U. S. Expects to Be Strengthed as Creditor Nation in Trade Competition.

Washington, Dec. 25.—Official announcement was made today by the federal reserve board that the Bank of England has been named as the foreign correspondent of the federal reserve bank of New York, and authority was given the eleven other reserve banks to participate in the agency relations. This action marks a radical departure from the previous financial policy of the country, inasmuch as it places the governments of the United States and Great Britain in direct, continuous financial relationship.

It is understood that authorization of this appointment is a part of a general plan for establishing financial connections that will strengthen the United States as a creditor nation in commercial competition, which probably will result when the war closes, and to provide a ready means to offset any tendency on the part of foreign bankers to withdraw the huge Tuesday to James W. EARLSCOURT

TRADE WAS BRISK. Christmas Rush Almost Cleaned Out the Stores Thruout District.

According to one of the leading dry goods merchants on St. Clair avenue west, this Christmas has been the bus est ever experienced in the Earlscourt district.

Notwithstanding the huge amount of Christmas shopping in the large down town departmenta' stores done by the people of the section, West St. Clair avenue on Christmas Eve was thronged by large crowds, and the stores in the business section were packed with people as serily purchasing goods of people eagerly purchasing goods of every description. Several stores were almost completely sold out.

The Christmas mail was also the heaviest in the history of the district.

Celebrated Mass at St. Clare's for First Time

For the first time since the erection of the new St. Clare's Catholic Church. West St. Clair avenue, midnight mass was celebrated on Christmas eve. The large building was packed to capacity. Rev. Edward McCabe was the cele-erant and special music was rendered by an augmented choir.

Previous to the celebration of the mass, the handsome new high altar

WINNIPEG LABOR MEN ENTER STRONG PROTEST

Winnipeg, Man, Dec. 25 .- To protest against the national service movement a large crowd turned out at the Labor Temple yesterday afternoon which filled the four largest halls in the building and at each of the meat-ings the strongest opposition was exonly dissenting voice was that of E. R. this district, who addressed each of the gatherings and pointed out with eloquence and forcefulness that the scheme was not designed for any purpose which would result in injuring the workingmen. He expressed the view that compulsory military service is not practicable in Canada.

While called for the purpose of protesting against the national service movement, the meetings took on the character of socialistic gatherings. The chief argument advanced was that wealth should be conscripted before any action was taken as regards the man power of the country.

That military conscription was the government's ultimate object in asking for an inventory of man power was another contention which was voiced by many of the speakers.

BUSINESS MEN DESIRE UNIFORM CLOSING TIME

Matter Will Be Discussed by the Earlscourt Business Men's Association.

The matter of a uniform closing hour for bi-siness piemises in the St. Clair district is being much discussed amongst merchants, according to the statement of a well-known business man in the section. The closing of all business houses at a regular hour each evening would be a welcome innovation and would meet with the approval of almost overy storekeeper.

"After 9 o'clock the business of the day is practically over." he said. "and

"After 9 o'clock the business of the day is practically over," he said, "and the amount of business transacted in the district after 9 o'clock scarcely pays for the light used."

In the Bloor street and College street sections almost all the stores are closed at 9 o'clock every night, and this arrangement could be carried out by mutual agreement. On Fridays and Saturdays the hour for closing could be at the discretion of the different business men.

WILL BE A CONTEST. There will be a contest in Agincourifor a seat on the council board. Two out of the six candidates nominated retired Saturday, leaving four men. W. H. ## STEAMER ARABIA NOT IN SERVICE OF ALLIES

31.50 Washington Receives an Official Report From the British Government.

BERLIN CLAIM FALSE

Submarine's Attack 8.30 German Shown to Have Been Unjustified.

> Washington, Dec. 23 -- An official report from the British Government on the British liner Arabia, sunk by a submarine without warning in the Mediterranean, declares the Arabia was not at that or any previous time in the service of the allies.

Germany claimed in a note to the American Government the Arabia was an "unarmed auxiliary." The British report was made in answer to an inquiry from the state department and further information probably will be asked to clear up doubtful points, after that at hand has 5.00 been forwarded to Germany.

The report was summarized following state department announce 2.50 ment: "The department of state has received a reply from the British Government to the enquiry regarding the status of the steamer Arabia to the effect that she was not at the 10.00 time she was sunk and never had been in the service of the British Govern-ment or any of the allied governments, and that she carried some government passengers booked as or-7.50 dinary packet passengers at the expense of the government.

"It is understood that there was no Asiatics on board except the Indian rative crew, and that vessels do not follow the ordinary peace rule on account of the operations of sub-marines." 200.00

Germany's Falsehood. Germany asserted that the Arabia was in the service of the British Government, filled with coolie laborers, with no women or children visible on board, painted like a transport and traversing the regular transport lane, but has offered reparation if she shall 000.00 be shown to have been wrong in that 50.00 opinion. Whether the Arabia and Marina case, regarded as analogous, 2.00 will be considered sufficient to justify 100.00 action or damages by this government

GUNS JOIN IN DUEL

French Experience Heavy Bombardment in Region of Meuse.

Special Cable to The Toronto World, London, Dec. 24.—Trench raids were carried out by both British and Gorman parties of troops on the western front, according to British official statements. according to British cfficial statements. The British raided the foe trenches at a point south of Ypres and they inflicted heavy ensualties in consequence of their dash. The Germans penetrated British trenches near Boesinghe and they inflicted a few casualties.

On the section of the front between the Ancre and the Somme, the artillery on both sides was heavily engaged.

The French reported a violent bombardment as prevailing in the region of Haraumont on the right bank of the Meuse. The gunfire was active on both sides of the Avre as well as in the sectors of Quesioy and Canny. The Belgians repulsed an attack by a German patrol on a Belgian post north of Steenstraete.

Opinions Expressed That War May Be Over Next Christmas.

> From a Staff Correspondent of the Associated Press.
> With the British Armies in France, Dec. 25, via London.—Christmas has sent a throb of good cheer to all the British armies in the battle lines of France, and wherever a British soldier ate his Christmas dinner today, whether in the front fire trenches or whether in the front fire trenches or in the secluded security of the reserve camps, enthusiastic toasts were offer-camps, enthusiastic toasts were offered to King and empire and to the coming new year, which Britons confidently believe will bring victory to the allied cause.

The soldiers from overseas, the Canadians, Australians, New Zealanders, and South Africans, drank somewhat wistfully to the folks at home, but soon shook away any tendency to but soon shook away any tendency to homesickness in the sturdy work of war, for war, grim and determined, went forward today as relentlessly as yesterday, and as it will tomorrow.

The Christmas carols which rose up from all parts of the world were not The Christmas carols which rose up from all parts of the world, were not far-reaching enough this year to muf-fie the roar of angry guns or shut out the unceasing song of flying shells.

Bounteous Plenty.

It was a Christmas of bounteous plenty along the British front and the soldiers in the field were joyously im-mune from the three-course dinners prescribed for the Eritish Isles. Each individual company of the vast army organization had a jubilant Christmas spread, and there was much rivalry in the elaborateness of the camp

The members of the various companies pooled their assets, both edible and monetary, and the canteens and small French shops which persist and prosper in the war zone, were called on for all their sweets and delicacies. Mess halls were spiendidly decorated, in many instances with holly and mistletoe and paper flowers made by the soldiers themselves, many of the flow-ers being worked into Christmas mottoes.

At various places along the lines bands visited the mess halls, giving concerts for the soldiers. The Young Men's Christian Association and other organizations arranged countless en-tertalnments, and special, programs prevailed in the movie halls and soldier theatres, most of the latter being battered French barns, with the shell-holes barricaded against the wintry blasts and the noises of battle waging blasts and the noises of battle waging not far away.

Every British soldier had his individual plum pudding, this particularly indispensable item of the Christmas bill of fare having been looked after by the London newspapers, which raised in the neighborhood of £100,000 for their purchase.

Where conditions permitted, as many

Where conditions permitted, as many of the men as possible were relieved from front line duty for dinner, but in the mid-ditches of the Somme and in other sectors, Christmas dinner, steaming hot, was carried up thru the communication trenches, sometimes under the pelting of shells, to the men held by duty at the outposts of war.
Some of the men serving the big guns chalked satirical greetings on the shells before firing them. "If it's a bad shell and does not explode," explained a gunner, "brother Boche can read what we think of him. On the other hand, if it does its duty, he'll know without reading."

This third Christmas of the British armies in France was vastly different from its two predecessors, especially the first, when only a pitful handful of the original expeditionary force was left to form a thin khaki line against the gray-clad enemy. The field army was then so small that King George personally sent a package to every one The multiplication of that are of ens of thousands into the present fore of so many millions has somewhat altered the situation. The news of President Wilson's peace note itad not percolated thruout the army by today, but it cannot be said to have been favorably received. Officers of Organization Making Plans More Than Year Ahead.

CYCLONE CAMPAIGN

Aims at Two and Half Million in Great January Appeal.

Peace is an unlikely thing on next year's Patriotic Fund calendar. "We have made plans for the whole of 1917," said Sir Herbert Ames, hon. secretary of the Canadian Patriotic Fund, recently. The Toronto officers see a year's work, and more, ahead of them, and are making all their calculations accordingly. It is pointed out by one financier, who plays a very prominent part in the campaigning for funds, that if the war were paigning for funds, that if the war were to end nine months from now—the estimate of the most hopeful—the fund would have a further six months' work to do. "We will have to care for the wives and children of the soldiers between the end of the war and the time when the last soldier reaches his home. And how long that period will be no one can foretell. If we are as victorious as we hope to be, there will be Toronto men in the army of occupation whose families will need our support. The Patriotic Fund must be kept up to full efficiency as long as the war lasts, and even with our best efforts I doubt if there will be a cent left in the fund by the time the last soldier reaches the Toronto station.

"The impression point is "the fund by impression point is "the impression point is "the fund by the time the last soldier reaches ting their plans into definite shape. Meetings of the main committee have been held frequently for a month, and leaders of the various sides of the big appeal, which will be made the last week in January, have also got down to business. Preparatory work, of which there is a tremendous amount, is in an advanced position. The January cyclone campaign will aim at $2.590,000, and, of the amount sequent the amount secured, twelve and a half per cent, will go to the Canadian Red

"Oliver Twist," a Lasky film production, starring Marie Doro, shown at the Regent Theatre all Christmas week, is not only one of the master-pleces of motion picture productions, but it portrays Charles Dickens' popu-lar old story with exactitude. Marie Doro, who portrays the character Oliver, will be remembered for the excellent work in the all-star revival, few years ago, when she took the ame part. Monday's big Christmas audience showed splendid appreciation of the lord's Inn were equally faithful, and some clever devices for the change of parts were resorted to in the Clifford's Inn and at the Cadogan Gardens scenes. The chief interest centres in the fact that Mrs. Chilcote falls in love with her husband's double, and the false John Chilcote has to struggle with himself to keep up the deception and maintain honorably the relation which he has at the same time thrust upon him. There are some very fine and subtle touches in Mr. Post's portrayal of the part, as when Brock, the confidential servant, speaks of "your wife."

portrayal of the part, as when Brock, the confidential servant, speaks of "your wife."

"My wife? No, Brock, you forget—his wife," was one of these episodes.
Several of the scenes in Clifford's Inn were marked with tragical strength, and the later scenes with Robbins, in which the madness of the drug-victim rose to a climax, possessed a fateful fascination. Mr. Post was admirably and strongly supported by Louis Calvert as Brock. This sterling actor was last here some years ago as Faistaff in a fine production of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," and the versatility begotten of long and splendid work with the Compton Comedy Company was displayed in a most consistent and well-marked character part. Thais Lawton was charming and efficient as Eve Chilcote, and Kirby Gordon was excellent as Robbins. Little Georgia Mai Fursman was thoroly good in a child part. Clarence Handyside, as Mr. Asquith, alias Herbert Fraide, and Ian Robertson, as Mr. Lakely, the editor of a great paper, who was not above appropriating the literary reputation of one of his contributors, were all distinguished in a first-class company, numbering seventeem. Two thousand lovers of the harness horse spent an enjoyable Christmas afternoon at Hillcrest Park, tho not one of the three races went to a decision.
Bertha Walsh, in the 2.10 pace, proved the only winner of two heats. It was a disastrous day for the favorites.

In the fastest time easily, and was just mosed out by Aconite for the second, and went to a break, but came on and won. However, the effort was too much, and he was away back in the third, which Bertha Walsh won in a close finish with Walsh and Aconite.

The trot produced three different heat winners. Sanitel was off well and won the first without trouble. The second saw Jean T. away in her stride, opening a gap. Sanitel kept right after the mare, and it was noses at the wire. The third went to Guy Boy, that sold favorite for the race at $10, field $14. It was getting dark, and the start was delayed, and none too good, Jean T. not having much chance. Guy Boy also was off behind, but came round his field for a clever win.

Local Teams Pass Up Practice-Pro Season Opens Tomorrow -Notes of Hockey.

Tomorrow night the professional hockey series opens at the Arena with Ottawa playing the 228th Battellon. The soldier squad return from their holidays this morning and all the players are in fine mettle for the game. Lockhart, the North Bay amateur, will play the nets, while Howard and George MacNamara, along with Art Duncan, will figure on the defence. Arbour and Prodgers, last year with the Canadiens, along with Eddie Oatman, the Portland star, will be on the forward line. Ottawa will have all their regulars in line and it should be a crackerjack contest. Reserved seats are now on sale at the Arena.

Fowler and Moynes, goalkeeper for Spokane and forward for Vancouver, respectively, continue to be sensations in the Pacific Coast Hockey League. Lester Patrick considers Fowler the equal of any of the net guardians.

Turkey was the star player in local hockey circles yesterday. The players took a holiday.

With the N.H.A. opening only a day distant, many players are still dubious as to their chances of raking in the long green this winter. Tommie Smith, Horace Merrill, Skene Ronan, Jack Fournder, Clint Benedict and Cy Denneny are all in this class. Sammy Lichtenhein hopes to have Smith in Wanderer regalia when they open up at Quebec next Wednesday evening.

Clint Benedict believes that Eddie Gerard can be developed into one of the greatest defence men in the game. He questions, however, the wisdom of moving him back on the line. Wanderers discovered a star cover point in Odie Cleghorn last year, but he was even more effective up on the attack.

Two Canadian college hocker teams are scheduled for contests with New York sevens within the next two weeks at the St. Nicholas Rink. The Queen's University team of Kingston will meet the Crescent team on Saturday, and on the Thursday following Loyola College of Montreal will play the Irish-American seven.

Cuba is rapidly taking its place in the front rank of civilized states. Proof positive of this face is the announcement that a boxing carnival to last four days will be held at Havana at the end of February, under the guidance of the Havana Agricultural Exposition and Racing Association. In addition to the exhibitions under the Marquis of Queensberry rules, Cuba is also to be visited by an invasion of big league ball players, under the leadership of Mike Donlin.

According to Grant H. Browne, who returned from the island recently, the boxing arena and the ball park for the expected American forces will be ready on Jan. 15. Donlin has already set up an office in the Fitzgerald Building, and is signing up big league players to make the trip shortly after New Year's Day.

Donlin is also business manager of the boxing tournament, and he has announced that there will be competition in four classes for the championship of Cuba. For the bantamweight championship there will be a purse of $10,000; for lightweights and middleweights, $17,500, and $20,000 for the heavyweight title contest. Efforts are being made to get Johnny Ertel and Kid Williams in the bantamweight division. Extra inducements will be offered to such fighters as Freddie Welsh and Les Darcy.

FAMOUS SIRE DESTROYED. FAMOUS SIRE DESTROYED.

London, Dec. 25.—Owing to breaking a leg, the famous sire St. Gris, who stood at the Riverstown stud, County Westmeath, has had to be destroyed. St. Gris was one of the two conquerers of the famous Flying Fox. He was bred by Leopold de Rothschild, by Galopin, out of Isabel, dam of the Two Thousand Guineas winner, St. Frusquin, and was foaled in 1896. At Kempton Park he beat Flying Fox at a difference of only five pounds, but it was considered a fluky victory. He was the sire of Glenside, winner of the Grand National in 1911. Altogether his produce secured 180 races, of the value of $142,435.

Middleton, the Louisville pitcher, who now belongs to the Giants, was a fair hitter, altho getting just beyond the 200 class, with 208 for thirty-eight contests. Two other young Giants, Palermo and Wondell, are grouped with Middleton. Kansas City took first honors in team hatting, with 268, against 265 for Indianapolis, which was second. Minneapolis, Louisville, St. Paul, Toledo, Columbus and Milwaukee followed in the order named.

Beals Becker led in home runs, with fifteen. Jim Thorpe was the best base-stealer, with forty-eight, and was struck out more times than any other player in the league—117 times.

Newminster, which beat him by something like £1500, the mighty-chestnut would have had an unbroken sequence extending over eight seasons. As matters stand the record is held dointly by St. Simon and Hermit, each of which figured at the head of affairs for seven consecutive years. Hermit from 1890 to 1886 and St. Simon from 1890 to 1886. In earlier days there was annually a keen struggle for supremacy among such famous old-time sires as Orlando, Birdcatcher, Touchstone—sire of Orlando—and Melbourne. But for the last named the line of Matchem would nowadays be extinct, and since his time its fortuses to a great extent have hung on the slender thread of Barcaldine. The latter, in a brief stud career, sired a number of good race horses, which, like Barcaldine himself, did well at the stud. Among the most prominent of these were Wolf a Crag, Winkfield and Marco, Winkfield did not win much on the race course owing to something being wrong with his back, but he sired excellent stock, among his get being the sensational Cambrid geehire winner, Winkfield's Pride. New Contracts Will Be Ready Ere Long and Players Will Know.

New York, Dec. 25.—Readjustment of salaries of players will be the principal problem of major league clubs this winter. As soon as the new form of contract is revised and approved, players will have to submit to a reduction. Their days of "fat-frying" are over. There is no Federal League or any other so-called outlaw league to be used as a weapon to drive the major club-owners into signing long-term contracts at a salary rate far in excess of a player's earning power. AMERICAN ASSOCIATION able to demand $16,000 a season, with a threat hanging over nis employer to jump to an outlaw organization should his demands be refused. In spite of Garry Herrmann's bold talk, they say that the suit of the Baltimore in the field. Tryou've got dan in The St. Louis Globe-Democrat.
Organized baseball does not care to be taken into court. It is said that Judge Landis did the game a great kindness when he took the case of the Federal vs. the National and American Leagues under advisement for an indefinite period. Had Judge Landis been obliged to give a decision it is understood that the fabric of organized baseball would have been torn to pleces. There is no kind and liberal Judge Landis in the case where the Baltimore Federals are suing. This case comes up in January, and the organized baseball people are fearful that the judge will not take it under advisement indefinitely. Hence the talk of moving the Washington has not drawn expenses at home in many seasons, and has lived entirely off the proceeds of its visits to other towns. The Baltimore litigants are said to be willing to withdraw their suit and pay a good price for the Washington franchise.

When the Atlantics Stopped the Long Winning Streak of the Cincinnati Reds

CARNIVAL FOR CUBA

Recently enquiry was made as to what team had the honor of stopping the winning streak of the old Cincinnati Reds, after their remarkable run of victories in 189, and it was evident from the tenor of the question that an effort was being made to establish the honor for the Chicago White Stockings. #### GREAT ON THE TALK NOT TAKING CHANCES

While the magnates caimly announce their willingness to "close the parks before surrendering to the players," it is doubtful if any of them are really considering such a move, writes Louis A. Dougher in The Washington Times.

Let's look at the puzzle from a purely Washington viewpoint. Suppose the Washington viewpoint. Suppose the Washington club, acting in conjunction with other American League clubs, kept the capital without big league baseball for one season, next season, for instance. What a wonderful opportunity would be left open to the fans to turn their attention to solf, to tennis, to canoeing to almost anything but baseball!

Much talk has been heard during the past few years regarding the encroachments of golf, tennis and motoring upon the national pastime. If the talk was serious, and based on facts, it would be the height of folly to give up fighting, even for a single season.

But the public wants baseball, that is most of it does. Ban Johnson's own statement is that more than a million attendance was the 1916 increase for his league. What more proof is desired?

But how are the people going to get major league baseball with the parks closed and the players going back on the farm, or running elevators, or driving wagons?

The public has had very little interest in the perpetual bickering between magnate and player. The public wants balls that's all, if not the professional brand in the ball parks owned by the magnates, then it will get it somehow and it will be a sorty day for the professional game when it is driven to the other way of getting it.

DUCKS AND GEESE ALSO

New Laid Eggs Seemingly Were Not in Great Demand.

There was a veritable avalanche of turkeys, ducks, geese and chickens on the St. Lawrence Market Saturday. They were brought in in such large quantities the supply seemed unendingand as trade opened very draggy, hecause the majority of the buyers refused to pay the high prices the decline start ed, and soon became pronounced, turkeys, which opened at 40c and 38c per lb. soon dropping to 55c, and closing at 22c to 28c per lb. Geese ranged from 25c down to 18c; ducks from 25c to 20c, and chickens from 25c to 20c; fowl going at 18c and 20c.

Now-laid eggs were seemingly not wanted—and the a small quantity sold at 90c per dozen, the bulk sold at 70c to 75c, with some guaranteed new-laids closing at 60c per dozen.

Butter, too, was slow selling at from ong at 46c to 48c per lb.

Vegetables, were not very plentiful, re-

Miss E. Reamish, Dior cele. was one of the fortunate ones, as she brought in eleven choice turkeys and sold eight at 40c per lb.; two at 38c per lb., and was asking that price for the last one. Mrs. Bowes, Thornhill, received the high record price for ducks at this season, selling two at 35c per pound.

Miss E. Colbran of Elgin Mills topped the market for geose, and established a new high record, selling one at 27c per lb.

CHRISTMAS MESSAGE IS STRANGELY SIGNIFICANT

Justice Soon to Show Mighty Arm and Bring Sister of Peace.

Rev. A. E. Ribuorg, D.D., preaching est evening at St. Alban's Cathedral, on Jesus Christ and His message of peace to a world at war, declared that there was a greater reason than ever before to proclaim the Christmas message, as it speaks of a peace which shall be to all people. Dr. Ribourg said, in part: "In considering the events, which for the last 28 m have thrown the civilized world in a state of turmoil and chaos, one won-ders at the real signification of these the head-on collision of two freight words: 'Behald, I bring you good tid-ings of great joy, which shall be to near Gilead early today, and it was all people.' From the lips of many fall these bitter words: Why continue to speak to us about Christmas and its message of good-will, if the world is going to get worse?' No doubt this Christmas is darker than that of a year ago, for we see more ruin, more suffering, more broken hearts. But behind these dark clouds we can now perceive the faint rays of the sun. The hand of justice is about to stribe the world's disturbers, and with ustice, comes her inseparable sister, Peace. The one could not be withou the other. Why should we despair? There is in the world the invisible power of goodness, which has been at work in the race for nearly 20 cenuries, and in spite of all appearance his power is bound to tell

"There are ideas, ideals and habits of mind, deep down in the twentieth, century world, that were not in it 19 centuries ago, and there is a power in them that is unconquerable "The madness of a few war lords, the mental aberration of a nation whose national spirit has been fed on the sensual materialism of a Nietzsche, on the undisguised bloodinirst of a Von Bernhardi cannot destroy the good that more than 19 centuries of Christian teaching have infused in the world."

DO not think I shall ever forget the tannis game which Harry Underwood and I played against Dicky and Grace Draper at our home in Marvin.

Illian, ostensibly reading a magazine, bit in reality watching every move keenig, sat in a rustic chair under the big ak tree which was one of the landmarks of the place. She had refused to fay because, by not doing so, she was witter able to carry out her plan of poling the friendship between Dicky and Grace Draper.

To my great astonishment, Dicky was bit sulky. He was too clever to let anthing of his feeling appear on the surface, and I am suffer the sume. But I who know every change of carression on my husband's face, realized that he was distinctly out of hunor, because I was not his partner in the ternis doubles. I was sure from a sity winkle in Lillian's eye that she also and harvedly read him.

I was clear-headed enough, however, to realize that it was only because of my apperiorskill in tennis that Dicky wanted in my menory. I dared not hope I that her hold on bim was loosening in spite at Lillian's cheering assprances.

But the knowledge that Dicky wished him, were fresh in my menory. I dared not hope that her hold on bim was loosening in spite at the bound of leminine malice which am my menory. I dared not hope that her hold on bim was loosening in spite at Lillian's cheering assprances.

But the knowledge that Dicky wished has been men and the following of the first summer, when he had seemed to rorget my very existence in his infatuation for the girl beside him, were fresh in my menory. I dared not hope that her hold on bim was loosening in spite at the bound of leminine malice which are many would understand I grimin reading the proposition of the girl beside him, were fresh in my menory. Instant, and he laughed in sportsman like fashion. "We'll laugh last and best," he prophesied.

"Now, Mr. Maurice McLaughlin, Jr.,"—he waved his hand mockingly at Harry—"let's have some of your famous drives."

Not a Match.

I never had seen Harry Underwood play tennis, although I had heard from Dicky that he was remarkably skilful. Privately, I had thought that he was far too indolent and sleepy looking to excel h any sport.

Sames and bet."

The blood rushed to Dicky's face, and I saw him bite his lip. I knew the quick-ness of his temper, and had a sudden quick vision of the impatient words with which he would have greeted a similar mistake if I had made it.

"Oh, Mr. Graham." Miss Draper cooed. "I am so sorry. What a perfectly awful thing for me to do! But I was so busy watching your splendid playing that I really forgot I had anything to do with the game at all."

Her face was flushed out of its usual pallor, her eyes were shining, her lips.

too indolent and sleepy looking to excel in any sport.

But on the tennis court he was a man transformed. His drives were magnificent, smashing ones, and he appeared to be everywhere on the court at once, moving with an agility that astonished me. Only his quickened breathing and a heightening of his usual ruddy color betrayed the fact that he was somewhat out of training.

With a little thrill at my heart I saw that, good player as he was, Dicky's skill was almost, if not quite, equal to his.

I realized the reason for Dicky's desire to have me at his side in the game. In singles he had the chance to defeat his friend, but in doubles whichever man had the less skilful partner would be practically certain of defeat.

We played practically all the afterneon, stopping only for the iced tea which Katie brought out proudly on my new tea wagon.

I had the consciousness, which was like a salve to my wounded pride, that I had never played better in my life. How I blessed the memory of my brother-realms of motherhood, with magazines, books, aunts and grandmothers hovering near to be of service, much of the neighborly words of wisdom and warning can be analyzed and found scientifically true. Convulsions and spasms are the most common and dangerous diseases of infancy and early childhood, mothers are told over and over again, but sometimes it seems difficult for even the fondest mother to realize the truth.

How You Can Save Baby from Convulsions and Spasms

Convulsions and spasms are dangerous and common. They are caused by the onset of some severe illness-such as pneumonia or scarlatina, bad digestion, ness—such as pneumonia or scariatina, bad digestion, constipation, intestinal worms, high fever from whatever source, fright, severe pain, very has weather.

First Aid Methods.

Prompt treatment must be immediately administered. The child should at once have a bath of 100 deg. F., the water covering it to its neck. Frequently renewed cold cloths are kept on its head. This bath should last 10 minutes, after which the child must be wrapped in a blanket without drying. Since the attack may be due to irritating food in the stomach, vomiting is induced by giving it a teaspoonful of syrup of ipecacuanha or other emetic just as soon as it is able to swallow.

In the milder attacks, which are sometimes called "inward spasms," the baby tends to squint, to bend the thumbs into the palms, and slightly twitches his mouth or eyelids, or perhaps his head or limbs. These symptoms may pass away in a moment, may remain for hours or may lead to a prolonged attack.

The Severe Symptoms.

A choking sound is heard in severe convulsion, and the child ceases to breathe for a moment, becomes unconscious, stiff and somewhat arched backward. The eyes are staring, rolling or squinted, the little fists clinched tightly and the mouth firmly shut. In a short time the face becomes bluish from lack of air in the lungs, and then the "working" begins.

Diary of a Well-Dressed Girl

How She Actually Made a Summer Frock at a Cost of Only Five Dollars.

HAVE been sewing like a madwoman for two days in order to "make good" something I said at Clare Thompson's tea. We were discussing dress, and I remarked that the reason the majority of women were not becomingly and smartly frocked was not that they lacked the means, only good taste.

Clare agreed with me, backing up my There's the girl in the big shop who followed me from one department statement with the argument that lovely matter to copy the model gowns if you the skirt I machine-stitched it to the waistband.

I turned up a deep hem and sewed it by hand. After gathering the top of the skirt I machine-stitched it to the walsthand.

The following morning I began the bodice. I designed it to fasten in the back, and with dropped shoulders and a square decolletage. I trimmed it with narrower bands, edged with the loops to harmonize with the skirt, and softened the neckline with two narrow folds of white net. The sleeves, however, are the truly

The sleeves, however, are the truly "smart" feature of my $5 frock. They are of the type known as "Henry of Navarre." First, I made tiny, puffed sleeves of organdie and gathered them into narrow, snugly fitted armbands. I stitched them to the dropped armholes, shaping them so that they ran up into a point over each shoulder. Then, from the net I cut long, glove-like sleeves, fitting them closely to the arms and extending them well over the hands. I used small, white, crocheted buttons and a row of buttonholes on the outer side of each sleeve so that it would fit without a wrinkle.
