1. In the event of an attack on St. John's by an enemy raider, an alarm will at once be sounded.

Do You Perspire Freely?

Many people are acutely sensitive to the odors arising from excessive perspiration, and yet under no circumstances is it wise to completely check perspiration for it is essential to health—many of the impurities of the body are gotten rid of by perspiration.

O'MARA'S PERSPIRATION DEODORANT does not unduly check perspiration, but when properly applied it keeps the body comfortable and sweet—it counteracts body odors. 36c. a Jar.

CHAPTER VI

IN THE ANCIENT HOME.

AT the hour appointed Mr. Warden drives up to the door of the Red Lion, and a minute later we are dashing along behind a long-legged, high-stepping horse through the quaint, ugly little main street of Hanbury, that strikes on my London-bred eyes as the very extreme of dullness and dreariness, in the middle of which he points out his home—a large, rambling red-brick house in the Queen Anne style, with a big brass plate on the door, and dainty office blinds at some of the lower windows that stare blankly out on an opposite graveyard.

"And you have lived here all your life, Mr. Warden?" I remark. "Do you know I am wondering with all my might how on earth you contrive to content yourself in such a place as Hanbury?"

"How do you know that I am content?" he asks. "It is not a very cheerful place, I am aware; still, there are conditions under which I can imagine a life in Hanbury a very happy one," he adds, glancing with eyes that

SCHOOL GIRL TELLS OTHERS

How They Can Find Relief From Periodic Sufferings.

Nashua, N. H.—"I am nineteen years old and every month for two years I had such pains that I would often faint and have to leave school. I had such pain I did not know what to do with myself and tried so many remedies that were of no use. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and decided to try it, and that is how I found relief from pain and feel so much better than I used to. When I hear of any girl suffering as I did I tell them how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me."—DARLENE MARSH, 25 Bowery St., Nashua, N. H.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, therefore is a perfectly safe remedy to give your daughter, who suffers from such painful periods as did Miss Marsh.

The reason so many girls write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice, is because from their own experience they have a store of knowledge which is invariably helpful.

are full of a passionate, wistful longing towards Adelaide, who, with her refined, sensitive face in a glow of pleasure, sits drinking in the loveliness of the sweet spring day. "I was born in that house we have just passed, and my father and his father before him. The Wardens have been lawyers in Hanbury for nearly a hundred years.

"And you have never lived elsewhere?" Adelaide inquires, with interest.

"Never," with the exception of a few years during my father's lifetime," he says evasively, his brows contracting as with some painful thought.

Everywhere the orchards are turning themselves into billowy seas of pink-and-white loveliness; everywhere the balmy air and bright spring sunshine comes shimmering down through the tender green of the budding trees upon the fresh young grass, the feathery ferns, and fragrant violets beneath; everywhere the hedgerows are white with the snow of the blackthorn, while the bleating of lambs and the cawing of rooks fill the air.

"That is the Priory away there to the right," Mr. Warden remarks, in the course of the drive, with a flourish of his whip toward a large house in the Tudor style of architecture just visible through the distant trees, "the place that ought to have belonged to your mother. Poor little woman! If, as my father, who was the squire's legal adviser, always believed, she was in any way wronged, she has not gone altogether unavenged. There are few more miserable men than the master of the Priory, who, hated and hated universally, lives there quite alone. He is an old man now, and has long been a widower. His only son, with whom he had always been at variance, has never set foot in his house for years. In fact, I doubt whether any one quite knows whether he is living or dead. The last that was heard of him he was in America. Rather hard lines, is it not, for a young fellow like Heriot Erroll to be knocking about in the world without money or friends, when he ought to be occupying such a different position?"

"Perhaps," I reply, "but I'm not disposed to waste overmuch sympathy on any one bearing the name of Erroll. I hope I shall never meet him, for I know I shall hate him if I do."

"I doubt if you would find it so easy to do that, Heriot Erroll is one of those happy mortals who possess a knack of making every one like them," Mr. Warden replies, as, turning a corner of the road, we enter a shady lane, arched completely with branching elm and beech, about half-

Whether from city or country find themselves living under an unusual strain. The unusual work necessitates the use of different muscles and this development demands a good supply of pure, rich blood.

Because it goes directly to the formation of new blood, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is of the greatest assistance in building up new cells and tissues and strengthening the muscles.

way down which we come upon a dark pool overhung with willows.

Just opposite stands a rusty iron gate, set between two stone pillars green with damp and age, and beyond which lies a weedy waste, that must at some remote period have been a garden. From this gate a broad path, choked with moss and weeds, leads up to a rambling, patchy old house, built partly of brick, partly of stone, the lower windows of which are closed with heavy wooden shutters, bare of paint for many a long day past; and above the quaint, irregular roof of which rise the tops of a tall row of Scotch firs, a dark background to which not even this bright spring sunshine seems able to impart the faintest touch of cheerfulness. A lonely, gruesome-looking place enough, make the best of it, nor does it need the assurance of our escort to tell me that our destination is reached.

"Here we are, then. Welcome to Deepdene, young ladies," Mr. Warden exclaims, as, springing to the ground, he turns to Addie with arms outstretched, waiting to lift her down. The light falls full on his handsome face as he stands there under the trees, waiting to receive the pretty, slender figure, which, even when her feet have touched the ground, it seems as if he cannot bear to relinquish.

"And, lifting up her eyes, she loved him with a love that was her doom!" are the words that come to me with strange prophetic force, as I catch the expression of poor little Addie's tell-tale face lifted for one shy, sweet moment to meet the tender longing in the dark eyes regarding her so earnestly.

Seeing them absorbed in each other, I struggle to the ground as best I can, and, pushing open the gate, that groans with a dismal sound on its hinges, hurry along in advance of my companions to the door of the house, which I wait with impatience for our escort to open, a task that is not accomplished without difficulty, for both lock and hinges are stiff with rust and disuse. But it yields at last, and we are in the hall—a long, low apartment, with wainscoted walls, polished oaken floor, and a heavy staircase, with carved balustrades.

A shadow like the shadow of death seems brooding over the silent old house as we wander from one to another of the dusty, cobwebby rooms, with a grave doubt in our minds as to whether it is possible for us to live here after all.

"It is astonishing what a difference good fires and a liberal application of soap and water will make to a place like this," Mr. Warden remarks, as I glance around with a rueful air, wondering, with a sinking heart, whether it is possible, for anything we can do, to impart the faintest touch of cheerfulness to such a gruesome old place.

"You must have some one here to clean up such of the rooms as you decide upon occupying. There is an old woman named Martha, whom I have sometimes occasion to employ; I will send her over here early to-morrow, and let her commence operations forthwith," he adds, as if in pursuance of my unspoken thoughts.

You Feel Fine

Fatigue is the result of poisons in the system, the waste matter resulting from the activities of life. The kidneys have failed to filter these poisons from the blood and you are tired. But awaken the kidneys and liver by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and you soon feel fine. The poisons are swept from the system, the pains and aches are gone and you are ready for work and for play.

Some of the rooms on the ground floor, and two or three above, we find on inspection to be quite capable of being made comfortable without much trouble, though the furniture, such of it as remains unbroken, is spindle-legged and antique to the last degree.

"A decided failure as tables and chairs," I remark, wondering whether it is possible to get enough of it together to furnish the few rooms sufficient for our needs; "but, as curiosities, eminently well qualified to take high rank."

"We can lay the flattering reflection to our souls that we shall be in 'good form' here at all events," Addie replies, with a laugh. "I foresee endless resources in those quaint Elizabethan old rooms, with their high, carved mantelpieces, oak-paneled walls, and tapestry-covered chairs. Oh, Mr. Warden, pray look here!" she adds, pointing to a wonderful old cabinet filled with curiosities and queer old china. "Did you ever see anything more lovely?" she asks, unearthing a couple of large china bowls that look as if they were longing, through their thick coating of dirt and cobwebs, for some one to fill them with fresh water and flowers.

"Talk of Deepdene as a ruin! Why, I am delighted with it!" Addie enthusiastically pursues. "Taste and tact will convert it into a perfectly ideal home. Some of the rooms have grand capabilities. This one, for instance, might be turned into the most charming of drawing-rooms."

"Upon my word, young ladies, you ought to be in the seventh heaven of happiness. You have treasures enough here to excite the envy of connoisseurs; and every bit of it genuine, too, which is very much more than can be said for the contents of some drawing-rooms. But medieval furniture and Deepdene are in excellent keeping, for it is, perhaps, one of the oldest houses in Devonshire. It was converted into a dwelling house for the lord of the manor in the days of the eighth Henry, before which it belonged to a religious order, and was connected, it is said, by a subterranean passage with the once famous Priory, the ruins of which are just visible from your southern windows, and to which the home of the Rutherford owes not only its name, but a portion of the materials of which it is built. After Henry's spoliation of the religious establishments, it passed through many changes and vicissitudes, falling at last into the hands of the Errolls, in whose possession it remained until the time of Squire Rutherford. And now, young ladies, if you will decide which of the rooms are first to undergo the purifying process, I believe we may as well begin to think of our return."

"You are the best judge of that, Addie," I reply. "You know better than I do which of the rooms are most habitable; you can decide without me. And while you settle the question, I'll sit down at this window and enjoy the sunset."

"That my presence is not altogether indispensable to their happiness" is quite evident from the readiness with which they agree to the proposal; and for a few moments I hear their voices in the next room, suggesting, discussing, planning. By and by all is still; the last sound of their steps has died away in some distance corridor, and I am left so long to the enjoyment of my own society that I am beginning to consider the advisability of going in search of the trunks, when a cry—long, wild, despairing, desolates, that seems to come from somewhere just below the window at which I am sitting—breaks on the stillness of the time and place with such startling distinctness as to turn me cold and sick with terror.

Fads and Fashions.

Challis is excellent material for a dress which is to have hard wear. A charming net hat is of cloudy brown tulle with long ties of the net. Every possible variety of sweater is seen—some of them very elaborate.

The latest Paris skirts show a great deal of ingenuity in the designing. For general wear, is a frock of black habotage, frilled with cream white.

Black and gold brocades are expected to be in high favor the coming season. Sleeves are raglan and bishop and normal sleeves set in normal armholes.

A dainty white voile blouse has collar, cuffs and front covered with tiny pink tucks.

The Pattern is cut in 3 sizes: 12, 14 and 16 years. Size 14 requires 4 1/2 yards of 44-inch material.

SOISSONS RETAKEN.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES IN FRANCE, Aug. 3. (By the A.P.)—Soissons has been retaken, and the Valley of the Crise has been crossed. The Allied line this evening runs from Pommiers to Soissons, thence to Belgium, the Valley of the Crise, Chancise and Arcy Strestituté, through the centre of the Forest of Neules to the village of the same name, and thro' the centre of the Forest of Rheims to Lagery, Lheroy and Tramery. North of the last named three places French cavalry has advanced about another mile to the Bois Lemens and Tresson. Bruliet is still in the enemy's hands in flames, and further east near Rheims, Thillois has been retaken. The day was one of continued successes for the armies of Generals Mangin, Degoutte and Berthelo. All along the line the Germans have been forced to hurry their retreat of the west centre of the salient. The enemy is completely devastating the country as he retreats, carrying out the settled German policy. The French are now on the edge of the plateau between the Crise and Vesle, after an advance which at some places was three miles deep, and are within seven miles of Fismes. The enemy, it now seems certain, must retire to the Vesle, and very probably to the Aisne. A copy of the Berlin Tageblatt received behind the French line contains the following article written recently by Herr Hegeler, its war correspondent: From the strategical point of view

CABLE NEWS.

SOISSONS RETAKEN.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES IN FRANCE, Aug. 3. (By the A.P.)—Soissons has been retaken, and the Valley of the Crise has been crossed. The Allied line this evening runs from Pommiers to Soissons, thence to Belleau, the Valley of the Crise, Chacrise and Arcy Street, through the centre of the Forest of Nesles to the Village of the same name, and thence to the centre of the Forest of Rheims to Lagery, Lheroy and Tramey. North of the last named three places French cavalry has advanced about another mile to the Bois Lemerne and Tresslon. Bruliet is still in the enemy's hands in flames, and further east near Rheims, Thillois has been retaken. The day was one of continued successes for the armies of Generals Mangin, Depoutis and Berthelot. All along the line the Germans have been forced to hurry their retreat of the west centre of the salient. The enemy is completely devastating the country as he retreats, carrying out the settled German policy. The French are now on the edge of the plateau between the Crise and Vesle, after an advance which at some places was three miles deep, and are within seven miles of Fismes. The enemy, it now seems certain, must retire to the Vesle and very probably to the Aisne. A copy of the Berlin Tageblatt received behind the French line contains the following article written recently by Herr Hegeler, its war correspondent: "From the strategical point of view the seven days' battle has been a complete failure. Nevertheless, success has been gained which I can register to-day. A new part of France has been laid waste. Everywhere are ruined towns, villages and farms. Fires light up the night, and all day thick clouds of smoke, caused by explosions, float over the ravaged cornfields and destroyed forests."

HAVE REACHED THE AISNE.

PARIS, Aug. 3. Throughout last night the Allies continued to advance toward the Vesle, the war office announced to-day. East of Soissons the French have reached the Aisne between Soissons and Vineszel.

HUNS RETIRING ON THE ANCRE.

LONDON, Aug. 3. The Germans are executing a local retirement to the east bank of the Ancre in the region of Albert, on a front of three or four miles, according to news received in London to-day. The Germans' hold on the west bank of the Ancre in this region has been precarious, and it seemed to be tenable only if it were intended to be made use of in the starting point of an offensive. The retirement appears to indicate the abandonment of any attempt at an offensive in this quarter at present.

EXTENDING THEIR RETREAT.

LONDON, Aug. 3. On the main battlefield the French, after completing their occupation of Soissons, have occupied the south bank of the Aisne between Pommiers and Venizel, a distance of approximately five and a half miles, advice received here to-day show. On the easterly side of the Soissons-Rheims front the line to which the Allies have advanced runs, according to the latest advices from Serzyterin and Serigny, both in the Ardre Valley, to the highest point on the plateau between the Ardre and the Vesle, and thence to Rosnay, Gueux and Thillois and on to the Vesle at St. Eric, which is on the original line on the northern end of the plateau to the southeast of Soissons. The French have advanced from Venizel to a point south of Braine on the Vesle. The advance is continuing on the line farther to the east. Burning villages in the area north of the Vesle River between Muson and St. Thierry indicates that a further withdrawal of the German forces is intended. Fourteen large fires have been observed. The important centre of the line is in flames, and there are great conflagrations in two villages to the northwest of that town.

AIRMAN MISSING.

LONDON, Aug. 3. Major Edward Mannock, one of England's most successful flying men, who had fifty-eight German machines to his credit up to a month ago, is missing, according to the Evening Standard. Major Mannock was last seen fighting over the German lines on July 2nd, when his machine was observed to fall in flames.

AMERICAN PROGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3. American troops pursuing the enemy, whose forces on the Soissons-Rheims front began to fall back this morning, have penetrated to a depth of five miles, and their progress is continuing, General Pershing reported in to-day's communique received late to-night by the war department. In Thursday's fighting American troops captured Hill 230.

FRENCH TROOPS ADVANCING.

PARIS, Aug. 3. During the night the French troops continued their advance toward the Vesle on the left. The French troops reached the Aisne between Soissons and Venizel. The evacuation of the line of the Vesle, if it has not been brought about before, seemingly is made compulsory by the French advance to the Aisne, east of Soissons. Coupled with the French advance north of the Aisne yesterday to Pommiers northeast of Soissons, it is a dangerous menace to the line of the Aisne. The French advance points directly toward the important heights at the western end of the Chemin des Dames, which are less than five miles north of Venizel.

MANY VILLAGES TAKEN.

LONDON, Aug. 3. Reuter's correspondent with the French armies, says that after the fall of Soissons the French headquarters received the names of villages and woods re-occupied by the Allies with almost monotonous regularity. "Fleisher Wood," he continues, "which is on the Soissons-Chateau-Thierry road, was turned early in the day and the defenders surrounded. This wood was the centre of the enemy resistance, and the fight for it was extraordinarily bitter. Farther north the British troops crossed the Soissons-Chateau-Thierry road, and pressing through the Concrois Wood, were soon more than a mile east of Ville Montoire."

PRISONERS TAKEN.

PARIS, Aug. 3. (Havas Agency)—Many prisoners were taken by the French at Soissons, which was occupied at 5 o'clock Friday evening, one hour after the Germans were driven from the suburbs. Those of the German garrison not captured escaped by fleeing northward.

WORK OF AIRMEN.

LONDON, Aug. 3. Proof of the continuance of British airplane supremacy is afforded in a weekly review of the air-fighting, which shows that during that period seventy enemy machines were destroyed on the Western front and 11 driven down out of control, while only 27 British machines were reported as missing. On the other fronts 18 enemy machines were destroyed at a cost of two British planes. In the course of the week there were seventeen raids into Germany, in which Offenburg was bombarded three times, and Stuttgart, Saarbrücken and Baden twice each. There were eighteen raids on German naval and military bases in Belgium, while Ostend was bombed four times. The Bruges docks was bombed thrice and Zebrugghe twice.

THE AISNE REACHED.

ON THE FRENCH FRONT IN FRANCE, Aug. 3. (By the A.P.)—The Allied advance along the Soissons-Rheims front continued throughout last night and this morning. The bank of the Aisne has been reached along the front from Pommiers west of Soissons to Venizel and to the east of that town. Further east the Allies have reached the district of Serches, Couvrelles and Cereuil. Cavalry patrols have arrived at the Vesle in the vicinity of Champigny and Jonchery, finding all the bridges cut or burned by the Germans. Just to the west of Rheims the Allies have reached or are approaching Tomqueux, Thillois, Gueux and Rosnay, all lying in the neighborhood of the main road from Rome to Rheims. Fires are illuminating the skies everywhere, the enemy burning everything as he retreats. More than forty conflagrations were counted during the course of the night.

VESSEL SUNK; CREW SAFE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3. An Associated Press despatch from Eastport, Maine, this morning, says the crew of nine men from a lumber-laden four-masted schooner were landed at Grandmanan, N.S., to-day. The men reported that their vessel was sunk by a submarine last night while between Briar Island and Grandmanan.

REVOLUTION IN ARCHANGEL.

KANDALAN, Russian Lapland, Aug. 3. (By the A.P.)—A revolution against the Bolshevik and in favor of the Allies, has occurred at Archangel. The Soviet troops have fled from the city.

TERRORISM IN RUSSIA.

LONDON, Aug. 3. The terrorist campaign against the Germans by the Russian social revolutionists of the left, includes an explosion at Kiev, which resulted in the deaths of seven hundred German soldiers, in addition to the murder of Field Marshal Von Eichhorn.

SUBMARINE NEAR MAINE COAST.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3. After removing a quantity of provisions from an American lumber laden schooner near the Maine coast last night, the crew of a German submarine set fire to the vessel, the Navy Department was informed to-day by the Commander of the First Naval District. The name of the vessel was not given.

TROUBLE FOR GERMANY.

LONDON, Aug. 3. An Exchange despatch from Zurich to-day says telegrams from Cracow state that after the assassination of Field Marshal Von Eichhorn in Kiev more than 500 persons were arrested, including former Premier Winneschko, Secretary Mikulof, and many members of the constitutional democratic party. Martial law has been proclaimed throughout the province of Kiev; Germans are continually arriving at Warsaw. Ten German soldiers have been found murdered in various parts of Kiev, and revolts among the Ukrainian peasants continue to be reported. The Germans have discovered a plot to overthrow General Skokorpataki, the Ukrainian Hetman, and make Archduke William, son of the Austrian Archduke Charles Stephen, King or Hetman of Ukraine.

GERMAN RESISTANCE FALTERING.

PARIS, Aug. 4. Allied troops have crossed the Aisne at several points between Soissons and Venizel. The German resistance is faltering on the left wing of the Allied advance, while it is growing stubborn and desperate on the right wing where the Germans still retain a foothold on the southern bank of the Vesle, between Champigny and Jonchery, northwest of Rheims. The number of prisoners captured by the Allies during the last two days will thrill the Allied world when announced. The Vesle River, which was flooded owing to the recent heavy rains, has hampered the German rearguards which were unable to ford the stream and had to fight for their lives. The most of these Germans were killed and the rest were made prisoners.

FISMES TAKEN.

PARIS, Aug. 4. The town of Fismes, Germany's great store house on the Aisne-Marne battlefield, has been taken by the French and American troops, according to the French official communication issued this evening.

RETREATING ACROSS THE AVRE.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 4.—The Germans are retreating on the left bank of the Avre River between Bourges and Brachet northwest of Mont Didier, on a front five miles in extent. Allied patrols are keeping in contact with the enemy.

AMERICAN CAPTURES.

LONDON, Aug. 4. The full fruits of victory in the counter offensive begun so gloriously by Franco-American troops on July 18, were reaped to-day when the enemy met his second great defeat on the Marne and was driven in confusion beyond the line of the Vesle. The enemy in spite of suffering the severest losses, has proved incapable of stemming the onslaught of our troops, fighting for liberty side by side with French, British and Italian veterans. In the course of the operations 8,400 prisoners and 125 guns have been captured by our men alone.

ARMY IN FULL RETREAT.

VESELE FRONT, Aug. 3. (By the Havas Agency)—The army of the German Crown Prince continues in full retreat. The Germans have no heavy artillery in action. They evidently saw that positions were untenable. The German losses have been very heavy.

Heard Round The World.

The resolution solemnly assented to by the citizens of St. John's yesterday... The Kaiser has issued a decree wiping out the Salvation Army in Germany... Summer appears to have arrived at last... With coal selling for $2.65 per ton at Sydney, how much should dealers here charge for it, without losing any money? No prize for correct answer... If there is no censorial determination, how comes it that a contemporary was permitted to state, on Friday last, that the returning soldiers, which arrived yesterday, were coming direct from Sydney by boat? The people of Finland who want a German for their king, evidently have not read the fable about the frogs who wanted a monarch and were given a stork for their ruler... The munition workers in England promptly came to the conclusion, when confronted with the alternative of being drafted into the army, that being sent back to Coventry was not so bad after all... Mrs. Busch, the widow of the wealthy St. Louis brewer, was involved in the conspiracy to buy up American newspapers and turn them into pro-German organs... "Treason consists of bringing aid and comfort to the enemy... The message which I send to the people of the British Empire on the fourth anniversary of their entry into the war is "Hold Fast"... We are in this war for no selfish ends... We are in it to recover freedom for the nations which have been brutally attacked and despoiled... I say "Hold Fast" because our prospects of victory have never been so bright as they are to-day... There were glad hearts and hearts in St. John's last evening when the ship bearing the soldiers from the battle fields of Europe arrived in port... "Welcome Home."

The Message of the Imperial Prime Minister.

The message which I send to the people of the British Empire on the fourth anniversary of their entry into the war is "Hold Fast"... We are in this war for no selfish ends... We are in it to recover freedom for the nations which have been brutally attacked and despoiled... I say "Hold Fast" because our prospects of victory have never been so bright as they are to-day... There were glad hearts and hearts in St. John's last evening when the ship bearing the soldiers from the battle fields of Europe arrived in port... "Welcome Home."

Little Boy Drowned.

The Deputy Minister of Justice received the following wire from Magistrate Courage, Bay L'Anse-au-Loup: "Thomas Steward's little boy, 12 years of age, fell over the wharf at Fox Cove and was drowned. They saw his cap floating on the water before they missed him."

Casualty List.

(Received Aug. 3, 1918.) Died at New Bay, Nfld., July 27th, Brochole Pneumonia after Measles, 6614—Pte. Arch. Whitehorn, New Bay, N.B. (Received Aug. 4.) Seriously ill, Aug. 3rd, at Lord Derby's Hospital, Warrington, England, 4078—Pte. James White, Catalina. Previously reported. W. F. RENDELL, Lieut.-Col. C.S.O. for Minister of Militia. TO CORRESPONDENTS—H.P. O.G. S. "Lady Laurier." Your letter has been received. It is extremely unfortunely that the Reid Newfoundlanders failed in the courtesy of acknowledging the services rendered the standard "Bliss" by your ship. No doubt their communication having been sent through the Department of Marine and Fisheries, Ottawa, the text of it has not yet been forwarded the officer in command of your vessel. You will find that the Reid Company is not unappreciative of the fine work done by the "Lady Laurier" and her crew in assisting to get the Blisse off the rocks. The tenor of your letter is rather to be deplored and publication would not be justifiable at the present, as we think you have arrived at a premature conclusion.

Funeral Notice.

The funeral of the late Nathaniel Morris will take place at 2.30 tomorrow (Tuesday), from the residence of Mr. Fred Harris, 87 Quill Veld Road.

Remarkable Journey MAN AND WIFE CROSS THE LABRADOR WILDS, GUIDED BY TWO INDIANS WITH KOMATI AND DOGS—47 DAYS OF TRIP—FIRST WHITES TO ACCOMPLISH FEAT. For the first time in history the widest part of the wild Labrador has been crossed by a white man. Few people in this city knew that a week or so ago, we had in our midst, the man who performed this wonderful feat, but such is the case. Some time in the month of April, of this year, Mr. Jas. Watt, a Hudson's Bay Co. agent, and his wife, guided by two mountaineer Indians, set out from Ungava Bay, with a team of three esquimaux dogs, carrying a load of something over 400 pounds in weight. Following the general course of the Esquimaux River he crossed the height of land, and reached the Gulf of St. Lawrence breaking out at "Seven Islands," having latterly come by way of the Moisie River. The distance travelled was between 5 and 6 hundred miles, and was performed in 67 days. As the journey was accomplished along the line of snow and ice, they were able to follow the frozen rivers and lakes and by means of one of the latter, to being over 100 miles in length, about a third of the width of Newfoundland. About 200 miles from Ungava Bay, he discovered a river of great geological interest. It seems that the river disappears under ground, and having flowed seven miles, disappears once more. There is only one other such river in the world, and that is out in Central Africa, so that the discovery is an interesting one. Mr. Watt found that through the region in which he travelled, as far as the eye could see, the woods had been burned down. Apart from the supplies carried by Mr. Watt, and a little carried by the Indians themselves, the party practically lived on the country, shooting an occasional caribou, and some geese, and catching fish through a hole. At times, the Indian guides would go for two days at a time without food, gallantly declining to use any of Mr. Watt's supplies, saying that they were accustomed to such periods of enforced fasting. Mr. Watt, in a previous

Remarkable Journey

MAN AND WIFE CROSS THE LABRADOR WILDS, GUIDED BY TWO INDIANS WITH KOMATI AND DOGS—47 DAYS ON TRIP—FIRST WHITES TO ACCOMPLISH FEAT.

For the first time in history the widest part of the wild Labrador has been crossed by a white man. Few people in this city knew that a week or so ago, we had in our midst, the man who performed this wonderful feat, but such is the case. Some time in the month of April, of this year, Mr. Jaa. Watt, a Hudson's Bay Co. agent, and his wife, guided by two mountaineer Indians, set out from Ungava Bay, with a team of three eskimo dogs, carrying a load of something over 400 pounds in weight. Following the general course of the Koksook River, he crossed the height of land, and reached the Gulf of St. Lawrence, breaking out at "Seven Islands," having latterly come by way of the Moisis River. The distance travelled was between 5 and 6 hundred miles, and was performed in 47 days. As the journey was accomplished along the line of snow and ice, they were able to follow the frozen rivers and lakes, and he records one of the latter as being over 100 miles in length, about a third of the width of Newfoundland. About 200 miles from Ungava Bay, he discovered a river of great geological interest. It seems that the river disappears under ground, and having flowed seven miles, disappears once more. There is only one other such river in the world, and that is out in Central Africa, so that the discovery is an interesting one. Mr. Watt found that through the region in which he travelled as far as the eye could see, the woods had been burned down. Apart from the supplies carried by Mr. Watt, and a little carried by the Indians themselves, the party practically lived on the country, shooting an occasional caribou, and some geese, and catching fish through the ice. At times, the Indian guides would go for days, at a time without food, gallantly declining to see any of Mr. Watt's supplies, saying that they were accustomed to such periods of enforced fasting. Mr. Watt, in a previous term with the H.B. Co., had learned the different dialects of the Indian language, and no doubt a large measure of his success on the trip, was due to his ability to understand the Indian mind and ways. We do not think that anywhere in the world will there be found a more heroic feat than Mrs. Watt, the northern traveller's gallant wife, who through hardship and suffering, exposure, ice and freezing winds, accompanied her husband, on his perilous journey. It is doubtful if such superb courage is this, that has made the British Empire what it is today. One of the Indian guides had made the journey before, having, in the previous year, crossed from his tribe in "Seven Islands," on the Gulf of St. Lawrence, to Ungava Bay, and he was now returning with mail, and doubtless the knowledge of this Indian contributed largely to the success of the undertaking. As there are but few men in the world, remaining undiscovered and unexplored, we deem it right that this exhibition of great endurance should be placed on record. Furthermore, Mr. Watt, in undertaking this journey, shows that the spirit of adventure, and the desire to penetrate into the unknown have not yet passed away from amongst the members of the "great company." The explorations of its agents and hardships throughout Canada, and the hardships and privations that they endured, in the long places of the Empire, constitute them Empire builders in the truest sense of the word, and supply an illuminating page in the history of the Hudson's Bay Company. Mr. and Mrs. Watt went north again by the Nascopte, to spend another winter at Port Chimino, in the service of their company.

"The Hermit"

In connection with the item on "The Hermit," published in this paper Friday, we might state that there is now living in the city a man who knows something of the Hermit. This is Mr. Robert Cole, of King's Bridge Road, who is now past 70. Mr. Cole was formerly a seaman, and was working on the "City of Halifax," when the "Hermit" crossed on her. Before he, the "Hermit" left, he gave Mr. Cole a half sovereign, but said nothing at all, being very reticent. When he left the "City of Halifax" he boarded the "City of Brussels" and left for England.

Market Notes.

Sea Fish.—Bad weather during the past two weeks has delayed drying, and consequently receipts of new fish from outports have been short of other seasons. Not enough has been "weighed off" to make up a small cargo, and most of the few shipments have been bought at $10.50 apiece. The vessels now loading will take all the 1917 fish. Foreign markets in demand and price continue healthy. No. 1 Merchandise, next month, should not be less than $18, unless in the meantime the Labrador reports become more optimistic.

Wine, Brandy and Gin.

Alibi: "Bark Lash Na Gar."
By JAMES MURPHY.

How dear to our hearts are the drinks of our childhood. The sweet "lassy water" a cold to set free. And the juice of wild berries we plucked in the wild wood, which you would hold to make juniper tea. These drinks are forgotten—he once that we cherished—his name The present young race for them don't care a pin, but saw ones come in when the old ones had perished. Now the favourite drinks are Wine, Brandy and Gin.

VERTABLE CHARNEL HOUSES.
PARIS, Aug. 4. Allied forces in pursuit of the Germans have passed through veritable charnel houses, strewn with the debris of war. Bodies of men and horses are mingled with broken down vehicles alongside of mangled ammunition dumps, some partially exploded and other intact. Bodies of Germans found in clusters beyond the range of the Allied artillery indicate the severe punishment that was inflicted on the fleeing columns by the French, American and British aviators.

ONWARD RUSH CONTINUES.

PARIS, Aug. 4. American troops hold the outskirts of Fiammes, the great German base in the centre of the Aisne-Marne salient, according to the war office announcement to-night. The Allies continued their successful advance to-day along a front of about thirty miles towards the Vesle River. They have reached the southern bank of the Aisne and the Vesle, the line extending from Soissons to Fiammes. The text of the statement reads: "During the course of the day our troops driving back the enemy resarguards confronting their valorous march on a front of about 50 kilometres in the direction of the Vesle River. On our left our line of tanks along the southern bank of the Aisne and the Vesle from Soissons as far as Fiammes, the outskirts of which the Americans hold. East of Fiammes we have reached a general line north of Courville, Brancourt, Courcelles and Champigny. Our cavalry patrols are operating along the railroad between Soissons and Rheims. Our progress at certain points since yesterday exceeds ten kilometres. More than 400 prisoners have been delivered on this day alone."

Our American Letter.

Boston, July 30.—The wonderful prowess of the American soldiers who pushed back the crack troops of Germany and captured some 20,000 Hun prisoners has delighted and heartened all the Allied peoples. These are the American soldiers that Wilhelm the Damned held in such utter contempt. What must his thoughts be to-day as he dwells upon the trouncing they have done to his erstwhile allies? And what effect will the disaster to the army of the Crown Prince have upon the German people? Will they realize at last that the "super" is not invincible? Will they accept the terms the victors will dictate. Germany should be represented at a peace conference but should be held before the World's Court as a monster among nations, an insatiate devil for whom there should be no pity or compassion; the verdict should be the obliteration of Germany as a nation. Her territory should be divided amongst the nations she has pillaged and despoiled and her name made a synonym for all that is unholly until time shall be no more. What other course is there to pursue? A nation of devils could not appreciate magnanimity. They would look upon it as weakness. In a few years the monster would again come forth to threaten the peace of the world. The death sentence is the thing. Not only should he be publicly executed, but Germany must cease to exist as a nation. In no other way can civilization protect itself against these devils from hell. A little settlement was created here when a German submarine bombarded the village of Orleans, a few miles from Boston, and sank without warning several peaceful sea-barges and tugboats. Fortunately the lives were lost, although the undersea devils did their best to slaughter a group of young girls who were bathing at Orleans Beach.

Thousands Welcome Blue Puttee Veterans.

BAND PLAYS "BANKS OF NEWFOUNDLAND" AS KYLE DOCKETS AT FURNACE WITHY HER-ADRESS BY ACTING PRIME MINISTER CASHIN.
When did she pass the Cape? What time is she due? were a few of the numerous questions that were being asked by thousands of citizens yesterday who gathered along the waterfront anxiously awaiting the arrival of the S. S. Kyle with her valuable cargo of war scared veterans of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment, most of whom were familiarly styled as the "Blue Puttees." From noon up till the arriving of the Kyle at 7 o'clock at the Furnace Withy Co's pier, thousands of people had gathered along the waterfront, while upwards of one hundred autos gaily bedecked with bunting lined up near the big freight sheds of the Furnace Withy Co. waiting to convey the veterans to Government House. At 8:30 the gun at Cabot Tower gave notice that the ship was approaching and shortly after the Kyle, accompanied by a mosquito fleet of motor launches, entered port and berthed at the pier. As the ship passed Chain Rock the C. C. Band played: "When the Great Grey Dawn is Shining" and as she drew near the pier struck up the "Banks of Newfoundland." As the battle worn veterans on the Kyle recognized the wild, weird music of their native land they responded with heavy cheers.

The Man At Home.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON.

"Why aren't you in France?"

A woman whom I know, goes about asking that question of every young man she meets.

Because she is a woman, I suppose, she will never get what my mother used to picture-quefully call, "her comppance."

But I wish she might.

There may be some of the men whom she thus brusquely addresses, who deserve the rebuke; but there are others who, for some perfectly good reasons, are not in France, who feel just as badly about it as she does, and who should not have any such aspersions cast upon them even for an instant.

One of These Disagreeable Pessimists. Incidentally this woman has, to the best of my belief, never done any service herself, to help along the great cause.

On the contrary, she is one of those depressing pessimists who are always saying "Isn't the news in this morning's paper awful?" "Them Germans (she is as crude as she is rude) are terrible fighters," etc., etc.—you know the type.

There has long been a feeling that it is woman's part to shame the man who is holding back from the battle line, into his proper place at the front.

The Only Person Who Has That Right.

I'm not so sure that this is right. It seems to me that the only person who has a right to shame the man who isn't fighting, is the man who is. And, while a woman might feel that she would fight if she were given the chance, it is cheap business boasting what one would do from behind the safe barrier of sex.

Another woman whom I know, frequently calls my attention in public, to young men without a uniform, and says, rather scornfully, "I wonder why he isn't in the army?"

What We Need is a Badge.

It is permissible to wonder, but I do not think it is permissible to look askance at them or to draw any unfavourable conclusions. There are many men in military uniforms who had no desire whatever to Amendments Needed.

The organization of a Bolshevik association in one of the large Canadian cities is a thing to make Canadians pause and think; and when it is announced that the object of the organization is to work for recognition of the Lenin-Trotsky Government in Russia, Canadians are called upon to act. Neither Canada, Britain, nor any other decent Allied Government can recognize the Regime that present obtains among the Russians. That Government, first of all, is largely the Government of the lowest element among the Russian population, and its rule means disorder, assassination, looting and burning, no respectable man's life or property being safe today within the boundaries of the territory under their domination. Secondly, the Bolshevik leaders are openly anti-Ally and have only fallen short of declaring war against Britain and France in their carnival of madness and corruption. Last, but not most important, all that are undoubtedly servants or tools of the Germans. It has been shown by documents seized that some of their leaders have received regular money payments from Germany, and it is a well-known fact that the Bolshevik committees have placed arms in the hands of German prisoners, and Bolshevik soldiers have been campaigning side by side with these armed prisoners for the Lenin-Trotsky Administration. Thus any sympathy shown towards Bolshevism or any recognition given the same means aid and comfort to the Kaiser and the continuance of Russian subjection to the forces of anarchy and treason. Besides, there is the situation in Siberia to be considered. A large and heroic Slesco-Slovak force has actually conquered Siberia with the aid of anti-Bolshevik regiments, mostly Cossacks. These men are everywhere mortal foes of the Teutons and consequently devoted Allies of the Entente, and their work is now about to be assisted by the British and Japanese reinforcements, the open and avowed object being overthrow of the nightmare Government with which the nation is cursed. We are and must be the friends of the enemies of Bolshevism. All this brings us to the question of immigration, a matter which must be seriously considered at the earliest possible moment for it is a question whether any element in our population should be permitted to live free from military obligations, and it is also doubtful if any aliens should be permitted to live and thrive more than a certain time in the country without becoming citizens and assuming all the obligations of citizenship. Many amendments to our immigration laws are urgently needed.—Acadian Recorder.

THE WORKINGMAN'S PRAYER.

No use boasting of their courage, no use sitting down content. Sort of restrains like an 'Austrian' to the soldiers that we've sent. They're the finest youth that ever wore a country's uniform. An' they ain't afraid o' numbers or of any German swarm. But it's up to us to hustle, for they'll never lick the Hun. An' 'tis foolish thinking 'different,'—if they haven't got the guns.

We can brag about their mettle, for we know their fightin' ways; But 'tis up to us to help 'em every minute nowadays.

Every ship that's going over must be loaded down with freight. An' I pray to God each cargo won't get to 'em just too late. They are lads that smile at danger, an' they've got the grit that tells; But they'll never lick the Kaiser if we don't provide the shells.

There's no Prussian aviator that can beat a Yankee lad; We've got stuff in fancy flyin' that the Germans never had. But the Boche will keep on flyin' an' he never will be dowed. By the Yankee aviator that is kept upon the ground.

We've got cloud men there in numbers that can bust their circuit rings. But we've got to send them m-lors and we've got to send them wings.

Lord, I wish you'd give me language that would rouse my fellow man, So that I could haul him hustle in the way I know he can. I ain't been long on prayin', but I'm comin' now to you.

Wanted's words to set men doin' what I know they ought to do. Lord, the boys in France are waitin' here, an' we're turaid' out the stuff; Can't you speed us up a little so we'll make it fast enough?

I bought a horse with a supposed incurable ringbone for $30.00. Cured him with $1.00 worth of MINARD'S LINIMENT and sold him for $35.00. Profit on Liniment, $5.

THE CHAMBER TREATMENT.

We have all perhaps tried the milk treatment, the buttermilk diet and various other treatments, but how many have heard of the chamolia treatment. It is a local treatment for the complexion and very good.

The woman who motors much is advised to give her skin the chamolia treatment. The skin is warmed with a hot towel and then covered with real cream, though cold cream may be used if more convenient, or any good cleansing skin food. This is spread upon the face and while moist it is rubbed off with a prepared chamolia leather.

To prepare the leather take a strip about eight inches wide and eighteen inches long and wet it well with warm water. Wring it out and while it is still moist rub soap into it, using the best toilet variety. Rub the whole chamolia well with soap until it is lathery, then hang it up to dry, when it will be soft and fine and ready for use upon the skin.

The way to polish the face with a chamolia leather closely resembles the polishing of the toe of a shoe. The chamolia leather is taken by its ends and crosswedged across the face, using as much force as possible, by this vigorous exercise the skin is made fine, clean and soft.

A powerful factor in treating the complexion is the collar. If it is worn loose the face will be much clearer. A tight collar will make the veins in the neck swell and will render the nose. Sometimes the mere loosening

WARTIME PIES.

The wartime pie is a disaster; methinks its crust is made of plaster; the filling isn't sweetened rightly, for sugar must be handled lightly. I eat my pie of peach or cherry, or apricot or logan berry, and in the eating find no pleasure, but rather anguish without measure. It tastes as though the peach or cherry were doped by an apothecary. How long, I ask, while I am eating, will armies on red fields be meeting? How long will colonels and commanders, and all potential Alexanders across the battle field go scouring? Because of them we are devouring tough pies which look like iron wedges, and set our teeth on brittle edges. Because some kings and kindred geezers were stuck on lining up as Caesars, we are consuming pies of leather, all riveted and glued together. Because the Kaiser had a vision, a dream which seemed to him ethereal, a dream of German flags a-flooting wherever human skates are voting, from far Cathay to Athabasca, from Cork to Omaha, Nebraska, we're eating pies which break our jawbones and send us waiting to the sawbones. The grip of war our souls is pinching; we're brave and strong, but not unflinching; some burdens are too sore and grievous to bear without a sigh, believe us. We miss the pie that mother made us, and who, I ask you, shall upbraid us?

AMERICANS DEFEAT CITY.

The game last Saturday evening between the Americans and the City nine was attended by a large gathering of fans. It was decided to play a seven inning game but nine innings were got through before the deciding run was scored by the visitors. The score was 2 to 1. Right through the whole game the excitement was intense, regular "big league" stunts being continually in evidence. Frasier pitched for the "Gobs" and did wonderfully well, having 5 strikeouts to his credit and allowing but one walk. Perhaps the best feature of the game was the catching by Nylander and his almost perfect throwing to bases. "Chick" Swanson (who by the way weighs over two hundred) played second base and was mainly responsible for his team's victory, getting two two-baggers and having no less than five put-outs. He also scored the winning run on Godwin's sacrifice. Graver also made a pretty two-bagger in the 6th inning. Hall pitched for the City and put up a splendid showing, having eleven strikeouts and allowing but one base-on-balls. Brazie and Hall worked well together and were mainly responsible for the good showing of the City. Willits on second, Canning on third and Conoy at Centre Field all played well in their respective positions. Some few foolish errors were made by the city fielders and it was these that probably cost them the game. The fans thoroughly enjoyed themselves and are looking forward to the next game between these two nines. The umpires were Messrs. Angel and Chessman, and the scorers Messrs. Channing and Mallings.

To-Day's Messages.

11.00 P.M.

WILLIE'S FAILURE COMPLETE. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—A despatch from French Headquarters at a late hour last evening, states that the retreat of the enemy is general. On all three faces of the salient, the Germans may hold one, the line at Vesle, but it is quite possible they will be obliged to retire on the Aisne. Any way they have lost all their offensive gains in May, June and July. The question now is whether they will risk the remnants of their reserves as a sudden blow on another part of the front. If they decide to tempt fortune once more, they will find the Allied armies ready. For the present we are receiving, every minute, names of woods and villages that have been reconquered. The advance yesterday represents a most important gain on ground. Our advanced troops following the enemy reached the Valley of the Crise which enters the Aisne at Soissons. The enemy under heavy repeated attacks abandoned the whole of the Chardon plateau, and is already moving back his guns. The Anglo-French troops are in the thickest part of the fighting. Our troops on the east of the salient are in touch with Vesilly. The Germans, very much against their will, have accepted defeat and are retreating probably to Vesle. Thus ends the third greatest German push which was to bring the enemy within range of Paris. The Americans of the Crown Prince's Army is complete.

1.00 P.M.

FRENCH HOLD SLOPES.

On the British front the Germans have withdrawn between Mont Dief and Morsell, a distance of 4-5 miles. The French hold the slopes down to the western side of the Aisne River. The Germans have retired to the north bank of the Vesle, and the French have effected four crossings of the river, according to information received here to-night. The Germans had said they were resisting stubbornly and fighting strong rearward attacks.

ENEMY IN CONFUSION.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. The full fruits of our victory were reaped by Allied troops in the Aisne-Marne salient on Saturday, when the Germans were driven in confusion beyond the line of the Vesle. General Pershing reported in his communique for yesterday, received to-day by the War Department, American troops alone have captured 8,400 prisoners and 133 guns.

FORCED A CROSSING.

PARIS, Aug. 4. Both flanks of the German forces, between Rheims and Soissons, appear to have been turned. The French have forced a crossing at the Vesle, and German reinforcements are reported arriving in the Soissons sector. From the north the Allies continue their advance, according to latest reports, although it is held within prudent limits. The Allied left wing has moved faster than the right, and further progress in the Soissons region might expose it to a counter attack from the enemy.

HUNS BURN BRITISH VESSEL.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Aug. 4. The four-masted schooner Doraneta, launched at the Strait Shore, St. John, a few weeks ago, was captured and burned to the water's edge on Friday afternoon by a German U-boat off the Atlantic Coast. The ship encountered the enemy craft at noon, and after holding her crew on board for five hours, the German told them to take to their lifeboats and row for the nearest shore. The captain of the Doraneta and the members of the crew arrived in this city about 10 o'clock Saturday evening. They were none the worse for their experience and were immediately before the naval authorities to give a full report of what happened. It is reported that the enemy craft which destroyed the Doraneta, was the U-55, one of the latest type of German subs. After taking from the ship all her valuables and foodstuffs, as well as a large quantity of gasoline, which was stored on board to be used for motive power for the hoisting apparatus, the Germans started a fire in her fore-castle and another in her after cabin and the ship was burned to the water's edge.

IMPORTANCE NOT TO BE EXAGGERATED.

LONDON, Aug. 5. The following despatch has been received by Reuter's from his correspondent at British Headquarters under Sunday's date: The importance of the German withdrawal across the Aisne should not be exaggerated. It has been forced by our ceaseless pressure, coupled with the extraordinary difficulty of maintaining communications across the swampy river valley. The Hunns either had to get forward or retire before the week season arrived, and presumably the torrential rains of recent days precipitated the decision. The real significance of their step, that in that sector Crown Prince Rupprecht's army definitely has passed from offensive to defensive tactics. The threat against Amiens and across the great Albert road and to the northwards of the road is practically gone.

READS BOATS.

The main withdrawal which was carried out Thursday night, was probably a costly business to the enemy. The Aisne was swollen and we kept the brigades under a continuous fire so that they were almost destroyed and most precarious to attempt. The Germans failed to pass the stream and probably improved some pontoon bridges under cover of the darkness, but it is known that many were blown down in the operations. Our patrols worked their way into Hamel. On the west bank of the Aisne no German were encountered but considerably more of them were visible on the opposite bridge between Authnil and Thiepval. By yesterday afternoon we had extended our advance across the line of the river to Bernis-sous-Cours, which is cleared of the enemy.

RECEIVED BY THEIR MAJESTIES.

LONDON, Aug. 4. Via Reuter's Agency, Ottawa, Aug. 4. The Canadian editors visited Buckingham Palace yesterday afternoon, when they saw their Majesties and the Princess Mary. They were accompanied by Colonel Galloway and the partner of the Department of the Interior, who had been invited to the celebration of the King's birth by the Government of the Dominion. The King spoke in French to the editors from Quebec, and expressed his great pleasure at the efforts of the men and women of Quebec. His Majesty also showed a lively interest in the visit of the editors to France and said there were no troops better than the Canadians. He also referred to the splendid condition of the Americans who were passing through this country. His Majesty expressed great appreciation of the officers produced through the Royal Military College at Kingston. The King also expressed his very high appreciation of the American soldiers and said he considered them a very high type, and remarked about the serious way they were undertaking the job of fighting the enemy. Queen Mary talked with the Albert representatives about women's transients in the Western Provinces, and also presone of woman in the Alberta Legislature. She was greatly pleased to know that the women representatives in that Legislature took active part in debates and were proving to be competent legislators.

NOTHING TO REPORT.

PARIS, Aug. 5. French detachments which crossed the Vesle are meeting with resistance from the Germans, says the official statement from the War Office. There is nothing of importance to report from the battlefield.

Our patrols have been clearing up the situation in Albert, but the rumour of the town makes it now little more than a great gas and shell trap. Latest information available in London leaves the situation in Albert doubtful, but it is believed the Germans still hold a portion of the town. To-day has been fittingly commemorated. The highest and finest preservative ceremony was a special service of Remembrance and Intercession held at Army Headquarters. Chaplains of various denominations participated. About five thousand troops paraded, including Canadians and Americans. After the service an artillery commander delivered a fine patriotic homily and the march part of the Allied units followed.
