Catarrh. Asthma and Cough. FROM C. W. THOMAS, of 'Bateleboro', Vt. " For ten or twelve years past I have een troubled much of the time with Catarrh, which has kept up a continual irritation of the throat and lungs, attended with a severe cough. During this time I have tried many of the popular remedies of the day without the least benefit. The past winter I commenced the use of Dr. Wistar S Balam or Wild Cherry, the beneficial effects of which have been very

William C. Bryant

DIED JUNE 12, 1878 rown old in honour and in years, And crowned with laurels nobly won His death evokes a nation's tears, Columbia's mourns her gifted son.

Her noblest bard lies cold in death, His tuneful harp is now unstrung; And poesy's melodious breath, No more shall echo from his tongue

Upon his life's unsullied page, No shadow of dishonor lie in youth, in manhood, and in age, He saw in earth, and wave, and sky, The wisdom, holiness and might of Him who rules and reigns on high, In realms of glory, and of light.

O'er grassy turf, 'midst blooming flowers, With reverential step he trod; In nature's lovely emerald bowers He sang the praise of nature's God. He dearly loved his native land.

And sang her liberty and fame, And from the lyre beneath his band Pure strains of fo id affection came The hum of bees, the song of birds, The rivers gushing to the main : The sigh of winds, the low of herds, Are sounding in his perfect strain.

His songs will live in future days On line of millions vet unborn : His name entwined by greenest bays, The page of fame shall long adorn. Memramcook, N. B.

A LECTURE TO YOUNG MEN On the Loss of

MANHOOD

We have recently published a New Edition of Dr. Culver well's Oelebrated Essay or the radical and permanent cave (without medicine) of Nerrous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marrirge, etc., resulting from excesses

Impediments to Marrirge, etc., resulting from excesses

Example: Impediments to Marrirge, etc., resulting from excesses

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every is ifferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.
