DISASTER TO SCOTT EXPEDITION

Sad Fate of an Intrepid Englishman and His Companions---They Reached the South Pole Only to be Overcome by a Blizzard on the Return Journey---Some Details of the Catastrophe---The Tragedy Has Occasioned a World Wide Regret.

(Courier Leased Wire.) CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand, Feb. 10.—The anti-Arctic steamer Terra Nova, which is supposed to have on board Captain Robert F. Scott and the members of his expedition to the South Pole, did not stop at Oamaru as was reported yesterday, but merely signalled as she passed. The Terra Nova is proceeding to the port of Lyttleton, where she is expected to arrive on Thursday of this week.

Suspicious
(Courier Leased Wire.) LONDON, Feb. 10.—A grave calamity is reported to have overtaken the anti-Arctic expedition commanded by Captain Robert F. Scott. This is said to be the reason for the arrival of the South Polar vessel, Terra Nova, in New Zealand waters a month earlier than she was expected. The nature of the calamity has not yet been divulged.

Death Reported
(Courier Leased Wire.) LONDON, Feb. 10.—The death of Captain Robert F. Scott and the whole of his party who took part in the South Polar expedition is reported in a news agency despatch received here from New Zealand.

Overwhelmed by Blizzard
(Courier Leased Wire.) OAMARU, New Zealand, Feb. 10. Capt. Robert F. Scott and his party were overwhelmed by a blizzard on their return journey from the South Pole. The entire party perished. They reached the South Pole on the eighteenth of January, 1912.

Principal Members
The Terra Nova, which sailed on June 1, 1910 for New Zealand and the South Pole was not joined by Robert F. Scott until a few days later at Cardiff. The expedition consisted of 28 officers and scientists in addition to a crew of 23 picked men from the British royal navy. The principal members of the expedition, besides Capt. Scott were: Lieut. E. R. G. G. Evans, second in command, and the proposed Western party; Dr. E. A. Wilson, chief of scientific staff; Lieut. V. L. A. Campbell, R. N., leader of the Eastern party; Lieut. H. L. Pennell, R. N. magnetic and meteorological work; Lieut. H. E. DeP. Rennick, R. N., of the Western party; Lieut. H. R. Bowers, Royal Indian Marine Engineer; Lieut. E. W. Riley, R. N., surgeon; G. M. LeVick, R. N., doctor and zoologist surgeon; E. L. Atkinson, R. N. doctor, bacteriologist, parasitologist; F. R. Drake, R. N., secretary.

C. H. Meares, in charge of ponies and dogs for the Western party; Capt. L. E. G. Oates, Inniskilling Dragoon, in charge of ponies and dogs; Dr. G. C. Simpson, physician, of the Western party; L. Griffith Taylor, geologist; E. W. Nelson, biologist, of the Western party; D. G. Little, biologist; A. Cherry Garrard, assistant zoologist of the Western party; H. G. Ponting, photographer of the Western party; B. C. Day, motor engineer of the Western party; W. G. Thompson, geologist, of the Western party; C. S. Wright, chemist of the Western party; Boatswain T. Feather, in charge of sledging outfits; Boatswain Cheetham on the Terra Nova; W. Williams, second engineer of the Terra Nova; W. Lashey, motor engineer Western party; Chief Steward, W. Archer of the Terra Nova.

Reports were current at the time the Terra Nova sailed for the anti-Arctic expedition, that some of the members of the relief expedition had expressed grave doubts as to whether Captain Scott and his fellow explorers would ever return. No reason was given for these doubts, but they were freely bruited abroad.

Mrs. Scott left London five weeks ago for New Zealand to meet her husband there.

The Last Direct Word
The last direct word received from Capt. Scott himself was brought by the commander of the Terra Nova from the Southern ice regions when she returned to Akarua, on the banks of the peninsula of New Zealand on March 3 last year. The brief message was in Capt. Scott's own handwriting and said: "I am remaining in the anti-Arctic for another winter in order to continue and to complete my work."

Capt. Scott had shortly before sent back a report to his base at McMurdo Sound showing that on January 3, 1912, he had reached a point 150 miles from the Pole and was advancing toward his destination. The despatch from Oamaru, New Zealand, this morning shows that in 15 days he covered the remaining 150 miles, having travelled at the rate of 10 miles a day.

It was on his return that he and his party were overwhelmed by one of the terrific blizzards so prevalent in the anti-Arctic region. The expedition under Capt. Scott was the best equipped that had ever been gathered together for such an adventure. It sailed from Port Chalmers, near Christchurch, New Zealand, on Nov. 29, 1910. The Terra Nova made direct South into Ross Sea. Early in January, 1911 she forced her way into McMurdo Sound where winter quarters were established on Care Evans.

The members of the expedition had a very arduous task in putting their stores on shore, and the work took a week. They, however, were able to make themselves very comfortable there in houses of which they had carried the separate portions with them to be placed together on their arrival, and they at once started their scientific observations.

Provisions for a three year's stay in the ice regions had been taken on board the Terra Nova, and these were placed on shore. Capt. Scott had with him 20 Siberian ponies, 30 dogs and two motor sleds. The ponies, dogs and motor sleds were to be used alternately for transport across the distance between the landing place and the Pole, which was about 1,500 miles.

It was arranged to cover 10 miles on an average daily, and it is apparent that his scheme was carried out up to the moment they reached on January 18, the South Pole, from which they were fated never to return.

Shackleton Talks
(Courier Leased Wire.) NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—"I cannot believe it is true. It is inconceivable that an expedition as well equipped as Captain Scott's could have perished before a blizzard." Lieut. Sir Ernest Shackleton, the British explorer and one-time associate of Capt. Scott, so expressed himself to-day when shown the despatches from New Zealand telling of the fate of Captain Scott and party. "What I have always feared most was scurvy," he added. "In fact, the greatest danger of all polar expeditions is scurvy—a danger far greater than any blizzard. One of Capt. Scott's men died sometime ago of scurvy and it is possible that all of the others were so weakened by the disease, that they fell a victim to the storm. This is the only way that I can explain it."

"I considered Capt. Scott, a most efficient and careful explorer. I served under him as a third lieutenant on a polar expedition ten years ago." Sir Ernest said that on his South polar expedition he and his men had experienced some very severe blizzards, but had been able to face them without disaster. "I would rather wait fuller reports concerning Capt. Scott before making an extended comment," he concluded.

One Month Later.
(Courier Leased Wire.) OAMARU, N. Z., Feb. 10.—The date of Capt. Scott's attainment of the South Pole, January 18, 1912, shows that he reached the goal of his expedition almost exactly one month after Captain Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian explorer, had been there. Capt. Amundsen's report sent to King Haakon of Norway, read: "Pole attained 14th-17th December 1911. All well."

The report of Capt. Scott was destined not to be received by the waiting world until after his death. No details had come to hand this morning as to how the records of Capt. Scott were found, but that he arrived at the pole on the date mentioned was known.

How News Was Brought.
(Courier Leased Wire.) OAMARU, Feb. 10.—The news of the appalling disaster, which befell Capt. Scott and his companions was brought to this port by a signalled message from the Terra Nova, the vessel which had carried the explorer and his expedition to the Antarctic and which late last year went once more to the south waters to bring him and his companions back. The total number of deaths involved in the calamity is not exactly known, but it is believed that 66 scientists and sailors lost their lives.

May Be Survivors.
(Courier Leased Wire.) LONDON, Feb. 10.—Capt. Scott's main travelling party was to consist of 16 men besides himself, while batches of four men each were to return at different stages of the journey, leaving Scott and four others to complete the final dash to the pole. This would indicate that some of the members of the party who had been left at various bases were not included among the victims of the disaster and that it was they who communicated to the world the fate of the expedition.

The Bereaved Wife.
Mrs. Scott now tragically the widow of the British Antarctic explorer though she is yet probably unaware of his fate, sailed from San Francisco on Feb. 5 for New Zealand, expecting to meet her husband there. Just before her departure she said in an interview that she had not heard from him in 18 months, but was confident he would reach New Zealand safely.

Peary Expresses Sympathy
(Courier Leased Wire.) WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, U. S. N., retired, the North Pole explorer, said when he received to-day the news of the death of Capt. Scott and his companions: "The news comes to me as

DORIC LODGE VISIT TO STRATFORD
The special train to Stratford will leave the G.T.R. Market St. Station at 7 p.m. this evening. Tickets can be obtained from the committee at the station or on the train. The Stratford brethren have made preparation for a large number and a splendid time is assured. The Doric members, who are expected to go at least 100 strong.

a terrible shock. Mrs. Scott and the wives and relatives of the brave men who perished with Capt. Scott, and the whole British nation have my deepest sympathy and condolence." Admiral Peary is at present recovering from a surgical operation.

Rear-Admiral Chester, retired, a conspicuous figure in polar exploration, officers of the National Geographic Society, and the entire colony of scientists here, who had been watching the race to the South Pole were shocked.

Capt. Raold Amundsen, who led in the race to the Pole against Capt. Scott and other competitors, paid a glowing tribute to Scott in the course of an address he recently made here before the National Geographic Society on receiving the society's gold medal commemorating his achievement. Amundsen then said that a friendly rivalry had existed between Scott and himself, but that they always had in mind the best interests of scientific research, in which both were engaged. He felt that the two British explorers, Shackleton and Scott, had done much to assist him by preliminary researching the anti-Arctic regions and had blazed the way for the discovery he ultimately made.

It was Amundsen's belief that Scott had achieved the South Pole and had then been delayed on his return for the purpose of gathering scientific data. The disaster comes as an utter surprise to London, and next a gloom over the community which has been unexampled since the death of King Edward.

(Courier Leased Wire.)
LONDON, Feb. 10.—Capt. Scott's party reached the exact point where Roald Amundsen planted the Norwegian flag at the South Pole. They found there the hut constructed and left behind by Amundsen's party. These facts were recorded in the documents found on the bodies of the dead explorers when they were recovered.

(Courier Leased Wire.)
NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Mrs. Scott sailed on the Aorangi, whose port of call is Papeete, Tahiti. As there is no cable to that point, and as the ship will not touch at any cable point until she reaches the Antipodes, it is improbable that Mrs. Scott will learn of her husband's death until she reaches New Zealand, although efforts are being made to reach the Aorangi by wireless.

TORONTO MAN WITH SCOTT EXPEDITION DEAD
TORONTO, Feb. 10.—C. S. Wright, who is mentioned in the story of the disaster to Capt. Scott's party as chemist with the expedition is a Toronto man. His father is Alfred Wright, of 60 Crescent Road, Rosedale.

HE STRUCK OIL.
Mr. Geo. Fair was greatly and agreeably surprised on Saturday, when he struck oil on his premises, 75 Fair avenue city. Some time ago Mr. Fair drilled for gas on his property and was rewarded by getting a good flow. Lately the gas pressure on his premises has been growing weaker and last week it became almost extinct. Mr. Fair went to the well to ascertain, if possible, the cause, and upon investigation he was greatly surprised to find a good flow of oil now yielding a capacity of six to seven barrels per day. The flow of oil is steady and Mr. Fair has merely to barrel his oil and ship it to the refinery. Mr. Fair will no doubt be pleased to exchange gas for oil.

MRS. CLEVELAND WEDS
PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 10.—Mrs. Grover Cleveland and Thomas Jex Preston, Jr., were married this forenoon by President John G. Hibben of Princeton University. The Prospects the executive residence of the university. No preliminary announcement had been made of the marriage and the utmost simplicity was observed in the ceremony.

ANOTHER REVOLT

Takes Place in Mexico---An Allegation That the Premier Has Fled Cannot be Confirmed---Over Two Hundred Persons Have Thus Far Been Killed.

(Courier Leased Wire.) MEXICO CITY, Feb. 10.—Unexpected to see more fighting in the streets to-day. In yesterday's revolt over 200 persons were killed. The populace did not know early to-day whether President Madero had fled from the capital or not. With the following of loyal troops, said to number 1,000 men, he took refuge in the National Palace yesterday, but it was reported early to-day that under cover of night he had fled toward the eastern coast, taking his family with him. It was also reported that all members of his cabinet had resigned.

The report of his flight was given credence, although it was without confirmation. His decision to flee the capital, it was said in the reports that he had fled, was due to general Blanquet's refusal to stand by him. Gen. Blanquet arrived last night with a small portion of his forces, supposedly loyal to Madero, but he refused to fight against Gen. Felix Diaz. Since the arrival of Blanquet's force, the bridges between the capital and Toluca have been burned.

It is recalled that during the Orozco rebellion, Madero stated what course he would pursue if the National capital was captured. He said he would never surrender, but in case Mexico City was taken he would remain in the Government palace as long as possible and then with whoever remained loyal he would transfer the seat of Government to the hills in the south where he would keep up the fight for constituted government. The city apparently was not convinced to-day that Madero would be able to return to the city with enough troops to wrest from Diaz and his mutinous followers the power which they seized yesterday. If Madero remained in the National palace here or took refuge in the palace at Chapultepec it was generally assumed that the bombardment of these places would follow. In addition to this speculation, interest centered in the action, which Congress might take. It was regarded as not improbable that Congress would demand the resignation of the Madero administration.

Scenes of the night in the streets was almost gravenike, despite the fact that all of the federal police had been removed and in their places patrolmen in groups made rounds of the city at long intervals. The only noise made, was the occasional passing of a red cross automobile ambulance, either moving a victim of yesterday's revolt or taking up a position in readiness for possible engagements in the streets to-day.

The U. S. embassy was guarded during the night by a force selected by Former U. S. Gen. Argemonte. Reports regarding the advance of the Zapatista rebels from the south continued during the night. It was reported that General Do La O would arrive in the capital during the day to join Diaz. There was also the more alarming report that the troops in Monterey had revolted, headed by Gen. Trevino. As the telegraph line is in control of the Government, there are no means of confirmation of this report.

The killing of Gen. Bernardo Reyes, former Minister of War in yesterday's fighting had a tragic sequence in the suicide of his son Rodolfo. He shot himself through the head because of grief over his father's death. Young Reyes was a well known attorney and was once counsel for Felix Diaz.

EXCITING SCENES

Take Place in Tokio---Three Persons Were Killed in Some Clashes With the Police.

(Courier Leased Wire.) TOKIO, Feb. 10.—The Diet adjourned to-day for three days after last night scenes, that were exciting. So great was the crowd which gathered outside of the Diet building that the cordon of police drawn up for the protection of the members had difficulty in handling it. There were several clashes in which the police killed three persons.

The trouble resulted from Prince Katsura's last coup developed last night when the Emperor personally requested the withdrawal of a resolution of a lack of confidence in the Government and Prince Katsura's work as Premier, which had been introduced by Marquis Saionji. The Marquis and several leaders of the Constitutional party agreed to this but there were many opposed to the government, who could not be reconciled. Was Stoned.

(Courier Leased Wire.) TOKYO, Japan, Feb. 10.—Prince Taro Katsura, Premier and Minister of Foreign Affairs of Japan, was stoned today by a mob in the streets after he had offered his resignation together with that of the members of his cabinet to the emperor.

Several newspaper offices were also attacked by unruly crowds who attempted to set fire to the buildings. There were many riots in various parts of the city in the course of which a number of policemen and civilians were injured. The excitement continues.

Turks Meet With Another Very Severe Reverse

Victors and the defenders at Bardanjoli was made known in messages received here to-day from the front.

(Courier Leased Wire.) POBGORITZA, Montenegro, Feb. 10.—The Montenegrin army besieged the Turkish fortress of Scutari, carried the great Bardanj Hill by assault at half past ten this morning after some hours of severe fighting. The infantrymen on several occasions came into such close quarters that hand-to-hand fighting was general along the line.

(Courier Leased Wire.)
CETTINJE, Montenegro, Feb. 10.—The capture of Bardanjoli Hill at Scutari by the Montenegrins, cost the victors 2,500 men in killed and wounded. The Turks left nearly 4,000 men, dead and wounded, on the field of battle. The Bulgarian losses are given out as five officers and 412 men wounded while two officers were killed. The Bulgarian war office says "the number of men killed among the Bulgarians is not yet known, but it appears to have been insignificant."

(Courier Leased Wire.)
CETTINJE, Montenegro, Feb. 10.—The heavy price paid by both the victors and the defenders at Bardanjoli was made known in messages received here to-day from the front. A Montenegrin attack on the heights of Taraboschi, which dominates Scutari on the west, has been going on for three days. This onslaught is believed to have been as sanguinary as the engagement at Bardanjoli but no news as to the outcome or the actual figures of losses yet has been received here.

(Courier Leased Wire.)
SOFIA, Bulgaria, Feb. 10.—The route of the Turkish army before Bulair, at the neck of the peninsula of Gallipoli on Saturday, is said here to have been complete. They are reported to have suffered enormous losses. The field of battle was littered with flags, abandoned field guns and machine guns and rifles, dropped in their flight by the panic-stricken Ottoman troops. The Turkish dead and wounded were lying thickly everywhere. Twenty of their officers were among the killed.

A SENSATION

Has Been Caused in Europe by the Assertion That Germany is Willing to Allow British Naval Supremacy.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—A cable to The Tribune from London says that the declaration by Admiral von Tirpitz that Germany would accept the British claim to a 60 per cent superiority in naval power, has aroused intense interest throughout Europe, an interest which has risen to excitement in France.

In Germany Great Britain is still suspected, and German nationalists declare that a margin of 60 per cent can be accepted only if the warships which are being built by the British Dominions and colonies are included. The opinion is general in France that Germany intends by attempting to come to an agreement with Great Britain, to release the money now being spent on shipbuilding, for the strengthening of the army and the aerial fleet, to the great danger of the French republic.

Owing to the illness of the Rev. D. T. McClintock, the pulpit of Alexandra church for the morning service yesterday was acceptably filled by the Rev. C. H. Emerson. The pastor was present for the evening service and preached one of his series of sermons on the commandments.

GROSS MISREPRESENTATION

The Toronto Globe and the Brantford Expositor (as a "me too") still continue to grossly and deliberately misrepresent Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., with reference to his great speech on the navy proposals.

They depict him as having let the cat out of the bag, by saying that it was intended to make the cash proposition a permanent feature.

As a matter of fact he did not utter one word which could be so distorted. Both the papers in question have access to Hansard, the official record of Parliamentary debates.

Let the editors of either one of them, or both, turn to page 1686, and they will find this direct assertion made by Mr. Cockshutt:

"ON THE OTHER HAND THE PRIME MINISTER SAYS HE WILL SEND $35,000,000 IMMEDIATELY TO CONTRIBUTE TO THE EXPENSES OF THE BRITISH NAVY AND THE PERMANENT NAVAL POLICY OF CANADA WILL BE LATER ON DECIDED UPON AND SUBMITTED TO THE PEOPLE."

Now then, what excuse have these two organs for deliberately, persistently and grossly attempting to bear false witness?

OLIVER GOT COLD RECEPTION

That the Liberals of western Canada are not prepared to support a bill against the Government proposal of sending three Canadian representatives to take their place in the British navy, is evident from an experience which befell Hon. Frank Oliver and Dr. Michael Clarke at a meeting in Lacombe, Alberta. The Lacombe "Globe," a paper which has given the Liberal party enthusiastic support in times past, says of this meeting:

"Never in the history of Lacombe was a speaker up against a more unresponsive audience. While the late Minister of the Interior was making his address the crowd listened patiently, but failed to give expression to any feelings they may have had on the subject, every point made by the old war-horse falling flat. A handclap now and then from one or two in the audience was the extent of the applause. Hon. Mr. Oliver must have left Lacombe with the feeling that Alberta, in common with other parts of the Dominion, does not want this great question made matter of partisan politics. Dr. Clarke took his cue from the reception of Hon. Mr. Oliver, and steered clear of the naval question till near the close of his address. He received a better hearing than Mr. Oliver and left the crowd in good humor with his jokes and pointed remarks about the Conservatives."

A LIBERAL AND THE NAVY.

Mr. H. McLean, a leading Liberal, said during the course of the debate on the navy proposal in the Dominion House on Friday (Hansard report):

"The resolution moved by the Prime Minister in connection with the bill to authorize measures for increasing the effective naval forces of the Empire, and the amendment moved by the right hon.

SIX NATIONS

And the Arrangements of the Chiefs with Regard to the Visit of Duke.

On account of the very limited accommodation in the Council House at Ohsweken, the Chiefs have sent out very few invitations for the Duke's reception next Saturday. They feel that Indians should not be crowded out of their own Council House.

It is hoped that all guests will be in the seats reserved for them before the arrival of the Governor-General, so that the Council may be opened at 11.30 sharp and closed at 12.30 when the Duke departs for Brantford.

The Council will be opened according to the ancient usages, the Duke introduced by the Superintendent to the Chiefs and people, an address engraved on buckskin will be read and presented, and after the reply the customary handshaking by the "distinguished visitor," Chief Kah-kon-tye and his brother chiefs will take place.

The Council House is being renovated, totens, flags and hunting being hung up and arches built. A light luncheon will be served in the Parish Hall of St. Peter's Church.

Among those expected from Brantford and vicinity are W. F. Cockshutt, M.P.; J. H. Fisher, M.P.; W. S. Brewster, M.P.P.; John Westbrook, M.P.P.; Mayor Hartman, Lts. Cols. Muir and Howard; Major Nelles Ashton, Judge and Mrs. Hardy, Miss Gilkison, Mrs. E. D. Cameron, Mrs. Gordon Smith, and S. F. Passmore, president of Historical Society.

Correspondence.

Brantford, Feb. 10, 1913.

Dear Sir—Not only as a member of the Park Board, but as a citizen of Brantford, I urge that the request of the Lake Erie and Northern R.R. for the right of way, as shown in their plans, be rejected by the Council in the name of the citizens.

Independent of the objections of the Park Board to a route which interferes with the plans which for several years have been before that board—there are other considerations which might lead the council to join the Park Board and the Board of Water Commissioners in refusing to approve the route.

The tunneling of Colborne street, tilting the old Lorne bridge up seven or eight feet at one end—a position not designed to take—filling up the deepest part of the channel of the river, making an improved route for the flood waters and saying to the Grand, "we have made you a new channel, flow in it."

I do not wish to depreciate the possible achievements of the engineering science as applied by its great masters, one of whom for all I know, may be operating at present in our midst; but may I ask the Council and citizens—why run the risk?

The City Engineer's report shows that there is another good route, and his good work deserves the commendation of the Council and people.

In the light of this report the Council will not likely take the responsibility of sanctioning the railway's plans.

If, led by the attractive paper drawings of the company, the route should be unfortunately approved by the Council, will that body be able in the future to control the railway? If the work of the railway company in carrying out the plan should not prove satisfactory to the city, would the council be strong enough to force the company to improve its work. Past experience shows that when once a railway company gets its right of way, public interests take second place.

FUN FOR THE ROWDIES.

Revelries of the Mohocks in London in the Old Days.

Some curious particulars of the dangers of London streets in the old days are given in an article on "The Sewers and the Mohocks" in a British magazine. The favorite practice of the Sewers was to invade some tavern in the evening, drive out the customers, wreck the premises and, above all, "roar." Steele tells of the Mohocks, one of whose pastimes was to "inclose women in casks and roll them down the street." In 1712 a royal proclamation was issued offering a reward of £100 for the apprehension of any Mohock.

Soon after the accession of George IV. to the throne in 1820 there was a recrudescence, though in a milder form, of Mohock rowdiness, and, attacks on the watch—"boxing the Charles," as the phrase went—once more became fashionable among the wilder spirits of London. These revelries, however, were rudely disturbed by the establishment in 1829 by Sir Robert Peel of an efficient body of police.

Yet again in early Victorian days there was another Mohock outbreak under the auspices of the Marquis of Waterford, and once more knoekers and bell handles were wrenched off, public monuments injured, lights extinguished and crockery smashed. This form of humor, however, was quite wasted upon the local authorities, the marquis being promptly knocked down by a watchman and taken up half dead. The same authority tells us that in the following year he and some other men of fashion were convicted at Derby assizes of trying to overturn a caravan, screwing up a toll barkeeper and painting houses and people red. For these recreations they were fined £100 apiece.

SHADOW OF THE MOON.

Its Rapidity of Motion as Shown in a Solar Eclipse.

Probably the fastest motion that man can perceive with his eyes is that of the shadow of the moon across the earth in a solar eclipse. The rate is practically that of the moon in its orbit, which is about 2,000 miles an hour. This is roughly half a mile a second. Now, if a person were to be stationed on a mountain whence he could see for some miles he could actually watch the approach of the shadow and keep his eye on its edge. Of course the shade would cover the whole landscape for any one person.

From the testimony of many men who have witnessed the phenomenon in such circumstances it is a terrible and awe inspiring spectacle. The most terrifying sight I ever saw. As always happens in the case of sudden, silent, unexpected movements, the spectator confounds real and relative motion. I felt almost giddy for a moment, as though the massive building under me had tilted to the side of the coming eclipse. Another view is described by Langley: "The bright cloud I saw distinctly put out like a candle. The rapidity of the shadow and the intensity produced a feeling that something material was sweeping over the earth at a speed perfectly frightful. I involuntarily listened for the rushing noise of a mighty wind."

There are, of course, many velocities greater than this that occur on the earth, which, too, are measurable, such as the speed of light, which is 186,000 miles a second, and the speed of molecules of hot gases, but they are not directly perceptible to the human vision.—Lawrence Hodges in Chicago Record-Herald.

Transit of Venus. The transits of Venus came in pairs, with an interval of eight years between them. A pair occurred in 1761 and 1769 and again in 1874 and 1882. The whole of the twentieth century will pass without another transit. Not until the years 2004 and 2012 will posterity have the opportunity of witnessing it. It was long supposed that transits of Venus over the sun's disk afforded the only accurate method of determining the distance of the sun, but lately the speed of light has been found the more favored method for that purpose.—New York American.

How He Lost His Dog. "I've lost me mine dachshund," said a German resident of Brooklyn. "Those dog catchers got him." "Maybe dey have got him by der pound. How did they come to took him?" asked his friend. "They took him by der yard," replied the loser sadly.—New York Press.

Perhaps She Was Skeptical. "Just my luck." "What's the matter now?" "I promised my wife I'd be home at 10 o'clock last night." "And couldn't make it, I suppose?" "No; I got in at just 9:45, but she was sound asleep, and I failed to get credit for it."—Detroit Free Press.

The Other Way. "If I were younger," said the rich old man, "I believe I might win you for my wife." "Yes," replied the cold beauty, dreamily considering his sixty years, "or, say, fifteen or twenty years older."—Philadelphia Press.

Continuous Performance. "Wigwag—My wife is a suffragette. She is going on the lecture platform. Henpecked—Eh! My wife doesn't need any platform."—Philadelphia Record.

This world belongs to the energetic.—Emergon.

Catarrh is an excessive secretion accompanied with chronic inflammation from the mucous membrane. Hood's Sarsaparilla acts on the mucous membrane through the blood, reduces inflammation, establishes healthy action, and radically cures all cases of catarrh.

Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator will drive worms from the system without injury to the child, because its action, while fully effective, is mild.

ALLEGED PRIEST

Is Now Under Arrest---He Got Money in Brantford and Some Other Places;

TORONTO, Feb. 10. — Stanislaus Lang, the man who victimized a number of local Catholics in the guise of a priest collecting funds for what he termed the Polish National Church, was arrested yesterday in West Toronto by Detective Cronin. A warrant was sworn out by Mr. Larry Cosgrave, who gave the man a cheque for $100. Prior to his operations in Toronto, Lang visited Port Hope, Oshawa, Brantford and other towns, collecting considerable amounts at each place. His method of approaching those he thought would be likely to contribute to the fund was most convincing, and the story he told a plausible one. He wore the prescribed attire of an ordinary member of the Catholic clergy. Rev. Father Hintzmann, the local Polish Catholic priest, issued a warning against Lang on Saturday. It is said that Lang collected quite a large amount from Toronto Catholics.

In Brantford This city was visited by the man above named. Dean Brady at once announced that the Church had nothing to do with him, but he secured accommodation in connection with the school of a local parish.

THREE MEN

Are Put to Death in New York State.

(Courier Leased Wire) OSSING, N. Y., Feb. 10.—Three murderers were put to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison this morning just before daylight. Two of them were women. All three went to the chair with firm steps and each as he passed from the cell house to the death chamber called back to those who remained awaiting their end. The executions passed off without incident. Two of those died left statements regarding charges they had made implicating others. The first man to die was Joseph Garfalo, a huge Italian. He killed his wife with an axe when she threatened to divorce him. George Bishop, a negro, small and frail, was the second to take the chair. His crime was the murder of a white woman, Mrs. Margaret Bell, in Brooklyn in October, 1912. Bent on robbery, he beat her to death with a hammer. Donato Cardillo, the last to die, was convicted of stabbing to death Stephen H. Dickson, whose body was found in a brook almost in the shadow of Sing Sing prison itself.

MILITANT SUPRAGETTES

(Courier Leased Wire) LONDON, Feb. 10.—Militant supragettes to-day raided the West-end district known as "Clubland." A number of women threw pieces of lead and hard fire clay balls through the windows of the Carlton, the Reform and other political and society clubs in Pall Mall. Several windows were broken also at the residence of Prince Christian of Schleswig-Holstein, a relative by marriage of King George.

Shriners Ball.

The Shriners in the city, members of Mocha Temple, London, have received invitations to attend the Shriners Ball to be held in London on the evening of March 28th.

Police Court News.

One drunk was fined the usual $4. Four others up on the same charge for the first time were allowed to go. Wm Bradshaw charged with snatching a purse from a local teacher, appeared this morning. Mr. Standing and Mr. McMillan, the gentlemen who chased the prisoner, stated that they had not the least doubt but the man under arrest was the same person they saw running towards the station on Friday last. His Worship after hearing the evidence, sent him for six months. Two foreigners charged with drunkenness were forced to pay the interpreter's fees. Fred Whitaker, charged with vagrancy, was allowed to go, provided he go at once to his home in Toronto.

A good day at Colborne Street church was participated in by large attendances at the various sessions. Mr. W. Pierce gave a rousing address to the Brotherhood on Christianity versus War, and placed the responsibility for the horrors of war largely at the door of so-called Christian nations. At the morning service the pastor dealt with some larger plans for life and work in the church, referring specially to the church crusade which is to occupy the attention of Colborne street for the rest of the month. The aim is to increase the membership of the church and Sunday school by 100 before the celebration of the silver anniversary of the church which is to take place in April. In the evening Mr. Holling preached on the subject of Heredity. Mrs. Leehing sang at the morning service and Mr. A. Martin in the evening.

Extinguished Fire.

What might have been a very serious and disastrous fire was nipped in the bud and extinguished by Police Officer Humphreys on Saturday afternoon. About one-thirty, P. C. Humphreys was patrolling Colborne street, and while passing the Davies Co. store, noticed smoke arising through the grate on the sidewalk. He immediately ran into the store, went down cellar and turned the hose on what happened to be some wooden boxes on fire. The P. C. put the fire out and thus saved what might have been another destructive fire.

CITY NEWS

Probs. Easterly winds fair with moderating temperature. Tuesday—South-easterly winds and milder with snow in most localities.

Temperature Temperature for the past twenty-four hours, highest 23, lowest 1 below zero; same date last year, highest 5, lowest 16 below.

Story Hour. The subjects selected for the story hour to be held at the Library this week are: "Boy and Lynx" by Seton Thompson, on Tuesday afternoon for the little folks; and "Wilderness Dog" by Clarence Hawkins, Thursday for the older children.

Military Notes. The officers from Hamilton defeated the Brantford officers at the Armories Saturday night by a score of 29-16. The Brantford officers were ahead until the last few innings, then they took an ascension allowing Hamilton to score nineteen runs.

Brantford Third. The results of the signalling contests among the Canadian militia regiments announced to-day show the 50th Stormont and Glengarry regiments first with 2,768 points; the 77th Wentworth, second, with 2,265; the Dufferin Rifles, third, with 2,218.

Want Damages. George Cowell, 281 Chatham St., has written the Mayor claiming $50 from the city for damages done to his property by recent floods and stating that if same is not paid within ten days he will take action against the city.

Township News. The Township Council will meet on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock to protect their interests with regard to the crossing of the township roads by the Lake Erie and Northern. Township Clerk Smith has a plan of the proposed road on file and the councillors will go into the matter thoroughly.

Y. M. C. A. Games. The Y. M. C. A. played the St. John's Presbyterian church of Toronto, in both hockey and basketball on Saturday. In the former the Y. M. C. A. team defeated the St. John's aggregation by the overwhelming score of 10-0. In the basketball game, however the St. Johns were more fortunate, defeating the Brantford team by a score of 45-29.

Died in Chicago. Col. and Mrs. Muir are in receipt of a telegram from Chicago conveying the sad intelligence of the death of Mr. Wynn Ellis. Deceased, who was 28 years of age, used to live in Brantford and was at one time in the office of the Buck Stove Company. Later he became manager of the Brantford Starch Works. He left some years ago for the States where he met with much success and at the time of his demise was head of the Ellis Grain Dryer Company. He married Miss Jarvis, daughter of the late Mr. C. Jarvis of this city, and she and three sons are left to mourn his loss.

Drowned in Grand River. Miss Bell Gardiner, 10, school teacher at Gypsum Mines, left her school Friday night to cross the Grand River to her father's home, about two miles from Cayuga and a mile and a half from the school. The wind was blowing a terrific gale, accompanied by snow flurries. She wore a heavy veil. Her father failing to meet her, a general alarm was given. Search parties from Cayuga and the country side with lanterns patrolled the ice. They found the imprint of a lady's shoe on the little drifts of snow on the ice in a direct line with her home and in a direct line with an air hole on the river. No tracks could be found on the other side of the hole. The water at this point is fourteen feet deep. After grappling all morning in the hole the body was recovered at 11 o'clock.

Contracts Signed. President Nelson of the Brantford club, received signed contracts from Ray Collins, a young southpaw, who came here at the end of last season and won the four games which he pitched for his club; Clearmont and Anders. Clearmont is a spitball artist.

City Communications. The superintendent of the Immigration Department has written Mayor Hartman asking information re the departure of one Geo. W. Salsbery, 45 years of age, who left Brantford some time ago to reside in the States. The department is desirous of securing information as to why he went, why he should go, etc. The department is anxious that all good men should remain here.

George Patterson, secretary of the Great Waterways Union has written Mayor Hartman that a meeting of the union will be held in Concordia Hall, Berlin on the 14th inst.

F. Company, champions of Hamilton will play E. Company, champions of Brantford here this evening. E. Company under Capt. Newman are playing fast ball and a good game may be expected.

No matter how badly you suffer, how chronic your case may be, or what has failed to cure you, your pains will leave, your aches vanish and the tortuous killing backache, rheumatism will bother you no more. This is what Croxone, the new scientific discovery does for sufferers of such troubles. It cures these diseases because it reaches the cause and removes it. It soaks right into the walls and linings of the kidneys and cleans out the stopped-up inactive organs like water does a sponge. It neutralizes, and dissolves, every particle of uric acid and makes the kidneys sift from the blood all the waste matter and poisons that lodge in the joints and muscles to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism. It soothes and heals the delicate lining of the bladder, and leaves the kidneys in a clean, strong, healthy condition, so they can filter the blood and keep you well. If you suffer with backache—have pains in the neck or sides—nervous or dizzy spells—a few doses of Croxone will relieve the congestion and you will be surprised how quickly all kidney, bladder and rheumatic troubles will disappear. Croxone is different from all other remedies. It is not like anything else on earth ever used for the purpose. It starts to work the minute you take it and relieves your suffering the very first time you use it. It is so simple to take it into the human system without results. You can secure an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first-class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone should fail in a single case.

GRAY HAIR TURNS ITS NATURAL COLOR AFTER APPLYING SAGE TEA

Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens Beautifully and Takes Off Dandruff. Some druggists make their own but it's usually too sticky, so insist upon getting "Wyeth's" which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is the best remedy for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and to stop falling hair. Folks like "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly, says a well known slow town druggist. You dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This requires but a few moments. In morning the gray hair disappears and after another application or two is restored to its natural color and looks even more beautiful and glossy than ever.

EXPERT ADVICE Money spent on keeping time pieces 'on the job' is really a necessary expenditure. Plenty of good watches aren't doing their best work, simply because they can't. Many a fifty or hundred dollar watch is being slowly but surely ruined, because it needs a dollars worth of cleaning. If this reminds you that your watch is in that shape, let it also remind you that our repair dept. can attend to your needs on short notice.

OPEN OUT YOUR HAND.

Then Note the Effort it Requires to Keep it From Closing.

Many thousands of years have elapsed since the ancestors of man lived in trees. It is never to be forgotten that though ape-like forms, they were not apes. Yet, in spite of these tens of centuries that have passed by, man has not yet forgotten the instinct of self preservation in the forest. As he was a tailless creature he was compelled to depend for his safety on the grasping power of his hands and feet. For many ages, however, he had gradually been going on the ground more and more and in the trees less and less so that his feet became more adapted for walking and his hands exclusively for grasping, with the result that the grip and muscular strength of his hands became immense. This is still most powerfully evidenced in a young baby, which, without muscular development, can within a few days of birth hang by both hands to a stick for as much as five minutes at a time and by one hand only for two or three, a task beyond the power of any adult except an athlete and gymnast.

But a fact which is still more remarkable is that to the present day there is not one of us that can hold his hand open without discomfort and absolutely no one whose hand will stay open at all unless the will is exerted to that end. Try it! Hold your hand open for three minutes by the watch and see how tired you will be! Lay your hand on the table, the palm on the wood, the fingers over the edge, and see how, in spite of yourself, they will curve round and grasp it. Look at the hand of a sleeping person and think if the fingers are ever shown to be out straight.

When the anatomy of the hand is taken up it will be found that on the palm and on the under side of the fingers are numbers of nerves sensitive to touch which respond as readily as the nerves of the eye do to color or the nerves of the ear drum to sound. These were the principal projection of our tree living ancestors, for an immediate clutch at a branch was necessary in rapid travel in the lower branches of great forest trees. The sensitiveness is being lost, but it is being lost slowly. Yet even today we can no more prevent responding to the stimulation of the sense of touch in our hands than to the sensation of light in the eye or sound in the ear.

Disregarding the thumb, the human hand is really nothing more than an adjustable hook. It is at rest only when in the position of a hook. When any one loses a hand the best substitute is a stout metal hook.—New York American.

EGYPT'S GREEN SUN.

A Phenomenon That Was Commented Upon by the Ancients.

The appearance of a green light at sunset was noticed and commented upon by the ancient Egyptians and more particularly so because in the clear air of Egypt the tints of sunset are peculiarly distinct.

As the sun then descends nearer and nearer to the horizon and is immensely enlarged and flaming it suddenly becomes for an instant a brilliantly green color, and immediately a series of green rays suffuses the sky in many directions, well up to the zenith. The same phenomenon appears at sunrise, but to a smaller extent. Sometimes, just as the last part of the sun's disk vanishes, its color changes from green to blue, and so also after it has disappeared the sky near the horizon often is green, while toward the zenith it is blue.

This was alluded to in Egyptian writings. Day was the emblem of life and night that of death, and the nocturnal sun, being identified with Osiris, thus rendered Osiris king of the dead. The setting sun was green; therefore Osiris, as the nocturnal deity of the dead, was painted green. The splendid coffins of the high priests of Ammon frequently depict the green sun, and the funeral deities are all colored green.

There are innumerable instances in the Egyptian relics of representations relative to death being colored green. The practice undoubtedly arose from the green tints of sunrise and sunset. The green sun disk is referred to 5,000 years ago in Egypt. This is the earliest known human record of an astronomical phenomenon.

Horse Butchers in France.

French horse butchers are obliged to display a signboard showing the kind of meat they sell and are not allowed to trade in any other sort of meat except that of mules and donkeys. They sometimes try to pass off horseflesh as that of donkeys on unwary customers, because the latter is considered to be more delicate in flavor and therefore more choice.—Exchange.

HIS FIRST CASE.

The Young Lawyer Made the Court Sit Up and Take Notice.

Several prominent attorneys were discussing the peculiar and rather humorous questions put to witnesses by young attorneys entering upon their legal work, and one of the number vouched for the authenticity of this incident:

"I went up to the superior civil court one day to hear a young friend of mine try his first case. All his relatives and friends were there, and the novice wore a most serious expression as he started to question a witness. He did nicely until he asked the man:

"Did you have a contract with the plaintiff?"

"Yes," replied the witness.

"What kind of a contract was it?"

"An oral one," replied the witness.

"Will you please produce it?"

"The witness stood stock still staring at the attorney and then looked at the judge inquiringly. There was a ripple of laughter throughout the courtroom, but still the young attorney did not 'catch on,' and, looking toward the judge, remarked:

"Your honor, I ask you to give the witness until 2 o'clock to produce that contract."

"The court could no longer withhold and joined in the laughter. Then the young lawyer saw his mistake and with reddened face also had a good laugh."—Boston Record.

PLAYING THE PIANO.

Present Day Methods From the Viewpoint of a Cynic.
The piano is one of our best known musical instruments. It was invented several hundred years ago and in its earlier incarnations was known as the spinet or the harpsichord and afforded eminent artists many opportunities to portray luscious ladies seated before it, says the Chicago Post.

The piano comes either as an upright or a grand. The grand is a large, flat proposition that takes up several hundred dollars' worth of room, while the upright has a nice smooth top on which bric-a-brac may be placed.

The piano is usually played by young ladies until the young man proposes. It is also played by young men in tin pan song shops. In those places the youth, who has flowing hair and a discouraged necktie, allows a cigarette to hang from one corner of his mouth while he shouts a song from the other corner and uses the loud pedal exclusively.

In the old days, before women became advanced as they are now, it was considered quite some thing to play a piece on the piano which required the hands to be crossed. Nowadays the piano is fitted with a self playing attachment, and the young man caller feeds a porous plaster into it.

Four Great Sauces.

A Frenchman has declared that "man has created the culinary art. He does not eat like an animal—he breakfasts, dines and sups."

The French are particularly eloquent on the subject of sauces. Among their famous chefs are recognized four great sauces—Spanish, Veloute, Bechamel and German. The Spanish and Veloute were known as far back as the seventeenth century. In the eighteenth they were modified by the masters of cookery, particularly by Careme, who was called "the Raphael of the kitchen."

The Spanish sauce is composed of juices extracted from a mixture of ham, veal, chicken and pheasant. Veloute is similar, but is not colored. Bechamel is Veloute to which cream has been added, and the German sauce is Veloute plus the yolks of eggs.—Harper's.

What Hurt Him.

"Did you hear about the accident to Bjinks?"

"Why, no. What happened?"

"Oh, the darned tool was seriously hurt this afternoon."

"In his automobile, I suppose?"

"No, that's the trouble."

"What do you mean? I know he's a reckless driver, and—"

"And you think he was hurt in his car. Well, he wasn't. He was hurt by a tree about ten feet ahead of the car. If he'd been able to stay in the car he'd never have been hurt."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

East Indian Theaters.

Many East Indian theaters keep their performances going until 4 or 5 o'clock in the morning. These dramatic orgies are not, says the Times of India, however, due to the length of the plays, as in Chinese theaters, but to the fact that the tramps do not begin running till 5 o'clock. As the spectators gather from distant villages and have strong objections to paying gharry hire, they expect to be entertained until the trains start.

$3.50 RECIPE FOR WEAK MEN FREE.

SEND NAME AND ADDRESS TODAY—YOU CAN HAVE IT FREE AND BE STRONG AND VIGOROUS.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, lack of vigor, weakened manhood, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, unnatural drains, or the follies of youth, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his manly power and virility, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men, and I am convinced it is the surest-acting combination for the cure of deficient manhood and vigor failure ever put together.

I think I owe it to my fellow-men to send them a copy in confidence, so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop dragging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what I believe is the quickest acting, restorative, rebuilding, SPOT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 3782 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like his—but I send it entirely free.

Write Ideas For Moving Picture Plays

YOU CAN WRITE PHOTO PLAYS AND EARN $25.00 OR MORE WEEKLY

WE WILL SHOW YOU HOW!

If you have ideas—if you can THINK—We will show you the secrets of this fascinating new profession. Positively no experience or literary excellence necessary. No "flowery language" is wanted.

The demand for photoplays is practically unlimited. The big film manufacturers are "moving heaven and earth" in their attempts to get enough good plots to supply the ever increasing demand. They are offering $100, and more, for single scenarios or written ideas.

Nearly all the big film companies, the buyers of photoplays, are located in or near NEW YORK CITY. Being right on the spot, and knowing at all times just what sort of plots are wanted by the producers, our SALES DEPARTMENT has a tremendous advantage over agencies situated in distant cities.

We have received many letters from the big film manufacturers, such as VITAGRAPH, EDISON, ESSANAY, LUBIN, SOLAX, IMP, REX, RELIANCE, CHAMPION, COMET, MELIES, ETC., urging us to send photoplays to them. We want more writers and we'll gladly teach you the secrets of success.

We are selling photoplays written by people who "never before wrote a line for Publication."

Perhaps we can do the same for you. If you can think of only one good idea every week, and will write it out as directed by us, and it sells for only $25, a low figure

It will come as good news to Brantford theatre-goers that Mr. Johnson has booked "Madame Sherry" for a return engagement at the Grand Opera House on the night of February fifteenth.

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Campbell, the champion lady golfer, to Mr. Herd, a well known Pitts-burger takes place very quietly at the cathedral in Hamilton to-morrow morning—the Rev. Cannon Abbott officiating.

Traffic is so congested along the Mediterranean, Panama and Bermuda routes, that many would-be travellers have been obliged to content themselves nearer home. Accommodation either by boat or at hotels being almost impossible, unless having been booked long in advance. Some of our Brantford friends who had hoped to spend February and March in sunnier climes, having had to abandon their trips on this account.

Mr. E. B. Crompton of Crompton and Co., has returned from his semi-annual visit to the European markets. He reports that business conditions are very good in the Old Land and the winter exceedingly mild. He did not see any sign of frost either in England or France. The offer of the three Canadian Dreadnoughts is very much to the front and featured amid tumultuous applause in many places of amusement.

Both going and coming the weather was the roughest he had ever seen during nearly one hundred trips. He was on the Cunard liner the Mauretania, one of the two finest vessels afloat. The log records the following: "Strong gale; high sea, speed reduced ten hours"; "strong gale; high sea, speed reduced 13 hours. Whole gale, very high sea, speed reduced 14 hours; strong breeze rough sea, speed reduced 4 hours; rough sea, snow squalls," and so on. One night a huge sea dashed up the 75-foot bow as it dipped and smashed the wrought iron bulwark in from off the captain's cabin on the bridge deck and crumpled the mass up like paper.

The Women's Hospital Aid, which met on Friday morning, was very well attended, and some interesting reports were submitted showing activity in every branch.

It was decided to hold the annual reunion on Thursday, February 27th, in the Conservatory of Music, when a tea and programme will be provided, with no charges of any kind. It is hoped that all members and friends in the city and county will set aside this date and arrange to be present, and enjoy a social hour together on this one afternoon of the year.

Mrs. W. F. Cockshutt, convener of the children's branch, announced that she would open her house, on some afternoon during the month for a travel talk to be given by Miss Smith of London, who has travelled a great deal and can describe what she has seen in a most engaging way. A collection will be taken in aid of the East ward branch.

Fees were paid in by Mrs. Ames, East ward, $30.75, and by Miss Jones, North ward, $7.25.

A resolution was passed appointing Miss Creasor collector for 1913 in Holmedale.

A card of thanks for flowers, from Miss Patton of the hospital, was read.

It was moved and seconded that a note of sympathy with flowers in sent to Miss Blott head nurse at the hospital, with hopes for her speedy recovery.

The weekly W. H. A. visitors at the hospital were withdrawn during January and until further notice on account of so much sickness among the nurses and so many operations and critical cases demanding unusual attention on the part of the staff and attendants.

There is a decided fancy for things Chinese just now, aroused undoubtedly by the Chinese scenes in three popular New York theatrical attractions of the hour. Bits of Chinese embroidery are at a premium for the fashioning of theatre reticules hat trimmings and little vests to set in the fronts of cutaway coats.

Edison's Wife Leads Crusade for Clean Streets in New Jersey.
West Orange, N.J., will soon become known as "Spotless Town" if Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, wife of the wizard, has her way. Mrs. Edison is president of the West Orange Town Improvement Association and heads a committee which tries to keep the streets clean. She discovered that the town scavenger was not keeping the streets clean, and when he reported that he could not until the residents quit throwing refuse into the streets. Mrs. Edison went out to investigate. For several days she watched houses and then appeared at the Council meeting with a long list of the names and addresses of persons whom she saw throwing cans and refuse into the streets. As a result the Town Council has promised to get busy.

LITTLE BOY BLUE.
The little toy dog is covered with dust,
But sturdy and staunch he stands;
And the little toy soldier is red with rust,
And his musket moulds in his hands.
Time was when the little toy dog was new,
And the soldier was passing fair;
And that was the time when our little boy blue
Kissed them and put them there.

"Now don't you go till I come," he said,
"And don't you make any noise!"
So, toddling off to his trundle bed,
He dreamt of the pretty toys;
And, as he was dreaming, an angel song
Awakened our little boy blue—
Oh! the years are many, the years are long,
But the little toy friends are true!

Aye, faithful to little boy blue they stand,
Each in the same old place,
Awaiting the touch of a little hand,
The smile of a little face;
And they wonder, as waiting the long years through
In the dust of the little chair,
What has become of our little boy blue,
Since he kissed them and put them there.

—Eugene Field.

LAUGHTER LINES
Glasgow prides itself upon its tramway system, and at times the citizens discuss in the press, through the medium of letters to the editor, the manners of Glasgow car conductors. Generally speaking, these manners are all that can be desired, and the underworld tele shows that a car conductor may not only enforce the regulations, but may do so wittily. "I suppose," said a lady, "if I pay a penny for my dog, he will have the same privileges as other passengers—that is, he may have a seat?" "Certainly, madam," replied the conductor; "on the same terms as other passengers. He will not be allowed to put his feet on the seat."

A man and his wife were out riding in their new acquired automobile when they met a farmer coming into town on a load of hay. The road being narrow, the farmer hesitated about turning out, and stopped his team. The man in the auto started to go by, when his wife plucked him by the sleeve and called out loudly: "Don't you turn out for that old hayseed. The idea of such a thing! I won't stand it!" The man hesitated a moment, and the farmer, an ironical smile lighting up his features, said, as he began gathering up the reins: "Never mind, mister; I'll turn out. Let 'er hev 'er own way. I've got one 'jes' like 'er at home." —Lippincott's.

Dugan, the roofer, was sent to a millionaire's palatial home to try to find a leak in the roof. As he entered the front hall, the butler whispered to Dugan: "You are requested to be careful of the hardwood floors as you go up stairs, they've just been polished."

"Sure, there's no danger av me slippin' on them," Dugan replied. "Oh, ho! spikes in me shoes." —American Carpenter and Builder.

Fatality of Whooping Cough
Many parents think lightly of whooping cough, and treat it as a necessary evil, not giving the child who has it any special attention. The seriousness of whooping cough was emphasized by the Medical Health Officer of Toronto a few months ago, when he reported 14 deaths during the month from whooping cough, and only ten from scarlet fever, typhoid fever and measles combined.

So many people write to us about the relief and cure of whooping cough by the use of Dr. Chase's syrup of Linseed and Turpentine that we can recommend it with the greatest confidence.

It loosens the cough, aids expectoration, and by its soothing influence prevents the terrible paroxysms of coughing which are so distressing to witness, and which wear away the strength of the child. By using this treatment the disease is held in check, and cured in a few weeks, instead of months. Look for the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., on the bottle you buy. There are many imitations.

Music and Drama

Producing a Big Show

Not ten people in a thousand who go to the theatre to see the various attractions that come along ever stop to realize the great amount of care and labor necessary to produce a big musical farce comedy. Take for instance McFadden's Flats Company, which plays here at the Grand Tuesday, Feb. 11th.

Over one year ago the management commenced to work on this year's production. Hundreds of vaudeville acts had to be looked over to secure the ones that can play the various parts assigned them and at the same time please the patrons of the theatre. Then there is the costuming; weeks are spent in selecting the beautiful gowns. A great amount of care must be given to color effects so that to the naked eye it appears on presentation a sight to be remembered. These are only a few of the many things to take into consideration and the greatest reward the management gets is that the show has been the standard bearer of success for many years. That is a record no other show on the road to-day can lay claim to. Each season brings more laurels to the McFadden's Flats Company. It requires this season two special baggage cars to transport the company's new scenic and electrical equipments.

George W. Lederer, who gave this country its first theatrical revue when he produced The Passing Show and followed the innovation with the form of early musical comedy that established his first fame and that of the New York Casino, where he produced it during many successive seasons—a form that The Belle of New York and its successors imitated—has just projected still another kind of musical play in Madame Sherry, so new in model that New York went mad over it. Described on the programme as a French vaudeville, Madame Sherry—the latest Lederer masterpiece—differs from the former Casino manager's output in that instead of playing the chorus up, i.e. making it a dominant element of the piece, he represses it in numbers, importance and action, until it is scarcely more consequential than an added word of scenery. The success of Lederer's novelty will sweetly affect the musical comedy of the country, for already three musical comedies modeled on its lines, have been instituted since Madame Sherry's triumphous hit.

Madame Sherry will be seen here at the Grand on Saturday, February 15th with the same excellent cast that has marked even its earliest presentations, and that is expected with such a piece as Madame Sherry.

The Artist and the Girl.

To see his masterpiece.
And as she views them one by one
Her interest increases.

Then suddenly she comes across
A frame turned to the wall.
She seeks with curiosity
The meaning of it all.

"The picture that you've hidden here—
A sweetheart, I suppose,
When, were it real, I have no doubt,
To her you would propose."

"I would," quoth he. "I'll turn it round.
Now, won't you please step nearer?
The light is very poor today.
You see, it's but a mirror."

NEW MAP OF COBALT.
Messrs. Chas. A. Stoneham & Co., 23 Melinda Street, Toronto, are publishing a new map of Cobalt, mounted on tin and printed in three colors, showing the producing area of the Cobalt district, and giving all available data regarding ore products, earnings, etc., of the various companies of the Cobalt District. If you would like to get a copy of this all you have to do is to send your request to Chas. A. Stoneham & Co., 23 Melinda St., Toronto, and they will forward you one by return mail.

Overlooked Stars.
Two black faced minstrels were giving an entertainment on the sands of a certain seaside holiday resort recently. While one of them was telling funny stories about the humors of boarding house landladies the other went among the crowd making a collection. He at length went up to a stern looking woman, who promptly snatched the tambourine from his hand and poured the contents into her lap. As she returned the empty tambourine to the astonished minstrel she exclaimed:
"Tell your friend who knows so much about landladies that I'm the one he forgot to pay the last time he was here!"—Weekly Telegraph.

BOWSER TRAMPS.

In Support of His Theories as Regards Physiognomy.

BUT HE RECEIVES A SETBACK.

And Despite the Sweetness and Well Modulated Inflection of His Voice, is Forced to Sneak Home Unrewarded. Mrs. Bowser Wins.

By M. QUAD.
Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.

MRS. BOWSER was looking out of the window the other evening as she walked for Mr. Bowser's coming, and as he reached the gate she saw that he was accosted by a tramp. The conversation ended with the passing of a coin.

"So you gave that tramp money," she asked as he entered the house.

"I made a small gift to a man who has been unfortunate," he replied.

"But you are always warning me against encouraging this tramp evil," she protested.

"Yes, I have told you that the professional tramp should not be encouraged, but this is an altogether different case. It was not laziness or vice, but pure misfortune, that forced the man to ask for assistance. I could only spare a dollar, but I wish—"

"You gave him a dollar?" gasped Mrs. Bowser.

"I did, and there is no occasion for you to lose your breath over it. That's one of your troubles, one of the troubles with most women. You don't seem to be able to tell the difference between a tramp who has been on the road for twenty years and a good man who has been brought low by misfortune within six months. After dinner I will discuss the matter further with you."

He Explains Physiognomy. Mrs. Bowser hoped he wouldn't, as it was sure to end in a row, and she brought up such a variety of subjects at the dinner table that she thought she had driven the tramp question out of his head. In this she was mistaken, however. No sooner had they passed upstairs than he began:

"It is the easiest thing in the world, Mrs. Bowser, for one who understands physiognomy or has studied the inflections of the human voice to detect the false from the true."

"I never knew that you had studied physiognomy," she somewhat tartly replied.

"Perhaps not. There are a great many things you don't know. You are probably not aware that I can tell by a man's inflections when he is lying to me."

"Then how do so many deceive you?" "Who has deceived me?" she asked as his self-complacent smile suddenly vanished. "That's your voice exactly. When you find you can't hold up an argument you begin to pitch into me personally. I have never been deceived—never, and you know it. This man tonight, for instance, was telling me the solemn truth, and I'll bet a dollar to 10 cents on it."

Mrs. Bowser's Opinion. "What did he say?" asked Mrs. Bowser as the cat came up from the dining room and looked from one to the other with a mild grin on her face.

"Never mind what he said. I am glad I did not turn him away. You would probably have ordered him off in a hurry and thus added cruelty to misfortune. You would have done it because you can't tell the true ring from the false. Why don't you pay some attention to physiognomy?"

"I do. I had been noticing the man, and my idea was that he was a loafer and a liar."

"Then you are an idiot!" "He had just asked the cook for a bite to eat, and the inflection of his voice betrayed him as a deceiver."

"By thunder, woman, you would aggravate a saint!" growled Mr. Bowser as he scared the cat under the lounge and then began pacing to and fro. "It's a mighty good thing for the unfortunate that all people are not like you. You are as stony hearted as old Shylock. I presume you would turn me from your door if I came for bread."

"I shouldn't like your looks," frankly admitted Mrs. Bowser.

"Thank you!" "Nor your inflections of voice. Truly, I should say that you were a liar!" "You would! You would! Woman, do you mean to insult me?" "And I think most other folks would say the same."

"Oh, you do, eh? Well, now, let me

RURAL EGYPT.

One of its Quaintest Spectacles is a Native Wedding.

However modernized Cairo is or will become, the writer in the White World Magazine, from Egypt, remains the same today as it has been for countless generations. One of the quaintest sights out in the country is a native wedding. I was fortunate in seeing two of them, one from a train and the other while walking near the village of Helopolis, which is the site of the ancient city of On, mentioned in the Bible.

The bride and bridegroom were completely screened from the public gaze by a canopy arrangement on the back of a camel. It looked like an immense ottoman adorned with a cover illuminated by gorgeous patterns. The camel was followed by the bridal party, all women, seated on a long train of camels, each camel supporting two women.

The great, clumsy creatures (the camels, not the women) were almost enveloped in immense rugs, on the top of which apparently a feather bed had been deposited, and on this the women were padded and swathed. I was so ill I could hardly drag myself around to do my housework.

INGENIOUS PRISONERS.
They Won a Pardon For Their Darling Attempt to Escape.

Among the prisoners in the French convict settlement of New Caledonia were two marine engineers who not long ago received a pardon—strange as it may seem—for making a daring and ingenious attempt to escape.

Living together in the same hut these men were engaged for years in digging a secret tunnel from their hut to the beach. At the end of the tunnel they hollowed out a chamber in which, with a few tools and a little bit of steel and iron studded into the hut, they fashioned a boat, the metal being at first used to make tools and afterward to form bolts and rivets.

Then with infinite pains they built an engine to propel the boat, and after laboring mightily for seven years they completed their task.

Everything was ready except the provisioning of the vessel, when they were betrayed by a fellow convict to whom they had confided their plan. But so impetuous was the French commandant by their marvelous energy, skill and patience that he managed after a year to obtain a pardon for them.—Pearson's Weekly.

Tanning Rabbit Skins. To tan rabbit skins with the fur on lay the skin on a smooth board, the fur side undermost, and fasten it down with tacks. Wash it over first with a solution of salt and water, then dissolve a half ounce of alum in one pint of warm water and with a sponge dipped in the solution moisten the surface all over. Repeat this operation every four or five hours for three days. When the skin is quite dry, take out the tacks and roll it loosely the long way, the hair inside, draw it quickly through a large smooth ring until it is quite soft, then roll it the contrary way of the skin and repeat the operation. Skins thus prepared are useful for many domestic purposes.—London Mail.

In a Perfume Factory. Musk is perhaps the most valuable and delightful of all perfumes, yet the refiner, as he opens the musk pods, must wear thick clothes over mouth and nostrils, so repulsive is the odor that the pods emit. Indeed this odor inhaled for any length of time causes nosebleed.

Civet, karaguline and ambergris have in small quantities a delicious perfume, but in large quantities they smell so abominably as to give the worker nausea.

The Hawthorn blossom is delicately sweet, and perfumers prize it highly, yet a roomful of hawthorn blossoms smells like a charnel house. This, too, is true of the tuberose.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Explaining What a Snob Really is. "Uncle Roy, what is a snob?" "A snob, Eddie, is a person who inherits a great deal of money, goes abroad and buys himself a veneer of culture, returns home and poses as a connoisseur of paintings and good food around calling his poor relations 'parvenus.' Why do you ask such a question, Eddie?" "Because I heard Donald's big brother talking about this afternoon and he said you were a snob."—Kansas City Star.

Unfeeling. "My husband is a brute," said the excitable woman. "Have you been scolding him?" "Of course I have."

"Ah, I supposed he talked back and used harsh language."

"Worse than that! He yawned!"

Misled. Mrs. Gadsby—I'll get even with Mrs. Gabbie. Mrs. Gibby—What has she done to you? Mrs. Gadsby—She told me that Mrs. Guffy wasn't at home, so I hurried over to make a call on her, and she was at home, after all. Exchange.

Smash Up. Jack—What sort poor Algy to an insane asylum? Tom—A trial of thought passed through his brain and wrecked it.—Boston Transcript.

IT IS NEWS WORTH GIVING TO THE WORLD

How Ravages of Kidney Disease Are Checked in Quebec.

Mrs. Julien Painchaud, for Seven Years a Sufferer, finds quick relief and complete cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

WHITWORTH, Temiscouct Co., Que., Feb. 10.—(Special.) With the coming of winter the ravages of Kidney Disease are again felt in this province, and the fact that a sure cure is vouchsafed for in this village is news worth giving to the world.

Mrs. Julien Painchaud is the person cured and she states without hesitation that she found her cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"For seven years my heart and kidneys bothered me," Mrs. Painchaud states, "I was always tired and nervous. I could not sleep. My limbs were heavy and I had a dragging sensation across the loins. My eyes had dark circles under them and were puffed and swollen. I was so ill I could hardly drag myself around to do my housework."

"A neighbor advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I found relief in the first box. Six boxes made me perfectly well."

If you have any two of Mrs. Painchaud's symptoms your kidneys are diseased. Cure them and guard against serious, if not fatal results by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Lady Marjorie's Love

The girl gave no answer in words, only a sound like a laugh and a long deep breath as she dropped back into her chair again. This sting to her pride was the last possible pang which could have been added to her misery, and the lawyer, wincing, knew as much. It would torture the poor child as nothing else could, this knowledge that a parvenu, a plebeian, a nobody was master of the home which she loved with such a proud and passionate affection.

A sound of irritation came from the Countess; Lady Marlingford's patience was exhausted; she advanced. The look that she gave Mr. Petrick as she spoke in her high, plebeian, a nobody was master of the home which she loved with such a proud and passionate affection.

"I will explain what I mean, my dear," she said less coldly than usual, and with a glance of some kindness at the small white face. "No doubt you will feel as grateful for Mr. Chadburn's consideration as I confess I do. By the terms of his purchase of Castle Marling, he could enter into possession of it at once—indeed he could have done so before your father died. He waived his right then, until I understand, such time as it should suit your father to vacate it, and he most kindly waived his right again now. In this letter he begs me—and you—for six months, for a year, if necessary, until at any rate our future arrangements are completed, to remain here and consider Castle Marling our home. I am about to reply to his letter, thanking him for his offer and accepting it."

"Accepting it?" Marjorie sprang to her feet. "I can't stay here," she said in a suffocated voice, with her hand at her throat. "It—it would kill me. I think I must go away—right away. I'll go to-day—now. I can't stay here."

The girl did not answer. The cruel sense of the question brought home to her the full measure of her desolation as it had not been brought yet. She fell back in her chair with a low moaning cry, hiding her face.

"You have always had a kind of attachment for my stepdaughter, I know," she said, "and I quite understand and appreciate Mr. Petrick, the distress you have felt in communicating this sad intelligence to her. It is a most terrible blow to her in all ways, poor child—I am most heartily sorry for her. What troubles me is the thought of her future. She has now no prospect of any kind."

"No prospect?" Echoing the word, and dropping his voice as she had dropped hers, the lawyer's gray eyebrows went up in surprise. "I must beg leave to remind your ladyship of what you have surely forgotten," he said. "Lady Marjorie has happily before her the prospect of her marriage."

"Of her marriage?" "Of her marriage with her cousin, Mr. Loftus Bligh."

"Oh, my dear Mr. Petrick!" The Countess made a faint sound of laughter, looking at him with raised eyebrows. "Surely," she said, "you do not expect that that always unsuitable engagement will be carried out now?"
