A second attack about two o'clock permitted him to occupy the cemetery and some sections of the trenches immediately adjacent.

SIX MILLION FEET OUT; ALL WILL BE SAVED

Newcastle, N. B., July 11.—The lumbermen interested in the breaking of the Southwest boom met here this forenoon and arranged for concerted action in saving the logs. James Robinson was given full charge of the operations. It is estimated that not more than 6,000,000 feet of logs have gone adrift, and nearly all these will be saved. All available boats were out yesterday and today with great success. The saved lumber will be sorted and surveyed at each mill and the costs apportioned. The Barnaby River and Northwest booms held. Much lumber is still jammed in the Southwest Miramichi above Millerton. The logs ran so thickly yesterday that the Chatham ferry was blocked. The water in the Southwest Miramichi rose six feet yesterday in two hours, and it fell five feet last night. Fishermen operating in the southwest river suffered severely in the flood, and those who had salmon nets there lost all their property. One man is out of pocket $1,000 on account of damage to nets. The fishermen have sustained a marked setback from the storm as they have been affected practically while the salmon season is at its height. Ingersoll Cheese goes with all kinds of pie. Pie doesn't taste right without Ingersoll Cheese.

THE WAR. The encouraging tenor of the war news last week again dominates the cable despatches this morning. The new stand taken by Russia, and the steadily increasing pressure of the Allies on the western front make the task set for themselves by the Germans, and for the Austrians by the Kaiser, the more difficult of accomplishment. The enemy apparently planned, when the Galician drive was started, to deliver such a crushing blow at Russia that it would be necessary for him to keep only comparatively few troops in the eastern theatre of the war and rush his forces to the west to force a way through the French and British lines. Russia has received the blow, but is not by any means crushed. Rather has the Grand Duke placed the enemy in such a position that the vaunted German offensive in the west seems due for a further postponement; more than that, London believes today that when the great offensive now begins it will be the Allies that will be the aggressors.

DELICATE BUT STINGING. Not even in the days of his candidacy for the Presidency of the United States was William J. Bryan the target for such broadsides from the press in his home country as he has been since his resignation from President Wilson's cabinet over the matter of German submarine warfare as affecting American interests on the high seas. And he is still receiving attention from the editors of the New York Sun of Thursday has this gem over which it uses the headline "Injustice to Mr. Bryan."

GERMANY'S NATIONAL INDUSTRY. "War," said Mirabeau, "is Prussia's national industry." It is now the national industry of Germany, under Prussian domination. Note this extract from an article published in the organ of the "Young Germany" party in 1918:—"War is the noblest and holiest expression of human activity. For us, too, the glad great hour of battle will strike. Still and deep in the German heart must live the joy of battle and the longing for it. Let us ridicule to the utmost the old women in breeches who fear war and deplore it as cruel and revolting. No war is beautiful, its august sublimity elevates the human heart beyond the earthly and the common. In the cloud of peace above sit the heroes, Frederick the Great, and Blucher, and all the men of action—the Great Emperor, Moltke, Roon and Bismarck—are there as well, but not the old women who would take away our joy in war. When here on earth a battle is won by German arms and the faithful dead ascend to Heaven, a Potdam lance corporal will walk the guard to the door, and old Fritz, springing from his golden throne, will give the command to present arms. That is the Heaven of Young Germany." Such also is the Heaven of the Turk. After reading this outbreak one finds it difficult to reconcile the lofty emotions described with the Finnish cruelty of the German soldiers in Belgium and France, and with the sort of joy called forth by the murder of the babes on the Lusitania. But war is beyond question the national industry of Germany and the world must organize to save itself from becoming the raw material. It looks this morning as though the United States and Germany would soon break off diplomatic relations. The press summary of the new German note indicates a deadlock. If President Wilson is going to stand by the position he so clearly defined in his Lusitania message, it is difficult to see how he can do anything now short of giving the Germans a short time within which to afford complete satisfaction or go to war. Woodrow Wilson and the American people stand today at the cross-roads. And the world is watching.

ERNEST C. MABEY LOSES HIS LIFE

Drowned in Wetmore's Lake, Kings County, Yesterday — Young Married Man, a Resident of West St. John

Another sad drowning accident occurred yesterday, bringing sorrow to a St. John home, and following closely after those which occurred along the coast a few days ago. While on a family fishing trip to Moss Glen, on the Kennebecasis yesterday, Ernest Mabey, of 383 Duke street, West Side, lost his life. His body was recovered last night.

There was a report about the city of the drowning of some one else in Grand Bay, but the rumor was not verified. On coming to the city on Saturday afternoon, Carl Bonnell of Ketepec, said that he had assisted into Greenhead that day a motor boat which was in a sunken condition, and from which the sole occupant whose name he did not know, said a man had been drowned. The occupant of the motor boat was a young man who seemed somewhat bewildered. Mr. Bonnell had trouble in getting the sunken motor boat ashore with his own launch and, because of the heavy sea, could not stay longer to make Ernest C. Mabey, who was a young married man of about 25 years of age, a son-in-law of Dr. Hazelwood, West St. John, was one of a family fishing party consisting of Dr. Hazelwood, the deceased, F. W. Cunningham, of Graham Cunningham & Naves, and a young man named Clowes, when went to Wetmore's Lake, Kings county, on Saturday. Early yesterday morning Mr. Mabey and Clowes were on a catamaran on the lake soon after 4 o'clock, when by some means that has not yet been made clear, the former toppled over the side. Clowes did all that he could to help at once, but it was some time before he could get hold of Mr. Mabey, and then he was terrified beyond words to find that he seemed dead. It is presumed that the shock must have caused death. The body was recovered and taken back to the camping ground.

News of the sad occurrence was telephoned in to Dr. J. A. Morrison, of the Kirk, West St. John, just before evening service last night, and he at once informed the family. Mr. and Mrs. Mabey lived at the old James Cruickshank house, Lancaster.

The body was brought to the city on the late train last night and taken to the undertaking room of W. E. Brennan.

More of Holt's Activities.
New Orleans, July 11—In a letter received by a newspaper here tonight, a warning is given to all having relatives or friends aboard the British steamers Howth Head and Baron Napier, to watch for reports from them. These boats left here on July 9. In the letter it was added that the warning of the Lusitania's fate which was given before she sailed, was the work of Holt, the German professor who tried to kill J. P. Morgan last week.

WITH THE 55TH. AT CAMP SUSSEX

Twenty Three Recruits Received on Saturday — Church Parades Yesterday

Sussex, N. B., July 11—The usual church parades to the different town churches took place today and was in command of Major F. H. Rowe. The Sussex Band was in attendance. The Roman Catholic unit was in charge of Lieut. F. J. Corry, Baptist, Lieut. H. E. Patchell, Methodist, Capt. W. E. Forbes, Anglican, Major F. H. Rowe and Lieut. D. H. Balmain; Presbyterian, Capt. G. H. Campbell. Chaplain Thomas conducted the service in the Presbyterian church. The usual Bible class was conducted by the chaplain.

The field officer of the day, Major W. J. Osborne, orderly officer, Lieut. R. N. Sinclair.

One of the interesting events of the past week was the reception given the town band by the non-commissioned officers. The band has been most generous in its services to the battalion and on Wednesday evening the N. C. O.'s provided a fine programme and refreshments and at the close a presentation of $75 was made to the band. The commissioned officers shared in the gift and the presentation was made by Col. J. B. Kirkpatrick. Bandmaster Cameron responded for the band.

There seems at present to be no definite information available regarding the future movements of the battalion. Those who are interested in recruiting recognize that again a recruiting gait has been assumed, evidenced by the fact that twenty-three recruits came to camp on Saturday, and they feel that if it were announced that the battalion were to stay in Camp Sussex until fully recruited that it would be a strong incentive to aggressive endeavors in that direction. They feel, as well, that a removal of the battalion will occasion delay in recruiting to full strength.

Lieut. Larsen, of Campbellton, arrived on Saturday with seventeen recruits, fourteen from that centre and three from Moncton. All these men are of a very superior type. On Saturday five men were attested and posted to each companies A, B and C, fifteen in all.

Corporal A. D. Graham, of B Co., has been promoted to be a sergeant and Pte. S. W. Sweeney, of the same company, to be corporal.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Kirkpatrick, who have been visiting here for some days, left for home Saturday.

Among the visitors at camp on Sunday were Mrs. S. M. Wetmore, Mrs. A. Kirkpatrick, wives of Major Wetmore and Lieut. Kirkpatrick; Dr. Gorham, wife and son, of St. John; E. McAvilly Stewart and wife, of Montreal; Mrs. R. P. Patchell, Mr. and Mrs. Findlay, of Montreal, parents of Lieut. Findlay. Mr. Findlay is head of the real estate house of John Findlay Ltd.; Mr. and Mrs. Major, parents of Lieut. Major.

BURIED YESTERDAY
The funeral of John McMillan took place yesterday afternoon from P. Fitzpatrick's undertaking rooms, on Waterloo street, to the Cathedral, where burial services were conducted by Rev. William Duke. Interment took place in the new Catholic cemetery.

UNITED BAPTISTS

Seventh District Meeting at St. George—Membership Shows Increase—Raised $23,000

St. George, N.B., July 10.—The seventh district meeting of the United Baptist convened in annual meeting yesterday with the United Baptist church at St. George. The session opened at 2.40 p. m., Rev. W. R. Robinson as chairman. The delegation, owing to the severe storm, was small.

After the organization of the session, the session was held at the churches in the district except two—Castalia and Bartlett's Mills. These letters show that during the year twenty-six churches had raised over $28,000; that seventeen of the twenty-seven churches report additions. One hundred and forty-nine were added, making the membership about $200.

Delegates were present from eleven churches, viz. St. John, Fairville, St. George, Grand Bay, Second Falls, Beaver Harbor, St. Andrew, St. Stephen, Bullis, Grand Harbor, Seal Cove and MacIntyre. The home mission board was represented by Rev. Dr. Hutchison and Rev. J. B. Hanson, of St. John.

The devotional exercises of the second session were conducted by Rev. A. F. Brown, of Beaver Harbor.

The evening was devoted to mission. Dr. Hutchison, of St. John, spoke of the home mission. After speaking of the action of the home mission board in its session, he said the needs of India are tremendous and expressing the opinion that the work of the superintendent would justify that choice, the speaker proceeded to give reasons which justified home mission enterprises.

The evening speaker was Rev. W. S. Tedford, of St. Andrew, who for a number of years was a missionary in India. He said the needs of India are intellectual—only seven per cent of India was literate—economic, social and spiritual. The millions of India have no true knowledge of God, sin or salvation.

During the afternoon delegates arrived from Fair Haven and Wilford's Beach. The choir of the local church rendered much help.

This morning dawned bright and clear. Delegates arrived from Mascene, Fair Haven, Wilford's Beach and North Road. The pastor of the entertaining church, Rev. W. H. Johnson, conducted a conference.

At the opening of the business session the courtesy of the district were extended to the delegates. Dr. Harrison, Presbyterian, of St. George, and Edwin Crowther, of Fairville.

Dr. C. C. gave the report of the summarizing committee. The following statistics show briefly the condition of the 20th.

Of the twenty-seven churches twenty-five reported. These are cared for by thirty-two pastors. There are three vacant pastorates. During the year three have been added to the membership, 146, making a total of $176, a gain over all losses of $4.

The total value of property reported is $109,600. The churches and Sunday schools report a total of $28,064.21 raised. Twenty-five schools have an enrollment of 2,788.

The report on obituaries was prepared by A. F. Brown and showed that while various churches had lost efficient lay members none of the pastors had been called by their eternal reward.

THROUGHS OF WOUNDED

Injured Soldiers Show Fine Spirit of Cheerfulness—Some Incidents in the Theatres—"Wounded Train" Arrives at Charing Cross Nightly

London, June 25.—(Correspondence of the New York Sun) It does not seem very long ago that the peculiarly nominal aspect of London in time of war was emphasized. Every fresh arrival here exclaimed in surprise that there was no external sign of the terrific struggle in which this country was engaged, excepting always the great numbers of men in khaki to be seen everywhere. This is no longer the case. It is impossible now to walk through the streets of London without seeing plain evidence of war. On the sidewalks you will see men with bandaged heads, with arms in slings, or with empty sleeves, or lame and hobbling, taking a little exercise in the charge of nurses. Constantly in the roadways pass motor cars, taxicabs and large wagons, all filled with wounded men dressed in their bright blue hospital clothes taking the air.

In Hyde Park taxicabs in which private citizens are taking wounded men or a drive are now admitted in the afternoon. Until now no taxicab has been allowed to enter Hyde Park in the afternoon, but now many people who have private cars are anxious to call at the hospitals and take out wounded Tommies to give them a drive and then take them home and give them tea that the authorities issue special permits. It is not only in the streets and during the day that the wounded soldier is conspicuous. When he is sufficiently recovered nothing delights the bandaged Tommy more than to go to a music hall or theatre. One afternoon the whole of the front row of orchestra stalls at the Alhambra was occupied by Tommies blinded at the front. They were led along fumbling and feeling their way in single file. When guided by kindly hands, they were settled in their seats one of them called out, "Where are yer Billy?" "Ere I am what is it?" to which came the cheery answer, "Are you get yer opera glasses with yer?" Nothing could better show the spirit of the English private soldier than this little incident. Indeed it is noticeable that whether hobbling along the pavements, in the parks or driving in the streets the wounded men are practically cheerful and laughing. Daily's Theatre one afternoon was practically filled with wounded men. Before the piece began the orchestra played a selection of popular airs, and it was almost impossible to believe that the choruses which were so lustily sung came from the throats of men suffering from wounds of description.

Some were armless, some legless, many with bandaged heads, but all so cheerful that one realized the truth of the saying that the British soldier is a difficult person to depress. As they left the theatre a burly sailor was seen carrying in his arms what looked like a bundle. It was a soldier who had lost both legs, but he was smiling cheerily and chaffing his friend, who like him, self, was sucking away at the inevitable cigarette.

At night too you can see driving through the streets to the various hospitals and nursing homes numerous Red Cross ambulance vans taking from the railway station the nightly arrivals of wounded men from the front. Every night at about 11 o'clock a long line of ambulance cars and private motor cars marked with the Red Cross emblem may be seen lining Villiers street and one or two of the narrow streets adjoining, waiting for what is known as the "wounded train" at Charing Cross.

With such signs of life and cheer before their eyes it is small wonder that the people of London realize more keenly the awful fact of war.

FEEDING THE SERPENTS AND A GRAND TRANSFORMATION

The animals had received their evening meal when the proprietor came from the arena and joined a stranger and press agent at the table outside.

"I can never understand the interest people take in seeing the carnivorous animals fed; it is no more than giving a horse to a dog," he said, as he took his seat. "And yet it is one of the best drawing features of the show, and the same people remain night after night to see the meat piled into the cages. If it were not for the prohibition of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals which would be novel and interesting, for comparatively few people have ever seen a snake eat."

"It is because a snake will not eat unless it kills its own food," he continued in answer to a question from the stranger. "Snakes are more particular feeders than any other animals, and they will not touch anything which is not alive when it is brought to them. This is the night for feeding them, and if you care to remain until the crowd has gone you can see how it is done. Long as I have been in the business, I learn something new every day, and I never saw a cobra fed artificially until last week, when Brandt, my Hindoo snake charmer, received one direct from India. It seems that they are cannibal snakes and live upon their own kind in India, but that would be too expensive a diet here, and he forces feed down its throat."

The thousands of incandescent lights on the big Cosgrove Island tower went out—the signal that the barbers might cease from barking and the spiders spin no more—until the morrow brought its fresh crowd of amusement seekers, and the proprietor led the way into the arena. Brandt and his two native assistants were carrying the boxes which contained the snakes into the big exhibition cage, and when the three men knined them the weirdness of the surroundings made a profound impression upon the stranger. All of the lights in the arena were extinguished, with the exception of the small cluster directly over their heads, and pairs of luminous spots from the great semi-circles of cages at the outer edge of the building reminded him that the human beings in the cage were not the only interested spectators of the proceedings.

The assistants carefully removed the great boxes and pythons from the boxes, laying them on the floor, where they crawled lustily about, their delicate forked tongues vibrating like streaks of red flame, while Brandt removed a pit from a crate of rabbits and put a half-dozen of them on the floor. The little animals had no instinctive fear of the serpents, for they hopped about among them and over their wriggling bodies unscathed, and the snakes were hungry after a fast of two weeks and they wasted no time in getting to the rabbit and placed their heads unhesitatingly on the rabbit's neck. The proceeding was the same in each case. A serpent would crawl up to the rabbit and place its head on the rabbit's neck, and the rabbit would sniff curiously, close to that of its prospective supper. The red forked tongue would pass rapidly over its face and the rabbit made no attempt to move. Whether it was the effect of some anesthetic quality in the breath of the snake or the traditional charm of the serpent, it was hard to say, but the rabbit made no move to escape. Slowly but surely it yielded to the fascination of the snake, the large transparent ears drooped to the side of the head and the body muscles relaxed until the tickling of the serpent's tongue caused no reflex movement of the paws.

The snake then carefully withdrew its head until the slim neck was in the form of a letter S, and when it again straightened out it was with the force of a released steel spring and the aim of the fat head was unerring. The stroke was so rapid that it was difficult for the eyes to follow and the rabbit never knew what happened, for its body made a quick circle in the air and in less than a second all that was to be seen was one small paw protruding from the coiled body which had brought it a quick and merciful death. The jaws of the serpent have seized it by the snout and thrown it back into its coils and the first pressure kills it, although the over-lightening embrace continues until the bones are crushed within the unbroken skin, so that it can be easily swallowed.

It is not swallowing in the ordinary sense of the word, for the snakes pull themselves over the rabbits as a glove is pulled over the finger, and the progress of the stomach can be watched through the length of the snake's neck. The snakes which were too small to manage a rabbit were fed on white rats and mice, but the process was the same in each case, except that the Hindoos held the rodents by their tails until the snakes had hypnotized them.

"I suppose that this seems cruel to people because the rabbits are such harmless little beasts," said the proprietor as the last bit of fat disappeared. "To my mind it is not half so cruel as hunting hares with guns and dogs, for death from the snake's blow is as quiet and painless as that from the bullet, and there are no maimed and wounded animals to drag themselves away to lingering deaths in hiding. But now I will polished bamboo between its jaws. When he had payed the eggs through the tube he withdrew it and carefully replaced the snake in the basket, still apparently lifeless; but bending over he blew sharply into its face, and the cobra was instantly reanimated into five feet of viciousness. Its head reared up above the edge, the speckled hood distended in anger, but Brandt quickly clapped on the cover and the snake feeding was finished for two weeks.

"That is a great performance of Brandt's," said the press agent, "but it profits us nothing because the best part of it cannot be shown to the public. I never see a snake fed without thinking of something which happened when I was running a side show with the greatest show on earth. You know that the dime museum business was run to death while the guy named Merritt aggra and he don't needed about a side of beef every day. "Freaks are a jealous lot and as hard to manage as rival prima donnas, and these two monstrosities came to hate each other like poison. They were in different lines, but you may have noticed that the side show 'professor' uses up most of the superlatives in the English language when he gives his lecture, and each of 'em seemed afraid that the other would get some of his share of the dictionary. Adipose used to look at Jake's coiled body as if he would like to sit on it and fatten it out, and the snake would return the glance with a naughty little twinkle in its eye, as if he was estimating how much it would be worth to stretch its skin to accommodate A. A. in its interior, until it made Merritt anxious about 'em."

"That blame fat fool will waste away and spoil his shape, if he don't

freaks got so common that you couldn't throw a stone in the streets of any large city without hitting one of 'em. When the fickle public tired of giving up its dimes to see 'em, a guy named Merritt and myself had a choice collection on hand, and we went on the road with the big show for the summer, thinking perhaps our business would pick up in the fall. Our two great attractions were the biggest box-constrictor in captivity, which we called 'Jontness Jake'; and the heaviest fat man in the world. That snake was about two hundred feet long and while the fat man weighed, as we demonstrated on our own scales at every performance. Their feed bill was quite an item, as the snake took a half-dozen sheep every two weeks and the fat man, who was billed as 'Signor Adipose Avotrupolis'—Merritt invented that and Adipose lost out another heller. "You need a traction engine on that rope," says I when they gave it up as a bad job, and Merritt, who was looking a little discouraged, gave a whoop.

"Bring an elephant," he yelled, and when one of the boys started off on a run for the menagerie, he called after him to 'make that order two elephants.' The Hattis came lumbering over, and Merritt tied the rope around the shoulders of one and put another rope around Jake's neck and the shoulders of the other elephant. "Now pull, blame you!" says he, heading 'em in different directions and giving one of 'em a kick, and they put their shoulders against the rope. It was a mighty interesting performance to every one but Adipose, who had 'dint seem to enjoy it at all, judging from the yells he let out. Jake was having the time of his life, and the harder the elephants pulled the tighter he squeezed the signor, and when he felt that they were getting the better of him he made a supreme effort which kniked up every muscle in his body. But there was no holding on against those brutes, and pretty soon the fat man commenced to slip out from the coils, feet first. It was a queer thing to watch and his legs stretched so that I thought his knees would never come into sight. His legs had about the size of barrels when the snake grabbed him, but between the stretching and the squeezing they were now three times as long and about as large as broomsticks. He weighed as much as ever, but the elephants finally got him out, but the flesh was distributed differently and instead of being six feet tall and twelve feet around, he was twelve feet long and built in proportion. The snake was up against it, too, for he had cramped himself so with that last squeeze that he couldn't straighten out the kinks, and he kept in the same shape as when he was wrapped around the signor. We tried to straighten him out, but it was no use; he just stayed coiled up like a spring and the boys rolled him around as if he were a barrel.

"Merritt had kept cheerful as long as there was anything to be done, but tears came to his eyes when he looked at Adipose. The signor was standing up, gazing at his feet, which he hadn't seen before in twenty years, and Merritt looked up at him and shed his mind.

"You're a blame fine figure of a fat man, aren't you, now?" says he. "Just on account of your confounded professional jealousy we lose our two star attractions, for that blamed snake is so kniked up that he can't do for anything except to cut up into barrel hoops."

"The signor was ashamed of himself and hadn't a word to say, so he just kept quiet and tried to get used to his new shape and taking a bird's-eye view of things. Merritt and I were feeling pretty blue when along came Tody Hamilton, the circus press agent, and as soon as he saw what had happened he made a run for a trolley car.

"Don't let 'em get away!" he yelled back over his shoulder. "This is the biggest scoop on record and I'm off for the printing office."

"I'll make a good story, all right; but where do we come in on it?" says Merritt, looking mournfully at Adipose.

"Well, a couple of hours later I had to go into the city to order some new tags for the signor, who looked as if he were dressed in a particularly baggy bathing suit since he had been stretched out, and the first thing I saw was a procession of sandwich men marching down the street. The ink wasn't dry on the posters, but Tody had been busy, and there in flaming red letters was the announcement:

Legality of Sunday Baseball

Ottawa, Ont., July 9.—The interest of organized baseball promoters, particularly those of the International and Canadian Leagues, will centre next week in the hearing of the Ottawa Baseball Club directors and players on a charge of violating the Lord's Day Act by conducting a game in Hull on Sunday, May 23. Knotty Lee and the officers of the Guelph club are co-defendants, their team opposed the Senators during the match in question. The charge was laid by the Lord's Day Alliance Association, through Messrs. Honeywell, Caldwell and Wilson, their Ottawa representatives. The defendants are Malcolm Bryce, F. Shaughnessy and J. Gorman, owners of the Ottawa Club, also Pete Powers and Arthur Lage, players, together with Knotty Lee, Bobby Auld and Matt Kinney. The case will come up at Hull on Thursday or Friday of next week. In the event of the prosecution of the Ottawa being successfully carried out, the Lord's Day Alliance Association will force its guns on Montreal, the stronghold of the International in an effort to stop Sunday baseball there, in both the International and City Leagues. The attorney-general has given his consent to the prosecution, and the Lord's Day Alliance people announced that they would fight the matter to a finish. Statements were issued to the Ottawa owners last season, but the case fell through on a technicality. The Montreal club said the International League will likely have a lawyer on hand to watch the proceedings. President Fitzgerald recently said that the Canadian League was being made the "goal" by the Sunday observance agitators, but it is evident that if successful here, the alliance will enter action at Montreal.

Jack Johnson Smokes for Tommy

Jack Johnson is now in London and spending money for cigarettes to send to English soldiers. He has already bought more than $50,000 for Tommy Atkins and intends to keep doing that little thing for some time to come. The other day he was approached on the subject of the best possible opponent for Jess Willard.

That's not an easy question to answer," said the former champion, "but taking everything into account, I should say Moran, at the moment. He is big enough himself not to be worried overmuch by Willard's bulk, and as a boxer I should say he is a bit in front of Jess."

The names of Young Abner and Carpenter were mentioned as possible opponents for Willard, but in those Jack saw no chance. He did not think them big enough, and when the other boxing man was suggested that a good pound man was as good as anything on two legs Jack demurred, and then said: "Oh, yes, that is all very well in its way and, of course, I know you could knock plenty of men, such as Charlie Mitchell, for instance, in support of the argument. But I'm bound to say I think a few more pounds would be useful, for 164 pounds is not a big weight when the other fellow in the ring is clever as well as big. The men about the size who have won big events against much heavier men have been exceptionally able-bodied men to be without doubt a touch of genius about most of them. And those sort of exceptions only go to prove the general rule after all."

Will Continue to Play

London, July 9.—Whether the war is accepted or not before September 1, soccer will be played throughout the British Isles next season. At a special meeting held today at Blackpool by the governing bodies of England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland it was decided to carry out the usual schedule of league games. This is entirely with the approval of the government of the day. The Scottish League season will commence on August 14, while the English and other leagues will kick off on September 1. It has been agreed by all the clubs that players must be workers for the government in order that no scandal may attach to the game that enables able-bodied men to be without doing their share of the nation's work.

MOTOR BOAT

Long Distance Race Postponed. Owing to the high winds and sea the long distance motor boat race, under the auspices of the R. K. Y. C., which was to have been held on the river Saturday, was postponed. The smaller boats could not get from Indianapolis where there were to be nineteen boats to enter the race, the judges decided to postpone the event until after the R. K. Y. C. cruise, which is scheduled for next Saturday.

RUNNING

Taber Wins Fast Mile Race. New York, July 11.—Norman S. Taber, of Oxford University, England, competing for the Boston A. A., won the one-mile handicap run at Celtic Park Saturday in 4:17.50, the fastest mile ever run on that track. Taber, running from scratch, gave sixty yards to the men who finished second and third. He won by a margin of seventy yards.

GOLF

Wings Woodpecker With Ball. George Cook Wichl, son of a St. Joseph, Mo., banker, performed a feat on the links of the Country club the other day that puts him in a golfing class by himself. Wichl was playing with two friends. When he drove from the fifth tee the ball sailed through the air fifty yards and then struck a woodpecker flying in the opposite direction and killed the bird instantly.

The golfer continued playing, and nothing peculiar was observed until Wichl prepared to drive to the next green. Then he noticed there was something wrong with the ball. He found that the bird's beak had become imbedded in the sphere, inserted half an inch, with a quarter of an inch protruding. Wichl put the ball in his pocket and substitute a new one. He will have it framed and hung in the trophy room of the club.

POLO

Will Not Challenge England. Chicago, July 10.—It would not be sportsmanlike for America polo players to send a challenge to England for the International Polo Trophy within five years, according to Foxhall Keene, here to referee the Western polo championship tourney. "England took the cup away in fair play," he said. "Of the army players who did it one or two have been killed and others wounded. England cannot rehabilitate its polo team in fifteen years. Our teams are thoroughly back to form, and I don't think a challenge could be sent from America. We want the cup, but we want it with honor."

Austrian Defeat In East Weakens Western Line

Allies May Take the Offensive—Italians Win Important Victory on Heights Commanding Trieste—British Repulse Attack

London, July 11, 10.20 p. m.—The check which the Russians have imposed on Archduke Joseph Ferdinand's army in Southern Poland and the additional strain which this has placed on the German general, Von Mackensen's army to the right, has postponed, it is believed in military circles here, the threatened German offensive in the west, and there is now a possibility that the Allies will be the first to take the offensive.

In support of this it is pointed out that the attacks by the German Crown Prince's army in the West, which the German press announced was the commencement of a general move forward, have ceased, and what fighting is going on along the western front consists of artillery engagements and a few isolated attacks and counter-attacks by infantry, which makes little or no difference in the positions of the opposing forces.

The British, according to the French report, have repulsed a German attack on a bombardment of the town, which is largely inhabited by their compatriots. The German reports, however, refer to this as a British attack, and Berlin says it was repulsed with considerable loss. In fact the French and Berlin reports are generally contradictory in respect to what fighting has taken place, but from the trend of them it is evident that neither side has attempted anything of a decisive nature, and it is believed it may be weeks yet before they do.

So far as the Germans are concerned, military observers assert that they are bound to carry out their offensive against the Russians until there is some decisive engagement such as the capture of the Lublin-Cholm railway, which it is asserted would have been in their hands before now if the Austrians advancing toward the former city had not been driven back.

Russians Save West From Attack. Reports from neutral sources are to the effect that to make good their efforts against the Russians, the Germans are moving troops which were intended for the western front to the eastern front. To a certain extent this seems confirmed by the statement in the Russian official report that reinforcements have reached Archduke Joseph Ferdinand, and that General Von Mackensen also commenced an offensive, which, however, broke down under the Russian fire.

King's Inspiring Message To The British Navy

London, July 11, 5.35 p. m.—The belief that the British navy will win fresh laurels "whenever the day of battle comes" is expressed by King George in a message to Admiral Jellicoe, after a visit to the grand fleet.

"I have had the pleasure of seeing the greater portion of the officers and men of the fleet," said His Majesty. "I realize the patient and determined spirit with which you have faced long months of waiting and hoping. I know how strong is the comradeship that links all ranks together. Such a happy state of things convinces me that whenever the day of battle comes my navy will add fresh triumphs to its old and glorious traditions."

Field Marshal Sir John French, in a review of the operations of the British expeditionary forces in April and May, the story of which has been told in the accounts by the British official "eye-witness" and by special correspondents, makes caustic reference to the use by the Germans of asphyxiating gas.

"I much regret," says Field Marshal French, "that during the period under report the fighting has been characterized on the enemy's side by cynical and barbarous disregard of the well known maxims of civilized war, and by flagrant disregard of the Hague Convention."

The story of a remarkable exploit of 100 Indian prisoners of war who escaped from Constantinople and reached Afghanistan after a four months' march, is briefly told in a letter received here from Kabul, the capital of Afghanistan. The men, who are Pathans, formed a part of the Indian army fighting in Flanders. They were captured by the Germans and sent to Constantinople in the hope, the letter says, that being Mohammedans, they might be induced to join the Turks.

Geneva, July 11, via Paris, 6 p. m.—The Austrians and Italians seem to be consolidating their positions and entrenching, according to the Laibach, Austria, correspondent of the Geneva Tribune. He states that another war council was held recently at Laibach.

Shells from Italian guns near Malborgeth fell on the Austrian headquarters there, says the correspondent, mortally wounding a general, killing a colonel and a captain and injuring other officers.

It is reported that since the war began 1,800 Slavs and 5,200 Irredentist Italians have deserted to the Italian forces, according to the correspondent, and that since June 100 civilians, including some women, have been shot as spies by the Austrians.

A dispatch from Innsbruck to the Tribune, relative to the fighting in the eastern theatre, says that both the Russians and the Teutons are entrenching. The Austrian forces which were meant for the Italian campaign have been sent back to the Lublin front, it is stated. The Russians are said to have obtained an important victory at Jaroslau. The Russians now have powerful artillery, while the Cossacks are doing excellent work.

Valuable Positions Won By Desperate Fighting

On the Heights of Notre Dame De Lorette, near Arras, France, July 10, via Paris, July 11.—After battling 120 days for the hill country between Bethune and Arras, the French forces are in possession of all the eminences looking out upon the plains of Flanders. Lille, Douai and Cambrai are visible from here.

Every position along the broad national road between Arras and Bethune has been won, except Souchez, and last night another quarter mile of trenches in the Souchez web was torn away. The attack was made under parachute rocket lights, the French burning bluish white and the Germans greenish white, covering the scene of the desperate conflict with a ghastly glow.

SOLDIERS' DAY

Final preparations are being made for the Soldiers' Day campers in West St. John and Lancaster, on Wednesday next July 14. There is every reason to expect success. Already some donations have been received for the project, whose object is to furnish supplies for the men at the front. They include contributions from different residents of the city proper. Mrs. E. Young, president of the Soldiers' Comfort Association directing the affair, and those assisting, are asking that residents of West End and Lancaster have their donations of money or supplies ready when the committees call on Wednesday.

THE MERCHANTS' PICNIC

The Merchants' Picnic committee met this morning, and it was decided to recommend that all merchants and places of business who can conveniently do so be closed on Thursday afternoon, July 22, and all attend the merchants' picnic and Red Cross field day. The secretary reported that the donation for the picnic and also for the Red Cross have been numerous and very generous, coming from merchants, manufacturers and wholesalers; also from others. It is intended to place the prizes in the windows of some of the prominent stores. Another meeting of the committee will be held in a few days to give the last touch to what is expected to be the biggest outing ever held in the province.

FIGHT PICTURES WILL NOT BE SEEN HERE

Boxing fans who have followed the showing of the motion picture films representing scenes from the Willard-Johnson championship match at Havana, may be disappointed in knowing that these pictures will not be shown here. The pictures were in the city a few days ago. There was a scheme in progress for their being exhibited. The local board of censors, however, took the ground that since prize fights were prohibited in the province motion pictures depicting them should also be barred, and, lacking the stamp of official approval requisite to the presentation, the films will not be shown in this city.

ONE BROTHER IS WOUNDED; SECOND ONE A PRISONER

Sergt. Alfred Brown, Known in Fredericton, Received Five Wounds But is Fighting Again

Sergt. Alfred Brown, who visited his sister, Mrs. Harry Hagerman, of Fredericton, after they had been in the trenches for some time, is recovering from five wounds which he received while fighting the Plankers some weeks ago and is ready to go back to the front again.

Mrs. Hagerman has received the first detailed information as to how her brother was wounded and the extent of his wounds, and she had also learned that her other brother, Ernest, is a prisoner who is a member of the King's Shropshire Light Infantry is now at Bush Camp, Bramble Dock, South Wales, writes as follows:

Received your most welcome letters yesterday, after they had been good news to me. I was so glad to hear of you, and I put the address accordingly. The night I posted the letter to you I was wounded, having the misfortune to receive five wounds, three of which were much larger than bullet wounds.

"There were five of us in a group and we were fighting the Germans at twenty yards range with bombs (hand thrown) three of my companions being instantly killed, one receiving something like twenty wounds in the legs, and I having five, one of which was only two inches from my heart. Indeed I consider myself lucky, don't you? I had command at the time of about seven men, a platoon, all my officers having been killed previously.

"Well, I was sent to England and put in a hospital from which I wrote you, but since I received no answer I judge you did not get my letter. At the present time I am with one of the reserve battalions drilling recruits. I expect to reach the front again, but when I cannot say. It may be in a few days or it may be in a few weeks. My regiment, the 2nd Battalion, is in the same brigade as the Princess Patricia Light Infantry, and they have with my own regiment, lost heavily.

"You mention Ernest—we have no news of him yet, but believe him to be a prisoner of war. Thank you very much for your kind invitation I shall certainly accept on my return to Canada, as I should certainly like to see both you and your husband, and I don't write to you it will be because I cannot, so please write to me at intervals, as I always eagerly look forward to a line from you. I have fully recovered from my wounds and am in the best of health."

HENRY LORD DEAD

Quarter Century in Ferry Service—One Sea Away in Khaki

The death of Henry Lord occurred at his home, West St. John, last night. For twenty-five years Mr. Lord was a valued member of the ferry staff and had many friends who will learn of his death with sincere regret. He is survived by his wife, three sons, William of this city, Henry of Summerhill, N. B., and Jacob now in England with the C. O. R., R. C. C., and one daughter, Mrs. W. C. Dunlop of Renfrew. He also leaves three brothers, Willington, James, and George, and three sisters, Mrs. Willoughby, Mrs. Charles Holder and Mrs. George Clark, all of West St. John.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, from his late residence, 79 Water street.

FOR HEAVY BATTERY

Some of the men of the artillery garrison on Partridge Island, who volunteered for foreign service with the heavy battery to be organized in part here, now find that they cannot secure the consent necessary from wives and parents. He accepted application from additional volunteers beyond the number originally intended. The garrison today had a route march in the vicinity of Lowerville, under command of Captain Ring.
