FIGHTING THE BITTER ARCTIC COLD THE EXPLORERS FORCE THEIR WAY NORTHWARD

Entertained by Mirages—Conditions Were Favorable but Wind was Almost Unbearable—Sleeping on the Sledges—Camped on an Open Lead to Await Morning

WAVE OF MIRAGES.—The stamp of reality had given place to a wave of curious mirages. Some peaks seemed like active volcanoes, others rose to exaggerated heights and pierced the changing skies with multiple spires like church steeples.

At every breathing spell the heads turned to the land and every beck gave a new prospect. From belching volcanoes to smoking cities of modern habits the mirage gave suggestive bits of scenes, but a more desolate line of coast could not be imagined. Low wind swept and ice polished mountains were scattered by valley filled with great depths of snow and ice.

Late in the afternoon the land suddenly settled as if by an earthquake. The party gazed at the sea, where it formed a new ice wall, a glacier of the malapina type, but its appearance was more than of heavy sea ice, hence, the names of the fragments from this glacier—polycrystic ice, or snow which, seen in Lincoln sea and resembling old fies were supposed to be the prevent of the upbuilding of the ice on the sea.

Everything was in our favor in this march. The wind was not strong and the snow lay in a soft blanket. It was possible to guard the nose by pushing a mitten under the hood or by raising the hood hand. The snow was hard, and the ice, in fairly large floes separated by pressure lines, offered no trouble. At the end of a forced effort of fourteen hours the register indicated twenty nine miles.

To begin the construction of a house at once, we threw ourselves down on the sledges for a short rest. The heavy tent was pitched and the sleds about an hour later by a strong wind, we hastened to seek shelter. The heavy tent was pitched and the sleds about an hour later by a strong wind, we hastened to seek shelter.

At noon we emerged. The snowy ground had been swept from the frigid dome, but beneath them remained a low black line over a peary cloud which gave us much uneasiness. It was a narrow belt of water-sky and indicated open water or very thin ice at no great distance.

The upper surface of Grant Land was a mere line, but a play of land clouds over it fixed the eyes on the last known rocks of solid earth.

In this march we felt keenly the piercing cold of the polar ice. The temperature gradually rose to forty-six below in the afternoon, but the chill of the shadows increased with the swing of the sun's glitter.

A LIFE SAPPING WIND

It still blew that light, life sapping draught which sealed the eyes and blanched the nose. We had hoped that this would soften with the midday sun, but instead it came with a sharper edge. Our course was slightly west of north, the wind was slightly north of west; it struck us at a painful angle and brought tears.

At about six o'clock, as the sun crossed the west, we had reached a line of high pressure ridges. Beyond the ice was cut into smaller floes, and thrown together into ugly irregularities; an active pack, and troubled seas

BALL OF FIRE SHOT THROUGH COLLEGE

One Drowned When Two Were Thrown Into Bay

By Shunting Engine—Other Towed Up Alive—Heavy Sentences for Hold-up Men.

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 25.—A ball of fire shot through the convocation hall at Queen's University yesterday during a heavy electric storm. It came through an open window and banged through a window on the opposite side breaking glass, passing near a young man, and shocking him. The room was occupied by about twenty persons, who were engaged in writing supplemental examinations.

MIDLAND, Ont., Sept. 25.—As two men employed by the Metcalfs Company, who are building a new C. P. R. elevator at Victoria harbor, were crossing a bridge at Maple Island about a mile from Victoria harbor last night, a shunting engine came along and struck one of them, named David Appleby, breaking both his legs.

The other man was thrown into the bay, but later turned up without injury. It is said that Appleby left a wife and several children.

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 25.—Judge Monk yesterday passed sentence on David Irvine, found guilty on Tuesday of assaulting and attempting to rob Fred Porteous. On July 18 Judge Monk sentenced Irvine to twelve years in the Kingston penitentiary, and intimated that two years were for his assault on a crown witness in the court room, and for contempt of court in connection therewith. Irvine and Mark Tompkins struck Porteous on the head with scuffling and attempted to take about $200, which he carried.

REVOLVER BATTLE ENDS IN BURGLARS CAPTURE

Well Known Crook, Only Out of Prison a Week, Had Stolen $300 Worth of Jewelry.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 24.—A revolver battle in which two patrolmen and a burglar figured just before one o'clock this morning ended in the capture of the burglar who gave his name as George Curtis and who is said to be well known to the Boston and New York police. The man was carrying a bag filled with $300 worth of jewelry and silverware from the residence of Mrs. Jane Brooks at the corner of Massachusetts Avenue and Lancaster street in North Cambridge, when the officers gave chase. The burglar emptied his revolver at the officers as he fled, but was overtaken. None of the shots took effect. Curtis was released from state prison a week ago.

ROBBED A DRUNK OF $50.00 AT ANDOVER

ANDOVER, N. B., Sept. 25.—Fifty dollars is the price that one man paid here last night for a drink or two of whiskey. An unknown middle aged man was knocking around the streets in a badly intoxicated condition. A low down fellow named White saw him and enticed him into a back alleyway. A third man appeared on the scene, and together they knocked the old man down and took off his coat and hat. One man held him while the other searched his pocket. They found $50 and took it, leaving him lying there. Three ladies witnessed the performance from a window and telephoned the police officer, but before he could arrive the men had made their escape. Although they have been searched for they cannot be found.

MAY WRIGHT'S FINE REDUCED TO $16.00

The case of the King, on the complaint of Frederick Lucas vs. May Wright was up on review before His Honor Judge Forbes in the County Court chambers this morning. J. B. Baxter appeared for the appellant, May Wright, and E. S. Ritchie for the magistrate and Policeman Lucas. On August 14th last, Officer Lucas, the informant, arrested the defendant in a beer shop conducted by her on Walker's Wharf. He was searching the premises for liquor and she interfered. Hence the arrest. On August 18th Magistrate Ritchie found her guilty of resisting the officer in the discharge of his duty and imposed the maximum penalty of $30 or ten months in the common jail with hard labor. The amount was paid and an appeal taken.

This morning Mr. Baxter read the evidence as given in the police court and applied to have the fine reduced. Mr. Ritchie was heard contra. His Honor reduced the fine to sixteen dollars.

Tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock the six Presbyterian Sunday Schools of the city, namely, St. Matthew's, St. Stephen's, Calvin, St. Andrew's, St. John's and St. David's, will meet in St. John's Presbyterian Church, King St. East, and carry out the order of service for Children's Day. Rev. I. A. McLean and Mr. Andrew Malcolm will address be gathering.

LABOR COUNCIL WAS RATHER TOO HASTY

In Reply to Their Rude Message Sir Wilfrid Rapley That No Request Has Been Made With Regard to Asiatic Labor.

OTTAWA, Sept. 25.—The Vancouver Trades and Labor Council last week jumped to the conclusion that because it had been asserted in the press that the Grand Trunk Pacific officials had stated their belief that the scarcity of labor on the mountain section of the road and the consequent delays in the work of construction would justify the importation of Oriental labor, therefore the Government was being pressed to allow the contractors to bring in yellow labor. Acting on the unwarranted assumption that the Government was ready to sacrifice the interests of white labor in the province, a message, couched in the most rude and offensive terms, was sent to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, protesting against the importation of Oriental labor. Sir Wilfrid's reply to the telegram was as follows:

"Quite disregarding the offensive language I beg to inform you that no request has been made to this Government by anybody for the importation of Asiatic labor."

SAD DEATH OF A POPULAR HALIFAX GIRL

Miss Jessie Hennigar Thrown From Horse and Killed—P.W.A. Council Wants Canadian Navy.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 25.—There was a fatal accident yesterday which has thrown the whole community into gloom, the victim being a beautiful and highly respected young lady, Miss Jessie Hennigar. She was riding on horseback up Hill when she was seen to stoop as if to adjust a stirrup strap and then tumble from the horse's back. When picked up she was dead. Miss Hennigar was the eldest daughter of Burton Hennigar, and was about twenty years of age.

The P. W. A. Grand Council yesterday passed a resolution supporting the proposal for the creation of a Canadian navy and handed out a stinging reply to the baseless assertions in the resolution passed by the trades and labor congress at Quebec dealing with the U. M. W. strike. In the P. W. A.'s reply Delegate Simpson, of Toronto, is handed without gloves and the Dominion and local governments are urged to take action to exclude foreign agitators.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL FOR ROBBING MESSENGER

Goldwin Smith Will Reappear His Home for an Art Gallery—The Royal Commission at Toronto.

TORONTO, N. S., Sept. 25.—Fritz Diehn was before the magistrate at Charlottetown, Ont., today, on the charge of switching a valise with the Sovereign Bank messenger at Tilbury, and robbing him of fifteen hundred dollars. Ed. Quinn, a convict at the Kingston Penitentiary, gave evidence against Diehn, and claimed he was with him when the robbery took place over a year ago. Diehn was committed for trial.

Dr. Goldwin Smith has announced his intention of leaving his handsome residence, "The Orange," to the city of Toronto for an art gallery. The Royal Commission on trade with the West Indies met here today. The members were given a civic welcome at the King Edward Hotel. Lord Balfour, of Bute, chairman, and Hon. W. S. Fielding, replied to addresses.

There is more charrin in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. NEW PITCHER LOOKS GOOD.

Chicago critics say that McGraw has secured a promising young pitcher in McGraw, secured from the Texas League. He made his first major appearance Monday, the Cubs on Monday after McGraw had been benched, and showed plenty of irra nerve. He displayed good judgment at crucial periods and his pitching was so well pleased, with the young man's work that McGraw's critics are now saying "who else came out of Texas?"

SPORTING NOTES.

JENNINGS' OPEN FOR PROPOSITIONS.

Hugh Jennings denies that he has been dickering with the owners of the Philadelphia Nationals but admits that the Detroit club money maker is not probable that he will be allowed to get away by President Navin. Friends of Jennings say he thinks he is worth a salary of $10,000 a year and is also anxious to remain at the head of the Tigers. The Philadelphia club's owners admit that they want Jennings, which would seem to indicate that Felix Isman's plan to secure Mike Donlin as manager from Philadelphia or any other club. As Jennings has made the Detroit club money maker it is probable that he will never play ball again and that he does not care for a managerial berth.

NO SCRAPS FOR NEW YORK.

Well, it looks as if there will be no fighting in every place but New York. The bomb that the officials threw into the Ketchel-Langford fight here in this good city has led the fight managers to take their boys by the hand and lead them to other cities where they can have a little boxing match. Over in the Quaker City on Saturday night Al Kudak and Joe Jennette had a bout, and it pleased the Quaker fans to perfection. It was a good six-round bout, and Philadelphia will see some more good bouts every week. Willis Britz has taken his lion away from here and wishes, it is understood that he will never come back. Joe Woodman, who has Langford, thinks that Britz is trying to duck the big black boy, and it was reported that some hot talk was exchanged before Britz left for the coast. Woodman still insists that Ketchel never did want to fight Langford, and it was the best thing for the Ketchel person that the police stopped him. It would be a mighty fine thing to get this party together just to decide the argument.

FIELD DAY FOR HUTTLERS.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Rochester's baseball public is planning an event in local baseball history for October 2 at Baseball Park here. This city expects the Eastern League champion, whether or not that comes, there is to be a field day, of which the entire proceeds will go to the Quaker or the Rochester ball team. The Rochester News Writers' Club is directing the affair. The town is baseball crazy.

PRACTICAL BASEBALL NOT SENTIMENT FOR MCGUIRE

"Deacon Jim" Says the Future Concerns Him Much More Than the Present.

"Deacon Jim" McGuire does his best to infect some life into the Cleveland team, but it is hard work. By temperament the players are quiet, and they are much better than they might be in view of the fact that they are not winning any games with their young pitchers. McGuire stuck by his guns and played the series through with young blood as he said he would. He tried Winchell, Upp in spots. Able in part of a game, Doane and Ota. Of the lot Winchell and Upp made the best showing and may prove to be a success. Upp has had experience and is likely to stick with Cleveland, for the Ohio folks know that he can pitch well and have confidence that he will be a success in the American League in another year if he reports in the spring with his arm in good condition. "I didn't expect to do much winning with the young fellows," said McGuire. "But I have had a fair opportunity to see that they can do, and I have two other teams in the east against which to try them before I go back to Cleveland. I don't consider that it is time wasted, for when they report next year I will have a little line on which to begin, and if I decide not to keep them all during the winter I will know what to expect of them if they are placed with other teams for further development."

MORE QUEER RUMORS ABOUT THAT CALLED-OFF FIGHT

Talk of Pits, and Counter Pits—and in the Meantime Ketchell's Stock Is Going Up or Par.

More stories were told yesterday which if true bear color to the belief that the Ketchel-Langford fiasco was the result of a plot hatched by rival promoters and aided by persons connected with the Athletics. An influential politician whose vicinity there seems to be no reason for doubting is responsible for the statement that last week, just before the Fairmont club called the bout off, Willis Britz informed him confidentially that Ketchel had no chance to defeat Langford as one of his hands had been seriously injured while training. According to this same story Britz said it was the same hand Ketchel "broke" in the recent mill with Parks in California. This information, coming from the inside, is said to have caused certain wise men about town to refrain from betting at all. Joe Woodman, Langford's manager, declares that the opposition to the bout was due to the indirect influence exerted by persons who feared that Ketchel would be defeated, and in his opinion other persons who were fearful of the Fairmont club rendered assistance in having the attention of Gov. Hughes called to the bout. From Ketchel and Britz, who are on their way to California, comes the alleged declaration that if Ketchel defeats Jack Johnson on October 12 at Colma he will promptly draw the color line by refusing to fight Langford under any circumstances. Persons who know Ketchel said yesterday that they did not believe he was afraid to tackle Langford here and was much disappointed when the bout was declared off. They also declared that if allowed to have his own way Ketchel would willingly settle his differences with Langford, win or lose, in the coming battle with Johnson. Meanwhile the impression on the coast grows stronger that Johnson will beat Ketchel as easily as he trimmed Knautman. The betting on the coast is in twenty rounds and even money that Ketchel will be put to sleep. If Ketchel's bout with Langford had been allowed and the Michigan Lion had won, it is believed in the bout with Johnson would have been doubly increased, but as it is now the odds are declared that Johnson will be one-sided all the way.

POSSIBILITIES OF THE CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES

Leaders in Both National and American Leagues Well-Matched Except on Bases.

Pittsburgh leads the National League pennant practically unchanged. Clark's club has some sixteen games to play, and three of them are with Chicago and three with New York, yet to lose the buntings the Pirates would have to use these six and the odds are 7 to 1 that the Cubs would have to grab every battle in sight. So the National League pennant is considered to be at an end. In the American League, however, there are several clubs who will have the chance to battle with the Pirates for the championship of the world. Boston is out of it, leaving Philadelphia and Detroit the only real possibilities. Detroit must play every one of its games except one on the road. The one exception is the contest scheduled at home with Chicago October 2. On the other hand the Athletics will not be called upon to go away from home again. They have St. Louis, Cleveland, Chicago and Washington to meet in order and judging from the way Connie Mack's men have been fighting of late Chicago is the only one that will be able to give Philadelphia much of an argument. In the meantime Detroit is seeking Washington, not much of a stumbling block, though they forced an even game in good time. Boston, the third best club in the League, and Chicago, with its Walsh, Smith and White. The Tigers have no easy task ahead of them, and it now looks almost like an even wager that Mack's men will take down the championship and with it the right to play the Pirates. These three defeats sustained by Detroit in Philadelphia have changed the conditions wonderfully in the American League, and the man who was confident a week ago that Detroit would win is about ready to hedge just now. With such a situation confronting the baseball world, the figures giving the work of the three teams now foremost in the eyes of the enthusiasts will not come in amies.

ALL EVEN WITH THE WILLOW.

Detroit and Pittsburgh are about evenly matched in batting, the Tigers leading the Pirates by three points, while the Athletics are seven points behind the National Leaguers. Both American League clubs lead the Pittsburghers in base running. Detroit having stolen 102 more bases than the Pittsburghers. Philadelphia has used the same hit more than Detroit, while the Tigers have utilized that play sixteen more times than Pittsburgh. On bases the Tigers are about tied with the Smoky City men.

STERLING MEETS HIS WATERLOO

AMHERST, N. Y., Sept. 24.—The five-mile race held on the Ramblers' grounds this evening was the most successful meets of the kind ever held in Amherst and fully two thousand people were in attendance and the excitement of the spectators was keyed up to the highest pitch. Much interest was manifested in the race and the three starters were F. S. Cameron, Amherst; Roland Steele, Amherst; and Ernest Sterling, St. John. In the early portion of the season Sterling had defeated Cameron on four different occasions, but the supporters of the latter were confident from the start that the fast Amherst man would win in this contest. Sterling drew the pole, but before the first lap was completed Cameron passed him in a fine spurt of speed and was never again headed in the race. The first mile was a magnificent struggle for leadership between the old York and the time was caught at 4.40 when five and a half miles were completed. Cameron let out several spurts and rapidly drew away from his St. John opponent, and in the last mile had a lead of three-quarters of a lap which he maintained to the finish. The evening was hot and mucky and the track heavy, making the running difficult. The time was 26.4 2-5, and Steele dropped out in the first part of the race, as the clip proved altogether too fast for him. Sterling took a stitch in his side in the thirteenth lap, and although he recognized the race was pluckily kept on to the end, and was given a magnificent ovation by the spectators. He finished in an exhausted condition and was carried off the track, while Cameron was comparatively fresh.

CANT SAY.

"When are you going to say no for these wiles you had when you were years ago?" asked an anxious stage costumer. "My dear," replied the tenor, "I'm an opera star, not a prophet."

BABY MABEL'S ANIMALS CLOSES AT 11 P. M. TODAY.
 Tonight Baby Mabel and her dogs, monkeys and baboons will close their engagement at the H. H. H. A big matinee will be given for the children today, and they will have a chance to see these clever animals do all their tricks. Those who have children should send them to the matinee, they'll enjoy it. Hundreds already have, and the matinee is cheaper than the evening show. Three Biograph pictures were shown yesterday—Resurrection, Tolstoy's famous story told in pictures; Jealousy and The Man, a comedy drama, and Sweet and Twenty, a comedy. On Monday two new singers are to open a brief engagement. They have been sent to Manager Munde by a gentleman who supplies such leading operatic managers as Klaw and Erlanger, Henry W. Savage, Chas. Frohman, the Schuberts. Regarding these singers he says, "It's 34 years since I entered this business and in that time I've never heard better singers than the two I'm sending you. Boost them as strong as you like. If they don't set St. John talking then I don't know my business or a singer." That's a strong recommendation. Their names are Tom Malcom, a Scottish tenor, and Gertrude LeRoy, a mezzo-soprano. Both have sung in the best companies and theatres in the States, and as the H. H. H. was the originator of good singing in picture houses and have maintained a reputation for first class

THE LAUGHTER OF LIFE

A NOVEL AND A VERY INTERESTING ONE Copyright 1903 By MARIA ALBANESI

"I'm better now," she said. He loosened his arms, and she stood a little apart, and then he kissed her. "Now you are going to tell me all there is to tell," he said. "It is such a little 'all,' and there is nothing new in it. I don't say you were because we rushed up to town. It was because Connie sent us a telegram saying that she and her father and Aunt Edith were leaving for Cairo immediately. Beth and I at once decided to come up. We wanted so badly to see Uncle Edmund. Who knows—perhaps we may never see him again? And we were there, and Aunt Edith was perfectly beautiful to us, Jim. Do you know, she wouldn't let us see him! It seems so ridiculous, but she won't let us see him. I don't know how she gets on her feet ever so hard, all to no good. I could have slapped Aunt Edith. As it was, I shook poor Connie."

OLD AGE RELIEF.

In a series of articles in Everybody's Magazine, Mr. Richard W. Child is presenting, clearly and concisely, the modern movement toward the proper care of old age. He discusses the question from every standpoint and comprehensively explains the details of policy adopted by all these governments which have already taken action in this important duty.

SATURDAY SERMONETTE

THE MASSACRE OF THE INNOCENTS

If you go out into the country these days be careful how you go through a strip of woods, and if you are going into the wilderness, get insured as largely as you can for the benefit of your wife, mother, or mother-in-law for the chances are that you will not come out alive.

MR. HERMAN DYING OF STONE IN THE BLADDER

Gin Pille passed the stone

513 St. James St., Hamilton. "Four years ago I was taken down with what the doctors called inflammation of the bladder—intense pain in the back and loins, great pain and difficulty in urinating. The pain was greatest in the region of the bladder, and the attacks, which became more frequent, amounted to agony. I was unable to get up, and I became so weak that I could not walk across the floor. Doctors could do nothing to help me. My wife read in the paper about Gin Pille and sent me a box. The Gin Pille was doing me good. The pain was relieved at once, and the attacks were less frequent. In six days the stone in the bladder came away and the pain stopped entirely. I have had no return of the trouble since. I do not know how long it will last, but I can express myself strong enough to do my own work. The Gin Pille have done for me. When I remember how I suffered, and how now I am healthy and strong, I feel I should speak and tell other sufferers of my experience. I am a grateful man for the Gin Pille."

PROPER PREPARATION.

But boys had been rude to their mother. She put them to bed earlier than usual, and then complained to their father about them. So he started up the stairway and they heard him coming.

THE SMILING MAN

I know of a man who is smiling, all day, like a basket of greens; the mirth in his face is beguiling—he beats all the grinning machines. His smile, for it brings him the money—he's the boss of a prominent store; some say that he wouldn't be sunny if he found that it paid him no more. He smiles at the maiden, the charmer, who to him empurpals; he smiles at the honest old farmer who comes to trade butter for nails; he smiles on the kid with a penny who asks for a section of gum; he'd smile on the bogies, if any should to his establishment come. When done is the day, with his labors, he home to his mansion repairs; and I am informed by his neighbors, who watch him from peepholes of theirs, that he is a regular goliath, who smirks at his children, an elf; some day, with a bludgeon of willow, they'll knock all the smiles from his life. This smiling, that's boasted so often, is surely an excellent gift; alas for the heart that won't soften, for the fellow who never has laughed! It's good to be cheery and winning, with laughter as light as the foam, and fine to do some of your grinning with children and mother, at home.

A FORTUNATE MISHAP.

In a certain New England town they manufacture a well known kind of gowd, most efficient for its purposes. How that towel first happened to be made in the form which has proved so profitable to its makers is the subject of an amusing legend. It savors strongly of belonging to the too good to be true genus of anecdotes, and is as follows:—

Ask Her This Question

"Do you know of any woman who ever received any benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

If any woman who is suffering with any ailment peculiar to her sex will ask her neighbors this question, she will be surprised at the results. There is hardly a community in this country where women cannot be found who have been restored to health by this famous old remedy, made exclusively from a simple formula of roots and herbs.

During the past 30 years we have published thousands of letters from these grateful women who have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and never in all that time have we published a testimonial without the writer's special mention that was not truthful and genuine. Here is one just received a few days ago. If anyone doubts that this is a true and honest statement of a woman's experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound write and ask her.

Canifon, Ont.—"I had been a great sufferer for five years. One doctor told me it was ulcers of the uterus, and another told me it was a fibroid tumor. No one knows what I suffered. I would always be worse at certain periods, and never was regular, and the bearing-down pains were terrible. I was very ill in bed, and I thought I would never get up. I had an operation, and that I might die during the operation. I wrote to my sister about it and she advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Through personal experience I have found it the best medicine in the world for female troubles, for it has cured me, and I did not have to have the operation after all. The Compound also helped me while passing through Change of Life."—Mrs. Letitia Blair, Canifon, Ontario.

Any woman who is sick and suffering is foolish surely not to give such a medicine as this a trial. Why should it not do her as much good as it did Mrs. Blair.

CIGARS NOW THE FAD WITH WOMAN SMOKERS

Lady Dorothy Neville the First to Discover That the Cigarette Was Altogether Inadequate.

The eyes of the American customs officers who detained a woman for cigarettes would pop out of their heads if they knew to what extent the smoking habit has grown among women of Mayfair. London's custom is spreading with such alarming rapidity in society that the cigarette stage has been passed and "mimic light cigars" have become the fad.

Lady Dorothy Neville, the monogamous "old maid" who first discovered that the mimic cigarette was altogether inadequate. Even at 80 Lady Dorothy invariably smokes a cigar after lunch and dinner, and it is said gets considerable comfort out of the fad.

Although cigar smoking is largely confined to the seclusion of boudoirs, E. Nesbit, the writer, in private life Mrs. Hubert Bland, whose charming children stories have great popularity on both sides of the Atlantic, is a confirmed cigar smoker.

Recently at the opening ceremony of a society bazaar and charity exhibition she shocked the white-cravated non-conformist minister by saying: "I have been so terribly rushed I have not thought of a word of my speech. Would you mind sitting at your table and making notes?"

To the horror of the clergyman the famous lady who had come to open the bazaar and speak words of encouragement to his congregation opened a cigar case, took out a fat cigar, lit it and puffed contentedly in full view of the flock.

The fashionable jewellers recognize the growing habit by showing cigar cases made of gold and encrusted with jewels, suspended from wrist chains, looking very much like vanity boxes.

A quiet wedding took place at the Park Hotel last evening, when Mrs. Hattie S. Belyea, of Chelsea, Mass., was united to Capt. John Duffy of Diggins, N. S. Rev. Mr. Purdie performed the ceremony at 7 o'clock, after which a luncheon was served. The happy couple were unattended and only immediate friends were present. They left for Fredericton, where Capt. and Mrs. Duffy will spend a few days prior to going to Havana for the winter months. Many handsome presents of cut glass and silver testify to the popularity of the couple.

"BABY IS EASILY RUSHED TO SLEEP IN A GENDRON BABY CARRIAGE"

"When we visit other ladies I always know if they are particular mothers—because particular mothers know all about the soothing swing of a GENDRON. The arrows point to the points I want to make here. The springs are triple-curved, finely tempered steel, guaranteed to absorb every jar. The hubs on GENDRON wheels are covered with rubber caps. There is no danger of scratching the furniture when you drive the baby around the house in a GENDRON. It's easy to understand why good mothers insist on a GENDRON carriage for baby."

WHERE THE HELPLESS ARE PUT TO DEATH

Ancient Custom Practiced by the Eskimos in Alaska.

That the custom among the Eskimos of making away with helpless invalids and the aged, to whom life has become a burden, is not altogether abandoned is proved by at least two instances during the present year. The last case has just been reported from the Colville River country.

An old man by the name of Tillemut was the willing victim of this custom, which runs through centuries of the dim, legendary history of these people. Tillemut was a very old man and he had suffered from tuberculosis. The wonderful vitality of these people enables them to retain this disease for many years, sometimes for half a century.

He was talking on this old man. He lay on his bunk and coughed miserably. He knew that he would never be well again. So he called his children around him and said that he wanted to die.

He reached for the old Hudson Bay Gun that he had carried since boyhood. He cocked it and handed it to his oldest son, telling him to put him out of pain. But the boy had been told by the whites somewhere that it was a sin to kill in this way, and he refused to grant his father's last request. The others also refused. Then the aged Tillemut took the weapon, placed the muzzle in his mouth, and touched the trigger with his toe.

OBEYED THE FATHER. On the Russian diomed, an island in Bering Strait, another old man met death in a somewhat similar manner. In the Diomed case, however, the sons obeyed the father implicitly.

It was the regular old Eskimo death. There was no shooting. It was in a large igloo, the roof of which is supported in the middle by a stout beam. To this beam the boys fastened a strip of walrus skin, at the end of which dangled a noose. They helped their father to the edge of the bunk, fastened the noose about his neck, and let him swing off his high bed and strangle to death.

These people are not cruel. No more affectionate people can be found in the world than the Eskimos. Blows are seldom struck; harsh words are seldom uttered. But until recently the ending of hopeless suffering by suicide or by killing the patient was the rule all over the Arctic world.

Synopsis of Previous Chapters

In the first installment of his thrilling story, "The Conquest of the Pole," printed in the St. John Sun on Wednesday, September 15th, Dr. Frederick A. Cook told of the start from Gloucester on the Bradley, of the voyage to the Polar sea and of the overhauling on route of the equipment needed for the dash to the Pole. In a graphic manner the discoverer wrote a story of Eskimo life that never has been excelled for human interest. He told of the home life, the tragedy and comedy that mingled in the dreary existence of the dwellers in the Arctic and of the childlike eagerness of the natives to trade their valuable furs and ivory for the simplest things of civilization. The yacht, her owner, Mr. John Bradley, the explorer and his party were in Greenland in the preliminary work for the final dash. Finally, after describing the various places visited in Greenland in search of guides and information as to conditions further north, Dr. Cook wrote of the trip across Inglefield Gulf, past Cape Auckland and on toward Cape Robertson. Here the discoverer closed the first part of his narrative with Etah and Annotok, the last points of call looming in the icy distance. In the second installment, published in the St. John Sun on Friday, Sept. 17, Dr. Cook described his journey to Etah and then to Annotok, the place of assembly which he selected as his base for his dash to the Pole. In the third installment the explorer describes the process of preparing the winter quarters, closing with a graphic description of a narwhal hunt. In the fourth installment Dr. Cook describes the approaches of the long Arctic night which caused his party to Annotok to become very nervous and to prepare for the dash to the Pole. In the fifth installment Dr. Cook told of the actual start on the dash to the Pole, and described the equipment he took for his great final dash.

The Conquest of the Pole

By Dr. Frederick A. Cook

Sixth Installment

Kooloogwah and Tunogto had been our bedfellows for the entire northward run and they had gone through many dangerous and hard experiences together. We, therefore, felt more keenly their departure than the going of the first six. We were, at first, lonely, but the exigencies of our problem were soon sufficiently engaging to occupy our fibre.

To kill a suffering relative or friend was considered an act of kindness and mercy, just as we consider it an act of mercy to kill animals that we know cannot recover. This may recall the Spartan parents who left their weak or deformed children on the mountainside to die. But such cruelty is unknown in Eskimo society; the children here are sacred, and the most unfortunate and misshapen receive the tenderest care.

Nevertheless when death was plainly approaching and the sufferer asked to be relieved his request was always granted. Even infants were thus put out of pain. Although there is none of the conspicuous demonstration of grief that characterizes the saddest moments of more impulsive people, the sorrow for the dead in an Eskimo household is just as bitter as it is in any home in the world.

In spite of the white man's ideas concerning the taking of life in this way, the Eskimos still more than half believe in it. The ordinary death is reported as follows: "He died himself." The impression that he died without the affair being hurried along either by his own hand or that of a friend or relative.

Now our party was reduced to three, and though the isolation was very oppressive, there were the usual advantages for greater comfort and progress of a small family of workers. The increased number of a big expedition always enlarges the responsibility and difficulties. By the early part of a polar venture this disadvantage is eliminated by the survival of the fittest, but after the last supporting sleds refuse to move, the men are separated and can no longer separate. A disabled, unattended dog can be fed to his companions, but an injured weak man cannot be put aside. An exploring venture is only as strong as its weakest member, and increased numbers, by increased links in a chain, reduce efficiency.

One Degree in Three Days

By dead reckoning our position was latitude 82 degrees, 23 minutes; longitude 96 degrees, 14 minutes. A study of the ice seemed to indicate that we had passed beyond the zone of ice crushed by the influence of land pressure. Behind were great hummocks and small ice, ahead was a cheerful expanse of larger floes. Using the customary vigor of men and beast we had advanced a degree of latitude in three days. Our destination was about four hundred and sixty miles beyond. But our life had assumed quite another aspect. Previously we permitted ourselves some luxuries. A pound of coal oil and a good deal of musk talion were burned each day to heat the igloo and to cook abundant food. Extra meals were served when an occasion called for it and each man ate and drank all he desired. If the stockings or the mittens were wet there was fire enough to dry them out, but all of this must now be changed. There was a sharp daily allowance of food and fuel. One pound of petrol was allowed for the dogs, about the same for men, with just a taste of other things. Fortunately we were well suited for the race with fresh meat in the larder run through game lanes.

At first no great hardship followed the changed routine. We filled up sufficiently on two cold meals and used superfluous body tissue. It was no longer possible to jump on the sled for an occasional breathing spell, as we had done along the land. With overloaded sleds, the drivers must push and pull at the sleds to aid the dogs, and I searched the troubled ice for an easy route, cutting back and there with the ice axe to permit the passing of the sleds.

Stripped for the Race

We were finally stripped for the race. Man and dog must walk along together through storms and frost for that elastic pivot. Success or failure depended mostly upon our ability to transport nourishment and to keep up the muscular strength for a prolonged period. As we awoke on the following morning and peeped out of the eye port, the sun was gazing along the northeast, throwing a warm orange glow on us that gladdened our hearts. The temperature was 53 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit; the barometer was steady and high. There was almost no wind, and not a cloud lined the dome of pale purple blue.

After two cups of tea, a watch-sized biscuit, a chip of frozen meat and a boulder of pemmican, we crept out of the bags. The shivering legs pushed through bearskin cylinders, which served as trousers; the feet were worked into frozen mittens; then we climbed into our fur coats, kicked the front out of the snow house and danced about to start the fire of the hearth.

Quickly the camp furnishings were tossed on the sleds and securely lashed down. The dog traces were gathered into the drag lines and with a vigorous snap of the long whip the willing creatures bent to the shoulder straps. The sleds groaned and the unyielding snows gave a metallic ring, but the train moved with a cheerful pace.

"Una Nevena Tereng, Dosogwah" (Good land out of sight today), we said to one another, but the words did not come with serious intent. In truth, each in his own way, felt keenly that we were leaving a world of life and possibly comfort for one of torment and suffering. Heberg Island was already only a dull blue haze, while Grand Land was making fantastic figures of its peaks and ice walls.

Last evening a committee from the St. John District Lodge, Sons of Temperance, met for the purpose of making arrangements for celebrating the 6th anniversary of the founding of the order, which will be observed next week by a meeting in the Christadelphian Hall, Union street. An interesting programme of addresses, music, etc., has been prepared. On October 25 the annual meeting of the Grand Division of New Brunswick will be held in Moncton.

In the celebration of its 14th anniversary, St. Luke's Anglican church will occupy two Sundays and the intervening week days. The dates have not been definitely settled as yet, but the event is to take place somewhere between the 17th and 21st of November. Bishops and others prominent in the Anglican connection have been invited to take part, but the committee in charge of the celebration have not yet been able to put it into certain form. The services during the week will, however, be given a varied and highly interesting form.

BABY TEETHING TIME IS A TROUBLESOME TIME

When baby is teething the whole household is upset. The tender little gums are swollen and inflamed, and the poor child often cries day and night, wearing the mother out and keeping the rest of the family on edge. In the homes where Baby's Own Tablets are used there is no such worry. The Tablets allay the inflammation, soothe the irritation and bring the teeth through painlessly. Mrs. Jean Boutin, St. Marguerite, Que., says:—"When I sent for Baby's Own Tablets my nine months' old baby was suffering greatly from teething troubles and I hardly got any rest. A few doses of the Tablets relieved her and the teeth seemed to come through painlessly." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BOARD DECIDES TO ASK MR. EMMERSON TO ACT

The draft of the agreement re the transfer of harbor properties by the city to the C. P. R. was practically completed at yesterday's meeting of the Harbor Board. A few alterations are to be made by a committee consisting of the recorder, Aid. McCollin and Aid. Belyea and the draft will be completed today. It will be forwarded to the Canadian Pacific Railway as soon as possible, and the railway will be asked to have its representatives meet the committee. In accordance with the suggestion made some time ago in its dealings with the C. P. R. the city is represented by counsel experienced in railway matters, the board decided to ask Hon. H. R. Emerson to act for the city should the C. P. R. consent to have its representatives meet the Harbor Board. At yesterday's meeting tenders for the new piling to be driven at the face of No. 1 berth were received. The contract was awarded Herbert S. Mayes, whose tender was the lowest. The matter of allotting the West Side berths for the winter port season was brought up but was laid over until the No. 1 berth were received. The contract was awarded Herbert S. WILL COST MILLION TO SEE THE PARADES

Speculators in Hudson-Fulton Grand Stands Name Price

At the St. Regis it is $10 Per Seat for Parade, But You Can Do Better.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—It is estimated that fully 400,000 persons will view the Hudson-Fulton celebration parades next week from the stands which are springing up along Fifth Avenue, with mushroom rapidity. According to present indications there 500,000 speculators will pay handsomely for their seats. Great will be the disappointment of the stand speculators if the total harvest for the three days of land parade falls short of $1,000,000.

of the golden opportunity. There will be no fixed seats of price to interfere with the lively game of speculation. Every speculator has set out to squeeze just as much money out of the public as he can, and all are holding back for the big rush of out-of-town visitors with money to spend. WIDE RANGE OF PRICES. Prices quoted yesterday took a wide range. Single seats in windows of office buildings along Fifth Avenue south of Forty-second street, were offered as low as $2 and as high as $4 for one parade. Large store windows with a generous seating capacity are on the market at from $100 to $150, but with few takers up to date. Stand seats all along the line of march from One Hundred and Tenth street to Fourth street are to be had at $15 for the series of three parades, or at $4 for a single parade. A few speculators were demanding $20 for the series and $8 for each separate day, but their sales were small. The opportunity may come later when it is expected there will be a score or two of bidders for every available seat, but just at present the seat market is easy. All the big Fifth Avenue hotels are bidding for grand stand business. At the Plaza the charge for seats in the special hotel stand will range from $5 to $8 for each parade. The Buckingham will sell no single parade tickets, and asks $15 per seat for the series.

$10 A SEAT AT ST. REGIS. This figure is just doubled by the St. Regis, where every seat will cost $10 for each parade. The Holland also will charge $10 for a seat, on its grand stand, and there will be no reductions to patrons buying seats for the three parades. The Netherlands has fixed its price at $10 per seat for each day. Along all the Fifth Avenue hotels the St. Regis will sell its stand seats as low as $3, with choice ones at $5. Sherry will have a grand stand with up to private boxes, and each box will accommodate eight persons and cost $100. Delmonico will not have a stand, but every window has been leased to fashionable patrons at fancy prices for the three parades. Martin's restaurant, at Fifth Avenue and Twenty-sixth street, will take care of its celebration patrons at a most moderate figure. Single seats for single parades in the Martin stand will cost $7, but the same seats for three parades can be had for $15. Plans for thirty more big stands were filed yesterday by Building Department Murphy and as many more are expected to materialize today. Within another forty-eight hours Fifth Avenue will be filled from Fourth street up to Central Park with grand stands, and then the real scramble for seats and juggling of prices will begin. In Brooklyn the stand market is very much as it is in Manhattan. The speculators have taken possession of a good part of Eastern Parkway and a average price of a seat is $5.

Whew, How I Hate Heat! Say Mr. and Mrs. Fat Is it any wonder that the fat people hate hot weather? If your heart and lungs and stomach were bound around with layers after layers of false flesh that gave out a terrible unnatural heat and that interfered with their normal functions you would understand the aversion of fat people to hot weather. There is absolutely no reason for fat people staying fat in this age of triumph. We do not advise drugging yourself, dieting, or exercising yourself to death, but there is a method that has been proven successful. It is the famous Marmola tablets which do the work of removing fat exactly like nature intends it should be done. They stop the digestive organs from producing fat. They seek out the fat as it lies around the body and remove it at the rate of from 12 to 15 ounces a day. These little tablets are made from the great Marmola prescription and compressed into hard tablets by tremendous power. You may carry one in your pocket and always eat a meal in peace of mind, for you know that the tablet will get you the best results from such a meal. These tablets contain nothing but Marmola, Cascara, Aromatic and Peppermint Water, but they do their work so pleasantly, harmlessly, and so fast that you will be surprised. They are sold by every druggist, price 15 cents per case, or, if you prefer, you may write the Marmola Company, Dept. 821, Detroit, Mich.

ST. STEPHEN TO HAVE ITS FIRST EXPO. NEXT WEEK

ST. STEPHEN, Sept. 23.—The Methodist Sunday school holds rally day exercises next Sunday, and the Baptist Sunday school holds the like exercises the same day. The latter will also observe the fortieth anniversary of its organization, and in its exercises quartette selections will be rendered by M. Bradish, Dr. Mason, Miss Lois Wry and Mrs. Albertus Falcon. Synagogue B. Jackson of St. Martin's and Miss Laura Vail of St. Stephen, formerly of Brockway, were united in marriage here yesterday by Rev. W. C. Geucher, pastor of the Baptist church, at the residence of the bride's brother, C. Haskell Vail. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Young, who went and returned yesterday, close their summer home here next week and remove for the winter to their home at Brookline, Mass. Their departure is greatly regretted. Mrs. Verne Whitman and her little son are guests of Mrs. C. C. Grant for a few days. J. D. Chipman is spending a few days at his home in town, but returns Friday to Boston, where his duties as treasurer of the Gold King Mining Co. will require his presence for several months. Captain George Goodwin of Calais is visiting relatives in St. John. A ceremony of much interest to our Jewish residents was held at the residence of Emanuel J. Kenna Sunday evening, when the engagement of his daughter, Miss Anna Kenna, to Mr. Selick of Moncton was announced according to the orthodox Jewish ceremony. The guests of the evening were royally entertained. The wedding ceremony will occur in January next and guests will be present from Boston, New York, Rochester and other cities. Mrs. Gordon Wright, president of the Dominion W. C. T. U., will spend Sunday here and will address meetings in the Presbyterian church in the afternoon and in the Methodist church in the evening. She will be the guest of Mrs. Geo. T. Baskin while in town. The Bug Death Chemical Co., who have raised 500 bushels of superior tubers here on twenty-one acres of land this season, have disposed of their entire crop at favorable prices to the leading hotels of Montreal. Bug Death will do it every time. The St. Croix Soap Manufacturing Co., one of our leading industries, is anticipating an early extension of its premises here and has petitioned the town council for exemption from taxes for twenty years on the proposed enlargement. Governor Tweedie will be here next Tuesday to open the first annual exhibition of our newly organized agricultural society. The new building on King street has been completed, the grounds fenced in and graded, and entries for the fair are pouring in in all departments. Prominent fishermen and other distinguished men will participate. The horse trots to be held under the auspices of the society are an assured success, as is evidenced by the following list of entries: 234 CLASS. Melva P.—G. W. Gerow, Fort Fairfield. Pansy R.—W. H. Kova, St. Stephen. Fred H.—W. A. Withe, Bangor.

VALE WORRIED ABOUT HER VETERANS

The oval's eclipse of the sun has begun. Yale football games have aroused from their year's slumber and droves of husky and ambitious quarterbacks are eagerly pressing forward to win the coveted "Yale" blue and white backs have been at the sunny home of Dewitt Cochrane, Greenpoint, N. Y., for the last ten days going through their paces under the eyes of Head Coach Howard Jones and are reported to be in good shape for practice. The conditions of several of the veterans is causing considerable worry in New Haven. It is considered doubtful if Kilpatrick, Nadele, Hobbs and Antras have entirely recovered from their injuries of last fall, particularly the first two, whose knees were broken. All hands are confident that later in the season Capt. Coy will be back in the line as good as new and several of the other veterans will likely be replaced by youngsters in the early games.

AMATEUR BEATS SARGENT. CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—George Sargent, of Hyde Manor, Vt., the national open golf champion, left here yesterday for the East after an unsuccessful attempt to win the Western open title. It became known today that Charles Evans, Jr., the young Western amateur champion, defeated Sargent by four up in a special match at Lake Geneva, Wis., on Sunday. Sargent essayed to play the best ball of three amateurs, one of whom was Evans. Evans won without taking advantage of the best ball score. GOT THE HABIT. They were on the St. Joe boat. "Percy," asked Claribel, snuggling closer, "what's making that snoring, crackling noise?" "It's the wireless telegraph apparatus, dear," said Percy, "it's snoring too."

LONDON, Sept. 24.—What grouse shooting costs, an always fertile topic of discussion in England at this time of year, has this season been particularly to the fore, in consequence of the reports current regarding the enormous amount of money expended by Harry Payne Whitney for the sake of a few days' shooting over the Nidderdale Moors which he leases in Westdale. Some striking figures are contributed to the discussion by a writer in the Pall Mall Magazine, who says:

MOTHER
 This happy mother, like thousands of others, believes in nothing so much as Mother Seigel's Syrup. The days when household work was a burden and the least exertion painful, when even her own children irritated her, are a long way behind. So are the headaches, the aches, the heartburn, the indigestion and the constant feeling of fatigue. They are all like a bad dream that she has first bought Mother Seigel's Syrup, and she is now as happy as a child.
