UNEMPLOYED MARCH ON CITY HALL FOR WORK Home Bank Head In Court Bailed For $102,000 Until Trial

UNEMPLOYED AFTER WORK STAGE MARCH ON CITY HALL

Twenty Idle Men Appeal to the Mayor and City Engineer For Employment.

START SEWER JOB
Special Council Meeting To Authorize Commencement of Wellington Street-High Street Sewer.

Local unemployed, about twenty in number, marched on the city hall this morning.

There was no demonstration, however, the men first petitioning City Engineer W. P. Near and then Mayor Wenige.

After three of the delegation had consulted with the mayor they left, upon his suggestion to wait the result of a special session of the city council this afternoon, when the proposed Wellington-High street sewer project will demand immediate and final attention.

This undertaking will provide employment for many men, both the mayor and city engineer agree, and the latter gives The Advertiser assurance that it will be possible to start on one section within a reasonable length of time—perhaps 48 or 72 hours.

Mayor Wenige thought it would be possible to find work on this particular job—several miles of new sewer in the Wellington street south area—Near states that such work is possible, not until the work is well under way and with reasonable weather conditions.

The situation rests now upon the members of the city council. The provincial board of health has authorized the work, and Mayor Wenige has called the engineers and is gathering this afternoon to ask them to give the bylaw the necessary three readings at the one sitting in order to hasten the scheme and provide for an early start. His workshop sets 48 hours for the preliminary ditch work.

It would be possible to start a section of the job in that period, the engineer assures, explaining that he could wire tonight for quotations for material. Other sections of the work could not be undertaken until it has been determined which type of piping is to be used.

It is understood that an arrangement for the workers has been made whereby they would work in shifts as previously. In other years they worked three days on then three days off. Mayor Wenige suggested today that they work a week about. This is a detail to be determined later.

Some of the men complained to the mayor this morning that employees who were just coming street and sidewalk building would be given the first preference on the new job, and they would be "out of luck." They were reassured by the mayor, however, that fair play would prevail. It is again emphasized that none but bona fide residents need apply.

Both Pocock and Vining Should Be Re-Elected For Public Utilities

What is the record of the public utilities commission of London?

That is a question that every voter in London should ask and try to answer. It is the basis on which Philip Pocock and Jared Vining are asking for re-election.

The Advertiser, in the following article, has sought fairly and impartially to trace the growth and development of this business.

The statement is being made in the present municipal contest that it is time for a change in the public utilities commission. Various opinions are being expressed on the platform that water should be brought from this place, and that, and the system of drilling around the city has been likened to putting gimlet holes in the ground.

The waterworks system in London, at least the inception of it, dates back a good many years. One of the most interesting battles in recent years was staged when The Advertiser supported the scheme, championed at the time by Sir Adam Beck, for the drilling of the Horton street wells, as against the policy advocated by the London Free Press of using river water put through a filtration plant. The "Beck wells," as they were known then, won out, and they were put down, and fully justified every claim made for them. Mr. Beck (for he was not Sir Adam at that time) put up the difference between the estimated cost and the actual figure at completion, some $4,500, out of his own pocket, and the amount was never refunded to him.

When the utilities commission took over the management of the waterworks department in 1910 they were faced with the further task of providing more water. This department has consistently held to the plan of drilling for water, and they have found that by the time they get down far enough to strike the sand from which the water is taken, they have gone through a depth and a quality of soil and shale that precludes any possibility of surface water diluting the supply.

Tests are taken at frequent intervals to make certain that the quality of the water is good and fit for human consumption, and in all these tests there has never been a return from the analysts showing the presence of harmful bacteria in the water served to the people of London. That is something that this city should realize, for there are not many communities that have a water supply clear, wholesome and positively pure.

Right now the average daily consumption of water in London is 6,000,000 gallons per day. The supply on hand is 7,500,000, and is secured as follows:

Springbank	3,500,000
Horton street	1,500,000
Foster property	1,000,000
Front street and Ontario Hospital	1,500,000

Total 7,500,000

That supply is quite ample for the present, but the commission is working for the future, and this year has done considerable drilling in order to locate fresh supplies. They believe that the well idea is the best and the cheapest, and figures bear them out. The total capital cost for drilling wells to get 4,000,000 gallons of water per day has been $265,000. The cost of drilling this year has been paid out of revenue, and besides paying all their own charges, and allowing for the upkeep of plant, they will hand back between $7,000 and $10,000 for the reduction of taxes.

BOARDING-HOUSE OWNER SERIOUSLY ILL FROM SHOCK

George Cook Left in Nervous Condition as Result of the Shooting of Girls.

VETERAN OF WAR

George Cook, 318 York street, owner of the boarding-house in which Geraldine Durston and Viola McNaughton were shot on Friday morning, is seriously ill at his home, suffering from shock, as a result of the shooting.

On Saturday Mr. Cook was ordered to his bed by his physician. He has not been able to attend his work at the Gorman-Eckert Company since the day of the shooting.

Cook served overseas for three years with the 70th Battalion, which was recruited in London, and for a year suffered from frequent serious nervous attacks. The fact that the shooting tragedy occurred at his home, and that he was an intimate friend of the two girls, one of whom is now dead, and the other seriously ill at the hospital, has so unnerved him that his wife fears a recurrence of the nervous breakdown he experienced during the war.

It was Mrs. Cook's intention to attend the funeral of Miss Geraldine Durston today in Watford, but she was unable to leave her husband. His physician has ordered that he have complete quiet and rest, and the mention of the shooting affair be left to him until he regains his strength.

GORDON INGRAM CHOSEN HEAD OF LONDON CHAMBER

Chamber of Commerce Elects Its Officers For Ensuing Year.

GOOD SELECTIONS

Gordon Ingram was elected president of the London Chamber of Commerce today for 1924. T. W. McFarland and R. H. Dowler are the new vice-presidents for the coming year. Major Ingram was vice-president last year.

The election should have taken place last week, but as many of the directors were in Toronto and elsewhere it was postponed until today where it was postponed until today at the regular meeting of the directors.

The Chamber of Commerce are facing a year of strenuous and renewed effort in many ways in the next year. There are a number of important and pressing matters which they hope to settle in the near future, and under the leadership of three new officers it hopes to accomplish a great deal for the city and for the best interests of the city in 1924.

The directors, when the result of the election was known, greeted the new officers with cheers, and "For he's a jolly good fellow."

FEARS NEW OUTBREAKS OF DISEASE

Dr. Downham Looks For Extension of Measles Outbreak in Two Weeks.

MANY FEVER CASES

Thirty Cases of Scarlet Fever Reported to Authorities in Last Month.

Although the epidemic of measles which broke out a week ago in the east end of the city has abated considerably, Dr. Downham, city health officer, expects there will be another outbreak in two weeks.

Dr. Downham pointed out this morning that when an epidemic of measles is on, the cases are all reported at once, and a period of two weeks elapses before more cases are reported. This is due to measles being a disease that takes two weeks to develop and one that is only caught from a convalescing patient.

There is now a total of 30 cases in London East, with but a few cases being reported in the past three days. There is in the city a considerable amount of scarlet fever, Dr. Downham also reported this morning. Nearly 30 cases have been reported in the past month, and the number is slowly increasing. Fourteen of the scarlet fever patients are in quarantine at Victoria Hospital, the remainder being confined to their homes. Dr. Downham, however, stated that there need be no alarm over the number of scarlet fever cases, as it is considerably less than the number of cases reported last year.

BAIL DALY IN $102,000 TO APPEAR FOR TRIAL

President of Home Bank Compiles With Summons to Court.

WALKED WITH CANE

Six Bondsmen Furnish Sureties For $17,000 Each To Insure Appearance.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Nov. 27.—H. J. Daly, president of the Home Bank of Canada, appeared in court this morning before Mr. Justice Masten, and was released on bail of $102,000, in six sets of $17,000 each. Since yesterday afternoon, when his bail expired, Mr. Daly had been in St. Michael's Hospital in the custody of provincial police inspectors, and he was accompanied to court this morning by Inspector Greer. The president, who walked with a cane, was assisted on either hand by his nurse and Mr. Green.

Mr. Daly will appear at the next assizes, together with the nine directors and officials of the bank, who are charged with conspiracy and making false returns under the bank act.

The bondsmen for Mr. Daly were Frank McLaughlin, Frank O'Connor, T. R. Sheppard, Ernest Strange, A. G. Parker and D. J. McLaughlin.

Mr. C. McMaster, K. C., counsel for Mr. Daly, claimed the same right to a speedy trial as had been asked by the other nine defendants.

After the high court proceedings, Mr. Daly and his counsel went before Judge Coatsworth in order that the same steps might be taken and an appeal lodged for a speedy trial in a manner similar to that made by the other directors and officials.

'Rummy Bill' Recalls Days Of His Early Seamanship

Captain of Leviathan and Skipper McCoy of Rum Craft Were Shipmates.

HAD GIGANTIC ROLL

Tomako's Commander Easily Produces $20,000 in Cash Bail.

Associated Press Despatch.
New York, Nov. 27.—Many years ago Herbert Hartley and William McCoy were shipmates as apprentice seamen on the old training ship Saratoga.

Yesterday Captain Herbert Hartley stood on the bridge of the Leviathan as she steamed into her dock after breaking all speed records for a western voyage across the Atlantic Ocean.

Yesterday "Rummy" Bill McCoy, skipper of the rum smuggler Tomako, which with McCoy and his crew of seven is in custody of federal authorities paid out $20,000 in bail on two federal liquor smuggling charges.

"Rummy" Bill ruminated on the coincidence. "I guess both of us have made our mark," he said. "Hartley's skipper on the biggest ship afloat and I'm king of the bootleggers."

McCoy was held on a charge of illegally transporting liquors in his schooner, the Tomako, and furnished $5,000 bail from a henchman he carried. Then he went over to Brooklyn, pleaded not guilty to an indictment containing the same charge, a result of the seizure of the schooner Henry Marshall, the first ship of British registry to be seized outside the three mile limit on rum carrying charges. He was released on $15,000 bail, which he pulled out of the same handbag. There was $68,000 in that handbag, said Rummy Bill, proceeds of the sale of liquor to rum-runners along the New Jersey coast.

RAILWAY WON'T APPEAL ITS ASSESSMENT CASE

The London Street Railway Company is not going to carry its assessment appeal to a higher court, Vice-President Ivey announced today.

Quite recently the county court sustained the increased assessment upon that corporation by City Assessment Commissioner H. J. Bennett, and it was not definitely known until today whether the company would appeal.

Commissioner Bennett placed an additional levy upon the company, calculated to yield the city in 1924 an additional $10,000, roughly.

Victim of Love Tragedy Buried As Wounded Chum Battles Hard For Life

Body of Geraldine Durston Is Laid to Rest in Family Plot at Watford.

OTHER GIRL BETTER

Viola McNaughton More Than Holding Her Own, Say the Hospital Authorities.

While Geraldine Durston, victim of the bullets of Clarence Topping, who fatally wounded her last Friday in her York street boardinghouse, was being buried this afternoon at Watford, her chum, Viola McNaughton, is making a splendid battle for life in Victoria Hospital. Miss McNaughton was reported to be more than holding her own by hospital authorities this afternoon.

Clarence Topping in his cell at the county jail is back to normal one more after his first burst of remorse yesterday morning when told by Governor Dawson that his sweetheart, Geraldine Durston, was dead. He has had no visitors since Sunday.

Miss Durston's funeral held from her home in Watford this afternoon, was the largest ever held in that village. Services were conducted by Rev. T. DeCoursey Rayner, in the Methodist Church, and burial took place in the Watford Cemetery.

PLANT SIX NEW FLOWER BEDS AT QUEEN'S PARK

Six new flower beds have been constructed in front of the Manufacturers' Building at Queen's Park, according to Mr. Graham of the utilities commission, who has charge of this branch of the commission's work. The beds are expected to make a splendid showing next year and will set off well the beauty of the most modern fair building in Western Ontario. Bulbs and shrubs have already been planted, and in the spring other plants will be bedded.

HOME-COMING PARTY LANDS TWO IN JAIL

Brother and Sister Arrested on City Street Charged With Drunkenness.

GIGGLES AND TEARS

Offence Admitted and Fines of $10 and Costs Quickly Imposed and Paid.

For the first time in the history of old-timers around the police station, brother and sister were locked in the police cells last night on a charge of drunkenness.

The girl, who is but 23 years of age, is extremely pretty, according to the remarks of constables, and her trip in the old Black Maria from the corner of William street and Hamilton road at 7:10 last night was nothing more than a giggling frolic for the young lady. When she arrived at the police station, however, it was a different matter and she shed plenty of tears then, it is said.

The girl is home on a short visit from New York, and to celebrate the occasion the little brown jug was copiously resorted to, so the story goes.

The brother and sister were brought to the police station by Constables Langford, McMaster and Miles. The brother appeared and pleaded guilty through counsel for both himself and sister. The latter, and to celebrate the occasion the little brown jug was copiously resorted to, so the story goes.

"Why, I did not know that," replied the clerk. "Have you any American money? If so, give it to me, as I would not want to have to pay a premium for yours."

MONTH'S BUILDING NEARS RECORD OF LAST YEAR

CITY NEED FOR SEWERS GREAT, SAYS ENGINEER

Forecasts Much Sewer Repair and Construction Work in Near Future.

DISPOSAL PLANT

This Will Be Necessary, Near Says, If Thames Is To Be Improved.

London's sewer system in this heart of the city—the downtown district—is demanding the immediate attention of the engineering department, City Engineer W. P. Near announced today.

A check of the entire city has already been commenced, he stated, adding that in all probability the downtown area will require early consideration next year. The final check will not be ready until then, it is anticipated, as redesigning is usually a more intricate and lengthy task than initial designing.

The fact has been established that the sewer system in the downtown area is not adequate to serve the district, and that it will be necessary in years more than this year, have given ample evidence as to that.

Engineer Near explains that in all probability it will be necessary to imperative to enlarge the piping, or otherwise to improve the system throughout the entire downtown district in one period. It would likely be possible to tap the system at a chronic point and relieve the situation to a large degree.

The city engineer has repeatedly warned the council that the city is on the verge of great sewerage development, and that much work of this nature will have to be undertaken within the next few years.

At a meeting yesterday this fact was further driven home when Ald. Dougherty, further of the board of works, questioned the proposed construction of the Springbank dam. The engineer stated that the dam would leave the river in a poor condition for boating, bathing, etc., unless further provision was made for better sewage disposal.

Questioned further by Chairman Douglass and other members of the committee, City Engineer Near stated the time was near when the city would have to take seriously the proposed sewage disposal plant for the western branch of the Thames River—between the city and Springbank—at a cost of about $400,000, roughly estimated.

NEW YORK CLERK SHOWS LACK OF KNOWLEDGE

Believed Tale That American Dollar Worth But 50 Cents in Canada.

The gullibility of the average New Yorker is astounding, according to Miss Graham, stenographer in the schools architect's office, who has just returned from a holiday spent in the big city.

Miss Graham stated that she went into a store in New York and inadvertently tendered a Canadian five-dollar bill for the purchase. When the clerk saw it he told her it would have to be discounted and commiserated with her for having "been stuck" with it.

To his surprise, Miss Graham took it back and said that Canadian money was worth double in the Dominion and that American funds could be purchased for 50 cents on the dollar.

ALD. HAYDEN ALLEGES SALARIES "JUGGLED"

Heartily Opposes Sending Increases Over to 1924 Council.

Ald. Edmund Hayden charges that a deliberate attempt has been made by certain members of the city council to "juggle" with the city salary question in order that it might be shelved until 1924.

"It will not be done with my vote, however," he stated. "These recommendations, already approved, are going through. There is a question yet to be decided, and that is to determine to what date they shall be retroactive. But that can be decided without killing the question for this year. Many of these recommendations, as a matter of fact, came over from the council of 1922."

ALLEGES UNFAIRNESS IN REGARD TO NEW CITY HALL

ORPHANS OF WAR AT FARM HOME IMPRESS WOMEN

Mrs. John Rose Tells of Little Armenian Boys at Georgetown.

PLAN MORE HELP

A delightful description of life at the Georgetown Home for Armenian Orphans is given by Mrs. Rose, who has just returned from there after attending the meeting of the executive of the National Council of Women. The children, ranging in age from eight to twelve years, are all bright little chaps eager to learn. It has been ascertained that a large percentage are professional men's sons, but behind each pair of hands, some dark eyes, a tragedy lurks, the tragedy of the death of father and mother, not to mention brothers and sisters and small playmates. And one of the jobs of the orphanage today is to make out a correct history of the early part of each of these little lives.

When Mrs. Rose and the other visiting delegates motored to the farm to see what was being done there, they found the small lads in sweaters and khaki breeches and still wearing sandals, because money is still scarce and wool stockings and stout shoes cost a heap. All seemed quite happy and although they cannot speak more than a word or two of English yet they have an interested friend in Alexander, their interpreter, who left Armenia two years ago.

The Rev. Mr. Edwards, who is in charge of the farm is also a great friend of the small boys. The object is to make them into Canadian farmers; they already have their farm chores to do. For example one group is called the cow-boy section, and for a while that the boys in this group bring the cows home every night. Then their work is changed and other farm chores are assigned them. They must put in regular hours of study each day from 9 to 4. The Quebec primer is used to teach them to read and spell because each word in that book is illustrated with a picture, thus making the learning of the language easier.

So impressed with the women with the farm and the work being done, that they left determined to appeal for money to help carry on the work. Mrs. Doolittle of the National Chapter I. O. O. E. stated that she would like assistance for the farm from all the I.O.O.E. chapters of the Dominion.

London Girls Spend More On Dress Than the Average Maiden from Old Broadway

Estimate Prepared For New York Working Girls Would Not Suffice Here.

WHAT THE GIRLS SAY

Ordinary Girl Can Live Quite Comfortably on $16 Per Week, Is Report.

Chewing gum and moving pictures make up a substantial portion of the living costs of many London girls. A despatch from New York showing that a girl earning $20 a week should spend $22.80 annually on her wardrobe was investigated locally by The Advertiser this morning. Girls interviewed said their dress expenditure amounted to more than that sum. They claimed, further, that the person who compiled the working girl's budget failed to take into account the high cost of moving pictures and chewing gum.

Combined, these two "necessary luxuries" cost more than a year's supply of silk stockings, maidens of the city declared. The average expenditure on clothes in the city, according to individual estimates given by the girls, is approximately $353. Half a dozen feminine workers gave $200, $250, $340, $480, $500 and $520, respectively, as the amounts they spend for this purpose, making a round average of $353.

Spend More Here. The wages of these damsels ranged from $10 to $25 a week, showing that, compared with New York girls who make 30 per cent more money, their New York earnings are a large portion of their earnings here. In addition, the cost of chewing gum is nearly $12 a year and moving pictures come to $42. These items make more than $1 a week from their wages.

It was explained that local misses are really as well off, however, as their New York contemporaries because rent is so much lower here and the majority of working girls live with their parents. Newell Dwight Hillis of New York provides for a fur-collared winter coat, sport coat, three dresses, a hat, sweater, blouses and three pairs of shoes. This is altogether too skimpy a wardrobe for the London miss, who must have at least three skirts, half a dozen dresses, and an equal number of hats.

One Local Budget. The largest single item in a London girl's expense account is silk stockings. Many purchase two dozen a year and the cost frequently runs as high as $45.

Of course the attractive ones get their money and gum free from admirers. The last, a goodly number are content to pay for these delicacies out of their own purse. Those who are fortunate enough to live at home and have a bea spend 75 per cent of their salary on their clothes, according to statements received from a representative group of girls today.

That a woman can live quite comfortably on $16 a week is demonstrated by the budget of a local girl who submits her year's expenses as follows:
Room and board $430
Clothes 320
Entertainment 50
Miscellaneous 30
Year's total $830
This leaves her with a surplus of $2 at the end of the year.

ASKS CO-OPERATION OF CITY MERCHANTS

School Attendance Office Seeking To Limit Number of Work Permits.

Merchants and manufacturers of London are asked to co-operate with the school attendance officer, relative to the children who have obtained exemption from school by the securing of work permits under the adolescent act. Mr. Sims stated this morning that there were a few deserving individuals who had secured exemption from school because the need for them to work was urgent. Some of these have not been able to secure work and others have been laid off, and in many cases hardships are imposed on the family of the boy or girl in question.

A request is made, therefore, by Mr. Sims, that all merchants and manufacturers who need help of this nature communicate with him in order that, if possible, the vacancies may be filled by those who have received school exemption for this purpose.

LENGTHY DOCKET IN COUNTY COURT OPENING TUESDAY

Three Jury and Five Non-Jury Cases Already Entered For Trial.

RACE HORSE SUIT

Three jury and five non-jury cases have so far been set down for trial at the county court sittings, which open December 4 at the court house before Judge Macbeth.

Henry John Heath, of London township claims damages of $325 from Harry Ranshan, grocer, of London, as a result of an automobile accident at Richmond and St. James' street, city, on October 13, 1922. In his statement of claim the plaintiff alleges a car owned by Mr. Ranshan, going at high speed on Richmond street, stopped in front of his car without the driver giving warning. The defendant denies negligence and asks the action be dismissed. McEvoy, Judd & Henderson for the plaintiff and Murphy, Gunn & Murphy for defence.

Over Race Horse. A sporting dispute given the second jury case as it concerns a race horse, "Hoosier Lady," owned by Albert and Fred Throver of Stratford district. The last, now in London, is racing the mare during July and August last.

The defendants, however, allege Wilson cruelly inflicted a race horse on the horse with a chain and counterclaim $300 damages. P. A. Gahan, Stratford, is acting for the plaintiff. The last, now in London, is racing the mare during July and August last.

The first non-jury case involves $581.50 which the plaintiffs, Isaac and Harriet Markie of London township, claim over the sale of some property in London alleged to have been made to Victoria A. Goulding. The last, now in London, is racing the mare during July and August last.

Suing Street Railway. Henry Johnstone of London is suing the London Street Railway for $332.12 damages when his motor truck collided with a street car at King and Rectory street September 20 last. He alleges neglect on the part of the defendant company. The latter counterclaims $350, alleging Johnstone was at fault in the matter. F. H. Curran for the plaintiff and Ivey, Elliott & Gillanders for the defence.

Allen and Prudence McCurdy of London want an order to compel Mamie R. Holland to convey to them a certain lot on the Woodside survey and, in lieu of this, $500 damages for breach of covenant. J. W. G. Winnett for the plaintiffs and McEvoy, Judd & Henderson for the defendant, who asks that the action be dismissed.

Colin C. Gordon of London is asking $500 damages for damages to a motor car when his car collided with one owned by Richard McLeod on the Pipe Line road. Mr. McLeod counterclaims $500, alleging Gordon was to blame for the affair. Flock & Flock for the plaintiff and Phillips & Richardson, Toronto, for the defendant.

Robert Noble claims $264.50 from John Puthurbough, London contractor, alleging a fire was caused at his house, 481 Talbot street, on May 22 last from sparks from the defendant's steam shovel.

The defendant denies any blame in the matter and asks the case be dismissed. Fasken, Robertson & Co., Toronto, for the plaintiff and Ivey, Elliott & Gillanders for the defendant.

A large ditch has also been cut through the grounds at this point to help carry off the water.

Mayor Pleads to Workers To Vote For New City Hall Built On McCormick Site

In Carshops He Says Opponents Place Cost of Work Too High.

NEWSPAPER UNFAIR

Claims If Work Now Under Way, 250 Men Would Be Steadily Employed.

His chief opponents in the council deliberately placed the figure to be voted on for the erection of a city hall at $500,000, so the people would vote it down, Mayor Wenighe charged in an address before workers in the C. N. R. carshops at noon today. His worship addressed exhaustively with the city hall bylaw and received an uproarious ovation at the end of his speech. He said that actually the extra money required to build the city hall would be approximately $250,000. His adversaries placed the figure at $500,000 on the ballot slip to camouflage the whole proposition, the mayor claimed.

"The city hall should have been constructed on the Federal Square years ago," he said, "but the vote of the people was hijacked by the council time and again. Last year you voted against the Spencer site by an overwhelming majority. On previous occasions, however, you approved of the McCormick site. My interpretation of last year's vote therefore, is that you want a new city hall, but don't want it to be built on any other place but the McCormick property."

$12,000 a Year Lost. Mayor Wenighe showed that $12,000 a year had been lost to the city through failure of the council to build a hall which London could be proud of. If such negligence should continue for a period of years, the loss in interest and assessment alone would more than pay for the cost.

He did not intend to tell the how to vote," the mayor explained, "but it is up to me to give an unbiased summary of the situation. When election year comes the day we asked Sir Henry to build us a new station at a cost of $800,000. How can we possibly expect the government to give us a station or for the university when we are not public-spirited enough to build a decent city hall? Let's sweep our own doorstep before seeking outside assistance."

Alleges Unfairness. "The new hall haven't been fair with this city hall question. Three months ago one London paper was definitely in favor of a new city hall, the world since that time they have been writing editorials condemning it. This change of face looks rather peculiar, doesn't it?"

His worship added that the construction of the new hall would cost 250 men now out of work a long period of employment. If original plans had been followed by the council these men would be employed at the present time, he said. The new hall was already $350,000 on hand, but since that time they have been writing editorials condemning it. The erection of a hall on the McCormick site would lose from $12,000 to $14,000 a year.

Mr. Cater, candidate for ward three aldermanic honors, followed the mayor with an address. He said he worked at the C. N. R. carshops for 30 years. He appealed for support of the men and was given a good hearing.

CHORAL SOCIETY PLANS MENDELSSOHN RECITAL

Performance Will Be First Piece of Oratorio Here This Season.

The London Choral Society has arranged, with permission of the dean and corporation, to give a performance of Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise" in St. Paul's Cathedral on Thursday, December 6, having been engaged in rehearsing this work since its inception. It is recognized as one of the finest productions of a great composer, the massive grandeur of its three great choruses being met with the tender contrast of "All ye that cry unto the Lord," and the particularly well-known duet, "I waited for the Lord."

The rendering will be under the direction of Mr. H. T. Dickinson, conductor of the society, and the organ will be supplemented by piano, trumpet and tympani. Subsequent announcements will give the names of the soloists. This will be the first piece of oratorio presented in London this season, and a warm response is anticipated for it.

Warn Employees To Hold Aloof

Mayor George Wenighe delivers the warning that no city employee, official or otherwise, must take part in the municipal election. JUDGE TO DECIDE FINAL CONTROL OF THE NORTHERN McKnight and Purdom Interests Contesting Certain Points in Ownership of Shares.

CASE IS INVOLVED

While the Purdom interest are still in actual control of the affairs of the Northern Life Assurance Company, and while the appointment of a new president and two new directors yesterday is official and in order, it is understood that the final control of the company is yet to be settled before Justice Middleton in the supreme court in Toronto.

A prominent shareholder in the company said this morning: "The position, as I see it, is this: The shareholders are fighting the Purdom interest as to the final control of the company and as to where the control of the company shall be placed. The McKnight people and their backers are trying to get the return of the 800 shares of treasury stock owned by the late T. H. Purdom, as the McKnight side claim illegally, and, finally, the Purdom interests are trying to have the Canada Trust Company rule out of their position as trustees of the Dominion Savings assets. In this case, they claim that the contract between the trust company is too severe to do them justice."

It is expected that the first injunction against the control of the Purdoms by the shareholders will be settled this week in Toronto. The question of the treasury stock, owned by Mr. Tweed, and the transfer of the trusteeship will come later, most likely in the spring.

BATS DOG WITH SHOVEL, TEAMSTER IS EXCUSED

Alfred Cotterill Would Allow No Neighbor's Pet To Lurch Off His Dog.

Although the hot days of July and August are usually considered the "dog" days, it was "canine day" in police court this morning, when Alfred Cotterill, teamster, was charged with wallowing a dog with a shovel. He was allowed to go with a warning.

A youngster of 10 stepped timidly into the witness box, and was questioned by Albert Judd, appearing for the Humane Society. The boy said his dog and that of Cotterill started to fight last Tuesday on the Crescent, and Cotterill hit his pet on the head with a shovel, and injured his eye. Both canines were collared.

"I have seen them fight three or four times," said the little boy. "A winner should have been declared before now," commented Magistrate Graydon, with a smile.

The defendant said he tried to knock the dogs apart with a whip, but it did no good. On a previous occasion he had thrown cold water on the pair of scrapping canines.

"You shouldn't have used the shovel on the dog," declared the court. "I won't let no dog eat mine up," said Mr. Cotterill, in vigorous tones. "Did you hit your own dog?" asked Mr. Judd.

"No. The other dog had mine by the throat," replied the defendant. "He should have used other means. I call it proper cruelty," stated Inspector George Tustin of the Humane Society, who preferred the charge.

"I call it proper cruelty to let the dogs fight at all," replied the magistrate. "It was proper cruelty for people to stand around and let them fight at all. I'll dismiss this with a warning."

SUGGESTS PARTY FROM STATES TOUR DOMINION

M. M. Sims Claims Plan Better Way of Advertising Canada in U. S.

WOULD COST LESS

Following the suggestion, made recently, that Canada spend one million dollars in advertising the Dominion in the United States, M. M. Sims of the schools attendance department, makes a counter-suggestion that a more satisfactory method than mere publicity could be found. Mr. Sims suggests that it might be better and would be more economical to formulate a plan whereby the Chambers of Commerce in each city of the United States, of a certain size, will be asked to select a number of representative people from their center, to form a touring party of Canada, under the direct guidance and supervision of officials of the government.

His point is that these people would see Canada at first hand, which is more satisfactory than reading about it in books and papers, and then return to their cities and tell the different clubs and other bodies about Canada, its people and resources, thus advertising the country in the best possible way by word of mouth. Mr. Sims points out that the cost would not be more than one-quarter of a million dollars and the money would be spent in Canada.

FAILS TO SHOW DEPUTY FRANCE NOT ISOLATED

Associated Press Despatch. Paris, Nov. 27.—Premier Poincaré made a lengthy statement before the senate foreign affairs committee yesterday.

Prior to this Senator Baron d'Estournelles de Constant had announced his intention to interpellate the government on the causes and consequences of France's present isolation. Mr. Poincaré had replied that he would not be very difficult for him to show the senate that France was not isolated.

He failed to satisfy Baron d'Estournelles today, and after the meeting d'Estournelles announced that he had decided to proceed with his interpellation.

LLOYD GEORGE'S ENERGY FEATURES ELECTION FIGHT

BRITISH ELECTION ISSUE IS IN DOUBT NOMINATION DAY

Many Three-Cornered Contests Will Take Place—1,442 Seek Seats.

LLOYD GEORGE ACTIVE

Declares Premier's Song of Victory Is Played On Triangle.

Associated Press Despatch. London, Eng., Nov. 26.—Lloyd George's gift for apt phrases and political catchwords is serving the reunited Liberal party well, while his extraordinary energy in campaigning shows not the slightest diminution. Speaking at Edinburgh today he alluded to Premier Baldwin's prediction on Saturday that "The people will win."

"That," said Lloyd George, "is not his confidence. The premier's hope is that the people will be beaten by a triangular contest. His song of victory is played on the triangle."

This was an allusion to the fact that there will be two hundred or more such "three-cornered" contests. Curiously enough, the candidates formally nominated today numbered almost exactly the same as those nominated for the last general election, namely 1,442, distributed as follows:

Conservatives 529, Liberals 456, Laborites 435, Conservative Free Traders 7, Independents 13.

The independents include two Communists and one prohibitionist. The Labor party's supposed lack of funds did not prevent the nomination of a full quota of Labor candidates. It is said that the party recently received "a number of handsome checks" from wealthy patrons, and that the party chest is now better furnished than appeared likely when the campaign opened.

Race Against Time.

Possibly owing to the failure of most of the women candidates to win in the last general election, when only three captured seats out of 23 candidates, only about half a dozen women candidates were nominated today than last November. One of the exciting incidents of the names of candidates today was a race against time by Major Braithwaite, who journeyed five thousand miles from America, and is declared to have had just three seconds to spare to secure the nomination for Pontefract.

As all the party leaders affect the same degree of confidence, efforts to predict the outcome of the election are hopeless. It is noticeable, however, that many of the important organs of the Conservative press continue rather lukewarm on the advisability of proceeding as it is believed that this lukewarmness may have a considerable influence on wavering electors. The Laborite, James Henry Thomas, opening his campaign at Derby, predicted that protection was already killed, and declared that his own opinion was that the election would result in a stalemate.

Premier Baldwin, in a speech at Bristol today, repeated that he would At 80 Years of Age Was Troubled With Shortness of Breath Palpitation of the Heart and Fainting Spells

Mrs. M. O'Connor, Whitehouse, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled, most of my life, with shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart and fainting spells. I was advised by a friend to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which I did, and at once found relief, and I have never had a really bad spell since."

"I am 80 years of age and always keep them in the house, and when I feel any symptoms of my old trouble coming on all I have to do is take a few doses. With the help of your Pills I expect to see many years yet. I always recommend them to any one who is suffering from heart trouble."

Margot Quiets The Hecklers

Associated Press Despatch. Glasgow, Nov. 27.—Margot Asquith, wife of the former premier and stormy petrel of English autobiography, was the dove of peace at a riotous political meeting here last night.

When Mrs. Asquith's brother, H. J. Tennant, Liberal candidate for the central division of Glasgow, started to address the meeting at the city hall he was subjected to noisy interruptions which rapidly worked into general rowdiness, until the meeting was in an uproar. In the midst of the turmoil Mrs. Asquith mounted the platform to her brother's side and announced in stentorian tones: "This gentleman is my brother. You have a perfect right to come here, but no right to do what you are doing now. Those who don't want to listen can go."

have nothing to do with an inflationist policy and, defending his tariff policy, said:

"We know how many industries depend on partly manufactured goods from raw materials, we shall take no step without consultation with these industries. If any monopolies result they will be monopolies at home, and we can deal with them."

Straight Fight.

Today's nominations in the Sutton division of Plymouth confirmed that Lady Astor will have a straight fight with the Laborite, Capt. M. W. Brennan. In the last election Lady Astor defeated Capt. Brennan by more than 3,000 votes, but there was an independent Conservative in the contest, who polled more than 4,000. The two candidates met at the nomination table today and exchanged greetings. They left together and in the lobby of the Guildhall held an animated conversation for some minutes, were then photographed together and parted with a handshake and an exchange of bantering challenges. Lady Astor exclaiming as she entered her automobile: "Fight fair; let us have a cricket."

KENT YOUTH SHOOT CHUM IN MISTAKE

Walter Crow of Prairie Siding in Serious Condition From Wound.

Special to The Advertiser. Chatham, Nov. 27.—Walter Crow, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Crow, Prairie Siding, is in a serious condition in St. Joseph's Hospital, but will recover from gunshot wounds in the head, inflicted while hunting rabbits with several chums.

One of the party, whose name could not be learned, leveled his shotgun at him at a rabbit. Unconscious of his friend's action, Crow stepped into the line of fire as his friend pressed the trigger. Crow did not receive the full force of the shot, but a pellet penetrated his left eye, pierced the skull, and he buried at the base of the brain. Physicians are not sure whether they can operate.

BOYHOOD CHUM PROVES TO BE FRIEND INDEED

Timely Intervention Saves Wm. Burton From Possible Reformatory Term.

"When a feller needs a friend" is what he is waiting in jail to be sentenced on a charge of theft to which he has pleaded guilty. This was the position of Wm. Burton this morning in police court.

Burton pleaded guilty last week to stealing some wood out of a house owned by G. H. Brown in Manor Park, and from what the magistrate stated at the time it looked as if Bill had his winter's home all picked out for him at the Ontario Reformatory. However, a boyhood chum of Burton's turned up in court and promised the magistrate to look after the prisoner.

"I am going to suspend sentence on you," stated the court, addressing the prisoner, "on condition you go with the gentleman and do as he says. You will have to go to work. I don't want to make things any harder for you than I can help. If you are brought up again I'll have to send you to the reformatory, but I don't want to do that."

Burton left court with the friend in need who was a friend indeed.

AGED MAN TELLS LONGEVITY RECIPE, POTATOES, BREAD

WILLIAM HORNE, 70, Claims His Simple Diet Is Secret of Good Health.

WALKS TO SARNIA

The secret of longevity is eating potatoes and bread crumbs, and taking at least an hour for each meal, according to William Horne, aged 70, who has not tasted meat or other protein substances for more than thirty years. He expects to annex the world's old age honors by following this form of diet.

This morning Mr. Horne was seen in a local restaurant eating his customary bread crumbs and tea. He was asked if he ever ate an occasional piece of pie, and answered, "No, I never eat meat, vegetables, candy, or anything else," he was asked.

When the aged man had finished his meal of tea and bread crumbs he was ready to talk.

"I have eaten nothing but bread and potatoes for many years. A long time ago I used to eat eggs, but the price has soared high that I have to be content to live on potatoes and bread. I love potatoes, and I think bread is the best thing for the digestion there is."

Mr. Horne had bought a loaf of bread, had sliced it, and was now wrapping it up to put in his pockets and take away. He said his next meal would not be until tomorrow, but he was not sure where. However, he was positive it would be bread and tea again.

In a few short sentences Horne gave a brief outline of his life to several waiters and diners at the restaurant.

"The boys and girls today are brought up in idleness," he declared. "I never knew what an education was. My muscles were hardened through hard work and not through college athletics. When I was thirty years old I learned what a proper form of diet could do for a person. I cut out all indigestible substances. It was hard at first, but I soon became accustomed to my diet."

"No, strangers are my friends, but they are not when they are too curious. When people see me take out my loaf of bread to eat they always ask me questions. I am more interested in hearing other people talk than in hearing myself. I think I'll go to Sarnia now."

Horne walked out of the restaurant with his loaf of bread in his shabby overcoat pocket. He had come to London from Gloucester, and it was his intention to walk to Sarnia. He expects his one loaf to suffice until he reaches the border city.

DISCONTINUES RELIEF TO RUHR'S UNEMPLOYED

Associated Press Despatch. Dusseldorf, Nov. 27.—The Central German government yesterday ceased the sending of relief for the unemployed in the Ruhr, according to newspapers here.

In making the announcement the papers comment upon the contracts signed by the German industrialists with the Franco-Belgian authorities, declaring that the industrialists were forced to agree to the terms in view of the growing menace of disorder on the part of the unemployed.

BRING PROMINENT SPEAKERS FOR BIG UNION MEETING

Three Outstanding Churchmen Talk on Fusion at Tonight's Rally.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

In St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church tonight at 7:15, church union will be advocated by three of the most distinguished speakers in the three churches concerned in Canada, and the justice and need of the union propounded and explained. The London Church Union Committee have chosen St. Andrew's for this great rally on account of its size and partly because of the memory of the enormous crowd which came every night and afternoon to listen to Dr. Campbell Morgan. It is felt that this is essentially the right place for a union meeting.

Among the speakers will be Dr. Clarence Mackinnon, principal of the Presbyterian College in Halifax, N. S., a churchman whose influence is dominion-wide and who is known both as speaker and preacher from coast to coast. Dr. Trevor Davis, one-time minister of the Metropolitan Church, Toronto, and now of the Eaton Memorial Church, is an outstanding figure, who has established himself firmly in the respect of all denominations in the country, and he is universally recognized as a worthy representative of that fine type bred in the best of Baptist schools. Then there is also Dr. Gunn of Toronto, a figure in the Congregational Church of Canada, beloved and welcomed wherever he goes.

The services will be given enthusiasm and warmth by a male choir of 50 voices. The committee expect to have a large attendance at this special meeting, the meetings last night in Massey Hall, the Bond Street Congregational Church and the Metropolitan Church, Toronto, having given added impetus to the movement for church union in Ontario.

As an instance of the interest apparent now in union, when Dr. Mackinnon of Halifax spoke last night in Massey Hall it was to the largest crowd that has ever turned out to listen to a churchman speak in that celebrated and empire-famous auditorium.

As well as the male-voice choir, the service will be graced by the presence of the double male quartet from the First Methodist Church, who will give two selections from their repertoire. Although the doors open at 7:15, there is no set time for the service, and, speaking from the platform, the speaker will start just as soon as the church is filled. The committee under whose auspices the meeting is being held believe that the service will be a most successful one, and that the union meeting and that the rank and file of all the churches concerned are vitally interested enough to demand the very best exhibition of the union from men who are admittedly best qualified to tell them.

SEES GOOD BUSINESS IN THE ANTIPODES

D. George Clark Writes From New Zealand—Now On Way Home.

D. George Clark, advertising manager of the McClary Manufacturing Company, who is at present in New Zealand, sent a picture post card to The Advertiser from Auckland, N. Z., on Oct. 20, the postman delivered it this morning. On it he says he has had a good trip from a business point of view, and that there appears to him to be unlimited opportunities in both Australia and New Zealand for the great expansion of sales. He adds that Canada needs much more advertising and publicity in the Antipodes.

Mr. Clark states that he is leaving for home on Nov. 13, so that he will be back in London for Christmas. The card he sends is a view of Queen's street, Auckland. Here the sun shines with unabated warmth, the people go about unencumbered with overcoats and gloves and mufflers and all the paraphernalia of Ontario winter. It looks very comfortable and attractive.

COMMUNISTS DEFY ORDER OF VON SEECKT

Associated Press Despatch. Berlin, Nov. 26.—"The Communist party remains in existence," begins a defiant resolution adopted by the Communist central organization in rejoinder to the dissolution order of Gen. Von Seeckt.

The party will continue to fight capitalism and aim at the establishment of sovietism in Germany with undiminished vigor, the resolution continues. At the same time it relieves all its officials from their posts and will henceforth operate under a directorate which will have its seat abroad. The conditions of the party into the party will be made severe and traitors and spies are threatened with death.

"Kindly attend to buying your forms filled in at once and oblige. Yours for 100 cents for every dollar on deposit."

UTILITIES MEMBERS DENY CHECK CHARGES OF TALLANT

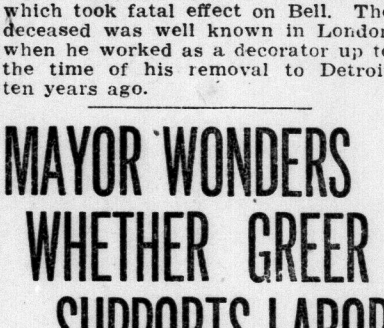

Members of the public utilities commission deny the assertions made by D. J. Tallant, candidate for election to that body, that the checks of the commission are not signed by the city treasurer.

Mr. Tallant stated last night that "every Tom, Dick and Harry" in the city had power to sign the checks of the commission, except those two men to whom he alluded, the mayor and the city treasurer. This statement is denied, as City Treasurer Bell declares he signs all checks of the commission.

When the aged man had finished his meal of tea and bread crumbs he was ready to talk.

"I have eaten nothing but bread and potatoes for many years. A long time ago I used to eat eggs, but the price has soared high that I have to be content to live on potatoes and bread. I love potatoes, and I think bread is the best thing for the digestion there is."

Mr. Horne had bought a loaf of bread, had sliced it, and was now wrapping it up to put in his pockets and take away. He said his next meal would not be until tomorrow, but he was not sure where. However, he was positive it would be bread and tea again.

In a few short sentences Horne gave a brief outline of his life to several waiters and diners at the restaurant.

"The boys and girls today are brought up in idleness," he declared. "I never knew what an education was. My muscles were hardened through hard work and not through college athletics. When I was thirty years old I learned what a proper form of diet could do for a person. I cut out all indigestible substances. It was hard at first, but I soon became accustomed to my diet."

"No, strangers are my friends, but they are not when they are too curious. When people see me take out my loaf of bread to eat they always ask me questions. I am more interested in hearing other people talk than in hearing myself. I think I'll go to Sarnia now."

Horne walked out of the restaurant with his loaf of bread in his shabby overcoat pocket. He had come to London from Gloucester, and it was his intention to walk to Sarnia. He expects his one loaf to suffice until he reaches the border city.

VETERAN THANKS G.W.V.A. OFFICIALS FOR AID RECEIVED

T. S. Crowley Declares Success of Appeal Due to Efforts of London Command.

WAS A LONG FIGHT

Officials of the local G. W. V. A. are particularly gratified on receiving a letter from a great war veteran, whose pension case, long-drawn out and seemingly impossible of recognition in Ottawa, has at last been satisfactorily settled through the efforts of the officers of the London branch of the association. The letter, which is self-explanatory, is as follows:

To the president and members of the Great War Veterans' Association, London, Command.

Comrades—it would be impossible by mere words to try and express my feelings for the very generous help accorded me by your officials, on behalf of the case, sufficient to say from the bottom of my heart "I thank you."

It has been a long and tedious fight, but through all my worry and anxiety the hope that justice would eventually win was ever before me, and that the Great War Veterans' Association would leave no stone unturned to see that I was accomplished. If it is anything to you, my fellow comrades, you will rejoice with me, that the Great War Veterans' Association have brought joy to myself, to my wife, and to my family.

I have received word from the federal appeal board of Canada that my appeal has been sustained. I wish to thank especially Col. Coles for his time, attention and courteous treatment towards me at any time I had occasion to interview the colonel. He gave his advice unstintingly. May good health and success attend him in all his work and walks through life.

To Comrade Harry Wray, our worthy president, and Comrade George Turner, our secretary, I extend my heartfelt thanks and appreciation. The association should feel proud in the knowledge that I have these men at the head of their affairs, for I feel that their efforts with those of Col. Coles were the means of bringing me safely through my appeal, and winning for me and mine the happiness we now expect to enjoy.

Comrades, once again, one and all, I thank you. Through the years to come should I be spared, I shall ever remember the kindness, the courtesy, and the untiring efforts of the association and the noble men who conduct its affairs. Faithfully yours,

(Signed) THOS. S. CROWLEY.

BON TON PROVES FINE BURLESQUE ENTERTAINMENT

John Barry & Company Present
Clever, Peppy and Amusing Show.

RANKED AMONG BEST

John Barry with the Bon Tons, the Columbia burlesque attraction which opened a three days' engagement at the Grand Opera House yesterday with matinee and evening performances to crowded houses, present what can safely be ranked among the best burlesque combinations seen here this season. It is well named "Bon Ton," for it represents practically the height of the various divisions of this sort of entertainment. Liberal applause indicated that the audiences also held this opinion.

Opening with a scene in a club, which serves to introduce a double quartet with a tenor who can really sing, in the person of Walter LaFoye, the scene serves to introduce the chorines and the three female principals, Misses La Barr, Wright and Barry, in several numbers, of which "Wine, Women and Song" was the most heartily received.

Sandy Ackland, the inimitable Scotch comedian, who, when he appeared in vaudeville at the Grand some time ago, practically "stopped the show" with his comedy, songs and bag-piping, came near to repeating the trick.

In song and comedy he is Lauder-esque while his imitation of a bag-piper after a sojourn in the "bunny" Highland is one of the funniest items presented here on any program. He is also a dancer of no mean ability and altogether his contributions to the evening's entertainment are of high-class.

Burglar Sketch.—A laughable burglar sketch, and one of the usual lingerie shop numbers introduced several hits including "Dig a Little Deeper," very well done by Miss Wright and chorines. The scene was introduced by Mr. Barry, Mr. Raynor, Miss Barry, Miss La Barr, Mr. Ackland, Mr. Simmons and Mr. LaFoye introduces "Annabelle" by Mr. Ackland and chorine with a line of swift peppy comedy.

The chief of police sketch gives Mr. Barry an excellent opportunity. His comedy in this is funny in the extreme, while his satirical references to the various laws through which the sale of intoxicants has been largely relegated to the bootlegger seemed to strike a responsive chord in the audience, for the applause was loud and long.

The closing scene of the first act, "The Palace of Jewels" is one of the most elaborate staged here and serves to introduce a line of costumes new to London and decidedly attractive and fetching.

Frozen North.—The second act opens in the Frozen North with the girls attractively costumed as Eskimo maidens, pretty scenic investiture, good lighting effects and brilliant pictures. Miss Wright's rendering of blues songs is extremely clever, she being forced to respond to several encores. Then the scene changes to a chorus dressing room in which the atmosphere is well preserved and the numbers clever and well done.

The original Chicago jazz band is then heard in a succession of numbers, jazzier, swifter and more melodious than presented by any similar organization during this season. Again the applause was long and loud, the talented aggregation scoring a distinct hit.

The principals of the company are all good. Barry is an unctuous comedian, whose facial expressions and lines are very funny. He is ably assisted by Mr. Raynor, Sandy Ackland, and the others mentioned in a class by him self. Miss La Barr is one of the daintiest, prettiest little sopranettes seen here this season, and she has a sweet soprano voice which while not of great range or power carries a pretty appeal. Miss Wright is clever in her song renditions, and her acting, while peppy personality stand out in Miss Barry's every appearance.

The chorus is shapely, pretty and hard-working, while the wardrobe carried is among the most elaborate of the season. A clean, up-to-date, peppy show, well staged and presented, and providing two and a half hours of big show value for the money. Daily matinees for ladies, with customary evening performances, today and tomorrow.

LOEW'S THEATRE VAUDEVILLE BILL IS OF HIGH ORDER

Film Feature, "Pleasure Mad," Lavish Production, Possessing Individuality.

PRINCIPALS EXCEL

As though to sweeten somewhat the acid pill of increased prices, the bill at Loew's just now is rather notably good. The three-cent increase in prices was observed locally with alarm, but once at the ticket the bother of coppers in the change is eliminated, and the extra pennies don't seem so exorbitant, when it is remembered that the ticket is included.

With something of the peculiarity commonly attributed to the ostrich, the public can derive meagre satisfaction from the ticket, but the theatre management as forced to part with the aforementioned tax.

The vaudeville turns commence right smartly with "The Three Palcons." Acrobatic ability is certainly not lacking on the part of these performers, but it is a question which pleased the crowd more, their stunts or the embellishments of humor provided by the youth in the Eton jacket. The act finishes as smartly as it commences.

The Four Caledonians have allowed their comic interludes to become rusty with age, but their singing is excellent. It brought them in for a double encore at the performances yesterday.

Voices Pleasing.—The concluding act is called simply "Pleasure Mad," the film feature, is a version of "The Three Palcons," a well-known novel by Blanche Upright, and which has to do with the struggle of a mother to retain a hold upon her family when a sudden transition to wealth knocks both husband and children dizzy with its riotous splendor. It gives Mary Alden an opportunity to create another of the mother roles which have made her famous. And it gives ample opportunity also for a display of that lavishment of production in which the newer moving picture features seem to excel.

The titles at times are tinged with a slightly vapid sentiment, but by means of a capable portrayal of each role, the emotional theme of the story has been well-developed.

Has Individuality.—The story of the man of forty who awakes one day to the realization that his faithful wife, who is also forty, does not understand him, is a common enough one, but in "Pleasure Mad" it does take on a little individuality, and this chiefly by virtue of the acting of the principals, rather than any construction of the narrative.

Norma Shearer, who plays the daughter, is one of the newer arrivals in the film, having an arresting and pleasant beauty as well as a capability which shows to advantage in this picture.

Another of the "Fighting Blood" series in which Gale sustains his first professional battle, and the Pathe weekly, complete the bill.

All this is presented with the succinct announcement that the management requests the "shelks" and "shellkesses" present to confine their "spooning" to "home or elsewhere."

ALD. JOHN GREER CLAIMS BYLAW WORDING BIASED

City Council Printing Committee Meeting Brings Out Warm Argument.

PHRASES DELETED

Members of the special "printing" committee of the city council assembled yesterday afternoon and "rehashed" generally the respective merits of the new city hall question. Ald. John Greer, ward one aspirant, took decided exception to the wording of the advertisements of the bylaw at issue and refused to be a party to what he characterized as "biased" publicity.

After a 15-minute debate the committee compromised and proposed "ads" were approved with certain revisions. For instance the committee was not unanimous that the phrase, "Let's go," was necessary, and it was struck out although Mayor Wenige moved that the "ad" be approved as read. "Sweep your own door-step" also failed to meet with general approval, while Ald. Greer suggested that they dispense with "Work for London labor."

Ald. Leonard Douglass, chairman of the board of works, objected to the form in which it was proposed to send the ballot to the people, when the interesting fact was disclosed that as yet no provision had been made to tell definitely where it was proposed to build the hall. "It will only lead to further trouble," he warned.

Maintains Stand.

Ald. John Greer declared point-blank that he would not be a party to any biased appeals to the electors. "As I have opposed all year the building of a city hall on the McCormick site at this time you would hardly expect me to support a proposal like this to practically 'sell' the proposition to the people."

Mayor Wenige contended that the "ads" were not biased and recalled that the council had approved of the construction of a hall on the McCormick site.

Ald. Greer suggested that they eliminate the phrase in effect, "make work for Londoners."

"What are you going to do then, bring in outside labor?" asked the mayor.

"Don't be foolish," admonished Ald. Greer.

The remark was made during the conclusion that, while Mayor Wenige had been dealing with the city hall question fairly from the public platform during the present campaign, his proposed "ads" were biased.

"No person can object to what I say on the public platform," his worship asserted vigorously, "and what is more I'll have more to say before this is over and I'll say it a good deal stronger. I have a mandate in my pocket from 63,000 people of this city."

Questions Plan.

Mayor Wenige pointed out also that it was Ald. Greer who had moved that the city hall "ad" be inserted in the papers; but Ald. Greer objected that when he did so he was under the impression that the ratepayers were to be supplied with the facts and were not to be influenced.

Ald. Frank McKay questioned whether it was legal for the council to charge the cost of this publicity to the city hall account, and City Treasurer James Bell replied that this would have no hesitation in doing so. It had been done in many other instances, he pointed out.

Ald. Douglass urged that the people be told that the construction of a dam at Springbank would hasten the need for a new sewer disposal system at a cost of $400,000. City Engineer Near McDougall declared that this undertaking would be imperative if the river was to be fit for boating, bathing, etc., after the dam was constructed.

REPORT STATES WHEAT IS IN GOOD CONDITION

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Nov. 26.—The acreage of fall plowing this year is well up to the average, and farmers are willing to take advantage of any further open weather to extend the area turned under, says the report of the Ontario department of agriculture today.

Fall wheat continues to have a fine appearance for entering the winter. The fine weather of the last few weeks had made it possible for farmers to let livestock run on pasture somewhat later than usual in the past few districts, and unless considerable snow comes, many horses and cattle may be left on for a while longer.

SEEK TO AMEND LAWS CRIMES BY INSANE COVERING

BUTCHER CLAIMS BUSINESS SLACK, CAN'T KEEP WIFE

Court Orders Crumlin Man To Pay $3 a Week For Support of Family.

LIVELY ARGUMENT

A butcher who lives out Crumlin way did his best to convince Magistrate Graydon in police court today that he couldn't possibly pay this wife more than $3 a week separation allowance.

"The court is compromised on $4, at which the husband declared he would have to go to the workhouse or some other place, because he couldn't pay any more than $4 per week. He would pay $3, but not any more, he stated.

"Friend wife" sat on the back benches with two friends and seemed to enjoy the "snappy" cross-examination of E. T. Essery, K.C., who in her behalf was endeavoring to find out her husband's income.

"Did you furnish any butchers in town last week with meat?" asked counsel.

"I don't supply nobody," was the reply.

"How many beasts did you kill the week before that?"

"Taters and Corn."

"I can't tell you. I never keep track. Once they're gone, they're gone."

Witness said he had been in the business for 12 years and lived on a 10-acre farm. He grew a few potatoes and corn.

"How many cattle did you kill in the past year?" asked Mr. Essery.

"I couldn't say."

"How do you live?"

"The vicar and I took and other stuff grown on the farm."

"I submit he is not answering my questions and he's entitled to an answer, your worship," declared Mr. Essery.

"First you've got to prove his ability to pay," reminded the court.

Questioned by the magistrate, the defendant said he had a daughter "coming 15," and was told she was his responsibility.

The butcher said he had a man and a woman working for him. He paid them $15 a month each and owed them for six weeks' pay.

"How do you think the child is going to live?" asked Mr. Graydon.

"I want to do the fair thing. I paid as far as I could and can't break."

Payments in Arrears.

"You are eight months in arrears now in your payments of $6.25 a week," went on the court.

"I can't help it."

"You've paid for 10 or 12 years and have made up your mind you won't pay any more," pursued the magistrate.

"How much will you pay?" asked Mr. Essery.

"Three dollars a week."

"I'll make it four," opined the court, "and you're getting off easily."

"I can't keep up two houses," protested the accused.

"You're not to keep that the complaint," retorted Mr. Essery.

"I can't do it, and you'll have to send me to the workhouse or some place else," came back the husband.

"The first payment will be made a week from Saturday," declared the court, paying no attention to the last remark of the butcher.

Denies "Asinine" Report Of Suggested Law Change

Mayor Wenige Repudiates Another "Bunk" Story in Local Newspaper.

"Asinine."

Mayor Wenige briefly sums up the tale advanced yesterday in a local paper that he was supposed to be considering changing the law in order that members of the city council could sell their goods to the municipality.

"Whoever wrote that yarn is evidently not well posted as to facts," the mayor continued. "Even if the story was right and I had made such a statement, would it not sound foolish on the face of it."

"I don't change the law if I desired, and in any event, I have not given the question a thought. In fact, I have not been bothering about it. The fact that it is a provincial statute, and I certainly could not change it."

"Why the idea is so preposterous" that it hardly deserves a moment's consideration. The person responsible for writing the article is certainly giving a very poor example of journalism with a story of that nature."

Several weeks ago the police commission, which comprises, with the mayor, His Honor, Judge Talbot Macbeth and Police Magistrate Graydon, evidently passed for payment an account of one dollar to the Bicycle and Motor Sales Company—the sale of a few spokes for one of the police motorcycles.

This act has aroused a local paper and the inference is made daily that the mayor is "grafting."

If he (although the city officials say the transaction is perfectly legal) is doing it with the obvious consent of the police commissioners.

Both Pocock and Vining Should Be Re-Elected

Engineers have carefully looked over the ground between Kilworth and Komondor and it is known that there are many springs between these places. The problem is one of getting the water as near the city as possible. The statement has been made that water can run by gravity to the city. The militia department maps can be taken to be accurate in the matter of land levels, and these show the highest point in the Kilworth-Komondor district as 740 feet against 700 at Springfield. The engineers would be pleased to have an answer showing how the water can be made to run up this twenty feet by gravity. There is no question concerning the amount of water available, and it may be necessary to use it some time. The expense of getting it has been estimated as between $300,000 and $1,000,000.

The utilities commission is satisfied that they can secure that much water nearer home at a cost that will be less than that of water coming from going any higher. The wells brought in at Broughdale were found to be too hard, and that supply is not now used. Another well gave water with an iron content, not harmful, but the people did not like it. They preferred to take their water from the city and needed them, so an aeration plant was used, and this objection was overcome entirely.

London's Rates.

The rates charged in London are the same as they were in 1906, and it is the wish of the commission to keep these rates from going any higher. They realize that a pure water supply at a fair rate is one of the greatest blessings that can be brought to the homes in London, and the first hydro rate cut that in two, making it five cents, with 1,000 customers for the first year. Today the rate is 1.8 cents, and there are 17,000 customers. It is doubtful if there is a business in the city showing such development.

Hydro Costs Light.

The average monthly bill for London is $1.20 per month, and there are 4,000 homes using electricity to do their cooking. London started out using 2,000 horsepower against a volume of 20,000 horsepower used today. The plant in London is worth $2,600,000, and it is worth remembering that the system followed makes it obligatory to go ahead and pay for the plant, rather than allow it to run on to the point where it would be worn out, and not all paid for. Over half that equipment has been wiped off the books, and a large part of the money for this purpose has come from the surplus earnings.

Now, all this rapid growth has called for good, sane management. The rapidity with which a business increases is often its greatest danger point. We had a good example of that during the war years and a few years following, when some companies crippled themselves for years to come by not being able to accommodate increased trade without going over their head in debt to do it. The utilities commission have handled all this increased volume of trade, and all through it they have done so in a way that has never left the citizens open to a loss through the taking of wrong steps that have had to be retraced.

Parks Development.

In 1912 the management of the parks was handed over to the utilities commission. The waterworks department had developed a wonderful property at Springfield. This, with the city parks, and later on, the public playgrounds, was given to the utilities commission to operate, and the excellence with which the work has been done is testified to by the parks system which London has, the equal for scenic beauty and horticultural and floral excellence of anything in the Dominion. There has been nothing charged against the parks, for providing for the salary of the heads of departments. In a way it may be said that hydro pays these charges, although it might not do so if it were not for the fact that the utilities commission would not have been able to do so without a bill for services rendered from the hydro commission.

That is the record of the public utilities in London. It is on that record that Philip Pocock and Jared Vining come before the electors and ask re-election. They have served without one dollar in the way of salary. Mr. Pocock has brought to the commission the mind and training of a successful London businessman, and his knowledge as a solicitor has been of great use to the commission in mapping out their various policies. The citizens showed good judgment in selecting these men in the first place; their good judgment has been substantiated by the work the commission has done. It is only reasonable that these two commissioners seeking re-election should receive an endorsement that will show the approval of the ratepayers, and an appreciation of a big well done.

London Woman Becomes A Commercial Traveler

Miss Madge Helena Thomas With Her Huge Wardrobe Trunk Is Becoming a Familiar Figure in Eastern Ontario.

A woman commercial traveler is a rarity even in 1923, when women are doing almost every type of work. Yet London has one such woman, in the small person of Madge Helena Thomas, who has been traveling for the last three months with great success. As far as is known, she is the only woman traveler in the province who has entered the man's field. Leaving here every Monday morning, or sometimes Sunday night, she makes for her territory, which is east of Toronto, and covers the Ottawa district. With her goes a huge wardrobe trunk, several times as big as the little lady who accompanies it.

Miss Thomas is very fair, with flaxen hair, and eyes blue as the seas which encircle the country from which she came but one short year ago. But the eyes of this little English maiden out at the world with a firmness of purpose belying any suggestion of frivolity, which her altogether feminine and youthful appearance might suggest. Her manner is charming, and her clothes could not be described with a better word than "chic," unless it be said that she is very careful to dress according to type—something which is too rarely done in this age of style extremes.

One day you see her in a pearl gray tailored costume, and the gray is carried out in hat and shoes. Another time she wears brown tones, and there isn't a false shade in the whole costume, which looks as if it had been fashioned for her.

Meets With Success. It seems small wonder, then, that she meets with such success when she appears before a buyer with her trunk of attractive costumes.

Miss Thomas seems scarcely twenty and yet she must be older, for she and her sister practically managed a wholesale jewelry store in Manchester, England, before coming to London a year ago.

But Miss Thomas has now become fascinated with selling on the road, and she could not be persuaded to give it up.

It is her own choice. She entered the office of the Helena Costume Company some months ago with commercial traveling in view. And before a month had passed, had persuaded the firm to try her out. Now she is making good and is interested in the life and experience which she is getting. Weren't you afraid to start out alone on the road, where you would have to put up at hotels of every description? is a question which is often put to her. For she has the appearance of a woman who is used to being looked after and sheltered from the roughest side of life. Her answer is always the same. No, she is not afraid. She has been used to knocking around. And she can take care of herself. Her buyers are practically the only people with whom she has dealings. She is interested in her buyers. She delights in her appointments with them and a sale means a triumph. Often they are women, mostly they are men, but her success is the same.

And when the day is over, she returns to her room in the hotel and spends a happy evening with a favorite book. A Few Don'ts. "Probably some girls wouldn't like the life at all," she says. "Girls who cannot enjoy life unless they are dancing or spending their time with men, would soon become very bored. Because, of course, one thing that I cannot do, is to accept invitations from men whom I meet in the course of my business. It wouldn't do. And so I spend my evenings alone and my days at work. I don't want anyone to think that I am a goody-goody sort of person. This with a bewitching smile. I'm not. But I have certain ideas on this subject which I think are right. And I never get bored, because I believe that in my life I have something much more worth while than just dancing and parties. I enjoy the freedom. I am seeing the country and my days are filled with variety. Traveling and selling is an education in itself."

With Miss Thomas every day is a big adventure. She may be successful and secure several orders for her firm. Or the sun may go down with never an order at all. Each night is different. Sometimes it is spent in a hotel, sometimes on the train. But always the spirit of adventure is there. As the cold weather approaches, those who have traveled the road warn her that she will find some of the small hotels very uncomfortable in winter. They tell stories of how she will have to break the ice in her pitcher when she wakes in the morning. But her courage cannot be daunted, even though she is used to a mild English climate. "If I have to break the ice, I'll break it like anyone else, won't I?" is her reply to all the warnings. And she's just waiting for a chance to prove her words. She doesn't believe that the opportunity will come, however, for she has found the hotels of the province to be exceedingly comfortable. She is a member of the Commercial Travelers' Association, and as such is given every consideration wherever she goes.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH SO MANY COMPLEXIONS? Body ills are often due to a wrong diet—indeed, what we eat has largely to do with good or bad health. But there is one disorder that we can definitely trace to faulty food, a pimply or erupted skin. Even beauty culturists admit the cure must come from within—balms, lotions, ointments being external agents to relieve but not to banish.

Especially in winter must the diet be watched. White flour, meats, sweets, and refined cereals are "Excess Acid," and "Excess Acid" foods cause acid blood. Acid blood is the direct cause of unsightly complexion.

Roman Meal is the natural corrective of this skin condition, because it is the richest in alkalis of any grain product. In fact, it is the only alkaline grain product now sold.

This is because it contains the dark flour from three whole grains, and the dark flour is the part of grains that carries these alkalis. The white, dainty, refined flour and cereals have these mostly refined away, hence acid blood and unsightly skin conditions.

Roman Meal corrects blood acidity, soothes, heals, and clears the skin. In addition, it prevents indigestion and positively relieves constipation. With one exception, it is the cheapest food sold. For growing children, nursing and expectant mothers, it has no equal as a food. At grocers—Adv.

NAME MRS. E. B. SMITH TO N. C. W. COMMITTEE

Mrs. John Rose Brings Back Glowing Report of National Council Meeting.

The appointment of Mrs. E. B. Smith of this city to the National Women's Council committee for superintending the Canadian side of the Overseas Club, was an important move of the National Council executive, especially as far as London was concerned. Mrs. John Rose, president of the Local Council, has just returned to London after attending the executive meeting of the sub-executive in Georgetown, and brings back glowing reports of the council's undertakings.

Mrs. Smith has been closely associated with the work of the Overseas Club ever since her visit to the old country last year. While in England Mrs. Smith was asked to suggest the Canadian organization best fitted to carry on the work of the club, and the National Council of Women. She later brought the matter before the annual meeting of the council in Halifax, with the result that the sub-executive was appointed a committee to represent the Overseas Club in Canada. Her appointment to the committee brings a distinct honor to London.

The sub-executive of the National Council will submit to the International Council of Women a tentative program for a proposed international child welfare week, the program prepared by Mrs. Ninian Smille of Ottawa. Another important move of the council executive was the decision to buy a place in the British Empire Expedition, with a view to advertising the work of the Council of Women.

According to Mrs. Rose, the meeting in Georgetown was filled with interest and members of the executive were entertained royally. The executive is very proud of the National Council president, Miss C. E. Carmichael, who is now on her way back to Canada from Geneva, where she has been attending the great Labor conference, having been sent there by the Canadian government.

While in Georgetown the members of the executive visited the Georgetown Home for Armenian Orphans and were greatly impressed with the work being carried on there.

DYSPEPSIA WAS SO BAD Could Hardly Eat Anything

Mrs. C. Stone, Nanticoke, Ont., writes:—"Some time ago I had a very serious attack of dyspepsia, and was also troubled with gas on my stomach. I could hardly eat anything, and very often had pains after meals. I had used different medicines, but they didn't seem to do me any good. At last I happened to run on the track of Burdock Blood Bitters, and after using it for a short time I felt a lot better. I continued its use until I was completely relieved and now I am ready to recommend it to anyone troubled as I was."

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

How Can a Bride Make the Honeymoon Last? A Recipe for a Successful Marriage; Must She Tell Her Age to Her Fiance? Should a Girl Work After She Is Married?

Dear Dorothy Dix—I have been married for three months to a man who has been, during this time, an absolutely perfect husband, and I ask nothing further of life than this—that he remains always just as he is.

But the fly in the ointment of my happiness is that people do not seem to believe in the permanency of this happiness, but make such remarks as: "Oh, well, if all of marriage were like the honeymoon, matrimony would be a success," or "Wait awhile longer before you boast. Every bride is happy."

Now, I am asking your help. How can I make the honeymoon last? There must be some way in which a wife can prevent her husband's affection from simmering down. There is little joy in winning happiness if it must slip away and cannot be held.

When both husband and wife are of an affectionate temperament, should the wife endeavor to restrain the demonstration of her affection for her husband after marriage, just as she does in pre-marriage days on the theory that what is withheld has added value in a man's eyes?

BRIDE.

Answer:

I believe, dear little Bride, that if any man and woman who are in love with each other when they marry would use one-tenth of the honest endeavor to make marriage a success that they do to make a success in business or society, there would be almost no unhappy marriages. So if you and your husband really wish to keep your honeymoon always set in your sky it is perfectly possible to do so.

Of course, some of the glamor and the romance of the first days of married life are bound to go in time, but you get in place of that the sense of trust and faith in each other, of being welded into one that is the sweetest and the most precious thing on earth.

The recipe for making marriage a success is as simple as the recipe for sponge cake, and as the cook books say, follow this rule and it cannot fail. In three words, it consists in fair play, in politeness and appreciation.

Fair play consists in a husband and wife going fifty-fifty in everything.

This means that a man gives his wife her share of the profits and perquisites of their joint partnership, and it also means that a woman does her share of the work. It is just as much her duty to make a comfortable home as it is his to make a living. It likewise means that each shall give the other the individual freedom that each claims for himself or herself.

Politeness. That means that a husband and wife shall retain the decent reserves after marriage that they did before marriage.

It means that they shall keep themselves physically attractive, and that they will refrain from making rude speeches and criticism to each other, just as much as if they were strangers.

Appreciation. This means that they will not take the sacrifices and the labor of each other for granted, but will return thanks for blessings received.

There would be no more disgruntled husbands with peevish, discontented wives if married couples would show each other a little appreciation.

As to your last question, I believe that just as many men starve for love as women, and that a wife should show her husband her heart.

Before marriage a woman does well to keep a man guessing. After marriage he wants to know that she loves him for keeps.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—Does it make any difference if a girl is five years older than her sweetheart? I am that much older than mine, and he does not know this secret as yet. Shall I tell him?

M. A. J.

Answer:

Five years is not a prohibitive difference in years when it is on the woman's side, though it is always better for the man to be the elder.

In the first place, a woman ages so much faster than a man does, and in the second place, when the woman is the older, she has to have super-human self-control to refrain from bossing her husband around as if he were her small boy because if she is older, she always thinks that she knows best. And in the third place, when the woman is the older she is always conscious of it, and invariably jealous. She cannot see her husband with young girls without feeling that youth calls to youth.

As for telling your husband how old you are, oh, la! Never! A woman's birthday is a secret between her and the family Bible, and it is nobody else's business. A wise wife never tells her husband her age, or where she gets her complexion, or whether her hair is her own or not. All that he is concerned with are the results. And if she looks good to him and seems just the right age, that is all that matters.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—Should a girl work after she is married? I am a business-girl, and have a good job that draws down a good salary. The young man to whom I am engaged does not make as much as I do, but he is industrious and efficient and in time will work up to a good place. If I continue working, we can be married at once. Otherwise, it will be years of waiting before my fiancé makes enough for us to live on.

STENOGRAPHER.

Answer:

I do not see any reason why a businesswoman should not keep on with her work after she is married until the babies come. There are even many cases in which there is a grandmother or an aunt who can take care of the children, which makes it advisable for her still to earn money outside of the home, and where the money thus made is of more value to her children than her personal attention would be.

In these days of the high cost of living many men have to wait so long to make enough to marry on that they waste all the sweetness and freshness of youth. Often they are kept from marrying at all, and this state of affairs can only be obviated by the woman also becoming a breadwinner.

WOMEN and THE HOME

ARTISTIC PLAYING OF CLAUD BIGGS DELIGHTS LONDON

Noted Pianist Is Introduced To City Audience by Women's Music Club.

VARIED PROGRAM

In the artist of last evening, Claud Biggs, the Women's Music Club introduced to London a pianist who is a brilliant interpreter of the world's greatest composers. Primarily, he is a technician. His playing of Bach and other composers of the eighteenth century, usually avoided by the concert pianist, surpassed anything that has been heard in this city for many a day. But he does not confine his program to the Bach school alone. Chopin had a generous place at the end of the evening, and the Polonaise in A flat, which came as a climax to the whole program, was played with brilliancy and temperament.

That Mr. Biggs is temperamental goes without saying. He plays directly to his audience, and has an interesting habit of turning to watch them as he plays. He has a rather grave personality, in keeping with the graver sort of music which he plays. But above all, he interprets the masters with authority.

Even those in the audience who knew little of the technique of music were delighted with his own arrangement of the Bach Organ Fugue in C. The volume of tone which he obtained in his interesting interpretation of the great master is not often drawn from the piano keys. A number from Scarlatti, "Prestissimo in B flat," and interesting numbers from Couperin and Purcell, the Bach Prelude and Fugue, No. 9, in E, and the Bach Prelude and Fugue, No. 17, in A flat, completed the first part of the program.

A second section included a Schumann Nocturne, Two German Dances from Beethoven, and "Hark, Hark! The Lark!" (Schubert-Liszt). The last number was played in a striking fashion, calling forth the enthusiastic applause of those who heard.

The Chopin numbers were six. Tudes, once again showing the brilliant technique of the artist; Berceuse, Valse in D flat, and the final Polonaise.

The coming of Claud Biggs to Canada has distinctly added to the gradually increasing colony of artists. And the Music Club should be commended for giving London the opportunity of hearing him.

The Music Club is co-operating with the Drama League in the December concert, which will include a one-act play, "The Other Wise Man," with incidental music composed by Charles E. Wheeler. A male quartet, including Messrs. Webster, Christiani, Bull and Ross, will also be heard in connection with his dramatic production. Other numbers of the evening will be vocal solos by Miss Eula Kennedy, numbers by the Hausch Quartet, with solo work by Miss Guri Hausch, and soprano solos by Mrs. Ed. Wyatt.

PRIDE OF LONDON CIRCLE.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Chivas were honored last week, when the members of the London Circle of London Circle, A. O. F., gathered at their home and showered Mrs. Chivas with a host of pretty handkerchiefs, prior to their departure for Flint, Mich., where they will make their future home. The presentation was made by Master Joe Griggs and the address "read by William G. McCallin, chief companion of the circle. The evening was spent in euchre. Mrs. Roy Brown winning the first prize. Mrs. Edward Chivas the second and Mrs. A. Sheridan the consolation prize.

Danny and Nanny Run Into Their Old Friend Jenny Wren

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse, sitting in their cage in the great man-bird which had been at rest all night, listened to a familiar, scolding voice, and knew not what to make of it. It seemed to them they must be mistaken. It certainly sounded like the voice of Jenny Wren, but Jenny had been a long time from her summer home, so of course they must be mistaken.

At last they heard the fit of small wings, and a small, brown person with snapping, bright eyes and an impatient cock to her tail alighted on the edge of the man-bird. "Jenny Wren!" squeaked Danny Meadow Mouse.

"Jenny Wren!" squeaked Nanny. "Certainly! Of course! Tut, tut, tut, tut! Of course! Who else should it be?" retorted the small person in brown, as she looked down to see where those squeaky voices had come from.

Then Jenny Wren spied Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse, and her surprise was so great that she almost fell from her perch on the edge of the great man-bird. She blinked several times, and the look on her face was so funny that Danny and Nanny chuckled. They couldn't help it. Then Jenny found her voice.

"Tut, tut, tut, tut, tut! It is Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse, as I live!" she exclaimed.

"Certainly. Of course. Who else should it be?" replied Danny, with a chuckle.

"It certainly shouldn't be you," retorted Jenny, rather sharply. "Why aren't you down in the Sunny South, where you started for?"

"Because I am taking the journey easily," replied Jenny. "I am pretty well down there already, and there is no hurry."

"What's that?" interrupted Danny. "What sort of foolishness are you talking, Jenny Wren?"

"I'm not talking foolishness, Danny Meadow Mouse. Don't you dare say I am. I'm talking foolishness! I never talk foolishness. But gracious, I'm not going to quarrel with you now! Do tell me what has happened

MOTHERS' CLUB URGES CITY WOMEN TO VOTE

Union Executive Plans January Meeting Last Night.

At a meeting of the Union Mothers' Club executive held last night the presidents of the various clubs in the city were urged to go out and exercise their vote at the coming municipal election. It was pointed out that the women of London have not been making use of the franchise which had been granted them, and that in order to live up to their citizenship, they must go to the polls on election day.

An important piece of business was the appointment of three representatives to the Children's Aid Society—Mrs. W. A. Tanner, Mrs. J. C. Hoste and Mrs. W. Bartlett. The clubs are now busily preparing for the Christmas parties, to be given at the baby welfare clinics under the direction of the Child Welfare Association.

A meeting has been called for early January at which Dr. John Dearness, formerly principal of the Normal School, will be the speaker.

WEDDINGS

GOODEN-BELLAIRS.

The marriage took place in Windsor, November 21, of Sadie Jane Bellairs, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles De Luca, and secretary, city, and Thomas Dalrymple Gooden, youngest son of Mr. Harry Gooden and the late Mrs. H. Gooden of Ayr, Scotland. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. M. Paulin, and the bride wore a gown of fat crepe. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, in Queen's avenue on Friday evening, the bride and groom receiving many handsome gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Gooden will reside in Detroit.

SACRED HEART UNIT MEETS.

The election of officers was the chief feature of last night's meeting of the Sacred Heart Mothers' Unit, held at the school. The election resulted in all officers being returned by acclamation as follows: President, Mrs. M. J. O'Meara; vice-president, Mrs. J. S. Miller; treasurer, Mrs. Charles D. Lucas, and secretary, Mrs. Wm. McLeod. Other business of the meeting concerned plans for a Christmas tree to be given at the South end. The unit will not meet again until January.

and what you are doing away down here. Are you going South for the winter?"

Danny looked at Nanny, and Nanny looked at Danny. "Tut, tut, tut, tut!"

"Jenny Wren!" squeaked Danny Meadow Mouse.

Instant the same idea had come to each. Could it be that that Sunny man-bird was going to the Sunny South to spend the winter and taking them along? Could it be?

DAVIDSON PAINTINGS ARE NOW ON EXHIBITION

Little Green Art Shop Displays Work of Former Art Instructor.

The pupils of the late S. K. Davidson, former art instructor at the London Collegiate Institute, are showing a keen interest in an exhibition of his water colors and oils, which is being held at the Little Green Art Shop on Richmond street north near Oxford street.

The collection contains, for the most part, out-of-door studies, in very attractive coloring. Such familiar scenes as Port Stanley harbor, the Thames at Springbank, Huron College grounds and drilling at Carling Heights are augmented by a few scenes from farther afield. There is a beautiful water color of Carnarvon Castle, and attractive scenes about Banff and Lake Louise in the Canadian Rockies.

In all there are thirty-seven pictures, for the most part in water colors. One of the best is a large water color of a scene along the Thames River. The drawing has been made that every school in the city should possess one of these pictures, which are reminiscent of the days when Davidson did such effective work in the L'n-don schools.

Will Appoint Coaches and Managers at Meeting Next Week.

Intermediate and junior O. H. A. teams and a ladies' sextet will be sent into competitions by the London Amateur Athletic Association this winter, the hockey sub-committee decided at a preliminary meeting held last evening in the Hermitage club-rooms.

The committee turned out in full and the situation with regard to players and hockey generally was gone over in detail. The opening meeting, which will be staged Wednesday night, was discussed, and the committee urged that every hockey fan be invited through the press to attend and give the committee aid, in the way of suggestions and volunteer workers.

Coaches and managers for the three teams will be named at a meeting to be held over the week-end. A greatly enlarged committee will discuss these important appointments, as it is the intention of the L. A. A. to have every enthusiast solidly behind the committee this season.

Cochran, emphasized the need of an all-round coach to handle city teams, but said that under present conditions, the L. A. A. could not afford to engage one.

"I believe, however," declared the hockey chairman, "that volunteer coaches if they are given support would be able to accomplish as much as a paid man."

"All hockey enthusiasts will be welcomed with open arms at Wednesday night's meeting. It is not the intention of the committee to have four or five doing a job that one man can do, but to have a few who can do it as representatives as possible so that when appointments are made, they will represent the feeling and desires of a good portion of fandom."

Stan. Held will represent the L. A. A. at the annual meeting of the O. H. A. in Toronto Saturday.

Sisler is going to California to spend the winter outdoors, and thus make doubly sure of his comeback. He does not plan to return until late in February, about the time the Browns leave for Mobile, unless matters come out of his comeback.

Final arrangements have been made for the rugby game between Central and Hamilton collegiates Wednesday in Hamilton. The London team will leave on the noon train.

HAMILTON STARS TO QUIT FOOTBALL AND HOCKEY

Special to The Advertiser. Hamilton, Nov. 26.—Defections in rather a wholesale way from the Tiger O. H. A. senior team are predicted this year. It is said that Herb Mitchell, Clarence Day, Carson Cooper and Dr. Stewart will not respond when the call for the first practice is issued this week. They have announced that they are through with hockey.

Cox and Bell, who were very useful members of the Big Four championship this year, have announced their retirement from the game. "Liz" Marriott, coach of the team, also says he is through with football.

If the Granites are to be brought here to open the arena against an All-Star Western Ontario team, the local men will have to get into the scramble.

It is possible that the O.H.A. would have some influence in arranging a game for London. Granites appearance here would give hockey the "flyingest" start it could have.

Stratford seniors will probably be one of the first outside teams to workout on local ice. Stratford is rather far removed from an artificial ice surface while Galt and Kitchener are within easy distance of Hamilton.

No final selections for the Olympic team have been made, but it is known that the following are sure to make the trip seeking the world championship: Goalkeepers, Cameron and Collett; defence, Ramsey and Munro; forwards, Smith, Watson and McCaffery. This team will be seen in action next Saturday, and should be able to defeat Kitchener without overtime being threatened. The game, however, is expected to be lightning fast, as the Kitchener players have been practicing at Hamilton, and are said to be formidable.

Toronto: St. Mary's seniors has the following lineups: First team—Goal, "Bozo" Kells; defence, Joe Griffin and Harold Frost; right wing, Frank Burke; left wing, Galt; center, "Wee" Young. Second team—Goal, Eddie Baker; defence, Al. Lampert and Penstone, formerly of Selkirk, Man.; center, Ken Kane and Parlow of Milton; right wing, Hut and Murray; left wing, Megarlin.

"Duke" McCurry was at the arena but did not turn out with any of the teams. He is undecided what to do this winter. Last season started at left wing for the Argonauts.

The Toronto Canoe Club juniors had about 50 players in attendance at the annual meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association. The juniors promise to do much better than last season, even if they have lost the services of Selkirk, Man.; center, Ken Kane and Parlow of Milton; right wing, Hut and Murray; left wing, Megarlin.

University of Toronto seniors are already in great condition, and the following lineups look like the best: Goal, Sullivan and Thompson; defence, Harris and McCloy; forwards, Somerville, Hudson and Westman.

Heed Fans Request and Give Young Mack Bout With Villa

MACK TO MEET FLYWEIGHT KING IN TORONTO BOUT

Crack Queen City Bantam Signs To Fight Pancho Villa.

IS FANS' CHOICE

Special to The Advertiser.
Toronto, Nov. 26.—Donnie "Young" Mack of Toronto is going to get his chance against Pancho Villa, the Filipino Fireball, at the Coliseum on December 5. Charlie Hallat, the international A. C. matchmaker, who jumped to New York Friday night when Eddie Pinchot, the original selection to meet Villa, pulled out because he could not meet the weight requirements, arrived back home with a new contract for Villa to meet either Young Mack or Howard Mayberry of Dujuth.

"The Pancho people knew Mayberry and wanted him," said Hallat today, "but I insisted on a contract covering both Mack and Mayberry, and I got it. When I got back here I found a stack of letters a foot high, demanding that Mack be sent against Villa and the office had been bombarded with phone calls with the same request, so I decided to get Mack. Mack showed me that he was fit and ready, so I signed him up this morning. Mack is the fans' choice."

The definite selection of Mack is pleasing to Toronto fans who are convinced that with the hustling Toronto youngster in there they will see a rousing slugfest. It may not go the route, but it should be all action. It leaked out today that Villa's manager did not see the idea of having his champion meet Mack when he heard that the Toronto kid had drawn with Bobby Eber who had previously beaten Irish Johnny Curran and Midge Smith of New York. There is one thing certain—Mack will be strong and rugged at 118 pounds at 2 o'clock. He is within three pounds of his weight now. He has been conditioning three weeks after a month's lay-off.

BRANTFORD TO PRACTICE ON RINK AT GRIMSBY

Canadian Press Despatch.
Brantford, Nov. 26.—The Brantford intermediate O. H. A. hockey team has secured an hour on the rink at Grimsby for tomorrow evening, and some fifteen players will make the trip. Last year the locals had to start the season away from home without ice practice, as the local rink was under repair. They won the district in spite of this, and went on until Niagara Falls put them out. This year the management is determined to have the team given every possible chance; hence the use of artificial ice to get into shape this early.

WILL FIGHT VILLA.

Donnie "Young" Mack, Toronto, has been matched against Pancho Villa. Since Eddie Pinchot found it impossible to reduce weight sufficiently to meet Villa, the International Sporting Club will send the Toronto boxer against the champion instead. The match will take place in Toronto Dec. 5.

TO RESTRICT PLAYERS IN GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Royal and Ancient Club Takes Action To Eliminate "Rabbit" Nuisance.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Nov. 26.—There won't be any rabbits leaping from bunker to bunker and otherwise cluttering the fairways in the British open and amateur golf championships next spring. A "rabbit" is a duffer who persists in playing in the big events though everyone knows he hasn't a chance to win. Next year only those golfers having a national handicap of four or better will be eligible to compete in the amateur championship at St. Andrews. No amateur with a national handicap higher than two will be eligible to compete in the open championship at Hoylake. These restrictions were recently inserted by the championship committee of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club.

STATE POSTPONING GAMES IMPOSSIBLE

University Grid Tilts Must Be Played Despite the Weather.

By C. G. MARSHALL.

New York, Nov. 26.—Between sneezes and trips to the doctor's office today, the survivors among the 120,000 people who sat in the rain Saturday afternoon to provide the background for the two big football games played in the east were asking themselves, the newspapers and college officials why it is necessary to stage the classics in such weather. In other words, they want to know why a football game cannot be postponed as a world's series baseball game or any other big athletic event performed in the open.

There are several good reasons why these games must be played on the dates scheduled, but the most important, and doubtless the governing one, is that the faculties of the colleges and universities have other things for their young men to do than to play football. Some of the learned professors, seeing huge stadia erected all over the country at greater cost in most instances than the most pretentious college buildings, have even been so inconsiderate as to ask parents whether they preferred their sons to have a "Y" or an "H" on a sweater or a "B.A." on a sheepskin.

Football is too popular not to retain its place in college life, but the powers that be intend that it shall keep its place. It may have its Saturdays, but the other five week days belong to the school. And since there are a limited number of Saturdays in a football season, and a game scheduled far ahead for every one of them, postponements are not possible.

Persons who never have had the opportunity to see one of these big games, and particularly one played under such adverse conditions as at Cambridge Saturday, have a natural curiosity to know the kind of people who would sit for two hours and a half in a driving rain, entirely exposed to elements except for the clothing they wear. They are just ordinary every-day folks, and of all ages too, which makes it the more surprising.

AWARD YOUNG STRIBLING DECISION OVER EGAN

Associated Press Despatch.
Boston, Mass., Nov. 26.—Young Stribling, schoolboy light-heavyweight, of Macon, Ga., was awarded the decision over Joe Egan of Dorchester after a dull ten-round bout here tonight. Stribling weighed 166 pounds, and his opponent 155. The Georgia schoolboy was cheered by a section of the audience, and there were frequent references to his battle with Mike McTigue at Columbus, Ga., and to "the Ku Klux Klan." Egan was on the defensive throughout, and the only attack displayed by Stribling was a club-like right to the head.

BALL RETURNS AFTER STRUCK

Latest Golf Invention Intended For Beginners in Game.

Special to The Advertiser.
Toronto, Nov. 26.—The latest golf invention comes from England, and is known as the Auto Tee. Walter Johnson of this city has had it out at several of the local golf clubs the last couple of week-ends, where it has made a decided hit. The Auto Tee is a contrivance for learning to drive and for practice and teaching purposes. It can be set up in the backyard, and the player can take a full swing on the ball—and doesn't have to chase it. Like the cat, the ball comes back. This is accomplished by means of a double rubber cord working on pulleys inside the hollow 15-inch iron spike, which is imbedded in the ground. The ball attached to the rubber cord, is set up on a tee, and the player can swing on it to his heart's delight—and it always comes back.

The Panorama of Baseball

LANDSLIDES ON THE DIAMOND

There are many kinds of landslides but the greatest of them is the slide to base. What must have been the surprise of the baseball player who first slid to base? Robert Addy, in 1886, is first credited with the feat; literally the feet, for the old-fashioned way of sliding was feet first. Then, during the regime of Harry Wright with the Red Stockings, he saw a man one day, named Mose Chandler, get to base head foremost, and he made his men practice the stunt. It is an acrobatic thing, this sliding to base, and it saves the day for many a man. The long body slide and the hook slide require a snapping of the body which makes or breaks a man. Ty Cobb and Hans Wagner and Tris Speaker developed the slide to perfection, and the exciting point in a game is to see a man get his base within a hair line of the ball, yet safe. With his feet on base and his body supple enough to elude the ball in hand, what has a base runner to fear from the most astute baseman? But sliding is not a haphazard thing where the feet are implements to scare the baseman with. One must think with one's feet.

A Famous Hit.
Baseball history records along with the first slide, the first punt and other milestones in baseball progress, the first phenomenal hit. Hugh Fullerton has told the story well. This hit did more than earn the man at the bat a home run; it made the fortune of a saloonkeeper. The crowd left their seats and followed the ball off the grounds. It was in Cincinnati and Longe was at the plate. He walloped the ball down center field, clear over a fence which was built atop a high embankment. The ball sailed across Western avenue and shattered through a saloon window. And when

STAGE IS ALL SET FOR REGINA-QUEENS

Westerners Will Have Workout At Stadium Thursday Morning.

Special to The Advertiser.
Toronto, Nov. 26.—The stage is all set for the final Canadian football championship at the Varsity stadium next Saturday afternoon.

Queen's University will represent Eastern Canada, and Regina will furnish the representatives from Western Canada.

The Canadian Rugby Union announced today that tickets for the game will go on sale tomorrow morning at Moody's, Spalding's, King Edward and Hart House.

The Regina team is expected to arrive in Toronto Thursday morning and to have a workout at Varsity stadium that afternoon. Officials will not be appointed until they arrive. A neutral eastern man will referee and a western nominee will umpire. Regina has asked Bryan Timmis of Ottawa to act as umpire, and he may accept.

REGINA TEAM LEAVES

Regina, Nov. 26.—The Regina rugby team, western champions, left tonight for Toronto, where they will play Queen's University, eastern champions, for the football championship of Canada. There will be 22 in the party, including 19 players. Members of the team who will make the trip include: Howie Milne, Fritz Sandstrom, Stew Leigh, Art Brown, Jack Rowand, Scotty MacEachern, Colin Foster, Bill Creighton, Jerry Crapper, Tare Rennebohm, Jack Arnott, Charles Davis, Arvo Wood, Howie Otton, Bricks Peebles, Helme Rogers, Jack Gilhooley, Bill Smith and Bill Kerr. Manager Al Ritchie, Coach Ed Eadie and Trainer Jimmy Thompson will complete the party.

Coach Eadie declared that if Queen's can show any marked superiority over the Regina team they must be hailed as a team of supermen.

"The Regina team," he said, "is without a flaw or blemish so far as I can see. The players have taken their training more seriously than any team I have ever been interested in, and win or lose, they are sure to win the admiration of eastern fans next Saturday."

With Scotty MacEachern in top form, there is no doubt but Regina's backfield will cause some surprises next Saturday, for, with Leigh, Milne and Rowand, each of them fleet of foot and deadly in tackling, in the best of condition, it would be hard to imagine a more brilliant backfield.

Regina's wing line, which won the unopposed praise of critics in their fight through to the western championship, is intact and trained to the minute.

The efforts of A. W. Covey, president of the Maritime Provinces branch of the A. A. U. of Canada, and representative of the Maritimes on the Canadian Olympic committee, and others to secure the selection of Charles Gorman, skating ace, as Canada's representative at the Olympic speed skating contests at the Chamonix, France, on Jan. 26 and 27 next, have been crowned with success.

MAY SELL NEWARK CLUB TO NEW JERSEY GROUP

Associated Press Despatch.
Baltimore, Nov. 26.—William Ashton of Baltimore, president of the Newark International League Baseball Club, today confirmed the report that he had given an option on the club to Mayor McConnell of Montclair, N. J., and a syndicate of Montclair men. The option expires on Nov. 28.

Ashton said he understood the Montclair group would try to get Casey Stengel, recently traded to the Boston Nationals by the New York Giants, as manager.

Coach Eadie declared that if Queen's can show any marked superiority over the Regina team they must be hailed as a team of supermen.

SETS NEW SIX MILE RECORD

Verne Booth Covers Distance in 32 Minutes 10 Seconds.

New York, Nov. 26.—Verne Booth of Johns Hopkins interscholastic two-mile champion, today raced to a brilliant victory in the varsity intercollegiate cross country championship race at Van Cortlandt Park. Booth led a field of more than 300 runners representing 37 eastern colleges nearly all the way. He finished 100 yards ahead of his nearest rival, Bright, of Carnegie Tech., and set a new record for the six-mile course which he covered in 32 minutes 10 seconds.

OLYMPIC COMMITTEE HANGS OUT 'S.R.O.' SIGN

Stadium At Colombes Will Accommodate Seventy Thousand Spectators.

Associated Press Despatch.
Paris, Nov. 26.—The French Olympic games committee already has hung up the "standing room only" sign at the Colombes stadium, although the official opening of the 1924 Olympic games still is seven months away.

The stadium provides accommodation for 70,000 spectators. There will be 20,000 reserved seats, divided evenly among the two covered stands on each side of the track, known as the "official" and the "marathon" stands. The remaining 50,000 persons will be accommodated with standing room at both ends of the bowl and at the turns.

The British and United States Olympic committees have requested 5,000 seats for spectators from these countries, while Sweden and Italy each have requested 1,500 seats. The remaining 7,000 seats have virtually all been reserved by the smaller nations, leaving hardly any for the French committee to dispose of to French sport lovers.

EQUESTRIENNE IS INJURED IN FALL

Sammy Jarvis Captures Honors, Taking Two Mounts Over Hurdles.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Nov. 26.—Miss Dorothy Wood, the Calgary equestrienne, who has been electrifying crowds at the coliseum horse show in a spectacular stunt of jumping her horse over a seven-passenger touring car, met with an accident when her mount caught its hind feet in the auto and toppled over with its young rider under. Miss Wood received injuries in her head, but later she pluckily remounted her horse and cleared the jump.

Sammy Jarvis, son of Aemilus Jarvis, Toronto, captured the honors in this afternoon's events by taking two mounts over the hurdles for first position in two jumping contests.

The first event was the thoroughbred hunters, which, with a comparatively small field of twenty, still brought out some of the best animals from Canada and the States. Solar Eclipse, ridden by Jarvis, took first; Maxine Belle, came second, while third honors went to Shorncliffe, from the Sunnybrook farm, ridden by William Jackson.

Other mounts high up in the average were Almighty Dollar, A. Beardmore (Toronto), ridden by Charles Morris, and Tango Dance and Keg of the United States cavalry.

In the jump for lightweight hunters, Jarvis took Hard Pan over for the only clean run, although he was closely followed by Shorncliffe of the Sunnybrook farm, and Little Canada, owned and ridden by H. F. Benteou of Port Chester, N.Y. Shorncliffe and Little Canada were tied on jumping honors, each having had but one point to the bad, but with conformations accounting for 40 per cent, the Canadian animal won second place. There were 18 entries in this event, and two of the riders were thrown over the hurdles. One of them was Miss Elizabeth Briggs of Detroit. In being thrown she struck the gate, but was able to remount and finish the course.

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Influenced by the strength of the corn market, wheat advanced in price today soon after the start. Aggressive buying of corn followed on a falling off in receipts. Estimated arrivals of corn here today were only about 100 cars, a total now normal. Besides, rural offerings were far smaller than was the case a year ago. Wheat, after a day unchanged to $\frac{1}{4}$ c lower, rallied well above yesterday's finish. Corn, which opened unchanged to higher, climbed as much as $\frac{1}{4}$ c but the upturns were checked. The day's close was with corn shades to $\frac{1}{4}$ c higher and later gains still all around.

Peterboro Jail Cell Is Scene of Act of Vengeance.

Canadian Press Despatch. Peterboro, Nov. 26.—Morley James, who was committed to the Peterboro County Jail on November 23, awaiting transportation to the Ontario Reformatory, where he will serve not less than three months and not more than two years on theft charges, was attacked in the cell yesterday by Harry Ford, who was sentenced to two years less one day at the same time as James. James turned crown evidence in the case of Earl Schreier, alleged ring-leader of the gang, who was tried last week and sentenced today to 18 months in the reformatory. It is believed that the remainder of the gang were incensed by James giving evidence against his pals.

PUBLIC UTILITIES FIGHT BECOMES CHIEF ISSUE IN ELECTION STRUGGLE

Pocock and Tallant Clash On Charge of Purchase of American Goods—Mayor Reviews City Hall Question—Given Fine Reception—Watt Declares Time Has Come For Change.

ECONOMY URGED IN EDUCATION PROGRAM

The municipal battle grows apace and the city hall bellow gives way to the question—did the public utilities commissioners knowingly purchase American-made service boxes as charged by D. J. Tallant, when the same could have been secured here in London.

Commissioner Philip Pocock, the "Dean of the commission," was back on the firing line last night, delivering a record of his twelve years' stewardship, at the Chesley Avenue School.

He was opposed by D. J. Tallant, and Ald. Peter J. Watt, who also sought a seat on the commission. Last night's engagement was fought to a draw, judging by the applause of the gathering. Candidate Tallant charged certain things, the same being strenuously denied by Commissioner Pocock.

Candidate Tallant's latest charges involved General Manager E. V. Buchanan—characterized as "Lord High Commissioner" and "Lord High Mayor"—and similar complimentary titles. Just why General Manager Buchanan should devote portions of his time in the interests of municipal candidates was not quite clear to Mr. Tallant and his last ditch supporters.

Candidate Tallant referred to the now famous telegram from the Square D firm of Detroit or Walkerville (which has yet to be conclusive proved) and charged that he had usurped his rights as a public official by wiring for any information, forbidding the same.

Ald. P. J. Watt also took a little jab at the commissioners by remarking that there might be some who would consider that it was presumptuous on his part to oppose Commissioners Vining and Pocock.

It was coincident that Commissioner Pocock should deliver his first address of the campaign in the Labor ward, where he had a fair opportunity to explain that he had always been a strong advocate of the most important plank in the Labor party platform; day labor and public ownership.

Mayor Wenige delivered his review of the city hall question in a warmly received. It was quite evident that the people of Southeast London favor the construction of a city hall on the McCormick site.

had the right to say who should have power and what should be charged for it.

Referring to the remarks made at a previous meeting by D. J. Tallant, relative to the purchasing of American goods, Mr. Pocock stated that he had every dollar invested in London, and every dollar of the commission was also spent in London whenever possible.

"Let the members of the firm in question come forward and lay the facts regarding our severing of relations with them on the table and I do not think there are any business-men who would blame us," said Mr. Pocock. "We are not the only ones who refuse to deal with them."

Tallant Replies. Starting to speak, Mr. Tallant, candidate for the commission, stated that he wished he had more time than was granted him.

Going straight to the heart of the matter, he said: "The high lord commissioner of London, E. V. Buchanan, has seen fit to wire for proof of these goods being made in Canada."

"I wonder that the commissioners did not ask the same question of the bulk of their boxes, however, were purchased from the Metropolitan Manufacturing Company, located near Toronto, so that they were buying Canadian-made goods."

Referring to the dam, Mr. Pocock said that the commission was accused of sending money to the States, while when the old dam was in use, American coal was used to pump the water and the present cost was considered only less than in 1910. He stated that he had read that in 1901 the per capita tax was $13, it now was $25 and he thought that the commission deserved credit for keeping the rates down as low as they were many years ago, considering that the cost of everything had increased.

"Where those boxes made in the States?" asked Mr. Tallant. "As far as I know they were made in Walkerville," replied Mr. Pocock.

Board of Education. Speaking from a mother's viewpoint, Mrs. John Rose, candidate for the Board of Education, said that if she could not qualify, no labor woman could. All her children had gone through all the grades of school in the city and no one had a greater interest in educational matters than she had. A man saw the big things but a woman caught the details. She agreed with Mr. Ashton that educational costs were high but she also sided with Mr. Gootson that a good education was all that a parent could give a child. She said she stood for economy with efficiency.

Brydon N. Campbell gave a short resume of his services on the board. He regretted the fact that Trafalgar School was not completed but hoped that it would be by January 1. He said the people could have cheaper schools if they wanted them, but they would not last as the present ones. These were all fire-proof structures and the cheapest in the long run. He said he would give every attention next year. How long the children of the east and west have Princess Avenue School for collegiate purposes depended on the people.

A. R. Kennedy repeated his statements of previous nights, stating that the ability of the people to pay must be taken into consideration. His policy would be to see that every boy and girl received a good, wholesome, sufficient education without any frills, and nothing more, in order to fit them for their struggle in after life.

With a little care, thought and business method, education costs could be reduced, according to A. W. Palmer. He dealt with the matter of the Central Collegiate Institute, going into figures and deploring the action of the collegiate committee that was acting when the new building was erected. He stated that more money was spent in building the "young opera house" than in the teaching room, with the result that the children of the east end were

"Why was Buchanan's salary increased while others were decreased?" asked one of the audience. "I don't know," replied Mr. Tallant. "But he is a man who has to elect me to the commission it will not be long before there is a change. He will stay there only so long and let us all know."

"I don't know whether it is presumption for me to appear against my old friend Mr. Pocock," commenced Ald. P. J. Watt, also a candidate for the commission, "but I was urgently requested to seek election to this body as a change was needed. Evidently a person can be too long on a job and some of the citizens think they would like a change."

Dealing with the water ownership rights of the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario, Mr. Watt stated that for years the Thames did service pumping the water for the city at the cost of building the dam. In 1918 the dam was swept away but no effort was made to rebuild it, the commission lying asleep and doing nothing. The council, however, decided to send a bylaw for $100,000 to the people for the construction of this but no assistance was given Mr. Watt in his canvassing on it by anyone. They made a joke of him. "Those gentlemen," he said, "and Mr. Pocock were not failed to come to my assistance."

Lost to London. He said that Sir Adam Beck, in the early days of hydro, had had an act passed whereby all water powers in the province reverted to the power commission if undeveloped or out of use for 12 months. Under this act the power possibilities of the Thames were lost to London. This was the reason why it cost $20,000 for the hydro to pump the water. If he was returned he said he would make every effort to have Sir Adam Beck have the franchise, as far as the Thames was concerned, returned to London.

He urged the citizens to vote for the proposed dam at Springbank, stating that at times the odor arising from the present shallow and dirty ditch "would make the stink-pots of old Egypt smell like attar of roses."

Replying to Mr. Tallant, Mr. Pocock stated that last year five service boxes and this year eight, had been purchased from 1910. Walkerville company, but these were purchased through the Benson and Wilcox Company, or the Northern Electric Company, both local concerns. The bulk of their boxes, however, were purchased from the Metropolitan Manufacturing Company, located near Toronto, so that they were buying Canadian-made goods.

ZAM-BUK
Beats Any Embrocation
In Winter Aches & Pains
Try a Box To-Day!

Whilst Zam-Buk has long been recognized as Canada's most popular remedy in skin troubles, how many know how better it is than any poisonous liniment for relieving the sharp twinges of rheumatism, sciatica or lumbago?

Zam-Buk is equally good for aching backs, stiff joints, sore muscles, cold in the head and chest, or sore throat. Rubbed well into the affected parts, Zam-Buk's powerful pain-soothing essences soak right into the tissues, banishing soreness, congestion and inflammation. Others prefer to treat their colds so: they rub Zam-Buk between the palms of both hands and then inhale the evaporating medicinal balsams. This does the same good in another way.

Ward 1 is being given the opportunity it has always asked for—businessmen, men who are in daily touch with problems similar to those dealt with at the council board, men who are vitally concerned with the advancement of their home city.

It was not to hold office, but to give service to his city that John A. Anderson offered himself as a candidate for alderman in Ward 1. He has been congratulated, sincerely congratulated, by his neighbors and fellow citizens for the spirit in which he enters the campaign.

"No special favors, no politics, no unfair obstruction, but always the best interest of the whole community," sums up in a few words the attitude of Mr. Anderson toward his duty as an alderman.

His election in Ward 1 is assured, and his chances of leading the polls are most favorable.

Mr. Anderson is head of the packing and retail meat business which bears his name. He has lived in London practically all his life, and has built up an industry which employs a considerable number of city taxpayers.

South Londoners and other voters of Ward 1—elect Jack Anderson on Monday.—Adv.

It is expected that some six or seven rooms will be repaired and redecorated, if possible, during the Christmas holidays. The matter of sanitation is also receiving consideration by the property committee of the board. It is believed that an announcement as to the course the board will pursue will shortly be made, and it will doubtless be received with little interest.

To-day I saw

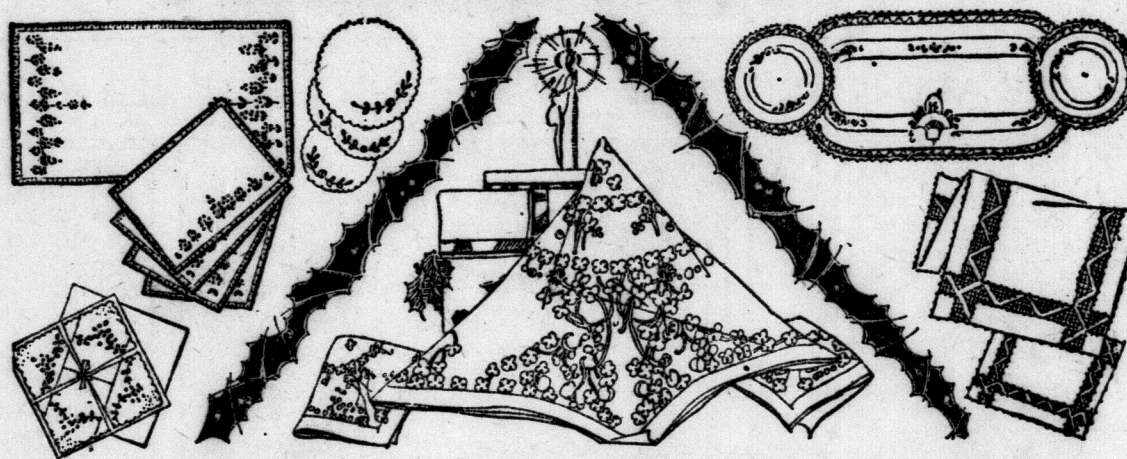

"Les poussees de Madame Lazarski." This was the delightfully foreign label which I saw today on the boxes of French mascot or character dolls who have just taken up their temporary residence in Toytown. Fair visitors who have journeyed across the seas to spend Christmas in Canada certainly deserve a cordial reception. And these dashing or demure ladies of French subtlety and sophistication have no reason to feel unappreciated. As mascots or favors they are just as popular with grown-ups as they are with children. Tall and slender and willowy, they have fluffy bright hair, vividly colored cheeks and lips. According to the beauty hints "the eyes have it!" Here is the naive stare of the wide-eyed ingenue, or the intriguing eyes and lashes of the complete coquette. Their dresses are of bright colored silks, with dashing hair-bows, and butterfly sashes of contrasting colors. The large dolls are priced at two dollars and a quarter, but the little ten-inch mascots are only a dollar. Be sure to see the sophisticated lady in the poppy red dress. She has fluffy yellow bobbed hair and dangerous eyelashes; bright red lips to match her dress adorn her lace-trimmed lingerie; and she wears the newest of novelty sandals. It is attention to these important details that marks the woman of Fashion.
