MONDAY EVENING, APRIL 22, 1872

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS.

P. C. Allen will open to-morrow at Thornton's old Book Stand.

Labor in the Ottawa district is very scarce and dear, and as high as $24 to $30 per month is being paid to lumbermen.

The house cleaning season is almost upon us, when the woman has her own way at the house, whilst the "old man" takes his solemn repose from the top of the flour barrel.

A PARLOR, the proprietor of an oyster saloon and billiard room in Orangeville, suddenly closed business on Monday last, and left for "Uncle Sam's dominions." His liabilities amount to nearly $2,000.

JOHN NEWMAN, near Johnson's corners, Brant Township, had his barn and eleven head of cattle, three horses, all his seed and reserve grain and a large amount of other property totally destroyed by fire on Saturday morning last.
The loss is very heavy and there is no insurance.

According to the Mosaic law the Passover owners, and will be observed by our Jewish citizens, seven days, commencing on Tuesday next. The first and last days are kept holy, and all business suspended. During the seven days unleavened bread only is eaten, commemorating the hasty exit from the land of bondage.

Mr. JOHN ASPENSON has sent us a copy of the Weekly Scotsman. He can supply readers regularly with this paper, or any other paper published in England, Scotland or Ireland. We have also received from him a copy of Hove's Musical Monthly, one of the best and cheapest musical periodicals published. For sale at Anderson's.

ACTION SALE OF BUCK HORSES.—We direct the attention of parties interested in the acquisition of valuable Horse property, to the advertisement of Mr. W. A.
Bookless' sale in another column.
We regret to learn that Mr Bookless' state of health necessitates a change of climate.

ACCIDENT IN PUBLISHER.—Some two weeks ago the son of Mr. M. McPhatter, Puslineh, was out in the bush chopping, and in cutting a limb his axe slipped, cut into his foot and took the big toe of his right foot clean off. The rest of the toes or foot was not touched. By skillful attention and doctoring at home he will soon be able to move about again.

Those who have been called upon to endure the miseries of a periodical "housecleaning" will recognize the force of the following description by one of the afflicted, who speaks of it as a season when woman has full sway whilst the "old man" takes his solemn repose from the top of the flour barrel. It is emphatically a season of meditation, whitewash, and calm, unimpassioned pliancy.

DEAD HORSE.—There is a dead horse lying near Foster's Tavern, on the Guelph and Puslineh line, at the corner as you turn to go to the Brook Road, which the Pathmaster in the beat should have removed at once. The other day a horse driven by a son of Mr. Wm. Thompson was frightened by the ghastly look of this putrid carcass, and had he not accidentally fallen into a hole just as he was starting to run, and was thereby stopped, a bad accident might have occurred.

BASE BALL.—A meeting of the Young Canadian and Shoofly Base Ball Clubs, of Guelph, was held on Friday evening at the Queen's Hotel, when it was resolved to amalgamate the two clubs under the name of the Union Base Ball Club of Guelph. An election of officers took place, when the following were elected: President, C. B. Taylor; Vice-President, J.
Howard; Secretary, G. A. Hadden; Treasurer, W. Bnd; Scorer, W. Maddock; Field Directors, R. Congalton, D.
Frenwick, and D. Emry. We trust that the new arrangement will be a material improvement, as it must strengthen the numbers and ability of the club greatly.

RESUMED BUSINESS.—As will be seen by the notice in another column, Mr.
James Massie has resumed his old business in the Alma Block, and has associated with him Mr. Robert Peterson, one of the members of the late firm of Paterson & Co. who had for some time been carrying on the business. We feel sure that after his long rest, Mr. Massie will recommence work with all his old energy and spirit, and we only echo the general sentiment of our fellow citizens when we wish him and his partner every success.
Mr. Massie is one of our most public spirited, enterprising citizens, who has sacrificed much time and labour for the public good. Among other good works he has finally established and built up the wholesale trade in Guelph, and now finds his way again in a more extensive and profitable manner. We hope it will continue to prosper under his management, and be still more widely extensive than in the past.

THIS MORNING'S DESPATCHES

Matriceide in New York State.

The Emperor of Brazil Home Again.

Fatal Accident at Kirkaldy.

The Geneva Arbitration.

Albany, N. Y., April 22.—A woman named Maher, residing in Greenbush, was struck down and had her neck broken last evening in attempting to stop a fight between her two sons. Joseph, the alleged matricide, has fled.

New York, April 22.—The Herald's London special says: "The Herald's correspondent at Rio Janeiro writes, on April 2nd, as follows: 'The Royal Mail Stemmer Togay, having on board the Emperor and Empress of Brazil and the Duke of Saxo, arrived here on the morning of March 31st, amidst the firing of guns and ringing of bells. The city is richly decorated, and at night, for the last three nights, it has been brilliantly illuminated. The Emperor is looking very well. He has had a comfortable voyage.'

London, April 20th.—The walls of a building in the course of erection at Kirkaldy, Scotland, fell this morning while the men were at work on it. Nine masons and labourers were suffocated.

A special despatch from Rome to the Daily News says it is the opinion of the Italian Government that the Board of Arbitrators at Geneva ought not to take into account, when deliberating upon the Alabama Claims, those submitted by the American Government to indirect damages.

London, April 20th.—Additional papers bearing upon the Alabama claims controversy between England and America were presented in both Houses of Parliament last night. These papers consisted of formal correspondence which has passed between the two governments on the subject, and not from Lord Tenterden, British agent, accompanying the British counter case.

London, April 20.—Miss Nellie Grant, daughter of President Grant left Leamington, to which place she proceeded from Liverpool soon after her arrival, for London this morning. The railway station was decorated with British and American flags. A bouquet was presented to the young lady, who departed amidst the cheer of a large crowd of persons assembled to see her off. Miss Grant, after remaining in London for some days, will proceed to the continent.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Thus far about four hundred and fifty British and only twenty American claims have been filed with the Mixed Commission, which will early this week adjourn to meet in the latter part of June, or before the expiration of three months allowed last March as an extension of the time within which claims may be filed. Only two Commissioners will then be present, but they will merely receive claims and then adjourn to September.

Wellington Spring Assizes.

April 22.

The Spring Assizes for the County of Wellington opened to-day at one o'clock.
Mr. Justice Gwynne presiding, Mr. Peterson, County Attorney, acts as Crown Prosecutor. The Bar was well represented, the local members, and those from a distance being in full force. The criminal docket is not heavy, but there are no less than 50 cases on the civil docket. As a number of the Grand Jury were not present, the roll was not called, but the Petit Jury were empanelled, and the business proceeded with. The following is the list of civil cases:—

NEWS ITEMS.

A few days ago Mr. Daniel Sinclair and Mr. John McIntyre, when looking for timber in the township of Sullivan, discovered the track of a huge bear, which had left his winter quarters, and was ranging the forest. Next day some men with dogs, followed the track, and after a short chase killed the bear, which weighed about 400 pounds.

HAMILTON RACES.—These races come off on the 28th and 29th of June, and 1st and 2nd of July next. Already a number of horses have arrived and gone into training at the Delta, and many more are expected shortly. The Times has the best authority for stating that there will be more and better horses take part at the approaching meeting than have ever been there at one time since the opening of the course. It is expected that the purse to be offered will amount to ten thousand dollars.

RUNAWAY.—This (Monday) morning a team owned by Mr. J. W. B. Kelly, teamster, became frightened while approaching railway crossing, West Market Square, and started off at fearful pace up Market street. The wagon got caught on one of the telegraph poles, which for a time impeded their progress, but by their frantic efforts they succeeded in pulling the pole down, and again starting off, and ran into Mr. Harris' bread cart, which was standing at the in front of the bakery, completely demolishing it and the contents of both vehicles being scattered about somewhat promiscuously. Mr.
Kelly's boy, who was driving the team, was thrown out but escaped uninjured, which was something miraculous. The horses were stopped a short distance from the bakery, but slightly injured, although the wagon was smashed to pieces by the collision.

ENCOUNTER WITH BURGLARS IN TORONTO.
—Early on Saturday morning two of the Toronto police, in plain clothes, came on two men at the corner of Gerrard and Pembroke Sts., and suspecting they were burglars, laid hold of them. On being seized one of the fellows shot a policeman named Bluet. The bullet entered Bluet's forehead at the root of the hair, glancing upwards along the skull and lodging about three inches from where it entered. Bluet had fired at the instant, but the bullet missed. The shot staggered the constable for a moment and the ruffian released himself and ran. Bluet followed him and fired twice at the fellow as he fled. Hodgins, the other policeman fired at him as well, a series of compliments which the fellow acknowledged by stopping and returning their fire, before he disappeared. Hodgins had retained his hold on the man he had seized, who was now hand-cuffed and taken to No. 2 station. A little later a man was arrested on Adelaide St., who is thought to be the same who shot the constable, and escaped. They are both locked up.

LEASE OF THE LONDON & PORT STANLEY RAILWAY.—This line has been leased by the Great Western Railway Company.
The term is twenty years, and the annual rental $20,000; the road, which is now of the 5 ft. 6 in. gauge, will be changed to 4 ft. 8 1/2 in. It is understood to be the purpose of the Great Western, now that this lease has been obtained, to lend such aid in the promotion of the London, Huron & Bruce line, as will render its construction tolerably certain. In case it is so constructed the gauge will be 4 ft. 6 in. instead of 3 ft. 6 in., as first proposed.
If by the leasing of the London & Port Stanley the citizens of London have removed the almost insuperable obstacles prevented in the attempt to make a direct line from that city through a valuable and extensive tract of country to Lake Huron, they have good reason to feel pleased with the arrangement. When this road is made, and the London & Port Stanley renewed, London will stand in as good a position with respect to railway service as any city in the Dominion.

The Steamship Peruvian ashore.

HAILED OFF BY A TUG.

Halifax, N. S., April 20.
The Allan steamer Peruvian, from Liverpool, for Halifax, went ashore at half-past one o'clock this morning on Thump Cap shoal, at the entrance to this harbour.
She had taken a pilot twenty minutes before. A steam tug went down, and at four o'clock hauled her off. She is now at anchor in the harbour making considerable water.

Owing to the boisterous state of the weather, divers were unable to make an examination of the Peruvian. A temporary raft has been constructed to sink alongside the ship to make a minute examination and if possible repair the dan-age; but it is most likely a pilot will have to be sent to Boston and be docked there.
The passengers, with the exception of the 73 for Halifax, appear to be sent on by another of the Allan line, probably the Mor-avian from Portland. The Peruvian is discharging her Halifax and other freights.
Her engines had to be kept running all day to keep her free, as she was making water at the rate of 9 inches in 15 minutes.
This disaster was the fault of Michael Edwards, the pilot. Capt. Smith sung out to the pilot to know where he was taking the ship. Five minutes afterwards she was on the rock, and all was excitement and confusion for the time. The position was so dangerous that the ladies were put into boats and then many other passengers were transferred to a schooner which came to their assistance. No accidents or loss occurred, and they were all safely brought to the City by the tug and schooner, after the Peruvian was hauled off the rock. The pilot was quite calm and clear, and the tide pretty well up, with a heavy swell in shore, fortunately the ship was got off before the wind rose or the tide ebbed, or she would have gone to pieces like the Devin. The pilot made off in his boat as soon as he could, and has not since been seen in the port.

Independence.

The New York Herald has some editorial comment on the Hon W. Macdonnell's speech at Hamilton, which it says is entitled to consideration from the fact that it indicates the policy which in the future the British Government intend to pursue toward the new Dominion. After revising the chief points of that speech, the Herald remarks: "We have no objection to the independence of Canada. For some time yet to come there will be room enough on the northern part of this continent for both of us. It is our opinion that independence would tend mightily towards the development of the Canadians. The greater the prosperity of our neighbours the better for us. Let them go on prospering and to prosper," and then goes on, after its fashion, to point out its "manifest destiny" of the whole North American Continent, winding up with the inevitable allusion to the book of fate and the Star Spangled banner.

It is said that those interested in the lumber trade that more square timber and saw logs will be got out on the Ottawa and its tributaries this season than ever before. American capitalists are fast buying out all the old limits along the river, for which they are paying abnormal prices, ranging from $20,000 to $75,000 each.

DEAL REPRESENTATION.—Mr. Mills, M.
P., has introduced a needed bill to declare members of the Legislative Councils or Legislative Assemblies of the Provinces, now forming part, or which may hereafter form a part of the Dominion of Canada, ineligible to sit or vote in the House of Commons of Canada. Mr.
Mills has also given notice of a resolution that in the opinion of the House the present mode of constituting the Senate is inconsistent with the federal principle of Government, and that our constitution should be so amended as to confer upon each Province in some way the power of appointing the Senators which represent it.

TRIPLES.—The St. Catharines Journal, speaking of the triplets which lately made their appearance in that town, says:—
"The lady who honoured her liege lord with these pledges of her affection and earned the Queen's bounty, is the centre of attraction, large crowds of men, women and children calling to see the three pair of twins." The husband of the woman is employed on the Welland Railway, and a little over a year ago was blessed with twins, or a family of five in less than two years. Now, suppose that woman goes on increasing at that ratio, her husband will require an increase of salary, but he can't go in for the "nine-hours movement."

THE FATE OF DR. LIVINGSTONE.—In the course of a lecture by Dr. Ryde, last week, the Rev. Robert Moffat, the African missionary, referred to his son-in-law, Dr.
Livingstone, expressing his opinion that he was quite safe, but was simply without resources. His impression was that he was staying at the headquarters of some chief, who, finding him friendly and believing that he was a great man, took charge of him, partly under an impression that he would be well paid when resources arrived for the traveller. It was evident that Dr. Livingstone was unable to pay his way, and nobody could get on under these circumstances. He (Mr. Moffat) had been 1,500 miles into the interior, and knew the habits of the people as well as any European living, and he felt positive that Dr. Livingstone was alive, for had he been dead he was sure definite news would have reached England long ago.

ACTIVITY OF U. S. IMMIGRATION AGENTS.
—Canadian immigration agents might with profit take a leaf from our neighbor's book in directing European emigration to this country. The mail steamer Nestorian, which sailed from Liverpool on the 25th ult., for Halifax, Baltimore and New York, via Queenstown, had on board about 500 passengers, some 150 of whom are about to form a "colony" near Lincoln, in the State of Nebraska. During the winter months the emigration agents of the State of Nebraska, and the agents of a railway company who possess extensive land grants in the State, have travelled through various parts of England, especially through the agricultural districts, and have got together the Englishmen who sailed in the Nestorian. The emigrants are principally farmers' sons.
There are also mechanics of various kinds.
The party are to be accompanied by a clerkman, who intends to settle with them, and also by an experienced surgeon.

EDITORIAL NEWS.

It is presumed—and probably not without reason—that a new county for parliamentary representation is to be formed out of the Muskoka and Parry Sound Districts.

The Buffalo Courier don't think Canada will ever be able to spend fifteen million dollars to enlarge the Welland and St. Lawrence Canals—and therefore the Erie ditch has nothing to fear.

POSTAL CARDS are about being introduced in the United States. The Lower House of Congress has just passed a bill which authorizes and directs the Postmaster-General to issue these handy little cards.

The real effect of Hincks' proposed amendment to the Banking Act, discussed on Thursday night, will be to restore to the banks the small note circulation taken from them by an Act of last session.

An effort is being made to organize a bank with its head office in the city of St. John, N. B., to be called "The Maritime Bank of the Dominion," with a capital of $1,000,000 and power to increase to $2,000,000.

It is stated as the result of a recent calculation, that in the townships lying in the northern portion of Victoria and Peterborough counties there is enough pine to supply the present rate of consumption in that district for forty years.

It is announced that the Hon. Alexander Morris will succeed Judge Johnston as Lieut. Governor of Manitoba. Mr. O'Connor, member for Essex, will likely fill Mr. Morris' place in the Cabinet.

There is a probability of some action being taken during the present session of Parliament for establishing a system of weather reports and storm signals throughout the Dominion. The great utility of these reports is now recognized by scientific men and the public generally in Great Britain and the United States.

Why our Volunteers were ignored.

The Toronto Telegraph is carrying on a fierce crusade against the officials of the Militia Department, and its exposures of the unfair and unscrupulous way in which the Militia has always dealt with the Ontario Volunteers have called forth savage reports from the latter's organ, the Volunteer Review. In reply to the last article on the subject in the Review, the Telegraph concludes with the following statement, the truth of which must be acknowledged by everyone who has taken the least interest in the military history of the Dominion:—

"The Review blames Col. Wolsley for the non-distribution of orders to the Red River expedition. What we charged Col. Ross with was, that our authorities have never thanked our volunteers, have never breveted a single man, have never recognized their services in the slightest degree. Col. Wolsley thanked his force in orders; the Duke of Cambridge thanked our volunteers, and Col. Jarvis and Cassault and Major McLeod got the C. M. G.—all this by England; but we say that Col. Ross or our Minister of Militia never thanked our men in general orders, never breveted a man, never recognized their services; and we say further it was because they were loyal, true citizens, and because our authorities sympathized with their opponents, the French rebels, who had insulted our honor, tore down our flag, and robbed and murdered our citizens. This is why our young fellows were not thanked, nor rewarded, and it is of such things that we complain, and we think we have good cause."

Father Gavazzi.

Who is now 63 years of age, has for many years occupied a prominent position in Italian politics and Catholic Church controversy. He began his religious career upon his admission with minor orders in the Church of Rome in 1825, and soon after was made professor of rhetoric in Naples for illustrating the theory of the art by his eloquence in the pulpits of the chief cities of Italy. On the elevation of Pius IX. to the Papal chair in 1845, he expressed the views, he had long entertained on the state of his country and his church with increasing freedom. When the insurrection of the Milanese and the constitution of the Austrians became known in Rome, Gavazzi, who was called on by the Pope to speak, proceeded to the pantheon, and pronounced a brilliant and fervid oration on the patriots who had fallen at Milan. He took a tri-color cross as his standard, and for weeks harangued scores of citizens at the Coliseum on the prospect and duty of Italians. The Pope, who was understood to favor these attempts to rouse the nation, conferred upon him the office of chaplain general of the forces, then being reorganized by the levy of volunteers and national guards, and accompanied the Roman army to the walls of Viterbo. While thus engaged, a reactionary spirit came over Pius IX., who recalled the Roman legion. Gavazzi, disgusted at the Papal father's weakness, passed into Tuscany, making Florence ring with his appeals. Expelled from the Duchy, he took refuge in Genoa, whence he was recalled to restore quiet in Bologna, where the people had broken into open mutiny against the Papal government. Rossi, who was chief adviser to Pius IX., ordered the arrest of Gavazzi, and he was sent under a strong escort to the prison at Gornetto. While en route the people of Uterbo rose to deliver him, and the Pope was only too glad to order his release. On the flight of the Pope, after the assassination of Rossi and the formation of the Republican government, Gavazzi was reappointed chaplain general of the forces, and organized a committee of noble Roman ladies to provide for the wounded and superintend the military hospitals. During the armistice concluded with General Caciotti, the Romans made a sortie under Garibaldi to repel the King of Naples, who had invaded the territory of the republic. Gavazzi accompanied them, and after the defeat of the invader assisted the dying and wounded on both sides. Returning to Rome, he occupied himself in sustaining the spirit of the people until they were overwhelmed by the superior forces of the French, at the close of the struggle he received an honorable testimonial and safe-conduct, passed from General Oudinot, and left his country to gain a livelihood by teaching Italian. While thus engaged, he was induced by the entreaties of his fellow-exiles in London to once more raise his voice, which had often stimulated them to action and celebrated their triumphs. For about six months, his lectures were attended by crowds, who were delighted and astonished at his powerful oratory, with which he assailed the political and religious system of the Papal government, and urged the necessity of a reformation. In 1851 Gavazzi published his memoirs in English and Italian, and a few months later his "Orations." After delivering several orations, which on more than one occasion, nearly caused a riot. On his return to England he resumed his occupation of spreading his views of Italy. In 1860 he again joined the forces of Garibaldi, and was present during the expedition to Palermo.

Union of the Lower Provinces.

We see that the Provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick are again considering the propriety of a small Confederation on their own account. It may be remembered that this, as it appears to us, very reasonable plan had been mooted, and was likely to be carried out, at the time when the grand Confederation, "under which it is our happiness to live," was devised. That entirely overshadowed the scheme of the Lower Provinces. It is not for outsiders to interfere in a matter of this kind, except in the way of friendly interest; but the consolidation of these small Eastern Colonies under one Government would apparently save a good deal of waste in the way of useless machinery. One Governor, one set of officers, a single Parliament, and one system of Judiciary, might apparently serve so small a population as well as the duplication of all these functionaries. Had the original design been allowed to proceed, and had the new establishment lasted for a few years, that fact might have done something towards a more general consolidation of all the British American Governments, and if, when that had taken place, the Federal system had been found more suitable than the old form, we should have had a smaller number of members of the newly created state, and fewer complications arising out of separate interests. But there was a panic about the United States in England, and a party crisis here, and hence no time was allowed for that gradual growth and development which are the best guarantees of permanence. However, that is all over, and two of the maritime Provinces, as we have already said, are endeavouring to bring about the consolidation which once before failed from external causes. It is to be hoped that their success will tend to simplify such systems as have reached us from that neighbourhood, since Confederation was established on the best and surest footing. If the Confederation is to be forced into new grants beyond those which were laid down in the fundamental law, and which were certainly accepted by New Brunswick after a very full discussion, it will be convenient to have all the claims for better terms coming in at the same time, and from a single authority. —Montreal Herald.

THE GARRET.

Once more I tread the threshold where my youth, Though schooled in misery, passed blithe along;
I was but twenty; all my wealth, in sooth, A business fund, true friends and love of soul, Scorning the world, its foils and plodding ways, Rich in life's spring time without cares or fears, With bounding steps I mounted my six dice, How gay a garret is at twenty years!
Yes, 'twas a garret, though it no disgrace;
There was my bed, ill-furnished, hard and small,
There was my table, and I still can trace The yse half writ with charcoal on the wall, How my boyhood's joy of life's young dawn, Waste in memory blot; out years of gloom and fears, Full oft for you I've left my watch in pawn, How gay a garret is at twenty years!
Let sweet Lazzotto come back here above all, Witty and beautiful with her head dress gay, Ere I can stand to entertain with her shawl The narrow easement that let in the day; Ere I can proudly own my coach and clock, That town whose flowing drapery love endears, I've learned since then who gave for it his check,
How gay a garret is at twenty years!
One day a table, day of festal high, While in gay circles happy friends unite, Up to our garret mounts the joyous cry,
That Bonaparte has won Marengo's light, Another glass, another song is on the air,
The boy does we celebrate with cheers;
Let France defy the banished tyrant's powers;
How gay a garret is at twenty years!
Ere I can lowly roof, with mat-leaving memories Here,
Alas, how far have flown those memories dear, Ere I can give the dull remains of life For one bright hour that Heaven sent me here, To dream of joy, ambition, glory, love,
To live a life in what an hour appears, How's glorious hours shining from above—How gay a garret is at twenty years!
—Beranger.

HELEN MOIR

LOVE AND HONOUR.

A TALE OF THE CLYDE.
CHAPTER XXVII
THE PRISONERS ARE VISITED BY THEIR CAPTORS—A FEARFUL SCENE FORESHADOWED.
For some time the two prisoners were in a state of utter stupefaction. The helplessness of their situation and the conviction that they were prisoners produced such consternation in their minds that they could only gaze at each other in silent horror, and try to read in each other's face an understanding of the truth.
At length Helen managed to gasp out the name of "Dubosque!"
"Dubosque!" echoed Bridgenorth.
"What of him?"
"This is his doing," she added. "I know it—I feel it."
"But what purpose can he have in such an outrage?"
"Oh, I cannot tell. He has always threatened revenge, and he is capable of doing anything. Oh, father, we are lost."
"Not so, my child. Do not give way to alarm. If this is Dubosque's doing he means no doubt to frighten us, but why should we fear? He dare not harm us."
"Alas! father, you do not know him. He has a nature that will dare to do any evil thing. Are we not wholly in his power?"
"No, I cannot think so. We are in the river; vessels must be passing us every minute. Let us try to call for assistance."
He started forward again, and made a more deliberate and determined effort to open one of the circular windows, but a little examination showed that new and stronger iron fastenings had recently been put upon them, thus proving that their capture had been meditated, and every precaution taken to keep them securely imprisoned.
The discovery did not tend to allay their alarm, nor did reflection diminish the cause they had for anxiety. When they thought of the crafty manner in which they had been brought on board, and the fact that the mist had wholly concealed their passage down the loch, it was abundantly evident that Mrs. Allerton had not the slightest means of accounting for their disappearance, or of adopting measures for their assistance. Everything had favored the barbarous enterprise of their enemy, and Bridgenorth bitterly felt that Helen's words were only too true—if he was the author of their abduction, then they were entirely in his power.
"Can Jacquin have anything to do with the business?" mused Bridgenorth, as he sat by Helen's side, with her hand firmly clasped in his. "He, too, threatened revenge, and he has already been working in concert with that scoundrel of a Frenchman."
"Ah," suggested Helen, "and he has all along been your enemy. He assisted Jean to ruin you by luring you to the gaming table, and fastening on you the Spectacles unequalled by any for their Strengthening and Preserving Qualities.

Too much cannot be said as to their superiority over the ordinary glasses worn—there is no glimmering, wavering of the sight, dizziness, or other unpleasant sensation, but on the contrary, from the peculiar construction of the Lenses, they are soothing and pleasant, causing a feeling of relief to the wearer and producing a clear and distinct vision as in the natural and healthy sight. They are the only spectacles that preserve as well as assist the sight, and are the cheapest because the best, always lasting many years without change being necessary.
