In fact the attorney general has rendered two opinions on this subject, the first last February when Secretary Taft submitted to him a suggestion from the British government that it was desirable to delay action on the bill then pending before the Maine legislature, incorporating a company to construct piers in the St. John river, until the internapleted its report. The attorney general after reciting the section of the river pointed out that the only waters named for investigations were those rence River to the Atlantic Ocean, which description does not fit the St. John and therefore it would appear to be excluded from the purview of the commission. RUSSIA NOW SEVENTH NAVAL POWER.

NEW YORK, June 2.-Figures prepared in Washington for the New York Times by the naval intelligence bureau of the navy department, under direction of Captain Seaton Schroeder its chief, show that as a result of the battle just fought and its predecessors, Russia has dropped from third to seventh place in naval power, and Japan has risen from seventh to sixth.

The fighting has put the United States up from fifth to fourth place, and Germany from fourth to third. The naval powers now rank in this order: Great Britain, France, Germany, United States, Italy, Japan, Russia and Austria. Prior to the battle of the sea of Japan they ranked as follows: Great Britain, France, Russia, Germany, United States, Italy, Japan and Austria, rather anxious, not having heard from Austria is the only power whose rank them since they went away. unaffected by the battle. RAN AWAY FROM HOME.

William McIntyre and William Murphy Left Rather Suddenly on Wednesday.

Since Wednesday evening the staff of the C. P. R. telegraph office has been short by two members. On that evening William McIntyre and William Murphy, both young boys, who had been employed as checkers, made up their minds that they would seek better things elsewhere. Murphy had given notice that he was going to leave, but no one in the office had any idea that McIntyre held the same intention. Nor did the parents of the two boys know anything about their plans McIntyre arranged for another of the boys to take his place on Wednesday evening, promising to work in return on Saturday. But the substitute is still waiting for William to come

LIQUID SUNSHINE AND THE RADIUM PENCIL NOW CONQUERING CANCER

derful New Weapons of Offense, is Now Able to Attack Cancer Front and Rear and is Winning Notable Victories

N THE great, world-wide campaign now being waged upon that most terrible of all ills, cancer, two brand-new weapons of offense have just been devised. By one of these weapons—popularly known: as liquid sunshine" - science is for the first time enabled to attack cancer not only from the front, but from the rear as well.

By means of the other weapon—termed the "radium pencil"—science is able to apply radium directly to the infected point, instead of being obliged to satisfy itself with the employment of the rays of that wonderful metal diluted, so to speak, by passage through a glass or metal tube.

Already the efficiency of both weapons are being proved beyond the hopes, one might say, of the inventors themselves. Attacked in the rear by "liquid sunshine," swallowed by the patient and made fluorescent by the X-ray even internal cancer, the most inaccessible, and therefore the most difficult of all to cure, apparently gives up the fight.

Hardly less astonishing are the cures attained through the "radium pencil." It is simply a piece of celluloid covered by a thin coat of radium. After several applications the cancer, seemingly, is killed, and the spot is marked merely by a scar.

F THE two treatments, the one by "liquid sunshine" probably is the more important. It was by means of it that the practical cure of Professor William R. Harper, president of Chicago University, recently announced, was effected.

Suffering from an advanced case of intestinal cancer, given up by his physicians and told that he had only a nonths, at most, to live, the philosophic educator calmly abandoned himself to his fate. Indeed, he set about putting his earthly affairs in order and mapped out a course for the future of his university, so that the work he had so efficiently begun might be carried to its logical conclusion after his demise.

As a last resort, however, Dr. Harper's friends perruaded him to journey East and put himself under the care of Dr. William J. Morton, of New York, a specialist in cancer and similar aliments, who had discovered a new method of treatment, and had already demonstrated its fficacy in the hospitals of New York. Accompanied by his physician, Dr. Frank Billings, Dr. Harper placed himself in the hands of Dr. Morton. Within three weeks it was announced that the area of Dr. Harper's affected parts had decreased from eighteen to seven square inches, and that, at the latter measurement, the diseased tissues were entirely free from the sinal walls-a contact that had been greatly feared

More than that, Dr. Harper's weight had increased from 170 to 182 pounds—remarkable in itself. Since that time his condition has improved steadily.

A MEDICAL OPINION

Dr. Harper is not the only cancer sufferer cured by Dr. Morton. Two others have benefited as well. Not only is "liquid sunshine," or artificial fluorescence

Meaclous in the treatment of cancer, but in the treatment of tuberculosis and certain other ills, also. In writing of It in a recent issue of the New York Medical Journal and the Philadelphia Medical Journal, Dr. Morton had this

"Among the recent advances in electrotherapeutics, I may mention the plan proposed by myself of saturating the living human body with harmless fluorescent substances, like quinine, fluorescin, cosin, etc., and then subjecting the body thus saturated to the X-ray or to radium, whereupon these fluorescent substances are excited to give off their characteristic fluorescent light.

"We thus treat the patient, or some part of the paient, or any part of the patient desired, with interior light. This method means that light is developed within the very tissues themselves, in among the cells and fibres and cavities, and there effects its specific result. Whatever has been found to be true in greater or lesser degree in phototherapy of the external applications of light, is here produced internally, and in intimate relation to parts like the liver, spleen, lungs, etc., to which light has not hitherto been caused to penetrate, "In such a combined treatment, the X-radiation and the radium radiations lose their identity, because they be-ae absorbed in the act of producing fluorescence. The X-ray and the radium are merely exciting causes, while the effective agency is the light. "This treatment is giving excellent results in my hands, and has been followed by others very successfully. I am happy to note that my idea has been adapted to the purpose of illuminating the cavity of the stomach, alling this organ with an innocent fluorescent fluid, and then swallowing the usual stomach lamp. "Among substances which give fluorescence to light are quinine, aesculin, rhodamin, eosin, petroleum jelly, or reseline, petroleum in general, paraffin, tur ario indigo. get well quicker than before. Cases of tuberculous lungs are making really remarkable progress, with diminution of cough, essation of night sweats, gain in flesh, diminution of the bacilli discovered in sputa, etc. I expect at an early date to make a specific report of these cases.

"Cases of chronic malaria under this treatment, under the use of fluorescein and not quinine, have recovered. In/a recent case of amoeba coli, in which two abscesses had been opened, and in which to stem the progress of disease it had een proposed to open the colon and to inject ice water, the parasites have been absolutely destroyed. This case was re-cently reported to Dr. Stieglitz. (N. B.—Subsequently, however, a relapse occurred.)

"On the whole, the prospects for this new method seem to be most brilliant, and we may note a distinct advance, namely, an advance where light is developed in the interior of the body, instead of, as previously, from the exterior.
"The method of the production of light in the interior of tissues possesses two practical applications, which may, in conclusion, be mentioned here.

ent twenty drops of an aque-ous solution of fluorescein, one part of the fluorescein to thirty of water; and, say, forty minutes later make an X-ray exposure to a photographic plate, we obtain a radiograph of superior contrast and definition. In a similar manner fluorescopic examination of this patient, particularly of the thorax in t-berculosis these substances, which are beautifully fluorescent to light, are not correspondingly fluorescent to the X-ray It will be noted that, in this article, Dr. Morton made no mention of the treatment of cancer by the fluorescent are not fluorescent to light are highly fluorescent to the solution, or "liquid sunshine." At the time the article was written, practical cure of Dr. Harper by it was not

"Among fluorescent substances, there is one I have lately discovered, which I believed to be aesculinate of The effect of "liquid sunshine" upon the germs of cancer is practically the same as that upon the germs of tuberculosis. It kills them without injury to the healthful tissue, thus enabling the latter to heal.

Quite as rapid in its beneficial effect upon external cancer as "liquid sunshine" upon internal cancer is the radium pencil invented by Professor Hugo Lieber, a chem-In Mr. Lieber's laboratory is a small glass tube, two

It occurred to Professor Lieber that by coating a celluloid pencil or bit of celluloid very thinly with radium a more immediate and, therefore, more efficient contact with cancer might be had at much less cost. By exceeding care, he has been enabled to prepare such pencils covby a working coat of radium at $25 each.

Probably the most significant tests of Professor Lieber's invention have been made at the Flower Hospital, in New York, where, passed over the affected parts, the pencils seem to produce an immediate remedial effect. Such a result was first noticed in the case of Mrs. Sarah Oliver, of New Canaan, Conn. Mrs. Oliver is 82 years old, and the cancer that had attacked the instep of her left foot seemed destined to have its full destructive sway. At her age an attempt to use the knife would probably have been attended by fatal Realizing that her case was hopeless otherwise, Mrs. Oliver eagerly consented to a trial of external application of the radium pencil. After less than two weeks of treatment the cancer literally dropped off.

A small quantity of cocaine was injected to deaden the pain, and two incisions were made in the cancer. Into each a pencil, about an inch and a quarter long, was inserted. Both were permitted to remain in the cancer for forty-eight hours, and then were renewed after the first effects had been carefully noted. Already the resuits are most encouraging.

Professor Lieber is most modest in regard to his invention. "I am a chemist, not a physician," he explains. "I simply covered celluloid pencils with radium; the doctors must tell you about the cures."

Not only in America, but abroad, the radium pencil is proving its efficiency. In Olga Hospital, at Stuttgart, Germany, sufferers from lupus, one of the most serious and most persistent forms of skin disease, have been cured by it. To illustrate successful treatment of cancer by the ra-

One evening not very long ago a brilliant social function engaged the attention of the Russian court.
Members of the imperial family, Princes, Grand Dukes, Ministers of State and diplomats swelled the gally attired throng.

During the evening the Czar and some of his guests formed a group that engaged in general conversation, in the course of which mention was made of the luxuriant beards that, as a rule, adorn the faces of Russian He-Ever watchful for new sources of revenue, the Minister posed an ukase compelling the removal of such facial covering.

At this juncture, Prince Mirsky, Minister of the Interior, interceded in behalf of the beard, encouragement of its growth and continuance of its mission.

"There is," he said, "in the suburbs of Vilna, a rabbi whose long and exceedingly beautiful beard is a source of great pride to his people, and would be a fit subject for the brush of a painter."

Overcome by curiesity, the Czar expressed his desire to see this remarkable beard with his own eyes. The wish, of course, was law with Mirsky.

Accordingly, a telegraphic message was sent to the Governor of Vilna, ordering him to forward the rabbi to St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg.

Now, the Governor had no idea of the real reason why the rabbi was wanted, and the telegram did not explain.

A strong detachment of soldiers and police was, therefore, sent cut at once to take the supposed culprit into tody. Rudely awakened, dragged from bed and roughly handled by his captors, the terrified rabbi was hurried to headquarters. The next day, together with a number of murderers, burglars and other criminals, he was sent to St. Petersburg.

The government transports its prisoners by primitive methods. After a wearisome tramp of several weeks, the poor rabbi reached the capital, only to be thrown unceremoniously into prison. Securing an audience with Prince Mirsky, the baron made inquiries about the imprisoned rabbi.

For some time the Minister was unable to recall any memory of the man, or any reason for his arrest. At last recollection of the conversation about beards and the Czar's demand dawned upon him.

Cursing the stupidity of the officials, he hurriedly ordered the release of the rabbi, and commanded that he be escorted immediately to the private apartments of the

The jailers hastened to obey. They took the dazed rabbi from his cell, gave him a bath, a hair cut and a clean shave and sent him under guard to the palace.

Nobody at the palace knew why the man should be sent there—the rabbi certainly did not. Even the Czar was unable to fathom the mystery.

A telephonic message of inquiry that reached Prince Mirsky shortly afterward made that official jump.

"Tell his Majesty," he replied, "that it is the rabbi with the most beautiful beard in all his imperial domain."

"Why, the man hasn't any beard!" responded the Emperor, in astonishment, as he looked at the tall, cleanshaven and embarrassed stranger.

When the tangle was finally straightened, the rabbi was sent back to Vilna, to grow another beard, if he could, while the prison warden was reprimanded.

There are never more than two leaves, which attain a length of 6 feet and a breadth of 2 feet, the flowers forming crimson clusters.

INDEFINITE SENTENCES.

vogue in Canada about five years and has worked excellently. Now, as an this, Mr. Archibald wishes a system adopted by which a prisoner's term is not fixed by the judge who sentences him to penitentiary, but by a body of officials who make a study of the prisner's character and behavior and allow his liberation under certain restrictions, as soon as in their judgment, his incarceration is no longer necessary to the well-being of society.

His contentions are: First, that none should be impriso a except those whose liberty would be dangerous to society.

orisoned, not for periods fixed in advance, but just as long as their freedom would be a danger to society. With the first, none will disagree In support of the second he argues irresistibly that possible reform is one of the justifications for legal punish ment: justice does not exclude charity. Also he contends that the classification of crime in even the best penal code s all more or less arbitrary. Under the Hebrew law of an eye for an eye. and a tooth for a tooth, the matter was much simpler, but when it comes to measure the money value of an eye for a nose or the length of imprisonment which forms an equivalent for a study of the sentences actually imposed shows the most curious variation and sometimes contradictions. The sending of people to prison for

The analogy is a fair one should be imprisoned until it has been ascertained that he is of a crinimal character, and when this is establish-

eformed or until he dies

With these arguments facing one, lusion that the best remedy for an obnoxiously unfair condition is the system which Mr. Archibald so warmly approves and which has worked in practice with admirable success in States. If a man convicted of a crime is held out hope and offered an opportunity to take his place among honorable men once more, he is much less apt to sink permanently to the class of habitual criminals than if he is branded as incorrigible upon his first offense. And any system that offers a prospect for the recovery to decent life of the thousands whom this country and towns, will again be confronted is maintaining in its jails and penitentiaries today is worth a least a fair

WOLFVILLE, N. S., June 4 .- Commencement week in Wolfville, the seat of Acadia College with its affiliated ools, Acadia Seminary and Horton Academy, is the occasion of much rejoicing and exchange of friendly greetings as old friends and graduates return this week to celebrate the 67th anniversary. The beauty of the natural surroundings in the variety of its scenery, the profusion of its apple blossoms and the wealth of foliage, as sist materially in keeping alive the affection for their alma mater and loyalty for her welfare that annually bring back so many of her sons and daughters to the recurring anniversaries. This year a larger number of visitors are returning to take part in the celebration of Dr. Sawyer's fiftieth year of service for Acadia. This com memoration, which occurs during the graduation exercises, will take the form of a presentation speech and purse. It is expressive of the love and veneration due this great educator and the appreciation of his remarkable services as instructor and president that so many graduates have assembled from all parts of the country to do him honor. The baccalaureate sermon was delivered on Sunday morning in Assembly hall of the college, which was packed to the doors with the youth beauty and wisdom of the cutured and educated people of the maritime provinces. This year the management were fortunate in securing Rev. W. E. Bates, pastor of the Baptist church at Mystic, Conh. This gentleman is well known as an emphatic and convincing speaker, of rare originality, deep thinker, with a keen insight in to the mysteries of the spiritual life. He is well known in this province, having spent a number of years as pas tor at Halifax and Amherst.

LOOKING FOR HEIRS OF MISER.

MONTREAL, June 5 .- George A Smythe, lawyer, of 964 St. Nicholas avenue, New York, who is at the Queen Hotel, is here to find the heirs of Mary Martin and William Sheridan. The latter was born in Ireland and came to Montreal at an early age and went to New York in 1855, where he died. He was a shoemaker and left a comfortable fortune, though he was such a miser he died of starvation. Mary Martin, whose heirs are also being sought, died in New York without a will, leaving much property, although at one time she was in such abject poverty she had to sell her hair to buy food. Her heirs are supposed to be her brother's children.

He made it as in-the great province of Ontario, and convenient as possible for the consersome smaller provinces have gone conservative, the grits want to abandon servative, the grits want to abandon their pet scheme and adopt the old tory plan, which they had denounced with the utmost venom. What consideration Mr. Greenway will receive for yesterday's work remains to be what wonderful consideration has been with a tear in his voice telling what wonderful consideration has been with a two moderful consideration has been with a two moderful consideration has been what wonderful consideration has been supported by the consideration and the statement of the consideration has been supported by the consideration and the statement of the constant of seen, but it is safe to assume that his reward will be of a substantial nature. His speech, however, was not up to the parliamentary standard in theme or deliverance, yet on the election stump it would be called a good effort. At the outset the expremier of Manifest 180 anxious to use the anxious it would be called a good effort. At the outset the ex-premier of Manitoba asked the house to adopt a franchise to when the liberals were in power. There may be a difference of opinion as to what fair-play It is well to remember, however, that the hon, gentleman (Mr. Greenway) has failed to appeal successfully to his own jury in the province of the revising officer, I asked the enumerator with the province of the revising officer, I asked the enumerator with the province of the revising officer, I asked the enumerator with the revising officer. Now, however, things have changed: there has been a revolution of feeling. in the more intelligent parts of Canada at any rate, and Manitoba sent the ball rolling in the right direction. each side of the room and across the The hon. gentleman (Mr. Greenway) would never have held the reins of government so long as he did in Manitoba on broad questions of public policy. He secured his support at least programme. It was nearly 10 o'clock on two successive elections, by appeals to prejudice and passions of the people by means of the school ques-tion. This is what retained the hon. gentleman in power so very long and not the fact of his general policy being suitable to the people of the province. Now, because they have met with defeat on a couple of occasions in Manitoba the hon, gentleman desires that an exception should be made in the province in connection with the Dominion Franchise Act, and that you should take the provincial wherever there is a liberal government in power and that you should have a new list prepared by the dominion officials where there is a conservative government in power. He has in mind no doubt the list that was prepared for the constituency of Lisgar two or three years ago at the time a by-election was held there. The dominion act calls for new lists to be prepared by the dominion officials in the event of the provincial lists being more than 12 months old. At the time chised the electors by leaving them enof the by-elections Mr. Richardson was seeking the franchise of the electors, and by the way my hon. friend referred rather skeptically to his old time friend Mr. Richardson. Time was when they used to hunt in couples; time was when Mr. Richardson and the right hon. gentleman himself used to go from hustings to hustings and he appreciated the support that he re-ceived from Mr. Richardson at that time. They are not standing on the same platform today.

W. J. Roche-The fact is that the hon, gentleman and his friends have changed their principles and Mr. Richardson is still standing exactly for the principles that he advocated when he was a candidate for the hon. gentleman and his party. It is the party which has strayed away from their moorings and they should not be so very unkind to Mr. Richardson because he chose to turn his guns on the hon, gentleman new and because standing to his principles. Mr. Richardson in discharging his duties as a public citizen endeavors to lead the the misfortune to fall beneath one of hon. gentleman back to his first start- the wheels. It passed over his right in that constituency a few years ago.

The dominion set states that in the complication of these lists the provincial law should be followed. What was the Manitoba set? Stetsen, Cutler & Co. are making all necessary preparations for the handling of large quantities of pulp wood to be used in the Mispec pulp mills, which they recently leased. Down at Musquash there are now between fifteen and seventeen million feet of pulp wood, most of which is in the Musquash, and more will be cut. The company are heavily interested in the Inglewood Pulp Co. lands, and will secure the raw material there.

It will be remembered that a great section of the timber limits held by the Inglewood concern in the vicinity of Musquash was burned over a couple of years ago. But new that the the Brandenburger, the boundary of Stetson, Cutler Co. have leased the Mispec mill, there is an opening for all the pulp wood that can be brought down, and facilities for handling it are being arranged. The distance from Stillwater lake to the Musquash shore is roughly one and a half miles, and the lake level is between twenty-five affords a good grade and the Stetson company will at once proceed with the construction of a sluice for bringing these pulp logs to the shore. There will be ten inches of water in the sluice when in use and the grade is such that the pulp wood sitting on the right of the Empress will pass down at the rate of one hundred and eighty feet a minute. ONE BOX OF DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED DROPSY.

Dropsy is not a disease in itself, as many people believe, but is an evidence of very severe kidney trouble. Dropsy is caused by watery particles oozing through the walls of the arteries when they are ducted, the choir taking part. An puffiness under the eyes, swelling of the feet and anxies, urine changed in character and appearance, smothering feeling from exertion or excitement. The only rational method of treating this disease is to reach the leidingy and restore them to a healthy condition.

The service will be concluded with the apostolic benediction, pronounced by it is Lordship. The reception will be entirely informal, and people of all denominations will be configully welcomed.

His Lordship will dedicate the new Roman Catholic church at Ringsolear on Tuesday morning.

The most successful remedy for this purpose is Doan's Ridney Pills. Read what Miss Agnes Cresiman, Upper Smith-ville, N.S., says of them — I caught a cold, which settled in my kidneys, and turned to dropsy. My face, limbs, and feet became bloated, and if Poressed my finger on them it would make a white impression that would last fully a minute before the flesh regained its natural color. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and found by their use that I was cured in a very short time. I have never had any trouble with it since.
