that the success of your business depends largely upon you. He realizes what the loss of your services would mean to your firm. The possibility of your death is ever present in his mind.

Don't you see the effect this knowledge has upon his official attitude towards your house? Don't you realize how it would tend to loosen his purse strings---how it would inspire confidence on the part of all your creditors---if your business was protected financially against the consequences of your death?

Imperial Business Life Assurance policies are designed to provide for this and many other contingencies which arise unexpectedly in commercial enterprises of all kinds.

Our booklet "Business Conservation" explains briefly this special feature of our business. Write for a copy on your business letterhead.

Soundings for New Bridge. Engineer Armstrong, who was instruct-ed to make soundings for the new bridge at the Valley Inn hill, has completed his military training at Niagara camp and has resumed his engineering duties. Soundings were renewed last week and rock was finally located at a depth of 91 feet. The depth at which rock was reached is so great, however, that it is a question whether it would not be more advisable and economical to fill up the hollow instead of erecting a bridge, it has been estimated that a concrete bridge could not be erected for less than $500,000 and a steel structure would be

NEW YORK, Sept. 27,-The fast New York Central train which left here for Chicago with Lord Reading, lord chief justice of England, and three of his associates in the Anglo-French Financial Commission aboard, was inspected and policed as never before when it rolled out of the Grand Central Station<sup>2</sup> this afternoon.

The commissioners were bound for Chicago, where they are to confer with western bankers over the tentative terms of the proposed half billion dollar credit loan to Great Britain and France. During their stay in this city, members of the commission have received threatening letters from persons hostile to the loan, and the police have taken unusual precautions to guard them from harm.

Precautions Taken. These precautions were extended today to their departure for Chicago. Twenty detectives and plainclothes men were scattered thru the lobbies of the hotel where the commissio has been staying, as the time fo for their departure approached. Another squad, in which there was a sprinkling of railroad detectives, awaited the commissioners in the Grand Central Station, and still others were stationed at intervals along the short route which the commissioners took from the hotel to the station.

The train itself was under surveillance from the moment it was made up. One car was set aside for the use of the commission, and this coach was scrutinized more closely than any other. Every article of furniture in this car was closely examined by rail-road detectives before the car was thrown open. The contents of all other coaches were given a less painstaking inspection, but hardly less thoro.

Engine Examined. After the train had been made up, railroad detectives went over the cars carefully from the outside, even examining the trucks and bearings, to make sure that no dangerous missile had been secreted in any part of the train. The engine was rigidly exami ed and no one, except detectives and the crew, was permitted to go near the train till it was ready for passen-

All passengers boarding the train passed detectives, who scrutinized them and their baggage closely. When the train departed, railroad detectives were said to be aboard. Some of Lord Reading's friends had urged him to permit at least two detectives to re-serve accommodations in the car set aside for the commission, but it is aside for the commission, but it is understood that he vetoed the suggestion.
