WM. H. MURRAY POLICE HAVE DIED MONDAY PROMISING GLUE

End Came Unexpectedly To Solution of Winthrop After Brief Illness. Suit Case Mystery.

Life Sketch of One of St. John's Wealthiest, Most Prominent and Most Energetic Business Men. Bought the Two Dress Suit Cases at Pawn Shops.

Shortly after eight o'clock Monday morning William H. Murray, the well-known lumber merchant of the north end, passed away at his home, 170 Douglas avenue. Although he had been seriously ill for some time, death came quite unexpectedly. He had rested quite comfortably all night, sleeping in a sitting position. About eight he said that he would like to lie down but very soon after he did so, the end came.

His illness was due to heart disease but other complications which set in made his recovery impossible.

The late Mr. Murray was born in the year 1833 at Springhill, York Co., and was thus in his 72nd year. All his life he has been a very active business man. On the death of his uncle the late Thomas Murray, he succeeded him in the control of his lumber business at Springhill. This business he conducted for many years but upon the burning of the mill, he removed his business to St. John, where he was the head of the W. H. Murray Manufacturing Co., Marble Cove, of which J. Fraser Gregory is the managing director.

His friendship for his old home in Springhill did not cease however with the removal of his business interests from that place. His old home has always held a large place in his heart and he has ever been ready to give a helping hand to its people. He has always been the main support of the Episcopal church in that town.

The late Mr. Murray was one of St. John's most energetic business men. Besides being an active lumberman and large manufacturer he was identified with many other industries. He was one of the largest owners in the Battle Line of steamers. He was once president and a large holder in the stock of the Canadian Drug Co. and was also largely interested in Abbey's Interventive Salt Co. He was president of the St. John Iron Works and a director of the Cushing Pulp Co. He had also many mining interests and was reputed to be worth about half a million. Although in all his transactions, honest and of solid integrity.

The late Mr. Murray was unmarried. He is survived by three sisters, namely, the Misses Margaret, Maria and Louise Murray all residing at Douglas Avenue and a brother Rainsford, a superintendent at the mill. In this city Mr. Murray was an attendant at St. John's (Stone) church, and was always a great admirer of the late Rev. Mr. deSoyes.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday morning at the I. C. R. depot from which at 10:30 or 11 a. m. there will be a special train to Springhill, where interment will be made Wednesday afternoon.

All the mills of the W. H. Murray Co. were yesterday closed and will remain so until after the funeral.

FREDERICTON MOURNS. FREDERICTON, N. B., Oct. 2.—The news of the death of the late Wm. H. Murray has occasioned the deepest sorrow in this city. He was justly regarded as the lumber king of the St. John river and no man was more widely known and respected in this section of this province.

John Kilburn, who has carried on extensive lumbering operations for Mr. Murray for twenty-five years, said this morning that he regarded the late Wm. H. Murray as the best man for the lumbering industry that New Brunswick ever produced. He added that his death would be a great loss to the St. John river country, and that it would be hard to find a man to take his place.

A. J. Gregory, K. C., who has been Mr. Murray's solicitor for many years, referred to him as being the backbone of the lumbering industry on the St. John river. He spoke of him as being a man possessed of wonderful capacity for work and great business ability. "In all my career," said Mr. Gregory, "I never met anyone so quick and accurate at figures as Mr. Murray's death will be a great loss to the province and to the lumbering industry.

Upon receipt of the sad news Mr. Kilburn, accompanied by A. J. Gregory, K. C., drove to Springhill and made arrangements for the funeral.

MONCTON NEWS.

MONCTON, N. B., Oct. 1.—Senator McMillen of Ontario is in town the guest of Senator McGowan.

Mrs. Margaret Stewart died last night, aged 68. Deceased was a native of Banffshire, Scotland, and relict of the late William Stewart, who lived at Salisbury, but removed to Moncton sixteen years ago. Mrs. H. L. McGowan of St. John is a daughter of the deceased. Two other daughters and one son, William D. of the I. C. R. offices, live here; another son is in Baltimore, Maryland.

Fred Thibideau, arrested at St. John for stealing from the I. C. R. news agent, has recently been operating in Albert county, where he was collecting subscriptions for the Police Gazette and other publications, and carried on a side line of whiskey. He was dressed in a news agent's uniform, and claimed to have been hurt in an accident. He has a new agent's uniform, but the paper never showed up. Thibideau is a bad lot altogether, and will probably land in the penitentiary.

INGENIOUS DEVICES OF BANK THIEVES.

In the whole catalogue of daring bank robberies there is no story more amazing than that of the robbery of the Hong-Kong branch of the Bank of Western India, for not only did the case display the most astonishing daring, skill, and patience on the part of the robbers, but their success has never been equaled by other bank-breakers.

It was generally understood that the safes and vaults of the Western Bank were about the strongest ever built, and the robbers, of course, knowing this, decided to attack the bank in a way they believed the builders had never anticipated, and therefore not provided for. They rented a house on the opposite side of the street and settled down to live like simple-minded gentlemen.

Some three months later the manager of the bank had occasion to visit the vaults, and to his utter amazement and consternation he discovered that the principal safe, which a day or two before had contained upwards of £50,000 in bullion and other valuables, had been emptied of everything. It did not take long to throw the responsibility for this astonishing change on the simple-minded gentlemen across the way, but when a visit was paid to their abode it was found that they had disappeared.

While living quietly and respectably, evincing no inclination to hide themselves, but showing their faces frequently at the windows and walking in the streets like the most honest folk, the robbers constructed a tunnel connecting the basement of their domicile with the vaults of the bank. To accomplish this they dug a shaft down to a sufficient depth to enable them to tunnel under the road without being heard by passengers or risking a collapse of the earth; and they cut an upward shaft under the bank, and a vault, where, one day when the bank was closed and they knew the safes were loaded with valuables, they quietly broke in and cleared away everything worth taking.

One can easily appreciate the courage and patience of these men. They had to cut a tunnel between eighty and ninety feet long, sufficiently high to allow the passage of two men carrying a heavy chest; they had to dispose of the immense amount of earth displaced in cutting the tunnel without anyone knowing; and after some twelve weeks' incessant labor in cutting the tunnel they had yet to

of the bank and break into a safe of exceptional strength. The cutting of the tunnel for the robbers, since at any of the upward shafts under the bank, particularly must have been an anxious moment they might have betrayed themselves to someone above; and it speaks volumes for the care with which they labored that no one discovered them or what was happening until they had made their escape with £50,000 worth of valuables, the carrying away of which, apart from anything else, must have been far from a simple matter.

An equally surprising feat was performed by the thieves who stole £40,000 worth of diamonds from the Kimberley bank some years ago. While the tunnel in this case was only about twenty feet long, owing to the fact that the thieves were able to avail themselves of a big main-drain to approach the bank secretly, other difficulties that had to be overcome were much more formidable than in the Hong-Kong case.

The safe in which the diamonds were deposited was one of such remarkable strength that before entering on their enterprise the thieves evidently decided it would be hopeless to attempt to break into it at the sides or door, as the work might occupy too much time, and that it would be necessary for them, and that it at the back, which being built into a wall, they could work upon after bank hours, perhaps for days together, if necessary. And this decision was arrived at despite their knowledge that the wall into which the safe was built was three feet thick and and other valuables, had been emptied of everything. It did not take long to throw the responsibility for this astonishing change on the simple-minded gentlemen across the way, but when a visit was paid to their abode it was found that they had disappeared.

REAL LOGIC.

Not long ago there was talk of placing a clock in the tower of a certain village church.

John X—, the old sexton, who lived in a cottage opposite the church, declared himself "dead agin it," and expressed the opinion that it would entail "a sad waste of brass."

"We wants no clocks," he said.

"We've done without clocks up to now, but the sun doesn't shine every morning. What do you do then?"

"Yes," said one who approved of the scheme, "that is all right as far as it goes, but the sun doesn't shine every morning. What do you do then?"

"Why," replied John, as if surprised at the question, "I knows then as it ain't fit weather to be out of bed, an' I jist stops wheer I is!"

HIGH SPEED FOR RAILS.

(Harper's Weekly.)

A French system for a high-speed railway for the transmission of parcels and mail matter is now being developed where a speed of 150 miles per hour has been attained. It is designed to serve for interurban or long-distance transmission the same function as the automatic tubes in cities.

It consists of a line of single rail, on which the main wheels of the car or carriage run, while there is a guide-rail against which special guide-wheels bear. The propelling power is supplied by three-phase motors, which use current at 1000 volts and 40 cycles per second. The motors are connected by belts with the driving wheels, and an elaborate system of lubrication with automatic oil-pumps is provided with a view to saving space.

The car used in the tests was 23.2 feet in length and 3 1/2 feet in width, and weighed 8 3/4 tons, there being accommodation for a half-ton of parcels and a ton of mail, which could be carried in a space of seventy cubic feet.

The experimental track used for testing the new system was circular, with a radius of 1640 feet, and on this a speed of 150 miles an hour was attained. In fact, the speed being secured within five minutes from starting. The operation of the car can be controlled by the current and by means of wings, which can be opened automatically. In fact, the cutting of a string by a fixed knife placed in the path of the car.

The use of such a system when practically developed would result in cutting down the time required for sending mail matter between adjacent cities from one-half to two-thirds, and no particularly elaborate features of construction are involved.

SEVEN BABES IN THE WOOD.

Children Found Almost Naked, Half Starved, and Torn by the Briars.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The Daily Express publishes the following:—An extraordinary story of seven modern babes in the wood comes from Colchester.

Nearly a fortnight ago a man and woman living in a poor part of the town told their effects and left the place. They were the father and mother of seven children—five boys and two girls—and no suspicion crossed the minds of their neighbors that they had not taken the little ones with them.

Then, a few days ago, the police were informed by a woman that three ragged, half-starved little urchins had come to her house to beg, and when she questioned them, told her that they had been deserted by their parents in the town.

The police, after a long search, found the seven, huddled together asleep under an old carpet in the depths of Donyland Woods.

Almost naked, half-starved, and dirty, their hands and legs and faces scratched and torn by the briars and ferns, they were brought out in the vicinity through which they had scrambled in search of blackberries and other wild fruit, the children were in a deplorable condition. The youngest was a baby of three, scarcely able to walk, the eldest a wizened child of thirteen.

For days they had lived on berries—a scanty fare only occasionally varied by a crust of bread which they had begged during their daily wanderings. Four have been admitted to the infirmary, and the remaining three have been taken in by charitable people in the town.

Prices up in Norm correspond with the latitude. The Semi-Weekly News sells for 25 cents a copy, or $1 a month. It appears from advertisements that milk brings 25 cents a quart, and eggs a dollar a dozen.

BUILT OF SOLID GRANITE.

They started operations from the drain running down below the street on which the bank fronted, by digging a tunnel 20 feet long, through the bank's vaults. This tunnel, cut through exceedingly difficult ground, opened on the foundations of the building, which were, on one hand, too deep to be passed under, and on the other hand so thick and solid—four feet of the strongest masonry—that ninety-nine men out of a hundred would have abandoned the enterprise, the city being aware of the risk of cutting through such a wall beneath the feet of an office full of clerks and ever-passing pedestrians in the street. But the thieves had a fortune in diamonds in new and were men not easily frightened or disheartened, and they not only cut a way through the foundations, but through two other walls little less formidable, before they came upon the final wall into which the safe was built; and they made a way through this latter and the massive steel back of the safe in such a quiet, workmanlike style that not a soul suspected anything was amiss until one of the bank officials went to the safe and found it cleared of.

Against these two astonishing, successful enterprises stands the attempt on the Mexican branch of the National Bank of America, when failure attended the thieves, not because they were any less daring and workmanlike, but owing to the shrewdness of the bank, which constructed a tunnel from a house they rented to the vaults of the bank, but failed by a few hours to reach the valuable worth an enormous sum of money, owing to an accident.

It chanced that when these men had tunneled a distance of some thirty yards, and arrived just within the vault where the safe was, some of the beams they had used to shore up the tunnel collapsed, causing a slight sub-

TYPHOON SWEEPS THE PHILIPPINES.

MANILA, Sept. 23.—Reports now coming in from places along the path of the recent typhoon in the island of Luzon and the southern islands indicate great loss of life and property. In the waters surrounding Samar and other islands many coasting vessels and inland transport have been wrecked. The coast guard cutter Leyte is a complete wreck and eleven Americans and 24 natives were drowned. The loss on hemp plantations is estimated at $1,000,000.

The army transport Juan Rodriguez is ashore at Legaspi. In the interior of the island of Samar thousands of natives are homeless, and the same report comes from many of the other small islands.

The army post in the southern island has been destroyed.

The civil and military authorities are rushing aid to the suffering people in the form of supplies of food and shelter. Owing to the destruction of the telegraph system reports received from other points are very meagre.

GREAT HARDSHIPS.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The story told by members of the British Mission who spent two and a half years in marking the boundary between Persia and Afghanistan in the Selistan region, shows that they encountered terrible hardships. Fifty of the members died from various causes and nearly 5,000 camels and 120 horses succumbed.

The mission consisted of 11 British officers under Col. Arthur Henry MacMahon, with survey and irrigation staffs and 200 native infantry and a transport service embracing altogether some 1,500 men.

The base all supplies were brought to Selistan, 500 miles distant, over a waterless and uninhabited desert. During the summer several persons died from sunstroke and heat, while during the winter others were frozen. Last winter numbers of jackals and wolves, which abound in Selistan, were mad for some unexplained reason and in large packs attacked the men and animals belonging to the mission. Many of the camels and horses were bitten and died of hydrophobia.

On March 29, of this year, the temperature fell to zero, accompanied by a blizzard and during this storm 800 camels were lost. The members of the mission tell many stories of fearful privations and of the heroism of individuals during passing storms which ran out and could not be renewed owing to the difficulties of transportation.

C. P. R. WILL FIGHT GRAET NORTHERN.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 23.—The Oregonian today says: Retaliation upon the Hill lines for building the Portland and Seattle railroad to reach Portland by the water level route along the Columbia river will come in the form of a new traffic agreement with the Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company will admit the Canadian Pacific into the Columbian Basin and through such an agreement would be a weapon to combat the Northern Pacific and Great Northern, their most aggressive competitors for the northern traffic.

By such an adjustment the present traffic agreement with the Great Northern would be abandoned and the Harriman line would be in the advantageous position to offer northern routing when desired, either for freight or passenger traffic, and prevent either of the rival companies sharing its earnings derived by such service.

It is claimed that Harriman interests have found it impossible to enter into a sort of offensive and defensive traffic alliance with the C. P. R. and will make the Pacific coast route between Spokane and Portland by means of the Spokane and Inland, and known as the Spokane International.

Cragan, the lieutenant's man-of-all-work, or "stricker," had been told to skin a fine mink that the lieutenant had shot that morning while after ducks.

Now the mink belongs to the weasel family and has his distinctive odor, which is secreted by a small gland.

URGES HUMANITY TO CONSUMPTIVES

Sir Henry Burdett, K. C. S., Enters a Protest Against Cruelty Practiced on Victims of Tuberculosis.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 27.—Sir Henry Burdett, K. C. S., a distinguished London surgeon, today made a vigorous protest against the inhuman treatment by relatives of persons suffering from consumption. His remarks were inspired at the conference of the Association of Hospital Superintendents at the Boston Medical Library, when Dr. Henry M. Hurd read a paper on patient Howard's Observations on Hospital, 1773-1790, in which it was shown that the medical profession was at that time acquainted with the contagiousness of consumption.

"Let us protest," said he, "against the running amuck at anything that is believed to be consumption. I have already seen a case in a family where a daughter who suffered from the disease had been put into a separate room and the family had looked at her through a window. The result is that the poor girl, who is the daughter of an army officer, is now longing for death."

Surely people of education, at any rate, ought to have more common sense and more humanity. What shall we do in regard to this abominable, unwomanly and unmanly fear of what is called the infectiousness of tuberculosis? "I rest my reputation as a professional man on the statement I now make that there is no such contagiousness about tuberculosis as should render it necessary for any of this wretched and contemptible panic to possess families. For we know perfectly well that with ordinary precautions and with the intelligent co-operation of the patient, the disease, far from being rendered more contagious by domestic treatment, reasonably safe."

"I ought, therefore, to be possible for a family to keep its dear ones near to it and take care of them when afflicted with this disease, and not regard them as objects of horror to be thrust away."

While I advocate prevention and disinfection, I also urge that we must be rational, and that in considering phthisis as an infectious disease, we are not to teach that it must be isolated on a hill, as near the sky as possible.

"I believe that many poor persons have already been due to death by their friends because of this panic fear of consumption."

BARON KOMURA IN MONTREAL.

His Views on Renewed Anglo-Japanese Alliance.

Convinced That New Treaty Is Also In Interests of the World at Large.

Following is the interview with Baron Komura, published in the Montreal Gazette:

Baron Komura, Japanese plenipotentiary at the peace conference, recently concluded at Portsmouth, and who has become so famous through negotiating for his country the new treaty which terminated the Russo-Japanese war, passed through Montreal last night from New York en route to Vancouver, where he will embark for Tokyo.

Baron Komura, in Sir William Van Horne's private car, the Saskatchewan, and was accompanied by Baron Kaneko, Secretary Sato, Dr. Fritchard, of New York, and Miss Fitcher, a trained nurse of New York. When the train, to which the Saskatchewan was attached, pulled into Montreal Junction, Hon. T. Nosse, Japanese consul-general in Canada, his secretary and attendants entered the private car and were presented to the Baron, who was then in his berth. Subsequently Baron Komura, whose illness has caused considerable apprehension, was assisted to the drawing room of the car, and there spoke a few words to Hon. Mr. Nosse and Baron Kaneko. His condition, while said by his physician to be much improved, indicated a tedious illness and as he leaned against the seatback, and in his dressing gown and a heavy blanket, his dark complexion and deep furrowed brow marked him as a man burdened with both the cares of state and the hardships of fever.

MURDERED MAN.

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—When he heard a report that his son had deserted the military service, Joseph Kran, a resident of Chicago, had made the accusation, William Keuppel sought Kran last night, and when he found him he struck him in the face, fracturing his skull. Kran is said to be in a hospital, and Keuppel, August Keuppel, were arrested, charged with attempting to commit murder.

Kran was at work on the third floor of a new building when Keuppel met him. Scores of pedestrians saw the men clinging to beams and hurling bolts when he fell from the second floor when he was struck with the axe, and he was unconscious when the police arrived.

BARON KOMURA IN MONTREAL.

His Views on Renewed Anglo-Japanese Alliance.

Convinced That New Treaty Is Also In Interests of the World at Large.

Following is the interview with Baron Komura, published in the Montreal Gazette:

Baron Komura, Japanese plenipotentiary at the peace conference, recently concluded at Portsmouth, and who has become so famous through negotiating for his country the new treaty which terminated the Russo-Japanese war, passed through Montreal last night from New York en route to Vancouver, where he will embark for Tokyo.

Baron Komura, in Sir William Van Horne's private car, the Saskatchewan, and was accompanied by Baron Kaneko, Secretary Sato, Dr. Fritchard, of New York, and Miss Fitcher, a trained nurse of New York. When the train, to which the Saskatchewan was attached, pulled into Montreal Junction, Hon. T. Nosse, Japanese consul-general in Canada, his secretary and attendants entered the private car and were presented to the Baron, who was then in his berth. Subsequently Baron Komura, whose illness has caused considerable apprehension, was assisted to the drawing room of the car, and there spoke a few words to Hon. Mr. Nosse and Baron Kaneko. His condition, while said by his physician to be much improved, indicated a tedious illness and as he leaned against the seatback, and in his dressing gown and a heavy blanket, his dark complexion and deep furrowed brow marked him as a man burdened with both the cares of state and the hardships of fever.

BARON STILL FEBBLE.

The newspaper man took out his note book as a suggestion that an interview would be appreciated.

"Now write," said the baron, beginning again to puff another cigarette, which he had taken from a box on the table.

He then gave the interview mentioned above, and after finishing, asked that it be read over. In one or two instances, the notes were not very legible, owing to the speed with which they were written and the rattle of the typewriter, and so through the street station to Montreal Junction, and when the interviewer hesitated in reading them, the development of the baron's mind was shown in the fact that he would start at the beginning of a paragraph and go through it all until the point in question was reached and would then repeat what he had said, so that no inaccuracy might occur. He seemed to have every word he spoke firmly fixed in his mind, as a school boy would have a nursery rhyme.

"Good night," he said, with a smile, when satisfied that he had not been misreported, and began once more to smoke with more avidity than ever.

It was learned from Dr. Fritchard who will accompany his eminent patient to Vancouver, that Baron Komura has made rapid progress toward recovery during the last few days. He is still very weak, but as a consequence of the ravages of typhoid, his strength is covered some of his strength and sits up once or twice each day. A trained nurse watches him closely.

BARON TALKS ON TREATY.

Despite his weakness, he received the unexpected readiness with which he distinguished a diplomat, stated that he extremely regretted it was impossible for him to accept the invitation of the dominion government to remain some time in Canada, in reply to a request from a representative of the Gazette that Baron Komura give for publication his views on the new Anglo-Japanese treaty, he gave the following interview:

"In coming to this country on my way home I have, first of all, to express my sincere regret at my inability to accept the invitation of the government of the dominion to visit Canada on my way home after the peace conference."

"Though I deeply appreciated the extreme courtesies of the dominion government, and personally, was very anxious to pay a visit to the country with which Japan has the most cordial relations, the imperative pressure of business and the lack of time did not possibly permit me to avail myself of the opportunity afforded me as a courtesy and the good will of the government."

"In the next place, I deem it fit to make a few remarks in regard to the conclusion of the Anglo-Japanese alliance which has just been published. The new alliance, as the old alliance, has absolutely no aggressive character. It is in no way intended to be a menace to any power, and its essential nature defensive, and purports to maintain a status quo in the Far East."

"The new alliance is, however, infinitely more effective in conserving the peace of the far east, and this is owing to two reasons, first, while the scope of the application of the old alliance was limited to Eastern Asia, the scope of the new alliance is extended to India; second, while under the old alliance either of the allies could remain neutral until the third power joined in hostilities, under the new alliance the obligation to render mediatory assistance immediately arises when either of the allies engaged in war in defense of its rights or interests in the regions defined in the agreement."

"I feel convinced that the new alliance will prove more conducive to the interests of the powers directly concerned as well as to the interests of the world at large, as it will more effectively conserve the peace of the far east than has been possible under the previous arrangements."

"I think that will be enough," he remarked, and sank back into his blankets.

HE FEELS AS YOUNG AS EVER.

MR. CHESTER LOOMIS TOOK DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

And From a Used Up Man He Became As Smart as a Boy.

ORLAND, Ont., Sept. 23.—(Special)—Mr. Chester Loomis, an old and respected farmer living in this section, is spreading broadcast the good news that Dodd's Kidney Pills are a sure cure for the Lame Back and Kidney Disease so common among old people.

Mr. Loomis says:

"I am 73 years of age and smart and active as a boy and I give Dodd's Kidney Pills all the credit of it."

"Before I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills I was so used up I could hardly ride in a buggy and I could not do any work of any kind. Everybody thought I would not live long. Dodd's Kidney Pills are a wonderful remedy."

The Kidneys of the young may be wrong. Dodd's Kidney Pills make all wrong Kidneys right. That is why they are the old folks' greatest friend.

More than 250,000 girls in India, five years of age or less, were already married when the last census was taken, and of these necessarily many have become widows. Between five and ten years the number of married girls was well over 2,000,000; between ten and fifteen years, 1,500,000; and nearly 7,000,000. Though the English law in India would recognize the legality of a re-marriage of these youthful widows, inexorable custom forbids it and its occurrence is rare. There were in India in 1901 nearly 436,000 widows under fifteen years of age, of whom 20,000 were less than five years old.

BOSTON MARKETS.

Mills are Running Short of Logs.

And the Demand for Spruce and Hemlock Is Increasing—Some Gangs Going Into the Woods.

BOSTON, Sept. 30.—There is no cessation in the call for supplies of spruce lumber, and the question of supply is becoming a more and more serious factor. The mills are using up their stock of logs rapidly, and the water is so low that there is greater solicitude than ever as to securing of rafted logs for use in the immediate future. Prices are higher in many instances for lumber that can be promptly delivered. The principal question, indeed, at the present moment is not one of price, but as to the ability to get out a supply in a reasonable time. A premium over regular rates is easily secured.

Hemlock lumber is in good request, and prices are firmly maintained at the recent improvement.

As to what it is to be said that the supply is very scant and better prices are being obtained.

Reports from Bangor are that the third East branch drive, of all of it that the crew has been able to bring through, has arrived in the main river, and is at the sorting pens of the Kadashin Pulp & Paper Co. at Lincoln, where about 6,000,000 feet of pulp logs will be taken out, leaving 2,000,000 feet to come to Penobscot boom. The West branch drive has also reached boom, there being about 18,000,000 feet of saw logs, 6,000,000 having been taken out of the pulp mills up river. The ninth steam mill drive is now being run, making somewhat more than 50,000,000 feet of logs brought down for the Bangor mills. So far this season, three or four more drives will come down, making the total for the year about 70,000,000 feet. The record is 72,000,000 feet.

The lack of the Kennebec logs has reached boom about two weeks earlier than last year. The total stock on the Kennebec is somewhat smaller than in 1904.

Large numbers of woodsmen are leaving Bangor now for the scenes of the winter lumbering, but they are the poorer class. The expert choppers and woodsmen will not go into the woods for weeks yet. MR. HAULTAIN AND MR. BENNETT.

Mr. Haultain is carrying on his campaign without fireworks or demonstration of any kind. The people of the west are too busy getting in their wheat to give their attention to anything that is not strictly practical.

A BOLD AND NOVEL SUGGESTION.

Many writers and talkers have discussed the question of New Brunswick senate appointments. Speculation has gone over a large area, and politicians have considered the claims of many aspirants.

THE TARIFF IN THE WEST.

When the national policy was not so old as it is now it was attacked as a system framed in the interest of the eastern manufacturers and offensive to western Canada.

Washington territories have the freedom of the Canadian market, while Canadian lumber is shut out of the United States by a prohibitive tariff.

THE DELEGATE AND OTHERS.

The New Freeman is kind enough to say that the Sun "is improving rapidly of late in its treatment of Mr. Sbarretti."

A BOLD AND NOVEL SUGGESTION.

Perhaps it would not be out of place for the Sun to support another consideration. Granting the importance of the qualifications mentioned, is not some small amount of attention due to the character and capacity of the candidate for appointment?

SHOUTED UP.

In England They Politely Refer to the Stomach as "Little Mary."

Little Mary—"I say up there, won't you please quit sending down such a variety of unnatural things to me, and here this morning first came down some sticky, starchy material, all starchy and only partly cooked. It was wheat or oats and was decorated with milk and sugar."

"Between the uncheered mouthfuls came gulps of coffee, finally a good big drenching of it. Then some bread and a lot of grease, perhaps it was butter, then some fried eggs and fried meat and more coffee, and some fried cakes and syrup. You load things on me as if I could stand everything."

"I try faithfully, but there's no use, I can digest part of it and the balance scours and I simply have to push it along to the liver. He says he's badly over-worked now and gets so weak he almost collapses, as he sends the sour mess in down into the intestines to raise gas and trouble of all kinds. We can't help it, and you must either select your food with better reason or stand more and more trouble down here. Suppose you try us on some cooked or raw fruit, a little Grape-Nuts and cream, 2 soft-boiled (not fried) eggs, some well-browned toast and a cup of Postum. Liver and I will guarantee to make you feel the keen joy of a hearty and well man if you will send those things down to us. There's a reason, but never mind that, try it first, and when you find we know what we are talking about you may be ready to hear the reason."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE SUN:

Sir—I am glad to see that the Senatorship is a claim for the senatorship that Dr. Lewis, ex-M. P., who with the support of C. J. Oaman, M. P. P., defeated Dr. Weldon and won the seat for the Laurier party, should have first place.

IT IS TRUE THAT MR. MCCLELLAN CLAIMED the credit of Dr. Weldon's defeat. This, however, is not well founded. Dr. Lewis, with C. J. Oaman, carried the election, and either of these gentlemen has infinitely stronger claims on all grounds than the ex-governor, Dr. Hon. Mr. Emmerson knows he is much more indebted for his successes in Alberta to these gentlemen than to the ex-governor and will be more useful to him in the future.

People here of both parties fail to recognize that the ex-governor has any claim. Surely the $45,000 with his indemnity as senator for so many years has much more than repaid him for the many defeats he experienced in our electoral contests. It is conceded here by all parties that his "political sagacity" gave Fowler his majority in Alberta over White.

Should this appointment not go to either of the gentlemen named, then it is thought here that no man has made the sacrifice that Hon. H. A. McKnight of your city has made. Yours, etc., ALBERT.

STILL BIGGER.

ALBERT N. B., Oct. 2. To the Editor of the Daily Sun: Sir—I saw an article in the Moncton Transcript of Friday, Sept. 29th, stating the largest moose head got this year in the province was killed near Shediac last week. The spread was stated to be 14 inches. I have now in Carnall's store at St. John, a moose head the spread of which is 15-1/2 inches, and nearly a perfect head. I killed this moose on Sept. 15th this year from here, on the old St. John post road, known as the Shepody road. I think I can rightly claim the largest head yet obtained in this section this year.

Truly yours, W. J. BALDWIN.

LOCH LOMOND LABORER DIED WHILE SINGING.

Patrick Green, of Montreal, Fell Dead on Saturday Night With a Song on His Lips.

Sitting among a crowd of his companions and with the words of a song on his lips, Patrick Green, a native of Montreal, fell dead on Saturday night. Green, who is not known here, was employed by Mooney & Sons on the Loch Lomond contract. Saturday was pay day, and as is the custom out there, the men have some fun in the evenings. There had been the usual amount of drinking going on, but so far as could be learned Green did not touch a drop of liquor during the entire day, and indeed, it is said that he never drank. In the evening he went to the shack where he lived, and found a crowd of his fellow laborers sitting around the stove, telling yarns and singing songs. Green wanted to do his share of the entertainment, and soon offered to give them a song. Scarcely had he uttered the first words when he staggered and fell forward over on the stove, and when his friends jumped to pick him up he was dead.

Coroner Berryman was notified and went out to Loch Lomond shortly after midnight on Saturday, returning yesterday. He made careful inquiries there, and learned that there had been no row, and no excitement of any sort. He questioned many persons, and finally came to the conclusion that Green had been suffering from a weak heart, which suddenly failed. The coroner saw no necessity for an inquest, and on returning to the city gave permission for burial. One J. P. Fitzpatrick's teams went out, and the body was brought to the city last night.

No one here seems to know much about Patrick Green, and indeed this may not be his real name. The men on the Loch Lomond job go by numbers. Green's chum, who also said he had been from Montreal, left Loch Lomond a few days ago, and the coroner is unable at the present to secure any information as to the dead man's friends. Green was about thirty-five years of age.

"In 1890 I began to drink coffee. "Finally I began to feel healthy and enjoyed life. At first I noticed no bad effects from the indulgence, but in course of time found that various troubles were coming upon me. "Exhaustion of the heart, took unto itself sick and nervous headaches, kidney troubles followed and eventually my health was so deranged that even a light cold became a serious ailment. "Our physician's prescriptions failed to help me, and then I dosed myself with patent medicines till I was thoroughly disgusted and hopeless. "Finally I began to suspect that coffee was the cause of my troubles. I experimented by leaving it off, except for one small cup at breakfast. This helped some, but did not altogether relieve my distress. I satisfied me, however, that I was on the right track. "So I gave up the old kind of coffee altogether and began to use Postum Food Coffee. In 10 days I found myself greatly improved, my nerves steady, my head clear, my kidneys working better and better, my heart's action rapidly improving, my appetite improved and the ability to eat a hearty meal without subsequent suffering restored to me. And this condition remains. "Leaving off coffee and using Postum did this, with no help from drugs, as I abandoned the use of medicines when I began to use the food coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. There's a reason. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in each pkg.

GOING WEST.

SUSSEX, N. B., Oct. 2.—Edwin Hallett and family leave on Wednesday next for Greenwood, B. C., where they will make their home in future. F. W. Wallace has bought Mr. Hallett's property on Main street, and will take charge on Tuesday. Mr. Wallace paid in the vicinity of $3,000.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 1.—By invitation, President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers will on Tuesday next call on President Roosevelt. Men's Suits and Overcoats.

Pictures and words are but poor things to properly convey to any one's mind what this Clothing really is. Even when you come to try it on in the well lighted Clothing Store, you cannot adequately comprehend it. Nothing short of the actual wearing of it for a season will reveal its best points.

For the best thing about our Clothing is its wear—the wear that can only come from honest fabrics, honestly put together.

This one season's test is all we ask of every man who pays out his own money for his Clothes.

Suits begin at $6.00 and up to $25.00. Overcoats begin at $10.00 and up to $25.00. Raincoats begin at $8.00 and up to $18.00.

Boys' Clothing that will Wear.

If you have a boy that knocks his clothes to pieces and gets them out of shape a month or so after you buy them, don't blame the boy. It's the fault of the clothes. It is a poor sort of a boy that will stand up along the fence to keep his clothes in good order, when the rest of the boys are playing leap-frog and having a wrestling match. Oak Hall Suits and Reefers are made for boys that are going to do just the rough and tumble things that live boys ought to do. The fabrics are reliable and they are honestly put together.

- Boys' Norfolk Suits, $2.25 to $7.50 Boys' Sailor Suits, 90c to $9. Boys' Vest Suits, $3 to $9. Boys' Fancy Overcoats $4.25 to $7.50 Boys' Regular Overcoats, $3.75 to $12. Boys' Reefers, $1.50 to $6.

TIT-BITS FROM RECENT BIOGRAPHIES

THE HOGS WERE COMPANY.

In his entertaining book of reminiscences entitled "The Sunny Side of the Street," Marshall P. Wilder, the well-known American entertainer relates a story told to him some years ago by President Harrison to illustrate the skill of some men in talking their way out of a tight place.

An Indiana hog-dealer drove a lot of hogs one season to Indianapolis about a hundred miles distant, although he could get nearly as good a price at a town much nearer home. Arriving at Indianapolis he learned that the price had gone down. When offered a good price he held out for more, and insisted that if he did not get it he would drive the hogs back home, which he finally did, and sold them for less than was offered him in the city. When one of his friends asked him why he had acted so unwisely he replied:—

"I wanted to get even with them city hog-buyers." "But did you?" "Well, they didn't get my hogs." "But what did you get out of the transaction?" "Get? Why, bless your thick skull, I got the society of the hogs all the way back home."

WHOT DID CURRAN MEAN?

Speaking of the witticisms and humorous sallies of Curran, the famous Irish orator and lawyer, biographer mentions the following example: Curran was once addressing an Irish jury in an important case. During his speech he observed that Judge shook his head. Curran called the gesture and should have an adverse influence on the jury, Curran warmed up for the moment and said: "I see, gentlemen, the motion of his lordship's head; but, believe me, if you remain here many days you will see that when his lordship shakes his head there's nothing in it!"

WORRIES OF AN AMBASSADOR.

Possibly no diplomat has been the recipient of so singular a request as that received by Andrew Dickson White, during the time he acted as United States ambassador to Berlin.

To quote Mr. White, who tells the story in his own words: "One morning the mail brought me a large packet filled with little squares of cheap cotton cloth. I was greatly puzzled to know their purpose until, a few days later, there came a letter which, with changes of proper names, ran as follows: "Sir—We are going to have a fancy fair for the benefit of the — church in this town, and we are getting ready some autographs, bed-quilts, etc. We sent you a packet of small squares of cotton cloth, which please take to the Emperor William and his wife, also to Prince Bismarck and the other princes and leading persons of Germany, asking them to write their names on them and send them back to me as soon as possible. "Yours truly, —"

"P. S.—Tell them to be sure to write their names in the middle of the piece, for fear their autograph may get sewed in."

WARFARE REVOLUTIONIZED.

The Hon. Elihu Root, who was secretary of war for the United States from 1899 to 1903, tells a good story in some of his recollections concerning an incident which occurred in the latter part of his term of office. He says that he had discovered the most powerful explosive the world had ever seen.

"It will destroy any army against which it is directed," declared the Yankee. "My idea is this. Send up a balloon with Professor and Mrs. Switzer. Mrs. Currie of Windsor, N. S. is the guest of Mrs. Chas. Stewart, York street.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Black of Amherst were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Black on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Cahill leave today for a trip to Montreal.

REGRETS UNION OF N. B. BANK WITH BANK OF MONTREAL.

Reports have been circulated of the sale of the Bank of New Brunswick to the Bank of Montreal, but have been denied by the general manager of the Bank of New Brunswick. It is possible that the report is merely premature. It seems a pity that the maritime provinces are losing their local banking institutions by merger into larger banks, whose main interests are in other parts of the dominion. In this way, deposits that formerly were available entirely for the use of the local banks should combine to form a strong maritime banking institution, thus ensuring the conserving of local interests and providing sympathy and commercial requirements of the maritime section of our dominion. A Spanish journalist declares, that sunstroke is almost unknown in his country, and that it occurs only in northern regions, where the people do not know how to take care of themselves in hot weather.

Budget of News From Ireland.

(Special to the Star.)
(By Joseph J. O'Brien.)
DUBLIN, Sept. 30.—There is hope for Joseph Tyson, a shoemaker of Darwin, one of the claimants for a share in the fortune of $25,000,000 left by the late James Tyson in Australia some years ago. When the necessary legal formalities and proof of his relation to the late Mr. Tyson are complete he is insured of getting a fair share of the money. It will be remembered that he was reported to have sold his share in the fortune for the small sum of five pence. He explained that there were several claimants named Tyson from Darwin alone, all the claims of whom had been repudiated with the exception of his own.

Some idea of the nature of this emigration can be arrived at from the statistics for the returns to the end of August just compiled at Queenstown, which are as follows:
Second class passengers to American ports via Queenstown for eight months, ending August 31, 1905, 2,357; third class ditto, 18,897, making a total of 21,254. The second class for the corresponding eight months of the corresponding year, 1904, 19,188, making a total of 21,441. The returns go to prove that about 65 per cent. of these represent emigrants in the strict sense, the others are the returning tourists who come to Ireland for a trip to recruit their health and visit relatives and leave again with emigrants who would not have thought of leaving Ireland but for the inducements so often held out by the visitors.

Word has just reached here of the death at Brisbane of Dr. Kevin Izod O'Doherty, the last survivor of the leadership of the Young Ireland movement of 1848. His death calls attention to the large share taken by medical men in the Irish national cause. Dr. Charles Lucas, in the middle of the 18th century, by urging the necessity of shortening the duration of parliament, became the herald of agitation outside parliament for constitutional reform. Dr. Drumgoole was in the closing days of the Fenian movement, the author of the patriotic lines, "The Wake of William Orr." Dr. McNevin, a leader of the United Irishmen, was the author of the patriotic lines, "The Wake of William Orr." Dr. McNevin, a leader of the United Irishmen, was the author of the patriotic lines, "The Wake of William Orr."

At a recent meeting of the Cork County Council, at Cork, after some discussion in reference to a vacancy in the clerical staff, the chairman said he had reason to know that a member of the council was going to propose for the position the name of an Irishman, and he was certain that every member of the council would hear it put before them with pleasure. This Irishman was in America, and was anxious to return to Ireland. It was Jeremiah O'Donovan Rossa, who would be admirably fitted for the position connected with correspondence.

J. O'Mahony then remarked that the members of the council were sorry that they could not give him a better position. Mr. O'Brien caused considerable laughter by inquiring whether he knew Irish or not. Mr. O'Mahony replied that O'Donovan Rossa certainly understood Irish.

Mr. Hurley, in proposing O'Donovan Rossa for the position on the clerical staff, said that it would be unnecessary to recapitulate his history. It was known to all. He devoted the best years of his life to the service of his country, and showing his earnestness by fighting her enemies wherever they were to be found. Now in his old age he was anxious to come back to Ireland and to end his days there. He had therefore a great pleasure in proposing him for the position. T. Dinneen seconded the resolution, which was adopted. It was decided to cable the result of the action taken to O'Donovan Rossa in America.

The autumn emigration thus far to America from Ireland this year has fallen below the average of many recent years, and it is believed that it will further decrease before the year expires. Nevertheless there has been this year, as in past years, a steady drain on an already depleted population, and now, as in all recent years, since the emigration laws became so

FIRST STATUE OF THE QUEEN.

With the glossiness characteristic of red tape methods and after lengthy consultations of the various officials concerned, the coronation committee of Hong Kong have at last decided to apply the funds at their disposal towards the erection of a statue of Queen Alexandra, and have commissioned this statue from George E. Wade, whose statues of the King and Prince of Wales are already in place. The design and executed a vast number of important monuments for the colonial cities—for Canada, India, Australia and Ceylon, and has just completed a statue of Queen Victoria in an imposing architectural setting for Allahabad. The choice of the sculptor is due to the king, and the Hong Kong statue will be the first public monument of Queen Alexandra.

OBJECTED TO THE PARROT.

A lady went to a bird fancier for a parrot. She complained that the last bird he had sold her used very bad language.
"Well, madam," said he, "there is a bird that I can help you; it was brought from abroad quite lately, and the whole voyage it was in the ladies' cabin, and never heard the sailors talk at all."
The lady took the parrot. A week after she brought it back to the shop, visibly angry.
"Surely that bird did not swear?" said the man.
"No, it did not swear; it was perfectly silent until my 'at home' party, and then, when the ladies were all talking and drinking their tea, it made the most awful sounds, the most dreadful sounds, and in a low and excited voice it said: 'Stewardess! . . . then more eagerly, 'Stewardess! . . . and then more sounds, 'Oh, it was too dreadful for anything. . . . Take it, oh, pray take it. I never want to see a parrot again.'"

SUBTERRANEAN SEA UNDER US.

The investigation of the geological survey have brought to light facts about the enormous quantity of underground water contained in the crust of the globe which are calculated to astonish the ordinary reader. Below a depth of about six miles it is believed that no water can exist in the rocks, because the tremendous pressure probably closes all pores, but above that level the amount of underground water is estimated to be equal in quantity to one-third of all the water contained in all the oceans. If poured over the land surface of the globe the underground water would be sufficient to cover it to a uniform depth of from 3,000 to 5,000 feet.

WHAT ST. JOHN WOMEN WEAR, AND ARE LIKELY TO WEAR.

A little Commonsense Chat, not on New York or Paris Styles, but Home Styles.
By POLLY GADABOUT.

ALL THE DRY GOODS SHOPS HAD THE APPEARANCE OF REAL BUSINESS this week. I mean real feminine business. I don't believe very much "shopping" was done, it was all all business and really, truly shopping. It was late enough in the season to give every woman an idea what she wanted for herself and children—provided she possessed such and salesfolk turned in some record-breaking sales. By the way, I look on some faces not a few were in the delightful throes of getting a complete new outfit; others were selecting skirts, shirtings, goods, jackets, long coats, and hats, and, oh, yes, military, there's where most of the excitement reigned, but—I say, this in a stage whisper—the feverish anticipation soon cooled down. It was slightly a disappointment, generally speaking, though the real, growing accounts of the displays in the daily papers. Far be it from me, away down here in St. John, to speak disparagingly of the show of fall and winter hats at the various shops, but I must give you a few observations. In the first place the radical departure in shapes was a shock to most women, and when they tried on a few before the mirrors they simply screamed with derision. "Why I look a fright in that!" exclaimed one stylish miss, and so she did, but it was not altogether the fault of the chapeau. The amused young lady's hair was not turned up to the style of the hat, and the model was a direct turnabout from what she was wearing that day; still the blame was placed altogether on the new hat.

Another drawback to the recent head-dresses was the fact that they were generally sombre affair. There were very few light and airy hats—except in children's—and the openings seemed to have a pall cast over them. This influence will soon fade away, however, and all will go as merry as the time-honored marriage bell. The women will have to accept the inevitable, which is not so bad after all.

ONE OF THE FEATURES OF THE FALL MARKET IS THE RETURN OF THE TAILORED SHIRT WAIST to the center of the stage. Just at this juncture waits of heavy cotton materials and equally heavy linen and woolen goods, and the model worn by the women hold the attention of buyers. Deep plaits that occupy the entire broad shoulder seam and a sharply curved under-arm seam are the special features of the new waists, and other plays this season well curved toward the center, while the fronts instead of showing a bias line that increases the fullness below the arm, as heretofore, now have the material cut away in the opposite direction at this point. The effect is to make the waist follow the lines of the figure more closely, with all superfluous bulk of material eliminated at the waistline. The back is drawn down tight and snug, while the fronts are barely eased a trifle into the belt.

IN SPITE OF THE RAISE IN RAW COTTON PRICES THERE SEEMS TO BE NO SKIMPING OF MATERIAL or workmanship in the finished waists. The garments are heavier, and the skirts of new models seem to be appreciably fuller than were their predecessors, and the fact that night-gowns are made with mere apologies for arm-covers, and chemises are heavier, and less fullness in the body portion, and that so much material is not now necessary for the corset cover, nevertheless the shortage of material in these items is hardly enough to balance the increase in the price of the skirt portions. In the French models, that are crowding in with every steamer, there is evident a very decided fancy for colors and colored effects. Pale blue and rose-pink tints, both the cotton and the linen weavers are extremely prominent. They are trimmed with a yellowish Valenciennes lace, which seems for the nonce to have replaced the white lace in the affections of the Parisians, and with a goodly amount of hand embroidery. Many matched sets are among the imports; and in these the nightgown is oftentimes of such dimensions as to lead one to imagine that it might be used for a bodice or even a tongsown without incongruity in the wearing.

HUNDREDS OF ST. JOHN LADIES ARE MAKING NEW HOUSE AND TEE GOWN. Of the latter the Pompadour is one of the latest, and is a domestic reproduction of an imported model. In this instance the panel effects are fully displayed. The upper part of the gown is of blue warp-printed China silk, following panel or polonaise lines, the coat having a short-waisted fitted lining, and the long drespy attached invisibly beneath a belt of velvet ribbon. The polonaise part is very long in the back, rounding up at the knees in front, and open there to display the skirt of white net upon which net lace flounces are posed, each flounce having a ruckling of the silk for a heading. Pale-blue velvet ribbon is used lavishly, and the extreme straight-fronted effect is very noticeable. The tendency to fitted lines in these exquisite garments is made more than prominent in some lines, while it is altogether lacking in others. That there is expected to be about an equal demand for each is illustrated by the fact that more than one house is making up the same line of materials in both styles.

IN THE ACCOUNT OF A TROUBLED MAN MADE FOR ONE OF THE

MOST ARISTOCRATIC BRIDES of the season, it was stated among other scraps of interesting information, that the bride had a pair of gloves in her outfit. The number, not on what nerves, and ever since has required to me like some bewildering algebraic problem. Why 47? Gloves for a tressouer or other large outfit are usually bought in dozens, or at least in half-dozen, but this odd number divides into nothing equal. Had there been but one more pair, the mind of those reading of the tressouer would not have been irritated and puzzled over the matter. As it was, there came before the imagination neat bundles of gloves made up in their half-dozen, and one odd pair, and it is this odd pair that is surrounded by so much mystery that it keeps wondering what specific make of glove it was of which a solitary pair would suffice.

THE FASHION OF WEARING ARMS OF LAZEE AS TRIMMING DOWN THE FRONT OF A DRESS SKIRT is a revival that comes to us from Paris, where it seems to have taken a good hold. Such an apron, it is to be understood, is a big unimpeachable affair, running the whole length, or nearly, from the waist to the foot of the skirt, and, of course, spreading in keeping with the lines of the dress. It will provide an almost unrivalled opportunity for the display of large pieces of real lace by the way, while the many will have excellent choice from the numerous makes now about of gupure-like laces. The times have been seen for the fashion, for lace of all sorts is well engaged just now, but how far this mode is likely to extend it is at present extremely difficult to judge.

GREAT PREPARATIONS ARE BEING MADE IN VELVETS FOR THIS WINTER. The couturiers tell that everything will be trimmed with velvet. Velvet motifs and velvet pannes will ornament the cloth tailor-mades. The cloth is very thick, like Ottoman, and the velvet applications are introduced to take off the roughness of the material. In the way of silks much is being done to push the "Burlington" and "Tajah" silks, which are in special texture, elaborate, and in a most delicate range of tints. They will be used for mantles as well as dresses, and their suppleness renders them especially adaptable for present fashions.

AGED LADY KILLED AT BEAR ISLAND.

Mrs. Benjamin Ingraham Fell Down Stairs.

Railway Commissioners and the Central Route—Fredericton Fair Commission—H. A. Jewett Sold a Horse.

FREDERICTON, N. B., Oct. 1.—Senator Thompson, W. T. Whitehead, M. P. P., Chief Engineer Guy C. Dunn, and Assistant Chief Engineer C. O. Foss of the Grand Trunk Pacific left yesterday morning for Riviere du Loup to meet the railway commissioners and point out to them the advantages of the valley route. F. B. Carvell, M. P., of Charlottetown, joined the party at Newburg Junction. It is said that an effort will be made to have the commissioners travel down the river by automobile, as this is considered the best plan of getting a good view of the proposed line. The party, it is expected, will arrive here about Wednesday next.

Mrs. Frances Ingraham, wife of Benjamin Ingraham, met with a sad and fatal accident at her home, Bear Island, on Tuesday last. While about her work Mrs. Ingraham fell down a flight of stairs, rupturing a blood vessel, from which injury she died three hours later. The deceased lady was 51 years of age and is survived by a son, Alfred, and a daughter, Mrs. George Hagerman.

The German coach horse, Gross, the property of ex-Ald. H. A. Jewett of this city, was sold during the Halifax exhibition to Mr. Hilsley, of Canimac, N. S., for a sum in the vicinity of $2,000. Gross was one of the stallions rescued from Mr. Jewett's barn at the time of his serious fire. He is a full bay and weighs about 1,400 pounds.

Sheriff Stirling has written to the city clerk accepting appointment in the commission. Chairman T. C. Allen, and ex-Mayor Palmer have not accepted, but it is expected they will in the course of a few days. The commission probably get to work next week.

The transfer of the William Richards Company property on the Miramichi, which was to have been made between the 15th and 20th of this month, has not taken place as yet and so far as can be learned the deal has been held up owing to some inquiry which has been in progress concerning the title to some of the property.

Last evening H. H. Gunter, manager of the Richards concern, and R. W. McEellan, the solicitor, left for Boston en route to New York, where they will meet the representatives of the International Paper Company, and it is likely that the deal will then be made. Walter Hamilton, son of D. E. Hamilton, is ill at the residence of his father with typhoid fever. This is the second time that he has been ill with this malady.

CALLED IT A DRAW.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 29.—Sam Langford of Boston and Young Peter Jackson of California met in a 15-round bout tonight. The former twice claimed fouls which Referee O'Hara did not allow. After Langford had pounded Jackson's left eye to a pulp and hammered him with straight hard blows at will throughout the fifteen rounds, the referee called it a draw.

SACKVILLE NEWS.

Deceased leaves a sorrowing husband and several small children, the youngest but a few days old. Is Dr. Chase Your Doctor?

HAVE YOU LEARNED TO CURE BILIOUSNESS, INDIGESTION AND CONSTIPATION WITH Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills?

A medicine, like a physician, is selected because of the actual results it is known to bring about. Most people are slow in choosing either a physician or medicine until they know of cases in which they have proven successful. In calling your attention to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills it is only necessary to point to the success in the past, for they are known in nearly every home.

By means of their direct and specific action on the liver—causing a healthy flow of bile—they regulate and enliven the action of the bowels and ensure good digestion in the intestine. At the same time they stimulate the kidneys in their work of filtering poisons from the blood.

This cleansing process set in action by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills means a thorough cure of biliousness, intestinal indigestion, torpid liver, kidney derangements and constipation. It means a restoration of health, strength and comfort where there has been pain, weakness and suffering. It means a removal of the conditions which lead to backache, rheumatism, lumbago, Bright's disease, appendicitis and diabetes.

Mr. Luc Dugas, Thierault, Gloucester Co., N. B., writes: "I am sixty-eight years of age, and used to suffer a great deal with very severe pains in the back from deranged kidneys. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have cured me, and I have given a good many to friends, who have also been benefited by their use."

Mr. Abraham Steeves, Steeves Settlement, N. B., writes: "I am 57 years of age, and have been troubled for many years with constiveness. By taking one of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills every week or two I find that I can keep my bowels regular and my general health good."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto. The name and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.
