Our Work.

No man is born into the world whose work is not to be done. There is always work to be done. And to do it, for those who will. And blessed are the busy hands of toil. The busy world shows angrily aside the man who stands with arms akimbo, and until occasion tells him what to do. And he who waits to have his task marked out shall die and leave his errand unfulfilled.
—James Russell Lowell.

The 'Reviewer' Reviewed.

EDITOR THE ACADIAN.—The article by 'Reviewer' on the scriptures is so extravagantly fervent that I suspect the author may be rather critical himself, and is disguising his real opinions with the purpose of provoking a reply. He will humor him. An ordinary critic of the Bible is one who simply takes the book as it stands and without any special knowledge or help from outside sources, compares critically the various parts and statements found therein. A higher critic is one who makes a study of all contemporary languages and literature as well as everything to be found in sources more ancient than the Bible, which is, after all, comparatively modern.

Of course there are critics and critics but I have before me the first part of a serial issue of the 'Encyclopaedia Biblica,' the very latest and most authoritative work on the subject, first issued for the use of clergymen and edited by conservative critics in good standing. The contributions are over a hundred of the best biblical scholars in the world, and many of them are noted clergymen with such universities as Oxford and Cambridge back of them. One of the contributors, Rev. A. B. Bruce, whom I shall quote later, is the author of a textbook on Christian apologetics which was used in Acadia College a few years ago.

This Encyclopaedia admits that it is useless to try to defend the historical accuracy of the creation stories in Genesis; but says that the real question is, the source from which the cosmogonic ideas of the old testament were derived. The conclusion reached is, 'The Israelitic cosmogony must have been borrowed directly or indirectly from the Babylonians.' There is not the slightest hesitation on the part of even conservative theologians to-day to doubt that Jesus ever gave utterance to many of the sayings attributed to him in the new testament. In fact the work above quoted characterizes some slight or feeble passages as being the most genuine. But if Jesus actually committed himself to these accounts by quoting them, it makes it so much the worse for him. He made other mistakes (according to scripture) notably his prophecy as to the end of the world. 'Reviewer' may say that was a mistake of the apocryphal, they must have misunderstood him. That is what I presume some of them began to suspect when they got to be old men in the waiting. But if Jesus could not make his companions in the flesh understand him, we have a much harder task to do so at this time and with such meagre and contradictory accounts.

Does your correspondent believe that Jesus actually used the words in Luke 19-27? The critics think too highly of his moral character to allow that to stand. It was probably inserted by some ancient Torquemada, who had an axe to grind, and millions have since been tortured because of that and similar passages. The holy bible simply distils with brutalities, immoralities, mistakes, variations, contradictions and interpolations, which are non-existent to the confounding. The critics, not being blind, are endeavoring to save the valuable part of the cargo out of the 'wreck,' which to the 'Reviewer's' myriads, 'is still sailing in smooth waters.'

Does not 'Reviewer' know that there is no one authoritative manuscript of the bible? The only way to get our translation was for scholars to take a multitude of conflicting manuscripts in regard to the original Hebrew MSS. They were written with comment only, the vowels being left to be supplied by the reader; the result being that we can but the writer could be perfectly sure in numerous cases what he intended to say and not even the writer himself in every case after the lapse of time enough to allow of partial forgetfulness of his thought to occur. The Masoretic text is thus only an approximation to the original Hebrew text, and the Septuagint, the Jewish scholars of the remotest antiquity. Again he says, 'The erroneous autograph for which some so glibly contend is a theological figment and Hebrew editors could do without hesitation what we should think hardly compatible with literary honesty.' This is called 'not inventing his own morality.'

'Reviewer's' paragraph in defence of Bruce, King, Luther, Calvin, selected periods, postea, etc., is rather out of date. The question is not what those people thought but what would they think if they lived to-day with the advantages which their successors enjoy. Dr. Bruce was once asked if he was a Calvinist. He replied, 'I am, and by that I mean, I think as Calvin would think if he were here to-day.' Perhaps if Luther were here he would not so strenuously deny for dogmatic reasons the canonicity of the epistle of James, nearly one of the best books in the bible. If 'Reviewer' knew his idealized Luther he might want to fumigate his pulpit also. Distance lends an enchantment to the memory of several of the saints mentioned. The idealization of a man is dangerous and in the case of Jesus as the world's greatest teacher it gets one into a rather vital difficulty of explaining the almost total failure of his first twelve pupils.

The speaker about the opinions of our fathers being good enough for them go over the historical readings of the revised new testament, and note the verses left out of doubtful authority and the suggestive remarks. How many know that the 'great commission' is not in our bible on good authority? The new version prints it, but spaces it off and gives the reason which seems a good one. One strange fact is that the new testament MSS are in a much worse state than those of the old testament.

Orthodoxy was long accustomed to take special delight in contemplating predictions in Daniel which were so wonderfully fulfilled. But now 'it is known that the exile Daniel was employed as a literary device by a writer who prophesied after the events had happened.' Remember this was not considered an offence in those days, and we must not view it as we would the use of such literary forgeries to-day.

The book of Acts is the 'piece de resistance' of the new testament, and while primarily an historical book it turns out to have almost no value as history, although religious importance is still claimed for it. To quote from the Encyclopaedia Biblica, 'almost the only element that is historically important is the Christology of the speeches of Peter, which reveal a primitive conception of Jesus in accordance with the most genuine passages in the gospels, but not in agreement with current Christian theology.'

Now for the important fact that Jesus and the apostles did not know out old testament as we have it. They used that in Palestine and in fact the Christian Bible after the translation of the Septuagint ceased. This translation is known as the Septuagint and one would naturally think that what was good enough for Jesus would do for the church to-day. But no indeed! The Septuagint differs very materially from the Hebrew texts in existence, and our translation is from the Hebrew Masoretic text. The scripture which Jesus used says that creation took eight days instead of six, and the date of creation is 5390 B. C. instead of 4004 B. C., which latter date I suppose acceptable to 'Reviewer' regardless of the fact that bibles printed now do not give such dates at all. A change like perhaps not only to the existence of a geological theory which has survived dogmatic criticism (but is unknown to your correspondent) as well as to the discovery of writings and inscriptions, showing quite a high state of civilization among several nations some thousands of years before the creation of the world.

There is also a prophecy which did not come true and was cut out of the Hebrew after the Septuagint copy was taken. Finally there were included in this translation some of the apocryphal books of scripture which are not acknowledged by protestants at all and some of the canonical books are considerably cut up.

Jesus by quoting a verse out of the Septuagint put a seal upon every word of it would 'Reviewer' please explain away some of these things? Let us quote from Rev. A. B. Bruce's apologetics, before mentioned in regard to the original Hebrew MSS. 'They were written with comment only, the vowels being left to be supplied by the reader; the result being that we can but the writer could be perfectly sure in numerous cases what he intended to say and not even the writer himself in every case after the lapse of time enough to allow of partial forgetfulness of his thought to occur. New Health and Strength For Weak and Ailing Girls

Can Be Had Through the Rich, Red Blood Made By Dr. Williams' Pink for Pale People.

There comes a time in the life of almost every girl when sickness attacks her. The strain upon her blood supply is too great, and there come headaches and backaches, loss of appetite, attacks of dizziness and heart palpitation, and a general tendency to decline. The only thing that can promptly and speedily cure these troubles is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This is the only medicine that actually makes new, rich, red blood, and a plentiful supply of rich blood is the one thing needed to maintain the health of growing girls and women of mature years. The truth of this statement is proved in the case of Miss Esther R. Sproule, Truemanville, N. S., who says: 'At the age of sixteen years I left my country home to attend high school. The close confinement and long hours of study nearly broke me down. My blood supply seemed to be deficient, and I grew

Unclean Dirt.

There is an old saying that 'clean dirt is no poison.' Modern science confirms the ancient saw, but also points out that there is unclean dirt, which is very poisonous indeed. In the December number of The Dietetic and Hygienic Gazette, Dr. R. G. Chamberlain writes: 'The dirt which we see in our streets, in our houses, in our shops, every business house, it will never deprecate in value. It will always be above par. Buy home made goods. Ask your merchants for them. Wear home made garments, eat home made articles of food, sleep on home made beds, read home made newspapers. In this way the money you spend is only loaned. It will come back to you again with interest. Praise up your city; don't run it down. Stand by your merchants and manufacturers. They are the bone and sinew of your municipal structure. Stand by your churches and your schools. They are the hopes of your future. Stand by your press; it is the tireless sentinel that guards your interest.'—J. Knox Hall.

Encourage Home Enterprise.

Encourage every home enterprise. Take an interest in every industry, invest liberally in the stock of faith and good will, and distribute it all over your city, in every factory, work shop, every business house. 'It will never deprecate in value. It will always be above par. Buy home made goods. Ask your merchants for them. Wear home made garments, eat home made articles of food, sleep on home made beds, read home made newspapers. In this way the money you spend is only loaned. It will come back to you again with interest. Praise up your city; don't run it down. Stand by your merchants and manufacturers. They are the bone and sinew of your municipal structure. Stand by your churches and your schools. They are the hopes of your future. Stand by your press; it is the tireless sentinel that guards your interest.'—J. Knox Hall.

Insurance on his life for between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000, the city to pay the premiums and receive the benefits under the policy at his death, is the novel scheme for paying the city debt, presented by David S. Beach, to the Bridgeport, Conn., common council. He stipulates in return that the city erect to his memory a monument with a suitable inscription, acknowledging him the originator of municipal life insurance.

HEALTH, WEALTH, AND WORK.

So long as Nature's law require that mankind shall work, the necessity of keeping one's self in health and strength is of first importance. Many people believe that men of great wealth do nothing. That is a mistaken idea. They may not work with hammers or shovels, but they work with their brains, brains and minds. Scores of millionaires have worked themselves into nervous prostration in their efforts to control, to avoid losing, their millions. But it is the humble workers who suffer most.

I read about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the Atlantic, got these and they cured me of kidney disease and backache.'

The Reviewer.

BRITISH POLITICAL SITUATION.

The first vote in Great Britain's new parliament gave a majority of 31 against tariff reform.

Within two years we expect to see the present government defeated at the polls and tariff reform triumphant with a substantial preference to the overseas colonies.

For Great Britain to adhere to free trade under all the circumstances is the sum of human stupidity.

England to-day is the slaughter-house of all manufacturing nations.

Notwithstanding what news papers may say both liberals and unionists know that the end of free trade is in sight.

Already American manufacturers are preparing to establish branches in England.

British business men are not slow. They know that the Budget will pass the Lords and with the Budget of the unionists backs nothing can resist tariff reform.

One thing is settled by the unionists and that is that there will be a 10 per cent. preference to the colonies.

This has been definitely settled by the unionist party and its significance as applying to Canada can hardly be overestimated.

To what extent the present liberal ministry will be able to reconstruct or improve the Lords is a problem.

During the past month or so the Budget was introduced by Mr. Lloyd George, the press of Canada and the United States have for the larger part proclaimed the Lords as a mere house of privilege dominated only by old Toryism consisting mainly of ancient families whose glory had passed away and their character with it.

A lady concerned only that the social privileges of their order should be preserved and quite indifferent to the masses of the British Empire.

That is caricature existing only in the imagination of the politician by whom it was painted.

Price Collier, an American writer to whom a good deal of attention has been directed, says: "The House of Lords exists because it is the most democratic institution in England and because in the long run it has been recognized as an assembly whose opinion is as nearly as possible the opinion of a consensus of the competent and a surer interpreter of the sober wishes of the English people as a whole than the House of Commons."

We must admit frankly that the titled world of Great Britain in the last generation should command the respect of the thinking world.

Practically every really great man of Great Britain of this generation has been titled by the King or Queen.

Lord Kelvin, the great physicist, Sir Hiram Maxim, the notable inventor, Sir Henry Irving, the great actor, Lord Tennyson, the poet, Sir Henry Stanley, the explorer, Sir William Van Horne, railroad and empire builder, Lord Strathcona, Lord Mount Stephen and many more that might be mentioned.

If the citizens of a republic need and require a Dead Sea level of equality for materialistic purposes the people of Great Britain are sure to recognize real merit, realizing that so high civilization was ever established on a purely materialistic foundation.

What about the Senate of Canada? Is there no name in literature or in art or in law that Sir Wilfred Laurier could honor with a seat in our Senate?

Is partisanship the one and only qualification for appointment to the Canadian Senate? We say that it is a discredit to us all that such men as Mr. Goldwin Smith, Sir Sanford Fleming, Col. George T. Denison, Mr. B. E. Walker, Sir Edward Clouston, Sir A. Curllian Irving, Mr. H. D. MacLeod and other men of similar distinction and capacity were not offered seats in the Senate long ago.

They would enormously strengthen that chamber in character and in ability to serve the state. If the liberals were in a minority they could hardly expect Sir Wilfred Laurier to ignore party considerations.

But with a majority of sixty he surely falls far short of his professions of other days. It is certainly with poor taste that the liberals of Canada criticize the Lords of England for their want of character or ability.

The land question in England has got to be settled exactly as it was in Ireland, and until a land owning, not a mere land leasing class as proposed in the Lloyd George Budget, is created and on the credit of the state, land reform will not advance.

The general attitude of conservatives towards reform in general has been sure but too slow while the radicals went too fast.

Social conditions in England are no worse or as bad as they are in Canada. The connections between the classes of England are as sympathetic and intimate as between any on earth.

Hockey Notes.

By winning the hockey game from Mt. Allison last Thursday evening in the Evangelical rink Acadia became Acacia, holder of the championship of the intercollegiate league and of the Summer trophy.

This makes the third intercollegiate trophy held by the Acadia, and the sporting element of the college naturally felt elated.

Much interest was felt in the outcome of this game as each team had a wis to their credit. The result was a score of 8-2 in favor of Acadia.

The game was in splendid condition and the game was witnessed by about eight hundred spectators.

The game started at eight o'clock, the puck going to Acadia territory, but was soon returned to Mt. Allison territory. By the combination play of the Acadia forwards, Patillo shot on goal but was met in pretty form by Seaman.

Black then got possession of the puck and in the act of shooting when Boon tripped him, getting three minutes in the penalty box. Mt. Allison then got in some combination and carried the puck to the Acadia goal where Robinson was called on to turn aside a hot shot by North.

Eston got possession of the puck, carrying it the whole length of the rink, but his shot was stopped by Seaman. The puck was then carried to Acadia territory, Eaton again getting possession of it by his own net and carried it to Mt. Allison's territory and scored the first goal of the game after fifteen minutes play.

Three minutes after the face off Patillo scored the second goal for Acadia on a pass from Corey. On resuming play Black was caught tripping, receiving three minutes penalty. Mt. Allison then got together and rushed matters, Cameron scoring the first goal for his team.

The play then became a little looser, with the puck travelling from end to end. Black securing it shot Acadia's third goal from cover point. Half a minute after the face off McDougall scored the second goal for Mt. Allison. The game now began to get interesting with both teams playing fast hockey, the puck going to Acadia territory where Curry securing it lifted from point position for Acadia's fourth goal. From the face off Mt. Allison rushed to Acadia territory where Black securing the puck lifted it into the goal from centre ice.

The play now began to get rough. Just before the bell rang for half time Murray and North were sent to the penalty box for three minutes each for roughing it, which they had to serve in the second half. The half ended 5-2 in favor of Acadia.

One minute after the second half started Patterson hurt his knee, delaying the game for three minutes, when he pluckily resumed play. Three minutes after Eaton scored the sixth goal for Acadia, Patillo soon following with another. The play continued very rough, considerable tripping being indulged in by both sides, Murray and McKee going to the penalty box for three minutes, followed soon after by Black. The puck was now kept in Mt. Allison territory, and the work of Seaman at goal deserves the highest praise. He made some phenomenal stops. McKeen again got three minutes for tripping. Cameron then gained possession of the puck and worked towards the Acadia goal, but lost to Black, who in a pretty dribble scored the eighth goal for Acadia. The line up was--

Acadia. Goal, Mt. Allison. C. Robinson, Point, A. Seaman. R. Curry, Cover Point, S. McKee. L. Black, Right Wing, G. Boone. R. Murray, Rover, C. North. Centre, C. McDougall (C.). Left Wing, G. Patterson. Right Wing, J. Cameron. Ralph Smith, of Windsor, refereed very satisfactorily to both teams.

In a game of hockey played last Saturday evening, between the Freshman and Sophomore classes of the College, the former won by the score of 2-1.

The Victoria hockey team defeated Acadia on Tuesday by the score of 3-1, which gives a good idea of the game.

This evening Wolfville goes to Windsor to play a game of hockey with the Swastikas. The latter team will come to Wolfville some time soon.

The Canning Baptist church building, which was recently purchased by the military department, has been moved back on the government wharf to be used as an armory. The work of removing the building to its new site was a difficult one as it had to be lowered down about four feet and turned to face the west and moved on a blocking eleven feet high. Mr. Bigelow, who had the contract to do the work, engaged the well-known building-mover, Mr. Chase, of Bear River, who undertook the job but failed. Mr. Sidney Borden, of Fort Williams, who has performed so many difficult feats along this line, was then called upon and performed the difficult task without a hitch. A cement is to be finished under the building and an addition of eight feet made to it.

Look Out For Pneumonia.

Your system is in a run down condition. You catch cold. You think it will soon pass off. It doesn't. You neglect taking any special care of yourself. Pneumonia develops and then comes pneumonia and a fight for life. A fight which is too often unaccomplished. Every day colds, coughs and sore throats are being cured by using Dr. Chase's Syrup of Licorice and Turpentine.

'Mamma,' said the little girl, her eyes wide with excitement, 'I do believe the minister told a story!'

Little Lucille had gone to church alone and when asked to repeat the text replied, 'Don't get scared; you'll get your quilt.' The mother chided to meet the minister several days later and told him what her daughter said his text had been.

'Well,' he replied, 'she had the idea in other words. It was, "Fear not, for I have sent you a Comforter."

GENTLENESS—My daughter, 7 years old, was thrown from a sleigh and injured. Her whole body is swollen and very painful. I have used your liniment and she is now well. Sold by Dr. Chase's Ointment Co., Toronto, Ont.

This is a related anecdote told recently by Will Irwin: The fire, not the earthquake, destroyed San Francisco. Few buildings really went down, and those were old brick structures of flimsy workmanship, or wooden houses half rotted by age. In the great story of such a building about a middle aged couple. The house settled gently forward, and out went the bed, all standing out on the sidewalk. The wife sprang out of bed on one side and regarded her husband on the other. 'Well,' she said, 'this will teach you to rest a blanket in between.'

A Butterfly's 'Umbrella.'

He was only a butterfly, one of those beautiful, large bluish-black ones that we so often see about the garden, but he knew enough to get in out of the wet.

It was during one of the heavy showers that so frequently, in the hot days of midsummer, come suddenly upon us, driving every one to the nearest cover. To escape the downpour, which meant great injury, if not destruction, to so delicate a creature, he quickly flew to a nearby Balm of Gilead tree, where, alighting on the underside of a large leaf, he clung with wings closely drawn together and hanging straight downward, using the big leaf as an umbrella to shield him from the great drops falling all round. High and dry, here he remained until the shower had passed, and the blue sky and warm sun called him once again to his favorite haunts.—St. Nicholas.

Increased Cost of Living.

The Labor Gazette for January contains the first results of the special enquiry which is being carried on by the department in reference to the cost of living in the Dominion.

A statement is given as to whole sale prices of animals and meats from 1890 to 1909. It shows that during 1909 wholesale prices were approximately 45 per cent. higher than during the ten year period from 1890 to 1900, and that compared with 1906 they were fully 77 per cent. higher.

Fully nine of every ten cases of rheumatism is simply rheumatism of the muscles due to cold or damp, or chronic rheumatism, neither of which requires any internal treatment. All that is needed to afford relief is the free application of Chamberlain's Liniment. Give it a trial. You are certain to be pleased with the quick relief which it affords. Sold by A. V. Rand.

The employment of women as public officials has lately advanced a new step in New York, where the newly elected district attorney, or public prosecutor, has appointed a lady lawyer to be one of the members of his staff. This innovation is being generally approved on the ground that particularly valuable services could often be rendered by a woman in the investigation and prosecution of criminal cases in which women and children are concerned. In America, however, the strangeness of such an appointment is minimized by the fact that for years past most of the states have placed no obstacle in the way of the exercise of the legal profession by women.—Ex.

Are you frequently hoarse? Do you have that annoying tickling in your throat? Does your cough annoy you at night, and do you wake up in the morning? Do you want relief? If so, take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and you will be pleased. Sold by A. V. Rand.

When Senator Vance was running for Congress, he called on an old negro who had in early life served the Vance family. Asked after his health, the negro replied, 'Mighty polly in this world,' but it's all right over yandered. 'Do you believe in the doctrine of election?' asked Vance, with great solemnity. 'It's the doctrine of the bible,' answered the old man. 'Uckle Ephraim, do you think I've been elected?' asked Vance again. 'Massa Zeb, I'd a tittle ruther you wouldn't draw that question, I'm too near the grab to tell a lie, but de fac' am, I neder yet knowed nor hear tell of no man bein' elected what wasn't a candidate.'

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are safe, sure and reliable, and have been praised by thousands of women who have been restored to health through their gentle aid and curative properties. Sold by A. V. Rand.

Rural New Yorker reports the case of a Maine township where 60 automobiles were sold during the past season. This looks like prosperity until the rest of the story is told, which is that no less than 95 mortgages were put on farms and homes to pay for these cars. That, as Rural New Yorker truly says, is laying up trouble for the future.

Invest 25 cents in a box of Davis' Menthol Salve ("The D. & L.") and be prepared for a hundred ailments, which may not be dangerous but are very annoying and painful, like neuralgia, carache, sprains, burns, bruises, insect stings, cuts, piles, etc. It is a household remedy always useful for some trouble, and should be kept in the family medicine chest.

What Would She Do.

A friend of the late Father Tabb said in Ellidcott City:

'This fine poet and good man thought that class hatred was due to ignorance—that the rich knew too little of the poor, and vice versa. He once illustrated this ignorance with the story of a Methodist bishop's wife who addressed a meeting of slum house-wives on their domestic duties. The address made the home life seem all very fine and ideal, but one house-wife voiced the opinion of the rest, perhaps, when she said to her neighbors with a sniff:

'She's all right as far as she goes; but what I'd like to ask her is this—what does she do when her old bishop comes home on pay night with his envelope empty and a fightin' jag on?'

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets invariably bring relief to women suffering from chronic constipation, headache, biliousness, dizziness, salowness of the skin and dyspepsia. Sold by A. V. Rand.

An old negro named Ephraim, having been sworn on the jury in a murder trial, for some time resisted a verdict of guilty for no other apparent reason than his strong aversion to capital punishment in general. Finally the foreman explained to him that it was a question either of hanging the prisoner or hanging the jury, and that it all depended on him. 'Fo' gosh!' cried Uncle Ephraim, 'on dem reasonsment de pris'ner am also 'gully.'

Hang on to your line—take your shirt, folded up and put away, keeping your lawn entirely clear of obstructions.

Liquor Licences.

Maritime Report. The Liquor License Commissioners of this city decided last week to issue fifty-three retail licenses, which is seven less than last year. Six hotel licenses were issued, three being renewed. The local option vote, taken last year, made it impossible to issue licenses in three wards, which then had eight licensed shops. Two of these applied for licenses in other wards, and received them. A case that has excited some interest and a good deal of indignation, is the granting of a license to one Nugent, on Douglas Avenue near the suspension bridge. Very strong objections were taken to this license, and a petition against it, numerously signed by the residents of the Avenue, endorsed by the ministers and their churches and other moral reform organizations, was presented to the Commissioners. There was a general feeling that a strong case had been made against the premises, being licensed and that the Commissioners would respect public feeling and refuse the license. But, for reasons of their own, though nobody seems to know what they are, the Commissioners have authorized Nugent to carry on the traffic. Great is Nugent, whose application for rum-selling authority outweighed the protest of about all the reputable people in the vicinity of his grocery. It would be interesting to know the true inswardness of the case. How the opponents of the saloon feel about the matter is stated by Rev. D. Hutchinson, a resident of Douglas Avenue, and a leader in the petition against the license, who is reported as saying: 'We feel outraged. They have just slapped the whole of the ministers in the face, and practically ignored every Christian church in St. John, by granting a license to M. J. Nugent on Douglas Avenue, as all the churches were back of the petition opposing the granting of the license. The government should be petitioned to remove the Commissioners, as they are morally irresponsible, and have no moral sense whatever.'

The danger of pleasure over season with stimulating condiments is not confined to the surgery alone. It pursues our young people in the various stages of youth and adolescence. The average town and city boy, who is not carefully guarded by his parents, wants his amusements highly seasoned. A youth of very tender years was asked how he enjoyed the moving picture exhibition from which he had just returned. It was great, nice, nice, nice, in the first act! To the boy of that class a milder form of entertainment seems tame and insipid. He is looking for something that will make his nerves tingle. The same is fast becoming true of his reading. The book which has not in it a good deal of tragedy is not likely to become popular. However true to life and wholesome in its message a story may

Recommended As An Ideal Remedy

Lloydtown, Ont., March 19th, 1909. 'For some years I have been greatly troubled with headaches and indigestion, brought on by stomach disorders, constipation and biliousness. I had tried many remedies with only indifferent success, until "Fruit-Lives" came to my notice. Being a general store-keeper, I was selling a good many "Fruit-Lives" to my customers and, remarking how pleased they were with the results obtained from using "Fruit-Lives," I decided to try them and, I might say, the effects were almost magical. Headaches and biliousness disappeared and today I recommend "Fruit-Lives" to my customers as 'An ideal remedy.'

'I might also add that about three years ago I was laid up with LUMBAGO AND SCIATICA—couldn't get out of bed or lift one foot over the other. A good treatment of "Fruit-Lives" cured me of these pains and banished the Sciatica and Lumbago so that to-day I am as well as ever and can lift anything necessary.' (Signed) W. S. BOND.

It will hardly prove attractive to the great body of young people who have unconsciously cultivated a taste for thrilling adventure. It is this class—over-stimulated in youth—who, when they grow up to manhood and womanhood will take little or no stock in the preacher unless he is sensational and spectacular. They do not know they have become abnormal in their tastes, and do not even stop to wonder why the sermon which is fresh, inspiring and heartening to their neighbors is dull and uninteresting to them.

Made the Blood Rich and Red.

Miss Cynthia Hutchinson, Hallowell, B. C., writes: 'My system was so completely down that my friends as well as myself thought I could never get better. All medicines failed to help me, until Dr. Chase's Nerve Food benefited me and at the end of a month people scarcely knew me. I had improved so much. The blood was enriched, color improved, my flesh was added and I got strong and well.'
