ATTEMPT ON LIFE OF COMMANDER IN SO. IRELAND

Major Gen. Strickland Fired on But Escapes

Shooting at Street Corner in Cork—Wife of Former Lord Mayor Says a Shot Was Fired at Her Today.

Cork, Ireland, Sept. 25.—An attempt was made on the life of Major General Strickland, commander in southern Ireland, as he was motoring from the barracks to the docks en route to England early last night. Six shots were fired at the automobile in which he was driving with two friends as it descended Patrick street hill, and rounded the corner leading into McCurtain street, near the docks. General Strickland was not injured, but the driver of the car was slightly wounded.

It was understood that General Strickland intended to sail last night and that his baggage had been placed aboard the steamer. As his automobile turned the McCurtain street corner on the way to the docks, an attacking party divided in two groups stationed on opposite sides of the road, began firing. The occupants of the machine returned the fire as the car sped on. A sixteen year old boy bystander received a flesh wound in the arm.

The 4th Day. London, Sept. 25.—Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, passed a better night at Brixton prison last night and, consequently, was more refreshed this morning, said a bulletin issued by the Irish Self-Determination League this forenoon. MacSwiney had a few hours sleep but was still in a state of extreme weakness, and able to whisper only a couple of words to relatives who visited him. It was said that the severity of the pains in his head from which he suffered yesterday, was decreased.

London, Sept. 25.—Wholesale deportation of the members of Sinn Fein to the most remote colonies of the British Empire will follow the refusal by the south and west of Ireland to accept the government's home rule bill, according to the Evening Standard on the authority of a government official of the Irish administration.

He is quoted as saying that the government will do its utmost to create an atmosphere favorable to the reception of Sinn Fein and that should it fail, Sinn Fein will be declared a treasonable organization. The deportations will follow.

In an interview with Liberte of Paris a few days ago, Sir Nevil Macready, military commander in Ireland, hinted that some day it might be necessary for the government to take action to round up the Sinn Fein organization, the members of which were all known to the authorities.

Repeated attempts were made, but it was evident that the flight could not be made. Colonel Leckie said he was flying what was to him an absolutely new machine, and he did not know how it would behave. FLOUR PRICES

Statement Made by an Eastern Townships Miller. (Canadian Press). Ottawa, Sept. 25.—Abolition of wheat control and getting back to pre-war conditions in milling of flour, will mean a reduction in the price of Canadian flour to consumers according to an Eastern Townships miller who is spending a few days in the city. He said that some of the large mills had sent out their price lists in preparation for putting the former grades of flour on the market and that in nearly all cases there was a reduction of some twenty-five cents a bag in the cost of flour of the grade approximating the government standard grade.

Very little, if any, of the new grades of flour are yet on sale, he said, because the mills are seeking to clear out their war stock before bringing the patents on to the market again. However, with the opening of the mills for grinding the 1920 wheat crop, all grades of flour will be turned out as before when flour control was established. When this is done, while some of the highest patents will be more costly than the present government standard grade, the grade equal to standard will be cheaper and there will be several cheaper grades.

Ottawa, Sept. 25.—(By Canadian Press) Farmers of Canada are not profiteers, Dr. J. G. Rutherford, a member of the Dominion Board of Railway Commissioners stoutly maintained in an address to the Kiwanis Club here yesterday. The farmer was the only real producer, he said, and without him the country would not get along. He declared that Canada's resources had been wasted in the past and that this evil was still going on. He blamed party politics for this and thought the only cure was for Canadians to keep level-headed and take care of their governments and "to watch them closely."

Speaking on the request that another conveyor be run from the grain elevator at Deep Water to the south side of Pter Three, he said that it would receive consideration.

There was considerable discussion regarding the equipping of the South End terminals, as well as the building of ships to dock there, and Mr. Hanna said that it would be dealt with.

SISLER LIKELY TO FINISH IN FIRST PLACE

Tris Speaker Only Six Points Behind. Ruth in Fifth Place—Hornsby and Nicholson in Close Race for Top Position in National League.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—As the major league club swings into the final two weeks of the pennant race, Geo. Sisler, star first baseman with St. Louis, seems certain of carrying off the 1920 batting championship of the American League.

Sisler, according to figures compiled today, is showing the way with an average of .405, with Tris Speaker of Chicago club six points behind him.

"Babe" Ruth, the home run monarch, who gathered his 50th and 51st, home runs on Friday, clings to fifth place in the list of leaders with an average of .367.

Rice, of Washington, is in no danger of being deposed as the leading base stealer. He has fifty-five to his credit while Sisler is next in line with thirty-seven.

Other leading batters—Jacobson, St. Louis, .346; Rice, Washington, .341; Judge, Washington, .340; Tobin, St. Louis, .338; Weaver, Chicago, .337; Felch, Chicago, .334; Meusel, New York, .333; Cobb, Detroit, .327.

The scramble for the batting championship of the National League has developed into a light race between Rogers Hornsby of St. Louis and Nicholson of Pittsburgh, with Hornsby topping the league with .365. Nicholson, who led the league a week ago, is a point behind the St. Louis star.

Cy Williams of Philadelphia, the leading home run hitter of the league, connected with another four-liner, bringing his total up to fifteen.

In base stealing Max Carey of Pittsburgh continues to show the way with a total of forty-eight, of which place he is a member of the staff of the Bank of Nova Scotia. Mr. McKeever spent the past five weeks in the city visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. McKeever.

ELECTION CARD

Electors of St. John—
Ladies and Gentlemen:

Having been assured of generous support, I have decided to become a Candidate for your suffrages at the forthcoming Provincial general elections. Should I be favored with the majority of your votes I shall earnestly endeavor to give our Province and City that commanding position in the Canadian Confederacy to which they are justly entitled.

With this object in view I shall labor earnestly to make our Province bolder.

With a view to economy as well as to increase our influence at Ottawa, I favor a legislative union of the Maritime Provinces.

I am in favor of a reduction of our Provincial Cabinet as well as that of the Assembly to thirty members with a seasonal indemnity not exceeding Five Hundred Dollars.

I am strongly in favor of dividing the Province into single ridings.

I shall insist on keeping the ordinary expenditure strictly within the limits of the Provincial revenue.

I am in favor of the simplifying of our school curriculum in order to give greater prominence to the more practical subjects.

I believe in an eight-hour day with equal wage to men and women for equal service.

I am in favor of the adoption of a vigorous development of our great natural resources.

My motto shall be: Progress, Retrenchment, Economy and Efficiency.

Between nomination and polling I suggest that all Candidates hold joint public meeting in order to increase interest in Provincial affairs and to educate the public along such lines.

Trusting the foregoing may meet with your approval, and that you will so express yourselves by giving me a handsome majority of votes and soliciting the aid of all, I am,
Yours Respectfully,
MICHAEL KELLY.

TO CALL FOR PLANS FOR NEW BUILDINGS

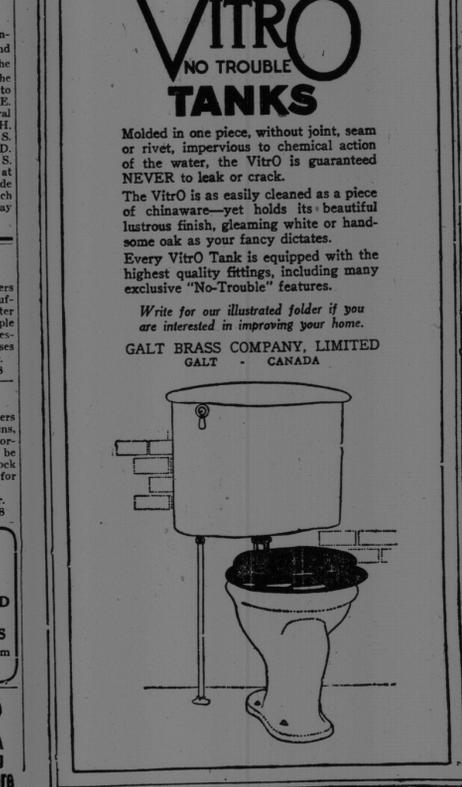

A call for competitive plans for a new court house and municipal building, to replace the ruins now standing at the head of King square, was approved at a meeting of the building committee of the municipal council held yesterday afternoon in the county rooms, Prince William street, with Commissioner Thornton presiding. As an incentive, a cash prize of $1,500 will be offered for the most satisfactory set of working plans. The competition will not be limited to local aspirants.
Several bids were received for the boiler which had been used in the old court house, but on recommendation it was sold to the Provincial Memorial Home for $100, subject to the approval of the county council.
Claim Distortion of News.
A statement signed by members of the family of Terence MacSwiney asserts that the government asked the Newspapers' Proprietors' Association that if certain information should come to their knowledge to withhold it from publication. The home office denies that any attempt was made to influence the newspapers.

THEN AND NOW.

There are some men in St. John who hung their heads in shame when the misdeeds of their party were exposed a few years ago, but who are now, for the sake of partisanship, rallying around the men who helped to make that shameful record, or did their level best to prevent its exposure. Surely they have short memories, or believed that the people at large are so afflicted. It matters not that some of the old leaders are now out of public life. The men who endorsed their course, and when exposure was threatened did all in their power to hide the truth from the people, are seeking power, to pursue a similar course. They are making a great outcry about the alleged extravagance of the government, but give no sign of repentance for their own political sins. Why treat them again? It is very easy to lay the blame upon men who have retired from politics or are no longer living, but up to the very moment of the defeat of the Murray government, and in the house afterwards, men who are now seeking to get back into power continued to defend and sound the praises of that government, and sought by every artifice to defeat its successor. They are still pursuing that course, and are no more worthy of support now than when an indignant electorate hurled their party from power. Undoubtedly they are resourceful gentlemen. They will try by every means to get the vote of the prohibitionists, the vote of the farmers, the vote of labor, the vote of the independents—anything to defeat the government and party which exposed them. The people will not let them do it. As for the men who were honestly ashamed and are now out shouting again for the party, they should ask themselves if it is really worth while to put party above principle.

WORK FOR EVERYBODY

The friends of the Foster government in this city should rally to its support with whole-hearted vigor for the next two weeks. At the last provincial election only one of the party candidates was elected. This time there should be four. At the time of the former election all the facts about the rottenness of the former administration had not been brought out. If they had been, not a supporter of the old government would have been elected. Now that the whole record has been spread upon the records of royal commissions, it would be an extraordinary thing if any candidate of that party were successful in this constituency. But if victory is to come to the government candidates, there must be a determined fight. Every man and every woman favorable to the government has a work to do, and should not remain indifferent. Every prejudice will be appealed to, and every promise made, in the desperate effort of the opposition to carry this constituency. The real issues will be smothered if possible, and public attention diverted by petty attempts to gain partisan advantage. The choice is not between an extravagant government and a prudent one; but between a government that is developing and conserving the resources of the province and carrying out constructive policies, and one wedded to the traditions of the most discredited administration the province ever had. It is therefore in the public interest that every believer in the policies of the Foster government should join in the effort to bring out a full vote on Oct. 9, and send to Fredericton candidates who will support that government in carrying out those policies. It is a personal matter that should not be overlooked by any conscientious citizen.

SAME OLD PRINCIPLES.

A full page advertisement for the opposition party, in the St. Croix Courier, says: "The provincial opposition party stands for the same principles for which it has always stood." The people are glad to know it. Same old principles—same old party. Same old record of scandals if it is returned to power. Leader Baxter said something about re-creating the party, but the Courier has the real dope. It is the principles that count—same old principles, and so far as St. John is concerned the same men to put them into effect. The Courier anticipates a great victory for these principles in Charlotte county. Oddly enough the party there does not seem quite so sure of that result. It has appealed to the United Farmers to name two candidates for its ticket. However, as Mr. Gupitell of Grand Harbor is to be one of the farmer candidates, and has hitherto stood for the old party in Charlotte will not have to swallow itself after all. As is well known, the principles of the old party encourage generous contributions from lumber operators, contractors, liquor dealers and others. The records of the various enquiries held by royal commissions tell the story. Those principles also justify a cover-up policy, and the most strenuous opposition to any facts when principles are there to be admired. Silly, of course. And yet—the burned child shuns the fire. The fact that the party asserts the same old principles may not turn the trick, even in Charlotte county; for the people of that constituency are by no means void of intelligence and public spirit.

A USEFUL ORGANIZATION.

There is in western Canada an organization which might very well be duplicated in the maritime provinces. It is called the Western Canada Colonization Association, and its chief purpose is to assist in the settlement of idle lands. The Association is composed of prominent men who are giving time, thought and the benefit of their business experience to the cause. They work without pecuniary gain for themselves, for the following objects: To assist in bringing about the settlement of the vacant lands of Western Canada. To give advice and direction to settlers entering Western Canada. To in a measure direct interprovincial colonization. To bring about co-ordinate effort between the association, the governments and railways for land settlement in Western Canada. To carry on activities of national development. The western provinces already have the advantage of all the publicity that can be given them by the federal government and the railways to induce new settlers to choose the west. The maritime provinces lack these advantages to a very large extent. There is therefore the more need of having a local association to stimulate government action and bring about a larger settlement of our vacant lands.

DESERTED WIVES.

Within three weeks Rev. George Scott, agent of the Children's Aid Society, has been visited by four wives who have been deserted by their husbands, leaving them with children to support. In one case the wife had her husband arrested for non-support, but on the intervention of friends he was released, and is said to have celebrated his freedom by leaving town with the other woman. His wife is left with a large family of small children. From news that comes from many cities there appears to be a general increase in the number of wife-desertions. It is the duty of the state to run down these deserters; or, failing to do so, to help the mother. She is rearing children for the state, and should not be left to struggle alone. That is why mothers allowances are given in several Canadian provinces, in very many states to the south, in Australia and New Zealand, and an increasing number of European countries. There is need also of an industrial farm where men who will not otherwise provide for their families may be compelled to work. These are measures to which legislators in every civilized community must soon pay attention. There is nothing more pitiful than the case of a widow or deserted wife left with small children and without means. She cannot leave her children to go out and work; she should not be asked to give them up; but the state should regard her as a civil servant and pay her for rearing children for the state.

In an address this week Secretary E. A. Saunders of the Halifax Board of Trade said that $15,000,000 had been spent by the federal government—on the new ocean terminals at that port, but the work was not nearly completed. A new grain elevator was needed. Millions more must be spent, and the government is asked to do it. Halifax needs no harbor commission.

The suggestion that school buildings be used as polling booths is a good one. They are so used in the western provinces. Under the existing New Brunswick law the trustees must consent. It would be better if that law were changed as in many states to provide that on request of a certain number of ratepayers the school building must be made available for public purposes.

The whole province is deeply interested in the hydro-electric policy of the Foster government. It will do more to encourage industry than any other policy that could be presented.

The farmers must surely be impressed by the merits of the opposition. It has a lawyer for its leader, and two of its St. John candidates are lawyers. That ought to help the crops.

The opposition leader declares himself opposed to any political distinctions of race, class or creed. That is good policy. Has it been put in effect? Watch the indicator.

An interview with Hon. B. Frank Smith on the opposition leadership should make good copy for the Standard and Gleaner.

Government candidates have been nominated in ten constituencies. The list shows that there is a good ticket in every one of them.

AMY LOWELL.

This great and gifted woman in judgment often sits; her genius superhuman equips her, she admits. The bard of epochs older she says, were merely punk; we thought their works were golden, but now we know they're junk. Oh, music filled their verses when those bards used to write; but Amy rears and curses when rhythm is in sight. She lectures in her attic to poets gone to seed: "Lines must be lame, rhymatic, before they're fit to read. If lines are good, they're good, most like bright water flow, why, then, it's time to slaughter, the herd who made them so. Old poets were dead ringers for mockingbirds and wrens, but now our truest singers must sound like guinea hens. It seems so strange," says Amy, "that people once read Keats; not only read him, blame me, but thought his verses treats. And Tennyson; his twaddle was once accounted grand, and held up as a model for bards throughout the land. But we have traveled greatly in these modern times; we balk at all that's stately. I like up in poets' rhymes. All verses must be halting, or I will show them hence; no psalter must be psalting that shows a lick of sense."

THE WILDERNESS MONUMENT

High up on the cliffs, snow white against the dark rock that forms Cape Trinity on the Saguenay, stands a statue of the Blessed Virgin Mary, a monument of the faith of man in his Maker. For thirty-five years it has stood there while hundreds of thousands of tourists of all nations have sailed by on the summer pleasure boats. Back in the seventies the only way to get from Quebec to the northland in the winter was by snow shoes and dog train over the frozen lakes and rivers. On one of these mid-winter trips Charles Robitaille went through the ice with his dogs and was in danger of perishing from the icy water and exposure. While struggling in the water he vowed that if he was spared he would erect on the cliff overlooking a statue to the Blessed Virgin. With no help within many miles he managed to save himself from the river and rescue his dogs. But for a long time his life was despaired of and he was not until many months after his escape from death that he was able to undertake the fulfillment of his vow of that awful night. But in 1890 the statue was complete and set up on the brow of Cape Trinity. A year later it was dedicated by the Bishop of Montreal. It is probably the largest and most conspicuously placed statue of the Virgin anywhere in the world, for it stands out as a great beacon to every ship sailing up the Saguenay. Once since its erection, a couple of years ago, it became necessary to repair the foundations of the monument, and the statue was removed safely and the statue stands secure again for years to come.

SEA-FEVER.

I must go down to the seas again, to the lonely sea and the sky, And all I ask is a ship and a star to steer her by, And the wheel's kick and the wind's song, And the white sails shining, And a grey mist on the sea's face, And a grey dawn breaking. I must go down to the seas again, for the call of the running tide, Is a wild call and a clear call that may not be denied; And all I ask is a white day with the white clouds flying, And the flung spray and the blown spume, And the sea-gulls crying. I must go down to the seas again, to the vagrant gypsy life, To the gull's way and the whale's way where the wind's like a whistling knife; And all I ask is a merry yarn from a laughing fellow and a sweet dream when the long tricker's over. —JOHN MASEFIELD.

LIGHTER VEIN.

Change of Color. "Times have certainly changed," remarked the tall Bostonian. "Once our city was noted as the home of the blue stocking; now it is more generally known as the headquarters of the Red Sox." Heard in a Car. First Girl—Do you like Rex Beach? Second Girl—I was never there. So Interested. She—I'm so interested in football. I have a cousin who knows who was on the college team last year. He—Indeed. What did he play? She—Well, I forget just whether he was a touch-down or a punt.

Died of Drought.

"Have you any more geraniums?" "No, sir. We have some very fine hydrangeas." "Nothing doing! I'd be a nice thing to have my wife come home and find the geraniums she left in my care turned into hydrangeas, now wouldn't it?" Tired of Monarchism. His wife had a mania for housecleaning and one of her fits was on. For a week he had borne the honors of it with an air of martyrdom, then his patience gave way and he blurted out something harsh. "And you," sobbed his wife, "you are the man who used to call me his queen! I was re-anointed with a wild goose in his eyes, but when a man finds his queen has used his tobacco jar for pale oak finish and his merschaum pipe as a tack hammer, he begins to grasp the advantages of a republicanism form of a government."

SCHOOL DENTAL CLINIC

Halifax Echo—The dental clinics for the school children held at the dispensary are having a psychological, as well as a physical, effect on the young people for they are learning to take an interest in caring for their teeth and keeping them healthy. They realize early the necessity of watching the teeth and preventing decay and this is in itself a big thing.

INDIAN MAIDS PULL FLAX IN SILK HOSE

London, Ont., Sept. 25.—Indian maids in silk hose and white kid shoes worth upwards of $15 a pair are pulling flax in the fields north of London, according to reports. Many of them are said to be cashing in from $20 to $35 a day garnering the abundant crops. The flax across this year is extraordinary, and the growers will benefit to the extent of hundreds of thousands of dollars.

GROWING DEAF WITH HEAD NOISES? TRY THIS

If you are growing hard of hearing and fear Catharrhal Deafness or if you have roaring, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Farnit (double strength), and add to it 1.4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who is threatened with Catharrhal Deafness or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial.

MANY MINE WORKERS WANTED IN THE NORTH

Signs Point to Rapid Readjustment of Labor Situation.

Timmins, Sept. 25.—Harvest season in the West is drawing to a close. Recruitment in the great plants employed in the automobile industry is taking place. These two factors alone are raising a veritable army of men for re-employment in other lines of industry. Mining men in Northern Ontario have again taken heart and believe the situation may mark the commencement of a solution of the labor shortage problem in this country, particularly in the Porcupine gold district. Two thousand mine workers could find employment at Porcupine and at Kirkland Lake, while at Cobalt the demand for men is also greater than the supply. Nowhere in the north country is there any unemployment other than by choice. The cost of mining and milling is entirely abnormal, due to a large extent to the inefficiency born of an inadequate labor supply. Efficiency cannot be established without operating at or near full capacity.

RECENT DEATHS

Bathurst, N.B., Sept. 23.—Word was received here during the week of the death which occurred in France of Rev. Father LaBastaid, Provincial of the Endist Order in America. Rev. Father LaBastaid had spent several years in Bathurst and in Caraquet in the discharge of the various duties of his position, and the many who enjoyed his friendship will regret most deeply his unexpectedly early death.

The death occurred yesterday in Montreal of Mrs. Emily Sarah Allison, widow of the late John W. Cadlip, for many years manager of the Cornwall and York Cotton Mills, St. John. The body will be brought from Montreal today and the funeral will be held from St. Paul's (Valley) church on Sunday afternoon at 8:30 o'clock.

The death occurred on Sept. 24 at his residence at Little River of Frederick C. Martin, eldest son of Simon and the late Mary E. Martin. He is survived by his father, three brothers and two sisters. The brothers are Harold, of Calgary, Basil and Ronald, of St. John. The sisters are Mrs. Christina Simmons and Miss Edna Martin, of St. John. Mr. Martin had been formerly in the employ of the Ford Motor Works. The funeral will take place from his late residence on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

WARNS AGAINST OVER-CONFIDENCE RE PROHIBITION

A Word Relative to Forthcoming Referendum—Race Track Betting.

Toronto, Sept. 25.—A warning to ministers and people against the danger of over-estimating the strength of the prohibition sentiment, and under-estimating the influence and power of the forces supporting the liquor traffic in connection with the referendum that is to be taken, was given here yesterday in the form of a resolution passed by the executive of the board of home missions and social service of the Presbyterian church.

The same body went on record as strongly disapproving of the dominion government in any way being identified with the business of race track betting by attempting to regulate the evil.

PROBE LOSSES OF TEXT BOOK MAKERS
Toronto, Ont., Sept. 25.—The Ontario government is expected to appoint a commission to go into the matter of losses suffered by the publishers of text books in "carrying on" from year to year during the war under expired contracts, thereby implementing a promise made by the former minister of education, Hon. Mr. Cody.

In the early part of the war the government's contracts for the publication of some text books expired. At that time costs were jumping and the government rather than make new contracts on the basis of higher costs, asked the publishers to carry on under the old contracts, giving assurance that they would be fairly dealt with.

"DANDERINE"

Stops Hair Coming Out; Doubles Its Beauty.

A few cents buys "Danderine." After an application of "Danderine" you can not find a fallen hair or any dandruff, brightness, more color and thickness.

To Regain a Healthy, Girlish Complexion

If you would have a clear, fresh, girlish complexion, one ounce of ordinary mercurized wax will aid you in this direction more than shelves full of cosmetics. It produces a natural beauty. This wax, procurable at any drugstore, completely absorbs a bad complexion, revealing the healthy young skin underneath. Its work is done so gradually, day by day, that no inconvenience is caused. The wax is applied at night, like cold cream, and removed in the morning with soap and water.

Another valuable, rejuvenating treatment—this for wrinkles—is to bathe your face in a solution of powdered salicylic acid, one ounce dissolved in a half pint of witch hazel. This has a remarkable action in smoothing out the lines and "firming up" the loose tissue.

The Hair-Destroying Curling Iron Passes

The heated iron makes the hair dry and parched-looking, burns off the ends, giving a most untidy appearance. You who have learned this from experience will be glad to hear of a very simple method which is open to none of the objections referred to and which gives better results than the curling iron.

Just get a few ounces of plain liquid silmerine at your druggist's and apply a little with a clean tooth brush before doing up the hair, drawing the brush down one strand at a time from root to tip. In three hours your hair will be as beautifully wavy and curly as though Mother Nature did it, and it will be quite manageable, no matter what style of coiffure you adopt. The effect will be much prettier than if you used a waving iron, will last much longer, and the health of your hair will not suffer. Silmerine is not sticky or greasy, but is quite pleasant to use.

Lord Hardinge Well Fitted For The Post in Paris

Was Confidant of the Late King Edward—News Topics of the Week in the Metropolis of Empire.

(From Our Own Correspondent.) London, September 24.—The nomination of Lord Hardinge as successor to Lord Derby as our ambassador at Paris when the latter retires two months hence will do something to restore the honour and prestige of the diplomatic service. It was a bad wound when Lord Derby went to Paris, and even worse when Sir Auckland Geddes succeeded him in the post. The regular staff of the Foreign Office dislike "amateurs"—a fact which, beyond a doubt, accounts for the many mysterious rumors about Lord Derby's premature resignation. That Lord Hardinge would follow Lord Derby in all likelihood was announced in this column as the object of a nearly dead attempt at assassination during his tenure of office as Indian Viceroy. He had a very lucky escape from death on that occasion. Lord Hardinge is the Foreign Office par excellence in training, temperament and appearance. He is "correct" in all things, from his official despatches to his vest-slip, a great clubman, socially distinguished, rather than interesting, and of a lively humor without ever verging on frivolity, eminently a "safe" man. King Edward had the highest regard for his sagacity and tact, and Lord Hardinge was his confidant at the Entente negotiations. But Parisians will certainly miss, with regret, the imperious bonhomie and sporting breeziness of Lord Derby. An Ambassador with £400,000 a year and a thoroughly sporting jeu de vivre is an acquisition to any capital.

The Oyster Season.
We are now in September, which is a month with an "o" in it, which, in its turn, means that the West End may again eat oysters, a food which is consumed continuously in other parts of London, all the year round, and that the season, not merely the oyster season, but the London season, has begun again. I am not one of those who can imitate the experts of whom one reads always at this time of year in the papers, wonderful men who judge oysters as precise as a Smithfield scale, and I can say that the oysters this season seem to me as good as they usually are, assisted, no doubt, by the cold weather. Indeed, if temperature in anything to be judged by, this ought to be a record year for them, for there has not been a colder autumn for many years.
The price, alas! is going up, and I was charged on the 1st, 5s 6d a dozen, almost exactly the price of partridges, which began to greet the prefecter on the same day. Roughly speaking, oysters cost about a third more than in pre-war days, and as almost everything costs at least twice as much, and sometimes more than that, the man who eats them is really indulging in a sort of economy. The selling of them is not so highly organized in London as it is in Manchester, where for some reason every man seems to need an oyster bar within a hundred yards of him, and in London it is confined, as far as the big restaurants, where they have to sell oysters as they sell everything, to one or two little shops, most of which shut during the summer months, and most of which when they sell you an oyster that they are conferring a distinction on you, and they make that distinction even more marked by condescending to engage you in conversation.
One place is run by an ex-music hall artist, who has succeeded in both professions, another by a lady famous in the oyster trade, and a third, which is in the back part of a public-house and only supplies oyster for most of the big restaurants in London, run by a man who can be truly described as the "Oyster King," who has invented the oyster and liquor, or more properly mixture of liquor which can be safely and properly taken after an oyster meal. There is another excellent place where oyster may be eaten, but unfortunately the presiding genius at that counter is a man who once had a series of secret operations which have since. To be subject of secret operations and the eating of freshly opened oyster are incompatible subjects, so have had to desert him.
Expensive "Clubs."
As the oysters open, the parks close, or rather they do not close, and we are getting near the time when the little green chairs are stacked up, and if you want to sit down you can sit down at a bench for nothing, and the connection between the two things is not so remote as it might seem. For it is a fact, discovered or at least invented by Mr. E. V. Lucas, that the mysterious men who punch tickets for chairs in the park send the winter as oyster openers in restaurants—a beautiful example for political economists in the division of labor and of the true seasonal trade.
I am always sorry when the morning promenades desert the parks, for they are surely the most agreeable club in London, the cheapest, and if you know where to go and have a taste for that kind of thing, the club of the most exclusive company. As to price, if the man with the tickets does not catch you, a penny you can get a ticket which, carefully kept, will entitle you to cross your fingers at the next man and sit in any park in London on the same day; and ticket which lasts you the whole season.
Thus armed you go in the morning about 10 o'clock to St. James' Park where you can hear the band at Buckingham Palace in the distance and see cabinet minister, and what is more important, their private secretaries, going backwards and forwards toward their business. You can then stroll up through the Green Park, which is really a park and not a club, and go to Hyde Park where you can dodge the press photographers who are looking out for the more decorative side of society, and watch the Lord Chancellor taking his morning exercise, besides the fun of guessing, nearly always wrongly, who is who, and whether anybody is "who" at all. There is Sunday morning, when curiously enough, in an entirely different part of the park you can sit on a back seat and watch the church parade, getting very much the same view of the parades as you do of the chorus in a musical comedy from the back row of the pit.
Meanwhile the silly season, as it used to be called with perhaps less reason than now, is still with us, and a newspaper of great position and widespread circulation has advertised a prize of a hundred pounds for the design of a new hat for men, based apparently on some freak Parisian headgear, which is said to have been designed for M. Clemenceau. Having some acquaintance with the character and habits of that venerable statesman, I very much doubt whether he ever brought himself to ask a man to design a hat for him at all. Much more probably, in a moment of sarcastic humor, he picked out of some hat-maker's portfolio the oddest kind of hat he could find and was duly photographed in it at the front of the result that young gentlemen are now going to dinners and dances, thatched, if one may use the expression, in a hat which looks like the contrivance which central housewife puts on a boiled egg to keep it warm in the morning.

The truth about English hats is, of course, that the design is always changing, apparently at the instigation of the hatters themselves who have to live, and apparently under the inspiration of hat-wearers like Winston Churchill and Sir Squire Bancroft, who, by some means unknown to the rest of the world, are able to find hats which express their personality and attract attention pleasantly at the same time.
A round-faced man looks ridiculous in a round hat, so Mr. Churchill, who is a round-faced man, adopted a square hat. As for Sir Squire Bancroft, if I had not seen his hat hanging on the peg of a club, I should believe he slept in it, and I gravely doubt if any of the younger members of his club were to steal it, whether he would venture to appear in public until it had been recovered.
The hatters themselves now adopt the trick of refusing to re-line old hats of their own manufacture. So well were these made, at least in pre-war times, in the case of the famous hatter in the West End, that for the expenditure of three shillings six pence every six months you could make your hat immortal. The result of this, with rising prices, was that nobody ever bought a new hat at all, and that, while the ancient hat gear in the window, belonging to Nelson, Napoleon, Wellington, Pitt, Gladstone and so on, grew dustier and dustier, the man inside never sold a new hat, but sat making things disconsolately, surrounded by white cardboard hats bearing the names of gentlemen-in-waiting who called on their way to Buckingham Palace to pick their silk hat out of a refrigerator, only to return it again after their business was over.
This habit of keeping one's hat at one's hatters is a curious index of the change of dress in the west of London. If it goes on, we shall find people keeping their patent-leather shoes in storage at their boot-makers, and calling on their way to the theatre, possibly in sandals, to put them on.
The Prince's Hostess.
Entertaining royalty, it appears, is sometimes a strain on even the most experienced hostess. When the Prince of Wales visited Sydney during his recent visit to Australia, a certain well-known lady was asked if she would organize a ball in his honor. Naturally she was only too much delighted, until she was told that she could be given only two days to make her preparations. In keeping with the Prince of Wales is not a man to be trifled with. There was no time to use the post, and personally supervised the elaborate floral decorations. She was, however, rewarded by the complete success of the dance, and by the personal thanks of the prince, who, while enjoying the evening at her home, she says: "Everyone in Sydney is in love with him. He is quite the most charming boy we have ever entertained." The Prince of Wales is not only a keen, but also a skilful dancer, and it is expected that his presence in town this winter will do much to make the society's dances even more brilliant than they were last year.
A Boom in Spanish.
From many sides one hears of a remarkable boom in the study of Spanish in this country. This is one of the minor results of the war, and of the changes which have brought about in the world relations and conditions. Before the war the commercial language in this country for scholastic purposes was German. Now it is Spanish and French, with Spanish an easy first, at most of the public schools and big colleges. Whether this condition will obtain for very long depends on many factors, the main one being how successfully Germany sets herself to the task of recapturing peacefully all she sacrificed belligerently, and reconquering by science what she lost by arms. Probably in less than a generation the German language will be once more pre-eminently the one for commercial students—unless the Russians make a much better success of their revolution than they seem likely at present to make, while Spanish rules the educational roost in this country. This is largely due to the great field opened for the commercial enterprise of the country by the debacle of Germany in the war.
At least the present-day student of commercial languages may congratulate himself on an easier task than his forebears, because Spanish is essentially an "easy" language to acquire, as compared with German or even with French. It is also a language which, besides being at the moment of first utility commercially, opens avenues of superb literary recreation.
River Squatters.
In spite of the really unfavorable weather experienced this summer, there has been a remarkable increase in the numbers of people camping out up the Thames. A river expert tells me that for every one boat to be seen before the war up river, fitted with a tent for sleeping aboard, there are now ten or a dozen. The most likely explanation is that the joys of a simple life holiday on the Thames are now enhanced by considerations of economy in railway fares and seaside boarding-house charges. My informant made the trip from Oxford to Teddington with a rowing party last week, and encountered now fewer than three honeymoon couples, besides innumerable family parties, one of which consisted of a middle-aged lady and her four fine sons, all in their teens.
Before the war this sort of holiday, which necessitates a certain amount of roughing it, was severely confined to bachelor parties. But nowadays the upper reaches of the river, and even reaches so near town as Moseley and Shepperton, are alive with tented domesticity. Some of the mid-river islands are like popular hotels, with the bedrooms ranged round the sides in the guise of tented boats moored under the bushes, and the island itself a sort of common dining saloon. It is all very quaint and merry and jolly, if slightly embarrassing at moments, and, all things considered, quite cheap.

Mr. Cochrane Fed Up.
The announcement that C. B. Cochrane has severed his association with the boxing interest has excited an immense flutter in sporting circles. For one thing the news means obviously that we may abandon any hope there ever was of seeing the light between Dempsey and Carpenter for the world's heavyweight championship in this country now. Mr. Cochrane's retirement from the finger side of the fistie arena must seriously affect the sport in this country generally. His advent was hailed with amusement at first, but especially made good. He not only sent the value of the "purses" offered to pugilists for big fights soaring up from the hundreds to thousands of pounds, but he also sent the pugilists themselves to their astonishment, that the full money was actually forthcoming. More-over, he made the "game" infinitely more respectable and fashionable by his methods of promotion. He lifted it out of the rather dingy atmosphere it occupied before the recent revival, and pugilists even went the length of holding a meeting to form a boxers' trade union, with seven-and-sixpence as the recognized minimum wage for a "show."
All sorts of speculators will now, no doubt, be eager to assume Mr. Cochrane's mantle, but if they are straight mousers of business, their experience may speedily be the same as his. The star pugilists assume more airs nowadays than operatic tenors, and are quick to deal with prima donnas. The great difficulty in the way of the successful boxing promoter is the shyness of the champions whenever it is proposed to get them into the ring against a man who may beat them.

PREDICTS LONG WAR IF TURKEY RUINED

Woman Member of Mustapha Kemal's Cabinet Resents European Attack — Asks Peace in Anatolia.

Angora, Asiatic Turkey, Sept. 25.—Carnage unparalleled in history will result if the Allies refuse to allow Turkey to become a strong state, standing between Europe and Asia, according to Mrs. Halide Edib Hanem, a prominent woman member of Mustapha Kemal Pasha's Nationalist Cabinet. "Unless Turkey is permitted to develop into a strong and peaceful state," she told the Associated Press correspondent, "with enough western territory to make it a point of equilibrium between the two continents, the struggle will last our lifetime. "If in this struggle necessity unchains the power of Asia I expect bloodshed such as the world has never known. "The Greeks, I believe, will be cleared out of Anatolia eventually, just as the French are now being ousted by a great rising of the Turkish population. No matter how long the struggle lasts we cannot lose much more. It is the ultimate struggle of the Turkish people for their existence. "This extraordinary movement of supreme effort is bringing out force and energy in Anatolia formerly utilized to hold the Empire together. Now it is being used for national existence. "If Anatolia could be left alone, not subject to moral and material blockades and continual treacherous attacks, she would be able to reconstruct herself into a prosperous country. The energy used in Anatolia for self defence and the right to live is much more terrible than the west realizes. She is being driven into a corner by enemies who will not give quarter. "This is the turning point in Turkish history, when the form of her government and the future life and culture are being determined. In her reconstruction the leading elements in Turkey are products of the west. I believe a democratic life in all its phases can be stabilized in Anatolia more easily and more congenially than can Bolshevism, although I have not seen Bolshevism applied. "It would be a great pity to force the Turkish nation to extremes that would compel her to adopt Asiatic ideals entirely in her organic life. But that is what must happen inevitably if the Allies continue their warfare in Anatolia."

ROB BANK VAULT IN DETROIT CITY

Four Armed Men Hold Up Clerks During Busy Period of Day — Get Away With $80,000.

Detroit, Sept. 25.—Four armed men held up the branch of the First State Bank of Detroit, at Mack and Mt. Elliott avenues on Wednesday and robbed the vaults of about $80,000. Three clerks were on duty. Shortly before 1 o'clock detectives arrested a suspect. Police are investigating a false burglary alarm that came from Lafayette boulevard and Griswold street three minutes before the call to Mack avenue sounded. The police slier responded. Order Hands Up. Shortly after 10:30 o'clock four men entered the bank, drew pistols and one of them, approaching the cage occupied by Chief Clerk A. F. Klein, ordered "but 'em up." Klein obeyed as did Lester F. Floeweg and Henry Ploch, the other two clerks who were looking into the barrels of unwavering automatics. The clerks were ordered into a back room and while they were obeying, H. R. Butler, a barber, entered. One of the robbers took over the task of placing the clerks in the back room while the others seized Butler and forced him into the same room. The door was locked and the robbers proceeded to ransack the money drawers in the cage and the vault. Nothing but bills were taken. Hundreds of dollars in silver was left untouched. One of the clerks pressed a police button installed in the back room, but the police, led by Chief of Detectives Fox, arrived on the scene too late to intercept the bandits. Employees of the bank and other witnesses of the robbery were brought in later in an effort to identify ten persons arrested as suspects. The names of those detained by the police are being withheld. Nearly all the members of the detective bureau are at work on the case. The police have a good description of the automobile used by the bandits. They found it had changed hands no less than half a dozen times in the last three months. The robbers arrived at the bank at 10:35 o'clock, just five minutes after two members of the police bank squad had left the bank after making their regular inspection. Three minutes after the bandits left an automobile patrol loaded with officers arrived in response to a burglary alarm. The officers made a thorough search in the vicinity of the bank but failed to find any trace of them. Half an hour after the robbery citizens saw an automobile bearing four men armed with sawed-off shotguns speeding north on Beaupien street. DOES DUTY, BREAKS LAW. Winsted, Conn., Sept. 24.—When Thomas J. Doyle of Waterbury, a New Haven railroad brakeman, stood at a grade crossing with a lantern in his hand and nothing on but a shirt, a coastable promptly arrested him. Later he explained to the court that he was in the caboose changing his rain-soaked clothes, and before he could strike himself in his dry suit it became necessary for him to run to the crossing and signal the approach of a locomotive.

STRONG GOVERNMENT TICKETS IN QUEENS, KENT AND GLOUCESTER

Enthusiastic Conventions Held Yesterday and Rousing Speeches Are Made.

Foster Administration Warmly Praised for Its Progressive Policies and Its Honest Handling of Provincial Affairs—Government Candidates to Be Chosen in St. John on Monday.

The first of next week will see practically all of the candidates in support of the Foster government in the field. In Queens, Kent and Gloucester counties largely attended and enthusiastic conventions were held yesterday and strong government tickets nominated.

The Queens county convention, in unanimously selecting the present members, Dr. J. E. Hetherington, speaker of the last legislature, and G. H. King, yesterday endorsed a winning ticket.

In Gloucester county Hon. P. J. Veniot, minister of public works; Hon. J. P. Byrne, attorney-general; S. R. Leger and John G. Robichaud were again nominated, and reports from that county indicate that there is a possibility that this ticket will be returned by acclamation.

Today the government convention in York county is to be held and the opposition convention in that constituency has also been called for this afternoon. On Monday the government conventions in St. John city and in St. John county are to be held, the former at what was formerly known as the Furlong building, 35 Charlotte street at 8.15 p. m., and the latter at Moose hall, 12 Coburg street, at the same hour.

Gagetown, Sept. 24—At the Queens county convention held this afternoon in the Temperance hall, Dr. J. E. Hetherington, of Cady's, and G. H. King, of Chipman, who have represented the government in the provincial legislature since 1917, were unanimously selected to contest the county in the coming election.

The Opposition in Kings. Hampton, N.B., Sept. 24—The three former members, Hon. James A. Murray, George B. Jones and Hedley V. Dickson, were nominated as candidates in the coming election by the Kings county opposition convention held in Hampton court house this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Brief speeches of acceptance were made by both nominees and by John Palmer, secretary of the meeting. Dr. Hetherington in a very graphic manner pointed out the benefits that had been given the province through the road policy of the government; the aids that had been provided to the farmers by the department of agriculture, and the untold good that had been accomplished by the provincial department of health.

Mr. King said that his health would not permit him to engage in a strenuous personal canvass and he relied upon those who nominated him to support him strongly at the polls. The spirit of the meeting was strongly with him, as he is highly regarded by members of both political parties.

Among the prominent persons from outside districts present were: J. F. Robertson, Cambridge; Frank L. Sarris, Upper James; John Lawrence, Armstrong's Corner; William Anderson, Armstrong's Corner; Councillor Stanley Daley, Newcastle; Councillor R. J. Stewart, Johnson's; Councillor W. Thomas Ennislike; Fred Carpenter, Wickham; William McMillin, Upper Gagetown; Peter Allan, White's Cove; John Petty, Clones. The hall was practically filled to capacity shortly after the meeting was called to order at 2 o'clock.

The spirit of the meeting and the consensus of opinion afterwards evidenced the fact that the opposition, which has not as yet organized, has very little chance of making much of a showing in this county. The farmer vote, from the expressions of opinion given, is going strongly in favor of the government at the leaders of the agricultural communities appreciate the good work that has been done for their benefit by the provincial department of agriculture.

Information was received from a reliable source this afternoon announcing that A. R. Slipp, of Fredericton, referred to this week as a probable choice of the opposition for Queens county, would not accept the nomination. Alfred West, a lumberman of Cole's Island, who has also been mentioned in this connection, may accept, it has been said. These are the only persons mentioned as opposition men so far as this county is concerned.

Bathurst, N. B., Sept. 24—The largest and most enthusiastic convention ever held in this county convened today at Carquet and chose Hon. P. J. Veniot, Hon. J. P. Byrne, S. R. Leger and John G. Robichaud as the government standard-bearers. The name of A. Doucet, of Paquetville, was also submitted to the convention. No opposition convention has yet been called and there is a strong rumor of an election by acclamation.

Today's convention was most enthusiastic and there is no doubt of the result if, indeed, there should be a contest in this county. Rexton, Sept. 24—Kent county declared in support of the Foster government. At the government convention held here this afternoon three strong popular and representative men were chosen as candidates—A. A. Dysart, P. Melanson and A. J. Bondage.

The convention was presided over by E. E. surgoise, county secretary and past president of the Liberal Association, and Ford Atkinson acted as secretary. It is a most representative convention, parts of the county having responded ungenially and upwards of 200 delegates were present. Speeches were made by the three candidates and by B. Atkinson, a life-long Conservative, who is a rousing address. He was followed Another Custom Going. New York, Sept. 24—For years it has been the custom in New York City to ban straw hats on September 15, and anyone rash enough to wear one on or after that date ran a good chance of having it smashed by his fellow citizens in protest.

That's the story in a nutshell—Fox Brothers' genuine Somerset Serge—in navy blue or black—all sizes in business sacques—Suits worth $50 and $55 at today's valuation—for $39.50.

The versatility and desirability of a navy blue serge makes it a staple garment which every man should own.

It can be worn on an evening at almost any social affair, except weddings—it's an always presentable suit for everyday wear—and this class of serge is best for everyone except very stout men.

I earnestly ask all men who complain of the high cost of clothes—and with good reason—to see these suits.

TWO YEARS AND TO GET THE LASH

Sentence Imposed in Carleton County Court

Another Is Ten Years for Arson — Juryman Takes In to Care Boy Accused of Stealing.

Woodstock, N. B., Sept. 25.—The September term of the county court finished its business at 10:30 last night. Kenneth McLean charged with appropriating a horse and rig and who afterward returned the outfit was given a suspended sentence. Frank Smith, convicted of stealing a sum of money, was also released.

The case of John Cassidy, charged with burning a barn occupied the attention of the court until late in the evening. The jury was taken to the scene of the fire in North Richmond and went over the ground. Cassidy was found guilty and given five years in the penitentiary.

In the case of Daniel Stevenson convicted upon a serious charge in which a girl aged eight years was concerned the judge imposed a sentence of two years with a whipping.

When the Smith boy convicted of stealing was brought up for sentence, Sheriff A. R. Foster asked Judge Carleton if Ziba Grey, a jurymen on the Cassidy case could be heard on behalf of the Smith boy. The judge consented and Mr. Grey said he knew the lad and felt he had very limited chances and in his opinion was not a bad boy. The judge asked the boy where his father and mother were and he said he did not know. The judge then asked who would take the boy and Mr. Grey promptly responded "I will." There was a touch of pathos on the proceeding and the spectators broke into applause when the judge allowed the young chap to go in Mr. Grey's charge.

C. N. R. TERMINAL FOR SYDNEY, N. S.

Positive Statement Made by D. B. Hanna

Condition Is Transfer of $100,000 Vote from Public Works — North Sydney Improvements Also.

(Canadian Press.)
Sydney, N. S., Sept. 25.—That the Canadian National Railways stand ready immediately to proceed with the construction of a modern terminal wharf here, if the public works department will transfer to the department of railways the $100,000 voted by parliament for the purpose, was the positive statement of President D. B. Hanna here yesterday. The statement came at a pleasing surprise to Vice-President Miles and other members of the board of trade, who were interviewing him on the subject. It was not expected that he would be so favorable or so definite. Immediate steps will be taken to have the vote transferred.

North Sydney, N. S., Sept. 25.—Extensive additions to the Canadian National Railway terminal facilities of North Sydney were announced by D. B. Hanna here yesterday afternoon. The present wharf will be extended 150 feet or 600 in all, and the width to 150. Four new tracks, with a capacity of sixty cars, will be laid and a new freight shed will also be erected to handle increased traffic.

Ottawa, Sept. 25.—(Canadian Press)—At a hearing of the board of railway commissioners in Ottawa on Monday, Sept. 27, the application of the board of trade of North Sydney, N. S., for an order giving Sydney and North Sydney the benefit of special tariffs on export and import freight, and for passengers holding steamship tickets, will be argued. Sydney asks for the same treatment in regard to these matters as is accorded other Canadian ports engaged in this traffic.

BIG MILL FIRE ON NORTH SHORE

Charlo Property, Ablaze Yesterday Afternoon, Still Burning at Noon Today.

A disastrous fire broke out in the large lumber mill of the Continental Lumber Company at River Charlo, Restigouche county, yesterday afternoon. The Campbellton fire department sent a steam engine and a crew of men to the scene at six o'clock last night and the blaze was fought all night.

The fire was still burning at noon today.

GOVERNMENT CONVENTIONS ON MONDAY

Candidates for St. John City and County to Be Chosen—Meetings for Delegates and Substitutes.

The next step here in the provincial government organization campaign will be the selection of candidates who will contest the seats in St. John City and County. The conventions for this purpose have been arranged for Monday night at 8:15 o'clock.

The delegates, numbering 113, who were selected at the preliminary ward meetings on Thursday night, will meet in the Collins building, at the corner of Market and Charlotte streets, to name the men who will run against the slate selected by the opposition on Thursday.

The county delegates, who were chosen last night, will meet at Moose Hall, 12 Colburn street, to select the two representatives who will represent the government in the county contest.

The Welcoming Glow of a Piano or Chesterfield Lamp

With the coming of the cooler weather the home will once again be the centre of attention. The entertainment of friends at the fireside will be in order. This will suggest the need of many things to brighten the home and in this connection it won't be a play on words to say that nothing can brighten the home to just the extent that a Piano Lamp or Chesterfield Lamp can.

It is because of this and in anticipation of the usual demand for these lamps that we have recently enhanced our stock of desirable lamps and so are peculiarly fitted to meet your need.

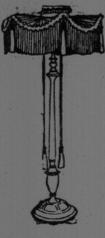

You will be most welcome to come here on a tour of inspection and you may be assured in advance that no obligation is entailed in this visit.

Mayor Schofield has received a letter from Emmett Coyne, 3219, 7th avenue, Troy, New York, asking for information regarding his mother's relatives, who, he is thinking, are residing in this vicinity. He says his mother's maiden names was Halloran and he had several brothers and sisters, including Michael, Martin, Timothy, Patrick, Dennis, Mary and Ellen. One of his mother's sisters married a man named Delahunt of Westerville (possibly intended for Westfield). His mother left here several years ago for Ohio where she lived until her death which occurred several years ago. The mayor will be glad to receive any information about the family.

How Will Labor Vote?

Labor is torn by conflicting feelings as it prepares to vote in the approaching Presidential election. If we may judge by the papers that claim to speak for it, it is told by Mr. Gompers that Cox is labor's true friend; it is told by Republican leaders that Harding's election will mean prosperity and the "full dinner-pail," and is assured by more radical advisers that Debs or Christensen is the only true apostle of freedom.

Telegrams sent by THE LITERARY DIGEST to the Labor press, for light on the probable complexion of labor's vote this year, bring replies that give an impression of cross currents and confusion.

The leading article in THE DIGEST this week, September 25th, presents the subject in an interesting and comprehensive form. It will be read with interest by hundreds of thousands of men and women.

PRICES CONTINUE DOWNWARD WAY

Review of Conditions in United States by National Bank of Commerce, New York.

The following statement regarding current market conditions is sent by the National Bank of Commerce in New York.

Credit Situation.

The credit situation has continued during the period ending September 15, to evidence in a substantial measure the improvement which had become apparent a month ago.

Wholesale Commodity Prices.

Prices continue to move downward in many important groups of raw products, and of semi-manufactured materials for use in further manufactures.

Future Course of Business.

Curtailment of manufacturing and merchandising activities was inevitable while price changes were radical in character.

International Conditions.

The condition now prevailing in the United States of declining prices and of consequent hesitation on the part of the ultimate consumer, prevails in every important country of the world.

CANADA SECOND ONLY TO UNITED STATES IN AUTOS

Dominion Has Ten Per Cent. More Cars Than Great Britain — United States Has 8,000,000 Motor Vehicles.

Close upon 8,000,000 motor vehicles are now used in the United States. There is one car for every 13.52 persons in the population; two states have more than a half million each, and twenty-four more than 100,000 each.

In comparison with these large figures on the general use of motor vehicles in the United States the conditions in other countries are interesting. According to figures recently compiled by the Federal Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Canada has the most cars of any division outside the United States, but its total of 269,259 is only slightly greater than what Missouri had and fewer than the number registered in Wisconsin.

Belgium, with more inhabitants per square mile than any other European country, is nearly equalled in car registration by British India, which is also densely populated, but covers a larger area.

Spain and Italy have each close to 15,000 cars, or approximately as many as the total number of cars registered in both Japan and French Africa. Despite limited motorist area, China is taking to automobiles so that now the number of cars in use there exceeds by 1,000 those in Bulgaria. The Straits Settlements and Chile are emulating the Scandinavian countries, the former having about 500 cars more than Norway and the latter only 1,000 and 1,600 cars less than Denmark and Sweden respectively.

GERMAN EMPIRE
FLAG FLIES AGAIN
IN EAST PRUSSIA

'Deutschland Uber Alles' Sung When Allied Commission Leaves — Peaceful Farewell But Few Demonstrations Followed.

Allenstein, East Prussia, Sept. 1.—Associated Press Correspondence.—Flags of the old German Empire, not those of the German republic, were raised over this city when the Inter-Allied Control Commission, which for six months had been the high government of East Prussia, packed up and left recently on special trains for Paris.

The authority of the commission ceased at eight o'clock at night and on the minute the German flags were raised. Up at the high school, across the street from the building where the commission was quartered, the schoolmaster gathered his pupils and made a speech, in which he said this was a great moment for Prussia, which at last was out from under the yoke of the conqueror. Above his head as he spoke the black, white and red colors of the old empire fluttered, but nowhere was there a flag of the German republic. At the conclusion of his speech the master ordered three "hoops" which were given lustily, and then the children, with their eyes steadily upon the teacher, sang "Deutschland Uber Alles." A few Germans who had listened to the schoolmaster joined in the song.

Some prominent citizens were asked why there were no flags of the German republic. "We are Prussians and conservatives," they said, "and have not accommodated ourselves to the new regime. The flag of the republic is the flag of a sect. We will fly the old flag."

While evidently bitter toward the Berlin government they felt their duty lay in ignoring it as far as possible officially and to have little to do with it personally.

On the eve of the departure of the commission, crowds stood for hours in the streets and the station square in a silence so ominous that some Inter-Allied officers interpreted it as the prelude to a serious disturbance.

The only violence, however, occurred on the steps of the station where Mayor Vladimir Zelger, who had been ordered out of Allenstein by the commission, was received upon his return from Königsburg, where he had spent his exile. A reception committee of the more conservative citizens, with whom the mayor was very popular, was receiving him with great formality when a young German communist stepped up and knocked the mayor down. It was a knock-out blow and the reception committee ordered a stretcher upon which the mayor was carried to his home. The assault was not arrested and the incident caused no comment among the crowds.

On the outskirts of the town a few communists attacked a Reichswehr officer and badly used him. In another section a few shots were exchanged between communists and security police but the communists dispersed and there were no casualties. Some German girls kissed some of the officers goodbye at the station and waved them a long farewell. Major Schoenberg, head of the East Prussian security police, did not take the communists' efforts seriously. He said there were only four hundred communists in Allenstein and while all of them possessed guns, their names were known and they could always be controlled by the police. His office had the names of virtually all radicals in East Prussia, he said, except in some of the border towns where there is considerable commerce with the Bolsheviks. In his opinion the police could handle any situation brought about by the East Prussian radicals.

DIVORCEE WOULD

Mrs. E. G. Willard Files Suit
Naming "Heavy Blonde" as Co-respondent.

New York, Sept. 25.—Mrs. Ella Guthrie Willard, of 333 Park avenue, daughter of William D. Guthrie, of New York, has filed suit against Eugene S. Willard for an absolute divorce. A Mrs. Kelly, described by John O'Reilly, superintendent of an apartment house at 158 Madison avenue, where she and the defendant are alleged to have lived together, as "blonde, rather attractive and heavily built," is named as co-respondent.

An agreement to divide all wines, liquors and cordials now stored in the town and country houses, has been made, Mrs. Willard said in her complaint. In this agreement Mr. Willard agrees to assume all responsibility that might be incurred under the Volstead Act, for the removal of his half of the supply.

The agreement specifies Locust Valley and 333 Park avenue as the present repository of some of the beverages and provides that Mrs. Willard shall turn over to her husband an inventory of all liquor owned by both parties, wherever it may be. No mention is made of the value of the stock of beverages.

Justice Benedict reserved decision on motion of George Manning, the referee, that the decree be granted. The plaintiff set forth that she and her husband have not lived together since May, 1919, and charges infidelity between the period of January to May, 1920. O'Reilly, a pair known to him as Mr. and Mrs. Kelly, occupied an apartment of three rooms and bath in the Madison avenue house the first half of this year. Kelly, he said, often wore the uniform of a naval reserve officer. They referred to each other as husband and wife, he said. O'Reilly identified a picture of Mr. Willard as the "Mr. Kelly" he told of when it was shown to him in court.

THE FOSTER GOVERNMENT.

(Moncton Transcript.) The government has courageously tackled the problem of providing better highways. Much improvement has been effected in a short time, and a policy has been worked out which promises much greater results for the future. It has greatly increased the revenues from the crown lands, and what it has done to increase the value of this provincial asset affords a good measure of the mismanagement and corruption of the past.

At the same time, it has put in motion measures for the conservation of the forest lands, which have led well known Dominion and American experts in forestry to declare that in this respect New Brunswick has set examples for the whole continent. It has amended the system of workmen's compensation, incorporating the up-to-date principle of accident insurance, extending the scope of its operations to the lumber and other industries and giving a protection to the great body of industrial workers they never had before. It has given the province a real water power policy, which is designed to assure a very considerable industrial development; it has laid the foundations of an excellent system of vocational training, the need of which has been strongly shown by the attendance at the classes formed last winter; it has given a decided impetus to agricultural development, and adopted measures which will enable greater progress in the future. In short, the government has made good and given promise of doing better.

ANYTHING TO GET VOTES

Apparently Col. Baxter is already directing the tactics of the Oppositionists. On the one hand they are saying they are going to form a coalition with the Liberals to head off the farmers; on the other hand they are talking of using the farmers to turn out the government.

CROP RACES FROST

Chicago, Sept. 24.—Millions of dollars are at stake in a speed contest now in progress in Illinois and Iowa. The corn crop is two to four weeks late in these states and is racing to escape frost. NATIONAL TRUCKS

Ready To Move

NATION'S Produce

For the truck farmer and market gardener marketing means increased toil. It means a daily or nightly trip to market. Ripened crops cannot wait. They must be gathered, stored and marketed.

Far-sighted farmers are finding in the National Truck an answer to this problem. With a National, a night's rest can be had before starting. Wagons that headed for town hours before are overtaken and left behind. One National suited to the farm, will carry as much as three old fashioned wagons. Six horses are thus kept fresh for a day's work. A night's labor for three men is saved.

A National Truck means more money, more time and less work on the farm. It means fresher vegetables for the city.

Horses must rest 12 hours a day at least. When idle they must be fed and attended. A National Truck can be worked 24 hours a day if need be. It never needs a rest, and when idle it costs nothing but the interest on the investment.

New York, Sept. 25—Overcome by smoke while attempting to rescue a woman and her little child from a fire that destroyed a four-story building in Brooklyn, the night watchman, whose last name is Pashatsky, was suffocated to death. Before he succumbed, however, he shouted directions that enabled the woman to carry her child to safety. The woman, who was sweeping a tailor shop on the third floor, said the fire was started by an oil-soaked paper ball which she saw hurled through an open window. Three firemen were overcome by smoke trying to rescue the watchman.

WHAT'S MONEY TO EDUCATION
Chicago, Sept. 24—Florence Weiskopf, 16 years old, was in school when she received news that she had inherited $50,000 from the estate of an aunt in Milwaukee. The whole school was thrown into a wild state of excitement, but Florence went on with her algebra lesson as if nothing extraordinary had happened.

MAN WAS TARRED.

Unusual Case Heard by Cornwall Magistrate.

Cornwall, Sept. 25—Four young men from Marlinton, Wm. Merpaw, Wm. Paradis or Allinet, Jos. Ladouceur and George Flaro, appeared in the police court here on a charge of assaulting Frank Tyo on the night of August 23. The case was heard by Deputy Police Magistrate C. H. Cline.

The assault was the result of the refusal of Tyo to obey a request made by some of the defendants to leave the town. His house had been stoned and stale eggs were thrown at him. As he still remained in the locality the four men visited Tyo's house, took him outside, and Ladouceur put hot tar in his hair, on his face, neck and hands, while the other three held the victim. The defence, while admitting applying the tar, denied that it was hot. The magistrate said that it was inconceivable that such a state of affairs as shown nesses being unable to sign their names would not be so prevalent, as was disclosed in the case before the bench. The young men, whom he likened to a self-appointed vigilance committee, were not justified in taking the action they had, and he felt that there was something more in the motive than a desire to change the conduct of the complainant. He therefore found all four guilty of assault and imposed a fine of $15 in each case, in default of which they were to be sent to jail for fifteen days at hard labor.

Approaching The Shelf.

There's a hint of sophistication in the reply of a youngster to the question regarding his aunt's age. "I don't know how old she is," he said, "but a cup of tea rests here."

You Can Do As Well As These Successful Workers

The Auto Knitter gives you the opportunity to make money during your spare time. It also gives you the chance to devote your entire time to the business, and thus, to be independent of bosses, rules, time-clocks, working hours, etc. The Wage Contract is in no sense a disguised "convassing scheme," agency or "open a store" proposition. Here is the proof—read the evidence from some of our workers.

ANYBODY CAN MAKE GOOD MONEY.

Just a few lines to tell you of my experience in using one of your knitting machines. It is the best machine on the market today. It will turn out work no other machine can do. I am manufacturing socks for retail stores. The Auto Knitter Hosiery Company does everything the literature says it will. I would advise anyone to buy a machine, for with a little perseverance anyone can get good money for the work. London, Ont.

MAKES AS HIGH AS $2 AN HOUR.

I think I am able to give you one of the best testimonials on the capacity of the machine. I timed myself and made a pair of socks with two-and-one ribbed leg and foot in 21 minutes. I must say that I made and sold 188 pairs of socks in one month and a half, and worked at my job besides. I have made as high as $2.00 in an hour, and from $7.50 to $12.00 in 6 hours—of course, not every day; but I am now making $2.50 to $3.00 in 6 hours daily. New Waterford, N. S.

PAID FOR ITSELF IN 6 WEEKS.

I want to tell you how pleased I am with the Auto Knitter. It is all that is claimed for it, very simple to learn and pleasure and satisfaction out of it. It is perfect in action and easy to learn. The company has carried out all agreements with me, for which I am very grateful. Moore Park, Ont.

THE MACHINE IS WONDERFUL.

I find the Auto Knitter very simple to run. I have progressed very well, and am pleased with the dealings of the Company. They have been honest and prompt in their dealings with me. I think the machine is wonderful. It keeps running good, and I have never had any trouble with it. I also think the pay is very reasonable. Galt, Ont.

MAKES 2 DOZEN PAIRS IN 8 HOURS.

I must say that your Auto Knitter is all you claim it to be, and it does the very best of work. The way you have done business with me is very satisfactory, and I am thinking of getting another machine. Your machine is simple and easy to learn, and your guarantee to take all the work, and the promptness in payments and renewals is very satisfactory. I can make from 20 to 24 pairs of socks in 8 hours. Windsor, Ont.

EASY TO LEARN.

I have used your knitting machine for 8 months, and have had a great deal of pleasure and satisfaction out of it. It is perfect in action and easy to learn. The company has carried out all agreements with me, for which I am very grateful. Lindsay, Ont.

"Look at the amounts of money I have deposited in the bank during the last five months. Every month I have put in $26.50 or more.

"I made this money easily and pleasantly—in the spare time left over from my housework.

"How do I do it? Simply by knitting socks. No, not by the slow old process of hand-knitting, which took almost a day for one sock, but by using The Auto Knitter, a marvellous, but very simple, easily-operated machine. It turns out fine, seamless wool socks with almost magical speed. Now that I have gained practice with the Auto Knitter I often make a sock in 10 minutes.

"And the best part of it is that I have a Guaranteed, Constant Market for every pair of socks I make, at a Guaranteed Price. The Auto Knitter Hosiery Company, of Toronto, has contracted to take every sock I can make. I simply send them the finished socks, and back comes my check by return mail, together with a new supply of yarn to replace that used in the socks sent them.

"Free Yarn Sent With the Machine and They Pay Me for the Socks"

The Auto Knitter Hosiery Company is an old, firmly established Canadian corporation, engaged in the manufacture of high-grade seamless socks. They have always preferred home manufacture to factory production. They believe in the independent employee, and know from experience that the best work is that done by well-paid, contented people, working in happy homes.

The company's world-wide business connections give them an enormous market for socks—everybody, everywhere, needs them—and the company constantly needs more workers to make socks, in their own homes. They need YOU.

"When you decide to become an Auto Knitter worker, as I did, the Auto Knitter Company will make a contract to pay you a fixed, Guaranteed Wage, on a piece-work basis. In this contract you take no risk. You can work for them as much as you want, or as little as you want—spare time or full time. And for every shipment of socks you send them you will get your pay check—promptly.

"With the machine they send a supply of wool yarn FREE. They also supply FREE the yarn needed to replace that which you use in making the socks you send to the company.

"The yarn supplied is the well-known Standard Quality Brand, made especially for the Auto-Knitter. It is the softest, the warmest, the strongest, and uniformity in quality, weight and shade are always obtainable.

"You are, of course, at liberty to dispose of the output of your Auto Knitter as you see fit; you can also use the Auto Knitter to make, at a remarkably low cost, all the hosiery your family needs—wool or cotton.

"But remember this: There are absolutely no strings tied to the Wage Agreement; it is straight out-and-out Employment Offer at a Fixed Wage on a piece-work basis—a good pay for your services alone."

Write Today for Our Liberal Wage Offer

No matter where you live we want you to know all about the Auto Knitter. We want to tell you of the pleasant and profitable place ready for you in our organization, and the future you can make for yourself with the Auto Knitter.

We want you to compare our work, and the money that is in it, with what people are paid for long, hard, grinding toil in office, store, mill and factory. We want you to know the substantial amounts that even a small part of your spare time will earn for you. Then we want you to read the glowing statements of our perfectly satisfied workers, and learn how, if you desire, you can have your own home factory and sell your output both wholesale and retail.

Remember that experience is unnecessary, that you need not know how to knit. You do not have to even know how to sew. The Auto Knitter does the work.

Action is the word. Write your name and address now, this minute, on the coupon and get this coupon in the mail at once. Enclose 3 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing, etc.

New 3 P. C. Possibilities in Buttermilk

Must milk men and restaurant proprietors take out liquor licenses in order to sell buttermilk? Is the sale of buttermilk prohibited under the Volstead act? These questions have been brought up by a recent statement of Dr. Herbert K. Watson, Delaware state chemist, who, testifying in court, let out the secret to the world that the better grades of buttermilk contain as high as 8 per cent of alcohol. If the authorities want to get technical about it, he ventured his opinion, they could prosecute every seller of buttermilk in the city.

Cost of Flowers Doesn't Bother Topekans Bridegrooms

A wedding in a bower of flowers and palms, more elaborate than the average bridal couple can afford, is available to Topekans, Kan., young folks practically free of charge. Along with it goes the use of a special room with a seating capacity of twenty-five. A quiet, restful surrounding in keeping with the occasion, and a florist to act as master of arrangements.

Not is that all. The first couple making the request for the use of the special room at the florist shop for their wedding will have all expenses paid by W. J. Bollinger, proprietor of the Rosary.

Bollinger will furnish the license, the minister, the room, the flowers and the chairs. It will be a wedding de luxe so chairs as flowers are concerned, for Bollinger says he will use the best of his blooms and that the bride would carry a bunch of flowers that will be the envy of other Topekans brides.

Bollinger has only one string tied to his offer of the use of his special wedding room and that is that the couple to be married by the flowers they desire from him. The purchase need not be large or elaborate. The room is at the disposal of the poor as well as those in better circumstances. But the flowers used for decoration will be the same in either case.

Bollinger, who is a keen business man, believes that the service he is offering will be of great value in increasing his business. Church weddings are extremely costly and many persons cannot afford them because of the expense of the decorations. But by accepting his offer these persons can have as elaborate decorations as they could wish without a cent of extra expense.

The use of his shop for weddings, Bollinger says, will bring it a certain amount of publicity obtainable in no other way and he does not believe he will lose any money because those who can afford a church wedding will have one anyway.

"Those Young Fellows" Attract Attention

Making capital out of names has been excellent advertising for many a merchant. In almost every case where it is done, it serves to imbue the name and stamp together in the public mind.

So thinks the J. H. Young Co., a Tampa, Fla., department store that makes the most out of its name. The store ads are always signed "The Young Fellows." This paraphrase on the firm name has attracted a great deal of attention and has been extremely valuable for the store in many ways.

GOVERNMENT
PRIMARIES HELD IN
ST. JOHN COUNTY

Supporters of Present Administration Organize at Well Attended and Enthusiastic Meetings, in Preparation for Convention.

An enthusiastic Liberal meeting was held at the Grosvenor House last night and the attendance was large. Addresses were made by several of the party workers of St. John and all agreed that a strong effort would be made to banish Hon. J. B. M. Baxter and Thomas B. Carson from political life in this county and elect men who would be active in the interests of the constituency. The following were selected: Chairman, Alexander S. Johnson; secretary, Joseph Poole; delegates to the county convention, John Dalsell, Jeremiah Donovan, Joseph Poole, James Willis, Frederick McLeod, Joseph Mosher, Alexander S. Johnson, Martin Dolan, John H. Sherwood; alternates, William Daley, Edmund Bowes, Rudolph Mosher, Raymond Green, Edmund Desmond.

The primaries held last evening in the Temperance Hall, Fairville, to choose delegates from Fairville and Milford to attend the Liberal convention were well attended and were most harmonious and interesting. Short addresses were given by several of the delegates chosen. Joseph L. O'Brien was the chairman and Harry B. Tippett the secretary. The delegates elected for Fairville were: A. W. Anderson, W. J. Linton, H. B. Tippett, G. H. Allan, John McKinnon, Frank V. Hamm, Arthur W. Carton and W. J. Hamlin; alternates: Adam Campbell, John Sime and Cuthbert Morgan.

For Milford, delegates elected were George Melanson, John VaTour and Arthur McKinnon; alternates, John McManus and Daniel Usher.

The primaries for Beauséjour were held at the residence of John Long, with Mr. Long as chairman and C. J. Callaghan as secretary. There was a good attendance and the meeting was enthusiastic. Delegates chosen were: Councilor Murray Campbell, G. W. Wetmore, William McKee, C. J. Callaghan and J. E. McMurray; alternates, J. W. Long and A. M. Belyea.

Both meetings proceeded to organization for the election campaign after appointing delegates. John Long was chosen chairman and C. J. Callaghan secretary for the Beauséjour committee.

ENGLISH COOKING IS DEGENERATING

This Is Opinion of London Newspaper Man — Soho Losing Its Charm.

London, Sept. 24.—A reporter for a London newspaper who considers himself an epicure has just finished an extensive study of London restaurants and has reached the conclusion that English restaurant cooking has degenerated to an extent almost unbelievable.

He complained that he could not find a good old-fashioned English steak, that a juicy mutton chop with a piece of kidney attached was difficult to obtain, that the pastry of the meat pies the Englishman loves so well no longer is light and fluffy and that the omnipresent jellies lacked their old-time taste. The famous Soho eating places, too, have lost much of their old-time charm. Soho, says one writer, "is that district famous for its league of smells, for its children—slee-eyed swarthy bambinos, its litho staided Madonnas and its little restaurants." It is the Latin quarter of London.

the atmosphere the real habitude enjoyed. And many of the "regulars" have had to give up their favorite places owing to increase in prices and because they disliked to dine near people who did not appreciate perfectly prepared food and who never seemed to assimilate the atmosphere of those quaint places.

THE NOVA SCOTIA
HIGHWAY BOARD WILL CARRY ON

(Canadian Press Despatch.) Halifax, Sept. 24.—The provincial highways board of Nova Scotia will continue for the present to discharge its duties, conduct the investigation which it had already instituted, and employ an independent engineer to investigate expenditures on certain contracts, all of which is in accordance with the letter of Premier Murray under date of Sept. 9 addressed to the board declining to accept their resignations and asking that they continue in the discharge of their duties and to conduct the investigation which they had suggested. This was announced by a statement issued by the board yesterday afternoon after their adjournment.

PRIVATE FIRMS TO MANAGE OIL IN TIGRIS ZONE

Petroleum Fields in Mesopotamia Area Not to Be Nationalized, Says Sir John Cadman.

Washington, Sept. 25.—The United States need not expect to obtain from Mesopotamia any part of the oil supply which it may need in the future, according to a statement just made by Sir John Cadman, oil controller of England, speaking of the effect of the British treaty with Turkey on the world struggle for oil. Sir John declares that there will be no nationalization of the Mesopotamian fields, but suggests that they will be worked by private British concerns who obtained concessions in that country from Turkey before the war.

The State department recently inquired of London whether Americans would be excluded from oil exploitation, particularly in Mesopotamia.

U. S. Has Big Supply.

"Oil, when it is secured," says Sir John, "will be brought down to the Mediterranean and placed on the general oil markets of the world. It will be sent to Great Britain, France, Italy and other European countries. I have omitted the United States, as, obviously, with her own huge supplies, she will not need it." Sir John emphasizes that as long as "we are buying cheaply from the United States and as long as they had a big surplus there was no incentive in this country to create new supplies."

"France is to have her share in the development," says Sir John. "According to our agreement with her she is to participate in a company when it is formed, and for this participation she has agreed to a settlement of boundaries which will tend to unite Arab interests. France has also agreed to use her mandate for Syria to enable oil from Mesopotamia to be transhipped to the Mediterranean."

Private Enterprise Society.

"There is now an incentive to enterprise, and British companies are endeavoring to secure oil concessions in various parts of the world. All this is being done by private enterprise with no government help," he declares. "In fact, government assistance would only stifle private enterprise, for the government would be dealing with money of the whole country, while private enterprise deals with private money. The prospective shortage of oil was indicated before the war and British companies were then endeavoring to secure concessions, and, in fact, had obtained some concessions from Turkey in Mesopotamia. Owing to the instability of the area which was governed by Turkey little or no progress was made."

Brantford, Sept. 25.—A little begone six o'clock on Wednesday evening, when Colborne street was crowded, Dorothy Dennis, aged eight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dennis, 41 Brighton road, was instantly killed just off the Market Square by a municipal street car traveling west. The little one, in running in front of the car, apparently tripped, and was ground under the wheels, her head and face being crushed in beyond recognition. The car was operated by Motorman H. CLEVELAND IS NEARER PENNANT
Defeats White Sox in 2 to 0 Game

Brooklyn Needs Two More Wins — Ruth Sends Out Two More Homers in a Double-Header.

Cleveland, Sept. 25.—Cleveland Indians advanced their lead in the American pennant race to a game and a half by a victory over Chicago yesterday. Two more victories for Brooklyn will clinch the National pennant for them.

American League.
Cleveland, Sept. 25.—Walter Malis, Cleveland's southpaw recruit, pitched a great game against Chicago yesterday, and consequently the White Sox lost their opportunity to take the lead in the American League championship in this series by losing to the Indians 2 to 0. Malis had the White Sox batters badly puzzled and won his fifth consecutive victory since joining the local team.

Jackson collected a single in the first with two men out. In the fourth Eddie Collins and Pelsch gathered one each. The local southpaw was in danger only once. That was in the fifth inning when he phenominal pitching, he extricated himself. After striking out Risberg, Malis lost control long enough to issue three of his five bases on balls, filling the sacks. He then steadied himself and retired the side by fanning West and Eddie Collins in succession. The ver and Eddie Collins in the first two innings and scored the only runs of the game.

Boston, Sept. 25.—Philadelphia won a free hitting game from Boston yesterday 10 to 9.
Ruth's Homers 51.

New York, Sept. 25.—Babe Ruth's two home runs yesterday, bringing his season total to 51, failed to add the New York Americans in their almost hopeless chase after Cleveland and Chicago. The Yanks were only able to break even with Washington, losing the first game 3 to 1, and taking the second 2 to 1. Ruth's double in the ninth inning of the last game was his fourth hit of the game, and he reached third on an error and scored the winning run on Pratt's single. Ruth and Pratt were the only Yankees able to hit Shaw, who struck out eight men. Ruth made a home run, a double and two singles in four times up and Pratt three singles.

Detroit won from St. Louis 16 to 9 in a battling bee here yesterday. The locals made 18 hits from three St. Louis pitchers.

M'GRAW'S HOME SCENE OF TROUBLE
Wilton Lackaye, Actor, Breaks Ankle There

Says Baseball Manager Hit Him — Latter Denies and Is Supported by Guests of the Evening.

New York, Sept. 25.—It became known last night that Wilton Lackaye, actor, sustained a broken ankle at the home of John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants on Saturday night. Lackaye, who is in hospital, alleges that McGraw hit him as he was saying "Good night" and that he fell and broke his ankle.

McGraw, in a statement last night, denied having assaulted Lackaye, who, he said, called upon him Saturday night while under the influence of liquor and was abusive. He said Lackaye used vile and indecent language, and that two of McGraw's guests escorted him to the door, and he kicked one of them, slipping to the floor in the scuffle.

McGraw's statement was corroborated by his guests, Magistrate Francis X. McQuade and B. J. Pratt, Chicago, as well as by Mrs. McGraw.

FRENCH TOWNS RUINED 1,659

Hun Ravages Shown by Statistics Prepared for Allied Conferences.

New York, Sept. 25.—The completion of the estimates of losses caused by the war makes it possible to state the number of little villages, farms and real estate holdings which were partly or wholly destroyed in France. These final estimates, prepared for the use of the minister delegates to forthcoming Allied conferences, show that 1659 towns and villages were totally wiped out by war's ravages.

Some of the more interesting returns of these official figures, which have been obtained by the French Section of the Foreign Information Service of the Bankers Trust Company, are as follows:

Number of towns and villages injured in six departments which were invaded 4,022
In the departments of Seine, Seine-et-Oise, Seine-et-Marne, Seine-Inférieure 173
Number of towns and villages in which destruction reached 100 per cent. 1,659
50 to 100 per cent. 707
Less than 50 per cent. 1,656
Number of real estate holdings Entirely destroyed 290,300
Partially destroyed 289,870
Number of private wells damaged or destroyed 62,900
Number of cubic meters of earth to be moved to restore property 42,100,000
As an indication of the progress made in restoring these losses the official figures show that nearly all the injured towns and villages (4000) have been re-established and 134,000,000 cubic metres of trenches have been filled up.

A Favorite Novel in Wonderful Movies
YOU WERE THRILLED AND HELD SPELLBOUND, no doubt, when you read Richard Harding Davis' "Soldiers of Fortune."
It carried you to the extreme outposts of civilization and made you eye-witness to the exciting and venturesome experiences of Clay, the Engineer. You read page after page, hanging on breathlessly to the thread of the story, eager to know the outcome.
Allan Dwan, the noted photodramatist and director, produced "Soldiers of Fortune" for the silent stage. In offering the story as a photoplay, Mr. Dwan has been able to present it in more vivid colors and with much broader strokes than the limitations of the spoken drama or cold type would permit.
He has added to the delight of the tale by bringing it up to the present time, but adhering closely to the story so as to present all the romantic charm, the virile action and the climactic situations with which the story abounds.

SHOULD PRISONERS RECEIVE WAGES?

(Winthrop D. Lane in N. Y. Evening Post.)

When the warden of the Ohio state penitentiary said the other day that prisoners ought to receive wages, he put his finger on one of the weak points in our treatment of the offender. Only a few days earlier the New Jersey State Board of Control of Institutions and Agencies had adopted a scheme of wage payments to prisoners, applicable in both the state prison at Trenton and the reformatory at Rahway. Small sums are to be paid at the outset, ranging from 15 to 35 cents a day; these will go much farther in prison, of course, than they would go outside. The rate may be increased, it is announced later.

Moreover, the prisoner does not know what fate is in store for him when he is released. The most terrible moment in the life of an offender is not when the prison door opens to let him in, but when it opens to let him out. He has lost his reputation. His assets may comprise only the $5 or $10 that the State gives him, a railroad ticket to his home, or some other point within the state, and a suit of clothes that every detective in the land can recognize as prison-made a block away. He knows not where to turn. Deprived of all normal associations and activities for months, or even years, he is suddenly cast upon his own devices. Employment is difficult to obtain without lying and lying is dangerous. Policemen watch him closely, sure that he is merely awaiting an opportunity to commit a new crime. His former associates are every ready to ply him with arguments for returning to the old life. When his slender resources are exhausted he is likely to stand, unattended and alone, in the midst of dangers. It is hardly surprising that he often relapses into crime.

Claim of the Family. If the prisoner is a married man or has dependents a third injury is inflicted. The chief breadwinner has been taken away from those who need his support. The State's responsibility ends when it puts him in prison; no obligation is recognized toward those who are left behind. The predicament of the family may be acute. To have its chief source of income suddenly taken away is a blow that not many families from which prisoners come can stand. The wife may become sick and unable to work, the children may be forced into premature labor, there may be no money for doctor's bills, discouragement and want may produce delinquency by other members of the family—there is no end to the troubles that may afflict a family in such circumstances. The records of charitable societies are filled with appeals from families whose husband and father, or eldest son, has been placed in prison. Not the least effect of this is that it inflicts punishment upon the innocent as well as upon the guilty. The effect of this situation on the father may be disastrous. Here are two letters written by the wife of a man now in the United States penitentiary at Leavenworth:

MINERS' LEADER TO VISIT CANADA

Robert Smilie, leader of the English mine workers, who has announced his intention of touring Canada and the United States. He says he intends to lay the British labor situation fully before the people of this continent.

Dear Husband: I hope you are well. I am sick and am going home tonight. Well, Willie, tell the judge to please have mercy, for Fay and Ada is crying and we ain't got nothing to eat. I don't know what I am going to do, the rent is due and nothing to pay with, and I am out of coal. I hope He is a good judge. I am going to C— tonight and I am almost krazy. Rita as soon as you can. I am afraid they put the things out of the house, the girls are crying for dad. If I was well I could work, but I ain't. Ada and Fay say dad will be home tonight. I sure wish it was true.

From your wife Laura. My dear Sweetheart: Well, pa, I hope you are well. Ada and Fay have got bad colds. I am sick all the time. I don't feel that I ever will be any better and I have no money for a doctor. Listen pa, the man was here after both stoves last night. He said he would take them in a week's time if I didn't get him $15.00, and there ain't a cent in the house. Well, dear, I mustn't tell you so much of trouble. But I have to tell some of it.

Everything has come to trouble me. Well, dear Daddy, when you get to come home take good care of my dear little darlings. It hurts to have to tell you but I can't stand it much longer and I have prayed that there would be a way out but I can't see any yet when I look at them. And pa and ma is old, have trouble enough, but I don't feel they need my care. Well, don't feel that I am krazy. I ain't. You know dear, you look around and find the children another ma. Well, dear, I am like the song I am leaving the world behind. Fay and Ada is just like—to me when I look at them, but dear we ain't got any bread and you no I can't stand it for them. I can't eat any more, it is only for babies dear. So be good to my dears when you come. I love you, dear, as I ever did. From your true wife, Laura. I am sending all of my love. This would never happen if I was well but I can't work no more. Imagine the effect of such letters as these upon a man in prison!

Wages Can Be Paid. Against paying wages to prisoners it is argued that the cost is prohibitive. This depends upon the amount of wages paid—the New Jersey schedule calls for present for adding $450 to the monthly payroll. Moreover, prisons have never been as economically or efficiently run as most other enterprises; where politics has not led to extravagance, sheer inefficiency has often kept earnings down. Again, the cost of the present practice is to be considered. When we total the expense involved in caring for the dependents of prisoners, whether borne by private or public agencies, and the cost of the state of re-arresting and re-confining men whose relapse into crime is due in part to their release without money, we find that a large part of the present cost can probably be saved. But the most effective answer to this argument is that a prison ought not to be regarded as a money-making institution; its purposes are to protect society and to rehabilitate offenders. We do not ask hospitals, insane asylums, homes for the feeble-minded or schools to be self-supporting; we regard them as investments for the common good. Prisons ought to be similarly regarded.

Another objection is that prisoners are not entitled to wages. They are criminals, it is said, and ought to be made to pay the state for their arrest, trial, and maintenance. This is in line with the view that the purpose of confinement is punishment, pure and simple. It is not the view of modern penology, which regards the prisoner as a ward of the state, not its victim. Moreover, it is the view under which our prisons have been the failures that they have been, under which so many offenders have become "repeaters." Some change is desirable. To stop looking upon the prisoner as an economic asset may be the place to begin. A third objection is that putting money into the hands of prisoners is bad for them. Undoubtedly many offenders are incapable of using money wisely, although this is an objection that can be raised against their earning wages on the outside as well. The difficulty can be met, however, in two ways; first, by paying that portion of the prisoner's wage intended for his family direct to it or by turning it over to a trustee; second, by holding that portion meant for the prisoner, until his discharge. There is also the general consideration that it is not fair to penalize those who need the money for the sake of those who will spend it foolishly.

Experience in regard to paying wages to prisoners has been too limited to permit any positive conclusions. Twenty-six states have laws allowing compensation of some sort, but most of these are dead letters. California allows $1.50 a day, but the law has been inoperative in Nebraska, New Hampshire, and other states have refused to appropriate money for this purpose, although statutes allow it. In New York the amount paid in prisoners' wages is limited by law to 10 per cent. of the earnings of the institution. In practice it is a cent and a half a day! We may expect to see a growing opinion in favor of this relief to the offender.
