There are about 23,000 physicians and surgeons in the United Kingdom, or one to every 1,600 inhabitants. A carrier pigeon taken from the vicinity of Berlin to London, having escaped few direct to its own home.

The widow of Meisner, the great French artist recently deceased, is said to be the biggest woman in Paris. The artist married her when in his seventy-eighth year.

One of the silver wedding presents received by the Empress of Russia is an ermine mantle which cost ten thousand pounds. This was the gift of the nobility of the province of Kherson. A lady, who never failed to have her little feet with the doctor all through a painful illness, exclaimed, one day when he was announced, "Tell him I'm sorry, but I don't feel able to see him to-day."

The Duke of Albany has made up his mind to begin the business of life early. The other day he presented the successful exhibitor at the Flower Show with their prize money. The Duke was only seven, and this was his first appearance in public. Dean Liddell left Oxford at Christmas to reside permanently in the neighborhood of Ascot. The Queen is anxious to see a percentage of his on his resigning the deanery of Christ Church, but there is no precedent for conferring such a distinction upon an ecclesiastic.

Her Majesty has given Lord Salisbury a conditional promise that she will open parliament in person, and it is to suit Her Majesty's convenience that the date of that function has been deferred until so much later in the day as Tuesday, Feb. 9. The Queen will go to Buckingham Palace for a couple of nights when on her way back to Windsor Castle from Osborne.

It was left to the school children of the State of New York to decide whether the rose or the golden rod should be the flower of the Empire State. A vote was accordingly taken in the 113 school commissioner districts in the State, with the result that 294,816 children voted for the rose and 208,402 for the golden rod, giving a majority of 86,414 children in favor of the rose, which will henceforward be the flower of New York State.

No Cave Nether Away. A young man who had been paying devoted attention to a rich bankers daughter, interviewed her father on the subject. "I've no objection," he said. "I love your daughter, sir, and want to marry her."

"Yes, sir, and it was her goodness which induced me to marry her." "I'm glad to hear that," replied the father, looking at him sharply, over his glasses. "I'm not surprised at it. She is a good girl."

JINGLES OF HEHELO.

A Little Nonsense Gathered for Leisure Reading.

Jack Rouser. Let's Miss Bull a beauty! Miss A. Yea. But you know beauty is only skin deep. J. Rouser. Well, I'm no cannibal. That's deep enough for me.

Teacher. Why do you come to Sunday school, my little man? Little man. Pap said he'd cut my ears off 't I didn't.

Look here you fellow, said a gentleman who had arisen to give a seat to a lady in a crowded car, get off that seat. I vacated it for that lady. That's all right, boss. She's my wife. Mr. Fellow. Mr. Whitehead, what makes you look so dejected this evening? Mr. Whitehead. Well, Fellow, the fact is, I'm in trouble. I've been contesting my wife's will.

Mr. F. Your wife's will? Why, I didn't know your wife was dead. Mr. W. Dead! No. That's what makes the contest so hard. Young wife—Harry, how can you take so much notice of other women's? You need to tell me that I entirely filled your heart. Young Husband—Yes, dear, but that's such a thing as enlargement of the heart, you know.

Either you must marry me or put me out of misery. Ethel. Must I choose? George. You must. Ethel (with a sigh). Well, where is the axe?

The thinner a thing is the more it is inclined to spread itself. A teacher asked a girl how many bones there were in her body, and the answer was 208.

Wrong, there are only 307, said the teacher. You're was the triumphant response, but I swallowed a fair bone to-day.

Squere. Lawyer Brink is very fond of oats isn't he? Nickleby. That's natural—anything in the feline suits a lawyer, you know.

On a man who is said to be wedded to drink, he turned a widow, when his town goes for prohibition? It will take nine tailors to make a man, but one is enough to undo him.

Marrying rich widows, like drinking liquor is often done solely for the effect. Cusmo. Does it pay a man to be an inventor? Banks. Oh, yes; but the man it pays is not the inventor.

Centiman. Well, you'll get down pretty low in the dirt for whisky, won't you? Tramp—Kef' Why, I've seen a man dig down in the dirt twenty feet for water.

Yelling at a street-car for a hastening lady is a sort of charity law. It is pretty generally believed that the village blacksmith took advantage of his position at the bellows to put on airs.

A READY BLOW. An Irish Keeper, Murdered by a Frenchman For Refusing Him Liquor. John C. Wheeler, keeper of a hotel at Rindge Center, was murdered about 5 o'clock on the night of December 17 in front of his hotel, by John Brunell, a Frenchman belonging in Fitzwilliam.

Brunell, accompanied by Arthur M. Mole, drove up to the hotel and asked Wheeler for some liquor. This was refused, and high words followed and a scuffle ensued. Brunell became terribly enraged and striking a whiffetone death blow, struck Wheeler on the head, killing him instantly. Two other men who came to Wheeler's assistance received severe treatment and one was very badly injured. After dealing the murderer a severe blow on the head, Brunell was arrested the next day at Ashburnham, Mass.

His victim was about 55 years of age, nearly blind, and leaves a widow and three children. He has been in the hotel business in Rindge about three years, his son Frank having previously conducted the house. When the train from Ashburnham, bearing John Brunell, the captured murderer, arrived at Rindge Dec. 18, a large crowd had gathered at the station, determined to lynch the murderer, and it was with considerable difficulty that the officers got him to the jail alive.

A rope noose was thrown over his head by somebody in the crowd and immediately half a dozen or more men grabbed hold of the end, but before his work had accomplished an officer threw the rope off and hurried the prisoner to the jail, where he is now confined. Through the whole Brunell remained decidedly cool, remarking that the killing of Wheeler was a bad job. Brunell and Moleky were before the police court Dec. 18. Only a few witnesses were questioned, the prisoners' counsel waiving further examination. They were then committed to jail for safe keeping till the April term of supreme court.

The injuries of Fred Crocker, who was terribly scalded by the Frenchman, at the time of Wheeler's murder, are more serious than at first supposed and it is feared he may not recover—Mirror and Farmer.

Are you suffering from cold in the head? Do not neglect it—delay is dangerous. Death is easily contracted. Nees' Balm is an unfailing cure in all cases of catarrh and cold in the head.

What the Gossips have to Remark about

The Trend of Matters Political Parliamentary or Otherwise.

Some Touch-and-go notes of all Noteworthy Occurrences.

It is rumored that Parliament is to meet on February 26th, but the matter is not officially settled.

Tuesday, Dec 29th, was the eighty-second anniversary of the birth of the Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, England's greatest statesman.

At the meeting of the executive committee of the Educational Institute held in the Normal school Tuesday evening, it was decided to hold the Session of the Institute this year in St. John on June 28th, 29th and 30th.

New York Star estimates the emigration from Europe this year as a million souls. Of these nearly half a million have gone to the United States, 300,000 to Brazil and nearly 100,000 to Australia. Italy alone has sent out 200,000 to North and South America, and Russian and Polish emigration was never before so great as in 1891.

A reciprocity arrangement has been entered into between the Secretary of the United States and the British Minister to embrace the British West Indian Colonies of Jamaica, Barbados, the Windward and Leeward Islands, Trinidad and British Guiana. The arrangement will go into effect on the first of next month.

The Court Act case in Hampton has been creating considerable excitement. Judge Palmer has expressed a doubt as to his jurisdiction in the matter, and wants time to carefully consider it. In the meantime he extended Mr. Belyea's bail until the 25th of this month at which time he will refer it to a full court.

Another year has dawned upon us and 1892 is numbered with the past, although the merchants in the matter, and accounts frequently place 1 instead of 2 after 1891, which necessitates the marking of it over, and often causes them to think very foolishly of something connected with a mill. In the year we have just entered we extend to the people through-out our country our best wishes for a prosperous and happy year, and an abundant harvest. To our friends we wish a Happy New Year.

Owing to the fact that Thomas McCreery is in a position to make some startling disclosures affecting the members of the Dominion cabinet, it has been argued that the prosecution against him should be dropped. Morgan, the Tory candidate for Richelieu, is afraid that should the case be pushed, the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Co., of which McCreery is president, will be indicted against him in that constituency, and has asked Sir John Thompson to drop the matter, but if that is done it is feared that the followers of the government in Ontario, and Sir John refused to consent to Morgan's request.

There have appeared from time to time in the Fredericton Globe, during the past year, accounts of remarkable cures in various parts of the Dominion. In each case the circumstances connected therewith had been investigated by well known newspapers, and there could be no doubt as to the entire reliability of the accounts given. Perhaps the case that attracted most attention was that of Mr. John Marshall of Hamilton. This was got, perhaps, because his case was so very remarkable, because "some others" had been cured, but because it was attended by some other peculiar circumstances that served to emphasize it in the minds of the public, as for instance the fact that he had been pronounced absolutely incurable by half a score of clever physicians, and was actually paid the $1,000 disability claim allowed by the Royal Templars of the Order of the Eastern Star, which is given the particulars of a cure in Cape Breton, which is quite as remarkable as that of Mr. Marshall. The particulars of the case are taken from the Halifax Herald, but they are also reported for by Mr. Richardson, the editor and proprietor of the Island Reporter, Sidney, C. B., who says that in not a single particular is the story overdrawn. We fancy we hear the reader say, "Oh, please, this doesn't interest me." But it does. The story is all there, and is worth reading and will guarantee before you are through with it you will be thoroughly interested.

At the Barracks, Pte. Duplinsky of the I. S. Corps, was on Monday, sentenced to 160 days' goal, and also to make good all property destroyed by him, and Tuesday Pte. Walton was sentenced to 120 days, and Wesley Pte. Young was sentenced to 55 days in the same institution, for declaring that he knew nothing of the cutting of the straps by Walton, although admitted being in the room at the time it was supposed to have been done.

SPORTING NEWS.

All Stars, George Cartwright, of Bridgeport, Conn., won the six-days go-around race at St. Louis, Me., which terminated the other night. His score was 502 miles.

R. M. Laidlaw, of Halifax, the world's champion skater, has issued a challenge to skate Fred. Breen, of St. John, a series of three races, each race to be for $100 a side and the championship of the world.

In answer to the above challenge, Fred Breen says he will skate Laidlaw in the Victoria, or on any river or lake he may name, where we can get a decent course and for any amount he may name, or he will skate one race in the Victoria, next in the Palace, and third in the Victoria, or on any river or lake.

THE RING, At San Francisco, Tuesday last, the heavy weight John Macdonald and Patsy Cardiff fought for a purse of $2,500. Macdonald was a strong favorite in the betting, the odds standing at 2 to 1.

At Detroit the other morning the body of Frederick Cepinder was found literally hacked to pieces. The back of the head was bare. There were 11 distinct wounds on the right eye and ear. The bones of the face were broken. Robbery is supposed to have been the cause.

Alfred Bellis, composer, is dead at London. He had been suffering from influenza for two weeks, and therefore was unable to finish the orchestration of "The Mountebanks" in London and North-Western.

A locomotive has been built at the Crewe Works of the London and North-Western railway which is capable of drawing a train at the rate of a hundred miles an hour. The speed attained by this engine in its trial runs between Crewe and Chester was ninety miles an hour, but this was shown to be considerably below its full powers.

The entire San Antonio and Arkansas Pass railroad is tied up as a result of the strike. The railway operators claim that they are poorly paid and that a system of removals and reductions has been inaugurated by the new superintendent. The telegraphers made demands which the management would not grant. The telegraphers, backed by all the other operatives, 340 men, are on strike.

Frank L. Monton, a disipated barber of Lowell, Mass., killed his wife Alma just before midnight Thursday night by beating her about the head with a fist which he had soaked at the time of the murder. He was arrested and said he and his wife quarrelled because she would not give him room in bed and he killed her. The couple were married nearly three years and quarrelled frequently.

Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 28.—William Ross and Sule Brown were to have been married on Saturday and yesterday Miss Ross made Ross a Christmas present of a revolver. This morning Ross called at the house for the wedding, but for some reason was unable to back out. They were in a room by themselves and high words were heard between them. The next thing was a pistol shot, and Ross had killed the young man as he was present and had given him. He escaped.

In a theatre at Oatstead, county Durham, London, Saturday night last the sight of a right black caused by one in the audience dropping a lighted match on the sawdust-covered floor, caused someone to start the cry of fire. A terrible panic ensued. The doors became so blocked that only a few succeeded in at once getting out. When the panic abated the bodies of nine children, whose lives were literally crushed out, were found on the staircase or near the door leading to it. Many were injured.

A despatch from Nagpur a town of Serpents capital of the central provinces of India says the Indian National Congress opened in that city Monday. Eight hundred delegates were in attendance from the various provinces. The chairman of the meeting was George Trevelyan, who welcomed the delegates in the very highest terms of British rule in India. He said that he was of the opinion that the British crown and attachment to the British people to whom India owes her re-birth.

Madame Labele was found dead in her residence on Bidan street, Ottawa early Monday morning, under suspicious circumstances. Her husband went to a neighbor's for assistance saying that his wife was dead or dying. When the neighbors came they found the woman naked and dead with marks of violence on her body. Her mouth had been bound with a handkerchief. The husband who is a son of the late Capt. Labele, M. P., and employed in the government service, says he woke up one day and discovered his wife in her condition in which the neighbors found her. The woman was only 24 years old. An inquest is being held.

Boston, Dec. 28.—Isaac Savelly's body, despite his expressed wish, will not be interred beside that of his brother Hiram in Forest Hill cemetery. Hiram's widow objects to such interment of the body of her son-in-law, and the board of trustees of Forest Hill cemetery voted to deny Savelly's request to allow Savelly's body to be buried there.

The board of trustees of Mount Hope cemetery, Monday, today, refused Mr. Edgely's permission to place the body of the murderer in the receiving vault of that cemetery, preparatory to the final burial. The body is now at Great Falls.

Navville, Tenn., Dec. 29.—L. M. Jones was hanged at Silver Springs this morning at 9 o'clock. He met his death for the murder of his wife and child, beating his child and splitting the woman's head open on the night of June 26, 1890. Jones fled from the scene of his brutality, and, disguising himself, worked as a hickman on a Texas ranch for three months. An indignation meeting was held by the people of Cass county and a demand made upon the government for a reward. The governor offered $200 and the citizens $300 for his delivery. He was finally captured and his trial was long one. The prisoner was at one time county superintendent of schools, and a deacon in the Baptist church.

The speed attained by this engine in its trial runs between Crewe and Chester was ninety miles an hour, but this was shown to be considerably below its full powers.

The entire San Antonio and Arkansas Pass railroad is tied up as a result of the strike. The railway operators claim that they are poorly paid and that a system of removals and reductions has been inaugurated by the new superintendent. The telegraphers made demands which the management would not grant. The telegraphers, backed by all the other operatives, 340 men, are on strike.

Frank L. Monton, a disipated barber of Lowell, Mass., killed his wife Alma just before midnight Thursday night by beating her about the head with a fist which he had soaked at the time of the murder. He was arrested and said he and his wife quarrelled because she would not give him room in bed and he killed her. The couple were married nearly three years and quarrelled frequently.

Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 28.—William Ross and Sule Brown were to have been married on Saturday and yesterday Miss Ross made Ross a Christmas present of a revolver. This morning Ross called at the house for the wedding, but for some reason was unable to back out. They were in a room by themselves and high words were heard between them. The next thing was a pistol shot, and Ross had killed the young man as he was present and had given him. He escaped.

In a theatre at Oatstead, county Durham, London, Saturday night last the sight of a right black caused by one in the audience dropping a lighted match on the sawdust-covered floor, caused someone to start the cry of fire. A terrible panic ensued. The doors became so blocked that only a few succeeded in at once getting out. When the panic abated the bodies of nine children, whose lives were literally crushed out, were found on the staircase or near the door leading to it. Many were injured.

A despatch from Nagpur a town of Serpents capital of the central provinces of India says the Indian National Congress opened in that city Monday. Eight hundred delegates were in attendance from the various provinces. The chairman of the meeting was George Trevelyan, who welcomed the delegates in the very highest terms of British rule in India. He said that he was of the opinion that the British crown and attachment to the British people to whom India owes her re-birth.

Madame Labele was found dead in her residence on Bidan street, Ottawa early Monday morning, under suspicious circumstances. Her husband went to a neighbor's for assistance saying that his wife was dead or dying. When the neighbors came they found the woman naked and dead with marks of violence on her body. Her mouth had been bound with a handkerchief. The husband who is a son of the late Capt. Labele, M. P., and employed in the government service, says he woke up one day and discovered his wife in her condition in which the neighbors found her. The woman was only 24 years old. An inquest is being held.

Boston, Dec. 28.—Isaac Savelly's body, despite his expressed wish, will not be interred beside that of his brother Hiram in Forest Hill cemetery. Hiram's widow objects to such interment of the body of her son-in-law, and the board of trustees of Forest Hill cemetery voted to deny Savelly's request to allow Savelly's body to be buried there.

The board of trustees of Mount Hope cemetery, Monday, today, refused Mr. Edgely's permission to place the body of the murderer in the receiving vault of that cemetery, preparatory to the final burial. The body is now at Great Falls.

Navville, Tenn., Dec. 29.—L. M. Jones was hanged at Silver Springs this morning at 9 o'clock. He met his death for the murder of his wife and child, beating his child and splitting the woman's head open on the night of June 26, 1890. Jones fled from the scene of his brutality, and, disguising himself, worked as a hickman on a Texas ranch for three months. An indignation meeting was held by the people of Cass county and a demand made upon the government for a reward. The governor offered $200 and the citizens $300 for his delivery. He was finally captured and his trial was long one. The prisoner was at one time county superintendent of schools, and a deacon in the Baptist church.
