POSTAL MEN ATTORNEYS CONSIDER OLD OFFER

President of Federation Informs Strikers of Government's Attitude.

WILL END STRIKE

Liberal Association Delegates Inform Men Sub-Committee To Act.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, June 25.—The executive committee of the postal strikers is in receipt of an offer from Ottawa, brought here today by Charles Collins, president of the Toronto Liberal Association, and Vice-Presidents R. D. Ross and W. H. McGuire, who will be considered at a closed meeting of the men in the Labor Temple this afternoon.

Such was the announcement made amid tumultuous applause by Gordon R. Jackson, president of the federation, at this morning's mass meeting. The offer was first considered by the executive committee this morning.

General expectation is that a settlement of the strike may result from the offer.

Interviewed Cabinet.

The Toronto Men's Liberal Association, after numerous meetings, seven days with representatives of the postal employees, sent the delegation to interview members of the cabinet. "In view of the offer to the men," said President Collins, "we strongly recommend that the postal employees apply immediately to Mr. Lemson, who has assured us that all will receive fair and sympathetic treatment. It was felt in Ottawa that the men had not earned their position. The government's offer to appoint a sub-committee as contained in the letter to the federation of June 18, still stands, and as the men have also asked for such a committee the way seems to be wide open for the strike to be cleared up today, and the dispute settled immediately."

Postmaster's Attitude.
"On our return this morning we had an interview with the postmaster at 8 o'clock," said Mr. Collins. "He showed him the correspondence and discussed the situation fully with him. Mr. Lemson replied: 'The door is open and the latch is on the outside for all good government employees.' He then made the following statement: 'The postmaster will, under reorganization of staff, deal with each individual case in its merits and fair treatment will be given to all.'"

"Mr. Lemson stated that he was to put on 250 men on the outside for this afternoon, so that the old employees would have an opportunity to get back."

"We are requesting him to extend the time further."

GOVERNMENT'S OFFER.

What was referred to as an offer of the Dominion government by Gordon R. Jackson before the mass meeting this morning apparently is the statement contained in a letter of Hon. Charles Stewart, acting postmaster-general, to J. E. Archer, secretary of the Canadian Federation of Postal Employees, dated June 18, 1924. The offer is that the government will give to employees in the postal department the same wages as in the rest of the public service.

OH! BOTHER THE FLOWERS!

Peonies are a notable exception to the rule that good things come in small parcels. These blooms, chosen at random from the beautiful specimens collected for the London Horticultural Society's third annual peony show, opening in the Armories today, measure easily six inches in breadth. They are the Theresie peony, in color a delicate pink, grown at Kilworth by S. F. Wood, from a peony developed by M. Dessert, a world-famous French horticulturist.

Woman Killed As Coping Falls

Associated Press Despatch.
New York, June 25.—One woman was killed, fifteen or more other persons were hurt, several seriously, that they may not live, and the lives of scores were imperilled yesterday when a 40-foot stone coping fell from a three-story building in the downtown district, carrying with it a mass of bricks and a fire escape.

The dead woman had not been identified late last night.

TWO PERSONS DIE IN BIG N. Y. STORM

Drownings Attributed to Gale—Falling Signboards Injure Many.

Associated Press Despatch.
New York, June 25.—The 20-minute thunder storm and 76-mile gale which struck New York late yesterday, caused two deaths and great property damage. The thunder storm was accompanied by frequent and vivid lightning as indicated in the weather bureau report which shows that more than an inch of rain fell in twenty minutes.

One of the most serious inconveniences caused by the sudden thunder storm was the wreck of Samuel L. H. Democratic delegates, families and friends at his Yonkers home. Greyston-on-the-Hudson.

Two deaths by drowning were attributed to the storm, and a number of persons were injured by falling signboards.

NICE CASH REGISTER AWAITING CLAIMANT

Machine Found Near Meadow Lily Mills Would Be Ideal For Court Clerk.

A nice, snappy cash register that rings a bell n' everything, lies at the police station waiting an owner, and if one doesn't show up soon, it will probably be hoisted to the office of the police court clerk, where it will fill a much-needed want.

The cash register, minus the drawer, was discovered in some woods near Meadow Lily Mills, three miles east of the city, by some small boys, who reported their find to detective headquarters. Detective Down motored out and brought it to London some ten days ago.

London's Third Peony Show Presents Picture of Striking Beauty.

NUMEROUS ENTRIES

Beautiful Sight Is Given an Unusual Appearance in Austere Room.

Long green stems, with branching leaves, and a mysteriously guarded head—hundreds of them—entered at the Waterloo street entrance of the Armories this morning. The London Horticultural Society today, in whose court wife desertion is a more understanding and sympathetic manner than that indicated by the use of corporal punishment.

What Good Results?
And he asks, "What good can result in the use of the lash in a case of wife desertion? It certainly doesn't make the man feel any more kindly to his wife or any more deeply his responsibility to her and to his family. He merely regards her as the means whereby he was freed of the state and as likely as not will take the first opportunity of deserting her for good."

A better method to my mind is that of a jail term which provides that a man shall work and turn his weekly wage over to his wife and family. By this the family is assured of proper support. The man is given the justice afforded to all wrongdoers, and it is more than likely that with a day spent in industry and a night within the jail, out of harm's way, he will quickly realize the error of his ways.

Beautiful Sight.
The most grimly austere building in the city, the Armories, seems yet to be chosen yearly for the most beautiful sight it has to offer. Anything more beautiful than the peony show could scarcely be imagined. Almost massive in comparison to other flowers, yet the peonies seem to sway on their stems as lightly and with as much grace as the most delicate rose. No flower can rival their pure, lovely coloring. No plant could produce a more exquisite background of foliage than their waxy green leaves.

No surroundings, however drab or dingy, could detract from the beauty of the peony. The severe setting of the Armories but enhanced it. There were hundreds upon hundreds of flowers, but instead of appearing crowded, as might easily have been the case, they seem merely to grow with the profusion of a garden. There were masses of flowers banded high in the center, and tables set with clusters of three, or four, or five blooms, and other tables in which each bloom was arranged singly. Everywhere the striking beauty of the peony.

Several of them were brought in from the county by High Constable Wharton on complaints of neighbors while others were sent to the jail for mental examination on orders from Magistrate Graydon. Two were picked up by local police and held on nominal charges of vagrancy until they could be examined by Dr. James D. Wilson, jail physician, who has become quite prominent in the last few years as an alienist.

George Chuttick passed away in his 93rd year at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George Mansbridge, 105 Bruce street. Mr. Chuttick had been a resident of London for 66 years, having come here from Ireland at the age of 27.

He is survived by his widow, Margaret, and five daughters—Mrs. A. Howard, Mrs. George Clappitt, Mrs. William O'Brien, Mrs. George Mansbridge, all of this city, and Mrs. Wesley O'Brien of Ponoka, Alberta. The funeral will be held from his residence on Saturday at 2:30 to Woodland Cemetery. The services will be conducted by the Rev. W. L. Armitage.

USE OF LASH IS OPPOSED BY WARNER AS FUTILE

Juvenile Court Judge Fails To See Where Good Results.

FAVORED BY WOMAN

Miss Evelyn Harrison Supports Statement of St. Thomas Magistrate.

Moved by a particularly callous case of wife desertion in his court yesterday, Magistrate Maxwell of St. Thomas, advocated the lash for similar offenses. His support of corporal punishment in this instance is of peculiar interest at a time when a great many men and women pronounce forcibly that it should be relegated to the past along with slavery and kindred institutions. Judge Warner, of the juvenile court, in whose court wife desertion is a more understanding and sympathetic manner than that indicated by the use of corporal punishment.

What Good Results?
And he asks, "What good can result in the use of the lash in a case of wife desertion? Miss Evelyn Harrison, the only feminine lawyer in the city, is not willing to accede to that civilization has reached such a point where corporal punishment must be safely abandoned. Wife desertion, in cases where it is particularly brutal, and has not the saving grace of ignorance or special conditions, she believes, would be fairly punished with the application of the lash. There are difficulties, she points out, in enforcing a man's daily labor and in seeing that his wife and family reap the full benefit, and suggests that a jail term with compulsory labor is apt to interfere with trade unionism in a disturbing manner.

CONDEMNED MEN ON HUNGER STRIKE

Guiseppi Serafini and Leo Davis Refuse To Touch Food.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Montreal, June 25.—Guiseppi Serafini and Leo Davis, two of the six bandits sentenced to hang Oct. 24 for the murder of Henri Cloutier, chauffeur of the Hochelaga Bank collection car, are on strike in Bordeaux jail. Davis has refused to touch food for two days and has been warned unless he eats he will be forcibly fed.

"I feel one prisoner for four months," a jail official told him today. "If you don't eat you will have to be fed anyway."

Davis sneered in reply. Serafini, who is also refused to eat. He is evidently in the deepest depression and continually says: "I am sick, very sick."

THEATRE LICENSE MAY BE NECESSARY SOON

Special Permit For Collegiate Would Be a Luxury Indeed.

It is understood that if dramas or heavy theatrical productions are to be offered at the Central Collegiate Institute auditorium in future, a special theatre license must be secured. This is not merely a public hall license, but a special permit which is an assessment on the seating capacity of the auditorium.

Under the regulations an annual fee of 25 cents a seat must be paid. This would tax the board of education over $200 a year, as there are some eight or nine hundred seats in the auditorium.

As the collegiate is used only four or five times a year for dramatic productions, a theatre license would be a luxury indeed. Classification of certain productions which have previously been termed as "educational" is now being sought.

TOO MANY "BANDS"

Believes Scotch Have Right Idea in Gorgeous Plaid Kilt.

A certain London physician walking down Richmond street yesterday and being very hot, his car being in the garage having a tire affixed, remarked on the change that had occurred in men's fashions since the days of athletic Greece.

He had not walked so far in years and he only knew clothes by their appearance and feel when sitting in the lap of luxury or a Rolls-Royce.

He was very, very hot and his skin chafed at a thousand points, or so he said. He pulled his finger around a wet and tight soft collar and tugged at his silver-buckled belt. Then he tweaked the arm garters that decorated his blue and white shirt and finally stopped in a convenient open store door to loosen the bands of his sock suspenders that were gripping too tightly for his comfort.

"Talk about women wearing silk clothes," he murmured to the world at large. "They've nothing on us for foolishness."

"Here we are on a beastly hot day and we go on wearing the very things to keep us hot!" he said, and seemed pleased to have a little sympathy in his misery. He mopped at the perspiration rivers again and continued in his best consulting room manner.

Starts Off Wrong.
"You see, it's like this. A man starts off wrong at the beginning. He wears a tight collar around his neck, just where there should be plenty of air and circulation. Then he wears bands round his arms and legs that press on his veins more or less and add to his general discomfort. Lastly, he closes the matter and makes himself really hot and badly off, he sticks on a great leather belt, as if he were a pirate chief."

"Did you ever see an acrobat or an athlete going in for any event tie himself up in all this contraption?" he asked. "Of course you didn't, nor one else ever did or ever will. You're a Scotchman, aren't you? You're a Scotchman, aren't you? You're a Scotchman, aren't you? Please see page 4, column 6."

LUNCHES TO BE SERVED TO THAMES GOLFERS

Added Convenience Planned by Promoters of Municipal Course.

Members of the new Thames Valley golf course may have refreshments served them, if present plans can be put into effect. Promoters have asked a caterer to take charge of a refreshment stand and serve meals in the afternoons, when numbers of golfers remain to play an extra round or so.

Just now cigarettes and soft drinks are being sold, but it is not possible to secure lunch. The membership is being increased by ones and twos, but there is still room for more active players. In spite of the fact that over 400 needed themselves to contribute to the upkeep of the grounds, the course has not seen any real congestion yet. Yesterday afternoon and evening the attendance reached 55, and that was about as high as any day yet. New members will be welcomed now, as there appears to be plenty of room for all.

Jack Pollock Teaching Children at Thames Pool To Swim.

Civic swimming pools are being used almost to capacity from noon until dusk these days. Groundskeepers are at the playgrounds early in the morning, and supervisors come on at 10 o'clock. There is supervision of the swimming pools from then until dusk, when a zone is rung and that is a signal for "all out." There is no swimming after dusk, though the grounds are policed until 11 o'clock. One of the interesting features at the Thames Park swimming pool is the chief swimming supervisor himself. This is Jack Pollock, who is quite proficient in swimming and diving. At diving especially this diminutive athlete holds some good records, and is teaching the youthful human fish in some neat aquatic stunts.

OVERDRAFT WAR TAX RILES CITY'S MAYOR

Reasons Citizens Should Not Have To Pay Levy Twice Over.

The city of London must pay war tax to the extent of $604 for the bank overdraft for the month of May which on May 24 was $1,500.95. This money was borrowed against the incoming taxes and the overdraft has now been met. But the fact that the city has to pay a war tax on this, at the same time that the citizens are paying the money for the taxes with a war tax stamp on their checks, seems to the mayor an extremely unfair taxation on the part of Ottawa. "Why should the citizens of London be forced to pay war tax on their tax money?" he asks. "They put tax stamps on their own checks, and then the city has to pay the same tax on its overdraft caused by waiting for the same tax money. It's ridiculous."

Following out the line, the keynote of which was launched last night in the opening gathering of the general sessions of the big national conference, which was really international in its character, this morning's session directed its first attention to the little ones of the land. The program included an exposition of "Re-evaluation of Methods of Child Care," and topics and discussion illustrating how children should be treated in their own homes, and results of a study worked out from the study by charities aid associations in New York City, and the care of children in foster homes.

OLD BROWN HEN PUZZLED AT ANTICS OF HER BROOD

Twelve Young Pheasants Scamper About and Refuse To Cheep.

HAVE LONG LEGS

Just About Color of Brown Grass and Hard To Distinguish.

An old brown hen of very generous proportions was busy just at sunset in picking out a good supper park for the night. To be sure she had been provided with a very adequate lot with the regulation slats, but she had outwitted them. Instead she chose a place beneath a great maple tree, where the roots grew out to form a convenient grassy spot. The hen, however, backed just like a well-driven car might have done.

And once in there she clucked and chuckled just like a well-trained maternal hen should do. One by one the youngsters adopted the new home, but they were a wild lot. As each one came scampering along and crowding in for lodging-room, the old hen readjusted her wings and all the other feathered-bed accommodation she could provide for her brood.

Never once did she give any outward sign of disgust at the way the brood was behaving. She may have looked out of the corner of a very knowing hen-eye and suspected that some sort of a job was being put on her. She may have known, if she had been a family hen before, that real honest-to-goodness chickens make a sort of peeping that these young birds were not making, and that they were settling in the new home and coloring that they possessed. She may have turned over in her mind all sort of suspicious thoughts, but to the observer she was doing her best to make house for the night.

Pheasants, a dozen of them, hatched out by this point of view. Just about the color of brown grass, and very hard to distinguish. All this was taking place at the summer home of S. F. Wood, near the city. The old brown hen, borrowed for the occasion, will shortly be returned to her owner, and the pheasants will look after themselves. There are a number of places in the country where hens have hatched out duck eggs and sometimes goose eggs; they draw the line no place at all so long as they are allowed to set and hatch out something. But it would be interesting to see the same to know what this old brown hen really thinks of the way her brood is behaving.

'ROAD HOG' FRACAS BROUGHT TO COURT

Magistrate Decides Harry Jolly To Blame in Sansone Row.

A fight between Peter Sansone and Harry Jolly in front of the City Cafe on Dundas street at 11:40 last night provided all the excitement attached to the police court session today.

Sansone apparently didn't bear any ill will to Jolly, who he alleged started the affair, as he went the latter's bail to appear at 10 o'clock today.

Constable Miles who made the arrest, stated that both young men were arguing near the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets about something that happened on the way home from Springbank.

Some bad language, threats and a jump on the running board of the car in which Sansone was sitting and "push" at him.

Constable Shaw gave evidence of a similar nature.

Jolly, who stated that he had never seen Sansone before, declared he was driving home from Springbank on the gravel road and Sansone, driving another car, had tried to crowd him into the ditch.

"I took the number and when I saw the car in town, I threw him a hat, driving from side to side and he hit me in the face," related Jolly.

Asked why he hadn't complained to the police about the matter, Jolly said he had complained, but the constable stated it was out of his jurisdiction.

"Why didn't you charge him with reckless driving?" asked the court. "No matter what your grievance, you had no right to create a disturbance," the court explained Jolly.

Sansone, in giving evidence, said Jolly was taking up all the road, driving from side to side and he couldn't pass him.

"I was going about 27 miles an hour, your worship," declared Sansone. "I wanted to pass him, about 37 and 47 miles an hour."

"You had no right to be going 27 miles an hour," stated Mr. Graydon. "Just imagine that was the speed," related the witness.

"Yes, and if you had been charged with speeding, you would imagine that you were going 15 miles an hour," opined the magistrate.

Tony Moran, a passenger in the Sansone car, said Jolly came over and tried to pick a fight.

"Did you see Sansone hit me?" asked Jolly.

"Well, I felt it," replied Jolly. "You had no right to make the attack," Mr. Jolly declared the attack. "He may have annoyed you on the highway, but that was no justification for fighting and swearing. I will let you pay the costs and go."

On the way down the police court stairs both young men were arranging for a further meeting in the vicinity of Springbank Park where mutual satisfaction might be obtained without the presence of police officers.

Miss Armstrong's Father Favorable To Feminism

Candidate For Provincial Legislature in Last Election Makes an Interesting Discovery While Looking Over Hansard.

Miss Isabel Armstrong of this city who contested the London seat against Sir Adam Beck in the last provincial election made an interesting discovery a few days ago when she was looking through Hansard in Ottawa. Happening to be searching the parliamentary records of the late 80's, she came across a speech delivered by her father, the late James Armstrong, M.P.

Curious to find out what her father had been talking about, she read through the speech and found that it was a vigorous defence of the franchise for women, delivered in 1885. Miss Armstrong, who was quite young at the time of her father's death had been unaware that he held such views with regard to women and was delighted to find out that he was in favor of their having a voice in the affairs of the country. "In his late speech the late Mr. Armstrong refuted the statement that women were not intelligent. He had found that women he knew were more sensible about public affairs than most men and were quite as well educated."

This discovery is interesting in view of Miss Armstrong's own pronounced views on this subject and her recent entry into public life.

At Last—Something Effective For Wrinkles!

It has been conclusively demonstrated that a simple home-made tartroot paste, applied to the face, will very quickly eliminate wrinkles, worry, care and age marks. You need only mix a spoonful each of powdered tartroot and lemon juice, spread this over your face, then sit down before your mirror and watch the unwelcome lines disappear. In less than fifteen minutes your face will be as smooth and firm as a young girl's! Baggage will also melt away—youthful contour will be restored. It's simply wonderful how this harmless mixture works.

The result, after the mixture is washed off the face, is infinitely better than from the most skillful face massage. And the cost is trifling—less than three cents per treatment. Any druggist can supply powdered tartroot in original package. So there's no excuse now for any woman looking so old, haggard or careworn—Advt.

Careless Shampooing Spoils the Hair.

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsett's sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsett's coconut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsett's. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.—Advt.

TRAFFIC COMMITTEE SEES MANY DANGERS IN TURNS

Motorists Must Go Straight Ahead At Main Corner Saturdays.

SILENT COPS WHITE

Sidewalk On York Street To Be Set Back For Traffic.

The abolition of left and right turns at the Richmond and Dundas street corner on Saturdays was decided upon last night by the traffic committee, the urgency of this change being unanimously recognized by the members. The city engineer was instructed to affix a sign on the signal-pole at this intersection with the words "No turns, straight-ahead drive only."

City Engineer Near suggested that signs on the telephone poles at the four corners would be easier read and also easier to affix, and the means of putting the sign where it would be most readily seen by the motorists was left to his decision.

Taxis that inhabit the east side of the block on Richmond street beside the C. N. R. depot and opposite the Tecumseh House, will in future have to move into their queue from the south side of the tracks and not back into the front of the line as they have been doing in the past.

Chief Complains.

This was a concession to the complaint of Chief of Police Birrell, who asked the committee to remove the taxis altogether from this block and put them at the back of the railway station on York street. He complained that they caused an obstruction to the traffic in their present position. He was backed up in his plea by Ernie Bernard of the London Motor Club, but the arguments of Chairman Allan Towse at last prevailed and on condition that they filled in their line in an orderly way from the south end up to the front of the line, they will be allowed to stay where they are.

Chief Birrell suggested that the sidewalk on York street, between Thames and Ridout on the hill should be moved back to allow a greater safety on a road that is one of the main arteries into the city from the south. The city engineer agreed with the suggestion, as did the rest of the committee. The removal of the telephone poles at this part of the road has increased the use of the road greatly, as motorists can now drive between the street car and the sidewalk, previously impossible.

White Replaces Red.

Silent policemen will in future be given a coat of virgin white to render them more conspicuous in the dark. Chairman Towse thought that red practically ceased to be a color guide to these minions of the law at night and suggested white.

"You're painting the town white, Mr. Near," he remarked, "but you won't paint the silent policemen white, too. Just whitewash them, as it were, you know."

The necessity of the elimination of the left and right hand turns at Richmond and Dundas was urged by both the chief and Chairman Towse, and agreed to by the committee. The chief pointed out that it was impossible for the traffic officer to prevent any right-hand turns, though he could stop the left-hand turn. He said that a straight ahead drive on this crossing on Saturdays would be a great help to the traffic officer and provide a greater measure of safety for pedestrians.

ONTARIO CHANGES MEDICAL COURSES

College of Physicians and Surgeons Reduces Academic Requirements in Schools.

MORE CLINICAL WORK

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, June 25.—Two changes in the educational requirements fixed by the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons were approved by the council of the college at today's session of its annual meeting. One change reduced the minimum academic part of the medical course from six to five years. The length of the entire course, however, is not shortened, as the new regulations will require that one academic course be followed by one year of service as an interne in an approved hospital.

The new regulations also fix one standard matriculation, in place of the varying qualifications recognized. This shall be a pass matriculation conducted by the department of education, embracing six subjects (twelve papers) and showing at least a 50 per cent standing in each.

The council also approved recommendations of a special committee emphasizing in the medical course more clinical work and more didactic lectures; the teaching of living anatomy in wards more than in laboratories; and elimination of art or optional subjects from the medical course.

The changes were approved on the recommendation of a special committee composed of the chairman, Dr. William Spinkie of Wolfe Island, Dr. Edmund E. King and Dr. T. W. H. Young.

Requirements of the College of Physicians and Surgeons constitutes only the minimum standards, and therefore universities which have six-year academic medical courses need not reduce them to five-year courses, although the council fixed that period as a minimum. Whether the academic course of six years is reduced by the universities or not the council will require that the prospective members of the profession must serve for one year as internes in approved hospitals as a post-graduate course.

The council today was presided over by its newly elected president, Dr. G. R. Cruikshank, of Windsor. Dr. Spinkie and Dr. A. F. Argue of Ottawa, were elected representatives to the Dominion Medical Council.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, June 25.—The problem of the under-developed child came up for free discussion this afternoon at the closing meeting of the conference of the Canadian Association of Child Protection Officers. One of the strongest pieces of advice came from Superintendent K. C. McLeod of Edmonton, who stated that as long as present conditions exist, there will always be the mental units, but if the state authorities would pay as much attention to the class of children as to the types of livestock, the whole problem would be solved in one generation.

The speaker said he would attack the problem by picking from the under-capacitated children all who can be socialized, and he would then chloroform those who cannot be socialized.

"The state the parents who produce that type of children," he advised, "and make it impossible for them to add to the country's population of unfortunates."

Mr. McLeod felt that, in view of Seven Year Old Takes Long Trip

Special to The Advertiser. Sarnia, June 25.—Violet May Fletcher, 7-year-old granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Fletcher, arrived in Point Edward on Saturday after travelling from El Paso, Texas, to Detroit with no other companion than her teddy bear, bouquet of flowers and favorite story book. The little voyager, whose mother died over a year ago, was met in Detroit by her father and grandmother.

the popular opinion swinging against institutionalism, it would be well if some drastic action were taken. As to the socializing of the children who are commonly regarded as mentally unfit, the speaker declared that there are plenty of them who, if they were placed in the right type of homes, could readily be taught to handle certain routine duties in such manner they would escape from institutionalism, and would be made self-supporting at the same time.

The speaker told of definite instances in which the population of idiots had multiplied at an alarming rate.

Heredity Counts.

As a striking contrast Mr. McLeod told of the product of seven generations of two families of New England. From one family were 1,394 descendants. Out of that number 1,295 are college graduates. From the other family there was an equal number of descendants, and out of the whole number only 20 have ever learned a trade, and ten of them learned their trade in a state penitentiary. "Do what you will, heredity counts," said Mr. McLeod, "and we may as well begin now to recognize that fact."

At the same time Mr. McLeod made an appeal for the maintenance of an institution which is gradually slipping away from us, and that is "the home." If children are to be kept out of institutions, they must be kept more closely to their own homes.

A. G. Cameron, probation officer of Ottawa, and newly-elected as president of the association, declared that a great deal of responsibility rests upon the shoulders of the association, and the public have come to the point of looking for direct results.

Against Publicity. Resolutions were adopted condemning the publication of details of any criminal offence by children before the case has been disposed of by the juvenile courts, and urging that the various provincial governments should co-ordinate as far as possible those branches of the public service dealing with the supervision and inspection of children in foster homes and the inspection conducted by schools.

The new officers elected are: President, A. G. Cameron, Ottawa, and one vice-president from each province other than that which has the president, as follows: British Columbia, D. M. Brankin, Vancouver; Alberta, Magistrate Emily Murphy, Edmonton; Saskatchewan, F. J. Reynolds, Regina; Manitoba, W. A. Weston, Winnipeg; Quebec, George J. Clark, Montreal; New Brunswick, A. R. Cruikshank, Prince Edward Island, Rev. Ross C. Eaton, Charlottetown; Nova Scotia, Judge A. J. Crockett, New Glasgow.

THURSDAY, JUNE 26, 1924.

No Longer a Public Servant.

Senator Taylor, the Conservative appointee from British Columbia, continues his attacks against the Canadian National Railways. He goes a step farther in his latest assault, claiming that "organized rascality has been brought under the personal protection of Sir Henry Thornton by his order to stop the police and detective investigation."

What Senator Taylor says is either one of two things, (1) true, or (2) false.

Senator Taylor made his charges some months ago, and stated that there had been no investigation. If his statement were true there was something wrong. But his statement was not true. An investigation had been ordered some time previously. The investigator published in the British Columbia papers notices of the sessions that would be held, and asked that all parties having complaints should come forward and make them. Every opportunity was open to Senator Taylor, or those associated with him in maligning the management of the National Railways and the merchant marine, to attend these meetings and reduce their loose talk to hard facts. This was not done.

The investigator took all the evidence and rumor he could find, traced it and tried it, and found nothing.

The British Columbia Lumber and Shingle Manufacturers' Association, representing the largest business in the province, took the matter up because Senator Taylor's charges intimated that the purchasing department of the Nationals was not conducted efficiently. This association took the trouble to send word to the government that its books could be opened at any time to show that the C. N. R. was not paying any more than other customers. The Taylor charges were meant to convey the impression that there was some graft in connection with purchases.

Not content with an independent investigation, and with the volunteered testimony of the largest manufacturing industry in British Columbia, Senator Taylor has resorted to a personal attack on Sir Henry Thornton.

It is the attitude of a man who is on a head-hunting expedition. If he cannot dangle the scalp of the Canadian National Railways on the belt of his hatred for public ownership, then in his rage he is going to clamor for the head of Sir Henry Thornton on a charger.

The people of Canada own the National Railways, they pay the deficits; and the success of the road is so important to them as to bulk as the chief consideration in public affairs.

The people of Canada also pay the salaries of the senators, and they are perfectly sound when they look to their publicly-paid servants to assist them in putting the National Railways on a profitable basis.

The people of Canada are willing to listen to helpful suggestions or constructive criticism from senators or commoners, provided they are made with the idea of helping the Canadian National Railways improve its service or increase its earnings.

But the people of Canada are not in a mood to stand complacently to one side and witness a senator whom they are paying blacken the reputations of the men of the National lines, and use every means he can squeeze from his senatorial privileges to discount the project in the eyes of the people.

Senator Taylor has arrived at the stage where he is prepared to ignore facts and the testimony of fair witnesses. He has so overstepped the boundaries of reason and fairness in his consuming desire to lay destructive hands on the property of the people, that he has outlived his usefulness as a public servant. In the public interest his absence from the Senate is more to be desired than his continued presence.

The K. K. K. Moving In Politics.

The Ku Klux Klan is no longer content to play its part in night parades and in secret sessions. It has come out into the open, and is playing a part at the national Democratic convention which is just opening in New York.

The Republican convention, during its session at Cleveland, made much of the plea for religious tolerance. That can mean only one thing, opposition to the K. K. K., which is the essence of intolerance where lines of racial color and religious differences are concerned. The Democrats feel that if they do not come out and say something of a similar kind the Republicans will be in a position to go ahead and turn the tenets announced in convention into active political material during the campaign.

The difficulty is that the Klan has been most active in the territory where the Democrats exercise their greatest power, and from which they draw much of their voting strength. The Democrats find themselves in the peculiar position of wanting the K. K. K. votes, and yet wishing to publicly denounce the manner in which the organization carries on its work.

The K. K. K. is too great a load for the Democrats to carry in their election pack. Voters from the south are sure to see the hooded cap or the white robe sticking out some place or other, and the effect will not be good. Yet, by denouncing the Klan by name, are they likely to gain more votes than they would lose by giving it a place on the platform? That is the question the New York convention will have to answer.

The Democrats, as well as the Republicans, might as well come out and face the issue right now and have it done with. Why not both parties unite in bringing the Klan out into the light where all can see? Once the hoods and the nightshirts are taken away the thing will not be as mysterious, and when it ceases to be mysterious it will cease to be powerful. The Klan has travelled a long way when it comes to be a power to be reckoned with at the national gathering of one of the great political parties of United States. The Democrats dare not take the thing by the hand and regard it as an ally. Why, then, not do the one honorable thing, and tell the Klan to get out and stay out?

London As a Peony Center.

If you have a couple of peonies in your back yard growing flowers about the size of a man's fist, would it not be just as well to have instead a plant that would produce blooms the size of two or three fists?

That may or may not have been the idea that started so many Londoners experimenting with peonies, but that end has been accomplished.

It is a dangerous thing for the layman to start discussing the peony problem in London. There are so many experts hereabouts ready to say, "He knows not whereof he speaketh."

London Horticultural Society in the last few years has distributed over 10,000 roots. Growers in this district have listed and marked over 500 varieties; not that all, for there are at least 1,000 recognized varieties.

Just now the French growers have taken the lead in bringing out the most gorgeous blooms. They headed off the Chinese, who by the rights of priority should have had the business well in hand, but they lacked the genius to breed better flowers and the commercial instinct to exploit the field.

London peony growers are holding their exhibition in the armories on Thursday and Friday of this week. It marks the culmination of the efforts of a group of men who love flowers and who want to see others grow the best. It is not a close corporation by any means, and the amateur who wants to grow the real thing will find the members of the local association ready to tell him how to go about it.

The Work of the Juvenile Court.

Judge Warner, of the juvenile court of London and Middlesex County, draws attention in his report to the city council of the need for centralization of all relief, charitable and corrective work, at least for the purpose of securing and filing information.

Reduced to plain terms, it means that there are too many investigations carried on over the same family. Under our present system of doing business it is quite easy to run into this difficulty, and equally hard to avoid it.

A competent investigator, acting for all the organizations interested in welfare work, could make all the reports necessary. It is much better that reliable records should be built up in this way than that the same family should be called upon three or four times to pour out its life history. A person accustomed to this work is in a far better position to place on file the real facts of the case than one who, from the best of motives, but carried away with the sympathy of the first experience, sees the thing in a different and far less discerning light.

Judge Warner's suggestion should be sufficient to revive interest in consolidating relief and corrective work in this city. It was attempted a short time ago, but it failed because a number of those who participated failed to see the advantage of centralization or something approaching it. At that time charges of job-hunting were allowed to come in where they should never have been admitted or considered.

The matter of Judge Warner's time being used by the city and paid for by Cronyn Memorial Church also comes up in the report. It must have been distasteful for the rector-judge to have to urge action in this matter. It has been necessary to engage an assistant at that church because so much of Judge Warner's time has been taken up in juvenile court work. Citizens have no desire that the burden of meeting this charge should rest on the parishioners of Cronyn Memorial Church, and the city council should be quick to rectify a condition that should not have been allowed to develop.

At a doctors' convention in Ottawa the opinion was expressed that some doctors were making too much money. That may be true in some cases, but not in all, because there are many doctors, some of them right here in London, who are notoriously poor collectors. There are many cases of people in poor circumstances who have never received a bill from some of these doctors.

The Rules of the Game of Love

Some time ago I published an article on the Rules of the Game, in the latter part of which I referred to love and said it also had its rules as well as everything else.

I have been in receipt of many letters asking me for the rules of the game of love, some of which emphasized the point that there are no rules; that "All is fair in Love and War."

A city clerk, Michael J. Cruise, head of the Marriage License Bureau, which issues about thirty-five thousand marriage licenses a year, has gotten out a little pamphlet which answers this question for me.

He has a list of Don'ts for Wives and an equivalent list of Don'ts for husbands. Here they are.

His list of Don'ts for wives is as follows: "Don't nag." "Don't let your house or yourself get untidy." "Don't gossip about the neighbor's troubles." "Don't trump hubby's ace in a game of bridge." "Don't make catty remarks if he snores. Be sympathetic."

"Don't get millinery mania or a clothes complex." "Don't get peeved if he shows he likes a pretty face in your presence."

"Don't cabaret unless he is with you." "Don't encourage relatives to park at your house."

"Don't grouch if he is late for dinner." "Don't force husbands as follows: "Don't be tightwaded."

"Don't be a killjoy." "Don't wait till she's dead to send her flowers." "Don't take boarders, male or female."

"Don't sneer at her dog if she has one." "Don't think she's a dumbbell. Treat her human."

"Don't forget she works as hard as you do—and gets less."

"Don't make a fuss over other women unless she is present."

"Don't treat her rough. She may fool you." "Don't love her less or yourself more."

These may be superficial, but they are rules none the less and those who observe them may find them beneficial.

Perhaps they are as good as any I might give. The one simple rule that is sufficient not only for love but for anything else is to do as you would be done by.

It is justice and not charity that most people want. It is to be treated justly and honestly that especially every woman wants.

We cannot do this unless we accustom ourselves to take another's point of view and put ourselves in another's place.

The great enemy of love is egotism; thinking too much of ourselves and not enough of others. If we accustom ourselves to think of others there is little difficulty in keeping the rules of love; the difficulties we are in will solve themselves.

Let's Have a Probe!

It doesn't seem to be a day that's worth a place in this here nation, that doesn't see us make a start on some new fired investigation.

Let's start a-probin' into this, let's probe at that a little more, let's make the folks believe the thing is punk and rotten to the core.

Let's have a query into boots, likewise into the price of socks, let's see about the way they go and mix the coal along with rocks.

Let's go into the grocer's store and take along the village band, and ask the man just how he works to mix the coffee up with sand.

Let's ask Sam Baker if it's so that he has led a life of ease, by eatin' down the coin he gets for folks who pay their wedding' fees.

Let's ask likewise of Jimmy Bell, he has a million now or more, of taxes what the people pay to keep the bailiiff from the door.

And Ed. Buchanan, tell us now, speak quickly and with no mistakes, what have you done with all the seeds we hand you for our water rates?

New V. K. Keener, speak up at once, let's hear you open up and talk, and tell us if you kept the coin we gave you for school books and chalk.

And you, Bert Beal, and Miller, too, come tell the folks upon this ground, if you have took the cash we paid to make the learnin' mills go 'round.

And say, George Wenige, you've been mayor for 18 months so we are told, now have you gathered up enough to keep you easy when you're old?

Chief Birrell, too, we want to know what comes of all the fines you reap, now have you gathered all this stuff and piled it in a secret heap?

Let's have a probe around this town, it seems the proper thing to do, for other folks they're goin' ahead and paintin' things in blackest hue; let's take these men out one by one, and stand 'em up in two straight lines, why should we go on peaceful like, and be a-lagin' 'hind the times?—ARK.

Money That Is Idle

(From the Hamilton Herald)

Mr. Joseph S. McCoy, United States treasury actuary, estimates that there is $400,000,000 kept in idle stockpiles, ginger jars, mattresses and other hiding places in the United States. Mr. McCoy says that misers, who like money just because it is money, hold about $44,000,000 out of circulation; that children's banks—a more hopeful item—hold a total of $1,500,000, while farmers hoard about $125,000,000, largely because they want to keep a bit of cash on hand and in easy reach.

But more than half of the $400,000,000 is being kept from working by the ignorant, largely by foreign extraction, who are not yet used to banks. Hoarded money is not money at work. Money, to be useful, should be kept busy. There's still a great field for the encouragement of safe, legitimate investment among the people who do not know how to make their money work for them.

To the Editor

Sends Word To London.

Cincinnati Man's Friends Visited the Old Town and Bought Copies of This Great Family Journal.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—On Nov. 4, 1884, nearly forty years ago, I got on a Grand Trunk train and went to Chatham, where I remained until December, 1885, at which time I went to Detroit, and spent the next 18 years. Since November, 1904, I have been located here.

The other day, about two weeks ago, two men from our office attended a Grand Army Encampment, with Sons of Veterans, etc., at Warren, Ohio, which is in the direction of Cleveland, and having some time at their disposal after the affair was over, landed in Cleveland, and took a boat to Port Stanley, and from there to London.

After getting back, one of them knowing that I was from Canada, asked me if I had been in London. "Oh," said I, "my native town. Did you see the old Tecumseh House, did you get up to Dundas street, Richmond street, etc.?"

They had seen the places I mentioned, bought The Advertiser, and having a lot of loose change that they did not want to bring back to the U. S., which was in Canadian money, they had surprised a newsboy by giving it to him, and he caused some trouble by telling the other kids about it. Well, I said to them, you made that boy think you were some American millionaire. All this brings back to me recollections of London from about 1870 until 1884.

This was the time I was growing up, attending the old Bond Street and Intermediate schools, delivering newspapers, telegrams, learning telegraphy, working at it, from that to railroad work, which my father had been at before me, and finally settling down in Cincinnati at the same work. Another London old boy, Kingsley Evans, whom I went to school with, is here as representative of the Grand Trunk, or Canadian National, as it is called now. I haven't seen him for some time, but know where to find him when not too busy with my own work.

Some day I hope to spend a few days in London, but don't know just when. I haven't been there since about the beginning of the new century, 1900 or 1901.

The Union Jack.

Major Murphy Explains Points About the Flag in Connection With Coming of Dominion Day.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—On our Dominion Day, 1924, the Union Jack and Canadian flag will be displayed in prominent places throughout Canada. On the outbreak of the world war large quantities of Union Jacks with a good likeness of Lord Kitchener stamped on them were distributed in Canada and elsewhere. The Jack was reversed or upside down. The enemies of the empire knew the language of the flag better than many Canadians, and used this method of propaganda to advertise an empire in distress.

Whenever this war may bring in the head of its "contemptible little army," in September, 1914, the following appeared in the Kölnische Zeitung: "The British Empire is a collection of its train, certain it is that the laughable and childish military system of Great Britain will shortly fall to pieces."

"There will be no such country as Great Britain at the end of the war in existence. In its place we shall have a little Britain, a narrow strip of island territory, people by lousish footballers, living on the crumbs that Germany will throw to them."

"Then the once mighty empire with her naval strength represented by the few old tubs Germany will have left her, will become the laughing-stock of nations—the scarecrow at which children will point their fingers in disdainful glee."

In view of the foregoing it seems only fitting that Canadians should know the dimensions and the Union Jack, its meaning and language, and what it stands for. The dimensions are as follows:

1.—The flag, doubled crosswise makes a square, or its length is twice its breadth.

2.—The width of the right-angled red cross of St. George is one-fifth of the width of the flag.

3.—The width of the white border of the St. George cross is one-third of the width of the red cross.

4.—The upper white diagonal strip on the dexter end of the flag (that is the end next the flagstaff) is one-half the width of the red cross.

5.—The red diagonal strip is one-third of the width of the red cross.

6.—The lower white diagonal strip is one-sixth of the width of the red cross.

7.—On the sinister, or out-end, or fly of the flag, the positions of these colors are reversed, or if the flag remained the same position and the staff were put at the other end of the flag, it would be wrong side up, or a signal of distress, especially if a half mast.

8.—The large diagonal white strips represent Scotland. Notice they are above on the dexter half and below on the sinister half of the flag.

9.—The red diagonal strips, together with the narrow white diagonal strips, represent Ireland. Notice that Ireland occupies the upper position on the out half of the flag and Scotland on the dexter end of the flag.

MURDER ATTEMPT CHARGED AT PUCE

County Constable Mousseau
Gets Best of Exciting Gun Battle.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Windsor, June 25.—Captured near Puce at 6 p.m. last night, after a ten-mile chase and gun battle with County Constable John Mousseau of Belle River, two men, one from Chicago and one from Detroit, were arraigned today before Magistrate Gundy on charges of attempted murder and theft.

Harry Kleagle, 23, of Detroit, is charged with intent to murder and theft. Both elected to be tried by the general sessions court on the charges. Preliminary hearing of the case against Kleagle on attempted murder charge was set for July 2. Kleagle is alleged to have fired at Constable Mousseau when the officer ordered him to put up his hands and submit to arrest for the theft of two cases of beer, which Kleagle and Smith are alleged to have taken from a car of export liquor belonging to

Paris Bakers Call Strike

Associated Press Despatch.
Paris, June 25.—The journey-men bakers of Paris have voted an immediate strike, demanding the abolition of higher wages. The government is preparing to open military bakeries and to protect the master bakers able to continue operations.

Arthur Desbours which was being unloaded at Belle River on the Canadian Pacific Railway. Securing his gun the constable gave chase up the tracks. After firing seven shots to halt them he finally came upon them after they had dragged themselves on their bodies through a wheat field to escape pursuit.

"Hands up!" he ordered.

Kleagle, then, it is alleged, drew a gun and fired directly at Mousseau. The bullet hit the ground at the constable's feet. The two fled.

Returning to Belle River Mousseau secured the aid of Constable John D. Renaud. In an automobile the two officers returned to the chase. After a ride of several miles they captured Smith and Kleagle, who this time submitted to arrest without demur. Guns were found on both men, according to police.

JURY FINDS HONE DIED BY OWN HAND

Verdict of Suicide Is Returned —Evidence Is Slightly
Contradictory.

OUT ONLY 15 MINUTES

Special to The Advertiser
by a Staff Correspondent.
Stratford, June 15.—That William Hone came to his death by a bullet from a revolver in his own hand, was the verdict of the coroner's jury sitting at Monkton today to probe the cause of the death at his home on May 20. The jury deliberated but fifteen minutes, following the hearing of all the evidence.

The case has aroused more or less interest in the county, where Hone was a well-known cattle buyer.

When the body was discovered and examined by Coroner Dr. Kidd of Atwood, death was ascribed by him as suicide. Some days later rumor was current that Hone may not have ended his own life, but possibly had been slain for his money. The body was twice exhumed, the second time being examined by Dr. George Wilson, pathologist, of Toronto. The two men who found Hone dead, Harry Thibodeau and Melville Cummings, were taken into custody and held as material witnesses.

At this afternoon's sitting of the inquest seven witnesses were heard, chief among them being Cummings. He told a story which differed in places from that told by Thibodeau in the morning. On the morning of the tragedy Cummings said he and Thibodeau left the Hone home at the same time and did not go back into the house until they returned to the farm at noon the same day. Thibodeau, in his evidence, said that after they went out of the house in the morning Cummings went back to get his overcoat and was gone from five to ten minutes. Cummings, in his evidence, said the overcoat had been in the buggy from Tuesday.

Provincial Officer Stringer of Toronto expressed the opinion that the serious fractures revealed in the examination of Hone's skull could have been caused by a bullet from a 32 revolver fired at close range. It was a 22 caliber revolver found beside Hone's bed. The inspector was unable, however, to throw any light on the absence of powder marks or the firing of a cartridge found in the gun revealed that it contained black powder.

Inspector John McCaffrey, Kitchener, told of making tests with a 32 rifle on paper and on a goat-skin, and in all instances powder marks were noticeable, in one instance the powder marks perforating the paper.

Beattymen Drop Two Hard-Fought Games To League Leaders and Bad Breaks

First Is Battle of Homers In 10th and Second Is Lost On Hits With Bases Loaded

Naleway, Nason Get Four-Baggers in First and Chief Repeats in Second.

GEHRINGER BENCHED

Special to The Advertiser.

Flint, June 25.—London lost both games to the league leaders here this afternoon, although compelling a tenning affair in the first 5 to 4, the second was a sandlot exhibition, 10 to 5.

Achenbach and Pritchard hooked up in a sweet pitching battle in the opener. The latter had the game in hand, 3 to 1, up to the eighth. Then Chick Naleway hit over the left wall, and Sandquist got around in the ninth to tie it on a triple to center. The game was then a baserunning to score on Baker's out, runner to Regan.

Chief Nason lifted the ball out of the lot in the tenth, but Flint came back to win on Regan's single and Luce's four-base drive to center. Naleway was pitching with one away. Delman was pitching at the time, for Achenbach gave up a pinch hit, but he was not in the ninth, just before Sandquist started things. When Luce rounded third, he stumbled and fell against Manager O'Leary. Beatty claimed this automatically ousted him, but Umpire Ward said he did not see the play. It was a simple demonstration of the one-umpire system, which certain clubs in the league have demanded to be used, but it may have cost the Tecumsehs a ball game.

London got as many hits in the second game as Flint, but they didn't have the distance nor the timeliness.

Nason's second homer scored Sandquist with him in the first inning of Leckner. Sheppard relieved, but was taken out after two more batted. Eddie Leckner took up the job, and was punched for three runs in the third on four hits, one a double by Naleway. Then Joe Engleishman hit a home run, and the game was over. In the meantime, runner hit over the left wall on a sacrifice, and the score in the opening frame. Engleishman gave Flint two runs in the third by overhauling the pitcher on a sacrifice. The game was over in the third by overhauling the pitcher on a sacrifice. The game was over in the third by overhauling the pitcher on a sacrifice.

MOLLA OUSTED IN STRAIGHT SETS

Miss McKane Beats Former Star Decisively At Wimbledon.

WILLIAMS' SCARE

Wimbledon, England, June 25.—Miss Kathleen McKane, British woman champion, today eliminated Mrs. Molla Mallory, former United States champion, from the Wimbledon singles in straight sets.

It seems probable that Miss McKane will do battle for the honors of the tournament with the renowned Miss Lenglen. However, the British champion must first meet Mrs. Edgington, her noted compatriot, or Miss Helen Wills, the present United States champion.

The feature match of the day was the battle between R. Norris Williams of the United States and P. Peret of France. This was a hard-fought struggle, rivaling the spectacular Lacoste-Aliette affair of yesterday.

Mrs. Marion Jessup, United States, defeated Mrs. Barrett, England, 6-0.

R. Norris Williams, U. S., defeated P. Peret, France, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

Mrs. George Wightman, United States, defeated Mrs. J. Taylor, 6-0, 6-2.

Miss Elizabeth Ryan, formerly of California, defeated Mrs. Parton, Great Britain, 6-2, 6-0.

Carl Fischer and Miss Edith Skene defeated Sir G. A. Thomas and Miss Hagar, 6-2, 6-0.

In the men's doubles, Vincent Peacock and Francis T. Hunter, United States, defeated P. Marsh and J. Peacock, England, 3-6, 7-5, 6-4, 6-2.

Dempsey On Frisco Film Trip Gets 217 Columns In Papers

Champion Makes Presidential Visits Pale As He Hunts Up Old Friends and Makes "Human Interest" News.

By L. C. OWEN.

Special to The Advertiser.

San Francisco, June 25.—Congressmen and other seekers after public office or public acclaim might do well to emulate Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, who is on a movie shooting tour, and develop a bump of reciprocity.

Dempsey has just been in San Francisco five days on a movie shooting tour, and he has made a list of almost twice as many newspaper columns of type and photos in six local newspapers—enough to completely fill two 8-column newspapers of 12 pages each, and still leave several columns over for good measure.

Newspapermen here, analyzing Dempsey's ability to "make" both front and sport pages with his doings, attribute it mostly to one thing, his largely undeveloped bump of reciprocity, which causes Jack to hunt out and seek to do favors for anyone who ever did favors for him. This reciprocity thing, says the newspaper scribes, always has been a "human interest" angle to make good newspaper copy.

Know It Before.

Dempsey is no stranger to San Francisco. It was here and across the bay at Oakland that Jack got his first start up the fighting ladder. And as his pork and beans days were slim pickings for those who knew Jack to do him many favors.

When the champion insisted on parking a $4,750 meal over at Ma Kearns' little bungalow in Oakland, while a whole army of movie numeraires made him comfortable, it was just a sample of his reciprocal bent, say local sport writers. SCOTCH DOUBLES PLAY MOVES FAST

Thistles Annual Event Sees Normal Upsets As Delayed Play Starts.

MANY NEW FACES

Despite delay through rain, which started the annual London Thistles Scotch doubles off at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon instead of 3:30 o'clock in the morning as the draw called for, the trundlers were making good time and were into the third round of the first event and into the Langford Trophy play, the consolation event of the tournament.

There were the usual number of upsets in the early rounds. Out of the unexpected, Seldon Stewart, the Exeter pair's demise at the hands of a Dutton combination, but Laur and Leckie, the London veterans, survived the first round, as did Weld and McDougal. The former fell in the next round to Hanley of Aylmer, while the latter pair were still in the big event last night.

Many of the combinations, which have helped to make the London Thistles Scotch doubles a classic in Western Ontario bowling circles, are back this year, but there is a big sprinkling of new faces, and better conditions could not have been desired.

New York, June 26.—Wall Street, 1:30 p.m.—Heavy selling broke out later in the Erie and Wabash preferred A, which yielded 1 to 2 points, but the remainder of the list reflected increasing strength.

New York, N. Y., June 26.—The main body of stocks swung into a vigorous forward movement as trading progressed. Continued bullish outbursts among industrial shares with recognized leaders such as United States Steel, Baldwin and American Can, climbing 1 to 2 points, promoted widespread buying for both accounts. All classes of stocks, except the coppers, shared in the advance, with the scope of demands broadening steadily as prices advanced.

Rail issues, while forging steadily ahead in the trade of New York, yielded market leadership to industrial shares. Call money opened at 2 per cent.

Befitting Ceremonies Marks Laying of Stone At New Church In City

Members of Church of Christ
Disciples Erect Handsome New Edifice.

PASTOR LAUDED
Energetic Work of Rev. T. H. Versey Made Such a Feat Possible.

The corner-stone of the new church of the Church of Christ, Disciples, at the corner of Dundas and Elizabeth streets was "well and truly laid" yesterday afternoon with befitting ceremony.

The new structure is being erected at an estimated cost of $30,000. It will face west on Elizabeth street, directly to the rear of the present building, which has served the congregation since it was first organized in 1891. When, in the course of the next few months, the old building is torn down one of the landmarks of East London will pass away, the building having been nearly 20 years old at the time it came into the possession of its present owners. It will give way to the march of the business world, since the corner is an ideal location, and as such has risen greatly in value.

In expressing his pleasure of the honor which was his to act as chairman on such an auspicious occasion, Mayor G. A. Wenige congratulated the members of the Church of Christ upon undertaking such a stupendous task. "We all admire progress," declared his worship, "and especially when it is connected with worthwhile things. This church, when completed, will stand as a credit to Christ Church congregation and the city of London as well."

Reads Church History.
Following the chairman's remarks, a brief story of the church's history was read by Rev. S. M. Swaby Smith, West Lorne.

Through the agency of H. Z. Leonard, United States consul in London, the transfer of the old church building was effected by purchase from the Canada Methodist Church, and a congregation organized in November, 1891, with a membership of 28, five of whom were Disciples, seven Baptists, twelve Methodists, and two members by confession and primary obedience. From the small group, who convened at the old church, the Elizabeth Street Christian Church, the present congregation has been formed. T. H. Fowler, formerly president of Fairfield College, was the first regular pastor. Successive pastors down to the present time have been: George Fowler, J. L. LeFevre, Colin Sinclair, S. B. Gulp, F. R. Black, E. J. Hayden, G. J. Murray, W. B. Sharrett, W. Hastie and James H. Versey, the present incumbent.

Mayor Wenige commented upon the new church as being "a splendid set of minutes, better than are kept of the city council sometimes." "That history, up to the laying of the corner-stone today," remarked the chairman, "shows that dreams really do come true, providing we dream often enough and long enough."

Christ For Corner-Stone.
Rev. B. H. Hayden, M.A., Algonac, Mich., spoke briefly, touching on the fact of God having made the world for man that his life might be one of growth, development and happiness. He who takes Christ for his corner-stone and builds upon Him, asserted Rev. Mr. Hayden, "builds a character which even the destruction of the world cannot destroy."

Substituting in place of C. L. Burton, Toronto, president of the "Co-operation of the Church of Christ in Ontario," Rev. R. G. Quiggin, B.A., Toronto, delivered a splendid address. In advising his hearers "not to be carried away by the rush of the age and the computation of dollars and cents of present-day standards," Rev. Mr. Quiggin proclaimed Christ as the contemporary of all ages and always in the vanguard. We Disciples of the Church of Christ have no written creed," continued the speaker, "but the New Testament. We believe that what is more than the New Testament is too much, that what is less is too little, and that what is the same is superfluous. The Church of Christ stands impregnable on the rock of Christ and on the restoration of faith and practice of the New Testament."

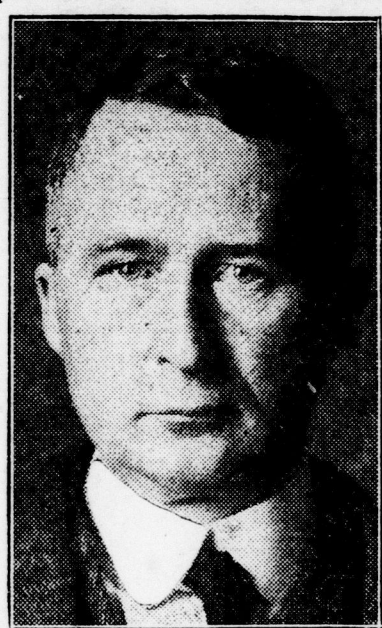

Urges College.
Prof. Harold Knott, M.A., of Eugene, Oregon, urged the founding of a college in Canada for the training of men for the ministry of Christianity. Rev. John Richardson, Chairman Presbyterian Church, president of the London Ministerial Alliance, brought greetings and congratulations from that organization. Rev. A. A. Stott, Poplar Hill, made the invocation prayer, and Rev. A. Burgess, Egerton Street Baptist Church, read the Scripture lesson.

The pastor, Rev. J. H. Versey, presented Archibald McKillop, St. Thomas, ex-president of the Co-operation of the Church of Christ in Ontario, with a silver trowel with which to lay the stone. There were placed in the stone by Arthur Blackwell, one of the two living members of the church at the time it was organized, copies of local papers, coins of the realm, literature used in connection with the campaign for funds to build the church and also the history of the church.

Seated on the platform besides those who spoke were Miss Grace H. Versey and Miss May Versey, daughters of the pastor; Mrs. Wenige and Mrs. B. H. Hayden. A few of those noted among the audience, numbering about 400 people, were Mrs. Arthur Blackwell, Mrs. Archibald McKillop, Capt. W. D. Graham of St. Catharines, Dr. Duncan McKillop of St. Thomas, and Ald. Edwin Smith.

The building committee consists of Rev. J. H. Versey (chairman), C. B. King (treasurer), P. A. McVicar, R. J. Henderson, F. Deeley, G. B. Johnston and F. Churchill.

Affairs on Ebb.
The affairs of the Elizabeth street church were in the ebb when Mr. Versey became pastor in October, 1919. Within a period of eighteen months he had so aroused and enthused his people that they had succeeded in lifting a mortgage of $2,000 still outstanding against the property from the time it had been purchased in 1891 from the Methodist Church. Continuing his program of improvement and expansion, Mr. Versey was instrumental in having the old horse sheds torn down and removed. He also effected a transfer of land between the church and Dr. Edwin Seaborn, whereby the church was able to secure sufficient additional land upon which to erect the new building, the foundation of which is already well on the way. Immediately, Mr. Versey, having in his own mind the plan of a new and up-to-date edifice, began an energetic campaign for funds.

The fact that the small congregation of 80 members has succeeded in raising the magnificent sum of $3,000 speaks volumes for the faithfulness and inspiring efforts of the pastor and the generosity of his followers. The grand total of funds on hand rose to $3,200 after yesterday's collection and offering were counted up. The congregation has the promise of a grant of $5,000 from the Executive Board of the Co-operation of the Church in Ontario. It is an interesting coincidence that only three weeks ago at the annual convention held at the hotel, Mr. Versey was chosen as a member of the executive board. At the same time he was further honored in being elected president of the ministerial association of the Co-operation.

Besides the remarkable energy he has shown during the period of his pastorate at the Elizabeth Street Church, Mr. Versey has found time to lend his support to the interest and activities of the London Ministerial Alliance, and only last year was his worthy president.

Entirely Modern.
The new church is to be modern in every way as to its equipment and furnishings. The exterior is to be classic Tuscan in architecture. The building itself, which is to be of red brick, is to be 58 by 67 feet. The interior is to be finished in British Columbia fir. The pulpit will stand on the north-west corner, with the choir loft, with accommodation for 30 singers, to the left, and the baptistry on the right. Provision is being made so that at a later date a gallery can be put in if it be found necessary. Church parlors are being provided in the main auditorium of the church, in which also there will be done skylight. The interior dimensions of the church are 48 by 52 feet, while the ceiling will be 25 feet high. Accommodation for the Sunday school can be provided in the basement, as also primary room, ladies' and men's parlors, kitchen, dining-room and fuel room. The building is to be steam-heated. William G. Murray is the architect, and Jones & Spry the contractors of the building.

RETIRING PRINCIPAL IS FETED BY PUPILS

Former Students Pay Tribute
To M. W. Althouse,
Rectory St. School.

Another tribute to M. W. Althouse, who is retiring after teaching nearly 35 years in London public schools, was paid yesterday afternoon, when a number of his former pupils feted him at Rectory Street public school. Mr. Althouse was presented with a copy of Anna Botsford Comstock's "Handbook of Nature Study," and an agate fishing rod and reel. Mrs. Althouse was presented with a beautiful bouquet of American Beauty roses.

PICNICS ARE AIDED BY FIRE WEATHER

Several City Organizations
Journey To Springbank
Park Yesterday.

Bad weather in the early part of the day failed to stop the picnics that were planned for yesterday. With lots of rain in the morning it looked pretty bad for the half-holiday, but the sun tried hard to break through the clouds, and finally toward noon emerged the victor.

There were a number of picnics held at Springbank Park, and in the afternoon the people swarmed to the popular city park. Among the organizations having picnics was the Forest City Laundry, which boasted the largest turnout of any organization. The company had a very spicy program of sports, consisting of races and ball games. The events were handled very capably by Alfred Goss.

The picnic is held annually, but usually at a different place each year. The picknickers were in charge of E. Boughner and R. J. Kilpatrick. A ball game featured the afternoon's sports.
