TUSSLE IN COMMONS OVER AMENDMENTS TO THE DISPUTES ACT

Block Clause Regarding Conciliation—Franchise Bill Also Debated.

CHANGE VOTING HOURS

Ottawa, May 3.—Keen criticism in the house today resulted in the temporary blocking of a senate bill to amend the industrial disputes investigation act (the Lemieux act). The clause of the bill particularly at issue was one relating to the authority of the union leaders to apply for a board of conciliation. Under the present act such authority must be approved by a majority of members of the union present at a meeting called for that purpose. Under the bill the approval must be given by a majority of all the members of the union.

Especially critical of the bill were Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the opposition, who as deputy minister of labor drafted the Lemieux act, and Angus McDonald, recently elected Labor-U.F.O. member for Timiskaming. Mr. McDonald's maiden speech in the house and was followed with interest from all sides.

More clauses in the much-debated franchise bill were passed. Amendments to the bill made today provide for these polling hours: City polls, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.; rural polls, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Another amendment still to be brought down will specify that in all cases standard and not daylight saving time is to be used.

King Urges Shorter Sittings. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King asked if it would not be possible to come to some understanding as to the adjournment of the house. The house had got into the habit of keeping up business pretty late in the evening and members who had their duties seriously found it a physical strain. He suggested that discussion after 11 p.m. was generally wearisome and unproductive. If the house so agree to adjourn at 11, he thought business would be conducted better. He did not think that any advantage was gained by exhausting the patience of members or by threats, such as that made by a minister the other night, that the house would be kept sitting until two in the morning.

Sir George Foster said his experience was against making fixed arrangements for the close of the sittings of the house. Adjournment had always been given by a general sense of what was fitting and feasible. There was a disposition to do less work than was done before. That was the basis of the world in so adjusting getting back to normal conditions. (Continued on Page 4, Column 1).

MAY STRIKE DURING VISIT OF PRINCE

Industrial Extremists of New South Wales Think Demands Would Be Irresistible.

London, May 3.—The industrial extremists of New South Wales meditate precipitating a general strike during the visit of the Prince of Wales, believing their demands under such circumstances would be irresistible, according to a Sydney despatch to the London Times today. Coal miners again are demanding a heavy advance in pay, and their executive announced that unless redress is granted within a month drastic action will be taken. The land and sea transport unions have been asked to adopt similar tactics. The Catholic press is displaying hostility to the visit of the Prince of Wales, believing that it may prejudice the establishment of a Sinn Fein republic.

MURDERER OF DOCTOR IS JUDGED INSANE

New York, May 3.—Thomas W. Simpkin, the itinerant printer, who shot and killed Dr. James Wright Markoe, one of New York's distinguished surgeons as he was passing the collection plate in fashionable St. George's Church here a fortnight ago, today was committed to the state asylum for criminals by insane at Matteawan, N.Y.

SELFISH PROFITTEERS EXPLOIT GRAVE TROUBLES OF EUROPE

Declaration, Approved by Supreme Council, Calls Upon Various Governments to Prevent Workers' Burdens Being Unduly Increased—Must Restrict Public and Private Expenditure.

Ottawa, May 3.—(By The Canadian Press).—The disorganization of Europe, due to the war, is reflected in the rise of prices, which is at present the source of universal discontent among the peoples, belligerent and neutral alike, says a declaration on the economic conditions of the world, approved by the supreme council on March 8, and tabled in the house of commons this afternoon by Sir George Foster. "High prices are the inevitable result of war," the declaration states, "and in comparison with most wars, the present situation is far from abnormal." In the Napoleonic wars, prices in England rose 15 per cent and took eight years to become normal again. In the American civil war, American prices rose 100 per cent, and took 12 years or more to become normal.

"As a result of this war, the most gigantic of all the history of the world, general wholesale prices (as distinct from the cost of living), have advanced since 1913, approximately as follows: The United States, 120 per cent; Great Britain, 170 per cent; France, Italy and Belgium, 300 per cent."

"Government action may mitigate or disguise some of the effects of the rise in prices, but it cannot remove the root cause, which is the destruction of wealth."

Extravagance Thruout World. Peace has not yet been re-established, it is stated. Russia has in the field armies of 1,500,000 men or more and not less than one million men are still under arms in Poland, Rumania and the new states created out of Austria-Hungary. The first step needed is to completely demobilize all these countries, and then to encourage increased production. The output of factories, mines and manufacturing industries is said to be less than

POLES AND GERMANS IN PITCHED BATTLE

Two Killed and Score Wounded in Attack on Polish Demonstration.

Oppeln, Silesia, May 3.—Armed with knives, revolvers, clubs and stones German men and boys attacked Poles who were holding a Sunday demonstration on the occasion of the Polish national festival, and in the pitched battle that followed two persons were killed and a score wounded, including a Polish priest.

The Polish demonstrators had gathered from all parts of the surrounding country, following a German labor parade Saturday, and were forming a procession in the outskirts of the city when a large crowd of the Germans attacked them. The German security police, upon which the inter-allied commission depended to maintain order, engaged the combatants, and Col. Parsival, the British commissioner, hastened to the scene. Plunging into the melee, he helped separate the fighters.

Large crowds gathered to witness the Polish demonstration, and while the fighting continued great excitement prevailed. Thruout the city Germans singled out Poles, assaulted them and chased them thru the streets. Some were attacked after they had sought the protection of the security police. A number of the Poles took refuge at the commission's headquarters. At least a score of Poles suffered broken heads.

MAY PERPETUATE SUPREME COUNCIL

Movement on Foot to Make It International Governmental Organization.

Paris, May 3.—A London despatch to The Times today says that in supreme council circles there is an inclination to ensure continuation of the work of the supreme council by making it an international governmental organization. It is even probable, the despatch declares, that the admission of German delegates to the council would be considered, Russian delegates also being admitted sooner or later.

Thus, according to the despatch, an international governmental organization, composed of the prime ministers of each state, would exist outside the league of nations.

EVERY INCH A SOLDIER

WOULD CONFISCATE ALL NICKEL MINES OWNED BY TRUSTS

If They Have Evaded Taxes, Should Be Punished Relentlessly.

GERMANY GOT ORE

"The government should confiscate their mines if it is found they have not treated Ontario, Canada, and the British Empire fairly. Sanctity of contracts is all right, but there is no reason why, if the nickel companies of this province have been dishonest in withholding taxes properly due, that their property should not be taken over."

In a slashing attack in the legislature yesterday afternoon in the course of the budget debate, J. W. Curry (Liberal, Southeast Toronto) has some strong things to say about the two big nickel corporations. They were, he said, in the control of the posts in this country and they produced about eleven-twelfths of the entire world's production of nickel.

C. F. Swayze (Labor, Niagara Falls), spoke in a similar strain. "Some years ago The Toronto World had World Sir William Hearst (Conservative, Toronto) in this country," said Mr. Curry. The then premier said that matter came within the jurisdiction of the Dominion government. He had simply passed the buck. Had Hearst did what he was asked, namely, to compel the redemption of the matter here and the prohibition of its exportation, of thousands of Canadian jobs would have been saved. Because Germany would not have been able to secure nickel. It was plain the reason this was not done was what the big interests had the ear of the government and could defy public opinion. Had there been a free parliament in existence the terrible spectacle would never have been presented of having Canadian soldiers killed with bullets tipped with Canadian nickel.

"Sir William Hearst should, when his attention was drawn to this matter, have taken prompt and decisive action to the government that Germany should then and there have prohibited the export of nickel in any form."

Continuing, Mr. Curry said the country had been told time and again that nickel was going almost directly to Germany and yet nothing was done. The submarine "Deutschland" had taken to Germany from Baltimore 376 tons of refined nickel and on another occasion 360 tons were shipped, and still nothing was done.

Dr. Chas. O'Reilly, Ex-Superintendent Toronto General Hospital, Died Yesterday.

Toronto yesterday lost a well known and much loved resident in the person of Dr. Charles O'Reilly, 229 St. Clair avenue, who died at his residence at the advanced age of 74. He had been very bright and full of energy almost to the last. He leaves a son, Dr. Bretnay O'Reilly, and his widow will be private, and will be held on Wednesday afternoon at half-past two.

Dr. Charles O'Reilly was one of Toronto's best known and most popular physicians, and for many years was superintendent of Toronto General Hospital. Even as late as last summer he was immigration representative for the government in the Toronto district, and was a familiar figure at the quay. He held one of the most lucrative and important jobs in the city until five years ago, when he relinquished his activities to spend his last years in the quiet of his home.

FLAT REBELLION BY DUBLIN COUNCIL

London, May 3.—The Dublin Corporation this evening passed a resolution acknowledging "the Irish republican parliament's authority to undertake the carrying out of all its decrees affecting the municipal council."

It was decided to send copies of the resolution to the European governments and to President Wilson and the United States senate and house of representatives.

MEXICAN FACTIONS COMBINING AGAINST CARRANZA REGIME; JUAREZ GARRISON REVOLTS

Two Americans Killed by Bandits and Prompt Demand Made for Punishment by U. S. Embassy—Destroyers to Be Stationed at Ports—Juarez Port Closed to Federals.

Ottawa, May 3.—(Special)—Sir Robert Borden will arrive here about May 15. Previous to that the budget will be before parliament and the taxation proposals and criticism will be known. The prime minister has given no indication of his plans, but it is generally accepted here that he will retire immediately after propagation and a new leader be chosen, followed by a radical cabinet reconstruction.

There is no change in the leadership question. Mr. Tress, who has determinedly resisted all attempts to secure his consent to his candidature.

On the border, the reported closure of the port of Juarez was interpreted as indicating defection of the federal garrison under General Escobar to the rebel cause. Loss of this entry point, states said, would be a serious blow to the federals, because of its revenue-producing capacity. They believed complete rebel control of the state of Chihuahua would be the logical result.

The murder of Eben Francis Greenlaw and his young son by Mexicans near El Oro, only 124 miles from Mexico City, brought from the American embassy in Mexico City a prompt and emphatic demand that the Mexican government arrest and punish the murderers. The American government contends that the Carranza authorities were responsible for the protection of the Greenlaws because of the presence of Mexican troops in the immediate vicinity.

Destroyers will be stationed at Tampico, Tuxpan, Vera Cruz and Progreso, ready to take off any American who may be in danger either from the Mexican federal authorities or the rebels.

Co-ordination of Forces. Reports were received here today of conferences attended by representatives of Obregon, Villa, Manuel Palacios and Felix Diaz, which indicated definite co-ordination between the various factions was being arranged. Official information showed that the revolution had been planned for several months.

Unofficial advice from Mexico City indicates that the censorship is being exercised more liberally than that newspapers are not permitted to print any news of the rebel activity in the northern part of the country.

General Obregon is said to be himself to protect foreign lives and interests, if elected to the presidency, a consular report to the state department said. Obregon also included in his platform a declaration in favor of renewal of foreign investments in Mexico. He accused President Carranza of violating the constitution in assuming dictatorial powers, and of

NEGLIGENCE NOT TRAGEDY'S CAUSE

John Rogers Absolved From Blame for Death of John Ensom.

After deliberating for three-quarters of an hour, the jury in the inquest, held last night concerning the death of John Rogers, brought in a verdict absolving from all blame John Rogers who, while driving a motor car, collided with a motorcycle bearing President Carranza's injuries which resulted in his death. The accident took place on the 30th of March, and the victim died on the morning of the 6th of April.

Dr. George F. Graham presided at the inquest and in summing up advised the jury to consider the case from the view-point of the driver of the car and the motorcycle. It was for them to decide by an action or omission to act on the part of John Rogers, or on the part of the victim, John Ensom. Most of the evidence last night tended to show that Ensom had lost control of the motorcycle.

Altho there was some slight disagreement as to the speed at which the car was traveling at the time, the jury was, apparently, satisfied that the speed of the auto was moderate. At the coroner pointed out in his summing up, there were only two of the witnesses who actually saw the accident take place, and they were Alfred Pittz and W. H. Jackson, who were passengers in the car.

An event which added solemnity to the proceedings was the appearance in the witness box of Sister Celestia of St. Michael's Hospital, in the black robes of a Sister of Mercy. She gave her evidence faithfully, and was treated with due courtesy and sympathy by Crown Attorney Snider. On the other hand, she somewhat lengthily testified that she was brightened by a touch of humor when Moorman Devonshire occupied the box.

The trend of his evidence was to the effect that, altho he had been employed by the street railway for thirty-two years, he "didn't know much," and he made this clear by remarking several times the crown attorney, "You've got me there."

BORDEN WILL ARRIVE ABOUT MAY FIFTEENTH

Ottawa, May 3.—(Special)—Sir Robert Borden will arrive here about May 15. Previous to that the budget will be before parliament and the taxation proposals and criticism will be known. The prime minister has given no indication of his plans, but it is generally accepted here that he will retire immediately after propagation and a new leader be chosen, followed by a radical cabinet reconstruction.

DIARY BETRAYS ALLEGED THIEF

For Second Time, Little Book Leads to Miller's Apprehension.

Some people make a hobby of keeping a diary. H. J. Miller, aged 19, of 37 East Dundas street, was one of those, and because of this fact his arrest by the police was greatly facilitated. He was taken into custody at the Union Station last night by P. C. Moore (100) on a charge of theft.

According to the story told by the police, Miller, who was a bell hop at the Carls-Rite Hotel, was given a cheque for $100 to get cashed for one of the guests. After exhausting his patience waiting for Miller's return, the cashier searched his pockets and there found a diary, in which the young man was wont to keep tab of his daily procedure. Several of the escapades set down in the book, especially one dated yesterday, reading "ticket to Windsor, $7.50," aroused the cashier's suspicions, and he immediately notified the police.

When Miller put his appearance at the Union Station he was promptly arrested and the ticket to Windsor he is alleged to have had in his possession did not succeed in carrying him to the desired destination. The police declare that this was not the first time that Miller had made their acquaintance, and the most remarkable feature about the time previous was that it was a diary that enabled his arrest.

TORNADO WIPES OUT TOWN IN OKLAHOMA; FIFTY-ONE KILLED

Muskogee, Okla., May 3.—Fifty-one persons were killed and approximately one hundred injured by a tornado which swept away Pegg's Oklahoma, a small town in Cherokee county, Sunday night, according to reports received here from searching parties.

Many of the injured are seriously hurt, the reports said. No estimates of the property loss were available. Relief parties from Tahlequah, 15 miles from Pegg, and the nearest rail town, and from other points searched all day in the mud and tangled wreckage for victims of the storm. The relief parties included many nurses and physicians who had been sent in to help the victims.

The first trainload of injured, numbering between thirty and forty, arrived in Muskogee tonight. Other trains loaded with injured were to be sent to Tahlequah and Vinita.

"Wire communication with the storm-swept area had not been reestablished tonight, being relayed by messenger to nearby towns where it was sent out by telephone.

Members of rescue parties returning tonight told of difficulties encountered in locating and identifying the bodies of the victims. Heavy rain accompanied the tornado, and when the first party arrived the village was found to be a tangled mass of wreckage, with numerous pools of water and considerable mud.

In some cases several bodies were found among the ruins of a single building, indicating that whole families had been wiped out. The bodies were covered with mud, making identification difficult. In one instance a small frame building, uninhabited, was left standing in the heart of the town, while nearby brick structures which had housed many persons were razed.

The area swept by the tornado was said by members of the rescue party to be about three miles long and a mile wide. The tornado apparently had dipped just in time to strike the village.

SIXTEEN-DOLLAR COAL IS SEEN IN MONTREAL

Montreal, May 3.—Announcement was made today by local coal dealers that the price of stove coal will now be $16 a ton. The increase is a dollar a ton, and is said by dealers to be caused by the increase in wages granted to miners. It is stated that not a cent of this increase will go in profits to dealers, all the extra amount being necessary to meet higher freight and increase miners' wages.

THE SPRING OVERCOAT PROBLEM

You can solve your own overcoat problem at Dineen's, 140 Yonge street. The overcoat department is the pride of the store. Early last season the buyer made purchases of cloth from the English and Scotch mills which cannot be duplicated. These cloths are expensive in patterns and colors.

The coats are patterned after the London and New York models. They are the real swagger style demanded by the young men. Every coat will give a personality to the wearer away and above ordinary tailoring.

The Dineen overcoat department is the place to visit when you want an overcoat that is different and yet at a price you can afford.

OFFER TO HOUSE COUNTY REGISTRY

Rental of $5000 Asked for Part of Basement in New Building.

HOSPITAL ON GROSVENOR

The committee on property, at their regular meeting yesterday, received a report from the commissioner that he had quoted the York county authorities a rental of $5,000 per annum, including heat, light and water for the western basement of the city registry building for a county registry office and that this offer will be laid before the county council in June. The county council at its last session in January had authorized the purchase of ground adjoining their registry office, at the corner of East Richmond and Burt streets, for an addition to their registry building, but at the request of the York County Law Society, the county council decided to construct to conform with the city. The Law Society is anxious to have both registry offices under one roof.

A letter read from an architect would indicate that the present county registry building, which was erected 45 years ago, is far from being fire-proof and if retained will have to be largely reconstructed.

Hunt Club's Grand Stands. The committee on property, at the application of Peter Shaver for the right to build his dairy at 94 Annetta street out in line with the verandah of his house. His neighbor, Mrs. Norman May, opposed the application on the ground that it would shut out her view.

The application of the Toronto Hunt Club for the privilege of building their grand stand out to the street line on Avenue road, between Roselawn avenue and Orchardview boulevard, was granted on condition that it would be moved back on a year's notice being given. The condition is that the stand being placed 10 feet back from the street. The committee made the stipulation to protect the city in case of decision in wider Avenue road.

The committee vetoed a proposal that a quantity of potatoes at the jail farm be disposed of for seed purposes among the needy of Toronto. As Risk said it would not be fair to sell the potatoes to a few persons at a price lower than other persons were obliged to pay.

The commissioner was instructed to endeavor to make an adjustment with Major G. H. Basher, warden of the jail, on the question of reduction of salary in lieu of the use of the jail residence, with fuel and light and water. The warden's salary now totals $9,138 without a residence, and if he is allowed to occupy the residence the commissioner figures he would be getting what would be equivalent to $5,621.

The commissioner will report on the application of the Ontario Lime Company for the right to erect stables on the rear of their lot on Huron street west of Grosvenor street.

For the third time the committee approved the proposal to conduct a private hospital at 71 Grosvenor street, in spite of the fact that the realty agents of the Thelma Apartments.

The application was granted on condition that the ambulance would be used by the residents approaching and leaving.

Mr. J. Mills, a returned soldier, who is conducting a small motor car repair shop in the rear of his residence on Bedford Park avenue, without a license, appeared before the board to ask support for his application for a license. This business is being conducted in violation of the bylaw, but the committee will ask the city solicitor to devise some way to allow Mr. Mills to continue his business for a year without amending the bylaw.

The owner of the land at the corner of Keevath and Mount Pleasant road wanted to encroach two and a half feet on the ten-foot reservation on Mount Pleasant road, but was turned down by the committee, although two applications of a similar nature had been granted. The strip is being reserved for a possible widening of the street.

Approval was given the establishment of gasoline tanks at the following locations: 27 Gothic avenue, Drayton avenue, northeast corner of Shaw and College streets, northwest corner of Danforth and Eaton avenues, northeast corner of Kingston road and Queen street, corner of Parliament and Derby streets, 30 Daves road and 1-11 Kelvin avenue.

COPPEN'S COUNSEL STILL HAS HOPE

Will Make Further Appeal to Minister of Justice on Stated Case.

TOMORROW LAST DAY

Despatches from Ottawa foreshadowed that the minister of justice was not favorable to the granting of a new trial to the condemned man, George J. Coppen, now in Toronto jail, under sentence of death for the murder of his wife in their home on Merton street, North Toronto. The cabinet committee has adhered to this view, and unless the courts exercise their power to order a new trial, the execution will be carried out tomorrow, the date named when Coppen was convicted.

As there has already been an appeal to the appellate court in the Coppen case, The World interviewed Mr. Agar, one of the counsel for Coppen, to ascertain under what circumstances a new trial would be asked for. Mr. Agar's view is that the prisoner is not limited to only one application to the trial judge for a stated case, if other material evidence becomes available, and his assumption he left Toronto last night for Ottawa for the purpose of again seeing the minister of justice. Mr. Agar said he would be carrying with him a very strong affidavit by one of the crown witnesses, in which it is stated that the deponent is of opinion that there would be a miscarriage of justice if a new trial is not granted. Mr. Agar wired the minister that he was proceeding to Ottawa and is hopeful that some relief will now be obtained.

Dr. Silverthorne issued another statement to the press yesterday in regard to alleged advantage obtained by the crown over the defence in cases such as Coppen's. He says: "From the first the crown has had the advantage of medical witnesses who perform the autopsy, and also furnish advice at the trial, of medical counsel as to what medical evidence should be emphasized, and the inference to be drawn therefrom from the standpoint of the crown's case, and it was the lack of opportunity to examine certain of the witnesses on the defence that induced me to make my statement to the minister of justice in favor of clemency. The financial advantage of the defence is an unfair one, which may lead to a miscarriage of justice. I had no intention in my statement to reflect on the ability of counsel for the defence, and would regret that any such inference should be drawn."

The prisoner's demeanour remains unchanged, and he is, as he says, well, he is quiet, but formerly.

Parents to See Coppen. The parents of the condemned man called at the Ontario penitentiary yesterday and obtained permission to visit their son in the death cell yesterday and today. Mrs. Coppen said she was praying that the authorities would grant a new trial.

PRESENT GOVERNMENT BOLSHEVIK ERUPTION

H. H. Ball Champions Individualism and Sees Bright Skies for Conservatives.

What might be aptly termed Bolsheviki eruptions throughout the world are responsible for the new alignment of political forces in Canada, but the Liberal-Conservative administration will come into its own within the next three years. This is the view of H. H. Ball, sized up the Ontario political situation at last night's meeting of North Toronto Liberal-Conservative Association, held at Masonic Hall, Eglinton. In the course of his address Mr. Ball heartily endorsed the principle of public ownership, with special reference to both the Hydro-Electric system and the railways. There are many of these men in the city, and last night's meeting was well attended. Organization is to be completed on Thursday night.

SCOTTIE GETS CONSIDERATION

C. Harvie had just arrived from Glasgow, Scotland, where the street traffic is different from that on this continent. All vehicular traffic proceeds on the left-hand side of the road in the old country, and Harvie, while endeavoring to negotiate a motor car in Toronto, found himself following Glasgow street regulations, and the result that he was hailed to the police court, charged with passing a street car on the wrong side. Magistrate Ellis dismissed the complaint on hearing how Harvie had got mixed up in the regulations.

JUSTICE MIDDLETON OPENS ASSIZES

Scores Six Absentees From Grand Jury—Touches on Automobile Recklessness.

TOO MUCH INSPECTION

Mr. Justice Middleton, in opening the assizes yesterday, scored six jurors who failed to answer to the subpoena, and stated that they left themselves open to statutory penalties. Citizens with the necessary qualifications should perform these public duties when called upon to do so, he said. "Some of those who have stayed away have offered in explanation that they can make more dollars by staying away than in attending and discharging the proud duties of the jurymen. The standard of jurymen is degraded, when men say that their position is more important than to discharge this public duty. You gentlemen who have come here are sacrificing money by coming here, and I have to express my appreciation that you are present to take up your duties."

Automobile Manslaughter

Touching on the many cases which he classified as "automobile manslaughter," his lordship said these cases were too common. Generally speaking, the man who is taken up on such a charge does not start out with intent to kill. The accident occurs thru his recklessness or carelessness. Referring to the case of the late C. A. B. Brown, his lordship said that the man who killed Mr. Brown ran off with the lawless spirit in his mind. Those killing by means of automobiles were not necessarily guilty of crime. There is homicide by inadvertence, which is not a crime.

When it's rub and scrub all day long

Does It Catch You in the Back? It may be that you are mysteriously attacked by pain in back (lumbago), or limbs, "neuragic" pains—shooting anywhere, or swollen and painful feet. Pain and backache of any kind are often caused by kidney disorder, which means that the kidneys are not working properly. Poisonous matter and uric acid accumulate within the body in great abundance, overworking the sick kidneys. Perhaps you have become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish, irritable, have headaches, or spots appearing before the eyes, bags under the lids and lack ambition to do things. The latest and most effective means of overcoming such trouble is, take a single Anuric (anti-uric-acid) Tablet before each meal. Obtain Anuric at any drug store, or send ten cents to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package. Listen to this: Hamilton, Ont.—"I have suffered with rheumatism for the last five years and I have only taken three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Anuric (anti-uric-acid) Tablets and three bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and am nearly cured. I also had that dread disease, Spanish Influenza, leaving me in a terrible condition. Only those who have had it know what an awful condition it leaves one in. I am sure if it had not been for Dr. Pierce's medicines I would have died. "I want to recommend Dr. Pierce's Anuric to any sufferer with kidney trouble. Also try Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for constipation."—MRS. ESTELLA GRANBY, 54 1/2 James St. North.

TUESDAY MORNING, MAY 4.

Discover Canadians.

Near the report of the annual meeting of the Toronto Canadian Club is a very proper exposure of the dissemination in Toronto Sunday scoops of propaganda for the stars and stripes. Overflowing goodwill towards your neighbor, even if you can love him as yourself, doesn't mean that you should teach your children more about devotion to him than about devotion to their own home. We cannot escape the influence of the larger body, but we needn't go out of our way to magnify it at our own expense.

Last year the Canadian Club boasted that about half its season's speakers were Canadians. There was genuine pride in the statement. But is there as much occasion for pride in all Canadian Clubs as their declared objects might fittingly breed? Canadian Clubs came into being as promoters of Canadian patriotism. But how often do they discuss real Canadian questions? What currency do they initiate for Canadian ideas on Canadian subjects.

Canadian Clubs are fine institutions. A notable service is done the community when hundreds of business men listen after lunch to distinguished strangers. It helps to postpone the threatened day when public speech will be a singular art. But what is at the back of a long and persistent wariness towards Canadian affairs? The question is worth inquiry, even if a full answer is not available.

There have been occasions, of course, when Canadian questions have been discussed—even controversial questions. Several years ago Mr. McAlighan put one side of the naval question before the Toronto Canadian Club and a week later Mr. MacKenzie King presented the other. Mr. Bourassa, ten years ago, discoursed to the Toronto Club on Canadian nationalism. The world is full of labor unrest. Canada has much more of it than the very comfortable among us realize. Men like Tom Moore and John Bruce are placed on a royal commission to investigate labor conditions across the country. The Dominion Trades Congress meets in cities like Toronto, Hamilton and Montreal. How often have the presidents of that very important body ever been asked to speak to a Canadian club in any of the cities named? A British labor leader would be lionized. But a Canadian labor leader? Why mention him?

There is a reason. In Canada our intensely partisan political life has developed fear of home-grown, home-expressed ideas till it has become almost an obsession. Because some man does not agree with our notions, or with what we used to be told, it is improper to hear what he has to say. We have developed a remarkable facility in putting the lid on ideas—if they are our own. Unrest, instead of being encouraged to express itself where it can be discussed, and, perhaps, dispelled, is regarded as a danger to be driven in. Men of originality and ideas and capacity to express them vividly—if they are strangers they are welcomed, if they are Canadians they are not looked for. We dread to make the most of our own. This dread is almost unanimous among most of us who are so almighty comfortable that we can't understand why anybody else should not be contented, and still less can we tolerate his effort to tell us what is the matter with him.

It has never been suggested that the Canadian Clubs should turn themselves into hotbeds of controversy. But, if the managers of them would read over the addresses to which they have listened for many years, and noted each visitor's discourse, from the point of view of asking what could have been contributed to the question by somebody at home they will be surprised how much of home quality they have sacrificed to the love of distant glamor.

What a change it would be if a Canadian Club would courageously set aside one meeting a month for an address on some Canadian subject which would be sure to provoke discussion among the listeners. It is fine to feel complimentary towards a speaker who have never seen before. It is better to be stirred into some real and perhaps uncomfortable thinking by somebody whom you had regarded as a stirrer of your intellect. "Discover Canadians" might be a miracle-worker for some Canadian Clubs and similar organizations.

Starving in the Vineyard.

The bitter cry of the apostolic succession is becoming one of the most poignant manifestations of labor unrest in every British country—and no doubt in every other country where, while bread has become dear, tradition still says everlasting life is free. Even Anglican bishops find it a terrible struggle to emulate St. Paul on only twenty thousand dollars a year. The Archbishop of Canterbury, who draws a trifling over seventy-two thousand dollars per annum, has been so earnestly asking for funds for the poorer clergy that he has had no time to mention his own distresses that have come with the declining power of gold. Some vicars and curates suffer hunger because they get no more than they did when sugar was twopence a pound and bread twopence farthing a loaf.

There is a similar complaint from nearly all Canadian clergy. Those with wives to nourish and children to teach, especially in the country, scarcely know where to turn. They must sometimes be tempted to eat the must sometimes be tempted to eat the showbread. From the Methodist Church comes a most melancholy story of men who have resigned because they will no longer be resigned, submissive, meek, under skimpy salaries with pay so long deferred that it makes the stomach sick.

Of a batch of ten ministers who have been preaching from seven to twenty-nine years, on salaries that ranged from $56 to $795, not one has touched his Christy income in full. One master of arts, in his thirteenth year of ordination, has given up. His salary has averaged $58, but his parsonage is over $2,000 in arrears. Ministers of the glorious gospel who have toiled under these conditions have never needed to take a vow of poverty. They have had full measure, pressed down, and running over, of enforced frugality.

The living costs have doubled, the parsons' salaries have gone up on the average only from five to twenty per cent. In country businesses incomes have been higher than ever before—because of the prevalence of farm and other auto testifies. But bigger getting by the last does not seem to have been accompanied by bigger giving to the vineyard. The laborer in the Lord's vineyard is worthy of his hire. But what should his hire be? The pulp that were made years ago ought to be forgotten now. Even ministers must have bread and butter. They can't live on other people's interpretation of the sermon on the mount.

An Acquitted Alderman.

There is a spreading labor unrest which it would be foolish to ignore. It is an aftercrop of the Winnipeg strike, and it is growing on soil that was believed to have been sterilized. Eight labor leaders were tried in Winnipeg for seditious conspiracy. Six of them are serving jail terms for that crime. One is in prison as a common nuisance. The eighth was acquitted. He is an alderman of the city of Winnipeg, and was re-elected while he was under accusation. He is touring the country discussing the trials before large audiences such as that which heard him in the labor temple on Sunday.

One or two of the things Mr. Heaps is saying, and which will be carried wherever trade unionists take stock of the political outcrop, are worth considering by those who are not concerned to back up the demands of the militant labor, but do appreciate that great political effects are sometimes produced by things to which prominence is not given in the press. Alderman Heaps makes much of the fact that there is absolutely no difference between his actions before and during the strike and the actions of his friends now in jail. "If I am innocent, they are innocent," he says. "If they are guilty I am guilty. We extenuated nothing, we defended nothing, we did nothing against justice or the fundamentals of law and order."

It is easy to see the effect of this sort of talk on labor audiences, and to understand the further effect of an arraignment of the crown's conduct of the prosecutions. It is asserted that a cabinet minister admitted to the Liberal leader at Ottawa that it could not stop the strike except by changing the immigration law so that the leaders could be deported. This is held to show that there was nothing illegal in the strike.

Then it is said, with some detail, that the crown has developed a spy system in Canada that Germany could not excel. It is reported by Alderman Heaps, with every appearance of certitude, that a mounted policeman named Wilson, and two others were concerned in getting certain Russians deported, on evidence these three gave of their activities. Wilson was hanged two weeks ago in Regina for the murder of his wife, who already had a license for a second marriage—and his two confederates are being tried for perjury.

"These are the sort of men who are being employed by the government against reputable citizens," is the way Mr. Heaps puts it. Mr. Heaps avers that the crown for the Winnipeg trials not only gathered the unprecedented panel of 280 jurymen but sent round police officers before the panel was finally summoned to ascertain that the prospective jurymen were sufficiently sympathetic to the prosecution.

The only point it is pertinent to make is that with statements like these going all thru the country, and being accepted by audiences which, as they have shown in Timiskaming, can elect members of parliament, there must be no prolonged neglect of what is being said to labor and the administration of justice in Canada. It is only fair to men like Mr. Heaps to say that they repeatedly

NO NEW CARDINALS AT COMING CONSISTORY

Rome, May 3.—Confirmation of reports that no cardinals will be created at the coming consistory has been received from an official source at the Vatican. The consistory will concern itself entirely with the work of the canonization of Joan of Arc and Marie Alacoque, a French mystic and nun, who died in 1690. Another consistory may possibly be held in June, but it is possible it will be postponed until the end of the year, when the question of the creation of new American cardinals will be considered.

CANADIAN WOMAN AMONG MURDERED

Los Angeles, May 3.—In a second alleged confession, which officers were checking today, Walter Andrew Watson, alias James Earl Ray, admitted killing a Canadian woman he had married, but whose name he could not remember, according to Thomas Lee, Tacoma, Wash., district attorney, who said the confession was made to him yesterday. This made five women the victim of Watson's alleged slaying.

The district attorney said Watson told him he had married the woman in Tacoma, Wash., and that he choked her and pushed her overboard while they were boating on Lake Washington near Seattle. He was quoted, saying he then rowed ashore, leaving the woman's body in the water. "Naturally, I told no one about it," the district attorney quoted him. Watson was arrested on February 19, 1919, and that he was said to be missing. He said he had advised Washington authorities of Watson's statement.

GEORGIANS IN ARMS AGAINST BOLSHIEV

Constantinople, May 3.—The seizure of Baku, on the western coast of the Caspian sea, by the Russian Bolsheviks on April 28, has aroused the Georgians, who have called four additional classes to arms and announced that they will not permit the Reds to enter Georgia thru Azerbaijan.

CANADIAN LABOR: "Don't bother me; I'm busy."

The capture of Baku gives the Bolsheviks virtual control of the Azerbaijan. Its seizure makes the situation more precarious as the Bolsheviks doubtless will help the Moslem Azerbaijanians. In this way Mustafa Kemal Pasha, Turkish national hero, would be able to connect with the Azerbaijanians, thus forming a connection with the Moslems in Turkestan by way of the Caspian sea and Persia.

MAN AND BOY KILLED WHEN WALLS COLLAPSE

Burlington, Vt., May 3.—The floors and walls of a building occupied by the C. C. Hong Toy factory collapsed today, one of the walls killing a man and a boy.

DROWNED UNDER CAR.

Fenelon Falls, May 3.—Arthur Suddaby, district attorney, accompanied by his niece and a boy of fourteen years named Morgan, was out motoring near that place yesterday when the car's engine stalled. Suddaby and his niece escaped without injury, but the young Morgan was pinned beneath the car in about a foot of water and suffocated before the car could be removed.

LION FILED NOT TASTY.

Paris, May 3.—A mutton ball favorite at Boast Bon for her luncheon here recently at a social gathering at Marquerry. The dish was introduced between frogs and snails, but, according to an epicure who attended, lion filet will never become popular. The animal, a young Honoree, known as Maseot in a local menagerie, was accidentally killed by her trainer. The cause was said to be "tasteless and stringy."

Both are being sent by the American Congregational Church.

FOUND NOT GUILTY OF MURDERING MOTHER

Buffalo, N.Y., May 3.—The acquittal of John Edward Teiper, on a charge of having murdered his mother, Mrs. Agnes M. Teiper, was followed by a controversy between District Attorney Guy V. Moore and Roscoe S. Mitchell of Teiper's counsel. District Attorney Moore was disappointed with the verdict of not guilty, and issued a statement in which he said that "on the evidence in this case, courts and juries will allow the wealthy and powerful to go free." He said that all the circumstances of the case, if known, would prove sensational.

ANARCHIST PRISONER SUICIDES IN NEW YORK

New York, May 3.—The fact that the government had made several arrests in connection with the national-wide bomb plots of last June became known here early today, when Andrea Salsedo, who confessed to having printed the anarchistic circulars, found near the scene of the outrages, committed suicide by leaping to Park Row from the fourteenth story of an office building in connection with the department of justice in this city.

THE GIRL WHO SMILED THRU

By MARION RUBINCAM

THE NOTE.

Chapter 74.
Alice tore open her letter, her hands ice cold and shaking. The other girl tactfully withdrew to the other side of the room and pretended to be absorbed in her book. But she glanced at Alice now and then, her queer green-gay eyes full of sympathy.

"The note was short enough," it said merely: "Didn't you think I would know you in my class today? I can understand why you didn't want to stop then and speak to me—there's a tiny tea room called Ardoli's near here. Will you meet me there at three this afternoon?"

The letter was signed simply "David." Brief enough and not committal, casual in tone, but Alice read it over and over and stood staring at it a long time. Christine stirred restlessly. Her curiosity nearly got the better of her good judgment—she did want to know the sequel to the romance.

"You guessed right. It is from David—er, Mr. Thorne, and he wants me to meet him at Ardoli's, at three."
"Um! Well, he knows that Ardoli's has a bad reputation with the college now for profligating, so few students go there. Besides, there is an hour ahead of the tea rush. You'll be safe from scrutiny and gossip."

"Scrutiny? Gossip?" Alice echoed the words. They hurt her ears. "Words in connection with herself, and with David."
"But I can't go—I won't go," she said, almost desperately. "Christine pulled her knees up to her chin as she sat in the middle of the bed, and regarded Alice thoughtfully."

"But of course you will go," she said finally in a matter-of-fact tone. "If you don't go now, you will go later. Better go now—the first meeting is the only bad one. It will be embarrassing, but only for a few minutes."
"Why do you say if I don't go now I'll go later?" Alice asked. "I mustn't see him—that's all there is to it."

"Why not? Are you still in love with him?" Christine asked bluntly. "You're not?"
"No. I'm engaged to marry Lawrence."
Christine ran one slim little hand

thru her mop of red hair and began a little speech that she felt Alice needed.
"My dear," she said. "Do you know you need a grandmother to look after you? Well, I'm your grandmother, for today at least. You are six years older than I, you are really so much younger, I feel I have to look after you."

In spite of herself, Alice smiled a little.
"I always felt I ought to look after you—you are so small and so young," she said.
"That proves we both love each other," Christine said simply. "But in worldly things I'm a generation older than you. I believe you when you say you aren't in love with David because he allowed this other girl to take him away from you. You're engaged to a perfectly adorable man, a regular Fairy Prince. I know he's all that's nice because he finds ways to do so many lovely things for you."

"Then along comes the first man, and now you are beginning to doubt your love for the Fairy Prince. I dear, the only way to prove it one way or the other, is to see this man." "What will that prove?" Alice asked.
"You'll see him after an absence of—how many years did you say? Anyhow, time enough to have gotten over your illusions if they were illusions. Just think, you've had so many new experiences to give you a whole new outlook on life! You'll probably find your David quite an ordinary human being after all, and the Fairy Prince will have all the field to himself again."

"And if I don't?"
"It's better to find it out now, isn't it, if that's the case?" Christine asked. "Anyway, it's cowardly to run."
"Yes," Alice said. "It's cowardly to run."
She stood still, staring thru the window. "Fretfully she turned—'What dress shall I wear?' Christine gave a sudden laugh, hopping lightly off the bed.

"Thus does woman capitulate!" she cried. "Why, you shall wear that stunning black satin, and the gray sequin coat and cap that makes you look like a—Christine said bluntly, 'very fashionable, very sophisticated, and very self-possessed for this meeting.'"
Tomorrow—David.

LONG-TERM SENTENCE FOR JAMES LARKIN

New York, May 3.—Extraordinary precautions were taken today, when James J. Larkin, Irish agitator, convicted last week of criminal anarchy, was sentenced to five to ten years in State Prison with hard labor. "I find nothing in the record of this case, or in any facts that have been brought to my attention, to indicate that the full penalty of the law should not be imposed," said Supreme Court Justice Weeks, who denied motions for a new trial and arrest of judgment.

Larkin, who clashed several times with the court while conducting his own defence, took his sentence quietly. Bowing to Justice Weeks, he said: "Thank you, sir."
Fifteen detectives, commanded by Sergeant James J. Gegan of the bomb squad, and several deputies, headed by Sheriff David H. Knott, guarded the courtroom, which was filled with Larkin sympathizers.

Names and addresses of spectators were taken at the door. Men were searched. Several were excluded for attempting a boisterous demonstration.

SIMPSON ADMITS STATEMENTS, BUT CLAIMS PRIVILEGE

Ten-Thousand-Dollar Action by Arthur O'Leary Against Editor Opens. NO DELAY ALLOWED

Evidence in the action for $10,000 damages for alleged slander, raised by Arthur E. O'Leary against James Simpson, editor of The Industrial Banner, was started before Mr. Justice Middleton and a jury yesterday afternoon.

According to plaintiff's statement of claim, he alleges that on August 7, 1919, at a meeting of the Toronto District Labor Council, which was largely attended by delegates thereof and by the public and by reporters representing various newspapers in the city of Toronto, which meeting was held in the Labor Temple, the defendant falsely and maliciously wrote, printed, published and spoke of and concerning the plaintiff in the way of his position or office, the words following: "To the officers and delegates of the Toronto District Labor Council. Information of a startling character revealing serious acts of disloyalty to this council and its affiliated organizations on the part of two former officers of this council has been imparted to a number of men in the labor movement of Toronto. This information discloses that the time when A. E. O'Leary and W. J. Hevey were occupying the positions of president and secretary of this council, respectively, they made application to the employers' association for a secret gift or bonus of $5000, with which to treacherously serve the interests of the employers, while appearing to represent the interests of labor, and with which to attempt the ruin of the official labor paper of this city. Such a plot was hatched in St. George's Hall when Gen. Gunn was present. He introduced the general on the instructions of the council. I have no connection with the meeting, but I was in the allied trades." General Gunn had gone to witness in connection with the butchers' trouble.

"I told him if anyone came to me I always called a conference. You are taking it wrong if you say I was intimate with General Gunn. The first time he had met the general was in connection with the Salvation Army campaign two years ago. During all that time he never discussed a syllable with Gunn as to labor movement. Witness went to Ottawa with Gunn at the request of Mayor Church, and said he did not discuss with him the eight-hour day question. I deny all knowledge of an alleged meeting, which Gunn was supposed to have made a statement."

At the meeting on August 7, witness was asked if he attached any importance to the rounds of applause which greeted Simpson, and replied that he supposed it was because of his being champion. It seemed to witness that someone knew that something was coming. The applause was not general. He could not say that the applause was because of Simpson's popularity.

"Do you know whether the information contained in Simpson's charge was known in the labor world prior to its being made?" "No."

He received $15 per week from the Bartenders' Union at the time of the making of the present charge has made no difference between him and that organization. He could not say that the reading of the statement had anything to do with his defeat, but the men gave him a wide berth after the reading of the article.

Debates were conducted in a friendly manner in the Labor Temple. He had known Simpson for 14 years. Hevey and witness were necessarily thrown together because of their connection with the new labor paper.

Another labor paper was started prior to witness' defeat as president of the Trades Council. He did not know who was the most prominent man in starting the new paper. Witness had only two casual references to the new paper with Hevey. He remembered defendant had stated at the Labor Temple that he welcomed the advent of a new labor paper.

"Do you not think it strange that you, as president of the council, should only have two meetings with regard to the new paper?" "I looked after my own business."

Hevey offered him a job on the paper. He was to canvass for advertisements, but declined the job. Witness never brought up the differences between him and defendant before the council. He took his lawyer's advice and brought the present action. Immediately after the publication of the article, witness moved for an injunction; P. E. F. Smiley for defendant. Order made ex-parte in favor of plaintiff. First action to recover $20,000.44 and interest, and for delivery over to plaintiff of certain contracts of players leased by the plaintiffs to the defendants; second action to recover damages for plaintiff's loss of services of the seven individual defendants; third action to recover costs of delivery over of contracts and for an injunction. In the first action, judgment was given in favor of the plaintiffs, as asked; and in the second action judgment for the plaintiffs with a reference to determine the damages.

Plaintiff Cross-Examined. Witness admitted that he had gone to Ottawa in the company of Gen. Gunn; he had a chat with him in the National Club; he was present at one meeting in St. George's Hall when Gen. Gunn was present. He introduced the general on the instructions of the council. "I have no connection with the meeting, but I was in the allied trades." General Gunn had gone to witness in connection with the butchers' trouble.

BOTH WEAR SUNNY SMILE

Herbert Davis was the only witness called by the defence before the court in the evening. He said he was not a member of a labor union nor of an employers' association. By inviting the attendees to a meeting of the employers' association in the middle of July, 1919, Bowden was president at that time and Merrick was secretary. Bowden and Merrick were present. The discussion at that meeting was in regard to the metal workers' strike and how best to meet it. Someone said that he had received a communication from General Gunn. He did not produce it, but said that Gunn had a proposition to put before the meeting with reference to O'Leary's money, by which the Employees' Association should grant $5,000 to start a new labor paper. The subscription was to be placed in the Home Bank on Church street. The meeting did not want to hear Gunn, but he came in while those present were discussing the question. He was given a check on them. The meeting did not want to hear Gunn, but he came in while those present were discussing the question. He was given a check on them. Riley Coming Fast With the Hickory

The hitting of the Leaf regulars continues good. Whiteman and Sanberg are the only ones below the 300 mark with O'Rourke the real leader with an even 400 average. Bader had two trips to the plate on Saturday and cracked out a double, giving the lead to the hickory. Riley did the biggest climb over the week-end. After Friday's struggle at Jersey City he hit his eighth home run that time he has clouted safely nine times, and now is tied with Anderson with the good number of 27. Quinn also a fiend on the extra base stuff. In the ten games played he has collected a home, a triple and two doubles. Riley is also tied for the base-stealing honors with Whiteman by pilfering four sacks. Spence is the leading sacrifice hitter with four, closely followed by Pitcher Pat Shea, who did the unselfish act three times in an average of one for each game he has taken part in.

The batting averages of the Leafs, including yesterday's game, are:

Shea Likely to Pitch Opener

Tomorrow will witness the opening of the local baseball season and the Island Stadium has been subjected to a complete overhauling in honor of the occasion. The Reading Club, which has been more than holding its own since its disastrous start, will be the Leafs' opponent in the initial series. It is likely that Shea, who has won two games on the trip, will be Manager Duffy's pitching choice. Justin will probably work for the visitors. There will be a special ferry service. ONE-RUN MARGIN IN FORTY-FIVE ROUNDS

Brooklyn and Boston in Another Long Draw-Out Game.

At Boston (National).—Boston and Brooklyn went into the nineteenth inning yesterday before Brock's single scored Sullivan with the run which gave Boston a 2-to-1 victory. Fillingim and Smith pitched all the way, and honors were practically even until Smith weakened in the nineteenth. Yesterday's game, following the 26-inning tie between Brooklyn and Boston on Saturday, and Brooklyn's 13-innings game with Philadelphia Sunday, gave Brooklyn the new major league record of 88 innings play in three successive games. The previous record was 85 innings, played by Pittsburg and Brooklyn in 1917. The game yesterday was a duplicate of Saturday's contest up to the finish of the Brooklyn again scoring one run in the fifth and Boston tying the score in the sixth. Up to this time Brooklyn hit Fillingim freely, while Smith was effective. As the game progressed, Fillingim proved invincible and Smith gradually lost effectiveness. Both teams filled brilliantly, except in the fifth, when O'Neill's wild throw to third proved costly to the Braves. With one down, Smith and Olson singled, Neis hit in front of the plate and Smith was third on O'Neill's throw. Smith scored on Johnston's single. Passes to Powell and Johnston, but Pick scored on Holke's sacrifice fly. In the nineteenth, with one out, Sullivan singled, went to third on Holke's single, and scored when Boeckel hit the first ball pitched to right. Johnston's fielding at third was especially noteworthy. Score: R.H.E. Brooklyn.....001 000 000 000—1 12 1 Boston.....001 000 000 000—1 23 2

Batteries—Smith and Miller; Fillingim and O'Neill.

At Philadelphia.—Philadelphia pounded Neft for 21 hits yesterday, winning easily from New York the third straight game of the series. The score was 9 to 2. Meusel was the leading batter of a heavy-hitting day. Smith hit the only local unable to hit safely. Score: R.H.E. New York.....3 0 0 0 0 0 3—9 1 Philadelphia.....3 10 0 0 4 1—21 1

Batteries—Neft and E. Smith; Meadows and Truesdell.

MAKERS OF GOOD CLOTHES

Economy in Clothes

The desire for economy in clothes seems to be widespread. It is something we have been trying to encourage. We consistently urge economy. We believe that people who do not need clothes should not buy them. There have not been enough "good" clothes to go around, and anyone who can get along with the clothes he has, is rendering a public service.

We have also said that if you do buy clothes, for reasons of self-respect or other feelings,—you should buy the kind of clothes that will be the least wasteful. Economy in clothes is not simply in paying a low price for them; it is not in getting a certain amount of cloth and tailoring;—for clothes are something more than a mere covering for the body.

You'll find true economy in Ed. Mack clothes; we guarantee that they'll give you all the value, wear and style you expect to get in good clothes.

Another Impressive Trial by Bugle March

Good Mile by King's Plater, With the Race Less Than Three Weeks Away.

Many trainers at the Woodbine still refrain from indulging their pupils in work of any intensity, and the moves recorded yesterday were for less than a mile, with the exception of the impressive mile run by the plater Bugle March, in company with Ammunition. Breaking from the three-quarter pole, the pair ran as follows: Quarter in .49 4-5, five-eighths in 1:01 5-8, three-quarters in 1:17 4-5, ending up towards the end of the mile in 1:47 2-5.

Bugle March is conceded to have a chance of annexing the coveted title on May 23, so think friends of Trainer Joe Nixon and Owner Thomas Ridgell, while others are less optimistic, regard him as a sure contender. Trainer Nixon is working three other platers, in Pink Aardvark, a cheery gelding by Rosturium-Diffident, owned by J. Greenwood; Marie Ferguson, 4, bay filly, by Ben Hodder-Burans in 1:05 2-5; Jim Sealman, and Dr. Warren, 5, bay gelding, by Harvey-Irene A., owned by Willie Wilson.

Trainer John Graver has two in training—the handsome chestnut colt, Uncle John, by Argyle-Spring Maid, and chestnut filly by Ammer, that greatly resembles him. Uncle John is in superb condition, carrying a very considerable flesh. By winning a sparkling race that produced juicy odds at Bowie last winter, this good-looking fellow fortified his eligibility to the King's Plate. He ran fourth last year.

SAVE THE GIRLS THRU EDUCATION

Says Director-General of Girl Scouts to Big Sisters.

What was done during the war, and the things being done in peace for women and girls was told by Mrs. Jane Dieter Rippon of New York, director-general of the Girl Scouts of the United States at a luncheon yesterday of the Big Sister Association of Toronto. The president, Mrs. Sidney Small, was hostess. In introducing Mrs. Rippon, the president spoke of the development of the Big Sisters in Toronto, in which Protestant, Catholic and Jewish organizations are now operating, and representatives of which were present. Mrs. Small emphasized the need for a detention house in Toronto. The president described the presence of Mrs. Rippon, and the occasion as a luncheon to precede the big international convention of Big Brothers and Sisters to be held in Toronto on June 6, 7, and 8.

Experience with the military de- partment for caring for women and girls who came within the five-mile area which surrounds the camps in the United States, and connections with various civil courts, gave Mrs. Rippon a rich field from which to speak. In addition, she presented a series of charts, showing conditions of women who might come under the laws of de- linquency or other crime in the differ- ent states from Massachusetts to South Carolina.

When Mrs. Rippon and her women associates took over their war work, they had much difficulty in making the men of the country see the value of their operations. It was through the economic value of a man, which was $10,000, that awakened the men of the situation. The outstanding point driven home by the speaker was that no woman ever chooses the less strata of life from choice. It is a gradual step which may be retrieved in its early stages, but not even the patriotic appeal to go into munitions with but a few dollars, which was sufficient to turn back the tide, with women who were to a life of vice, with from $60 to $100 a week as the wage. For such there is no reform except religion and the psychological moment, said the speaker.

Save the Children.

A solution of the social problem offered was the social problem through organization, which must be voluntary. Thousands of volunteer women are wanted. Probation officers cannot begin to do the work in the United States there are 400,000 penal women who are kept at a cost to the state of anything from $2 or more a week in the United States. To make such people productive, it should be the effort of the community. There should be real social legislation and compulsory industrial training. The speaker said that the women sent out on the world without the means of supporting himself.

Women take a big place in the movement. "Don't let the men go back to rocking chairs," said the speaker. "They must be the thinkers and the planners in the work of saving their sisters."

Educate the Public.

To obtain the much-needed detention house for Toronto, the women were advised to educate the public. "Speak to the men in the cars, and ask them what they think about it. Talk to the Rotary Club, the Kiwanis and other clubs," was advice given. "The way to get a thing is to get public opinion on your side."

Lady Falconer, in moving a vote of thanks, said the thing for every woman to say to herself is "This in-fluent girl might be myself but for the grace of God." "We should be willing to pay taxes if by so doing we can make up some of the things done for life for others," Miss Church seconded the resolution, and said the audience had been thrilled by what they had heard. Mrs. Hamilton, in supporting previous speakers, pointed out that it was the souls of the children that had to be thought of, and that the material things upon which so many concentrate.

GRANDMOTHERS STRONGLY FAVORS TRADE MERGERS

Combination as Essential in Industry as in All Other Efforts.

HONESTY BEST POLICY

Col. Grant Morden, the British member of parliament and a Canadian, is evidently a very firm believer in trade unionism, as yesterday in addressing the Toronto board of trade on the subject of his steel merger he declared that no consolidation of industries had worked out so satisfactorily or fairly and on so conservative lines as the combination to be effected by the British Empire Steel Corporation.

Col. Morden said that the proper combination today in trade was essential, just the same as combination in all united efforts.

Colonel Morden, at the commencement of his address, said it was the first time he had ever had the opportunity to address the citizens of his home town. "I have always been proud to proclaim myself a Torontonian," he said, "and when I look around this table today I see many old friends. Tommy Church—I beg his pardon—his worship the mayor—and I were boy friends together at the old Parkdale Collegiate Institute."

The honest trading is the best policy was emphasized by the speaker, who in referring to the marvelous manner in which England had recovered from the war, said:

"Britain Regaining Trade.

"Some people wonder how Britain is regaining its overseas trade. I assure you that one of the most important factors is that men know when they make a contract with a British firm it will be respected and lived up to. The last letter not only of the firm but the moral point of the law. I say to you members of the Toronto Board of Trade, that if you follow those traditions of the merchants of England you need never look back, and that contract made within the British Empire is as good as gold in the Bank of England."

In referring to the rates of exchange between England and Canada, and the States, the colonel said the U. S. thought they would reap the benefit. The result only showed how little they knew about the exchange question.

In stating that in Canada were the greatest resources within the British Empire and that capital and labor were making a contract with each other, the colonel asked the question: "Now where are we going to look for two directions, one to our neighbors in the south, the other to our neighbors in the east. We have got to combine with somebody. I need not ask you, little things will combine, which which you prefer to combine. Most of you are descendants, like myself, of the United Empire Loyalists, who preferred to sacrifice their lands and their possessions than to give up an alien flag. Therefore, I know your answer will be the same as mine—we will combine with the empire."

England Alters Views.

"Gentlemen, combination is the order of the day. The great manufacturers of England, who for years would not consolidate with others in similar lines of business, have altered their views and within the last 18 months there have taken place more industrial consolidations in the United Kingdom than have probably taken place within the last half century! They realize that it was absolutely necessary. The government of England have given them their blessing, their co-operation and their help in consolidating the banking interests in England. Why? To place them in the position of going out in the world's markets and recapturing the trade that Great Britain had always controlled in the past."

"It was a mistaken idea," Col. Morden said, "that there would be a trust under the proposed steel combination, and that prices would be increased. The history of any great consolidation had shown that it tended to decrease costs. The economy of ten or twelve great concerns working together was obvious, the elimination of overhead charges, overlapping of freight charges, the saving of advertising—and all these features in the aggregate meant a very large sum."

Lunatics Never Combine.

"Proper combination today in trade is essential," said Col. Morden, "the same as combination in all united members." Illustrating his point, he gave the reply which he received from an asylum guard, when he expressed wonder that one man could take care of so many inmates, which was "lunatics never combine."

"Gentlemen," he added, "the people of Canada are not lunatics." He urged the necessity of education and then proceeded to dilate on the subject of the steel industry.

"I have noticed in the press this morning—most of you probably have—the fact that there has been consolidation, a great Empire Steel Corporation. I have always felt that this empire of ours is linked together, as I think Kipling said, with 'the silken thread of union, living and working together, but without any real binding ties.'"

"How are they going to get together? It was time that they got married. Those people who thought that Canada was big enough to do the whole nation's business, and who in their hearts had never known down in the empire was really greater than anything which could be accomplished by independence."

Industrial Partnership.

"Gentlemen, my opinion of the way in which we can accomplish the building partnership in the Empire is by building up an industrial partnership. This has been my dream for many years. I looked over conditions in England. I studied the past history of nations, and I found out that there were several essential and fundamental features in them to be up to the greatness, both economically and politically, of the British Empire. Outstanding amongst these things, stood the fact that they had been able to send out from England the basic material of the world—coal and iron and steel. The fact that they were able to send out full cargoes made it possible for them to build ships, and that by building 'ocean ships' they became the owners of a great mercantile marine, a mercantile marine which has achieved distinction as being known as having the supremacy of the seas."

"Comparing the position of the United States Steel Corporation with this new corporation," he said, "we find that by simply assuming a nominal debt of $2 billion dollars. We issue 25 million dollars of 8 per cent preference participating shares at an equivalent amount of cash, and we pay for the combined properties, $8 million in 7 per cent cumulative preference shares and 77 million dollars of common stock. That makes a total of 290 million dollars."

"Highly Watered Stock.

"The corporation possessed an appreciated value of 400 million dollars. The water introduced in the United States Steel Corporation was an enormous amount, yet they were able to turn this half a billion into a billion dollars of actual assets. In this consolidation there was, however, no goodwill, which means water."

"There is no reason in the world," he said, "why we should not have an extra 200 million dollars of common stock, we would be justified in having

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Palmer are expected at Runtley Lodge from California on Saturday.

Madame Grace Smith gave a cause of music on French music of the 17th and 18th centuries at the Red Gables, thru the courtesy of Mr. H. D. Warren, in the beautiful picture gallery. The platform at the north end, arranged with palms, flowers and shaded lamps, made a beautiful setting for the quartet little party in 18th century costume, with powdered wig and patches. The white brocade gown with elbow sleeves edged with lace, and the powdered hair, had been in Madame Grace Smith's family for generations, and suited the wearer for a dainty, and pretty figure. The ushers were very smart in powder and patches, one girl not being recognized by her own mother, the transformation being so wonderful. They were: Miss Lorna St. John, Mrs. Douglas Woods, Mrs. W. B. Woods, Mrs. Richardson. About two hundred were present. Mrs. Warren receiving in the hall. REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR GIRL

BY HELEN ROWLAND.
(Copyright, 1920, by the Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

The honeymoon is not actually over until that illuminating moment when a bride decides to exchange her chiffon negligee and pink satin mules for half a dozen bungalow aprons and a pair of flat-heeled house slippers.

A man may look upon the marriage certificate as "just a scrap of paper," but a decree of divorce is an expensive luxury, which he keeps locked away in the safety vault with his Liberty bonds.

You can't make a man believe it, but the most tragic moment of marriage is that in which the wife asks him how she looks in her new spring hat—and he stops to consider!

A husband is what's left of a bachelor after the nerve has been extracted.

And alimony is what's left of a husband after the truth has been extracted.

Nothing makes a woman so indignant as to have her man after her when she has given her word to her real opinion of her husband.

This is the magic time of year when a young man may sing the "Spring Song," his heart throbs to Lohengrin, and his pulse beats a jazz-tune.

"Duds," according to a woman, are spring clothes that fail to create a sensation, engagements that fizzle out, weddings that fail to go off, and marriages that end in Reno.

The gods must love those little spring romances, which blossom in a man's heart. They die so young!

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

LYDIA

Lydia is of Latin origin. She is one of the feminine names derived from places. As Delia comes from the island of Delos, so Lydia became a proper name in honor of the city of Lydia, which played such an important part in early history.

There were several reverent Biblical references to the first Lydia, who was the seller of purple, who became converted by St. Paul at Thyatira. Her story is contained in one of the striking passages of the Acts.

Englishwomen, who seem especially given to Scriptural names, adopted Lydia quite early in history. The name flourishes in the pages of English literature, and also has extreme vogue in this country. Curiously enough, it seems to have escaped translation into any other than the English language.

Lydia, a name not in common usage, but none the less musical, may possibly be a contraction of Lydia. In such is the case, the name has no doubt the outgrowth of personal feminine preference and without etymological significance.

The yellow jaquith is Lydia's talismanic stone. It will guard her from danger and disease, particularly when she is traveling. The wearer of a million dollars of jewelry has no fear of lightning, since the stone is said to be proof against that menacing element. According to an old legend, a jaquith will break a ward of the approach of evil. Thursday is Lydia's lucky day, and 5 her lucky number. Yellow is her color.

CANADIAN CLUB HEARS TOWNSHEND

Generals Haig and Gough and other celebrated soldiers soon followed in line, until the colonel obtained quite a collection of celebrities. But he explained in presenting a cue to Gen. Townshend that comes made from the men who had done something for the empire, and he knew no man who deserved a name better than the guest of the evening.

Dr. Cody, in proposing a vote of thanks to Gen. Townshend for his speech, said that the Empire Club had been fortunate in having the great eyes by those who had played the chief part in them—Cardinal Mercier had given them the spiritual side, Admiral Jellicoe the naval part and now Gen. Townshend the army view of the eastern operations. The doctor described the general as a man thru and man who cut red tape as to men and one who with his pen and Dr. Cody amused his hearers by reading a part of a song composed by Gen. Townshend when he was with the camel corps in Egypt in 1884. It ran as follows:

The General's Song
"O, I've rode on a horse,
I've rode on a 'bus,
I rode in a railway train,
I rowed in a boat, and I've rowed
in a tub,
And I hope to do it again."

The doctor added that the general might do the last when he got home, there was no opportunity here. The defence of Kut, the doctor thought, was one of the most outstanding events in British history, and he felt sure the general's presence in Canada would seal the ideals of empire and bind men closely—if that were possible—the units of the glorious British empire.

General Sir Charles Townshend delighted his hearers for over an hour in describing the Mesopotamia campaign, but added little that was new from either his Sunday evening address at the Allen Theatre or his dress at the Canadian Club yesterday afternoon, but he put such pep into all his stories that his hearers were prepared to listen for hours to the details of the campaign. He felt sure that the people of Toronto had given him a very British and, one felt, he said, that directly one crossed the border from the States that they were on British soil. The general revealed the fact that he did not believe in making a whole staff responsible for the defeat of a battle. The responsibility was the general's and it was to him alone either blame or praise should be given.

He also declared that the bad treatment meted out to his men after the surrender of Kut was due to the German officers and not to the Turks themselves. The general said his British troops at Kut were wonderful—the longer the siege lasted the better they seemed to get. He also paid a tribute to General Aylmer, who tried to relieve him. "Aylmer," he said, "had the

SELINA KOW TOWS TO THE FIREMEN

YOU can take it from George, if I had a little finer all my own, there ain't us out to where the daisies grow. Believe me, if there's a gang of fellas what deserves the privilege of feelin' chesty, it's the guys what fight the flames for the safety of the public.

I was smokin' around yesterday, when somebody sent in the S.O.S. and I had a good chance to watch my heroes handle a blaze in a old buildin' what must have been overgrown with trap doors and them stationary elevators. Without givin' a wicked hose. After the longest time out they come with their faces soiled a la Al Jolson and I'll say that bravery won her way right to my heart and now we are the best of pals.

I often wish I was tricky with the camera when I see them sailin' past on the ladder. They shore oze local color.

And then there's the lectures they gonna attend every week on what chemicals go good with flames and what goes better with water. Only a finished artist can put a fire out once it gets started and don't you forget it.

I gotta gang of followers that's been sparkin' me on the level ever since I was a pup, but I'd plunge the whole thing into the discard jest to get a little talk in a blue-coat, and I'll say it would be interestin' chatter.

Wanted A Home For Two Baby Boys

Two baby boys for adoption. One with dark brown hair and dark brown eyes, three and a half months old.

The other with fair hair and dark blue eyes, two months old. Both strong, healthy, sturdy little chaps of healthy parentage.

These boys are in great need of homes where they will receive the love and care that only kind, generous, big-hearted persons can give.

If you can find room in your home for one of the little tots, you will befriend the friendless and be charitable where charity is urgently required.

Six years ago a baby boy was adopted into a Toronto home, under exactly similar circumstances, and the foster father, in speaking of him the other day, said, "He has brought us nothing but good luck and is the finest, most manly little fellow in the world."

Acts of charity like this always bring good luck, for there is a specific promise of "What ye do unto the least of these, that ye also do unto Me," and the reward is as certain as the rising of the morning sun.

If in the goodness of your heart you feel that you would like to give a home to one of these babies, arrangements for legal adoption can be made at once.

For immediate, energetic action you have merely to drop a note, or telephone, The Baby Editor, Main 5308, The Toronto World.

BECOMES CANADIAN VETERAN.

After the reception the general was presented with a life membership in the Beaches branch of the G.W.V.A.—the Prince of Wales and General Currie are the other two life members. The presentation was made by President C. D. Morgan and Sergt. W. F. Cannon of the West Kents, who served with the general in the east.

At the Canadian Club.

The general was given a great reception by the Canadian Club at the lunch hour yesterday. His address was a repetition of that given on Sunday evening.

As a prisoner of war, I had the satisfaction of bringing about what I had failed to do in the field," he said. "I induced the Turks to surrender, thereby shortening the war in Europe by several months, and, as a natural consequence, thousands of lives were saved and millions of money."

In his Palestine campaign he had always successfully carried out the doctrine of Napoleon and Motke—the enemy's weakest point by using the turning manoeuvre with the principal mass of his force against the adversary's flank and rear, meanwhile pinning the enemy in front by a holding attack with a minimum force.

"The resolution I took—to stand at Kut—saved us from being simply kicked out of Mesopotamia," said Sir Charles.

Today Sir Charles goes to Hamilton, where another big reception awaits him.

MOTHER REFUSED CUSTODY.

Mr. Justice Middleton has decided that Mrs. Maud, Clifford Cartwright, otherwise known as Wilfred Adamson, illegitimate, has a better home with defendant, Mary Adamson, who adopted her, than with her father, named, given to her by her mother, Eunice Gordon, who sued for custody of the child. Kendall refused to marry the mother of the child, who is a white woman from England, but gave her some support for some time after the birth of the child. Plaintiff afterwards married a colored man named Gordon.

WOMAN CAPTURES HOUSE-BREAKER.

Six months in jail was imposed in yesterday's police court on James Ed. Indian Grove. Mrs. James M. Speers, the owner, caught the prisoner in the act of coming out of one of the windows. Single-handed, she caught the man by the hair and collar and held him till the arrival of her husband.

THE WIVES AND THE FAULTS

Northern Industry Cursed With Amateurs—Cobalt Turned Their Heads.

Cobalt, May 1.—The best informed opinion here is that the Nipissing is in a state of senescence and will be dead and buried in a few years. Its judgment in the selection and refection of outside properties has been very immature. Then it is hoarding up its surplus with miserly care, and the management always shrinks from ordinary mining risks. A characteristic action was the option on the Ophir, where all signs negatived the probability of paying dividends. The Nipissing is dead, to enterprise the mining corporation is not. On the other hand, its appetite for minerals seems to be inveterate. Metallic or non-metallic from China to Peru, all seem to come within the majestic scope of its exploratory scheme. The other day it took a mining raid in the Yukon, and wonders whether the company knows how to handle the ore. It has a process for separating this valuable element from the pitchblende, but not where is the market for the raw ore and what is it worth? Fuller knowledge would make a wonderful change in the Nipissing's attitude. Its corporation, its mistakes are mainly those of the amateur, but it may learn in time.

One rather plies the old Hudson Bay with that perverse fondering, the Dome Lake, still eager for pep. It was a sorry venture for a company so lucky in its earlier operations. The Timiskaming made a clean spill of $15,000 on the North Dome, but they seem to know enough now to regard it as a detest.

It is a matter of great regret that the Cobalt companies have as a rule been so inapt in their outside ventures. Apparently they must attribute this to inadequate knowledge of ore deposits. Unfortunately, many people seem to look upon making a venture in which there is really nothing to learn. Any fool can dig gold or silver, provided an outcrop can be found. The fact is that the Cobalt industry of the science of ore deposits cannot be gained in 20 years' close study and observation. The industry is cursed with amateurs and to this cause most of the failures are due. Even a technically trained mining engineer is not usually skilled in exploration. Some of them do not even know bastard quartz when they see it. Such a bad "break" as that of the Kerr Lake with the Monocue has in it an element of success. The underlying causes are hard to discover. The rejuvenation of the Cobalt companies is greatly to be desired. Some of them would mean a great expansion of the mining industry. The chances are, however, slight unless the amateurs are ousted. The easily won riches of Cobalt have turned their heads. Some of the companies even overlook the bounty of nature and seem to be bent upon making it entirely due to their own skill. They have much to learn. It is hoped that they will learn in time.

NEW MINE MANAGER FOR MATACHEWAN

Mill to Be Erected to Crush at Least One Hundred Tons a Day.

Elk Lake, May 1.—(Special Correspondent of The World.)—W. H. Davidson, general manager of the Matachewan Gold Mine, has been appointed general manager of the Matachewan Gold Mine. Mr. Davidson has won his way by capacity and application. No mine manager works harder than he. It was also learned here today that the mine has been decided to erect a mill capable of crushing at least 100 tons per day. The plans, however, contemplate a great increase in this tonnage in the course of a year or two. The three diamond drills are now working and the indicated tonnage is very large, the development work is not extensive, and this limits for the present the capacity of the mill.

The favorable results on this property throw little or no light on the Davidson, adjoining on the west, for the geological conditions are not the same. They have, however, an important if not a decisive bearing on the Lake Matachewan, which adjoins the north. It is unfortunate that water that it has only two claims, a north-easterly direction. The best ore has been found in the north. It is unfortunate that it has only two claims, a north-easterly direction. The best ore has been found in the north. WORK STOCKS RALLY AFTER BREAK

Contraction of Credits and Disturbed Industrial Situation Favor Bears.

BONDS AGAIN DECLINE

New York, May 3.—Stocks were moderately active and strong at the opening of today's broad market and extremely reactionary during the mid-session, after a vigorous rally in many instances towards the end, when market rates eased perceptibly.

There was further liquidation of speculative accounts, especially in high price specialties, but a very large proportion of the day's offerings again originated from professional sources, according to word room gossip.

Contraction of credits was in evidence, although this did not apply to call money, which relaxed even before the final hour from its opening rate of 9 per cent to 7 1/2 per cent. Rumors of a probable advance of the local discount rate proved to be unfounded, but greater firmness was shown by the market for mercantile paper.

Failure of May-Day disturbances to materialize was accepted as a favorable factor, but general industrial developments were not of an encouraging character. From New England the reports of a prospective let-down in the textile and leather trades, while the railroad situation again showed signs of improvement, greater freight congestion at all leading terminals between this city and Chicago.

The market was slow to respond to the decision of the supreme court denying the petition of the government for a re-opening of the United States Steel case, but the entire list strengthened when the news of the steel stocks became too insistent to be ignored. United States Steel closed unchanged, but several of the other steel stocks of that division made substantial gains with petroleum. Sales amounted to 1,100,000 shares.

Three of the Liberty issues—the 3 1/2, 4 1/2 and 5 1/2—established still lower quotations after the opening. The market was inclined to ease. Total sales, par value, aggregated $12,200,000. On call the old U.S. 5 1/2's rose 1/4 and the 4 1/2's showed no change.

FARMERS NEAR REGINA SEED THOUSAND ACRES

Regina, Sask., May 3.—J. K. McInnis & Sons started seeding on their holdings immediately east of the city on Friday, and on their Spring Park farm, three miles east, one week ago. Their objective is 2000 acres. Operations, experts agree, have been retarded from two to three days by the rain that fell here last night. The heavy soil in this district will not be in shape for the farmers to get on it for at least two days, even if the weather breaks.

TO INVESTIGATE ST. LAWRENCE PLAN

Hearings by International Commission This Week in the Lakes Region.

Detroit, Mich., May 3.—Hearings by the international commission authorized by the Canadian and American governments to investigate the feasibility of constructing a deep waterway outlet from the great lakes, to the sea by the St. Lawrence river, are scheduled to get under way in the lakes region during the coming week.

The first of the series of hearings, which is to be largely with the project from an economic standpoint, is to be held at North Bay, Ont., on Friday. Other sessions will be held at Saginaw, Mich., and Duluth, Minn., after which the commission will visit the principal cities of the northwestern and north central states. The initial tour is to be an exploratory one. The hearings are then to be taken up again in the fall, with the more important sittings in the principal great lakes ports.

New York and Montreal interests are said by proponents of the project to be its chief opponents. Hearings are to be held in these cities late in the summer.

BIG MUSKRAT SEASON

Fredericton, N.B., May 3.—The open season for killing muskrats in New Brunswick closed yesterday, and it is estimated that the number killed, particularly along the St. John river, was the largest in history, while prices have been far in excess of those paid in any previous year, about $5 per bushel being prevailing price for good skins.

DAVIDSON'S ANNUAL MEETING IN JULY

Important Financial Developments Expected—Good Results From Operations.

The annual meeting of the Davidson Consolidated, called to be held yesterday at the office of F. C. Sutherland & Co., 12 East King street, here, has been adjourned until July 15 next. A cablegram was read to the meeting, suggesting the postponement of the meeting to the month of July. The president of the company, has been there and some time ago, at his suggestion that all proceedings were continued until July.

After the adjournment the report of the mine manager, covering operations at the property for the period from Oct. 1, 1919, to March 31, 1920, was read. The report stated that operations during the period were confined to underground work and exploration and development. The total quantity of ore produced and realized in a total footage of 1,313 ft. 6 in. was 44,933 lb. of ore, valued at $1,111,100.

In addition to this, drifting, 632 ft. 6 in. was done, valued at $1,111,100.

The most important underground work carried out was the extension of the west drift at the 200 foot level, which has been driven along the main vein in a southerly direction for 654 feet. This ore body is apparently increasing in width as the drift proceeds. Crosscuts which were projected every 50 feet proved it to have an average width of over 20 feet at this distance.

In speaking about this development the report went on to state that the company is apparently standing at a steep angle and heading for a big quartz exposure, 1080 feet from the present drift. The report also states that an average of all samples taken in this drift showed it to contain payable values for the whole distance opened up.

In regard to surface operations the report states that the shaft was driven south section of the property, 3000 feet from No. 1 shaft, the diamond drills cut two ore bodies, one 15 feet wide, 15 feet and another at 72 feet, both of which have high assay values. The shaft is being driven to a depth of 150 feet, and it is expected that the water supply during the very cold winter.

The chairman in commenting upon the favorable development of the property, said that the directors have as their ultimate objective the installation of a mill, having a capacity of up to 2000 tons per day. It was also stated that the property as it stands today will call for a mill of this tonnage at least.

SUBMARINES LOSING MUCH OF EFFICIENCY

Advantage Previously Possessed Much on Wane, Says Marine Expert.

London, May 3.—Submarines have lost two-thirds of their efficiency since 1914, according to Lieut. W. St. King-Hall, R.N., in a recent address at the Royal United Service Institute on "The Submarine and Future Naval Warfare."

The speaker maintained that the advantage previously possessed by the submarine was steadily on the wane. He pointed out that the first submarine, the Nautilus, built in 1815, was a 9 to 1 against the surface ship. It was only 7 to 3 in 1919, and was likely to be only 4 to 1 in 1920. He said that the efficiency of the submarine was steadily on the wane. He pointed out that the first submarine, the Nautilus, built in 1815, was a 9 to 1 against the surface ship. ADVANCE IN GRAIN TO RECORD PRICES

Lateness of Crop Season and Shortage of Farm Labor Cause Keen Anxiety.

Chicago, May 3.—Grain prices jumped to record heights today. Uneasiness in regard to the lateness of the 1920 crop season, together with statements by trade leaders calling attention to shortage of farm labor and of world supplies were largely responsible. Corn closed nervous at 2 1/2 to 4 1/2 net advance, with July, 2.85 1/2 to 2.85 1/2 and September, 2.90 1/2 to 2.90 1/2. Oats gained 1/4 to 1/2. In provisions the outcome varied from the decline to a rise of 1/4 to 1/2. Urgent buying on the part of shorts began to boost the corn market as soon as trading opened and there was at no time any important reaction. Bears had been so thoroughly vanquished of late that they did not care to sell in view of existing railway traffic conditions with not enough grain arriving here to meet the ordinary hand-to-mouth demand. The May delivery led the reaction. Bears had later there was free covering by shorts in July and September as well. Much of the demand for grain came from eastern stock traders. For time being apparently, financial conditions were ignored as far as the grain markets were concerned.
