The death-bed appeal of Sir Adam Beck to the people of Ontario to raise an endowment fund for Queen Alexandra sanatorium for the tuberculous. to insure that the doors shall never be closed to any sufferer because of inability to pay for treatment, is about to be fulfilled.

As a result of a series of meetings held during the past few days in London and Toronto, arrangements have been virtually completed to raise $500,000 in a province-wide campaign which will be concluded before Christmas. A number of the most influential people in Ontario, including leaders in public life, regardless of their political or other affiliations, have gladly taken up the work, and a gen rous response is regarded as certain, when the time for receiving subscriptions arrive. The one great concern of Sir Adam during the last few weeks of his fatal illness here was that he should be stricken before he could round out the program of his busy life by raising the endowment fund for the sanends, and atorium. The fact that sufferers from tuberculosis are so often doubly afflicted with poverty, weighed heavily on his mind, and to the end he strug-gled despairingly for a rally of strength that would enable him to accomplish this last cherished objective. When he realized that his own course was nearing its end, Sir Adam called his most intimate and trusted associates to Headley and pledged them to organize the campaign without delay. The personnel of the organization will be announced within the next few days.

The terrific impact caused by the collision of the five-ton truck with the 140-ton locomotive was borne out by the twisted metal on the engine, tender, baggage cars and coaches. Hitting the locomotive just back of the pilot, the truck tore away of the pilot, the truck tore away part of the driving apparatus. Every opportunity should be taken are often by necessity only briefly

This is highly improbable. Mr.

King's speeches are thoughtful and informing and free from personalities.

If attacked he will no doubt reply,

as he has a right to do, but it is likely that these interchanges of

By JOHN LEWIS.

One of the reasons why I cannot approve of the independence or neutrality of the press in relation to parties is that the effect is apt to be ne-sided. The meanest charges may e made by a partisan newspaper and remain unanswered. Worse even than that, the neutrality of a portion of the press has given a tremendous mpulse to whispering campaigns, in which false stories are told in the owardly security of secrecy, and the enife is used on the victim in the

In the bad old days, as they would e described by the "unco guid." the fighting was done in the open. Speakers and newspapers hammered each other, and no doubt there was too much volume and bitterness. But there was an antidote to the poison. The charge made in the open could be answered in the open. The people probably heard more of the truth than they do today.

Bitterness Still Present. For let nobody nurse the delusion that bitterness and unfairness are abolished because less is heard of them in the newspapers. They are merely driven into dark corners and alleys. The new conditions give golden opportunities to sneaks and cow-"Willing to wound and ye afraid to strike," or at least to strike where the other fellow may strike back. Security is given, not only for the circulation of personal standing, but for the grossest misstatements as to public affairs. Unfortunately this is made easy by the lamentable lack of political education. The other day I talked with an intelligent young man, who had been inoculated with Tory propaganda, and found that he did not know whether Sir Wilfrid Laurier was a Liberal or a Conservative. I advised him to read and hear speeches and study political history, but I am afraid with little effect Under modern conditions there are many easy and pleasant ways of passing the time, and studying seri-

Education is the Remedy.

However, education is the only remedy. There is no use in declaiming against politicians of the baser sort, unless you take measures to defend yourself against their wiles by becoming yourself a politician of or at least knowing where they may be obtained. The official reports of parliament may be obtained for a very moderate price-$3 a session I think. The bureau of statistics publishes a year book, which is a valuable compendium of information on agriculture and industrial production, commerce and other matters. Scepticism is also a protection against fraud. No statement made in private conversation as to politics ought to be accepted without examination. Especially should electors be careful and even suspicious when personal charges are secretly made, or when attempts are made to excite passion or prejudice

Study of Politics Not Dry.

Rightly considered the study of politics is not dry. It is surely interesting to know how we are governed, and to what extent governgress of the country and the welfare of the people. The career of a statesman like Sir John Macdonald or Sir Wilfrid Laurier is full of dramatic interest. Party strife is warfare, sometimes cruel sometimes unfair, and it seems a hardship that one whose only aim is public service should be reviled and treated as a public enemy. The strife is inevitable, but a will-informed was born I was a wreck. My nerves were too terrible for words and I simply could not stand or walk without pains. I suffered with fainting spells until I was no longer any good for my household duties and had to take to household duties and had to take to my bed. The doctor said I should have an operation, but I was not in a fit condition at that time. My neighbor said, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? I am sure it will do you good and will save those doctor's bills.' So I was advised by my husband to try it after I told him about it. I am very thankful to say that I was soon able to take a few boarders for a while as rooms were scarce at that time. My rooms were scarce at that time. My baby is 17 months old now and I have not yet had an operation, thanks to your medicine. I have recommended without a bottle of your medic the house. You can use this letter as you see fit, as I should be only too glad for those suffering as I have to know what it has done for me."—

MISS RUMBALL TOURS EAST IN FLIVVER, GIVING CONCERTS

Is One of Merry Party of Four Who Find Fun in Gipsying.

Miss Lorna Rumball, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Rumball, Dufferin avenue, had an interesting experience this summer when she toured through the New England states with a concert company from the Emerson school of oratory, Boston Known as "The New England Sketch Club," the four girls, who Sketch Club," the four girls, who made up the company, purchased a car and "flivvered" their way from one quaint town to another, through unbelievably beautiful scenery. Everywhere they were received with enthusiasm, and in many instances were asked to repeat the concert on the return

It was a delightful, gipsy-like existence which they led, save all concerts had been booked ahead in the spring, and certain towns had to be reached at a certain time. One of the girls did the impersonations and comedy work, another old character work, while Miss Rumball's contribution was the heavier dramatic numbers. All united in presenting clever song and dance ensembles.

Miss Rumball was astonished to meet so many Canadians touring through the New England states. In fact, at one hotel in the state of Maine, where a concert was presented, nearly all the guests were Canadians, and were especially interestables between of Miss Rumball, who ed in the work of Miss Rumball, who happned to be the only Canadian in the company. One girl came from New York, another from Rhode New York, another from Rhode Island and the fourth from Massa-

Miss Rumball, who graduated last spring from the Emerson school of oratory, expects to repeat the tour next summer. Just now she is engaged in dramatic work in London, and is presenting Clare Kummer's delightful one-act comedy. The Robbery, at the opening meeting of the Drama league this month.

The only thing that makes marriage endurable to a woman is love. or the average wife it is full of hardshins, full of labor. full of sacrifices, and it is only love that can take the bitter-ness out of these and make matrimony a pleasant journey instead of the Way of the Cross.

The speaker pointed out that the church in the past had done wonderful things, but that still there was much that could be improved upon. She told of a Hindu Brahman, who said, in speak-ing of the Christian church: "If you were like your Book India would be Christianized in five

Harris Says Johnston Is Choice For First Game As Champs Invade Pittsburg

SENATORS' CASUALTIES TRUE

ITTSBURG Pa. Oct. 5 .- Back in the baseball sun after a lapse of 16 years, Pittsburg fandom stirred itself today to a feverish pitch of excitement, and their favorites, the brilliant National league championship crew of Pirates, prepared to meet the invasion of Washington's title nolding forces in the first battle of the annual world's series war Wednesday.

The threatening confidence of this Pirates' den, how ever, seemed to hold no terrors for Bucky Harris and his band of Senators, who arrived tonight and went to their quarters in a secluded apartment to rest in prepara tion for a final tuning up tomorrow on Forbes Field scene of the first two conflicts of the series, and also the sixth and seventh, if hostilities last that long.

Harris lost no time in announcing, as he stepped off the train, tha Walter Johnson would pitch the opening game and that he would have his full strength in the field at the start, thus belying definitely the prospect hat the Senators might be handicapped by disabilities which have hit Harris himself. Roger Peckinpaugh, veteran shortstop, and Stanley Coveleskie, right-handed pitching veteran, who is counted upon to share the wirling burden with Johnson. Coveleskie will take the mound for the second game, Harris intimated.

Pittsburg, Oct. 5 .- With the ringing down of the curtain on the major league set today for the opening game of the world series at Forbes Field, the home ot of the National league champions. The Pirates will on Wednesday enter the initial battle of the annual fall baseball classic as the opponents of the Washington Senators, 1925 champions haseball classic as the opponents of the Washington Senators, 1925 champions of the American league and defenders of the world championship title.

Manager McKechnle and his speedy young Pirates are home from Cincinnati, where the last games of the regular season were played over the week-end. Final practice sessions preparatory for the first clash with the veteran Senators are on the schedule for this afternoon and tomorrow morning. "Bucky" Harris was due to lead his club into Pittsburg tonight, and Forbes Field will be turned over to the American leaguers tomorrow afternoon for a workout.

Fans from the four corners of the continent are assembling in the smoky city and eagerly awalnting the umpire's "Flay ball!" Already all hotels and boarding-houses are booked to the limit and are making arrangements to care for additional guests with emergency accommodations.

Story of the World's Series To Be Told By "Bucky" Harris

-Counting On Veteran Hurlers-

While Harris and his men are confident they will successfully defend their championship crown, the 28-year-old pilot of the Senators does not underestimate his rivals.

Any team good enough to win the way of injuries. While their full strength will take the field, the Senators, it was indicated, may be somewhat handleapped in the way of injuries. Harris himself displayed a badly swollen middle finger on his throwing hand, the result of a spike gash. Coveleskie has suffered from a back strain which may affect his staying qualities, while Peckin-paugh's ankle again has shown signs of weakness that forced him out of the series twice last year.

Harris surprised his listeners, incidentally, with the assertion that he banks upon Dutch Ruether, seasoned ship fow, to share the mound burden of general belief that the Pirates.

The arrival of the Senators and disclosure of their opening plans of battle followed a brisk workout for the Pirates are said to be "poison" to service mind the will have to show me Dutch Ruether, seasoned so well this year as a winning to Washington, has just been through a sparkling drill at Forbes Field under the watchful eye of Manager Bill McKechnie.

Johnson is just as good as he was last year when he led the "Meadows is my logical choice." McKechnie admitted. "He is in good condition and the most experienced of my best bets. But the weather conditions Wednesday will have something to do with my final choice."

The Pirate manager intimated that Meadows will draw the assignment if the prediction of clear and warm weather is fulfilled. If it is overcast, however, Vic Aldridge, another seasoned righthander, obtained from the Cubs this year, may be the opening selection.

McKechnie settled definitely, however, the only other mooted question about his line-up by asserting Eddie Moore would be at second base and George Grantham at first, in preference to Stuffy McIunis, veteran, who is entering his sixth series.

"That was our strongest combination during the season," said McKechnie, "and that's how we'll start against the Senators." because of a tonsilitis attack and did no hurling after the Washington club clinched the flag.

Early last month Johnson hurt a leg when oversliding a base in a game against the Tigers and in his following game he developed a charley-horse. But it was not serious and within a few days Mike Martin, the Washington club's trainer, had the smoke-ball king in fine fettle. He did not pitch naturally and as a result was twice

THE EXPERTS ARE SILENT.

Few of the experts have advanced a definite opinion regarding the outcome of this year's world's series. There are so many angles to both teams that naturally the experts are somewhat nonplussed. Naturally, the men connected with both teams and leagues will predict a victory for the clubs and organization they are in or of.

As a matter of fact, no series is easy to dope out. Figures are interesting in baseball, but never reliable when it comes to doping out the chances of teams when opposed to each other in a crucial series. That's what will always make the world's series the absorbing topic it is. If the experts could function without error, there would be little use in staging the event.

A CONTRAST IN CITIES.

To get a proper perspective on this coming world series you must consider the background of the two cities engaged. Washington and Pittsburg are about as wide apart as the poles. They scarcely speak the same language. Washington is political and governmental. Pittsburg is commercial-smoky and grimy in the rush to make money. Pittsburg has made and boasted its millionaires for decades. Washington often gets the millionaires of the country in the leisure of their retired life. Washington is more or less highbrow, or perhaps high hat. Pittsburg is "just folks," and takes a fellow for what he is worth. Washington says to get your reputation

Pittsburg is a city of "good sports," meaning of course, good sportsmen. They'll get you a million out here on most anything. That is why the Pirates today are "favorites" in the world series and why they will be still heavier favorites before play begins at Forbes Field next Wednesday. Washington hasn't got enough money to cover the Pitts-burg wagers that are going begging in the market. The whole Pittsburg "district," which is far larger than the District of Columbia, is teeming with wealth and prosperity, and the desire to place a bet on "them Pirates." Washington may think its Senators are going to win, but they are going to be bet off the boards by the enthusiastic Pittsburgers and the surrounding Pennsylvanians.

I do not think the Washington out Is no guesswork with the Washington outclub.

Pittsburg undoubtedly has a splendid infield, with either Stuffy Mc-Innis or George Grantham at first base, Eddie Moore at second, Glenn Wright at shortstop and Pie Traynor with the unitered effect of the Pirates. And in the battery departments, Washington appears to be better by far. Muddy Ruel on record and according to unbiased observers, is son With .400 Batting Senators Proved Last Year They Could Bat In Runs.

(The man who can hit runs home when there are men on the bases is the man who will contribute the most to victory in this world series, says John B Foster, the baseball expert, in this despatch from Pittsburg, analyzing the merits of the series contenders.)

Pittsburg Oct. 5.—Bill McKechnie says the Pirates will defeat Washing-

for? To tell his players they are licked?

That which wil win the series for either team will be the possession of the most players who can bat runs home when there are man on the bases, with such contributory causes as errors, good pitching—by that is meant pitching with control of the ball—and the so-called "breaks." But the big thing is the chap, or several of him, who can hit runs home. These are sometimes considered "breaks." The Giants still insist that the two hits which jumped Fred Lindstrom's head in 1924 were "breaks." because they hit an imaginary pebble.

"Breaks" may help some, but don'

forget that it is the ability to hit in an emergency that counts most. Washington came through last year because the outfit was notoriously game. So are the Pirates.

Harris, the Washington manager, in referring to the lame back that Coveleskie seems to find impossible to overcome, has stated that he thinks right-handed twirlers are the only ones to use against Pittsburg. National league managers will agree with him. The Pirates lost less than half a dozen games to left-handers in the past season.

Toronto, Oct. 5.—Only one provincial league game was staged at the week-end and Hamilton Thistles proved much too good for Toronto Caledonians, scoring the only two goals of the game, and moving up to second place in the standings, equal with Willys in points, but with two games in hand. Western's annual field day is Friday ut more hangs on the events this year than usual, for they will take the form of trials to determine the team that will face Varsity McGill and Queens in the intercollegiate track and field meet be held in Montreal.

The hopes for rugby at Western have imbed considerably since the overelming defeat of the Hamilton Tiger Cublets on Saturday and so high that the trackmen have been left to look ter themselves, but Friday promises a evival of enthusiasm in the einder path

This may considered somewhat small, but the ficit in numbers is more than made by the quality of the competitors, ince school opened a complete search as been made through the student body for track material, with the result hat those most probable to make the attercollegiate team are in great condition for the grind.

Usually trials come when the athletes are just beginning to work out the winter stiffness, but this time the competitors are in great form and have been specializing. This practically means that it is going to be a tough old fight for those who finally make the team.

means that it is going to be a tough old fight for those who finally make the learn.

The probable list so far includes Mepnan, Hughes, Hunter, Wilson, Flood, Kaniwan Budge and McFarlane. Meplan and Wilson are expected to provide the most thrills in the sprint events. It will be touch-and-go between the wo, as they are both going strong. Wilson is an old Central C. I. athlete and member of the squad that cleaned up in Wossa events in 1923. He has dropped out of the limelight for some time, but just now is making a great comeback and looks 75 per cent better than when he was a star in high school events. Mephan has a fine reputation behind him and many a record has fallen with him in the lists. His ability is easily explained when it is taken into consideration that he is a protege of Captain Cornellus, Olympic coach.

There are several out for the mile, ut Basil Flood is the favorite. This looy is also a former Central C. I. performer and has been showing more speed than ever this season.

For the half-mile Ken Hunter is the unanimous choice. The big blonde athlete is a conscientious runner and has proven his worth in many meets of the past. He is also a rugby player, but has given up the grid this year to tavor his winged feet, which should bring prestige to Western's track squad He is also entered in the 440.

Kaniwan, another Hamilton boy, is almost sure to be a member of the famous Francis, formerly of Toronto Varsity, and now of Penn State.

Ken. McFarlane is entered in the field events. He is a more than average performer that is a welcome member of any track squad. There is sure to be tight competition between he and Wilson in the running broad jump.

The high jump finds many entrants, but the favorite in this event is Hughes, who came all the way from Grenada, West Indies, to join up with Western.

The Huntingford and college teams will play two games for the silverware. In case of a split, a third game will be blayed.

The line-ups of the Huntingford and Sons of England game:

Huntingford—Goal. Burgess; backs. Cole, Webster; halfbacks, Watt, W. Hallock, Houden; forwards, L. Hallock, Wilson, Wright.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 5.—
President W. J. Snyder, of the Ontario Baseball Amateur association, notified the Niagara Falls Baseball club this evening that the Kingston Ponies had defaulted the final series for the championship, owing to the fact that their wish for a suddendeath game could not be granted.
The local club felt it would be unfair to the fans of both cities to decide the series by a suddendeath game. And also it is not fair to the clubs, as there is too much at stake to be decided in

Stanley Realty Corporation Will Operate Parking Garage in Metropolis.

Formal announcement is made today of an offering of $400,000 first mortgage sinking fund 7 per cent gold bonds of the Stanley Realty Corporation, Montreal. The Stanley Realty Corporation owns and will operate upon completion the Dominion Square Parking Garage, situated on Stanley street, Montreal, and running right through to Drummend street.

The appraised value of the property securing the bonds is $670,000, representing less than 60 per cent of the value of the property. It is estimated that the net earnings of the company will be more than four, times the amount required to pay annual interest charges and over three times interest and sinking fund requirements.

The sinking fund is so arranged that almost the entire amount of bonds will be redeemed by maturity.

This great terminal garage is the largest in Canada, and marks a definite step in public recognition of the necessity for terminal garage facilities of the character it provides. It will be operated in the manner of similar buildings in Detroit. Cleveland. New York and Boston.

Traffic experts who have made a study of the necessity for increased facilities for the handling of automobile traffic assert that Terminal Garages such as that of the Stanley Realty Corporation will rank as public utilities just as much as Power Houses and Car Barns used for the operation of public utility enterprises and that the bonds issued for the financing of these Terminal Garages may take rank as public utility securities, with the added advantage of being secured by centrally located and valuable real estate.

nipeg advices, there were fair acceptances of wheat over the week-end by United Kingdom and Continental buyers, and, as a result, there was a much better demand for cash wheat in the Winnipeg market, but, as the offerings were not heavy, a stronger feeling developed, and prices for contract grades closed with a net gain for the day of 2%c to 2%c rer bushel.

The trade in Ontario and Quebec oats was quiet for local account, but, as the offerings were small, prices ruled firm, with No. 2 white quoted at 50%c. No. 3 white at 48½c and 49½c, and No. 3 white at 46½c to 47c a bushel, ex-track.

Grain Markets WINNIPEG

Canadian Press Despatch. Winnipeg, Oct. 5.-With the wellknown "King Winter" putting a stop to threshing operations in the western provinces over the week-end, the wheat market here today registered a sharp upturn, the close ranging from 2\(^3\) to \(^3\)\)2\(^2\)c higher. Coarse grains and flax also recorded rapid gains, with the laster 8\(^3\)\(^2\)c higher at the close.

The unfavorable weather conditions brought about a large amount of short covering in the wheat market, the shorts bidding prices up against one another in a determined effort to even up their commitments. There also was a little export buying. On the extreme bulge both the October and May futures were 3\(^3\)\(^3\)c above Saturday's close. October closed at 2\(^3\)\(^3\)c higher at $1.21\(^3\)c and November 2\(^3\)\(^4\)c up at 121\(^3\)c. The roots were reported as fair seliers today.

The cash markets experienced an active day, with the tone improved. Traders were taking care of early October sales made some weeks ago in the wheat market, while coarse grains were in good demand. Future flax trading was of a sensational nature. provinces over the week-end, the wheat trading was of a sensational nature.

The wet weather and light offerings sent prices up 10c during the early

Child Drowned

Special to The Advertiser.
Chatham, Oct. 5.—To drown in four inches of water, in an ice cream tub, was the fate of Annie. the 2-year-old daughter of George Cunningham, concession 6. Ra-leigh. The child had been playing about the house. After being missed for 10 minutes, members of the family searched, and found the child's lifeless body. She had apparently leaned over the side of the tub, which was on the backdoor step of the dwelling, and lost her balance. No inquest will be held. The members of the court were inclined to feel that with such an uncertain financial year with such an uncertain mancial year before the church, the necessity of raising such a large amount for the maintenance and extension fund within the presbytery and the fact that secretaries of the former Methodist church were never paid for the services rendered, all office-holders should assume their responsibilities. should assume their responsibilities as an added opportunity for service to the church at large.
