Motorists may come and go different directions, but their tire wants are all the same. Sooner or later every motorist encounters the obstacles which lead other motorists to seek and find the one solution.

ANTI-SKIDDING
The "buttoned" tires having failed to deliver, the big corrugation tire is selected. The series of "V's" grip the road like a traction engine, each "V" clearing the road for the next "V" to work upon.

NO PUNCTURES
The "buttoned" tires having failed to prevent punctures, the big corrugation tire is selected. The inch high anti-skid tread keeps nails, etc., away from the "puncturable" tread proper of a tire.

A Great Intrigue, —OR, THE— Mistress of Darracourt.

CHAPTER I.

"That's the Marquis of Merle's place," said Miss Verner, eagerly. "Your nearest neighbor, Lucille! Next to yourself, the most important person in Darracourt. What a beautiful place!"

Lucille Darracourt turned her head and glanced at it with faint interest. "Your nearest neighbor, Lucille. I wonder whether he will be here to welcome you. He is very poor, and ought, therefore, to be very polite." Lucille smiled.

"How do you know all this?" she asked.

Marie Verner tossed her head, and laughed, her keen eyes looking to left and right, and taking in everything, as she answered:

"Mr. Head, the lawyer, told me," she said. "He might have told you, but you were too absent-minded, too absorbed by your new greatness to pay any attention. Details are my forte; I revel in them!"

"I don't think we ought to talk so much," remarked Mrs. Dalton, gravely; "we distract Miss Darracourt from her duties!"

"Duties!" echoed Marie Verner; "what duties? All she has to do is to bow acknowledgments to the homage of her adherents and retainers."

"And the proper demeanor to be observed in acknowledging the respectful greetings of a crowd is no light matter," said Mrs. Dalton, solemnly. "I have heard my father, who was aide-de-camp to the great Duke of Wellington, declare that the reception of the homage of a crowd required grace and genius combined."

"Then, Lucille has them to perfection!" replied Marie Verner promptly. "An empress couldn't smile and bow more graciously and gracefully! I do wonder whether the marquis will be there to meet us! You don't know I suppose, that Darracourt itself belonged to the late marquis, and that it was only by a fluke that your uncle got it?"

Lucille shook her head. "I am afraid I know very little about anything!" she said, quietly. "You shall tell me when we get"—she paused a second—"home."

Marie Verner laughed. "Oh, Mr. Head will be there" she answered; "he'll tell you. He likes to hear himself talk. It's a strange story! Oh, what a crowd! Look, Lucille; what magnificent gates! Behold we are nearing our palace!"

The carriage, with its four grays and postillions, had reached the lodge gates, and passed under the arch. The Darracourt brass band brayed out at its loudest, the people shouted, the men waved their hats, and one or two children, made bold by the beauty of their new mistress, ran up to the carriage and tossed some wild flowers into Lucille's lap.

The gates flew open with a clang, but the carriage still remained standing, and an old man in a smock frock hobbled forward.

"The oldest inhabitant," whispered Marie Verner. "Now, Lucille, present arms and prepare to receive—a speech."

The old man came forward, bare-headed, and peered up at the ladies.

"Which be the young mistress?" he quavered.

Lucille flushed, as she felt every eye upon her.

"I am Miss Darracourt," she said, gently.

The old man touched his forehead. "And I be Siman Taller, miss; the oldest man on the estate. I be come to wish you welcome to the Court, miss. And welcome you be; God bless your pretty face!"

This abrupt conclusion of what was evidently a great speech gone wrong, so exactly hit the sentiment of the crowd that they cheered and cheered, until the terrible arch shook again.

The flush deepened on the face of the beautiful girl; then faded away, and left her rather pale, as she bent forward.

The Earl's Son; —OR— TWO HEARTS UNITED

CHAPTER XXXIII.

As he turned away to hide the tears that did not shame his manhood but proved it, his hand sought Ralph's and held it.

When Ralph and Veronica came back from their honeymoon—they had been married three months after the day of his acquittal—there were, of course, great doings at Lynne Court. It shall be left to the local newspapers to describe those doings, and extremely well the local newspapers accomplished their pleasant task; but it may be added by him who has set down this much of the history of Veronica and Ralph Denby to recount one little scene which occurred on the night—the culminating night of the prolonged festivities.

The people, gentle and simple—and they mixed as one class on this occasion—had gone and Veronica had thrown herself upon the settle before the blazing fire in the hall—it was winter when they returned from their honeymoon—Ada, who was almost a permanent visitor at the Court, was lying on the bear-skin on the hearth. She and Martha had joined in everything that day, and the child, had quite exhausted herself and was fast asleep with her head resting on Ralph.

"Lord Big Man she called him now—and for the first time for several days quiet reigned in the huge house. Veronica leant forward, her hands clasped round her knees, her eyes gazing dreamily at the huge log whose rays lit up her lovely face with a rosy hue.

"Tired, dearest?" said Ralph, in a low voice so that he should not wake the sleeping Ada.

"No, only a wee bit. I was thinking."

"Of what?" he asked. "Not sad thoughts, Veronica?"

She raised her lovely eyes and looked at him with the look that never failed to thrill him, then her expression grew a little piteous.

"Must I tell you, Ralph?" she pleaded.

"Of course!" he responded, mercifully. "You belong to me, thoughts and all, dearest!"

"Yes," she assented and she stretched out her hand. He took it and kissed it and still held it as she said, slowly, almost reluctantly, and in a low voice that is and always will be the sweetest music he can hear:

"If I must—Ralph, I was thinking that perhaps, after all, I should have liked it better—Ah, no, I won't say it! It seems ungrateful, childish!"

"Speak! I command you!" he murmured, with mock solemnity.

"I was thinking how—how it would have been if—if you—You will laugh at me Ralph! You always do, you know, when I want to be very serious!" she broke off, with the air of a martyr.

He shook his head, but he laughed softly.

But the laugh, instead of discouraging, impelled her.

"If you had remained just 'Ralph Farrington,' if you had gone to Australia, and I had followed you—I should have followed you, Ralph! Nothing, nothing would have prevented me, you know!"

He nodded.

"I can well believe it; there was never half so stubborn a person as Miss Veronica Gresham when she had made up her mind."

"Not always, Ralph!" she murmured, remorsefully. "You forget: I yielded once. I let you go—that day in the arbour."

"The one exception that proves the rule," he said. "But you soon repented, dearest!"

"Yes," she admitted, with a sigh of satisfaction. "I soon repented. I did follow you, Ralph!" piteously.

"But suppose"—she rose and stole to his side and hid her face against his breast—"suppose we had been married—we should have been married, Ralph?"

"Without a doubt, I should say," he returned, with a smile that only showed his love and pride. "You are the sort of young person who will have her way at all costs."

"And we had been very poor, and had had a struggle, you and I, just 'Mr. and Mrs. Farrington,' do you think you would have—have cared more for me? Oh, wait! Sometimes I think Heaven has been too good to me, made it too—too easy for me. I gave up nothing for you—I am back here"—she looked round the hall almost regretfully—"I shall reign—not for a long, long time, I hope!—where once I served. I have gained everything by my love for you; and—sometimes—to-night, for instance, now that they have all gone—I think that I should have liked—that it would have been very precious to have sacrificed something for you, to have worked with you for our daily bread, to have starved for you—ah, Ralph, that would have been sweet to me! But Providence laughed at me and all my dreams of sacrifice and—self-denial. You have given me so much—everything!—and I, Ralph, have, after all, given you nothing!"

He set the child's head gently down on the soft bear-skin, and rising, took Veronica's hand and led her up to the antique mirror-gleaming in one of the oaken panels.

"Look dearest!" he whispered, and he made her look at the lovely, blushing face reflected there. "That is what you have given me. Do you count it nothing? To me it is the greatest prize, the most precious treasure—"

A step sounded in the hall behind them, and the earl, leaning on his stick, came forward slowly.

"They have all gone? Ralph! Veronica! where are you?"

She turned from Ralph and, putting her arms round the old man's neck, kissed him.

He looked down at her tenderly, fondly, then he said, in the voice that had grown so soft and gentle:

"Tired, my dear? Why—why—you are crying, Ralph—What are you crying for, Veronica?"

She forced a smile as her violet eyes looked from one to the other.

"For sheer happiness," she assented.

THE END.

DAINTY DESKS

for
 "My Lady's Room."

NEVER was furniture of any kind, or at any period, more beautiful, comfortable, thoroughly attractive and well-made, or more eminently adapted to its own special use, than is the furniture of to-day. This is remarkably noticeable in some of the elegant articles that are made for the refined woman's use. We are showing examples in the handsome Writing Desks for Ladies we have on view this week.

These Desks are specially designed for daintiness and comfort, they are of Bird's-eye Maple, Mahogany, Circassian Walnut, Quartered, Fumed and Weathered Oak, also in early English finish; all have chairs en suite.

These Desks are suitable for drawing-room, boudoir, or sitting-room, in fact, used in any room they make writing a pleasure.

LONDON GOSSIP.

LONDON, July 28th, 1914.

WHY SERBIA FIGHTS.

The quarrel between Austria and Serbia is not of very old standing. It originated in the economic sphere. The rise in Serbia of a well-to-do peasant class which came into conflict with the agrarians of Hungary was the cause which led at first to an economic and afterwards to a political struggle between the two countries. Serbia is essentially a peasant country and it is not surprising that her agricultural interests should have attained such a political predominance as to direct her foreign policy. This was the work of the Parliamentary party led by M. Pashitch, which from its very inception towards the end of the sixties acted as the political representative of the peasantry. Fifty years ago the Serbian peasantry still lived in village communities, each family consisting of several generations (so-called "zadrugas"), tilling its common land in tennancy, as it were, from the community, and periodically exchanging it with others. Gradually of course the Zadrugas disappeared and individual property in land became the rule in Serbia. The old revolutionism of the Radical Party vanished giving place to moderate liberalism and, under the stress of rivalry with the Hungarian economic enemy, the very pronounced and at times frenzied nationalism.

TAKING THE CRISIS QUIETLY.

Notwithstanding the apparent imminence of a European war and despite the wildness of the newspaper placards and the sump in the Stock Exchange, the ordinary Londoner seems affected very little. It is only the man who follows foreign politics who has a say, and he is not the center of a discussion. The ordinary man has heard too much about European conflagrations to believe in one till he sees the flames as well as the smoke, and he certainly cannot get his household to take it seriously. Even the false announcement in one of the Sunday papers that war had been declared aroused little excitement. Germany, France, Russia, Japan, Turkey are familiar figures for our sympathies or antipathies, but Austria—that's where they slam their desks all the time in parliament and where they don't know what their right language is, and didn't they steal somebody's country the other year without a word? Then Serbia is still the country that murdered its King and Queen and had a half-mad Crown Prince that killed his servant. Serbia and Austria are very remote from the thoughts of the man in the street, and he hopes generally that Germany and Russia won't be such fools as to chip in.

COMING OF THE FOREIGNERS.

This is about the date when the annual foreign invasion of London begins. Just in time to receive them the London General Omnibus Company has appointed the first of its interpreters. Naturally she has been stationed at Charing Cross (for the first interpreter is a lady, and a girl on girl at that). She speaks French and German fluently, and carries a map. Other interpreter guides are to be stationed at Victoria Station, London Bridge Station, Liverpool Street, Piccadilly Circus, Oxford Circus and Hyde Park Corner. All the others will be men. Miss Dorothy Matthews will be the only woman guide, but she has the most important post of all—the gateway to London from the Continent. There are other signs of the peaceful foreign invasion—which always begins just as Londoners are leaving town. In the West End one might often imagine that one was in a foreign city. Recently I saw a very curious group at the shop of one of the biggest drapers in Oxford St. A sale was going on, and just where the throng was thickest and the buying keenest stood a little family group of Chinese. The women and a little girl were Chinese in European dress. It was a curious intrusion of Eastern color in such a characteristic London scene.

ROYAL "REVELATIONS."

We have had various books of "revelations" touching the tragic house of Hapsburg, and another is promised to us this autumn. It is written by the Countess Zsanardi Landi, who is one of the daughters of the Empress Elizabeth of Austria, a lady of tragedy indeed. We are told that, desiring to avoid Court convention and bring the child up in a simple human way, she kept her in a private home immediately under her own eye. The Empress arranged that on the occasion of the jubilee of the Emperor Francis Joseph the Countess Zsanardi Landi should be publicly acknowledged by the Court, but her own assassination put an end to this arrangement. Anyhow she made a confidante of her daughter, whose book will contain a whole bunch of historical revelations.

ARE GREY-HAIRED TAXI DRIVERS RECKLESS?

One of the entertainments of the streets of London is the uncertainty as to what will happen when you take a taxi-cab. Not only does one taxi-cab differ from another in glory, and one may add in power, but one taxi-cab driver differs from another in temperament, and it is the temperament of the taxi-cab driver that gives the largest spice of uncertainty to the journey. Some men drive with a caution and slowness that make the passenger who is least like the "motor-hog" writhe with impatience. Other taxi-drivers take risks, and so at a speed that terrifies even the experienced motorist. The curious thing is that you cannot follow the old-fashioned rule adopted by elderly ladies at the seaside of always choosing a craft manned by an ancient partner. It is not necessarily the young taxi-driver who is reckless, or the elderly taxi-driver who is cautious. On the other hand, a friend of mine—who is very much addicted to taxi-cabs declares that the rule may almost be reversed and that if you want to get to your destination in a hurry, reckless of consequence, the thing is to choose a taxi with a grey-haired driver. If this is so, why should it be so? Why should grey-haired taxi-drivers be reckless? My informant offers two theories. Either, he says, it is because grey-haired men are the most experienced drivers, and can therefore afford to take the greatest risks, or else they are men who are temperamentally given to taking risks, and their hair has been turned prematurely grey by shocks they have given themselves in the course of their furious driving.

THE NEW ROOM CRAZE.

The time has gone by when a well-known London society lady of the nouveau riche leaving her house decorated by Angelica Kauffman could amuse her more cultured friend by regretting her drawing room, "so beautifully painted by Fra Angelico." Nowadays we know, if anything, too much about our houses, and as it is one of the amusements of the idle rich to change houses, conversation in "the best circles" deals largely with "painting and decorating." The Queen set the fashion some time since. The new rooms at Windsor, for instance, are said to be lovely, and to be the result of the Queen's own individual choice. The Queen loves her home, and is said to have arranged at least one of the Princess's rooms with her own hands. An ante-room at Windsor contains by her directions, all the presents of the Prince Consort to Queen Victoria. But in London everyone who has a new house has a new idea for it. Lady Drogheda's Futurist rooms have been much described but a wag hit off the black dining room with its candles in silver sconces by saying he had gone to luncheon and thought he had got to a funeral by mistake. Raymond Roze, of opera fame, has a gold room with crimson doors and ceiling in his new house. Lady Hatfield, in her

In Coyne Walk, in the house which was Whistler's, a young married couple started the fashion of gold rooms. This was imitated by the firm which they employed to carry out their extremely original ideas, and has been much copied ever since. I have only heard of two silver rooms—one belongs to a poet, and the other to a popular West End doctor.

CURES:
INDIGESTION and
in all its forms.

It is quite a daily occurrence to hear persons say: "Oh, what a feeling of distress I have after meals, fullness of the stomach, heaviness and headaches. I feel too tired to do anything. I have no heart to exert myself, and at times I care for nothing." "I often have a pain in the pit of the stomach, no appetite, my heart beats rapidly on the slightest exertion. I feel just as tired when rising in the morning as when retiring to bed. My sleep is often disturbed, and I often awake with a feeling of softness and a difficulty of again going to sleep. I have to be careful of what I eat, and my life seems not worth living."

Why suffer from all these symptoms when STAFFORD'S PRESCRIPTION 'A.' will cure you? Try a bottle.

The Prodigal Son.

"At last, I'm wise, I will arise, and seek my father's shack;" thus muttered low the ancient bo, and then he hit the track. From dwellings rude he'd oft been shooed, been chased by farmers' dogs; this poor old scout, all down and out, had herded with the hogs. His heart was wrong; it took him long to recognize the truth, that there's a glad and smiling dad for each repentant youth. "I will arise, doggone my eyes," the prodigal observed, "and try to strike the old straight pike from which I idly swerved." The father saw, while baling straw, the truant, sore and lamed; he whooped with joy; "my swayed boy, you're welcome!" he exclaimed. Midst glee and mirth two dollars worth of fireworks then were burned; "we'll kill a cow," cried father; "now that Reuben has returned!" His sisters sang, the farmhouse rang with glee till ratters split, his mother sighed with hope and pride, his granny had a fit. And it's to-day the same old way, the lamp doth nightly burn, to guide you home, O boys who roam, if you will but return.

ONTARIO WOMAN'S FORTUNE

Freed From That Weak, Languid, Always Tired Feeling, by Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Thessalon, Ont.—"I cannot speak too highly of your medicine. When my appetite is poor and I have that weak, languid, always tired feeling, I get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it builds me up, gives me strength, and restores me to perfect health again. It is truly a blessing to women, and I cannot speak highly enough of it. I take pleasure in recommending it to others."—Mrs. ANNIE CAMERON, Thessalon, Ont.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ailments peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts: we doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health. There are probably hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions of women in the United States who have been benefited by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over 30 years ago by a woman to relieve woman's suffering. If you are sick and need such a medicine, why don't you try it? If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (consultant) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

The Government Must Trust the Opposition.

We are pleased to find that the Prime Minister, Sir Edward Morris, has seen fit to make a statement as to local conditions brought about by the war. We should have been far more pleased had he made the statement from his place in the House of Assembly. He assures us that the Government is "prepared to put into effect any measure tending in any way to improve the situation which the consensus of opinion considers to be desirable." That is right and proper, so far as it goes, but it would have been much better had he the Legislature in session, and was obtaining from it legislative authority to exercise powers which may be necessary, but lack at present legal sanction. Moreover, now that the Admiralty accepted yesterday the offer of the Newfoundland Government to increase the Naval Reserve to 1,000 men and that the offer of 500 men for land force has also been accepted, it becomes necessary to make proper financial provision for it. We agree with the Prime Minister that "it is a time when we must all keep our heads and work together. We endorse the words fully, which relate to co-operation and trust in one another. The Government must trust the Opposition, and the Opposition will not be less backward than the Government in attempts to minimize the evil days which are before us. Sir Robert Borden is calling the Canadian Parliament together, and the Leader of the Opposition there has intimated he will support measures which the situation demands. Moreover, it was on the floor of the House of Commons that Hon. Law and John Redmond offered their spirited and cordial support for the common defence of the Empire. At the present time the local trouble, outside of war risks to shipping which are now falling, as the Admiralty is obtaining a greater command of the sea, in reality arises from the fact that owing to the moratorium prevailing in England, the clearing of exchange is at a standstill in London, and as our markets in Brazil and the Mediterranean have the bills they give for our fish handled in the clearing houses there, there is a difficulty at present in obtaining payment for such fish as may be marketed. The letter from the Prime Minister, which we publish elsewhere in this issue, indicates that the British Government is taking steps to accord relief for the trouble, and the situation probably may be clearer in a day or two. But we are by no means satisfied that it will cover the main difficulty which confronts Newfoundland. So far as we can learn the British Government has offered relief to cover exchanges for food sent to the British Isles which will be consumed there. The relief we are primarily intended to facilitate the shipping of food there from other countries and is not aimed at facilitating exports from British ports to foreign ports such as the Mediterranean and the Brazil. We shall be pleased to hear to the contrary, but we fear the facts are as stated. In any case, however, we commend to the attention of our readers the common sense words of another correspondent, who advises us all to economize and prepare to meet the days of trial which are before us.

Letter From Premier. Imperial Govt.'s Guarantee

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—You will be glad to learn that I have a message to-day, practically direct from London, to the effect that an arrangement is being made by the Bank of England of a highly important character, and equivalent to the Imperial Government's guarantee of approved bill or bills, which must furnish immense relief to money and discount markets.

At present I am unable to determine the full effect of this arrangement, but in all probability it will facilitate the early resumption on normal conditions of ordinary trade transactions.

Yours faithfully,
E. P. MORRIS.

Unknown Warship Sighted Off Cape Race.

Between 7 o'clock and 7.30 last evening the S. S. Morwenna sighted a warship seven miles off Cape Race, heading in a northwesterly direction. It was dark at the time so that a proper observation of the ship could not be made. Capt. Holmes of the Morwenna noticed that the warship had two funnels. He could not definitely determine what colour she was painted or anything else, except that she had two smokestacks. He assumed that she was a Frenchman, because he knew that two French ships had been cruising our waters for the protection of shipping. However other people who were on the Morwenna do not agree with the version of Capt. Holmes and are of the opinion that the warship sighted was a German Cruiser and allege that she was painted white.

Confronting him with a report that was given currency this morning to the effect that a German ship was sighted off Cape Ballard last evening, Capt. Holmes said that he passed Cape Ballard at 9.30 p.m., but saw absolutely nothing.

SETTLEMENT PROMPT and PROFITABLE.

Canada Life Assurance Co., Toronto, Ont.

Dear Sirs:—

In acknowledging receipt of cheque in payment of my endowment policy now maturing, I wish to thank you for the prompt way in which you have put my claim through. I did not have to wait a single day for my money as the papers were all in order beforehand.

I am pleased, too, with the way my investment has turned out. Besides having my insurance protection for $1,000, I have got all my money back and $400 besides. The Canada Life has my best good wishes for its continued success.

Yours truly,
R. H. KNIGHT.

At the City Hall.

The regular session of the Civic Commission was held last night, those present being Mr. W. G. Goeling, Chairman, Messrs. Harris, Ayre, McNamara, Bradshaw, Mullaly, McGrath, Anderson, Morris and Withers.

The usual pay rolls and bills were read and passed.

Furlong and Conroy on behalf of Miss Connors claimed compensation for damage done her property by trespassers on the way to the swimming pool at Quidi Vidi. The Board is not responsible.

J. G. Higgins on behalf of Thomas Lidstone complained of being refused a certificate to drive a motor car. Matter is outside of the Board's jurisdiction.

James J. Kenney complained of being unfairly treated by the 'Impounder. The latter will be asked to report.

The Commercial Cable Co. wrote that matters were being adjusted regarding the encroachment on Water Street.

K. A. Squires reported on Mr. McEvoy's claim of unfair treatment re collection of arrears. Board cannot interfere.

Charles E. Hunt wrote asking if anything was being done regarding the making of roads through Buckmaster's Field. Matter will be considered at a special meeting.

W. Creig, Supt. Cleaning Department, Glasgow, in reply to Board's communication stated that they did not use sprinkling motor trucks, and could not supply information concerning same.

Brunner Mond and Co., Northwick, quoted prices of calcium chloride. Engineer will report on its suitability for dust prevention.

Philip Wall asked for the laying of water and sewerage in Lime Street.

I. F. Perlin and Co. applied for permission to erect scaffolding on their store. Granted, subject to Engineer's approval.

J. R. Johnson wrote asking Board for reconsideration of their decision of compelling him to take down shed as ordered at last meeting.

Tenders were received for trenching and backfilling. It was decided that Board will do the work through the Water Department, according to the estimates of the Engineer.

The Secretary reported on the street line, LeMarchant Road, and also on the records relating to the Fitzpatrick property.

The former was deferred to another meeting, and the later was discussed. It was decided that no permits be given to build on this ground as the Board has no funds to open streets and lay water sewerage mains, but if Mr Fitzpatrick wishes the work done the Board will do so at his expense.

The Solicitor reported as to the law of 1910 governing the laying of water and sewerage in streets, where these are required by the people. The Board has no funds for extension, but will do as requested regarding Golf Avenue, if costs are defrayed by the property owners.

The Solicitor favoured the claim of Mr. Ring for damage done to his house by oil sprinkler.

It was decided to have repairs made to the sidewalks, Water Street, and those responsible will be notified.

After the adoption of the usual reports the meeting adjourned.

Highlanders Were Skirmishing.

Last night the Newfoundland Highlanders met for drill at their Armoury on King's Road, there being an unusually large number of members in attendance. At 7.30 p.m. the battalion, headed by their pipers and drummers, marched countrywards and in the vicinity of Long Pond engaged in skirmishing for over an hour. The various manoeuvres were gone through with efficiency by the lads, who enjoyed the novel and beneficial experience. At 9.30 the battalion came citywards to the strains of their bagpipes. Every Tuesday and Friday evenings the Highlanders will have similar parades. Would it not be a good idea for all our city brigades to jointly engage in skirmishing on a place like the top of Signal Hill?

The Business of Life.

By RUTH CAMERON.

A friend of mine has recently given up smoking. "Did you do it to please your wife?" he was asked. "No," he said, "to please myself. Nobody asked me to give it up. My wife doesn't particularly object to smoking. I dropped it because I thought it was taking away from me more than it gave. I figured it out this way. Smoking keeps me a little below par. When I am below par I am not capable of fully enjoying life. The pleasure I get from feeling one hundred per cent efficient is greater than the pleasure I get from smoking. So what's the use of smoking? I thought it all over and decided I was cheating myself so I gave it up."

I think that man will be a successful business man.

And I do not mean merely in the business of money getting, but in the greater business of life.

There are a great many men who are very quick to know when they are getting cheated in the business of money getting. There are comparatively few who are far sighted enough to know when they are getting cheated in the business of life.

Any indulgence which takes away from our ability to enjoy the rest of our life ought to be carefully inspected.

ed. Does it give us as much happiness as it takes away, we should ask ourselves. Leaving out the question of morality and our duty to others and judging our indulgence by that criterion alone, you will find that mightily few of them pay.

Take overeating for instance. The man who overeats gets a few minutes pleasure at the table. That's on the credit side of the ledger. On the debit side we find a vitiated ability to enjoy all the pleasures of life, including work; a vastly increased liability to disease; and in all probability physical pain, and the mental pain of depression that is likely to accompany indigestion.

That means that he pays for his few moments pleasure at least a hundred times over. What kind of business is that? What would he say to any business transaction that involved such an outrageous overcharge?

And this is true not only of the common self-indulgences such as eating and smoking but of many that are not so commonly recognized as such.

Over indulgence in work, in a habit of worry, in a bad temper—all of these may be bad bargains in the business of life.

Look over your ledger, reader-friends. Inspect your particular indulgence. See what is written on the debit side against it. Ask yourself if it gives you as much as it takes away. In short find out if you are cheating yourself in the business of life.

- Three dresses and a waist or two.
- A dainty morning gown.
- A bathing suit, and bonnet cute.
- A dress to go to town.
- Six pairs of hose, and underclo'es.
- And heaps of fluffy things.
- Some shirtwaists, too, and ribbons new.
- A pair of water wings.
- A pair of dancing pumps in bronze.
- Her bed-room slippers red.
- Complexion dope and fancy soap.
- A book to read in bed.
- Her bridge whist rules, her curling tools.
- All needed, so said she, But rare good luck! I found she'd stuck
- A night shirt in for me.

A Startling Question

The droll young heir to western wealth took Marian motoring again after a few days. She, bewildered by the quick, unexpected sale of her one-hundred-dollar story, had striven in the interim to grind out more fiction. She told Meadows proudly of the sale.

"Bully work. By jove, I'm glad!" he exclaimed with deep and genuine satisfaction. "You're coming along wonderfully. I'm envious. I tell you it's great."

"I just happened to strike it luckily. But I hope the luck lasts," returned Marian anxiously. "I shall work heroically. I hope the magazines will soon be publishing enough of my work to beguile a good many idle hours for you during your honeymoon days abroad," she could not help adding.

Jack did not answer for a moment. He urged his car into one of the quiet, shade-hung roadways of Central Park, letting it hum slowly onward.

"Do you know," he said at length, looking at Marian with grave eyes, "the nearer I approach this marriage affair, the less philosophically I find myself viewing it?"

"Yes, I presume it's usual for people to approach the joyous shock and thrill of matrimony with a bit of nervousness," responded Marian lightly.

"Don't nag me, I beg of you," protested the rich youth. "I hoped that you would pity me a little."

"I do. I pity anyone who's on the brink of marriage," replied Marian seriously.

"Ah, I like that tone better," said Meadows, whipping a cigarette out of his case and lighting it. "Somehow, I seem to be weakening rapidly. Upon my word, I never thought I'd be a candidate for sympathy."

"I hope you're not going to be a candidate for divorce before the end of your escapade."

"Who knows?" mused the youth. "I fancy it's a pretty good sort of a remedy sometimes."

Marian smothered an impulse to speak of her own experience in divorce. Instead, she said: "Heavens, if that's the way you feel about it, why on earth go on?"

"Sweepingly put," smiled Meadows. "It's an indictment," said Marian sternly. "How do you ever expect to make that girl happy, if you feel this way? Think of her, as well as of the people who insist upon this marriage. Surely, you owe her something! I think it's wrong of you to go deliberately ahead with a course that will probably ruin her life for her. Will you forgive me for speaking bluntly?" she murmured, half sorry that she had gone so far.

"I suppose I'm both a coward and a cad," he said with a shrug. "I know I ought not to whine. I'll never do it again. I'll buckle down and make a glorious success yet out of the mess of my life. There's something about you that makes me feel more like a man than I've ever felt in my erring young life." Suddenly his slim, handsome hand left the steering wheel and closed over Marian's. "Will you do me a favor? The biggest favor that could possibly be done me?" he demanded abruptly.

"What?" she said with a strange shiver.

"Will you forget who I am and what I am? Will you help me start my life all over again—the right way, the way I should have started in the first place?"

Marian grew pale, then flushed, as the significance of Meadows' question smote her. She shook her head slowly, mechanically. "I'm sorry, but I can't," she said, trying hard to steady her words.

"Why not?" he demanded, his hand tightening over hers. "Why not? You've made me love you. You've made me see everything differently."

Hr. Grace Notes.

A young horse owned by Mr. M. Leary, was stolen from his pasture a week or so ago, and no trace whatever of it can be had.

We regret to report that Rev. J. M. Allan, of Bay of Islands, is very sick. His sister, Mrs. Holt received a telegram on Friday, informing her of his condition, and she left immediately to visit him.

Mrs. John Neil and his sister Miss Agnes Neil, are here from New York on a visit to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Neil.

Mrs. K. Murphy, St. John's, was in town on a visit to her many friends, and where a pleasant hour was spent with Mrs. Wm. Walsh, left for home on Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Thomas, of St. John's (nee Miss Pretty), arrived by last night's train on a visit to her sister, Mrs. A. Sheppard and other friends.

Trade seems to be paralyzed here, and owing to the lack of work at Bell Island, poor fishery prospects, little else can be spoken of. Let us all hope that in a very short time prospects for our future welfare will be much brighter.

The British Society excursion took place yesterday and was attended by about 60 people and a very enjoyable trip to St. John's was had. The train arrived at St. John's at 12.15. The committee were received by the members of the N.B.S. and escorted to the hall where a pleasant hour was spent.

Mr. Eli Stowe has some very good early potatoes. They are large and juicy and among the best we have seen for the season.

Facts and Possibilities.

(The Evening Post, New York.)

Germany, having grasped her sword, is laying about her with a right hand. Her entrance into Luxembourg, her invasion of Belgium—both of which have had their neutralization solemnly guaranteed by the European Powers, Germany included—were the directest kind of challenge to England. There could be no doubt how it was to be answered. More than that, by this action Germany showed herself ready to lift an outlaw hand against the whole of Western Europe. It is not simply that she stands as one prepared to violate international compacts. Treaties go crashing to the earth in time of war, and the German authorities may plead military necessity. But their ultimate purpose, the enormous stakes for which the Emperor is hazarding all, are not concealed. If Germany could beat the armies of both France and Russia, with England remaining aloof, she would attain not only the hegemony of all Europe, but complete dominance. She will seize Belgium and Holland, and present a formidable front on the North Sea. By means of these latent threats, which must be vividly in the mind of all European statesmen to-day, the Emperor or William has, as it were, put himself in the position of the first Napoleon. If a coalition against his overweening pretensions did not exist, it would have to be invented.

Luxembourg in 1914 recalls Luxembourg in 1867. At that time it was Napoleon III. who was planning to take possession of the Duchy. General Moltke wished to seize the occasion to make war upon France. But Bismarck put his veto on the plan. Moltke pledged his word that the Prussians could whip the French, and was bound to come sooner or later, so why not force it at once? Bismarck refused. He said that he did not believe in the policy of anticipatory or preventive wars. Moreover, and this was his real reason, Prussia could not be sure that an unprovoked attack on France would not create military alliances against her too powerful to be overcome. So he contented himself for the moment with checkmating Napoleon III. by making public the secret treaties of offensive and defensive that neutralized Luxembourg. But in those days there was a great statesman at Berlin, imposing his will upon the King. To-day we have a feeble Chancellor entirely overruled by the Emperor. Kaiser Wilhelm has indeed, dropped the pilot!

The German Emperor protests that he has been "forced" into war by his envious enemies. Of this history will judge. By the light we have at present, this at least is clear, that Emperor William did not directly cause and desire the war, he at least failed to prevent it when it would have been easy for him to do so. The proof of this lies upon the surface of events, as one reads their succession in the European press. There was nowhere in Europe the stunned surprise of the United States at the sudden rise of the spectre of war. There the danger was instantly visible. It was felt to be acute at the moment of the presentation of the rough Austrian note to Serbia. Everybody at once jumped to the conclusion that the move had been made with Germany's privity and consent. The German Foreign Office did not deny it, though it gave out a statement to the effect that, while it had been aware in general of the "scope" of the Austrian demand on Serbia, it was not to be understood as approving the violent language in which it was couched. So there was such a thing as Austria stamping her big boots too noisily for even a Prussian Junker! But the point to watch was St. Petersburg. There the Austrian affront to Russia caused extreme emotion. An extraordinary Council of Ministers was informed: "Ministers are unanimously agreed that Austria-Hungary has thrown down a challenge to Russia, and that, in Mr. Sazonov's words, there could be only one answer."

All Europe saw at once in this a threat of war in which no country could set a limit. Then it was that the English Foreign Secretary, Sir Edward Grey, going straight to the core of the matter, addressed his appeal to the German Emperor. He besought Emperor William to join with England in immediately calling a Congress of the Powers to deal with the differences between Austria and Serbia, and so prevent war. After a day's deliberation, the Kaiser declined the offer. He still professed to desire peace, and to be working for it earnestly, but whether he was sincere or not, the fact is now plain that his refusal of the British plan was fatal. It is idle to speculate on his motives. But the conclusion cannot be escaped that he either made a gross miscalculation of the diplomatic situation and was completely deceived as to his own power to bluff Russia off again, or else that he deliberately chose a path which he knew could issue only in a war.

Either way, it was a decision big with fate. The human mind cannot yet begin to grasp the consequences. One of them, however, seems plainly written in the book of the future. It is that, after this most awful and most wicked of all wars is over, the power of life and death over millions of men, the right to decree the ruin of industry and commerce and finance with untold human misery stalking through the land like a plague, will be taken away from three men. No safe prediction of actual results of battle can be made. Dynasties may crumble before all is done; empires change their form of government. But whatever happens, Europe—humanity—will not settle back again into a position enabling three Emperors—one of them senile, another subject to melancholia, and the third often showing signs of disturbed mental balance—to give, in their individual choice or whim, the signal for destruction and massacre.

Magic "Nerviline"
Ends Stiff Neck, Lumbago.

Any Curable Muscular or Joint Pain Is Instantly Relieved by Nerviline.

GET A TRIAL BOTTLE TO-DAY.

You don't have to wait all day to get the kink out of a stiff neck if you rub on Nerviline. And you don't need to go around complaining about lumbago any more. You can rub such things away very quickly with Nerviline. It's the grandest liniment, the quickest to penetrate, the speediest to ease muscular pain of any kind.

One twenty-five cent trial bottle of Nerviline will cure any attack of lumbago or lame back. This has been proved a thousand times, just as it was in the case of Mrs. E. J. Graydon, of "Caledonia," who writes:—"I wouldn't think of going to bed without knowing we had Nerviline in the house. I have used it for twenty odd years and appreciate its value as a family remedy more and more every day. If any of the children gets a stiff neck, Nerviline cures quickly. If it is earache, toothache, cold on the chest, sore throat, Nerviline is always my standby. My husband once cured himself of a frightful attack of lumbago by Nerviline, and for a hundred ailments that turn up in a large family Nerviline is by far the best thing to have about you."

Art Fletcher.

You hear guys say the outfield's soft. Well, they get joints loose in their lofts—there's vacant space up there. There ain't no job on any nine that's soft or cinchy, in my opinion. An' my opinion's fair. At any rate there ain't no yep who'll say the Red McGhee shortstop's job's a snap an' try to make it stick. It takes a star to fill that part. That's why my lid is off to Art, for Fletcher does it slick.

He's been a regular now four years an' Muggs McGraw would shed real tears if Fletcher should peter out. He came to Muggs in 1910 an' stepped right in the lineup when McGraw let Bridwell out. He's rangy, like the Texas steers he played among a couple years before his Giant days, an' made good from the very start. There ain't no surer guy than Art at executin' plays.

An' Art can wind the wagon-tongue. You'll always find him up among the leadin' knights o' swat. He bats right hand but hangs 'em hard to all the corners of the yard. He's not slow on the trot. His battin's steady, too, you'll find. Last year in that world series grind, when all the Giants slumped, ol' Fletcher kept right up in his stride at banging out the ol' horsehide. His record wasn't bumped.

Where Responsibility Lies.

No matter how large, or how small, a business may be, nobody can deny that its Office is the nerve centre of the firm. Every transaction, important or trivial, must be recorded at the Office. An order is received at the Office,—its history is recorded at the Office, and finally payment is received at the Office. If the Office makes an error the firm stands the loss. That's why you must be sure that your office is modernly and dependably equipped for the care of all important papers: To do this effectively you need the up-to-date equipment of the "GLOBE-WERNICKE CO." When sixty offices in St. John's have found this necessity this equipment can surely be of use to you. Mr. Percie Johnson represents this world known firm in Newfoundland. —April 7, 1914

War News.

OFFICIAL NEWS AS TO LAND ENGAGEMENTS.

Special to Evening Telegram.
LONDON, Aug. 14.
The Official Press Bureau of the British War Office and Admiralty today, issued news of French success in the Vosges Mountains, Alsace, in the following words: "After a successful resistance lasting five days in the Passes of Sainte Marie au Mines and Le Bonhomme, the French troops occupied the region of the State Pass which commands the Valley of the Bruche, an affluent of the Rhine. At Saales numerous desertions of German troops were noticed. The French have taken many prisoners, captured some machine guns. It is now confirmed that Belgian troops were successful in the engagement of August 12th, with six regiments of German cavalry, supported by 25,000 infantry with machine guns and artillery. The Germans were completely disorganized and the six cavalry regiments suffered great loss. The Belgian troops pursued the infantry which gave way. This Friday morning towards Egezee, 10 miles north of Namur, a mixed detachment from the garrison surprised some cavalry regiments encamped there and threw them into confusion. They fought them towards the east after taking numerous prisoners and capturing cannon and machine guns. To the southward of the Meuse, the German cavalry are in contact with the French. The news of the fight in the vicinity of Haelen yesterday confirmed the story that the Germans were driven eastward and that now no German cavalry is between Hassel and Ramillies in the Province of Brabant. The Liege forts still hold out and have plenty of supplies. German cavalry patrols are reported north of Montmedy, which lies on the Franco-Belgian border of the Dept. of Meuse, France.

ENGAGEMENT AT GEETBETZ.

PARIS, Aug. 14.
A telegram from Brussels says a fresh engagement between Germans and Belgians occurred yesterday between five and six o'clock in the evening at Geetbetz, five miles south of Haelen. The Belgian troops fired heavily on a detachment of 400 Germans, who retired hastily.

WHEAT EASIER.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.
Wheat is still down in price today, owing to a large decline at Liverpool. The easier quotations across water are due in part to advices that two steamers have sailed to England from American ports and to prospects of further sailings. Immediate future demands here are lacking, regardless of reports that farmers are sharing wheat instead of selling, the opening of which is 5-8 to 1-8 lower. It is declared there will be a further drop.

BELGIAN AEROPLANE IN CANADA.

MONTREAL, Aug. 14.
The small freighter Resapwell, from Antwerp landed a Belgian aeroplane at Quebec yesterday for a private party named Londt. It has been suggested to the Government to take over the flyer for military purposes. This is the first Belgian aeroplane ever brought to Canada.

AUSTRIAN CONSULATE CLOSED AT MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Aug. 14.
The Austro-Hungarian Consulate here, closed this morning. The staff were dismissed and the doors locked. Consul Heremann Hahn von Hanenhein says he does not know whether he will attempt to reach his own country by way of Montreal. It is reported here today that a squad of the Fifty Royal Highlanders Guard about Solnages Canal at Cedar Rapids, fired upon a party of six men who approached the Guard last Monday night. The men refused to halt when ordered and the picket fired directly at them, whereupon they took to their heels. It was too dark and impossible to tell whether any of them were hit.

Mrs. Bursley Dead.

A message received in town from Mr. Uriah Bussey yesterday states that his wife, Elfreda, died that morning. Mrs. Bursley has been ill for some months past. Early in the spring she came here to the Hospital, and after a little while was sent home incurable. She was a sister of the late Mr. N. Barrett, who was the F.P.U. candidate for Bay de Verde district, in the last election. He died in July of this year, after first having gone to Hospital here, in November of last year; and early in 1914 he went to Hospital in Montreal and though operated on, was told by the doctors that his case was incurable. They both died of cancer.

Drowned in Mid-Ocean.

A message to Deputy Minister of Customs LeMessurier yesterday afternoon from Harbor Grace stated that the English schooner Mary Morris, which was 52 days out from Cadiz with a load of salt for a Labrador port, had put in there. She reported an eventual trip and also the loss of one of her crew named Williams, who, while 'stowing' a jib in mid-ocean, was washed overboard and drowned.

An insurance policy with Percie Johnson would provide for you this desired security and at small expense. Have you enough insurance?

T. A. Society Meets.

The adjourned monthly meeting of the T. A. & B. Society was held last night and was largely attended. Three new members were enrolled. The President, Mr. W. J. ## Tourists Delighted With Rossley's Show.

That the American tourists were well pleased with the entertainment presented at Rossley's last night, goes without saying, for they laughed long and loud at the sketch, were delighted with the pictures, spoke of the beauty of the silver screen and said it was a great show, and indeed it was, for when Rossleys themselves work, all are well pleased. On Monday there are some fine pictures, pictures that at the present time will please old and young; great military reviews; the battleships of England, France and Germany, the great guns now in use, our army and navy and other interesting subjects.

On to-morrow night Dr. Grenfell, who has just returned from the North-west, will lecture on the "Condition of the Fisheries of the Labrador," at the Grenfell Hall. If the lecturer can bring some sunshine through the clouds that overshadow the staple industry on this section of the coast, his efforts will not be in vain.

Let Us Economize.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—Now that the war has commenced people should keep a cool head and not allow themselves to be carried away by every report that they hear on the street. There is no cause for alarm about money in the banks, it is as safe, in fact a great deal safer, than if it was locked up in your homes, for, there it is liable to robbery or being consumed by fire. One thing though people should interest themselves in at the start and that is Economy. We have enjoyed fine times so long, and have created appetites for nice things to eat and dear things to wear that when hard times arrive we feel the change very much, but now is the time for us to go in training as it were and cut down our extravagance in sport and high-living. We will gradually bring ourselves under control so as when the real hard times arrive we will not feel them as much as if we paid no heed to economy.

The present generation have never had to deal with hard times, they cannot understand the meaning of such a term as hard times. I hope they will never be brought face to face with it like we were at the time of the "crash," I hope so with all my heart but at the same time there is nothing else in sight if the war continues, as Lord Kitchener says, for 13 months. Then let us be on the safe side, let us economize. Let us keep our grocers and our rents paid, also our coal merchants, by so doing we will be guaranteed further credit, but on the other hand if we fire away our money on tom-foolery, if we make no effort to provide against the coming storm then we will place ourselves in an awkward position when the reverses set in. Let us not get alarmed but go along in a sensible manner and if every one does his best and her best we will soon realize that we can make things a lot easier for all concerned.

Yours truly,
CONFIDENCE.

Loves Sunset Is a Charming Film.

There was a large attendance at the week-end performance at the Nickel Theatre last evening, and all expressed themselves as being delighted with the show. The beautiful social drama "Love's Sunset" was very favourably commented on. It is a charming story which is exceptionally well acted by the Vitagraph artists. The two popular stars, Clara Kimbal Young and Earl Williams are in the leading roles and they play them to perfection. "The Tomboy" is an interesting tale of circus life, with a wild west show. "A Gala Day Parade at Yokohama, Japan" is a travelogue which no one should miss. "Mixed Identities" and "The Zulu King" are bright comedies which kept the audience in good humor. This evening the full programme will be repeated.

War News.

TURKEY'S PURCHASES, WILL SHE DO WITH THEM?
Special to Evening Telegram.

ROME, Aug. 14. Semi-official quarters consider that the Goeben and Breslau will be strong weapons in the hands of Turkey if Constantinople abandoned the attitude of neutrality. The belief expressed is that the purchase precludes a new position on the part of Turkey in favor of Germany and Austro-Hungary which is especially important as bearing on the interest of the Balkan States. The Tribune says the preparation made at Messina for a "noble death" by officers of the German cruisers, who before sailing from that port made their wills and left the public an unprepared farce, seeing the impossibility of escape from the Anglo-French fleet if they followed the original idea of molesting the transports moving French-African troops. The German cruisers sought refuge in the Aegean Sea where with the complexity of Turkey which continues to make love to Germany, the two vessels contemplated how they might paralyze British commerce in the Mediterranean and interrupt traffic to India, but being closely pursued they had the alternative of taking refuge in the Dardanelles and disarming. Instead Turkey purchased them. This is not considered permissible according to the law of nations. Never a nation at war sold old ships which had already been used against an enemy. During the Russia-Japanese conflict many Russian ships entered the Chinese and American neutral ports but they then disarmed and there awaited the end of the war. A despatch to the Daily News from Rome says the news that Turkey purchased the German cruisers Breslau and Goeben made an unpleasant impression here. Italy will probably demand an explanation of the future use of these ships and also warn Turkey she will not allow the equilibrium of the lower Mediterranean to be threatened. Italy is determined to prevent complications.

GUARDING FOREIGN LEGIONS.
MEXICO CITY, Aug. 14. It is reported that an advance guard of 1,000 Constitutionalists entered the city for the purpose of guarding the foreign legations. It is said unofficially that the army of occupation will enter on Saturday.

MUTINY ON GERMAN SHIP.
RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 14. A mutiny broke out among the crew of the German steamer Bluecher, which after sailing from this port for an unknown destination, returned a short time later, and the local police were called on board to quell the disturbance, the reason of which is not divulged. There are lying in the port of Pernambuco several German liners with a total of 5,000 German steerage passengers on board. The captains of the vessels fear to proceed, owing to danger of capture by British war ships.

HANGING CIVILIANS ON TREES.
NEW YORK, Aug. 14. The New York Tribune publishes the following cable from the Maas-tricht correspondent of the London Standard: The Germans appear to be hanging instead of shooting civilians accused of firing on them, or spying on them or for other offences against their drastic military code. Fugitives from Glons, say they saw three Belgian peasants hanging from a branch of a tree. They were accused of firing on invading German troops from the windows of a cottage. Some executions are witnessed almost in every village the Germans enter. The inhabitants of the region of Belgium now occupied by German troops are terrorized completely and are abstaining from any molestation of invaders.

GERMANS IN JAPAN.
TOKYO, Aug. 14. Many Germans, including officials of Japan and China who with their families were spending the summer in the Japanese mountains concentrating at Tokyo and Yokohama, preparatory to leaving Japan. Japan and Great Britain are said not yet to have reached an understanding concerning Japan's attitude. A lengthy communication passed between Tokyo and London defining Japan's programme in the crisis and it is believed also touching on Japan's status in European peace conference at conclusion of the war. It is understood that the British fleet is gradually driving the German fleet into circumscribed zone at Tsing Tan.

LEAVE SAN FRANCISCO.
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14. The German cruisers Leipzig and Nürnberg headed north and were steaming full speed when last seen yesterday north of San Francisco Bay. According to the statements of the captain of the steamer Queen which arrived here to-day from the north, the Leipzig passed the Queen 100 miles north of San Francisco at noon, north bound and making twenty knots an hour. The captain of the Queen said he tried to speak to the cruiser but all the commander did in response to wireless communication was to hoist the German flag. The Nürnberg is reported to have passed fifteen miles north of Point Keys just north of San Francisco Bay, at 4:15 yesterday afternoon.

SHORT OF COAL.
HONOLULU, To-day. One of the results of the European war being felt here is there is a growing shortage of coal. Hawaii is entirely dependent upon shipping for fuel supplies and practically all their coal is brought here for commercial purposes and carried in foreign bottoms. The British steamer Niagara which arrived here yesterday from Vancouver, B.C., bound to Australia, held Admiralty orders for the British steamer Marama, of the Union Steamship Company's line, due here to-day from Australia, bound for Vancouver, with freight and passengers, to await the vessel at this port.

GOEBEN AND BRESLAU STILL FLY THE GERMAN FLAG.
LONDON, Aug. 14. A Reuter despatch from Paris says advice received there from the Dardanelles declare the contrary to the statement of the Turkish Government that the German flag has been lowered on the German cruisers Goeben and Breslau, nor have their crews landed since their arrival in Turkish waters.

AUSTRIAN CAVALRY ANNIHILATED.
LONDON, Aug. 14. The Milan correspondent of the Daily Chronicle writes: A despatch which reached Corrier in Italy, tells graphically how 1,000 Cossacks annihilated two picked Austrian cavalry regiments near Lemburg, an important city in Galicia. The despatch comes by way of Trieste and states that the Austrian cavalry emboldened by the withdrawal of Russian forces, some fifteen miles on their side of the frontier, made a forward dash as far as Bilgoray, but soon the Russian Governor of Lublin learned that invaders had come into the territory and put himself at the head of a horde of Cossacks and supported by a field battery moved against the Austrians.

GERMAN CAVALRY'S SEVERE CHECK.
LONDON, Aug. 14. A despatch from Brussels to Reuter's Agency, says a battle near Eghezee, north of Namur, which occurred yesterday at Nouville Tavers, on the Namur Tiviermont railway line, was very keenly contested. The Germans, according to the despatch, mostly cavalry men, were surprised by Belgians and sustained severe casualties. The despatch adds three German aeroplanes flying over Diest were brought down by Belgian artillery. Two aviators were killed, being dashed to earth and the third terribly injured.

SITUATION FAVORABLE.
BRUSSELS, Aug. 14. No movements of importance have taken place since Wednesday's serious engagement between the German and Belgian troops, according to an official announcement here to-day. The communication adds, "the situation of the Belgian forces remain favorable."

GERMANS IN BRABANT.
BRUSSELS, Aug. 14. The Belgian War Office announced to-day that a column of 400 German soldiers were routed by Belgian troops in an engagement at Betz, in Brabant Province, and forced to retreat from this town in the direction of Louvain, the headquarters of the Belgian troops.

GREECE ALARMED.
ATHENS, Aug. 14. Considerable anxiety is felt here in connection with the reported purchase by Turkey of the German cruisers Goeben and Breslau, as it is feared the acquisition of those vessels may make Turkey uncompromising on the subject of the disposition of the Aegean Islands. The rumor that Turkey has named one of the warships Mityleie, is taken as a justification of this belief.

AMERICANS LEAVE GERMANY.
BERLIN, Aug. 14. No important news was made public here to-day. A special train conveyed 300 Americans and five autos started for Holland this evening.

SEEK REFUGE IN SWITZERLAND.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14. The amendments to Shipping Law designed to open American registry to foreign ships during the European crisis, was agreed upon.

HEAVY CASUALTIES AT HAELLEN.
BRUSSELS, Aug. 14. Accounts of yesterday's cavalry encounter, known as the Battle of Haelen, give the total of German casualties as high as 4,000 killed and wounded. No German report of the engagement comes, and the Belgian staff believes the German movement at Haelen was an attempt to reach Brussels, which to-day is stated to be no longer in danger. French officials report say the Belgians captured 2,000 German prisoners at Liege and the French have taken 1,500 along the frontier. The Belgian Government has requested France to provide places for interring bodies, owing to lack of provision in Belgium.

GOOD HOPE AT HALIFAX.
HALIFAX, N.S., Aug. 14. Straight from the Irish Coast, the armoured cruiser, Good Hope, Capt. Yelverton, arrived at Halifax to-day for bunker coal, and to join the fourth cruiser squadron. The commander reported he had not seen nor heard anything of warships during his voyage. He understood the battleship Glory will call here in a few days.

Lining Up for First Great Battle in Belgium.

General French, English Commander in Chief, Joins General Joffre, French Commander in Chief.

Special to Evening Telegram.

BRUSSELS, To-Day.

The correspondent of the Exchange says the transportation of French troops into Belgian territory is now complete. All troops that had been expected are in battle order at a place fixed, according to the plans of the Chief of Staff.

LONDON, To-Day.

The Daily Telegraph learns from a diplomatic correspondent that the Japanese Government intends to carry out to the full its obligations under the Anglo-Jap Treaty. The correspondent says the Jan Navy has put to sea and will co-operate with the British fleet in taking effective action against the enemy's ships in the Pacific.

PARIS, To-Day.

The Havos agency announces that Field Marshal Sir John French, Commander in Chief of the English forces has joined General Joffre, French Commander at the chief headquarters today, the locality is not mentioned.

Clearing North Sea of Mines.

LONDON, To-Day.

Anthony Nugent, writing to the London Globe says:—"I have seen the silent service of Navy. My location was a small port which I shall not name. There I had some experiences which is unforgettable. The swift coming and going of ships, the readiness of the men, and the material displayed were great things to see. It was no surprise to me to read the Admiralty announcement yesterday that our trade routes are open, but for mines in the North Sea. Trawlers are busy clearing these away and are succeeding well. The German fleet is bottled in its ports.

LINING UP FOR FIRST GREAT BATTLE IN BELGIUM.

LONDON, To-Day.

Pushing forward by weight of numbers, the German advance across Belgium is slowly but steadily proceeding. Soon must come the contact with the allied armies, which according to an official communication from Brussels last night, are in battle order some point unknown. Belgian outposts skirmishing, it is said, have inflicted severe checks on the German forces, but the whole German wing is kept on its way, and reached a line from North Namur to Pasten which suggests the first big battle will be fought somewhere between Louvain and Diest where the allies probably will try to block the roads to Brussels and Antwerp and prevent the German attempt to render North Belgium untenable. Further south, the French troops entered Belgium through Charleval, going to the relief of their neighbors and aid in any attack directed toward Namur, while in the East, the French are reported to have secured possession of the ridges in the Vosges Mountains and hold the passes of Le Benhomme and Saint Marie au Mines, through which important roads pass which it is declared give them great strategic advantage. The Germans are again hammering away at the Liege forts. According to their accounts one of the forts Pontisse has fallen. This however is denied by the Belgians, who tell of another slaughter of invaders who they say attempted to rush the fortress. Military strategists are of opinion that the Germans are meeting with much delay which they from the West or leaving the road to Berlin open to the forces of the Emperor of Russia. Already hordes of Russians are reported to be marching toward Prussia on one side and Austrian Galicia on the other. In the later country they are said to be in the vicinity of the Str River which is on the route to Lemberg.

Official Telegram

From the Colonial Office in Paris, to Governor in Saint Pierre, with Instructions to Communicate to French Consul, St. John's.

Please deny all untruthful news scattered by Germany concerning the situation as to (position) of English, Belgian, Russian and French Allies, which is excellent.

Germany are checked; more, driven back. Liege has NOT been taken, and is still holding. We (Frenchmen) have occupied, and are still occupying the divide (line of the summit) of the Vosges chain (mountains on boundary and even in Alsace territory annexed by Germany in 1870.)

We have troops in Belgium, where they are now co-operating with English and Belgians.

Mobilisation of Russia is actively conducted and will be terminated very soon now.

Paris, Colonial Office. Communicated by P. Suzor, French Consul, St. John's, Aug. 15th, 1914.

(The words between parenthesis ( . . . ) are not part of the official message, but have been added by translator to avoid misunderstandings, or to explain.—P.S.)

KARLSRUHE IN DUTCH PORT, OFF VENEZUELA COAST.

WILLENSTAD, Curacao, To-day. The German cruiser Karlsruhe entered port here yesterday and was later followed by German merchantman which had lain at anchor, outside. At first it was believed to be a transport. The Dutch warships Jacob Vanheems, Kerk and Bortenaar are in harbor.

Morwenna Arrives

Being Rushed Away Again. The Black Diamond Liner Morwenna, Capt. Holmes, arrived here this morning from Montreal and intermediate ports, bringing one-half cargo and these passengers:—E. H. Stevens, R. F. Sutherland, Percy Gordon, William Wilson, J. E. Vaughan, Emma F. Beale, Stanley P. Beale, Geo. P. Delaney, Mrs. Delaney, Mrs. May McDonald, Mark Thomey, Frank Lumsden, Miss F. Richards, Judge Courroy, C. O'N. Courroy, John McGrath, Mary McGrath, Nellie Johnston, Mrs. Nellie Benning, Paulette Benning, Cecelia Benning, James Benning, J. F. Stenman, Eustace L. Guther, M. K. Cowan, Mrs. Cowan, Helen Cowan, Geo. Earls, Margaret Reeves, Hannah Coleman, May Turner, Barbara Kelly, Duncan Parsons, A. Fosson, J. F. Fries, Michael Sampson and J. Hawco.

The work of discharging the ship is being rushed and she sails again for Sydney and Montreal at 6 o'clock this evening taking as passengers:—F. Terraville, Mrs. F. Terraville, Thos. Terraville and Lily Terraville.

S.S. Morwenna Fired at Passing Quebec.

Since she was here last the Black Diamond Liner Morwenna, Captain Holmes figured in a sensational incident while passing Quebec coming down the St. Lawrence River. Some of the passengers who were on board at the time will not soon forget their experience. On the arrival of the Morwenna, to-day, we had an interview with Capt. Holmes on the matter. He said yesterday week the ship left Montreal. The following day (Saturday) she got down off Quebec. Capt. Holmes was unimpaired of any new regulations as he had not heard of them before leaving Montreal, so he navigated his ship along, the same as usual. When passing Quebec Harbor he heard a loud report from the gun at the Quebec fort, and soon observed the discharge that came whizzing across the bow of the ship. Capt. Holmes immediately reversed his engines and tried to stop as soon as he could. Then the ship was taken into Quebec and it was discovered for the first time that the Morwenna was obliged to get a special clearance certificate before going beyond Quebec. The affair, while it lasted, created some consternation among the passengers on board the ship.

Prima Donna Scores a Hit

At The Crescent. "Where the Red Roses Grow" was the song that delighted large audiences at the Crescent Picture Palace last night, and as an evidence of its popularity the humming of the chorus can be heard around the city to-day. The feature picture was a twelve reel comedy, "Just Kids," by the Eclair Juvenile Co. "Sunset in Many Lands" was a delightful view of the scenes in many parts of the world. "The Ghost" was an act story that comprised many amusing situations, and the best comedy was a side-splittinger. To-day the same performance is repeated and a good hour's enjoyment is promised at the House of Features, Refinement and Comfort. The coming week will see the greatest series of special features seen in this city for sometime. For particulars see the evening papers. The prima donna will sing several charming songs.

A KEY TO THE WORLD.

The child of to-day has been given a new key which unlocks the great doors of knowledge for little feet to enter. THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE has come to show and explain to him THE WHOLE WONDERFUL WORLD in hundreds of striking educational pictures, with brief, simple and fascinating talks and descriptions. THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE CONTAINS EVERYTHING THAT A CHILD WANTS TO KNOW arranged and indexed so skilfully that he can find all the scientific facts and truths of Nature, History, Biography, Art, Literature and His Own Life quickly and with perfect ease. Such power has this work to create a happy and absorbed interest in the mind of the child that he reads on and on until he has mastered a subject with little conscious effort and with real delight in the learning. THIS IS THE GREATEST GIFT OF THE NEW CENTURY TO THE CHILD.

One of the most prominent educators in the country says: "Suppose a boy of ten were to spend fifteen minutes a day in reading these pages . . . he would at thirteen know more about the earth and life on it, than the wisest men knew a few generations ago.

Pictures Which Stimulate the Mind.

The child who owns THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE is going to know and understand all the things about him—he is going to know processes by means of series of striking pictures which illustrate every step; the making of iron and steel; the operation of the telephone and telegraph; the flight of an airship; how a lighthouse is built; how a book is made; how we obtain salt, tea, rubber, leather and coal.

More than 350 beautiful colored plates of animals, birds, fishes and flowers; pictures of a hundred foreign countries, their peoples, cities and customs, reproductions of paintings and statuary, illustrations of things to make and do outdoors and indoors, stimulate and exercise all the faculties of the child's growing mind. 10,000 educational pictures impress upon the memory all the important facts of life.
