I'm the Cream of the West Miller, and I'll tell you what I'll do—I'll guarantee your next batch of bread

I WILL guarantee it to rise away up out of the pans, and make as delicious bread as you ever tasted. The loaves will be the biggest and most wholesome you ever baked with the same amount of flour. I'll guarantee it or you get back the money you paid for the flour! Now see:

Go to your grocer and buy a barrel of Cream of the West Flour. Take it home and bake it up.

Give it a trial. Give it a couple of trials. Your oven or yeast might not be just right the first time.

Now when you give it a fair trial, if you honestly feel that you have not had splendid satisfaction with Cream of the West Flour, return the unused portion of barrel and get your money back.

Just tell the store man your bread didn't come out right and you want your money back as guaranteed.

It's not the grocery man who loses. It doesn't come out of his pocket. It is the Campbell Milling Company, Limited, of Toronto, who pay, and they are satisfied to pay if you'll be satisfied to try Cream of the West Flour.

Ask your store-keeper about this guarantee. He knows. He will tell you. Try a barrel.

Cream of the West Flour

The hard wheat flour that is guaranteed for bread

Guarantee

I hereby affirm and declare that Cream of the West Flour is a superior bread flour, and as such is subject to our absolute guarantee of money back if not satisfactory after a fair trial. Any dealer is hereby authorized to return price paid by customer on return of unused portion of barrel if flour is not as represented.

THE BELLE OF RUBYWOOD.

CHAPTER IV.

And Farmer Holt wiped the pin out with a sweep of his hand and resigned himself to his after-dinner nap.

Muriel, from the little latticed window of her own little bower of a room, leaned her head upon her hands and looked down the vale. She was thinking in an aimless, purposeless, dreamy sort of way, of the newcomer at the Holme, and wrapping round him, girl-

Muscles Useless Without Nerve Force

Perhaps you are not quite clear on the relation of the nerves to the rest of the body. Through the nerve fibres which extend through countless branches to every part of the body, the human system is conveyed the motive power which operates the various organs.

There could be no breathing, no beating of the heart, no flow of the digestive fluids, no action of any muscle or organ of the body without nerve force. Consequently, when the nervous system becomes exhausted there is complete collapse of the body, the different stages of which are described as nervous prostration, locomotor ataxia and paralysis.

The time to use such restorative treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is when the headaches, sleeplessness, indigestion and other warning symptoms first appear. A few weeks' persistent treatment is then sufficient to revitalize the wasted nerve cells and restore health and vigor.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a Box, 6 for $2.50, at all dealers or Edman-son, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

like, a glamor gotten from the pathetic narrative of the old shepherd.

"How lonely he must feel! How sad! His mother and father just dead, his estate lost, and himself alone and friendless among strangers.

In this mood, Mr. Vandike, tripping with the gait of a Hyde Park dandy up the well-kept gravel path, was no very welcome to her.

But Muriel was all good nature as well as unsophisticated innocence, and she gave him a pleasant little nod and smile in answer to his sudden start and evident glances of artistic admiration.

"Now, really, Miss Holt, it is too bad! I really think you do it on purpose! Every time I see you it is in an attitude of grace and witchery. You are provoking enough to send an artist mad. If I could paint you as you lean there, framed in that delicious cranky old window, I should make my fortune."

"I am very sorry, and I beg you will forgive me, Mr. Vandike, though I don't in the least understand what you have done. Is it a compliment? You must put them in broader—light and shade, as you say over your pictures. I am not a fine London lady, you know."

"But you are the finest country girl I have ever seen, Miss Holt."

"Thank you," said Muriel composedly, but with a merry smile. "That's much nicer. I can understand that. What does some one say, a compliment is? 'A falsehood wrapped in counterfeit truth.' You should remember that definition, Mr. Vandike. 'A falsehood wrapped in counterfeit truth!'"

He laughed with her, and rather louder. She held up her finger.

"Hush! father is asleep; please do not wake him; he enjoys his nap after dinner so much."

"Nap after dinner!" exclaimed the exquisite. "Did ever any one hear of such a thing. In the middle of the day, too. Why, Miss Holt, it's perfectly unnatural!"

"Oh, no, it's not! Look at that cow here, and the two pigs, and the calf, and there's a bird asleep, and everything is asleep after dinner except foolish people. I ought to be asleep."

"Thank you," said Mr. Vandike; "that's a pretty plain conge. Did you mean it?"

"What's the queer word conge? Let me think. I have learned French, you know; but I have forgotten it. Oh, no, I didn't mean you to go; but if you stay you must not talk, and you must not smoke, because father doesn't like tobacco in the daytime; and you mustn't walk about, because you will crunch the gravel and make too much noise; and you mustn't do anything!"

"Mr. Vandike laughed softly, then sighed.

"Oh, you did, did you? Now I do hope we ain't got one of those crack-brained, harum-scarum, new-notioned chaps down among us. I hate 'em like poison. Staring at the machines, was he? Pretty thing he goes and buys one or two and drags 'em up and down the avenue! There are two large ruts deep enough to bury an ox in a'ready."

Young Heatherbridge opened his mouth to speak, when the door opened and Jane put in her head to say that Mr. Leigh wanted a word with Farmer Holt.

"Show him in, girl," said the farmer, and Jane, stepping aside, there entered Wynter Leigh.

"I shall never get you serious, Miss Holt," he said.

"Come and see me when the puddings don't turn out right. I shall be serious enough then; and now good-by"; and she raised her hand to the latch of the window.

"Stop a minute!" said Mr. Vandike. "Do you know that Mr. Wynter Leigh has come?"

"Yes," said Muriel, almost impatiently.

She was beginning to be angry with herself for being so interested in the stranger, and angry with all who heightened that interest.

With the window closed, and the picture vanished from the frame, there was nothing for Mr. Vandike but to beat a retreat, and this he did, sighing.

Tea at Rubywood was perhaps the most comfortable and enjoyable meal for the day.

Farmer Holt dined early, at half-past one, napped afterwards, strolled round the farm, and came in at half-past five ready for a substantial tea of cold ham, eggs, strawberry jam—whole strawberries, luscious and irresistible, not an indistinguishable pulp of sweetness—and piles of fresh-buttered bread.

That night just as they sat down to tea, in came Mr. Heatherbridge. He looked shyly at Muriel and hesitated. Indeed he was intruding; he knew he was, indeed!

But the farmer gave him a genial and marked welcome, and very shyly he sat down between father and daughter and unfolded his news.

"I've been on to Hopwood, Farmer Holt," he said, "and I've seen a most uncommon sight."

"What's that?" said the farmer. "A pig-headed lady or a double-tailed heifer?"

"Neither," said young Heatherbridge, "but a pair of steam engines." Farmer Holt held steam, and the machinery it sets in motion in utter contempt and abhorrence.

"Uncommonly ugly sight," he said curtly.

"Maybe," said young Heatherbridge, "and certainly they weren't handsome to look at, but if they do all they say they'll do, why they're wonderful things. There were plowing, reaping, and threshing machines, and I cannot tell you what else—"

"Rubbish!" interrupted Farmer Holt. "Don't you be took with their outrageous notions! Your father would have snapped his fingers at 'em as I do mine."

And the farmer did snap his fingers and loudly.

Steam! Steam plows, and harrows and flails, and mowers! Nonsense! It's downright wicked! What d'you think Heaven sent strong men and women into the world for, if it wasn't to till the ground and sow and reap the crops? If it had been meant that we should go puffing across the fields with a couple of iron elephants, raring and roaring, blowing out smoke and dropping coal and cinders, we should 'a' had a first-class set of steam engines created for us. It's downright wicked."

"Well," Heatherbridge said slowly, and evidently reluctant to run counter to such a strongly expressed opinion of his hoped-for father-in-law, "well, I daresay you're right; it's only reason; no doubt we should have had 'em created, as you say. But there they are, and a great fuss they're making. There was quite a crowd around them."

"I know," said Farmer Holt, nodding his head. "I heard of them, but staring at monstrosities."

"I don't disgrace myself going and staring at the fire."

"Oh, you did, did you? Now I do hope we ain't got one of those crack-brained, harum-scarum, new-notioned chaps down among us. I hate 'em like poison. Staring at the machines, was he? Pretty thing he goes and buys one or two and drags 'em up and down the avenue! There are two large ruts deep enough to bury an ox in a'ready."

Young Heatherbridge opened his mouth to speak, when the door opened and Jane put in her head to say that Mr. Leigh wanted a word with Farmer Holt.

"Show him in, girl," said the farmer, and Jane, stepping aside, there entered Wynter Leigh.

MOTHER OF LARGE FAMILY

Tells How She Keeps Her Health—Happiness For Those Who Take Her Advice.

Scottville, Mich.—"I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done me. I live on a farm and have worked very hard. I am forty-five years old, and am the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and bearing down pains for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house."

"I will say also that I think there is no better medicine to be found for young girls. My eldest daughter has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for painful periods and irregularity, and it has helped her."

"I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I tell every one I meet that I owe my health and happiness to your wonderful medicine."

—MRS. J. G. JOHNSON, Scottville, Mich., R.F.D. 8.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy for woman's ills known.

Mr. Heatherbridge rose, as did Farmer Holt.

Muriel sat still a moment, then, in country fashion, dropped a little state-ly courtesy, and drew a chair forward for the visitor.

Farmer Holt shook hands with the newcomer, and Mr. Heatherbridge did the same.

"That's my daughter, Mr. Leigh," said Farmer Holt, waving his pipe with pardonable pride at Muriel, pale and beautiful as a white rose.

Mr. Leigh, bowed gravely, and smiled almost as gravely.

"I have had the honor of meeting Miss Holt before, sir," he said, seating himself. "At the stile in the lane."

"Oh, it was you," said the farmer, "was it? She said she thought I was."

Mr. Leigh looked at Muriel and Muriel, for no earthly reason blushed.

Then Mr. Leigh opened up the business of his visit. As he spoke he turned his face to the light, and Muriel, who could con his face without being observed, decided that it was a handsome one, notwithstanding its gravity and its sadness. It was pale and there were dark shadows, as of tears, beneath the eyes, but the eyes themselves were fine, deep, frank, and earnest ones, and the mouth, though firm almost to obstinacy, was well curved pleasing.

"I came at this unseasonable hour, Mr. Holt, to ask you a favor," he said as quietly as he had spoken in the lane. "Your cattle have broken down the hurdles at the end of the avenue and got into my straw yard. My man has sorted them out as best he can, but as mine are new purchases and I am not sufficiently familiar with them, I thought it only right to wait-up and tell you."

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

This is the age of research and experiment, when all nature is being unlocked by the science of the future. The human mind is being unlocked, and among the by-products of this unlocking is a discovery of the most important kind—Therapion.

THERAPION.

This preparation is unquestionably one of the most genuine and reliable Patent Medicines ever introduced, and has, we understand, been used in the Continental Hospitals by Ricord, Rostan, Jobert, Velpeau, Malgouyres, the well-known Chiropodist, and indeed by all who are regarded as authorities in such matters, including the celebrated Lillman and Ross, by whom it was some time since uniformly adopted, and that it is worthy the attention of those who require such a remedy we think there is no doubt. From the time of Aristotle downwards, a potent agent in the removal of these diseases has like the famed philosopher's stone been the object of search of some hopeful, frivolous minds, and far beyond these powers— if such could ever have been discovered—of transmuting the baser metals into gold is surely the discovery of a remedy so potent as to replenish the failing energies of the confirmed man in the one case, and in the other so effectually, speedily and safely to expel from the system without the aid, or even the knowledge, of a second party, the poisons of acquired or inherited disease in all their protean forms as to leave no taint or trace behind. Such is

THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY

THERAPION. which certainly ranks with the most successful precedents of many of the discoveries of our day, about which no title ostentation and noise have been made, and the extensive and ever-increasing demand that has been created for this medicine, when it was first introduced, is a strong proof of its value. It is a fact that it has been formerly the sole reliance of medical men. Therapion may be obtained of the principal chemists and merchants throughout the world.—Therapion French Advertiser, KIMBERLEY.

Therapion may now also be obtained in Dragee (Tasteless) form.

Successes and Characters.

BY RUTH CAMERON.

she may care even more for the force and power that makes him capable of making that money.

We never blame a man for admiring beauty in a woman, why then should we think it any more censurable for a woman to admire force and power—the masculine complements of beauty. Sometimes, of course, the successful man does not possess these characteristics—his success may have come to him through luck or through undesirable methods—and sometimes, of course, the failure has latent power, but nine times out of ten if you see a young man who has made a place for himself in the world you see a man who has something of power and bigness in him; and nine times out of ten when you see a man in a mediocre position, you see a mediocre man.

The girl whom this man is to marry is a young woman who, by her unusual personality, has won excellent social position, of which he is justly proud. Yet no one accuses him of being in love with her popularity. They realize that he is rather in love with the personality that "makes it possible. Why not judge her feelings as kindly?

As a nation we certainly take a deep interest in wealthy people. We eagerly devour the newspaper chronicles of their doings. We point them out on the street. We are vastly excited if our hostess tells us we are to meet a millionaire. And then, again, the more thoughtful of us are sometimes ashamed of that interest. But after all, need we be? The possession of wealth means that either a man or his father had remarkable force of some kind, something that set him apart from his fellows.

Is it not that force rather than the wealth itself to which we make obeisance, and is that anything to be ashamed of?

Are the Fly and Mosquito Dangerous?

The fly, with spongy feet, collects the invisible germs of disease, spreads them over our food and poisons us with typhoid and cholera. The mosquito with its bite injects into our veins malaria and yellow fever. The bacteria of consumption, or grip, are everywhere present for us to breathe into our lungs. The blood which flows through our veins and arteries is our protection. It should contain healthy red and white blood corpuscles—capable of warding off these disease germs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a blood medicine and alterative, made entirely without alcohol, a pure glyceric extract of bloodroot, golden seal, Oregon grape root, queen's root, mandrake and stone root, which has enjoyed a good reputation for over forty years. The refreshing influence of this extract is like Nature's influence—the blood vital fires of the body burn brighter and their increased activity consumes the tissue rubbish which has accumulated during the winter.

"About forty years ago while in Newark, New Jersey, I had chills and fever," writes Miss Maclean, of National Military Home, Kans. "I went to Kansas City and in the spring of 1877 the chills and fever returned evering. I tried to do my own good. Finally I saw Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery advertised. I took one bottle of it and the chills vanished. In about a year afterward I felt then come back so I got another bottle and have never had any symptoms of fever or ague since. That is all of twenty years ago, for I had the chills about twelve years before I started to take Golden Medical Discovery."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are for Liver Ills.

Fashions and Fads.

Pearls are fashion's latest jewels. The oriental effects are creeping even into negligees.

Eton collars in fancy variations are much in evidence.

Real Irish neck fixings will be as much in favor as ever.

Some of the silk summer gloves are tucked their full length.

Colored buttons are much used as trimming on children's dresses.

Black silk broche is used with delightful effect for dressy suits.

A great deal of amber is used in hair ornaments for the evening.

White coq and white vulture are both favorites on the new hats.

Fine novelty suits are made of wool broche combined with satin.

Children's styles show a great many belts and sashes this season.

Sable fur is always ultra fashionable, and fisher fur is very effective.

A costume of rich dahlia-colored velvet is perfect with skunk borders.

A lovely wrap of broadened velvet has chiffon sleeves that almost hide the hands.

Little box-pleated frills are seen on some of the white charmuse frocks for afternoon.

Some of the most charming of the low-cut neck gumples have fronts slightly frilled.

In the smart tearooms of Paris one sees women wearing their hair in a series of knots.

Luxurious small handbags for autumn are often of silk and are gold or silver mounted.

It is characteristic of many of the new collars to be long in the back and short in front.

The new Medici collars are strong rivals of the Robespierre, but not so universally becoming.

The Robespierre fashion promises to be the rage in both blouses and one-piece dresses.

Black velvet pumps with colonial buckles, worn with black silk stockings, are very popular.

Some of the new purses are made of reindeer skin, lined with moire. They come in vivid colors.

The newest veils are escorial effects with magpie colorings. These are astonishingly becoming.

The new English raincoats for girls have a porous "sweatband" inside across the shoulders.

Afternoon and evening dresses are much longer than hitherto and have that much added grace.

Many of the new gowns have their skirts caught at the foot by buttons and ornamented straps.

The fad for making one side of the bodice different from the other is as much as ever in evidence.

Peau de suede, a fabric with the dull finish of suede and the softness of silk, is a favorite this season.

Long wraps of velvet cloth or satin are much favoured for autumn wear before putting on fur coats.

It is said that some of the soft warm cloths will be faced with white kid, even the buttons being kid covered.

Address
to Mr. Payne

Dear Mr. Payne,—On this, the eve of your departure from Channel, we, the pupils of St. James' School, beg to present you with the accompanying set of cuff links in token of the esteem in which you are held by us.

We regret that you find it necessary to discontinue your good work among us as our teacher, but our loss will be a gain elsewhere. We shall always remember you as one who worked hard and willingly in everything that appertained to our welfare, and we all feel proud of the progress made by our school under your capable management.

In leaving us we want you to rest assured that you are taking with you the prayers and best wishes of us all for every success in your new work.

Signed on behalf of the school,—
Jennie Currie, Hilda Mackey,
Camilla Keating, Maud Pike,
John Read, Percy Carter, Gillespie Carew.
Channel, Sept. 23rd, 1912.

REPLY.

My Dear Children,—No words of mine can convey to you my appreciation of this your beautiful present and accompanying address. It is a pleasant surprise to me, as it assures me of your appreciation of my weak endeavours to train your minds and lives in the way they should be trained. On this I must congratulate you upon, and it is the womanly and manly spirit displayed by you at all times. You did everything possible to make my two years spent with you happy ones, and if I had not been so I feel sure that my work would have been a failure. Doubtless there were times when I administered corporal punishment, which you thought unjustly given, but I am sure that as you grow older you will realize that such punishment was for your own good.

And now that I am leaving, I desire that you extend your kindness and love to my successor, Mr. Harnett. He is a man of many years' experience and capable of carrying on, in a higher measure, the work laid down by me. Rest assured, dear children, that Channel in general, and you in particular, will always find a warm spot in my heart.

I must take this opportunity of thanking all in Channel for their unvarying kindness to me during my stay, and more especially to those who contributed toward the handsome souvenir which you have presented me. May God's blessing and protection be with you and your teachers in your work and life is the wish of

Your affectionate teacher,
HAROLD PAYNE.

The Labrador Strike.

To-day we publish the story of the Labrador strike from the pen of Dr. Grenfell who was present at Indian Harbour at the time and acted as mediator between the parties.

The men stopped the loading of a steamer with fish, and to that extent risked incarceration in the Penitentiary for what they deemed to be the good of the cause they were fighting. Outside of this demonstration to put down any strike-breaking, which appears to have been conducted without bodily harm to any one, the men were quiet and orderly, although fully determined to exact what was due to them. They are exasperated at the price they are called upon to pay for their out-fits, and are distrustful that justice is being done them in the way of the prices of their catch.

It is evident that a situation is arising not only on the Labrador but throughout the country which demands the creation of some public body which shall keep itself in touch with the market outlook and foreign prices. Such a body must possess the confidence of the whole community, or it will fail to avert trouble of the nature of that which Dr. Grenfell relates. If it is a body composed mainly of merchants and business men it will not dispel the distrust which was manifested in this strike and which is often prevalent at other places. It must, therefore, be all-embracing and fully representative of fishermen, selling their catch and the merchant buying for the foreign market.

Since the despatch of Dr. Grenfell's letter, the strike has been settled. The fishermen found that it was impossible to get the $4.00 a quintal they asked for and called off the embargo on the promise of $3.50 and the rise, which apparently is what the foreign

Another Robbery

Trunk Stolen From Cabin of Schr. Last night the waterfront thief was again in evidence and stole a trunk from the cabin of the schr. Beatrice M. of Trepassy, laying at Pitts' upper premises. The theft was committed about 9 o'clock, and on board the schr. and down in the forecastle smoking were Denis Fitzgerald, John Waddleton (the skipper's son) and James Curtis. They heard no noise whatever, nor did the watchman on the premises. The skipper himself, James Waddleton, was ashore and came on board about 9:30 going into the cabin. He immediately noticed that a trunk which was there and owned by John Ryan, one of the crew had vanished. He told the other men and on a search being made the trunk was found on the eastern part of the wharf in a square where cattle are hitched up generally. The lock had been prised off and the trunk ransacked but nothing was stolen from it. The thief wanted money evidently but there was none in it evidently. The men did not report to the police as they were satisfied to find everything intact.

Fire at Snook's Arm

A Water Street gentleman received information this forenoon acquainting him that a disastrous fire, of an unknown origin, occurred at Snook's Arm yesterday. The fire broke out in a dwelling 1 1/2 stories owned by the Capt. Wholmuth, carpenter and which is used as a cook house and the sleeping quarters of a contingent of men who are engaged at the Snook's Arm whaling station. No particulars as to how the fire originated are to hand, but it is believed that the men lost all their clothing. The building is covered by insurance.

Harmony From Labrador

The S. S. Harmony, Capt. Jackson, arrived here last night from the Labrador. She left Okak on the 30th September, after going down as far as Port Burwell in Ungava Bay and coming and coming had exceptionally fine weather. The ship left here on August 30th, and coming up called at these Maravian Mission Stations, Markovik, Hopedale, Nain, Okak, Hebron, and Port Burwell. Mrs. Smith and child came up in the ship. She is the wife of a missionary at Hebron, and is going home to see her friends. The ship brought up some trout and oil. She reports the missionaries and the Eskimos in their various places in good health. The ship passed the Beothic Id. Grey Strait on Sept. 25th, when the Capt. and the Beothic hailed Capt. Jackson and asked for information of the Government ships working in Ungava Bay. The Arctic was in Port Burwell with the Harmony and left on the morning of the 2nd, on a surveying cruise in the Bay, and the Minto was down North. All are well in these ships. Strange to say, the weather on Northern Labrador is warm and sunshiny and there was only one snow shower while the ship was on the coast. They did very well with the fish on Northern Labrador and the Harmony met several schooners coming south with full loads. The ship leaves next week for Labrador again and will return here in November.

The Frog Man.

GREATEST NOVELTY EVER SEEN. Dave Nicholson is an actor who has puzzled more doctors than any other living creature. This clever contortionist, who will open an engagement at Rossley's Star Theatre on Monday, Oct. 7th, must be seen to convince every one what can be done by years of solid practice. He has exactly the same number of bones in his anatomy as any other human being, and yet most of the medical fraternity claim that it is a physical impossibility for a perfectly formed human being to accomplish what that wonderful man does. Mr. Nicholson has just completed his fifth season with the Barman and Haidj circuits, which also proves he must have a wonderful act, to have travelled with such a mammoth show, as only select and picked stars in the business can do so, and Mr. Rossley has to pay him a very large salary to secure his services. He will change his act twice weekly during his engagement. At the finish of his first act he closes with a phenomenal jump off a six foot pedestal, with both feet behind his head. This trick is a peculiarly thrilling one—11.

STEAMER HELD UP—STRIKE-BREAKERS PREVENTED FROM LOADING STEAMER—FISHERMEN WANTED $4 A QUINTAL—NO VIOLENCE OFFERED TO ANY PERSON—FISHERMEN READY TO GO TO PENITENTIARY IF NECESSARY TO WIN THEIR CAUSE.

INDIAN HARBOR, Sept. 27, 1912.
S. S. Strathcona.
On arriving to-day at Indian Harbor, a deputation of fishermen and also the three fish buyers waited on me concerning their labor dispute. It was perfect weather, the best week by far this whole season. A large steamer waiting for fish was at anchor flying her flags for loading, but not one fish was being moved. Last year the fishermen here did the same thing—striking for a higher price for produce. They had the year before, 1911, only received in this district $3.50 for fish, while everyone else had received $4. They were again offered only $3.50; they refused to ship only when the steamer was lying at anchor in their harbour at a great cost to the shippers. They won their point, obtained $1.30 for their fish, which reacted along the shore and gave others as they claim the advantage of their boldness. Fish was very high, fortunately, last year. After some discussion at a meeting held on the rocks the men agreed to have a meeting in the Mission room and discuss the question at once as very valuable time was being lost. It is always freezing in the mornings; the crews should all be on their way south, and the delay to the vessels reaching market was sure to sell against the value when it did. The buyers meanwhile claimed from me as a Magistrate protection, while at least they put their own fish aboard, and one or two fishermen very anxious to get away asked for the same, more especially a crew of wrecked men, and several poor Labrador men who had to get in their small open boats to their winter homes at the heads of the bays. We were ourselves very anxious to use the first and possibly the last spell of fine weather on this now nearly forsaken coast to finish another 200 miles of northern visiting among the settlers, but there seemed no alternative but to wait. So we at once sent the Strathcona with a deputation of fishermen to the islands around to gather their comrades, and also a wire was sent to the Government for advice. In due time a most orderly crowd of fishermen marched up the road and into our large Mission room to its limit. They insisted on my being present and presiding.

FISHERMEN'S CONTENTIONS.
Their contention, which they all voted should be made public, was as follows:—
(1) In the past we have been robbed of our just dues. The salt, provisions and gear, in which coin most of our produce is paid for, has been charged to us at high prices, over which we have no control; yet we had to take it. If we insisted on cash payment enabling us to go into the cheapest market to buy than we could get no outfit for the fishery, and we were not able to outfit ourselves. Our salt here this year is charged to us at $2.20, whereas in St. John's it is only $1.20.
(2) One of our Judges recently decreed that the buyers, who we consider a combine, have no right to settle the price of our fish. The price ought to be settled by the price in the foreign market, and that ought to be made public. We believe that the French and Bank catch is small, and that the Norwegian catch though so very large is not well cured; ours is good fish and should fetch as much as last year. They produced one paper, called Harbour Grace Standard, quoting market price in St. John's of Labrador sold fish at $4. They argued it is cheaper for a vessel to load here than in St. John's and the passage as short. They knew that a large amount of fish, viz., two sealers full, was being loaded at Battle, and also other vessels at other places at $3.50 per quintal and the rise. They argued, however, here collecting steamers and launches had to be employed to buy and collect the fish and also the owners had to maintain crews of men for the purpose of further drying the bought fish, and then to re-handle and stow it. This they claimed brought it to $4 to the owner.

Further, they contended the whole coast was looking to them. The spokesman said we may as well suffer one way as the other, and if our acts are illegal and we are sent to the Penitentiary, we honestly believe it is in a good cause that we are working for others as well as ourselves, and we are prepared to pay even that price. They said that if they were sure the fish was not worth $4 that was all they wanted to know. They only wanted its proper price; but they had been fooled so often they believed they were being so now. True, the Union paper gave the price as $3.50 to $3.75, but previous years they had been told $3.70 and others had got $4, and they were not sure their paper was able to get at the facts any better than they. They were afraid to accept any modus vivendi we suggested, and we racked our brains for expedients, knowing the great expense such a method of redressing a wrong costs. They seriously considered settling on the basis of a wire to impartial parties in St. John's, but no satisfactory name could be suggested.

DISTRUSTED ARBITRATIONS.
They very nearly agreed to shipping on the base of a price to be fixed later in St. John's by three independent arbitrators as the Government had done with the Reid Newfoundland Company, but the results of those arbitrations had by no means satisfied them apparently that justice would be done. Moreover, at these times there will always be some unbalance between reason and sentiment. We are not all philosophers always, anyhow, and some were not at that time. It is not to be wondered at if the labour unrest and strikes in the centres of civilization find a distant echo in these far-off shores. There can be no doubt that for a large body of labouring men dealing with a matter so vital to themselves, especially when as a rule these men, in spite of their sea calling are so exceptionally law-abiding, were now consciously breaking laws, the men were far more amenable and quiet than most strikers I have had to do with.

FISHERMEN'S RESOLUTIONS.
They disclaimed any intention whatever of doing bodily harm to any one, but the meeting closed with three resolutions:—
(1) We will agree to take not a cent less than $4.
(2) We will not allow any man to put any fish aboard under any condition unless $4 is agreed on.
(3) We will wire to St. John's to the papers and the buyers that we are prepared to put 10,000 quintals on board the first vessel that comes for it at that price. We will put No. 1 fish only. We will load it free of cost to the buyer, and we will put it aboard as quickly as it can possibly be done.
The captains of sixty crews of fishermen then wrote their names down

Ugh! Not Calomel, Castor Oil or Salts, But Delicious "Syrup of Figs" To-Night.

This wonderful fruit laxative acts as a liver- and bowel-cleanser—tonic—not as an irritant. Its action is natural and gentle—no griping, it is delicious—no dreading. It is positive and prompt—no waiting. If your stomach is sour and filled with vile gases, your head aches, or you are bilious, nervous, dizzy, half sick, your tongue coated, your thirty feet of bowels clogged with waste not properly carried off—don't wait. Surely take a teaspoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs to-night, and in the morning all constipated waste, sour bile, gases and poisons will move on and out of the system, gently but thoroughly—no griping—no nausea—no weakness. In the old days people and the amount of fish which at a minimum they could afford to load, and lodged the lot and their resolutions with myself—the buyer, if any could be found, was to communicate with me at Indian Hospital. Lastly, it was to let the buyers here know of their resolutions. This, after the meeting was over, was accordingly done—it had dissolved in great enthusiasm with cheers and good humoured jokes. We all wished most earnestly we could have solved the difficulty by ourselves giving $4. or $40 for the matter of that.

BUYERS REFUSE TO PAY $4.
The buyers listened most cordially to all that had passed, but simply said we are up against a stone wall. First, we are losing hundreds of dollars on the small profit we can alone hope to make on the margin we now anticipate if even they do ship at $3.50; we are under great expense already providing tonnage; we know the fish is not worth $4, and if we pay it we shall not only add to our losses, but we shall be involving others in England and elsewhere for whom we are partially acting as agents. This we will not do. On the other hand one contended I have 10,000 quintals of my own. I have paid men wages to catch it. I took a huge risk and they took none. It doesn't matter one cent to them what price is paid for fish. They are paid anyhow the same; the fish and the steamer are all part of my venture. I claim I have a right to load my own fish. I have met the men and argued it, but they refused. I tried to load it but they seized my boats, towed them back and prevented me. They all agreed we cannot buy at $4. We are sure no one else can; they produced telegrams already warning them not to give a cent over $3.50, rather to leave the fish and send the steamer back and these from merchants, commission agents, and even from the meeting of the Board of Trade in St. John's. They asked us to detain the Strathcona to afford them protection while putting their own fish aboard and to wire for instructions to the Government. Accordingly we wired conditions and asked if we should take any action. We are still waiting.

TOWING AWAY STRIKE-BREAKERS
27th. A perfect day, a day that Labrador excels in the fall. Summer visitors don't ever know Labrador. They come when the flies make life miserable, and are obliged to rush about day and night in a tireless, busy, small boat so that they never lose the idea of hustle, and this year fog and rain and easterly winds every day. It is now calm, clear as a bell. The exquisite autumn tints make these almost naked hills as beautiful as a carpet flower garden. A tint of white frost sets off the coloring and lends its lurid sense of well being to the system. Signal guns have just been fired, flags have been hoisted and a swarm of boats manned by lusty men sweep off to the fish steamer, still bravely but vainly trying flags for a cargo. A sailing schooner has just gone alongside, and on the hill tops and up on the yard arms of smoking the smokestacks the figures of men, watching what will happen are silhouetted against the clear blue of the sky. It has all passed off quietly and a long string of boats are towing the strike-breakers in triumph behind them is now rounding the northern headland to anchor her in a place where she would be harmless, but can be under surveillance and load no fish.

It seemed to us a great compliment that in addition to the request of the buyers that we stay here, a strong deputation of the men should have just come aboard asking the same thing. We have often decanted on the virtues of patience. But with this exquisite weather and a voyage of 200 miles to make on this coast at this time of the year, we feel far more like walling over the difficulty of practising it. It is surely time some referee were appointed who would be acceptable to both the Board of Trade, buyers and fishermen, whose judgment would be reliable enough for him to formulate some modus vivendi each year until prices could be settled in St. John's. It could be a committee, or arbitrators, or some one accepted by all parties when the men start in the Spring of the year. The present lamentable state of things is worth serious attention anyhow.

Cable News.

Special Evening Telegram. LONDON, Oct. 4. Hostilities between the Balkan States and Turkey have already commenced, according to reports from many quarters. A despatch to the Russian Government says that the Bulgarians are crossing the frontier. Military action has thus outstripped slow-footed diplomacy, for no ultimatum has yet been presented to Turkey, and in Constantinople none is expected until Monday. The Porte, however, has sent an official notification to the Powers, which reads: "In view of the manifestly aggressive attitude of the Balkan States, Turkey reserves to itself full liberty of action, convinced that the civilized world will do justice to its moderate attitude, but this cannot exclude care for safeguarding its dignity and security, as well as its right." This it was felt that the Porte's way of preparing the world for the success or failure of the Powers to stave off hostilities. No official confirmation of the rupture of peace is to be had, but skirmishes are reported to have occurred in the neighborhood of Jamboli in Bulgarian territory. In the vilayet of Sentan, along the Montenegrin frontier, near Danckliava on the Serbian border severe fighting between Turkish and Serbian troops is reported to have occurred.

Special Evening Telegram. ATHENS, Oct. 4. Plans to annihilate all Greeks now in Albania, have been laid according to reports from the Greece-Turkish frontier. The Governor of Jovina, Albania, has created a force of armed military police, composed of 100 outlaws. These men he ostensibly sent out to pursue Greek rebels, but it is alleged that the real object of the expedition is to annihilate all Greeks in the vicinity. Three battalions of Montenegrin troops are reported to have crossed the Turkish frontier to assist the mutinous tribesmen in resisting the approach of the Turkish troops.

Special Evening Telegram. LONDON, Oct. 4. In another message through the Times correspondent, on the Panama dispute, President Taft explains that his proposals before the Supreme Court were preferable because an adverse decision would be less galling to the Americans than an arbitration award, and Britain still not lose her legal right to demand arbitration. An editorial in the Times considers the President's explanation as very satisfactory, and as removing the apprehension that appeal to the Supreme Court was being offered as a substitute for the right of appeal to the Hague, but it points out that it still leaves the whole matter in a confused condition.

Special Evening Telegram. DOVER, Oct. 4. The British submarine "B 2" was run down by the Hamburg liner Amerika here to-day and sank at once, drowning fourteen of her crew. The officer in charge was rescued. The disaster occurred while the third patrol flotilla of submarines, consisting of six vessels, were manoeuvring of the

The Fishery on Labrador.

By the Solway we learn that twelve vessels have to date left the Labrador from various ports, fish laden for Europe. These left from Grady south. Several other vessels are still on the coast loading fish. The fishery, Capt. Parsons says, is all over as there is no cod to be had. There are fifteen bankers at Bateau and several others at other places but they are only catching 10 to 15 barrels per day which is comparatively nothing, and by this time most of these will have reeled up and should be now on the way home. Last week the weather was exceptionally fine and all hands rushed the work of making their fish to get home as quickly as possible. The greater part of the catch will be cured all right. Capt. Parsons estimates the catch among the stationers to be about 170,000 qts. This, of course, does not include the amount taken by the green fish catchers of Green, Trinity and Bonavita Bays and which must amount to thousands of qts. which are brought home to be made. There is not near enough tonnage on the coast to take all the fish to market and a lot of fish will have to be freighted by the Conception Bay people to St. John's and sold here. The weather on the coast was "sharfing" with snow showers occasionally and all the hills are covered with a mantle of white.

Missing Man Found.

Yesterday forenoon Const. Humber was sent to the country about Race Island to search for the missing man there but going to Mount Pearl found the man (Nagle) quietly working on Patk. Coughlan's farm. Nagle was surprised when told that people feared he was dead and said if they were so much concerned about him that they might give him work so that he could live. He said anyhow he was tired of the city and yearned for a breath of country air. He was quite happy and intends to live with Coughlan.

Marine Notes.

The Euphrates left here yesterday afternoon with a full freight for Conception Bay ports. The s.s. Themis left Bell Island yesterday for Philadelphia with 12,150 tons of ore, shipped by the N. S. S. Co. The schr. Evelyn, Capt. Burke, sailed to-day for Pernambuco with 3,520 qts. of fish shipped by A. Goodridge & Sons. The Checkers, Capt. Rumsey, arrived at Oporto this morning, fish laden by Bishop & Sons at Burin, after a run of 30 days. The Post left Horwood at 8 a.m. to-day and is due here Monday.

Headachy, Bilious, Upset? 'Cascarets.'

Bilious, throbbing headache means bowels are clogged and liver stagnant—you need Cascarets. You're bilious, you have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow, with dark rings under your eyes; your lips are parched. No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill tempered. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleansing nuisance to yourself and those who love you, and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember that most disorders of the stomach, liver and intestines can be quickly cured by morning with gentle, thorough Cascarets—they work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels clean; stomach sweet and your head clear for months. Children love to take Cascarets, because they taste good and never grip or sicken.

Be Happy.

When the toothache rumbles along your gums, be happy, and dance and sing; when your mother-in-law on a visit comes, be happy and dance and sing; when the roosters crow when you want to sleep, be happy and dance and sing; if the neighbours' bow wags rich wassal keep, be happy and dance and sing; if the bores come into your humble cot and fill your ears with their tiresome rot, concerning the tariff—oh, don't get hot! Be happy and dance and sing! If you find a brick in your pumpkin pie, be happy and dance and sing; when the milk is sour and the coffee vile, when a dray runs over your Sunday tile, oh, twist your features and make them smile! Be happy and dance and sing!

S. S. Solway Here

The s.s. Solway, Capt. Parsons, arrived here at 1.45 p.m. yesterday from the Labrador. She left here on Thursday, the 19th September, had fine weather going north, made all ports of call, and reached Holton on Friday, the 27th, where she met the Stella Maris. The Solway left on the 28th, coming south, and had very rough weather, especially on Monday evening and night, with a N. E. gale, high sea and heavy snow showers. Wednesday last, after she left Twillingate, it became very stormy at 2 p.m., with the wind from the S. S. E. It was very thick and torrents of water poured from the clouds. The ship got up off Wesleyville at 11.30 that night and remained in the offing for 6 hours, but as it was so thick and dark, and the bunkers being short of coal, the captain decided not to attempt to run in there and proceeded to Catalina, Trinity, Carbonear and Hr. Grace. She arrived at Carbonear at 8 Thursday night, landed 30 passengers, arrived at Hr. Grace at 11.30, was all night landing freight there and a lot of passengers disembarked. At 6 a.m. yesterday she went to the pier and took in 250 casks of whale oil, and then continued on to St. John's. She brought up her full complement of steerage passengers and several passengers in saloon.

Note From Arthur Selwyn Brown.

St. John's, September 27th, 1912. Mr. C. R. Thompson, Manager Newfoundland Boot & Shoe Mfg. Company, Limited, St. John's. Dear Sir—Early in the summer I purchased a pair of your watertight engineers boots for use in Labrador. I wore these boots during my Labrador trip and also on several long surveying trips I made in Newfoundland. They were subjected to very rough usage; but I have pleasure in informing you that I found them satisfactory in every way. They were perfectly watertight, I could safely stand in water and on wet ground all day without any water entering them and the sole leather withstood heavy travelling over the roughest country. I have had similar boots made for me by many of the leading American manufacturers of engineers boots, but never had a pair to give such splendid service as those made by you. I am informed by several local engineers, who have purchased boots from you, that they find boots manufactured by you for engineers boots invariably give the greatest satisfaction. Yours very respectfully, ARTHUR SELWYN BROWN, C. E. U. D. L. L. R. D.

PERSISTENT COUGH.

Wherever soothing syrups fail to cure that persistent cough which exhausts you, MATHIEU'S SYRUP of Tar and Cod Liver Oil and other medicinal extracts will rapidly and definitely rid you from it. The merits of Mathieu's Syrup are highly recognized and endorsed. Here are a few proofs:—

MATHIEU'S SYRUP. Fillmore & Morris, Amherst, N.S., Dec. 27, '07. Dear Sirs,—Herewith we enclose our cheque $15.00 in settlement of our account to date. W. O. COOK & SON. ST. We hope you will send it promptly, but if you are not able to send the whole amount at once, please send us some as our stock is getting low. D. MARTIN. NATIONAL DRUG & CHEM. CO. ORANGEDALE, C.B., Aug. 7, '08. Blacking & Mercantile Co.'y, Ltd., Amherst, N.S. Dear Sirs,—We have nothing but good to say of Mathieu's Syrup and can conscientiously describe it as the most popular and successful Cough Medicine we handle. Owing to the absence of any drug store in this vicinity there is a great variety of proprietary medicine sold in the course of the year, and Mathieu's Syrup pre-eminently leads in its own class. Yours sincerely, D. MARTIN. AGAINST HEADACHE there is no remedy so active as Mathieu's Nerve Powders which contain no opium, morphine or choral. 25 cents per box of 18 powders. J. L. for Home-made Self-Raising Flour.
To every pound of ordinary flour add 2 ozs. (one 5 cent tin) of and mix dry. Mix it fresh every time—it only takes a minute. Stir round till the lighter coloured Paisley Flour disappears and sift through a dredger.

In this way you have a self-raising flour superior to anything you can buy—one in which the raising powder has lost none of its virtue by waiting, exposure to air or damp in shops, etc. And it will cost you no more, if not less, than ready-made self-raising flour.

Paisley Flour is sold in 22c, 14c. and 5c. tins. The 22c. tin will raise 7 pounds of flour.
