PURITY FLOUR
And Its Keeping Qualities
SOME people find it necessary to buy a considerable quantity of flour at one time—sufficient to last for a long period. Naturally they are anxious to procure a flour of the kind best adapted to lengthy storage. There are two important reasons why PURITY FLOUR possesses these qualities. One is that it is made entirely from Manitoba Hard Wheat. The other lies in the fact that the careful milling necessary to produce "Purity" absolutely excludes all low-grade particles of the wheat berry. It's the high grade Manitoba Hard Wheat Flour that keeps—stands longest storage. That's "Purity." "Purity" flour may cost a little more, but is more than worth the difference. Try it. Watch results both for quality and yield.

A Real Lung Tonic

There are many preparations that will relieve a cough—few that will cure it. The first class, containing such drugs as Opium and Morphine, simply deaden the irritation and stop the cough, but do little or no permanent good.

Rev. Father Morrissey

"Father Morrissey's No. 10"

does not contain a trace of these dangerous drugs, but is an absolutely safe and scientific preparation of Nature's own remedies—Herbs, Roots and Balsams.

It entirely removes the irritation that caused the cough, by cleaning out the mucus, stopping the inflammation and healing the delicate membrane of throat and lungs.

Moreover, it tones up and strengthens the whole system, particularly the lungs, and protects against future coughs and colds.

CHAPTER XV.

LOVE AT CROSS-PURPOSES.

It is doubtful if Marie Antoinette upon the throne of Louis XVI. ever appeared more superlatively beautiful than did Virginia Beaufort as she entered the drawing-room to receive the guest whom she had expected.

"There was a strange, soft flush upon her face as she gave him her hand, a sweet timidity of manner that he never remembered to have seen in her before—she was always so proud, so queenly in her dignity."

"I did not think of how you might regard my imperial command for you to come to me to-day," she said, with a smile. "until after I had left you. But I wanted so much to justify myself in your esteem. Has it eternally gone?"

He felt his head reel. What was she about to say to him? For a single moment hope arose like the sun upon a cloudless day; then he remembered the sweet, blind child who held his promise.

"There is nothing that you could do that would destroy my esteem, Miss Beaufort!" he stammered. "There was never a heart so depraved that that it has a religion that, if not orthodox, is still its own. Mine is reverence for women. For it, you are responsible!"

"I?"

"You have taught me many strange things, Miss Beaufort, but the first

MOTHERS WHO HAVE DAUGHTERS

Find Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Winchester, Ind. — "Four doctors told me that they could never make me regular, and that I would eventually have dropsy. I would bleed, and suffer from bearing-down pains, cramps and chills, and I could not sleep nights. My mother wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice, and I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

"After taking one and one-half bottles of the Compound, I am all right again, and I recommend it to every suffering woman."—Mrs. MARY DEAL, Winchester, Ind.

"Hundreds of such letters from girls and mothers expressing their gratitude for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished for them have been received by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

"If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful."

and greatest is that nothing but perfect truth and honesty can hope for reward in a true woman's heart. Why should it not be so? What can the untempered ever know of temptation?

He dropped the hand he held, and leaned against the mantel, gazing at her. She made a gesture of deprecation, her brows drawn to a slight frown.

"You mean that I did not pity—?"

"I mean that truth can know no sympathy for a lie! It is the strongest argument that only purity exists in the soul that abhors deception."

"I don't know!" she exclaimed sadly, seating herself where she could look up at him. "You are trying to make excuse for me, and it is very good of you. I tried last night myself. I have not slept, but searched the night through in a vain endeavour to convince myself that I have been in the right. In some characters, Mr. Chapman, there is an element that goes beyond purity. It is stubborn pride."

His face flushed crimson. A wild desire leaped into his heart to know the worst. He scarcely realized what he hoped, yet his soul seemed staggered under her intoxicating gaze. He took a single, unsteady step toward her, then unable to stand sat suddenly upon a chair.

"It was some time before he could control his emotion sufficiently to speak, but when he did the necessity had subdued his voice to calmness."

"You think, then, that you were harsh to Devereux?"

The breathlessness through the quiet were distinctly heard by her, but she, alas, attributed it to another cause than the correct one.

"It is curious," she replied unsteadily, "that so long as I believed I loved him I could find no room for forgiveness in my heart. I hated him because he had won me through a lie, and I despised myself that I still cared. It is singular how fancy can carry one, for now that I know I never loved him, now that I see the sentiment crushed and withered before me, I forgive him fully and freely!"

A giddiness that was well-nigh overpowering came upon Chapman. For a moment the blindness of death but the royally beautiful face from his vision; then by a supreme effort he recovered.

"You mean," he said huskily, "that you never loved him?"

"I don't know," she replied wearily. "I thought I did then, but I was little more than a child, knowing nothing of love after all." There are so few things in life that one can know save by comparison.

"Then you love now? You have given that heart again that you thought was his?"

The question was asked with such feverish unrest that Miss Beaufort unfastened her eyes from the glowing coals and looked at her interlocutor. A soft laugh bubbled through her carnine lips.

"Why should I tell you all this?" she asked. "Yesterday at this hour I had never seen you before, yet now I am speaking to you upon a subject that my mother has never broached. Perhaps it is because you are—his friend. Your sympathy with him, I should like to justify myself in—"

"I beg that you will not believe it!" interrupted Chapman passionately. "However sorry I may feel for his wretchedness, I know that you were right. I should like you always to believe that. I have no blame for you. It would require a power stronger even than the infinite to tell you all that he has suffered, but there is no thing that the whole world might say that could alter my esteem for you. No matter what you have done, it was right and well, for you are incapable of an action that is otherwise."

"How can you say that when you were his friend?"

"Not so much as yours. I would give my life, my heart, my soul for you if I only might. God! What am I saying? Forgive me, I beseech you."

He had covered his face with his hand, and consequently could not see the expression of sweet content that had settled upon hers.

She turned her eyes upon him with a smile that would have glorified the face of a Madonna, and was about to utter some word that might have saved them all the horrible suffering of the years that were to come, but checked herself as they hovered upon her lips.

"There is time," she whispered to her heart.

Then she arose and touched him upon the shoulder.

"There is no need to ask for my forgiveness for that which must be at honor to any woman, save that it happen to be—a wife," she said slowly; "but I have decided to forgive. You should I have denied the happiness of loving and of being loved because on man cannot really be a union. I was never Eric Devereux's wife, except in name. Mr. Chapman, your friend has suffered. That has expiated the wrong that he has done me, and, as much for his sake as my own, I decided last night upon a course that has been loathsome to me. I have to-day consulted a lawyer to have that marriage annulled."

He started as though she had stabbed him to the heart.

"You have—"

"You do not think that I have done wrong?" she interrupted eagerly. "Tell me that you do not?"

"What difference can my opinion make to you?" he exclaimed bitterly. "No, you have not done wrong. You could not. As you say, why should you remain eternally unhappy because of him? Why should you be denied a husband's love because the man you first loved was a scoundrel? If I were a Christian I should pray God night and day for your happiness, that the contentment of the future might wipe out the miserable blot upon the past."

"How can I thank you?"

"Ah, God! As if there could be a thought of thanks between you and me! You are very good to have let me come to you to-day, Duchess. Tell me the message that you would send to Eric Devereux, and I will do it."

"What shall I be? Somehow I feel"

Palpitation of the Heart.

One of the first danger signals that announce something wrong with the heart is the irregular or violent throb. Often there is only a fluttering sensation, or an "all gone" sinking feeling; or, again, there may be a most violent beating with flushings of the skin, and visible pulsations of the arteries.

There may also be experienced a smothering sensation, gasping for breath, and feeling as though about to die.

In all such cases the action of Dr. Bovel's Iron Tonic Pills in quieting the heart and restoring it to its normal beat, is beyond all question marvelous, as our thousands of testimonials will show.

Dr. Bovel's Iron Tonic Pills are sold by all druggists and dealers at 25c per box.

is made in England and enjoyed all over the world.

It has a new and delicious flavour, distinct—quite distinct from any other sauce you have ever had before.

Kindly toward all the world to-day. Say that I forgive him! Say that I hope he may be happy! Say that while I pray God that I may never look upon his face again, still I am sorry for him!"

Slowly Chapman arose, trembling in every limb.

"How can you send a message like that?" he asked hoarsely.

She turned her face from him, and answered in a voice hushed with passionate emotion:

"Because I have learned to forget under the strength of a new love, I love that teaches me the old was but fancy!"

He never knew how he prevented the cry that arose to his lips, but it was the blow of death. He was glancing in his awful pallor, but she attracted it to another cause, as he took her hand in his and pressed his hot lips upon it.

"Good-bye," he said stonily. "You will soon be free to choose your happiness for yourself, and then—"

He could not finish the sentence and again she was misled.

Forgetting everything but his overwhelming love, he took her face between his hands, and gazed into the deep eyes hungrily.

"Good-bye," he whispered again. "If God himself could look down upon your heart, he would tell you that I do not blame you, but that through all, and under and over all, I love you better than even the salvation of my own soul. May Heaven protect and bless you!"

Before she could repulse him, he had bent and kissed her once upon the lips, and was gone.

Led by the invisible director of grief, he sprang into the coupe that awaited before the door and was driven away.

"It is the end," he muttered, as distance shut the house from his vision. "It has been bitter enough to suit a demon, and now—I must learn to forget also. She learned it a new love! My heart is dead, but thank God gratitude still lives! That dies only with the soul! Poor little Bebe! But for her tenderness, her love, there would be nothing in life to keep me from a madhouse. And now for the lesson of forgetting!"

But back there, where he had left her, Virginia Beaufort stood in the centre of that superb room, a smile upon her curved lips.

"He loves me!" she murmured. "Ah, dear old life, the turn in you, 'ane has brought me joy and peace at last. My pride has been swallowed up in the magnitude of my love. What care I what Edwin Chapman is or has been, so long as he loves me? What was that other love compared with this?"

Woman's Death Followed Quarrel Over a Cabbage.

CHARLOTTETOWN, Oct. 8.—A warrant was issued to-day for the arrest of Victor Hudson, of Stanhope, charged with having caused the death of his aunt, Johanna Hudson, on Tuesday last. Mrs. McMasters, a sister of the deceased, told the officers the case that after she had taken the cabbage from his field he followed her to their home. She barred the door, and a fight took place at the window between Johanna and Victor, each armed with sticks. The nephew wrestled the stick from the old lady and Mrs. McMasters went to the kitchen to get another. When she returned Johanna was lying senseless on the floor. Victor lifted her up trying to restore her, but in vain. The nephew denies that he struck her, but admits having quarrelled over the taking of the cabbage. An investigation will be held at once. The two old ladies though very wealthy lived alone in very humble style. The doctor, who was called in shortly after the affair, pronounced death due to heart failure, as a result of shock. He says that he saw no marks on her body.

The World's Deadliest Poisons.

Although it has been stated that hyoscin—first heard of by most people in connection with the Crippen case the other day—is the deadliest poison known to science, this is not quite correct.

It is true that no more than half a grain is sufficient to destroy life, so that a single pound of the horrible substance would be capable of causing the deaths of more than 15,000. But there are other drugs that are even more deadly, although luckily, they are never found outside the laboratory of the professional toxicologist.

Tetanine is one of these. It is what scientists call a microbic poison, the product of the microbe of tetanus, or lock. A fatal dose of tetanine would be but a fifth part of a similar dose of hyoscin. Or put another way, while a pound weight of hyoscin would suffice to kill above 15,000 people, a pound of tetanine would kill over 75,000. By actual experiment it has been proved that a fifteen-hundredth part of a grain of tetanine will kill a horse 600,000,000 times its own weight.

It is probable that this is the deadliest poison known, although there are several others that run it a fairly close second. For example, pure hydrocyanic acid (not that usually sold in chemist's shops, which is only a 2 per cent solution) is so exceedingly poisonous that the mere inhalation of its emanations will cause instant death, and in fact, Scheel, its discoverer, lost his life in this manner.

At Last an English Chemist Has Discovered How to Grow Hair.

McMURDO & CO. HAVE IMPORTED IT.

In England the ladies have entirely abandoned wearing hats, which is due entirely to this new discovery.

It has been proven that Henna leaves contain the ingredients that will positively grow hair. That they contain this long-lost-for article is proven every day.

The Americans are now placing on the market a preparation containing the extract from Henna leaves, which is having a phenomenal sale.

This preparation is called SALVIA, and is being sold with a guarantee to cure Dandruff and to grow hair in abundance. Being daintily perfumed, SALVIA makes a most pleasant hair dressing.

McMURDO & Co., your druggist, is the first to import this preparation into St. John's, and a large, generous bottle can be purchased for 50c.

For sale by dealers everywhere.

Asking Jonah.

Among those who will address the Men's Meeting is the popular Bishop of Ripon, Dr. W. Boyd Carpenter. A born orator, his lordship is also a first-class scholar, but he never preaches above the heads of his congregation.

Once while addressing an open-air meeting an atheist asked him if he believed that Jonah was swallowed by a whale.

"When I go to Heaven," said his lordship, "I'll ask Jonah."

"But, supposing," the other persisted, "he is not there?"

"Then, you will have to ask him," was the retort, and the crowd laughed uproariously while the atheist slunk away abashed.

THERAPION

A complete revolution in the treatment of disease, in the department of medical science, whilst thousands have been restored to health and happiness who for years previously had been merely dragging out a miserable existence.

THERAPION NO. 1—A Sovereign Remedy for dysuria, suppurating infections, ureteritis, pain and swellings of the bladder, and all those conditions which necessarily require the use of opiates, and which, if not promptly suppressed, lead to the most serious complications. This preparation purifies the urinary system through the blood and thoroughly eliminates all uric acid matter from the body.

THERAPION NO. 2—A Sovereign Remedy for primary and secondary skin eruptions, ulcers, sores, and swellings of the joints, and all those conditions which necessarily require the use of opiates, and which, if not promptly suppressed, lead to the most serious complications. This preparation purifies the blood and thoroughly eliminates all uric acid matter from the body.

THERAPION NO. 3—A Sovereign Remedy for primary and secondary skin eruptions, ulcers, sores, and swellings of the joints, and all those conditions which necessarily require the use of opiates, and which, if not promptly suppressed, lead to the most serious complications. This preparation purifies the blood and thoroughly eliminates all uric acid matter from the body.

THERAPION is sold by all Chemists and Druggists. Price in England 2/6 and 4/6. In ordering, state which of the three numbers you wish, and observe that the word "THERAPION" appears on British Government Stamp (in white letters on a red ground) affixed to every package by order of His Majesty's Home Office, and without which it is a forgery.

Therapion may now also be obtained in Dragee (Tasteless) form.

Rat-Proofing a City.

San Francisco is being "rat-proofed." The word has become part of the San Franciscan vocabulary, like "water-proofing," and refers to a style of brick and concrete architecture that is enforced by condemnation proceedings in portions of the city, until now the centres of rat population.

Eighteen months have passed since the last capture of a rat afflicted with the bubonic plague—the "Black Death" of history, which flees borne by rats spread to human hosts. But the fight to exterminate the rodents goes on.

According to the report of Dr. G. M. Converse of the United States Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, the sewers are being poisoned and the rats are being caught in cages and snap traps at the rate of 8,600 monthly. In "Butchertown," in the congested Japanese quarters, and in the wholesale fruit and produce section of the town, the ramshackle buildings are being rat-proofed in their basements or entirely replaced with solid structures.

By-and-bye every American city may be rat-proofed, fly-proofed, sick-proofed and mosquito-proofed, until these death-dealing vermin are utterly destroyed.—New York Times.

As to the German Bed.

Jerome K. Jerome's Famous Analysis—The Amusement and Despair of the English Humorist at the Sight of This Formidable Affair for the First Time.

It was years ago, true, that Jerome K. Jerome saw a German bed and wrote of it. Possibly many readers of the Transcript have laughed at his picture of it. Certainly some of those of us who during the past summer experienced this sort of machine will enjoy his description. It saves us the trouble of writing it ourselves. And then, possibly, Mr. Jerome did it better than we could have done! At any rate here it is:—

"To the blasé English bed-goer accustomed all his life to the same old hackneyed style of bed night after night, there is something very pleasantly pungent about the experience of trying to sleep in a German bed. He does not know it is a bed at first. He thinks that someone has been going round the room, collecting all the sacks and cushions and antimacassars and such articles that he has happened to find about, and has piled them up on a wooden tray ready for moving. He rings for the chambermaid, and explains to her that she has shown him into the wrong room. He wanted a bedroom.

"She says: 'This is a bedroom.'

"He says: 'Where is the bed?'

"There!' she says, pointing to the box on which the sacks and antimacassars and cushions lie piled.

"That!' he cries. 'How am I going to sleep in that?'

"The chambermaid does not know how he is going to sleep there, never having seen a gentleman go to sleep anywhere, and not knowing how they set about it; but suggests that he might try lying down flat, and shut his eyes.

"But it is not long enough," he says.

The chambermaid thinks he will go able to manage it, if he tucks his legs up with it.

He sees that he will not get anything better, and that he must put up with it.

"Oh, very well," he says. "Look sharp and get it made, then."

She says: "It is made."

He turns and regards the girl sternly. Is she taking advantage of his being a lonely stranger, far from home and friends, to mock him. He goes over to what she calls the bed, and snatching off the topmost sack from the pile, and holding it up, says: "Perhaps you will tell me what this is, then?"

"That," says the girl, "that's the bed."

He is somewhat nonplussed at the unexpected reply.

"Oh!" he says. "Oh! the bed, is it? I thought it was a pincushion! Well, if it is the bed, then what is it doing out here on top of everything else? You think that because I'm only a man, I don't understand a bed?"

"That's the proper place for it," responds the chambermaid.

"What! On top?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, then, where are the clothes?"

"Underneath, sir."

"Look here, my good girl," he says, "you don't understand me, or I don't understand you, one or the other."

When I go to sleep I lie on a bed and pull the clothes over me. I don't want to lie on the clothes and cover myself with the bed. This isn't a comic ballet, you know?"

The girl assures him that there is no mistake about the matter at all. There is the bed, made according to German notions of how a bed should be made. He can make the best of it, and then try to go to sleep upon it, or he can be sulky and go to sleep on the floor.

He is very much surprised. It looks to him the sort of a bed that a man would make for himself on coming home late from a party. But it is no use arguing the matter with the girl.

"All right," he says, "bring me a pillow, and I'll risk it."

The chambermaid explains that there are two pillows on the bed already, indicating as she does so two flat cushions, each one a yard square placed one on top of the other at one end of the mixture.

"These!" exclaims the weary traveller, beginning to feel that he does not want to go to bed at all. "These are not pillows! I want something to put my head on; not a thing that comes down in the middle of my back! Don't tell me that I've got to sleep on these things!"

But the girl does tell him so, and also implies that she has something else to do than to stand there all day talking bed-gossip with him.

"Well, just show me how to start," he says, "which way you get into it, and then I won't keep you any longer; I'll puzzle over the rest myself."

She explains the trick to him and leaves; and he undresses and crawls in.

The pillows give him a good deal of worry. He does not know whether he is meant to sit on them or merely to lean up against them. In experimenting upon this point he bumps his head against the top board of the bedstead. At this he says "Oh!" and shoots himself down to the bottom of the bed. Here all his ten toes simultaneously come into sharp contact with the board at the bottom.

Nothing irritates a man more than being rapped over the toes, especially if he feels that he has done nothing to deserve it. He says "Oh, damn!" this time, and spasmodically doubles up his legs, thus giving his knees a violent blow against the board at the side of the bed. (The German bedstead, be it remembered, is built in the form of a shallow, open box, and the victim is thus completely surrounded by solid pieces of wood with sharp edges. I do not know what species of wood it is that is employed. It is extremely hard, and gives forth a curious musical sound when struck sharply with a bone.)

After this he lies perfectly still for a while, wondering where he is going to be hit next. Finding that nothing happens, he begins to regain confidence, and ventures to gently feel around with his left leg and take stock of his position.

For clothes he has only a very thin blanket and sheet, and beneath these he feels decidedly chilly. The bed is warm enough, so far as it goes, but there is not enough of it. He draws it up around his chin, and then his feet began to freeze. He pushes it down over his feet and then all the top of him shivers.

He tries to roll up in a ball so as to get the whole of himself underneath it, but does not succeed; there is always some of him left outside in the cold.

He reflects that a "boneless wonder" or a "man-serpent" would be comfortable enough in this bed, and wishes that he had been brought up as a conformationist. If he could only tie his legs around his neck, and tuck his head in under his arm, all would yet be well.

Eczema's Tortures

All treatments failed for three long years—Cure complete with Dr. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

Mrs. Lark, 12 Walker St., Halifax, N. S., writes: "After three years of unbearable torture and sleepless nights with terrible eczema, and after trying over a dozen remedies without obtaining anything but slight temporary relief, I have been perfectly and entirely cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment. After the third or fourth application of this grand ointment I obtained relief, and a few boxes were sufficient to make a thorough cure. It is six months since I was freed of this wretched skin disease, and at that time there has been no return of the trouble. I consider the cure a permanent one."

Such cures are not brought about by imitations and substitutes for Dr. Chase's Ointment. It is therefore necessary for you to be certain that the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., the famous Receipt Book author, are on the box you buy. 60 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edman, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for a free copy of Dr. Chase's Receipts.

M. CONNORS.

Never having been taught to do any really useful tricks, such as these, however, he has to be content to remain abroad, wearing a bit of himself at a time.

It is perhaps foolish of him, and so many read troubles to allow a mere ostentatious consideration to annoy him, but as he lies there on his back, looking down at himself, the sight that he presents to himself considerably annoys him. The puffed-up bed, resting on the middle of him, gives him the appearance of a man suffering from some monstrous swelling, or else of some exceptionally well-developed frog that has been turned up the wrong way and does not know how to get on its legs again.

Another vexation that he has to contend with is, that every time he moves a limb or breathes extra hard the bed (which is only of down) tumbles off onto the floor.

You cannot lean out of a German bed to pick up anything off the floor owing to its box-like formation; so he has to scramble out after it, and of course every time he does this he barks both of his shins twice against the sides of the bed.

When he has performed this feat for about the tenth time, he concludes that it was madness for him, a mere raw amateur at the business, to think that he could manage a complicated, tricky bed of this sort, that must take even an experienced man all he knows to think in it, and gets out and camps on the floor.

Cat Attacks Woman.

New York, Oct. 6.—Mrs. Jennie Brilliant, of 1703 Washington Avenue, was subjected to a vicious attack by a large cat to-night, and during the struggle with the crazy creature she received fully 100 scratches, nearly every part of her face and neck being torn by the animal's claws.

Two of the cat's kittens had been killed during the day by Mrs. Brilliant's dog, the police say, and in that way they account for the feline's anger.

Mrs. Brilliant lives on the top floor of the Washington Avenue house, and it was while she was ascending the flight of stairs leading to her apartment that the animal sprang upon her head from the upper landing. Frantic from pain and fear the woman ran into her kitchen and tried to drag the beast off. For fully five minutes the cat maintained its hold and during that time inflicted the scratches and pulled out considerable hair.

When the victim succeeded in tearing the cat from her head she hurried it through the window. The long tail the cat had to the yard killed it almost instantly.

When the owner of the cat learned of its death, she hurried to the Tremont station and, according to the officers, asserted that her neighbor had wilfully thrown the cat out of the window, and asked to have the matter investigated.

A DRY SADDLE WHEN IT RAINS IF YOU WEAR TOWER'S FISH BRAND POMMEL SLICKER

He Wanted Horses.

A small boy who was not familiar with country ways was taken by his fond mother for a short stay in the country.

On a farm in a neighbouring county he waxed fat and sunburnt, and picked up a wondrous store of astonishing experiences.

One day the farmer, who had kept his eye on the boy, smilingly said to the mother:

"Just ask your boy why he hid two eggs in the stable?"

So the very first opportunity the mother said to the six-year old:

"My dear, what did you do with those eggs you took from the hen-house?"

"I hid them in the stable," answered the boy.

"And what for?" asked his mother.

"Cause it's my scheme."

"Your scheme! And what is your scheme?"

"Why, you see, mamma," said the little philosopher, "when eggs is borned in a chicken-house there is always little chickens, and I fink if they were borned in a stable they might be little horses."

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral Throat

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

"I never explain anything I do, no matter how badly it may look," a man said to me the other day.

"I think explanations are weak. My enemies won't believe 'em anyway, and if my friends can't believe 'em, what's ever I do, without explanations, they aren't friends worth having."

Sounds well. Sounds splendidly. 'Tis it wholly wise or fair?

I once knew a woman who practically wrecked her whole life simply because she was too proud to explain how she happened to be in a very compromising position.

She was in a man's room in a hotel. She had a very good, although very peculiar reason, for being there. She refused to explain it to his mother who found her there, and the scandal went forth. The mother was a thoroughly reasonable woman who would gladly have believed the explanation, and who did believe it when it came to her later from other sources. Too late, however, to save a girl's name.

I think any man or woman who is placed in a position where the most natural inference is that they have done wrong, owe the world an explanation.

Ought not their friends to believe in them without explanations?

Some of them.

But if a man can count on the fingers the friends who will believe in him despite any appearances, he is fortunate.

Nor is it that any aspersion on human nature.

I think it is inevitable. For it is hardly humanly possible to know more than half a dozen people so well that you can judge them by what you know they are, irrespective of what they do.

But it is not for these friends that a man should explain.

Nor for his enemies—for doubtless, as my friend said, they will probably think ill of him if they have an opportunity, no matter what he says.

But it is inevitable that the vast majority of every man's world should be made up of people who are neither such close friends nor yet enemies.

To them I think he owes his explanation.

If he does not give it, I think they are justified in believing ill of him.

And if he does give it, I think the better part of them will receive it and think well of him.

"What difference does it make what these people think?" protests someone.

None, if you are sure you will never need the co-operation, and approval, and good opinion of your world.

Elbert Hubbard's "Don't explain, don't argue, get the thing done and let them howl!" is all right when there is no other way of getting what you want done.

But when you have the world on your side by saying a few words, I think it pays.

Don't you?

Road Master Injured

D. Ferguson, trackmaster with the R. N. Co., met with a serious mishap while going over the track to Shoal Harbor from Seal Cove on his track motor car last evening. A construction train with engine and flat car coming along behind him, also going to Shoal Harbor, was not seen by him or heard on account of the noise made on the rails by his own machine till the engine came right upon him and threw him off the track, railway motor and all, bruising him very severely. He was taken on board the construction train and brought to Shoal Harbor, where Dr. Leslie ministered to him and bound up his wounds. He was put on board the express this morning and brought to town for Hospital treatment.

Wreck of the Schr Torpedo

The crew of the wrecked schr. torpedo, whose loss we refer elsewhere, had a perilous time of it before leaving her. She was coming from the Labrador coast to St. John's when she struck the big gale of Monday night, about 20 miles south of Groa's Is. The vessel was badly battered in the elements, had all her canvas torn to shreds and the seas made a clean sweep over her as she ran before the blast, everything movable was swept off the decks, the booms were broken and one of the masts were sprung, while it was dangerous in the extreme for the men to hold the decks. The vessel laboured so heavily in the sea that the topping lift gave out, the sheets of the main boom pulled the sheaves out of the blocks, when they gave way the boom had full fall and came very near killing one of the crew named Snelgrove who was standing in the companion and hauling him overboard. To make matters worse water was discovered in the hold, the vessels seams opened, and all hands had to man the pumps to try and keep her afloat. For hours the men worked hard at this, and on Tuesday it was decided to run her for St. Julien's and beach her. About four hours before this was done the water had gained so rapidly that it was over the cabin floor, and if the crew were compelled to remain on her for an hour or two longer she would have foundered with them and all would have gone to bottom with her. Several foreign voyagers, says it is the worst experience he ever went through. He and his crew of 6 men lost all their clothing and effects, and the captain lost a number of nautical instruments. It was a fortunate thing that the fish taken by the vessel was shipped away on the Labrador coast. She had a large quantity of oil on board and this was all lost. It was a difficult task to round the point of St. Julien's. Had she gone in there all would have been lost. Several other schooners were in company with the Torpedo and had their sails, tern, booms broken and sustained other damage. The vessel was insured in the Bonavia scheme.

Police at the Train

Supt. Grimes and four policemen were at the railway station last midnight when the accommodation train came in on the look-out for possible fugitives from Grand Falls in connection with the recent robbery there. Two men who got off the train were shadowed by the police till informed by the conductor that they were two of the R. N. Co's stewards who were being transferred.

Anxiety Felt

There is much anxiety about four schooners which went out shortly before midnight last night. Two were going to Musgrave and two to Trinity. They must have met the full force of the storm, as they did not have time to get to any port of shelter. The applications for insurance tendered by interested parties this morning would not be accepted.

ARC LAMP BLOWS DOWN

A large arc lamp on a pole at the foot of Hutchings' Street fell this morning in the storm. Mr. T. P. Connors, who was coming down from his home to the railway station, narrowly escaped being struck by it.

A Subtle Reminder.

A village cricket match was in course of progress. The fielding side were for the time a man short, and a farm labourer was pressed into service. A ball was hit in the substitute's direction, and to the surprise of the spectators in general, and of himself in particular, he made the catch.

The following day he anxiously scanned the local papers for a record of his feat, and was greatly disappointed to find it reported as "caught sub."

"What is this 'ere, 'caught sub'?" he asked a friend.

"Why, don't thee know, Bill? That means 'twore an accident," was the reply.

The editor of the paper was amused next morning by the following note:—

"dear sur,—You say in yore paper as 'ow I cort a man out in last saturday's match by accident. I mite summons you for libel, only I shan't; but if you should 'appen to get a clump on the nose one of these odd days, you'll know it was Bill Wiggins as done it, and it won't be no sub neither."

Important Business.

There appears to have been two matters of more than passing importance before the Municipal Council last night.

One was the application from the Commercial Cable Company asking the Council to reconsider the conditions and terms under which the Council would permit the Company to lay their cables through the streets of the city to connect the landing place at Cuckhold's Cove with the offices the Company propose to erect on the site they have purchased on Water Street.

Now that the personnel of the Council has changed materially and ample time has been afforded for a consideration calmly and dispassionately of the whole case, we have no doubt it will be possible for the Council and the Company to come to such terms as will conserve the public interest and at the same time not unreasonably exacting and embarrassing to the Company. Another handsome structure on Water Street together with the new Seamen's Home should considerably enhance the appearance of the eastern portion of Water Street.

The other application was from Mr. F. W. Knight, on behalf of the Newfoundland Board of Fire Underwriters. The Board informed the Council that a revision of the Tariff on Insurance was being considered and asked if the Council intended to take any steps towards the supplying of a Harbor Fire Boat, as the existence of such a fire-fighting engine would materially affect the rates of insurance. The Council determined to consult the Government on the matter. It is to be hoped something will come out of the suggestion.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

To-day a drunk was discharged. A cabman summoned by Constable Lawlor for driving without lights was fined $10 or 30 days.

An assault case was withdrawn. Mrs. White had a boy summoned for stealing her horse on the 11th inst. As complainant could not come from Torbay to-day, the hearing was postponed till Monday.

A woman of the West End summoned her son for using threatening language towards her. The woman's husband was recently upon her representations sentenced to long term of imprisonment, but to-day the evidence of the deft. (the woman's son) and her daughter showed that it was not altogether the old man's fault, and they made some serious charges against their mother, the complainant, which she did not seem in a position to be, well able to contradict. His Honor gave her a "piece of his mind" as to her conduct, but the son was asked to find bonds in $50 to keep the peace towards his mother in future.

In Good Hands.

We are glad to learn that the police have been informed from New York that the girls, about whose welfare anxiety was felt are in good hands. The Inspector General communicated with the Chief of Police in New York from whom satisfactory assurance has been received that the girls were met by a respectable woman and are now living in a family who are all right.

The Anpcola, Capt. Olsen, arrived at Pernaubuco yesterday with a load of fish from Bishop & Sons, 40 days on the passage.

Schooners Lost.

The schooner Empress, belonging to Munn & Co., which left Hr. Grace for St. John's last evening, sprung a leak in the storm and sank. The crew of four men left her in a boat and after great risk of life landed at Carbonear this morning. We understand that the vessel is insured.

Work of the Storm

The northeast gale which started this morning about one o'clock increased in violence as the hours passed and was accompanied by heavy rain, alternating with snow showers. A tremendous sea runs outside and no craft could enter the Narrows this morning. The sea runs away up on the cliffs at either side the entrance to port and a big swell is heaving in the harbor all day. Several schooners which left here last evening for the northward had to run back early this morning to the shelter of the port. In the lower part of the harbor there is a big undertow running and vessels had to be given extra moorings to prevent their doing damage to the wharves at which they are tied up. Messrs. Walsh, Kearsey and Squires, watermen, each had their boats destroyed by being beaten up against the breastwork of the King's wharf at an early hour this morning. One boat was driven in from the collar out in the Narrows and floated up the harbor bottom up, while it is known that some of the stages and flakes on both sides of the harbor are badly damaged and may be totally destroyed. The pilots owing to the big sea on could not attempt to run outside. The sea is now created in the side of Petty Harbour Bays and it is thought will create much havoc in these places. People who came in from Torbay this forenoon say that there is a terrible sea running in that section and they believe that there will be a repetition of the destruction done there in the fall of last year. Several boats were broken up this morning and others swamped on the collars, and it is believed that mostly all the stages will be swept away at Torbay, Outer Cove, Pouch Cove and Flatrock. If such occurs it will be a great blow to the fishermen, as after last year's storm all the stages were rebuilt in these places. At Blackhead and Petty Harbor the fishermen were up all night getting their boats up on the beach out of the reach of the sea. If a wharf was erected at the side of Petty Harbour Gut it would be a great protection for the fishing boats in stormy weather.

Puts an End to Stomach Misery.

Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Dyspepsia vanish in five minutes.

Every family here ought to keep some Diapiesin in the house, as any one of you may have an attack of indigestion or stomach trouble at any time, day or night.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a distressed, out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Indigestion. Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin, and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapiesin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there. Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery at any drug store, waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to cure almost any chronic case of Dyspepsia, indigestion or any other Stomach trouble.

Thursday evening week the wedding of Miss Alma Gush, of the Battery Road, this city, to leading Stoker Tom's, of H.M.S. Brilliant, took place at St. Mary's Church, South Side. Rev. H. Uphill performing the ceremony. The bride called at the office on Tuesday morning last and after publishing the usual wedding notices, asked for a particular description of the ceremony, which was given in our issue of Wednesday of this week. The officers of the Brilliant were not aware of the stoker's marriage until they read it in the Telegram, and on questioning Tom's he denied the wedding. It is said he had been entered on the ship's journals as a married man. He was taken before the official clerkman under guard yesterday afternoon and was identified by Jim as the groom in the ceremony which he had performed. It is understood on board ship that the man is under arrest there pending further enquiry into the case.

A farmer named O'Reilly, of the Topsails Road, was thrown out of his carriage at the foot of Adelaide St. this morning when he was trying to stop his horse which had bolted away. He fell on his head on the street. He was taken into P. F. Collins' store and his wounds dressed by Dr. Tait, and was then sent home in a carriage.

Joseph Denison and his son, Patrick, had a narrow escape from being drowned at Colinet last week. They were conveying a heifer to a nearby place in a boat when the latter capsized and threw them both into the water. Both could swim and by divesting themselves of part of their clothing they managed to get ashore. Before striking out for the shore the son took out his pocket knife and cut the rope that tied the cow to the "risings". The cow then was free but after plunging about for a few minutes was drowned.

Nutritive Hypophosphites.

When a person feels "blue" — "all tired out" — "doesn't feel like doing anything" — cannot concentrate his mind on his work — feels weak mentally and physically — doubts his powers — complains of poor appetite and sleeplessness — suffers from headaches — then his nervous system is run-down and demands a good up-building tonic. Nervous exhaustion is a modern disease, caused by too close attention to business, overwork, worry, devotion to trying family cares, overstudy, etc. Nutritive Hypophosphites forms the best nerve and brain food known, and have restored thousands of sufferers to health. Still at Labrador.

The banker Australia, Capt. W. Hollett, of Durin, is still fishing at Bateau, Labrador, and when the Bonemela left was doing good work and hauled for over 200 qts. of fish, which was plentiful on the coast. It is expected that if the weather is at all fair she will secure 500 qts. She broke her main boom in one of the recent storms and should feel up Monday. She will call in here on her way to get supplies and possibly some repairs. Other schooners also are still on the coast fishing.

Schr. Re-Floated.

The schooner H. M. Gardner, Capt. Penny, which ran on the rocks at Change Islands, last Monday, has been floated off successfully and taken to Change Islands. She is not leaking and will be sailed home the first favourable opportunity.

WITH THE ADVENTISTS. — "The Recent Great Eucharistic Congress (Montreal) and the Catholic Dogma of the Real Presence." Elder C. H. Krelake, who witnessed the proceedings at the Congress, will deliver the second discourse upon this subject at the Adventist Church, Cookstown Road, to-morrow night at 8.30. Seats free; all welcome.

Thinks It Is a Steamer Wrecked.

Passengers by the S. S. Glencoe now in the city say that the schooner Jubilee, which arrived at St. Lawrence, coal laden from Sydney, a couple of days ago after a passage of 8 days on the run had an awful time of it, and the wonder is she did not founder. The deals which were picked up at St. Lawrence, Lamaline, Lawn and other parts of the S. W. Coast are very heavy and do not look as if they had been cut in this country. The Jubilee, when about 20 miles off the coast, was sailing through them for fully 5 hours. She reports that while in the Gulf of St. Lawrence during the night of the storm she passed a large steamer whose decks were piled with lumber and deals. The ship which evidently was from some Canadian port was making very bad weather and was deeply laden. The vessel evidently lost her deck load or foundered, and the belief is that these deals are a part of her cargo. The Jubilee was not near enough to get the name of the steamer, but she was a large three masted vessel. The Jubilee which was bound for St. Pierre but put in at St. Lawrence received a terrible buffeting. The sea ran mountains high, and the wind blew with the velocity of a hurricane. The vessel was for the better part of 8 days holed to, and had to drift before the blast. Her foremast was carried away, the main boom smashed, the jaws of the main gaff broken, while the only sails left on her were the mainsail and large jib. All the rest having been torn into shreds by the force of the wind. Portion of the deck was started by the working of the mainmast before it went by the board, and it is surprising that the vessel did not founder. Water got into the hold and the crew had to work the pumps often to try and keep her free. The foremast is also sprung, and it was only by the most skilful seamanship that she was nursed into port. She will be towed to St. Pierre by the tug "St. Pierre." The bankers Percy Roy and Cors arrived at St. Lawrence off the Banks, Wednesday, with their dories smashed up and their sails either completely gone or torn into tatters.

Took Open Air Treatment.

Mr. Joseph Verge, of New Harbor, T.B., arrived here by the Prospero last evening. Mr. Verge, who is suffering from lung disease, was at Dr. Grenfell's sanatorium at St. Anthony the past two weeks and underwent the open air treatment for the disease. He and two others the past two weeks slept on the grounds near the hospital each night with only a tent over them, they being in separate tents, and these were so arranged that while they slept the air had free access to their persons. Mr. Verge told a Telegram reporter last night that the treatment entails much discomfort but he thinks he has considerably benefited by it and may continue it when he gets to his own home. He and the others with him left the place together, as the weather had become altogether too cold to remain at night in the tents. The sanatorium is now closed for the winter. Drs. Little and Steward gave the patients every attention while there.

Kronen's Gear Sold.

Not much of the hull of the Danish schooner Kronen which went ashore at Bonavista in the gale is left, the high sea which ran in over Canallik Stock, near where she lay, having demolished her. The spars were got out of her as well as all the sails, rigging, chains, anchors, etc., and this was sold at public auction yesterday and purchased by Messrs. Ryan and Templeman.

Secured 31 Whales.

By the Prospero we learn that the whaler Hawk, which is operating at Cape Charles, has 31 whales captured up to date. This time last year the ship had 50 fish ashore, and for the season she secured 54. For three weeks past, owing to stormy weather, the vessel has not been able to go on the search for fish, and her catch this year may not be over 40, as the season is too far advanced to kill many more.

Schooners Come to Grief.

By the Prospero we learn that in the big storm of Monday the schr. Torpedo, owned by John Cook, of this city, became filled with water in straining in the heavy sea, as her seams opened when off St. Julian's and she had to be abandoned. The crew at the risk of their lives had to leave the vessel in boats, and after a desperate struggle with wind and tide rowed safely into St. Julian's where the Prospero took them on board and brought them here. In the gale the vessel had all her canvas carried away, both her booms smashed in pieces, the foremast was sprung near the deck, and to stay by her for any length of time meant courting death. The crew lost a considerable portion of their clothing and effects. On Monday also a schooner owned by John Walsh, of Coachman's Cove, went ashore at Belle Isle in the Straits and was badly battered by the high sea which ran. The vessel struck her anchors, but before she did so the crew left her and landed safely in their boat. They were landed at Triquet by another vessel and were taken home by the Prospero.

Bank Fish For Montreal.

The banker Bonemela, which came off dock yesterday after receiving necessary repairs, owing to going on the rocks near Bateau, Labrador, will discharge her 700 qts. of fish at Jowring Bros., South Side, on Monday, where it will be properly washed and processed for the Montreal market. The fish will be packed carefully in flour barrel packages and sent forward by the Black Diamond line steamers. This green fish trade with Montreal was started about three years ago by Capt. W. Hollett, of the Australia, who went there and shipped 350,000 lbs. of the fish and cleaned up a nice profit as a result. There is a very good market for this fish in Montreal and this particular consignment is sold to a very remunerative figure.

Tinsmith's Strike.

The tinsmiths' strike still continues and there are now 17 men—all Unionists—out of work. Messrs. Pym, Now, Adams and Bennett have determined to go abroad to seek employment and will leave within a short time for Canada, and the United States. The men say they will under no condition go back to work unless their demand for a raise of wages is complied with. The L. S. P. U. will give another card tournament in the Mechanics' Hall, Monday night, for their benefit. Through the generosity of the affiliated unions in helping them, the men are assured of a fair week's salary while on strike. It is understood that the Clerk's Union will meet shortly and will make a donation for the benefit of the striking tinsmiths. Mr. W. Kean, one of the strikers, was yesterday employed by Mr. F. Gushue to work in his shop at the increased rate of wages.

HAD GOOD SPORT.—Mr. Hy. C. Whitney, who came here on the Beothic and is now at Briggs, had excellent sport on the barrens there with Capt. Bob Bartlett, of Arctic fame. For four days' shooting they killed 120 birds. Mr. Whitney was very well pleased with his trip there.

Houses Are Now Made From Sawdust.

Standy, Bread, and Marble are now Made From Wood Waste. Only a few years back, sawdust was regarded by owners of saw-mills as so much waste, to be got rid of as quickly as possible. Anybody could have it, and welcome. Some proprietors even paid people to cart it away. To-day all this is altered. Sawdust, so far from being looked upon as rubbish, is greatly prized, and is turned to account in a hundred different ways in arts and manufactures. Sugar, for instance, is made from it, so, too, is alcohol, which is, of course, the basis of all spirits. At a recent banquet, attended by famous chemists from all over the world, excellent "brandy" was served which had been distilled from sawdust. It was mellow, of agreeable flavour, perfectly free from any odour or taste of turpentine, and none of the guests knew, until they were told, that it was other than the genuine juice of the grape. Sawdust, again, forms the basis of more than twenty different kinds of explosives. The so-called "white" and "yellow" gunpowders are merely so much sawdust saturated with certain acids.

Food for Man and Beast.

Gas for lighting purposes can be manufactured from sawdust equally as well as from coal. In the lumber regions of Canada, where sawdust is cheap and plentiful, many towns and villages are lighted with sawdust gas. The mode of production is the same as is used for coal gas. The sawdust is baked in retorts, and yields from twenty to thirty thousand cubic feet of gas per ton. What is known as wood-meal fodder for cattle is just sawdust, mixed into a mash with hot distillers' wash and flavoured with rock salt. It can be fed to the beasts in its fresh state, or it can be dried and pressed into moulds like oil-cake, or it can be baked in the form of dough. Similar sawdust dough is made into bread, and eaten by the peasants in some parts of Russia and Germany. Mortar made from sawdust is now largely used in building operations. In fact a house could almost be built of sawdust throughout, for there is sawdust stocco on the market, and all kinds of imitation wood is made of sawdust, from plain deal planks to the most elaborate oak and mahogany mouldings, ornamental doors, windows, and so forth. Then there is wood marble which is used for mantelpieces, and which is sawdust combined with ivory waste, and coloured with certain pigments. The raised "velvet" wall papers, now so fashionable, are made of sawdust sifted over a surface that has been previously sized with an adhesive paste.

Sawdust Instead of Soap. All kinds of dyes are now manufactured from sawdust, and are both cheap and permanent. A pound of sawdust dye, for instance, costs only about half as much as the same quantity of logwood extract, while possessing four times the dyeing power.

Ordinary sawdust is used by jewelers to clean tarnished silver, and beech sawdust is the best polishing powder for gold. Sawdust is also used in laundries in lieu of soap, since friction with it is very efficacious in removing dirt. Tens of thousands of tons of sawdust are pulped and made into paper every year. Pressed into round moulds, it is made into stoppers for bottles, into flat moulds with dyes, it comes out in the form of coloured plaques and tinted wooden tiles. Sawdust is now used for the cheaper kinds of linoleums, instead of the more expensive cork dust, and tessellated floors are laid with small blocks of coloured sawdust "granite," arranged in patterns.

In fact, there seems no end to the uses to which this accommodating substance is put. The motorist owes

The Reason Why.

Lieutenant-General Sir J. H. Wodehouse, who is reported to be relinquishing his command of the Northern Army in India, once silenced a hoarse in a very quiet way. A military gentleman was laying down the law as to what ought to have been done throughout the South African Campaign. "Now, take yourself, Wodehouse," he said, "You must admit that I might have done better than you did on occasions." "Not the slightest doubt about it, General," replied Sir Jocelyn. "I am glad to hear you say so," answered the other. "Now, why should I have done better than you, let me ask?" he continued. "Because," replied the Lieutenant-General, very quietly, "it was not there at all." The other then remembered that he had an important appointment.

He will be summoned.

Five Bodies Washed Ashore.

Special to the Evening Telegram. LONDON, Oct. 14. The English coast is strewn with wreckage as result of a storm that had continued for two days. The casualty list is already reported large. This morning the bodies of five seamen from the coasting steamer Cranford were picked up off Hartlepool. It is believed that the vessel which carried a crew of twenty five, and that the men were attempting to reach shore in a small boat when they were lost. Some of the wreckage coming ashore indicates that a sailing ship met a like fate. Life boats from many points were out all last night, and in some instances effected rescues. In other cases they were unable to reach distressed crews.

Strike Feared in Italy.

The Italian Government is following the strike situation in France with the keenest interest, as the employees of the Italian postal telegraph, telephone and railroad systems, are organizing for a general strike next December. This, if carried out, in addition to demoralizing the economic and commercial life of the country, might lead to serious political trouble.

Ferrer Anniversary Passed Quietly.

Special to Evening Telegram. PARIS, Oct. 14. The Madrid correspondent of the Matin sends his paper an interview with Premier Canalejas in which the Minister says that there is no chance for a Republic in Spain, as the Republicans have no great leaders, and the ranks are hopelessly divided. Moreover the radical nature of the program involving a struggle with the Vatican, the Premier says, is disarming the Republicans and clericalists of one of their strongest principles. Largely attended meeting in memory of Francisco Ferrer, the alleged revolutionary who was shot by the Government, on Oct. 13, 1909, were held in this city yesterday and addresses made by Republican and Socialist deputies. The proceedings passed off quietly.

Censoring the News.

PARIS, Oct. 14. Special despatches from Lisbon arriving here by way of the frontier states that a rigorous censorship is being maintained upon all news concerning the new Government. The correspondents, it is assumed, are allowed to telegraph nothing concerning the damages done by the anti-clerical. The Government, the despatches continue, is plainly anxious to conceal any incident in connection with the arrival at Lisbon of the British and American cruisers. A Portuguese officer boarded them on their arrival here and warned the commanders of the danger of a torpedo attack or a submerged mine. As a result everybody aboard the cruisers was alert all through the night but nothing happened.

Only minor damage has been reported. After sweeping over the Isle of Pines yesterday afternoon it moved eastward and then shifted to the west. It is feared that the tobacco crop in Finar Del Rio will be ruined by a washing out of the sea.

HAVANA, Oct. 14. The Observatory reported just before noon that the vortex of the storm was passing over Havana. The velocity of the wind did not increase materially during the day, but rain fell in torrents. Traffic at the port ceased and business throughout the city was practically suspended. The newspaper plants were inconvenienced by the cutting off of the electric power. El Mundo was the only morning paper appearing to-day. It is reported that the storm devastated the town of Casilda, on the south coast of Santa Clara Province and that many persons were killed. It is also reported that the Isle of Pines suffered severely when the gales doubled on its track. Intelligence from the interior is meagre as a consequence of the interruption of telegraph and telephone communication.

A Record Salmon.

By the last mail Mr. Charles A. Walker the well-known artist and expert on foreign pictures, 20 Beacon Street, Boston, sent me a photograph of the monster salmon he took on the fly at Delaney's Point, Little River, Codroy. When he first struck the large fish it made a mighty leap and then rushed down the river. For an hour and three-quarters Walker fought the big salmon, at last it became exhausted and turned on its side, when the guide, Laurence DeLaney, waded into the pool waist deep and cleverly gaffed the fish. The staff broke but fortunately did not pierce and Delaney pulled the fish-making a terrific struggle—ashore. It was sometime before it was weighed when it tipped the scales at 41 1/2 lbs., but it was fully 42 lbs. when first captured. It was 47 1/2 inches long and 30 inches in girth. It is the largest fish taken in Newfoundland with a fly up to this date. J. F. Daggett, of Boston, captured one of 38 lbs. Mr. Wagstaff took another of 33 1/2 lbs. The record fish captured by Mr. Walker was taken on a No. 6 grey double hook. At Fox Island River Mr. Charles A. Walker caught some very fine sea trout—one after being cleaned and gutted weighed 10 1/3 lbs., as it came out of water it must have been nearly 15 lbs. Quite a number of persons were present when Walker landed the big fish, and that evening there were high festivities at Tompkins's. Both Mr. Walker and Mr. Daggett are great admirers and dear lovers of Newfoundland. They have been coming to the West Coast for the fishing now for a good many seasons. On the 13th September, on the same trip, Mr. Walker took another big salmon weighing 28 1/2 lbs. I shall endeavour to make Newfoundland known to the world, not only for its magnificent scenery and its lordly caribou, but also for its splendid salmon and trout. Mr. Walker is an artist as well as an expert angler. He is making a fine picture of the big fish and giving me a copy for the new edition of my Newfoundland Guide Book.

Man's Narrow Escape.

When the schooner Mary J., from Petite Fort to St. John's, was passing Cape St. Mary's, Thursday night, she was beset with snow squalls and received a drubbing. Some of her sails and gear were damaged, and in the jibbing of the boom the sheet block burst and narrowly escaped hitting James Fowler, one of the crew. It passed his head by a couple of inches. Had it hit the man he would have been killed instantly.

Twitching of the Nerves

Wonderful cure brought about by DR. A. W. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

It is only by watching the symptoms of nervous exhaustion and applying restorative treatment that you can ever hope to ward off locomotor ataxia and paralysis.

Mrs. E. J. Vanderburgh, of Eastern Welland Ave., St. Catharines, Ont., states:—"For twenty-one years I was badly afflicted with heart trouble, nervousness and cramps in the limbs, at twitching of the nerves and neuralgic headaches. I became weak, debilitated and emaciated. My condition was distressing and I was made worse through worry and loss of sleep.

"I tried a hundred remedies in vain after having used half a dozen boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food my old trouble had entirely vanished, and I was enjoying better health than I had since girlhood."

Such cases as this prove the wonderful efficiency of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food. It cures in Nature's way by enriching the blood and its benefits are lasting. 50 cts. a box, all dealers or Edmanon, Bates & Co., Toronto.

A Dog's Sagacity.

Yesterday evening a big dog exhibited remarkable sagacity on Military Road. The brute while laying in the centre of the street was unconscious of the swift approach of an automobile until it was almost upon him. The animal jumped up when the machine was a short distance away and had not time to avoid it. He, however, did the next best thing, and making a rush at the carriage leaped completely in over the front and landed between two lady passengers in the vehicle much to their consternation. The beast's quick decision to jump and his promptness in acting on it saved his life. Before the auto slowed down the animal jumped out; showed every symptom of terror at his narrow escape, and ran down over Cochrane Street howling.

Wanted An Earthquake

Dr. Maclagan greatly appreciated the point of a reply which the witty vicar of a sleepy Yorkshire village sent to him when asked to lend his church for the purpose of giving the people of the district a "quiet day" for meditation. "My dear Lord Archbishop," wrote the vicar, "your very kind letter to hand. But what the people in this village want most in their spiritual life is not a "quiet day," but an earthquake."

John J. Neville sent in a complaint that matter is being deposited in the watering troughs of the city. He asked that a continuous flow of water be secured to keep them clean.

F. W. Knight wrote about the subject of reduction of fire insurance premiums and wanted to know whether the Council intended to supply a harbor fire boat. The Premier will be interviewed on the question.

Mr. I. C. Morris wrote to say that the hours for watchmen on the street cuts were too long. He advised that two watchmen be employed to relieve each other. Nothing will be done in the matter.

Couldn't Get Shelter.

There are now a large number of outport people in the city, and as a result all the boarding houses in the city are taxed to their utmost capacity. By the Prospero there arrived last night 135 passengers, and most of these people had a hard task to get shelter. Several men and women tried house after house but all were filled up, and some private houses had to receive the visitors, who otherwise would have to seek shelter in the lockup. Mr. A. Poole, on Adelaide Street, refused lodging and board to forty applicants.

S. S. Prima Arrives.

The s.s. Prima, Capt. Meyer, arrived here yesterday afternoon from Swansea with 1,200 tons of steam coal for the warships. The Prima made the trip in 13 1/2 days. For 10 days after leaving the other side the weather was good and the voyage pleasant. Last Monday a storm set in from the S.E. in which the ship was badly knocked about. Next day the wind chopped off from the westward, causing a heavy sea, which washed the decks of the ship free-liquid. After discharging her coal the Prima will go to Quebec to load lumber. The captain was at St. Modest in the year 1883 as cabin boy in a Norwegian vessel, taking a load of fish. When he became master of a steamer plying on the coast of China he had many a blockade run during the Russo-Japanese war while bringing supplies to the Japs. The s.s. Prima was built in 1899 and is a fine ship of 1,233 tons gross, 761 net; her length is 241 feet, breadth, 35 feet, depth, 14.9. She was built at Sandefjord by Frames McK. Vaerks, and has been in command of Capt. Meyer since her first voyage.

Injured Man Arrives.

By last night's train Capt. James Carroll, of Placentia, arrived and was taken to Hospital in the ambulance. Capt. Carroll arrived at St. Lawrence in his schooner, the Annie B., on Wednesday after the vessel was badly buffeted in the stormy weather of Monday and Tuesday, as reported in the Telegram. The main boom broke and falling on the wheel wrecked it, also breaking Capt. Carroll's leg. He was treated by Dr. Smith's assistant, and as the break was a bad one he suffered intensely. The captain's wife accompanied him to the city, as did also Inspector Collins, who is his brother-in-law, and every attention was given him both on the Argyle, in which he arrived at Placentia, and also on the train.

Sirs—I came across a bottle of your MINARD'S LINIMENT in the hands of one of the students at the University of Maryland, and he being so kind as to let me use it for a very bad sprain, which I obtained in training for foot races, and to say that it helped me would be putting it very mildly, and I therefore ask if you would let me know of one of your agents that is closest to Baltimore so that I may obtain some of it. Thanking you in advance I remain,
