WAS DISMISSED

The case against Joseph Wilson, of Wallaceburg, who was charged with stealing an amount of metal from D. A. Gordon, of the Wallaceburg Sugar Factory, was dismissed yesterday. Magistrate McDougall thought that the case was not clearly proven against Wilson.

Crown Attorney H. D. Smith of this city, prosecuted, and O. L. Lewis, of this city, defended.

I pray, first, for good health; then for prosperity; thirdly, for happiness, and, lastly, to owe no man anything.

THE BOYS WERE SORRY

They Broke a Window But Were Willing To Pay

Judge Houston Considered Their Youth and Let Them Go

Two young boys, whose tender years will not permit of their names appearing in the newspapers, were up before Judge Houston this morning charged with breaking a glass window in the store occupied by John Edmondson, butcher, Baldwin street, and owned by Mr. Purser.

The boys were very sorry this morning, as all boys are when they get into mischief, and the lecture handed out by the Judge seemed to have a good effect, probably better than if the boys had been severely punished. It was evidently a boyish prank, and there was no desire on anyone's part to push the case to the limit. All Mr. Purser wanted was the money for the damage to his window, which amounted to about $8.

One of the boys paid up with great promptness when he realized what a serious business he was in, but the other boy could not pay the full amount that was coming from him. The Judge gave him a week to rummage around to see if he can raise the dough, and there is no doubt he will do so. He deposited $2 and said he would have the rest within a week's time.

KASHNIER WONT WORK

He has a Wife However who is Ambitious And Industrious

He is Remanded on Charge of Vagrancy—Writes To Mother

Charles Kashnier, the man who walked from Brantford to Chatham, and made his wife walk with him, came up in the Police Court this morning on a charge of vagrancy, and was remanded for a week.

Kashnier is evidently a very peculiar fellow. His wife had a position in Brantford, in a printing office, where she was earning three dollars a week. With this she was supporting herself. Her husband met her on the street as she was going to work, and told her she would have to go with him. She didn't want to go, but she was afraid that he would injure her if she refused to obey him, so she followed him. The two of them then started off on their long walk from Brantford to Chatham. Kashnier had one dollar in his pocket when he left Brantford, and when he arrived in Chatham he had five cents left, all of which goes to show that he has missed his calling in life. He should have been a financier at the head of a trust.

He says that he and his wife walked during the day, and slept under trees at night. When it was cold or wet he could collect a lot of limbs and leaves and light a fire, which shows that he has at least a little consideration for the comfort of his wife.

When they arrived here they were located by the police, very destitute. The wife has blisters on her feet as big as silver dollars. She got work as a domestic, but her husband evidently refuses to work. He seemingly thinks that with such a valuable wife to keep him, it should not be necessary.

Judge Houston has found out that the man is able to make as high as $2 a day working at his trade, and he evidently thinks that any man in good health who can earn that amount of money, and then forces his wife to walk the distance before mentioned, is not worthy of much consideration, and there are a lot of people who think just the same as the judge.

The wife is quite willing that she should be left alone, and allowed to make her own living. There is many a married man who would jump at the chance, but Kashnier evidently values his wife more than that, and he wants to keep her. Mrs. Kashnier wants to go back to Brantford to get her old job back.

Kashnier wants to go on to Delray, Mich. When he started out he had intended to walk the whole distance, as he has a horse there. His mother lives in Indiana and he has written to her asking for money to help him out of his present difficulty.

One thing is sure—and it is at last realized by Kashnier himself,—his wife is not able to walk any distance at present. She was laid up for some time after she got to Chatham, and, in fact, it is said that her husband had to help her along with his boot over the last few miles coming into Chatham.

SETTLED IN PRINT

Planet Fully Covered Both Sides of Fifth St. Dispute

Thus the City Council were Saved Long Wrangle Over It

The row over the blocking of the Fifth street bridge approach, which was expected to come up at last night's meeting of the City Council, did not materialize, and everything went off harmoniously and without a hitch. The peace and perfect understanding which reigned supreme was due to the enterprise of this P. M. The Planet yesterday published the full details of the dispute, and gave interviews on both sides of the vexed question. Thus the squabble was all settled in print before the aldermen met, and there was no need of further discussion on the matter.

Ald. Wm. Potter referred to the matter as a dispute between the Fire Chief and the Board of Works department. He said that he must commend the forethought of the Fire Chief in asking that the street be left open in order that the department might have a passageway over the street, but he had since learned that the company who laid the concrete were quite within their rights when they notified the Warren Bituminous Company that they would not be responsible for any damage done to the pavement while it was left unbarred. Still he felt that even were the city held responsible for damage done to the concrete, this damage in case of a fire would not be one-third what it might amount to in delay in getting to a fire over the river. In getting to a fire every minute counted. All the department asked was that the barricades be so placed that they could remove them in case of emergency.

As it was the street was blocked with the machinery belonging to the paving companies. He felt sure that the city would have stood by any damages incurred through the department passing over the street.

The Mayor—it was one of those unfortunate cases which cannot be helped and where no one in particular is to blame. There are two sides to this question. The paving company cannot be blamed, as they have to give bonds guaranteeing their work for ten years, and they have a perfect right to protect their interests. A case like this might not happen again in ten years.

City Clerk Merritt—The city has the right to close up one of the bridges at any time that such action is necessary.

Ald. Potter—The closing up of this bridge shuts off one-half of North Chatham from proper fire protection.

The Mayor—And yet if we were to allow the fire department to pass over the concrete, we would lose our guarantee on the pavement. I all sympathize deeply with Mr. Drader in his great loss, as there is not a man in the city who is held in greater respect than he, but even supposing that the department had not been delayed in getting into North Chatham, the mill could not have been saved.

Fire Chief Pritchard—I just arrived back in the city Saturday night, and yesterday when I found that this approach had been blocked, right when we were in a hurry to get to a big fire, I was naturally not under the collar. A couple of weeks ago I spoke to the City Engineer, and asked him to see that a passageway was left for us over the Fifth street bridge approaches. He referred me to the City Foreman, to whom I spoke about the matter. I have since found, however, that the Board of Works has no control over the paving companies. Still I must say that this condition of affairs endangers the interests of the property owners in North Chatham.

A SAD FUNERAL

Judge Houston was in Birmingham, Mich., yesterday attending the funeral of the late Mr. Jamieson, who was drowned in the French River. The funeral was a very sad one, the young man being out of the prime of life. The widow will return to the French River to take up the missionary work where her late husband left off, and will devote the rest of her life to that work. It is understood that she will take the cremated remains of her husband back with her. There were a large number present at the funeral from Blenheim and St. Paul's where Rev. Dr. Jamieson, the father of the deceased young man, worked so faithfully for so many years.

Wallaceburg has appealed against the assessment, and for three weeks they have been preparing their case, which will come up on Tuesday next before Judge Bell.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Mills left the city yesterday morning for their new home in Berlin. Their many friends were sorry to see them go, but they hope that they may see them often in the future. Before going, they were presented with a handsome stein from the employees of Stone's store, where Mr. Mills was financially interested during his stay here. The gift was a very handsome one, and expresses in a small way the universal esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Mills are held in this city.

TRANSIENT TRADER LAW

The Brody Appeal Did Not Come Up This Morning

Particulars of a Legal Mix-up Which will Cost Somebody Money

The Brody transient trader case, which was to have come before Judge Dowlin in the Division Court this morning, was adjourned, as the parties concerned were not ready to go on with it. Mayor Stone is out of the city, and while Ald. Austin was there, there is important evidence which could not be given this morning, and it was decided to adjourn the case until both sides were ready to proceed.

There is considerable interest in this case, the matter involved being practically the testing of the city's transient trader by-law. Brody came before Judge Houston charged with breaking the Transient Trader Law. He was dismissed, as the magistrate claimed that the by-law was "ultra vires," and could not be enforced. It seems, as far as The Planet can make out, that the Panmout charged for the transient trader license is too high. The object in charging a license is to lighten the burden of the taxes, but it must not be so high that it will be impossible to find people who would do business under it. The license fee in Chatham at one time was $15. Some time ago the license fee was raised to $100, and since that time it is learned that no licenses have been granted. The steepness of the fee makes business practically impossible.

Deciding that the by-law was not workable, Judge Houston has since refused to make convictions under it, as he claims that it would only place the city under expense fighting appeals, which the defendants would be sure to win.

The Council took the stand that the Magistrate is not appointed to investigate by-laws, and that he should have made a conviction. They appealed his decision in the Brody case through the city solicitor, O. L. Lewis, and this is the appeal which was to have been heard this morning. It is not known when the hearing will now come up.

The object of the appeal seems to be to determine whether or not Judge Houston has the right to investigate by-laws. If the city wins the appeal, Brody will no doubt appeal against a conviction under the present by-law, and then the merits of the city's by-law will be determined in the Courts.

Factory Owner Victim of Shocking Crime In New York

Struck Down By Unknown Hand—Employee Arrested

New York, Sept. 24.—Eppanico Arcara, proprietor of an East Side ladies' skirt factory, whose love affairs had been the gossip of his thirty men and women employees, was shot to death in his factory on Sunday, and the body subjected to revolting treatment. His enemy, not satisfied after inflicting 14 stilette wounds, any one of which would have caused death, slashed the lower limbs and removed vital organs. The police clue is two clearly defined prints of a thumb and forefinger on the jamb of the factory door. It is possible also that missing organs, as well as the prints, may be discovered, but no one has been charged.

RING AND MANDOLIN

They Are The Cause Of Curocity at Police Station

Chief Holmes Comes Out in Two Entirely New Roles

Chief of Police John Holmes is commencing to move on style. No longer the big-hearted chief of ever being loud in his dress or sporty in his manner, yet it is hard to remember a hitherto faultless record when appearances so strongly point to its destruction.

When The Planet reporter arrived at the Police Station this morning he noticed that the chief looked a little prouder than usual, and when his hand was extended for the accustomed cordial greeting the mystery was solved. The arch-blinker rubbed his eyes and blinked again. There were really no grounds for doubt—the chief was actually wearing a ring! On his "little" finger, too! A dandy new opal ring, which the chief privately assured the reporter cost all of five cents!

It turned out not to be as bad as it first appeared, for the chief volunteered the information that he didn't buy it himself. It was a present to him, and he is now keeping it in trust for the owner who, he hopes, will soon arrive and claim it.

The ring is part of the goods found on the person of the young man who was arrested the other day for stealing. Until the owner arrives, the ring is going among his friends as a real sport.

The reporter's heart had another narrow escape. Just as he was about to announce with all of his judicial sobriety that the Chief was considering the advisability of establishing open air concerts on the roof of the Police Station. After seeing the ring, the reporter was ready for anything from the Chief, and he was for a moment almost taken aback. The story was strengthened by the production in Court of the mandolin—case and all.

The instrument, however, was left at the station as security for a fine, and it, like the ring, is still waiting for the owner. Judge Houston's story about his concert aspirations are groundless, and the Judge, who, for the past number of years has been providing the music for wrongdoers to dance by, is still the whole orchestra.

LAUNCH EXPLODES

Wallaceburg, Sept. 23.—The gasoline launch, the property of Messrs. Wilson, Delome and Buterman, was almost destroyed by fire on Sunday morning, caused by a spark from the sparking plug igniting the gasoline tank.

The boat was in the middle of the river at the rear of the English church, when the accident took place, and was brought to a nearby dock, where six gun holes were inserted, causing the same to sink, thereby saving the same from utter destruction. An alarm was given in the fire department, and the brigade responded with its usual promptness and assisted greatly in saving the dock of the launch. The boat will be brought to the surface to-morrow.

CIVIC OUTING

Hia Worship Mayor William M. Stone and a happy, care-free bunch of aldermen and reporters are enjoying themselves on what is known as the Mayor's annual outing down the river to-day. This important and select body of pleasure-seekers embarked via W. W. Seane's launch at the hour of seven this morning, with the prow set for the light-house, where no doubt a feast of unsurpassed magnificence has been done ample justice to ere now.

The day will be spent in fishing, hunting and sight-seeing—principally sight-seeing. Speeches, song and story will help to enliven the day's proceedings, and it is said that the Mayor has ordered a fish dinner at the lighthouse which heretofore has never been equalled.

THE BAND PLAYED

Fred Trudell, of the firm of The 2 T's, of this city, was the originator of a unique display in Hamilton on Saturday last. The 2 T's are opening up a fine new branch store in that city, and for some time they have been getting their new store in shape. The stock was all purchased and ready to be moved in, and it was moved in. The place will be opened for business on Saturday next.

Mr. Trudell engaged a band and loaded his $30,000 stock on ten big Handrie drays, and decorated the drays with banners telling pedestrians that the stock belonged to the new 2 T's store, and then a parade was held over all of the principal streets of the city.

The parade proved a very great success. Crowds gathered in large numbers and for twenty minutes the street car service was stopped.

There is no doubt that this firm will do a great business in Hamilton when they get started.

Some men are going to be surprised to find that the Recording Angel has such a good memory.

Majestic's Rough Passage.

Post Arthur, Sept. 23.—The steamer Majestic of the Northern Navigation Co. narrowly escaped being wrecked on Lake Superior, near Keweenaw Point, Saturday night. She encountered strong westerly gales. Her steering gear partly parted, and for four hours she was at the mercy of the waves.
Water dashed over her, and Capt. Wright came near being washed overboard by the waves. In the engine-house, where a quantity of freight had been piled, all was confusion. The cargo, consisting mostly of molasses, was thrown around everywhere. The chief engineer was struck on the head with a box and was injured. The passengers were all in readiness to take the lifeboats at a moment's notice.

Kidney Duty.—It is the particular function of the kidneys to filter out poisons which pass through them into the blood. When the kidneys are diseased they cannot do their whole duty, and should have the help and strength that South American Kidney Cure will afford in any and all forms of kidney disorder. It relieves in 6 hours.

Hotelkeeper Fined.

St. Catharines, Sept. 23.—John Horigan, proprietor of the Austin House, was, Saturday, fined $40 and costs by Police Magistrate Comfort for infraction of the Liquor Act on Aug. 15. A few days ago Horigan was convicted of selling liquor after hours on Aug. 12, and a fine of $50 was imposed. George F. Peterson, counsel for defendant, has served notice of appeal.

What a splendid type of tireless activity is the sun as the psalmist describes it, shining like "a bridegroom from his chamber and rejoicing like a strong man to run a race." Every man ought to rise in the morning refreshed by slumber and renewed by rest, eager for the struggle of the day. But how rare is this in so. Most people rise still unrefreshed, and dreading the strain of the day's labors. The cause of this is deficient vitality and behind this lies a deficient supply of pure, rich blood, and an inadequate nourishment of the body. There is nothing that will give a man energy and strength, as will Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It does this by increasing the quantity and quality of the blood supply. This nourishes the nerves, feeds the brain, builds up enfeebled organs and gives sense of strength and power which makes the struggle of life a joy. The "good feeling" which follows the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" is not due to stimulation, as it contains no alcohol. The ingredients are plainly stated on the bottle-wrapper. It does not "brace-up" the body, but it up into a condition of sound and vigorous health.

Respect at Last.
"Briefcase is, I think, one of the greatest lawyers in this state."
"Why, I heard you say once that you didn't consider him any good."
"Oh, that was years ago. He used to give me pointers on legal matters without charging me anything because we happened to have offices adjoining each other. Recently he has been charging me a stiff price every time I have gone to him for advice."

A Sample of What V.S.O. does.—Mr. Merrifield—I was so severely stricken with Joint Rheumatism that I was confined to bed for a long time with swollen and stiff joints; it even affected my stomach. I gave up all hope of ever being cured. The doctor finally told me he could "ease my pain but could not cure me." My sister heard of your Veteran's Sure Cure, and sent for a bottle. I took half of a 81 bottle. This enabled me to walk about as usual. This was about six years ago, and I have had no return of Rheumatism. Mrs. H. Privat, Williamsford, Ont., Sept. 11th, 1907.

AN ODD SUPERSTITION.

British Fishermen Balk at the Name of Graham.

One of the most curious of British fishermen's superstitions, the one which perhaps to this day has the strongest hold upon them, is that connected with the name of Graham. No fisherman will go to sea if he has heard this name mentioned, nor will he do any manner of work upon that day. He will refuse to sail in a boat with any one bearing the name, and a house painter from Newcastle called Graham, who had been sent to do some work in one of the large houses, found his life made so unbearable by the villagers that he incontinently returned to the town, leaving his work uncompleted. The women who balt the lines in the winter will unbait every hook and rebait the whole length—the labor of hours—if they hear it mentioned. A local tradesman bearing this unfortunate patronymic is never referred to save as "Puff," another, an innkeeper, is known as "Lucky Bits." No rational explanation is to be found. On one of the most intelligent fishermen being questioned on the subject he laughed the idea to scorn. Why, his daughter was married to a Graham. But, he added, a strange thing happened two years ago when he was off at the herring fishing and had not been home for some weeks. Having received a letter at Shields to say that his son-in-law was ill, he hailed a passing boat which had come from the north, asking if they had heard how Jack Graham was. "And, wad ye believe?" he soon had asayed the words than there was a crash, and the mast went over the side! None of the crew spoke to him for the rest of the day.

HABITS OF SPIDERS.

"Do These Insects Sleep?" Is Not an Easy Question to Answer.
The question, "Do spiders sleep at night?" is not easy to answer. I have made a careful observation of the sleep of ants, and that could readily be done by watching colonies in their artificial formicaries. It is almost impossible to deal with spiders in the same way. I would answer, however, in general terms that spiders sleep, as all animals do, and doubtless parts of the night are spent in slumber. Many species, however, prey on the night flying insects, and so must be awake in order to catch their prey. If you will watch the porch or outbuildings of your home on a summer evening you will be likely to see an orb weaving spider drop slowly down on a single thread in the gathering dusk of the evening. From this beginning a round web will soon be spun, and either hanging at the center thereof or in a little nest above and at one side is the architect, with forefeet clasping what we call the "trap line" and waiting for some night flying insect to strike the snare. In this position spiders will sometimes wait for hours, and it is just possible that they may then take a little nap. They might easily do that and yet not lose their game, for the agitation of the web would rouse the sleeper, and then it would round down the trap line and secure its prey. Some species of spiders do the chief part of their hunting at night, and there are some who chiefly hunt during the day; but, as a rule, these industrious animals work both day and night.

Suffered For His Chickens.
In London as far back as 1791 a city ordinance was passed to suppress the early morning cries of the street hucksters. This law was so severe that a person arrested twice for the same offense could be imprisoned for ten years. When his time was up he was asked what his crime was.

"For selling chickens that squawked," was the reply.
In the confusion of the trial the fact was not brought out that the chickens and not the man were responsible for the din that aroused the wrath of the disturbed citizens.

Wanted Money Too.
Ned, walking with his father, saw him give a beggar 5 cents and inquired into the matter.
"What did you give that man 5 cents for, papa?" asked Ned.
"So that he might eat bread, my boy," said the father.
That evening at the supper table it was observed that Ned declined to eat any bread, in any shape.
"Aren't you eating bread nowadays, my boy?" his mother asked.
"No, mamma."
"Why not?"
"So papa'll give me 5 cents."

Might Start a Forest.
A lady told a party of friends that she had quarreled with her husband and had planted a tree in memory of their first falling out.
"What a splendid idea," whispered another lady in her husband's ear; "if we had adopted that plan we might have had by now a fine avenue of trees in our garden."

Blind to Them.
"Never be critical upon the ladies," was the maxim of an old Irish peer, remarkable for his homage to the sex. "The only way that a true gentleman ever will attempt to look at the faults of a pretty woman is to shut his eyes."

"Why, lady," replied the candid beggar, "could you imagine better ones for this business? Every one of 'em hoies means nickels an' dimes ter me."

ANTIQUITY OF GEOMETRY.

The Science May Have Existed in India For Long Ages.
Did we learn our rule of three and our Euclid from India? Researches have brought to light astronomical tables in India which must have been constructed by the principles of geometry. Some are of the opinion that they have been framed from observations made not less than 3,000 years before the Christian era, and if this opinion be well founded the science of geometry must have been cultivated in India to a considerable extent long before the period assigned to its origin in the west; so that many of the elementary propositions may have been brought from India to Greece.

The Indians have a treatise called the "Surya Siddhanta," which professes to be a revelation from heaven communicated to Meva, a man of great sanctity, about 4,000,000 years ago. This book contains a rational system of trigonometry which differs entirely from the first known in Greece and Arabia. In fact, it is founded on a geometrical theorem which was not known to the geometers of Europe before the time of Viete, about 200 years ago. And it employs methods of demonstration unknown to the Greeks, who used others. The former have been attributed to the Arabs, but it is possible they have received this improvement in trigonometry as well as the numerical characters from India.

Is The Fastest Growing Company In Canada

Over $2,700,000.00 MORE insurance was written by this company last year, than in any previous year.
The expenses were $10,224 LESS than in 1905, while the volume of business on its books was much larger.

Is it any wonder then that the whole Canadian people have confidence in the wise, conservative business management?

And they show their confidence by taking out enough insurance in The Mutual Life to make it the fastest growing company in the Dominion.

ROUGH, BUT SINCERE.

It may be more polite to say "Papa" and "Father, dear." Such titles much less harsh may sound to culture's dainty ear.
It might be better were the talk of youth run on that plan, But somehow I warm up to "Dad" And "My old man."
It seems to build a wall between The father and the son To have their daily intercourse To such politeness run. The gentle father who says, "Please, My son, do this and so," Don't reach him like the one who shouts, "Here, kid, take this and go!"
We're getting in these modern days Too gentle and polite To raise a race of routabouters For rough and tumble fight. They would be lovely were the world A kindergarten class. But it's a foot race and a scrap From first to last, alas!

It seems the youth is more equipped For trouble anyway Who calls his father "My old man" Or "Dad" or even "Hey!" He may not sit in society Be much of a success. But when it comes to cutting ice He'll hack out more or less.

Couldn't He Tried.

"Hands up!" shouted the robber bold who had worked his way into the dime museum with the intention of taking away the hard earned money from the treasuries.
The fat man, the living skeleton and the bearded lady complied, but the only reply from one occupant of the room was frenzied shrieks of laughter. The startled robber turned his trusty gun in the direction of the mirth and was about to repeat the command, but the sight unnerved him, and he slunk away, muttering, "Folled."
His gaze had rested on the armless wonder. "It was a narrow escape for the rest of you," observed that genial person.

K-i-c-k, kick, understand? Say, you must be one of those fellows who can never take a hint. I bet the dog knew all along what I meant. Is that satisfactory?"

The man didn't say whether it was or not, but he walked away muttering something about some people being natural born smarties.

RIVER OF SALT WATER.

Flows inland in a Greek Island and Then Disappears.

One of the most curious phenomena of geography is found on the southern coast of the island of Cephalonia, near Greece. It is a stream of salt water which for an unknown period has left the almost tideless sea and flowed inland with considerable volume.

The sea enters the land at four points where the coast is practically on a level with the salt water surface. The four initial streams unite to form the little river that flows inland in a broken rocky channel until it finally disappears in the limestone rock and sinks into the earth.
This inland flow has continued almost certainly for several centuries. It is far too great for removal by evaporation, chemical combination or even physical absorption by pores or caverns in the rocks. What becomes of the water that is constantly flowing inland and disappears finally in the fissures that have opened in the limestone?

The question has been the subject of much study, but no conclusive answer has been given. It is probable that there is an underground channel which carries the water back into the sea at no great depth below the surface. The constant influx of salt water at Cephalonia is duplicated as far as is known at no other point of the world.

SPORTS AND THE SPHERE.

The Basic Pursuit in Most Games is to Drive a Ball.

Some day there will arise a patient investigator who will work out this problem. Why are most sports but the variants of one object, the propulsion of a sphere?
Billiards, baseball, polo, golf, slinging, marbles, squash, handball, football, rackets, cricket, hockey, bagatelle, tennis, shooting, pelota—the basic pursuit in each is to drive a ball, the propulsion of a sphere.

Tipcat, shuttlecock and top spinning are the employment of modifications of the sphere, and archery is but another method of propulsion.
It is a strange limitation of form, and there must be a reason. Those who delve into origins may ascribe the whole motive of sports to some long armed, hirsute ancestor who first threw a pebble at a fellow cave dweller and found it great fun.

Or it may be poor mortal's attempt to get in a small fashion into the tremendous scheme of the universe, which is the everlasting movement of the spheres. Or it may be that sports are framed in inevitable obedience to some irresistible law of nature.

At any rate the fact is sports are based on the propulsion of the sphere, and some one ought to find a reason therefor.

Wych Hazel, Not With Hazel.

The correct name for Hamamelis virginica is not witch hazel, but wych hazel. Our plant has no connection with the magic of the water hunter. The blackthorn of England, Prunus spinosa, was the wood used in these divinations, or whatever these superstitious practices may be termed. Hazel had a very wide meaning in the olden times, and the elm as well as the nut now known as such was hazel. One of these elms, now known as Ulmus montana, was the favorite wood for making wyes, or provision chests, and was therefore known as the wych hazel. In the present day it is the wych elm. Our hamamelis received from the early settlers the name of wych hazel from the resemblance of the leaves to those of the wych hazel or elm of the old world. Language reformers imagining that wych should be spelled witch are responsible for the confusion. Wych hazel is the correct term for our plant.

Dangerous Golf.

One of the rules of the Weston-super-Mare (England) Golf club reads, "A ball may be lifted and dropped with the loss of a stroke when played within the railings surrounding the powder magazine." There appears to be an element of danger in this kind of golf which reminds a London writer of a certain golf course on the West African coast, where the eighth and ninth holes are always optional, as several golfers are said to have been lost there owing to the proximity of the jungle, which is known to be a favorite lair of the lion.

Where the Difference Lay.

"One of his complaints against his wife in the divorce suit," said the lawyer, "was that she smoked cigarettes."
"Oh, my goodness! And whenever he comes to see me," cried the bachelor, "I smoke and smoke!"
"Oh, he doesn't mind other women smoking cigarettes," declared the lawyer. "He likes it. It is only his wife."

FIRE PROTECTION.

To the Editor of The Planet:
Dear Sir—Allow me a short space in your valuable paper to speak on the above subject, viz., "Fire Protection."

No doubt you are aware of the excellent services we are deriving from our fire department under the able management of Chief Richard Pritchard, but I have at different times thought of the inadequate means they have been two fires to break out at about the same time. Take for instance the late Drader fire, on Queen street. Had this fire not been got under control at the time it was, before the high winds prevailed, what would have been the result? Why the whole block would have been wiped out, as it was the roof of Taylor's mill on William street caught fire from cinders blown in that direction, and an alarm was turned in and quickly responded to, and the blaze extinguished. Supposing the fire had gotten a good start on this building, what would have been the result? Why it would have had to burn, as the firemen only had hose enough for the fire where they were at work. What they should have, and that at once, is an extra hose cart with 1,000 feet of the best hose procurable, and at each fire run both hose carts or wagons. They cannot have too much hose. I say give the boys all the necessities they require, without stint, and I defy a better company to be found in this fair Dominion of ours. We have been very fortunate in years gone by, but remember we are launching out into quite a city now; new factories building, and having good fire protection means more factories, and more factories means more revenue for the city. Give the boys the material, pay them well, and they will do the rest.

Yours respectfully,

WM. R. BAXTER.

REMAINS CREMATED

Blenheim, Sept. 23.—The funeral of the late C. R. Jamieson, the young Presbyterian missionary drowned at French River several days ago, and a former resident of this town, took place today at the home of his parents in Birmingham, Mich. The body was taken to Detroit last week by the deceased's wife and brother, Mr. Leonard Jamieson, a former student at the London Medical College, and on Saturday, in accordance with the expressed wish of the deceased, was cremated. A number from here attended the funeral, including Messrs. A. Samson, James Samson, W. R. Greenwood, A. Denholm, J. O. Laird and others.

PREMIER WHITNEY'S VIEW

Toronto, Sept. 23.—"I have no personal objection to Mr. MacKay as leader," said Premier Whitney this morning, when asked his opinion of the new Liberal leader. "It would be indicative of me," he continued, "to draw any contrast between Mr. MacKay and Mr. Graham. That is for the party to decide. Nor is it necessary to add anything to what I said on the occasion of the withdrawal of Mr. Graham. The selection of leader is entirely within the province of the man he is to lead. But there has been several noticeable comments on the removal of Mr. Graham, and what it means to the party as well as the significance in the public mind."

Minard's Liniment Co., Limited.
Dear Sirs,—While in the country last summer I was badly bitten by mosquitoes, so badly that I thought I would be disgraced for a couple of weeks. I was advised to try your Liniment to allay the irritation, and did so. The effect was more than I expected, a few applications completely curing the irritation, and preventing the bites from becoming sore. MINARD'S LINIMENT is also a good article to keep off the mosquitoes.

Yours truly,
W. A. V. R.
