Upon the plains below
The peasant hears the word,
And shouts with leaping heart.
"Praise Grod—praise ye the Lord?
The mountains ring again.
By myriad echoes stirred.

O shepherd on the peaks,
Who still can see the light,
While shadows fall upon
The plain, and solemn night
Draws near, cry "Praise the Lord—
Praise ye His Love and Might!"

And I will answer from
The plain, though dense and drear
The shadows, "Praise the Lord!"
And conquering all my fear,
Will crv again, "Praise God—
His Love and Might revere?"

And echoes, myriad-voiced,
Thy joy, my trust, shall wake.
Despairing souls shall hear

Appleton's American Cyclopædia

New Edition, complete in 28 Royal Octavo volumes, containing all information down to 1887.

The Latest, The Cheapest, and The Best. THE LATEST.—A corps of contributors who hold the foremost rank in Science and literature, both in Europe and America are employed on this work the year round. And a new volume is added annually, recording the progress in literature in the acts, in science, and the social, political, religious, commercial and in lustrial developements to the latest possible date. It never becomes old. Hence it is the latest. developements to the latest possible date. It never becomes old. Hence it is the latest, THE CHEAPEST.—It is a well selected library in itself, presenting a panoramic view of all human knowledge, from the earliest time to the present day. It is the only complete new and exhaustive cyclopædia in the English language. Its annual volume keeps it completely abreast of the times, and precludes the necessity of buying other books. Hence it is the cheapest.

THE BEST.—It is prepared by the ablest writers and scholars in every department of knowledge. It is impartial, doing justice to all men, all creeds, and all countries. Space is everywhere duly proportioned to the subjects. Its range of subjects embraces more than all other cyclopædias combined, and any point is instantly available by means of an elaborate analytical index. Hence it is the best.
