THE EVENING TIMES.

ST. JOHN, N. B., MAY 30, 1906. The St. John Evening Times is published at 27 and 29 Canterbury Street, every evening (Sunday excepted) by the St. John Times Printing & Publishing Co., Ltd. A company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act.

Circulation of The Times.

Table showing circulation figures for Monday through Saturday, with a total of 39,878 and a daily average of 6,646.

TO OUR READERS The Times has increased its mechanical staff and made other provision so that in future its inside pages as well as its outside ones will be filled with news different from that which appears in the morning papers, except such brief summary of important matters as is necessary to make a complete newspaper.

HELPING THE CHILDREN In a communication to the Times today Miss Mabel Peters tells what is done in New York to provide playgrounds for the children and to throw around them the influences more beneficial than those of the street.

BERTHS AND DREDGING The citizens will be glad to know that the board of works is satisfied that the plan to lengthen the new berth on the West Side by extending it toward Union Street, can be successfully carried out.

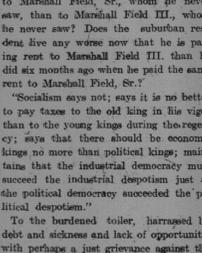

SOCIALISM Mr. Joseph Mehill Patterson, the brilliant young man of wealth in Chicago who has exposed the cause of socialism, has discovered in the will of the late Marshall Field ground for a vigorous attack upon the present industrial system.

ACADIA'S GRADUATING CLASS This year's graduating class at Acadia College is as follows:—George R. Bancroft, Nova Scotia; Gordon P. Burns, Nova Scotia; Nova Bentley, Nova Scotia; Frederick A. Bower, Nova Scotia; Wm. H. Coleman, Moncton, N. B.; Raymond D. Colpitts, Forest Glen, N. B.; Wm. T. Denham, St. John, N. B.; Alice P. DeVoll, N. S.; Clayton E. Gardner, N. S.; Harry D. Harvey, N. S.; Clara G. Keirstead, St. Stephen, N. B.; F. Stewart Kinley, N. S.; Frederick Porter, Fredericton, N. B.; David H. Webster, N. S.

Attractive Suits For Men and Boys.

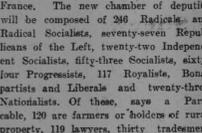

There is no getting over the fact that you can get better suits here for the money than elsewhere. We say so, and back it with the facts. Those who have bought elsewhere, then bought here, say so—and they know. You will say so too if you compare our Suits and prices—then why pay more for inferior goods?

A SONG OF REMBRANCE

(By Ethel Edwards.) I and my heart alone, In a world so fair, Found nothing to call our own Of all that was there. I and my heart forgot, In the tears that appear, All but the things that are not; All but the dead.

IN LIGHTER VEIN

The Golf Girl—"John seems to have fogged in making love to me." The Auto Girl—"Well, something's gone wrong with my sparkler, too!" Judge.

ALL NIGHT SESSIONS.

"The people in the next flat seem to be fond of the latest songs." "Yes, they don't appear to care for any that are sung earlier than 10 p. m.—Washington Star.

PROOF OF THE STATEMENT

Stella—"Professor Lee says candy is a cure for fatigue." Belle—"That's true; a man who brings me chocolates never makes me as tired as a man who doesn't."—Harper's Bazar.

BUT MIGHT HEAR HIM.

"Hello! I want to see Mr Smith at the telephone." "Mr. Smith says if you want to see him at the telephone, you will have to come to his office; he hasn't time to go to yours."—Baltimore American.

WHY BLINKS SIGHED.

Jinks—"Hello, Blinks! Hear you had a great time getting married—sloped with the girl—later and mother furious—gave chase, but they didn't catch you, did they?" "Blinks, saddy—"No-o"—New York Weekly.

THE DEAR GIRL.

"This bill for your new frock is really a bit high," observes the plutocrat to his daughter. "Six thousand dollars is considerable to pay for just an auto suit." "But papa, the suit itself really is quite inexpensive. The most of that bill is for the trimmings."

HE WAS THE BOY

A publisher directed one of his clerks to hang out a "Boy Wanted" sign at the entrance of his office. "I had been swinging in the breeze only a few minutes when a red-headed little lad climbed to the publisher's office with the sign under his arm.

COST A GREAT DEAL.

They had all been at church, and the young minister was coming home to dine with them. While at dinner they were discussing the new stained glass window a member had given:

TAKE YOUR HOLIDAYS

(New York Commercial.) "We used to have vacation-skippers among the men in our executive positions who made light of annual vacations and would have come of them when business was brisk or something else interfered."

WHERE DO I FIND MY SUMMER RECREATION?

"Where do I find my summer recreation?" answered an unwearied observer of the annual outing to a club inquirer. "I leave that to be decided by what device. Each year new discoveries are made in both the art and the place of recreative outings, and I am always ready to learn. It is a pretty good rule not to get into a rut with your pleasures any more than with your work. My one rule is not to go to distant and attractive spots for out-of-door recreation and then cultivate those tame indoor pleasures which anyone can have at his home or his club. Don't play billiards when the yacht or even the cat-lost is at your disposal."

Get It From Us.

The Piano, as we know it today, is really a wonderful instrument. It is the twentieth century evolution of the "monochord" used by the Greeks twenty-six centuries ago. So intricate is its mechanism that only an expert can properly understand it. The average person, therefore, buys a Piano on faith, that is they rely on their faith in the word of the dealer, and in the reputation that the Piano enjoys.

There are two very potent reasons why you should buy that Piano from us. The first is, because we have exclusive control in the Maritime Province of the sale of only such Pianos as have earned the best reputation; secondly, because back of every statement we make is a clean, unbroken record of over a quarter of a century of equal dealing. Enough said.

George Henry Payne on Henrik Ibsen.

NEW YORK, May 28—Was it Ibsen the poet, Ibsen the dramatist, or Ibsen the warrior of self-faith, who, dying in the land he fought into, leaving his left hand behind the most lasting mark on this century's moving age?

The poet had the bitterest battle, for it came in the time of youth, when he was high and sympathy might have seen a meteoric rise, but Ibsen was the poet whose triumph was most complete. Ibsen had lived many years, enjoying the fame of being one of the greatest of the intellectual Titans of the day.

Ibsen the dramatist, an Ibsen that is generally known to the theatre-going world. It gives one a curious sense of the greatness of the man to read, even in this day, Edmund Gosse's impression of him written in the early seventies, setting forth with enthusiastic sympathy his claims to immortality as he sketched the matter of "Peer Gynt," "Brand," and "A Doll's House" had not been written, nor "Ghosts" nor "An Enemy of the People"—that Masterpieces which are "Rosmersholm," nor "John Gabriel Borkman," nor yet "When We Dead Awake" that play that people would understand!

Understand? As if it were necessary to understand, as if there were anything in the world worth while understanding, as if there were any one in the world who really does, simply and alone, understand Ibsen, the poet, the dramatist, the man, the world that had once rejected him—accepted early. Then came Ibsen, the dramatist, to take up new courage and fight new battles, an Ibsen that was almost identical with the Ibsen the apostle of self-reliance, self-dependence, and wholly Emerson. People who might have seen the dramatist as a man who formed new lines of construction, who worked out new rules of simplicity, drew back at a philosophy that was expressed with little reservation.

In objecting to Nora Helmer's passionate declaration for personal freedom, Mrs. Alving's plea for an Ibsen's play—that is, that the sin against self was greater than the sin against society, in objecting to the eternal symbol in the life—there was ignored the fact that this was the man who, in 1869, wrote to his friend and critic, George Brandes:—

"I have written a play in which there is nothing but a monologue, and which on the stage was Sophocles when he introduced a third actor into the drama.

But the Ibsen, the man of individualism—that is where the great struggle came. Nowhere did he more passionately cry for personal freedom than in the awful play "Ghosts"—following it quickly with his reply to critics in "The Enemy of the People." No abuse was more freely poured and the abuse and vituperation even followed the author into his home, and his reply was the simple declaration of his hero, Stockman:—

"The strongest man on earth is he who stands most alone."

"Friends, home, country, religion—what are they? They fit, they help, they soften—but they are not the strength of the man. They lay the soul to sleep with the rules and regulations and short cuts to forgetfulness that have grown out of ages of the man with the idea in him must fight them—not with them.

"There are people of childish intellect and feminine methods of thinking who saw in Ibsen a gigantic pessimist, a successor in popular terms to all that is contained in the popular conception of Arthur Schopenhauer.

They forget, as even thoughtful people sometimes forget, that Schopenhauer is never regarded by serious people as a pessimist and that his sole claim to fame rests on his metaphysical dictum. So while Ibsen's rather sombre view of life stands out to many as the great thing, it is not the thing that is remembered that he was first of all the poet of hopefulness, the one man who, outside of Nietzsche, had struck a really hopeful note for some sort of ethical pole positive in this mixed philosophical age.

Ibsen began in doubt. He fought first the shame of youth, then the shame of middle age, but all the time there was growing the beautiful doctrine of the freedom of the soul, and the last three or four plays he has written may mean little or nothing to the general public, but they will be winged messengers to those who come after.

What is the character of this message? It is no doctrine that can be easily grasped, for it can only appeal to those who have first suffered and next to those who think. He himself has rather broadly said that all humanity suffers (and has not every great poet and thinker, from Aristotle to Spencer, said the same thing?) but the trouble with the sufferers is that they believe that the antidote for suffering is forgetfulness, whereas the history of the world is the progress of thought, and in all ages comes when the sufferer remembers and builds his actions on the trouble almost from childhood, but Ibsen's message would have been carried forth by the mind that had obliterated its experience with the world?

Three of the most beautiful and the three most daring doctrines of the world have been born of contact with and suffering from experience with the world—the doctrine of Jesus; the doctrine of liberation, from Moses, and the doctrine of atonement, from Buddha.

The world has been perplexed by many people about Ibsen is that the suffering

NEW EPIGRAMS BY ROOSEVELT

"This the Day for the Man with a Patch on His Breeches."

WASHINGTON, May 29—President Roosevelt talks more and more to visitors about the men who run the trusts and the need of curbing them, and about the law-breaking officers of great corporations and the need of punishing them.

He said this week to a Republican United States Senator, who is himself a man of great wealth and a director in many corporations:—"President Jackson fought the money power. He was wrong, but he became famous. I am right, and—"

The President did not finish his sentence, but he sent a cold chill down the spine of the plutocratic Senator nevertheless.

To another visitor this week the President spoke of the revelations of graft and favoritism in the management of even the greatest railroads, as disclosed this week in the Pennsylvania Railroad scandal, and he said that the railroads were indeed common carriers, nothing more, nothing less. They must treat all customers alike, great and small. The monopolist, the law-breaker, the corporation crook, the bribe-taker, the drone, the plutocrat and the parasite must be driven out. Then the President uttered this epigram:—"This is the day for the man with a patch on his breeches, as come forward, and for the man-of-the-dollar to go to the rear."

BAD BLAZE IN B. C. TOWN

Chilliwack, B. C., Lost Nine Stores by Fire Yesterday Morning.

VANCOUVER, May 29—(Special)—Fire swept through the business section of Chilliwack yesterday morning and destroyed it was put out nine stores were in ashes. At one time it looked as though the whole town, sixty miles from Vancouver, in the Fraser river, was doomed, but the splendid work of a volunteer brigade saved it. For five hours the flames were fought, and the damage was confined to $33,000 the insurance being $20,000.

The nine stores destroyed were owned or occupied as follows: Kroonman, grocer; A. Gillander, cigar store; Mrs. Carvold, millinery; R. Chadsey, barber; Mr. Macintosh, harnessmaker; Mr. Smith, butcher; Mr. Knight, furnishing; Plummer and Henderson, undertakers.

COL. SAM SPEAKS FRENCH
(London Advertiser.)

Col. Sam Hughes, M. P., has scandalized his Ontario admirers by making a speech in French at Quebec, in the House of Commons, and showed his pen to be as busy as his sword, but his conquest of French is a fresh revelation of his versatility. However, his courage has never been questioned, and the man who brought the Boers to their knees was not to be daunted by the French irregular verb. He beset the lion in his den by springing his linguistic accomplishment right in the heart of French speakers where it came as a surprise to them. But how is he going to square himself with the country-bred child, but not such interesting things; they do not properly see anything for they have neither the time nor capacity to get at the root of all the bewilderment which crowd themselves into their little lives.

CHILDREN IN CITIES

A London scientist says that life in a metropolis makes young children sharp but not clever; that it often destroys their chance of ever being clever, for it hinders the development of the brain unnaturally; it makes them superficial, alert, but not observant; excitable, but without one spark of enthusiasm; they are apt to grow blasé, flaccid, disinterested; they see more things than the country-bred child, but not such interesting things; they do not properly see anything for they have neither the time nor capacity to get at the root of all the bewilderment which crowd themselves into their little lives.

PALE, WEAK WOMEN

Gain New Health and Strength Through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

Anemia is just the doctor's name for bloodlessness. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People actually make new blood. Can any cure be more direct or certain? Blood is bound to cure bloodlessness. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure anemia just as food cures hunger. They cured Mrs. Clara Cook, a young English woman who recently came to this country from Portsmouth, England, and is at present residing at Prince's Lodge, Halifax Co. N.S. She says: "I am an enthusiastic believer in the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a cure for anemia. I have suffered from the trouble almost from childhood, but a few years ago it developed into a severe type of the trouble. My skin was pale and waxy; my lips seemed bloodless, and my entire system was run down. I suffered from headaches, dizziness and weakness, and my friends feared that I was going into a decline. I tried tonics and emulsions, but without benefit. Then a friend who had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the same trouble advised me to try them. In a short time they began to whip me and in a couple of months I had gained in weight. I can strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all anemic girls and women."

The pale anemic person needs only one thing—new blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do only one thing—they make new blood. They won't cure any disease that isn't originally caused by bad blood. But when Dr. Williams' Pink Pills replace bad blood with good blood, by striking straight at the root and cause of all common diseases like anemia, headaches and back-ache, rheumatism, indigestion, neuralgia, St. Vitus dance, kidney trouble and the secret troubles that every woman knows but none of them like to talk about, even to their doctors, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BULL FIGHTING IN SPAIN
(From T. P.'s Weekly.)

Spain is still a great country for bull fights. The season starts on the first Sunday after Lent and continues with a short interruption at the height of summer—till the month of October. Sevilla and Madrid are the great centres of tauromachia. In Spain the bull leaves the ring alive, neither do any of the horses. The expense of supplying the poor backs which are chosen for the enormous and in some poverty-stricken towns horses are content from the performance and the corrida becomes a great deal more humane, as disclosed from the fact that the bulls are killed at the rate of 2,400 less so the native. O'Shea states that 2,400 bulls are killed annually and 2,500 horses.

PALE, WEAK WOMEN

Anemia is just the doctor's name for bloodlessness. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People actually make new blood. Can any cure be more direct or certain? Blood is bound to cure bloodlessness. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure anemia just as food cures hunger. They cured Mrs. Clara Cook, a young English woman who recently came to this country from Portsmouth, England, and is at present residing at Prince's Lodge, Halifax Co. N.S. She says: "I am an enthusiastic believer in the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a cure for anemia. I have suffered from the trouble almost from childhood, but a few years ago it developed into a severe type of the trouble. My skin was pale and waxy; my lips seemed bloodless, and my entire system was run down. I suffered from headaches, dizziness and weakness, and my friends feared that I was going into a decline. I tried tonics and emulsions, but without benefit. Then a friend who had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the same trouble advised me to try them. In a short time they began to whip me and in a couple of months I had gained in weight. I can strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all anemic girls and women."

The pale anemic person needs only one thing—new blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do only one thing—they make new blood. They won't cure any disease that isn't originally caused by bad blood. But when Dr. Williams' Pink Pills replace bad blood with good blood, by striking straight at the root and cause of all common diseases like anemia, headaches and back-ache, rheumatism, indigestion, neuralgia, St. Vitus dance, kidney trouble and the secret troubles that every woman knows but none of them like to talk about, even to their doctors, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BASE BALL

The Church League.

Members of the North End church base ball league met in St. Luke's church last evening to talk over the question of arranging an increased interest in the series of games and the possibility of having a cup contest.

ATHLETIC

SHERRING IN GREAT LUCK.

HAMILTON, Ont., May 28—William Sherring, the Marathon victor, received notification from Athens that a beautiful statue of Hermes, an extra prize awarded to him, is held at the Magasin of the Louvre, Athens, awaiting his order for shipment.

On Saturday Sherring turned over $1,000 in cash to Aid. J. M. Eastwood, treasurer of the Sherring Athletic fund. This is what he secured at Toronto, St. Catharines and Galt, except a little he spent on his trip.

He was greatly liked by umpires, as it was rare when he made a kick. A play made by Shortstop Long a few years ago with the Boston club is worth recording.

RAILROAD'S PRESIDENT

WILL WEST GATE HIS SON'S BANKING BUSINESS

Revelations Recently Made Before Interstate Commission Causes Pennsylvania Railroad President to Make Quick Trip Back--Business Was Kept in the Family--Remarkable Tale of Graft.

(New York World.)

A cable message from The World's correspondent announced yesterday that A. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, had sailed for home, and would proceed directly to Philadelphia to investigate the charges of graft in which his son's firm is involved.

The Philadelphia correspondent of The World has been informed on trustworthy authority that Mr. Cassatt's sudden determination to change his programme abroad and return after an absence of only ten days was due to correspondence carried on by cable, in which he was informed of the remarkable admissions made by his son's partner in the Pennsylvania Railroad, had sailed for home, and would proceed directly to Philadelphia to investigate the charges of graft in which his son's firm is involved.

When the Interstate Commission adjourned last Friday, no notice was given to the time and place of the next meeting.

PARIS, May 28.—Alexander J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, who is a passenger on the America, which left from New York yesterday, booked his passage while the steamer train was waiting at the depot.

The Pennsylvania disclosure has caused a profound impression in Wall Street and abroad in that it has been highlighted by the announcement on Friday that President Cassatt had finally decided to cut short his trip to Europe and hurry home to take personal charge of the correction of the evils that have crept into the administration of the country's great railroad.

It is believed that the investigation in Wall Street is that Mr. Cassatt himself has had no knowledge of the graft which the investigation has brought to light. The management of such a great property involves such enormous detail that it is almost impossible for any one man to closely scrutinize the methods and practices of his subordinates in the country's greatest enterprise.

Mr. Cassatt is one of the greatest business men in his grip on the Pennsylvania Railroad and its subsidiary interests. He is further buttressed with W. A. Patton, the Young Men's Christian Association zealot and the owner of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and with "Uncle Bob" Pitcairn, the veteran political manipulator, who was made assistant president of the Pennsylvania Railroad in 1903.

Robert Kelo Cassatt, principal member of the firm of Cassatt & Co., and eastern manager of the Keystone Coal and Coke Company, which furnishes fuel to the railroad, admitted without hesitation that he had received stock in corporations without paying for it, and saw nothing improper in the transaction.

FOUND DEAD WITH BULLET IN HEART

Richmond Doctor Meets Mysterious Death in a Chicago Hotel.

Chicago, May 29.—Dr. H. L. Sayre, of Richmond (Va.), was found dead in a room in the Grant House today and had apparently committed suicide. An artery in the left wrist had been severed and a bullet from a revolver which was still held in the right hand, had been fired into the heart.

When the Interstate Commission adjourned last Friday, no notice was given to the time and place of the next meeting.

A. E. Triggs, of Bangor, is to be a factor in this season's horse races in Maine and New Brunswick. He has two or three in his string that have made around 2.25 and they should show up well. Mr. Triggs is said to be anxious to take in the New Brunswick circuit this season.

It is stated that as a result of the land between the new dam and Loch Lomond, on the water extension, not being properly cleared of vegetation, there is a thick growth of young wood, which is liable, when submerged, to die and rot, thus contaminating the water.

The mud investigation committee held a private meeting yesterday afternoon at which they considered the report of the harbor-master on the recent soundings made at the Sand Point berths. It was decided to put the city dredge at work there and dredge all berths to a uniform depth of 30 feet.

The L. C. R. staff here were advised today that on and after June 1 train No. 28 will discontinue making suburban stops between St. John and Hampton. The only station between these two points at which the train will stop at Robbsey. The noon suburban train leaving at 1.15 will be put on June 1st.

No. 1 chemical engine was called out last night for a blaze in Mrs. J. R. Calhoun's house on Leinster street.

The blaze was caused by a match being dropped into an umbrella standing in a hall stand. The umbrella burned quickly and part of the stand was consumed while the flames spread to the baseboard. The fire was quickly extinguished.

What mother does not want her boy dressed as well as the family purse will afford? To-day's ration on all sides attention is called to the announcement of M. R. A. Ltd. in this issue. It is an interesting story of wash clothing for summer, the kind of clothes you can wash with soap and water and make like new again. M. R. A. Ltd. have an immense stock of these at prices the most economical person would want to pay.

KILLED IN NEW YORK. Joseph Brecken a Young P. E. Islander Perished by Accident.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., May 30. (Special).—Joseph Brecken, a civil engineer, son of the late Joseph B. Brecken, of Charlottetown, was accidentally killed yesterday in New York. No particulars have been received.

BRONZE MELBA MADE A HIT. At the Opera House last night the Connors Stock Company gave a good performance for the second time of "Lost in the World." The specialties given between each act of the play were good. The over-singing of the Bronze Melba brought forth rounds of applause and she had to respond several times. To hear her sing is worth the price of admission. The Murphys are also clever people and their act made a hit. This afternoon "Lost in the World" was repeated and a treat was given the ladies and children who heard the Bronze Melba sing. Tonight the "Little Heiress" will be played.

THEY ARE NOT BANKRUPTS. Messrs. Wilcox Bros. desire the Times to state that the actions of Mr. Milton Price in the Linden case to the effect that the goods obtained by Linden were not their property, as they were in bankruptcy, was wilfully false and malicious. Neither the firm or any member of it is now or has been indebted to, or insolvent or unwilling or unable at any time to pay their just debts. There was no evidence to support the statement, which was made without any justification or excuse.

EXPECTS TO GET WORD THIS WEEK

George Robertson M. P., P., Waiting for Definite Information as to the Dry Dock.

George Robertson, M. P., told the Times this morning he expected to have some definite word about the dry dock scheme this week. Messrs. Henry Holgate and J. A. Aylmer, the Montreal engineers who were here last week, were to report to financiers on the matter and it is thought that as a result of their investigations, satisfactory arrangements will be made in an early stage on the project. Mr. Robertson thinks it likely that the work will be commenced this fall, probably in about two months.

LAST OF "PENNERS" LEAVE TONIGHT

The departure of twenty-two detained immigrants from the Sand Point buildings to Montreal this evening will be the closing incident in the winterport season of 1905-1906. The party which is mainly composed of males, have been in charge of Guard Fred Hanson and proceed to Montreal via the C. P. R. At the time of sailing of the last steamer there were over a hundred passengers detained on the west side, but these have gradually been released as they received funds or recovered from sickness.

SHE WANTED BARGAINS

"Which is the cheapest boat?" asked a thrifty looking country woman as she approached the portly skipper of one of the two steamers of competing lines lying at the head waters of one of the tributaries of the St. John.

"Well," was the deliberate reply, "they're all cheap, I guess—we ask the regular rate."

"No, but that won't do! I am going to the city, and I want to know which is the cheapest boat."

"I guess we are!" chimed in the captain of the rival steamer, and he took her valises.

That settled it until they reached Incharon, when, landing from the boat in the last two of these steamers, one boat standing near Lancaster ferry floats, standing up to one of the conductors she asked, "Which is the cheapest car?"

OBITUARY

GEORGE A. STEPHENSON. George A. Stephenson died yesterday at Westfield after an illness of more than a year with heart trouble. Mr. Stephenson was in his forty-eighth year, a son of the late Armstrong, Stephenson, of Westfield. He is survived by two brothers—E. S. Stephenson, merchant, and John A. Stephenson, both of St. John, and three sisters—Mrs. McBeth, of Westfield, at whose home he died; Mrs. Worden, of Kingston, Kings county, and a third sister, Mrs. Smith of Boston. The funeral will be from Fairville on the arrival of the Fredericton train Thursday morning. Interment will be in Cedar Hill cemetery.

DR. DIGBY. Word was received yesterday of the death of Dr. Digby, of Bradford, Ont. He was about sixty-five years of age. He leaves a wife, eldest daughter of W. J. Jarvis, a son and two daughters. W. J. Jarvis left last evening for Bradford to attend the funeral.

JAMES BELVEEA. The death occurred in Carleton yesterday of James Belyea, one of the best known residents of the west side. He was seventy-nine years of age and is survived by his wife and one son, Charles E. Belyea, are also a number of grandchildren, and a brother, who lives in the United States.

The golden anniversary of his wedding to Mrs. Belyea, who was Miss Hazlet, was celebrated on Sept. 21 last year, and was marked by warm congratulations from far and near.

THE NEW WHARF

The committee appointed to arrange the details for enlarging the new South Rodney wharf met this morning. Those present: Ald. Bullock, Baxter, Holder, Rowan, Tilly and McGoldrick, Director Contracting, Engineer Peters and Contractor D. C. Clark.

It was decided to authorize Mr. Clark to go ahead and build the additional 100 feet on the western end of the wharf, for which he is to be paid on the same basis as the present contract, with the proviso that should the lumber cost him more than the rate he has been paying, he be allowed that much additional.

A report to this effect will be presented to the council on Monday next for their approval.

REV. A. M. WALKER GOES TO ILLINOIS

The many St. John friends of Rev. A. M. Walker, Ph. D., late pastor of the Unitarian church here, will be pleased to learn that he has been called to the pastorate of the Unitarian church at Sibleyfield, Illinois, which gives a salary of $1,500 and a parsonage. This church is very radical and has found it hard to secure a minister satisfactory to its members. Rev. Dr. Walker is very broad in his views, and is a winterer, and his friends in St. John are confident that he will prove an acceptable pastor in the new field.

FUNERALS

The funeral of James Belyea took place this afternoon from his late residence at the Old Fort. Service was held at the house at three o'clock and the cortege started at 3.30, for Cedar Hill, where interment was made. The officiating clergyman was Rev. W. H. Scamper and R. W. Pergason. Intimate friends of deceased acted as pall-bearers.
