BRITISH ATTACKS WREST MESSINES RIDGE FROM GERMANS Sir Julian Byng Gives Up Command of Canadians—British Extend Gains in Messines Region—No German Counter-Attacks for Two Days—Russian Soldiers' and Workmen's Council Indignantly Rejects German Peace Overtures.

GERMANS ARE COMPLETELY OUSTED FROM STRONG VANTAGE POINTS OCCUPIED SHORTLY AFTER DEFEAT OF MARNE—ROYAL FLYING CORPS HAS PROMINENT SHARE IN VICTORY.

British Headquarters in France, June 10, via London.—While still further German counter-attacks may be expected from time to time, the battle of Messines Ridge may be said to be ended. It stood out as a definite operation designed for certain purposes, and it remains to be seen whether other offensive battles have been planned in this particular section of the western front.

The taking of Messines Ridge has robbed the Germans of the last strategic commanding position they occupied for so long opposite the British line. Bapaume, and Vimy and Messines Ridges, as well as Monte Kemmel, have all been captured by the British during the last three months, and this has materially changed the military situation on this front.

When the Germans chose what they were pleased to term permanent lines of defence in 1914, they occupied these advantage points, with a foreknowledge of their strategic, tactical and observation values as keen as that possessed by any French military student. The Germans had a thorough familiarity with the detailed maps of every square of French territory over which they proposed to fight, and when flung back from the Marne, had already selected the lines upon which their trench fortifications were to be built.

It is natural that the German official communiques and wireless press reports should attempt to belittle the loss of these positions, but the British, who have had to endure the handicap of lying under their direct observation and fire for so long a time, make no attempt to disguise the satisfaction with which they now look to the future and what it holds in store for the Germans, who, at last, are practically the under-dog.

Of course there remain the much-lamented Siegfried and Wotan lines, with their various support systems of trench defences. The Siegfried line represents that portion of the Hindenburg line between Queant and St. Quentin. The Hindenburg line between Queant and Arras has virtually all been taken by the British; so the Germans now call their principal line of defence north of Queant the Wotan line, formerly known as the Drocourt-Queant switch line.

North of Drocourt this line runs to Montigny, thence west to Annay, and connects with the various systems there. All these lines, however, lack the natural advantages which the Germans possessed when in command of the ridges.

The enemy has endeavored to offset this with artificial strength in the elaborate use of steel and concrete for dugouts, machine gun emplacements, and the various systems of communication trenches. The victory of Messines Ridge shows that concrete and steel strong points must yield to the concentrated fire of modern guns, which the allies are now able to bring to bear upon any given point. The allies feel that they have shown that the German military power can be crushed, the only question remaining being the speed with which this can be accomplished. This is where they say America can help with her tremendous weight of man and material, and they are looking forward to this help during the late autumn and in the spring of 1918, and thus go confidently on.

It would seem that a victory must be gained by a series of powerful blows such as that delivered at Arras on Monday and at Messines on last Thursday. There is little hope that modern warfare can ever get wholly into the open, and no one is deluded by such thoughts, for the simple reason that a retreating army can dig faster than its opponents can advance. This is true, certainly, of armies of nearly equal numerical strength and where such vast bodies of men and guns have to be moved forward as in the battles of present day magnitude.

Germany made her great sweep into France when her opponents had little with which to stop her. Those conditions are changed now and each battle is fought to gain certain definite points that from or whether new blows shall be struck elsewhere. Minor and subsidiary operations, of course, are in progress at several points at the same time.

Follows New Theory
Last Thursday's battle may be taken as typical of the new theory of warfare. It was complete in itself—complete in action, complete in suc-

BRITISH LOSS AT MESSINES TOTALS BUT TEN THOUSAND About Sixty Per Cent. of Total Are Walking Cases—Great Many of the Remainder Will Soon Join Regiments.

London, June 10.—Owing to exaggerated German statements in regard to the number of British casualties in the battle of Messines ridge, Reuter's correspondent at British headquarters in France says that up to Friday evening the number of men of all ranks who failed to respond to roll call on the British side was just about 10,000. Judging from past experience, about sixty per cent. of these are men wounded so slightly that they are able to walk, and of the remainder a number will be able to rejoin their regiments later.

Patenaude Steps Out Sevigny Will Remain

HON. E. L. PATENAUDE, Minister of State and Acting Postmaster-General, who has resigned because of the conscription bill.

CONSCRIPTION MENACES UNITY, SAYS PATENAUDE Minister Has Been From First Opposed to Compulsory Service—Laurier Not Expected to Define Position Further Until After Liberal Caucus Tomorrow.

Ottawa, Ont., June 10.—Hon. E. L. Patenaude, secretary of state and acting postmaster-general, has resigned his portfolio, and the same has been accepted. It is expected the prime minister will make a statement to the house tomorrow. All that could be learned today was that Mr. Patenaude was opposed to the conscription bill of the government, on the ground that it would tend to impair national unity. He has given up his rooms at the Chateau Laurier and removed his belongings. Senator Beaulieu and Sir Herbert Ames are mentioned for the portfolio. Sir Robert Borden would not discuss the matter tonight.

Not a Surprise
The resignation of the minister did not come as a surprise, as Mr. Patenaude, a former Nationalist, had been opposed to conscription from the first. He entered the cabinet as minister of inland revenue in 1915, when Hon. Louis Gougeon having resigned as secretary of state, a vacancy was created by the transfer of Col. P. E. Blondin from the inland revenue department to the state department. Mr. Patenaude was returned to the house from Hochelaga to the seat vacated by Mr. Gougeon's acceptance of a judgeship, and when Col. Blondin became postmaster-general Mr. Patenaude succeeded him as secretary of state. He was probably the most popular of the Quebec ministers among the mem-

LARGE LEADERS ABOUT TO SAIL HELD PRISONER

Seamen and Firemen Hold Frederick Jowett and Ramsey MacDonald.
BIG CROWD APPROVES
Action to Prevent Pacifists Going to Petrograd Meets Londoners' Favor.

London, June 10.—Members of the National Seamen's and Firemen's Union today have taken prisoner Frederick W. Jowett, president of the Independent Labor party, and James Ramsey MacDonald, chairman of the Labor party, both members of parliament, who were about to sail for Petrograd.

An enthusiastic demonstration was held this afternoon in Trafalgar Square to protest against permitting Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Jowett to proceed to Petrograd to participate in the proposed pacifist meetings. The meeting was opened by the reading of the following telegram from Capt. Jupp of the Seamen's and Firemen's Union: "I have, MacDonald and Jowett prisoners. No other vessels to sail with them."

The Trades Union Congress brought together a great crowd. Joseph Havelock Wilson, president of the National Seamen's Union, in the course of a speech, said: "This is a historic occasion. I wrote 15 months ago a protest to the council of the Seaman's Transport Federation against submarine warfare and warned the council that unless it protested against the U-boat warfare my union would refuse to participate after the war in any conference including Germany. The answer I received was that the council was laughing to scorn, and that the U-boats were perfectly justified in acting as they did."

Citizens' Support
Mr. Wilson said that there were 5,500 organized workers in Great Britain and if Ramsey MacDonald was able to get half a million of these men in his grasp the union would immediately withdraw the boycott. If MacDonald wanted to go to Petrograd, the Seamen's Union would let him produce his credentials to represent British labor.

Several other speakers a resolution was carried declaring that "a mass meeting of citizens of London deplors the action of the government in sending delegates to the Socialist conference at Petrograd, and the Seamen's Union in refusing to work on ships on which such delegates are passengers."

Berne, via Paris, Saturday, June 9.—The German mark reached a new low level today when it touched 71 francs for 100 marks, compared with 128.42 in peace time. The rate of the mark thereby drops lower than the Italian lira, which quoted at 72 today.

RUSSIA REJECTS HUN OFFER WILSON'S APPEAL OPPORTUNE

U. S. Note Sets Forth Clearly Attitude on Annexations and Indemnities.
CONQUER OR SUBMIT
Germany's Proposal to Restore Status Quo Cannot Be Entertained.

Washington, June 10.—President Wilson, in a communication to the new government of Russia, has made plain the war aims of the United States and its position on "no annexations, no indemnities."

"No territory must be insisted on except those that constitute payment for manifest wrong done. No readjustment of power must be made, except such as will tend to secure the future peace of the world and the future welfare and happiness of its people."

In unmistakable terms, President Wilson declared against Germany's proposal to restore the "status quo" before the war.

"It was the status quo ante out of which this iniquitous war issued forth," he says, "the power of the imperial German Government within the empire and its widespread domination and influence outside of that empire."

Text of Communication
The president's communication was delivered to the Russian Government by Ambassador Francis at Petrograd. In full it is as follows:

"In view of the approaching visit of the American delegation to Russia, to express the deep friendship of the American people for the people of Russia, and to discuss the best and most practical means of co-operation between the two peoples in carrying the present struggle for the freedom of all people to a successful conclusion, it seems opportune and appropriate that I should state again, in the light of this new partnership, the attitude of the United States as had in mind in entering the war."

To Repress Mutiny

Petrograd, June 10, via London.—As a result of renewed defiance of the council of workmen's and soldiers' delegates in Kronstadt, which yesterday declared that its resolution addressed to the Petrograd Government, still holds good, the situation is again aggravated. Officials of the bureau of posts and telegraphs have not yet been recalled from Kronstadt all officials of the department of control and the ministry of justice have been recalled from other offices. This is interpreted as a preliminary to stern measures that have been threatened by the government.

RELIEF OF ENTOMBED MEN STIMULATES EFFORTS TO REACH STILL OTHERS

Butte, Mont., June 10.—Twenty-eight men entombed in the Speculator Mine since the fire Friday night were brought to the surface alive at 1:40 o'clock this afternoon. Of the 28 rescued men, one was so far gone that resuscitation was impossible. The finding of the men alive stimulated efforts of the rescue teams, and there is strong hope that others may be found alive.

TWO SWEDISH SAILING SHIPS SUNK BY GERMAN SUBMARINE

Copenhagen, June 10 (via London).—The Swedish sailing vessels Alida and Helene, have been sunk by a German submarine. A third ship was halted, but was permitted to proceed with the crews of the vessels which had been sunk.

BRITONS AND CANADIANS ENLIST FREELY IN U. S.

Several Hundred Recruits Will Leave New York Today for Canada.

New York, June 10.—Recruiting of Britons and Canadians here for the British army has been so successful that more than had a battalion has been signed up in four days, it was announced tonight.

The first recruits, several hundred in number, will leave tomorrow for Canada for a period of intensive training preparatory to overseas training.

"We came here to enlist British and Canadian subjects voluntarily and not to hunt slackers," General White said today. "As we anticipated the results have been satisfactory. They have responded well. The men thus far recruiting have come well up to the physical requirements and are a well educated lot."

Council of Soldiers and Workmen Spurn Peace Conference Proposal

TRICKERY IS EVIDENT
German Commander-in-Chief on Eastern Front Sends a Wireless Message.

Petrograd, June 9.—The council of soldiers and workmen has put forth the fact that the German commander-in-chief on the eastern front has sent to the Russian army a wireless message proposing that they enter into secret conferences with the German leaders. The council denounces the proposal.

In the telegram the council's announcement states that the German commander proposed to show the armies a way towards an honorable peace and means of ceasing to wage war without a rupture with the entente allies.

The council of the workmen's and soldiers' delegates has addressed to the Russian army the following appeal: "The commander-in-chief of the German armies on the eastern front has sent to our troops a wireless message proposing to indicate to them a way towards an honorable peace and a means for ceasing to wage war without a rupture with the allies. The German general talks this way because he knows that the Russian revolutionary troops would reject with indignation any overture proposed for a separate peace."

HAMILTON STRONG FOR CONSCRIPTION

Meeting Unanimously Favors Measure and Coalition or National Government.

Hamilton, June 11.—Amid thunderous applause hundreds of citizens in the Temple Theatre last night endorsed a resolution calling upon Premier Borden to put in force conscription of men, wealth and resources, and coalition or national government.

Bringing politics into the war is a real thing. All should join hands for the one purpose—that of winning the war, said Mayor Booker.

WENTWORTH COUNCIL TUESDAY.

Hamilton, Monday, June 11.—The Wentworth Council will open its June session tomorrow, and if the weather is fine, the business will likely be disposed of quickly.

The losses of 10,000, given by Reuters as the total British casualties in the battle of Messines, bear testimony to the fact that the artillery preparation surpassed previous preparations in thoroughness and intensity.

The extensive Canadian raid, which some early despatches magnified into a big offensive, did a great deal of damage to the German defences south of the Souchez River, but it did not result in retaining any but a small section of ground.

Sir Julian Byng, who has been commander of the Canadian army corps in France for a year, has quit his command. He has bidden farewell to the men.

The chief infantry work of the French front consisted of a successful surprise attack on the western bank of the Moselle River, near the Thiaucourt Railway.

President Wilson, in a note to the provisional government of Russia, gives, as requested, the aims of the United States in the war.

This war, the president says, has begun to go against Germany, and in their desperate desire to escape inevitable ultimate defeat, those who are in authority in Germany are using every possible instrumentality.

FOE'S LAST RIDGE FALLS TO BRITISH

ness. General Plumer's army, which planned and conducted it, has been congratulated by Field Marshal Haig and takes particular pride in a tribute from a very highly-placed French officer, who, after studying the plans and witnessing the action, said:

The correspondent saw all the battle maps and heard a detailed exposition by the army staff, the day before the battle, of just what would be attempted and what it was hoped to accomplish.

Counter-Attacks Costly.

Any further counter-attacks the Germans may attempt will prove costly for them, for the British in wiping out the Wytschate salient have shortened their line by at least one-third in this sector.

Many interesting letters have been captured in the recent fighting. The following is taken from an unposted letter borne by the man of a fourth German Grenadier regiment, who was in the trenches attacked on Thursday:

"Since April 23 I am in the trenches near Ypres, where an offensive is now taking place. The drums are not beating to little bits; there is nothing more of the trenches to see. Up to now I have escaped with my life, but we have had terrible losses in my company since we were captured. It is a terrible life; it will soon be unbearable. He is best off who gets a bullet and need no longer kneel and shoot."

The manner in which the British Flying Corps during the air drive during the battle of Messines Ridge on Thursday and completely smothered the German aviation efforts for the time being is one of the most thrilling and remarkable stories of the entire war.

Hundreds of British planes were well behind the front lines when the battle broke into its fury at dawn. They had stolen over during the darkness of the night, when the moon was hidden by storm clouds.

During the night British machines bombed enemy railroads, gun positions, ammunition dumps and troops coming up on the march. Others hovered above German airbases and circled headquarters in France tonight, ready to fire hundreds of rounds from machine guns into them and prevented the enemy machines from coming out.

Searched Out Enemy.

Far back of the German lines the British planes searched out troops in every hamlet, town and village. In several places they saw them gathering or marching in the main streets, whereupon they flew down, low at times and opened a fire which scattered the gray-clad soldiers in all directions.

One British pilot patrolled a road for half an hour before he saw anything to shoot at. Then a German military automobile, with three officers sitting in the back seat, came along. The Britisher dived at them from a height of three hundred feet, firing as they came.

his stay in German territory was this pilot more than 500 feet from the ground.

Large numbers of British machines were on contact patrol work, flying low over the advancing lines of infantry, intently watching their movements, their progress, any attempt to form counter-attacks, and all the while sending detailed reports back to corps and army headquarters.

The infantry commanders said it gave their men great comfort and a great sense of protection to have their planes flying so confidently just above them and exchanging signals with them.

Of the fourteen planes lost during the day of the battle, a majority were these contact machines. They had to fly thru a frightful storm of the enemy's machine-gun fire, as well as the enemy's artillery fire, and they succumbed to chance blows from these exploding missiles.

One British pilot who returned to his home station for new supplies of petrol and ammunition, declared it was the most dangerous day's flying he ever participated in. "Because," he added, "there are so many of our machines you can hardly find a place for yourself."

Like Flock of Mosquitoes.

One observer during the height of the aerial fighting likened the squadrons to flocks of mosquitoes.

Wherever a thousand or more troops were observed forming for possible counter-attacks, the enemy's planes directed "shoots" upon them.

Official Reports.

The official report from British headquarters in France tonight reads:

"The British gained further ground at a number of points on the battle front to the southward of Ypres, it is announced officially. The statement follows:

"We gained further ground during the night at a number of points on our battlefront south of Ypres. Successful raids were carried out by us last night southward of Ypres, south of Armentieres and northeast of Ypres. We captured 17 prisoners.

Gain More Ground.

The official report from British headquarters in France tonight reads: "Except for artillery activity on both sides the day passed quietly on the battlefront south of Ypres. We have gained ground slightly on the right flank of our new positions.

"The total number of prisoners taken by us since Thursday morning now exceeds 7000. A great number of guns, machine guns and trench mortars are still buried under the debris.

"On the Scarpe battlefront we have improved our positions during the day in the night-time of Greenend Hill. In the course of bombing raids, carried out by our aeroplanes against the enemy's railway stations Thursday night, a large accumulation of rolling stock, containing ammunition, was detonated by a big shell. Fires and explosions continued until dawn.

"Yesterday three German aeroplanes were brought down in the air fighting and four others were driven down out of control. Six of these were lost as the result of a collision during a fight with a number of hostile machines over the enemy's lines."

Reuter's correspondent at British headquarters in France reports that a tank Zillebeke has been retaken by the British.

A Poor Tube is Expensive

The price of a tube is comparatively small. But poor tubes may easily become the most expensive item in your motoring cost.

Not that the cost of tubes may mount unusually high. But a poor tube can ruin an expensive casing. The greatest cause of tire failure is under-inflation. Slow seepage of air through poor tubes causes inconspicuous and insidious under-inflation. To prevent this dangerous fault we use the lamination process in making Good-year Tubes.

Rubber of the highest quality is rolled out tissue-thin. Only in such thin rubber can careful inspection detect and eliminate every flaw, every bit of foreign matter.

Layer on layer, Goodyear Tubes are built up from this inspected rubber. We make them extra thick by using extra layers. They are extra pure, extra durable, air-tight. They are well nigh perfect.

When you buy tubes say "Goodyear." Because as tubes, they give longer service. Because, as tire savers, they are worth many times their price.

U.S. NOTE SETS FORTH STAND

These objects have been very much bedeviled during the past few weeks by mistaken and misleading statements, and the issues at stake are too momentous, too significant for the whole human race to permit any misinterpretations or misunderstandings, however slight, to remain uncorrected for a moment.

U. S. Aims Clear.
The position of America in this war is so clearly avowed that no man can be excused for mistaking it. She looks no material profit or aggrandizement of any kind, she is fighting for no advantage or selfish object of her own, but for the liberation of peoples everywhere from the aggressions of autocratic force. The ruling classes in Germany have begun to lose to profess a like liberality and justice of purpose, but only to preserve the power they have set up in Germany and the selfish advantages which they have wrongly gained for themselves and their private projects.

Bagdad and beyond. Government after government has by their influence, without open conquest of its territory, been linked together in a net of intrigue directed against nothing less than the peace and liberty of the world. The meshes of that intrigue must be broken but cannot be broken unless wrongs already done are undone, and adequate measures must be taken to prevent it from ever again being revoled or repaired.

Must Conquer or Submit.
For these things we can afford to pour out blood and treasure. For these are the things we have always professed to desire, and unless we pour out blood and treasure now and succeed, we may never be able to unite or show conquering force again in the great cause of human liberty. The day has come to conquer or submit. If the forces of autocracy can divide us, they will overcome us. If we stand together victory is certain, and the liberty which victory will secure. We can afford then to be generous, but we cannot afford then or now to be weak or omit any single guarantee of justice and security.

CHURCHES GAVE READILY TO WAR CAPTIVES' FUND

Generous Offerings Are Received Throughout City, But Results Are Not Yet Announced.

Toronto lived up to its reputation as a willing giver yesterday when churchgoers had an opportunity of contributing to the war prisoners' fund in response to the appeal made by the Prisoners of War Society. Envelopes were distributed at the various churches the previous Sunday, each one bearing the name of all the allies, and if any particular objection was taken to any of them, the contributor had only to cross out the one that he did not wish to contribute to, although it is not anticipated that many names will be found to have been struck out. President Maurice Huton, principal of the University of Toronto, stated that the aim of the appeal was to aid those prisoners of war who are most in need of help—the French, Russians and Belgians. In the past it has been found that they have benefited the least by the money that has been sent. Every month the society has sent, since January, 1916, two cheques to Bern, Switzerland, one for the foreign prisoners and one for the British prisoners, including the Canadians, and it was the aim of the appeal to supplement this sum that the special appeal was made yesterday. The total number of envelopes distributed reached 30,000, and every church in Toronto was appealed to. The results may not be known, according to H. H. Langton, honorary secretary, until towards the end of the week.

Both at the morning and evening service at St. James' Cathedral an earnest appeal was made by Rev. Canon Plumtree and a very good offering resulted. He pointed out that every cent that was sent would reach its destination, and said that as the Red Cross had been providing for the Canadians in a moral responsibility to do all that could be done to help those of other nations.

A thrilling address was made at the morning service at St. Michael and All Angels by Dr. W. A. Toop, who stated that altogether there were between five and six million prisoners of all nations, and he described the pitiful state they were in. He spoke very strongly on their enforced idleness and their thoughts during this period. In the evening the pastor, Rev. W. J. Brain, also appealed to the congregation and asked them all to respond. At St. Augustine's, Rev. Canon G. Plummer did not mention the subject in his sermon, but introduced the matter in a special address, urging that a liberal response be made for those who had fought for our sake.

THINGS TO WORRY ABOUT

JUNE WEDDINGS ARE GETTING VERY SCARCE

CHURCH MUST RECTIFY MODERN SOCIAL EVILS

Mere Profession of Religion Will Not Help World Settle After-World Difficulties.

Rev. A. E. Ribourg, D.D., preached Sunday evening at St. Alban's Cathedral on the "Cost of Goodness," showing that the church, cost what it may, must lift her voice against the social evils and the national wrongs which mar our civilization and which if allowed to continue their nefarious work after the war will render the present sacrifices of blood and money of no avail. Dr. Ribourg said: "There was a time when Christianity meant to many regular attendance to church services; a methodical reception of the sacraments, a certain Sunday demeanor and appearance, which was carefully laid aside with the Sunday coat on Monday morning. But conditions have changed. The great demand of our age is reality in every sphere. Pretence and exterior appearance have long been taken for true Christianity, but the world is at last coming to its senses in that respect and demands reality instead of mere pretence.

"A patronage must disappear from the political, business and professional realms to give place to efficiency, so mere profession must disappear from religion if it is going to be a power in our generation. "The civilized world is being asked to give all its able-bodied men to help crush the German monstrosity of world domination. The sacrifices both of life and money that the allied nations are making today will be lost if higher ideals, better social conditions and a nobler sense of social and national duty are not introduced in the world to make it a better place to live in. We witness now the opening of a new epoch in the history of the world. Changes are taking place in every domain of human activity. The Christian church cannot be satisfied with its past achievements, but must prepare itself by a genuine re-consecration to do a better and grander work in the new world of tomorrow."

LABOR MEN ENDORSE CONSCRIPTION POLICY

Want Government to Take Over Railway's Shipping and All Natural Resources.

A resolution, embodying the endorsement of conscription based upon the principle of equal liability to service and the policy of controlling finances, food and resources in Canada to prosecute the war was adopted at an enthusiastic meeting of nearly 200 members of the Greater Toronto Labor party in the Labor Temple, Church street, yesterday afternoon.

The resolution, which concurred in the measure adopted by the Earlscourt branch of the organization some days ago, expressed the desire that the war be carried to a successful conclusion, provided the burden of war was shared equally by the citizens, and supported a fair selective policy of conscription of man power on condition that the government provide that food, finances and other means of sustaining life, as well as railways, shipping and other natural resources of the country are primarily conscripted."

The members also adopted a resolution asking Premier Borden to appoint a representative delegation composed of labor men to visit the responsible military officials in Great Britain and in the principal theatres of war, in order that the labor people of the Dominion could be given full information and different problems arising out of the conflict.

After the resolution on conscription was discussed, and some of the members criticized the executive committee for having made the recommendation on the grounds that no action should have been taken until the Ottawa administration bill had been introduced and its provisions made known. These members argued that the bill may contain provisions which labor men could not approve. Their number was not sufficient, however, to recall the resolution which had been adopted. At the conclusion of the debate it was decided to hold another meeting next Sunday to discuss Borden's proposed selective draft measure. There was also some discussion concerning the organization and membership of the Labor party. Jas. Richards, president, presided.

EXTRA POWER transmission belting

Cutting Factory Costs on a Thousand Products

IN widely varying lines of industrial endeavour, in war and peace, Extra Power Belting is cutting down the cost of manufacture by speeding up production and saving belt-cost. On high speed axle belts of the power plant that lights sleeping cars and in the laundry that cleans your linen, the speeding pulleys are driven by Extra Power. Many of the things you wear, eat and use are made more quickly and at lower cost because of this better transmission belting. The articles illustrated here are only a few of those in the manufacture of which Extra Power plays a part.

Producing More—at Lower Belt-Cost

Turning the ponderous beater in a paper-mill or speeding up a light drill in a machine shop, 30 inch or 3 inch, Extra Power has exclusive superiorities that are important to every belt-user.

The life of Extra Power Belting is unusually long, especially on hard drives. Special qualities of materials and special features of construction are responsible.

Factory men know the relief of having a belt whose plies do not separate, whose seam remains tight. The plies of Extra Power are welded together by the fine rubber that is forced through and through every strand of the fabric. The seam is sealed tight by a cord of fine solid rubber.

In plants where the belts are exposed to heat, steam, water, acid fumes, engineers still praise one belt whose hardy surface and sound body resist these destructive agents.

Extra Power is liberally impregnated with rubber. It grips and hugs the pulleys, running evenly, resisting slippage. It does an honest day's work. It delivers the power.

We have records of the work done by Extra Power for others in your industry. At our branches are men who will study your transmission problems and work with you and our specialists to overcome them—write or phone the nearest branch.

Says Proper Understanding of Teachings of Jesus Will Unite All Christian Sects.

Hon. Max Wardall attracted an audience which left very few vacant seats in Canadian Foresters' Hall, where, in the first of a series of four addresses, he spoke last night on "Esoteric Christianity." He is a most interesting speaker, eloquent, earnest, animated and curiously well informed. His reasonable statement of well-known facts disarmed hostility and threw much light on many vexed questions. He thought that there must be something wrong with a religion which known facts disarmed hostility and threw much light on many vexed questions. The Massey Hall Demonstration

It is rarely, and only on great historic occasions, that the national spirit flashes out so brightly as it did in Massey Hall on Saturday night. It was the triumph of mind over matter, of men over party. Those who would seek to derive party advantage, whether on one side or the other, from such a demonstration, would be false to the spirit that inspired it. Whatever was high and noble in our party rows, to what was high and noble in the other, and from such vital reactions there is much hope for the future.

Belgium's Great Need

Editor World: In view of the recent statement issued by Mr. Hoover, chairman of the commission for relief in Belgium, which points out the impossibility at present of obtaining the necessary shipping tonnage to forward to Belgium the food supplies in the same quantities as in the past, and also draws attention to the fact that the United States Government have made arrangements to loan the Belgian Government the sum of $45,000,000—payable to the commission for relief in Belgium in monthly instalments—which sum will cover the cost of such food supplies as can be shipped in that time by the limited number of ships available to the commission, the central executive committee of the Belgian relief fund in Canada finds it unnecessary for the present to make appeal to the generously disposed people of Canada on the plea of the urgency of support in order to stave off starvation.

Toronto Liberals Emphatic in Call for Conscription

Prominent Party Men Enthusiastically Applauded When Pledging Support of Compulsory Military Service as Means of Carrying Out Nation's Duty to Civilization and Men Now Fighting.

By attending in their thousands at the great rally at Massey Hall, Saturday night, in response to the call of their leaders, Toronto Liberals demonstrated that they, at least, will respect no party barrier when Canada and the empire are in danger. That party ties and affiliations were not a consideration of Dr. Clark, and frankly he declared his right to think and act according to the dictates of his own conscience in a national crisis, irrespective of the opinion of his leader.

TORONTO LIBERALS EMPHATIC IN CALL FOR CONSCRIPTION

Prominent Party Men Enthusiastically Applauded When Pledging Support of Compulsory Military Service as Means of Carrying Out Nation's Duty to Civilization and Men Now Fighting.

By attending in their thousands at the great rally at Massey Hall, Saturday night, in response to the call of their leaders, Toronto Liberals demonstrated that they, at least, will respect no party barrier when Canada and the empire are in danger.

He did not worry over the part organized labor played in the war and he certainly did not believe it was opposed to conscription. Some of the best organized labor were ever planted in Canada were in the trenches and graves of Belgium and Flanders.

Speeches Were Short

With the exception of Dr. Clark and Mr. Rowell the speakers, to a long list were held to five-minute addresses. All expressed their hearty support of a conscriptive measure to maintain Canada's fighting force at the front.

What About Canada?

What shall we do to terminate the war? asked Robert McKay, K.C. He referred to the habits of the people of Canada living in ease and luxury while the Belgians were suffering hardships at the hands of the Germans.

Chairman's Address

S. J. Moore in opening the meeting declared that the crowded hall showed the interest taken by the public in the question of conscription. "We are living today in a wonderful age, but there is scarcely a man who is not glad to have an opportunity of living in this epoch-making time," he said.

Causes is Stronger

"But the cause for extra effort at the moment is stronger than that. Doubtful looks were cast at me by the mention of premature peace. On the eastern front you have the possibility of a premature peace, because he is afraid that being, at any rate, is out of the conflict. The bear has got the season's mixed up and has gone into hibernation in the spring of the year.

No Doubt of Duty

"I have said already, and I repeat here, that when we look at the facts, there can be no doubt what our duty is to those boys. How are we going to meet the increased German forces? The answer is clear, by mobilizing our own."

Only Practical Way

"It is the only practical way of doing the business. I have never seen anyone able in war time to give a reasonable argument against conscription. By what possible reason can you defend the system which allows one man who has three sons at the front and his neighbor with twice the number at home and heaping money from the sufferings of others."

Duty is Simple

"To a man who values his country's honor it is extremely simple as to what is our duty in regard to the man power of the country. The premier promised we would send a minimum of 800,000 men to France. It seems to me that the national honor of the country is wrapped up in that fact."

CLOSE SCORES IN C. & M. LEAGUE

St. Edmunds Beat Old Country By Six Runs, While Albions By Two.

The first C. and M. League game to be played at Rosedale took place on Saturday between the champions, the Old Country club, and St. Edmund's. The recent rains made the ground heavy, favoring the bowlers and making runs very difficult to obtain. P. Lambert, St. Ed. won the toss, and with W. Wakefield, opened the batting. Batting steadily the score reached 12 before Wakefield was cleverly stumped off Wakefield's bowling by Womersley. Campbell was caught at the wicket with the score at 17. Runs came very slowly. Lambert lived things up by making the only boundary hit of the game, a slight drive into the grandstand, at Wakefield's expense. Lambert was bowled by McKinnon after making 13 runs, the high score for St. Edmund's. The remaining batsmen could not do much with the bowling and the innings closed for 26. McKinnon taking 5 wickets for 12 runs, Wakefield 5 wickets for 11 runs.

Old Country sent J. Forestal and H. McGregor to face the bowling of W. Barnes and G. Jones. With the score at 6, McGregor was cut to a brilliant one-hand catch by P. Lambert near the boundary. The wickets fell quickly, and with 5 wickets down for 11 runs, things began to look bad for the champions. Forestal, who was batting very patiently, was joined by McKinnon, and 7 runs were added before McKinnon fell a victim to a catch in the slips off Barnes. Six Old Country wickets had fallen, each one being caught out. Womersley, the next batsman, was clean bowled by Barnes, the score being 22 runs for 7 wickets. Supported by splendid fielding, Barnes was in fine fettle, bowling with a nice break and fooling the batsmen repeatedly. Forestal, first man in, fell to a fine catch at point by V. Campbell, scoring 21 runs, compiled carefully, without a chance, a very fine performance. D. Cameron, last man in, was clean bowled by Barnes, and Old Country were all out for 26. St. Edmund's winning a very exciting game by 10 runs. W. Barnes took 6 wickets for 11 runs. G. Jones took 4 wickets for 14 runs.

Albions By Two Runs Win From St. Cyprians

The large crowd who visited the Albion-St. Cyprians League game on Saturday at Trinity campus were given quite a treat, the game being full of interest from start to finish. Seal won the toss and sent St. Cyprians in to bat. They opened with Robinson and Lynch against the bowling of Yaxley and Roberts, and were all dismissed for 50 runs. Allshire was high-est, with 18 to his credit. With 31 runs to get, Albions opened with Roberts and Moyston, but before anything was registered Roberts was caught by Headley off Tunbridge. With six wickets down, it looked as if the home team was going down to defeat, but thanks to Friedley, who by good cricket contributed 55 runs before he was bowled by Tunbridge, and Blackman, who was playing steadily, Albions won by two runs. Albions play Broadview a league game next Saturday at Trinity College campus. The scores are as follows:

visitors' bowling so much too good for them that they were all out for the apparently hopelessly low score of 44. J. Colborne being the only batsman to make any long stand at the wickets, for a well-played 14. Greene captured 5 wickets for 19 runs, Faulkner 3 for 5, Hill 2 for 15. Foley brought off two fine catches. On taking the field the home team set to work earnestly to save the game, dismissing their opponents for 22, and winning an interesting game by 12 runs. Greene played a careful innings for 10, but was quite unable to get in any hitting the wickets for 11 and 14 runs respectively, and so well did they bowl when settled down and backed by good fielding that the last eight overs needed only three runs.

Milk from The Farmers' Dairy contains the maximum of food-value. It is rich in cream. This milk comes from the finest farms in Ontario, where healthy, well-fed, regularly-inspected cows are kept.
