Before leaving the city for an extended trip abroad, it would be very wise to engage the Dominion Trust Company to look after every detail of your business.

Thus for a very small consideration indeed you could stay away as long as you wished and be free from care or perhaps anxiety.

The company has branches in the principal Canadian cities from the Atlantic to the Pacific, as well as in London, England, and Antwerp, Belgium.

Box number 14102 had contained one Browning automatic pistol 9 M-M or 38 calibre, No. 14102.

Box number 12839 had contained one Browning automatic pistol, 9 M-M or 38 calibre, No. 12839.
Also one Colt revolver 45 calibre, new service, was stolen. A short distance on left hand side of the barrel, in front of the chamber there were four little white marks shining through the blue metal.

Witness also said he found three empty boxes which had contained 45 colts centre fire smokeless cartridges, Winchester make. One empty box that had contained 38 calibre S and W centre fire, Dominion make cartridges. One box 9 M-M Browning make of ammunition.

Two empty boxes 7.65 which had contained Browning make automatic cartridges.
There were other boxes, the witness said which were found strewn about, some were full of cartridges and pistols and some were empty. The drawers containing cartridge belts and same bags were found open and some of the goods were strewn on the floor.

Identifies Goods

Detective Lucas then produced the articles which he had recovered, after the arrests were made, and handed them to the witness for identification. Witness identified the 45 calibre colts revolver by the four white marks on the barrel and which he had mentioned previously in his evidence. That revolver, witness said, had been taken from the store. One leather cartridge belt was identified as the property of the company by private marks. One game bag produced. "That is ours and I identify it by the private marks. This bag contains cartridges of 45 colts centre fire Winchester make.

Another canvas game bag produced, "that is also ours and bears our private marks."
The bag also contains six boxes of Browning automatic pistol cartridges marked 9M-M; also a quantity of loose cartridges, 25 automatic Browning make, 6.35 and 32 automatic Browning automatic, marked 7.65; also 38 Browning automatic make 9M-M, 38 calibre S and W cartridges, Dominion Cartridge Company make.

One Browning automatic pistol, 38 calibre No. 12839.
One Savage automatic pistol, 38 calibre, No. 6124.
One Savage automatic pistol, 32 calibre No. 102973.
Another Savage 32 calibre pistol, No. 101474.

One Browning automatic pistol, 38 calibre, or 3M-M, No. 14102.
One leather cartridge belt bearing W. H. Thorne & Co.'s private mark. The belt was filled with 38 cartridges of the 38 calibre Browning make.
One cardboard box containing a quantity of 38 calibre Browning automatic, and 38 S and W Dominion make cartridges.

In answer to Detective Lucas witness said that the articles he identified were similar to those which were stolen from the sporting goods department over which he is manager.

Other Articles.

Deputy Chief Jenkins produced articles recovered by him and supposed to have been stolen from Thorne's by the defendants and witness identified the following as goods which were similar to those which had been in the Thorne establishment and had been stolen. The goods were as follows:

One canvas game bag bearing the firm's private mark.
One leather cartridge belt bearing the firm's private mark.
One automatic Savage 32 calibre pistol, No. 102661.
Another Savage automatic 38 calibre pistol, marked No. 6306.

A quantity of loose cartridges in game bag.
One automatic pistol No. 102661, and witness said that he found the empty box which had contained this pistol on the store floor the morning after the robbery.

One automatic 38 calibre No. 6306 pistol, the box which had contained this fire arm was also found empty on the store floor after the robbery.

All Stolen

The contents of all the empty boxes produced in court had been stolen from W. H. Thorne & Company.
To R. G. Murray, who represented Goldsworthy, witness said that he was the manager of the sporting goods department, and identified the articles produced in court as the property of the firm which employs him.

To Lester Smith, who represented Petrie, witness said the stock of Savage make articles had only arrived a few days before the robbery. He kept a record of all sales made, but they don't keep the empty boxes after a sale is made.

To C. F. Inches, who represented Leggett, witness said he had been in the employ of W. H. Thorne & Co. for ten years. He did not note the date of the robbery, and he did not miss other articles previous to the robbery in question. They take stock of the goods in the establishment once a year.

To Urban J. Sweeney, who represented Braman, witness said that when any person purchased a revolver the empty boxes were thrown into a waste paper basket. A Mr. Fisher opened the store at seven o'clock in the morning and there is no jarster in connection with the building.

To the Magistrate witness said that Deputy Chief Jenkins called at the store the morning after the robbery and that Detective Lucas called in the afternoon.

The quartette of prisoners were again remanded to jail.

MEETS HORRIBLE DEATH

Chatham, N. B., July 17.—Last night, soon after eleven o'clock, a fatal automobile accident occurred at a point about ten miles above Nelson, on the road to Blackville. W. L. T. Weldon of Chatham being burned to death beneath his car when it overturned in backing down a steep hill. There were three other occupants of the car, but only one, Nathan Deskin of Montreal, was hurt, he having had his head and foot injured. W. Dick and H. Flan were the other occupants.

It seems that on returning to Chatham, the car was stalled in the middle of a steep ascent, and began to descend rapidly, owing to a faulty brake.

According to Mr. Deskin the car almost immediately turned over. He thinks that the other two jumped, but he himself could not get clear.

Bellevue—"What makes you fear that your son, who went to Australia to make his fortune, is dead?"
Fellows (with a sigh)—"He hasn't written for money for nearly two months."

Your Chance to Become a Partner in Fur Producers Limited

Biggest Fox Ranch in the World

The biggest Company in the world with the best foxes and the lowest ranching cost. Fur Producers Limited has an expert rancher, competent assistants, qualified veterinary and a modernly equipped ranch.

What is more, the Company will be the most influential of its kind, with world-wide connections. You will have better chances to secure a good average dividend in a Company with one hundred foxes, as a better average can be secured.

Then again, administration expenses will be proportionately less in a Company the size of Fur Producers Limited. And any person will appreciate the fact that the stronger the organization the better the protection, and the greater are the possibilities for profits.

The greatest feature of all is the fact that the Fur Farmers' Bureau and Exchange Ltd. (with its organization of nearly one hundred men located in Canada, Europe and the United States) stands back of this proposition, and have given it their seal and sanction.

The Fur Farmers' Bureau has never in its history handled anything but strictly "Class A" propositions of the highest type—pure Prince Edward Island Silver Black Foxes.

The Fur Farmers' Bureau employs a board of experts to investigate every proposition before they become identified with it and this certainly protects the investor.

The Fur Farmers' Bureau also markets the product of the different ranches they are connected with, and this means protection—safeguard—dividends.

THE BIGGEST COMPANY WITH THE SMALLEST EXPENSES

Can you conceive of a stronger combination than the biggest company in the world with the smallest expenses. One means the other, and both mean the same thing—business economy.

Anyone and everyone will admit that the expenses in a company with one hundred foxes will be proportionately less than a smaller one; inasmuch as only one night watchman will be necessary in FUR PRODUCERS LIMITED in place of ten night watchmen in ten five-pair companies. It also saves the cost of buildings to house the watchmen and caretakers. One man can just as well look after twenty-five pair of foxes as five pair, and the cost of food in large quantities will be proportionately less to the shareholders of FUR PRODUCERS LIMITED.

THE BEST FOXES THAT MONEY CAN BUY

The foxes in FUR PRODUCERS LIMITED are the very best that money can buy—there will be nothing better to be had anywhere, at any price. In fact the Fur Farmers' Bureau and Exchange Ltd. would not place their seal on the proposition unless the foxes contracted for were POSITIVELY the best on the market. They are all to be selected from strains with prolific propensities, and are all the progeny of the stock which brought the world's highest prices on the London market.

EXPERT FOX RAISER WILL HAVE SUPERVISION OVER RANCH

Perhaps no person in the Black Fox industry has made a greater success of fox raising than has Mr. Frank F. Tuplin.
There will be no experimenting in FUR PRODUCERS LIMITED—every man who has anything whatever to do with the foxes is experienced and practical. What does this mean? It means that FUR PRODUCERS LIMITED is a safe and sound investment proposition, with the absence of risk, and has the possibilities for big profits.
Isn't it reasonable to conclude that your investment is safest on a ranch that does not have to experiment—in a ranch that is managed and managed by competent, efficient men, who have "made good" in every sense of the term.
If you wish to eliminate every speculative element and make your fox investment a permanent thing, then you'll acknowledge the advantages of FUR PRODUCERS LIMITED by a signed application for shares.

BARE COST RANCHING ARRANGEMENT

This is often the dividing point between a good, and not-so-good fox proposition.
While some ranches charge on the basis of from ten to 25 per cent. of the production of young foxes for keep, the foxes in FUR PRODUCERS LIMITED will be ranched at actual cost—and this means even less than actual cost in a small proposition; as food purchased in wholesale quantities will be purchased at a saving.
And find you, amateurs will not be employed to care for these foxes. The ranch supervisor will be Mr. Frank F. Tuplin (the most successful pioneer rancher in Prince Edward Island)—and even his assistants are experienced men, who are eminently qualified.
Think of what this means to the investor in the way of security and protection.

8 PER CENT. INTEREST ALLOWED.
On all payments of $100.00 and over from the first of the month following receipt of subscription payment to October, after which date the company will be a "going concern" and the stock should be worth considerable over par value.

REVIEW OF WEEK ON MONTREAL MARKET

C.P.R. more active than for some time — Pearson issues under pressure greater part of the week.

Montreal, July 17.—There were a number of interesting developments this week in local stock market. As far as the Pearson issues were concerned, these developments were largely domestic in character. C.P.R. was more active this week on the local market than it has been for some time. Selling up to 191 at the close on last Saturday it sold down to 183 1/2, but recovered to 186 1/2 towards the close today. Weakness developed in the early part of the week with the result of a number of reports which had received wide circulation, not only in New York and London but also throughout Europe.

A report went over to London from this side that Western wheat crop had been greatly over estimated and that as a matter of fact it was not likely to be a bull factor in the Canadian industrial situation this year. The decline in the market for C.P.R. became so serious that the directors thought it advisable to issue a statement, not only to the shareholders but also to the public. This statement was issued on Monday and was to the effect that the directors were not aware of any over-estimation of the wheat crop and that they were not aware of any over-estimation of the wheat crop. The statement was issued on Monday and was to the effect that the directors were not aware of any over-estimation of the wheat crop and that they were not aware of any over-estimation of the wheat crop.

LIQUIDATION IN RAILWAY ISSUES

New Haven uncertain as result of overnight developments concerning Road's future — Less favorable crop reports from Northwest.

New York, July 17.—General liquidation was again an outstanding feature of today's stock market. The movement centered mainly about the group of low-priced railway issues, most of which long ago ceased to exercise any speculative influence. Missouri, Kansas and Texas common, Missouri preferred, Denver and Rio Grande preferred, Southern Railway, Erie, St. Louis and Southwestern preferred, and Seaboard Air Line receded from one to over four points.

Later the selling embraced a number of stocks of greater prominence, including the anthracite shares, St. Paul, Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio. Offerings of the latter were apparently of the same character as those which had their inception in the recent court decision favoring Union Pacific shareholders. Numerous transactions in Baltimore and Ohio preferred were again for future delivery, indicating that foreign interests were continuing to dispose of our holdings. It was noteworthy, also, that various other high grade stocks and bonds changed hands in the same way.

BURNING OPIUM IN PEKIN, A TYPICAL SCENE IN CHINA

$10,000 WORTH OF OPIUM GOING UP AS SMOKE IN PEKIN. The scene which this picture portrays is typical of what goes on from time to time in all the large cities of China. Opium is generally confiscated wherever found and, with pipes, lamps and other smoking utensils, is preserved in a police station or other place of safe keeping till a sufficient quantity is accumulated for a first class bonfire. To send up in smoke $25,000 worth of opium is not a unique occurrence. Such a burning took place in Tientsin a few weeks ago. To smoke opium has become a national disgrace. Anti-opium societies exist in every province. In some districts the Governors have issued proclamations making the penalty death under certain circumstances for growing the poppy or for smoking the drug, and many executions have taken place. From which it will be seen that there is still something of the old China left in administrative matters.

LANCASHIRE MILLS ON SHORT TIME

English Spinners unable to find grades required, except in small quantities and high prices.

Private advices from Liverpool yesterday received by F. B. McCurdy & Co. say that short time has been decided upon by the Lancashire mills. How extensive this short time will be is not stated, but judging by recent takings by English spinners this is nothing more than the official sanction of a state of affairs that was already expressed. English spinners cannot find the grades they require, except in very limited quantities, and at prices so high as to wipe out completely any margin of profit. The market is down a few points on the news, but practically everybody in the trade has been familiar with the conditions in England and this has already figured in the creation of bearish sentiment. The official declaration adds nothing to it.

SPANISH RIVER HITS HIGH MARK

Advices from Montreal to Mc Dougall and Cowans state that Spanish River sold yesterday at 41, its highest price in some months, being a recovery from the low of June up to ten points. There has been quite a demand for this stock recently.

AN INCREASE IN BRAZILIAN EARNINGS

Heaviest traffic of the year shown—Earnings $4,000 ahead of next best week, that of Feb. 28.

According to private information received yesterday by J. M. Robinson and Sons, the weekly earnings reported for the Brazilian Traction, Light and Power, issued Thursday night, indicated the heaviest traffic of the year. The earnings were $47,933, which is some $4,000 in excess of the next best week, which was that of February 28. The gain over the same week last year was $12,385, which is fairly high considering the average maintained lately, but well below the large gain of earlier in the year. The increase for the week ending July 4 over the same week last year was $8,880.

NO EXTENSION OF FRANCHISE

McDougall and Cowans received private advices from Montreal yesterday, stating definitely that an extended franchise for the tramway company will not be awarded this year. This statement was made this morning by one who is exceptionally well informed on what is going on behind the scenes at City Hall. He adds that the matter will probably be cleaned up early in 1915, but says positively that no settlement will be reached before the new year.

A GREAT NUMBER OF SHORT CONTRACTS OUT

New York advices received yesterday by McCurdy and Co. state that the floor hears that the big selling in New Haven last week was some 29,000 shares belonging to the Skinner estate. The general market today continues to have a sidelong tendency, but there are a great many short contracts out. The Kahn Loeb properties seem to hold the best, and S. P. is favorite with traders who would rather buy that, even if they sold other stocks.

TWO GOOD ORDERS FOR N. S. STEEL CO.

Twelve Thousand Tons of Steel for new Halifax Terminals, and big order from C. N. R. Private advices to F. B. McCurdy & Co. from New Glasgow, yesterday, state that two splendid orders have just been received by the N. S. Steel and Coal there. The first is for 12,000 tons of steel for the new Halifax terminals, and the second is a large order for the Canadian Northern Railway. The orders from the latter are for bolts, spikes and angle bars. This order will greatly stimulate conditions in every direction and give the steel works a decided impetus. The officials of N. S. Steel have not stated what immediate effect the new orders will have on present activities, but doubtless they will expand considerably and increase their force of workmen. Should the car works obtain an order of any magnitude we again begin to feel confident that this is but the beginning of a new industrial era of activity in New Glasgow and surrounding towns.

MEDALS STRUCK FOR CARTIER CELEBRATION

Gold Medal for King George — Bronze Ones for General Distribution — First Medal Struck for Cartier's Daughter.

Montreal, July 16.—The gold medal which is to be given to King George fifth and the other medals to be distributed as souvenirs of the unveiling of the monument to Sir George Etienne Cartier, in Montreal, in September, were struck today. Two sizes of medal will commemorate the Cartier centenary, large ones for rulers and statesmen, and small bronze medals for more general distribution. On one side of each medal is the head of Sir George Etienne Cartier, one of the fathers of confederation, and on the other side his coat of arms. The first medal struck is to be presented to Miss Cartier, the daughter of the Canadian statesman, whose memory is thus being honored.

To Cure Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected a complete cure after all else has failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from their ear. Therefore, if you know someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand to them and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:
Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmit (Double Strength), about 75c. worth. Take this home, and add to it 1-2 pint of hot water and 4 oz. of moist or granulated sugar, stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.
The first dose promptly ends the most distressing head noises, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc. while the hearing rapidly returns as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal deafness, and which are quickly overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly ninety per cent. of all ear troubles are directly caused by catarrh; therefore, there are but few people whose hearing cannot be restored by this simple home treatment. Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness, or catarrh in any form should give this prescription a trial. There is nothing better.
Important—In ordering Parmit always specify that you want Double Strength; your druggist has it or he can get it for you; if not, send five cents to the International Laboratories, 74 St. Antoine street, Montreal, P. Q., who make a specialty of it.

THE WEATHER.

Maritime—Fresh to strong southwesterly to northwesterly winds; local showers or thunderstorms, but partly fair. Washington, July 17.—Forecast: Northern New England—Fair Saturday, cooler at night; Sunday fair. Toronto, July 17.—The northern depression mentioned last evening is centered tonight north of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, while a moderate area of high pressure accompanied by cooler weather is approaching the Great Lakes from the northwest. Thunderstorms have been general today in the Ottawa and St. Lawrence valleys, and have occurred locally in the peninsula of Ontario. Elsewhere in the Dominion the weather has been for the most part fair; very warm from the Lower Lakes to the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and moderately warm in the west.

AROUND THE CITY

Four Drunks. There was no less than four drunks in a box car on the Ballast wharf, near the sugar refinery, last night, keeping out of the damp weather. The police will not take place for about two weeks.

Race Postponed. The motor boat race for the Norton Griffiths shield, which was to have been held last evening, was not started owing to the thick weather. The race will not take place for about two weeks.

Furious Driving. Thomas Murray has been reported by Policeman Power for furiously driving a team of horses, attached to a coach, round the corner of German and Britain streets, yesterday, and striking James Mulherin and slightly injuring him.

Not Dead, But Smoking. A report was circulated about the city last night that one of the prisoners in the county jail had died suddenly in a cell and the turkey was kept busy answering the telephone. The prisoner in question was as healthy as a trout and instead of lying on his cot dead was enjoying a pipeful of tobacco.

A Wanderer. Yesterday afternoon a little boy who resides with his grandmother in Fairville, wandered away from his home and came to the city in search of his father. He was found on the streets by a policeman and taken to the central police station where he was kept safely for a couple of hours until relatives called for him.

Labor Meeting. An interesting address on labor matters was delivered by J. C. Waters, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, before an open meeting held in the Trades and Labor Council hall in the Oldfellow's building, last evening. J. L. Sturge, president of the local trades council, presided.

More Boys Committed. Yesterday afternoon in the Fairville court, Angus Gould, aged 15 years, and Robert Harrington, aged 13 years, were committed for trial by Magistrate Alinham on the charge of entering the home of Mrs. Mary Robinson and stealing the sum of $15 from a satchel. The boys confessed to the robbery and were arrested by Policeman Stinson. They were remanded to the county jail.

Retail Market. There was a fair supply of vegetables in the market yesterday, not much change being noticeable from the prices of last week. New potatoes were in fair demand at the same price as last week. Following are some of the retail prices, as well as prices of meats and fish: Lamb, 18 to 25c; a pound; veal, 10 to 18c; beef, 12 to 24c; steak, 20 to 28c; chickens, 21c to 22c pair; fowl, $1.25 to $1.75 pair; new potatoes, peas and beans, 80c; peck; beets and carrots, 10c; bunch; spinach, 10c; bunch; cauliflower, 10c to 25c; haddock and cod, 8c; salmon, 15c to 25c; mackerel 10 to 25c; each; salad, 25 and 30c; each; halibut, 18c; pound; kippers, 30c; dozen; flnan had die, 10c; pound; smoked salmon, 25c; pound. Strawberries were fairly plentiful, averaging 14c a box. Rhubarb is about over.

OBITUARY.

W. Fred Flewelling. W. Fred Flewelling, an aged and respected resident of Clifton, Kings county, died yesterday morning after an illness of some two years. Mr. Flewelling was seventy-four years of age and is survived by his wife, one son, W. B. Flewelling, of Clifton, and one daughter, Mrs. H. R. Northrup, also of Clifton. The funeral will be held on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock.

George W. Dunlop. The death of George W. Dunlop took place last evening at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. McAfee, 110 Charlotte street. Mr. Dunlop had been in Clifton for the last year but on account of failing health returned to St. John on Thursday. He was formerly a resident of St. John and for many years conducted a grain and feed business in Sydney street. He is survived by his wife and five children. The funeral arrangements will be made later.

YOUTHFUL BURGLAR THREE DARING BREAKS

Mariner Seymour Harris, aged 16, gives exhibition of cold nerve and lands in Police Cell — Robbery evidently a fad.

Robbery has apparently become a fad in St. John during the past few weeks and one of the most barefaced cases of theft took place yesterday afternoon and as a result Mariner Seymour Harris, a 16-year-old youth, hailing from Eastport, Maine, was arrested when caught in the act, and is now spending time in a cell at central police station. The young prisoner is charged with no less than three robberies which took place within a short time of each other yesterday afternoon. About three o'clock Harris called at the residence of Mrs. Mary Stockley at 337 Brussels street and asked the woman to board him. He was informed that she did not keep boarders, he then said that he only wished to stay at the house until train time as he was tired and promising to pay the sum of twenty-five cents he was allowed to enter the house as she said he only wished to stay there for an hour or so. Mrs. Stockley did not think anything further of the matter but went about her duties in another part of the house leaving Harris alone in a room assigned to him. About half an hour later she went to John Lipssett's room on the corner of Brussels and Richmond streets to make some purchases, and happening to glance out of the store window she was greatly surprised to see her new boarder, Harris in the store kept by Frederick Isaac Harris at the time was robbing the till. Mrs. Stockley called the attention of Mr. Lipssett to the robbery and he ran from the store and caught Harris in the act of stealing. Mr. Lipssett held on to the thief while some person hastened to the home of Policeman William Pitt. In a few minutes the policeman arrived on the scene and placing the handcuffs on Harris took him to the police station and locked him up. At the time that the store was being robbed by owner Mr. Isaac, was having a little nap in the back shop and he was surprised when Mr. Lipssett rushed in the store and grappled with the thief. Harris managed to get about twenty dollars from the till and in his hurry overlooked a five dollar bill which he left behind. After Harris had been taken to the police station he was searched and there was found in his pockets $17.50, three watches, two gold rings with settings, a pocket book, a comb, an electric flash light, a key, a part flask of whiskey and a box of figs. It was after Harris was arrested that it was discovered he had been busy robbing other places and in addition to the charge of robbing Isaac's he is charged with robbing Mrs. Stockley of a lady's silver watch and strap, two gold rings with settings and $3.50. These articles were found on the prisoner and identified by Mrs. Stockley as her property. It is supposed that during the short time that he had been left in the Stockley home he managed to steal the goods. The prisoner is also suspected of entering the house at No. 297 Union street and stealing from the pocket of Alexander McNaughton a watch and key. These articles have been found on the prisoner and identified by McNaughton.

ALL MANNER OF OFFENDERS UP IN COURT. Magistrate Ritchie has busy session — Thieves, drunks, fools and scoundrels before him. In the police court yesterday afternoon the preliminary hearing in no less than eleven prisoners were brought before him in addition to the robbers, Goodspeed, McDonough, Braman, Legett, Petrie and Goldworthy. The first to be called on was Benjamin Fish, charged with beating his wife. He was fined $20 or two months in jail. Michael Walsh was fined $5 for drunkenness, and the fine was allowed to stand. William White, charged with drunk eness, was the next called. He was fined $8 or two months jail. Michael Donovan and Stanley Murphy charged with lying and jinking in the doorway of a Brussels street residence, and not giving a satisfactory account of themselves were each fined twenty dollars or two months in jail. Harold Abbott, a young Englishman charged with accosting young girls on the street, was fined $8 or two months in jail. James Dempster, charged with being drunk and breaking city property in one of the lockups, was allowed to go on an eight dollar fine. William McGulgan was sent to jail for two months in default of paying a fine of $8. Committed for Trial. George Angus was committed for trial on the charge of stealing. It was on July 4th that the defendant asked John H. McIntyre for a night's lodging. McIntyre was kind enough to take Angus into the Prince Rupert House and share his bed with him. While McIntyre was asleep Angus robbed him of $25. Fred Rose, charged with stealing three axes from the Campbell Axe Factory on Smythe street, was remanded to jail. Jeremiah Barrett, charged with drunkenness, was sent back to jail.

BOY ROBBERS WERE SENT UP FOR TRIAL. Goodspeed and McDonough will face five breaking and entering charges in Upper Court. In the police court yesterday afternoon the preliminary hearing in no less than eleven prisoners were brought before him in addition to the robbers, Goodspeed, McDonough, Braman, Legett, Petrie and Goldworthy. The first to be called on was Benjamin Fish, charged with beating his wife. He was fined $20 or two months in jail. Michael Walsh was fined $5 for drunkenness, and the fine was allowed to stand. SITING BOARD TO CONSIDER STRIKE NEAR CONCILIATION BOARD

Conciliation Board will interview Street Railway Company with a view to preventing trouble.

Judge Forbes, R. T. Hayes and J. L. Sugrue, members of the conciliation board, appointed by the Dominion Department of Labor to investigate the St. John Street Railway and its employees, intend to interview Col. H. H. McLean and H. M. Hopper on Monday, with a view to formally presenting their recommendation that the company take back ex-Conductor Ramsay into its employ. The conciliating board hopes the company will accept its recommendation and avoid a strike, which, as the men in the power house might be called out, would cause considerable inconvenience to the public.

Others Reported Fined. It was reported last evening that the Street Railway Company had laid off eight men on the West Side, including the secretary of the Street Railway Men's Union.

H. H. Hopper, manager of the company, when asked about the report, said he knew nothing about it, and that it was no business of the newspapers anyway. A prominent official of the union said he had heard the report, but had not been formally notified. He added that the union would take no action pending the meeting of conciliation board with Col. McLean.

"We want to avoid trouble," he said, "because a strike would inconvenience the public. But if the company imagine it can crush the union without a fight it is mistaken. If we have to declare a strike at least 85 per cent of the men will go out; but we don't believe the company will force a fight as the conciliation board did not put much faith in the detective apparatus whose evidence Ramsay was discharged.

PERSONAL. Mr. and Mrs. George Heans and family and Mr. Donald Munro of Virginia, arrived in the city last evening on the Governor Dingley. They will spend some time with Mr. Heans' mother, Paradise Row. Miss Elva Murchison of St. John is a guest of Miss Roberts Grimmer—St. Croix Courier, St. Stephen. She pretends to the throne of that principality, imprisoned the colonel named by the king, because he fears the American on his royal rights. Upon her arrival Kathryn is informed by Umballah that being dead, she is to be queen and to him forthwith. Because of her refusal sentenced to undergo two ordeals by the gods. King Bruce, an American and fellow on the boat which brought Kathryn to India, saves her life. The elephant which carried from the scene of her trials becomes a friend and runs away, separating her from Bruce and the party. After a ride filled with peril she takes refuge in a ruined temple. The holy men and villagers, allow her to remain as the queen of the sacred fire. But Kathryn's navel is pierced by a lion, and she is forced to flee with the savage beast in pursuit. She finds a retreat in the jungle, only to be the hands of a band of slave traders, who sell her to the public mart. She is rescued by Umballah, who, finding her still unshorn, throws her into the dungeon with her father. Bruce and his friends effect the release of Kathryn and her father. Umballah's attempt to secure them is unsuccessful, and the fugitives given shelter in the palace of Bala Krishna. Supplied with camels and servants by the pitiable prince, the party endeavors to coast, but are overpowered by a band of robbers and the encounter results in the colonial officer being killed. Kathryn and Bruce escape from their captors and return to Allah. Kathryn learns that her father, while king, is in reality a prisoner. Kathryn's resourcefulness and bravery means of rescuing him, and once more away from Allah, but return broken when they learn that Winnie, Kathryn's sister, has come to India. Umballah a prisoner. Ramabai paused suddenly in front of his smiling down at her. "Pundita, you are my legal queen. It is to say what shall be done. I had in mind a Lal Singh cackled ironically. "Do not dream," said Ahmed. "Comrades tell you that there can be no royal hah. There must be an absolute ruler, not your majesty, speak," he added, saluting Pundita. She looked wildly about the room, vainly to read the faces of her white friends, but presences were like stone images. No he so guidance. "Is the life of a decrepit old man," she said, "worth the lives of the white people and respect you?"

THE ADVENTURES OF KATHLYN

By AN OLD MAC GRATH I.

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS CHAPTERS.

Kathlyn Mare, believing her father, Col. Haru in peril, has summoned her, leaves her home in California to go to him in Allah, India. Umballah pretender to the throne of that principality, has imprisoned the colonel, named by the late king as his heir, because he fears the American may insist on his royal rights. Upon her arrival in Allah, Kathlyn is informed by Umballah that her father being dead, she is to be queen, and must marry him forthwith. Because of her refusal, she is sentenced to undergo two ordeals with wild beasts.

John Bruce, an American and fellow passenger on the boat which brought Kathlyn to Allah, saves her life. The elephant which carries her from the scene of her trials becomes frightened and runs away, separating her from Bruce and the rest of the party.

After a ride filled with peril she takes refuge in a ruined temple. The holy men and villagers, believing her to be an ancient priestess, rescue her from the tomb, allow her to remain as the guardian of the sacred fire. But Kathlyn's navel is also the abode of a lion, and she is forced to flee from it, with the savage beast in pursuit. She escapes and finds a retreat in the jungle, only to fall into the hands of a band of slave traders, who bring her to Allah to the public market. She is sold to Umballah, who, finding her still unsubmitive, throws her into the dungeon with her father.

Bruce and his friends effect the release of Kathlyn and the colonel. Umballah's attempt to recapture them is unsuccessful, and the fugitives are given shelter in the palace of Bala Khan. Supplied with camels and servants by that hospitable prince, the party endeavors to reach the coast, but, are overpowered by a band of brigands, and the encounter results in the colonel being delivered to Umballah. Kathlyn and Bruce escape from their captors and return to Allah, where Kathlyn learns that her father, while nominally king, is in reality a prisoner.

Kathlyn's resourcefulness and bravery are the means of rescuing him, and once more they steal away from Allah, but return broken hearted when they learn that Winnie, Kathlyn's young sister, has come to India. Umballah makes her a prisoner. She is forced to enter the palace and in turn is crowned queen of Allah.

Kathlyn, disguised as a woman doctor, succeeds in gaining admittance to Winnie's room. The joy of the sisters in the meeting is short lived, for Umballah appears and drags Kathlyn from Winnie's arms.

Her orders that Kathlyn be offered as a sacrifice to the god Jugernaut. She is bound and placed in the path of the six wheeled car, but the news is carried to the colonel and his friends and they are enabled to frustrate Umballah's fiendish design.

During the progress of a public exhibition, Kathlyn, who is present disguised as an animal trainer, reveals herself to the people and demands that their queen be allowed to leave the royal box and with her, face the lions in the arena.

This dramatic appeal is part of a carefully rehearsed program, and when Winnie joins her the trap door on which they stand opens and the sisters disappear from the gaze of the astonished multitude.

CHAPTER XIX.

THROUGH the tunnel, into the street, into the care of Ahmed and Lal Singh, then hurriedly to the house of Ramabal. The fact that they had to proceed to Ramabal's was a severe blow to Bruce and the colonel. They had expected all to be mounted the instant they came from the tunnel, a swift, unobstructed flight to the gate and freedom. But Ahmed could not find his elephants. Too late he learned that the mahouts he had secretly engaged had misunderstood his instructions and had stationed themselves near the main entrance to the arena!

The cursing and railing against fate is a futile thing, never bearing fruit; so Ramabal suggested his house lift transportation could be secured. They perfectly understood that they could not remain in the house more than a few hours, for Umballah would surely send his men everywhere, and quite possibly first of all to Ramabal's.

Still Ramabal did not appear very much alarmed. There were secret stairways in his house that not even Pundita knew, and at a pinch he had a plan by which he could turn away investigation. Only in the direct need, though, did he intend to execute the plan. He awaited his friends out of Allah without the shedding of any blood.

"Well," said Ahmed, angrily casting aside his disguise; "well, Ramabal, is the crisis. Will you strike?" Lal Singh's wrinkled face lightened up with eagerness.

"We are ready, Ramabal," he said. "Well," Ramabal paused in his pacing to gaze keenly into the eyes of the old conspirator. "Yes, we. For I, Lal Singh, propose to take my stand at your right hand. I have not been idle. Everywhere your friends are evincing impatience. Ah, I know. You wish for a bloodless rebellion; but that cannot be, not among our people. You have said that in their zeal your followers, if they knew, would sweep the poor old king out of your path. Listen. Shall we put him back on the throne, to perform some other mad thing like this gift of his throne to the Colonel Sahib?"

Ramabal, watched intently by the two conspirators for the British Raj and his white friends, paced back and forth, his hands behind his back, his head bent. He was a Christian; he was not only a Christian, he was a Hindu, and the shedding of blood was doubly abhorrent to his mind.

"Here," said Ramabal to the colonel, "you will be safe. They might search for days without learning this room existed. There will be no need to remain here now. Time enough when my servant gives warning." They filed out of the gallery solemnly. And Kathlyn went out into the garden, followed by Bruce.

"Do you know," said Kathlyn, "the sight of all that armor, old and still magnificent, seemed to awaken the recollection of another age to me?" He wanted to take her in his arms, but he waited for her to continue the thought.

"I wonder if in the dim past I was not an Amasout?" he wondered too, he said.

"Captain," he began, "is Durga Ram a good master? Does he keep his promises? On the other hand, what will you gain by taking us prisoners to Umballah?"

Pundita rose and placed her hands upon her husband's shoulder.

"We owe them our lives. Strike, Ramabal; but only if our need demands it." "I'm off for the bazaars for the night. I'll buy chupatties and pass them about, as they did in my father's time at Delhi in the Great Mutiny."

And she vanished.

Have you ever witnessed the swarming of bees? Have you ever heard the hum and buzz of them? So looked and sounded the bazars that night. At every intersection of streets and passages there were groups, buzzing and gesticulating. In the gutters the cocoanut oil lamps flickered, throwing weird shadows upon the walls; and squinting about these lamps the fruit sellers and candy sellers and cobblers and tailors jabbered and droned. Light women, with their painted faces, went abroad boldly.

And there was but one word on all these tongues: Magic.

"Could any human being pass through what this white woman had? No! She was the reincarnation of some forgotten goddess. They knew that, and Umballah would soon bring famine and plague and death among them. Whenever they uttered his name they spat to cleanse their mouths of the defilement."

For the present the soldiers were his; and groups of them swaggered through the bazars, chanting drunkenly and making speech with the light women and jostling honest men into the gutters.

All these things Lal Singh saw and heard and made note of as he went from house to house among the chosen and told them to hold themselves in readiness, as the hour was near at hand. Followed the clinking of gunlocks and the rattle of cartridges. A thousand fierce youths, ready for anything—death, or loot, or the beauties of the zenanas. For patriotism in southern Asia depends largely upon what treasures one may wring from it.

But how would they know the hour for the uprising? A servant would call and ask for chupatties. Good. And the meeting place? Ramabal's garden. It was well. They would be ready.

Flicker-flicker went the lights; flicker-flicker went the tongues. And the peaceful oriental stars looked down serenely.

Umballah remained in the palace, burning with the fires of murder. Messenger after messenger came to report that the fugitives were still at large. Contrary to Ahmed's expectations, Umballah did not believe that his enemies would be foolhardy enough to seek refuge in the house of Ramabal. The four roads leading out of the city were watched, the colonel's bungalow, and even the ruins of Bruce's camp. They were still in the city; but where?

A king's peep, and another; and Umballah stormed, his heart filled with Dutch courage. Ramabal made his preparations in case the hunters entered the house. He opened a secret door which led into a large gallery, dim and dusty but still beautiful. Ancient armor covered the walls—armor of the days when there existed in Delhi a peacock throne, armor inlaid with gold and silver and turquoise, and there were jewel incrustated swords and daggers, a blazing helmet which one of Pundita's ancestors had worn when the Great Khan came thundering down from China.

"No, no! I refuse to let you be dragged into this. I want you to go, to go now while there is time. I command it. As you say, we cannot tell what may happen. The rebellion may prove a fizzle; but, one way or the other, there will be death. I want you to leave us, for we are indeed accused!"

"The man at her side laughed. To her ears it was the same laughter she had heard in the desert. In her heart she knew that he would not go. Was she glad?"

"My life is mine, Kit," he said, releasing her hands, "and I give it to you. But I promise not to speak of love again till you are safe and sound on the broad Pacific. There are Ahmed and Lal Singh and Ramabal, and I will be their lieutenant. By the Lord Harry, besides yourself there is only one thing I want; my hand round the throat of the black devil who has caused all this. He seems to bear a charmed life. Never have I had a good opportunity to get near him. But patience!"

"Let us return to father and Winnie," she said. "Beasties, perhaps I ought not to have come out here at all."

And Winnie! The change which had taken place in the child was the most remarkable of all to Kathlyn. Winnie was a woman, quiet, brave, uncomplaining, and Kathlyn now realized that the child had been flighty simple because they had coddled her and given away to her whims in the old days. The old days! Ah, could either of them ever go back to the placid, humdrum contentment of home after all this strife!

During this talk in the garden Umballah had not been inactive. The white people could not possibly have left the city; they were still within the walls.

For all that he had reasoned shrewdly regarding the house of Ramabal, he could not dismiss the possibility from his mind. So at length he ordered his captain of the guard, roughly and with curses—for Umballah was not pleasant in his cups—to proceed at once to the house of Ramabal and learn if they were there, or had been; to hasten to every servant in the house till the truth was dragged from their lips. Dead or alive!

The captain saluted and reported with his men. He was the same captain whom Umballah weeks before had marked for death because of his insolence. But the regent had found him so necessary that he dared not harm the man till real quiet was restored in Allah. And well the captain knew this; knew that his master was only biding his time and that once Umballah had his desires his (the captain's) throat would not be worth a copper piece. But the captain was a gambler, and Umballah's rupees were as necessary to him as air and water. Still, if Umballah had hidden fangs, so had he. Let the regent strike!

As Bruce and Kathlyn reached the door leading into the house they were met by Ramabal, whose face was grave.

"Ah, Memasahib, you ought not to have come out here. You might be seen. Perhaps Umballah is merely playing with us, cat and mouse wise."

He might have had more at his tongue's end, but he was destined not to utter it. The gate was flung open violently and the servant who had been watching

"No, no! I refuse to let you be dragged into this."

ing the street burst in with the cry: "Soldiers!"

The colonel, Winnie and Pundita appeared. For a moment they believed that Ramabal was going to guide them to the secret gallery. But suddenly he raised his head and stared boldly at the sea. And by that sign Bruce and the colonel understood; Ramabal had taken up the dice to make his throw. The two men put their hands to their revolvers and waited.

Soon the captain and his men came rushing in, only to stop short at a sign from Ramabal.

"Captain," he began, "is Durga Ram a good master? Does he keep his promises?"

The captain turned and eyed his men.

"Does he keep his promises?"

"Does he keep his promises?"

"Does he keep his promises?"

"Does he keep his promises?"

"Does he keep his promises?"

and flee? Is he a good master who persecutes for his own ends?"

"Ramabal," said the captain, "speak out your thought frankly and clearly."

Thus challenged, Ramabal said: "Join our side, and tomorrow at dawn we will strike a blow for the betterment of Allah!"

"And what of the old man in the dungeon?" dryly.

"Wait till we overthrow Umballah and the cowardly council; then we shall speak of him. Well!" proudly and fearlessly.

"Ramabal," replied the captain, "I too, will be frank. I will be loyal to the hand that pays me best, for I am not an Allahabid by birth. I am a mercenary. I have said it."

"Be with me on the morrow and I promise out of my own chest will I pay you your arrears and earnest money for the future. On the other hand, what will you gain by taking us prisoners to Umballah?"

"My lord's word is known. I myself will take charge of the affairs at the palace; and Umballah shall go to the burning ghata. I will announce to him that I found you not. When you arrive at the palace you will find everything in readiness. But till you come I dare not lift a hand."

And at that moment he meant every word he said. Ramabal was the richest man in Allah. He turned again to his men, to find that they were ready to follow Ramabal anywhere and at any time.

Ahmed, who knew the Asiatic heart thoroughly, could scarcely repress a smile. No matter. If they proved loyal to Ramabal on the morrow much would be forgiven.

The captain and his men departed, while Ramabal and his friends reentered the house; to find the imperturbable Lal Singh decked out in his lawful finery. He was Ramabal's right hand, and the British Raj vanished into nothingness.

"All is ready," he announced.

"Dawn," replied Ramabal.

"The servant goes forth for the chupatties."

Dawn. The garden was filling with silent armed men. With Ramabal in the secret gallery were the chiefs. Ramabal indicated the blazing swords.

"My friends, choose among these weapons. The gems are nothing, but the steel is tried and true."

Lal Singh selected the simplest, saluted, and slid the scabbard through his cummerbund.

As for Kathlyn, she could not keep her eyes off the beautiful chain cuirass which had once upon a time been worn by one of Pundita's forebears, a warrior queen.

WASHINGTON GIRL TO BE BRIDE OF ATTACHE OF GERMAN EMBASSY

Washington, July 16.—Miss Cecilia J. May, the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry May of Washington, is to be the bride of Mr. Wilhelm von Rath, of the German Embassy staff. The devotion of Mr. von Rath to Miss May was most pronounced throughout the entire winter, and although repeated inquiry brought a denial of an engagement the starting of Mr. von Rath for Germany in the late spring was regarded generally as merely an official preliminary due to the recent order of the Emperor of Germany that diplomats in the service of the empire first must obtain permission from the Kaiser before contracting matrimonial alliances with women of a foreign nation. That such permission has been obtained is now acknowledged, and the official announcement of the engagement will be the final preliminary to the latest international matrimonial alliance.

ARMY WORM BAVAGING CROPS IN ONTARIO

Millions of the Pest in Brant County—Invading Sections Where Grain and Corn Are Growing.

Brantford, Ont., July 16.—The dread pest of the farmers, the army worm, which has invaded Brant county in millions, along the lowlands of Whitesand Creek and other points, it is now climbing into the highlands, where the corn and grain is growing, and unless checked within a few hours, will have utterly ruined a great proportion of the crops. This morning they made their first appearance in Brant township, surrounding the city, a quarter acre patch of corn being wiped out by clearing out the pasture along the creek, the worms are now invading the highlands and are devastating the fields of corn and grain.

ROBBING WOMEN OF THEIR HEALTH

Anaemia, Unless Checked, Passes Into Hopeless Decline.

Anaemia is like a spectre that steals on you unawares and drives all happiness out of existence. It is a thief that robs you of your life and energy. Thousands of women in this country are the victims of anaemia (that is, bloodlessness), which saps their vitality, robs them of their strength, and makes them poor, young or old. It robs women of their health, their vitality, their beauty—of everything that gives a woman her charm. The victims of this trouble include a distaste for food, prostrating headaches, extreme languor, loss of weight, nervousness, pale cheeks, lips and gums, heart palpitations, dizziness and a constant feeling of wretchedness. The only way to effect a cure is to increase the blood supply—to make it pure, rich and red. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have saved thousands of young girls and women from the early fate that threatened them through anaemia's ravages. These pills enrich the blood, stimulate the circulation, nourish the nerves, and restore the energy and perfect health that make women attractive. If you are a victim of bloodlessness in any way, do not let it run into a hopeless decline, but begin the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today. The following bit of evidence proves the worth of this medicine. Mrs. Maurice Sims, Liverpool, N. S., says: "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been a blessing to me. About two years ago I was so badly run down that I had to give up all work and go to bed. My husband and parents were much worried about me as they saw my loss of weight and consumption. The doctor who was attending me changed his medicine several times, but it did me no good and I began to feel very much discouraged myself. One day a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I decided to do so. In a few weeks I felt much better and I continued taking the pills for a couple of months until I was again in perfect health. I believe that if I had not taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I would not have survived, and I shall always be very grateful for what they have done for me." You can get these pills from any dealer in medicine or in mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

OBITUARY

Thomas M. Walsh. Many friends about the city were shocked to learn of the death of Thomas M. Walsh, which occurred at his home 137 Brussels street about two o'clock yesterday afternoon after a short illness from pneumonia. Though he had not been in the best of health for some time it was not thought that death was so near, but he sank rapidly. Mr. Walsh was well known about St. John and esteemed by a large circle of friends. He was a member of the Irish Literary and Benevolent Society for many years and had been a popular member of the staff of the post office inspector for a lengthy period and his associates there keenly regret his passing. Mr. Walsh is survived by three brothers, Richard J. and Joseph of this city, and James of Boston, and two sisters, Misses Annie and Agnes, at home. He was a son of the late Thomas and Norah Walsh. Mr. Walsh had been for years one of the most deeply interested members of the Young Men's Society of St. Joseph and had exerted much influence for good in the city of his friends. His death will be sincerely mourned by the members and by many friends. Genric Edgar Rees. The death of Genric Edgar Rees occurred at home in the Sant Cove Road, Lancaster, West St. John, Thursday morning, after a lingering illness. He was a son of the late Rev. George E. Rees, of Worthing, Sussex, Eng. He leaves his wife, three sons and four daughters. The sons are: Lloyd, Robert and Harold, and the daughters are: Mrs. H. Carmody, the Misses Violet and Dora, all of West St. John, and Mrs. H. W. Breen, of this city. He is also survived by four brothers, all clergymen in Yorkshire, Eng. They are: Revs. Gwyn L. M., William W. D., Sydney F. and Compton E. Rees. The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

AGRICULTURE Irrigation Form

The market gardener of today finds that if he would produce the maximum on his land he must depend on other means than nature for the moisture which is absolutely essential to the growth of plant life. For the past few years there has been a certain season in the year when no rain fell. Generally this time is when the crops are germinating or just through the ground. This year we have had little rain since the middle of April, then only in heavy dashes which did no good.

There is no secret about growing good potatoes, yet the average crop is not more than half what it should be, and in some cases could be, with the same equipment and conditions that the growers now possess. I know from my own experience that the good crop is mostly a matter of doing the work more thoroughly at two or three points where many planters are in the habit of skimping. The first step is good seed. The potatoes selected for planting should be as nearly as possible like your ideal for harvesting in the fall. Remember that the pedigree or strain of your seed stock is of just as much importance as the size of the tubers selected.

We have grown fine potatoes from... and begin to get well with 'Wincarnis' has a reputation—that it has a life to countless thousands that it is recommended. Will you try just one box?

MRS. BEIDEL TELLS WOMEN

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Kept Her in Health for 14 Years.

Shippensburg, Pa.—"It was several years ago that I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I then suffered terribly every month. My husband bought me a bottle of it and it helped me right away. Then after my second child was born I had a female trouble very badly and I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and in a short time was cured and have been in excellent health since. I always praise the Compound whenever I have an opportunity as I lately I have given the Compound to my daughter and I wish all suffering women would take it and be convinced of its worth."

—Mrs. JAMES A. BEIDEL, 113 N. Penn Street, Shippensburg, Pa.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from natural roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham, Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

My subject is one of which books can be written as there are many noted women of our Canada. To get any idea of each, one must tell more than their names and the names of their life's chief work. I will confine myself to five of them for this paper.

Mrs. McClung. Perhaps the most noted living woman of Canada is Mrs. McClung, nee Nellie Letitia Mooney, of Winnipeg. She was born near Owen Sound, and when very young her father started with the family on a great Western journey, the last part of which, 180 miles, from Silver Heights to Millford, was driven by ox-team. After she lived there three years, a school was established two miles from her home. She worked at her lessons as many children do at play, though she was a fond of play as other children.

That pioneer journey, the pioneer life with its joys and heart breaks, its intense reality, all these years on the prairie, have stored up for Mrs. McClung incomparable material for story writing. No matter how much readers have enjoyed her stories, one thing is certain—unless they have met Mrs. McClung they can have no idea of how much greater her charm is than the charm of her stories. Mrs. McClung is an embodiment of the character and the rare attractiveness of the West of Canada. The western people love her because she is the most perfect interpreter that the West has yet had.

Another woman of note is the artist, Jessie Alexander, who has done much to teach the Canadian people that there is joy and rights in joy too to be gained by going to the theatre. She awakens in her audience energy, vitality and good cheer by her readings, and she is as much the more intensely while they listen to her and when they go away they have a feeling that is in the world. The laughter which her work inspires is wholesome and sweet and pure-hearted, like the little artist herself.

The children had all an artistic talent, but Jessie a strong one. It soon became apparent to even the school children that Jessie had a future mark to make in this respect. A Curious Incident. An interesting story is told of an incident in her young school life as follows:— One winter day the little girls of a Toronto Public School had made quite young and has the distinction of being the first lady stenographer of Western Canada. She was first employed in the law office of McDonald and Tupper, McDonald was the son of Sir John McDonald, and Tupper, son of Sir Charles Tupper. Her work in this office brought her into touch with the farming interests of the West. The firm did a large loan business and the very able young stenographer learned the great deal of the value of crops and live stock. What she had learned on the farm and in the law office made her as fully aware as anyone in the West of the farming conditions of those earlier years.

She soon began to write agricultural stock reports for the Winnipeg Free Press. She often judges live stock at exhibitions throughout the Middle West and is a member of all the Western Live Stock Association, and she has represented Western claims and Western views, both at Ottawa and in Toronto. She attends regularly the International Live Stock Show at Chicago. She is known as a fearless judge and a wonderfully shrewd and accurate observer.

Dr. Maud Abbott. The next subject of my paper is known by the medical fraternity the world over. Dr. Maud Abbott is curator of the Pathological Museum of McGill University. She also was left an orphan when a child and was reared by grandparents. Her grandfather was the Rev. Wm. Abbott, an uncle of Sir John Abbott, one time Premier of Canada. Her father was Rev. Jeremiah Babin, and as her mother died when she was but a child, she was adopted by her grandmother Abbott and by the terms of her will took her grandmother's name of Abbott.

She lived in her early days in St. Andrews, Quebec, and was taught privately by Miss Bell, daughter of a Canadian civil engineer. Her course in the McGill arts was distinguished, having won the Silver Golf Medal. She took her medical course at Bishop, as women are not admitted to McGill Medical College, but she took her hospital courses with the McGill students. She later studied at Zurich, Vienna and Edinburgh. Her distinguished hospital work at McGill led in 1911 to a very rare honor in medicine for a woman.

AGRICULTURE

Irrigation For The Market Gardener

The market gardener of today finds that if he would produce his maximum on his land he must depend on other means than nature for the moisture which is absolutely essential to the growth of plant life.

For the past few years there has been a certain season in the year when no rain fell. Generally this time is when the crops are germinating or just through the ground. This year we have had little rain since the middle of April, then only in heavy dashes which did no good. One man at the Ontario Convention of Vegetable Growers in Toronto, last November, stated that he would be compelled to go out of business without his irrigation system. One man in Toronto has spent $1000.00 to bring the water only as far as his gate and must spend another large sum to distribute it over the fields. But he realizes that the money is well spent.

This, then, leads us to seek for information regarding systems of water distribution. There are four in use at the present time: Furrow, Sub-irrigation, Campbell Sprinkler and Skinner. These I shall try to explain in detail:—

(1) Furrow System:— This system consists in running a furrow beside the plant row with a hoe or garden glow, letting the water run down it. This system cheap and easily used, but is wasteful of water, loses greatly in uniformity of distribution, the plants at the upper end of the row being flooded while the ones at the lower end are very dry, and lastly causes baking of the soil and fosters the growth of weeds.

(2) Sub-irrigation:— This means the laying of rows of 2 1/2 inch tile in the field, 8 to 15 ft. apart, the tile being 4 inches to 2 ft. below the surface, depending on the soil. The heavier the soil the nearer the surface and the Moser the rows are together. This system prevents evaporation, requires less tillage, and causes no baking of the soil, but is very expensive and must be taken up each fall through danger of frost. It is very good for greenhouse work on crops like tomatoes and lettuce as it prevents many of the diseases which commonly are caused by excess of moisture.

(3) The Campbell Sprinkler:— The system is found around Jacksonville, Florida. The system for an acre of ground consists of 14 sprinklers set on upright pipes which are fed from pipes below the ground. The sprinkler throws the water in a circle of 23 ft. radius, somewhat like a lawn sprinkler. They are set alternately so that the whole area is covered. This system is fine for frost protection and for irrigation of small fruits, but will hardly do for vegetables as it applies the water too heavily putting on 25,000 gallons in 4 hours time on 1 acre.

(4) The Skinner System:— The last and best system is made by the Skinner Irrigation Co. of Troy, Ohio. This system is in use in many parts of Ontario and is to be seen here at Macdonald College. It consists of parallel rows of pipe set from 40-55 ft. apart according to the amount of water pressure the grower has. In the pipe are nozzles every 2 1/2 ft. which throw the water in a fine spray, that gives the system its common name—Mist System. Where the laterals are attached to the main feed pipe there is a special union which allows the lateral pipe to rotate completely round. The water may be applied at any time of day as the spray is very fine and causes no injury to the plant or soil. It is easily looked after, as the man can be doing other work in the garden. It gives clean foliage and beautiful vigorous growth. I would like to impress on the reader, however, that irrigation will never take the place of cultivation. The two must go hand in hand if results are to be obtained.

Making Potatoes Pay

There is no secret about growing good potatoes, yet the average crop is not more than half what it should be, and in most cases could be, with the same equipment and conditions that the growers now possess. I know from my own experience that the good crop is mostly a matter of doing the work more thoroughly at two or three points where many planters are in the habit of skimping.

The first step is good seed. The potatoes selected for planting should be as nearly as possible like your ideal for harvesting in the fall. Remember that the pedigree or origin of your seed stock is of just as much importance as the size of the tubers selected.

I am satisfied that it pays to treat all seed planted, whether it shows signs of scab or not. The solution used is one pint of formalin to thirty gallons of water. We use two or more tight barrels, with wire sieves fitting over the heads, and a tub or half barrel. After the tubers are soaked the solution is poured into the tub, the potatoes being held back by the sieve and then turned out into a bushel box. A new supply of tubers is then put into the barrel and the solution is poured back on them. It can be used over and over again.

As to the amount to plant, there is a saying that the more seed planted the bigger the crop. This is often true, but it does not follow that the profits are bigger. The percentage of second-size tubers will be much greater, and, if seed is high, the cost of planting will be increased. If the soil is thoroughly prepared, good results and frequently the biggest profits will come from cutting to one eye, as there will be practically no weeds.

We have grown fine potatoes from seed cut this way, but for the regular crop, which we put in with a planter, we cut to pieces about a quarter the size of a medium potato, containing in most instances two good eyes. In varieties that set a cluster of eyes around the seed end, this plan should be discarded or the eyes should be distributed as evenly as possible among the seed pieces cut. But in the three varieties that we use almost entirely—Irish Cobbler, early and Gold Coin and Russet for late—the eyes are well distributed.

I am confident that one of the greatest causes of the low average yield is lack of thoroughness in plowing and harrowing—especially harrowing. The soil may be within a wide range, but a deep, medium-heavy loam, inclining toward a sandy rather than a clayey nature, is ideal. A soil that is thin and light dries out too quickly in a drought and also wastes plant food. A soil too heavy contains too much moisture, is hard and late to work, and tends to lower the quality and the appearance of the crop.

Poor Plowing Causes Failure.

In preparing the soil for potatoes, plow deep. Many farmers, in their hurry to get the job done, forget that a furrow slice has two dimensions. Even if you are late in setting, start, and some of your neighbors have already planted, don't yield to the temptation to jam the foot shift over and cut a furrow as wide as the plow will allow, while the depth lever is set for one-third or one-half its depth. Par better to take a day or two more and get this first job done right; you cannot possibly make up for a poor start. Plow as deep as your soil will allow, and then just a little into the subsoil, but not enough to throw any amount of this up to the surface. If this kind of preparation takes any extra time charge it to permanent improvements instead of the potato crop. But depth isn't the whole thing. I found that out to my own cost in one of my early attempts. I had to hire the plowing done that year. The first thing the man I employed did was to pace off the amount of ground he intended to plow in half an hour and a stick there. The plow was a new one; the field was an old meadow, employed for years, and beginning to run down. After a few furrows he took the collar off, saying he could plow more evenly without it. He made a very nice looking job—every slice just as flat and straight as if it had come out of a mold. It harrowed very nicely too—we had to go over it only once. Then I had a machine come and plant it.

One potato sprout appeared for every three or four there should have been. The seed had been choice, but at first I blamed it for the failure. Then after I had worn my fingernails off digging down into the soil, I began to suspect what had happened. And after we dug in the fall and found pieces of that sod turned over smooth from a foot to a yard in length and almost as firmly intact as on the day they had been plowed, I was sure of it.

The plough of the potato planter had cut through the sods in places and in others had run between the furrows, dropping the seed where they had no possible chance of breaking through the matted covering above them. In other places the fertilizer had not a chance to mix properly with the soil and had come into direct contact with the seed, killing the sprouts. Worse than this, when the midsummer dry spell came that year of flat, inverted sod had effectively prevented the surplus store of water in the moist soil below from being drawn up toward the surface, where the thirsty plant roots needed it. From that experience I learned that it is a great mistake to turn over flat any soil, green crop, or even straw manure, that can form a layer or cushion between the surface and the subsoil. It is about as sensible as going out in dry weather and cutting the pipe that supplies your stock with drinking water.

Harrowing is just as important as plowing, and is more likely to be poorly done. One piece of ground may need to be gone over thirteen times to get it to the same degree of fitness and good till that two or three workings would accomplish on another. For best results potatoes demand that the soil be worked as fine and light and loose as possible. Fine not only upon the surface but several inches below that. Don't try to keep track of the number of times you go over your potato field with the harrow. Keep at it till the soil is in the proper condition. If you have to go over it again, use a disk harrow. Keep at it till the time to prevent packing down while you are setting the surface fine.

Before you plant you should be able to stick your hand up to the wrist into the soil anywhere and find nothing but fine loose soil and fragments of stubble or sod—no unbroken lumps or clods of soil or sod. When you can get a pile prepared like that your potato crop is half grown. Just before planting finish off the surface with a spike-tooth smoothing harrow. If the soil is very soft and loose it is of advantage to roll it just before or after planting.

To Discard Freckles, Tan, Pimples, Wrinkles

The use of creams on the face sometimes causes hair to grow. You can avoid the risk of acquiring superfluous hair by avoiding cosmetics and using mercolized wax instead. There is nothing better for any condition of the skin, as the wax actually absorbs the offensive cuticle. The latter is naturally replaced by a clear, smooth, healthy complexion, full of life and expression. It's the sensible way to discard a freckled, tanned, over-bloated or pimply skin. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at any druggist's and apply nightly like cold cream, washing in the morning with soap and water. It takes a week or so to complete the transformation. The ideal wrinkle eradicator is made by dissolving an ounce of powdered borax in a half pint which has been bathing the face. The solution brings almost instant results.

Keep Children Healthy

CHILDREN'S ills usually begin with a cold—and nothing causes colds more surely than impure air and uneven temperatures in the home.

Fresh air, drawn in from out-of-doors, warmed to just the right temperature, and distributed so that every part of the house is equally comfortable, is the best safeguard against ill-health for both children and "grown-ups". The draws in the fresh, pure air from out-of-doors, and sends it, warmed, but just as pure as ever, to every room in the house. That is why homes that are Blazer-warmed are more HEALTHFUL as well as more COMFORTABLE.

Yet Blazer Furnaces cost less to install than hot-water systems, are very economical in coal consumption, convenient to operate, and made to last a life-time. So all arguments—comfort, health, convenience and economy—are in favor of the "Blazer".

Most good dealers handle the "Blazer". Drop us a post-card and we will give you the name of the one nearest you—also sending you a copy of this interesting booklet about the "Blazer".

AMALGAMATION FOR FOXFARMERS

A Fox Family

Big Ranches cut down operating expenses and help to increase the dividends.

It is very apparent that the silver black fox industry of Prince Edward Island is undergoing a process of amalgamation. All authorities agree that it is in the best interests of the industry as a whole that the companies should be larger and that they should create a reserve fund and conservation of foxes from year to year, thus increasing the value of the stock to the investor. By doing this it insures the stock being negotiable at all times, even at a premium.

Perhaps one of the strongest articles on the subject of large companies was written by Mr. Anderson in the Charlottetown Guardian, an extract from which is reprinted herewith:

"In certain parts of Prince Edward Island there are as many as thirty small ranches with a class 'A' foxes within a radius of five miles. These ranches have thirty keepers living in thirty houses, thirty night watchmen, thirty boards of directors and so on. This is an extravagant waste when one keeper, one night watchman, and one board of directors could do the work equally well at a tithe of the cost. Just imagine a keeper, night watchman and board of directors for three pairs of foxes when they could just as well look after fifty. The cost of food purchased in wholesale quantities and administration expenses would be much lessened. It is high time for ranchers to realize what this means and to get together."

Few will argue the soundness of the writers and contentions, few will dispute the fact that efficient organization and extensive operations mean lower expenses and greater possibilities for good profits.

Fur Producers, Limited, is the only ranch in Prince Edward Island with one hundred foxes. It is also claimed that it is the only ranch with a five foot "dead line" between each of the pens, making the spread of contagious disease practically impossible. The "dead line" idea was adopted upon being recommended by Dr. Higgins, chief pathologist of the Dominion government at Ottawa.

Fur Producers, Limited, ranch is located within four miles of Charlottetown, and is up-to-date in every respect, embodying the most improved features for protection. Mr. Frank Tuplin, one of the most successful pioneer ranchers in "Prince Edward Island, is supervisor of the ranch. Still the directors are determined that the

INTERESTING COURT CASE IN P. E. ISLAND

Sheriff defendant in suit that has attention of all Fox owners.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., July 17—The case of Stewart versus Horne, which came up in the Supreme Court last week, was one of unusual interest to the legal fraternity owing to the fact that it was the first of the kind that was experienced in this province, and to the general public because it is connected with a black fox transaction. It appears that John A. Stewart brought suit against John Horne for a writ of attachment against P. H. Horne, sheriff of Queens county and a brother of the latter, for failing to execute a writ of replevin. This writ was delivered to the sheriff to obtain possession of the defendant. It seems that a fox was captured by a man named Birt in Mount Stewart. This fox was claimed by Mr. Horne to be that he had lost, and Stewart also intended that the fox was his.

The sheriff received a writ with instructions to immediately replevy or take possession of the fox, and a bond for double the sworn value of the fox was delivered to him and accepted by him. On the advice of the counsel, however, the sheriff declined to execute the writ unless he received an indemnity from $25,000 to $30,000 and alleged by Mr. Horne to be the demand for an indemnity of $50,000. The sheriff was directed to go to the premises of the defendant, Horne, and replevy the goods. It was not brought out in the evidence that he was requested to break into or invade any ranch, and the court held that it was the duty of the sheriff to act upon the king's writ and make some effort to replevy the goods.

The sheriff in his defense claimed that the fox sought to be replevied was not properly described in the writ of replevin. The court held, however, that the sheriff was not the judge or tribunal to decide the validity or the accuracy of the writ. It was a matter for the court. The judgment of the court, delivered by the chief justice, was that the sheriff was guilty of contempt in refusing in his official capacity to act upon the writ. Accordingly he ordered that the rule be made absolute for a writ of attachment against the sheriff for refusing to do his duty in the premises. It was contended that Horne, the defendant, who claimed the fox to be his, gave Birt a reward of $200.

The next chapter in the legal drama took place in the court room on Friday, when the coroner, Dr. Johnson, returned a writ of attachment which he had received against the sheriff, which return stated that he had the body of P. H. Horne, as therein he was commanded. The counsel for the prosecution, Mr. Johnson, K. C., moved a return for a writ of habeas corpus directing the coroner to produce the body of the said sheriff. Mr. Johnson, K. C., moved that the sheriff be sworn to answer certain interrogatives to be administered to him within four days. The question of bail was then noted, but the counsel for the defendant declined to answer any question as to whether the sheriff could be bailed or not. The court then adjourned later, intimating that the question of bail was one between the coroner and sheriff. It is understood that Mr. Horne has declined to put in bail for his appearance and is now supposed to be in the custody of the coroner. The coroner must have him before the court. If he sends him to jail it may be possible that the sheriff could walk out as he has the power to discharge him, as in his own bail. The coroner has now the sheriff on his hands and it is understood the sheriff is willing to go wherever he is taken.

THE SITUATION IN P. E. ISLAND

Reports from Prince Edward Island indicate that the safety of the young foxes born this year is now assured. They have passed over the most trying period of their lives and have shown their ability to care for themselves to a great extent.

The little foxes born in April have grown well and now have developed to the size of an ordinary house cat. Those that arrived in May have grown well and appear to be healthy and vigorous.

Worms have again been the cause of much trouble to the ranchers, but the losses this year from this cause have been slight compared to other years, still there is room for improvement in this connection. The ranchers are devoting much of their time in searching for a cure for this disease.

The new ranches have had good success this year and in nearly every case large dividends will be paid. The ranches are being visited daily by people holding options and their desire is that the first day of September will come along as speedily as possible, for on that date the foxes are to be delivered and the final payments for the stock made.

During the last few weeks the demand for options has increased and the prices have also advanced slightly. The best stock is now selling at the highest price so far realized.

The Canada Fox Exchange has made contracts for the sale of forty pairs of cross foxes and five pairs of silver black foxes within the last few days. They are all Ontario stock and come from the same locality that the foxes that produced litters of black foxes last year.

The exchanges have found the demand for 1914 shares good, but the supply is limited. Next year's stock is being well taken up abroad and so far the companies are quite optimistic in regard to meeting their obligations on September 1. The exchange report great activity in all lines of shares, options and in live foxes, both cross and silver blacks.

London reports for the June fur sales give encouragement to all shareholders in fox companies. The excellent advance which was secured by the silver and cross fur has been well maintained in face of the decline in other furs. With the return or normal conditions in fur values it will be safe to assume that the silver black fox show at least another twenty-five per cent. increase.

A RANCHER

success of the company shall not depend upon any one man, and the services of another successful rancher, with an excellent record, has been secured to give the feeding and care of the foxes his personal attention. His assistant is also a man who has been under the tutelage of experts for more than a year.

It is an admitted fact that a company the size of Fur Producers Limited can employ the services of the most successful men and the services of such men will cost proportionally less than inexperienced men for a small company. Extensive operations mean lower administration expenses, and efficient management. This applies just as forcibly in a fox proposition as any commercial enterprise.

The foxes in Fur Producers Limited are the highest type of "Class A" pure bred Prince Edward Island stock, the direct progeny of the stock which has brought the world's highest prices. They are guaranteed to be such by the Fur Farmers' Bureau, Charlottetown, and this organization has the unique distinction of positively refusing to handle any other type of fox. On this basis the permanency of the industry is unquestioned.

Mr. D. J. Bonnell, director of the Fur Farmers' Bureau, Charlottetown, is in the city and is stopping at the Dufferin Hotel. Any enquiries addressed to him will be answered promptly. He will also be pleased to make appointments with any parties in the city wishing to secure full information regarding Fur Producers Limited, and the fox industries in general.

The Metropolitan Fox Exchange, Canada Life Building, and J. S. Currie, Box 50, City, are also in a position to supply information on the same proposition.

ALSO SUCCESSFUL.

James A. Chisholm, of Tryon, has had excellent luck with cross foxes this year, four pairs having produced four litters of pups. One of them is almost pure black while the others are beauties in their class. Mr. Chisholm is delighted with the successful results attending his first attempt at fox raising.

AMOUNT ISSUED $90,000.00
SHARES PAR VALUE $50.00

FOXES

This Company now owns five pairs of Silver Black Foxes, Class A. Obtained from the following ranches:—
Two pairs from the Magic S. B. Fox Co., Ltd.
One pair from the Riverside Fox Co., Ltd.
One pair from the Diamond Fox Co., Ltd.
One pair from the Maritime Fox Co., Ltd.
These Companies are all among this year's highest dividend payers and the foxes of the Premier Co. should therefore be very prolific.

RANCH

A new ranch is now being built for these foxes after the most approved modern methods. Much has of late been learned in regard to the building of ranches and dens. Investors in this Company may rest assured that their foxes will have up-to-date and sanitary quarters.

Thomas Moyse will take care of the foxes. The well-known "Peerless Co." which last year paid a dividend of 900 p. c. had its foxes under his care.

All expenses in regard to the ranching of the foxes and their young are assumed by Mr. Moyse for seven per cent. of each year's increase for a period of three years.

SPECIAL OFFER

It is the aim and intention of the Company to have ten pairs of foxes in its ranch this fall. In order to do this they wish to place the present issue of stock as soon as possible. They therefore offer to those investing on or before July 15th, 1914, a discount of ten per cent. on above capitalization which places the foxes at $16,200 a pair.

Those who wish to take advantage of our special offer should apply at once to President Thomas Moyse, Central Bedeque, P. E. I. or Secretary-Treasurer John C. Ballem, M. D., Bedeque, P. E. I.
