request)

Enjoy the same healthful relief from constipation that is now benefiting the writer of this letter and thousands of other grateful users. Simply try Nujol—a few doses are generally effective—and mark how gently and surely it restores the natural regularity of the bowels.

Gardeners are advised to take every precaution in their power to protect their vegetables against injury by frost tonight.

FRENCH LINE UNBROKEN

improve the situation on their left have been baffled by the French, who hold firmly. If anything, the German centre is in great danger, inasmuch as it has advanced further.

HAS FAILED OF OBJECTIVES.

After three days of fighting in which the Germans have incurred a serious wastage of man power, the general situation remains unchanged. The enemy has failed to reach Compeigne; his immediate objective. His advance on the right bank of the Oise is not sufficient to place in jeopardy the Allied positions on the other bank between the Oise and the Aisne. At the other extremity of the battle line, the Montdidier plateau, the situation has not been changed.

SMALL AFFAIRS ON HAIG'S LINE.

London, June 12.—An enemy raiding party last night attacked a British post in Aveluy wood, but was repulsed, the war office announced today. The British carried out a successful raid in the Boyelles region, capturing a few prisoners.

There was sporadic activity by the enemy artillery during the night in the region west of Lens.

VON STEIN "KIDS" REICHSTAG.

Amsterdam, June 12.—"A great part of the French army has been beaten," Gen. von Stein, the Prussian war minister, declared in a speech to the Reichstag, according to Berlin advices.

"The so-called Foch reserve army no longer exists," the minister asserted. "The success of the crown prince's carefully prepared attacks against the French and British on the Chemin-des-Dames front on May 27, inflicted one of the gravest defeats the Entente has suffered during the entire war."

Gen. von Stein made these statements in a review of the military situation at the second reading of the army budget in the Reichstag yesterday.

U. S. ARTILLERY IN IT.

With the American Army in Picardy, Tuesday, June 11.—By the Associated Press.—American artillery aided the French in their counterattack against the Germans southwest and south of Montdidier today by directing a harassing fire against the enemy. Otherwise, the American troops have not been engaged in the present battle.

TWO GERMAN RAIDS.

The Germans made two minor raids against the American lines at Cantigny Monday night, and were repulsed each time. One raiding party, which numbered 40, was routed by revolver fire. On the right of the American sector German aviators have been busy. One enemy flying machine, bearing a French insignia as a disguise, flew over the line at a height of 500 metres and attacked with bombs and machine gun fire American soldiers on the march. The soldiers took cover and there were no casualties. Reports that the Germans have been using French signs on their airplanes have been numerous during the past fortnight.

Alleged Farmers Attempted to Bribe Dominion Officer

CHATHAM, June 11.—Two Howard Township men are under arrest here on a charge of an alleged attempt to bribe a Dominion police officer to prevent his taking them under the M. S. A. It is stated here that Sergt. Marsh of the police is under arrest in London, charged with agreeing to accept bribes. It is alleged that Marsh has been guilty of offering immunity to others in return for a cash consideration. High Constable Peters says Marsh told him he could make a couple of hundred dollars easily, because the two men from Howard were willing to pay from $1,500 to $1,700 for immunity, and would willingly add a couple of hundred dollars more. Col. H. D. Smith of headquarters, London, was communicated with, and ordered that the three men concerned be arrested. In the meantime the men are alleged to have signed a statement for High Constable Peters that they would pay the amounts mentioned by Sergt. Marsh. The two farmers were taken into custody and sent to London.

JIMMY COON STORIES

By Dr. Warren G. Partridge.
Copyright 1917 by George Matthew Adams.

FARMER JONES'S WIFE HAS AN AWFUL FRIGHT.

Jimmy Coon took the Bat Family to the Jones Farm the very next night, and lucky for them it was as dark as a pocket. Now, you remember that the Bat family are not much on looks. Why, they are the homeliest family around Mirror Pond. In fact, they have very pudgy heads, and very ugly faces, and very squeaky voices.

And I'm sorry to say that Teddy Possum one day got so mad at Batty that he yelled out: "Oh, you Skinny!" That was very unkind to speak that way of a playmate's wonderful wings. For Batty has remarkably useful and swift and wonderful wings. But his wings are not covered with beautiful feathers like Mr. Oreole. In fact, as you know, Mr. Bat's wings are mostly all skin, and they seem to have no covering of fur or hair.

And the Bat Family have the queerest little noses and faces you ever saw. And some of them have ears as big as their faces. You remember some people say that Mr. Bat looks like a little imp or hobgoblin! But the Bat Family have lovely dispositions. I suppose you have seen handsome humans who have very ugly hearts. And you have seen homely humans who have beautiful souls.

Well, the Bat Family are just lovely people, and very kind and gentle neighbors, Jimmy Coon says so, and Jimmy knows a thing or two about his neighbors.

But when Jimmy Coon and the Bat Family were hunting that dark night around the Jones farm house, they all nearly lost their lives. A terrible thing happened! Mr. Horned Owl was sitting on a branch of the highest tree near the Jones farm house; and, softly as a feather, he dropped to strike his terrible talons into the back of Jimmy Coon! Jimmy Coon got an awful gash in his right shoulder, but he darted into a hole in an apple tree, and saved his life.

And Mr. Great Horned Owl was so mad to miss Jimmy Coon for supper that he darted after Mrs. Bat. And Mrs. Bat was paralyzed with fear; and she flitted swiftly to the porch of the farm house, and tried to hide in the hair of Mrs. Jones, the farmer's wife!

And Mrs. Janes was frightened almost to death and fell over in a fainting spell. You see, she didn't want Mrs. Bat to hide in her hair! It was awfully funny, for Mrs. Jones had false hair; and when she fell to the floor of the porch her false hair came off in a roll and rolled down the steps to the ground.

And what wonderful thing do you think happened next? Why, Jimmy Coon saw Mrs. Bat was inside that roll of false hair; and he darted up like a flash and took that roll of false hair, with Mrs. Bat inside, and carried her safely home.

Mr. Bat could not find words in which to thank the brave Jimmy Coon. And Jimmy Coon said: "Oh, that's nothing. But I was ashamed of that big wife of Farmer Jones, to be scared to death by your dear and gentle little wife!"

Tomorrow—Jimmy Coon Starts a Laundry.

Great Horned Owl was so mad to miss Jimmy Coon for supper that he darted after Mrs. Bat.

The annual report of the Aberdeen Mothers' Club for the year June, 1917, to May, 1918, is as follows:

The number of meetings held during the year were nine, the average attendance being 40, with 63 members on the roll, one member being lost through death. The total receipts for the year amounted to $128.19, with an expenditure of $109.59, and a balance on hand of $18.60. The club work for the year included a number of boxes sent overseas, a very successful pickle shower for returned soldiers, a bread and butter plate shower for the club. Ten successful teas were also held, the proceeds amounting to $26.06, which was used for Red Cross and charitable purposes.

Donations from the club included $20 for the Children's Shelter, $10 for the Salvation Army, $10 for the Victorian Order of Nurses, $8.50 for shoes and clothing for needy in the school district, besides many other articles. Floral offerings were sent to the sick and in the case of death. One thousand articles were made by the club for the Red Cross and canvassing for different societies on behalf of the Red Cross was also undertaken. The needy in the school district were well looked after. Sixty-three dollars and fifty-five cents was spent for special purposes.

The members of this club assisted in canvassing for the French Red Cross, Y.M.C.A. campaign, food conservation campaign, and rose day for Byron Sanatorium, and they are also doing their share in canvassing on behalf of child welfare.

The total receipts for the year amounted to $96.16, and the expenditure $83.78, leaving a balance on hand of $24.13. Eight dollars and eight cents was spent for club work, and $75.70 for special purposes.

This club has 126 members, with an attendance of about 55 each meeting. All the staff of teachers except the principal are members of the club. On November 22 at 4:15 a round-table talk was held, with the teachers all present but two and about 40 of the mothers present. The discussion was led by Mr. Gibbs, the principal, and a very lively and interesting discussion occurred between teachers and mothers. In February the club put on a playlet entitled "How the Club Was Formed," eighteen of the mothers taking part. This was of a very humorous nature, and proved a huge success, the club realizing about $75. Forty dollars was donated to the Children's Shelter. Early in the war a prisoner was adopted and he is still maintained by the club. Red Cross work was done by the mothers' club to date is as follows: 144 pairs socks, 143 pillow-covers, 132 towels, 6 suits pyjamas.

Chesley Avenue Club has taken a great interest in all the campaigns carried on in the city, canvassing for the tubercular soldiers, French flag day, the British Red Cross, Patriotic Fund, Y.M.C.A., and Y.W.C.A. campaigns, food conservation campaign, trinket and thimble fund campaign and rose day. They intend to work for the baby welfare canvass on June 15.

The Boyle Memorial Club is able to report a successful year, having held eight meetings, with one social meeting and one concert. The number on the roll was 63, and the average attendance 22. The total receipts for the year amounted to $60.25, and the expenditure $30.69, with a balance on hand of $29.56, $20.69 being spent for club work and $10 for special purposes. The special work was as follows: 300 Red Cross articles were finished and sent in to headquarters; $10 was donated to Children's Aid Society; $25 has been voted to the purchase of folding chairs for the club's use.

One hundred and sixty-five houses were canvassed for the food conservation. A crossing will be made on Dorinda street, through the efforts of the club.

A donation to the above institute of food, clothing and money amounted to $20. Two dollars and thirty cents left in the treasury was also spent in handkerchiefs and supporters for the same children. Mrs. Alex Calder was elected president, and Mrs. Barkile secretary-treasurer for the coming year.

ADVERTISER PATTERNS

A SUGGESTION FOR YOUR NEW GOWN.

Waist, 2392—Skirt, 2400.

The pretty soft crepe and new foulards and the smart ginghams, linens and shantungs are all admirably suited to this style. It is also nice for combinations of material, and perhaps you could remodel a last season's frock on these lines. Waist and skirt lend themselves nicely to separate finish. The skirt of cloth or linen taffeta or crepe will look well with a waist of matched color in some contrasting material. As so little trimming is now required—just a bit of bead embroidery—a touch of bright color or a little lace is all that you need. The waist pattern, 2392, is cut in seven sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. The skirt, 2400, is also cut in seven sizes: 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32 and 34 inches waist measure. The entire dress will require 8⅝ yards of 36-inch material for a medium size. The skirt portion measures about 1¾ yards at the foot.

This illustration calls for TWO separate patterns, which will be mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents FOR EACH pattern in silver or stamps.

ADVERTISER PATTERN DEPT.
Please send above-mentioned pattern, as per directions given below:

A quiet wedding was solemnized on June 8 at St. Paul's Cathedral, when Miss Ida Tupholme was united in marriage to Dr. James Colville. Rev. Canon Tucker officiated.

Detective Thomas Nickle and Mrs. Nickle have returned from an extended visit with their daughters, Mrs. Ronald White and Mrs. (Dr.) E. Eberley of Chicago.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the Methodist parsonage, Fingall, of interest to Londoners, when Thurza Winifred Eddie was united in marriage to Frederick H. McGill. Rev. Mr. Sterling officiated. The ceremony was performed under an arch of pink and white flowers with a bank of evergreen and scarlet peonies. Lohegrin's Wedding March was rendered by Miss Annabel McGill, sister of the groom, while little Miss Alice M. L. Pole, cousin of the bride, gracefully performed the part of flower girl. After the ceremony and signing of the register, the party sat down to a sumptuous repast kindly prepared by Mrs. (Rev.) Sterling. The groom's present to the bride was a check, to the pianist a gold cameo brooch, and to the flower girl a gold bracelet. The guests present were the groom's parents, two brothers and two sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Pole, Alice M. L. Pole and Pte. James McDonald, cousins of the bride. The bride wore a traveling suit of peacock blue poplin with gold trimmings, the blouse being of maize georgette crepe. The happy couple left in a prettily decorated car, under showers of confetti, for London, Toronto, Niagara Falls and Detroit. On their return they will settle on the groom's farm near Glencoe, and will be at home to their friends on August 1. They were the recipients of many valuable presents, among which was a substantial check from the groom's father.

Some of the advanced pupils of Mr. Chas. E. Percy gave a very artistic and thoroughly enjoyable recital at Conservatory Hall last evening. Miss Ulah Kennedy displayed exceptional talent and musicianly skill in all her appearances, her numbers being Theme Varie, Paderewski, Rhapsodie No. 12 and Rondo Brilliante by Mendelssohn. Miss Lena Coates of Exeter gave a very delightful rendition of the Mendelssohn concerto in G minor, in which she was accompanied on second piano by Mr. Percy. Mr. Conrad Lenz was much enjoyed when he appeared in "March Militaire" by Schubert-Tausig. Miss Gladys McEvoy is the possessor of a contralto voice of pleasing quality which was heard to good advantage in her songs. Miss Bessie Kerr of St. Thomas appeared in a group of Debussy numbers and again in Schumann's Fantasia Op. 12, No. 2, in all of which she won the enthusiastic approval of the audience. Mr. Percy acted as accompanist.

OH, BUT DIDN'T WE HURRY!

Last week our Red Cross Society did one of those lightning performances for which we are getting famous. There came a hurried telephone message from Toronto right in the midst of a day's rush of work. Four dozen dressing gowns were wanted at once, on the very first train going out. Could London send them? Well, London couldn't, because all her dressing gowns were needed for the next shipment. But a little thing like that does not matter when you get a crowd of Red Cross workers together. The impossible was undertaken. Four dozen dressing gowns were packed off helter-skelter to Toronto. Somebody who wasn't packing rushed to the telephone, called up the different auxiliaries and told them that those overseas boxes must be filled up again, right away quick, and nobody was to go home, to eat or sleep, until they were done.

Well, they were done, nobody knows just how, but that does not matter so long as they are on their way across the ocean, and they are. And only those who have made one of those dressing gowns and know what fussy, bothersome things they are can appreciate how those women worked. But London city must not take all the credit. The women throughout the district who made those gowns and sent them in to Hyman Hall must remember that if it had not been for their steady, patient labors, there would never have been such a fine stock on hand when the emergency call came. It is the women who send in work constantly and keep Hyman Hall crammed with socks and shirts and pyjamas, that are the stay and the comfort of the women at headquarters, when they come to a place where they must call for help.

So just keep it up, dear sewers and knitters. Keep the shelves and tables at Hyman Hall filled, and the packers will look after the rest.

Wanted—Flying Needles.

Do you know that there has never been a time in the war when socks were more badly needed? Somehow heavy woolen socks and hot summer weather do not go well together. But though they may not here at home, they do in the trenches. We are sending more and more men overseas all the time, and we must not forget that every transport that sails away adds several thousands more pairs of socks to the knitting. Are we multiplying our work to keep pace with the army? So let the needles be kept going. Summer will fly away and autumn will be here with its mud and cold before we know it, and our boys will be barefoot facing another winter. We must keep our needles flying this summer as they never flew before.

Special Mention.

They have been having the annual meeting of the C. W. C. A. lately over in England. The news has come that Gen. Turner spoke at the meeting in the warmest terms of the association's work for the men, and London was among the places specially mentioned. And that means every woman and girl who sends her work through London to the great distributing centre overseas. The boys are very grateful for all we do. Let us show them that we can do still more.

The Measuring Rod.

The C. W. C. A. shipped from Hyman Hall on June 4, 42 boxes, containing the following articles: 3,348 pairs of socks, 405 shirts and 780 towels.

CYNTHIA GREY'S MAIL BOX

Must Tell Her Age.

Dear Miss Grey,—Being a constant reader of your very interesting page, I come to you for some information regarding registration on June 22. Will we have to go in among a lot of men and register, or will there be a place for women? Will we all have to tell our right age, or is it really necessary for to put our age down at all?

I understand there will not be separate booths for women. But I am sure you will meet with courteous treatment. Yes, it will be necessary to tell your right age. Full information regarding registration will be given in the daily newspapers before June 22.

Has Been Silent.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have been a silent reader of your column for a number of years, and would like to speak a few words. I have found some very interesting letters to read. Would you please send me one or two lonely soldiers' addresses? I have four brothers in uniform, and one who was killed at Vimy. What date is London fair? I have some nice crochet patterns for anyone who would like them. Hoping I haven't made my letter too long.

BLONDY.

Shiny Coat.

Dear Miss Grey,—Could you give me a recipe to take the gloss off old silk? I have a coat; it is good, but so shiny. Send through your Advertiser column, and oblige AN INQUIRER.

Ans.—Very difficult to remove shine from silk. To sponge with soapbark solution may help. Purchase the chips at a drug store and steep, using the liquor for the sponging. Diluted vinegar has also been found helpful.

Pattern for Lace.

Dear Miss Grey,—As this is my first time to write to your Mail-Box, I hope I won't get the cold shoulder.

1. Will some of your readers please send me a pretty pattern for carpet-warp lace for curtains, not insertion?
2. How to clean a panama hat?

Inclosed find an addressed envelope for sample or pattern of lace, and if sender sends address I will return the pattern. Thanking you very much, Miss Grey, I remain, WATFORD.

1. Referred to readers.
2. Sponge with diluted peroxide or buy a patent cleaner at a drug store.

Advocates More Prayer.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have been a constant reader of your Mail-Box for quite a while now, so I decided I would contribute a letter. I enjoy very much reading the letters. My, isn't this war terrible! I have several relatives in the war. Fortunately, I have no brothers that have to go, but I certainly feel sorry for those that have. And I think if every person in Canada would get on their knees and pray to the Almighty God this war would not continue. We all know that there is just as much style and pleasure-seeking and all the things that are not necessary going now as there was before the war.

Well, I have decided to write to a lonely soldier, so would you be kind enough to please send me a soldier's address? I'll sign myself,

Try a Candle.

Dear Miss Grey,—Would be so thankful if you or some of The Advertiser readers would give me some suggestions for getting rid of moths. Have moved into a house where they are, and have had absolutely no experience in dealing with them. Do not think they are the Buffalo moths, but the kind that start with tiny "millers." Thanking you in anticipation, yours sincerely, AN ADVERTISER READER FOR 25 YEARS.

Ans.—Probably the easiest mode is to use a formaldehyde candle. Purchase at the drug store and follow directions on the package. Or you might try painting all crevices with gasoline. This is very effective for the Buffalo moth.

DAILY BIBLE QUESTION CLUB

Uniform Lesson for Sunday, June 16, 1918.

ONE GOLDEN TEXT SUGGESTION
(By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.)
Jesus on the Cross. Mark xv., 1-47.

QUESTIONS FOR TODAY.

9. Verse 24—What was the method adopted, or the various steps taken, in the actual crucifixion of Jesus?

10. Verse 25—What hour was the third hour, and what was the difference between the Roman and the Jewish custom of reckoning time?

11. Verse 26—What inscription does Matthew, Mark, Luke and John say was over the cross of Jesus, and how do you harmonize the variations?

THE ROMAN CENTURION ADMITTED CHRIST'S CLAIM.

This centurion was apparently in charge of the soldiers, whose duty it was to crucify Jesus. As he stood at a distance and witnessed the great drama, saw how Christ comforted himself, heard his words, and witnessed his dropping head, when he gave up the ghost, his grim face relaxed, and, remembering the crime for which Christ was crucified, the words were wrung from his lips: "Truly this man was the Son of God." This centurion would not have been a general in the Roman army if he had not been a man of strength of character, and when such a man, accustomed to cruelty, to the witness of violence and death, gave such a testimony to Christ's claim, it certainly has great evidential value. Let us all join this grim old general in his tribute to Christ.

HEALTH GOOD IN LONDON

A Very Good Reason Why Many Families Avoid Disease by Forming Good Health Habits.

London, Ont., June 11.—The records show that London is a healthy city to live in, but when it comes to inquiring into the health of individual families it is found that much depends on health habits formed.

Modern life is so artificial. We live so much indoors, breathe vitiated air, and take so little exercise in the open that means must be resorted to to keep the liver active, the bowels regular and the kidneys in healthful working order.

Investigation shows that in thousands of London homes Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are depended upon to regulate these very important filtering and eliminating organs.

Mr. Alex. Luttrell, 142 Bridgeport street, London, Ont., writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for many years, and have always found them satisfactory as a cure for constipation and derangements of the liver and kidneys. They do their work in a quiet way every time—no griping—no sickness, but most beneficial results. We have also used Dr. Chase's Ointment in our family for a long time, and so long as we can get these medicines shall not use others."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25c a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting substitutes. Imitations only disappoint.

THEY SEE IT COMING.

FOR THE FIRST TIME there has now become public property a confession by the Teuton rulers that this is a war of monarchy against democracy; it corroborates the Allies' claim that they are waging war for democracy and for all that democracy holds dear.

King Charles of Austria-Hungary wrote to King Ferdinand of Rumania urging him to give up the struggle against the Teutons on the plea that "This is a time when kings must stick together." He warned him of the spread of Socialism and democratic spirit and that only a Teutonic victory could save autocracy.

What wonderfully inspiring motive for the starving Austrians, Hungarians and Germans to continue the struggle! Not that they may be free, not they may have better living conditions in the future, not that wrongs may be redressed, but that they may make firm the seats of the mighty and enslave themselves and their descendants forever. Bitter indeed will be the dose they must swallow, when they realize that all their shedding of blood, their sacrifice of money and their suffering have been for the benefit of the monarchs under whom they live and labor.

Russia, too, will have to endure the full agony of realizing that she, by deserting the Allies at a critical moment, has aided immeasurably in the entrenching of that system of government which she had just succeeded in overthrowing in her own territory. All that she has schemed for and fought for gone, so far as she is concerned; her only hope is in the Allies, whom she left so basely.

Wilhelm, Charles, Ferdinand of Bulgaria and the rest of them see the handwriting on the wall. They know that defeat means the end of their personal sovereignty and the end of the monarchial system in their country. They have not the record of service and devotion to their peoples of Albert of the Belgians, George of Britain or Victor of Italy to sustain them; they have only might which, once departed, leaves them alone, dishonored and in danger.

Ferdinand of Rumania heard the call to selfish interests, wavered and fell. Albert and his fellow-sovereigns refused the bait and are fighting for the people, for democracy and for liberty. Surely the time must come when all peoples will see clearly the issue and refuse to suffer and die for a cause that they detest. That moment is the one dreaded by Charles of Austria and Wilhelm of Germany; they see it approaching.

THE DUKE'S ORDEAL.

THE SOCIETY for the Prevention of Cruelty to Governor-Generals has not yet been organized, but tender-hearted people may launch a movement toward such a consummation when they realize the ordeal through which the Duke of Devonshire and his party have been passing for the last three weeks.

Being the central figure at a public affair is an ordeal for any person. But when from a function in the early morning one is hurried on through a succession of events that comes to an end when day has departed and not before, the torture of being His Majesty's representative in the Dominion of Canada is realized. Multiply this by seventeen, the number of places which the Duke has visited, and some conception of what being vice-regal means comes to the most casual student. Despite the most genial of natures, a man must be worn by the sheer sameness of long addresses (happily they were "cut down" in London) and long queues of those who wish to clasp the hand of a noble lord. The Duke of Devonshire does not give the impression of being bored, however. His interest in each man, woman or child seemed the searching glance of a man who was susceptible to the story written on each face, a man to whom his fellowmen were the proper study of mankind. He eschewed any formality. At several functions in the course of his tour he has predicted the time when class distinctions will be wiped away, and "when we shall be glad to see them wiped away." That is the note in the Duke's speeches which reaches the people. He has said that he is "a plain farmer." His large estates in England have always been open to the people. The round of ceremonies are not so much ceremonies to His Excellency as they are great human spectacles toward which he is never indifferent, and by which he is not jaded. That was our hasty impression of him, at any rate. At the same time it is hardly just to so be-function such a good friend as Devonshire appears to have become.

THE GARBAGE FIASCO.

LONDON'S GARBAGE system continues in a state of suspended animation. Meanwhile the accumulation of taxes and household left-overs contribute to the annoyance of householders and the dismay of all who are interested in a city clean as well as beautiful.

The streets and lawns of the city are rare sights just now. But the backyards of the city are foul with reeking garbage that has been left in heaps since the garbage collectors went out on strike for an increase in wages. The common sense of the matter does not seem to have struck the city council or a sufficient majority to bring about action. The common sense of the matter was to keep the system in operation pending a settlement. One controller made the offer that he would drive a wagon if his confreres would follow suit, and when one considers the outrageous situation that has developed through the council's lack of capacity to deal with the question, most citizens will say that it is just about up to the city fathers to man the carts, and to make good in some manner to the citizens who continue to "pay the shot."

For an increase of fifteen cents a day paid to about thirty men, the city of London told these men to get out. A city that has preached the policy of mediation to corporations such as the street railway should be slow to take any step which involved trouble between labor and capital (the corporation in this case taking the role of capital). So far as has been ascertained no effort was made to arbitrate the matter. Instead the city permitted the system to be suspended completely. No real effort was made to keep the wagons going, and sooner or later the city will be compelled to relinquish municipal control of the system, which is shown up, justly or unjustly, as a miserable failure, or to grant the fair demands of the men. The matter has been handled in a manner in no way creditable to the city.

Citizens as a whole are disgusted with the situation; yet public opinion is such an intangible thing in this city that except for criticisms offered by The Advertiser no call has reached the council for a speedy course of action and re-establishment. But as the strike continues and the nuisance of decaying garbage becomes more and more a menace to the health of the community, surely the public will make its wishes known in the matter. That people deserve the sort of government they get, has long been a maxim of public life. And if citizens are ready to put up with such conditions of filth and possible disease as the stoppage of delivery involves perhaps they are not to be sympathized with. The alderman, however, who will take hold of the garbage situation and deal with it in a decisive manner, is certain to win the goodwill of thousands of people.

The Governor-General, with good reason, paid his tributes to the beauties of the city. Wonder what His Excellency would have thought had he been able to see the litter in the city's back yards?

UNFIT, BUT PATRIOTIC.

FOUND UNFIT for military service at the front, although of draft age, James McNair set an excellent example in patriotism to others in similar circumstances when he offered his services at $1.10 a day for the duration of the war to the registrar at Calgary to release or take the place of some farmer who is able to go overseas. His offer was accepted immediately.

The making of such an offer shows patriotism of an exceptional kind. No man who is able to farm need accept any such wage as $1.10 a day at this time, especially in the west. Farmers are ready to pay much more than this for efficient help, and it may seem to some that McNair would have been doing just as well for the country had he accepted employment and done his best for some agriculturist who was willing to pay two or three dollars a day.

The young man thought differently. He wanted not only to help production, but to assist recruiting, and, therefore, made it a condition that the man who accepts his offer must go overseas.

Whether his idea is right or whether it would have been better to aid production without sending another man away from the land is a question for individuals to decide for themselves, but there can be no doubt of the excellence of his intentions when he voluntarily accepts such low remuneration.

THE PRESS AND PUBLIC MEN.

[Toronto Globe.]

Included in a sworn statement of expenses fyled by Major Hume Cronyn, elected as a Unionist for London at the recent general election, is a receipted bill from The London Free Press for the sum of $1,500. The bill gives an itemized statement of advertisements inserted, totalling $466.67, and another item, "Editorials, $1,033.33."

The Globe does not believe that Major Cronyn made a bargain with The Free Press for its editorial support on a cash basis. The record of The Free Press in supporting conscription before the question became an issue in party politics makes it reasonably certain that in a general election The Free Press would give support to the candidate standing for Union Government, and would back, without thought of payment, the policy of conscription.

It is deplorable, however, in face of the widespread falsehood that the press of the country was "bought," that The Free Press should present, and Major Cronyn should pay, a bill for editorial matter published in the interest of Major Cronyn during the campaign. The inference that "editorials" were purchasable and were purchased is most reprehensible, and will be keenly resented by the whole press of Canada, which is vitally and properly concerned in the maintenance of its honor and its good name. The Globe is glad to note that Major Cronyn has already made a clear and unequivocal statement to the effect that he "never approached The Free Press to say in its editorial columns anything whatsoever." "Not only in no sense did I control these columns," he adds, "but I knew I could not control them. On more than one occasion I would have liked to have had some variation in the editorial view, but I made no suggestion, because I well undertsood that the editorial management had its own views and held to these." Major Cronyn is an honorable man, held in high esteem, whose word will be accepted. In view of his statement public and press are entitled to an explanation from The Free Press of the amazing inclusion of the item of $1,033.33 for "editorials" in the bill it prepared, presented, and receipted.

The editorial opinions of the press of Canada are not purchasable. If they were the people would be right in refusing to draw water from poisoned wells. The incident seems to show the need for an amendment to the election act providing that any advertising paid for by a candidate to promote his candidature or place his views before the people shall either be marked "advertisement" or shall be set in advertising type and bear such identification marks as will clearly establish its character as paid matter, and neither a report nor an editorial.

A plainly-worded provision in the law making it an offence for a publisher to accept money for "opinions" favorable to any candidate for public office, or any public cause, would clear the air.

TOM'S SORT OF GIRL.

[By Jane Osborn.]

"It isn't so much the fact that she's a cabaret singer or even that Tom was deceiving me—but she simply wouldn't be Tom's sort of girl. They'd be sure to be unhappy." This is what Tom Rawdon's substantial, older sister said when she first suspected that, while Tom had told her he was going to marry one kind of girl, as a matter of fact he was going to marry another kind of girl.

The sister's informer was Pete Brevier, one of Tom's old pals from the town where he and the sister both made their home. The young man had made a hurried trip to the big city and there had met Tom and "his girl," and suspecting nothing irregular had come back blurting out to the sister that he had met "Tom and that pretty little cabaret singer that Tom was going to marry."

In the meantime for some weeks Tom's letters to his sister had had occasional references to the stenographer at his office—Miss Remson—whom he hoped some day to make his wife. "I hope you aren't going to raise a rumpus because she isn't a girl of leisure," Tom wrote home, knowing perfectly well his older sister's ability to raise a rumpus when things didn't go to suit her ideas. Miss Remson is as fine a women as I ever met. She came to this office as a stenographer a week or so after I did, and though she hasn't had exactly the same bringing up that you have, you are sure to like her."

Tom's sister had thoroughly approved, in fact she was so sure, before Tom wrote this, that Tom would be inclined to choose what she chose to call "some scatter-brained little girl with her head in her heels," that the news that he was to marry a girl who was serious enough to be a stenographer came as a relief.

Then came the confirmation of what she had always suspected. He had actually introduced a cabaret dancer as his fiancee, and, of course, a cabaret dancer was a scatter-brained little girl with her head in her heels. How could she be anything else if she was a professional dancer?

The sister spared no time in packing the few duds she considered necessary for such a mission, making her husband assure her that he would be quite happy during her absence and going off to the big city to "raise a rumpus."

She didn't even wire to her brother that she was coming, but after she did get in about 5 o'clock one evening, telephoned to his office and announced, in a voice so cordial that it gave no warning of her suspicion and intention, that she was there.

"Meet you for dinner? Why, of course, I will," Tom Rawden said to the sister over the phone. "I had asked little Miss Remson—Madge Remson—to have dinner with me. You won't mind having her, will you."

"Miss Remson—Madge Remson?" The sister's voice was growing less cordial. "I don't seem to remember Miss Remson."

"I wrote you about it," Tom laughed. "She is working here as a stenographer—that's how I met her and——"

"Oh, the stenographer," purred the sister's voice. "I should be delighted. Where shall I meet you?"

"Madge dines early," said Tom, "so we were figuring on 6 o'clock. I'll come right over to you at your hotel and she can have time to run home and doll up and then meet us at the hotel. We can dine there as well as anywhere, and that will be more convenient for you."

Madge left early and that gave Tom's sister an opportunity to make the first of the little sisterly speeches that she felt it her duty to deliver.

"She is a perfectly splendid girl, Tom," she began. I'm entirely satisfied. She will be a credit to the family. I'm a keen judge of women and I can guarantee that."

"I had hoped you would like her," faltered Tom, who was always a little bit in terror of his substantial sister. "I didn't see how you could help liking her, but I never dared hope you would say as much as that." And, of course, it was not Tom's sister's way to say such nice things without a reason.

"She is a lovely girl, Tom, and not the kind of girl to trifle with." She looked intently at him so as to strike contrition to his heart, but apparently there was no such result.

There were several other meetings between the sister and the fiancee, and on each one the sister was more favorably impressed than on the last. Tom was working harder in his office than he had ever worked before. He told his sister that was the result of being engaged to Madge. She was inspiration enough to make any man do his best, and of this the sister entirely approved. No silly little girl whose head was in her heels could have this effect on a man, that was certain.

The substantial sister remained in the city two weeks, and no inkling did she get of the cabaret dancer friend of her brother's whom he had once introduced as his fiancee. Well, perhaps he had thought better of his folly. She would not force a confidence out of him but she would not go back home till she had "cinched" the matter with Madge Remson. With this end in view she urged Tom to make a formal announcement of the engagement.

"We had hardly wanted to do that," Tom protested. "A few people know of it, but because Madge is working she doesn't want to wear an engagement ring or have it announced till just before we are married."

"There is no reason why you can't be married in a very little while," said the sister. "In the meantime the very fact that she is working is reason enough why she should have the engagement announced. It is something that is due to every girl who has given her promise to marry. Tom, I really insist that it be announced. I won't go home until you do."

Perhaps this last stipulation had something to do with it, for the next day Tom told his sister that Madge had consented to announce their engagement. In fact, they had gone so far as to send small notes to the various papers making the announcement, and Madge had written to all her close friends telling them of it.

The sister was satisfied and had actually made reservations for her return trip, when she chanced to buy one of the papers to which the announcement had been sent and there espied something that made her immediately countermand her order for the reservations and unpack her bags preparatory to a prolonged stay.

She confronted her brother that evening with a substantial scowl upon her face and a manner of determination.

"Now I know," she said. "You have been trifling with that lovely girl. The girl you are really going to marry is that cabaret dancer that Pete Brevier told me about, and that," said the sister, with a fine crescendo, "that is why I came all the way from home to see about things. Tom, you are going to marry Madge Remson if I have to make you."

"What made you think that I wasn't?" said Tom, with a placidity that was irritating to the enraged sister.

"This," she said grandly, producing a newspaper folded carefully to show a short engagement announcement. "Young lawyer to wed dancer," she read. "Thomas R. Rawdon, one of the promising young lawyers of the firm of Babcock & Parsons, and the clever young dancer, Marcia Daw, have announced their engagement. Marcia Daw is now engaged in classic dancing in the cabaret of the Terrace Garden of the Bancroft Hotel and is regarded as one of the cleverest young dancers in the city. There," cried sister. "Isn't that enough?"

"Won't you read all of the announcement?" asked the brother.

"I've read enough," said the sister, with finality. "That is as far as I cared to read," but as she spoke her eyes did run down further on the column. "In private life," were the words she read there, "Marcia Daw is Miss Madge Remsen, a daughter of the late Bradley Remsen of this city."

The sister sat speechless. "Why didn't you tell me?" were the words she finally uttered.

"Because I knew your probable prejudice against a girl that made her living dancing, I wanted you to make up your mind first that I should marry Madge, the stenographer, and you know you recently registered the determination that I should do that, in rather strong terms."

"But why didn't you tell me she was a dancer when you first wrote me?"

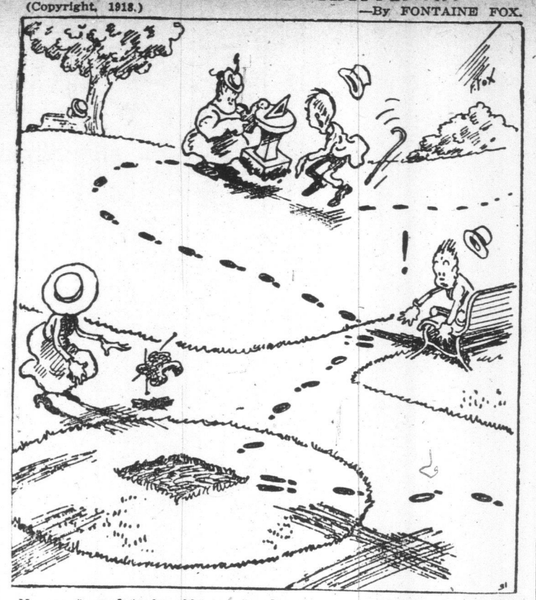

"Because I didn't know she was," said Tom. "She worked very quietly away at the office, and it was not till I knew her well that she told me. She is a girl of enormous strength and perseverance—it is her example that has set me to working so hard. She plugs along at the office every day from nine till five and then dances from nine till twelve—and she's fresher every morning when she starts in at work than the other girls that have no other work to do."

"Then you are going to marry Madge?" insisted the sister, who still wanted to feel that her trips to the city had been very necessary and that somehow she had had her finger in the pie of Tom's happiness.

"It seems as if I'd have to," said Tom generously, "since you have set your heart on it."

Procedure of Registration

On June 22nd every person residing in Canada, male or female, British or alien, of sixteen years or over, must attend one of the registration booths located in his or her district, and there observe the procedure explained below.

Where to Register

Every person required to register has the privilege of registering at any of the public places provided for that purpose. The location of all such places will be specified in proclamations posted conspicuously.

In Cities and Towns, many of these places will be open for registration purposes prior to Registration day. Where such arrangements are made, the local papers will supply full information.

Large industrial and business concerns are being asked to provide facilities for registering their employees. Where they do so business will not be interfered with, and employees will suffer no loss of time.

How to Register

The procedure of registration is simple. The questions upon the registration card can be answered very easily, but they must be answered truthfully and fully.

The card shown in the illustration is a facsimile of the registration card for males. An advertisement showing the card for females appears in another paper.

Study the questions carefully so that you will be able to answer them promptly when registering. If you have any special qualification, or feel that your services would be more beneficial to the country in some other line of work, say so.

While all are compelled to register on Registration Day, it is not contemplated by the Government to force the sick, feeble and aged to turn out. If such persons will notify the Registrar prior to June 22nd of their inability to attend at a place of registration, an effort will be made to register them at home, provided the request is reasonable and justified.

Remember the Day—June 22nd—Remember the Hours—7 a.m. to 10 p.m. Register early and get your Certificate for your own protection.

What Baby's Menu Should Be During Its Second Summer

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG,
A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University.)

DR. HIRSHBERG

Faulty observations and careless memories of grandmothers, aunts and neighbors have perpetrated about the "second summer" of infants, and also that Patsy Boliver of abominations, "teething." An infant that is nourished by mother's milk is seldom in the danger of such diseases as cholera, dysentery and summer complaint and their trail of death as are the very best cared-for bottle-fed babies.

Mother's milk is immunized, clean, digestible and germ free. It goes "direct from the fountain to the mouth." There are in the breast-fed babies no intervening intervals or opportunities for microbes, dust, impure water and other dangerous things to enter the little one's delicate stomach. Bottle-fed infants, no matter how sweet and pure the food given, run the gauntlet of all these dangers of disease.

Avoiding "Older" Dishes.

Here you see the absurdity of the "second summer" superstition. Most babies receive mother's milk the first summer. Those that are fed artificially the first summer often suffer fatal diarrhoea and complaints them, which they may all encounter in greater danger throughout the future summers of infancy when given milk and foods from unsterilized cups, glasses, plates and fingers.

Round about the 18th month, the baby is frequently propped up at the table with the family. "Smart" elders tease it with unboiled water, milk, fruits and pastries intended for older children. They have forgotten other little lives thus needlessly lost.

Forbidden dainties are "bawled" for by the youngster and weak-willed parents now and then give their offspring some dangerous article. Self-control, obedience and good nature are made or destroyed at such times even in the youngest babies.

Selecting Baby's Food.

The stomach of a year-old baby usualy is of a volume equal to a glassful—say half a pint—and half again as much more at 18 months. Colic, cramps and the like are due to feeding the child more than a cup and a half of food.

Such things as one or two ounces of barley, rice or oatmeal with cream, zwieback, toast, a slice of war bread, sponge cake, carrot juice, chicken or mutton broth, spinach, eggs raw or soft boiled, a baked potato with butter, orange juice, apple sauce or pulp, prune juice, are to be divided into four or five meals with a cupful of boiled milk with each meal.

Only does the amount and variety of food must be reduced at the slightest signs of any diarrhoea when only albumen water, and very little at a time, should be given for two or three days.

Answers to Health Questions

ANXIOUS. Q.—What will make dark hair light? Will it coarsen or promote growth?

A.—Any strong alkaline soap, peroxide or ammonia will make the hair light. They will not promote growth or coarsen the hair.

E. A. Q.—Will you please advise what can be done for neurasthenia? I am very nervous at times.

A.—Avoid tea, coffee, alcohol and tobacco. You need rest, since you are neurasthenic. Your condition is curable, and there is no ground for anxiety. Take two teaspoonfuls of the following medicine in water after each meal: Compound elixir of glycerophosphates (National Formulary), 6 ounces.

MISS M. S. Q.—I am only in my twenties, and my hair is beginning to turn grey. Will you please tell me what to do?

A.—You may darken your hair by placing an ounce of henna leaves in a jar with a quart of boiling water overnight. Then strain and heat again to boiling point. Add two ounces of henna powder—first dissolved in water—stir and strain again. Brush this into clean hair. This is effective and easy to apply. But why try to change something which may be very beautiful?

A.—The only cure for piles is by an operation. This should be done in a hospital, and preferably by a specialist.

M. P. B. Q.—Please tell me what can be done to stop a two-months-old baby from vomiting, and what is the best thing to give him for constipation?

A.—Water or orange juice will relieve constipation. If the infant is nursed by the clock, every 2½ hours, for 10 to 15 minutes and no longer, a little water taken before hand will prevent the vomiting, which usually comes from too much feeding.

ADELE GARRISON'S NEW

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

William Brings Strange News.

"You're lookin' pretty peaked, Mis' Granger. Are you sure you're all right?" William dragged himself reluctantly from the topic of his "swell" clothing, for which he had toiled so hard at the behest of his friend, the "second-hand man," and turned his attention to my appearance.

"Perfectly all right, William," I returned, smiling. "I shall be ready to come home in a few days now."

"That's mighty good news," the old chap said fervently. "The place don't seem the same when you ain't there. Things go all helter-skelter, some way."

"Why, that's very nice of you, William," I answered, for I was feminine enough to have my vanity tickled by the compliment, "although I'm afraid you're exaggerating things a bit."

Hain't neither," William retorted, with an emphasis that would have been rude in a person of more mentality. But poor old William is a privileged character, in a class by himself, and those who know him best are most patient with his eccentricities.

"I guess it would be better if your mother-in-law could be on the job," he went on, with the air of a wise judge administering exact justice, "although Katie does say that she is some old crank to get along with——"

"You mustn't," I began, meaning to reprove William for speaking so disrespectfully of my mother-in-law, but I might as well have spoken to the sea breeze fluttering the curtains of my window. William was in the full flower of his eloquence, and it would have taken a stronger voice than mine to stop him.

"Who Told You?"

"But nothin' could be worse than that old hen that calls herself Cousin Agatha," he went on, while out of the corner of my eye I saw Lillian turn away quickly to stifle her laughter. "She's got me an' Katie clear nutty ever since you've been gone. There hain't a minute of the day you can call your own.

"She's always creepin' around with those quiet heeled shoes of hers, tryin' to see if she can't get somthin' on me or Katie. She seems to think if we ain't rollin' the hoop every minute that we ain't on the job. But you can just bet she hain't found nothin' to kick about much. We've been on the job every second. Katie says that makes her madder than anything else could, and I guess she's right."

"I know you and Katie are doing your very best, William," I interrupted, diplomatically avoiding any reference to Cousin Agatha, although my anger was hot against the woman who never lost an opportunity to stir up trouble for me.

"You can jest bet we are," William returned. "But we'll be mighty glad when you get back home again. You couldn't come tomorrow, could you?" he asked, with a funny, wistful eagerness upon his twisted old face.

"No, not tomorrow, William," I answered, "but the very first day I can get away I'll be at home."

"Well, I suppose that'll have to do," he said reluctantly, then he dropped his voice and assumed a very mysterious air.

"When you get there, remember, don't let on to that there Cousin Agatha about your gettin' shot with a revolver. She thinks you got run over with an automobile."

I stared at William in amazement. How did he know of this subterfuge which Lillian and my mother-in-law had arranged for the blinding of Cousin Agatha's too curious eyes?

Lillian's voice, crisp, curt, interrupted us.

"Who told you that, William?"

William looked up at her as would a child caught in a fault.

"I don't remember," he faltered, his eyes wavering.

"Look at me!" Lillian's voice was grim, commanding.

"Katie Told You?"

William raised his eyes to hers as if he were hynotized.

"Katie told you that, didn't she?"

There was a long pause. Then, as if the words were literally dragged out of him, William spoke:

"Yes, ma'am."

"I thought so." Lillian turned to me. "That girl listens at keyholes."

My heart sank. I had suspected this before of Katie, but had never had the proof.

"What's to be done?" I asked of Lillian helplessly.

"I don't know. Let me think," she replied.

ENTER THE MILITARY CAPE

By Frank Crerie

With a swish and an air of devil-may-care the cape swept before feminine eyes and captured hearts—behold the results wherever Captain Jack Tar strolled, in the infinite variety of feminine counterparts. But—potent is the charm—the female of the cape species either is MORE dashing or has acquired a DEMURENESS that's all its own—a daintiness only Cupid and HIS lovely followers could effect. And so when the mystic three chance to meet, SHE may salute him with a dimple when—sensing the militariness of a cape that flashes across his preoccupied vision—he salutes it and, surprised, HER. It's then that Cupid—camouflaging the twinkle in his eye—salutes them BOTH.

WINIFRED BLACK

Writes About "The Market Basket."

Copyright, 1918, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

The food controller says we ought to stop telephoning and take the basket on our arm and go to market.

Fine idea, Mr. Food Controller, I wish I had the basket—and the time; I'd start this very minute. I'd rather go marketing than shopping any day, wouldn't you?

Not too soon after breakfast. I never can get up very much excitement over food when I have just had the last sip of coffee and finished the last delicious bit of bacon, can you? People always seem to me so greedy—when I have just had all I want myself.

But along about 10 o'clock, say, of a nice, breezy, summer morning, in a nice, cool, crispy linen or gingham—near me how smart those ginghams with the bright belt and ties are, to be sure. And a neat little hat and a good big, broad, deep, high, wide basket—me for the market!

Strawberries, raspberries, blackberries, dewberries—which shall I choose? Asparagus, peas, cauliflower? Why, the idea! Any one of these things would be a feast in any other country but this.

Our Wonderful Varieties.

I found out why Ouida's heroes were always peeling a peach when the story opened when I went to England.

They peeled a peach to show that they were real swells and no doubt about it.

No one eats peaches in England but princes and princesses, and maybe a duke now and then, if the market for heiresses has been particularly good.

Once I went to a dinner in England and when the fruit came on I took a bunch of grapes. I was never invited to that house to dine again.

I discovered that I had committed a crime against etiquette. There was a nice, sharp, perfectly good pair of little scissors in that basket of grapes and I should have taken those scissors and snipped off two or three grapes and let the footman pass the basket.

They hire pineapples for dinners in England and set them in the centre of the dish of fruit, and the next day they send them back to the market to be hired by someone else—and no wonder, when they are $4.80 apiece in Covent Garden market.

Cantaloupes, watermelon, cassabas—no one ever dreams of such things anywhere on earth but the rich, free-handed, wasteful, extravagant people of this continent. Green corn! Who'd think that would be in yet? How white it is, and how green the husks are!

Life's Great Simple Joys.

I'm not going to have mine for dinner. I'm going to save it and build a campfire in the backyard and along about 10 o'clock, when the moon is shining and the yellow primroses have burst into fragrant bloom, and all the roses are saying, "Remember," and all the little, prim, old-fashioned larkspurs and sweet williams that the mother, whose voice you have not heard for years taught you to love are saying, "Do not forget; oh, please do not forget." We'll go out to the campfire and dig in the ashes, and take out the corn, roasted in its own husks, and have plenty of butter and salt, and sit around and eat it, and sing, and tell stories, and be prosperity and gratification in all lines friends—not visiting acquaintances, but just plain friends, ready to share each other's troubles and laugh with each other's joys—just for once in green corn time.

New potatoes—what waxy little frauds they always are! I'm forever thinking they're going to be so delicious, and then when I bite into them they are just so much damp wax—and I wish I hadn't.

Green peas! What on earth do they do to them in the restaurants? You might as well eat bullets, and yet, just fresh from the pod, shelled on the back porch, with the children playing "old cat" in the garden, and the house dog pretending to be mad about it, and the cake browning in the oven and smelling. Well, what's the use? It takes home to give us these things, just plain, old-fashioned home, with the sweet woman in the heart of it.

I wonder if we wouldn't get back a little of the old-fashioned home spirit if we'd stop going to bridge parties and fox-trot parties and up-lift meetings, and go once in a while to market, as the food controller suggests.

I'm going to try it, anyhow. I think it will be fun—and, oh, if I can only get back just a few of the plain, simple joys of life, like green peas, and strawberries, and even, once in a while, a fraud of a new potato, I believe I'll be better off for it. For, after all, there's nothing more fun in the world than getting hungry and tired and thirsty—and then eating and drinking and resting. The business of being human really does seem to pay once in a while.

Three Minute Journeys

By TEMPLE MANNING

Ever since the days of Scheherazade, song and story have voiced the praises of the beauty of Asiatic women, but there is little doubt that the very loveliest of them all are the women, not of what we think of as Asia, but those of Manchuria, the far northeastern tip of China. Stunning is the only adequate adjective to describe their figures, and often they're exceedingly beautiful of face and feature.

The Manchu Lian-Barh-To.

Perhaps it is only natural then that these Manchurian belles should, like others nearer home, strive to make themselves still more lovely and more imposing. To aid this latter effect they have invented and continually use a striking headdress called the "lian-barh-to." And with the years it has grown taller.

By means of wood and wire they construct something that looks for all the world like a miniature railway semaphore with arms on both sides. This is inserted into the coil of hair at the back and on top of the head, and around its arms—eight and ten inches above the blue-black hair—are wound loops of black satin instead of hair.

This contrivance, naturally, is very heavy, and is only worn outdoors or when there is a "state dinner" at Home. Even outdoors this exaggerated headdress is the cause of great inconvenience. When the wind blows even lightly the wearer must "tack" to make her way up the street. It is said that they could never turn in a heavy wind without danger of being scalped.

Beautiful Elbows the Result of Thought and Care

BY LUCREZIA BORI
The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

LUCREZIA BORI

A few days ago I saw a charming girl standing behind a stucco terrace. She was chatting away, at the same time leisurely resting her elbow on the marble balustrade.

My eye was attracted at her well-rounded arm and her graceful hand. But as soon as her arm dropped to her side I was astonished to see what an ugly elbow she had.

It was pointed and roughened. The thought occurred to me that she might have avoided the unnecessary bruised and reddened elbow. Why did she rest her elbow on the marble balustrade? Elbows should not be allowed to rest on solid objects.

Whenever I see a young girl with a well-shaped hand resting her elbows on a table I feel strongly tempted to remind her that this apparently harmless indulgence will cause her to have chafed and roughened elbows.

If she would only stop to think, she would realize that it's just such a thoughtless act that makes it necessary to remedy a defect created by her lack of forethought.

The other evening, while dining at one of the fashionable restaurants, my glance around the dining-room revealed four women out of the six who were seated nearby resting one or both elbows on the tables.

The position is accepted as impolite, although I am sure those women didn't adopt the position intending to be rude. Yet, there they sat, leaning on their elbows and occasionally changing from one elbow to the other.

One should remember the disadvantages caused by indulging in this habit and avoid the temptation to test the elbows on tables, desks, marble, etc. Particularly now that the three-quarter and the short-length sleeves are again in vogue, the beauty of the elbow should be preserved and developed where it is lacking.

If you find your elbows calloused or irritated, try the following simple process to soften and beautify them:

Scrub the elbows with a flesh brush, always using a rotary motion. This has the tendency to round the elbow inclined to be pointed. A pure soap should be used, and if possible, rainwater. To soften the hardened skin a heaping tablespoonful of oatmeal may be thrown into the water.

After vigorously scrubbing the elbows dry with a Turkish towel. The friction will cause the skin to redden, but, of course, this will not remain permanently.

Five cents' worth each of white wax, spermaceti and powdered camphor. Mix with sufficient olive oil to make a good emollient. Rub into the elbows, using the rotary motion.

Good Night Stories

By Blanche Silver

Illustrated by Gruelle.

HOW WIT WON.

Once upon a time, in a distant land, there lived two brothers. Dan, the older, was big and strong; Davey, the younger, was bright, but very, very small. In fact, Davey was so small that he could hide under his brother's hat.

Now it happened that both brothers were in love with the beautiful Princess Zoe.

King Dodo, her father, favored Dan, because of his bigness. But Princess Zoe liked Davey the better because of his happy, witty ways, for Davey was so very witty that folks sometimes called him a fool.

One day the two boys traveled to the palace to offer their love to the beautiful Princess Zoe, and the old king smiled when he saw them coming, for Davey was riding on the toe of his brother's boot.

"It's big and strong you are, Dan," laughed the king, patting the big fellow on the back. "But Princess Zoe favors your brother more than you, so I've thought out a plan. Tomorrow you two shall run a race. The one who arrives at the palace first shall have my daughter and half my kingdom."

Princess Zoe was very sad when she learned of this test, and she sat a long time weeping.

"Don't worry," whispered Davey, trying to quiet her fears. "Wit outweighs strength every time. Perhaps I can think of a way," and, kissing Princess Zoe good-bye, Davey went home whistling.

"You make merry, as if you were glad you were going to loose her," sneered Dan, for his brother's whistling made him nervous.

Davey Watched His Chance.

Dan grunted and ran ahead, leaving Davey far behind, but when Davey arrived home he was still whistling merrily.

The next morning the two brothers left their house for the king's castle, and just before they started, and when Dan wasn't looking, Davey crept into one of Dan's big boots and hid.

Dan looked back, and, not seeing his brother, trotting behind him, he chuckled to himself:

"I could like down, take a nap and still beat Davey!" he laughed, and down Dan sat under a tree to wait for Davey to catch up with him.

Davey watched his chance, crawled out of the boot and scampered away through the bushes as fast as his tiny legs could carry him, and when Dan reached the castle gate, to his amazement he fould Davey talking with the king.

Princess Zoe was very happy and kissed Davey before the whole court, and King Dodo kept his promise. Princess Zoe and Davey were married amid great splendor, while Dan looked sorrowfully on.

When the king handed Davey half his fortune, Davey turned it over to his big brother, to the astonishment of everyone present.

Princess Zoe and Davey knew why, but they never breathed it to a soul—they never told anyone how Davey won that race—and they all lived happily ever after.

SUFFERED TERRIBLY WITH HER HEART

Would Wake Up Smothering

The terrible smothering and choking up sensations and sinking spells, the feelings of dizziness and faintness that come over those whose heart and nerves are deranged causes the greatest distress of both mind and body.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills give prompt relief and effect a comple cure in cases of such severity.

Mrs. A. M. Powell, Norval Station, Ont., writes: "I cannot speak too highly of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I suffered five years with my heart and nerves, but the last two years I have suffered terribly. If I went to bed I would wake up as if I were smothering. I did not get one night's sleep out of seven. I got so very weak that the doctor was called in, and he said it was my heart, and that I must take great care of myself. I saw your advertisement in your almanac for Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and said I would try them. I have only taken two boxes of them and I feel a new woman. I will recommend them to anyone afflicted with heart trouble."

Alkali in Shampoos Bad For the Hair

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—Advt.

PIRATES TRIM BRAVES IN 16 INNINGS AND MOVE UP

BOSTON, June 11.—Pittsburg took Boston's place at the bottom of the first division today by defeating the home team by a score of 3 to 2 in 16 innings. Sanders was hit harder than Hearne, but the visiting pitcher was invincible in the pinches and allowed but one hit in the last eight innings.

The winning run resulted from singles by Mollwitz and McKechnie, Schmidt's sacrifice, an intentional pass to Sanders which filled the bases, and Caton's squeeze play bunt on which Mollwitz scored.

RUNNING SORES FACE NOTHING BUT FROM ECZEMA

No rest day or night for those afflicted with that terrible skin disease, eczema, or, as it is often called, salt rheum.

With its unbearable burning, itching, torturing, day and night, relief is gladly welcomed.

There is no remedy like Burdock Blood Bitters for giving relief to such sufferers; no other remedy has done, or can do so much for those who are almost driven to distraction with the terrible torture. Apply it externally and it takes out the stinging, itching and burning, and promotes a healthy healing.

Take it internally, and it gets at the source of the disease in the blood, and completely and permanently drives it out of the system.

Miss Mary V. Chambers, Anagance Ridge, N. B., writes: "I used Burdock Blood Bitters for eczema. I had it when an infant, but it left me. Two years ago it came back. I used doctors' medicine, but it did good only while I used it. At last my face was nothing but a running sore. I saw in the paper what B. B. B. did for people. I took it, and today I am free from that terrible disease."

Langford's good hurling was responsible for the trimming handed by the St. Marks team of the Inter-Church League to the Centennials last night. The score was 8 to 2. Lied, for the Centennials, was fast but wild. He passed several of the St. Marks boys, who scored later on hits.

It was a loose game of ball, the score being 19 to 7 for the Elks.

Jack Lackie got four safeties out of five times at the plate—one home run, one triple and two doubles. R. Baker also came across with a homer.

TEN STAKE RACES AT KENTUCKY WILL HAVE LARGEST ENTRY YET

LEXINGTON, Ky., June 10.—The ten stake events to be contested this fall at the 46th annual meeting of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association have received a list of entries equal to the largest, according to an announcement made tonight.

In the ten fixed events, 307 horses are entered by breeders and owners of trotting and pacing animals from all over the country. For the 3-year-old Kentucky futurity for trotters, valued at $14,000, 43 picked youngsters have been kept eligible. This is the biggest stake offered, and is the most valuable race of the Grand Circuit. Mares were nominated for the event in 1915. Although last according to entries, the Transylvania, 2:06 trot, for $5,000, all ages championship race of each year, is one of the most important of the circuit.

The 2-year-old futurity, $5,000, received the largest entry, 51 horses; the Kentucky, $2,000, for 3-year-old trotters, 2:11 class, was second with 42, while Ashland, $2,000, trotters of the 2:15 class, was third with 39 entries. Other stakes ranged according to entries as follows: Walnut Hall, cup, $3,000, 2:11 trotters, 34; The Lexington, $2,000, 2-year-old trotters, 32; pacing futurity, 3-year-olds, $2,000, 19; The Blue Grass, $2,000, 2:09 pacers, 17; The Cumberland, $2,000, 2:04 pacers, 16, and the Transylvania, $5,000, 2:06 trotters, 14.

FOREST CITY QUOITERS OFFICIALLY OPEN THE SEASON ON THURSDAY

Tournament Arranged On New Grounds Between Four Teams.

Forest City quoiters will officially commence the season on Thursday, when a tournament will be held at the new grounds secured by the club behind the Reliance Garage on King street. Former champions of the quoiting game are determined that the outcome of the games on Thursday will be entirely different from that on the 24th of May, when the best quoiters were walloped by less experienced followers of the oval irons. H. Storie, who was champion of this city for a number of years and who was badly beaten by an amateur on Victoria Day, administered a trimming to the same gent recently by the overwhelming score of 21 to 2. The champs ascribed their recent beatings to the poor condition of the ground on the occasion.

The following will play on Thursday:
G. Bolton vs. H. Storie.
J. Holiday vs. F. May.
T. Robinson vs. R. Reid.
A. Talbot vs. A. Bates.
Lewis vs. Karn.

CAST-OFF HORSE IS WINNER OF HARLEM STAKES AT BELMONT

New York, June 12.—C. P. Winfrey's Airman, a cast-off of the Cochrane stable, showed that he was a greatly improved horse yesterday, when he galloped in an easy winner in the Harlem Selling Stakes, which was the feature of the Belmont card. He had plenty in reserve when he finished four lengths in front of George Loft's Arrah-Go-On. J. Howard Lewis, who trains steeplechasers for the Wideners, introduced a good sprint jumper to metropolitan racegoers in Nutmeg, a son of Garry Herrmann, which qualified over the sticks in Maryland.

Nutmeg was rated along and took the fences in easy manner. On the far turn the second time around, Nutmeg and Square Dealer rushed up to the leader, but Ormes Head came on again, and had five lengths advantage just before entering the stretch. Nutmeg was let down then and, joining issue with Ormes Head, had the latter beaten at the last obstacle. The early pacemaking and the battle with Nutmeg in the stretch took all the steam out of Ormes Head, and Square Dealer got up in time to take the place by a neck, while Nutmeg won handily by a length and a half.

All but one of the seven starters in the third race for 3-year-olds were imported with Ben Gow the choice over Sycamoor. Schuttinger hustled Ben Gow along in the early stages of the race, but Sycamoor was never far behind, and when Ben Gow ran out at the head of the stretch it was an easy option for Sycamoor, who won by four lengths.

BELGIAN SOCCERITES TRIM NEW YORK 2-0

NEW YORK, June 11.—Belgium's soldier soccer players, attached to the Armored Motor Corps, recently returned from Russia and now at Fort Totten, played their second game and gave an exhibition of their skill in the return match with the eleven of the New York Football Club at Lenox Oval.

Having lost in the first encounter on Wednesday, the Belgians were on their mettle and turned the tables, winning by a score of 2 goals to 0, precisely the same figures by which New York won in the first encounter.

THREE GAMES OF THE MILITARY SCHEDULE PLAYED AT HEIGHTS

Three scheduled games, one of football and the other two baseball, were played off by local military teams yesterday afternoon. Headquarters took on the W.O.R. No. 1 team in the football game, which resulted in a win for the former by 3 to 1. The game was fast and exciting all through. The team from headquarters, which included a number of players from the Canadian Engineers, put up a strong game, winning the fixture in the second half, when they scored twice.

The W.O.R. baseball nine took the measure of the Canadian Garrison Regiment team with a 13 to 4 wallop. Wildness and errors on the part of the C.G.R. boys accounted for the majority of their opponents' runs.

No. 2 Construction Company defeated E Company of the W.O.R. by 8 to 4. The colored soldiers bunched their hits and were never in danger after the fifth inning.

Sportlets

BY REX

Baseball dopesters have given up all hope for the Southern Association. They have given it until June 28 to live—and then, au revoir. Its memory will remain green, however. Probably no circuit, with the exception of the Canadian League, ever tried out more greenhorns. Its epitaph shall be:

Here lies the Southern League;

One of the surest signs that baseball is regaining its prestige is the fact that about seven umpires have been assaulted by an equal number of fans during the past two weeks.

An expert says that Chicago is the class of the American League. We would say about third class judging by the official standing.

The Jersey City team object to being called the Cows. They prefer being named the Skeeters. According to official figures they have yet failed to sting anybody except themselves. In fact, the Jerseys have been literally milked by other International League nines. "Cows" is certainly more appropriate.

As we go to press, Detroit is still in last place. The Tigers are making an inglorious attempt to hang on to their favorite position. They won a game Tuesday, which proves that even the best of intentions go astray sometimes.

TOO BAD WAGNER DID NOT DRIVE FROM ALPS

"Some years ago, while the Pirates were training in Hot Springs," declares Dreyfuss, "some of the enthusiastic golfers tried to get Wagner interested in their game. But for a long time Wagner would not enthuse. At last, however, they succeeded in luring him to the links and armed him with a driver and a pair balls.

"Honus grabbed a handful of earth and built himself a huge mound, on which he placed the ball. Just as he was about to drive off, one of the expert golfers, horrified, hurried over and grabbed the club of the Dutchman.

"'O, my dear fellow,' he exclaimed, 'you never can accomplish anything with such a high mound for your ball.'

"And then the golfer lifted up the ball, kicked Wagner's four-inch mound to dust and built another about a half-inch tall, placed the ball on it, and then, turning to Wagner, ejaculated:

"'There, that's about the proper height.'

"Wagner surveyed the new mound and then said:

"'I think I like the higher one better,' and at once rebuilt the mound to its original four-inch size.

"And then, while the veteran golfers sadly shook their heads because of the 'fool idea' of Wagner, the Dutchman swung, caught the ball fairly, and made the longest drive ever recorded on Hot Springs' golf course.

FORMER BOXING OFFICIAL CHARGED WITH ESPIONAGE

NEW YORK, June 11.—Charged with attempting to violate the espionage act, former State Boxing Commissioner Frank S. O'Neil, a lawyer, with offices in this city, was held in $10,000 bail by the federal authorities here today. Because O'Neil's two alleged co-conspirators have not been arrested the indictment was kept under the seal of the court.

Ruth Supplants Cobb as Most Valuable Player

Nothing in baseball these days is attracting so much attention among baseball fans as the phenomenal work of "Babe" Ruth of the Red Sox. As his home run record mounts, the interest becomes more keen, and it is safe to say that Ruth is today the most talked of man in baseball. When news came over the wire to Ebbet's Field the other day that the Boston boy had clouted his fourth home run in as many days, "Uncle" Wilbert Robinson of the Brooklyn team said:

"Ruth today is the most valuable man in the game to any team, all things considered he's more valuable than Cobb."

"If this young man ever plays through an entire season he is apt to set a long-distance clouting record that has never been dreamed of. There is no man in the game today who hits the ball with the force that this erstwhile star pitcher puts into his drives."

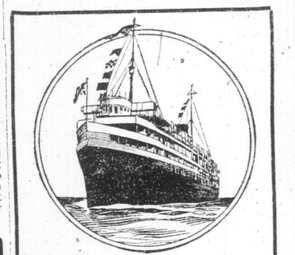

Ruth is evidently all over his recent illness. If he is kept in the Red Sox outfield the rest of the season as now seems likely he is apt to come through and lead the American League in batting. Even though he does not play in as many games as Speaker and Sisler, he stands a great chance of outhitting both in point of percentage and matter of extra bases.

BOXING IN PALESTINE

London Sportsman.—Several well-known boxers took part in a tournament held "somewhere in Palestine" early in the month, among them being Alf. Wye, the ex-amateur bantam-weight champion. He met Kid Rowse in a fifteen-round contest, but proved so much the better man that he administered the "K. O." in the sixth round.

TEN BOMBING RAIDS BY BRITISH FLIERS WITHIN THREE DAYS

LONDON, June 11.—During the period between June 6 and June 9 ten bombing raids were carried out, according to the statement issued by the admiralty tonight. Objectives included the Bruges works, Bruges docks, Bruges canal, Ghisteles airdrome, Mariaiter airdrome, St. Denis-Westrem airdrome and the Moslacker airdrome.

"In all," says the statement, "fourteen tons of bombs were dropped. Fires were started in the Bruges docks, the Mariaiter and St. Denis-Westrem airdromes. Four fires and two explosions were caused in the eastern basin at Bruges docks. Two direct hits were observed on the mole at Zeebrugge. Heavy anti-aircraft fire was experienced, and attacks by enemy aircraft were driven off. All our machines returned.

Submarines Bombed.

"In home waters during the same period numerous anti-submarine and hostile aircraft escort patrols were carried out by seaplanes, airships and airplanes. Submarines were sighted and bombed, enemy mines were located and floating mines sunk.

"On occasions while on patrol single British machines have been attacked by enemy formations. In one case a stray bullet shot away the control and a British machine was forced to alight. The crew subsequently was rescued by another British seaplane, which had been sent out to search for them. In another instance our machine, after being disabled, was sunk by hostile machine gun fire, the crew being rescued."

The official statement on aerial operations tonight says:

Taking Part in Battle.

"In spite of the cloudy weather our airmen on the French battlefront worked early and late, dropping eight tons of bombs on enemy troops, transport and ammunition dumps, guns and trenches. Direct hits were obtained on the railway at Roye-sur-Matz and concentrations of infantry in the triangle comprising Montdidier, Ricquebourg and Roye.

"Flying low, our machines attacked with machine gun fire every target that offered itself along the roads behind the fighting line, and an immense number of rounds were fired from the air with good effect.

"In this area we shot down six enemy airplanes and drove seven down out of control, we ourselves losing five machines.

"On the British front there was little aerial activity. One German airplane was destroyed and one was driven down out of control. We lost two machines.

"During Monday night we dropped seven tons of bombs on Cambrai and Bapaume. All our night bombers returned."

KINGSTON VETERANS PULLING FOR RETURN OF CHAPLAIN STARR

Objection to Appointment of Man Who Has Not Been Overseas.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

KINGSTON, June 11.—"That the Kingston branch of the Great War Veterans' Association indorses the appointment of Major the Very Rev. Dean Starr as senior chaplain for Military District No. 3."

This resolution was passed in consequence of the announcement that Col. C. H. Williams had recently been appointed chaplain of this district, in which Major Starr was the senior overseas, was serving gratuitously. Col. Williams has not served overseas in any capacity, and the announcement of his appointment as chaplain for the district was at variance with the principle that only returned men should receive appointments.

The G. W. V. A. points out that the principle has been accepted by the Government, and was embodied in an order-in-council. The resolution has been sent to the Government for immediate action.

CROSS, FEVERISH CHILD IS BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, Mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fruit Syrup Company."

SOME DEALERS HAVE UNDULY INCREASED PRICES OF ARTICLES

OTTAWA, June 11.—As a consequence of the adoption of the order-in-council restricting the importation of luxuries, a further order-in-council has been passed, regulating the price of manufactures of gold and silver, electroplated and gilt ware, and sterling or other silverware.

It is provided that the current prices with which these articles were sold in the ordinary course of business by dealers, at the date of the order (June 3) shall not be increased without the permission of the minister of trade and commerce, to be granted on the recommendation of the war board. Any person found guilty of violating the above regulations is liable to a penalty not exceeding $500, or to three months' imprisonment, or to both fine and imprisonment.

While the articles mentioned are alone specified in the order-in-council, it is considered likely that steps will also be taken so to regulate prices in other direction as to prevent undue inflation consequent on the restriction of imports. Complaints have further been received here that certain dealers have taken advantage of the situation improperly to increase prices. These are now being investigated. If the complaints are found to be justified it is intimated that measures will be taken to have the prices reduced to a fair level.

FIVE IN ONE HOUSE PERISH DURING FIRE IN COUNTY OF GREY

Two Children, Man and Wife and Farmerette Are Victims.

OWEN SOUND, June 11.—Five occupants of the home of Richard Lyons, Euphrasia Township, in the remote part of Grey County, lost their lives in a fire which destroyed his residence at an early hour on Saturday morning last.

The dead are: Mr. Lyons, his wife, their 8-year-old son Lawrence, Miss Effie Neeley, a farmerette student at Markdale High School, and Auilde McLaughlin, a 4-year-old boy from Owen Sound.

The origin of the fire is a mystery, but it is thought that sparks from a stove pipe running through the roof of a rear shed, fairly close to the main building, ignited the end of the house, which was of frame construction, and that the occupants were suffocated with smoke before they could make their escape. The fire was noticed by neighbors, but before they reached the scene the building was a mass of flames.

The bodies of four of the victims were found together in a heap. By the position of the bodies when found it would appear as if they had gone down the stairs, where there was a small landing at the bottom, with the door opening inward, and that, with one or two probably fallen suffocated, the others were unable to open the door, and perished within a few inches of safety.

An inquest was ordered by the assistant coroner at Markdale, and a jury was empaneled on Saturday, and after viewing the remains the inquest was adjourned for a week.

IT IS NOW REVEALED THAT VENUS COTE IS NOT SUCH A MARTYR

Parading in Man's Attire a Trifle to Other Charges Made.

KINGSTON, June 11.—It transpires that the Cote woman, popularly known as "Venus" Cote, is not serving two years in Portsmouth Penitentiary for wearing male attire, as was first reported. The story was that she was sent to the penitentiary for two years for posing as a man while working as a log driver on the Restigouche River, and on the strength of this, application has been made to the department of justice for her release.

The facts of the case are that the woman was sent up for five years for theft, she having broken into a house and stolen a quantity of silverware, clothing, etc. In addition, she broke jail after her arrest, and was not captured for several days. At present she is confined in the women's prison at the penitentiary, and seems to be very quiet. She will be taught to sew and do other feminine work, but at the present time she scarcely knows what a thimble is for.

JUDGE McLENNAN TO PROBE ELECTION CHARGES

OTTAWA, June 11.—Judge McLennan of the superior court of Montreal has been appointed by the Dominion Government to investigate the charges of alleged irregularity in the allotment of military votes to the constituency of Chambly-Vercheres.

A few days before prorogation Joseph Archambault, the member for Chambly-Vercheres, declared in the House of Commons that votes of soldiers stationed at St. Johns, Que., had been irregularly indorsed for allocation in his constituency. When the charges were made investigation was promised by the minister of justice.

CUT-WORM IS DOING HARM IN SASKATCHEWAN

REGINA, June 11.—Crop reports received from various points throughout the province by the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company indicate that the country, as a whole, is in need of rain, although no damage from lack of moisture was reported. The reports show that the growth of wheat in the province up to last Saturday night would average between five and six inches. Several districts report the cut-worm as being active, and damage to the extent of 30 per cent was indicated on some farms in the Kelliher district. Some districts reported no damage from this cause.

RUSSIAN CADET PARTY CALLING FOR ALLIED AID

Urge the Sending of International Expeditionary Force.

APPEAL TO WASHINGTON

Intervention by Japan Alone Is Strongly Protested.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—An appeal to the Entente Allies to send an expeditionary force to Russia to expel the German invaders, forwarded by the central committee of the cadet party in Russia, was transmitted to the state department today by the Russian embassy. It is asked that the expedition, if sent, be put under international control, to guarantee the rights of Russia.

The cadet party is composed of the constitutional democrats, who were first in power after the overthrow of the Romanoff dynasty. It was removed from power by the Bolsheviks.

Uncle Sam Undecided.

The United States has not defined its attitude toward the Allied desire for joint action in the east, although it is understood the Government holds it would be inopportune to attempt to check the Germans in Russia unless it is shown the Russian people wish it, and that the move would not be misunderstood.

The message of the constitutional democrats declares the situation in which Russia has been placed by the terms of the Brest-Litovsk treaty only can be ameliorated by the active aid of the Allies. The advance of the German armies, it is declared, otherwise cannot be halted.

The appearance of a strong Allied force in the east, it is declared, will have a decisive bearing on the issue of the war and on the conditions of peace. Success for Allied intervention, the party says, depends on its form, and if an expedition is sent it is asked that every means be taken to safeguard Russian interests and rights.

WON'T STAND FOR JAPAN.

NEW YORK, June 11.—A special cable from London to a morning paper here says that the Russian cadet party has flatly refused to sanction intervention by Japan alone in Siberia.

CZECHS-SLAVS ON WARPATH.

AMSTERDAM, June 11.—Moscow newspapers received here says Czecho-Slovak troops, about 15,000 strong, have occupied portions of the Siberian railway in the Southern Urals, where they captured arms and artillery.

The newspapers add that soviet troops have evacuated Chelyabinsk and concentrated near Zlatoust, in the neighborhood of which town the Czechs were defeated. Another group of Czechs is declared to be near Samara, which town is said to be in danger.

BURIAN FOR PEACE BY UNDERSTANDING AND NO ANNEXATION

Says Central Powers Cannot Make Any Fresh Peace Offer.

VIENNA, via Amsterdam, June 11.—Baron Burian, the Austro-Hungarian minister for foreign affairs, in an interview printed today in Azest, said he still adhered to the policy of peace by understanding as expressed in December, 1916, and continued:

"The dual monarchy seeks no annexations. We already have concluded four peace treaties, but none of them contains anything that could be interpreted as conquest."

Baron Burian said there could hardly be a question of any fresh peace offer by the quadruple alliance so long as the leading statesmen of the Entente espoused views such as those expressed by Premier Lloyd George in his recent speech in London. So long as statesmen talk like that nothing remains but to defend ourselves resolutely."

RICH COPPER AND NICKEL DEPOSITS FOUND IN QUEBEC

Acres of It Located in Wilds of Wright County.

OTTAWA, June 11.—One of the largest deposits of nickel and copper ore ever found in the surrounding district has been discovered, according to reports from several residents of the neighborhood, on the property of A. J. Payne, in the upper notch of the Eardley mines, about seven miles from Breckenridge, Wright County, Quebec. It was found about two months ago by a veteran prospector named James Lusk, who is over 70 years old, but he never bothered much about it until a couple of weeks ago, when, with a man named James McMullen, he went up and dug holes five feet deep in several parts of the property. They found nothing but ore rich in nickel and copper and no trace of rock whatever.

"There are acres of it," said one of the residents of Breckenridge, when spoken to this morning.

TWO DENOMINATIONS JOIN IN CONSECRATION OF YOUNG MINISTER

[Special to The Advertiser.]

KINGSTON, June 11.—A unique ordination service was held in Portsmouth Methodist Church Monday evening, when both Methodist and Presbyterian ministers took part in the consecration of Herman R. James, B.A., a graduate of Queen's University, to the work of Christ. It was probably the first time in the history of Canadian Methodism that such a service has been held, and was occasioned by the fact that the Methodist and Presbyterian congregations in the village have united for worship owing to the lack of trained ministers.

Rev. George S. Clendinnen, president of the Montreal Conference of the Methodist Church, presided.

CHILD DROWNED WHILE PLAYING ABOUT CANAL

Little Hand Still Clutched Ice Cream Cone When Found.

ST. CATHARINES, June 11. — With his hand still clutching an ice cream cone, the body of Richard, 7-year-old son of George Lucking of Thorold, was taken from below lock 25 of the old Welland Canal this afternoon. He had been missing since 8 o'clock last night and is believed to have fallen from an unprotected bridge across the lock.

FOOD BOARD HOPES TO STOP FURTHER FOOD SPECULATION

MEATS AND DAIRY GOODS

Maximum Advance Over Costs Do Not Apply in Normal Conditions.

OTTAWA, June 11.—The Canada food board has passed an order-in-council which is expected definitely to prevent speculations in the produce business, and to limit the profits to a reasonable margin over cost. The order provides that on and after July 1 no person dealing wholesale in meats, lard, cheese, butter, oleomargarine or eggs, in selling to a retail dealer or others, not wholesale dealers, shall charge on each transaction more than 10 per cent over his cost price delivered to warehouses. When salaried men are employed in buying, or when commission is paid, the charge for such in computing shall not exceed the recognized charge for buying or the customary commission paid.

In selling to another wholesale dealer the charge on each transaction must not exceed the cost price by more than 4 per cent.

When selling prints of butter which have been molded or cut by himself, the wholesale dealer may be permitted to charge an additional price to cover the cost of such molding or cutting, but this additional price must not be more than 3 per cent of cost.

Margin on Eggs.

In selling or storing eggs that have been candled by himself, the wholesale dealer may add up to 3 cents per dozen over cost of candling, cases, fillers, and loss from defective eggs. If he candles eggs for sale out of cold storage he may add not over 3 per cent to cover cost of labor and loss from defective eggs.

When the produce dealt in has been stored or held for more than 30 days, the cost of holding or carrying may be added to the cost price delivered to warehouse, and the cost of carrying may include storage at public tariff rates, insurance, interest at 7 per cent and shrinkage.

Appeals Considered.

The dealer may at any time make a list of separate lots of any article of produce owned by him, showing quantity and cost, and the average price so ascertained and the date of the list may be used when selling or storing, for the purpose of complying with the order and its application to limitation of profits and invoicing. This average price, however, shall not apply to any produce not included in such list. Cold storage and fresh eggs must be listed separately. Copy of all such lists must be mailed to the Canada food board within 24 hours after being made.

The order further provides that the maximum advances over cost are not to be regarded as justifiable under normal trade conditions. Dealers are warned such maximum advance will not, under normal trade conditions, be considered fair practice, as the maximum increases are only to apply to conditions when the cost of doing business is in exces of normal.

The number of transactions in produce must not be increased beyond those absolutely necessary to economical distribution.

AUSTRIANS VAINLY TRY SURPRISE ON ITALIANS

ROME, June 11.—The Italian official communication issued today says:

"At Monte Corno, in the Frenzella Valley and Cortellazzo, the hostile infantry vainly attempted surprise attacks.

"East of Capo Sile patrols drove back the enemy from the front lines, capturing a machine gun and two trench mortars, other arms and war material.

"Five hostile airplanes were brought down."

ST. MARYS CHURCHES DECIDE TO UNITE

ST. MARYS, June 11. — The two Presbyterian Churches in St. Marys have decided to unite. Meetings of both congregations, at which the vote was taken, were held last evening simultaneously, First Presbyterian Church giving a majority of 120 in favor of union, and Knox Church a majority of 149. Rev. Finlay Matheson, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, Stratford, presided at the meeting in First Church, while Rev. Mr. Atkinson, moderator of the Stratford Presbytery, was chairman at the Knox Church meeting.

Ads in Periodicals Turned to Purpose Of Germany's Spies

LONDON, June 11. — The French military authorities have taken an important step, with the object of checkmating the operation of enemy spies. Gen. Dubail, military governor of Paris, has issued orders forbidding the sending abroad of newspapers and periodicals containing advertisements. If journals wish to retain their foreign connections it will be necessary for them to have special editions, in which advertisements are blocked out. In taking this measure France is following Italy, which began to block out advertisements six months ago, after the Austro-German offensive. It is suspected that certain advertisements in French or Italian newspapers might be used for espionage purposes.

Gold From Canada Again Finding Way To United States

Bank of England Realizing Some of $52,000,000 Reserve.

NEW YORK, June 11.—Receipt today by the New York Federal Reserve Bank of $5,000,000 gold from Ottawa confirms recent forecasts of a resumption of gold imports from Canada, such as preceded the entrance of the United States into the war. These imports will represent for the most part payment of obligations incurred in this country by the British Government for various supplies.

British treasury officials find themselves in a position to release gold from Canada now that the United States Government has undertaken to supply the financial needs of her European allies, which previously devolved upon Great Britain. The Bank of England has held in reserve in Canada $52,000,000, and the $5,000,000 which arrived today is a part of it.

DOCTORS SHOULD SHUN GERMAN SCIENTISTS TILL THEY ARE PURE

CHICAGO, June 11.—National prohibition for the benefit of military and civil populations alike, and the withdrawal of doctor's generally from association after the war with German scientists until Germany has purged itself of guilt, were features of the address of Dr. Arthur Dean Bevan of Chicago, installed tonight as president of the American Medical Association.

Styling the elimination of alcoholic drink the greatest single factor that can be controlled in the interest of public health, Dr. Bevan said:

"In the evolution of civilization many great wrongs became so entrenched that it required centuries of education to extirpate them. Among these wrongs too long tolerated none has done more injury to mankind than drink. Now the swiftly-moving course of events is writing the death warrant of autocracy and 'rule by divine right,' and science and education should eliminate not only plagues and epidemics, but also the curse of the drink from the world."

DISTILLERY IS DONATED FOR MILITARY HOSPITAL

[Special to The Advertiser.]

KINGSTON, June 11.—Preparations are being made for the transfer of the property of the Morton distillery, owned by the Maple Leaf Milling Company of Toronto, to the military hospitals commission. The company makes it a gift to the Dominion Government for use as a hospital for soldiers, and is most generous in its character, as the property is valued at between $50,000 and $75,000. It was found that the grounds of the Ongwanda Hospital were not quite large enough for the requirements of the commission in connection with the great hospital they purpose building there.

FOE'S TRAP NEATLY SPRUNG ON HIMSELF BY BRITISH FLIERS

Two Enemy Air Squadrons Fight Death Duel With Each Other, and "Foxy" Britishers Sail In and Finish It.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, June 11.—(By the Associated Press).—This is the story of a battle royal waged in the air between two flights of German planes. It was an unintentional but disastrous fight between brother aviators, during which British pilots joyfully and impartially rendered assistance first to the one side and then to the other until so many of the emperor's fliers had been destroyed or damaged that the conflict could not continue.

It was on June 5 that this extraordinary engagement occurred, and it began thus:

The British officers in a fighting machine were leading a patrol along the line when they sighted a German Halberstadt two-seater, which, upon their appearance, fired a green signal light. The British leaders expected a trap, and waited to see what this unusual performance meant.

Second Squad Attacks.

In a short time six German scouts came wheeling out of the blue and joined the Halberstadt. Almost at once six other enemy scouts dived out of the sun onto their comrades, whom they apparently mistook for a British patrol about to attack.

What had happened was this: The Halberstadt had been acting as a decoy, and the green light had been meant as a signal for assistance. But there had been no expectation that two flights of German planes would respond at the same time.

Not being able to distinguish the markings of their friends—and this has happened not infrequently before—the newcomers immediately began a furious attack upon them.

Britishers Take a Hand.

The British leaders then guided their patrol into this mad melee and took a hand. The Halberstadt was the first victim and this was shot down by the British commanding machine. Another British fighter in the meantime had accounted for two more enemy scouts, which were sent swirling to destruction below.

All the time the German aircraft were continuing their bitter battle among themselves, and several of them were seen to go down out of control before the engagement finally ended. The British leaders by their good judgment had led the Huns into their own trap.

Patrol Vanquishes Forty.

This undoubtedly was a unique one, but there are always plenty of thrilling incidents happening in the air these days. Take, for instance, the case of a British patrol of about eight battleplanes, which fought and vanquished some forty enemy craft a few days ago. This British patrol, under command of a captain, was escorting a bombing squadron when two score machines were encountered. The British fighters and the enemy immediately raced in for the attack.

Within a few seconds the fight was in progress and the great fleet of nearly half a hundred airships were swirling and diving madly against one another while their machine guns joined in the vicious chorus that swept down to the troops on the ground like the noise from scores of steam trip-hammers.

The British out-manoeuvered and out-fought the enemy and many of the Germans were sent spinning away.

PRIEST AND POSSE CHASE CHURCH THIEF; GET HIM WITH SHOT

Thrilling Wild West Stunt in Montreal Suburb.

MONTREAL, June 11.—Caught after an exciting chase of over three miles, in which automobiles, revolvers and a shotgun were used, Jos. Larose, 25 years of age, cornered in a barn at Cote St. Luc and hit in the legs with a charge of buckshot, arrested and taken to the Western Hospital under guard last night. The man was caught in the act of robbing the poor box in Loyola College, Sherbrooke street, Notre Dame de Grace, by Father Keenan, of the college, and when making his escape, the man fired at the priest, but the shot went wild and the priest began to chase the man, who ran out of the college and made his way over the fences and hedges towards Cote St. Luc. The fathers of the college pursued the man in two automobiles, which were lent them by visitors at the college.

Besieged in Barn.

Constable Coach, who had been sent out on the case, joined the pursuers and closely pressed, the fugitive ran into a barn at Cote St. Luc and hid himself in the hayloft. When the constable and the pursuers arrived the man pointed a revolver at the crowd and threatened to shoot the first man who tried to take him prisoner.

One of the citizens, T. Collingwood, who had joined in the chase, ran to the farmhouse nearby and borrowed a shotgun. He approached the fugitive and told him he would fire if he did not give himself up peacefully. Larose still refused and tried to shoot Collingwood. The latter fired the first shot, however, and the charge of shot hit the fugitive in the legs below the knee.

EXPORT OF SOME HIDES AND SKINS FORBIDDEN

OTTAWA, June 11.—Exportation of certain hides and skins, except under license issued by the commissioner of customs, at the request of the war trade board, has been prohibited by the terms of an order-in-council passed yesterday. The commodities are: Calfskins of Canadian or foreign origin, kips of Canadian or foreign origin, hides, cattle, buffalo and horse, when of Canadian or foreign origin.

This action has been taken in order to conserve the Canadian supply for Canadian consumption. When the supply has been met it is the intention of the war trade board to grant licenses for exportation.

SERBIANS DEFTLY ROB BULGARIANS OF SURPRISE

PARIS, June 11.—The French official statement from Macedonia reads:

"Eastern theatre, June 10.—Spirited artillery activity occurred on both sides, west of the Vardar, particularly in the region of Seka di Legen. In the region of Dobropolje the enemy, after violent artillery preparation, attempted a surprise attack against the Serbian positions, but were repulsed, leaving prisoners in our hands. Southwest of Pogradetz French troops, after a brilliant engagement, occupied Crete, Kania and the villages of Strelkasals and Popcisti, capturing 142 prisoners, including two officers, three mortars, numerous machine guns and important food and munitions supplies."

ALIENS ARE DRAFTED IN NON-COMBATANT SERVICE

WINNIPEG, June 11.—Aliens of military age are being put into the non-combatant service of the Canadian army. The war-times election act, according to statements made here today, does not exempt them from non-combatant services.

As a result a large number are being put into khaki because the calling of class B and a number of aliens' exemptions were cancelled by local draft judges.

THIS WOMAN SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Black River Falls, Wis. — "As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation, I cannot say enough in praise of it. I suffered from organic troubles and my side hurt me so I could hardly be up from my bed, and I was unable to do my house work. I had the best doctors in Eau Claire, and they wanted me to have an operation, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me so I did not need the operation, and I am telling all my friends about it."—Mrs. A. W. Binzer, Black River Falls, Wis.

It is just such experiences as that of Mrs. Binzer that has made this famous root and herb remedy a household word from ocean to ocean. Any woman who suffers from inflammation, ulcerations, displacements, backache, nervousness, irregularities or "the blues" should not rest until she has given it a trial, and for special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

DILLON AND PRIESTS HOLD ALOOF FROM IRISH RECRUITING

LONDON, June 11.—The Dublin correspondent of the Daily Express professes to be able to give the details of a plain for conducting a voluntary recruiting campaign in Ireland, which he understands has as one of its great features the bringing of American regiments to Ireland to march through the towns and villages. These regiments, he adds, will bring their priests with them.

This plan, continues the correspondent, will be carried out along lines resembling those of a general action under the controlling direction of Edward Shortt, the chief secretary for Ireland. He adds that important progress has been made in the direction of enlisting the aid of the Nationalist party. Stephen Gwynn, a Nationalist member of the House of Commons, is a member of the committee under this plan, the correspondent states, while other Nationalist members have expressed a wish to help. Arthur Lynch, Nationalist member with West Clare, he continues, has agreed to serve as recruiting officer, and it is believed some others will follow Mr. Lynch's example. John Dillon, the Nationalist leader, meanwhile is maintaining a neutral attitude, the correspondent adds, although with a leaning toward the clerical opposition, which also still holds aloof, although there is reason it is declared, to hope that its attitude will change before long.

ANNA HELD WILL LIVE, IS DOCTOR'S BULLETIN

NEW YORK, June 11.—Anna Held, the actress, who has been critically ill at a hotel here for many weeks, has "won her battle," according to a bulletin issued tonight by her physicians, who added that "she still has a long fight ahead."

Miss Held is suffering from a rare disease, accompanying anaemia, which affected the marrow of her bones. Recently, after undergoing an operation for transfusion of blood, in an effort to save her life, her condition became worse, and at one time hope for her recovery was abandoned.

DUNDAS BANDITS ARE SENT TO PENITENTIARY

HAMILTON, June 11.—Ten years in Kingston Penitentiary was the sentence imposed today on George Gabor, an Austrian-Roumanian, found guilty of assault and robbery. George Gradinam, who was along with Gabor at the time of the hold-up, drew five years. A companion of the pair is still being sought by the police.

The trio, armed with knives and revolvers, broke into a Dundas boarding-house and relieved foreigners there of a large sum of money. Two of the men were captured by the police after a spectacular automobile chase.

LAURIER POSTPONES TRIP.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, June 11.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier has postponed his trip to Toronto on account of the serious illness in Quebec of his sister-in-law, Madame Laurier, whose condition is critical. She is the widow of the late Charlemange Laurier, who died a number of years ago. It is doubtful if Sir Wilfrid will go to Toronto this week. The Liberal chieftain is probably enjoying better health than for some years. He returned from his trip to Quebec and Montreal in splendid fettle.

GRAIN.

Chicago, Ill., June 12.—Relief from excessive heat turned the corn market downward today. The bears were also favored by a continuance of liberal receipts. On the extreme decline, many commission houses swung to the buying side, and caused a sharp rally, but fresh breaks ensued. Opening figures, which varied from ⅛c to 1⅜c lower, with July $1 41@1 42, and August, $1 42¾, were followed by an upturn to well above yesterday's finish and, then by setbacks, much below the initial range. Oats were governed by the action of corn. Trade was light. After opening unchanged to ½c lower, with July, 70⅜@70¾c, the market scored a material advance, which, however, was soon lost.

Business in provisions was almost at a standstill. Small gains resulted from absence of selling pressure.

LIVE STOCK.

Toronto, June 12.—The market at the Union stockyards this morning was generally steady and the trade was quite active. Cattle were steady and the tendency of sheep and lambs was firmer. WALL STREET.

New York, June 12—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—All sections of the stock market were strengthened at the opening of today's trading, the improvement being ascribed to overnight war news. Greatest gains were scored by speculative issues, however. Steels, coppers, Colorado Fuel, Great Northern Ore, Baldwin Locomotive and American Car made appreciable advances with Marine preferred, Mexican Petroleum, Reading and Union Pacific. Pittsburg and West Virginia again led the low-priced rails. Liberty bonds eased slightly.

Noon—Early gains in industrials, equipments, metals, oils and shippings were supplemented later, United States Steel emerging from its recent inactivity at an advance of 1⅛ points. Tobaccos made additional gains, and specialties were led by Distillers, Alcohol, Cotton Oil and Linseed, common and preferred. Investment rails hardened on buying of the transcontinentals, Atchison and Reading. The prominence of minor coalers at one to two point advances was an unusual feature.

A Vital Necessity in Peace or War

The operations of Water-Power and Public Utility Companies are a vital necessity to the industrial and social welfare of Canada, and are as essential in times of peace as in war.

The Southern Canada Power Company, Limited,—a Water-Power and Public Utility Company,—controls water powers capable of 100,000 H. P. development, and supplies light and power to over 45 municipalities in the Eastern Townships and vicinity

These are two of our reasons for recommending the 6% Bonds of the Southern Canada Power Company, Limited, which we are offering with a bonus of common stock, thus giving investors an opportunity of participating in the future success of the Company.

GOMPERS ASSURES BELGIAN DELEGATE U.S. WILL "STICK"

No Pacifists in Little War-Torn Country.

ABHOR PRUSSIAN RULE

750,000 Workmen Idle in Belgium Because They Will Not Bow to Invaders.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 11.—Foreign delegates had their inning late today at the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor. Belgium's sacrifices, plans of rehabilitation and the earnest appreciation of America's help were presented by Lieutenant Henri De Man, of the Belgian army and Professor Albert van Heke of the University of Louvain, both delegates to the convention.

"Despite America's efforts to provide food, Belgium is on the verge of starvation," Lieutenant De Man said. "Three quarters of a million Belgian workmen are idle because they refuse to do war work for Germany. There is not a single pacifist in Belgium, because most of our people, having lived under German rule, know what loss of the war would mean."

In reply, President Gompers assured the foreign representatives that the American Government would not stop until German military forces were swept from Belgium.

Objection by Socialists to the report of the American Labor mission, which distinguished Socialists from labor unionists, enlivened the earlier session. When President Gompers called for a rising vote on adoption of the report, four members of the Garment Workers' Union remained in their chairs.

TRUE BILL AGAINST FORMER C. P. R. MAN FOR WHISKEY THEFT

KITCHENER, June 11.—The grand jury in connection with the general session held here today brought in a true bill against John W. Somers, a former C.P.R. employee, who was charged with stealing whiskey from the Dominion Express. It is alleged that Somers stole a case of whiskey from an express car of the company. He pleaded not guilty and was let out on $100 bail. His case will be heard at the December sessions.

Judge Reade presided, and in addressing the grand jury he pointed out that as farmers they should do all in their power to support the Government in its present effort to maintain Canada's fighting forces at the front. He declared that he had many farmers' sons coming to him for exemption with only the most trivial excuses. This he declared was a poor spirit for farmers to show when the Empire had its back to the wall and needs every available man to snatch victory from the jaws of a crushing autocracy.

GERMANY PLANS TO CLOSE WAR QUICKLY WITH NAVAL BATTLE

Washington, June 11.—Further evidence that Germany in its efforts to end the war this summer is planning to support its land offensive by sending its high seas forces against the combined British and American grand fleets, is given in an official dispatch today from Switzerland.

"A telegram of an official nature," says the dispatch, "is being spread broadcast in Germany, which says that the German admiralty is considering a big naval offensive. Orders are supposed to have been given to keep the whole fleet in readiness, and a certain number of naval officers of high rank have been recalled from Switzerland and other neutral countries, where they have been spending their leaves.

"The Keiler Zeitung speaks of extraordinary activity in the ports, and the Hamburger publishes an interview with von Tirpitz, in which the paper asked if Germany was in a position to measure herself with the British fleet. The admiral naturally replied in the affirmative, saying that after their land forces have pushed the French and English back to the other side of Paris it will be the turn of the kaiser's boats to drive the British off the high seas."

NAVAL COLLEGE MOVES TO ESQUIMAULT TILL NEW BUILDING READY

C., is the announcement made this morning through the offices of the captain superintendent of the Esquimalt dockyard. The naval college, which was removed to temporary quarters at Kingston following the disaster last fall is to be transferred here temporarily, pending the erection of new college buildings at Halifax. It was announced today that the naval students will be accommodated in one of the large buildings available in the Esquimalt dockyards, which can easily be converted for the purpose. It is understood that the naval students will be installed at Esquimalt by August.

Montreal, June 12.—Whether Peter Servaneur, alias Sharbanevitch, an Austrian, who is facing a murder trial in the court of king's bench in this city on a charge of being the slayer of Basquali Rosi, alias Gingo, will be convicted or not, hinges on his ability to prove an alibi. The accused claims that he was at Moose Jaw until April, 1917, and that he had been there since 1908, when he arrived in this country.

GARBAGE STRIKE IS SETTLED BY BOARD OF WORKS

Collectors Will Get the Three Dollars Per Day They Demanded.

CITY LABORERS BOOSTED

Ten Per Cent Increase Is Recommended by the Committee.

The board of works not only settled the garbage strike last night by giving the collectors $3 a day, but went the whole hog and gave all city laborers a 10 per cent increase in wages. It was a stormy meeting.

The members of the committee were in their place at five minutes to 8. Ald. Drake jumped in quick with the remark, "Let's get at this garbage question."

Someone remarked, "Wait five minutes, so that it will be legal."

"In the meantime I would like to know who was responsible for the advertisement in the papers this morning calling for tenders for the garbage collection?" asked Ald. Keene.

It was the signal for starting of a little breeze which almost reached the storm stage before it subsided.

Controller Moore said that the committee was.

Says It's Illegal.

Ald. Keene asked on what authority. He declared that the Saturday meeting was not an official one. There were no minutes. What right had the committee to put through things like that.

The chairman explained that it was decided by a majority of the committee.

Ald. Keene contended that the meeting was not a proper one; proper notice was not given. It was not called to decide anything. It was a meeting to talk the situation over and not to do business.

"This is funny kind of work. It is the kind which has been done ever since I have been on the council—the last two years. We never hear of work until it is done. I am tired of it, and there has got to be a show-down. It is not the kind of business that I have been used to," said Ald. Keene.

Controller Moore tried several times to get a word in. He said that all the business of the committee had been done fairly. He said that the meeting was a regular one.

Ald. Keene—It was very irregular.

Ald. Drake asked if the committee had power to call for tenders, or was that not the duty of the board of control.

Majority Present.

The chairman stated that a majority of the members of the board of control were present at the meeting.

Ald. Keene asked if Controller Merryfield was asked to the meeting. The reply was: "No, just the controllers who were members of the board of works."

Ald. Keene said that he would protest against the meeting. It was irregular. There were no minutes.

Ald. Drake said that the committee could not call for tenders. It had made a fool of the garbage situation. It is a disgrace to the city, he said. He asked if the press was present at the meeting, and was informed that its representatives were not. They had not been invited.

Controller Moore—We will admit that it was all informal. What are you going to do about it?

Ald. Drake—I'll make a motion that we pay the garbage collectors $3 a day and settle the matter, and the tenders be withdrawn from the morning papers.

Ald. Keene said he would second the motion if Ald. Drake would include all civic laborers in the increase.

Had the Floor.

These two aldermen had the whole floor. They rushed matters along. Finally between themselves they came to an agreement to second each other's motion, Ald. Drake's to boost the garbage men, and Ald. Keene's to boost the others.

It was here that Ald. C. Moorhead got in a word. He said that he thought the whole garbage system of the city should be investigated. He could not see the reason for the increased cost at the incinerator. He did not want to take anything from the workingman. He wanted a report on the cost of the system.

The engineer said he had one prepared. He also added that he thought that they would be able to pay the increase in wages without exceeding the estimates.

Ald. Keene said that it would then be up to the man at the head of the department to make a success of it. If he didn't they would get someone who would.

Motion Defeated.

The discussion continued and finally ended with Ald. Drake's motion to increase the garbage men being defeated. He and Ald. Keene alone voted for it. Ald. Keene's motion carried with Ald. Harding, Moorhead, Drake and Keene voting for it. This motion, however, includes all workers and so the garbage men come under it.

Ald. Drake then asked how soon they could start the system going. He wanted the collectors to start out in the morning.

It was pointed out that the matter would have to go before the council. Ald. Keene said that he would guarantee the difference in the wages until the council ratified the matter.

City Clerk Baker said he could not get a meeting of the council together before Thursday. The mayor will be asked to call one.

Chairman Moore said they would let them go ahead. The feeling is that a contractor can do the work cheaper than the city.

Ald. Winnett said that many had expressed that opinion to him.

Ald. Keene said the tenders did not call for a contractor, they were for a superintendent. "If it's a question of a real superintendent, let's get one."

Doesn't Think So.

Ald. Drake asked Chairman Moore if in his judgment he thought that a contractor could do the garbage collection cheaper than the city. The reply was: "No, I don't."

Ald. Drake paid tribute to the work the engineer has done in improving the efficiency of the department since he has taken hold of it. "It was in rotten shape when he got it," he said. He said that the tenders called make the city look like 15 cents. Ald. Keene said the contractor would have nothing at stake.

The engineer's report on the cost of garbage collection was a large document. The committee decided to lay it over until it gets a chance to digest the report.

The committee decided to recommend cement walks on Argyle, Ashland, Edna, Emery, Florence, Hyla, Ingleside, Kennon Place, Walker and York streets.

The Barber Asphalt Company will pay the city $2,000 for repairs to the Dundas street pavement where it was broken along the car tracks. The city will also make repairs for the Standard Paving Company.

A motion was put through to retain Superintendent Hunter at $1,200 a year.

100 DRAFTED MEN REPORTING DAILY FOR SERVICE HERE

This Schedule Will Be Maintained All Month.

MUST OBEY REGULATION

Returned Men Can No Longer Wear Patriotic Fund Badges.

Draftees are reporting at Carling Heights this week at the rate of about 100 per day. This schedule will continue until the end of the month by arrangement between the military authorities and the deputy registrar. The men are outfitted by the W. O. R. immediately after reporting and the process of handling them is being carried out without a hitch at the camp.

The draftees are shaping up well in the training, and have made a good impression on their superior officers. The majority of these men are ready to proceed overseas, and are eagerly awaiting the official orders for a draft to leave this district.

Wear Regulation Badge.

A case was reported to the officer in charge of war service badges at headquarters Tuesday of a returned man being accosted downtown Monday night by a member of military police, and ordered to remove a class B patriotic badge which he was wearing. Major Fairbank, officer in charge of this department today stated to The Advertiser that according to the recent order-in-council, the police officer was doing his duty, but this is the first case to be reported. The new badges issued by the patriotic fund committee, and it is an offence to wear them.

Being now a civilian the returned man did not care to be accosted by the military police, but at any rate he applied to Major Fairbank today for a new regulation B badge. All returned men in this city are advised by headquarters to apply for regulation war service badges, as those issued by the patriotic fund committee are out of date, and it is an offence to wear them. The latter badges must first be turned in to the war service badge officer before the regulation badges are issued.

WERE CAPS FAULTY?

EFFECT SETTLEMENT IN CIVIC-COMMISSION FINANCIAL TANGLE

Checks to Utilities Sent Back to City Credit.

A settlement of the finances between the city council and the utilities commission has at last been effected by City Treasurer J. S. Bell. Tuesday a large check for $157,000, which had been sent to the utilities for the balance due on debentures, was received back by the treasurer and deposited to the city's account. The wiping out of the cross entries leaves the city owing the utilities $17,000, and the utilities owing the city $18,000. The city will pay off its balance as soon as possible, and the commission has promised to wipe its slate clean by the end of November.

Mayor C. R. Somerville has worked consistently for a settlement of these two accounts. He will now tackle the London Railway Commission for a similar settlement.

SPECIAL RACES FOR RETURNED MEN AT POPLAR HILL PICNIC

Soldiers Will Be Taken There by Motors Today.

The men from the Central Military Hospital and the men from the Wolseley Barracks Hospital were taken for an auto trip to Poplar Hill picnic this afternoon. The trip is being held by the summer outing committee of the local branch of the Soldiers' Aid Commission. J. C. Beemer and R. I. Watson are in charge of the trip. The men left the hospitals at 2:30, and expected to arrive at Poplar Hill at 3:30. Ald. Frank E. Harley and Ed. Lance went ahead of the party and will meet it half a mile from Poplar Hill, where the automobiles will assemble and parade to the picnic grounds.

Races and games will be held for the returned soldiers. The entertainment is being provided by the Union school picnic committee.

DOROTHY MUST WAIT TILL KENNETH IS FREE

CHATHAM, June 11.—A lad who gives his name as Kenneth Aiken and his home as New York City is under arrest here for stealing a bicycle. He tried to sell the wheel to E. C. Briscoe for $12, and Mr. Briscoe became suspicious and got in touch with the police. The owner of the bike was found. Aiken has been with the sugar beet workers, and says that he lived for a time at the Central Y.M.C.A. in Toronto. Among other things found in his pockets was a sweetly-scented note from "Dorothy," making a date to go to a ball game, but the tryst will not be kept, as the police are holding the boy while they look up his record.

ESTIMATES FOR BUDGET FIXED AT $1,300,000

Assembly Decides Not to Close Any Theological Colleges.

TO MEET IN HAMILTON

Adequate Provision To Be Made for All Retired Ministers.

WHAT THE ASSEMBLY DID.

Decided to meet next year at St. Paul's Church in Hamilton.

Approved of a scheme of organization of the Protestant Churches of Canada to deal with the returned soldier problem.

Recommended that report be presented with a view of making adequate provision for retired ministers.

Decided not to dispense with any of the theological colleges, but to continue them with temporarily reduced staffs.

A reature of the evening sederunt was the tribute paid to the Canadian troops in France by returned chaplains who have served in the war zone. In seconding the military service report (Rev.) Capt. Duncan told of his work with the men at the front, he being chaplain to the 1st Canadian Division, in which two sons had served, a third son being a member of the 75th Battalion.

"We must remember," said the padre, "that the men are living in the midst of physical discomfort, with a tremendous mental reaction. They are filled with heart-hunger and home sickness —remember them in your prayers. If you are weary of the war, what are the feelings of those boys who have served for three years or more at the front?"

Appreciate the Work.

"Let me say a word to the women," continued Major Duncan. "I carried bundles of socks to the boys on the morning of Vimy Ridge, which I disposed of in a few minutes. That morning they walked to Vimy Ridge to fight, and I know that these young lads remembered the tender women of Canada. Their hearts were back with their mothers and sweethearts, and they felt that they must fight for them. I could see tears streaming down their faces in the afternoon before, as I held communion by request in the Y. M. C. A.

"I shall never forget," concluded the speaker, "the great, tender-hearted Col. McCrae, and many more of his type. I was never so proud of the fact that I was a Canadian at any time in my life before, but God forbid that I should ever again see so many of our young men in the pain of death."

The next speaker was Dr. I. H. McDonald of Kintore, who, being too old to go overseas as a chaplain, spent many months in Flanders with the Y. M. C. A., serving without any recompense whatever, except the joy of his work. His witty remarks evoked much laughter on the part of the assembly, and even the venerable senior clerk was forced to smile several times during Dr. McDonald's address. He stated that with brothers and nephews he had 21 representatives who had served, some of whom had been killed.

Hits the Farmers.

Speaking of his birthplace in Scotland, Dr. McDonald said: "I always tell the farmers among whom I work, that there is not an able-bodied man in the town of my birth, all being at the front, and they were not conscripted, either.

"When I signed with the Y.M.C.A.," continued the speaker, "it was with the understanding that I go just as far as the Y. M. C. A. work would permit me, and I often thought out there in France that they sent me a bit too far." This remark caused a ripple of merriment to pass through the assembly.

"At one time," said Dr. McDonald, "I was quartered with two priests, acting as chaplains, and at all my services one of them would play the piano and the other sang, making a very beautiful combination, and I feel sure that when I left them I was just as good a Presbyterian as before and they had lost none of their Catholicism."

Concluding the speaker said: "I roughed it with the boys in the mud, but now I have not much use for hygiene, as I felt much better both morally and physically after my experiences at the front."

Found Little Drinking.

Capt. T. Dodds, another returned chaplain, then spoke, stating that he had found very little drinking among the soldiers overseas. "Do not be alarmed, mothers," he said, "your boys do not forget you, and there is something in the life of these soldiers which the war can never touch."

Dr. John Neil in moving this report related his experiences in France as a representative of the Presbyterian Church of Canada, stating that he had received a warm welcome wherever he went, and mentioning the fact that he had at one time in his tour been a guest of the Archbishop of Canterbury. "But the greatest privilege," said the ex-moderator, "was that of being able to come into contact with our men; to look into their faces made me proud of Canada—my country and theirs. We should do all in our power to aid the chaplains overseas, and I would urge that the church send messages of cheer to our men similar to those of last year." The report on military service was then adopted by the assembly.

The report on the Pointe-Aux-Trembles schools in Quebec was presented, and supplemented by remarks from Rev. E. H. Brandt, principal of that institution. "When we speak of Quebec," said this earnest Huguenot, "we speak of a nation with a different faith than our own, we have to do something for Quebec or Quebec will do something to us."

A Great Problem.

"It is a great problem for us, and it is a religious one. It is no problem with me, I was born close by where the poilus today is standing like a stone wall, in the mud, with his cousins and brothers of Britain. We have no large boys in our school since the outbreak of war. Many in Quebec did not answer the call so readily. Why?" asked the speaker. "Our boys in their homes were never told to fight for the British but for La Patrie, which for them was the manse, the parish church and the parish, and the call to arms was not accompanied by the bell of Rome, therefore, it remained unswered. Give these people the gospel and regenerate their souls, and you will have the most chivalrous men in the world, just like the 700,000 Huguenots now fighting in France."

The Solution.

"The problem can be solved," concluded the speaker, "by giving the French Canadians the gospel, and their own language, after which there will be no trouble. I do not ask you to fight, because in all my years of work in Quebec I quarrelled with no one. The gospel and its message is well received by these people, and I would like the general assembly to aid the Pointe-Aux-Trembles schools, to expand and take in the younger pupils before I reach the age of 65. Give to our fellow men in Quebec that which they desire—the gospel of Jesus Christ." At the conclusion of these remarks the report was adopted by the assembly as published.

Rev. A. W. Shepherd of Leamington then moved "that the assembly express its hearty appreciation of the good work carried on by the chaplains overseas, and that the moderator be instructed to write them words of cheer, and that the chaplains' service fund be heartily commended to all ministers and congregations."

Submits Overture.

Rev. D. J. L. McKerroll then submitted an overture from the Toronto Presbytery with regard to the Presbyterian bodies co-operating with local committees of the various military centres engaged in religious work among troops, urging that special attention be paid to returned soldiers. By means of two charts he explained the methods to be adopted, stating that these plans were backed by the various other denominations, and he suggested that the present military service board be enlarged to take in this work. The idea is to have this board co-operate in their efforts with local organizations in the military districts, they being responsible to a union executive, which would have power to appoint chaplains for service on both sides of the Atlantic. These bodies would consider various problems involved in the work. The assmbly agreed to this, and a committee to act in conjunction with the other religious denominations will later be picked from the commissioners to the assembly. This disposed of the docket for Tuesday, and the sederunt adjourned.

Afternoon Session.

Reports, new business introduced and discussion crowded to the limit the hours allotted for the afternoon sederunt of the General Assembly yesterday.

Among decisions of outstanding importance made were those in regard to the next meeting place of the assembly and the increase of annuities to aged and infirm ministers, and to the widows of ministers, with "adequate" provision for the children and orphans of ministers. Along the lines of the proposed "Forward Movement" of the church. Place was found on the docket for the deferred discussion on the report of the foreign mission board, consideration of recommendations of the finance board, and last, but by no means least, the report of the board of education which has been engaged since early last week upon the problem of evolving a wartime economy and efficiency policy for the theological colleges.

As predicted in the afternoon edition of The Advertiser yesterday, Hamilton and St. Paul's Presbyterian Church there, will be the next meeting place of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church. In consideration of the saving that may be effected in traveling expenses, the invitation presented by Rev. A. H. MacGillivray, of Hamilton, was accepted by a large majority vote, though Rev. Dr. Peter Strang presented strong arguments why the assembly next year should go to the Province of Saskatchewan and to Knox Church, Regina.

Retiring Allowance.

Probably no overture presented to the assembly this year has met with more enthusiastic support from the laymen commissioners than the following, presented by Rev. Dr. Anderson Rogers of Antigonish, seconded by Rev. Dr. MacTavish of Toronto:

"Moved (1), that immediate steps be taken to increase to $1,000 the annual retiring allowance for ministers who have reached the age of 70 years, or who have given to the church 40 years of service; (2) that the annuity to ministers' widows be increased to $500, and that adequate provision be made for the children and orphans of ministers." It was further recommended that this matter be referred to a committee composed of the present aged and infirm ministers' fund committee and ministers' widows and orphans fund committee, with twelve names added, the committee to report to next year's assembly on ways and means of increasing the revenue to meet the new demands entailed. An amendment to make the age of eligibility 65 and the term of service to the church 35 years was lost.

Add Twelve Names.

The following are the twelve whose names will be added to the joint committees to form the large committee: J. W. Woodside, Toronto; A. H. MacGillivray, Hamilton; James Little, Toronto; James R. McNeillie, Lindsay; Norman Slater, Hamilton; George Valentine, Toronto; Mayor C. R. Somerville, London; Hon. Justice Sutherland, Toronto; S. F. Bastedo, Ottawa; R. J. Wilson, Kingston; J. W. Richardson, Montreal; W. W. Tudhope, M.P., Orillia; K. J. Johnston, Windsor.

"When this is accomplished," said J. K. MacDonald, convener for years of the aged and infirm ministers' fund committee, who is known as "the minister's friend, I will feel that I can sing my Nunc Dimittis, or, at least, 'Praise God, from whom all blessing flow.'"

Presenting the overture, Dr. Rogers said, "Our committee sometimes feels like a squad put in a trench with orders to hold it, then, pinched on the left, squeezed to the right, bombarded from in front by our own forces. Insinuations that we are un-Christian are heaped upon us if we dare to live up to the regulations of the church. Pitiful cases frequently come to our attention, and even if they are the exceptions, the tragedy is none the less real."

Startling Advance.

Seconding the resolution, Rev. Dr. MacTavish said that the advance suggested is a startling one, intended to be such to arrest attention and make Presbyterianism feel the worthwhileness of the work. He supported the motion on the grounds of justice to the men, with a view to increasing their efficiency through robbing them of anxiety for their old age, and in order to provide them with a sufficiency for their old age. Similar reasons applied to the advance for widows and children.

"It ought to be part of the statesmanship of our church, a plank in the platform of our church, to take proper care of our retired ministers," declared G. M. MacDonald, of Kingston, who added, "Ninety-two or ninety-three per cent of the sons of the manse have responded to the call of the colors. We are dependent on the quality as well as the quantity of our men to build up a worthy nation. We want to support a stock in which we find 92 or 93 per cent overseas when wanted there."

Solves Problem.

Others speaking to the motion who advanced views that the increase of the annuities will aid in a large measure in solving the problem of recruits for the ministry were Rev. John W. Woodside, Toronto; Thomas McMillen, Toronto; John Loudon and Thomas Yellowlees, Toronto, as well as a number of others.

If the report of the board of education is accepted by the assembly and indorsed by the chief court of the church in Canada, amalgamation of colleges as a war measure will not be effected. After most painstaking consideration and weighing all details that might affect the decision, the following recommendations were submitted to the assembly by President Walter C. Murray, LL.D., of Saskatchewan University:

Your committee recommends:

1. That the action of the boards of the colleges in devoting directly or indirectly their buildings as far as possible to national purposes during the period of the war, be warmly commended.

2. That the assembly accept the generous offer of the colleges for the session of 1918-19, and instruct the board to release from teaching duties from seven to ten professors, in addition to the four now serving overseas, in order that they may take part in such work of the church as the forward movement, special appeals for recruits for the ministry, the preparation of missionary and other pamphlets, pulpit supply for ministers in the chaplain service, and other activities for which their qualifications specially fit them.

Temporary Reduction.

Your committee after discussion with representatives of the colleges, is of the opinion that this temporary reduction of the staff of the colleges to about one-half of their normal number can be made without serious impairment of efficiency, provided such adjustments of courses and interchange of professors are made as the reduced numbers of students render possible.

3. In view of the vital importance of the colleges to the church life of the communities which they serve, and to the universities with which they are affiliated, your committee recommends that each of the colleges continue its work, so that there may be no weakening of any powerful influence in the religious or educational life of the country, no loosening of the ties binding the high school and university students to the ministry, and no failure on the part of the Presbyterian colleges to fulfill their obligations to the co-operating theological colleges, and to the universities.

4. That the assembly appoint a committee, consisting of Sir Robert Falconer (convener), Dr. D. M. Ramsay, Dr. D. M. Drummond, Dr. W. J. Clark, Rev. R. S. Laidlaw, Rev. George Duncan, President Murray and Professor Matheson, to co-operate with the colleges in carrying out these instructions.

Dr. Murray pointed out that in a large measure, the colleges have already adapted themselves to the needs of the country in view of the war. Practically all the college buildings are being used for national purposes.

Consider Two Plans.

Two plans presented themselves for consideration to the board in face of war-time emergency:

(1) To get the students into one centre, concentrate the students in one college.

(2) To release half the number of professors for special duties, in addition to those already engaged in war service, and keep the colleges open. It has been found by the board that the second method will actually involve less expense. Moreover, to illustrate the difficulty of mobilization of students in one centre Dr. Murray mentioned the fact that a number of the students in Saskatoon Theological College are married men, engaged in helping in home mission and other activities. In the course of his address, he raised the question, "Have we too many theological colleges, with eight in Canada?"

He again answered by reference to the youngest, in Saskatchewan, which in its short existence has been instrumental in securing a large number of recruits for the ministry and for overseas. The importance of the influence exerted by a theological college in the province, he declared, could not be overestimated, and urged Presbyterians to be faithful in this work in the days of beginning of things and rapid growth in the new west country. The influence of the theological college on the life of the university was also an important factor with which to be reckoned, he declared.

Rev. Dr. Ramsay, chairman of the board, recapitulated the steps already taken in the way of giving up college buildings for military purposes, and conservation of money and time and talent of professors.

Budget of $1,300,000.

Rev. Robert Laird, secretary of the board of finance, drew attention to the recommendation of the board that the estimates for the budget of the whole church for 1919 be fixed at $1,300,000. A further recommendation was to the effect that the rate of exchange in foreign countries now seriously interfering with the work of the board of foreign missions, the General Assembly, as a war measure, authorize that the cost of exchange be recognized as a fixed charge on the budget of the whole church. Agreed.

Introducing the discussion on the report of the foreign mission board, Rev. Dr. Gandier repeated the warning note sounded on foreign mission night, "We must increase our revenue or reduce our work." The paring process has been going on, he stated. All building operations have been stopped, excepting those which had reached a state where completion is essential in the interests of economy.

Need More Money.

Rev. Dr. Nelson of Hamilton again stirred up a breeze in the assembly by making a motion that in view of the fact that more money is imperatively needed to carry on work in foreign fields, and that about 50 per cent of the church members in Canada are not subscribers to the budget, the Women's Missionary Societies be instructed to visit at communion season the non-subscribers to the budget and endeavor to interest them in this. Such work was done in the old country, where Dr. Nelson came from.

Rev. Dr. Bryce seconded the motion on condition that it be modified to say that the board of the W.M.S. be approached in regard to the matter. Rev. George Duncan took the view that the work of the women known as the "scattered," or "home helpers," should not be interfered with. Rev. James Taylor of Rayside declared he couldn't go back and look into the eyes of the women of his congregation, who are already doing pro rata far more than the men, and ask them to do more.

The motion was lost, but a motion made by Rev. Dr. E. Scott to the effect that the matter of delinquent subscribers be referred to the finance board carried.

The story deals with the adventures of an American youth, Jack Christie, on the throne of the European monarchy of Wallarya. It tells of the surprising circumstances under which Christie became the king of the country and of the exciting things which happened after he took his seat on the throne. Also it tells of his love for the Princess Diana of Terresta, a neighboring country, and of the manner in which he won her heart and hand.

This extraordinary production will be presented at the Majestic Theatre today and Thursday. With Miss Talmadge as co-star in this photoplay is Eugene O'Brien, a noted actor.

Miss Norma Talmadge, as Poppy Destin, appears first as a poor, maltreated waif. She runs away from home, and is befriended by Abinger, who later marries her, the ceremony being performed in French, and Poppy told that it is merely a formal adoption. Abinger keeps his secret until Poppy, reaching womanhood, demands that she is permitted to make outside acquaintances, as she is kept a prisoner in Abinger's home. She falls in love with another man, and then learns that she is the wife of Abinger. How she carries out her determination to make her own way in the world, and finally returns to face both men who have come into her life, and win her happiness, forms a fascinating and dramatic story. The scenes are laid in South Africa, and are unique and beautiful in the extreme.
