THE FIRST ACCIDENT.

vice. They have not responded to the appeal. They leave the government with exactly the same majority in the legislature as before. But this is not all...

The loss of Muskoka is far more significant than the loss of Sault Ste. Marie would have been. Local issues were raised in the Sault, and the government took unscrupulous advantage of its action in coming to the aid of the workmen in Muskoka...

When Gagey appears in a constituency and attacks the findings of the judges, he raises the whole question of administration of the affairs of the province. The government and the Globe recognized this and trained their heaviest guns upon the man from Manitoulin...

Mr. Crossin was induced to make a declaration which reopened the case that the judges were supposed to have finally settled months ago. The Globe said that the defeat of the government in Muskoka would be a Gagey victory, with all the evil consequences that such a victory would involve...

That which it feared has come to pass. The defeat in Muskoka is most disastrous; and if Gagey were as bad as the Globe paints him, no man could be worse for the government. We could only say in that case that the people had regarded Gagey as the less of two evils...

The net result is that we have a government with a majority of four in the legislature; with a popular majority against it; with the tide of public feeling running against it; and with a constituency vacant for seventeen months, in flagrant violation of the spirit of the law, because the government fears another defeat...

Can the affairs of the province be so managed as to honestly manage under such circumstances? To what sort of campaign are we to look forward in the by-elections, everyone of which will be a matter of life or death for the government?

The best solution we can see is to take a fresh appeal to the people. One general election would be preferable to a series of by-elections, held with every temptation to fraud and corruption.

Mr. Ross thinks the people are with him there is his chance to obtain a working majority. Let him trust the people. If either party obtains a decisive majority, the province will have a rest from politics for four years. If the result is another deadlock, an effort must be made to find a government that would be acceptable to all parties...

But we believe that there is a strong and growing feeling in favor of a change. The parasites that fasten upon a weak government will be shaken off, and the province will have a new chance of vigorous life and growth.

THE CHARGE OF DISLOYALTY. There are difficulties in the way of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's proposal to extend our treaty-making powers, but to say that it is disloyal, as intended to disintegrate the empire is to raise a false issue. The question ought to be discussed frankly in all its bearings, and this cannot be done if we allow discussion to be choked off by cries of treason...

Canadians are competent to judge any argument that may be presented to them, and of the probable effect of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's proposals or any other. They are not children, to be frightened away from discussing their own concerns.

CHAMBERLAIN AT LIVERPOOL. Liverpool, as was to be expected, gave Joseph Chamberlain a rousing reception. There has always been a strong leaning in the Conservative and protectionist element in this district of Lancashire, which held its own even in the days of greatest Liberal ascendancy. Curiously enough it also contains the only constituency in Great Britain returning an Irish Nationalist and Home Ruler in Parliament—the Scottish division of Liverpool having for quite a number of years been represented by that genial and versatile journalist, T. P. O'Connor. It is a city of keen, hard-headed business men, whose interests are not circumscribed by any narrow local horizon, but are as wide as the shipping which crowds its docks—second only to London in extent and variety.

Inspired by an eager and sympathetic enthusiasm Mr. Chamberlain's oratory assumed at once a deeper and more intense note. He went straight to the soul of his cause, his ambition and his strength when he referred in glowing phrase to "the imperial future, which is my heart." Even the Mr. Chamberlain should find in this battle he will have won a great personal triumph for he has convinced his most embittered and envenomed adversaries that in his imperial aspirations he is sincere. The London Daily News, the organ of the narrowest and most factious section of the Manchester school of Little Englanders, felt constrained to admit that the ex-Colonial Secretary—to them the incarnation of treachery, trickery and quackery—really did believe that his fiscal policy was necessary for the salvation of the imperial ideal. It was an unwilling admission wrung from the depths of prejudice by the simple logic of circumstance and fact.

Canadians generally can form little idea of the strenuousness of the fight that is being waged in Great Britain over this great political, national and imperial issue. The fight demonstrates how inaccurate those advisers are who are always telling us the party system is outgrown. On the contrary, the conclusion is all the more obvious that while there are wrongs to be remedied and selfish interests to be conserved at all hazards, so long will there be parties from whose conflict alone will result not only political education for the people, but purity and progress in the state.

No, Harris was not trump in the Muskoka by-election.

Cap. Sullivan will probably be reduced to the rank of sergeant for his figurative effort to carry Muskoka.

It was never expected when the judges tried R. B. Gagey that the electors would subsequently try the judges.

If the Ontario electors would only remember Ross and Forget Gagey, then the heart of The Globe would be truly happy.

One experiment is enough to satisfy the Jaffray organ that it cannot enter

MUNICIPAL MATTERS.

Two historic assessment disputes affecting a large number of property owners in the city will be resurrected and overhauled within the coming week or so. On Monday next, Judge Winchester will re-hear an ancient and complicated case arising out of the cost of the railway bridges on Dundas street, west of Lansdowne-avenue, which has been hanging fire since 1886. In that year the property-owners in the vicinity petitioned for the construction of the iron bridges that now span the tracks of the C.P.R. and G.T.R. They asked for bridges to cost $75,000, including $25,000 for land damages. When the bridges were constructed their actual cost amounted to $140,000, including $75,000 for land damages. The ratepayers rebelled, and whilst defending themselves legally against the heavy assessment discovered that the initial procedure on the part of the corporation had been irregular and ineffective. This stage of the struggle carried the parties on to 1891, when the city, admitting the irregularity claimed by the ratepayers, undertook to pass a by-law rectifying the error. The Court of revision was called and decided not to assess more than $25,000 upon the local property-owners allowing $4000 additional for interest. The city appealed against that verdict, and when the case came before the late Judge McDougall he decided that all this proceeding had been done in a regular and proper manner. This left the city in a deep hole; but resort was made to another rectifying by-law in 1901. This time a gracious concession was made to the defendants, as the second by-law authorized a contribution of $50,000 to the work of the Ontario Municipality at large, leaving the ratepayers to put up the $25,000 assessed by the Court of Revision, which was not provided by the railways. But when the Court of Revision was called, the city refused to assent to the by-law, and the case was dropped. The appeal of the city to Judge Winchester now is with the hope that the Court of Revision considers itself incompetent to levy against the property-owners the $25,000 which would make an excellent matter for a municipal corporation. But the plot is not yet played out.

Most citizens probably think that the famous Don improvement episode is an ancient history, the pages of which are closed. This is a mistake. There is $50,000 worth of property which the city has not assessed. This is the lands not taken by the city, and made liable by a statute of 1887. These lands were taken in the limit of 400 feet each way from the middle of the river, and extend from the G. T. R. bridge at the southern end of the straight bridge to the Gerrard-street bridge on the north. There is $45,000 in the claim for the city, and the trouble of the property-owners will be brought to a head three weeks hence. The city is ready with its evidence and prepared to make its ancient claim good as new.

A novel claim to exemption which will have a practical and personal interest for a large number of investors is the "in" plan of revision yesterday by F. S. Mearns, solicitor for the Metropolitan Life Company, on local improvement debentures of the city is not liable to assessment, as the city is not liable to assess those debentures if the corporation sold those debentures to the corporation upon the stipulation that they should bear interest at a fixed rate, which interest cannot be decreased by an assessment for city taxes. The city will now sue the Metropolitan Life for the same reason. The precedent will be established.

The Dominion government has announced that it is in heretofore unsuccessful efforts to collect rent from squatters at Fisherman's Island. Last week the title of the city under its patent from the Ontario government should not be clear. The Dominion government has executed a quit claim to any portion that may be on Toronto Harbor. The city will now sue the squatters again. The conditions of the Ontario government patent governing the expenditure of revenue from Fisherman's Bay land is not affected by the action of the Dominion government.

ARTISANS OF DEFEAT.

Hon. Mr. Tarte Blames Government for Alaskan Award. Montreal, Oct. 28.—The artisans of our defeat is the term employed by Hon. Mr. Tarte, in speaking of the late government's connection with the Alaskan matter.

"We might and should have acted otherwise," the ex-minister writes in La Patrie, "as nothing obliged us to accept the commission which we refused in 1890. When the true version of the Alaskan affair comes to be written, it will be found that we were not without our consent. If we had refused, if the Dominion government had said purely and simply to the Imperial authorities, 'We cannot go back upon the decision reached in 1890, things would have remained as they were, or rather, the government of the United States would have consented to an arbitration tribunal constituted in the ordinary forms. If we had refused our tariff so as to exclude from forty to fifty million dollars worth of American merchandise, we would have been in a position to treat with the United States. We had no choice, including imported black chrome iron, box calf, veal cut and patent leather; light and heavy Goodyear welted soles; custom, wares designs, having the appearance of custom, wares designs, combining comfort and durability; easy making; comfortable and durable; price $2.50 to $4.50; Harvest Home Sale, Friday bargain."

He was Mayor of the City of Quebec, a superior judge and a representative in the House of Commons, but of late had dropped out of public view.

More than two-thirds of last year's deficit of $30,000 in the civic waterworks accounts will be made up by the changes recommended yesterday by the Waterworks sub-committee in the amounts to be charged to the different departments by the sub-committee appointed to investigate the reasons why the waterworks were not covered by the present charges to the different departments and what would be considered a fair increase, as follows: All parts from $100.00 to $200.00, from $50.00 to $75.00, City buildings and fire department, from $10.00 to $20.00, Hydrants, from $1.00 to $2.00, etc.

How It Will Be Done. The recommendations of the official report of the sub-committee on the waterworks will be presented to the Board of Control at its meeting on Monday night. The Board of Control will then refer the matter to the Board of Public Works for their consideration.

Value of Meters. All meters to be installed in the city will be of the standard type. The Board of Control will also consider the question of the value of meters to be installed in the city.
