NO. 78 AT COLBORNES

William Thomas, Aged 27, of 404 York St., Got Off a Westbound Belt and Ran Directly in Front of an Eastbound Car.

MAN WAS HURLED TEN FEET AND DEATH RESULTED ALMOST INSTANTLY

Thomas, Who Was an Englishman, Had Only Been in Canada Since Last September, and Had Run Into a Series of Troubles-Was Going West Next Week.

William Thomas, an Englishman, 27 years of age, employed as a trackman by the London Street Railway Company, was struck and almost instantly killed by Dundas car No. 78, about a hundred feet east of the corner of Dundas and Colborne streets, today shortly after 12 o'clock. The accident happened when the young man alighted from a westbound Belt Line car, and ran behind it right into the path of Car No. 78, which was proceeding east on Dundas street at a moderate rate.

Motorman George Doidge, who was in charge of No. 78, had barely time to see the man before the trolley had hit him.

DIDN'T SEE THE CAR. Thomas also did not see the approaching car until it was right onto him and then he had no time to escape. He was thrown to one side of the street by the impact, his skull being cracked at the base, and death, due to bleeding i ternally, occurred almost before he was picked up.

Dr. W. J. Stevenson and Dr. McWilliam, who reside close by, were hastily called, but when they arrived Thomas was beyond medical aid.

Coroner MacLaren was then notified, and after viewing the remains he decided to hold an inquest. The body was removed to Smith's undertaking parlors, where it will be viewed this evening by the coroner's jury. RETURNING FROM WORK.

At the time the accident happened Thomas was returning home from work. He was employed by the Street Railway Company on Central avenue, where the roadbed is being raised and new rails laid down. He caught a Belt Line car on Central avenue, and was leaving it for his home when he met his death. He was apparently in a hurry to get to his boarding-house, which was at the corner of Colborne and York streets, two blocks from where the accident occurred, as he did not ring the bell for the motorman to stop. CAR AT A MODERATE SPEED.

The Belt Line car was travelling at a moderate speed at this corner, and the gong was ringing for the Dundas car, which was about to pass it.

Thomas was standing on the steps apparently with the intention to alight before his car stopped. While the trolley was still a hundred feet distant from the corner he jumped, and running with it, awing to the momentum, for a few feet, he suddenly darted behind it and into the path of No. 78.

Several men were on the back of the Belt Line car at the time. They realized the young man's danger in an instant. WARNINGS WERE IN Several warnings were shouted to him, but he apparently did not hear them. As he noticed the approaching car he put his hands up before his face as if to ward off the blow. He was thrown about ten feet by the impact. The Dundas car, No. 78, was in charge of Motorman George Doidge and Conductor E. Schmidt. Both state that they were proceeding at a moderate speed. Motorman Doidge said that he could not have possibly stopped the car in time to save the man, as the young fellow ran right into him. The car ran about two lengths before it was brought to a stop. IN CANADA SINCE SEPTEMBER.

Thomas had only been in this country since September, coming from his nome in Derbyshire, where his parents reside. He had no relatives in this country, and was unmarried. He boarded with Mrs. James Ward, 404 York street, and had made arrangements to leave for the Canadian west in a week.

Since coming to London he had had considerable trouble. Shortly after arriving he suffered from rheumatism, and was laid up in Victoria Hospital for some weeks. Later, after going with the street railway company, a rail fell on his knees and he was laid up again for some time.

After recovering from this he remarked to Mrs. Ward he had had two troubles already, and a third one would put him down and out.

Two Hundred Million, Canada's Wheat Crop

[Canadian Press.]

New York, July 10.—An important meeting of the grain trade of New York was held last night in the room of the board of managers of the produce exchange. The question of starting a contract market for futures in Manitoba wheat was taken up. The trade considered that the best results could be obtained by referring the proposition to a special committee for investiga-tion and a report on a comprehensive scheme to a later meeting.

Owing to the immense surplus of Manitoba wheat and the dwindling surplus of American wheat for export, the volume of business through the seaboard has steadily decreased, while the volume of business in Canadian wheats has steadily increased. The Canadian crop this year is estimated at about 200,000,000 bushels of which were 100,000,000 bushels of which were 100,000 bushels of w

The Canadian crop this year is estimated at about 200,000,000 bushels of which over 100,000,000 bushels will undoubtedly be surplus for export, to be moved through the Atlantic seaboard, and, during six months of the year, through all American ports. The establishment of a market, which would give northwestern producers, shippers, receivers, and exporters an opportunity to protect transactions in spots, would greatly facilitate transactions and minimize the risk, it was declared.

SHEFKET RESIGNS.

Constantinople, July 10. - Mahmout Shefket Pasha, the Turkish minister of The Evidence.

Mr. Blaney, who was represented by E. W. Scatcherd, called Thomas Hall, a yard helper, and Oliver Peters, the engineer of the yard engine, to corroborate his own testimony given at the first hearing. They both contended that they took charge of the engine at Shefket Pasha, the Turkish minister of war, whose military ability made possible the change of regime in Turkey, resigned his office today. His resignation arises from the dissatisfaction of the minister of war himself over his alleged failure to read the signs of military disaffection which culminated in the recent mutiny in Albania.

COOK'S OPERATIONS WERE CONDEMNED

Attack of Government on Hon. Charles Murphy Was Unjust.

Declare Man Dismissed Did Not Have Requisite Knowledge for the Position.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, July 10.-A mild sensation has been created in Ottawa by the Public Service Commission's condemnation of Hon. Charles Murphy for dismissing R. E. Cook from the printing bureau. The statement against Hon. Mr. Murphy was handed out by the Government, and is based on an investigation made by the Hon. Mr. Morine after he had been exposed in parliament and his resignation asked for by the Government. Cook's operations were investigated and condemned by two Montreal experts, Mr. E. G. O'Connor and Mr. George Hyde, chartered accountant. Mr. O'Connor in dealing with Cook, reported as fellows: "A mistake was made in appointing as the head of the department a member of the accountants' staff not have the requisite knowledge of experience to enable him to properly handle work of the intricate and technical character that daily passed through their hands. The mistake was aggravated by the fact that there was no other qualified person connected with the bureau to whom he could go for advice."

Mr. O'Connor further states "that Mr. Cook was slow to learn is shown by his continuing in force an antiquated and absurd price list, and by his failure to invoke all possible competition or to secure advance prices in the giving out of the work."

Acted on Report.

In dismissing Mr. Cook, Hon. Mr. Murphy acted on the report made by O'Conner and Hyde. Neither of these gentlemen were asked by Mr. Monroe to give evidence.

Speaking of the report this morning, Hon. Mr. Murphy said: "It is obviously mpossible to discuss a report which the Conservative papers say 'is being closely guarded, and no official statement as to its contents available.' The refutation of every one of the extracts from the reports of the public service commission is contained in the bureau inquiry report that was presented to Parliament in 1910, and in the affidavit that I filed with the public service commission. Judging by the statement given to the Conservative press, the sole object of Mr. Morine's commission was to reinstate Mr. R. E. Cook. If the Government takes that step the Liberal party will have no more cause to regret it than they had to regret the appointment of Morine."

WORK WILL BE RUSHED

Start at Once to Strengthen the Big Wall.

Engineer Wright announced today that work will be begun at once to strengthen the West London embankstrengthen the West London embank-ment, and that ten teams have been secured. Mr. Wright is looking for a gang of 30 men to proceed with the work, which will last about six weeks. It is the intention to dredge the gravel out of the river, and build up the wall at the weak spot near Saun-by's dam, and then the work will be continued right around the wall.

Generally Conceded That the Saskatchewan Government Will was near their position. Captain W. J. Taylor and Assistant Be Retained in Power Tomorrow, and Premier Scott Have a Working Majority.

[Canadian Press.]

Regina, Sask., July 10.-The hottest ON THE EMBANKMENT Regina, Sask., July 10.—The hottest political fight the West has ever witnessed is closing today in this province. When polling opens tomorrow in City Engineer Wright Will ince; When polling opens tomorrow in 52 seats (two northern constituencies having delayed elections) it will be amid intense excitement and a grave probability of some principal violence on both sides. The press of both parties have openly advised their partisans to be prepared for trouble. The Regina Province, editorially, calls for the "smashing of all crooks who attempt to vote." Numerous Arrests.

There is no mistaking the temper of both sides. There have been numerous arrests thus for small markets thus for small markets. Judges say that an error was made arrests thus far among workers en-gaged on each side. There are many outsiders from all sections working in Saskatchewan. Last night Mr. Haultain and Premier Scott both expressed confidence that their respective sides would win, though the bulk of the money for betting wines resentment over the He-up of the market would have aided them greatly. The Conservatives pointed out that whatever the decision of the electorate with the Liberals. In the past three days the odds have been lowered, but they still favor the Government except in rare case. cept in rare cases.

Large sums of money have been wagered, and in some cases even bets have ruled. Each side is thoroughly organized. Of this there is no doubt, and the percentage of votes will be larger than usual. The Conservatives claim to have deliered a fatal blow to the reciprocity talk denying claims that the United States markets offer the Canadian grain producers any adantage, because yesterday the Winnipeg July future closed at 107%, while in Chicago it was 103% and 104% in Minneapolis. The fact has been wired all over the province. The reciprocity issue has been made the leading feature of the campaign by the Liberals, and the grain-growers are declared for this reason to be favoring the Liberals. Haultain also makes a claim to com-

[Canadian Press.] Toronto, July 10.—A rather signifi-cant light is thrown on the Saskatchewan elections, which take place tomorrow, in the following special to the Star from Regina:

"The Saskatchewan election has now reached the roorbach stage, and the papers on both sides are a trifle hysterical. The Liberals have depended chiefly in this campaign on the trade ques-tion of wider markets, fighting ever again the question of reciprocity. Saskatchewan's growing production of cereals makes wider markets essential, and the electorate were appealed to to punish the local Conservative party

Although Londoners are complaining about being toasted crisp with the heat these days, they have probably forgotten the fact that they were in a worse plight a year ago today. On the 10th day of July, 1911, at 2 p.m., the thermometer registered 96 degrees in the shade. At the same hour today, one year later. Old hour today, one year later, Old Sol has caused the mercury to ascend to the 91.5 mark. When you consider the difference of 4½ degrees, do you not feel cooler?

REMAINING FLYERS 'The American Aviators' As sociation" Founded an Aero Club in Chicago.

Chicago, July 9 .- The American Avitors' Association, founded "to save the Hves of remaining American flyers," was established today at the flying field of the Aero Club of Illinois. Permanent organization will be completed July 26, expected by the Chicago alemen to become affiliated with the organization.

Members pledge themselves not to fly in an aeroplane they do not think safe, regardless of jeers or accusations of cowardice; they agree to seek through the national aeronautical body against managers or employers who seek to force aviators into unsafe flights, and they have periences.

"We do not yet know the air," said Andrew Drew, regarding the association of which he is the founder. "Every time a flyer goes up he meets some new peculiarity. If we put this knowledge to common use, we shall learn something. "The association will conduct intelli-gent investigations of all aviation accidents accessible, and expects to gain information which will put a stop the aviation death rate. No one knows how many deaths are due to construc and which they seldem dare demand be The lessons are sent weekly. They changed, for fear of being accused of

MARCUS IN PERIL

Rome, July 9.-Little drops of water have caused great danger to the worldfamous equestrian statue of Aurelius, which is well known to visitors at the Capitol Square. City engineers have discovered that there are sundry cracks in the horse's body, which is of bronze, and that it now contains a considerable quantity of water. If the present rainy weather continues the accumulation of water inside the horse may overbalance the statue and cause it to fall.

Conisbrough, Yorkshire, July 9.-The bodies of 69 victims of a series of explosions in the Cadeby colliery this morning have been brought to the surface. It is feared that a further search of the mine will increase the death roll to 80. Of the killed 30 were mine workers; the others were men who went into the pit to rescue those entombed. Among those were three Government inspectors, including William Henry Pickering, chief inspector of mines, Yorkshire and North Midland district, who was to have explained to King George and Queen Mary

NEW METHOD IN TREATING INSANE

Provincial Asylum at

THE INDIVIDUAL SYSTEM Institution Calls for Expenditure of $700,000; and Prison and Asylum

Labor Will Be Utilized. Toronto, July 10 .- A radical change in the system of treating the mentally unfortunate has been adopted in the Ontario Government's plans for the new hospital for the insane, at Whitby. The plans for the group of buildings that will stand on the magnificent site, overlooking Whitby Bay and Lake Ontario, are nearing completion and upon final approval work will be commenced without delay. The use of prison and asylum labor and of building materials produced from the Prison Farm at Guelph will bring the cost of the buildings down materially, but still they will represent an expenditure of nearly $700,000. The institution at Whitby will be as important a step forward in the care of the insane in Ontario as was the establishment of the Guelph Reformatory in dealing with the prob-lem of the law's offenders. The plans show that the Government of the mine where the accident happened. Thirty of these were killed outright, and one, the manager of the pit, was brought up alive, but died to instance the old system of treating the insane in one great central building, a system condemned by the foremost specialists in the condensation. world. Individual treatment will be followed throughout, and the buildings will be arranged as far as possible to give the patients natural surroundings.

A New Departure. The portion of the 600-acre farm, chosen for the hospitals and cottages, is just west of Whitby Bay and over-looks both the bay and the lake. At the entrance, separate from the main group of buildings, admission hospit-als will be located. Here people whose mental trouble is not advanced. DR. MARIE H. HARKINS, DR. BEOWN GRADUATE UNDER patients will not set foot inside the "asylum" group. At the present time, there are in Ontario numbers of persons suffering from slight mental troubles, who shrink from entering insane asylums and whose trouble, when they do enter an institution, is often aggravated. The general hospital, nurses' and atendants' quarters will occupy the centre of the group in addition to a church, halls and a skating rink. Two large areas have been reserved as recrea-on grounds. House for Convalescents The principal feature of the Whitby plans, and the one that marks the greatest departure from the system at the Queen street asylum, is the provision for convalescent homes. There are to be two groups of these cot-tages, one for the male patients and the other for females. The cottages will as far as possible be built along the lines of an ordinary summer home. There will be eight of them, each capable of accommodating fifty patients. They will be placed in a circle surrounding the general kitchen. There will, however, be no general dining hall. Running off from the kitchen will be six or more separate. ate dining rooms, which will make it possible to divide the patients into classes and keep them apart. Each patient as he returns from his work on the farm will enter his own cottage, "clean up," and step across to his own dining room. The convalestent group will each have an infiger cent group will each have an infirmary, in which the sick patients and those that have reached the senile stage can be cared for. At present it is necessary to place such helpless old patients in the "violent" or "disturbed" wards, a system that leaves much

making and laying out the plans these buildings have been kept far enough away from the convalescent cottages to keep the patients in the latter unaware of their existence.

To Care for Consumptives,

To the west, near a beautiful pine grove, an hospital for tubercular patients will be built, with another for cases requiring isolation.

The present plans provide accommodation for twelve hundred patients, but extensions can be made to enable another twelve hundred to be cared for. The buildings will cost in the neighborhood of $700,000, but under any other plan of construction than the one to be followed they would than the one to be followed they would cost nearly a million. The cement block to be used will come entirely from the prison farm at Guelph, as will the material for the "stucco" work. A yery large percentage of the doors, window frames, etc., will be made in the carpenter shops at Guelph, and the buildings will be put up largely by men from the Central some time a number of patients have been engaged in putting up temporary buildings. The institution is two miles from the Grand Trunk staton, but arrangements are now being made to bring a siding into the grounds. Every man who is physically fit will be employed upon the farm, while the women will be kept at various domestic duties around the buildings. LONDON, WEDNESDAY, JULY 10. DIVIDED COUNSELS.

"We appreciate the difficulties surrounding the inauguration of any naval policy; we have no desire to appear to be forcing Mr. Borden's hand; neither do we think that Sir Richard has any such thought; but the time has come for plain speech It is important that Canada should how the establishment of a Canadian navy is regarded on this coast, and British Columbia's Premier has only discharged a public duty in speaking as plainly as he has"-Victoria Colonist.

Whether this utterance of a paper in close touch' with Sir Richard Me-Bride was directly inspired by him or not, it expresses his opinion. There is a note of warning in it, almost a threat, addressed to Mr. Borden.

Sir Richard, in an interview, showed his anger at the proposal which the Montreal Star is urging on the Borden Government with its usual stridency. The Star turns up its imperialistic nose at the Canadian idea. It contends that Canada must build or buy Dreadnoughts and turn them over to the Admiralty for service only in the North Sea. It affects to see no necessity for a Canadian squadron on the Pacific coast, which Sir Richard is clamoring for. It argues that the Anglo-Japanese alliance, and the Monroe doctrine (think of this from a journal which poured insult and calumny on the United States during the federal election campaign!) will guard Canada against the Asiatic peril. To quote: "Canada would be backed by the United States in the case of trouble with Asiatic migration.

"Yet there are cowards in Canada who would hide behind the quite natural apprehensions of Australia when they really want to argue that Canada should have a few warships within reach of our local 'grafters' and our own political 'patronage' hunters."

This was a savage thrust at Sir Richard and his views. "God help Canada," he retorted on the Star, "if she has to turn to anyone for protection in that quarter"-meaning Japan. It is not necessary to share Sir Richard's fantastic fears of Japan to agree with his opinion that Canada's proper course will be the development of a the British Government on the horrors Canadian naval force, part of it sta- existing in the upper waters of the tioned on the Pacific coast or in Asiatic Amazon, will give a shock to Chriswaters, where it will do the work that otherwise British ships would have to history of the treatment of do. LORD DURHAM'S REPORT REVIVED.

Lord Durham's epoch-making report is a subject of perennial interest both in Canada and in Great Britain. For Canada, it was the corner-stone of pepular government and even of Confederation, though Durham drew back at the time from the larger plan of uniting the two races. For Great Britain, the report definitely closed the old colonial era and inaugurated the full recognition of the overseas nations as daughters in the mother's house but mistress in their own. The idea did not originate with Durham, but since 1840 it has been dominant in the colonial office.

ate as much consternation as his Lon-A massive work in three volumes has just appeared from the Clarendon Press on the history of "Resp)nsible Government in the Dominions," by A. B. Keith. Such a publication testifies to the growth of intelligent interest in to Canada has been published for the colonial history on the part of the first time. Of course, every Canadian British public, and serious British scholars. The author does full justice to the momentous nature of the Canadian rebellion just 75 years ago, and to Lord Durham's analysis and cure of the conditions which brought is about, He makes it plain, in his unimpassioned marshalling of the facts, that Durham's principle of wider local liberty has been the very cement of the British Empire, setting in motion a countercurrent towards a closer imperial unity independent of such vexatious machin. ery as conscription or tariff-tinkering. Not more restraint but more freedom was the great Radical's way of imperialism. It has been the pathway of growth for British sentiment in Canada, in Australia, in South Africa. What would Lord Durham think of frish home rule today? This is a question put by the author of another work in three volumes, just issued by the Clarenden Press: "Lord Durham's Report on the Affairs of British North America," edited by Str C. P. Lucas. He thinks that as Durham was against all Irish claims for autonomy, analogically distrusted the French-Canadians and devised the unnatural union of Upper and Lower Canada under slature, he would therefore now conent of home rule. He even wan election should be the subject of hints that Durham would have ap- a parliamentary inquiry. Foreign set- other matter.

If Mr. Rogers policy of conciliation and responsible had his own way this would be litergovernment under a federation. But in 1846 Englishmen knew less of Ireland, American farmers are selling their lands for $125 to $150 an acre and buying lands in Essex County for $60 to $85 an acre. The land in Essex is better than they left behind. The greater market across the line makes land more valuable there, but the price at union of 1841, which had merely tied which Canadian land can be bought French and English together like the leaves a handsome margin of profit on Kilkenny cats, would have continued farming operations here. OUR PRECISE ARTIST. (By Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.]

An almanac reached me through the post the other day. It was not sent to me for review, but simply because my name had been copied from the directory by some poor drudge in a patent medicine establishment in Montreal. While I have not read it, and do not intend to do so, it stirred within me a pleasureable memory of the days of boyhood when I used to peruse a yellow-covered almana in the long winter evenings beside the fireplace in a country home in old Ontario. I used to examine with care the signs of the zodiac, the twins, the scorpion, and the rest of them, with wondering eyes. I scanned the names of great men who died on certain dates, and still my wonlast the Star placarded its pages with der grew that there seemed to be somecartoons depicting the Yankees as thing about an eminent person for every day in the year. Early in life I came to the conclusion that the man who could calculate the weather for a year or more writing pieces for some newspapers. in advance was cleverer than even the village school-master, at whose feet I sat in daily admiration.

> While I was too generous in my estimate of the cerebral development of the almanac-maker, I have learned since that some shrewd fellows have labored in this department of learning. The most famous member of the race was undoubtedly John Partridge, who flourished in the last quarter of the seventeenth century. Like many other men of genius, Partridge put in his early youth at the cobbler's bench. He learned first of all to read Latin from the Vulgate and Ovid, a curious combination, but, as Shakespeare and Milton also studied the same works devoutly, he was following in noble footsteps. From these books he passed on to astrology and naturally read Galen, Averroes, and other medical authorities. He also dipped into Greek and Hebrew. His first publication was "A Hebrew Calendar," then he got out an "Astrological Vade Mecum." In 1679, becoming more practical, he published "Ecclesilegia: An Almanack." Encouraged by the success of this work, he followed it up in the same year with his "Vox Lunaris, a Discourse of Two Moons seen in London on June 11, 1697." In 1680 he became known to the public as a regular maker of almanacs. As he gave his almanack fine Protestant flavor and prophesied all kinds of Pepish plots, he soon established himself in popular regard. His diatribes, however, made him obnoxious to King James II., and he had to flee to Leyden, where it is said he got an M.D. degree. In 1689 he was back in England three days' railway trip? re-issuing his almanack and reaping the reward of being the cleverest charlatan Siam, reward of being the cleveles state and in pyjamas there if you want to. begun to smile upon him, when in all well-appointed households his almanack was hung by a string beneath the kitchen shelf, a great disaster struck poor John Partridge.

It was all due to the malicious jocularity of one Jonathan Swift. In 1707, when almanac time came round, Dean Swift, writing under the name of Isaac Bickerstaff, presumably an astrologer of great learning, issued a pamphlet in which he predicted that Partridge would die on a certain date in the coming year. A person of quality answered this pamphlet, but the real author was Swift once more Naturally these tracts, which were bought with avidity by the ever-credulous public aroused great interest. It was regarded as a fine joke to see a predicter of disasters treated to a dose of the medicine which he handed out to the princes and potentates of Europe. The 30th of March was the day set for Partridge's death. Sure enough on that very day a pamphlet came hot from the press giving full details of the astrologer's decease. Swift was, of course, the author of this publication also, and he followed it up with a broadside, his "Elegy on the Death of Mr. Partridge," which concluded with this celebrated epitaph:

Here, five feet deep, lies on his back A cobbler, star-monger and quack, Who, to the stars in pure good will, Does to his best look upward still. Weep all you customers that use His pills, his almanacks or shoes.

The success of the jest was complete The Company of Stationers struck the dead Partridge from their rolls and asked for an injunction against the continued publication of almanacs in his name. The fame of Bickerstaff extended all over Europe. The greatest joke of vacuum all, next to that on the unlucky astrologer, was on the Inquisition of Portugal, which was so impressed by the verification of Bickerstaff's "Predictions" that it ordered his book to be burned as an unmistakeable emanation from the evil one.

And what about poor Partridge all this time? He was footing it around London, doing his best to prove that he was not dead, but the task was too difficult. He proceeded to advertise that he was "not only now alive, but was also alive upon the 29th of March in question." His earnest but ludicrous efforts raised storm of laughter, and all the wits of the day took up the question until it cord of wealth. We doubt if it can be rained pamphlets. It may be doubted equalled in any other city in the whether Swift enjoyed anything more in his whole career. He certainly per-petrated over the name of Bickerstaff one of the most amusing literary hoaxes of history. He rulned poor Partridge. the almanac-maker, but he at least did

Billie Burke On Womanliness

MISS BILLIE BURKE.

The first word: "WOMANLINESS ALWAYS ATTRACTS." Many young girls seem to think it is a mark of popularity to be called "a good fellow," or a "good sport." They think that a man likes best a young woman who will drink a cocktail at a restaurant before her dinner, as a woman who will drink a cocktail at a restaurant before her dinner, as a matter of course, and, perhaps, smoke a cigarette on the sly; who will, perhaps, laugh at a slightly risque story and whose conversation is interlarded with slang. I do not believe there is a man in America who would like to have any young woman of his own family do these things.

A man may aid and abet any other woman than those he cares about making herself conspicuous or even ridiculous. If a girl really cares for her reputation among men, she should be very particular that her qualities as a woman are most in evidence. Gentleness—that her qualities as a woman are most in evidence. Gentleness—charitableness, and sympathy are the three qualifications which are sure to make a man the friend of the woman who has them.

You may be as witty as possible, but your smart remarks must not have a tinge of rancor or sarcasm. You may know that you are far more clever than some of your girl friends, but you must not let the idea become general that you think so. You may have little in common with many of your acquaintances, but while you are with them it is not necessary to make

To do this, you do not have to lose one jot of your sincerity or your frankness. All you must learn to do is to look for the best in everyone and remember that the woman who is sympathetic with all humanity gets the

While most sane people will admit that there is room for educated women in certain sections of public life, it is not so easy to define what sections of womanhood should be allotted to this or that particular kind of work. It is agreed that the broader the outlook for woman the more sympathetic and valuable is her influence in the home, but the extent of her outlook depends altogether upon individual circumstances—the status of the woman herself, whether she be married or single, the extent of her family, and the ability of her husband to enable her to delegate a portion of the responsibilities of the household on to other persons' shoulders. It is desirable that every woman, whatever her condition may be, should occasionally get outside the narrow atmosphere of home duties.

It may be an old-fashioned idea, but it is none the less true that the claims of the home are paramount. When a woman undertakes the duties and responsibilities of matrimony no amount of work done elsewhere will atone for any neglect of the interests of the But when these are ful-

I had just got interested in that book when teacher slipped up behind me and took it out of my geography.

"What's that you're reading, my dear," said she, "something about South and the state of the sta of thing that seems to be so fashionable just now. Have the girls changed or have we who buy the books for them changed? Sentimental, high-flown, lacking in literary merit. Doubtless, doubtless, no one could claim much for the "art for art's sake" side of the Holmes book or its like. And yet just the other day when a girl of seventeen went with me for a walk up the green canon where the laughing water calls Tempest frowned darkly," began the eldest girl.

We laugh at the old-fash-ioned books now, and at the old-fashioned people who read them, and ye do you know, I'd take my chance with any one of the little readers of "Tempest and Sunshine" up there in the canon the other day, and let the poor, puzzled, earnest young person with the "Omar Khayyam" yearnings and the "De Profundis" cult go by on the very cold side of the street for all of me. I wonder if I am entirely wrong?

Love, friendship, simple hopes, kindambitions, sweet, daughterly afbouquet of wild roses on the table, the bright fire on the friendly hearth, when the cool of evening falls, the sweet clover under the window, the comfortable cat in the sunshine on the porch, the old dog at the gate, the bees a-hum in the buckwheat—what is 8 o'clock: would it be all right to have sixth innings, with the score a tie at one each. The first game was a burlesque, pure and simple, on the part of the Guelph team. They put up the worst exhibition of the year, and were beaten, 15 to 3. The Londoners hit Behan to all corners of the lot for no less than 21 hits for a total of 26 bases and 15 runs. The Leafs assisted in the slaughter by eight inexcusable errors, and played rotten ball all afternoon.

The second game was a decided improvement, the only sensational fea-ture being the trouble Umpire Bill Phyle got into with the crowd. Phyle gave the home club the worst of every decision all day, and when he called Wright out at the plate in the fourth inning of the second game, the anger knew no bounds.

They made a rush for him at the end of the game, and notwithstanding the fact that the players of both teams tried to protect him he had a tough time getting safely out of the grounds. The first game was won by London with big Matt Hynes pitching. He was touched up for eleven hits, but managed to keep them pretty well scattered. Two of Guelph's three runs were home-run drives by Behan.

A finer day's racing was never fur-nished London horse-lovers than the first day's programme at Queen's Park present, and they got their money's worth. There certainly was plenty of excitement every moment of the time.

The first race was the $1,000 stake for slow pacers, and in this battle horse-followers had a chance to look over a handy free-legged wiggler that looks anyhold's race yet.

A Good Starter.

Mr. J. D. Lowrie, Sarnia, acted as the lick, and it will not be surprising starter, and got the horses away in the lick, and it will not be surprising if he does not duplicate the feats of his illustrious half-brother, Hal B., Jun., 2:03, down the big line. He has speed, and when his manners improve a triefle it will take some "paster" to take this lad's measure. Five horses started in this contest. Surprises in Two Feature Events-Track Only Fair.

AT GRAND RAPIDS

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 9 .- Races that were so uncertain in their probable results as to have the spectators continually puzzled marked the opening of the Grand Circuit here today. The two stake events, the Alcryon purse, 2:07 class trotting, and the Grand Rapids Railway Purse, 2:20 class trotting, both developed surprises. The former held a real sensation, when Driver Durfee, after piloting Helen Stiles to victory in the third, fourth and fifth heats, was fined $200 for not vinning sooner.

After a heavy rain yesterday the rack was in only fair condition, being several seconds slower than when at its best.

Sunny Jim won the 2:07 pace, with strong opposition in all three heats.

The new point-marking rule adopted last winter was used for the first time on the Grand Circuit. According to these, the positions of the horses Berlin.

W. O. B. A. COMMITTEE MAILING PROGRAMMES

Big Preparations Are Being Made For Tournament This Year.

Preparations are being made already by the officers of the Western Ontario Bowling Association for the 17th annual tournament, which begins on Monday, July 22. Programmes are being sent out daily to every town and city in Ontario large enough to boast of a bowling club, and this year's entries promise to exceed all former years. The W. O. B. A. tournament is the biggest bowling event of the year, and in the past bowlers have been present from all over the Province. This year's programme is a large one, and the prize list is bigger than ever. Besides the three big trophy events there are a number of special events including two series of Scotch doubles, for which special prizes have been offered. All entries must be in the hands of the secretary not later than Thursday, July 18, as the draw for the tournament is made on this date. Some early entries have been received already.

Thorne's case was now absolutely hopeless. By the testimony of two witnesses a thing is established. All that Arrelsford had seen Edith had seen. All that he knew she knew. been wasted, nay, more, his own life also; for well did he realize that the bold way he had played the game would the more certainly hasten his immediate execution.

A spy in the Confederate capital!

He could reproach himself with nothing. He had done his very best. An ordinary man would have failed a dozen times in the struggle. Courage, adroatness, resourcefulness and good fortune had carried him so far, but the odds were now heavily against him, and noth-

"What is he saying?"
Thorne stepped to the table and bent over the clicking key. 'His compliments, sir," he read off slowly. "He asks"—watting for a few minutes—"for the rest"—still another pause—"of that dispatch—he says it's of vital importance, sir, and—"

The communication which Thorne had made to General Randolph was in itseli made to General Randolph was in itself of vital importance. The General was too good a soldier not to know the danger of delay in the carrying out of a military manoeuvre which was probably part of some general plan of attack or defence to which he was not privy. He made up his mind instantly. He took the dispatch from the hand of the Sergeant and turned to went to Thomas again.

"Let him have it," he said decisively. The Captain, with his heart pounding like mad, sat down at the table and selzed the key. Was he going to complete the dispatch? Was the plan to be carried out? Had he triumphed in the bold and desperately played game by his splendid courage, resourcefulness and eyes shone, the color came back into his pale cheeks as his hands trembied on the key.

Never so long as she lived could her mind dwell on him with tenderness. The sound of his name would be a hissing and a reproach in her ear, his reputation a by-word and a shame. Her connection with him and that he had loved her would humiliate her only less than the fact that she had loved him.

His condition was indeed pitiable; yet, to do him justice, his thoughts were not so much for himself as they were for two other things. First and foremost bulked largest before the plan for which he had made all this sacrifice, which had promised to end the weary months of siege which Richmond and Petersburg had sustained. His brother had lost his life, he more than suspecetd, in the endeavor to carry it out, and now he had falled. That was a natural humiliation and reproach to his pride, although as his mind went back over the scene he could detect no false move on his part. Of course his allowing his love for Edith Varney to get the mastery of him had been wrong under the circumstances, but that had not affected the fallure or success of his endeavors.

One Hotel Destroyed, Another Badly Damaged and Over One Hundred Cottages Wiped Out-Loss Expected to Total Half Million Dollars.

Gananoque, Ont., July 9.—Fire, which did damage of over a half million dollars, swept through Thousand Island Park this afternoon, destroying the Columbian Hotel, damaging the Wellesley House, and burning over a hundred cottages. The fire, which was the worst that has ever taken place at the Thousand Islands, was discovered about 1:15 in the afternoon by Joseph Rothschild in the general store of H. H. Haller, in the annex of the Wellesley Hotel, situated directly back of the Columbian. The store was locked while the owner and his family were attending a funeral.

The interior of the store soon was a mass of flames. A large number of park residents soon had all the available fire fighting apparatus of the park In action. Calls were sent to the fire department here and at Clayton and Alexandria Bay for help.

The buildings in the rear of the Columbian were soon a mass of flames, and it appeared inevitable that the whole section between the Columbian Hotel and the river on the east would be destroyed. MANY PEOPLE PROSTRATED.

The scenes among the people driven frantic by the excitement was pitiful. Women fainted from the intense heat, and men collapsed while carrying out furniture and other valuables from the cottages in the vicinity of the place where the fire started.

The whole block back of the Columbian was a roaring furnace in less than fifteen minutes after the fire started. The building occupied by the two summer schools run by the Thousand Island Park Association, the annex of the Columbian, Haller's store, Kendal's store, and several other shops were destroyed, as it was apparent that the block in which the fire started could not

The flames soon jumped across the street to the Columbian in spite of all the efforts of the firemen. The gables of the rear of the structure caught first, and the big frame structure of 220 rooms was soon a seething caldron of flame and smoke.

Soon after the Columbian caught a brisk wind started to blow from the west at the rate of fifteen miles an hour. The flames next enveloped over fifty cottages in rapid succession. It looked at this time as if the whole park would be destroped, but the arrival of the fire department from Clayton and Alexandra Bay put new hope in the already frantic crowd.

By 2:30 all that remained of the Columbian was the brick abutments and a mass of intensely hot, twisted ironwork. Leroy Mitchell was severely burned by the explosion of a boiler in the burning hotel. KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

LAST PIGTAIL OFF

Majordomo of Chinese Legation London Gets Father's Consent. London, July 9.-The last pigtail has departed from the Chinese Legation in Portland place. This one remaining pig- Regrettable Incident at Kincardine tail fell at the close of last week beneath the scissors of progress.

It grew upon the head of Leo Yuk Lins, majordomo of the legation, who hails from the Pekin neighborhood. Early last year the majordomo wished to rid him-self of the emblem of Manchu servitude, but though he was more than 40 years of the boys, Gledhill, Patterson, Bachus age he would not do it until he had his and Gibson tendered her an apology

He wrote to his father, but the reply at first was a refusal to allow the destruction of the ornament and Leo Yuk Lins the 4th of July, and the four local continued to wear it, the only one left in the legation. Patiently the majordomo bore his badge of shame and servitude until two months ago, when he again petitioned his father.

At the end of last week the long desired permission came, and in a very few minutes the nigtall was shorn off.

Head of Matteawan Asylum Declares It Dangerous to Release Slayer.

White Plains, N. Y., July 10. The most striking testimony brought out yesterday in the Harry K. Thaw insanity hearing here was given by Dr. John W. Russell, head of the Matteawan Insane Asylum, who admitted under pressure that Thaw, if released from that institution and allowed to return to his former mode of living, might kill another person Dr. Russell said, however, that he thought Thaw could safely be released in custody of a special attendant. Dr. Adolph Meyer, one of the Thaw alienists, was on the stand yesterday afternoon. He said Thaw in his opinion was never of unsound mind. "Then you think he was a murderer when he shot White?" Wm. T. Jerome, attorney for the state, asked: "I do," was the answer. The witness said that none of Thaw's acts or ness said that none of Thaw's acts or writing evidenced paranols, or even constitutional inferiority. The codicil of Thaw's will, which three alienists swore indicated paranols, Mr. Meyer said, showed no abnormality.

It is believed that the case will close this week.

ELECTION WORKERS UNDER ARREST

Some of Roger's Aides Charged With Violating the Election Act.

MR. HAULTAIN SCARED

Premier Scott Arraigns Him For Sur rendering to Federal Public Works Minister.

Regina, July 9. - Hon. Robert Rogers continues to pump Manitoba election workers into Saskatchewan and the Saskatchewan Government infractions of the election act can be rewich, a Manitoba Government official, and M. Kunnisky, also of Manitoba, both being arrested on a charge of violating the election act. These men, who were operating among the foreign voters, have been brought to Regina. A warrant is also out for W. Veitch, a well-known Rogers worker in Manitoba, believed to be in this city at the present time. Wm. Shields, a homestead inspector, charged with Intimidation, appeared in court in Swift Current this morning, and was remanded in custody to Regina to appear before the magistrate. change of venue is being decided on where the arrest was made. Premier Scott, speaking at Moose Jaw tonight, referred in scathing terms to the way in which F. W. G. Haultain, the Opposition leader, had turned over his organization to Rogers, and practically placed himself under the control of the Dominion minister from Mani-

The Liberal headquarters refuse to concede a single seat to the Opposition. Rogers, they say, with his unlimited funds, may sufficiently debauch the electorate in a few constituencies to change the vote of last September, but the province as a whole, they claim, will not only indorse Scott's record and policies, but reaffirm in a striking manner its belief in and demand for wider markets and 621,000,000; corn, 23.9 and 2,531,000,and an outlet to the south for Saskatchewan's grain.

KING WENT DOWN AGAIN

Sheffield, July 9 .- King George, contrary to general expectation, after the disaster in the mine which he visited yesterday, this afternoon went down into the Elsecar mine more than 1,-000 feet, and remained there for 40 minutes.

While the King was in a low pas-sage of the coal mine, where he had to bend double, he came to a spot where two men, who were squatting down, were wielding picks. The King borrowed a pick, felt the weight bal-ance, and then struck some hard blows, which brought down a rush of coal. The King remarked: "I can tell which are hard and which are soft parts; there is a great difference.

WED IN DETROIT

TAFT LAUNCHES HIS CAMPAIGN

New York To Be the Scene of Opening Fight for Presidency.

Gives Out Statement Declaring the Party Has Confidence in Its Cause.

Washington, July 10. - The campaign for the re-election of President Taft will be formally launched today in New York. James B. Reynolds, of Massachusetts, who yesterday was named as secretary of the Republican national committee, will do the launching, and C. D. Hilles, Preswheat, 9.4 and 191,000,000; all wheat, 12.5 ident Taft's secretary, who was selected for chairman of the national committee, will join him in New York Monday to help sail the political ship. Mr. Reynolds will procure rooms for the New York headquarters, probably in the Metropolitan building, and expects to have them ready for Mr Hilles next week.

Hilles Declares Confidence. Mr. Hilles issued a statement last night, declaring the confidence of the Republican party in its cause and its candidates. It follows:

"The Republican party approaches the presidential campaign with conlivery barns. Charles Rhodes, engineer fidence in the solemnity of its cause Walter, ke the plant running till the and in the integrity and ability of the roof collapsed, and they both escaped candidates who represent that cause. injury. The cause of the fire has not Progress with order is good doctrine for the Republican party today as it has been since the day of its birth. "Real progress is not a theory, but an achievement. No American zen should be deceived into an ex-change of his birthright for a vision. nation toward The progress of the better things does not come from declamation, but from actual results. More has been accomplished in the last three years under my administration of President Taft than was ever before accomplished by an American president in the same period of "A distinct line of demarcation between the Republican party and the Democratic party in revealed in the platforms adopted at Chicago and Baltimore. One is an earnest of future progress through a record of achievement; the other is a promise containing a denial of the good that Democrats Attacked. "Upon the solid rock of the rights of the individual as granted by the constitution, the Republican party builds its structure of optimism. The Democratic party, on the other hand, in the opening sentence of its address to the electors betrays its recessional quality by denying the right of Congress, a right again and again confirmed by the supreme court, to establish protective duties for the benefit of American industries. It declares as false the vital issue of the constitutional liberties of the individual. Such liberties are now assailed by those who advocate the overthrow of the independence of the judiciary. It would leave the individual defenseless in the protection of those

Crop report, which gives promise of more

NEW YORK, July 10.—The Government crop report, which gives promise of more than average yields, despite recent fore-bodings, was made the basis of an upward movement in stocks today. The tone was far from regular, however, opening gains being followed by declines from which another advance set in Leading stocks, with the exception of Steel and Lehigh Valley, benefited by the movement, which occasioned considerable short covering.

Amalgamated Copper was the principal feature, its sharp advance resulting from improved conditions abroad. Such specialties as General Electric, Bethlehem Sieel, preferred, and Realty, were heavy.

Mr. Wade Sustained Stroke of Paralysis While Out for a Walk.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Wingham, July 16.—Mr. Wade. of Alfred street, while out for a short walk, was stricken with a slight stroke of paralysis. He was nearly home when his daughter noticed that he was not feeling well, and supposing that the hot weather had affected him she assisted him into the house. A doctor was called, and it was found that Mr. Wade was suffering from paralysis. Two years ago he had a similar attack. At the present time he is doing nicely. A pleasant reunion was held at the residence of Mrs. David Campbell on Minnie street, when a number of her friends gathered. Those present were: Mr. David

Campbell and wife, Toronto; Mrs. John Dunbrook, Cleveland; Mrs. Davis, Windsor; Mrs. Allison and family, London; Mr. Robert Campbell, Ingersoll; Mrs. Thomas, Cleveland; Mrs. Hodgins,

Clandeboye:
Rain is badly needed throughout this county. Farmers are busy with their hay, and there are many complaints regarding the number of wild daisies this year. The farmers blame this trouble on girls going out to fields and gathering the flowers, and pulling roots and all up. After the flowers die they are thrown away, and the seed blown all over, they claim.

NIAGARA POWER INVADES ALL THE BRANCHES

Latest Convert Is the London Printing and Lithographing Company.

Slowly but surely Niagara power is invading all branches of London's in-dustries. The latest convert to hydro, and the first of its kind in this city at least, is the London Printing Lithographing Company, who are going to install about thirteen motors of nearly 100-horsepower total capacity, for running their new plant, Six of these motors are of the variable speed printing press type, and other printing press establishments are very much interested in seeing this plant in operation. It is expected that the first motors will be running within two to three weeks.-Advt.

FOUR PRISONERS OFF FOR THE CENTRAL

Bailiff Ryan Escorted a Select Party to Toronto.

Bailiff Ryan, of the Central Prison, Toronto, took four prisoners from the county jail here yesterday afternoon to Toronto, where they will serve their terms. Those from London were Henry Miller and Harry Wilson, who were yesterday sentenced to six months for breaking into the houses of Mrs. Emily Larsen and Frank Cheeseman, of London Township; Richard Evans, who was sentenced to four months by Police Magistrate Judd, and Ethbert Abel was also sentenced by Magistrate Judd Hyland, a local drayman, and to a term of six months for stealing Davidson, art principal of the bicycles. In the party were two pris-oners from St. Thomas, and one from Windsor.

This removal leaves the number of prisoners at the jail at twenty, of which seven are charged with theft, one with bigamy, ten are drunks and two in-sane. Of these nine are on remand, caused a panic in the city Mr. Thomas Treleaven, of the G. T. R. Led the Applause at Port Arthur.

LONDON MAN STARTED

That a London man was required to start a fitting demonstration for the Duke of Connaught at North Bay on the occasion of his royal highness' visit to that place a few days ago, apafter witnessing a pleasant affair in which Superintendent Treleaven, of the Grand Trunk car shops figured.

It appears that Mr. Treleaven, who happened to be in North Bay on business, noticed decorations being strung about the depot, and made inquiries as to the reason of the recklessness of of the populace. Upon learning that the duke was about to pass through, he waited for the arrival of the royal party, and was rather surprised that there was no civic welcome when the train pulled in. The quietness was oppressive, despite the fact that the depot was thronged. The duke appeared on the station platform and still there was no demmon-

Finally, taking the matter into his own hands, Mr. Terleaven threw his hat in the air and gave vent to a shout for three cheers for the Duke of Connaught, that had the desired effect, for in a moment a roar went up that made the air vibrate. The duke speedily replied and voiced his thanks, particularly in the direction of the

ENGLAND CARRIES OFF THE 1,500 METRE

Jackson Breaks the Olympic Record and Collapses After

Stockholm, July 10.—The stadium began to fill at a very early hour, among the spectators being a large number of British, Canadian and American visitors who had come to watch the running of the trial heats in the 200 metres flat race. In this event, many of the finest sprinters in the world, including run-ners from Canada, the United States and Great Britain, took part, and when the representatives of the respective countries won their trial heats, their admir-ers clapped their hands, cheered or shouted college vells. J. A. Howard, of Winnipeg, gave the Canadians an opportunity to cheer when he won eighth heat from the Italian Giongo. The weight putting was comple early, and as a result the American team added to its total of roints another six, as P. J. McDonald, Ralph Rose and L. A. Whitney shared first, second and third place between them.

A Record Gone.

In the 1,500 metres flat race, A. N. S.

Jackson, of England, the winner, beat the Olympic record easily. His time for the distance, 3 minutes 56 4-5 seconds, is 6 3-5 seconds better than the record established by Melvin W. Sheppard at the Olympic games in London in 1908, which was 4 minutes 3 2-5 seconds.

In the 1,500 metres race the judges were unable to decide who was second. Abel R. Kiviat, and Norman S. Taber, of the United States team, came in pracfically together, and the judges are awaiting the development of a photograph taken of the finish of the race before giving their decision as to which was second and which third. Scheme of Republican Progressives to Get Rid of Taft Peters Out. [Canadian Press.]

Washington, July 10 .- The scheme of Republican progressi es in the House of Representatives to launch a fresh campaign against President Taft by means of a petition asking him to withdraw as the Republican nominee, proved to be a "flash in the pan.

When pinned down to it, the memhers who had participated in the conferences which developed the idea hastily joined the "Don't mention my name" class. Those who started the movement abandoned their efforts to show the participation of the regular Republicans in it, and it was clearly apforthcoming from that lirection.

BUDGET FOR THIS YEAR Million Dollars Required, and Still

More Is Expected For Next Year.

Toronto, July 10. — The finance board of the Presbyterian Church board of the Presbyterian Church in Canada at its first session, which lasted all day yesterday, made three decisions which will be of considerable importance to the church at large. "The board intends, as soon as the way is clear, to secure the services of a man who will devote his whole time to the executive work of the church, and who will be to a certain extent its financial head," to a certain extent its financial head," said Rev. Dr. W. G. Wallace, convener of the board. It was also decided to take over the existing machinery put in operation by the old committee on systematic benevolence, which the new board is replacing, so far as the raising of finances for the present are concerned. This machinery is in the nature of synodical and presbyterial committees on systematic giving throughout the Dominon, with the exception of the Maritime Provinces. The finance board also decided to co-operate with the Pres-byterian section of the laymen's missionary movment regarding the raising of finances. A million dollars is this year's budget, and next year the board expects to be confronted with another increase of $200,000.

Yesterday's session was filled with a general discussion of the proposed work of the board, its policy, and the methods to be adopted. No decisions, however, were made, but an executive committee was appointed with tive committee was appointed, with power to act, to meet and consider the Dr. Wallace is convener of this committee, and the other members are Hon. W. A. Charlton, Mr. Alexander Laird, Mr. T. Findlay, and Mr. J. A. Paterson, K. C., of Toronto; Mr. J. Rodger, of Montreal, and Mr. E. Brown, of Winnipeg. It is expected that a meeting of the executive will be called during the earlier part of possible one or two of the counterfeiting tools which were found in the prisoner's clothes, pictures found in the prisoner's clothes, one of which is a photo of the brother, and the other of the man under arrest. It is also requested that one of the bogus coins be sent to the Los Angeles office, and if possible one or two of the counterfeiting tools which were found in the suitcase.

CORRESPONDENCE

"Catholic" Replies to "Common Sense." inal communication from "Common Sense" in your issue of June 29. With fierce pistol fight with three officers. your permission I shall endeavor briefly, to shatter his last stronghold. Your correspondent's quibbling about Magna Charta, is, in view of his former rabid statements about same, un-worthy of any further notice. Your readers have the whole correspondence With them I leave the verdict. As to his attempt to charge Catholicism with the absolutist theories of Cardinal

Wolsey (who by the way was one of the ablest ministers that England ever had) reference to page 326 of his auth ority, Green, will show him that "the clergy put themselves in the front rank of resistance and preached from every pulpit that the commission was con-trary to the liberties of the realm." I suppose "Common Sense" will evade this, however, by stating that they "had a particular axe to grind." Fine argument, that, with wide applications.

Father Tobin was very right in attributing Habeas Corpus to Catholicages. This celebrated feature of our constitution was embodied in a famous clause of the Great Charter of 1215. The Act of 1679 simply provided against any evasion of the same.
One point of "Common Sense" attack alone remains. He asks me to name a Catholic state of any magnitude which had gone ahead constitutionally as the mother of parliaments subsequent to 1500. As I have proved that the outstanding features of our rights as Englisr freemen are largely Catholic in origin, I am puzzled to see wherein such an admission could possibly benefit your correspondent. Or does he think to establish some relationship between modern political freedom and the great revolution of the sixteenth century? Vain hope. His line of argument militates heavily against the system of which he is the zealous apologist. Before Luther, Europe was progressing steadily in the direction of a safe, sure and rational liberty. Afterward the royal theologian, James I., could de-clare that "God has appointed the king or ruler absolute master, and all priv-ileges which co-legislative bodies enjoy are pure concessions proceeding from the king's bounty." When a Catholic the king's bounty." When a Catholic preacher in Catholic Spain preaching before Philip II. proclaimed a similar before Philip II. proclaimed to the indoctrine, he was denounced to the inquisition and compelled to make publice recantation before the king.

"Common Sense" is right. The wave of absolutism which the Catholic Church had so successfully fought against for aggs sweet over Europe against for ages, swept over Europe again in the sixteenth century with a fury that threatened to engulf every vestige of freedom that had been won in the past 1,500 years. Nowhere did absolutism triumph more successfully there in these countries where the rich countrie than in those countries where the vic-ory over Catholicism was most complete, to wit: Denmark, Sweden, Norway and Germany. No Catholic state, perhaps, ever reached such a low eb in constitutional safeguards as these four states, though the great politico-religious movement of the sixteenth century created sad havoc with their traditional liberties, and so profoundly affected the current of civil and politi-cal freedom that they have never wholly recovered.
