Concerning New Method Overcoat Collars . . . .

The Collar of most Overcoats is an awkward clumsy job and not near what it should be.

The New Method Overcoats we sell all have hand made, "curve shrunk" collars that fit the collar of the coat without a wrinkle. Most makers don't put hand work into their collars because it costs more than machine made collars. But the people who make our clothes consider it as important that the coat fit nicely as that it should wear well. Comparison will prove to you that New Method Clothing, the wearing, fitting kind, costs you no more than the ordinary make.

SENDING TROOPS

To Reinforce Those Already at the Chinese Capital

Britain Evidently Means to Stay There no Matter What Russia Does.

London, Thursday, Sept. 6, 4 a. m.—Sir Alfred Gazeles' despatch, which shows that the situation in Peking was unchanged on Aug. 23, is the only Chinese news this morning. Sir Alfred, who is commander of the British Indian troops at the Chinese capital, wires under date, Peking, Aug. 23, to Lord Geo. Hamilton, Secretary of State for India:—"The allies marched through the Forbidden City yesterday, Aug. 23. The British had third place in the procession, the Russian and Japanese being in greater strength."

A Simla despatch says:—"The Fourth Brigade has been ordered to proceed to China forthwith." The cancellation of the order holding back the Fourth Indian Brigade is regarded as important. It shows that whatever the outcome of the Russian policy, the British Government is determined to have sufficient troops on the spot adequately to protect British interests.

Many rumors gathered at Shanghai suggest that the Empress Dowager is carrying on her anti-foreign policy with increased zeal. The latest reported Imperial decree from Tai-Yuan-Fu is said to be defiant and unrepentant, and to contain the statement that the court first led the Emperor might be killed during the fighting between the Boxers and Christians, and thus leave no one to continue the ancestral worship. The decree is also said to exhort a union of the viceroys to "avenge the injuries inflicted on China by the powers."

NOT VERY LIKELY

That He Will Run in Kent Says Mr. Campbell.

He Thinks the Elections Will be Brought on Before Winter—Predicts a Great Sweep.

Archie Campbell, M. P., was in the city yesterday but left in the evening for Toronto. Mr. Campbell said that the interview which appeared in the eastern papers making him say that the elections would not be held till February was all a mistake. In his opinion the elections would be held before winter set in.

"Nothing has yet been decided as to where I will run," said Mr. Campbell in response to a query asking the Kent member what he intended doing. "It is not likely, however, that I will be a candidate in Kent. I understand the president of the Reform Association mailed me a requisition asking me to run here and signed by the Liberals of Kent. I haven't, however, as yet received it. In regard to West York, I don't know whether I will run there or not but you may say that if I do run I will beat Clark Wallace."

"In regard to what will be the chief issue in this election, I think that the Conservatives will try to make an issue out of the broken promises and unredempted pledges as they say. We think, however, that we have fulfilled nearly all our promises, perhaps not as fully as was expected by the majority of the Liberals, but we think as fully as the circumstances would allow. I feel very certain that the government will be sustained by, I think, as large if not a larger majority than they have at present."

"I just returned a week ago from a visit to the Maritime Provinces and everything down there is booming from a business standpoint. The fishing, lumbering and mining interests have proved very profitable and great developments have taken place. At Sidney, Cape Breton, there are now in course of erection 5,000 new buildings. The steel plant which is being erected there is causing a great boom in Sidney and the consequent demand for coal has stimulated the mining industry. The Dominion Coal Co. is now lifting 10,000 tons per day."

"Politically everything in these sections is booming and the Liberals will sweep the lower provinces."

AGENTS IN ELECTIONS

Take Risks When They Bet on Them—The West Elgin Protest.

St. Thomas, Sept. 6.—The protest in East Elgin having failed the trial of the West Elgin petition was proceeded with yesterday. There were 120 charges. Of these a batch of 20 alleged that a cigar manufacturer named R. F. Honsinger had given money to an employee to bet. The charges all failed. Honsinger's agency was not proven and he absolutely denied giving the man any more than his wages or having any interest in his bets. The man himself is said to be in Michigan. Several other individual charges were heard and dismissed. Others will be taken up today.

POWERS SENT UP FOR LIFE.

Convicted as Accessory to Killing Governor Goebel.

Georgetown, Ky., Sept. 6.—Judge Cantrell overruled the bill of exceptions in the case of ex-Secretary of State Caleb Powers, convicted as accessory before the fact to the assassination of Wm. Goebel and sentenced the prisoner to imprisonment for life. Judge Cantrell made an order suspending execution of the sentence sixty days in order to enable the defendant to procure a transcript of the record to be filed in the court of appeals, and an appeal was allowed.

CHANCE FOR GOOD SEED.

A large number of farmers are purchasing their seed wheat from the Kent Mills and from the T. H. Taylor Co. this season. The Montreal Trade Bulletin of August 18, gives the following accurate description of the grain: "The berries are small, hard, heavy, very even, of a nice dark color, and very much resemble No. 1 hard winter wheat." The results of the field tests conducted under the direction of the Ontario Agricultural College, showed an average yield of 41.3 bushels per acre, testing 61.9 pounds to the bushel. This year Messrs. Sherk & Snider, of Bridgeport, Ont., had 40 bus. to the acre, testing 64.1-2 pounds to the bushel. This seed is being sold at actual cost, as advertised, and what interested the millers in getting a good sample is equally of as much importance to the farmer.

A PEOPLE'S PARTY

One Launched in Toronto by the Ex-Patrons.

J. N. McCoy, of Wallaceburg, One of the Executive—The Party's Platform.

Toronto, Sept. 6.—The provincial convention to form an independent political party, called by Messrs. Wrigley, Mallory and others formerly prominent in the Patron movement, met yesterday. Numerically, it was somewhat of a failure, there being only twenty-seven delegates in attendance, chiefly from Western Ontario. Among the planks proposed were direct legislation, proportionate representation, free trade, prohibition, a national banking system and abolition of contracting for public work.

It was decided to call the new organization the People's Party of Canada. The officers are:—President, R. N. Price, St. Thomas; Secretary, George Wrigley, Toronto; Executive, Rev. S. S. Craig, Toronto; J. N. McCoy, Wallaceburg; A. Burwash, Baltimore; J. C. Spence, Toronto; J. N. Davis, W. Smellie, Warrton; S. Cartier, Guelph. The convention adopted a platform of six planks:—1, Direct legislation; 2, proportional representation; 3, public ownership of railways and other public services; 4, compulsory arbitration of disputes between capital and labor; 5, government banking; 6, public employment for the unemployed. The executive was instructed to put candidates in the field in the forthcoming election wherever practicable. Prohibition got only twelve votes out of a possible of 27, and does not, therefore, appear in the platform, which was adopted on a two-thirds vote.

HE WANTS TO QUIT

Another Boer Leader Negotiating for a Surrender.

The Siege of Ladybrand Raised—Little Garrison of 150 had a Hard Time of it.

London, Sept. 5.—A Pretoria despatch says:—Commandant Grobler is negotiating for surrender.

The siege of Ladybrand has been raised, after several desperate attempts to capture the town, and its little garrison of 150 British troops. The Boers who attacked Ladybrand are estimated to have numbered over 2,000 men. The British were summoned to surrender Sept. 3, but refused, and from that time on were subjected to continual cannon and rifle fire. The burghers twice tried to rush the British position. Probably the approach of a relief force saved the little garrison.

A recent despatch from Pretoria says General De Wet has captured a British train near Kroonstad and secured 44 cars of supplies.

The arrival of four of Lord Roberts' chargers at Cape Town, is taken to be an indication that the commander-in-chief of the British forces in South Africa will soon return to England.

INCREASE OF WAGES.

O. P. R. Conductors and Yardmen to get One—Other Claims Refused.

Montreal, Sept. 6.—An agreement has been reached between the C. P. R. and the conductors and trainmen, and the differences have been settled. The company has given the conductors on the Ontario and Quebec division an increase of from $2.68 to $2.75 per 100 miles. The yardmen have been given an increase of 15 per cent on their old wages. The passenger conductors, the brakemen and other trainmen all asked for an increase, but it has not been granted. The committee representing the men has accepted the settlement.

MONEY WELL SPENT.

It is doubtful if the city has spent any money to better advantage this year than the $80 laid out by the board of health in sending delegates to the health convention at Kingston. That the health authorities of cities should meet and discuss disease-preventive matters is most important to Chatham and to every other city. The report submitted by the Medical Health Officer to the Board of Health on his return, shows the valuable character of the knowledge to be gained by the general interchange of ideas for which that convention annually is called.

It is not so long since people cast their offal and garbage into their wells, practically doing as at least, and then drank the water. When disease and death followed they said like the Turk, "It is the will of God." The truth was it was simply the filth and thoughtlessness of man. Now, we know better. We know that lives are saved by preventing disease and the thinking masses of the people will begudge no amount of money spent in that behalf. Not to send delegates to these conventions of any other health conventions would we think be little short of a crime on behalf of any local board of health.

STILL FAVORING AMERICANS.

At Kingston four hundred Canadians are to be thrown out of work because the Laurier Government insisted upon giving its last order for intercolonial locomotives to the United States. The locomotive works were in litigation, and a wealthy syndicate proposed to take up the business, provided orders for engines were forthcoming. A communication was sent to Ottawa asking for specifications required for the intercolonial.

To the surprise of the managers, a response came in these words: "In reply I am directed to say that nothing will be done in the matter of purchasing the said locomotives until the minister returns to Ottawa."

When the minister returned to Ottawa the order was sent to the United States, and now the works will be closed down, and the workmen discharged.

The Canadians were not even permitted to tender. Talk about a British preference; Uncle Sam gets the pull every time. "The Toronto Mail gives the above as facts. Certain it is that the locomotive works at Kingston are about to be closed.

THE SHIRT WAIST.

Not this season, but next surely, will the shirt waist "fashion" win its way to popular favor. Already the feeling against the proposed innovation is appreciably moderated, and signs multiply in leading centres that the shirt waist is in favor with the men.

"If one looks down the aisle of a suburban railroad car on a hot afternoon," says the New York Sun, "the coats visibly are the exception. The shirts predominate. Formerly a few unconventional individuals indulged in the comfort of throwing off their coats, but now it appears almost the fashion, in the smoking car at least. It shows signs of overflowing into the cars where women travel also. The other day a young man was observed to take off his coat in the presence of women. Judging by the quality of his dress, he would not have dreamed of doing a thing so childish before the beginning of the shirt waist movement. He didn't even have on a shirt waist, but wore the irredeemable undress article, the waistcoat. He truly was in his shirt sleeves."

"Men can be seen driving in the country in shirt waists. Soon, no doubt, many who to-day carry their coats on their arms, in compromise with old-fashioned notions of propriety, as they would carry gloves in their hands, will leave their coats at home altogether. "Man has tasted a comfort which he had not known before, through this new fashion. Perhaps he will be unwilling to abandon it, and in that case there is bound to be a shirt waist development far beyond that of the present. It is a radical innovation, which the precedents of conservatism are against; but if it is to come it must be said that the shirt waist man is deeply clad, if not elegantly dressed."

Recorder Champigne, of Hull, Que., lays down the law that a man has the privilege to knock his wife down if she refuses to kiss him. He says it is a husband's right. If British law steps in and overrides that right, like as not the chump we have heard from so often in the past will rise and say that the right is guaranteed by the treaty of Paris. If there is anything obnoxious, absurd, out-of-date in Quebec laws, it is defended under that treaty. Yet the government of France which made that treaty, was kicked out by the French themselves over a century ago. Why should it still bind Great Britain?

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, Toronto.

What will the city council find to meet about when Ald. Liddy exhausts his stock of kicks about the L. E. & D. R. R.?

An exchange says the Liberals of South Perth took Erb as their candidate. Well, aren't they good for a party if properly taken?—Brookville Recorder.

Certainly, when the party is sick.

It is reported that the old Liberals of Kent will call a convention about the middle of October to put a free trade candidate in the field. The idea is to run him on the straight Liberal Ottawa platform of 1893.

Hate vs. Wallace, an action for libel against the Alliston Herald, is being tried at the Barrie assizes. The plaintiff is serving an 18-months' sentence in the Central for theft, but he considers that The Herald accused him of murder, and therefore he asks for damages. A murderer is a man whom every community for its own protection, should put out of the way. But in most cases he is superior to a thief. A murderer may have some decent traits. A thief has none. He is simply the low, mean contemptible offspring of the human race. That is this great family journal's opinion of the relative levels of thieves and murderers, whatever a Barrie jury may think.

Here is a hint for the sheriff of Kent against taking any chances with his prisoners: A man in Pratt, Kan., was convicted of selling liquor without a license and sentenced to jail. Sheriff Gibbons, however, permitted the prisoner to remain with his family most of the time and did not lock him up, as he should have done. At the expiration of the prisoner's term the prisoner's wife sued the sheriff for the price of board and lodging for her spouse, alleging that the sheriff was drawing pay from the county for the prisoner's keep, whereas, in fact, he was living off her. She was awarded judgment for $21.60, but the sheriff has appealed to the district court.

KRAUSE CONSERVATORY.

Miss Mabel Campbell's Musical Chat on the Fletcher Musical System.

Miss Mabel Campbell, a young lady who has made the Fletcher system a special study, and who has been engaged by Mr. Carter to conduct same department of study in the Conservatory for this season's work, gave a most interesting musical chat at the Conservatory on Tuesday afternoon which was most thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

Miss Campbell outlined the objects, aims and advantages of the Fletcher system in most scholarly style fully demonstrating her perfect control and knowledge of the subject.

Music is the universal language of nature. The Fletcher musical method teaches a child music as he learns his native language, naturally. He is taught: 1, to think; 2, to compose; 3, to read and write; 4, to analyse.

Heretofore, a child has been taught in this order: 1, to read and write; 2, to analyse; 3, to compose.

Education is emancipation. Are we free in the language of music if we can only press the thoughts and emotions of other people and not our own simplest little thoughts?

Thought comes before speech. This system presents the subject of music to a child in an interesting and practical way with the help of objective tangible material.

Ear training is a very important feature of the system. The children are taught to listen for sounds in nature, to locate sounds, to hear and feel the rhythm and expression in music and to be able to tell notes, intervals, chords and scales by their sound. Sound always presented before sign.

For technique there are a series of interesting exercises at table, keyboard, and piano with and without interval attacks.

There are five different materials used in making a child familiar with musical signs, expression marks, and notation. They range from very large sized wood material to the size of ordinary written music on paper.

Rhythm developed by having the children hear, act, clap, and sing music.

"Time." The apparatus is a set of blocks, ranging in size to represent the relative values of notes and rests.

Time Division has heretofore been difficult simply because children were not mentally far enough advanced to understand the values of fractions.

By the use of this material the youngest children can be taught time division.

The construction of major and minor scales, is made possible by the use of a scale ladder. It is as easy to build a major or minor scale from a black note as tonic, as from a white, so no scale is more difficult than another to the child mind.

A thorough knowledge of keyboard of pianoforte is given by the use of a full sized detachable keyboard, on each note of which is the picture of the signs the children already know, and the piano, intervals and chords are easily taught with this.

The system awakens an interest in the great composers and gives a slight knowledge of musical instruments and their respective positions in an orchestra.

The knowledge gained is as useful for any other instrument or for the voice, as for the piano.

The system aims at making artists of its followers by prompting kind, sympathetic thoughts for others, so when it is necessary for a child to express sympathy in his music it is not foreign to him.

Miss Campbell comes very highly recommended as a specialist in the Fletcher Musical System. She has made same a special study, and has been successful in teaching all pupils, and thereby assuring all pupils a most thorough and finished course in the Fletcher system.

LITERARY NOTES.

OUTING FOR SEPTEMBER.

The Boer is a mighty hunter, as Mr. A. S. Jennings' story of a Hand-to-hand Conflict with a Lioness, Outing for September attests. Mr. G. W. O'Brien, one of the contestants, compares the forms and systems of the various countries represented in his article on American Athletics at the Paris Games. The Sporting Spirit, Ancient and Modern, by George Hubbard, is a clear statement of the principles that should underlie such victories. In these days when fanaticism is playing so large a part in determining native action in the Far East, Mr. Fitzherbert Leather's story, The Quin Ahisk's Quits, has special significance. So has Caspar Whitney's contribution, The Boats of the Far East; the Chinese river life which he portrays enables one to estimate the isolation of mind of many of the people of that country. Robin E. Smith's article on The Delusions about Hydrophobia will bring welcome relief to many. Can a Moving Bicycle Fall? is an ingeniously worked paradox. Frederick Remington tells in a humorously graphic way How a Trout Broke a Friendship and Carrie Foote Weeks gives the details of My First Land-locked Salmon.

SAM'S SUN FLOWERS.

Colonel Sam Holmes claims to have on his farm the finest and largest sun flowers in the country. He relates that there are at his country residence, three rows of sun flowers, each row being 100 feet in length and that the stalks range in height from 8 to 16 feet. The flowers themselves are from 16 to 22 inches in diameter. If anyone can beat this the Colonel will be glad to hear from him.

AT THE CHURCH GATE.

Although I enter not,
Yet round about the spot
Of times I hover;
And near the sacred gate,
With longing eyes I wait,
Expectant of her.

The minister bells toll out
Above the city's rout,
And noise and humming
They've hushed the minister bell:
The organ 'gins to swell;
She's coming, she's coming!

My lady comes at last,
Timid and stepping fast,
And hastening hither,
With modest eyes downcast:
She comes—she's here, he's past!
May heaven go with her!

Kneel undisturbed, fair saint!
Pour out your praise or plaint
Meekly and duly;
I will not enter there,
To sully your pure prayer
With thoughts untruly.

But suffer me to pace
Round the forbidden place,
Lingering a minute,
Like outcast spirits, who wait,
And see, through heaven's gate,
Angels within it.

William M. Thackeray.

HIS NEW OFFICES

Dr. Hall is now Fully Settled in Them in the Victoria Block.

Are Convenient of Access, Large, Airy and Thoroughly Equipped—He has no intention of leaving Up His Practice.

Seventeen years ago Dr. Wm. R. Hall began the practice of medicine in this city. Coming here from Detroit, where he had held the important post of City Physician, Dr. Hall was for the short time engaged at the Central Drug Store, after which he opened up an office in the old postoffice building together with Dr. Sawright. Here in one year he laid the foundation of his now large and increasing practice and as his reputation grew, the doctor was obliged to secure more commodious quarters. Accordingly, he removed into the building opposite the post office, where the Belle Telephone Company but recently had their offices. Later he bought the office in which Dr. Tye now is, and after extensive improvements had been completed, took up his quarters there. In his new situation Dr. Hall continued to enjoy one of the best practices in a city, which has ever boasted of its clever physicians, and so busy did he find himself at all times, that five years ago he found it impossible to give the large number of patients, constantly under his care, sufficient attention and therefore associated with himself Dr. W. H. Tye, son of the late Dr. Tye. A short time ago their term of partnership expired and consequently it was necessary that one of the firm should seek other apartments. Dr. Hall decided that it would be to his interests to have a suite of offices which would give him much more space, and he was fortunate in finding exactly what he required in the new Victoria Block.

Here Dr. Hall has leased four very convenient rooms, Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4, main entrance, Fifth street, near King, just at the top of the stairway. His offices are fitted up with every convenience for his large office practice. Room 1 is a dispensary and laboratory, fitted up in a very modern and convenient way by the Hadley Lumber Co. All the rooms are large and airy. The waiting, the ladies' parlor and the private consultation rooms with their hardwood floors and mats show that everything is provided for elegance, convenience and comfort. His new laboratory will give him increased facilities for the examination of water, milk, meat, and food stuffs that come under his notice in connection with his position as medical health officer.

When asked if his position as president of the Helge Fence Company would cause him to give up any of his practice, he replied he gives no intention of giving up any of his practice at present or in the near future. Very little of his time is taken up attending to the affairs of the company, as he has a very able assistant. And so Dr. Hall will still give the same care and attention to his profession in his new quarters as in the old.

Dr. Hall will also continue to act in the capacity of Medical Health Officer, which position he has held for 16 years.

A Woman's True Work.

"The work of a woman in the world is not to make money, but to make a home; her true business in life is that of wife and mother," writes "An American Mother," on "Is a College Education the Best for Our Girls?" in the Ladies' Home Journal. "That is true with regard to nine out of ten of these pretty girls who are tip-toeing about now in caps and gowns, and cherishing the fondest hopes that they may some day be learned fellows and Deans. They will marry perhaps, or remain single, helpful sisters or aunts. They will have houses to manage, children to rear, sick children and men to nurse. Not once in a woman's life perhaps will she be called upon to quote from an Assyrian-Babylonian epic, or to dissect a cat. But three times every day a meal must be cooked under her supervision. At any time she may be called upon to make a poultice for a sick child, to change the sheets under him, to know why the bread is sodden and the meat unpalatable, to give medicine intelligently to the baby in her arms. The college, he it removes her from the girl for four years out of family life in which this kind of training would be given to her. Its controllers, in their anxiety to develop her brain as fully as that of a man, forget the woman's life which is inexorably placed before her, and do not fit her for its inevitable work."

Clean Bread

Can't be made by foul hands and clean, pure blood can't be made by a foul stomach. The blood is made by the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition.

When these organs are diseased they contaminate every drop of blood made from the food they act upon, and this contamination is carried through the whole body. It may settle in the liver, kidneys, heart or lungs but the root of the disease is in the stomach. Cure the stomach and you cure the disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition perfectly and permanently. It purifies the blood, and so by curing the cause of disease, cures many forms of disease in organs remote from the stomach.

"For the past sixteen years I have had torpid liver and indigestion and tried many doctors and patent medicines but I could not get a cure," writes Mrs. Simon Suggs, of Clyde, Sabine Parish, La. "Three months ago I thought I would try Dr. R. V. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and his 'Pleasant Pellets.' I got six bottles of each and I received a good result in a week, and today I am cured sound and well. The symptoms were coated tongue, speckles before the eyes, disposed to be cross and irritable, foul stomach, bad taste in the mouth, tired feeling, a feeling of dread or fear, headache, yellow skin, etc. These symptoms did not all appear at once. It suffers from such troubles will take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets' as directed in pamphlets wrapping bottles they will bring back the bloom of life as it did with me."

Ghosts of Centuries Hover There.

Natives of the little Italian village of Berbenno are excited over a ghostly light that wanders about their streets and which no scientists can explain.

The light is of the chameleon order. Sometimes it is three feet high and blazes like a blue calcium; again it is like a white cloud the size of a man's hand; at other times it is red, globular in shape, and with three tongues of flame issuing from it.

It flits from place to place, often against the wind, sometimes floating dreamily, sometimes dashing from one spot to another with the speed of lightning. The odd thing about it is that it glides away at the approach of a human being. Many see it almost nightly, but as soon as some daring scientist tries to go near it it dashes off and cannot be overtaken.

The route over which it travels is one of tragic history. Thereabouts was a great battle waged in 1624 between French, Spaniards and Venetians, and the ground is sown with dead men's bones. It is also supposed to be the spot where the pest victims of 1557 were interred.

McCORMICK CORN HARVESTERS
GIVE PERFECT SATISFACTION.

This is to certify that we witnessed the operation of one of your Corn Harvesters on the farm of Mr. James Holmes, and are pleased to say that it is one of the most perfect pieces of machinery that we ever saw for cutting and heading corn, and in point of making an even butt and tying. The sheaf carrier works to perfection, there not being any ears knocked off. It is very easy draft, has no side draft, and two horses haul it with ease.

We would recommend the McCormick Corn Harvester to any persons wishing to purchase a corn harvester.

ARCHIE WON'T RUN

That was Settled at a Private Party Meeting.Ald. Stephens or Ald. McKeough the Likely Choice—The Former is Hesitating.

There was a private meeting of some fifteen or eighteen of the local Liberal leaders held last night while Arch. Campbell, M. P., and T. L. Pardo, M. P., were in town. At this meeting there was an important informal discussion regarding candidates. It was definitely settled that Mr. Campbell would not be an aspirant for nomination.

Ald. Geo. Stephens was admitted to be the party's strongest man, but fears were expressed that Mr. Stephens would not be available. A definite answer cannot be obtained from him and there is a hitch over terms.

John A. Macgregor, of Tilbury, was stated to be out of the race. He was in it up to recently, but for some reason has changed his mind and will not be an aspirant.

County Councillor William Hickey was not considered of enough consequence to merit any discussion. He was passed over with a laugh.

Ald. W. E. McKeough was declared the probable candidate. Those present unanimously considered Mr. McKeough the strongest available man. The name of Laurence Howard, a wealthy retired Raleigh farmer, living in the city, also cropped up incidentally.

The net result of the meeting was that Archie Campbell would not seek the nomination; that Ald. Stephens would be a good man if he placed himself unconditionally at the party's disposal; that failing Ald. Stephens Ald. McKeough would be the choice.

WANT THEIR WAGES

Four Discharged King Street Employees Appeal to the M. P.

Four lusty laborers meandered into the Magistrate's office at the police court this morning and informed Mr. Houston that they sought justice in its purified form.

The Magistrate replied that he had the genuine article on tap and asked who the individual was against whom they desired to turn the engines of justice.

The spokesman explained that the person in question was none other than Mr. Lynch, the King street contractor, and, as for the reason why, they could give that, too.

The men were from Dresden and they stated to the Magistrate that their names were James Martin, Wm. Ellis, Michael Bowman and Casper Moore. According to the men, they had been employed by Mr. Lynch for some time, but they were discharged without their wages, which they claimed they were entitled to.

Mr. Lynch said that he could not try the case until to-morrow or the next day, as he was out of the city. If they could not induce Lynch to hand over the money.

Mr. Lynch when asked about the trouble explained it in this way: One of the men from Dresden had been told by Mr. Shackleton not to pour so much water on the cement. This man then abused the engineer and was reprimanded by Mr. Lynch who informed him that such conduct might get him a job. Later in the day the foreman was absent for a short time and a colored man was left in charge of the cement mixing.

The Dresdenite began his old trick of putting on too much water and was ordered to stop it by the temporary boss. He then called the colored man a vile name, whereupon the latter struck him. The young man then told Mr. Lynch that if he did not discharge the boss he would go. Mr. Lynch replied that he could go if he wanted to, but that he would pay him what was coming to him on Saturday night. Thereupon five or six other men from Dresden said that unless Mr. Lynch paid their fellow townsman at once they would quit work also. They were informed that they could do as they pleased, and they also threw up the sponge. The police court was the outcome of this trouble. The men will get their money at the regular time it is due.

The water commissioners meet tonight. It is the intention of the commissioners that the board of works shall pay for the raising of the steam roller from the hole into which it fell on King street. They claim that the hydrant near the spot where the roller sank was not turned off properly after being used by the contractors to flush the street. In consequence the water trickled down, saturated the ground and made it too soft to bear the weight of the roller. Therefore the commissioners desire that the expense incurred shall fall on the board of works.

DON'T BE DUPED

There have been placed upon the market several cheap reprints of an obsolete edition of Webster's Dictionary, which are being offered under various names at a low price.

By dry goods dealers, grocers, agents, etc., and in a few instances as a premium for subscriptions to papers.

Announcements of these comparatively

reprints are very misleading; for instance, they are advertised to be the substantial equivalent of a higher-priced book, when in reality, so far as we know and believe, they are not.

Reprint Dictionaries, ghostly copies of a book of over fifty years ago, which in its day was sold for about $1.00, and which was much superior in paper, print, and binding to the imitations, being a work of some merit instead of one Long Since Obsolete.

The supplement of 10,000 so-called "new words," which some of these books are advertised to contain, was compiled by a gentleman who died over forty years ago, and was published before his death. Other minor additions are probably of more or less value.

The Genuine Edition of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary, which is the only one known to contain, was compiled by a gentleman who died over forty years ago, and was published before his death. Other minor additions are probably of more or less value.

Valuable as this work is, we have at vast expense published a thoroughly revised supplement every page, and bears our imprint on the title page. It is protected by copyright from cheap imitations.

QUEEN BUMBLEBUZZ

A Royal Bee Who Earned Her Own Living

QUEEN Bumblebuzz awoke quite suddenly one fine spring morning from her long winter's nap.

It was high time, for Her Majesty had suffered much from bad dreams. Her last meal of honey and what not—there had been a scarcity of proper food in the late autumn—had disagreed with her, and a horrible night-mare had been the result. In her dream she made such a vigorous effort to defend herself from an enemy that she awoke, to find that the sun had discovered her hiding place and was doing his best to thaw her out in her snug bed of dry moss. The chill and numbness soon left her limbs. It was time to be up and away.

All her children and Bumblebees subjects were dead, with the exception of those queens of the royal household who had lived through the winter. They, of course, would now found monarchies of their own, and she, too, must begin the hard task over again, for such is the duty of queens—bee queens.

Queen Bumblebuzz knew there was plenty of time, for the red clover would not bloom for a long time. When the first little head put on its red cap, then she would go to housekeeping. She intended to enjoy herself as much as possible while she was free from family cares.

Queen Bumblebuzz was musical in a way. It runs in the family. True, there was nothing remarkable about her singing, for she sang the same song over and over; yet, as she fitted from honeysuckle to honeysuckle and played among the lilacs and the willows by the brookside, her thick, hairy body, with its yellow neckband and other markings, fairly quivered with the joy of her deep, humming song.

It was playtime with her, and she was happy, careless and free, sleeping where the night found her, on a leaf, on the ground, anywhere; oftentimes all on a thistle. The despised weed was a loyal friend. Queen Bumblebuzz knew right well, and would not fail to protect her with spine and lance while she slept from the mean skunk and delectful snake.

One sunny day, when the south wind breathed softly over the country side, the queen was flying swiftly across a field that lay between two patches of woodland, when she suddenly slackened her peed to sniff the air in a suspicious way. Glancing far ahead—for, having five eyes, two in front and three on the top of her head, she can see very well indeed—she espied what she knew she would see—a clover head in its red cap popping up out of the sea of green ones surrounding it on every side.

"Ah!" she cried. "It is time for me to get to work." Her playtime was over.

Like many others who get the most out of life, Queen Bumblebuzz played when she played, and worked when she worked. She now felt in a tremendous hurry. She had no idea of building a house or nest all by herself. No, indeed! No bee, however willing, could do that. So she began to hunt for one ready-made, scrambling among the dead grass in the fields and in the fence corners. At last she came upon one of the runways leading to a mouse's nest. This she followed, but, alas! the nest was occupied, and a high pitched, squeaky voice startled her by asking, sharply:

"Who's there, and what do you want?"

"I am very sorry to trouble you, madam," answered the queen politely, in her deep bass voice. "I am Queen Bumblebuzz. Perhaps you have heard of me. I was well known in this neighborhood last year. If I had known that I was nest was occupied, believe me, I would not have disturbed you for the world."

But the mouse, not feeling very well, was cranky and rude; rather strange in a mouse, for they are shy and gentle as a rule. This one's bright eyes snapped as she said, scornfully:—"Very likely, indeed, Queen Bumblebuzz! She turned and left the place. She was more fortunate the next time. The dunway led to an empty nest, which she felt she might occupy with a clear conscience. Then she went to work collecting masses of pollen—flower or dust—in each lump placing one or more eggs. How busy she was! Talk about the idleness, the easy times of queens! This Queen was the hardest worked royal personage I ever heard of. What with collecting pollen, laying eggs, raising such an enormous family, besides gathering honey for a time of need, she had her hands more than full. The honey she stored in cells, open at the top, for all the world like cunning little jam pots without any cover.

As the eggs hatched and the baby bees—little white grubs—grew, the good queen mother softened the lumps of pollen with honey. The young ones could feed themselves where they lay, each one eating a hole around him as large as a good-sized bean. There he had to spin for himself a cocoon or sheet in which he wound himself, to find himself at last a bee when he awoke.

DEATH IN THE VIAL.

THE FIFTH TABLET CARRIED A DOSE THAT WAS FATAL.

Why the Doctor Had a Premonition That Misfortune Had Overtaken a Wealthy Planter—How the Story of the Crime Leaked Out.

The story was told by a police commissioner of another city who was in New Orleans recently on a visit.

"The most ingenious murder I ever knew anything about," he said, "was committed by a young physician. He was a rising practitioner at a place where I formerly lived, and with your permission, I will speak of him simply as Dr. Smith.

"About a dozen years ago, as nearly as I remember, the doctor's name went on a visit to a relative in a neighboring city, and one afternoon, on the third or fourth day of his stay, he startled a lady member of the household by remarking that he 'had a feeling' that some misfortune had overtaken a wealthy planter whom they both knew very well, and whom I will call Colonel Jones. The colonel was a prominent resident of the doctor's home town and had a large outlying estate, which he was in the habit of visiting once a week.

"On the day of Smith's singular premonition he was on one of those tours of inspection, but failed to come back, and the following morning his corpse was found lying in a cornfield. He had evidently been dead about 24 hours, and from the appearance of the body seemed to have been seized with some sort of fit or convulsion.

"Of course the affair created a great stir, and the police made a pretty thorough investigation, but the only thing they found that merited any special attention was a small, round vial in the dead man's vest pocket. It was about the diameter of a lead pencil by four inches long, and had originally contained a couple of dozen medicinal tablets, which lying one on top of the other, filled the little bottle to the cork. A few still remained in the bottom.

"Upon inquiry it was learned without trouble that the tablets were a harmless preparation of soda, and that Jones himself had bought them at a local drug store. That ended suspicion in that quarter, and, for lack of anything better, the coroner returned a verdict of death from sunstroke. There was no autopsy.

"Some time after Jones had been buried," continued the police commissioner, "I learned accidentally of Dr. Smith's curious prophecy, and it set me to thinking. Eventually I evolved a theory, but it was impossible at the time to sustain it with proof, and five or six years I kept it pieced in my brain, waiting for something to happen. Meanwhile, to everybody's surprise, Dr. Smith went to the dogs. He began by drinking heavily, gradually lost his practice, and finally skipped out to avoid prosecution for cashing a fake draft. After his flight I learned enough to absolutely confirm my theory as to Jones' death. What had really happened was this:

"Dr. Smith owed the old man a considerable sum of money and had given a note, upon which he had forged his father's name as indorser. The planter was pressing him for payment and had threatened suit, which meant inevitable exposure. One day, while they were conversing, Jones pulled out a little glass vial and swallowed one of the tablets it contained, remarking that he took one daily, after dinner, for sour stomach.

"That suggested a diabolical scheme of assassination, which the doctor proceeded to put into execution. Repairing to his office, he made up a duplicate tablet of strychnine, and, encountering the colonel next day, asked him to let him have the vial for a moment, so he could copy the address of the makers from the label.

"Jones handed it over unsuspectingly, and while his attention was briefly diverted elsewhere Smith put in the prepared tablet. He placed it under the top leaf, thus making it reasonably certain that his victim would take it on the fifth day from that date. Next morning he left town, so as to be far away when the tragedy was consummated, and some mysterious, uncontrollable impulse evidently led him to make the prediction that first excited my suspicion.

"When I made certain of all this, I located Smith in Oklahoma and was on the point of applying for an extradition warrant when he anticipated me by contracting pneumonia and dying. I thereupon returned the case to its mental pigeonhole, where it has remained ever since."

"Pardon me for asking," said one of the listeners, "but is that really a true story, or are you entertaining us with interesting fiction?"

"It is absolutely true," replied the narrator.

"But how did you learn the particulars?"

"Well," said the police commissioner, smiling, "Smith was like most clever criminals—he had one weak spot. He was fool enough to tell a woman. She blabbed."

A cynical woman says that when a man breaks his heart it is the same as when a lobster breaks one of his claws—another sprouts immediately and grows in its place.

Take care of the stomach and the health will take care of itself. If people only realized the soundness of that statement the majority might live to a good old age, like Moses. "The eye undimmed, the natural force unabated." It is in the stomach that the blood is made. It is from the stomach that nourishment is despatched to nerve and muscle. If the stomach is "weak" it can't do its whole work for each part of the body. If it is diseased the disease will taint the nourishment which is distributed, and so spread disease throughout the body. It was the realization of the importance of the stomach as the very centre of health and the common source of disease, which led Dr. Pierce to prepare his "Golden Medical Discovery."

"Diseases which originate in the stomach must be cured through the stomach. The soundness of this theory is proved every day by cures of diseased organs, heart, liver, lungs, blood,—by the use of the 'Discovery,' which is solely and singly a medicine for the blood, and is a temperance medicine containing no alcohol, whiskey or other intoxicant.

Some men seem to think because self-preservation is the first law of nature that it is necessary to keep themselves constantly soaked in alcohol.

Editor S. A. Brown, of Benetville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from Dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters, which helped her at once, and, after using four bottles, she is entirely well, can eat anything. It's a good tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for tired liver."

PEANUT ADVERTISING.

A Promoter's Method of Advancing the Interests of a Shell Plaster Concern.

"Gimme two cents' worth of those peanuts," said the smooth-faced young man, walking up to the Italian vendor in front of the post office. The Italian measured the peanuts out and at the young man's suggestion, dumped them into the pocket of his coat. They went into the right-hand pocket, but the young man plunged his hand into the pocket on the left-hand side, and hauling out a nut, cracked it open and started to put the contents into his mouth. Suddenly he gave a loud exclamation, and then with apparent indignation, turned to the Italian and said:

"Say, John, what kind of peanuts do you call these?"

"They all right," protested the Italian.

"All right nuthin'," said the young man. "Just look at this," and from inside the peanut that he had just broken open, he pulled a small piece of paper, neatly folded up. Unfolding the paper he read aloud:

"This is no shell game. Use the famous Bumm Bumm Shin Plasters."

The young man took another peanut from the left-hand pocket and cracked that open. Out fell another fold of paper containing the same advertisement. The Italian's eyes were nearly popping out of his head. The young man put on a great show of indignation.

"This is the worst bunco game I ever ran against," he exclaimed.

"Take these peanuts back and keep them. I don't want the blame things," and with a rapid motion, he extracted a handful of peanuts from the same left-hand pocket, and throwing them in with the Italian's stock mixed them up. The Italian was strengthened by the Italian's stock mixed them up. The Italian was strengthened by the Italian's stock mixed them up.

"I got enough fun out of this thing watching the faces of those dagos to pay me for doing it, even if I wasn't getting good pay. Say, it's the greatest game ever played. You see, it's this way. I make a living suggesting ways to advertise to big concerns. Now the Bumm Bumm Shin Plaster company wanted to reach the common people with advertisements of their stuff. So they send for me and ask me for a suggestion. The peanut game was one that I thought out a long time ago, but had never put into operation. The Bumm Bumm people thought it was all right and were willing to give me good pay. I had a couple of words open up a bushel of peanuts, fold up these little circulars, put them inside, and then, by the use of a very small quantity of paste of each shell, put them together again. I sold the meat of the nuts to a candy man, and got more for them than I paid for the original bushel.

"I took the lot down to the office of the Bumm Bumm company, and they were dead stuck on the game. They gave me a check, and that being the end of my contract, I bobbed up with another suggestion. 'You can reach a lot of people with those things, just scattering them around the street,' I says, 'but I've got a better game than that.' Then I told them that for $10 a day I would mix those fake peanuts up with the stocks of vendors, so that every man who bought peanuts on the street would be bound to get at least one of ours. Say, they were dead stuck on the game, for we closed at once. That's all there is to it. You've seen me at work and know how I do it. Say, but isn't it a peach of a game? I bet I've put forty peanut stocks on the bogus since I started out, and I've only been working three days."

How to Reduce Flesh.

I have just received a letter from a correspondent in New Orleans, who tells me that she has reduced herself sixty pounds by following my obesity treatment. Here it is:

Avoid all starchy and sweetened food, all cereals, vegetables containing sugar or starch, such as peas, beans, corn, potatoes, etc. Have your bread toasted; sprinkle it with salt instead of butter. Milk is fattening. Hot water is an excellent substitute for other liquids. Add a little of the juice of lemons or lemons to it, if you choose. Limit your sleeping hours to seven at the outside. No naps. You must take exercise.

If you cannot walk at least five miles a day, and do not wheel, go to one of the institutions where mechanical massage is given. Several of my correspondents report excellent results from this method of getting the vigorous exercise they require. The system is thoroughly wholesome and not expensive. In reducing flesh the one fact to recollect is that fat is carbon—oxygen destroys or burns out carbon. You must consume the carbon by the oxygen you take through your lungs. The more exercise the more oxygen and consequent destruction of fat by the one healthful method of curing obesity.

The more starch and sugar you eat the more carbon to burn away.

Sweet Odors.

Lavender is the housewife's scent, and tells of good home-making. Violet was the odor of the grand dame long before the advent of the famous Parisian dame of ancient noblesse, who said: "The devil may smell of sulphur if he goes near my lavender and violet."

Floraline, of course. It is the iris florentina, iris root, which gives the violet scent of lavender to the toilet. The rhizomes of this and other iris and flag are scented like violets and form the basis of violet perfumes and dry scents for various pomanders, bags, etc. Orris root is largely cultivated, dried in the sun and prepared in France and Italy.

Chicago beats the world," announced the tall, slim, traveling man, after he had taken a late lunch in the hotel cafe. "It claims everything and concedes nothing. A novice would be made to think over there that Chicago exploited the universe, stocked it, watered the stock, issued half a dozen series of bonds and run it ever since.

"What do you think I went up against in that town last winter? I was coming out of one of the theatres when a cadaverous looking genius with ten-inch hair asked me if I was a lawyer. I humored him to learn what his game was. 'Well, sir,' he continued, 'you have a chance to make a fortune. You have seen this play, strong on the stage and strong in the box office. It's superb, yet it's a bald-faced, unmitigated, cold-blooded plagiarism. I wrote it every word of it. Not a stroke of the author for damages and I'll give you half.'

The Cabman Was Posted.

Says an American: "I thought to have a little fun with a Paris cab driver one day, and so I walked up to him and told him to drive me to the tomb of George Washington. He hesitated for about half a second and then told me to jump in. After driving me about half a mile he halted in front of a monument on a square and gravely announced: 'Behold zee tomb of zee George Washington!'

"I got out and walked around and had a good look at the shaft and then returned to the man to say: 'But why does the inscription refer to Christopher Columbus?'

"Because, monsieur," he replied, as he pretended to examine a wheel of his cab, 'they were twin brothers and died in each other's arms to save zee crown of England!'

The Remains of the Late Robert O'Hara Were Laid at Rest.

The funeral of the late Robert O'Hara took place yesterday afternoon and was marked by a large attendance. The remains were reverently laid to rest in Maple Leaf Cemetery with solemn Masonic rites. At two o'clock a private service was held at the house, by the Rev. Mr. Cooper. At 3 o'clock the funeral cortege moved to the church, where a large number of friends had assembled. The service was conducted by the Rev. R. Sims, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Cooper, of Owassee, Mich. The Kent Bar Association and the Masons, marshalled by Major J. B. Rankin, attended in a body. The Masonic services at the grave were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Battisby. The honorary pall bearers were: C. R. Atkinson, Q. C. Chas. Monahan, U. S. Consul, P. D. McKelvey, E. W. Scane, Robert Mercer and Wm. Douglas. The pall bearers were: Judge Houston, Wm. Ball, Dr. J. P. Rutherford, James H. John, John Holmes and Rufus Stephenson, Collector of Customs. The Rev. Mr. Cooper, who was formerly pastor in Holy Trinity here, was an intimate friend of Mr. O'Hara's, and he assisted at the service. Speaking of Mr. O'Hara, the Rev. Mr. Cooper said:

"It has been my privilege to enjoy the close and intimate friendship of Mr. O'Hara for many years, and to know and understand him as I did was to love and admire him. He was a profound thinker upon the most abstruse subjects of life, his knowledge of such being far beyond that of many professional theologians. In fact, he might be said to be a student of nature's mysteries and he led up through them to nature's God."

"While possessing sincere respect for the feelings and beliefs of others, he nevertheless had a keen comprehension of the vast difference between true religion and that religionism which too often possessed the current of the world. He revered the former but had no sympathy with the latter. In his intellectual conceptions he was ahead of his time, and as is often the case with such men, he was frequently misunderstood."

"During the long and earnest conversations we have had together in past years, he has given expression to most beautiful thoughts on the mission and teaching of that Saviour before whom he knelt in adoration and in whom he believed with a touching simplicity. He has passed from our midst only to enter into a fuller and more abundant life where joy is lost in sight and hope is crowned with reward."

PERRY—McBRAYNE.

Last evening the William St. Baptist Church was the scene of a pretty wedding, by which Miss Margaret Perry, daughter of Mrs. G. W. Perry, of Detroit street, and Myrland C. McBrayne, of Detroit, were joined in holy matrimony.

The bride and groom had been getting along very well since the autumn of last year, when they were introduced by mutual friends. They were both very young and very attractive. The wedding was a very simple one, but it was a very happy one. The bride was dressed in a very becoming manner, and the groom was also very well dressed. The wedding was attended by a large number of friends, and it was a very successful one.
