Six Thousand Prisoners Taken by Russ Forces Today During Drive in Galicia

Organized Army Strikes Body Blows at Foe

Drive Launched in Galicia Resulting in Capture of Enemy Positions, Several Towns and Large Numbers of Captives; Offensive Developing Very Successfully

Petrograd, July 3.—The new Russian offensive has resulted in the capture of 6,000 more prisoners. The Russians are advancing towards Galicia, the War Office announces.

Twenty-one guns and several mine throwers were captured. Prisoners continue to be brought in. The number of prisoners taken in the fighting southeast of Brzezany on Sunday is given as 53 officers and 1,000 men.

Russian troops have occupied the Galician villages of Presovec, Groff and Korshiduv. The Austro-German forces have retreated westward across the little Stripa River.

Huns Admit Russ Gains

Berlin, July 3.—via London—Russian troops have broken forward across the heights on the western bank of the Stripa in Galicia and succeeded in extending northward the gap they made in the Teutonic lines the previous day, army headquarters announced today.

The Russian progress was halted with the assistance of German reserves, the statement adds.

Finns In Fight

Petrograd, July 3.—Details from an authorized source of the victorious Russian attack in Galicia state that a Finnish division participated in the victory at Koniuchy. All enemy trenches on the slopes of Mount Sredniaya Goura, east of Koniuchy, were occupied. Besides the village of Koniuchy, the forest west thereof as far as Kolef was taken. All German trenches south of Koniuchy and the wood west of the village of Schibalim were occupied. Three lines of enemy trenches north west of Zoloukhi and similar positions southwest of Potoutory and east and southeast of Nitchischou fell into the hands of the Russians.

Still In Progress.

Petrograd, July 2.—Up to the hour of telegraphing the advance of the Russian army in Galicia was still in progress. A despatch received by the war ministry, but unpublished, says that the staff of the Russian army in Galicia is more than satisfied with the progress made.

Never was an offensive so auspiciously begun. The local army staff was pleased with the speed of the advance as the operation which the staff had expected would take two days, was executed yesterday between the hours of two and nine.

All of the latest telegrams to the war ministry agree that the soldiers are in excellent spirits and the ministry authorizes the statement that preparations as regards munitions and equipment are in better shape than in any preceding period of the war.

The new chief of the war ministry, information department is Lieutenant Perun, who is also a member of the executive committee of the council of deputies. Lieutenant Perun has just returned from the front, where he witnessed War Minister Kerensky's crusade in favor of an immediate offensive. The lieutenant told the Associated Press that the very eloquence of Minister Kerensky was largely responsible for the change in the army's mood. The lieutenant was present when Kerensky, having told the soldiers that if they would not attack he would march toward the enemy's trenches alone, was embraced and kissed by the soldiers.

Army Reborn. Lieutenant Perun mentioned one division especially known for its unwillingness to fight, which after the minister's speeches became the most militant on the front.

"The army," said the lieutenant, "was reborn under my eyes."

The minds of the soldiers, he said, are thoroughly permeated with Russia's new political program. War Minister Kerensky's merit, the lieutenant declared, is that he first realized that the Russians will fight only if they are convinced they are fighting not for imperialism but for freedom at home and international peace. The war minister, he added, has accomplished the almost impossible task of convincing the soldiers of that fact.

Lieutenant Perun declares that deserters are returning more rapidly than ever, and says that the condition of the army is markedly better than Petrograd thinks.

Victory Cheered.

Crowds of enthusiastic citizens marched through the streets of Petrograd to-day carrying portraits of War Minister Kerensky and General Brussilov, while others thronged the sidewalks and filled balconies and windows, cheering and waving flags and handkerchiefs in celebration of the first victory of Russian arms on the western front since the revolution. The demonstration started with a score of men who got the first news from the war office of the Russian advance and grew rapidly to large proportions. Large portraits of the war minister and the chief of staff were obtained and carried in the parade, exciting the greatest enthusiasm since the capture of Przemyśl.

British View

London, July 3.—The reawakening of Russian activity on the battle front is conspicuously featured by morning newspapers, but few comment on the event. The Times says:

"We shall not indulge in premature congratulations." The Times, however, and two other papers assure Russia that their comrades who have borne the brunt of this year's fighting, are greatly cheered and inspired to fresh hope by a renewal of the Muscovite offensive. It points out that much severe fighting awaits the Russians before they can hope to capture Brzezany, with its strong defences.

France Delighted

Paris, July 3.—The Russian offensive shares with the American army in France, the honors of the day in French newspapers. The splendid news from General Brusilov's headquarters, coming on the heels of the arrival of the American vanguard, fills France's cup of joy to overflowing. The temporary wavering of despondency and impatience which found an outward manifestation in two dozen interpellations of the government in the Chamber of Deputies, has vanished.

The reappearance of the Russian army on the scene of the great war drama had been discussed in France for some time past, but the general

FOURTEEN DAYS UNDER THE BRITISH SHELL FIRE

Extracts From German Letter Vividly Depicts Feelings of Enemy Troops—Hope To Be Taken Prisoners, Or Shall Go Mad

London, July 3.—(By Reuter's Ottawa Agency)—Reuter's correspondent at the front writes from a German letter found at Messines Ridge, dated from "A shell hole in hell." It vividly depicts the feelings of the German troops. "We have been fourteen days under a hellish fire day and night," states the writer. "We crouch together in holes awaiting our doom with dead piled up here. All night we lie with gas masks on as the British fire gas shells. Hundredweight of aerial torpedoes thrown at us make trench work impossible. So far our division, composed of three regiments, has lost 3,000 men in barely three months. We are quite helpless against the British. We cannot sit or lie down. These big British shells would wreck the heart of a lion. Our artillery dare not fire in the day time owing to the great activity of the British airplanes. We all hope to be taken prisoners; otherwise we shall go mad."

SIR HERBERT TREE QUILTS EARTHLY STAGE

Noted British Actor Makes Last Exit; Died of Sudden Heart Attack at Eight O'clock Last Night, In London, England.

London, July 3.—According to the morning newspapers, the sudden death of Sir Herbert Tree last night was not caused by a recent operation, but it was a case of collapse so sudden that he died within a few moments. Sir Herbert's engagements, so that he could daily with Mr. Dana, his business manager, during the last few days. They were thus engaged for some time Monday afternoon, and when Dana left, Sir Herbert was in a cheerful mood, as he expected to leave his bed soon. Sir Herbert had a slight accident on June 16. He slipped while descending a staircase and strained the ligaments of his right knee. He underwent an operation on June 21, which proved to be somewhat serious, but was expected to lead to his complete recovery. The attending surgeons, however, insisted upon the cancellations of all Sir Herbert's engagements, so that he could enjoy complete seclusion and rest. A friend who visited Sir Herbert yesterday, found him, as he described it, "as well as ever." In the evening, however, he had a heart attack, and the end came very quickly, the famous actor dying at 8 o'clock.

Semi-Centennial Event Crowned With Success

Golden Jubilee of Confederation Fittingly Observed in Brantford on Sunday and Monday—Patriotic Services in all City Churches, Spectacular Pageant of the Great Dominion's Founding

Right fittingly did Brantford commemorate Canada's fiftieth birthday, the golden jubilee of Confederation, by a celebration which will live long in the annals of the city, and be looked back to by many.

Despite the inclement weather, which intervened to prevent the outdoor song services, planned as a consummation of the religious observance of the occasion, on Sunday afternoon, the celebration was in deed of two days' duration, for the churches of the city, regardless alike of denomination and sect, united in a paean of praise for the fifty years of prosperity and happiness accorded the fair Dominion which is the home of all of us, while a fitting being drawn by the local theatres, while the Brant County Bowling Tourney proved a source of interest and recreation to many. A pall over the festivities of the holiday was cast by the untimely catastrophe resulting in the drowning of Fred McGowan and Earl Broun, deservedly two of the city's most popular young men.

on the momentous occasion of the Dominion's fiftieth birthday, as testified by the wealth of flags, streamers and other patriotic decorations adorning private homes throughout the city, festooning the places of business along the central streets and everywhere proclaiming to all Brantford's loyalty and enthusiasm for the cause of the Dominion.

Early Monday morning the streets were filled with holiday makers, and as the day wore on and time drew near for the commencement of the main procession from the market, the central streets were thronged as almost never before in the city's history. The market square, and the former Tea Pot Inn building, temporary headquarters for the performers in the celebration, became naturally the centre of interest, and impatience was manifest until the procession got under way at two o'clock. Thanks to the able marshaling of Mr. J. A. Powell and Chief Lewis, not a hitch marred the event with the utmost precision and regularity. Heading the parade, marched the "Lads" Brigade of Grace Church, in full uniform and with the bugle band in attendance for the occasion. Followed then the royal coach, drawn by eight horses, and a second four horse coach for the Prince of Wales. The returned sol-

Imperial Emblem Everywhere Displayed Throughout Peking; Boy Ruler, Restored by Chang Hsun to Power. Issues Edict to People—Constitution, Law to be Adhered to

By Courier Leased Wire

Peking, July 1.—Delayed—The Imperial emblem is everywhere displayed, marking the restoration of the Manchu monarchy. There has been no disorder. In a long edict Emperor Hsuan Tung, who was restored to the throne today, explains how, being youthful, he was forced to relinquish sovereign power to Yuan Shi Kai, late president of the Chinese Republic. The country being threatened with disintegration and party strife and the people appealing to him to take over its administration to save the people from suffering, the young Emperor says he was compelled to take action. China's future government will be based on the following:

The country shall be administered according to the constitutional laws promulgated by the late Emperor.

Expenses of the Imperial household shall remain the same as those fixed by the republic.

Blood princes shall not be allowed to interfere in politics.

There shall be no differences between Manchu and Chinese. Marriage between them is allowed.

Li Yuan To Quit

Peking, Sunday, July 1.—(Delayed)—Early to-day, Hsuan Tung, the young emperor, who was put back on the throne to-day under the protection of General Chang Hsun, President of the Republic, has submitted to the monarchy. The edict follows:

"Li Yuan Hung memorializes us to take over the government, stating that he was forced by the troops during the first revolution to become the nation's president. He blames his defects as head of the republic and asks us to punish him. We recognize his mistakes and also his merits. We hereby appoint him a duke of the first class."

It is expected that President Li Yuan Hung will resign to-morrow. Peking, Sunday, July 1.—(Delayed)—According to an edict issued in the name of Hsuan-Tung, the young emperor, who was put back on the throne to-day under the protection of General Chang-Hsuan, President Li Yuan Hung has submitted to the monarchy. The edict follows:

SAD DOUBLE DROWNING TAKES PLACE ON THE HOLIDAY

Fred McGowan Valued Member of the Courier Staff and Earl Broun Manager of C. P. McGregor Store Meet Death in the Grand River—Had Started out to Join Others in a Canoe Trip

A double drowning accident, in which two popular and well known young men of this city were the victims, brought deep sorrow to their relatives, friends and acquaintances on the holiday.

The victims were Fred McGowan and Earl Broun, the former a valued member of the Courier staff and the latter manager of the C. P. McGregor store.

McGowan bought a canoe some three weeks ago and kept it in a boat house at the foot of Murray Street, near the power house. He and Broun took the craft out at about 10.30 and paddling up the canal portaged at the dam and took the water near the Grand Trunk bridge, below the dam.

The river is a racing torrent after the recent rains, in fact nearly at flood height, and almost immediately the swiftly flowing current had seized the frail craft and the occupants evidently lost control of it. They were swung into the centre of the stream and in spite of their efforts to direct its course, the canoe crashed broadside into the second pier of the Lake Erie and Northern bridge. Mrs. Hayden of Aberdeen Avenue, Mr. Tracey and a railway watchman, saw the catastrophe and state that the canoeists were thrown out. Both were seen to swim for several yards, but the current proved too much for them and they disappeared.

The two were to form part of a canoeing party of six to run down the river as far as the Bow Park ferry and then portage into the canal. The others they were to join at the foot of Baldwin Avenue. When time passed and they did not appear, the fact was reported to Mr. McGowan, who became suspicious. Meanwhile Mr. Tracey phoned the Fire Hall and firemen rushed hurriedly to the scene of the fatality. The life boat was launched and the grappling irons used, but in the swift current that was running and in the willows, it was absolutely impossible to work to any advantage. Several of the best firemen, worked for over an hour in a search that was vain. At length the task was given up after prolonged and exhaustive effort.

Early in the afternoon, shortly after two o'clock, Mr. McGowan was notified that a canoe had become lodged at the root of a tree near the end of Eagle Avenue, and he informed the firemen without delay.

Captain Kingswell, accompanied by three assistants, went to the River Road, where the boat was caught, and with the aid of a number of men who had gathered, worked for about an hour to secure the canoe from the foot of a tree in which it had become entangled, below the surface of the water. The current again impeded their efforts, but they were finally successful in landing the boat, which was identified by Mr. McGowan public had hardly shared in the optimism of public men who returned from visits to Russia. The hostility never had been doubted, but her ability to carry out big military operations at an early date had been questioned. The news, therefore, came as an agreeable surprise, and morning newspapers hastened to make an honorable amend.

Parliaments Revised
 The Russians have just shown the pessimists and skeptics, who doubted that they were capable of resuming the offensive that they have lost nothing of their dash and pristine valor.

The Math says:
 "The revolution has revived Russia's patriotism. She is to-day like immortal France of 1913. Her army regenerated and organized is to speak an army of volunteers who also have for a motto that of our fathers 'victory or death.' Their effort is only a beginning. It will develop. It is sustained by the greatest force in the world, a force which is essential to the strength of armies—moral confidence."

All newspapers pay the highest tribute to the efforts of Minister of War Kerensky, which made the event possible.

NEWS OF NORFOLK
Great Exodus From Simcoe To Brantford for Double Holiday
WRESTLING MATCH
Norfolk Debenture Bonds Sold on Saturday

Simcoe, July 3.—(From our own correspondent)—"How many did you ticket to Brantford to-day?" was our query of the man at the ticket at the L. E. and N. depot last evening. "What's the population of Simcoe?" was his reply. We told him. "Well we fixed them all but about two hundred, I should think. They are not all home yet."

The big event here last week was a wrestling match between a 190 pound Italian, Mike Miskado, of Buffalo, and Tom Montour, of Hagersville, both employees at the can factory. Mike had been telling Alf Rhodes for weeks past how he could flop any Simcoe man that would step on the mat, but the boys could find no one to tackle the 190 pounder. Montour found his bearings during the fortnight he has been here. The bout was pulled off on Friday evening about nine o'clock, in a ring down by the park, prepared by Stanley Cross. There was about one hundred spectators. Admission free, and not bet between the men. It was a catch as catch can affair, and Montour looked an easy victim, carrying only 165 pounds. He went down with a slip after ten minutes.

After the rest, the real struggle began. Tom remembered that he was known in Brantford, and that his sister in Hagersville reads The Courier daily, and he went in to hold his reputation. The outcome looked doubtful for the first twenty minutes of heavy work with honours even. Referee Rhodes thought he had an all night job, but five minutes later the big fellow was a victim of the body seissor and hammer lock and went down with a thud. He took the rest and declined the third round.

 James H. Hunter, of the staff of Farm and Dairy, Peterboro, was home for the week-end. He came over on the G.T.R. passenger train, in a mix-up with a freight on Saturday, but escaped injury.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Martin left Saturday for Perugia, for the summer vacation. They will take up residence on Norfolk Street South, in August.

Miss Barber, of Portland, Oregon, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Winifred Jamieson, Elmhurst Street, en route to visit her mother on the Atlantic seaboard.

Miss Jean Neil, of London, spent the holiday at the parental home here.

Miss Gladys Price spent the week-end and holiday at Niagara Falls and Brantford.

Fred Wilkes, of the L.E. & N. depot staff, is being transferred temporarily to Preston.

Mrs. Haskett and children, of Cleveland, Ohio, are visiting with the family of Thos. Haskett, on Union Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Drynan, of Hamilton, and Mrs. H. Nelles and children, of Toledo, are visiting relatives in Simcoe during July.

With the Musicians
 Miss Madden's class of juvenile students in music held their sixth and last Little Red Cross musicale, at the home of their instructor, on Saturday afternoon.

They were assisted by Miss Lucy Trafford, a former pupil, now continuing her studies in Toronto. Mr. Tattersall, of the Toronto College of Music, conducted an examination of four students, beginning at 1.30. The programme and luncheon followed. The homes where held and proceeds of the six functions are given herewith:
 Mrs. W. L. Innes $10.30
 Mrs. W. N. McKay 10.70
 Mrs. A. P. Boles 9.20
 Mrs. H. P. Innes 14.50
 Mrs. D. D. Gunton 9.30
 Miss Madden 15.25
 $69.25

The gross receipts have been turned over to the box fund of the I.O. D.E.

Miss Mary McKnight and Miss Susy Gluke, pupils of Miss Congdon, were successful in passing their theory examinations held here recently by the Associated Boards of the Royal Academy of Music and the Royal College of Music.

S. A. Officers Rest
 Captain and Mrs. Rodgers have been given six months' furlough. Adjutant and Mrs. Wiseman will take charge of the army work here. Capt. Rogers, who came here a year ago, just recovering from a serious accident which cost him a limb, will still reside here. He has the work of the local corps well organized. The Girl Guides' band is the result of his labors. It will be taken over by Bandmaster Richard Ellis, recently returned from the front.

Will Meet Thursday Night
 The ratepayers of the new union school section will have an open air meeting on the site selected for the new school one mile west of the town, at 7 o'clock on Thursday evening. If time will permit, they will

A HIGHLAND RESORT
 Many of the returned wounded officers of the Canadian Expeditionary Forces are sojourning and recuperating their health at the Highland Inn, Algonquin Park, 2000 feet above the level of the sea. This delightful spot is just the place to regain health and strength. The most comfortable accommodations at reasonable rates. Splendid fishing, good boating, billiards, lovely walks, are some of the attractions. An illustrated publication, telling all about it sent free on request. C. E. Horning, Grand Trunk Railway, Union Station, Toronto.

TAX NOTICE
 Ratepayers are reminded that Thursday 5th, is the last day for payment of the first installment of City taxes for 1917. Duplicate bills cannot be furnished during the rush.

have a game of football to close up the proceedings.

Odd Finds of News
 Contractor Robt. Rawling has the boulevard about the armories in good condition—doubtless with borrowed tools and had a borrowed flag up for the holiday.

Boys, with matches, started a fire yesterday at the foot of a partially decayed tree in Lynwood park.

The funeral of Sarah Ward, wife of Abraham Pettit, who died in Hamilton on Friday, was held from the family residence, 238 Metcalf street, north, to Oakwood cemetery, on Sunday at 2.30.

NEW PASTOR AT BRANT AVE. CHURCH
Rev. J. D. Fitzpatrick Was Heard For First Time On Sunday

Brant Avenue Methodist Church on Sunday welcomed its new pastor, the Rev. J. D. Fitzpatrick, late of Hamilton, a special brotherhood meeting being held at ten o'clock in the morning for the purpose of meeting the new minister, following which Mr. Fitzpatrick preached his first sermon to the congregation at the regular morning service, speaking upon the subject of "The Place of the church in the Nation's Life," and dwelling upon the strength and inspiration which the church lends, the power which it imparts to the nation. No greater enterprise could be successful to-day, he pointed out, unless supported by the church. Were any ear open to an appeal for the church, he asked, would it be the church; if any hearts responded they were those of the church. The speaker touched upon the work which the church had done through its missionaries in opening up the world for the nations of the earth; Japan to-day was a hermit nation no longer, China was open to civilization, Africa no longer the dark continent. Even the great West of America, in the boyhood days of the nation, was a closed and unexplored tract, and opened up not by the trader, nor by the explorer, but by the missionary. If it were true that commerce followed the flag, equally true it was that the flag followed the missionary.

The great reforms of the age had been introduced by the church; the abolition of slavery, prison reform, the restriction of the liquor traffic, the church ministered alike to the physical, spiritual and mental needs of the nation; through its hospitals, our asylums, our orphanages and houses of refuge, in the blood of crime the church ranked foremost, standing in the way of the evil desires of men. Crime cost Canada, the speaker stated, the sum of fifty million dollars annually, and without the church he believed the figure would mount to ten times that amount.

Mr. Fitzpatrick went on to touch upon the great giving menace of materialism, the spirit of worldliness which he characterized as the greatest menace to the national life to-day, and which it behooved us to guard against. Let us be warned through it as did Israel at the height of her prosperity. To the church, he said, we must look for protection against this evil, the true secret of a nation's greatness; the church of Jesus Christ, which, despite the arguments annually, and without the church, was not to-day going back, but led the way as ever, to the better things of the future and the surety of happiness next. The speaker closed his personal word to his new congregation, asking for their sympathy and prayer upon his behalf in the he had undertaken to-day.

At the evening service the under the able leadership of Mr. Clifford Higgins, music composed by Miss Higgins, the soloists were Mrs. Jean McLennan and Mr. John B. Hill. Both were in excellent voice and gave most artistic interpretations. Miss Marjorie James played violin obligato in a delightful manner. The choir fully maintained their well known position in the church work, maintaining excellent tone and balance throughout. The pianissimo passage in one of the choruses "And they Crucified Him," was given with thrilling effect, and in fact the entire rendition was throughout exceptional. Mr. Higgins manifestly possesses great powers as a composer and musician. The last public performance of his work was in Queen's Hall, London, England, when Princess Christian was among those in attendance.

REUNION OF RAILWAYMEN
 The Kerty House was the scene of a gathering of old timers yesterday, when a party of eight old comrades of the old Buffalo and Lake Huron line, now the C. T. R. gathered there for their annual reunion, exchanging reminiscences of the old days of the broad gauge and wood burner. The gauge was changed in 1872, while Mr. Alfred Ely, one of the party, was the engineer who took the first regular train over the International bridge. The reminiscences of the party recalled the olden days when pioneer railwaymen of the district were compelled to leave their train and chase the cattle from their tracks.

The party consisted of the following: P. F. Lawrence, Goderich, 73 years of age; M. Colclough, Bridgeburg, 74; W. Sloan, Chicago, 82; T. Aulsebrook, Goderich, 68; J. H. Anderson, Chicago, 63; Alfred Ellsby, Buffalo, 76; G. D. Allen, Toronto, 72; Thomas Hollinrake, city, 78.

POINTS TO CONSIDER WHEN PURCHASING A RAILWAY TICKET

A Canadian Pacific Railway ticket does not represent merely a means of transportation between given points. It, in addition, provides the traveller with every comfort and convenience developed by modern railway science. "Safety First," with up-to-date equipment, unexcelled dining service, palatial sleeping cars, in a word everything that a railway can provide for the comfortable transportation of its passengers, including courtesy.

REV. C. F. LOGAN AT COLBORNE CHURCH

New Pastor Occupied Pulpit For First Time on Sunday Last

"Canada Since Confederation" was the subject of a powerful and searching address delivered yesterday morning by the Rev. Clark F. Logan, M.A., on the occasion of his assuming the pastorate of the Colborne Street Methodist Church. The address which was based on a comprehensive scale, was especially adapted to the occasion, both as regards the Semi-Centennial anniversary of the Confederation of Canada and the welcome of the church to the new incumbent who is succeeding the Rev. W. E. Baker.

Rev. Logan was introduced by the Rev. Dr. Lindsay who, as a trustee to the pastor who will for the next few years discharge the duties of the ministry in that church. "Canada as a part of the British Empire" was the subject of the address which was most prominent and the destiny of the country and its development during the past half century was dealt with from this aspect. The speaker compared the Empire to a vast oak that had weathered the storms and vicissitudes of a thousand years and was still hearty and staunch. The colonies he compared to the younger but equally firm oaks that surrounded the mother tree, the greatest of the smaller oaks was Canada.

Briefly but thoroughly the Rev. Mr. Logan outlined the rapid growth of the country, supplied statistics as compared with other countries as regards its coast line, inland waters, commerce, industries and its natural resources. However he pointed out that bigness was not the essential quality of a great nation and in fact was a thing to be despised in itself unless it is associated with the fundamentals of life. Referring to the unity of this section of the British Empire, the United States to the south of us, the common stand against the common foe to civilization, the pastor declared that no two flags throughout the ages had so consistently and uniformly upheld the traditions of honor, justice and righteousness, but it must be borne in mind that the cross of Jesus Christ was superior to either of these and that while the two first mentioned flags had too often gone down with a stain the Cross of Christ had ever remained pure throughout all time, standing for the highest ideals of life, both of the individual and of the nation. Today however, the Canadians were fighting under both flags, the banner of St. George and the cross of Christ. Both of which espoused identical principles.

The speaker rapidly reviewed the early history of the American continent with especial attention to Canada, outlining the progress from the time of the occupation of the mound builders, the Indians, the discovery of the new world by Christopher Columbus, the voyage of John and Sebastian Cabot, of Americo Vesputi, the planting of the four d'Is of France on the shores of Canada by Jacques Cartier, and the final wresting of the country from the French in the Plains of Abraham.

Also advance that had been made in the government of Canada, and the struggle for responsible government that had resulted in the solution of the problem of self government of the colonies within the Empire. It was difficult to imagine that four hundred years ago America was three hundred years ago small sailing vessels were timidly searching the coast line of the continent, two hundred years ago France gained a substantial foothold on Canada, that one hundred years ago the United Empire Loyalists were heaving homes out of the forest and that fifty years ago the federation of Canada was consummated.

Today the country was in a progressive state, with prospects of unlimited development that will result in a prominent place among the nations.

In the evening the pastor gave an able address on "Liberty," which was well supplemented by appropriate patriotic music provided by the choir.

 No one doubts that in a fighting sense the real man behind the latest advance has been General Brusiloff, the new Russian Commander, and it is generally believed that he has decided to make an advance on Lemberg. Far and above and beyond the victory itself is the immeasurable influence which it will exercise on the entire Russian position and the Hohenzollern outfit must now realize that their hopes of a palsied Russia have gone a glimmering.
 On the Western front the Huns are trying very hard to re-establish some sort of an initiative, but without any success to speak of. They have had small local successes here and there, but on the Aisne front the French have retaken trenches lost by them last week.
 Stewart Lyon, the special Canadian press representative at the front, reports that the men of the Maple Leaf have driven forward below Lens, a distance of one thousand yards over a front of one and a half miles. In so doing they have only met with trifling opposition. West of the place named, Gen. Haig reports that British advance posts have "been driven back a short distance."
 In the south-western Trentino Austrian troops made several attempts to break through the Italian lines, but were repulsed with heavy losses.
 The statement comes from Athens that Venizelos is preparing to have that country enter the lists on the side of the Allies, and that classes of 1916-1917 have been called to the colors to train at Saloniki. A Greek destroyer, manned by French officers and crew, has been blown up in the Mediterranean. Twenty-nine, including all the officers, perished.
FOOD CONTROL.
 The war is going to last for a long time yet. That is the impression which prevails among the men in command at the front and among others who have special facilities for sizing up the conditions of affairs. The arch enemy does not show any signs of exhaustion. His own borders have not been touched and the work of driving him out of the territories which he occupied at the commencement of hostilities is going to prove a very slow process indeed. None of us doubts the ultimate outcome, but it must in all human probability be regarded as not yet half attained.
 Such being the case the matter of the production and conservation of food is becoming more and more recognized as of the most importance.
 In the United States, Mr. Hoover, who has charge of this phase of matters, is to be accorded very drastic and sweeping powers by Congress.
 In Great Britain, Lord Rhonda, who occupies a like post, has also been given an arbitrary scope, which makes him a veritable dictator even to the extent of seizing products when he deems such a course to be necessary. He has declared that the speculator will be absolutely abolished, and also men who are in the business solely as profiteers.
 Things will have to be put on a like basis in Canada. It is going to prove a hard task, but it must be done, and Hon. Mr. Hanna, our food controller, must be backed by the Government and the people alike to the very limit.
 There is no middle course possible at such a time. It must be a straight cut and thoroughly effective effort and one with regard to which each individual must realize a personal sense of responsibility and co-operation.

THE SITUATION

The most cheering news for a long while comes from Petrograd. The capture of the fortified town of Konluchy, in Galicia, together with more than 10,000 Teuton prisoners and much war material, would be an important event in any time. It is very much more so in view of the fact that ever since the revolution the Muscovite have been inactive, with doubts expressed in many quarters as to whether they would enter the offensive column for months, and perhaps not at all. One despatch alleges that A. F. Kerensky, the youthful new minister, led the attack in person. If so, that incident was probably staged for effect, as he is not a man of military experience, and that impression is strengthened by the circumstance that following hard on the heels of the success recorded, he issued another stirring appeal to the Russian armies to maintain the aggressive. No one doubts that in a fighting sense the real man behind the latest advance has been General Brusiloff, the new Russian Commander, and it is generally believed that he has decided to make an advance on Lemberg. Far and above and beyond the victory itself is the immeasurable influence which it will exercise on the entire Russian position and the Hohenzollern outfit must now realize that their hopes of a palsied Russia have gone a glimmering.

SAD DOUBLE DROWNING

Continued from page one and his daughter beyond all doubt, as that in which the boys had made the trip. A hat, kodak, cushions and the rug were still in the craft and they were also recognized as the property of the two men.
 The river was within a foot of its height at the time of the spring freshet, and was eight feet deep near the willows, where the one man was last seen.
 The firemen have temporarily abandoned their efforts to locate the bodies, but intend resuming as soon as practicable. Hopes are maintained of securing the one young man from the willows on the east bank of the river near where the accident occurred, but with the swiftly running current, no opinion would be given by the firemen as to the likely location of the body of the other unfortunate victim.

McGowan was the eldest son of Mr. D. J. McGowan, 97 Eagle Ave., and who is employed as salesman at the Cockshutt Plow Company warehouses, Dalhousie St. He joined the Courier staff some five years ago, and was a great favorite with all the employees and the management of this office. He was always willing and trustworthy and had been working to relieve the office on the holiday morning, until he left for his fatal trip with the remark: "Well, I'm off for a run round the river." In addition to the father, he leaves a mother, two sisters and one brother to mourn his great loss. He was 21 years old and active in the Epworth League of the Wesley Methodist church. A good son in every respect, Fred would indeed be missed in the home circle, and as for The Courier, it has never been called upon to mourn the loss of one more worthy.

Broun was the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Broun, 45 Cayuga street. He was 23 years of age and Manager of the C. P. McGregor store, Dalhousie street, opposite the market square. He was a young man of a very fine type of character and an adherent also of the Wesley Methodist church. In addition to the bereaved father and mother, he leaves one brother to mourn his loss, who enlisted in the navy and is now a wireless operator at Halifax.
 The two sorely stricken families have the deep sympathy of the entire community in their great and sudden trial.

Spending Out The Buying Power of the Dollar

Year by year it has been contracting. Some unfeeling economist has figured, if we are not mistaken, that the dollar of today buys about 60 per cent. of its capacity of a few years ago. At the risk of repetition we like to emphasize the fact that this store strives to the best of its ability to counteract this shrinking modestly on the part of the dollar.

Not entirely successfully, of course, prices are higher and there's no blinking the fact. But we have kept our high quality intact, and we HAVE kept prices down to a very gratifying degree—as the clever shopper, who looks around more than ever nowadays before buying is in a splendid position to testify. How are these prices kept down?

By efficient operation of the store, for one thing, beginning with our very fortunate location and with owning our own property at a very low figure.

Beforehand buying at a liberal scale, taking advantage of the market turns FOR CASH. And finally by a very moderate system of profits. By this fourfold means we succeed in spreading out the dollars buying power to a very gratifying degree.

ON HOLIDAY
 Lieut. Fred Howarth, of the 1st fire station, is enjoying a vacation this week, while Fire Constable Coulbeck returned on Saturday for his holidays.

GOES TO BORDEN
 Capt. the Rev. C. E. Jenkins, pastor of St. Jude's Church, and chaplain of the 68th Battalion, been honored by the appointment as Senior Chaplain at Camp Borden and leaves to assume his duties there for the summer very soon. Capt. Jenkins made the announcement to his congregation at today services.

RETURNED HOME.
 Mr. A. K. Bunnell, city treasurer, has returned home from a trip to the North West. He reports that the prospects are fair although there is some uncertainty as to the general business generally is good, the prices prevailing for last year enabling much back indebtedness to be liquidated.

VISITED CITY
 Mr. R. W. Broomfield, well known in Brantford, and a former member of the city, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. George Broad, Sheridan Street, while en route to his home in Los Angeles. He has been attending a conference of the President Wilson, to discuss the situation.

FOREIGNERS IN FIGHT
 A miniature melee occurred Saturday afternoon shortly after 6 o'clock in a house occupied by foreigners on Marlboro St. The door of the fracas escaped before the police arrived, by time the tumult had ceased.

AUTO HIT CAR
 At two o'clock yesterday afternoon when the traffic was heavy on the city streets, an auto struck a street car at the corner of Market and Darling Sts. damage was done.

POOR HONEY SEASON
 According to a Brantford beekeeper, the prospects of an average yield of honey for the year are very poor indeed. The cool and windy weather has rendered impossible for the bees to collect the flow which is quite plentiful a few weeks of dry weather are required to relieve this situation.

Word has been received by his mother, that Corp. W. R. Smith, of this city, has landed at Halifax upon his journey home from the front, and will arrive here during the week...

SERIOUSLY WOUNDED
Mrs. Bredt, Palace St., has received word that her husband has been seriously wounded in France. The injuries are to the chest and back.

A RECORD CROWD.
At the Dominion celebration pageant yesterday, there were 5,433 paid admission in the afternoon and 1,683 at night, or a total of 7,119. Add to that the 3,000 children and 250 others present without admission in various capacities, and the grand total was 8,369.

EXPRESS REGRET.
The following are extracts from a letter sent by Miss Evelyn Johnson to a friend in London: "About the 'Tecumseh Memorial Fund, which I hope to open with the cheque I sent you, I can but express regret that it has never been increased by any of Canada's Patriotic Societies, in honor of one of Canada's and Great Britain's loyal defenders..."

STABBING AFFRAY
The hot hasty temper of George Colla, a native of sunny Italy, caused him to inflict a severe wound on the neck of Ed. Young, on Saturday at the noon hour. It is said that Young had been teasing the Italian in the Masses factory, where the two men are employed, and the outcome of the teasing took place on the Market St. bridge, when the foreigner drew a knife and stabbed Colla in the neck, barely missing the jugular vein. The assailant was arrested by the police soon after. The injured man will recover.

PASSED EXAMINATIONS
Louis D. Thompson, of Paris, successfully passed his Licentiate Pianoforte examination at the Toronto University, last month. Mr. Thompson graduated as a teacher (with honors) in his Associate examination at the Toronto Conservatory of Music last year. This makes a record of passing the Associate and Licentiate examinations in two years, a feat which is rarely accomplished, as the scheduled time of preparation is four years or more. These exams. are the highest in pianoforte work and are of a professional standard. Mr. Thompson is a pupil of Mr. Clifford Higgin, Brantford.

WITHIN THE LAW
Between three and four o'clock yesterday afternoon a foreigner was innocently although briskly wandering along the street with a large sack over his shoulder when he was espied by an officer of the law. He was taken to the police station where the contents of his sack were brought forth to the light of day, and it was then that twelve perfect quart bottles of wine were disclosed reposing in various attitudes in the bag. None had yet been opened, and as the proud owner stated that he was on the way to his home where he has only as many boarders as the Ontario Temperance Act allows, the officers saw that he was safely "within the law," and reluctantly allowed him to depart with the valuable beverage.

FREIGHT TRAINS BADLY SMASHED

Standing Car Telescoped By Moving Train on G. T. R. Tracks

Eight men narrowly escaped with their lives on Sunday morning at about 2 o'clock, when an east bound freight train crashed into the rear end of another freight (Conductor Smith) standing on the Grand Trunk Railway tracks, near the Niagara Street subway crossing.

A train for Sarnia, in charge of Conductor Blackstone, did the damage. The brakes were set and sand running, but the wheels failed to hold on the slippery rails. The men in the caboose just managed to vacate the car a minute before it was telescoped, and completely demolished, the framework being reduced to a mass of splinters and boards. The two or three cars adjacent to the caboose were also badly damaged, while several crashed in the middle of the east bound train, buckled and rose high in the air. The front of the engine was rather badly smashed against the rear of the caboose on the other train, and the steam issuing from the rent in the front of the engine inspired a bystander to ring in a fire alarm.

The firemen soon discovered that the supposed smoke was only steam, but they remained for some time. A Grand Trunk wrecking crew were soon at work on the tracks, clearing early in the afternoon. The place has been the scene of more than one previous wreck.

GREAT BUSINESS.
The Brantford Municipal Railway system did record business yesterday. Passengers carried on city lines totalled 7,560 and on the Grand Valley between here and Paris, 1,300. Grand total 8,860.

RELIEF WORK.
The relief officer's report for the month of June shows that three families received 3-4 of a ton of coal at a cost to the city of $5.70.

BUILDING PERMITS
Forty-seven permits were issued at the office of the city engineer during the month of June.

MARKET FEES.
During the month of June, the Market Clerk's report states, total fees to the amount of $428.16 were collected, $226 of which was paid for the use of the butcher's stalls.

GAS BILL.
The city's account with the Brantford Gas Company for the past month for eight offices, amounts to $13.90.

BREAD GOOD.
Brantford can be well satisfied with its providers of the staff of life, for during the past month, the bread inspector has examined 22 samples, none of which were underweight, and in nine cases the bread was fifty ounces overweight. The conditions of the bakeries in all cases were either good or fair.

TOWNSHIP COUNCIL.
The meeting of the township council for to-night in the Court House has been postponed for one week.

CUT BY BOTTLE.
Yesterday afternoon while engaged in, to him, the most important part of the Semi-Centennial celebration at Agricultural Park, Bonnie Corso, a small boy, the son of a fruit dealer in Simcoe, was severely cut on the cheek from the glass of a soft drink bottle, which he was opening. The bottle broke suddenly and a sharp piece of glass cut his cheek through to the bone. He was rushed to Dr. Hicks, where it was found necessary to insert three stitches to close the wound.

CLOTHES FOUND
A surprise awaited Mr. Alex. Wright, on Saturday afternoon, when on returning to his home at 178 William St. from Toronto, and on looking through the barn to the rear of his residence he discovered a suit of discarded good clothing in the hay loft. Mr. Wright had been looking over the barn, and it was quite a surprise to him to discover such an attractive futurist palm beach suit in such an unexpected place. It is thought that the suit was cast aside by the negro who escaped from jail in the spring and who disappeared in that district.

OPPOSE D. S.
A meeting of the Executive of the Brant County Board of Agriculture was held in Brantford, Saturday, June 30th. The following resolution re "Day-light Saving" was adopted. "Whereas a movement is on foot to have legislation passed at the present session of the Dominion Parliament to provide for so-called 'Day-light Saving' and Whereas, we believe that such legislation will be a great inconvenience to farmers who are unanimously opposed to it, and Whereas, we believe that the great majority of the working classes in our towns and cities also do not want it. Therefore Be It Resolved that we, the Executive Committee of the Brant County Board of Agriculture, request that no such legislation be passed, and be it resolved further that copies of this resolution be sent to the members of Parliament for North and South Brant, to the Brantford daily papers, and to the Canadian Council of Agriculture.

Proposed by M. N. Simpson, seconded by A. E. Wainwright, and carried. June 30th, 1917.

Wedding Bells.

The wedding took place in Wellington St. Methodist church on Wednesday, June 27th, at 5 o'clock, of Miss Lily Hubbard and Mr. Jack C. McWebb. Rev. Dr. Hamilton performed the ceremony.

A very pretty wedding took place last week at Stoney Creek, when Miss H. M. Church of that place became the bride of Mr. James Douglas of this city, the Rev. Mr. Foran of Prussia conducting the ceremony. The wedding took place at the home of the bride, she being wedded in her travelling costume, and the young couple took their departure for a wedding trip to the Thousand Islands and points east.

ERMATINGER-POTTS
The wedding took place at St. Thomas' Church, Toronto, on Wednesday, of Mr. Charles Oakes Ermatinger, of St. Thomas, Junior Judge of the County of Elgin, and Miss Jessie Margaret Potts, youngest daughter of the late Dr. George Jerrott Potts, of Brantford, and sister of the Rev. J. C. Potts, rector of St. Thomas' Church. The Rev. C. E. Enar Sharp performed the ceremony. Judge and Mrs. Ermatinger left for Niagara Falls and Buffalo, and are expected to arrive in St. Thomas this week.

A CAR AT NIAGARA FALLS PLUNGED INTO THE RIVER

Went Over Embankment into Ten Feet of Water—Several of the Passengers Were Killed and Injured—Continued Rains Had Undermined Road Bed

Niagara Falls, N. Y., July 2.—A Belt Line car on the Great Gorge Route left the rails, plunged down a 20 foot embankment, and turned over in ten feet of water on the edge of the Whirlpool Rapids at 3.30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Nine persons are known to be dead, two persons known to have been on the car have not been seen since the accident and are probably dead, an indefinite number, estimated at from two to ten, are missing, and more than a score are in the hospitals suffering from injuries received in the accident. There were no Canadians among the victims.

A washout, due to recent heavy rains, was the cause of the disaster, which occurred just below the cantilever bridge and 60 feet below the point where the smooth water of the upper reaches of the Niagara River break into the turbulent waters of the whirlpool rapids.

The car, in charge of Motorman Crandall and Conductor Heron, had all but completed the circuit of the Gorge, having crossed from the Canadian side of the river on the trolley bridge at Lewiston. There were more than 50 passengers on board, according to general estimates.

The car was one of the open type. The seats extending from side to side with steps on both sides the full length of the car.

All the seats were occupied and some of the passengers were standing between them, and there were others on the rear platform.

Running at Full Speed. The car was running at a speed of about 20 miles an hour when it struck the weak spot in the roadbed. Less than half a minute elapsed from the time the motorman felt the first jarring until the car was bottomed up on the edge of the rushing rapids.

As it slipped down the 20-foot incline from the tracks to the edge of the river screaming men and women fought to escape and some of them were able to get free, but were unable to get a footing on the steep bank.

There was a mad scramble in the shallow water between the wrecked car and the river bank. From the river side the bodies of at least two of the passengers were seen to be caught in the swift waters and were carried down to the whirlpool.

Members of a National Guard regiment who were on guard at the cantilever bridge saw the accident and were the first to the scene, where the soldiers slipped down the bank into the river and worked in water up to their waists, getting injured passengers free from the wreckage and passing them up the bank, where an emergency car had been placed to carry them to the Niagara Falls hospital.

Plunged in Car. The supporters of the roof on the forward part of the car had been crushed by the impact on the rocks in the river bottom, throwing the car and the passengers below the surface of water, and it was in this part of the car that most of the fatalities occurred.

"I believe at least half a dozen bodies were carried down the river to the whirlpool," said one of the rescuers who was taken to a hospital to receive from exhaustion.

"When I was running down the railroad tracks I saw out in the stream what seemed to me to be two arms waving above the surface. Ten feet away from them I saw, sure I saw the bright color of a woman's dress near the surface, and still further down a man was swimming in an effort to get out of the rapids. He disappeared."

ATTEMPTED TRAIN WRECK

On the Canadian Northern Railway.

Mr. W. F. Cockshutt Among Members of Parliament On Board

Trenton, July 2.—The C.N.R. Ottawa-to-Toronto train was wrecked at Thurlow, about 35 miles east of here, at 3.35 Saturday morning. The engine was derailed, the tender and two baggage cars lost their trucks, the day coach left the rails, and went partly into a marsh, and two Pullman cars were also thrown from the rails, but no one was hurt. One other passenger car remained on the rails.

The passengers in the Natalie included Sir William Mackenzie, Sir John Aldred, E. R. Wood, and Z. A. Lash, K.C. Although the train had been running at 30 miles an hour, the derailling jarred the private coach so little that the president of the line was not even awakened from his slumbers.

Five members of Parliament, W. F. Cockshutt, Hugh Clark, H. B. Morphy, E. N. Lewis and William Weichel, were in the Pullmans, as was also Lt. James Duff of Toronto.

The train had gone a few hundred yards past the diamond switch at Thurlow, when the accident happened, where there is a switch connecting the main line with the Canada Cement Company's spur.

No one suffered beyond some shaking up and from shock, but the damage to rolling stock is estimated at about $75,000. The locomotive jumped two other lines of track and went over the embankment. Two other cars derailed were mixed up with wreckage of twisted rails and splintered ties.

Fred Russel, the conductor, and T. Nugent, brakeman, both of Toronto, had been standing on the front platform of the day coach, and when the cars landed in the marsh, both were flung from their feet and shaken up. A foreign couple had three children, who were unhurt, the youngest not even scratched.

Wreck Was Planned. Examination has shown that the first south-rail of the switch had been disconnected from its fellow by removing the tie plates. These were nowhere to be found, and could not have been forced off by the accident itself, as the track at this point was not otherwise damaged.

This evidence of a deliberate attempt to wreck the train was confirmed by examination of the switching apparatus. The lock of it had been broken off with a stone and carried away. That very stone with the marks of the brass upon it, and lying beside the track. Furthermore, the stones had placed between the south rail of the switch to ensure its staying open.

The night train from Toronto to Ottawa had passed safely over the spot less than half an hour before, and had crossed the ill-fated west-bound train at Shannonville.

Brantford Member. Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., when seen by a Courier man after his arrival in the city, said that he was asleep in the first Pullman when awakened by a sudden jolt. The day coach and baggage car immediately ahead were thrown crossways, and the Pullman on which he travelled left the rails and bumped along the ties. It stopped before going down over a ten-foot embankment. He examined the switch and rails, and states that evidences of foul play were most clear and unmistakable.

Benton street, Kansas City, Mo. Mrs. D. W. Ball, President of Civic League, Arcadia, Fla. Alex. Heron, No. 412 First Street, Niagara Falls.

Two women and two men unidentified are in local morgues. Two bodies were seen to float down the whirlpool rapids immediately after the accident.

Of the thirteen injured persons admitted to St. Mary's Hospital, one of them, Mrs. Bertha Seastrom, 42 Beach street, Jamestown, N.Y., died in St. Mary's Hospital from fractured skull.

NINE HURT

In a Railway Smash at Hamilton

Hamilton, July 2.—Nine persons, eight of whom reside in Toronto, were injured in a collision at the T. H. & B. Station about 2.40 Saturday afternoon. Some of them were taken to the City Hospital where a couple still remain, but it is expected that they will be able to leave in a day or two.

A passenger train, run as a race extra ahead of the regular train, had discharged most of its passengers, when a freight train rounded the curve at Catharine street. Before the engineer in charge of the freight could stop his train the engine had crashed into the engine of the passenger train. None of the coaches was thrown from the rails, but those yet in them were considerably tossed about. The tender of the passenger engine was thrown from the tracks, the baggage car was thrown against a tree, and a car laden with empty bottles was crushed in the middle of the freight train. This was the only material damage.

Identified Dead. Miss B. M. Kastery, Chicago, secretary of the president of the Illinois Central Railroad. James S. Kemp, Scranton, Pa. Garvey V. Kith and Kin to Organize

At the Tea Pot Inn on Thursday afternoon a meeting of representatives from the Soldiers' Associated Kith and Kin of the city and representatives from the Association in Paris was held.

The object of the meeting was to form a general Association of the Soldiers' Kith and Kin of the county. Mrs. W. F. Cockshutt took the chair and the meeting was opened with prayer by the Rev. G. A. Woodside.

Mr. Spence and Mr. Watt of the Patriotic Fund were also present. The objects of the meeting were outlined, and a general discussion took place as to the plans of organization. The first item dealt with was the name of the association. After a thorough discussion the name was finally decided as "Soldiers' Associated Kith and Kin." The officers of the association were elected as follows:

Honorary President—Mrs. W. F. Cockshutt.
Honorary Secretary—Mr. H. T. Watt.
President—Mrs. J. J. Hurley.
Vice-President—Mrs. Wickson.
Secretary—Mrs. I. Howison.
Treasurer—Mrs. W. McHutchison.
Committee, Presidents of Districts—Mrs. Eliza Greenaway, Mrs. A. Cook, Mrs. Gibbs, Mrs. Mary A. Glanville, Mrs. Elizabeth Underwood, Mrs. Mary McClelland.

The report were then received from the different districts and Paris of the work which has been done by them since they were organized last March. Good work is being done in all the districts, with one or two exceptions. Suggestions were taken made by each of the districts as to the general policy and work which the central organization might carry on. These were all referred to the Executive Committee, who will meet and frame a constitution and submit their report at a later meeting of all the representatives.

It was suggested that a pin should be arranged for which each of the members of the association should wear.

Mr. Spence and Woodside gave very interesting and inspiring addresses in connection with the present situation and the great work which the Soldiers' Associated Kith and Kin has been doing and can do to help in the great cause.

Light refreshments were served and the meeting adjourned with the singing of the National Anthem.

RESULTS IN CITY LEAGUE

Two games were staged in the City League Saturday afternoon on the football field at Agriculture Park, the regular baseball diamond being given over to the preparations for the semi-centennial celebration. contains a collection of special articles of expressive timeliness and special interest to every progressive thinking man and woman.

Woman's Part in the Russian Revolution

By Stephen Bonsai
Is a story describing woman's part in the long fight for the freedom of Russia. It is a comparison by the Government of the Russian girl student with public women of the lowest category; the prohibition of the latter from the study of medicine, on the theory that they were doing so for purposes of birth control. Their unwelcome persecution in other ways, and the graphic description of how, for more than a hundred years, the women of Russia have fought and worked for the liberation of their country.

This article is of most timely interest and describes the uses of aircraft and its indispensable service as the eyes of a modern army.

A Mine Sweeping Cruise in the Submarine Zone

By Judson C. Welliver
Mr. Welliver is a special correspondent in Europe for the New York Sun and Munsey's Magazine, and this is a thrilling narrative of a voyage with men whose daily work is to clear the engine of destruction from the highways of the sea.

Our New Possessions, The American Virgin Islands

By James Luby
While geographical changes are a matter of comparatively small note in the daily life of Europeans, an acquisition of glowing importance to all Americans is the purchase by the United States of the beautiful, yet strategically significant Danish West Indies. Leading facts about these islands, condensed in a very fascinating style, form an article of extreme interest and information.

The Story of "The Sun"

By Frank M. O'Brien
The third of a series of articles narrating the history of the New York Sun. The introduction of independent journalism, and the very open use of the press for attacks based on personal grievances, form a very amusing and effective recount of the journalistic methods of earlier days.

GRAND VIEW HONOR ROLL IS UNVEILED

Fifty One Former Members of School In Khaki Overseas

A PATRIOTIC EVENT Semi-Centennial Anniversary Celebrated In Fitting Manner

The Semi-Centennial anniversary of the Confederation of Canada was most fittingly celebrated by the school children of the Grand View School and their teachers on Saturday afternoon in a splendid program of addresses, sports, concluding in a picnic, was enjoyed by a crowd numbering closely on five hundred people.

Early in the afternoon the assemblage began to congregate and the sports, consisting chiefly of races among the younger scholars, were run off. Following this, the principal function of the afternoon, the unveiling of the honor roll of the school, bearing the names of fifty-one former pupils of the school, who enlisted, and six of whom have made the supreme sacrifice, was proceeded with, preceded by several interesting and appropriate addresses delivered by prominent speakers.

W. G. Raymond assured the children that this was a most opportune time, at the anniversary of Confederation, to unveil an honor roll containing the names of the heroic boys of Grand View, who have gone to the front to carry the flag through victory, even at the sacrifice of their lives.

Short but appropriate remarks were made by Sheriff Westbrook, Rupert Greenwood, James Scace and the Rev. C. E. Jeakins, while choruses and patriotic songs were sung by the children who accomplished their share of the entertainment in a very creditable manner.

It was with mingled feeling of praise and humility that Capt. V. had the estimation of the town council, at least, to the most important part of the function, the picnic. The refreshments served by the members of the school were delicious and were provided in abundance, and although the children and their elders as well as the possessors of excellent appetites, there was no lack of supplies to satisfy the cravings of the inner man. The races were resumed after the picnic and the large gathering

RIVER AT FLOODHEIGHT

Kitchener, July 2.—The Grand River at Bridgeport rose to the ten foot mark during last night, the highest it has ever reached during the summer months, and as high as the river attained during the freshet two years ago. The river flats were flooded, but no damage was done. At Conestogo and Hawkesville the river overflowed the banks during the night, and at both places a number of horses and cows were drowned. The unusual volume of water is due to the heavy fall of rain in the northern portion of the county Sunday afternoon.

Willard-Trained

Service requires more than the willingness to serve. It requires the ability.

In everyone of the 775 Willard Service Stations are men who are not only willing, but able to give you expert battery service.

They are trained in the Willard factory, so that they know the storage battery thoroughly.

Their training and experience enable them to see beneath the surface indications of trouble. If you take a run-down battery to a Willard Service man, he doesn't just charge it. He wants to know why it is run down, and he prevents a repetition of the trouble by getting at the root.

But repairing is the least part of his work. His job, primarily, is to keep your battery free from the need of repairing.

Do you know the Willard Service man in your town? Look him up. He'll keep your starter on the job, and your lights bright. He's interested in your battery and can tell you some interesting things about it. A visit will be worth your while.

Late Superintendent of the Criminal Investigation Department of New Scotland Yard. (Copyright)

"It's fair, sir," said Congreve complacently. "In a bad light with any one who doesn't know Steungart will I'm likely to pass. Of course I'm a bigger man, and as I hadn't a photograph I had to explain to Clarkson's people what to do as they went along."

"Makes you feel like a detective hero in a novel, doesn't it?"

"More like amateur theatricals," grinned the other. "I feel like the late lamented Guy Pawkes, and I'm deadly fear lest my moustache should fall off."

The chief inspector beamed business-like. "I don't need to tell you, Congreve that it isn't your moustache theatricals. Start the boys off for me, will you. They can report at Shadwell till they're wanted."

"Very good, sir," said Congreve. Night had fallen when Menzies and Cincinnati Red emerged from the underground station at Shadwell, and with coat collars turned up struck off briskly through the driving rain in the direction of Levoine Street. They spoke little. The chief inspector paused at last and nodded toward a shambling figure that was hurrying a dozen paces in front of them.

"Keep your eye on that chap," he said. "He'll give you the office when you get to the house. Remember not to make any trouble if you can help it. We just want to know what's doing."

"I get you murthered Cincinnati—and found that he was addressing nothingness. For a substantial church warden, Weir Menzies had an astonishing faculty on occasions of obliterating himself."

Yet he was nevertheless keeping a keen vigil on the "con" man, moving a deep shadow close against the line of houses. It was as well to be sure, and Cincinnati's heart might yet fail him. He emerged into visibility again under the light of the corner public house in Levoine Street.

The two loafers were still at their everlasting game of dominoes, and one turned an incautious look upon him. Menzies was fumbling with his shoe lace. He saw the "con" man's guide trip and lurched heavily opposite one of the houses. A moment later Cincinnati was rapping at the door. It opened at last and he stood in colloquy with some one unseen for a while. Then he stepped inside and the door closed.

The chief inspector walked to the private bar and ordered a Scotch and soda, which he drank slowly. Once he looked at his watch and answered absently the barman's comment on the weather.

In Margosstein Road, Upper Tooting, the apathy of one of its prominent horticulturists to weather conditions might have been set down as an affected eccentricity. Something worse might have been thought of a churchwarden, who with bowler hat tilted at the back of his head, stood sipping whiskey and soda at the bar of the lowest class East End public house. But Menzies had forgotten that he was either a churchwarden or a gardener.

Twice more he looked at his watch and a slight frown set into his forehead. Never too ready to put implicit confidence in a crook, he was wondering if Cincinnati had put the double cross on him.

There was in point of fact, no justification for these doubts. Cincinnati Red was feeling too sore with Ling to dream of playing false with the police. The door had been opened to him by no other than Mrs. Buttles herself, who stood determinedly in the doorway and scrutinized him with a stare in which there was no recognition.

"Well?" she demanded with some asperity and an unnecessary loudness. "What do you want?"

Cincinnati smiled pleasantly upon her, and leaning forward, spoke in a low voice. "Is Mr. Ling in?"

"No," raising a deprecating hand as he saw a denial forming on her lips. "I'm a pal of his. You tell him that Cincinnati Red is here and wants to pass him a word. Say I'm a little trouble last night was all a misunderstanding, and I've come to clear it up and put him wise to one or two things."

She appraised him grudgingly for a while. "I don't know nothing of and Ling," she grumbled loudly. "In a honest, 'ard-workin' woman and a talkin' riddlees what comes talkin' riddlees to me?"

She made as if to close the door, and for a fraction of a second her face was under the full rays of the street lamp. His foot strayed absently over the lintel. "I'm no judge of faces, and in that respect there were few men even at the Yard itself who could have taught him anything."

"So it's you, Gwennie," he said quietly. "I might have guessed it. You'd better let me come in."

She dropped her cockney accent instantly and a wry smile showed on her face. "Yes, sonny, it's me," she said. "How did you get on to it?"

"Your eyes," he said succinctly. "Can I come in now?"

She laughed. "Sav, don't you think you've got a gall? Ling is gunning for you."

Cincinnati went a shade paler. The recollection of the detective however gave him confidence. He returned her laugh. "I'm no pliker, Gwennie. A little heart-to-heart talk with Ling or you'll put that all right. I was run right on to it, Gwennie. I couldn't help myself."

"Come right in," she said generally.

He followed her without hesitation and she took him up the creaking stairs into a little room bare of furniture. "How did you know where we were?" she demanded. "Did Ling tell you?"

"Sure!" he agreed nonchalantly, and instantly he saw the trap into which he had fallen. It was widely improbable that in the circumstances of their last meeting Ling would have told him anything of this retreat. It was a mistake unless the man who made his living by his wits, but to try to retrieve it would be worse.

"I'll go and tell Stewart you're here," she said swiftly. "You won't mind waiting a minute."

He did mind. He minded very much. Gwennie Lyne was altogether pardonable in a man who was certainly not to be trusted and he was certain that he was playing the game of their antagonists, and the thought of the police cordon was not quite so comforting.

He had learned part of what he had set out to know. She was in the house, and the probability was that Ling was also. He was unlikely to get any further chances of making sure, and he wished fervently that he could see an opportunity of carrying his information back to Menzies.

Did Gwennie know or guess that the place was surrounded? Did she think that this was merely a reconnaissance expedition or a reconnaissance in force? He had been a fool, he reflected, to so weakly fall in with Weir Menzies's suggestion. Of course, the police wouldn't care what happened to him. They were using him as a cat's paw to test the hot chestnuts before drawing them out of the fire.

He had calculated on the readiness of his wits to extricate himself from any dilemma in which he might find himself placed, and now his blunder had exposed him. He would only wait on events. He assented quietly and she left the room.

There ensued a nerve-racking period of waiting. His ears were strained to catch the slightest sound and he could hear movements below.

The house grew unnaturally quiet and his waiting courage began to return to him. There was no possibility after all that his former friends had been as badly scared by his arrival as he had been by the knowledge that they had penetrated his purpose.

Very likely Gwennie Lyne had left him there while she and her confederate quietly slipped away. If so they must have fallen into the hands of the police and Menzies and his detectives would be in the house at any moment.

He picked the candle off the mantelpiece and opened the door. At once he became aware of a determined and incessant rapping below. Somewhere near him he heard some one stir and promptly blew out the light and waited with the door an inch or two open.

There was a swish of skirts on the landing and he heard light footsteps descend the stairs. Apparently the front door had been very securely fastened since he had arrived for he heard the withdrawal of a chain. Then a soft guttural voice:

"Good evening Miss. I yoost thought I would come along to see how my patient was progressing."

It was not exactly what Cincinnati had expected. Nor did he anticipate the low musical voice that answered. He had assumed that Gwennie Lyne was the only woman in the house and somewhat impatiently he waited for developments.

"Oh yes. I wasn't expecting you, doctor, but I'm glad you called," he heard some one saying. "Will you come up? He is asleep."

He wedged himself against the crack of the door. Who was asleep? Was it Ling? Why should he need a doctor, anyway? Apart from these problems he had a sense of relief. Even if any designs were contemplated against him, they would scarcely be carried out with the doctor in the house. What was to prevent him walking boldly out behind the visitor when he went?

He heard the woman and the man pass by the landing. Then a splash of light showed that they had entered the room opposite.

He crept gently out and stooped to the keyhole of the room into which they had vanished. Within his line of sight there came a vision of the back of a frock-coated man stooping over some one lying beneath a cluster of bedclothes in the corner. A girl was holding a lamp to light the doctor's examination.

Cincinnati caught his breath as he saw her features, and he remembered her as the girl Hallett, had rushed from La Petite Savoye the previous evening.

The doctor stood up. "I will nod disturb him now," he said. "He seems fairly comfortable. I will send you some different medicine presently with directions. Remember he is not to be moved on any account or I will nod answer for his life. And now for my other patient."

She put down the lamp. Cincinnati raised his head and sniffed gently, suspiciously. "There is no other patient, doctor," she said. "The gentleman you saw last night is gone."

"Gone?" The doctor's voice held unmistakable evidence of disappointment. "He is gone? Where is he gone?"

She shook her head. "I don't know. I am only a lodger here. Perhaps Mrs. Buttles—the landlady could tell you."

A vivid bolt of flame leaped with appalling suddenness up the stairway, illumining the whole place in a blaze of light, and a hoarse cry came from Cincinnati. He pushed the door open and flung himself in on them.

"Petrol!" he cried. "The murderer! Devils! For God's sake get out of this!"

THE BEST PEOPLE

There is a woman in our town who from rather humble beginnings has climbed to quite an eminence of culture and intellectual superiority.

We were wondering the other day how she made so much of herself and one of her relatives explained proudly. "Ever since she was a girl she made it a point to associate only with people who were superior to her."

I've heard something like that said of people before, and while it sounds good at first, it seems to me there is a kick in it.

How Come, Everyone Associate With Superior People?

Namely, if everybody tried to do that, what would happen?

If everyone is so intent on self culture that he will not associate with anyone inferior to him, how on earth could anyone get a chance to associate with anyone who was superior?

A Form of Toadyism

When people try to ingratiate themselves with friends from whom they expect material advantages we have a short and ugly term for them. Now isn't this trying to associate always with one's superiors a sort of intellectual toadyism? Another thing, how can people determine so clearly who are their superiors? One so often finds superior qualities in people who are theoretically one's inferiors.

One of the most stimulating philosophies ever met, read a ragged thirty little sweat shop tailor, I have often had my mind wonderfully stimulated and quickened by seeking for superiors to associate with, I should never have exchanged two words.

Not The Best People But The Best In People

The way it seems to me is just this: It isn't half so important that you associate with the best people as that you associate with the best in people.

There is something helpful and stimulating in almost everyone. Bring it out. Don't be so anxious to shine that you forget the shine that's in your neighbor.

Associate with everyone on their highest level, take of them the best they have to offer and give them your best in return.

THE FOUR-LEAF CLOVER FAIRIES

Polly's face was covered with frowns as she trudged up the dusty road toward the little red school house. When she was in one of these moods the other girls simply let her alone, for Polly was sometimes very cross and ugly. This was one of the mornings, and she walked alone down the road kicking the dust.

"I don't like school and I never want to learn and I'm not going to," said Polly to herself.

Ahead of her several little girls were hunting over the grasses at the side of the road. This was a wish and stick the clover in your shoe it's bound to come true," cried one girl.

"Yes, but you never find any," said Polly.

"But I have one!" replied the girl holding it up.

Polly looked it over carefully to see that the fourth leaf wasn't stuck to a three-leaf—a habit the girls had.

"No, it's a real one," exclaimed Polly.

"The girls went on down the road, but Polly pushed the grasses aside and soon found a four-leaf nestling down among the others. Just as she reached to pick it a little door in one of the leaves opened and a dainty fairy stepped out.

"Good-morning Polly. I'm Miss Hope," said the fairy.

"Click" went another door and another fairy stood on the second leaf. "I'm Faith," she cried.

A lovely fairy with soft gray wings flitted out the door in the third leaf and said her name was Love.

Polly held her breath when the fourth door opened and another fairy joined the three.

"I'm Miss Luck. But just finding a four leaf clover doesn't make you lucky. First you must do all your work with a good will. Your school work with the hope always

MISSES' AND SMALL WOMEN'S CHEMISE.

By Anabel Worthington.

A great deal of the success of one's outward appearance depends upon what is worn underneath and the styles in undergarments must change just as often as fashion demands a change for the outer apparel. The latest fad in a chemise is called the Teddy Bear chemise. This one is cut quite full and practically the same as an envelope chemise in outline.

Two styles of finish for the neck are possible—the round neck run with a ribbon, or the straight upper edge with straps over the shoulders, like a canotale.

Every woman loves dainty materials in underwear, and fortunately the most delicate of the popular fabrics are quite practical from the standpoint of wearing laundering qualities. Washable satin makes lovely undergarments, as well as crepe de Chine, which wears exceptionally well. Flesh pink is the best liked color in lingerie, though white never loses its appeal for most women.

The chemise, No. 8317, is cut in sizes small, medium and large. As on the figure the medium size requires 2 1/2 yards of 36 inch material, 1 1/2 yards of ribbon and 3/4 yards of edging.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents to the office of this publication.

ROLLED BEEFSTEAK

This is especially good for an inferior steak. Take round steak, beat it and spread with dressing, such as is used for stuffing poultry. Begin at one end, roll up neatly and tie to hold it; put in baking pan with a little water and bake and baste until tender; thicken gravy with a little flour wet in water. Season with salt and pepper, adding catsup if liked. Serve for the table as you would a hilly roll. Use lettuce or parsley for green.

STUFFED POTATOES

Bake good-sized potatoes 3-4 of an hour or until soft; cut a small piece off the potato so you can take out the inside with a spoon be careful not to break the skin, chop some cold roast or beefsteak with a piece of raw onion; salt to taste; teaspoonful of cream to each potato or two; mix meat and potato. (I use 2-3 meat); fill the skins, round them up and make a cross on top before putting them in the oven; bake a nice brown and serve.

SAVE YOUR POTATOES

Don't let the Bugs destroy them. We have the remedy—"Bug Finish" in bulk or package. Pure Paris Green in one half and one pound packages, also Sprayers of all kinds.

STENOGRAPHERS OF CANADIAN POSTS WEST LAND REGULATIONS

The sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, who was at the commencement of the present war, and has since continued to be a British subject, may be considered a "qualified person" for the purpose of obtaining a license to practice as a stenographer in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at the District Office, Agency or Sub-Agency for District. Entry by proxy may be made on certain conditions. Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of land in each of three years.

In certain districts a homestead may be secured by an individual, quarter-section or half-section, 40 acres per acre. Duties—Six months in each of three years after certifying homestead point and cultivate 50 acres a year. May obtain pre-emption notice on homestead point on certain conditions.

A settler after obtaining homestead patent, if he cannot secure a pre-emption notice, may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $250 per acre. Must cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $2000.

Holders of series may count time of employment as farm laborers in Canada during 1917, as residence duties under certain conditions.

When Dominion Lands are advertised or posted for entry, returned soldiers who have served overseas and have been honorably discharged, receive one day priority in applying for entry at local Agency Office, but not Sub-Agency Office. Discharge papers must be presented to Agent.

Deputy Minister of the Interior, N.E.—Use of title "Canadian" at this advertisement will not be paid for.

By-Law No.

Of the Corporation of the Township of Brantford authorizing the issue of debentures for twenty-seven thousand dollars ($27,000.00) for the purpose of providing funds to purchase necessary material and equipment and for the construction, erection and installing of the same for the transmission and distribution of electric power of energy in the municipality.

WHEREAS, it is desirable that the Corporation of the Township of Brantford purchase the necessary material and equipment to provide for a transmission and distributing system of electric power and energy in the Township of Brantford and for the construction, erecting and installing of such system;

AND WHEREAS, in order thereby, it will be necessary to issue debentures of the Corporation for the sum of twenty-seven thousand dollars ($27,000.00) which is the amount of the debt intended to be created by this by-law, and it is expedient to pass a by-law for such purpose and to the manner hereinafter mentioned;

AND WHEREAS, it is desirable to issue the said debentures at one time and to make the principal of the said debt repayable by yearly sums during the period of twenty years, being the amount of the debentures, said yearly sum of said debt to be as nearly as possible equal to the principal and interest in respect of said debt, the sum of said debt as shown in Schedule "A" hereto annexed;

AND WHEREAS, the total amount required to pay the several instalments of principal and interest accruing due on the said debt under the terms of the said by-law is the sum of two thousand three hundred and fifty-nine dollars and thirty-four cents ($2,359.34);

AND WHEREAS, the amount of the whole rateable property in the said Township of Brantford according to the last revised assessment roll is the sum of four thousand five hundred and seventy-four dollars ($4,574.88.00);

AND WHEREAS, the existing debenture debt of the said Township of Brantford is the sum of one hundred and thirty-seven thousand and ninety-one dollars and eighty-six cents ($137,061.86.00);

IT IS THEREFORE ENACTED by the Council of the Corporation of the Township of Brantford under and by virtue of the powers in that behalf as follows:

(1) THAT the Municipal Council of the said Township of Brantford do hereby authorize the issue of debentures of the said Corporation of the Township of Brantford in the sum of twenty-seven thousand dollars ($27,000.00) for the purpose of providing funds to purchase necessary material and equipment and for the construction, erection and installing of the same for the transmission and distribution of electric power of energy in the municipality;

(2) THAT the issue of the said debentures shall be made by the purchase of or purchasers of said debentures, the said debentures to be issued for the respective amounts of principal money as shown in Schedule "A" hereto annexed and the interest thereon to be paid during the term of the said debentures, the said interest to be paid in equal instalments of principal and interest during the term of the said debentures, there shall be raised annually by special rate on all the taxable property of the said Township of Brantford the sum of two thousand three hundred and fifty-nine dollars and
