Germania Day.

Waterloo Sends Her Big Crowds and Best Band.

Fine Weather and Improved Attendance at the Fair.

The Art Display a Credit to Local Talent.

Excellent Exhibit of Horses, Sheep and Swine.

The Evening Attractions Draw a Big Crowd—The Japanese Day Fireworks Calverley Again—The Racing Events—The Soldier Horses, Trained Dogs and Trick Shooting.

Germania Day at the Fair found the grounds thronged with a large crowd of visitors, though the attendance fell short of the corresponding day last year. Although there looked to be more present the turnstiles did not register more than 10,000. The grand stands were almost as well patronized as on Germania Day last year. The people from Berlin and the surrounding country came down in crowds, and more than that, they brought their incomparable band with them. This band is as eagerly looked for by citizens as the fair itself, and yesterday's visit demonstrated the fact that they have lost none of their old-time popularity or old-time proficiency.

The patrons of the Fair during the day were of the class that come to see the whole show if they have to stay right with it until late at night. They come well provided with eatables, and when night falls their only regret seems to be that they had not brought their beds. They are generally tired enough to sleep.

IN THE RING.

The grand stands were well filled and the hot sun had dried up the track during the morning. This made the latter a little speedier than on the previous day, and, as there were only two racing events the attractions were concluded in good time. The Berlin Band were in the stand and their music was entirely up to the standard. The same officers were in charge of the racing. The attractions were sandwiched in between the heats of the different races, and so attention was not allowed to lag for an instant. Mr. Adam Beck's horses did some splendid high jumping in front of the stand. Kensington carried off the palm, with London second and The Squire third. The crowd applauded the exhibition.

CALVERLEY'S DARING DEEDS.

Clifford M. Calverley trotted out on the high wire amidst a burst of applause. The wind was not so strong as on the previous day and the flags hung liteless from the ends of his heavy balancing pole. He was dressed in blue, a change from the red of the day before. He lay down on his back on the wire without touching hands or feet. Then he placed his hands beneath his head and threw one leg over the other in an easy reclining position. He recovered himself with wonderful ease and then walked quickly backwards and forwards with his balancing bar behind his back or else held at arms' length above his head. With half-bushel baskets on his feet he walked and kneeled on the wire. Kicking them off, he stood upright and dived apparently clear of the wire. But his hands were in the right place, and he brought up clinging tightly to his dizzy perch. After clinging with one hand and hanging by one foot he enveloped himself in a sack, and walking out to the center, as rapidly as usual, he discarded his incumbrances in mid-air. While he was balanced in his chair smoking and reading and rocking himself, a start was made in one of the heats of the 2:30 trot. He watched the horses as they came down the stretch, and turning his head he took in the start with as much interest as those on the stands. He stood on his head, turned somersaults and back again without a falter. When the band struck up the inspiring strains of "The Maple Leaf" he felt constrained to waltz. This he did, and gracefully too, keeping perfect time as he moved backward and forward, tossing his feet high into space with the unconcern of the ballet dancer on the stage. The crowd were generous in their applause and the young man acknowleged each by a salutation. While he was performing, a photographer took photos of his movements from the grounds.

THE JAPANESE.

The little fellows varied their previous exhibition in some particulars. The display of day fireworks was new and unique. The explosives are shot into space from mortars, and bursting hundreds of feet in the air, they there display, in fantastic shapes and colors, effigies of animals known and unknown. Some broke into clouds of multi-colored smoke with accompanying little explosions of white smoke, making a very pretty effect. From one floated the flags of a dozen different nations. They presented probably the prettiest appearance of any of the Japs' very original specialty. Their balancing and slack wire feats were deservedly applauded while the ludicrous appearance of the smallest member, as one of the troupe juggled him into all sorts of shapes and positions, convulsed the onlookers.

COUP'S EQUESCURRICULUM.

FREYER'S EDUCATED DOGS.

Policemen can receive points from these little animals in the detection, conviction and punishment of crime. To steal another's collar is a capital offense in Dogville, and the dog that commits the theft gets it in the neck. The execution and burial were funny enough to make the clown dog laugh as he rode behind on the hearse.

THE TRICK SHOOTING.

Broncho Bob and Miss Trixie Slocum again split cards held in one another's fingers, and touched the ashes of a cigar held alternately in one another's mouths. The rebound shot of Broncho Bob's is worthy of note. With one bullet he sets in motion a trap which projects a glass ball into the air. The next instant another report is heard and the ball falls shattered to the stage. This is done with lightning rapidity of action.

THE RACES.

The final heat of Monday's unfinished 3-minute trot was run at 1 o'clock. Only three horses came out when this event was called on. Frank Pritchard and Stephen R had withdrawn, leaving the heat to be trotted between Fleetwood, Insurance and John Nelson. Fleetwood came in first, but was put back to second place for running. John Nelson took the heat and first money; Insurance third place and second money, Fleetwood second place and third money. Time, 2:35. Purse, $100.

FREE-FOR-ALL-TROT AND PACE—PURSE $100.

Joe Bowers went to the front with a spurt, but broke badly and fell behind. The heat went to Rosa B, who did some nice steady trotting. Bay Fly came in second, Corncracker third, Young Bonair fourth and Joe Bowers fifth. Time, 2:26¾.

Second heat—Young Bonair forged ahead and led throughout the heat, with Corncracker in hot pursuit. The finish was close, with Young Bonair ahead and Corncracker a length behind. Rosa B. took third place, Bay Fly fourth and Joe Bowers was distanced. Time, 2:24½.

Third heat—This was a very interesting heat, and was close and exciting from start to finish. Corncracker passed Young Bonair, who was leading on the last quarter, but was in turn passed by Rosa B and Young Bonair. Rosa B won the heat, Young Bonair second, Corncracker third, Bay Fly fourth. Time, 2:24.

Fourth heat—Young Bonair kept well up to the front until after the half mile, when he fell back. Rosa B finished first and took first money, with Corncracker a close second, with third money. Bay Fly finished third, with Young Bonair fourth and second money. Time, 2:22½. Summary:

Free-for-all trot and pace; purse, $100:

Rosa B., ch. m., T. Heatherington, Cedar Springs	1	3	1	1

Axtell, b. s., Andrew Thompson, Stratford.....dr
Time—2:26½, 2:24¼, 2:24, 2:22½.

2:30 CLASS, TROTTERS.

First heat—Brinker Sprague walked away from the field at the outset and kept several yards in the lead throughout the race. With the exception of J. I. Case, who was left hopelessly in the rear, the other horses were well bunched all through the heat. Saranac took second place with Paris, Bay Billy, Four Lines and J. I. Case following in the order named. Time, 2:34 1-4.

Second heat—The heat ended exactly as the previous one, with the exception that Four Lines took last place instead of J. I Case, who was next. The heat was a procession throughout and Brinker Sprague was never headed once The finish was in the following order: Brinker Sprague, Saranac, Paris, Bay Billy, J. I. Case and Four Lines. Time 2:30.

Third heat—Brinker Sprague came under the wire first, but was put back to fifth place for running. J. I. Case finished second, and was given first place; Bay Billy third and second place, with Paris and Four Lines third and fourth respectively. Time, 2:34¾.

Fourth heat—Brinker Sprague trotted a great gait, taking first place and first money. Saranac finished second and got third money, while J. I. Case came under the wire third and was awarded second money. Four Lines finished fourth, Bay Billy fifth. Paris was drawn in this heat. Time, 2:35. Summary:

2:30 class, trotting; purse, $100:

Paris, c. s., O. W. Chamberlain, Petrolea	3	3	dis

Time—2:34¼, 2:30, 2:34¾, 2:35.

THE EVENING ATTRACTIONS.

About 5,000 people attended last night to witness the evening attractions, and they could not have been disappointed. The fireworks were good, and reflected much credit on the manufacturers, Prof. Hand & Co. They included discharges of rockets of variegated colors, meteoric rain, a beautiful square with revolving star in the center, and not least of all a large portrait of Lord Aberdeen. This was heartily applauded.

Prof. W. C. Coup and his horses gave a fine performance, including dancing, skipping and many other novel movements, but perhaps the most interesting feature of the evening was the performance of the Imperial Japanese Troup, who are admitted to be the most clever acrobatic performers ever seen in the country.

On account of the high wind blowing at the time, Prof. Calverley was unable to give a performance on the high wire.

NOTES.

D. McLurg, a horseman, from Lobo, had his coat and accompanying valuables taken from the stables during the day.

The fur display of Ed. Beltz in the main building attracts the attention of all lovers of fine fur and natural history. One gold and two silver medals is not a bad record.

Mr. R. S. Williams, the well-known piano manufacturer, was in town yesterday and paid a visit to the fair.

The store of W. J. Reid & Co., will be open till 10 o'clock every night during Fair week to permit visitors to inspect their stock.

As usual Edy Bros., the noted photographers, have a fine display of photographs of different styles and shapes in the main building. It forms one of the most beautiful exhibits in the main building.

TO-DAY'S PROGRAMME.

To-day is Farmers' Day and will be a great one at the Fair. The yeomen for miles around make Wednesday their day, whether 'tis so called or not. Fine weather is all that is ever needed to cause the great exhibition park to be filled completely with a class of farmers who, for intelligence and culture, are not excelled in the whole world, and who in themselves have formed an interesting study for many visitors from afar.

At 1 p.m. there will be a parade of prize animals in the ring, and at 2 p.m. the racing programme will commence:

2:50 pacing stakes, mile heats, best 3 in 5	$200
Farmers' trotting race, for horses which have never won public money or started in a public race, mile heats, 3 in 5	60
Farmers' running race, for horses which have never won public money or started in a public race, half-mile heats, best 2 in 3	30
Pony running race, for ponies 12 hands high and under, half-mile heats, best 2 in 3	50

THE FINE ARTS.

This is exactly what the ante fair announcements promised when the directors said that the exhibit would be one of the best ever shown in London. The light is all that could be desired, but the general effect of a show of paintings is never improved when the pictures have to be hung just wherever a carpenter can lodge a nail, or when there is room to squeeze in a frame. An ADVERTISER reporter, in talking to a well known Toronto artist who has acted before now as judge in his line, and is therefore well qualified to criticise, elicited the following in regard to the display: "To a casual or careless spectator," said he, "there does not seem to be much to interest one at the art exhibit this year, but to those who linger and look closely there is a great deal. The walls may not be covered with large canvasses by artists that we know not of, and representing subjects that we are unfamiliar with, but they are covered with pictures and studies executed by Canadian artists and amateurs, many quite local, and to one this speaks much louder and more forcibly to those who long for the excellence of artistic taste in our midst.

"It would take too much time to go into a detailed criticism, setting forth the merits and faults of individual pictures, but I am sure the most critical will admit that art is developing right here. Many of the studies of amateurs would do credit to any exhibition. I cannot speak so highly of the professional class or section, for, until better space is provided, professional artists will not care to send their best productions.

"We must not lose sight of one thing; that is, art is a great educator, and through its influence one becomes refined in taste and feeling. These qualities enter our homes and private life, so the art exhibit should not be treated with indifference."

"There is one other matter I would like to make plain, for its tendency is most damaging. In some classes there may be only two entries and neither merit a prize, but there are two prizes to be awarded, so the judges have no alternative but to give them the premiums. The spectators say those pictures do not deserve a prize, and blame the judge. He himself feels ridiculous and the exhibitor receives a false honor.

"There are several exhibits of china painting, that are well worth a close study. They are clever in drawing, delicate in tint and harmonious in color. The modeling in clay is meritorious, and altogether the art display this year indicates a very healthy growth."

IN THE DAIRY HALL.

This year the dairy hall has attracted more than usual attention. The cheese exhibit is excellent, including choice samples of white and colored. That progressive body—the Western Ontario Dairymen's Association—has offered a special prize for a collection of cheese, and there are several entries. The exhibit of butter is, as usual, first-class, but as there is hardly such a display as many would expect, it can be accounted for in the fact that the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, has no exhibit this year, having sent theirs to the World's Fair. But taking the place of the college display is an exhibit by the Indian tribes of Oneida, Muncey and Moraviantown, which attracts considerable attention and elicits words of admiration. It shows that the Indians are on an equal footing with the white men in the matter of farming. Their samples of wheat and corn are second to none, while their peas (green and white), mangles and carrots are also good. In beans there are twenty entries, and it must have been a very difficult task to decide as to which was the most deserving of awards. John Ninham, of Muncey, and his father, David Ninham, two of the most extensive farmers in Middlesex county, are the leading prize winners. There are several collections of old relics, among one of which there is a tomahawk used in the battle in which Chief Tecumseh was killed. The school children of the reserves have also prepared a collection of drawings, which are very creditable, while Thomas Crow has a handsome wreath of bark flowers. The women have also made a very attractive display of patchwork and needlework of all kinds.

AGRICULTURAL HALL.

The agricultural exhibit is up to the average, and in it there are some very fine specimens of all the products of the farm. The Manitoba exhibit at the north end of the building is very fine, and brings forth much favorable comment. The samples of wheat and oats in sheaf are splendid, while their samples of barley and buckwheat are unexcelled. In tomatoes there are some very fine displays, and in this section A. Woolman, St. George, takes first prize. As one walks down the east side of the building probably the most magnificent display that has ever been made in honey attracts the attention. It is got up by Mr. Aches, of Poplar Hill, and it is indeed a great credit to him, for which he has been awarded the sweepstake prize. The other displays in that line are up to the standard, most of them being comb honey, with a few samples of extracted. In this department Wm. Coleman, of Birr, and a Brantford firm carry off several prizes. At the south end in the usual position is the display of John S. Pearce & Co., consisting of fine samples of fruit and grain, the whole being tastefully finished off with decorations. On the west side of the building the above firm has a fine display of tomatoes, cabbage, celery, squashes, turnips and beets, grown on their trial grounds.

LADIES' DEPARTMENT.

The southeast corner of the main building upstairs is devoted to the exhibition of such work as only woman's fingers and woman's tact can accomplish. The display is a beautiful one, and a galaxy of feminine admirers can always be found hovering near. The department is under the superintendence of Miss Street, who takes warrantable pride in showing the visitor through. The painting work is not up to former years in quantity, the art display in another part of the building robbing the department of some of its best work. What it lacks in quantity, however, it makes up in quality. The show of lace work is fair. Embroidery there is in every imaginable cloth and color, and as Miss Street rightly remarked, "It's all splendid work." Probably the most striking display in this line is the Lord's Prayer on boating silk. The specimens of jewel embroidery on Bengaline silk is something new. Crazy work still prevails, and the exhibit is up to its usual merit. The Mexican embroidery makes a tasty display, as also do the etchings done with needle and thread. One table cover worthy of mention is that of Mrs. Bagwell, Hamilton. It is the only one shown of its material, ordinary blue denim, and the embroidery work on it is very pretty. Of bedroom slippers, mitts, gloves and hosiery there is no end. The work is very creditable. The display of tea cosies and silk pillows is neat and attractive. There is a greater display of toilet sets this year than ever, and those shown are much prettier than heretofore. The hammered brass display is really a work of art and worth special attention. Quilts, blankets and rugs are shown in quantity. The millinery and fancy-work showcase is the target of many admiring glances. Miss Wheaton deserves great credit far her admirable display.

HORSES.

On the extreme eastern side of the grounds are situated the horse stables. These are almost completely filled. Considerable diversity of opinion seems to exist in regard to the number of animals presented, but, in all probability the display, both in quality and quantity, is fully up to last year. Altogether there are 162 horses in competition. Stallions seem to preponderate, there being 99 of these. Brood mares are well represented—20. There are 21 foals of 1893, 55 fillies, 20 brood mares, 15 saddle horses, 9 hunters, 3 pairs of cabs, 26 pairs of matched carriage horses, 18 single carriage horse, 12 mares, 11 pairs of roadsters, 24 single roadsters, 2 teams of geldings or mares, and 3 mares of any age. Several special exhibits are made from the Clydesdale Association. This is extended and appreciable. The horse stables are not among the least interesting feature of the fair.

SHEEP.

Very seldom has the exhibit of sheep been as extended or as excellent in connection with the Western Fair as it is this year. No one can possibly pass down the almost unending rows of pens devoted to these animals without becoming cognizant of this fact. There are in all 846 specimens of this important element in the animal kingdom to be seen. The Shropshires are probably the best represented, while the Southdowns and Cotswolds show to considerable advantage. The prizes in this department have not yet been awarded. Work in that respect is now progressing. Great difficulty is being experienced by the judges because of the almost universal excellence of the breeds displayed.

SPECIAL EXHIBITS.

Among other notable exhibits will be found the following:

W. J. Reid & Co. to the Front.

This well-known local firm of glass, crockery and china ware dealers have another grand exhibit this year in the main building, down stairs, consisting of the finest that can be secured in their line of business and have succeeded in carrying off the gold medal. This firm has an extensive trade, reaching from the far east to the western shores of Canada, a fact that can only be accounted for by the superiority of their goods and method of business. They have the pyramid in their exhibit this year, which has attracted so much attention in the past, besides an elegant selection of ware of all kinds. At their Crystal Palace at 197 and 199 Dundas street, there is to be found a grand assortment of Bohemian ware, Sevres Porcelain, Royal Dresden china, Worcester, Daulton and Crown Derby ware and an immense variety of art curios and bric-a-brac, imported from celebrated manufacturing centers in all parts of the world. The pyramid stands in the center, and shows to good advantage their choice stock of china, fruit and ice cream sets, dessert sets, tete-tete sets, cabarets, fruit and salad bowls. On the west side of their warerooms the black and gold show cases glitter with gold and silver plated ware and elegant French bronzes, while down the east side are grand carved walnut cases, filled with an elegant and chaste collection of Royal Worcester, Daulton, Royal Crown, Derby statuary, and Italian Ivory Faience; Dresden, Parian and Hennecke statuary. The second floor is a repetition of the splendor on view on the ground floor. Here will be found tea sets, toilet sets, dessert and dinner sets, fish and game sets in immense variety of shapes and designs from all the noted factories of Great Britain and Europe. Special attention is called to two new lines of china dinner sets, consisting of 100 pieces, and 124 pieces respectively, at prices never before offered to the trade. Visitors to the Fair will do well to examine these goods before leaving. Their show rooms and sample rooms will be open to the public every night this week until 10 o'clock. All are respectfully invited to call. All the travelers from the different routes will be on hand to meet their customers.

What Is Featherbone?

Such is a question very often heard, but to be properly answered it is necessary to go to the east end of the main building stairs and see for yourself the varied and beautiful array of corsets manufactured by the Canada Featherbone Company, whose warehouse is situated on the west side of Clarence street, a few doors south of Dundas. This is a new industry which London was fortunate enough to secure a few years ago. These corsets are manufactured on a very extensive scale, and the company is constantly extending its business. They have many advantages over the ordinary line of corsets in that they are better adapted for the purpose for which they are used, and for such reason they are highly recommended by all dealers. The material is considered superior to whalebone, and no matter what the climate may be it does not affect these goods. They give the wearer an elegant figure, great comfort and everlasting durability. Every lady should purchase a pair of these corsets and give them a trial.

The Gerhard-Heintzman Pianos.

These well known pianos as usual have an excellent representation near the center of the main building, and the exhibit attracts all visitors passing, who can only wish that they were the possessor of a similar instrument, should such not be their present good fortune. These pianos are known from east to west as among the best made, and have proved themselves such from the fact that many of the greatest musicians of the present day have them in their homes. A London agency has now been established and Mr. W. McPhillips has been appointed sole agent for this city. Purchasers should be careful and not let any other dealer mislead them into purchasing something which they say is equal to the Gerhard-Heintzman or better. Mr. McPhillips' warerooms are situated in the Mechanics' Institute on the south side of Dundas street. The tone of these pianos cannot be surpassed by anything on the continent to-day, while the workmanship is first-class in every respect. The carving on these instruments is the work of artists at their calling, and their superiors cannot be obtained. The woods used in the manufacture of these pianos are French burl, blistered and Circassian walnut and mahogany of the finest quality. Attention is also called to the fact that recitals are constantly being given by Messrs. Fred Evans and James Maitland, which delight all who have the privilege of listening to these talented musicians. Intending purchasers can rest assured that Mr. McPhillips will spare no pains to explain to interested parties the construction of these pianos and their leading qualities.

The Apron Binder and Daisy Reaper.

In the middle of the machinery hall, surrounded by a conglomeration of machinery of more or less merit, is to be found the Frost & Wood exhibit. The center of attraction is the Single Apron Binder of this firm. It is a beauty, both in regard to design and workmanship. It is one of the most durable contrivances of the kind—steel wheels, steel frame and steel wing-folding bundle carrier. Its chain drive, balance reel, self-locking lift and infallible knocker, are marvels of ingenuity. The Daisy Reaper, built to meet the requirements of those who do not need a binder, is also on view. Compared with other reapers, the Daisy is narrower by 20 inches than any other reaper of 5-foot cut (extreme width, 9 feet, 7 inches), rendering it much more convenient on rough or stumpy land, without in any sense altering or affecting its utility. The crank balance rests on the platform or table, so that in tilting the knives, no cramping at either end of the pitman is possible; the spur driving gear is keyed on to main shaft instead of being cast on to drive wheel, rendering duplication of gear, in case of accident, both easy and cheap; it has a strong truss rod from wheel to wheel under the platform; it is provided with three levers; the platform can be raised at either end independently of the other; the tilt is independent of the lift, and gives the platform any desired inclination; it has a simple and effective tripping device; the jack, or rake-head is placed as far as possible from the platform (instead of close to it as in other reapers), thereby bringing the rake and the cut grain upon the table straight and parallel with the knives, instead of obliquely. The Frost and Wood farm implements of every conceivable discription, built at the factory in Smith's Falls, Ont., are known and admired wherever farming is done in this country. The firm has an invincible reputation.

Concrete Stone, Sewer Pipe Gullies, Etc.

Mr. E. North displays on the grounds, south of the carriage buildings, some of his concrete stone, culvert and sewer pipes, and concrete stone gullies or catch basins, with and without automatic valve, and has justly been awarded the silver medal. Municipal and other corporations have for some time regarded these as the best articles of the kind in use. In a recent report Dr. Hutchinson, local medical health officer, strongly recommended the North catch basin and sewer traps as the best and cheapest, and the Board of Health, acting on this report, unanimously recommended the City Council to adopt the North trap for the city of London. Mr. North now ships to fifteen or twenty townships, and has supplied the G. T. R. for two or three years, while recently he has received orders from the C. P. R. Manufactured at London and St. Thomas.

John Campbell's Carriages.

This well-known manufacturer occupies the entire center of the carriage building with a magnificent display of vehicles. Included are hacks, landaulets, Victoria, extension top carriages, Lenox, Stanhope, Kensington, Gladstone, phaetons, carts, top and open buggies—in all about 30 superb vehicles. It is perhaps needless to refer here to the splendid reputation of Campbell's vehicles throughout the country. Suffice it to say that they are excelled by none and equaled by few. The very best material is used, none but experienced workmen are employed, while the styles are the latest and the finish artistic. See this exhibit, and if you are in want of anything in this line you are sure to purchase.

The Realm of Fancy Goods.

No firm has secured a more enviable position in this line of activity than Frank S. Taggart & Co. The young man who established a business some years ago for himself has had a large field of competitors to overtake. This his energies and abilities have enabled him to do. His exhibit on the north side of the ground floor in the palace has a crowd of open-mouthed admirers of jewelry about it from morning until evening. And the large cases of watches and other sparkling trinkets are without doubt alluring! No one can adequately describe the almost limitless profusion of fancy articles to be seen behind these plate glass protections. Here will be found American Waltham watches, low price Swiss watches, high grade Deuber-Hampden watches, in every style and suitable for every person. The business man can easily be pleased; the lady of society will be quickly accommodated; those of limited means will find no difficulty in securing a chronometer within their means. The gentlemen's plain silk ribbon guards, as well as those of similar material gold finished, are sure to be given special attention. They are neat and attractive. No man will be "loud" when one of these adorns his vest front. Members of fraternal orders may secure appropriate, handsomely engrossed emblems, pins and charms. In the line of sporting goods this firm cannot readily be surpassed. They have every kind of gun, revolver and pistol always in stock. Those wanting hunting costumes, or any part of a hunter's outfit, can have his requirements readily met on application to this firm. A handsome catalogue of several hundred pages will be forwarded to those desirous of making a purchase on an application being made to the Toronto house.

The Peabody Medical Institute

BOSTON, MASS.
53rd YEAR.

As this renowned institution near approaches the competition of a third of a century of unparalleled success and usefulness in the treatment of all nervous disorders, from whatever cause arising, it is fitting that the public should be informed why it has become a fixed fact among the medical phenomena of this century, and why it will remain so. The chief reason is the physicians employed are qualified by training, education, earnestness and zeal, and peculiar genius, adaptation and attention to this special department of pathology and therapeutics. With their treatment it will be wise for the afflicted to bear in mind that there is no cause for despair or even despondency.

In recognition of the pre-eminent skill of the chief consulting physician of this institute, W. H. Parker, M.D., the board of officers of the National Medical Health Association, on Jan. 1, 1876, conferred upon him the gold and jeweled medal, accompanied by a series of flattering resolutions for the prize essay (The Science of Life or Self-Preservation) on nervous maladies. The presentation was noticed at time of its occurrence, not only by the Boston press but by all the leading journals throughout the country.

William H. Parker, M.D., may be consulted in person or by mail, at the Peabody Medical Institute, No. 4 Bulfinch street, Boston, Mass.

Another Shunt.

Given the Electric Street Cars for a Time.

No. 1 Committee Will Try to Secure Better Terms.

And the Council Sends Col. Clark's Proposition to It—A World's Fair Trip Vetoed—A Batch of General Business.

City Council business Tuesday, though chiefly concerning electric street railway matters, was conducted at a horse car gait, and it was midnight before the worthy alderman reached the end of the track. The mayor and Ald. Shaw, took turns in driving, the latter assuming the reins when the former was on the floor, which was pretty often.

The proposition of Col. Clark, which has been threshed out until the average reader can repeat it verbatim, was read by Ald. Parnell in conjunction with the report of No. 1 committee. No one seemed inclined to tackle it at first, but Ald. Parnell broke the spell of oppressive silence. He thought it was time to call a halt. Here was a proposition made in good faith, and something should be done with it.

Ald. Scarrow thought there had been too much halting. It should go to No. 1 to ascertain what the franchise of the streets was worth. If Col. Clark's offer was all the franchise was worth he would favor accepting it.

Ald. J. W. Jones agreed with Ald. Parnell that it was about time the city did something in this matter. He would never vote to give a franchise to any electric railway company unless the company paid the city both a percentage and supplied all their own material as well. If Col. Clark would do his own paving and pay the percentage mentioned in his present offer, he (Ald. Jones) would vote for it.

Ald. Parnell said he had been accused by a local paper of changing his coat by opposing last year an offer 100 percent. better than that which he was supporting now. This was not so. The offer of the London Street Railway last year asked the city to exempt them from taxes and to pay for all their material. This he would never consent to.

Ald. Coo favored sending it to No. 1 to ascertain the value of the franchise. Electricity, he had been informed, was 40 per cent. cheaper than horse power and the receipts in other cities had been doubled and sometimes trebled by it.

Ald. Thomas Jones supported J. W. Jones' suggestion. There was no doubt Col. Clark's offer was better than that of the London Street Railway Company.

The mayor moved that the street railway company offers go to the electors in January for their decision.

Ald. Carrothers did not think that Col. Clark would wait until January with his offer. There was no use in sending it back to No. 1 as Col. Clark had declined to give more. London could not compare with other cities in this matter because it had a 33 years' franchise to buck against.

An amendment by Ald. Shaw to send Col. Clark's proposition to No. 1 was lost.

Ald. F. J. Fitzgerald moved that the proposition go back to No. 1 and that an endeavor be made to secure an agreement whereby the parties getting the franchise will pay for their own material, do their own paving and pay 5 per cent. on receipts after the first five years and 7 per cent. after the second five. Carried.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Thomas Holland—For a grant to the Salvation Army Rescue Home. No. 1.

Stevens & Burns—Mistake in assessment. No. 1.

B. C. McCann—Asking remission of Mrs. James King's arrears of taxes. No. 1.

W. A. Howard—For remission of statute labor tax. No. 1.

George F. Morris et al.—Asking that tables of the market house basement be not removed. Filed.

Wm. Loughrey—For use of City Hall for Court Forest Queen, Thanksgiving eve. Granted.

Alex. Sutherland—For use of City Hall for Knights Sherwood Forest, Thanksgiving eve. Treasurer with power.

Rev. F. E. Roy—For use of East End Hall, Oct. 3, for St. Matthew's Church. Granted, provided the current expenses are paid.

Sarah L. Carfrae—For drain for Aged People's Home. Mrs. Carfrae and others appeared to support the petition. Mrs. Carfrae said a drain was an absolute necessity to the health of the inmates. The cost would be about $600, to which the city was asked to contribute two-thirds. The matter was sent to No. 2 to ascertain the exact cost.

A number of residents objected to the fence being moved to the boulevard around the Collegiate Institute. Referred to No. 2.

NUMBER THREE COMMITTEE.

No. 3 committee (Ald. F. J. Fitzgerald, chairman) reported thus: 1. We recommend on communication of A. O. Graydon, re refusal of John Sussex to comply with fire limits bylaw, that the engineer be instructed to carry out the provisions of the bylaw in this and in all other cases of violation of said bylaw. 2. That the petition of Wm. Bowman et al. for exemption from fire limits bylaw of that portion of the block on the north side of Bathurst street between Richmond and Clarence streets, lying south of the G. T. R. Company's track, be granted. 3. Your committee submits for adoption draft bylaw containing engineer's recommendations of additions and amendments to fire limits bylaw. 4. That the request of the tenants of the Market Bazar to be allowed to erect additions to the rear of stalls in said bazar be granted, the constructions to be at the expense of the tenants, and to become the property of the city. 5. We report progress re city electric light plant.

Clause 1 provoked a great deal of discussion before it carried, which means that Mr. Sussex must brick up his wooden shed at once or have it torn down. Mr. Sussex said the complaint against the shed arose from neighborly malice.

Clause 2 also proved a bone of contention. Mr. Bowman is the chief owner of the property which is asked to be exempted. It includes the buildings and lands of the late Thomas Green. Mr. Bowman said that for twenty years no objection had been made to the frame buildings on the property, and no brick structures had been built there. The clause was referred back to ascertain if sheet iron can be used.

Clause 3 was deferred until next meeting, when typewritten copies of the bylaw will be furnished.

Clause 4 was struck out and clause 5 agreed to.

NUMBER TWO COMMITTEE.

Ald. Garratt's report was brief and recommended (1) that John Young get $8 65 for damages to his buggy; and (2) that the mayor, No. 2 committee and the city engineer, with power to add to their number, go to Chicago to secure information as to a stone-crusher, and on brick and asphalt pavements.

The first carried. The adoption of the World's Fair motion was moved by Ald. Garratt seconded by Ald. Taylor.

Ald. Parnell said there was no more need for this trip than for a fifth wheel on a buggy. If the clause carried the whole council or the whole town might go.

Ald. Stevely said stone-crushers were made in Hamilton by a branch of the Chicago firm, whereupon someone suggested that they go to Hamilton.

The clause was lost, Ald. Taylor, Carruthers, Garratt and Shaw voting yea. Ald. Dreaney asked to be excused from voting.

NUMBER ONE COMMITTEE.

No. 1 committee's report, submitted by Ald. Moule, first recommended payment of these accounts: Administration of justice, $1,271 75; printing and advertising, $294 95; registry office, $37 65; salaries, $118; incidental expenses, $1,755 12; streets, $2,859 46; city parks, $12 35; sewers, $5; fire department, $61 88; street watering, $145; market, $195 24. Total, $5,034 05.

Other recommendations were: 2. That the petitions of Frank Harding, Chas. Lilley, J. Dunn, J. R. Gosling, Thos. Morkin, A. W. Spry, T. G. Whiskard, Wm. Seccombe and Chas. Farris be referred to the Court of Revision. 2. That the petition of the Teachers' Association for the annual grant of $25 be granted. 4. That the petition of Margaret Hunter and Jane Lloyd for the remission 1893 taxes be granted by remitting $5 70 and $15 16 respectively. 5. That the petition of Susan Elliott be granted by allowing a rebate of half her general taxes for 1893, viz., $25 65. 6. That the petition of Mary Merritt and Mary Allister be filed. 7. On the communication of R. K. Cowan, we recommend the purchase of the six extra copies of the consolidated city bylaws. 8. Submitting a communication from A. Dale, secretary of the London Trust, accompanying the auditor's statement of the Trust, and recommending that power as asked for be granted to the said trust, "To dispose of the mortgages held, with the view of paying all balances held by us to your treasurer, and ask to be relieved from all further duty." 9. We submit Col. Clark and associates' amended proposition for electric street railway franchise, dated Sept. 15, 1893. 10. Your committee reports progress re school moneys, Ed. Meredith's taxes, 1893, and Parke & Purdom.

The first seven clauses of the above were carried.

In connection with clause 8 a report from Secretary-Treasurer Dale, of the London Trust, was read which showed that body had $22,119 14, chiefly in mortgages. They wished power to dispose of the mortgages and wind up the affairs of the Trust. The clause of the report carried.

A clause was also passed giving to the daily papers of the city certain classes of legal advertising which had been accorded to a weekly publication. This was thought necessary in order that the notices might reach the eye of the public.

NOTICES OF MOTION.

Ald. Taylor said something about it being usury in a ratepayer having to pay 5 per cent. extra if he settled up late with the tax collector under the new system. No action.

Ald. Scarrow moved to stop the School Board from erecting a fence on the Collegiate Institute boulevard. Carried.

Ald. Coo moved that the engineer ascertain when the present blocks on Dundas street between Wellington and Ridout were laid and the cost of laying an asphalt pavement. Carried.

Ald. Parnell gave notice that a tile drain along Oxford street from Wellington street to the river be advertised.

Ald. Moule gave notice that he will move at the next meeting that the old street railway company's offer, re electrifying the streets, be reopened and discussed.

BYLAWS.

Bylaws to exempt Watson's box factory, regulate McClary & Co.'s water rate, and to build a tile drain on English street, between Dundas and Carling's Creek, were laid over. That providing for a sewer on Dufferin avenue, between Waterloo and Colborne streets, was passed.

Present: The mayor, Ald. Taylor, Heaman, Coo, Thomas Jones, J. W. Jones, Moule, Scarrow, Carrothers, Stevely, J. Fitzgerald, Garratt, Dreaney, Welford, F. J. Fitzgerald.

Child Deserted in Brantford—Windsor Presbyterians Will Ballot for a Pastor—Orford Fall Fair—Bryanstone Notes.

BRANT.

The death is announced at Brantford at the age of 80 of Mr. Hodgins, the original owner of the well-known trotting stallion, Little Billy.

A week-old child was left on the doorstep of a Brantford boarding house Monday night. With the youngster there was a letter addressed to one of the lodgers as follows; "James Burns, here is your baby; take care of it; if not I will prosecute you." No clue.

A very prominent young Brantfordite died Monday in the person of W. G. Muirhead, aged 31. Deceased, who was a partner with Mr. Robertson, drygoods merchant, had an operation performed on him, and the results proved fatal. A sad feature of the case is that he was shortly to have been married.

BRUCE.

Justice McMahon, at the opening of the County of Bruce Assizes Monday, was presented with a pair of white gloves by the sheriff.

ESSEX.

Mrs. Hickey, wife of James Hickey, who was shot in Windsor on June 14 by the woman's alleged paramour, has been heard from. She disappeared at the time, but is at her sister's in New York State.

Alex. Sinasac, of Anderson, was on his way to Windsor Monday with a load of wheat, when he fell off, breaking two ribs and badly bruising himself.

W. H. Lugadin, who for the past two years has been cashier in the Bank of Commerce in Windsor, has been promoted to the main office in Toronto.

Walter Scully, of Scully & Brydges, Windsor, was married at Bothwell, Tuesday, to Miss Mary Dillon, daughter of Mr. James Dillon, of that place.

Rev. Mr. Vining, Windsor, has been elected president of the B. Y. P. U. A. for Western Ontario.

The members of St. Andrew's Church, Windsor, will decide by ballot as to who shall be their minister.

HALTON.

Mrs. Janet Carlyle Hanning, the only surviving sister of Thomas Carlyle, has just celebrated her 80th birthday at her home, Comely Bank Farm, Trafalgar.

MIDDLESEX.

Bryanston notes: The anniversary services of the Methodist Church will be held on Sept. 24. Sermons will be preached morning and evening by Rev. G. Jackson, of Exeter, and 3 p.m. by Rev. W. J. Clark, of the First Presbyterian Church, London. The Bryanston choir will officiate.—Another old settler has gone in the person of Mrs. Marshall. She survived her husband fourteen years. She was a great sufferer, but died in hope of a glorious future. Her remains were interred in the Arva Cemetery.—Rev. Mr. Kirkland preached to the Canadian Order of Foresters last Sunday evening. The following courts were represented: Bryanston, Devizes, Lucan and Grafton. There was a good house.—Rev Mr. Little will exchange pulpits with Rev. Mr. Stewart, of Melbourne, on Sunday, Oct. 1.—W. Perry went on an excursion to the Model Farm and was well pleased.—W. Dickenson has gone to the World's Fair.

In last week's issue it was stated that both the house and barns of Messrs. Thomas and Edward T. Caverhill, near Vanneck, were burnt supposedly by tramps. Only the barns were burnt with the entire crop and a large number of implements. Loss about $3,000; insured for $1,500. There is no evidence of tramps; it took fire at 10 o'clock a.m. The cause is a perfect mystery.

OXFORD.

John Elliott, aged 73, a resident and an old settler of North Oxford, died at his home Monday after a short illness. Word was also received from Cadillac, Mich., of the death of a former resident of the town named John Henderson. The remains will be brought to Ingersoll for burial.

The annual fall fair of the Orford Branch Agricultural Society will be held on Saturday, Oct. 14. Highgate has the well-earned name of having the best township fair in this section and the directors are using every effort to have this one equal to and if possible better than all preceeding fairs. The grounds have been enlarged and exhibitors of live stock, etc., will find plenty of room and every convenience. The Palmyra Band will be in attendance. Reduced rates have been secured on the M. C. R., good to return on the 16th. The prize list has been revised and enlarged and will be mailed free on application to the secretary, W. E. Morrison at Highgate.

WATERLOO.

Levi Dingman, a brakeman on the Galt and Berlin branch, had his right arm crushed while coupling cars on the G. T. R. depot, Berlin, Monday afternoon. His hand was dreadfully crushed and mangled, and he will lose several fingers.

A Solid Knock-Down Blow.

The whale blows water while at play;
Trees blow in every clime:
The sweetest flowers blow in May,
But wind blows all the time.

There's lots of blowing in this world. Sufferers from catarrh blow their noses, and quacks blow about their "cures." Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is the only infallible one. Its proprietors back up this claim by offering $500 for every case they fail to cure permanently. This is an unanswerable blow at humbuggery, coming from men of sterling reputation and ample capital. Nasal Catarrh cannot resist the potency of this remedy. It stops discharges, leaving the senses acute, the head clear, and the breath normal. Of all druggists, 50 cents.

"I hear your husband has gone into art for a fad?" "Yes," replied Mrs. Lardly. "Tom says he's going to have a collection of pictures even if he has to paint them himself."

A bottle of Angostura Bitters to flavor your lemonade or any other cold drink will keep you free from Dyspepsia, Colic Diarrhea and all diseases originating from the digestive organs. Be sure to get the genuine Angostura, manufactured by Dr. J. G. B. Siegert & Sons.

Mrs. Remsen—"I am sure you can't find any fault with the dinner to-night, Robert. Everything is just as nice as it can be." Mr. Remsen (reluctantly)—"Oh, yes, I suppose so. It quite makes me wonder whether I am at home."

Give Holloway's Corn Cure a trial. It removed ten corns from one pair of feet without any pain. What it has done once it will do again.

God's in his heaven,
All's right with the world.
—[BROWNING.

If you trust in God and yourself you can surmount every obstacle. Do not yield to restless anxiety. One must not always be asking what may happen to one in life, but one must advance fearlessly and bravely.
—[PRINCE BISMARCK.

London, Wednesday, Sept. 20.

—Only those communications to which the writers are willing to have their names appended in print will be published in these columns.

—The people of St. John, N. B., tired of ward grabbing, have voted to elect the aldermen by a vote of the whole city.

—Sir John Thompson is rattled, and now Foster is sick. This touring of Wilfrid Laurier is productive of great results.—[Toronto Telegram.

And the Telegram was at one time an earnest advocate of the "protective" policy, which is at the bottom of all the trouble!

—Toronto News: The London ADVERTISER refuses to publish letters save over the actual name of the writer. There can be no doubt this is the proper system to adopt. People who have anything to say that is worth hearing will not be ashamed to state it over their own signatures.

—The St. Thomas Daily Journal recently celebrated its twelfth birthday in a most befitting manner. It appeared in a handsome new dress and much improved in its make-up, which was already very creditable to its typographical artists. Mr. Brierly gives a paper that is well worthy of the support of his fellow-citizens.

—It is probable that before long railway cars generally will be lighted with electricity. As a forecast of the future, the Troy Times announces that a 25-light dynamo has been put in a day coach upon the New York Central Railroad, and that it is worked by a crank which is attached to the front axle of the car. This dynamo lights the car. When the train stops light is turned on from a storage battery, warranted to illuminate the car for sixteen hours.

—A Conservative paper gives currency to the report that before another general election Sir John Thompson will retire from the leadership of his party and accept a seat in the judicial committee of the Privy Council. The wish is father to the thought, if we may credit a tithe of the grumbles that come from the Conservative ranks. John Haggart is nominated as successor in the leadership!

—It looks as if the alleged Government prosecution of the McGreevy-Connolly combination, which should take place at Ottawa Assizes in a week or two, would end in a fiasco. Just as the case was about to come to trial, John Lambert Payne, the stenographer who took the evidence before the Parliamentary committee, and who is a material witness, was packed off to Australia with Minister Bowell, and Mr. Taylor, one of the other stenographers, is discovered to be in England. It will be something remarkable if the true inwardness of the iniquity is ever fully exposed.

—Talking at L'Epiphenie, Que., last week, Sir John Thompson boasted to his audience of the great privileges he had conferred on Quebec Province. "It wanted aid for its agriculture, and he had given it the Minister of Agriculture; it wanted internal improvements, and he had given it the Minister of Public Works; it wanted greater postal facilities, and he had given it the Postmaster-General." Then it was not because the men appointed to preside over these great spending departments were the best fitted to occupy the respective positions, but because of the "wants" of Quebec? Sir John Thompson's candor is at least instructive.

—It is most significant that the first shot against the continuance of the House of Lords as an hereditary legislative chamber should be fired from the British metropolis. Apart altogether from the indefensible conduct of the so-called Upper Chamber, in throwing out the bill for granting local self-government without pretending to analyze the measure, there are many good reasons why the British people should ask themselves whether or not it is advisable to maintain a chamber of legislators that is responsible to no one, that invariably leans to the side of privilege, and that for centuries has existed but to thwart the reforms demanded by the people and expressed by their representatives in the popular chamber. That is a question which was ripening for discussion long before the Irish Home Rule question became a leading factor in parliamentary debate.

—Goldwin Smith's new book, "An Outline of the Political History of the United States," has already excited much interest in Great Britain. We learn by cable that the London Chronicle contains this notice of the work:

"If the measure of popularity outlined be at all equal to the satisfaction we felt in a perusal of the book, Prof. Smith will set about at once writing a companion volume. At all times a high-minded man devoted to the best interests of the English-speaking race, it will be an evil day for us when critics of his ability and superiority to party trammels cease out of the land. His voluntary expatriation is a matter of regret here, where the political and economic battle is hotter than in either Canada or the United States, and men of light and leading can ill be spared."

On every page of the work Prof. Smith shows that he has the courage of his convictions.

—The British Government, after several years experience, claims that State colonization in Canada has been a failure, and it is not likely that the policy, from which our well-paid high commissioner professed to expect so much, will be extended. After all, voluntary settlement, the result of a stalwart resolve to make the most of the opportunity offered, will always bring the best class of settlers. What Canada needs is a Government that will make Canadian farming attractive. We need less coaxing of immigrants by men of the Tupper stamp, who are almost invariably proved by experience to be false prophets, and better opportunities for farmers to make a living. With an administration which would throw off every tax on farm supplies, and be contented, by the agency of a revenue tariff, to let all classes make the most of their energies and opportunities, Canada would get all the emigrants that she could desire, without urging, without payment, without state aid of any kind. What the farmer needs is to be let alone. If he is not robbed by tariff imposts or other Government-encouraged rascalities, the average settler on our lands will himself, for the purposes of immigration, be worth twenty Tuppers, and ask no reward for his aid.

DEATH OF SIR A. T. GALT.

A veteran Canadian statesman is dead. Sir Alexander Tulloch Galt, who has been ailing for a considerable time of cancer in the tongue, and had been in an enfeebled condition, died yesterday at his residence in Montreal. Deceased was a son of John Galt, the author and Canadian pioneer, and was born at Chelsea, England, Sept. 6, 1817. His father brought him to Canada while he was a mere lad. He was in the service of the British and American Land Company from 1833 to 1856, and commissioner and manager of their estates from 1844 to 1856. He was first elected to the Canadian Parliament in 1849, and in 1858 was appointed by the Governor-General to form an administration. This he declined, though he joined Mr. Cartier's Administration as Finance Minister and held that office until the Ministry was defeated on the Militia Bill in May, 1862. The late Sir Alexander resumed his portfolio as Finance Minister in the month of March, 1864, and retired in August, 1866, on the failure of a proposed measure to secure certain educational privileges to the Protestant minority of Lower Canada. At Confederation, he was appointed Finance Minister in the Dominion Government, but resigned after holding the office for a few months. In 1880 he was appointed High Commissioner for Canada in England, but resigned in 1883 to make room for Sir Charles Tupper. Since then Sir Alexander has lived in retirement. He was the author of "Canada from 1849 to 1859." In recognition of his achievements, the University of Edinburgh conferred upon him the degree of LL.D.

ASSISTED IMMIGRATION.

The Ottawa Citizen confesses that the Dominion Government continues to pay out public money to professional philanthropists who every year pick up and send out to Canada thousands of old world waifs and strays. Its excuse for the expenditure is that the sum paid per head is "only a little one," and it berates the workingmen who object to this system of flooding their labor market as being possessed of a "huckstering spirit." It adds:

"There are shallow people who for party purposes mourn the migration of Canadians across the border which has always gone on since Canada had an existence, but who on the other hand denounce the efforts of the Dominion Government to bring in settlers from the old country to take their places."

The complaint of those who oppose the payment of public money for pauper child immigration cannot be laid to their antipathy to the influx of new population. There is no difference of opinion on that subject. The workers object to assisted immigration of waifs and strays. 1. Because, as was shown before the Prison Reform Commission, there is often to be found, in children picked up off the street, the strongest hereditary tendency to disease and to crime. 2. Because the result of immigration of this kind is to reduce the earning power of independent toilers and their offspring.

As to the exodus, it ill becomes a newspaper defender of the high tax policy to berate those who mourn the exodus, which has enormously increased in volume since the policy of "protection" was adopted. The fact is before the people of Canada that while the Dominion Government professed to have brought into Canada 850,000 immigrants in the ten years ending 1891, and while the natural increase of the people should have been at least equal to that number, the census returns only show an addition of 520,000 to the population of the Dominion.

Where went the missing population?

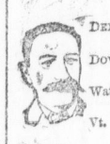

The answer of the "protectionist" apologist is that any one who asks the question is impertinent, and that anyway, Canadians should rejoice to have their earnings taken to bring the unfortunate children of old world slums to take the place of the bone and sinew that has left the country in search of relief from the blighting effects of trade restriction!

No weak defense of this description will reconcile the workers in either town or country to this species of assisted immigration or to the system of class taxation that promotes rather than hinders the exodus of the flower of our population.

REBELS AT RIO.

The Besieging Force Likely to Capture the City.

Mello, the Revolutionary Leader, Making Headway—The President Being Deserted.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The Herald's Montevideo, Uruguay, correspondent cables: It is not yet known here whether Rio Janeiro has been taken by the naval revolters or whether their bombardment of the capital has ceased. All correspondence with Brazil has now been cut off by the postal authorities. Passengers who reached here from Rio by the steamer Magdalena say that when they left the city was in a state of approaching panic. The rebel squadron was attacking fortified points on the bay shore, and all the forts except Santa Cruz were either neutral or favorable to Admiral Mello. Ammunition and provisions for the Santa Cruz garrison had given out. There was much confusion and lack of discipline in the army, though it was yet faithful to President Peixoto. All vessels arriving were kept outside the blockade lines. With the consent of the commanders of the foreign warships in the harbor, part of the stores of the new arrivals were purchased and taken on board by Mello's squadron. This gave the rebels provisions which they badly needed. The general opinion of the Magdalena's passengers and also of Ruy Barboza, a leader of the revolutionists, is that Peixoto must succumb unless the foreign powers interfere in his behalf. Many are deserting Peixoto.

DOCTORS IN CONVENTION.

A Large Number Expected From All Parts of the Dominion—Various Matters of Importance To Be Dealt With.

Probably one of the most important gatherings ever held in this city will take place to-day and Thursday in Victoria Hall. It will be the 26th annual convention of the Dominion Medical Association.

Proceedings will commence at 10 a.m. on Wednesday with President Charles Sheard, of Toronto, in the chair. The delegates will comprise all the leading M. D.s of Canada, and are expected from as far off as Halifax, N. S., and Vancouver, B. C.

Dr. H. S. Birkett, of Montreal, is the general secretary. The association has four vice-presidents, one of whom is Dr. Wishart, of this city. All doctors of the Dominion are eligible to attend, and it will be of great benefit to all concerned.

The association has completed all arrangements with the different railways, and delegates will be able to make the return journey at single fare. Even the tourists going to or returning from Chicago have the privilege of stopping over at London during the two days of the convention. Nor will the city brethren let the visitors return home without displaying their hospitality, as all London associations can do. On Wednesday night the delegates will be invited to a banquet at the Tecumseh House, and on Thursday, at 1 p.m., the members will go by C. P. R. train to the asylum, where they will be served with luncheon by the authorities of that institution.

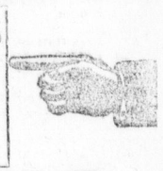

The programme for the two days has been prepared. On Wednesday, at 2 p.m., the president will deliver his address, after which the members will divide into sections and prepare papers. At 8 p.m. on Wednesday Dr. Hingston, of Montreal, will address the convention on "Surgery." On Thursday, at 10 a.m., Dr. McPhedran, of Toronto, will deliver an address on "Medicine," after which papers will be read and the convention brought to a close.

Secession in Disguise.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 19.—Governor Crounse has written a letter denouncing the approaching Pan-American Bimetallic Congress, to be held at St. Louis, as a secession movement, and refusing to appoint delegates.

An extra of the Canada Gazette has been issued, announcing that Lord Aberdeen had been sworn in Governor-General of Canada.

Beltz's Fur Display.

This is really one of the most attractive features of the main building and cannot fail to attract admiring eyes, whether from lovers of beautiful furs or students of natural history. The exhibit is probably the largest and most complete ever seen in that line in Canada, and the judges knew their business when they awarded a gold medal of merit. The situation of the exhibit is the very center of the main building and on one of the cases can be seen Mr. Beltz's sign of the black bear, that has done duty for so many years at the down-town store of the firm, on the north side of Dundas street, opposite the Market lane. In the center of the display is a pyramid of furs, measuring probably fifteen feet from base to summit. On the tapering point of the pile is perched a mounted cinnamon bear cub. A mounted white fox is shown. This is a novelty, as the animal is a native of Europe. The judges awarded it a siver medal. Another silver medal was give for a similiarly mounted black bear cub. The immense Siberian wolf rugs shown are prepared in Germany. The heads of the animals are well mounted, and the sinster expression of each wolfish countenance, together with the immense size of their bodies, causes a thrill of terror to timid visitors. The brown Canadian wolf is present in rug form, but his features are placid as a spaniel's, compared with his Russian brother. In one case is tastefully arranged beaver military capes, white lamb jackets and gray lamb military capes. Another contains the latest in muffs. There were skating muffs, sable muffs, beaver, bear and lamb muffs; fur Tam O'Shanters, boas of sable and white bear, jackets of seal skin and of thibet lamb. An Australian sheep herder's hat of white wool is in the exhibit. It is almost two feet in diameter and the ordinary cowboy's head gear is small in comparison. The latest of men's silk and felt hats and fur caps make up an attraction that would do credit to any fair.

Lawrason's Wonderful Soap.

At the west entrance to the main building is a display that attracts universal attention, and elicits many expressions of admiration. It is the exhibit of P. M. Lawrason, manufacturer of the Wonderful Soap. It is in the form of an artistically arranged pyramid, embracing the various grades of soap manufactured by this London firm, open, in wrappers and in boxes. In the collection are included the highest grade laundry, the ideal, the hard water electric, mottled electric, in small cakes; mottled electric, cheap oatmeal. Castile, which retail at six cakes for 25 cents; fancy toilet soaps, each cake being in a separate box, 35 per cent. glycerine, rosebud, California bouquet (pure white), Mayflower (white transparent), Lawrason's London laundry soap, and common brown soap, in 2-pound and 2½-pound bars. The Ideal is made in 3-pound, 2-pound, 1-pound and 12-ounce bars. The faces of a man and a woman, carved in Wonderful Soap, are also included in the display. The Wonderful Soap is the specialty, while the special toilet is also a leading line. Since the introduction of the Wonderful Soap into the market it has rapidly forged to the front, and it has to a large extent supplanted the imported soaps and is in use in the vast majority of households throughout the country. This was the object of the manufacturer when he started, and his success is well earned. Everyone should see the display at the Exhibition, and if there are any who have not yet tried the soap they cannot do better than test it without delay.

The Canada Chemical Company's Display.

Upon a pyramidical impromptu stand on the north side of the main building, near the western door, stand a number of bottles filled with acids. These are as transparent as crystal, and when the lights fall upon them they scintillate brilliantly. Crowning all, upon the highest pinnacle is a diversely colored rock of alum. It is blue and white, and is peculiarly interesting. Around about the inclined mound of bottles in question are phials, several colors and tints being observable, containing different kinds of chemicals. These also show to great advantage in the glare of electric lights. The Canada Chemical Company is responsible for this attractive display. Several urns containing samples of "Prolific" fertilizer are to be seen here. This is a complete chemical food for general farm and garden purposes. No better substance for the purpose exists than this. Every farmer who visits the Fair will consult his own advantage if he makes extended inquiries regarding the treatment to be used in obviating what is often a vexed problem in the cultivation of the soil. The Canada Chemical Company is recognized in every portion of the Canadian confederacy, and its business is widely extended in the neighboring Republic. It is, though, primarily a Canadian institution, and only pre-eminent merit makes its operation in the States imperative. Do not fail to see the Canadian Chemical Company's exhibit. A gold medal was awarded for it.

What Is K. D. C.?

This is a question which is often asked. Those whose digestive apparatus is in perfect condition are not the only ones whose ignorance upon this question is complete. People suffering from dyspepsia are, in a great many cases, also unacquainted with "the greatest cure of the age." A visit to the main palace at the Fair is not complete without an inspection having been made of the exhibit of the "king of dyspepsia cures." No better remedy, it is freely asserted, exists. Those who have been cured by this remedy are numbered in the tens of thousands. At exhibitions it has been awarded a silver medal and thirteen diplomas—a record which challenges comparison with other successful medicines in the drug arena.

Morris Pianos.

The manufacturers of these instruments have a very fine exhibit of pianos in French walnut, Circassian walnut and English oak, in different styles and finishes, that attract the attention of all visitors to the great exhibition as they pass along the south aisle on the ground floor of the main building. Prof. Monk, of Toronto, a musician well-known throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, is in charge of the exhibit, and displays the worth of these pianos to the delight of all. The members of this firm have been in the piano business for many years, having been connected with the Dominion Piano Company for fifteen years previous to the organization of their present company. The Morris pianos have been recognized from their introduction as among the leading pianos, and their excellence fully justifies the reputation they have attained. The works of the company are situated at Listowel, Ont., and it is a very extensive institution, being one of the largest in America. The firm had an extensive and very fine exhibit at the Toronto Industrial, and sold all the instruments before that fair was brought to a close. Parties visiting the Western Exposition would do well to hear these pianos and compare them with others, and see the superior construction of the Morris instrument. The address of the company is "Morris, Field & Rogers Company, Listowel, Ont.

W. S. Greenway, Florist.

That this gentleman is a leader in his line of business is proven by the grand display made at the Fair and the liberal number of red tickets awarded him. His magnificent collection of cannas is the finest ever seen in London, and is certainly the most attractive feature in the floral display. In cut flowers and floral decorations, foliage and decorative plants, Mr. Greenway can always supply the very best at his greenhouses in London West. He has just completed the largest greenhouse in this vicinity, and is making preparations for a grand chrysanthemum exhibition in November, to which he invites all flower lovers and those interested in these beautiful floral queens of the autumn. When in need of anything in the flower trade turn your orders over to Mr. Greenway with the full confidence that you will be satisfied and pleased at his manner of filling them.

Only First Prize for Photography.

As one strolls through the main building on the north side upstairs the display of Mr. Frank Cooper, the well-known photographer of 169-173 Dundas street, attracts the eye, and as a reporter was walking by yesterday he stopped to admire the exhibit. The obliging attendant in charge willingly explained the qualities of the various photos, and in the course of conversation the scribe was informed that Mr. Cooper had carried off the first prize for photography—a feat which is by no means easily accomplished. Mr. Cooper has for a large number of years—in fact, ever since his advent into the business, some 25 years ago—devoted his entire time to this branch of the art, and his success may be judged from the fact of his having carried off so high an honor among so many competitors. In his collection he has family groups, groups of children, busts, photos on porcelain and photo etchings. The exhibit contains (among others) a large-size group of college girls sitting at a table, and this alone is well worthy of a trip to the palace. There are also several groups of children, all of which are finished in excellent style. In busts, there are several fine specimens, among them being many prominent business men of London. Mr. Cooper has also a great number of 5 o'clock tea party and family groups, and of the latter can be found none superior. Acting as a judge was Mr. Cunningham, who is head operator for a leading firm in Hamilton, and a man well fitted to fill the position, having been appointed by the Canadian Photographers' Association to act as such. In speaking of the exhibit, he said that it was the largest and best that had been shown at any fair, and all included in it had been taken within the last year. Persons wishing a first class photograph could not do better than to call on Mr. Cooper, who will guarantee to give them entire satisfaction, as he employs none but first-class artists in every branch of his business.

The Ideal Steel Windmill.

This mill is manufactured by the Goold, Shapley & Muir Company, Limited, of Brantford, and is used as a power mill. The time has come when such a mill is within as easy reach as a pumping-mill was a few years ago. The fact of an Ideal Junior 12 or 14 foot section wheel steel windmill being sold at such low figures and possessing sufficient power to grind all the feed for one's self and the neighbors, too, cut the fodder, shell the corn, saw the wood and churn the butter, as well as doing all other work that can be done by power upon the farm, has not only set the people to sounding the high praises of the Brantford Ideal Junior, but has revolutionized the power windmill business. The manufacturers would like every farmer's son to be informed upon this subject that in the days to come he may know where to buy the safest, most efficient and altogether the best power windmill made. Their style of mill is commonly known as a "section mill," and for power purposes is pre-eminently ahead of all others, both in point of power and governing. It is the only steel sectional power windmill made on the continent, and will drive the cutting box, grain grinder, root pulper, corn sheller, etc. The firm also manufactures fanning mills, which are considered equal to any made, which is fully set forth by the large number in use at the present time.

CALAMITY-STRICKEN JAPAN.

A Few of the Things that Have Troubled People There—Drownings and Dysentery.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19.—Advices from Japan say that a flood in the River Isuho carried away 25 houses. The result of inquiry and the report of damage done by the flood is as follows:

Embankments burst in 60 places; over 300 houses were carried away; over 1,000 persons were drowned. At Jarvatka, in Gungo-Gun, a side of a mountain fell away on Aug. 22, crushing over 50 persons to death. At Nara the To-Su-Gara burst its banks and caused the greatest flood since 1889. One hundred and fifty-four persons were drowned in the Gifee-Ken flood and nearly 30,000 persons are receiving relief.

Advices from Saga state that dysentery is prevailing in that prefecture more fiercely than ever, the total number of cases being 3,258, and number of deaths 477.

At Wakayama dysentery also prevails, there having been 2,468 cases and 416 deaths.

A mans' wife should always be the same especially to her husband; but if she is weak and nervous, and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they will make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so too.

Cobble—"I see that Miss Cableton, who was engaged to a traveling man, was married the other day." Stone—"Wasn't it very sudden?" Cobble—"Yes, she found out he was going to Chicago on his next trip."

THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.

My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. This drink is made from herbs, and is prepared for use as easily as tea. It is called

SEVEN KILLED.

Passenger Cars Telescoped—Names of Dead and Injured.

MANTENON, Ill., Sept. 19.—At 9:30 o'clock last night the second section of the "Big Four" passenger train No. 45 crashed into the rear of the first section which had stopped unexpectedly ten miles north of Kankakee, telescoping one sleeper and two coaches, killing seven persons and seriously injuring a large number. The rear cars of the first section were the Ohio and Mississippi sleeper and two chair cars all fairly well filled with passengers. The trainmen say they cannot account for the wreck as a man was sent back from the first section of the train as soon as the stop was made, there being some defect in the machinery of the locomotive. This flagman has not been seen since the accident.

The following are among the dead: Chris Kinimel, Dayton, Ohio; David Jackson, Cynthia, Ohio.

The fatally injured are: Allen Jay Schoolter, Ripley, Ohio; L. H. Blenton, Cincinnati, Ohio; Miss L. Jackson, Cynthia, Ohio; Mrs. J. W. Foster, Springfield, Ohio.

Live Stock Markets.

EAST BUFFALO.

EAST BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 19.—Cattle—Seven cars on sale; trade slow; light heifers, $2 25 to $2 45; choice, $2 75 to $3 15; good fat cows, $2 45 to $2 65, with old thin stuff, $1 75 to $2.

Sheep and Lambs—Only 5 cars of fresh sale stock came in to-day, but fully 30 cars of yesterday's over supply held over, mostly of the common, and only fair order with a number of culled of both sheep and lambs. But there were also some fairly good quality sheep and lambs, for which there was a fairly good demand at only steady yesterday's prices, while the fair and common stocks was very draggy, and cull stuff was hardly saleable. Several bunches of cull sheep sold down to 1c and 1½c per lb, and cull lambs, 1½c to 2c per lb, with prime lambs at $4 25 to $4 40, and good lambs, $3 50 to $4. Sheep were slow, with most of the stock here of the common order, and sold at low prices, $2 50 to $3 taking fair to good ewes and wethers. Quite a fair lot of fair to common lambs have gone forward east for sale.

Hogs—Eleven cars on sale; prices ruled about steady to strong with yesterday the quality of hogs on sale running also about on an average with the offerings yesterday. Fair quality Yorkers, lights and good weights, sold at $6 65, although the best ones sold at $6 75 to $6 80, a few at $6 85; no extreme heavy hogs here; good 210 to 240 lbs selling at $6 70 to $6 80, good pigs, $4 50; roughs and stags, unchanged.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—Dr. Birkett, of Montreal, is registered at the Tecumseh House.

—Messrs. W. and T. Colwill, of Guelph, are the guests of Mrs. Squire, London South.

—Mrs. J. E. Wells, of James street north, has gone to London, Ont., to visit her daughter, Mrs. J. V. Ross.—[Hamilton Spectator.

—Notice is given in the Ontario Gazette that application will be made to the Surrogate Court of the county of Middlesex for the appointment of John J. W. V. Smith, of this city, as the legal guardian of the infant children of John James Smith, late of Cook county, Illinois.

—A Kintail correspondent writes: "The storm around Kintail on Friday and Saturday was one of the worst experienced for years. Trees were blown down and other damage done. A Mr. Bawden, of London, traveler for a drug firm, was blown in here and had to stay over night. He and his horse and rig were turned over on the road but not damaged."

—Elizabeth, wife of J. H. Laird, of Forest, died on Monday last, aged 81 years and 6 months. Deceased was born in Armagh, Ireland, on March 23, 1812, and immigrated to Canada in 1832. The surviving children are David A. Laird, of Forest; Samuel B. Laird, of London; James W. Laird, of St. Marys; Mrs. Jane McKay, of Bluevale; Mrs. Margaret Boyd, of St. Thomas; Mrs. Jos. Parker, of St. Marys, and Miss Rebecca Laird, of Forest.

Serious Loss.

The barns and outbuildings belonging to James Lawson, who lives half way between Greensville and Bullock's Corners, were completely destroyed by fire Monday evening. Implements and stock were mostly saved, but all his crop was lost; no insurance. Mr. Lawson is away from home, being on a visit to friends in this city.

A L. and P. S. R. Offer Withdrawn.

Engineer Brennan, of Toledo, who has been in the city for some days, has returned and it is learned on reliable authority that with him went his offer for the lease of the L. and P. S. R. He said he would make no further bid for the road, as the board would give him no satisfaction and all attempts to meet them and arrive at any settlement had been futile. Mayor Essery left on Friday for Montreal to interview Sir Henry Tyler regarding the matter, and promised to telegraph Mr. Brennan the result of the interview, but up to Monday had not done so. The engineer then decided to withdraw his offer and left immediately.

Mr. John Leys' Case.

A Toronto telegram says: "Nothing very definite is known of Mr. John Leys' affairs. He is known to have been for some time badly embarrassed, and affairs came to a head to-day, when the Freehold Loan and Savings Company, for which he was solicitor until a few weeks ago, published a statement to the effect that they did not stand to lose a dollar by his embarrassment. Mr. Leys has been out of town since Saturday. His friends say he has gone to London. His financial affairs here are in the hands of Mr. Coulson, of the Bank of Toronto, his brother-in-law. Mr. Leys' friends say he will return shortly."

A Suicide Epidemic.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—The Berlin correspondent of the Times says there were 2,355 suicides in the German army, exclusive of the Bavarian troops, in the last ten years.

A Burning Calamity.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—A small house in the Whitechapel district was burned early this morning. After the fire was extinguished the bodies of a man and four women were found in the ruins. It is supposed the people were asleep when the fire broke out and were overcome by smoke.

Cholera and Strikes.

PARIS, Sept. 19.—The miners' strike in the Department of Pas de Calais has begun to spread already to several other districts. Yesterday 4,000 miners in the north of France had quit work. There have been disorders in the district. The appearance of cholera, which has been kept secret, in this city was made public Saturday and Sunday by the authorities. The announcement yesterday caused great alarm. Three deaths occured in the suburbs of St. George and St. Paul. The origin of the infection has not been ascertined.

Cremating Paupers.

BERLIN, Sept. 19.—Berlin's City Council is anxious to sanction cremation of corpses which must be cared for at public expense. It applied recently to a court to decide whether anybody can legally forbid taking this step, and was informed this week that it may cremate bodies in case relatives make no objection. Since the cholera epidemic of 1892 the authorities in Hamburg, Heidelberg and Gotha have had many bodies of paupers cremated, and the practice is expected to obtain soon in most German cities.

Even a Crazy Lord Voted.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—The campaign against the hereditary chamber has started in good earnest. Already Radical papers are compiling portentous lists of lords, showing in figures their monstrous levies on the earnings of the property of the country, their shameless battening on the pension rolls, their ceaseless obstruction of progress and general prosperity. Pritchard Morgan, the hero of the famous gold mine in Wales and one of the best Radicals in the House, tried hard to get in a question about poor, demented Lord Hereford, who was brought up from a big private lunatic asylum in Kent, where he has been under care for years, to vote against the Home Rule Bill. This Hereford, who is the Premier Viscount of England, and is the head of the historic Devereaux family, and quarters also the arms of the Plantaganets and Bohuns, was never allowed to marry, and has been mildly crazy for nearly half his life. It seems incredible that even the densest rural Tory should have thought it good politics to swell the already overwhelming majority by this lunatic vote, but that it was done there is no doubt. The Speaker wouldn't allow the question in the Commons, and the papers here politely refrain from mentioning the peer's identity, but of course the secret can't be kept or the fact burked.

Canadian Cattle Abroad.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—At Deptford yesterday 260 Canadian cattle were offered. Trade was somewhat slower. The best made 4s and seconds 3s 6d to 3s 8d per eight pounds. In the Scotch markets Canadian animals met with fairly good trade last week.

A "DIAMOND" WEDDING.

A wedding on the diamond, the first in the history of baseball, was held at the home plate on the west end grounds at Cincinnati just before the yesterday's game. Louis Rapp, the assistant ground-keeper, and Rosa Smith were married at 2:55 by Squire Tyrell in the presence of 2,200 spectators, who cheered the pair lustily as soon as the ceremony was over. The couple received a number of presents from the baseball people, among them a set of furniture and a ticket to the World's Fair, while the Baltimore and Cincinnati clubs made up a purse of about $80 for them.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 18.—The Chicago Athletic football team met the New York Athletic eleven in the stock pavilion last night, playing by electric light. The teams were composed of veteran players from the eastern colleges. The game was witnessed by several thousand men and women and resulted 4 to 0 in favor of Chicago.

AN M. P. P. MISSING.

Toronto Agitated by the Departure of Mr. John Leys, Q.C., M.P.P.

TORONTO, Sept. 19.—John Leys, M.P.P., solicitor of the Freehold Loan and Savings Company, has left town, and it is not supposed he will return. There were rumors afloat that the company named stands to lose a large amount of money, but the management denies this by an advertisement in the afternoon papers, declaring they have lost nothing, and will not suffer in any way by Mr. Leys leaving the city. Mr. Leys handled a large amount of trust and other moneys, and it is feared his accounts have become involved.

HIS REPENTANCE.

Reposing in quiet was all very well for Barker, who appeared to have some perpetual fund to draw upon somewhere; though in point of fact the man had not a penny in the world, and how he managed to get along in his tumbles down from luck, he alone could tell; but it was not well for Mark Cray. Mark had not the grand genius of Barker—or whatever you may please to call it—the talent of extracting funds from one quarter or other for daily wants. If Mark was not "in luck," Mark stood a chance of starving. When Mark went back to London he had no home, no money, it may be said no friends; and but for his meeting Captain Davenal one day accidentally, Mark could not, that he saw, have gone on at all. Later, some real luck did come to Mark. His late wife's friends—who had never been made acquainted with the grand expectations of the great Paris scheme—wrote to tell Mark that, through the unexpected death of one of the medical men in Barbadoes, an excellent practice might be secured by him if he chose to go out and step into it.

Be you very sure Mark Cray did not hesitate. Hating the profession though he did, feeling an innate conviction within himself that he was ill-qualified for it, he yet decided to embrace it again as his calling and occupation in life. When it comes to starving with a man, there's not much choice. So the decision was made, and Mark Cray was going out immediately to Barbadoes, and was to take charge of Leopold Davenal.

Once before you saw Miss Davenal waiting in that abbey for the return of a bridegroom and bride from their wedding tour. She was so waiting in like manner now. Oswald Cray and his wife had visited Thorndyke for a day or two on their return, as they were about to visit Hallingham, on their way to their new home in London.

Not as the guests of Sir Philip Oswald. Sir Philip had gone to that place where visiting is not; and Sir Henry was the master of Thorndyke. He had wanted Oswald and Sara to stay the whole of their holiday there; but they had preferred a greater change.

Miss Davenal sat in her drawing-room. The October sun was getting low, but still the expected guests had not arrived. Near to Miss Davenal, nursing a dancing baby that would not be coaxed to stillness, was a pretty, gentle woman, Mrs. Davenal. Leo stood at the window watching, and Mark Cray sat in a distant chair, restless, and pushing back his hair as usual. Mark did not altogether relish the expected presence of his half-brother; but there was no help for it. They had not met since Mark went off to Paris in the spring, largely telling Oswald that his debt to him would be paid with interest ere the year was out, for Mark had studiously avoided Oswald since his return.

"Is not that a carriage, Leo?"

"No, Aunt Bettina, it's a baker's cart going by."

Miss Davenal caught enough of the reply to know that it was not what she asked after. "Where's Richard?" she presently said.

"I saw him over there on an engine just now," was Leo's answer, looking towards the station.

"Rose, my dear, that baby is tiring you. Let Leo ring for the nurse."

Mrs. Davenal laughed, and was about to say that the baby did not tire her, and she would rather keep him, when Dick burst in.

"It's coming down the road; it will be here in a minute. Look, Aunt Bett!"

He dashed across the room to the window as he spoke. Example is contagious, and they all followed him. One of the Thorndyke carriages was drawing up to the door. Excitable Dick quitted the window and flew down again.

They were soon in the room. Sara, with her sweet face at rest now, and Oswald behind her. A few moments given to greeting, and Sara had taken the baby, and Oswald was shaking hands with his brother.

"I had no idea we should find you here, Mark."

Mark answered something that nobody could catch, and then Captain Davenal came in.

"Is Henry Oswald with you?"

"No," said Oswald. "He will be in Hallingham to-morrow. He sadly wanted us to stay longer with him, Miss Bettina, and go on straight to London from Thorndyke. What would you have said to that?"

"Thank you," said Miss Davenal, hearing it was impossible to say what. "I shall be happy to see him."

"And so, Leo, we are about to lose you!" whispered Sara, bending down to him.

"We start from this to-morrow, Sara."

"To-morrow! So soon!"

"It's not soon enough," put in Mark. "I don't like being in Hallingham."

"Have you seen your old friends, Mark?" asked Oswald. "Have you been out much?"

"I have not been out at all, and I have seen none of them," responded Mark, gloomily. "I don't want to see them."

"How's Mr. Barker? Have you heard from him lately?"

"I heard the day before I came here," replied Mark, a shade of brightness rising to his countenance. "Barker has all the luck of it in this world. He is in something good again."

"Again!" repeated Oswald, suppressing his inclination to smile.

"So he writes me word. It's something he has taken in hand, and is going to perfect. It it comes to anything I shall return from Barbadoes and join him."

"Oh!" said Oswald. "Well, Mark, I hope you will have a pleasant voyage out there, and that you will find your sojourn all you can wish."

Dinner would soon be ready, and Sara was shown to her room. It overlooked the abbey graveyard. She took off her bonnet and stood there, lost in many reminiscences of the past, in the changes that time had wrought, in the uncertain contemplation of the future. What would be poor Mark Cray's future? Would he abide at Barbadoes, applying himself, as well as his ability allowed him, to the pursuit of his legitimate profession?—or would his unstable, weak mind be dazzled by these illegitimate and delusive speculations to the end until they engulfed him?

How strangely, wonderfully had they been brought through changes and their accompanying trials! In this very room, where she now stood, Oswald had been born. The poor little boy, sent adrift, as may be said, without a home, motherless, as good as fatherless, had worked out his own way in the world, striving always to make a friend of God. Ah, when did it ever fail? It is the only sure help in life.

And what had her own later troubles been; her cares, anxieties, sorrows? Looking back, Sara saw great cause to reproach herself; why had she so given way to despair? It is true that she had never, in a certain sense, a degree, lost her trust in God; but she had not believed that there could be this bright ending. A little ray of the setting sun was reflected on the tombstone formerly noticed; it fell on the significant inscription, "Buried in misery." Sara wondered whether he, the unhappy tenant, had never learnt that great trust.

So lost was she in thought that she did not notice any one had come into the room, until a hand was laid upon her shoulder. It was her husband's. He put some letters down in the broad, old-fashioned window seat.

"They have been sent on to me here from the office," he explained, as Sara glanced at them. "Business letters all. In one there's a bit of gossip, though; in Allister's."

"Is one of them from Allister?"

"Yes. Jane's going to be married. They have met with some Scotch gentleman out there, an old acquaintance of Jane's, and things are settled. Frank says his tongue is broad Scotch, and he can't understand half he says. Jane does, however, so it's all right."

A smile played upon Sara's lips as she thought of the old jealousy. She might tell her husband of it some time. "Does Mr. Allister keep well?" she asked.

"He has been quite well ever since he went there; he says very strong. I hope it has set him up for life. What were you thinking of so deeply, Sara, that you did not hear me come in?"

"At the moment I was thinking of that evening when you and I met there, in the graveyard," she answered, pointing down to it. "What a miserable evening it was?"

"Don't dwell on it, love. I cannot without a pang of shame."

"Nay, but it is pleasant to look back upon now, Oswald. If only to contrast that time with this."

He shook his head with a sort of shiver, and relapsed into silence, his hand clasping hers.

"Oswald," she resumed, in a low tone, "won't you tell me what your suspicion was."

"I will tell you sometime, Sara, not now. Oh, my wife, my wife, how much is there in the past for many of us to repent of!" he continued, in what seemed an uncontrollable impulse. "And it is only through God's mercy that we do repent."

She laid her head upon his shoulder and let it rest there. Its safe abiding-place, so long as the world, for them should last.

Only through God's mercy! My friends, may it be shed on us all throughout our pilgrimage in this checkered life, and ever abide with us unto the end. Fare you well.

A Man Made Happy.—GENTLEMEN,—For five years I have been a great sufferer with Dyspepsia; the pain in the pit of my stomach was almost unbearable and life only seemed a drag to me. When I would go to sleep I would have horrible dreams, and my life became very miserable, as there was no rest either day or night. But with the use of only two bottles of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY this unhappy state has all been changed and I am a well man. I can assure you, my case was a bad one, and I send you this that it may be the means of convincing others of the wonderful curative qualities possessed by this medicine, that are specially adapted for the cure of Dyspepsia. A lady customer of mine had the Dyspepsia very bad, she could scarcely eat anything, and was troubled with pains similar to those I suffered with; and she cured herself with two bottles of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY. I wish you success with your medicine, as I am fully convinced that it will do all you claim for it.

There isn't mushroom for doubt that toadstools are deadly.

No one need fear cholera or any summer complaint if they have a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial ready for use. It corrects all looseness of the bowels promptly and causes a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young and old, rich and poor, and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for cholera, dysentery, etc, in the market.

When you give advice don't try to put it all in italics.

Facts About Dyspepsia.

Wrong action of the stomach and liver occasions dyspepsia. Dyspepsia in turn gives rise to bad blood. Both these complaints are curable by B.B.B., which acts on the stomach, liver, bowels and blood, and tones and strengthens the entire system, thus positively curing dyspepsia, constipation, bad blood and similar troubles.

Beware, my son, how you flirt with the intoxicating cup. The great Goliah was brought down by a sling.

Get the Best.

The public are too intelligent to purchase a worthless article a second time; on the contrary, they want the best! Physicians are virtually unanimous in saying Scott's Emulsion is the best form of Cod Liver Oil.

The more fashionable a boarding-house, the more difficult is to tell what fruit is in the pie.

Among the pains and aches cured with marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is earache. The young are especially subject to it, and the desirability of this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the throat, to which the young are specially subject.

A bachelor never feels happy when the buttons on his clothes have their off days.

Carter's Little Liver Pills must not be confounded with common Cathartic or Purgative Pills as they are extremely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority.

"Ah," said the President, "this is another important cry-sis."

MR. LAURIER AT DURHAM.

Fully 5,000 People Listen to the Liberal Leader.

Warm Words of Welcome From the South Grey Electors—The Temperance Question Referred To.

DURHAM, Sept. 18.—Nothing could have exceeded the cordiality of the reception tendered by the people of Durham and of South Grey to the Hon. Wilfrid Laurier yesterday. They presented him with addresses, telling of their royalty to the cause he represents and of their devotion to himself, and they cheered to the echo the patriotic language employed by him in presenting the policy of the Liberal party. The leader never spoke more eloquently or forcibly than he did yesterday, and the 5,000 people who listened to him were deeply impressed by his utterances. Mr. Laurier, accompanied by Mr. James Sutherland, M.P., and Mr. James McMullen, M.P., arrived here at 11 a.m. An enormous crowd was on the station platform to welcome the leader, and such a welcome he never had before in his life. When Mr. Laurier stepped from the train Dr. Landerkin, jovial and smiling, was there to receive him. Mr. Gilbert McKechnie, M.P.P., was also on hand.

When the last echo of the cheers sent up for Mr. Laurier had died away Mayor Browne stepped forward and presented him an with address on behalf of the municipal authorities. Then, on behalf of the South Grey Young Liberals, Mr. Arch. Roberts read a complimentary address.

When Mr. Laurier had said a few pleasant and graceful words in acknowledgement of the kindness of his reception and the generosity of those who had presented the addresses to him, a procession was formed. It was headed by the Thirty-first Battalion Band, and following it were a score of Young Liberals on horseback. A feature which attracted the admiration of the crowds of people who lined the streets was a representation of Canada, the Provinces and Territories of the Dominion, by nine pretty little girls, dressed in immaculate white.

The procession passed under no less than seven triumphal arches, which had been erected by the energetic committee of the Young Liberal Club, who had the arrangements in hand.

The meeting was held in open air. The chair was occupied by President Binnie, and he discharged the duties of the post with satisfaction to the meeting and credit to himself.

After speeches by Mr. McKechnie, the representative in the Ontario Legislature of South Grey, and Dr. Landerkin, M. P. for South Grey, the chairman announced the leader. So great was the demonstration that it was some time before Mr. Laurier could commence his address. He paid a well-deserved tribute to Dr. Landerkin, for whom he has the highest regard. "He is a jolly soul," said Mr. Laurier. "He has a warm heart, and he is as true a friend as ever lived." Mr. Laurier went on to say that the Conservative party were always ready to accept their policy from their leaders. Did the Conservatives prefer to have their policy laid down for them or to be treated like men and have a voice in framing a platform acceptable to the rank and file of the party? The Liberals framed their own policy. There were Patrons of Industry in this part of the country, and if there were Patrons of Industry, what was the reason for it? Was it not because they were not satisfied with the present condition of things? He had looked at the programme of the Patrons and he could not see what was the difference between their platform and the Liberal policy. In response to the inquiry as to the position of himself and his party in regard to the liquor traffic, Mr. Laurier said that the question was one of the most important that the country would have to deal with. The convention at Ottawa had dealt with that question and had put a plank in the platform in regard to it. In the plank put in the platform the Liberals pledged themselves, whenever they went into power, that the very first thing they would do would be to consult the people to ascertain whether they would have prohibition or not. If he happened to be at the head of affairs at that time and if the will of the people would be to have prohibition they would have it. (Applause.)

Mr. James McMullen, M.P., Mr. Wm. Mulock, M.P., and Mr. Wm. Paterson, Brant, gave characteristic addresses, after which three rousing cheers for the Queen and three for Mr. Laurier concluded the meeting.

A VISIT TO HANOVER.

HANOVER, Sept. 19.—The busy manufacturing village of Hanover turned out almost to a man last night to bid welcome to the distinguished leader of the Liberal party, and they did it so spontaneously. Mr. Laurier, accompanied by Dr. Landerkin, Mr. William Paterson, M.P., and Mr. James Sutherland, M.P., drove over from Durham, eleven miles distant, and when within three miles of the village a chorus of factory whistles greeted him. D. Knechtel & Co.'s immense furniture factory, which employs 125 men, was brilliantly illuminated in honor of the distinguished visitor. Mr. Knechtel, like his enterprising partners, is a manufacturer who has sufficient confidence in himself and the wares he produces to be willing to compete against the Americans in the open market. Cheer after cheer was sent up from the crowds by the wayside as Mr. Laurier passed on toward Dr. Landerkin's residence. An informal reception was given Mr. Laurier, Dr. Niemier presented him with an address in French, which he graciously acknowledged. Short addresses were delivered by Dr. Landerkin, Mr. Paterson and Mr. Sutherland. Messrs Laurier, Paterson and Sutherland were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Landerkin last night.

THE MARITIME LIBERALS

HALIFAX, Sept. 19.—The Maritime Liberal leaders are conducting a successful and enthusiastic campaign. Everywhere they find the people alive to the important political issues at stake, with a general conviction among many Conservatives that a change is desirable and inevitable. Messrs. Forbes, Jones, Davies and Fielding addressed a rousing meeting at Barrington on Saturday, and had another excellent one at Shelburne yesterday. The latter, convened at short notice, was, in some respects, the best of the series. Mr. Davies is making an excellent impression wherever he speaks.

A wonderful new combination is R. Stark's Headache, Neuralgia and Liver Powders; nice to take and perfectly harmless. Mrs. Mary Keats, 88 Main street, Hamilton, says: "For years—in fact all my life—I have been troubled with severe headaches. I have tried all the remedies I could hear of, and have been treated by many doctors, but with very little good results. A friend recommended your Headache, Neuralgia and Liver Powders some time ago, and I have found them to be the greatest blessing to me—in fact, I can truly say they are perfectly wonderful. I would not be without them for more than I can tell." Mr. Flock, station master, Grand Trunk Railway, Hamilton, says: "They cured my most severe headaches, which I had for at least three years." Price, 25 cents a box. Sold by all medicine dealers.

TRAGEDY AT GOWANSTOWN.

An Old Lady and Probably a Boy Burned to Death.

LISTOWEL, Sept. 19.—At an early hour this morning the community in the neighborhood of Gowanstown were aroused by the cries of "Fire," when it was discovered that the dwelling of Mrs. Martin, widow of the late Samuel Martin, was in flames, but before assistance arrived the fire had gained such headway that there was no possibility of saving it, and with the house and contents, poor old Mrs. Martin, a lady of nearly 80 years, was consumed. It is also expected that a lad from the home who was living there is burnt, as he is nowhere to be found. Mr. S. Martin, jun., who runs the farm, was away visiting his sister in Elmira. The whole thing is enshrouded in mystery.

A DRUGGIST'S STORY.

An Ontario druggist, doing business in a large and flourishing city, recently remarked to one interested in Paine's Celery Compound that the sale of that medicine with him was something extraordinary. He asserted that the combined sales of all other regular remedies would not equal the demand for Paine's Celery Compound. When asked for a reason for the great demand, he said: "Paine's Celery Compound gives more general satisfaction and better results than any other medicine I handle. People are influenced by results and cures, and will not spend money the second time for worthless preparations. I am firmly convinced from observation and experience that Paine's Celery Compound accomplishes all it promises. The great remedy is at the head of all others and must prove the most popular with sufferers. I recommend it to my customers every day."

In carrying a gun the great point is to point the muzzle the other way.

Severe Diarrhea Cured.

GENTLEMEN,—I was troubled with chronic diarrhea for over three years and received no benefit from all the medicine I tried. I was unable to work from two to four days every week. Hearing of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, I began to use it. Am now all right. JOHN STYLES, Bracebridge, Ont.

Mrs. Brownson—"So you have been to the Chicago fair? You took the through-by-daylight palace train, I presume." Mr. Brickrow—"Oh, yes—yes, of course; that is—er—I took it going."

Creditor—"Don't you know that it is using up a deal of my time to have to keep dunning you as I do?" Debtor—"And that isn't the worst of it. You use up a deal of my time also."

A Frugal Meal.

It's house-cleaning time. Every one tired and cross; every thing out of place and wrong end foremost. No time to fool away in cooking; no fire, probably; no appetite, perhaps; no comfort, certainly.

No Pearline—that's the cause of it. A little Pearline, when you're cleaning house, makes the whole thing smooth and easy. With anything about the house that isn't hurt by water, you can save time and hard work by using Pearline. You won't have to use that rub, rub, rub, in getting the dirt off. And that saves other things, your paint, for instance.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline do the honest thing—send it back. 598 JAMES PYLE, New York.

What is
CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

Davis will act as marshal on the occasion.

An Old Settler Dead.

Monday another old settler, in the person of Mrs. Elizabeth Pope, wife of John W. Pope, passed away at her residence, Wellington road, this city. Mrs. Pope was married in Kentucky over 50 years ago. She and her husband came to Canada and settled in London in the spring of 1855. Three sons, besides her husband, survive her. They are: Charles, ex-detective, city; and now in the employ of the Pullman Car Company; John, a tailor, of Chicago, who served his apprenticeship in this city 30 years ago with John M. Denton; and Fred, who lives in Kansas City. Deceased was in her 81st year, a consistent Christian, and a member of the Horton Street Baptist Church, of which denomination she has been a faithful member for 68 years. She was well-known by all in her neighborhood as a kind, generous, loving person, ever ready to help and assist those in sickness or distress.

The Police Court.

There was the usual Fair docket at the Police Court yesterday. Disorderly conduct, drunkenness and vagrancy were the charges.

John F. Campbell, who claims to have jewelry for sale at the Fair, was arrested as a vagrant and remanded until Friday.

Margaret Murray, an old offender, gave herself up and asked to be sent to jail. She was too sick to appear in court and was remanded for a week.

Wm. Burris was fined $5 or twenty days for being drunk and disorderly.

John Gavin, on a charge of being disorderly in South London, was remanded for a week.

John Connors was charged with vagrancy. Chief Williams said he never worked only when in jail and then only when he did so to escape punishment. He had also two names, according to the chief, who was promptly informed in return that he was a "liar." Connors claimed to be a printer by trade. He was sentenced to six months in the Central Prison.

Two drunks were discharged, one fined $5 or ten days, one $10 or 20 days and one $2 or a week.

Royal Crown Remedy

DOES ALL!

HAMILTON, Dec. 9, 1890.

MR. ISAAC WILLIAMS, London, Ont.:

Dear Sir,—After suffering for a long time, with pains in my back, extending to my lower parts, also no ambition to do my daily work, I was induced by Mr. Bickell to try Roya Crown Remedy. After taking two bottle and pills as directed, I consider myself entirely cured, and can highly recommend your medicine, R. C. R. and pills, to do all you claim them to do. Yours truly, SHUBAL HILL.
