THOMAS STONE & SON.

DID HONOR TO WORTHY CITIZEN

Magnificent Banquet Tendered to Mr. Fred. F. Quinn Ere His Departure.

Many Well Deserved Eulogies
Passed upon His Worth and Usefulness.

People, generally, never realize the true worth of a good man until he is lost to them. It is when they begin to look over his past history and see the work he has done that they begin to realize what a loss they are sustaining. This is, in a large extent, true in the case of F. F. Quinn, who leaves shortly for the Northwest. He is one of the best standing citizens in the city to-day, and during the 20 years he has resided here, his encouragement and support has been with everything which tended towards the city's welfare. Now when he is leaving, these matters are thought of and, as a result, his departure is sincerely regretted by everyone who knew him.

Last evening the Merrill House was the scene of a very pleasant gathering, when a large number of our leading citizens banqueted Mr. Quinn on the eve of his departure from Chatham. It was certainly a very pleasant crowd, and the many good things said of the generous hearted Fred, must have in some measure made his going-away much easier for him to bear.

F. F. Quinn came here in the spring of 1883 as bookkeeper for the firm of Stephens & Stringer, now the well known establishment of George Stephens & Co., general hardware, implements, etc. He filled that position for a number of years and later became a member of the firm, in which capacity he remained for six years, and was their manager, buyer, etc., until a little over a year ago, when he withdrew and formed a partnership with A. H. Patterson, the firm being known as Quinn & Patterson, general hardware dealers. About two months ago he sold out his interests to his partner, Mr. Patterson, and decided to go West, where he hoped to build up for himself and family a business and a home that will at least be equal to the one he leaves in Chatham. Mr. Quinn has served our city in the capacity of one of the first water commissioners elect-

W. A. Hadley was the chairman of the evening, and upon his right sat Mr. Quinn, the guest of the evening. Many were the toasts given to the honored guest and many were the regrets expressed at his departure. Among the speakers were Dr. W. R. Hall, G. P. Scholfield, Robert Pritchard, W. R. Landon, Geo. Massey, J. M. Pike, W. H. Harper, Chas. Hadley, F. Carman, Ward Stanworth, G. W. Sulman, Dr. W. R. Hall and W. G. Richards. Songs and recitations were given by W. W. Scane, George Fielder, G. W. Sulman and J. M. Northwood.

Mr. Quinn was very much moved by the kindness shown him and he made a very feeling reply to the many kind words of his friends and expressed the hope that some day he will again become a resident of the Maple City. He was presented with a handsome souvenir book and in it were the photographs of those who attended the banquet. Miss Host Merrill came in for her share of praise. He is indeed to be congratulated for providing such an excellent menu.

RAILWAY CONSOLIDATION.

THE OPPOSITION OBJECT TO MR. BLAIR'S BILL.

Estimates of the Public Works Department—Further Information
Respecting Changes in the Department.

Ottawa, May 8.—A couple of hours spent in committee on Hon. Mr. Blair's bill, amending and consolidating the railway act and making provision for the appointment of a railway commission, demonstrated the fact that the measure will probably meet with considerable opposition before it gets through the House. Objection was raised by members of the Opposition to further consideration being given the bill until the suggestions and opinions of the railway companies had been received by the Minister. In the evening the Public Works Department estimates for dredging were passed, after several hours' spent in an effort to obtain from the Government further information respecting proposed changes in the Public Works Department than the Minister was in a position to give the House.

The following bills were introduced:—To incorporate the Montreal and Longueuil Bridge Co.—Mr. Geoffrion. To incorporate the Brandon, Saskatchewan & Hudson Bay Railway Co.—Mr. Davis. To incorporate the St. Chrysostom Railway Co.—Mr. Brown. To incorporate the Canadian Yukon Western Railway Co., also to incorporate the Stewart River Development Co.—Mr. T. O. Davis. Respecting the Hamilton & Lake Erie Power Co., and to change its name to the Jordan Light, Heat & Power Co.—Mr. Germain. Respecting the United Empire Life Insurance Co.—Lieut. Col. Thompson. To incorporate the Pacific Bank of Canada—Mr. Gallier. To incorporate the Algonquin Lumber & Power Co.—Mr. Gould. To incorporate the Gaspe & Western Railway Co.—Mr. Gauvreau. Respecting the Montreal Bridge Co., and to change its name to the Montreal Bridge & Terminal Co.—Mr. Bickerdike. To incorporate the Chicoutimi & Northwestern Railway Co.—Mr. Beland.

The House spent the evening session in Committee of Supply the Public Works Department estimates for dredging being considered. After discussing the first item, of $30,000 for repairing dredge vessels, for two hours Mr. Casgrain moved that the committee rise in order to obtain from the Government some statement respecting the reported intention to reorganize the Public Works Department by placing the work of dredging and improving the harbors under the direction of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries. Hon. Jas. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, had during the debate, asserted that he had no knowledge of any intention to divide his department, but Mr. Casgrain insisted that the change might be made immediately after the session; therefore, he appealed to the committee not to vote any money for dredging until they knew whether the promises by Hon. Mr. Prefontaine to the electors of Maisonneuve were to be implemented. In that event the Minister of Marine and Fisheries should be there to inform the House whether he proposed to continue the policy of the Minister of Public Works in regard to dredging, before the votes were granted.

Hon. James Sutherland had not the slightest hesitation in stating that he had every reason to believe that as long as he occupied the position of Minister of Public Works he would be accountable for the expenditure of the money asked for in the items under consideration.

Mr. Borden was satisfied with the explanation of the Minister of Public Works, which he thought should be accepted by the Opposition.

Mr. Casgrain's motion was declared lost at 11.40, and several items were then voted in quick succession.

Having voted the whole of the items for dredging, amounting to $64,000, the committee rose and the House adjourned at 12.25.

Were it not for love many a girl would be unable to make herself miserable.

WATER COMS.

Regular Meeting Held Last Evening—Satisfactory Financial Statement Submitted.

Regular routine business took up the time of the Water Commissioners last evening. Mayor McKeough and Chairman Dr. J. L. Bray were present, Mr. Sheldon being ill.

A petition was presented from the residents on Colborne street just across the railroad. The Commissioners said if they (the petitioners) would supply the pipe the board would put it in.

The Lawn Tennis Club wrote, asking for free water. The request was granted for this year.

Mr. Miller, representing The Canadian Casualty and Boiler Insurance Co., was present. He explained the system of his company's insurance. The company insures the boiler against explosion, insures the plant where the boiler is, and insures neighboring property, because if the boiler explodes, any damage that is done to outside property the company makes good. The lives of the fireman and engineer, too, by the policy are insured to the extent of 20 per cent. of the policy in case of death, and in case of accident his regular wages and doctor's care provided. By insuring in the company the boilers will be inspected five times in the year by the company's inspector and the services of the chief inspector of the company free of cost at any time.

The cost is two per cent. for three years.

Both the mayor and chairman seemed most favorably impressed, but they thought there was no use insuring the waterworks boiler when the electric light boiler was so close and uninsured.

The matter was left in the hands of the chairman to see Ald. Taylor to have it brought up at the Council.

It was decided to leave the aperting of the residence at the pump-house in the hands of Mr. Jones.

The services of A. J. Pike, as collector, were dispensed with.

The following accounts were passed:—

Thomson Meter Co., $76.20.

Crown Oil Ref. Co., $43.50.

Jas. Morrison Mfg. Co., $145.70.

FRIDAY, MAY 8.

MR. WRIGHT'S CRIME.

The Hamilton Herald, Independent Liberal, says:

A stranger, reading the editorial remarks in Ontario Liberal newspapers these days, would receive the impression that one of the meanest villains at large in this province at present is a man named A. W. Wright. He would learn from the Toronto Globe that this man Wright is a scandal-monger, and he would gather from the Hamilton Times that Wright is "a Tory muck-rake man," one who cultivates the friendship of "a thief-chum," and who has excited "general public disgust." Naturally he would enquire what horrible offence this man had committed that he should be so execrated. And this is what he would learn:

That Mr. Wright is the chief organizer of the Conservative party in this province; that he learned from a former member of the legislature that a man in Buffalo was willing to give important information respecting corruption practiced in recent Ontario elections; that he saw a letter from this Buffalo man to the same effect; that he went to Buffalo, saw this man, and also another, both of whom told him about the aforesaid corrupt practices in which they claimed to have been implicated; that he questioned them separately and found their stories to agree in detail; that they professed their willingness to repeat their statements on oath; that he secured from them affidavits, duly signed and witnessed, containing the information which they had originally given to him.

We do not believe that our stranger would feel like condemning Mr. Wright as a scandal-monger, an associate of thieves, a muck-rake man and a general reprobate. We believe he would be inclined to think well of Mr. Wright for acting with promptitude and energy in the discharge of a duty which he owed to his party—nay, to the public.

In the name of decency and common sense, is it not the duty of every good citizen, in order that the cause of electoral purity may be aided, to assist in obtaining evidence of corruption and disclose it at the proper time and place? Unless evidence of corrupt acts is obtained—and obtained, too, from the agents of corruption themselves, who know most about it—how can electoral crookedness be exposed and punished?

It may be that these Buffalo men have deceived Mr. Wright and sworn to what is false. For our part, we heartily hope they have, for their statements implicate Canadians whom we would hate to regard as guilty of corrupt acts. But whether they have perjured themselves or have told the truth is yet to be learned. Even if they are perjurers, however, that fact will not discredit Mr. Wright in the least. He has done his duty. Officers of the law quite as shrewd and zealous as he have often been deceived in the character of the evidence which they gather in support of a good cause.

At the St. George's society banquet in this city Lord Dunsford modestly mentioned some things which, in his opinion, ought to be done to improve the Canadian militia system. For daring to speak thus his lordship has been severely censured by Henri Bourassa in Parliament. Our readers may remember that Henri is the bright young French-Canadian who helped W. T. Stead and Michael Davitt to stop the Boer war. He thinks the commander of the Canadian militia should not talk about military matters in public lest such talk might encourage the spirit of militarism.—Hamilton Spectator.

LARGE SEIZURE OF NETS.

Twenty-six Found by Captain McAuley in Georgian Bay.

Toronto, May 7. — Captain McAuley of the Government Fisheries cruiser Gilpice has reported a big haul of trap nets on Georgian Bay. A few days ago Mr. S. T. Bastardo, Deputy Commissioner of Fisheries, received information of the presence of a number of trap nets in the neighborhood of the Bustard Islands and Bad River. He notified Capt. McAuley with instructions to pay a flying visit to the locality. The result was the seizure of 26 nets, which were found in two days. This is the largest seizure ever made in that space of time on Georgian Bay. The nets will all be burned. They are always covered with tar, and the conflagration made by this huge pile will make an expensive bonfire for the owners. Each net is valued at from $25 to $50. The seizure is an important one, as the pickers are now running, and their most favorite haunts at such periods is "the Bustards." The catch, therefore, means the preservation of millions of these excellent game fish, for which the summer anglers will be thankful.

Hope is all right when mixed with an equal amount of hustle.

A New Regime.

A careful perusal of all the health journals and text-books being published, with a study of lectures given throughout the country, and a course of hygienic treatment under various popular methods, has resulted in the following eclectic system to preserve your health. It is free for all. Anybody with the usual number of bones, surrounded by the average amount of tissue, and having a nervous system capable of standing the strain, may enjoy its benefits.

The beauty of our system is that it takes only about ten hours a day. By business men who are obliged to support whole families, and who may have tried other systems, this will be duly appreciated.

You must rise at four o'clock in the morning and take a sea-bath. For this purpose salt water should be used, and it should be taken from the sea. A pipe can be laid directly from the nearest ocean right into your bath-tub. It may cost a few thousands, but think of how much more you would have to spend if you consulted a specialist! A cold bath is necessary, and if the water be too warm the tub should be filled with cracked ice. A short plunge of from fifteen to twenty minutes will be all that is required at first. This can be increased as you grow stronger immediately upon emerging from the bath go over yourself with a large number ten nutmeg-grater. This will improve the circulation and gradually loosen any particles of superfluous tissue. Now, after drinking a gallon of hot water, you are ready for your breakfast, which should consist of two small capsules of nutty nut and one ounce of selected grainy grain and a wine-glassful of prepared cream, from which the casein, albumen and fats have been withdrawn. This should be followed by a sun-bath under green, blue and yellow glass, the actinic rays of the sun being carefully removed. At ten begin your deep-breathing exercise. To do this successfully you must stand in front of a chevel glass. Raise the chest gently but firmly to the ceiling and let it rest there for four or five minutes; then let it fall slowly but surely to the floor. Every window in the room should, of course, be open, and, if possible, the roof removed. This movement should be rhythmic and accompanied by a piano attachment, or else try a bass-drum, as music helps the muscles to dilate. If all else fails, try a brass band.

At noon you will begin to feel hungry, but do not let this disturb you. Hunger is an abnormal condition. You will gradually get over this. For dinner, take a baked apple, from which the pulp has been removed, and scrape off the inside of the skin. This will afford the mental excitement necessary to harmonize the nervous system with the pneumo-gastric nerve. With this take one grain of nutty nut.

After dinner rest another hour, and then begin the regular exercise of the day. The ordinary methods of exercise—walking, running, riding horse-back, etc.—are not in accordance with the latest scientific formulae because they have a tendency to make you forget yourself. This is fatal. Remember that each muscle is a sponge, and needs to be contracted and expended. Learn the names of all the muscles of your body and contract and expand them in alphabetical order, at the same time keeping the full force of your mind on each muscle. Do this until supper, which should consist of a two-grain capsule of nutty nut and a pinch of grainy grain.

The equipoise of the mind should not be neglected. Spend your evenings, therefore, in reading the health journals, the whole idea being to think about yourself as much as possible. By rightly adhering to this system, in a few weeks you won't know yourself.—Judge.

Character often is damaged owing to one's own want of dignity.

"Equal to Any a Tailor Can Build to Your Measure"

And other similar claims are common now, but the fulfillment? Well, that's another thing entirely. Any one can match our talk on quality and the excellence of our clothes, which, as you will learn, can only be compared to those the best tailors make. No other store can show the same or as good, though, and name the same moderate prices for them, comparison is the best proof of that.

New Method.—Clothes always give as much satisfaction as we promise or we return your money; now how can you be dissatisfied.

Those fine fancy mixed Cassimeres and imported Cheviots—the very same as the tailors are showing—are away ahead of anything you'd expect to find in ready-for-service Suits, and yet they're priced only $12.50 and $15. They're fashioned into the latest Sack styles.

QUIET WEDDING

The wedding took place Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock, of Miss Minnie Elmhah Bedford, daughter of John Bedford, Park avenue, to Frederick Bath, of Toronto.

Miss Jennie Bedford, sister of the bride, played the wedding march, the bride coming into the room on the arm of her brother, who gave her away.

About thirty guests were present, and the many gifts received showed the high esteem in which the young couple were held.

Mr. Bath is a young manufacturer of Toronto. The happy couple left on the 8.50 train for their future home in Toronto, mid the usual showers of rice and good wishes.

The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. G. H. Cobbedick.

BOYS SECURE SOUND ADVICE

Judge Houston Talks to the Juvenile Raiders at Police Court To-Day.

Refers to Recent Comments in
The Planet—The Power of Public Opinion and Its Responsibility.

The Lorne Ave. raiders were arraigned this morning. Five of the 14 pleaded guilty and were released on suspended sentence.

Judge Houston read the boys a very severe lecture and warned them as to the consequences resulting from taking the law into their own hands.

By consent of the Crown Attorney, the charge was reduced from burglary to riot. Crown Attorney H. D. Smith said that he had agreed to the reduction in view of the fact that the boys were willing to pay the damages and because of their youth. He also requested Judge Houston to be as lenient as possible, but at the same time to impress upon the lads that their action in breaking the law should not be condoned in any shape or form. They claimed that they had complained to the police. Mr. Smith said that he hadn't heard anything about the house. All the people had to do was to report any person who was breaking the laws, to the Crown Attorney. He agreed to prosecute.

Judge Houston gave the boys an earnest talking to. He trusted that the time would never come in Canada when the people would take the law in their own hands. The lads had run a great risk of somebody being killed in the raid. It would have been a natural thing for the people inside the house to have shot some of the raiders. No complaint had been made to the Magistrate, and the Chief of Police stated that he had received no complaints about the house. Mr. Justice Morrison, of Hamilton, had held that there was no excuse for breaking the law. People had a perfect right to live in their homes, be they white or black, good or bad. The law protected all.

Those who stood by and watched were, morally speaking, nearly as bad as the actors.

"I see by one of the newspapers in the city," continued the Judge, referring to the recent item in The Planet, "that the public say that you were right. Newspapers only claim to be the reflection of public opinion, not the guide. They are selling news to those who buy it. It is not the part of a newspaper to make people better, but to give them what they want."

Judge Houston considered that public opinion which upheld people taking the law in their own hands would only lead to such acts of lawlessness as the lads had done.

When the boys had been indulged in when they burned the colored people at the stake and resulted in the death of many innocent men.

The Judge had never refused an information when a bonafide person wished to lay it for the public good.

The informant so desired, all information was kept secret.

The boys had laid themselves open to imprisonment for life or for two years. In this case it appeared as if the instrument was receiving the punishment, while those who caused the damage were allowed to go free.

There was danger in talking against the law. It was easy to set a fire but hard to put it out.

An example of what public opinion would do had been given in the Scott Act. The home of a highly respected citizen was nearly blown to pieces.

That was one example of public opinion acting not in accordance with the law.

The Judge, Crown Attorney, and O. L. Lewis, counsel for the prisoners, all advised the five lads who had pleaded guilty to come back in six months and have their suspended sentences removed.

The boys also agreed to pay all the costs.

Ward Stanworth appeared for Andrew Thomson, owner of the furniture. He valued the damage to his chattels at $15. The Blonde Co. valued the damage to the house at $12.50, and the costs of the court amounted to $15, the total cost being $42.50. In addition to this, the boys had to pay for their lawyer, so that their fun cost them over $50.

An Instrument of Utility

The race horse and the racing bicycle each have their uses, and each in turn bears the same relation to the rest of its kind. We hear less of bicycle racing to-day than when the wheel first became popular. To-day the bicycle is more strictly an instrument of utility. Its usefulness in economizing time, in getting quickly from place to place or as a vehicle of pleasure are all so deeply impressed upon the public and have become so commonplace that we scarcely think of them as extraordinary. Yet there are more and more wheels used every year, and new riders are constantly learning the value of the bicycle as a means of easy and speedy locomotion.

Don't buy a thing because you want it; wait until you need it.

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC.

CONSIDERATION OF THE BILL IN COMMITTEE.

Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson and Mr. Hays Appear in Support of the Measure—Their Company Prepared to Improve Canadian Ports and Give Them the Preference.

Ottawa, May 8.—The Grand Trunk Pacific bill was taken up in the Railway Committee yesterday. There was a large attendance, and Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson and General Manager Hays were present to support the bill.

Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson was given the privilege of addressing the committee. He said:—"I have the honor to be here to-day because the bill which is before the committee has been promoted and introduced upon the responsibility, under the sponsorship, of the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada, of which I have the honor to be President. My friend, Mr. Hays, and myself will be entirely at the disposal of the committee to answer any interrogatories which may be addressed to us when the clauses of the bill come to be considered one by one by the committee, but in the meantime I should like to state in general terms to the committee what the objects of the Grand Trunk Company have been in introducing this bill. I think it is quite unnecessary for me to dwell upon the necessities of the Territories of the Northwest. The hon. gentleman who has just addressed you has very clearly and simply stated what those requirements are. A cry has gone up throughout the Territories of the Northwest as to the absolute and indispensable necessity for rapidly and vigorously introducing increased railway facilities upon a very large scale in the great Territories. That having been the case, it naturally became the duty of the Grand Trunk Railway, which occupies such a large space in the railway world of Canada, to consider what its course might be in the premises. It seems to me, and I think it must be clear to any person who knows the situation in Canada and the Grand Trunk Railway, that there is no possibility of any other corporation presenting itself with such natural advantages as appertain to the C.T.R. for carrying out an enterprise of this sort. Whether you consider its geographical position, its magnificent road, extending for thousands of miles through the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec, its magnificent equipment, its fine terminals, its valuable connections in all directions, you will see that we have all the elements of strength which you could not secure, I think, in any other direction or by any other combinations. The being the case, the directors and management of the G.T.R. naturally considered whether it was not a necessity in their own interest, but also, I am quite safe in saying, a duty which they owe to the Dominion of Canada, that they should enter upon this field of enterprise, and whether they should undertake the extension of their road to the northwest. They arrived at the decision that this should be done, and that it was a good work and should be carried through.

Mr. Fowler—Would you have any objection to having placed in your charter a clause that all the Canadian business—that is, all freight offering throughout the Canadian route—will be carried to the Atlantic terminals in the winter, that is, to St. John or Halifax, by the Intercolonial?

Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson—This, I hold, is a question appertaining very much to the management, and I shall ask my friend Mr. Hays to answer it. I would say, without prejudice, that my own view would be that we should distinctly give a preference as regards the exportation from Canadian ports of all produce coming from Canadian points. I will ask Mr. Hays whether he thinks I have gone too far.

In reply to a question by Mr. Gallihier, Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson said he could not be responsible for news-papers, but he thought he had stated distinctly that this measure was introduced upon the responsibility and under the sponsorship of the Grand Trunk Railway.

In reply to a further question, whether, if the charter is granted, the company would be ready to go ahead with this project without any bonus, Sir Charles replied that his answer would necessarily be of an uncertain character. The question of ways and means for carrying out this great enterprise was necessarily an important one, and he could not give a definite answer, for reasons which would commend themselves to the committee.

In reply to Mr. Tarte Mr. Hays said the company would be prepared to commence building the road from Quebec to North Bay as soon as the surveys were completed, and in reply to Lieut.-Colonel Hughes Mr. Hays said he thought he had made it clear that the work of construction would be commenced where the necessities were the greatest, and that it would not be commenced in any one particular spot, but in half a dozen or even a dozen places, and rushed to completion in the shortest possible time. This statement applied to the whole line.

Mr. Hays went on to say that the company had nine survey parties between Winnipeg and North Bay, and they were going to push that part of the work, because they knew the people in the west wanted an outlet for their grain, with all the energy and resources of the Grand Trunk.

We have been asked to push that part of the work, because they knew the people in the west wanted an outlet for their grain, with all the energy and resources of the Grand Trunk.

Mr. Hays said it was going to be an all-Canadian route. (Hear, hear.) "Gentlemen," observed Mr. Hays, "without a moment's hesitation I say it is going to be an all-Canadian route, and the Canadian ports are going to have the preference on everything which originates in that part of the line." Continuing, he said that the Intercolonial was not able to take one-third of the traffic which the Grand Trunk would have at Halifax and St. John, and he hoped the former would increase its rolling stock and plant. They had had from a thousand to fifteen hundred cars of grain standing in the Montreal yards for weeks at a time, without the means of diminishing it. Their facilities at Montreal must be doubled. It was not a question of ports, but of providing facilities for handling the traffic. They were willing to join the Government in any way necessary to do this. The speaker, the speaker, as Sir William Van Horne had said, One o'clock having been reached, the committee adjourned, until to-day without passing the preamble of the bill.

POWER BILL APPROVED.

Mr. Ross' Measure in the Ontario Legislature.

Toronto, May 8.—The discussion on Premier Ross' bill authorizing municipal power plants provoked varying views in the Legislature yesterday afternoon, but on the whole the bill fared well under criticism. Mr. Ross explained the bill in some detail, and gave notice that he would submit an alternative proposition on one point, allowing municipalities which only undertook to distribute power to appoint their own commissioners, instead of those being appointed by the Chief Justice of Ontario.

Mr. Whitney said the bill had been brought down before the House was prepared to discuss it, but he did not oppose its principle. Mr. Henry Carscallen feared the bill would involve the municipalities in disastrous enterprises. Mr. Andrew Pastullo favored the appointment of a commission by the Government to transmit power, with authority to develop it if they could not make satisfactory terms with the private companies. Mr. Hoyle, Mr. Morrison and Dr. Beaty, Nesbitt, Opposition members, commended the principle of the bill, which was then given its second reading.

In the evening Mr. Hugh Clark provoked a discussion on the saw-off in Centre Bruce of last summer, in the course of which Mr. Harcourt stated that the arrangement at the time had only been on condition that the local Liberals would accede.

KILLED BY ROCKSLIDE.

Nine Men Instantly Crushed to Death.

Roanoke, Va., May 8.—Nine men were killed and five others injured, three of them fatally, late Wednesday evening by a slide of rock in the east end of tunnel No. 2, at Eggleston Springs, on the Norfolk & Western Railroad. Railroad contractors were engaged in double-tracking the two tunnels at the point named, and when the tunnelling force had removed the earth and stone for the rock tracks at the point where the calamity occurred, a huge slide of solid stone gave way on the mountain side, and came down at an angle of about 45 degrees, striking the gang of laborers at work and killing nine men. Three others were injured so badly that it is feared they will die. The bodies of the nine men are still under the mountain slide. It has been impossible thus far to secure the names of the victims. It was a mixed gang of white and colored laborers.

MORE GAMEY INVESTIGATION.

Prosecution May Call Thirty Additional Witnesses.

Toronto, May 8.—It would appear that the prosecution in the Gamey investigation have decided to open some new line of inquiry. When the court adjourned on Wednesday it was understood that the investigation was practically concluded, and that there remained only Mr. D. A. Jones of Beeton to be heard, and the addresses of the counsel. There was also the possibility that Mr. Gamey would be recalled. The prosecution, however, will put in some further evidence, and yesterday Mr. W. D. McPherson applied for six original subpoenas and thirty copies. This would indicate that they have thirty witnesses yet to call, but the subpoenas were not filed in.

Mr. Gamey has gone home to Gore Bay, but is expected to return by Tuesday. Hon. J. R. Stratton has returned from Peterboro' with all books which it may be desired to examine.

CAUGHT IN A FROG.

A Brakeman Terribly Injured at London.

London, Ont., May 8.—Mr. Chas. Addison of 72 Maitland street, a young G. T. R. brakeman, met with a terrible accident. He was running to turn a switch for a loaded car, when his foot was caught in a frog. He was unable to release himself, and the car passed over his abdomen and legs, his limbs being almost severed from his body. The youth displayed marvellous nerve, talking to his friends as he lay on the ground, shaking hands with them and saying he did not expect to recover. He was rushed for at the hospital, but was too weak to stand an operation. Addison was about 22 years old. Previous to coming to London he lived in Forest.

It has been reported and denied several times recently that he must leave the Ministry because he was unable to repel the Socialist attacks on the Reichstag on the army administration. On Gen. Von Gossler's behalf, it is explained that two wounds he received during the Franco-Prussian war would him with his increasing years.
