SUNDAY FIGHTING ALL BY ARTILLERY; ALLIES' LINE REMAINS FIRM

Further Inundation of the Country Around Dixmude Cuts Off Large Body of Enemy--Germans Prepare for Winter Camp in Belgium

Paris, Nov. 16.—(2.15 p. m.)—The French official announcement given out in Paris this afternoon says: "During the day yesterday along the Yser Canal, from Nieupoort to the country up the river from Dixmude, the fighting was limited to artillery exchanges. "The country having been further inundated, the submerged territory now stretches from the Dixmude to a point five kilometres (3 miles) to the north of Biscuote. "The forces of the enemy which endeavored to cross the canal between the region of Dixmude and Biscuote all were driven back beyond the bridges. A German regiment was completely destroyed at a point to the south of Biscuote. "To the southeast of Ypres two other German attacks were repulsed. On our part we have taken the offensive and reconquered certain points of support which the enemy some days ago succeeded in capturing. "Between the Lys and Oise there have been operations of only minor importance and partial progress was made by our advanced positions. "In the region of the Aisne and in the Champagne country there have been artillery exchanges without result. "In the Argonne the town of St. Hubert has again been attacked by the Germans, but without success. "In the region of St. Mihiel a surprise attack undertaken by the enemy against Apremont resulted in failure. "DEAD-LOCKED "London, Nov. 16.—The armies of the Allies and of Germany remain deadlocked in West Flanders today along the battle line, where the snow is now ankle deep, with the prospect of another week of intermittent artillery duels and infantry dashes, which, for more than a month have been swinging back and forth without definite result. The snow and adverse weather conditions generally in Flanders will make necessary more frequent shifts of men in the trenches and there will be an increase of sickness, especially in lung and throat affections. "In short, trench warfare, already laborious and exhausting, will daily become a greater ordeal. "STILL TRY TO BREAK THROUGH "The Germans have not abandoned their attempt to reach the French coast towns, and yet they have not advanced. Today, according to the statement of the Allies, they are back on the right bank of the Yser, having been forced to release their grip on such points on the left bank as were held so stubbornly by them last week. This retirement of the breadth of the river is described in the official communication given out in Paris, last night, as the "most noteworthy incident of the day" and it shows how little change there has been elsewhere either in Belgium or France. "In the meantime the Germans are putting the finishing touches to the defenses stretching in rows after row from Ostend to the Dutch border, and should their present lines be broken, they probably will endeavor to winter in these snug and carefully prepared positions. "FLOODS DIVIDE GERMAN FORCE "London, Nov. 16.—In consequence of the heavy week end rains, says the Rotterdam correspondent of the Star, it is rumored that a big force of Germans around Dixmude has been cut off by floods. "No Liquor at All "London, Nov. 16.—A Times despatch from Copenhagen says: "Advices from Posen indicate that there is much disaffection among the Poles in the eastern provinces of Germany. "The Poles complain that the Germans are neglecting the frontier because most of the inhabitants are Slavs. They declare that the Germans themselves are laying the frontier to waste in order to delay the Russians. They protest that Poles are put in the front of the battle line as cannon fodder. "The Germans, on the other hand, accuse the Poles of helping the Russians by espionage. "Too Many Turks; Russians Retire. "Paris, Nov. 16.—A statement given out by the Russian army staff in the Caucasus, dated at Tiflis and sent to the Havas Agency here, announces the retirement of the Russian advance guard in the region of Kopruckei, east of Erzerum. "The statement says:—"After a series of combats fought in the Kopruckei region, our advance guards definitely located the grouping of the principal forces of the enemy, in view of the considerable reinforcements received by the Turks in the last few days, coming from Chovyskai Erzerum and Trebizond, our advance guards are retiring, still fighting, to the regions allotted them. "The attempts made by the Turks to regain the Khanessouk Pass, previously taken by us, have failed. Other Russian detachments were not seriously engaged."

FINE WORK BY THE CZAR'S MEN AGAINST TURKS

Battles at Kopruckei Are Declared Historical

DIFFICULTIES OVERCOME

Russian Artillery Over Almost Impossible Roads—Enemy Armed With New German Guns and Fought Desperately But Were Beaten

Petrograd Via London, Nov. 16.—A Tiflis despatch to the Bourse Gazette says: "The stubborn battles at Kopruckei must be considered historical. The Russian artillery was obliged to move forward on almost impassable roads, there being neither railways nor highways. The railroads through the hills were often snow covered, while the bridges were such that it was impossible to take guns across them. All the provisions in the district had been removed by the Turks. "Day and night the Russians advanced on Kopruckei, taking position after position. The enemy's artillery at Kopruckei was a more with new German guns. The Turks fought desperately, suffering heavy losses. "Great exertion was done by the Russian mountain guns. Each time the enemy was driven back he received reinforcements and returned to the attack. The Turkish positions were very strong and were occupied by the Russians only on the evening of the second day of the battle. The trophies included some new rifles. "Another Tiflis despatch says that the Turkish army at Kopruckei was composed of sixty divisions. At a critical point in the battle, the Russians allowed the Turks to advance through the fog to within 100 paces before opening fire, which then threw the Turks into precipitate flight."

No Dugal Report Till The Legislature Meets?

Intimation Now That Government Has Assurance to Deny it to Public Until The House Opens

The provincial government has been called to meet in Fredericton at 8.30 on Tuesday evening. Speaking at the meeting this morning a member of the government said that the Chandler report on the St. John police department had been presented at the last meeting and might be taken up, for the purpose of deciding upon the action to be taken, tomorrow evening. "Regarding the Dugal report he said that the government really had nothing to do with it. The legislature, he said, had authorized the investigation, and had given the governor full power and all the machinery required to make the investigation, and so far as he saw the legislature would be the proper body for the governor to report to. Personally, he said, he had not seen it, and did not even know whether it was in the hands of the government. "Fredericton, N. B., Nov. 16.—Acting Premier Clarke announced today that the government would meet here tomorrow evening. He declined to state whether or not the Dugal report would be under consideration.

London, Nov. 16.—Westminster Abbey has been offered as a burial place for Field Marshal Earl Roberts, subject to the usual conditions that the body must be cremated. Lady Roberts, it is announced, is unable to accept the offer. "The body of the distinguished soldier will be brought to England in a few days. It is understood that Earl Roberts wished to be buried at All Saints Church at Ascot, near his home. A definite announcement regarding the burial place is expected soon. "According to Paris despatches, Earl Roberts was advised not to go to the front, until the weather moderated, but he refused to postpone the programme arranged for him. "German Press Tribute "Berlin, Nov. 16.—The Lokal Anzeiger in an editorial on the death of Lord Roberts says:—"On the occasion of the death of Lord Roberts, the whole German press expresses itself appreciatively about the fallen hero. Even in war, moments occur when the fighter salutes the enemy with the salute instead of striking him with it. Such a moment has arisen with the departure of Earl Roberts."

DEFINITE THAT LOCAL ARMY SERVICE CORPS WILL GO TO THE FRONT

Word Comes to Colonel Massie -- Today at the Army--Engineer Here From Halifax -- Men Come to Handle the Horses on V yage

The news published in the Times on Saturday that No. 7 Army Service Corps would go to the front with the second contingent was verified this morning in the receipt of orders from Halifax to Lieut. Col. A. E. Massie, instructing him to proceed with the contingent. This means that eighty-eight men will be taken from the already depleted ranks of No. 7 Co., and enlistment will commence at once. No announcement has as yet been made concerning the choice of officers. "Major Fred McKean is in command of this body, which volunteered for foreign service on condition that they go as a unit. The ordinary strength of No. 7 Co. has been 108 with three officers, and the former strength was 150 but for transportation and other reasons this has been cut to eighty-eight. All ready men have gone to the front from this unit, and several others are waiting to be sent. The volunteers will be quartered in the armory where a depot has been established by the company for the accommodation of the men now on duty there. "Further Improvements "Mr. Knight of the militia department of civil engineers at Halifax was in the city today in company with Lieut. Col. "The contingent will be in the city tomorrow or Wednesday and will make an inspection of the men, equipment and the barracks. THE KHEDEV'S INTENTIONS ARE NOW OF INTEREST

Berlin Statement That He Intends to Follow Spiritual Leader Against British

Berlin Via London, Nov. 16.—According to reports reaching here from Constantinople, the Khedive of Egypt will leave the Turkish capital soon to assume command of the Turkish operations against Egypt. He will be accompanied by a suite of fifty persons. "Abbas Hillal, Khedive of Egypt, has been in Constantinople since the outbreak of hostilities. He owes spiritual allegiance to the Sultan as the head of the Mohammedan faith. Despatches from Constantinople a month ago said the Khedive intended to follow the Sultan's lead in the war against the British government had ordered him not to return to Egypt. "A message from Berlin received yesterday said the Khedive had declared to the correspondent of a German newspaper his loyalty to the Sultan, which was dictated by his religious obligations. This same message said the Khedive intended to accompany the Turkish army when marching on Egypt by way of Palestine. "Constantinople, Nov. 16.—The Sultan of Turkey has issued a proclamation to the army and navy in which he accuses Great Britain, France and Russia of having instigated the war against Turkey. He says that the outcome will put an end to the attempts directed against the glory of the Turkish Empire. Exhorting his soldiers and sailors to bravery, the Sultan says: "Not only the fate of our own country, but the future fate of 800,000,000 Moslems depends on your victory."

GENERAL HUGHES ON MATTER OF RAID BY GERMANS ON CANADA

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 16.—Major General Sir Hughes returned today to an examination of the second contingent men in Kingston and Toronto. "The second force was enlisted chiefly while plans he laid down before crossing the Atlantic. "The officers in charge of the work," he said, "have received a fine lot of men and young men of the best class are still offering. Many of them have done a good deal of drilling this summer and not a few have been doing guard duty along the canal." "General Hughes fears no sudden raid of German Americans from across the border. There have been the usual number of American hunters looking for game along the border and their presence has led to the exaggerated stories of invaders gathering on the border. "It will do no harm," he said, "if our people on the border keep their sporting rifles oiled and some charges of buckshot on hand for their shot guns. However, I do not think any trespass will be committed on the international boundary."

WHERE TO ADDRESS THEM

London, Nov. 16.—Long association of the name with Canadian affairs in London is causing Lady Strathmore to receive, at her private address, numerous inquiries by mail and cable from Canada. The men had just completed the repairs to a break at the junction of the thirty-six and the twenty-four-inch mains at Marsh Bridge, caused by the weight of a steam roller, when word of another break was received. Commissioner Wigmore rushed a gang of men out at six o'clock this morning. The break was near the Venturi meters at the old Catholic cemetery, in the twenty-third ward, and was caused by the lead packing at one of the joints blowing out. umn at Salisbury Plain. It was written on October 30, and stated that the Canadians were inspected by Lord Roberts the day before. He added that he was in fine health and was going to pay a visit to London and would send home some souvenirs. Among other things he wrote:

"They are breaking us in to hardship just to see if we can stand it, but they aren't beat out a good Canadian. We are having rainy weather. In fact it is raining nearly all the time."

W. D. Cummings is another of the Every Day Club boys who went to the front, and in a previous letter to his mother he asked to be remembered to the boys of the club.

Mrs. Patrick Gallagher, of the Minto Hotel, Moncton, has received a letter from her son, Walter Gallagher, who is a "ditch" in the 5th Royal Highlanders, of Montreal, with the first Canadian contingent. Mr. Gallagher's letter is from the camp on Salisbury Plain, and writing of the voyage across, he says:

"The spy we caught was tried and shot fifteen minutes after he was captured. It is said he had enough explosives to blow up all our feet; but he was watched from the minute we left Quebec. The day we arrived some one came out from shore asking for him, so I guess it must have been some of his German friends. We (our company) were on guard, and the day we left the boat we had the prisoner in the guard room, and he was certainly watched. Five of us with rifles and fixed bayonets were his escort up to the last day. He was kept in a locked bathroom with armed guards at the door and port-hole."

MISSING MONCTON MAN FOUND DEAD; HAD ENDED LIFE

Letter Speaks of Trouble Caused By His Boys

Moncton, N. B., Nov. 16.—The body of Sydney Gray, aged fifty, who has been missing from his home for two months, was found on Sunday morning by Alopie S. Bourgeois, in the woods near the new city pumping station.

The body was badly decomposed, but was identified by the clothing and a jack-knife. A bottle containing carbolic acid lay near by. In a letter found in his clothes he refers to trouble caused by his boys, particularly one that had been sent to the reformatory in St. John. The letter read: "Bury me in Coganac on the bridge."

Lord Meath's reminder, in connection with the Empire day celebration recently, that the Union Jack is the national flag is perhaps unnecessary, says the Westminster Gazette, as until quite recently eminent authorities were of the opinion that the Red Ensign was entitled to that distinction, while not a few encroached on the royal prerogative by flying the Union Jack.

RECENT DEATHS

Telephone Call for Sleepers

If you want to catch an early train there is no need now to buy a special alarm clock; if you want, in fact, to do anything at any particular time there is no need to rely either upon your own efforts or upon the possibility of Eliza Jane failing to call you. All you have to do (says the Evening Standard) is to ring up from your own number the number of the telephone exchange. You tell her your number, and state that you want to be called, say, at 7:30 tomorrow morning, or, indeed, at any time of the day or night. The request is docketed by the supervisor and given to the operator, who rings your bell at the appointed time and keeps ringing it until you answer. For this service the charge is 2d. per call, in addition to your account.—Weekly Scotsman.

A Memorable Utterance

(London Observer).

Mr. Chamberlain, for all his oratorical skills, was not among the phrase-makers of politics, and his "Learn to think imperially" was at once his most typical and probably his most memorable utterance. It was given in his city speech of January, 1904, as a paraphrase of Alexander Hamilton's advice to his fellow countrymen in America: "Learn to think continentally."

And there was a pathetic appropriateness in the last quotation he uttered on the platform—the lines which he closed his great speech at Bingley Hall on July 7, 1905:

"Others, I doubt not, if not we charge—Weekly Scotsman. The issue of our toll shall see."

BRITISH AMBASSADOR'S VISIT TO OTTAWA SAID TO BE OF SIGNIFICANCE

Ottawa, Nov. 16.—Premier Borden and Hon. Robt. Rogers returned from the United States today. General Hughes came back from Kingston and Toronto. The British ambassador in Washington, Sir Cecil Spring Rice, arrived today for a few days' stay in Ottawa.

The simultaneous arrival of this distinguished quartet is said to have considerable significance. For some time there has been more or less friction over the source of allied army supplies from this continent. It has been held that Canadian manufacturers of several lines of army requirements, and especially of shells have not been getting a fair show at the business but the United States has been given the preference. This question will be discussed as well as the German-American invasion scare and the exclusion of German publications from Canada.

A Hint to Lion Hunters

Four lions attacked a herd of cattle on a farm at Rosack, South Africa. The herdboy, standing up his cattle, beat the charging lion with an axe, causing a pair of boots he had got the day previous, when he heard a low growl near him. On looking up he saw that three lions had got hold of three cows, while another lion stood looking on.

The boy pulled off his boots and thrust them into the lion's mouth, and then made a rush for them with a stick, shouting at the same time at the top of his voice to another herdboy to bring a gun.

In the meantime two lions had got their cow down, but nothing daunted, the Kafir made a rush for them, and the lions moved away from their prey. They boy then rounded up his cattle (he had 100 head), and while he was doing so had to chase the lions away several times; when he was at one side the lions would try to catch the cattle on the other. However, he brought all his cattle safely home. Since then one of the cows has died, the claw of a lion having penetrated her lung.

For cool dining it would be hard to beat the churning of four lions single-handed, and with no weapon except a pair of boots and a stick.—Weekly Scotsman.

The Scottish National Flag

Lord Meath's reminder, in connection with the Empire day celebration recently, that the Union Jack is the national flag is perhaps unnecessary, says the Westminster Gazette, as until quite recently eminent authorities were of the opinion that the Red Ensign was entitled to that distinction, while not a few encroached on the royal prerogative by flying the Union Jack.

A Journey to the Nearest Star

Let us suppose that some enterprising capitalist were to set about to open up traveling communication with the nearest so-called "fixed star." Let us imagine," says Bibo's Annual, "that the inter-tem and Centauri were provided with suitable atmospheric conditions for the journey, and that the difficulties in the way of obtaining explosive gases for driving the engines could be overcome. Let us also assume that the resistance of the ether was much less than our atmosphere and that, therefore, the flying machine could make greater headway. We will place the speed attainable at 500 miles an hour, and we will reduce the cost of the ticket proportionately, say, one penny per 100 miles. At this low rate, the traveler would require £1,000,000 to pay for it, and would reach his destination, if all went well, in about 689,447 years. Thus may we realize the enormous distance of space between the solar system and its nearest neighbor.

Intention of German Captors of Belgian Cities

STREETS ARE DESERTED

Populace Sullenly Refuse to Contribute to German Funds—Brussels Under Foreign Rule a Dismal Place at Night

A correspondent of the Times, London, recently in Brussels writes as follows:

More than two months have elapsed since the invading army entered Brussels. They still remain in varying numbers, but in sufficient quantity to maintain by brute force a momentary triumph over an offensive and almost defenceless people.

Since the alluring capital where laughter and gaiety used to reign, has become a dismal city of silence, Anxiety fills the hearts of thousands, and the fear of spies keeps their mouths closed. Only the conquerors talk aloud.

During the first few weeks of their occupation the Germans assumed a haughty bearing. The invaders treated the supreme contempt for the population. Since then, at least in the case of a certain number of officers, a change has come about. There are some among them who wish to be polite, who strive to cast off the old manner—arrogance and brutality for the sheer pleasure of being offensive and cruel. They are laboring painfully hard to persuade the people of Brussels that they are installed there for a long period, if not permanently, and the other evening a Saxon non-commissioned officer bluntly declared that it was "for our own good."

The enemy have undertaken works of which the object evidently is to impress the inhabitants and to make them believe that the German domination of the city will be of long duration. They have doubled the size of the enormous shed which formerly gave shelter to the few Belgian dirigibles, and in the new building in front of the cavalry barracks, gigantic pieces of iron work are being erected. On the railways they run a few trains, but these are used solely for the transports of their soldiers, active or wounded. About twice a day ago they were talking of establishing a service for passengers between Brussels and Ghent, a single fare 10c. Let them! Besides, the Germans are making at present something to occupy them in that district, and the first ticket has never been issued.

The museums and galleries are closed and guarded by soldiers with fixed bayonets. It is impossible to say exactly what is going on inside, and what is the nature of the work done by the officers who have swarmed in from Germany.

YOUNG MEN URGED BY PREACHERS TO ENLIST

Stirring discourses, in the interests of recruiting were delivered by several local pastors in city churches yesterday. The importance of young men joining the colors was urged by Rev. G. A. Kuhring, Rev. D. Hutchinson, and Rev. E. B. Hooper, while Rev. Dr. Morison and Rev. J. J. McCaskill referred to the present struggle and gave a scathing denunciation of the Kaiser.

That every young man capable of military service should volunteer was the foundation of the sermons given by the first three, and they made a fervent appeal to the youth of New Brunswick to rally to the standard and enlist in the 26th battalion.

The men of the latter regiment under Lieut. Col. McAvity attended St. Paul's church yesterday morning and heard the appeal of Rev. Hooper. They made a splendid appearance as they paraded through the streets, headed by the 62nd band. The Catholics in the battalion, numbering about fifty, under Captain Keeffe, attended service at the Cathedral.

TORY M. P. P. UNSEATED

Baddeck, C. B., Nov. 14—The Victoria county election of Philip MacLeod, (Conservative), was declared void by Justice Russell here today at the conclusion of the most memorable election trial ever held in the province of Nova Scotia. The trial which lasted ten days is the only provincial election case ever tried to conclusion in the courts.

No decision was handed down by his lordship on the charges against MacLeod for disqualification, but what ever this decision may be, it has been firmly established that the Victoria election was won by corrupt practices and fraudulent contrivances to unduly influence the electorate.

THE WORK BASKET

When drawing threads for hemstitching or drawn works, wet a small brush, rub it over white soap until it lathers, then scrub the threads that you are going to draw. You will be greatly astonished to find how easily they will come out without breaking when you treat the goods in this manner.

Some women sew small snap fasteners to the brim of the motor-boonet and also to several veils, so that a change of veils may be effected quickly when the costume calls for particular color, or when one veil has become damp or dusty midway of the trip and one wishes to freshen up a bit before entering a restaurant.

Fire at Wickham.

A house owned by A. W. Baird at Wickham was destroyed by fire on Saturday. The loss is estimated at $5,000. The building was unoccupied.

A youth and a maiden were sitting on a seat under a tree in a quiet country lane. Darkness was setting in, and the evening was growing chilly.

"Miss Robinson," said the bashful young man, "I am afraid you are cold. Shall I take off my overcoat and put it round you?"

"You may put your coat round me," murmured the fair one, "but why take it off?"

GOOD COMEDIANS AND SPRIGHTLY CHORUS AT OPERA HOUSE TONIGHT

Season of Musical Comedy by Company of Twenty to Open With The Traveling Man

The Thompson Musical Comedy Company will open an engagement at the Opera House tonight presenting "The Traveling Man," a musical farce in two acts.

In offering a company of comedians backed by a sprightly and pretty chorus in a series of musical comedies at cheap prices, the management of the Opera House feel that they are giving an entertainment at once pleasing, diverting and inexpensive, something that will hit the popular taste, cater to the critical and at the same time be within the reach of all. A two hours entertainment of mirth, music, light and laughter by twenty clever people should be an innovation quickly appreciated by the theatre-goers of St. John.

Performances will be given every evening with Wednesday and Saturday matinees. The prices will be ten, twenty and thirty cents.

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

Don't Stay Gray! Here's an Old-time Recipe That Anybody Can Apply

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully black, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair, and it dawns the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair appears and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and abundant.

FOUR LIVES LOST IN SCHOONER WRECK

The schooner St. Anthony, from St. John for Selma, N. S., went ashore in Advocate Harbor, N. S., during the storm on Saturday and four lives were lost, including the master, Captain W. L. Gates, Daniel Hanlon, cook, and Harry Moore, and a sailor named McElduff.

The men of the tern schooner M. K. Rawley, of Boston, which was towed in to port on Saturday afternoon by the tugboat G. K. King, Captain Golding, had an exciting and nerve-racking experience aboard her on Saturday morning during the severe lighting storm. A ball of lightning caused her gasoline tank to explode and she caught fire. Only heroic efforts on the part of Captain Griffin and his crew saved her and they had a thrilling experience before being picked up by the tug G. K. King.

The St. John schooner W. H. Watters was rescued on Saturday near Sheepscot river by the U. S. revenue cutter Woodbury.

Was Troubled for Years With Kidney Disease

And This Treatment Cured Me—This Statement Endorsed By a Baptist Minister.

The great majority of people are familiar with the extraordinary curative powers of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. But for those who are not well acquainted with reports from persons who have been actually cured.

The case described in this letter was an extreme one, and the writer was in a very low condition when he began the use of these pills. The cure was so marked that Mr. Mosher's pastor did not hesitate to vouch for his statement.

By their unique combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cure in Co., Limited, Toronto.

Tomorrow night's meeting at the Imperial Theatre, in the interest of the recruiting movement, will appeal to the citizens, not only because of the grave crisis which has called it forth, but because of the presence of the distinguished speakers of the evening.

enough to see the fullest justification of his persistent plea for universal military training. He would have rejected to live to see the armies of Britain emerge triumphant from this great struggle, but the thought of self was never with him.

Born in a military camp at Cawnpore, Roberts was bred a soldier. Trained in the military school at Sandhurst, he returned to India at the age of twenty, with the rank of lieutenant. He learned the Hindi language, and for forty-one years pursued a brilliant career, which carried him through the Indian Mutiny, the Abyssinian, Afghan and Burmese wars, won him an earldom and a field-marshal's baton, and made him the most famous British soldier of his time.

THE WAR NEWS

Much now depends upon Russia. The attempts of the German armies to break through the French and British lines in Belgium and France continue to result in failure. In the field the German losses are heavy, and their officers appear to be utterly regardless of the lives of their men.

The reports from St. Petersburg indicate that the Russian armies continue to advance, while the reports from London and Paris show that the Germans are unable to gain any success at any point along the extended line in France and Belgium.

Each week brings further evidence that the hope of the Sultan to be able to unite Mohammedanism in a holy war is doomed to failure. India is fighting for Britain. Arabia would be glad to be rid of Turkish rule. Persia entertains a strong prejudice against the Germans.

LORD ROBERTS.

"Lord Roberts is dead!" The news passed from lip to lip, and carried with it the grief born of a great and common loss. Lord Roberts, one of the builders of empire was also "Little Bob," the idol of the army and the hero of many a brilliant campaign.

Some German-Americans in Wisconsin notified President Wilson that armament for Canada had passed through the state, and protested against it as a violation of neutrality. Secretary Bryan replied that there was no violation of neutrality. Mr. Bryan is right. Article 7 of the Hague Convention says: "A neutral state is not bound to prevent exportation or transit for the account of either belligerent of arms, munitions of war and, in general, anything which may be useful for an army or a fleet."

This is the day on which the long delayed report of the Royal Commission on the Dugal charges was finally to be presented to the provincial government. In the meantime Mr. E. S. Carter has made definite and startling charges against Mr. W. H. Berry, who has returned to Attorney-General Clarke to take prompt action in the matter.

Worse Than a Crime, a Mistake ONE WAY OF WRECKING A FAMILY

(By E. K. Wooley.) "There is a woman in our neighborhood," says a trained nurse, "who has been committing a terrible crime against her own family and against society ever since she has been married."

"The only thing she complains about is that there is so much sickness in her family all the time. She is never sick herself, but she is worked to death attending to the other members of her family. Her husband is a consumptive, and is unable to hold a steady position. Between you and me, he won't last more than two or three years at the most. Yet she constantly complains and makes his life miserable because he isn't earning wages, and I believe she lies awake half the night thinking up something for him to do next day."

POINTS OF IDEAL BRIDE

Woman Court Officer Places Beauty at Bottom of List—Meets Many Unhappy Brides. The winning of a beautiful woman for a wife does not by any means assure a happy and successful married life, but very often brings about a tragic result because beauty has glossed over many shortcomings of the bride, according to the opinion expressed by Mrs. J. D. Rippin, of the domestic relations division of the municipal court.

"The girl, bright of eye and radiant of face, that Doctor Hall describes as the ideal bride, must be healthy. If she has had digestion, for instance, she would be neither bright of eye nor radiant of face. "It is very much of a duty to posterity for a man or woman to choose a mate who is healthy and normal, for this is necessary if the succeeding generations are to be healthy ones."

HAVE YOU A NEEDLE ECONOMY HINTS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

BY MARGARET J. BLAIR
(Lecturer on Home Economy, University of Minnesota.)
(Copyright, 1914, by Margaret J. Blair.)

The charm of life is in service—the service of the man to the woman, of the woman to the man, of both to their families and friends.

A woman is never so attractive as when she is mixing biscuits or making cookies in her kitchen. Don't spoil the pretty service and all it means to husband and children by going about it in torn and soiled garments.

Blue and white are the colors that look cleanest and therefore best in the kitchen. The best cotton fabrics for kitchen dresses are dyed in the yard. They do not spot or streak as those dyed in the piece do.

An Economical Kitchen Apron.

Below I give the most economical plan for making an apron:

Materials—Three-fourths of a yard of checked gingham, white silkenee for loop stitching, white thread and needles to correspond to thread.

I.—Hemming the Apron.

1. For the band, take off a piece 21-2 inches wide down one side. Cut the selvage from both sides first.
2. When goods is washed the selvage is likely to draw, so it is better to remove it.
- 3.—Turn a 1-8 inch hem on both long sides of the gingham. Be sure that they are both turned onto the same side.
- 3.—After basting the hems, hem them with very fine stitches as you learned in Lesson IV.
- 4.—Make a 1-2 inch hem at the bottom, turning it up on the same side with the side hems.
- 5.—Remove the bastings.

II.—Making the Pockets

- 1.—Turn the hemmed end up 8-12 inches, folding the right sides together.
- 2.—Baste carefully along both sides and the top, matching the checks and following one row of checks at the top.
- 3.—At the top of the pocket thus formed, begin overhanding the hemmed edges together. Be sure the thread is fastened well at both ends.
- 4.—Pull the bastings.
- 5.—Turn the pocket right side out, push out the corners till they are square, and make the bottom edge straight. You now have a pocket the width of your apron.
- 6.—Find the length of the bottom.
- 7.—Divide the number you get by three, measure in from one corner the number of inches you get by dividing, and mark the place by putting in a pin; do the same from the other corner.
- 8.—Baste the pocket down across the top and baste the pocket to the apron, beginning at the pins and following a row of checks to the top of the apron.
- 9.—Use the 1-2 inch basting stitch with the goods made in your own country. At first it may seem an awkward thing to do. But as soon as a few other people get into it, and these few get each a few more into the swing and the good cheer of the movement, there begins to be a general feeling of elation that becomes contagious. Everybody catches it. Everybody is delighted.

There is about this made-in-Canada movement the exhilaration that comes from being part of a great revival of home interest. Looking at it individually no man sees much in it. Looking at this and that purchase as part of a grand general movement, every individual acquires a new perspective and a determination about it that creates its own desire for more. Once this made-in-Canada movement gets going, a man or woman might as well be out of the world as out of the fashion. And the joy comes from being one of a large number engaged in the same thing.

SCROFULA AND ALL HUMORS GIVE WAY

There are many things learned from experience and observation that the older generation should impress upon the younger. Among them is the fact that scrofula and other humors are most successfully treated with Hood's Sarsaparilla. A CONTAGIOUS THRILL

There used to be a familiar diversion in the high school laboratory, when the science master stuck two slabs of metal into an acid and got a whole string of boys and girls to join hands in a circuit. The more people there were in the circuit the greater the fun. With only one or two the shock seemed to hurt. With a large number it made everybody happy. It's the same way with buying

1.—Take a piece of thread and knot it 2.—At the right side, 1-4 inch from the top, begin sewing.

3.—Holding the cloth and needle between the thumb and first finger of the right hand, take a needle full of running stitches.

4.—Wind the thread around first end of the needle, then the other, to hold the cloth on it.

5.—Hold the cloth between the thumb and first finger of the left hand and with the right hand pull the thread until they are even.

6.—Now bring the needle through after unwinding the thread.

7.—Finish gathering the apron in this manner, straightening each needleful as you go on.

8.—Leave a piece of thread and tie a knot in it instead of fastening.

IV.—To Put on the Band.

- 1.—Remove the selvage from the piece of material you wish to use for a band.
- 2.—Find your waist measure and add to it 1 1/2 inches.
- 3.—Measure off this distance on the piece you have for a band and cut it off.
- 4.—Find the center of the top of the apron and the center of the band. Mark both with pins.
- 5.—Pin these points together, being

THE BRITISH SHIP; NEW BRUNSWICK OFFICER AND THE KAISER'S MEN

The Sydney, Australia, paper which published the story of the British steamer Messina and Chief Officer Lewis, as told in Friday's Times, also gave the following account in verse.

Scene—Island of Nauru, just declared by the Germans to be under martial law. British tramp steamer Messina at anchor. Mr. J. G. Lewis, chief officer, on duty. German boat, containing police magistrate and armed patrol, rows to out of companion ladder.

Magistrate—We want to come aboard. Chief officer—(rapidly hauling up companion ladder)—By whose orders? Magistrate—By the orders of His Majesty the Emperor of Germany.

Chief officer—(ringing engineering room for all speed ahead)—Ho-ho! 'Bout ship, and to Halifax with the Kaiser! (Exit British tramp steamer Messina). Dramatised version of recent Nauru news.

It was a simple British tramp, That sailed the summer sea; And the skipper had taken a brass-bound mate To bear him company.

The mate was tough as a marlin-spike, And staunch as a garboard strake, And he'd back his craft and his seamanship At any odds you'd take.

The mate he stood beside the helm, (The skipper was ashore) And he was aware of a German boat, With a crew of half a score.

Then up and spoke that brass-bound mate—

"What make you here?" said he, He boat was in charge of a magistrate And he answered frank and free,

"I ain't no mate aboard," he said, "Whose orders?" asked the mate, "The name of the German Emperor, And I can't afford to wait!"

He mate he winked the other eye, For an artful card was he; And then he looked at the magistrate, And he laughed loud laughter three.

"Father, I hear escaping gas, O, say, what may it be? Is a German hot-air plant at work? But it cuts no ice with me!"

"Father, I hear the church-bells ring, O say, what may it be? Is the gong that goes in the engine-room? And he steered for the open sea.

"O father, I see the bunting fly— Is a brass-bound mate so meek, Is to dip the Jack from its place on high At the word of a square-head beak?"

All down, all down on the ocean blue, While the engines thump with a will, A tramp in charge of a brass-bound mate, Who has eched Kaiser Bill.

On the Nauru beach they landed a magistrate, He cursed that ever he tried to teach A point to a brass-bound mate.

Upon being told the gentleman hired an automobile to reach the train, just missing connection at Thomaston, but overtook the train at the George's River station, seven miles from Rockland.

AMERICAN WRITER ON VISIT TO SOME GERMAN CITIES

A Tale of General Zeppelin Raid on England Simultaneous With Fleet Movement

The London Daily Mail prints an American account of his visit to Bremen and Hamburg, affording a striking picture of the deserted docks at these ports. He says: "In Bremen the hotels are deserted, but the theatres and cafes are full. There is plenty of evidence of unemployment, as shops and business houses are closed and the harbor is silent. The docks at Bremerhaven are crowded with shipping, but there is no life there. I was told that transports were there waiting to convey troops to England.

"At Hamburg I found the same listlessness, the same dense lines of shipping in port and deserted wharves. Bread, barley and malt are running short. The government is subsidizing landlords against the loss of their rents. It is not possible to speak English in public owing to the hatred for England.

"In the harbor I was shown three huge liners, transformed by a coat of grey paint and yellow funnels. Soldiers swarming over them proclaimed them to be transports destined for the invasion of England. I was told that the soldiers were forbidden to leave the ships and nobody was allowed to approach them.

"There is great aircraft activity in Hamburg. I saw eleven sheds, each said to contain a Zeppelin. There are any number of aeroplanes at the air camp, made up of all types. It was reported there that fifty Zeppelins are being built. A lieutenant in the flying corps told me it was absurd to suppose that the Germans would waste their Zeppelins by single raids on London. The Zeppelins were being built for the time when the fleet, accompanied by the aeroplanes, would attack the British coast simultaneously. This, however, was not the plan for the present, but for the coming spring.

"In contrast to Hamburg, seething with activity, the streets swarming with sailors and marines, while in the harbor despatch boats dashed hither and thither.

A Worcester business man living in one of the suburban towns rode into Worcester in his automobile and left it in a garage while he went to keep several appointments. When he was ready to return home it was very late and the last trolley car had left. Forgetting that he came into town in his automobile he walked the three miles home.

RECENT DEATHS

Bathurst, N. B., Nov. 15—(Special)—Thomas D. Adams died at 7 o'clock this morning. The late Mr. Adams has been one of the most prominent citizens of Bathurst, for many years having been the president of the Adams Burns Co. which was, until a few years ago, one of the largest lumber concerns in the province. Although he has been in poor health for the past year, the end came suddenly, as he was about town yesterday and seemed stronger than for some time. His loss will be keenly felt, especially by the poor of this community, to whom Mr. Adams had endeared himself by many acts of generosity.

He was a brother of the late Hon. Michael Adams, of Newcastle, for many years a prominent figure in the political life of the province, and of Hon. Samuel Adams, John Adams and Richard D. Adams, of New York. Mrs. J. D. Creighton and Mrs. Lawrence Doyle, of Newcastle, and Mrs. John Flanagan, of New York, are sisters, and Mrs. Frank Chase and Mrs. John Sousa, of New York, are daughters, and William Adams, of New York, is his only son.

"Made in Canada" Let this Slogan rival "Made in Germany"

YEARS ago Germany started on the high road to prosperity by a "Made in Germany" campaign. On every article of manufacture she sent out, appeared the words "Made in Germany." So universal did this expression become that it developed into an international joke and many comic songs were written in the English and French languages on the motto. But it had a great effect on the trade of Germany. From the adoption of that motto may be dated the rise of German world-trade. It made the German people realize that "Made in Germany" meant much for their Empire.

Canada has been buying "Made in Germany" Goods to the extent of nearly fifteen million dollars per annum. The shutting down of these imports from Germany gives Canada a chance to retaliate with "Made in Canada." From Germany we have been getting Dyestuffs, Chemicals, many articles of Hardware, Fancy Goods and many kinds of Clothing. We have also been importing wines and liquors of all kinds. Everything has borne that trade mark "Made in Germany." There is hardly anything that ever came from abroad that cannot be made in the Dominion just as cheaply and just as good—and which cannot be used with just as much, or more, satisfaction.

Take gin as an example. We have in Canada RED CROSS GIN, a gin distilled in our city of Berthierville, that has in the last 20 years made itself into a national drink because of its purity, its medicinal qualities, its superiority over all others as a beverage. It is popular amongst both French and English Canadians. Yet in spite of the high standard and popularity of this Canadian gin there is still some foreign gin imported from Continental Europe every year. Why should one cent's worth be imported? Canadian gin should be good enough for true Canadians. Buy "Made in Canada" goods, no matter whether it is gin or hardware. Teach every good Canadian the slogan "Keep your cash in Canada." Let the motto "Made in Canada" rival in force and application "Made in Germany." Made in Canada means more trade for Canada, more money for all of us; it means prosperity for our homeland of Canada. Buy "Made in Canada" gin—RED CROSS GIN. It is better than any imported gin because its maturity is guaranteed by the Government—see the label on every bottle.

10 Ways YOU can help Canada

- 1—Remember Canada first in all things—moral and material.
- 2—Use Canadian flour, Canadian cloth, Canadian cutlery, Canadian metal products, in fact use Canadian products of all kinds.
- 3—Use Canadian food on your table—Canadian canned goods, Canadian preserves, Canadian pickles.
- 4—Drink Canadian drinks—use Canadian gin. Ask your dealer for them and see that you get them. Insist always on "RED CROSS" Gin.
- 5—Write your letters on Canadian paper with a Canadian pen and use Canadian blotting paper.
- 6—Be SURE your money goes into Canadian pockets.
- 7—When you buy an imported article that can be made in Canada, Canada is poorer by the amount of money you spend, as well as by the bad example you set.
- 8—If you MUST buy imports, Great Britain and her Allies have first right to your money.
- 9—Don't buy German and Austrian goods under any circumstances because every cent you spend on such goods helps the enemy.
- 10—Let nothing detract you from carrying out these commandments and adopt for your motto at all times and under all circumstances: "CANADA FIRST."

Keep your Cash in Canada Canada for the Canadians—always!

Do Not Forget! Canada's matured RED CROSS GIN will change its name and be known from January 1st next as GOLD CROSS GIN

Poland, Another Belgium, Lies Bleeding and Desolate Under Feet of Gigantic Forces of Slav and Teuton

Correspondent W. H. Nevison Writes of the Fighting at the Eastern Front—The Czar's Great Masses—Forn Refugees, and Babies Born on the Roadside—The Russian Officer Calls the Private "My Brother"

Cossack on foot, from Nevison's Note Book.

(By messenger to Athens and mail to United States.) Petrograd, Russia, Oct. 17.—Poland is another Belgium. Constantly recurring visions of the ravages wrought by the waves of troops, both Russian and German, fill the observer's heart with horror even after he has left the territory far behind. Pillage and plunder, starvation and despair sum up the outrage on another innocent people. Things may have been terrible in Belgium but among the poor, destitute Poles as a class are far from being as well-to-do as the Belgians and famine already holds them in its grip. Scattered everywhere over what was a peaceful farming section are remains of property of varied description.

"Are you wounded, too?" I asked her. "No, it is your blood," she explained. "Where is your mother?" "Where is your mother?" "Mother, it seems, had run off to tell the Russians nearby that a patrol of thirty Germans had entered the town. I then asked the child how she had gotten so covered with blood and she told me she was bleeding so much that she attempted to stop it with her dress but failed. "Then I laid down on your ear, just here—pointing to her breast—while Volka went home for a towel. "Volka seemed so small he could hardly walk; surely he didn't know what it was all about. Yet these infants were so covered with blood and she undoubtedly saved me from bleeding to death. "Many boys have done much to help the soldiers, another officer told me. They have left their feeble parents to stay where there is excitement and many wounded soldiers would have died of thirst had not these youngsters crawled out to find them and give them water. Enormous Russian Force "The grave of the German army lies in Poland." Russian officers have made a slogan out of this death of the general staff which amounts to an order with them. With the enormous army now mobilized in Poland the chief desideratum is to make good their threat. Berlin is the goal and with only half of the German army to offer resistance to the gigantic force of the Czar, it seems that the Moscovites must ultimately attain their end by sheer weight of numbers. Caring for the wounded behind an army of two or three million men is a task to defy the efforts of the greatest Red Cross in any nation of the world and in Russia the church has instructed that a "Monks of Mercy" corps be established. Many of the state bishops will take the field, not entirely as chaplains, but as physicians and monasteries have been educated in the problem of the war department. In Petrograd the Empress Alexandra and Grand Duchesses Olga and Tatiana assist the wounded and take an active part in caring for the wounded, another example of the democracy pervades the religious houses of Russia. By the way, it may be interesting to note that the Czarina speaks English with a rich Irish brogue. "English is practically the court language of Russia. When the present empress was a girl her governess was an Irish woman and she had given a "Dah-lin" instead of dropping them. All Men Are Brothers. Another curious thing is that at the front the officers address their men as "brothers," while discipline is maintained through the worship accorded to the Russian officer. The Russian officer does not order "charge." He says "Let us charge, my brothers," a custom existing in all Slav lands. Japan has furnished the machinery to make Russian guns run on gasoline, which Russia exports to her allies. The Russians have learned a lesson in German tactics from the German taught Japanese and the Kaiser will find them fighting his own game. "The Hub" is doomed.

LADY GREY'S DEATH. LIFE TRAGEDY OF FOREIGN MINISTER

Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign minister, is not one of those statesmen who find any relief from the cares of his great office in social life. Mr. Gladstone was a great diner-out and loved the theatre. He was in a box in the theatre when the news of Gordon's death was brought to him. Sir Edward Grey is never out of his own home when not at his office during the working days of the week. But at the end of the week, the sport-sacred week-end, he is always to be found at a little inn or cottage he has built for himself by the side of his favorite pastime of fishing with the voices that would break in upon his solitude. The death of his wife a few weeks after he had been appointed to his high office left him one of the loneliest and most solitary men in the world. There were, unhappily, no children born during those years of perfect comradeship and love, and when Lady Grey died, he seemed to close forever the doors of his heart to all who would intrude as he kept tryst with memory. The circumstances of Lady Grey's death were to him a tragedy beyond even the losing of her. She was driving in the park on his estate in Northumberland, when the horses got out of hand and bolted, and she was dashed against a tree. Sir Edward happened to be in London on state affairs at the time, and when the news reached him he rushed to Northumberland through the night on a special train, only to find her unconscious, in which state she remained for two days, when she died. He gave it out that he never wished any reference made to it and returned to London, steered against all the lights and glamor of social life which would have sought in the interest application to his duties distraction that should preserve his peace and his sanity. For Lady Grey was one of those remarkable women who, while possessing all the charms and fascinations of social life, yet had a brain of unusual aptitude for politics and affairs, so that she was in very truth his other self. At times of general election she and he would start at different ends of his constituency, so that there would be meetings in every place, one addressed by each of them, and it is difficult to say which meeting was the most popular. —Milwaukee Press.

Earl Roberts, Veteran Field Marshal Succumbs to Pneumonia

EARL ROBERTS DIED IN FRANCE

Veteran Field Marshal Succumbs to Pneumonia

DISTINGUISHED CAREER "Bobs" the Idol of the British Army—Has Been Strong Advocate of Compulsory Military Training

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Field Marshal Earl Roberts died in France on Saturday night. As colonel-in-chief of the Indian troops he came to France to give them his greetings. He followed a severe chill on Thursday, pneumonia followed and on Saturday evening at eight o'clock he expired.

Lord Roberts was in his usual good health when he left England on Saturday night with his daughter, Lady Aileen Roberts, and his son-in-law, Major Lewis. The party had a rough trip crossing the channel, but the aged general no ill effects and went through with his programme on the continent. In fact, he was about to return home when his attack occurred.

Earl Roberts had motored to the British bases and camp, had reviewed the Canadian troops at Salisbury Plain on Oct. 24, this being the last body of soldiers reviewed by the great soldier. He was in the best of health when he left for the front, and he was in the best of health when he died.

Not since the death of General Gordon in Khartoum has the British soldier in the field been so widely mourned. Lord Roberts, who served for 47 years in the army, was nearly 70 when he died. He was a devoted and faithful to his grand chief, the late Lord Roberts, and his death is a great loss to the British Empire.

His was a long career. It takes us back in the history of India to a time that seems strangely remote today when the British flag was flying over the valley of the Ganges. He was born in historic Cawnpore in 1832, a year that is associated with the Sepoy rebellion. He was a soldier with the Corn Laws, a champion of the poor, and a member of the House of Commons. He was a general in 1878, lieutenant-general in 1883, and commander-in-chief from 1901 to 1904.

Yet it is in his field service that he is best known, thanks to the worship that the British people have for him from the first day of his command. He was a general in the Boer war, and he was a general in the Boer war. He was a general in the Boer war, and he was a general in the Boer war.

ARMENIANS LEND AID TO RUSSIA IN ADVANCE ON TURKEY—THE RUSSIAN MARCH OVER THE CARPATHIAN MOUNTAINS

WARSAW, Nov. 16.—Representatives of the Petrograd relief and for Poland have arrived here from the capital with fifty cartloads of provisions for destitute families and 200,000 rubles ($180,000) in money for the relief of the needy.

Russian soldiers continue to unearth German machine guns, rifles and ammunition which had been concealed by the forces of Emperor William in mounds on the battlefields, which had been given the appearance of graves. The presumption here is that the German soldiers had buried this material in their contemplated new attack on Warsaw.

Reports from the Turkish border at Khandaklar and a number of other points in the Armenian region, for he had been nearly three years in the army; even in retirement, "Bobs" was a soldier at heart, and it is fitting that he should be instrumental in forming it.

PROGRESS OF WAR SINCE SATURDAY

LONDON, Nov. 15, 9.45 p.m.—After four weeks of most desperate fighting there is a lull in the battle in Flanders. With this lull, however, has come little relief for the men in the trenches, for the artillery and rifle fire, to which they have been subjected with hardly any intermission, has been replaced by one of those severe storms which so often accompany November in this latitude.

In some parts of England the storm has reached the proportions of a blizzard; on the sea heavy gales rage, and the battle fields are getting their full share of wind and rain.

For the most part, the opposing armies have been content to shell each other at long range, but the French general staff, have been repulsed, with heavy losses. Despite these losses, it is not believed that the Germans have any intention of giving up their attempt to reach the French coast, and the Allies are making elaborate preparations to block any further advance in force.

Extensive defence works have been erected along the Yser canal, and the French army are holding that line from the Belgian border south to the French Otis, and pushing forward approach works which place them in a better position for either defence or offensive.

The fact is apparent that neither side has been able to make any sensible advance, both being so well entrenched that neither artillery nor infantry can move them.

The Germans are turning Belgium into a fortress, which means that if they do not succeed in advancing, they intend to be prepared for a winter in Belgium. The whole coast from Ostend to the Dutch border has been placed in a state of defence, and civilians are rigorously excluded from that area.

Fighting continues in East Prussia and other regions in the eastern areas, but the Russian advance has been checked. The Russian advance has been checked, and the Russian advance has been checked.

Bulgaria also has set at rest the report that she had an agreement with Turkey, and has issued a statement that no such agreement exists.

The Servians and Montenegrins, who started out to invade Bosnia and Herzegovina and were at one time approaching the Bosnian capital of Sarajevo, are now back in their own territory, where, according to their own accounts, they are offering a stubborn resistance to the Austrians. The weather is favorable to them, as snow is falling.

It is officially announced that two German regimental flags, found in the trenches formerly occupied by the Germans on the Marne, have been discovered opposite to the position then held by the British.

More Noblemen Killed

LONDON, Nov. 15, 11.05 p.m.—The official list of noblemen killed in the war, published today, shows that three noblemen were killed, and 10 wounded, and 4 missing, during the week ending Nov. 15. The names of some of the more prominent noblemen who have been killed are given below.

FOOD SOURING IN STOMACH CAUSES INDIGESTION, GAS

It's truly wonderful—so gentle and so easy that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

FOR THE FUNDS

Seven young girls, Carrie Haynes Gertrude, Marion Lahey, and Marion Mary and Evelyn O'Brien, and Marion Belding, who have been preparing for several weeks for a fancy sale and tea of a small scale for the benefit of the Belgian fund, held it on Saturday afternoon in the Boys' Club hall, Union street. They were assisted by Mrs. Guilford Haynes, Mrs. Lahey and Mrs. A. M. Belding. The sum of $18.57 was raised, and was at once taken by the girls to the home of Mayor Finlay, treasurer of the Belgian fund.

The Longshoremen's Union has decided to tax its members to raise money for the relief of the Belgian fund. The contribution will be turned over to the committee of ladies in charge of the scheme.

Percy Burdell, son of Hon. John Burdell, Nelson, Northumberland Co., assisted by the parish priest, raised $9 for the Belgian relief fund. A fund of $100 was raised for the Belgian relief fund, and was at once taken by the girls to the home of Mayor Finlay, treasurer of the Belgian fund.

MINISTERS' SALARIES ARE LESS THAN $600

Fifty Per Cent of Methodist Clergymen in New England Live on Small Stipends

Boston, Nov. 16.—A gloomy picture of the financial position of the average New England minister was painted by H. J. Burghalter of the Boston School of Theology in his report on a study of ministers' salaries to the New England convention of Methodist men in Tremont Temple.

Figures thrown upon a lantern screen, summarizing up certain features of the report, showed that 50 per cent of the ministers in New England are getting less than $600 a year in salary. The average annual stipend paid to a minister in a New England church, according to the figures, is $476.62 of which $303.72 represents cash and $162.90 parsonage rent or equivalent sums.

Both sermons were closely followed, and the congregations followed the remarks with sympathy and patriotic fervor.

WAR SERMONS IN FAIRVILLE CHURCH

In the Fairville Methodist church yesterday both morning and evening Rev. Gilbert Earle delivered forceful sermons on the war, emphasizing the need for men to bring the conflict to the successful conclusion that such a righteous cause deserves.

It was not possible to keep peace when choice was between peace and righteousness. The writer to the Herald told that Jesus Christ was first the King of Righteousness at all hazards and then the King of Peace.

The house at 183 Broad street, occupied by George Larsen and several other families, caught fire a little after six o'clock last evening, and the result might have been serious had not the flames been noticed by some neighbors living nearly a block away. Mr. and Mrs. Larsen and child were out visiting at the time. Several men attracted by the reflection of the flames forced an entrance into the house and beat out the fire without the assistance of the department. The floor and walls of the kitchen were badly scorched. The loss is very grateful to his neighbors for their prompt action. The fire had probably caught from the kitchen range.

ROTARY CLUB MEN HERE FROM HALIFAX; BUT WEATHER NOT PLEASANT

Sixteen members of the Halifax Rotary Club are in the city today as guests of the local branch of the club. Owing to the unfavorable weather the plans for a trip around the harbor as guests of the city, and an automobile trip of inspection this afternoon had to be abandoned, but the St. John men are doing their best to make up for the loss, by other entertainment.

This morning was spent in conference, discussing the work of the club and other matters of mutual interest. This afternoon the members were the guests of the manager of the Imperial Theatre for the first show, and are planning an athletic contest, probably in the form of bowling. The visitors will be the guests of the members of the St. John Rotary Club at a banquet in Bond's restaurant this evening.

Among those who have accepted invitations for this evening are Senator Thorne, Mayor Frink, Commissioner Wigmore, J. M. Robinson, J. A. Likely, R. E. Armstrong, Hon. John E. Wilson, H. M. Culver, U. S. consul here; L. W. Simms, W. H. Goding, E. L. Rising, H. C. Page, H. H. Marshall, and others. The visitors include W. A. Hart, W. P. Schon, G. W. Winters, Charles N. Batters, H. H. Marshall, George E. Book, Andrew R. Cobb, J. C. Harrison, M. P. Webster, J. L. Ralston, LeB. Coleman, George Wallace, Walter Parker, Frank A. Marr, George E. Ritchie and J. C. Lyall, international director.

GREAT MEETING IN IMPERIAL THEATRE TOMORROW NIGHT

Tomorrow night's great meeting at the Imperial Theatre will be addressed by Bishop Richardson, Bishop LeBlanc and Mr. Justice McKeown, who will dwell upon the duty of New Brunswickers to fill up the ranks of the battalion for the second Canadian contingent. Men in khaki will act as ushers, and as many as possible of the men already enlisted will be on the platform.

Patriotic choruses will be sung by the Daughters of the Empire and Mrs. Walter A. Harrison, whose husband will go to the war, will sing a patriotic song. It will be a notable evening in the history of St. John.

WANT GENERAL HUGHES TO ADDRESS CANADIAN CLUB

In view of the reports that Major-General Hon Sam Hughes is to visit St. John this week, the secretary of the Canadian Club wired him this morning, asking him to address the club while in the city.

STRONG WIND TODAY; COLDER LIKELY, SAYS THE WEATHER MAN

A very severe gale is blowing along the Atlantic coast, keeping up with steady force since Friday night. Today's storm caused a heavy sea. The wind held up to nine o'clock this morning, ranged from thirty-four to forty miles in velocity while there was half an inch of rainfall. Storm signal No. 4 has been ordered up, indicating fresh heavy gales and the prospects are that a cold spell will set in by tomorrow.

A MATTER OF MAILS WHICH AFFECTS ST. JOHN

The advisability of bringing United States mails to St. John on the Boston express when the C. P. R. train from Montreal is an hour or more late was recently drawn to the attention of Hon. Mr. Hazen by the St. John Board of Trade. Under the existing arrangement, protracted delays to United States mails to St. John city and also to any English mails that come via New York, are possible. To obviate these detentions, the request was made. Hon. Mr. Hazen was the board of the subject is now receiving the consideration of the postal department.

The Toronto Board of Trade in a letter to the St. John board approves of a British-owned Atlantic cable as recommended by it, but does not deem it prudent to press the matter upon the attention of the government at this time. A similar reply has been received from the Hamilton Board of Trade. The Truro, N. S., Board of Trade, which was asked some time ago for a report on business conditions in that section, with a view to securing stimulating information, writes that the idea is an excellent one and it will endeavor to cooperate.

E. L. JEWETT ESTATE $15,140

In the probate court today the matter of the estate of Edward L. Jewett, lumber merchant, was taken up. He died intestate, leaving his wife, Bethiah W. Jewett, and a son, Leonard M. Jewett. On the petition of these two the son was appointed administrator. There is no real estate; personally $1,500; Life insurance payable to the widow, $18,840. Succession A. Skinner is executor.

In the matter of the estate of Jane Robertson, widow of John Robertson, trader, there was return of a citation to pass the accounts of Mrs. Margaret A. Robertson, widow, daughter-in-law of the testatrix. The accounts were found correct and passed, and an order of distribution made. E. T. C. Knowles, K.C., is proctor.

In the matter of the estate of Miss Isabella Yeats, there was return of a citation to pass the accounts of Jack H. A. L. Fairweather, surviving trustee. The accounts, comprising proceeds of the real estate and personally, were gone into, found entirely correct; passed and allowed, and an order made accordingly. J. Roy Campbell, K.C., is proctor.

DISCIPLINE AMONG SOLDIERS

Sir—Kindly allow me to correct some statements emanating from Ottawa regarding discipline enforced in the Canadian contingent at Salisbury. It is no doubt correct that some men have been dismissed from the force for drunkenness or other offences, and that sergeants have been reduced to the ranks for the same cause or inefficiency, but which can only be by sentence of court martial; but there is no truth in the report that lieutenants have been reduced to sergeant as a thing cannot be done; if an officer is found guilty of an offence by a court martial he can be reprimanded or lose a certain amount of seniority or dismissed from the service entirely; there is no such thing as compelling an officer to serve below a commissioned rank. The remarks as to treating the soldiers by civilians have nothing at all to do with military matters as the general public are not allowed therein, and if they were, the canteen sergeant always there on duty, does not allow a man to be served after he has had enough; the treating referred to is done in the cities and villages and only have the military authorities, including Lord Kitchener, asked the public to refrain from this practice but a special appeal has been issued by the Archbishop of Canterbury on the same lines and asking everyone to abstain during the war as an example to soldiers.

POET GOES TO WAR

Charles G. D. Roberts, author, is in England with training with an English regiment preparatory to leaving for the front. Mrs. Roberts, formerly Miss Fenwick, of Fredericton, is residing in Ottawa. Mr. Roberts was in England engaged in business pertaining to some of his writings when the war broke out, and he joined one of the volunteer regiments soon afterward.

Mrs. Theodore G. Roberts and children are staying at the Methodist parsonage in Petticoat, with Mrs. Roberts' parents, Rev. Thos. Allen and Mrs. Allen, while Mr. Roberts is away to the war.

HERE TO LOAD

The steamer Shenandoah which was grounded on Navy Island is expected to return for cargo to St. John tomorrow. She has been in dry dock at Halifax.

Fixed and Fair Prices

Modern retail merchandising is founded on the rock of a fixed price for all.

But even this fixed price fluctuates with the rises and falls of the market.

It is in the latter respect that advertised articles of well known brands stand superior to the average product.

Even with the upset market of war times few advertised articles have increased prices to consumers. They have continued to sell at their fixed and fair prices.

The manufacturers have in many instances preferred to sacrifice profit rather than public esteem. When you see a national article advertised in this newspaper remember the name as that of an article that merits confidence.
