CAR REPAIRER KILLED HERE

Said Accident in C. N. R. Yard
Saturday Afternoon. Matthew St. Onge Killed.

A sad accident occurred in the railway yard here on Saturday last about 4:15 p. m. When Matthew St. Onge, a C. N. R. employee, lost his life as a result of being crushed between the coupling of two cars.

The deceased had just quit work for the day and was passing two cars to secure his dinner before going home, when these two were suddenly shoved together by a shunt which was being made further up on the same track and the unfortunate man was caught between the two cars and down less than he had time to realize his danger. As it was impossible to separate the cars without increasing the suffering of the victim, before witnesses hurriedly proceeded to the scene and with them released the unfortunate man. Although pinned firmly between the cars for some time, seven or eight minutes Mr. St. Onge admirably retained his composure and conversed with those about him. But reaction set in upon his release and he immediately lapsed into unconsciousness, death following in the course of a few minutes. The remains were removed to the residence of his sister Mrs. P. T. Foubert, from where the funeral services were held on Monday morning. Rev. Father Macleod officiating, assisted by Rev. Father Sivert as Deacon and L'Ebbe Albert Poirier as sub-deacon.

Deceased who was in his 44th year, leaves to mourn the loss of a kind and affectionate father four children, George, Corine, Dora and Charles. Mrs. St. Onge having predeceased him some ten years ago. He is also survived by two sisters Mrs. P. T. Foubert and Mrs. Wm. St. Onge and three brothers Robert, Joseph and George. To the grief stricken family the heartfelt sympathy of the community is extended.

THE FANS AND THE GAME

Increasing Interest Shown in Games, But Financial Return Inadequate.

The outlook for baseball circles is beginning to take on a more hopeful color. That is, everything except the financial side. This has not as yet acquired an especially sanguine hue. The baseballs are usually fairly well decorated with appreciative fans but they seldom pay under the crowd. Those who are interested in baseball should remember that sportsmanship is needed on the benches as well as on the diamond. And it should be remembered that the fan's sportsmanship that will cause the fans to pull something out of his pocket when the ball passes under his nose. Some fans seem to be affected with "nickelitis." It is a bad disease and detrimental to any kind of sports. Like cancer it is curable only in its first stages. We are told that money talks. Even so, nickels may have had something to say in grandmothers' time, but in this strenuous age of jazz, fast cars and cinematic flappers it is only the larger coins and greenbacks that make even an audible squeak amidst the din of this speedy 20th century.

Then again we hear some people talking "big leagues" and ridiculing the brand of ball that is exhibited here. When the Ford hit the chicken the latter cried "Cheap! Cheap!" That is just the way we feel about the big league "rag-chewers." Besides being cheap their loquacity is too big for a small town.

Since you can't take a Fifth Avenue bus to see Ty Cobb perform, come to O'Leary's field and see some of our local stars in action. They are—but there, we can't enumerate, it is press time.

MCMILLAN-HAMILTON.

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hamilton, Black Point, Rest. County, N. B. on Wednesday July 12th at 4 p. m. when their daughter Annie Bell was united in marriage to James Gordon McMillan of Jacques River. The house was prettily decorated with fuchsias, ferns, and roses. The bride was gown in white dattches satin and wore the conventional veil and carried a bouquet of bridal roses.

The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. E. J. Shaw of Dalhousie in the presence of about forty guests. Miss Ellen Harvie played the wedding march.

After the ceremony the bride and groom received the congratulations of their many friends. A dainty lunch was served and the happy couple left on a wedding trip for St. John and various points of interest through the Province of Nova Scotia. They received a large and beautiful collection of wedding gifts. On their return they will reside at Jacques River. Their host of friends wish them many years of happy wedded life.

FUNERAL OF LATE A. Z. MATTHEWS

Services Attended By All Classes of Citizens—Eloquent Tribute By Pastor

Last Thursday afternoon citizens of every station and class attended the funeral services in honor of the late Driver Auley Matthews. Long before the hour set for the service the Methodist church was crowded to the doors and many remained outside in carriages and autos.

Rev. F. E. Boothroyd paid a fine tribute to the memory of the deceased in his address in part, after quoting Dr. Parker's poem.

Most surely Dr. Parker in this great poem expresses a profound truth. Death is misunderstood. He is truly "a virored friend." Though we do not like the "mask," the service rendered by death is recognized as true friendship in the clearest light of eternity. Only unregenerate sinners need fear death. The true man, the Christian man, realizes death as a means of greater promotion, of unfettering of his powers of further development of his highest nature, of the undimmed fellowship with the loved ones gone before and not least, a pride of the resurrected body.

Mr. Boothroyd then welcomed all the diverse elements which made up the congregation, including Roman Catholics, and declared that every man present had a heart full of genuine sympathy with the widow, the only remaining son, and daughter, in their sudden and tragic bereavement. Relating various tributes of respect, he told of the engineer who that day, just before taking the Limited out of Campbellton, said that "A. Z. Matthews was a valuable leader of the men of the Brotherhood and there was no wonder he had been 'Chief' of the Division for so many years. Whenever any radical or wild talk was indulged in, it was Mr. Matthews' diplomatic manner and wise suggestions which restored the calm and pointed the better way. Another engineer testified that "Auley" was not only well informed and tactful, but that he never maneuvered to his own gain. He was utterly unselfish. Such tributes proved that the men present had not left their "bouquets" to be seen in the rich flowers on the casket. Frequently in the past days, in appointing Mr. Matthews to carry responsible authority in representing their interests before "the powers that be" had they shown their love and esteem.

The preacher declared that Mr. Matthews had found his true sphere in life, not in mechanically doing his job, as in living and working for others. As he lived, so he died. In the crisis of accident, he acted swiftly with the sole thought of the safety of the many passengers behind him. As much as any soldier-hero whose name is inscribed on the honor rolls of the churches, Matthews died doing bravely for his country. From this time on, indifference on the part of passengers should give to a worthy thoughtfulness and admiration. These men deserve not only big wages, but what is more, the gratitude of the travelling public.

A simple and beautiful compliment was made to the widow who had just said in the hour of her deepest sorrow "My husband spent much of his spare time for the Brotherhood, but I never objected." Such a spirit gains a recorded appreciation in the Great Book of Heaven.

As pastor of the deceased, Mr. Boothroyd paid his own tribute in earliest words. Mr. Matthews was not a Brotherhood or Lodge man who neglected his church. Rather, he evidenced a true balance of things social with things spiritual. His regular church attendance and his keen, intelligent attention to the sermon challenged the preacher to do his very best. Always an easy man to work with, Mr. Matthews was willing to co-operate in every worthy movement in church circles. The pastor had lost a personal friend.

Relating the retirement of a certain old minister whose splendid qualities were worthy of imitation, a challenge was thrown out to the congregation. What man there was willing to have the mantle of Mr. Matthews fall upon him? The Brotherhood work must be kept up, so also the church? Upon whom must the mantle fall? Elijah had gone; Who would be Elisha?

The congregation was deeply moved at the close of the address. Then, after having listened in silent reverence to the reading of the will, "The Dead March in Saul," they slowly left the church to follow the honored remains to the beautiful cemetery.

The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

C. F. D. TRIM COLTS BADLY

Friday an Unlucky Day For Colts—Score Piled up
13 to 6

On Friday last the C. F. D., took a heavy beating from the Colts by storm defeating them in a seven inning game with a score of 13 to 6.

The Colts made a promising start in the first inning and succeeded in holding the firemen to one run in the second. In the third, however, the C. F. D. nine got down to slugging in earnest and began to pick off safe hits in rapid succession. The Colts chalked one run in the fourth and brought two men home in the fifth but with the end of this inning the score stood 13 to 5 against them for the firemen had continued their heavy hitting and also had been utilizing every advantage.

The sixth inning went blank for both sides. The Colts came back with some speed in the last and chalked up another run which made the score 18 to 6 in favor of the C. F. D. Although the score was one sided both teams played well and although not very closely contested the game was snappy and interesting. McLean and Lloyd did the heavy slugging for the C. F. D., who sent out fourteen safe hits while the Colts were successful in peeling off only four. Rattray, tossing the pill for the firemen pitched a fine game but was called near the end of the contest.

Doncaster relieved him. Allingham caught a good game behind the plate for the C. F. D., nine and Perch and Letourneau who changed in the fourth contributed good support to Dobson the Colts twinner. The teams were even in errors each stating five.

DEATH HAS NO CHARMS

While enjoying a Sunday swim up country two local young men had an exciting experience. One of them got beyond his depth and as the merciless side of the Restigouche bore him swiftly down-stream, he left his mouth open by mistake and unintentionally absorbed a large quantity of the river. His companion reached him as he was disappearing for the proverbial, third and last time and pulled him to safety by the top-knot.

On commenting on the incident later the nearly drowned young man declared that as he was helplessly rising and falling between the top and the bottom all the parental warnings regarding the dangers of drowning that had ever been lavished upon him flowed through his mind like a circus procession. Calmly concluding that he was doomed he waited for the subdued, pleasant feeling which death is credited with imparting to its victims. But the gardener's sensation did not set in, so he decided that he could not be doomed to a watery grave after all. Thereupon a hand seized him by the scalp and drew him to safety.

Mr. A. Conan Doyle assures us that death is both pleasant and painless.

ably this theory does not apply to drowning on Sunday.

Nakusp, B.C.—As an indication of the increased industrial activity of the lumber mills of Nakusp, the Nakusp Lumber Company find their yarding room so limited that they have cleared about four acres of land near the first mill port along the C. P. R. where a year will be built and the lumber hauled up in cars and allowed to dry before being shipped outside points.

Lawrence, B.C.—Amongst the many splendid summer publications of the C. P. R. are two of special interest to this part. The first one deals with "Bungalow Camps" and beautiful Lake Windermere. Camps adjoining this place. The other one is a publication given over exclusively to describing the local "Camp". This is a seventeen-page dossier, most beautifully illustrated with local productions of photographs of local scenery. The latter press is by Mr. Frederic Niven.

The gist of the matter is, in the opinion of the various agents, the automobile reads throughout the Windermere district.

Chatham, Ontario.—Wholesale summing of boys and men who frequently use the C. P. R. tracks as a place for walks, was indicated by County Police recently, with the averring out of a number of informations by a C. P. R. detective who conducted an investigation.

It is alleged that the defendants trespassing on the C. P. R. tracks a short distance from the City in Harwich township.

Informants have also been laid against several boys under the age of sixteen years.

The Casino of the Algonquin Hotel provided an excellent menu of the past, and to the almost 500 delegates and others who have gathered for a week, attending the sessions, it will be a pleasant memory. So much of a success has been the year's convention that it can be said, without violating any confidence, that the most influential members of the association are anxious to hold future conventions under similar conditions.

THREE INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Chief of Police Chamberlain of Bathurst and Five Others Injured at Jacques River.

Wednesday morning of last week Messrs. Frank C. Fournier, proprietor of the Depot Hotel, Bathurst, and five others were injured in an auto accident at Jacques River bridge.

The Chief of Police was the most seriously injured, suffering a compound fracture of the left leg. Mr. Fournier received injuries to the head, hand and foot and his leg was painfully swollen, while Mr. Hodgetts was severely cut on one leg.

The accident occurred about seven o'clock on Mr. Fournier driving his Studebaker Light Six and accompanied by Messrs. Chamberlain, Fournier, J. C. Fournier and Walter E. Veillette on their way to Campbellton to attend the races.

The car was descending the hill leading to Jacques River bridge just above the church and when the bridge had been nearly reached a badly horse car wagon got directly in the way of the descending car.

Mr. Fournier succeeded in steering his car around the team, although the horse or its driver lost control and backed right in his way forcing him into the ditch and he was unable to get his car out sufficiently to clear the ranging of the bridge.

The radiator was broken from its place depositing it on the driveway and the hot water from this painfully scalded him. He was pinned by the bridge timbers so that he could not move and a number of men who rushed to his aid from their work on the bridge were about a half hour extracting him. Chief Chamberlain was found to have broken his leg, while of the three men in the rear seat only Mr. Hodgetts was hurt. Dr. Ellis was quickly summoned to the scene and dressed the wounds of the injured men. Chief Chamberlain was tenderly placed on a stretcher and the whole party brought to Bathurst by the limited which arrived shortly after the accident. The Chief was taken to the hospital and the other members of the party to their homes.

Mr. Justice Crockett last week gave judgment in the case of Meili vs. Dechenne an action for the recovery of a horse, which was filed at the last session of the Circuit Court at Dalhousie, before him with a jury, and in which the jury found the issues in favor of the defendant. The case however involved several questions of law regarding the validity of two bills of sale under which the parties respectively claimed. His Honor decided these in favor of the defendant, and ordered the return of the horse or the payment of its value, as found by the jury to the defendant, together with the costs of the action. H. A. Carr for the defendant and A. T. LeBlanc for plaintiff.

As you all know, cancer is the great enemy of old age, it is a destroyer of precious lives which is destroying silently under the guise of a gastric cancer, or cancer of the bladder, a merciless scratch. Cancer works in the darkness and it is only when the harm done is beyond control, that one is made aware of its existence. It is, therefore, causing terror in its revelation to its victims and heart-breakingly to the families. Cancer is all the more dreadful because it strikes the young and the vigorous. Its production is the greatest and his services most precious for home and country.

It is dread to so much greater when it strikes the poor mother of a family at an age, when after giving children to her country, she begins to enjoy a well earned rest teaching them to become good and upright citizens.

The Medical Profession is handicapped in fighting this dreaded enemy unless called on in early stages of the disease. Notwithstanding the advances made in this branch of medicine, a curative agent for cancer has not yet been found, although we can visualize the discoveries of a more enlightened future. In fact the greatest cause of this disease is cancer is heretofore condemned by science as based on radium and X Ray because these agents have already rendered inappreciable services even far surpassing those in the treating of the most superficial epitheliomas and in allaying the pain and homorhagies of the deep seated inoperable cancer. But these agents are not yet such as to cure cancer, but rather they are curative in the future, is not yet clearly defined. Possibly many years will elapse before science can conquer this disease. The only means of curing cancer rests on an early surgical intervention before distant diffusion of the evil, especially when such intervention is followed by radiations emanating from radium and X rays. The only means to destroy the pathologic cells which exist in the surrounding tissues.

To arrive at such results, patients must seek such assistance during the early stage of the disease, unfortunately, such is not the case, in every practitioner's experience men come to us with cancer of the lip which has already involved the surrounding ganglions, women with cancer of the breast extending its ramifications to the axilla and mediastinum, women with cancer of the cervix involving all the surrounding tissues. In such inoperable cancer of the stomach etc. What do these patients give us on our asking the reason for such delay in consulting the medical profession? They say, "I thought the cancering my lip would cure it" the other: "My breast was harmless" another exclaims: "I was told that cancer of the lip could be homorhagied" an complaining of "now etc."

The majority of these cases which are beyond the reach of surgery and which are beyond the reach of diagnosis followed by a removal of the lesion had been made, because 'remember' before cancer became generalized, it is a local affection very curable.

In this instance as in the foregoing, ignorance and neglect play an important part in the destruction of life. These poor victims of cancer, who are the cause of death, should recognize the first alarming symptoms of the disease, are a prey to premature death. Since, the salvation of the cancerous lies in an early surgical intervention, they should look forward to the day when conferences and pamphlets will teach the public what it should know about the cancer.

One man should beware of the fact that cancer of the lip starts with a painless erosion which bleeds freely without every healing.

To everyone who knows that the so-called "men doctors or one who pretends to cure cancer by cauterization are most harmful when any hope of recovery is to be maintained. Every woman who says, "I thought that prolonged menstruation may point out to be an incurable disease" unless she at once consults a surgeon, who may save her life by an early operation.

Every woman should know that cancer of the breast starts with an insignificant lump which if neglected until painful becomes fatal.

Every woman who says, "I thought I was in a precocious diagnosis and to arrive at this, the doctor must do his task well, he must explore thoroughly, otherwise he is responsible for the cancer which renders her cure impossible."

My third and last dream is the most important one because, when realized, it will save the lives of thousands.

To make known the most elementary laws of hygiene; to fight against preventable diseases, to treat venereal diseases, to give sexual education to the young, to teach the young to protect their bodies and keep intact their vital energy for the pro-creation of numerous and healthy offsprings, to make known certain notions of the

The city council, by the "Minister of Health" or by local health boards for the preservation of health, to improve the fate of those who suffer and to lessen the number of white coffins that we see filling out during the summer months.

We deplore the ravages caused by preventable diseases but we hesitate when it comes to take appropriate means to combat and prevent them.

Let everybody know the Prophylaxis of disease has become a state concern today and that both the medical profession and the government should work jointly in the prevention of disease.

Let everybody know the Prophylaxis of disease has become a state province or county that neglect it fail at its duty.

Also there seems to be a lack of interest given to our medical corps, our medical men and to preventive medicine.

Although less famous than the great scientists whose discoveries have benefited the world with admirable, our achievements in a more concentrated circle, accomplish indisputable good. Everywhere and at all times, the physician is the guardian of public health, therefore it is our incumbent duty to disclose frankly what recent discoveries exist for the prolongation of life, that treatise which each individual possesses but which he neglects to use.

Battle for Marine Supremacy Renewed on Pacific Ocean

The "Empress of Canada," the new C.P.R. liner which opens a new era of development in Canada's trans-Pacific Trade.

THE arrival at Vancouver of the "Empress of Canada," the new Canadian Pacific liner, was marked at that port as an event of the first importance. Public receptions for the great liner were planned and thousands of Vancouver's citizens took the first opportunity of visiting the ship and making a thorough inspection of her splendid appointments.

The "Empress of Canada's" importance as a factor in Canada's trans-Pacific trade was outlined in a message received at Vancouver from D. G. Coleman, vice-president, C. P. R. western line, on the day of her arrival. Mr. Coleman said:

"The struggle for supremacy in seaborne trade was first fought out in the narrow waters of the Mediterranean, and around its shores and those of neighboring seas, across great seaports, such as Smyrna, Alexandria, Constantinople, Salonica, Venice, Genoa, Naples, and Marseilles. In the sixteenth century, the scene of conflict shifted to the Atlantic, and leadership passed in turn to Spain, to Holland and to Britain. This brought added riches to London, Antwerp and Hamburg, and laid the foundation of the greatness of New York, Boston, Baltimore and Montreal. In the opinion of many the twentieth century will see the battle renewed on the waters of the Pacific, and there we may expect an area of breathless competition. British navigators, and British traders led the way there, and if the Empire is to remain in the lead, the Dominion of Australia, New Zealand and Canada must be alive to the greatness of the issue and the immensity of the possibilities. As an evidence that Canada is ready to meet all comers in friendly rivalry, the Canadian Pacific sends to the North Pacific one of the finest products of the shipyards of the Empire. It is our hope and our expectation that she and her sister ships will be deemed worthy of the flag which they fly and that during their lives they will contribute greatly to the upbuilding and advancement of Canada's Pacific ports—Victoria and Vancouver."

Speaking of names, we heard of an old colored mammy who called her eldest boy, "Prescription," because she said it cost a lot to get him filled.

"Yes, said the specialist, as he stood at the bedside of the sick purchasing agent: 'I am sure I can cure you.'"

"What will it cost?" asked the sick man faintly.

"Ninety-one dollars."

"You'll have to shade your price little," replied the purchasing agent.

"I have a better price from the undertaker."

THE PENSION INVESTIGATION.

The Canadian Government has promised a commission of three, entirely independent of the government or government departments, to thoroughly investigate the pension charges made by the G. W. V. A.

It is announced that the commission will be given the necessary authority to proceed on its own judgment and to make suggestions regarding the procedure for pension and medical treatment or appeals in respect of decisions thereon.

This promise and its provisions is broad enough to enable a thorough study of the complaints recently made in addition to this it also offers a splendid opportunity for an exhaustive study of the pension methods and it is to be hoped that the investigation may be productive of a solution to the troubles to which this system is a victim, and result in the adoption of the best possible method of operating it.

It might be said that the investigation is not being inaugurated any too soon. We have all heard of soldier-the settlement of pensions, etc. It is to be hoped that the investigation will be performed with the utmost thoroughness and that the results will be a satisfaction to all concerned. The returned soldier must assuredly deserve our every proper consideration.

THE TELL OF A MAHOUT.

Frightened Tiger That Hunter Had Failed to Kill.

An extraordinary encounter with a tiger is described in the Wide World Magazine, by Mr. G. H. Hoag. He was hunting in Assam and seated on an elephant with the mahout, or driver, in front of him, was going silently along when he saw in the bushes the track of some animal.

"I was carefully following the track," he says, "when out of a dense clump of grass walked a beautiful, full-grown tiger. The tiger had just killed a large deer and started to feed. On being disturbed he had strolled out to investigate. He stopped not more than twenty yards in front of the elephant, stood broadside on and assumed an air of contemptuous indifference.

When the mahout whispered
"maroi maroi" (shoot! shoot!) I took me a moment to collect myself.
However, I scored a hit just behind the first shoulder. The tiger's air of indifference now disappeared; he gave a great leap into the air to a spot about a hundred yards away where he again stood broadside on in a patch of half-burnt thicket.

"I had only three cartridges left, and I fired each one without the tiger moving an inch or even turning his head. The only reason I can offer for such strange conduct is that he was suffering from the shock of the first bullet. The last three shots must all have been misses.

"The situation was now serious,
for I was without a single cartridge, and the tiger, turning his head now and then to lick his wound, was still standing there very much alive.
While I hurriedly discussed our predicament with the agitated mahout I took my eye for a moment off the tiger, and on looking again I found that he had disappeared. Realizing then that it was a case of the hunter's being hunted, I told the mahout to start for home.

"He had no sooner turned the elephant's head than our rushed the tiger. With a great roar, he came straight for the elephant, which promptly took fright and started to bolt. The mahout's attention was divided between striving to get the terrified elephant under control and shouting at the tiger with all the power of his lungs. That proved his value in similar (hunting) work, for the unearthly noise he made was the means of our salvation.

"The tiger was only a single leap away, and in imagination I could almost feel his huge teeth in my flesh when the frantic mahout gave a perfectly terrific yell. In a flash the tiger turned, and the mahout, quick to take advantage of the almost unbelievable result of his outcry, continued shouting until the beast disappeared. It seems remarkable that such a ferocious beast should have been scared by the mahout's yell, but it is a fact that many wild animals will bolt on hearing an unusual noise."
