ENGLAND DECLARES WAR ON BULGARIA

British Hold All Ground Gained on Wednesday, Field Marshal French Reports—Teutonic Allies Finding Invasion of Serbia a Costly Undertaking—Additional Troops Landed at Saloniki to Aid Serbs.

ENGLAND DECLARES WAR ON BULGARIA.

London, Oct. 15.—Great Britain has declared war on Bulgaria.

The British Foreign Office announces that in view of the fact that Bulgaria has announced she is at war with Serbia, and is an ally of the Central Powers, His Majesty's government has informed the Bulgarian government, through the Swedish minister at London, who is in charge of Bulgarian interests, that a state of war exists between Great Britain and Bulgaria, as from 10 p. m.

London, Oct. 15.—A British official report, received under date of 9.45 o'clock tonight from Field Marshal Sir John French, commander-in-chief of the British army in the field, says with reference to the German official statement of today:

"The only change in the situation south of La Bassee Canal is that we have further improved our positions in the Hohenzollern redoubt. We hold all the ground gained on the 13th."

Desperate Fighting But No Important Success.

London, Oct. 15.—From all the main battlefronts comes news of continued fighting, but from none of them has been received any indication of victories or reverses which would make a marked change in the general situation.

The Austrians, Germans and Bulgarians are proceeding methodically with their invasion of Serbia, which, according to neutral reports, is costing them a very heavy price in the lives of their soldiers, as the hardened veterans of Serbia are taking every advantage of the difficult country to inflict the greatest possible loss on the invaders.

The Germans, however, have been able to occupy Pozarevac, southeast of Semendria, and claim that their campaign is proceeding according to their plans. The Quadruple Entente Allies are perfecting their preparations to assist the Serbians, and every day sees additional troops landing at Saloniki, where the French general Sarrail has arrived to take command of the allied forces. What steps Russia and Italy have taken to render assistance have not yet developed.

The political situation remains unchanged, Greece having formally announced that she would not intervene in behalf of Serbia "at present," and Roumania, although she is being urged by Germany definitely to define her position not having made any move.

Armed Neutrality for Roumania

Bucharest, Wednesday, Oct. 13, via Paris, Oct. 16.—(Delayed in transmission.)—The cabinet after again going over the war situation today, made a pronouncement in favor of Roumania maintaining neutrality. All necessary military precautions have been taken on each of Roumania's frontiers. The presence of two German submarines at Varna, Bulgaria's chief seaport on the Black Sea has been confirmed.

Berlin, Oct. 15, via London.—"Rumanian must choose quickly and without hesitation," says the Lokal Anzeiger, referring to the report that Russia had asked for permission to march through Roumania to Serbia assistance.

"What will Roumania do in such an event?" asks the Lokal Anzeiger, adding that if she imitates Greece and only registers a protest against Russia's marching troops through the Central Powers cannot remain indifferent.

Outside the Balkan campaign England is watching, with the most interest, the operations of her submarines in the Baltic. Here after having driven the Germans merchantmen from the sea, they have sunk one, and probably two German torpedo craft—one reported to be a torpedo boat destroyer, and the other a torpedo boat—which, with other warships, had come out to convoy ore laden steamers. Activity of the British navy is shown in the North Sea.

The record shows that 24 German trawlers have been captured and taken into Grimsby during the past month.

DIRECT ATTACK ON SOFIA BY ALLIED FORCES?

Military Writer in Roumania Believes Troops Landing at Saloniki Will Make Bulgarian Capital their Objective.

Bucharest, via Paris, Oct. 15.—The military critic of the Universal in an article today, expresses the belief that the British and French troops landed at Saloniki will not go to the aid of the Serbians at Nish, which is 250 miles from their base, but will make a direct attack on Sofia from the Serbian frontier, thus cutting Bulgaria in two, and also stopping the Austro-German advance by one of the principal railroads to Constantinople. The writer adds, however, that the Anglo-French forces must be strong and that they must co-operate with them.

GERMAN FOOD TRUST OFFERS CONTRACT TO U.S. CONCERNS

East Prussian Food Co. Anxious to Place Orders but British Blockade Prevents Import of Supplies.

Berlin, via London, Oct. 15.—Three representatives of big American food concerns today called on James W. Gerard, the American ambassador, and laid before him a new proposition in an attempt to secure the importation of supplies from the United States.

They claimed that a huge, newly formed concern, "The East Prussian Food Company" had offered them almost unlimited contracts for food if they could import them, the supplies by agreement to be used exclusively for the suffering civil population of the Russian territory occupied by Germany. Since the importation would only be possible if some agreement were reached through diplomatic channels, they requested the ambassador to take the necessary steps.

Mr. Gerard told the representatives that it would not, in his opinion, be possible to make any such arrangement, because of the Rockefeller Relief Commission experience.

A London despatch early in July said that the German government had cancelled an agreement which permitted the Rockefeller Foundations War Relief Committee to take charge of the work of feeding the civilian population of Poland. Members of the commission had secured an agreement with the German government for its aid in financing the plan if permission had yet been reached, the German government cancelled the original agreement.

Communications Between Serbia and Roumania Cut.

Milan, Italy, via Paris, Oct. 16.—The Saloniki correspondent of the Secolo says the following:

"Communications have been cut between Serbia and Roumania as well as between Saloniki and Russia as the result of the Austro-German offensive. The Serbians are expecting an attack by the Bulgarians between Guevghel and Strumnitza with the object of cutting the Saloniki railroad and preventing the arrival of allied troops at Nish."

CONTRACT FOR ALLIES' LOAN SIGNED

Multi-Millionaires Gather in Morgan Offices to see Ceremony.

COMMISSION LEAVE FOR HOME TODAY.

Negotiations Will Begin for Supplementary Loan Within Few Months, Baron Reading Announces.

New York, Oct. 15.—The $500,000,000 Anglo-French credit loan contract was signed last today. Three words, "Reading of British," from a pen in the hands of Lord Reading, chairman of the Anglo-French Commission, bound the British Empire to its terms. France was bound by the signatures of Octave Homberg and Ernest Mallet, her representatives on the commission. Last of all, the loan signed his name in behalf of the American syndicate of underwriters. Immediately thereafter four witnesses attested the signatures, one of them being Basil B. Blackett, secretary of the commission. The other three were American lawyers who assisted in drawing up the document.

As many multi-millionaire bankers as could be crowded into the board room of the Morgan banking house looked on. There was much enthusiasm, but no cheering or applause, and congratulations were showered upon Mr. Morgan and the members of the commission.

Arising from the seat he occupied at the head of the long oval table, Lord Reading thanked the syndicate for their co-operation in accomplishing his task.

Not an Easy Task.

"We realized from the first," he said, "that it was only possible to carry out a transaction of this magnitude if there was loyal and devoted co-operation by all concerned, from Morgan & Company, and from all their associates in the syndicate. From them we have had not only the greatest assistance and conscientious and sincere advice, and it is for that reason I desire to express our sincere gratitude. This has not been an easy task, and on the whole, taking into account the magnitude of the transaction, the result has been very creditable, especially as we have carried it through by the date originally fixed for the first payment on the bonds.

"It may not have been the exact date we intended, but we have got there. I feel on behalf of the English government, that it is incumbent upon us to say that we are very much indebted to all who have aided.

Will Not Visit Canada.

The contemplated visit to Canada has been abandoned as Lord Reading and his associates feel that their presence at home is needed.

Mr. Blackett and Mr. Homberg will remain in New York for a time, to adjust any details that may arise. Within a couple of months Lord Reading said, negotiations probably will begin looking toward the creating of the supplemental loan already forecast. It is estimated that this loan will be for approximately $250,000,000. Whether it would be another bond of

PLACE RECRUITING ENTIRELY IN HANDS OF CIVILIANS

Lord Derby's Plan is to Make Civilians Instead of Military Authorities Responsible for Securing Men—Personal Appeal in Form of Letter Will be Sent to Every Eligible Man.

London, Oct. 15.—Recruiting is to be taken entirely out of the hands of the military authorities, and entrusted exclusively to civilian organizations. This, in a nutshell, is the scheme by which the Earl of Derby, director of recruiting for the army, hopes to secure a sufficient number of voluntary enlistments to render recourse to conscription unnecessary. He described the new system at a private conference with the parliamentary recruiting committee and the Joint Labor Recruiting Board this afternoon.

"The changes that I propose to make," said Lord Derby, "have not been necessitated by any shortcomings on the part of the recruiting staff, but by the exigencies of the present situation, which, to my mind, require entirely new methods of dealing with the subject. In the past recruits have been found by the military authorities, assisted by civilians. I propose to make civilians responsible for bringing raw material in the shape of recruits to the military authorities for them to enlist, clothe, equip and train."

"This can only be rendered possible if some thoroughly representative civilian body should be willing to make itself responsible for the work, and my most grateful thanks is due to the two bodies—the parliamentary recruiting committee and the Joint Labor Recruiting Committee—who have made themselves jointly responsible."

BRITISH "U" BOATS SEND TWO GERMAN WARSHIPS TO BOTTOM

Destroyer Sunk in Strait Between Denmark and Sweden and Torpedo Boat Near Faxa—German Flotilla Put to Route—British Submarines Sweep Baltic Clear of Enemy's Ships.

London, Oct. 15.—British submarines have now cleared the Baltic Sea and the Gulf of Bothnia entirely of German merchant ships, says a despatch to the Star from Copenhagen. Every German ship which was southbound from Sweden when the submarines started their campaign has either been sunk or run ashore, it adds. "Of fifty German ore carriers, 37 are virtually interned in Swedish ports, the correspondent declares."

Copenhagen, Oct. 15.—A British submarine torpedoed and sank a German destroyer this morning at the southern entrance to the Sound, a narrow strait between Denmark and Sweden, which connects the Baltic with the North Sea. A great explosion followed the striking of the torpedo and the destroyer foundered immediately.

A message from Fasting, Sweden, which brought news of this incident, adds that another German destroyer and a cruiser, which were accompanying the destroyer that was sunk, speeded to the southward.

Despatches to the Evening newspaper here say that a second German torpedo boat was sunk by the British submarine B-19 near Faxa. According to these telegrams a German flotilla, one boat of which was sunk Wednesday, returned yesterday with reinforcements and fishermen heard another explosion and saw a torpedo boat disappear. Thereupon the flotilla hurried away.

fering, or an arrangement of a different sort, was a detail yet to be settled, he said. When they reach home the members of the commission will place the situation before the bankers in England and the matter will then be decided on.

KEEPING CHECK ON MONEY BAGS OF THE ALLIES

British Government Sanction Needed for Every Dollar Spent in U. S. For War Supplies.

ONLY ONCE HAS MANDATE BEEN DISREGARDED.

Committee Sitting in London Controls all Purchases and Allots to Each Nation the Amount Advanced by Great Britain for their Use in Making Purchases.

New York, Oct. 15.—Of the millions of dollars spent daily in this country by the Allies for war supplies, not a dollar, it was learned authoritatively today, can be spent without first obtaining the official sanction of the British government.

This sanction is obtained from a committee sitting in London and holding frequent sessions. Although the committee has been in operation for many months its existence has not heretofore been generally known outside of governmental circles. Only once, so far as can be learned—and then in the case of Russia—has the mandate of this body been disregarded.

The personnel of this committee has never been published, and probably never will be. It consists, however, of representatives of each of the allied nations, from Great Britain to Montenegro, controls absolutely the purchase of all war supplies in whatever section of the world they may be bought, acts as a financial check and supervisor over all the war chests of all the Allies, and seeks to eliminate positively competitive bidding on the part of the Allies for war supplies in the few open markets of the world, first of all the United States.

No Control Over Purchases in Home Markets

Over purchases made in home markets by the various nations, the committee holds no supervision. Its sphere is limited strictly to purchases outside the boundary lines of the nations at war and their colonies.

The committee is designated by a French title, the English translation of which is the International War Supplies Committee.

Under its guidance Great Britain, France, Russia and Italy, in seeking munitions of war in the United States, and other supplies, refrain from competition in bidding. Such competition, if permitted, the committee realized early in its career, would result in sending prices of munitions and other supplies to prohibitive levels and would consequently swell the cost of conducting the war proportionately.

Instead of coming into the American market when supplies are needed and waging a financial contest for supremacy in obtaining the supplies, the Allies have adopted a system of placing one big order at a time in this country. When the contract for this order is signed, the next allied nation's needs are taken up and another contract is placed. This system is maintained until all the allied nations purchasing supplies here are cared for.

The committee's scope extends to the purchase not only of ammunition and fire arms, but to all supplies needed for allied armies in the field and the allied navies which are incapable of being supplied in Europe.

Grain, flour, clothing, meats, blankets, boots, shoes and the long list of minor articles used by the allied armies are embraced in the purchases over which jurisdiction is exercised.

Britain as Allies' Bank Dominates Committee

Great Britain, as banker for the Allies, dominates this committee. British purchases, where convenient, continued on page two.

CANADIAN CAMPS SHELLED BY ZEPPELINS

GERMANS THROW BACK ACROSS STRIPA RIVER IN GALICIA WITH HEAVY LOSSES

Petrograd, Oct. 15, via London, Oct. 16.—The following official statement was given out by the Russian war office tonight:

"On the western front, in the region of Dvinsk, the fighting continues. In many places the artillery duels are developing great intensity. The general situation is unchanged.

"In the region of west of Lake Obole we carried, by assault, the village of Gavratsel, and the cemetery north of Stavarski Farm.

"On the Pripyat, in the region of the village of Nobel the enemy was thrown back across the river.

"During an offensive movement in the railway district west of Tarnopol (East Galicia) the enemy was taken on the flank and thrown back toward the River Stripa, with heavy losses. On the night of the 13th the enemy made the fourth attack of that day, charging with the bayonet upon our troops in the region of the village of Lavornika, on the Stripa, west of Trembowla. The enemy was repulsed by a strong counter-attack and retreated in complete disorder to his trenches. In the same region the enemy also adopted the offensive yesterday. Our troops allowed him to approach within a very short distance and then delivered a vigorous counter-attack, again throwing him back toward the Stripa.

"On the Caucasian front:

"All along the front skirmishes between patrols and advance guards are more frequent. The Turks everywhere have been repulsed by our fire. Northwest of Melashert, between the villages of Altorly and Serech, the

ITALY WILL SEND 150,000 MEN TO BALKANS

Paris, Oct. 16.—Italy will send 150,000 men to the Balkans, according to information received by the Excelsior, from what the paper says is a reliable source.

The government maintains the strictest secrecy as to where the troops will be landed, says the Excelsior's informant, but Italian intervention will take place at a point where it will have a decisive effect on the whole Balkan campaign.

Cabinet Meeting Postponed.

Rome, via Paris, Oct. 16.—The meeting of the cabinet which had been set for today was postponed until tomorrow. The postponement, it was announced, was due to the indisposition of Baron Sonnino, minister of foreign affairs.

Nish, Serbia, Thursday, Oct. 14, via Paris, Oct. 15.—An official communication issued by the war office today says:

"On October 11 the Bulgarians made a surprise attack on us at Koritza and Glava. The attack was repulsed. The same day the Bulgarians occupied the positions of Kita and advanced two-thirds of a mile into our territory. On the 12th, they attacked our positions at Ivanova and Litvitsa, but were repulsed. The same day they attacked, without result, our positions at Pitsina, Rasovati, Kanon, Viroboulosava and Goleche. On the 13th they attacked the line Tsvetun-Kanegrad, repulsing one of our detachments. In the whole Timok river section the Bulgarians opened fire on our positions. We made no reply.

"On the 14th they attacked various points. Near Krivopalanka they attacked Narvnikovo fort and also in the direction of Radiochevo and in the Strumitsa Valley.

"Bulgaria thus began war against us treacherously, as in 1913, by surprise and without a declaration of war."

Conference of Italian War Leaders.

Rome, Oct. 15, via Paris, Oct. 16.—Gen. Zuppoli, minister of war, has left for today to confer with King Victor Emmanuel and Lieut. Gen. Count Cadorna, chief of staff of the Italian army.

Austrians Forced to Retire Before Montenegrins.

Rome, via Paris, Oct. 15.—A despatch to the Giornale D'Italia from Cetinje, capital of Montenegro, says the Montenegrins have made such stout resistance to the Austro-Germans all along the front that the latter have been compelled to retire and send for reinforcements.

It is asserted by the Giornale D'Italia that Bulgaria has notified Greece that she has concluded no treaty with Germany and Austria affecting Greek interests.

ZEPPELINS DROP BOMBS ON SECOND DIVISION ARTILLERY CAMP, OTTERPOOL, ENGLAND

Ottawa, Oct. 15.—That the camp of the artillery brigades of the Second Canadian Division at Otterpool, Kent, England, was shelled by German Zeppelins on the evening of Wednesday Oct. 13, is indicated in tonight's casualty list, which records a number of men killed in the fifth artillery brigade and one in the 26th battery, C. F. A. Thursday's list gave the names of seven men of the 5th brigade killed by bombs and shells. The number of Canadians approximates the total of military casualties issued by the home office in London, Eng., and indicates that this was probably the only real military damage in the raid.

The casualty list issued at midnight contains the name of one member of the 26th Battalion, James S. Jarman, of England, who is reported seriously wounded.

OFFICIAL REPORTS

French Report.

Paris, Oct. 15.—In an attack in the Champagne region of France, to the east of Aubery, the Germans have re-captured parts of their former trenches taken recently by the French, according to the official communication issued tonight by the French war office. It is stated that the French have succeeded in re-occupying a portion of trenches the Germans had been holding since Oct. 9. The communication says:

"Bombardments were again violent on both sides during most of the day before Looze, at Boisenhache and in the Givency wood.

"In Champagne, under cover of the bombardment reported this morning, to the east of Aubery, the French were able to secure again a footing on a certain point of his former trenches in the form of a salient in front of the extreme left wing of the positions carried by our recent attacks."

"In the Aronne the explosion of one of our mines has shattered some enemy lines near Hill 283.

"On the front of Lorraine we have recaptured some elements of trenches which the enemy has been holding since October 9 to the north of Reillon. We have repulsed several counter-attacks. Fifty prisoners remained in our hands.

"In the Vosges the Germans this morning made a very strong attack on a five kilometre (3.1 miles) front before Rehelsen, to the south of the Hartmanns-Wellerkopf, and the Sudelkopf. This attack had been preceded by the shooting of shells of various calibres and big bombs and was accompanied by the projection of blinding petroleum.

"The Germans were repulsed almost on the whole front of attack. They succeeded only in recapturing the trenches situated on the very top of the Hartmanns-Wellerkopf, and in penetrating two observation positions between the summit and the Wueenheim road."

"Our artillery fire has torn up the German trenches and demolished two blockhouses at the Violu (between the Sainte Marie Pass and the Bonhomme Pass).

"The Belgian official communications says today:

"The enemy artillery has manifested little activity, and bombarded moderately our advanced positions and trenches to the north of Dixmude. Bomb fighting is reported to the north."

There will be a matinee and night performance of the clever comedy "The Blue Mouse," at the Opera House today by Partello Stock Company.

Commencing Monday the company presents a strong dramatic success, "A Daughter of the People," replete with good situations, thrilling climaxes, with a heart interesting story, an attractive love theme and with just enough good comedy sprinkled through it to lighten the more serious moments of the play.

In addition to the drama there will be a big vaudeville attraction in the Three Winsome Harmonists, a trio of charming young ladies, all clever instrumentalists, one of whom is said to be an exceptionally good cornet soloist. The act comes direct from Halifax and has been a "head liner" on all the big vaudeville circuits.

There will be a matinee on Wednesday.

AMHERST MAN CHARGED WITH RECEIVING STOLEN ARMY SUPPLIES

Amherst, N. S., Oct. 15.—The preliminary examination of Percy Smith for receiving stolen military supplies was begun here today. Mr. Smith is a prominent merchant of the town, and was one of the contractors in connection with the removal of refuse from the barracks, etc., during the stay of the 22nd French Canadian and 6th Canadian Mounted Rifles last winter.

Large quantities of supplies were reported missing and Detective Kennedy of Halifax was placed in charge of the investigation and as a result Mr. Smith was arrested and held to bail.

Fifteen witnesses were examined in behalf of the crown, and the case was adjourned until next Wednesday. The evidence disclosed that the defendant became possessed of two hundred army blankets, two military bridges, two military saddles, two horse rugs, five hundred pounds kilm, large quantities of bacon, butter, coffee, tea, sugar, salt, vegetables, beans, and in fact some of every ration issued for the use of the soldiers. Large quantities of bacon and butter were disposed of.

Edward Hughes testified to seeing defendant's team driven by a colored boy after midnight loaded with blankets.

The defendant from the first has claimed that he received the goods found in his possession in a perfectly legitimate manner.

Portland Arsus: None of the transatlantic steamer managers who were in the city Wednesday in conference with the local lonshoremen in reference to the wage scale, were able to give out the least information in regard to the steamers that are likely to come here the coming winter. It is understood that practically every passenger boat of the White Star-Dominion, the Alan and Cunard lines has been taken by the British Government for war purposes, and Local Manager James A. McDougall, of the latter company, says his people will be entirely dependent on chartered steamers this season as they were last. So great is the scarcity of suitable steamers that the companies are obliged to pay exorbitant rates in order to get them, one boat that run here last winter in one service being chartered for the coming season by a rival company at an advance of about $5,000 per month.

TENSION IN CABINET

London, Oct. 16.—According to the Times and Daily Mail, tension exists in the British cabinet over the questions of conscription, the Balkan situation and the Dardanelles expedition while there is gossip over the continued absence of Sir Edward Carson, the attorney-general, from the cabinet meetings. He has not been present at any of the three meetings held this week.

There is a feeling of dissatisfaction among the members of parliament at the inadequacy of the explanation of the Balkan situation given Thursday by Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign minister. As a result there are demands that the government give the House of Commons an opportunity to discuss the matter, and also for the government to make a frank statement on it.

Mr. George Shaw Cook, C.S.B., of Chicago, Ill., a Christian Science lecturer of wide experience, will, Sunday afternoon, deliver a lecture on this subject in the Imperial Theatre at 3 o'clock. This year, as on previous occasions, many will undoubtedly avail themselves of an opportunity to learn something of this interesting subject.

ASQUITH BELIEVES SIR PERCY SCOTT WILL OUTWIT ZEPPELINS

London, Oct. 15.—Premier Asquith's faith in the ability of Rear Admiral Sir Percy Scott, in charge of London's aerial defenses, to counter the raiding attempts of Zeppelins, based presumably on knowledge of preparations now making, is evidenced by the answer in today's parliamentary papers to an inquirer, who was anxious regarding the safety of Westminster Abbey, St. Paul's cathedral and other landmarks.

"It is hoped," said the premier, "that the services provided over by Sir Percy Scott will deal effectively with any further attempts at indiscriminate destruction of property."

Now about 130 men on roster with outlook for fifty more being added today — Recommendations for appointments as officers approved by Militia Department—Another draft from 64th leaves for Valcartier to join 40th Battalion for Overseas Service.

Special to The Standard.

Sussex, Oct. 15.—Thirty more men signed on to the 88th Battalion, making the number of names on the roster now about 130. A number are here for medical examination tomorrow and it is thought about 50 more will be enrolled. It is expected that the Carleton Cornet Band will also come in tomorrow or Monday.

Col. Fowler left for Ottawa on the C. P. R. this afternoon to complete arrangements for mobilization and other matters in connection with his regiment. The recruits coming in for the 88th are a fine body of men and made an excellent showing today while engaged with the drill. Dr. Burnett, the medical examiner, is greatly pleased with the class of men offering. The following recommendations for appointment to the 88th by Col. Fowler have been approved by the Militia Department and the officers named instructed to report immediately for duty: To be second in command with the rank of Major, Lieut. Col. C. W. Gunnery, R. O.

Junior Major, Major H. A. Boggs, R. O. To be lieutenants provisionally, Lt. H. D. Osborne, 71st Regt.; P. M. Rising, 62nd Regt.; A. H. Tweedie, 73rd Regt.; H. A. Clarke, 73rd Regt.; Malcolm McKay, 62nd Regt.; J. C. Hanson, 74th Regt.; G. O. Price, 8th Hussars, and T. W. Barnes, 8th Hussars.

64TH ON 12 MILE MARCH.

The 64th Battalion were out in strength today under command of Col. Campbell and had a route march to Apohaqui covering a distance of about 12 miles. The men stood the tramp like veterans and their fine physique and splendid marching was the cause of favorable comment. The battalion will parade to the different town churches Sunday morning, headed by the Citizens' Band.

One hundred privates and three sergeants of the 64th Battalion, under command of Lt. McDonald of Halifax, left tonight for Valcartier to be attached to the 40th Battalion, being volunteers for overseas duty. The Citizens' Band played them down from the camp grounds and the big crowd assembled at the depot gave them a rousing send off.

Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance.

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; invigorates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful. You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed. Save your hair! Keep it looking charming and beautiful. You will say this was the best 25 cents you ever spent.

ASQUITH BELIEVES SIR PERCY SCOTT WILL OUTWIT ZEPPELINS

London, Oct. 15.—Premier Asquith's faith in the ability of Rear Admiral Sir Percy Scott, in charge of London aerial defenses, to counter the raiding attempts of Zeppelins, based presumably on knowledge of preparations now making, is evidenced by the answer in today's parliamentary papers to an inquirer, who was anxious regarding the safety of Westminster Abbey, St. Paul's cathedral and other landmarks. "It is hoped," said the premier, "that the services presided over by Sir Percy Scott will deal effectively with any further attempts at indiscriminate destruction of property."

CAPT BARTLETT, ARCTIC EXPLORER, WORKING IN NEW YORK AS STEVEDORE

Steered the Roosevelt Through Polar Ice When Peary Found the Pole.

ALSO HAD KARLUK

After Twenty Years in Frozen North he seeks to learn ways of great city.

(New York Herald)

Captain Robert A. Bartlett, who saved seventeen of the Karluk's crew after the ship had been crushed in the Arctic ice, and who has been nearer to the North Pole than any other white man except Robert E. Peary, is working as a stevedore at Pier No. 7, North River, where the freight boats of the American and Cuban Steamship line load their cargoes. He started in there three weeks ago and now is foreman of a gang of hard-fisted, hulking men who toss sugar barrels around as if they were butter tubs. He can toss them, too, and does it because, he says, it is the only thing he knows how to do, except force a vessel through ice floes, eat blubber and drive Eskimo dogs.

Captain Bartlett is not in luck or anything like straightened circumstances. He presents the odd phase of a man who has been out of touch with the living day world so long that he is fitted only for the roughest labor at present. He came to New York to take a job because he could use that to "come back into the world and learn something of what other men are doing," as he expressed it. He is now forty years old, young of heart and hopes, and his optimism is as simple and bland as that of a child. He has spent more than twenty years of his life—all of his life from the time that he first ran away to sea—aboard a sealing vessel, whaler or ship of exploration. Steiring Times in the Arctic. Most of his formative years have been spent in the Arctic, and he declares it is time now for him to be learning something, because there is so little chance of making a livelihood in the Arctic nowadays. The Arctic has been like a home to him and he has made many journeys into the region of upper Greenland, first going with Peary in 1897 and 1898 aboard the Windward. He went on another expedition to Hudson Straits and Hudson Bay in 1901, and from that year to 1905 was captain of a sealing ship off Newfoundland. In 1905 Peary was preparing to go north again, and he planned the Roosevelt after the manner of the stanch old Fram. Captain Bartlett superintended her construction and as skipper piloted the vessel up in 1905 through Kane Basin, Kennedy Channel, Robeson Channel and finally to Cape Sheridan on the Arctic coast. In the summer of 1906 Peary and Captain Bartlett started out over the Polar ice to reach the pole. They attained the famous "eighty-seven six," the highest ever accomplished by any explorer previous to the discovery of the pole. Captain Bartlett was in charge of the supporting parties and was on the ice for 120 days. The ice broke up and it was the desire to get back to this country. The Roosevelt was started on her voyage by just as she was winging around Cape Union, which is on the shoulder of the dangerous opening between Greenland and Grant Land, a two days' hurricane struck the vessel, piled the ice up against her and drove her to the shore. Her rudder was torn out, two of the propeller's four blades were smashed and the ship leaked badly. But the natural ingenuity of Captain Bartlett won. With tarpaulins, oakum, cement, sticks and stones, they patched her up and rigged a jury rudder. But it took three months to accomplish this, and by the time they got the ship off again it was September, with the ice forming. They picked slowly along, with fuel and provisions running low. Crossing the Cumberland Gulf about the first of October, they were hit by another gale, with blinding snow. The jury rudder was carried away, and Captain Bartlett had to swing a beam down from the boom to steer by. They managed to run before the hurricane for four days. As the last of the gale spent itself they made the northern tip of Labrador, without coal, without food, without water and without wood. They went ashore to a settlement called Sedick Bay and obtained enough blubber and ood to carry the vessel to Hebrun, a Moravian settlement. There they got further supplies to take them to Nain, where they obtained food. Thence they navigated to Hopdale where they got seven tons of coal, which carried them to Battle Harbor. There fifty tons were purchased to get the ship to Bay of St. George and then to Nova Scotia. Again the Roosevelt went to Cape Sheridan in 1906, and Peary and Captain Bartlett again started for the pole. Captain Bartlett was taken to the eighty-eighth parallel and then ordered to remain back while Peary went on with Matt Henson, a negro. Captain Bartlett has reached the highest latitude of any white man save Peary. Captain Bartlett brought the Roosevelt back with comparative ease and no particular hardships or harrowing experiences. In 1910 he took the Boethic, with Harry Whitney and Paul Ratney, north on a hunting trip, going to Etah.

The Fate of the Karluk

In 1913 he was skipper of the Karluk, in which Vilhjalmur Stefansson went to the Arctic Ocean through Bering Strait. After Stefansson was landed the vessel was caught in the ice and carried back from Point Barrow toward the Siberian shore. On Jan. 12, 1914, when the Karluk was about 125 miles off Wrangle Island, she was crushed by the ice. Captain Bartlett had seen the prospects of disaster and had two years' provisions on the ice ready for the sudden abandonment of the vessel. Eight men insisted on going in a shorter direction toward the shore and moved off contrary to Captain Bartlett's orders. They were lost.

Captain Bartlett with seventeen two Eskimo men and one Eskimo woman and two children, reached Wrangle Island on March 13. Captain Bartlett established a camp there and with an Eskimo boy, eighteen years old, one sled dog and seven dogs put out over the ice to reach the Siberian coast, more than one hundred miles away. He travelled over broken floes, ferried open lanes on pieces of ice and the first week in April reached the coast. He followed the coast for one thousand miles and finally received assistance from Baron Kleist at Emma Harbor. The official report to St. Michael's, Alaska, and there the revenue cutter Bear was found and went north for the men. That was Captain Bartlett's last voyage.

To a casual person Captain Bartlett is a delightfully modest person, avoiding talking about himself or his exploits. And when he is not swinging boxes and barrels and crates he is poring over a book, the editorials of the newspapers or a magazine. He is an omnivorous reader, like all explorers, and says he loves to read Keats by the hour.

3 MONTHS IN GERMAN PRISON DESCRIBED BY BELGIAN WOMAN

Sentenced on trumped-up charge, torn from her home and children and placed in solitary confinement.

Paris, Oct. 14.—"When one knows why to live, how to live is of very little importance, yet it is a great relief to my nerves to get out from behind German prison bars," said Madame Carton de Wiart, wife of the Belgian Minister of Justice to the Associated Press, "in spite of my late sentence in prison for espionage."

Madame de Wiart has for some time been a corresponding member of the New York Prison Association. "It was by no favor I was released," she declared, "I had served four and a half months imprisonment, and it was only on being released that I learned I was also condemned to exile. They wanted to keep me in Germany, but through the efforts of the Spanish Ambassador, I was allowed to go to Switzerland, where my husband joined me. Everything was arbitrary in the proceedings against me and the afterthought of exile was purely a military expedient to keep me out of my country."

"What I managed to do all the women of Belgium did as far as their situation enabled them to do—that was to help the millions who remained in their country to get news from fathers, sons and husbands who have been fighting for many months. It was an act of elementary humanity that every man with heart must approve. Those who live far away from their families, and who are perhaps not always able to comprehend the situation of the mothers, wives and children of the occupied regions of Belgium and Northern France, in whose minds is repeated each day since the beginning of the war, the question whether a cherished one has not been killed or wounded or is not waiting in direst distress a last word from home. I have, with a great many others, done what I could to alleviate such suffering, especially among the poor people. At the same time, I took good care to prevent any correspondence that might concern military operations themselves."

"When the Belgian government retired to Antwerp I remained in Brussels with my children, the youngest of whom was only a year old. Being the wife of a Belgian Minister of Justice I continued to occupy the apartments at the Ministry that are set apart for the Minister's family. "The Germans ordered me out, saying they required the premises for their soldiers. I refused, still considering Belgium an independent country. They declared they would send soldiers to be quartered there notwithstanding. For months the ministry at night, and during all that time no visitor could give access to my apartments without being challenged, questioned and showing papers."

Endeavoring to keep up the juvenile courts instituted in Belgium by a law introduced by her husband and organized after the plan of the juvenile courts of Denver and other American cities, Mme. de Wiart travelled about a great deal all through Belgium. Her activity awakened the suspicions of the German authorities. "They forced their way into my apartments, ostensibly seeking evidence of a plot against the German government," she said, "seizing a waste paper basket and spending hours in matching together and past-

BRITISH EFFICIENCY

One of the outstanding features of the present war, which is receiving very little publicity in comparison to its importance, is the efficiency Great Britain has manifested in fields in which the Germans were thought to be supreme.

Before the war broke out military and naval writers laid much stress on the success likely to be gained by Germany in the air and under the sea. The monster Zeppelin was expected to revolutionize warfare by dropping showers of bombs on camps and fortified positions and by harassing lines of railway communication to the degree where they would be useless. The war, to date, has not justified those predictions. True, German Zeppelins have visited certain centres in the British Isles and have inflicted more or less damage, but such ventures have cost more than they gained, and if Germany had it to do all over again it is doubtful whether she would invest many hundreds of thousands of dollars in air plant the operations of which have not justified the expenditure.

The French airman has firmly established his personal superiority over all others and in meetings between French and German aircraft the advantage has always rested with the men of the Republic. Britain was the last to start to gain success in the air, but there has been nothing finer in the history of aerial fighting than the splendid story of the heroic Warneford. In no case have the German aircraft fulfilled expectations except in the matter of scouting and securing information, and in that line, too, the Allies have more than held their own.

As with aircraft so with underwater boats. Up to a few months ago the German submarines inflicted considerable damage on British shipping, but generally the sea lanes were kept open and the flow of commerce was not interrupted. Now, the British have taken the aggressive in this as in other lines and from last night's despatches from the war zone we learn that all England is watching with deep interest the exploits of British submarines in the Baltic. British trade routes have been practically cleared of the underwater pirates, and, in stead, it is the German trade avenues that are seriously threatened.

Hitherto the waters of the Baltic have been regarded as safe for German freight steamers and by that avenue Germany has been receiving a great quantity of war supplies from Swedish ports. The narrow and difficult entrances to the Baltic naturally created a feeling of security in regard to trading on that sea. There the vessels of the British navy could not come, except at awful cost, and so long as Sweden was willing to sell the goods Germany was in a position to take delivery practically unmolested. The British submarines, however, found their way through the tortuous channels and during the last few weeks they have been making their presence known in a way that seems to indicate that Germany will speedily find the Baltic as unsafe for her as the other seas from which she has already been driven.

Already, British submarine commanders, by their successes in Baltic waters, have demonstrated that they hold the whip hand over German commercial and war vessels. In late July a large German transport was sent to the bottom by a British submarine, while the damaging of the German battleship Moltke in the Gulf of Riga was a brilliant exploit for which the British commander was personally decorated by the Czar. The effect of British underwater boats in the battle of the Gulf of Riga was also very marked and the defeat suffered by Germany there was a most important factor in unsettling German plans. It prevented Von Hindenburg from outflanking the Russian armies and contributed to keep open a way by which the Russians could receive supplies and reinforcements. The effect of that good work is now apparent in the renewed ability shown by the Muscovite forces.

But, latterly, British underwater craft have turned their attention more particularly to the German cargo carriers and several of those vessels, loaded with foodstuffs and supplies, have been sent to the bottom. The fact is likely to have an important influence on the future. If Germany cannot keep her own sea clear from British war vessels, meanwhile refusing to bring her heavy gun-ships from their refuge in the Kiel Canal, it is but a question of a short time until she is shut off from supplies from Sweden. That will tighten the coils of the blockading British fleet and immeasurably increase the weight of the war burden upon the German people.

On sea and in the air, Germany has been completely out-fought and out-generalled. On land she had a wonderful advantage, but it has been neutralized. British, French, Russian and Italian troops are now on the offensive and the pressure they are able to bring to bear must increase until, bruised and broken by the strain, Germany is forced to fall back on unconditional surrender. That day is not yet at hand, but assurance of its coming grows ever more definite. The whole story of the war to date has been a wonderful example of British efficiency.

THOSE SUBMARINES

Ignoring the fact that in time of war information relating to measures of defence must not be made public, Mr. Pugsley, in the House of Commons at the last session, attempted to make a little cheap political capital by asking for the production of information and correspondence concerning the purchase by Sir Richard McBride, premier of British Columbia, of certain submarines from the Chilean government. He intimated that there was something scandalous in the transaction, some dark dealing that should be made public. Of course the information could not be supplied in the form in which Mr. Pugsley asked for it, and he knew it at the time—he did not ask for it because he really believed his own insinuations but in the hope of creating some slight political prejudice.

A short time ago Mr. Pugsley was in Vancouver and in an interview given to a Vancouver newspaper congratulated himself on the part he alleged he had played in bringing about an investigation into the purchase. That investigation has been held on the Pacific coast and evidence concerning the purchase was presented before Sir Charles Davidson. The Ottawa Journal, commenting on the matter, has this to say:

"Evidence is complete in the enquiry which Sir Charles Davidson as a Royal Commissioner has been holding on the Pacific coast with regard to the purchase of two submarines from an American firm at the outbreak of the war. It will be remembered that these were two boats built to order for the Government of Chile on the west coast of the United States. The Government of Chile and the American contractors had a row, and Chile had defaulted in the payment. Vancouver and Victoria being unguarded after the war began, and German cruisers being at large in the Pacific, the McBride Government went after the two submarines and got them quickly. Soon afterwards the fact became public that the McBride Government had paid a larger price than Chile had given a contract for, and some Liberal people snelt graft on the part of a Conservative Government. Hon. William Pugsley was one; he ventilated suspicions in the Dominion House, and only recently gave an interview to a Vancouver Liberal paper in which he congratulated himself for having been instrumental in bringing about the enquiry, and suggested that certain evidence regarding the testing of the boats and the big price paid would be important.

"Prior to the enquiry, the reply to the Liberal insinuations was that the extra price agreed to be paid by the McBride Government was due in part to the fact that some alterations to the boats were made, and in part to the fact that the war had put a premium upon these boats as upon all war supplies, and that Canada for the sake of the Pacific coast had to have the boats and have them quick.

"Sir Richard McBride, the British Columbia premier, was the chief mover in the matter, although acting in the interest of the Dominion Government, which of course took over the purchase. Hon. Mr. Burrell was in Vancouver at the time, and was early apprised of the matter.

"The evidence now taken before Sir Charles Davidson has been all to the credit of Sir Richard McBride. Not a word has developed to excuse the in-situations or suspicions of graft, or of undue gain by anybody. What has been confirmed has been the fact that at a time of peril and possible great loss by German attack on the Pacific coast cities, Sir Richard McBride acted with promptness, decision and vigor, common sense and honesty."

MRS. DUVAL HOME.
Saddened by the loss of her soldier husband, Major Duval, M. D., and doubly grieved through his body being lost in the Hesperian disaster, Mrs. J. L. Duval returned to St. John at noon Friday. She was accompanied by her children, and her sister, Mrs. Corbet, wife of Major G. G. Corbet, M. D., who had gone across to England to comfort the sorrowing widow when the cable brought the distressing news of his death.

Mrs. Duval was met at the train by many friends who extended sympathy, in which the citizens of St. John and other parts of Canada will join, for all have been touched by the pitiful experiences through which she has passed. She is bearing up bravely, largely for the sake of her children, and has only a few days' bereavement to think of their grief. Recruiting is going on steadily and apparently very well, but the talk of conscription is daily growing stronger.

Albert's Oil Fields.
At a meeting held in Moncton in reference to the Albert oil fields, already referred to, the New Brunswick Petroleum Co., Ltd., and the Maritime Oilfields, Ltd., were the main subjects of the new company organized recently in Glasgow. The New Brunswick Petroleum Co. was the original lessee of the property. It made a long sub-lease to the Maritime Oilfields. The new company is to be known as the "New Brunswick Gas and Oilfields, Ltd." The price payable by the new owners to the N. B. Petroleum Co., Ltd., is $23,200, of which $24,000 shall be paid in preference shares and $24,000 in ordinary shares of the new company, and to the Maritime Oilfields $66,000 in preference shares and $40,800 in ordinary shares. The nominal capital of the new company is to be $200,000 in $1 shares—120,000 preference and $80,000 ordinary.

OBITUARY.
Martin Armstrong.
At the advanced age of eighty-eight years, Martin Armstrong, a familiar figure in the city since he was quite a young man, passed away Thursday afternoon following a short illness. He was a native of Donegal, Ireland, but came to this country in his youthful years and was for some time in the early seventies engaged in the dry goods business with his brother, the late John Armstrong, at the corner of Church and Prince William street. He continued with him as assistant for some time until he started in business on the opposite corner of the street for himself, likewise conducting a dry goods store. He was widely known about St. John. Before the fire of '77 business fell off and he was compelled to abandon the store. In the early eighties he became a member of the Salvation Army and continued one of its most faithful adherents. He was liked by those with whom he did business as he went about selling magazines, books, stationery and other articles, wearing the Army uniform. The funeral will be held tomorrow from the residence of his brother, Samuel Armstrong, Loch Lomond road.

Mrs. Robert Colwell.
Special to The Standard.
Fredericton, Oct. 15.—Mrs. Robert Colwell died suddenly this evening at her residence on Queen street after only a few days illness of heart trouble. Deceased, who was aged about 57 years, was a daughter of the late Capt. James MacD. One sister, Mrs. Robert Sutherland, of this city, and one brother, Mr. Robert S. Barker, of the crown lands department, also survive. The late Mrs. Colwell was one of Fredericton's most widely known and generally respected residents, and news of her sudden death came as a great shock to her many friends.

RECRUITING FOR OVERSEAS GOES STEADILY FORWARD

Seven men were secured yesterday, but many more were turned down by doctor— Meetings will be continued.

Another grand recruiting meeting was held last night in the recruiting room corner of Mill and Dook streets. These meetings are becoming very popular with the young men of the city and day after day the recruits coming in show that the men are beginning to realize that the call of the Empire is a personal matter to be considered by each individual. In many cases the recruits tell the officer that they first began to give the war situation their serious attention on account of hearing some of the speeches at one of these meetings, and the committee is to be congratulated on their persistence in continuing to bring the message home to the people of this city in such forceful manner. Yesterday three men were examined, passed and signed on for the 88th Battalion, they were:

- M. Sabine, Port Lorne, N. S.
 - Weldon Ryan, Havelock, N. B.
 - Frank D. Seeley, Central Greenwick, N. S.
- In addition to the above four men were enrolled for the heavy siege battery.
- At the meeting last night the chair was taken by Douglas McArthur, whose son, Major D. D. McArthur, is with the 28th Battalion somewhere in France. The speakers were H. A. Powell, K.C., Mayor Frink and John Martin, who has enlisted to go overseas with the siege battery and who

and the only outlet for their people and commerce is as I have said in the temperate zone.

"United States will not be bothered, as that country is also overcrowded. The grand prize that the German Kaiser has set his eyes on, is Canada, and the first country to feel the pressure of German rule will be Canada if the Kaiser with his armies is enabled to win. Germany envies Great Britain in the possession of her colonies, and if she should be successful in this war, what would be easier than for her to send over a few hundred thousand men and take Canada. We could not expect any protection from the United States, as that nation has already crawled into her hole on several occasions, and there was a danger that she would become involved with Germany.

"Are we willing to allow our Empire to be broken up? Are we willing to let those brave boys who are even now fighting for us in the trenches of Flanders stand alone? It is up to us now to put on the uniform and do our duty.

"If you are proud of the privilege of being a member of that Empire, that loves freedom and liberty, then arise and deal with this situation in the old fashioned British way, man to man, and stamp out forever the terrible curse of German militarism."

Mayor Frink.

His Worship Mayor Frink was the next speaker.

He was glad to know that the meetings were not entirely fruitless, and that many had offered their services to the country. He paid a high tribute to General Botha and the people of South Africa who appreciated so much the privilege of living under British rule that they were willing to fight for the motherland.

His Worship said he could not understand how any man of military age who was physically fit, could sit calmly back while over 5,000 of our gallant New Brunswick boys were over there in the trenches fighting to preserve their homes and families.

"These boys," concluded Mayor Frink, "are thinking of you and wondering when you are going to make up your mind to get into the same. The most welcome sound they could hear would be the tramp, tramp of the boys from Canada coming to the assistance of their comrades.

During the course of the meeting a musical programme was carried out, and pipes and cigars were provided by the committee. The meeting closed with the National Anthem. There will be another meeting tonight in the recruiting rooms. Several good speakers have been provided, and refreshments will be served.

IN THE COURTS.

In the case of Mary McManemin, administratrix of Patrick McManemin vs. the trustees of School District No. 2, Parish of Simonds, hearing was had yesterday morning before His Honor, Judge Armstrong on return of a summons to show cause why an order should not be made to compel the trustees to make an assessment to satisfy the judgment amounting to $250 obtained against the trustees by the plaintiff in 1913.

K. A. Wilson appeared for the applicant, and one of the trustees James Hannah, appeared in person. After argument was heard, an order was made directing an assessment to be levied.

SCHOOLBOY FOOTBALL SEASON STARTS TODAY

FOOTBALL HERE THIS MORNING

The first games of the Schoolboys' Junior Football League will be played this morning on the Shamrock grounds beginning at ten o'clock. Winter Street will play Albert in the first contest and King Edward and St. Malachi's will meet in the second game. The final results of the league will determine the possession of the silver cup offered by the Standard and which was won by Albert School last year. All the games will be played on the Shamrock grounds each Saturday morning until the close of the season. The public is invited to witness the danger of other games where massed plays are so much in evidence.

C. D. Howard, who was responsible for the organization of the league, has taken a deep interest in the boys play and his work has shown good results. He hopes that the people in St. John will give their support to the boys and encourage them in many games and contests.

As has before been pointed out, football develops a boy's muscles and quickens his eye and speed. He learns to think quickly and take advantage of openings where they occur.

The schedule for the Schoolboys' Junior Football League is as follows:

- Saturday, November 13.
- 10 a. m.—Winter Street vs. Albert School.
- 11 a. m.—King Edward vs. St. Malachi's School.
- Saturday, October 23.
- 10 a. m.—Winter Street vs. King Edward School.
- 11 a. m.—Centennial vs. St. Malachi's School.
- Saturday, October 30.
- 10 a. m.—Albert School vs. Centennial School.
- 11 a. m.—St. Malachi's vs. Winter Street School.
- Saturday, November 6.
- 10 a. m.—King Edward School vs. Centennial School.
- 11 a. m.—Albert School vs. St. Malachi's School.
- Saturday, October 16.
- 10 a. m.—Winter Street vs. Centennial School.
- 11 a. m.—Albert School vs. King Edward School.

CLASSES AT Y. M. C. A.

The first senior class of the season opened last evening in the Y. M. C. A. under the direction of H. O. Bonk, physical director. The class showed an enrollment of twenty-six, and was the largest class to open this season. Other new members are expected, and it is hoped before long to exceed the large class of last year. The chief work last evening consisted of calisthenics, bars, horses and jumping. Games were also played and the medicine ball was tossed about. (This evening and a good dip in the tank closed the work for the evening.)

Next week and continuing the Highland Fling will be practised by the class. It is thought this will add

WIND-UP OF 43RD MEET AT LEXINGTON

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 15.—The 43rd annual meeting of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association closed today with the finish of the second division of the 2.10 pace, carried over from yesterday. May Direct winning the third heat and the race, the second heat having gone to Patrick M. Etawah, driven by Geers, started to beat 2:03 1/4, and trotted the mile in 2:03. The first quarter was made in 31 1/2, the second in 1:03 1/4, and the third in 1:33 1/4. Summary: 2.10 Class Pace, 2 in 3; Purse, $1,000. (Two Heats Yesterday.)

The second game in the Provincial interscholastic football league will be played in Fredericton this afternoon, when St. John will contend with the Capital players. St. John has defeated Rothesay in this series, but Fredericton is said to be strong and practice has developed speed in the players. The game should be fast and well worth watching.

It is expected that about fifty High School supporters will accompany the team to Fredericton. St. John High School has some good players and will no doubt put up a good game.

NEW PACING RECORD.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 15.—Single G., owned by W. B. Barlow of Cambridge City, Ind., one of the star pacers of the year, won the Cumberland Stake, the chief event of the Grand Circuit races here yesterday, in straight heats and took a new record in the first heat for the mile in 2:02 1/4. The pace for the first heat was extremely fast, the quarter being reached in 30 1/4, half in 1:00, and three-quarters in 1:30 1/4.

It is probable that a basketball and indoor baseball league will be organized. The local Y. M. C. A. will enter in the meet of the Canadian Y. M. C. A. Athletic League, whose headquarters is at Toronto. The meet will include the Pentathlon and Hexathlon games. In these latter events cups will be rewarded to the institution making the highest number of points. The winning club holds the cup for a year and by winning it three consecutive years will hold it permanently.

LIVE TOPICS ABOUT LIVE RING STARS

Jack Dillon and Jim Ryan are booked for a bout in Brooklyn Oct. 26. Jimmy Duffy will take on Willie Beecher at Albany Oct. 25, Johnny Griffiths at Akron, O., Nov. 1, and Johnny Anderson at Columbus, O., on Nov. 8.

Al Shubert and Willie Brown are booked for a bout at Pittsfield next Monday night. The Wisconsin Boxing Commissioners do not believe that Kilbane and Mitchell tried their best when they fought at Milwaukee the other night. Memphis saying he was coming here to water that Charley White would not defeat him next Tuesday night. Not long after the letter arrived the club received a telegram from Kilbane saying he had secured Johnny Harvey of New York to meet White next Tuesday.

Scotty Monteith, the hustling little manager of Johnny Dundee and Eddie Wallace, left New York for St. Paul last night, where Wallace is scheduled to meet Billy Whalen in the semi-final of the Al Palmer-Frank Hagner contest Friday night. Dundee will leave New York Friday, accompanied by Dick Peters, the West Side light weight, and will complete his training at Milwaukee for his ten-round bout with Joe Rivers, carded to take place on the twenty-fifth.

Mark Shaughnessy, the Minneapolis promoter, is still waiting for a reply from Willie Ritchie. Several days ago the Minnesota promoter offered the native son a guarantee of $2,000 and all training expenses for a ten-round bout between Ritchie and Young Brown for Thanksgiving Day afternoon. Evidently Ritchie has not sent the fight wonder of the Pacific coast.

Jack White, the Chicago fighter, will meet George Chaney in a fifteen-round session at Baltimore on Oct. 29. Honey Melody, who was one of the moonshiners in the welterweight division several years ago, is to be given a monster benefit at Boston shortly. Melody is suffering with eye trouble at the present time, and it is hoped to enable him to complete the cure. Honey was some fighter in his days and his friends will regret to learn of the trouble he is having on account of bad eyesight.

The Philadelphia Press had the following to say about Joe Shurgus's return to the roped arena Monday night: "In his first battle since he was stricken with partial blindness last spring, Joe Shurgus, the sensational young aspirant, McAndrews' outclassed and outboxed Eddie McAndrews, one of Manayunk's best, in the feature bout before another capacity audience at Harry Edwards' Olympic A. A. last night. "McAndrews went along all right for three rounds and in the second stanza progressed so far as to have the better of that. But what Shurgus brought forth in the fourth and fifth rounds was enough to discourage any young aspirant. McAndrews' inaugural battle with a lightweight top-notch was not a glorious one for the Manayunk celebrity."

Danny Moran registers a big kick in behalf of his heavyweight star, Battling Levinsky. Says Sir Daniel:

WADDELL PLAYED ON MANY TEAMS

Buffalo, Oct. 15.—The News says: This week will mark the 39th anniversary of the birth of the late George Edward Waddell, in his day one of the most famous of pitchers. "Rube" Waddell was even more eccentric than "Rube" Marquard. During his seventeen years in professional baseball he had fourteen jobs and played with a dozen different clubs. Waddell was born in Butler, Pa., and played with Oil City, the Louisville Nationals, Detroit, Homestead, Columbia, again with Louisville, Pittsburg, the Milwaukee American League club, the Chicago Cubs, the Los Angeles "outlaws," the Athletics, the St. Louis Browns, the Minneapolis American Association and the Minneapolis Northern League club.

He contracted tuberculosis and died of that disease in a sanitarium in San Antonio.

KAISER LIKES THE BIKE RIDERS

Bike racing men always had a good opinion of the German royal family, and racers who were fortunate enough to win in Berlin never failed to receive a gift from the Crown Prince; but it remained for the Kaiser himself to place bike riders under an everlasting obligation. Some time ago cables stated that Doerflinger, the Swiss champion, who rode often in New York and twice in Boston, had been condemned to death. He was charged with being a spy. Recent despatches said that the Kaiser personally had pardoned Doerflinger. It is not difficult to read between the lines and see the kindly influence of the Crown Prince, the greatest enthusiast on bicycle racing in all Europe.

A well known example of the interest of the Crown Prince was shown in the case of Walter Rutt. A deserter, for failing to perform military duty, Rutt dared not return to his home. The Crown Prince interceded for him and he was pardoned, on a promise to bear arms if ever needed. Rutt stole through the lines months after war was declared in order to keep his oath to the Crown Prince.

German riders are prisoners in France and French riders are under guard in Germany, but Doerflinger was the first biker to be accused of being a spy—and he supposedly a neutral at that.

"When it comes to picking an opponent for Jess Willard, what's the matter with Louis? The Battler has liked Jim Coffey three times, twice in this city and once in Philadelphia, and where the big Irishman should be given preference over my man I cannot see. If any man is entitled to a match with the champion, said party's name is Mr. Battling Levinsky."

Jack McQuiggin who runs the National A. C. at Philadelphia, has asked Dan Moran to allow Jack Britton to meet the winner of the Ted Lewis-Willie Moore fight scheduled for Friday night. Charlie Murray, the Buffalo promoter, and Tom Andrews and Ben Steimel, the Milwaukee promoters, are also anxious to get Lewis and Britton to mix it again.

RACE TRACK FOLLOWER IS INDICTED

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 15.—Percy R. Phillips, widely known among race track followers in the United States and Canada, was indicted by the grand jury here today on the charge of embezzling "about $13,000." The indictment was procured at the instance of James Mulligan of St. Louis who, it is declared, employed Phillips as betting commissioner.

Phillips has been missing since October 4. Mr. O. S. McIntyre, local representative of the Willard Storage Battery Company, explains why one always finds much stronger terminals and connections on a Willard battery. "There is no use in putting all possible care in manufacture into a high grade battery," says Mr. McIntyre, "if you make the terminals so small that you can't get full use of your battery's capacity. It would be like building a big reservoir and connecting it with pipes too small to deliver the water."

"Besides, that the resistance offered in inverse proportion of the size of the wiring and connections, causing overheating and other troubles.

HARD BLOW TO MAGNATES. Eighty thousand dollars were rolled up in the hall that Harry Hooper drove into centre field bleachers and won the world's championship for the Red Sox. The drive cost Hooper's employer, Joe Lannin, $40,000, and Wm. F. Baker, Philly owner, $40,000.

MORE CONSERVATIVE TONE ON PART OF PUBLIC; SALES DROP BELOW MILLION MARK

Warnings concerning danger of speculative mania bearing fruit—Gains in some of the War Shares, Bethlehem Steel going to 477 before close.

New York, Oct. 15.—Perhaps the most significant feature of today's market was the fact that dealings fell far below the million-share mark, sales amounting to only 885,000 shares. It was the first full session in something like three weeks in which the output failed to attain to seven figures, not to mention the many days in which the output failed to attain to seven figures, not to mention the many days in which the output failed to attain to 1,000,000 shares. There were further indications of an abatement of public interest, commission houses being far less prominent in the day's operations. Evidently the warnings recently emanating from responsible quarters, which pointed to the danger arising from a continuance of the speculative mania were bearing fruit. Latest developments in the European war, including the possible abandonment of the Dardanelles campaign by the Allies, also acted as a check, foreign offerings of our stocks of our stocks being much less freely absorbed. Opening prices disclosed considerable irregularity, with a preponderance of declines. These were neutralized, in a measure, by gains in some of the war shares, including Bethlehem Steel, which opened at a lower level, but succeeded eight points from yesterday's close to the new high record of 475 before mid-day, later touching 477. Westinghouse, the most active issue of the day, American Smelting and American Can compromised the few elements of actual strength, U. S. Steel showing further pressure. Some of the rails were firm for a time, notably Canadian Pacific, the Anthracites, Union Pacific and Erie but St. Paul, Chicago Northwestern, New Haven, Illinois Central and Chesapeake and Ohio were variably lower. As usual the selling movement gathered force in the later dealings, most advances in specialties then being changed to losses, with general heaviness elsewhere. The closing was heavy, with an abrupt decline in Rock Island, South Porto Rico Sugar, was a further gain of 19 points to 150, was among the few outstanding issues of the day. Bonds were firm at the outset but eased off later, a feature being several small sales of Anglo-French notes at 97 1/2, a fraction under the subscription. Total sales, par value, $3,842,000.

CLOSING LETTER OF N.Y. MARKET BY E. & C. RANDOLPH

(McDUGALL & COWANS.)
New York, Oct. 15.—Selling of stocks during the day was fully equal to the demand, and so far exceeded it in the late trading that prices declined rather sharply at the close. Rock Island was a weak feature at the end, its decline being due to rumors that Mr. Kendrick, the expert who recently made an investigation of the financial requirements of the company would report the need of a larger sum for rehabilitation than has heretofore been expected. It is understood, however, that the report will not be negative for some time and the supposed requirements may be scaled down. A number of war order stocks sold off rather early. That was the case in Lack Steel, of which there was distribution helped by the favorable quarterly report published a few days ago. U. S. Steel, however, has been firm and the railroad stocks have acted relatively well, the amount of foreign selling not being large in the course of the day. Sales stocks $49,320. Bonds $3,832,000.

Forty Per Cent. Are Paupers

Amongst every 1000 men who reach the age of 65, there are 400 who depend on public or private charity—of the remaining 600, the great majority live on the border between poverty and decent comfort. Think what a blessing to every one of these a regular monthly income would be.
From this working of the law of averages you have no escape unless it be by early death or by providing yourself with some unfailing source of regular, periodical income for your latter days.
You can do that to-day by means of a Canada Life Monthly Pension policy. It will guarantee you a monthly income for life, beginning at age 65, and from the day your first premium is paid it will, as straight insurance, protect your life in favor of your dependents.

Around the City

There will be a recruiting meeting in the Imperial Theatre Sunday evening at 8.30 as usual. Three or four prominent speakers will occupy the platform and the Temple of Honor Band will render military music. A large attendance is expected.

Seven men went forward to Sussex last evening to join the 88th Battalion. They are William Ballantyne, Harry G. Clowes, Edward Melbourne, Sean, Frank Walsh, Ernest Arbo and Peter M. Porter.

Returned from Convention. Mrs. David Hutchinson, Mrs. J. R. Vanwart, Mrs. N. C. Scott, Mrs. E. Flewelling, Mrs. W. A. P. Thorne, Mrs. J. H. Lang, Mrs. R. C. Elkin, Mrs. Todd and Mrs. F. Marvin returned home yesterday from Sussex, where they attended the annual convention of the United Baptist Women's Missionary Union of the Maritime Provinces.

For Soldiers' Comforts. Plans are completed for the entertainment to be given by members of the Soldiers' Comfort Association in the Immigration Building, West St. John, on Wednesday and Thursday of next week. Supper will be served from 5 o'clock till 8 and there will be other entertainment during the evening. The committee in charge expect a large attendance.

Meeting Sunday Night. Rev. W. R. Robinson, pastor of the Ludlow street Baptist church has thrown his church open at the regular hour of service on Sunday night for the purpose of recruiting. Owing to the small attendance at the meeting last night, it was decided to postpone the meeting, so Mr. Robinson offered the use of his church to the recruiting committee. H. A. Powell will address the people, and there will be special patriotic music.

Recruiting in Chipman. The recruiting committee in Chipman has been doing good work lately under the leadership of Mr. Cummings, the recruiting officer for Queens-Sunbury. A meeting was held in Chipman on Monday, at which Lieut. Brooks, Rev. Father Carney, of Fredericton, and Rev. M. E. Fletcher, of St. John spoke, and as a result of the meeting, several young men were enrolled. A special big meeting will be held there on November 1, and it is expected that several more young men will be enlisted at that meeting.

Newfoundland Society. The Newfoundland Mutual Benefit Society has elected new officers for the ensuing term. The reports for the year just passed show the organization here to be in a flourishing condition. The new officers are as follows: Isaac Mercer, president; E. Vey, vice-president; Henry Butt, secretary; Percy Gibbons, clerk; Ugena Clark, financial secretary; Hugh Milley, treasurer; John Curtis, sergeant-at-arms; Thomas Sparks, Arthur Green and J. Curtis, trustees; James Clark, Wesley Ryans and Allen Follett, investigating committee; Jacob Marten, A. J. Green and Eben Vey, auditing committee.

Retail Market. Provisions were plentiful in the local market yesterday. In many lines there have been slight increases in prices, but on the whole commodities are available at about the same figures as are usual at this time of the year. Meats are a little in advance of last week's prices, roast beef being quoted at from 15c. to 25c. per pound; lamb, 14c. to 18c.; pork, 12c. to 20c. Eggs were higher in price, fresh bringing 38c. per dozen; case, 30c. to 32c. Butter, creamery, found purchasers at 28c. per pound; tub, 32c. to 34c. Turkeys still command good prices, 32c. per pound being the price asked in some cases. Chickens were on sale at from 28c. to 30c. per pound. There were no changes of importance in the prices of vegetables.

Jail Breaker Still at Large, But a Careful Search Being Made

Thomas thought to have used key in working his way to freedom—Had made successful break once before.

WILLIAM M. THOMAS.

Escaped from County Jail Thursday night and is still at large.

The story of the sensational escape from the county jail Thursday night by William M. Thomas, which was exclusively told in detail by The Standard yesterday morning, was one of the chief topics of conversation about the city, and in fact throughout the province yesterday. Thomas is still at large and up to an early hour this morning neither Sheriff Wilson nor Chief of Police Simpson had received any word of the man having been seen or captured. There is a feeling now that Thomas may be successful in getting across the line into the United States despite the fact that every road from the province is being closely watched by officers.

Immediately on being informed of the escape Thursday night Sheriff Wilson and Chief of Police Simpson sent a description of Thomas out to officers in every town along the border and throughout the province with a view of having him captured should he happen along.

Late Thursday night the police department made a thorough search for Thomas. Police within a few hours after the escape searched yards, old buildings, wharves, steamers, the railroad yards and box cars within the city limits. A large touring car was engaged and Chief Simpson, Inspector Wickham and Deputy Sheriff Clifford were on the hustle until within an hour of daylight yesterday morning. The highway from South Bay to Quispamsis was scoured, and every person found on the road was held up and questioned but none had seen any person who even resembled the convict. The search was not discontinued for yesterday morning bright and early the police searched the steamer before it called for Eastport and Boston, while the deputy sheriff with Turnkey Bowes hiked through the country district to the westward of the city until well on in the afternoon but failed to learn anything of the missing man.

A Previous Record. It has come to light that this is not Thomas' first successful break from prison, for it is only a few years ago that while doing time in a Southern States prison he broke jail and got safely away.

It is well known that the prisoners in a jail as a majority are bound to help each other, and it was learned yesterday by a Standard reporter that Thomas was assisted in making his escape by at least one other prisoner in the jail. It is said that the escape of Thomas was planned some days before Thursday, and while his cell mate, Albert Dalgie, claims that he was asleep and did not know of Thomas making his escape, this story is not believed.

Was a Machinist. Thomas was a machinist by trade and very handy with tools. Some time ago he had planned to escape from jail if he was found guilty and sentenced to a long term. On Thursday night officials were under the belief that Thomas had picked the locks of the cell door and the corridor gate, but whether they have been informed differently or not they did not give out any statement to the contrary yesterday. Thomas did not pick the locks, it is claimed, but used a key to unlock the doors almost as easily as one of the officials would do it with the regular key.

While in jail he was furnished with an old key, also a file. These he kept well out of sight of the guards and when no official was near he filed and fitted the key after much work so it would unlock the doors. Perhaps, fortunately for the guard he left an opportunity for Thomas to escape, when he went to the basement to switch off the lights.

Although Thomas had only been in the city about three weeks before being arrested and during that space of time he was drilling on Partridge Island with the artillery, he knew the lay of the city pretty well.

Money Too. When arrested on August 4th last Thomas had only a few cents in his possession, but it is taken for granted that when he left the country jail on Thursday night he was supplied with enough money to assist him along the route to freedom and keep him from having to call at any place and beg for food and thus be discovered. It is believed that some prisoners in the Jail have supplied Thomas with the necessary funds to assist him in getting clear of the country.

Speaking of the escape of Thomas Sheriff Wilson said, last night, that the story he read in The Standard, yesterday morning, covered the escape in every detail. The sheriff, however, if he knew, did not say anything about Thomas using a key which he made himself in getting clear of the jail, and the official was apparently still under the impression that Thomas had picked the locks.

As to an investigation into the affair the sheriff said he had made an enquiry into the matter Thursday night after the escape was reported to him, and also looked into the matter yesterday. As far as he could learn the only person who should know anything about how Thomas got out of the cell was his mate, Albert Dalgie and all that could be learned from this prisoner was the same as printed in yesterday's Standard, that he was asleep at the time Thomas got away and he did not know anything about it. The picture shown above of Thomas is a true likeness taken very recently.

AN OAK TABLET TO MEMORY OF RUDOLF M'KIEL

Unveiled by 'Prentice Boys' last night—Many tributes to worth of soldier.

Members of Maple Leaf Lodge of Prentice Boys, at a meeting last evening unveiled a tablet in memory of Rudolf McKiel, who died as the result of wounds received in the battle of Ypres. There was a large attendance and the unveiling of the tablet was by Attorney General Baxter, who paid a glowing tribute to the worth of the late Rudolf McKiel.

Councillor Wm. Golding acted as chairman. Others on the platform were Rev. Gilbert Earle, W. P. Dunham, Wm. Townsend and Commissioner F. L. Potts.

The first speaker was Mr. Potts, who referred to the example set by Mr. McKiel in giving his life for the Empire. He thought many might follow the spirit shown by the soldier.

Rev. Mr. Earle spoke of the life of the soldier and how he did his duty as he saw it although it cost him his life.

Hon. Mr. Baxter in unveiling the tablet said that the time had come for all people in the Empire to do some deep thinking. Rudolf McKiel had shown an unselfish spirit in offering his services to the Empire. The spirit of selfishness should not be maintained in the country for it selfishness prevailed the British Empire would be little better than Germany, which had inflicted such great disaster upon civilization. He thought, however, there was a great spirit of self sacrifice abroad and the British Empire would go ahead in the right way. He felt that the present strife, with its sorrows and its trials, would bring forth a greater nation than the world had ever seen. He spoke of Mr. McKiel's life and what it represented. He then removed the British flag from over the tablet.

The meeting all through was particularly solemn and there was a total lack of applause.

The tablet, which was unveiled, is of oak, surmounted with the emblems of the lodge and the flag. It bears the following inscription:

In Memory of
Rudolf McKiel
Born August 15, 1882.
Wounded at Ypres, Belgium.
Died April 16, 1915.
Volunteered in Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

Trial Postponed. The case of the King vs. Andrew Bennett, committed for trial on a charge of doing wilful damage to property, was to have been tried before Judge Armstrong under the Speedy Trial Act yesterday morning, but as the Crown was not ready to proceed, the trial was adjourned until Thursday, 21st instant. J. Starr Tait is appearing for the defendant and C. H. Ferguson will prosecute.

AN EXCELLENT APPOINTMENT

Hon. Mr. Hazen shows appreciation for "Bud" Tippet's work on battlefield

St. John, N. B.

To the Editor of The Standard,
Sir,—I am surprised that little, if anything, has appeared in the columns of your paper with regard to the appointment of "Bud" Tippet to a position in the St. John Customs House rendered vacant by the death of the late W. M. Wallace.

By making this appointment Mr. Hazen has acted with the broad-mindedness that has earned him the respect of the entire community during the many years he has been so prominent in the politics of this province. More than that, in the opinion of the people here he has not only done an act of justice generously towards a man who did his duty in the defence of the flag, but has also taken the most practical step to aid recruiting that has been done since the beginning of the war.

The people of this section of St. John county have nothing but praise for Mr. Hazen's action, and are delighted that a young man from this town, who was the first to return wounded from the front, has so quickly had recognition given to him by the government.

A resident of Fairville, in view of the little that has been said about this appointment, I think it my duty to write this letter publicly expressing the appreciation of the people of the town in which I live to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries.

FAIRVILLE.

LIFE UNDERWRITERS ELEGT OFFICERS

Annual meeting held yesterday in Board of Trade Room.

The annual meeting of the Life Underwriters' Association was held in the Board of Trade rooms yesterday afternoon when the following officers were elected:

President, F. W. Hewitson, London Life; vice-president H. Connell Mutual Life; secretary, A. P. Allingham, Imperial Life; treasurer F. G. B. Gorrie, Prudential Assurance of America; executive council, E. R. Machum, Manufacturers' Life; C. A. Pheoney, London Life; C. A. Sun Life; R. L. Sloporel, Dominion Life; W. Merritt, Great West Life.

The president, F. W. Hewitson, in the course of a short address, remarked that it is of the utmost importance that every insurance underwriter should be a member of the Life Underwriters' Association. Mr. Machum gave an interesting talk on the good work accomplished by the association in the past for the benefit both of the public and the man employed in the insurance business. There was a large attendance at the meeting and an optimistic feeling prevailed throughout.

A committee consisting of the superintendants and ministers of the churches interested met last evening to decide matters concerning the New Brunswick Church Convention being held in this city the week of November 1st. J. E. Arthur was elected chairman. The committee arranged the work and the entertainment of the convention which is to be held in Centenary Methodist church. About two hundred and fifty delegates are expected to come from different parts of the province.

The chief speaker will be W. A. Brown, of Chicago. Prof. J. M. Truman, of the Agricultural school, Truro, will speak on Rural Communities and its Sunday Schools.

The Street Railway. While the concrete from the space formerly occupied by the street railway has been all removed there is still some cleaning up to be done. After this is completed it is supposed that the company and the city will attempt to reach some agreement as to the work to be finished in regards to replacing the rails.

The rails for the western approach to the new bridge are in place and one line connected up. It is likely that cars will run on the bridge next week.

PERSONAL. Rev. J. Clement Wilson, of Doaktown, in the County of Northumberland, has been registered to solemnize marriages.

J. T. Hailsey, of Truro, district superintendent of the I. C. R., was in the city for a short time yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Seeley returned to the city on the Montreal train Friday.

Only a Bon Fire. The fire department was called out last evening about 7.40 o'clock by an alarm from box 64, corner of Erin and Clarence streets, to extinguish a bon fire which some youngsters had lighted on the street.

RESISTANCE OF THE SERBS GREATER THAN BERLIN EXPECTED

Intercepted Message from German Emperor Urges Bulgaria to Hasten Operations Against Serbians—Austrian Losses 20,000 Killed and 40,000 Wounded.

Paris, Oct. 15.—Losses of the Austro-German forces on the northern front in Serbia have totalled 20,000 killed and 40,000 wounded, according to the latest reports received at headquarters in Nish, says a despatch from Nish to the Temps.

The despatch which was dated Wednesday, Oct. 13, reads as follows: "There has been severe fighting along the northern front. According to the latest report received at Serbian headquarters, the Austro-German troops on the Obrenovatz-Belgrade-Bratislava front have lost 20,000 killed and 40,000 wounded. A wireless message from Obrenovatz to the German legation at Sofia admits great losses and says that the Serbian resistance exceeded expectations.

"Another wireless message in cypher which was intercepted and decoded, and which was supposed to be signed by the German Emperor or by Field Marshal von Mackensen urged Bulgaria to begin operations against Serbia without delay.

"Despite furious attacks against heavy odds, the Serbs are retaining their positions along the Drina, Save and Danube. The Serbian forces, however, appear to be seriously menaced by German reinforcements, estimated at four divisions reported in the Deliblat section north of the Danube, and it is feared that the Serbian army, which is heroically maintaining the Pozarevac front will be cut in two and thrown back towards the Roumanian frontier.

"Despite heavy losses, the Serbians are prepared to make all sacrifices. They are urgently demanding that Anglo-French reinforcements be sent in time."

Berlin Claims Capture of Serbian Town of Pozarevac.

Berlin, via London, Oct. 15.—Capture of the Serbian town of Pozarevac about 12 miles southeast of Semendria, was reported today by the war office. Elsewhere on this front the Serbians have been driven back further with the loss of three guns.

Announcement also was made that the Bulgarian first army, attacking over the northern frontier of Serbia, had taken possession of several positions. The announcement concerning the Balkan campaign follows:

"Army group of Field Marshal von Mackensen is continuing on its course according to the pre-arranged plan. South of Belgrade and Semendria the Serbians have been driven back further. Prisoners to the number of 450 and three guns, one of them a heavy gun, have been captured.

"The works on the southern front of Pozarevac were stormed last night and the fortified town thereby fell into our hands.

"The Bulgarian first army has begun its attack over the east Serbian frontier. It took possession of the heights of the passes between Belloradit and Kujasovic."

CHINESE RAID CONSIDERED IN POLICE COURT

Evidence taken and case put over till this morning.

The case in which Hop Lee and Sing Lee are charged with keeping an opium and gambling place on Mill Street and nineteen other Chinese for being inmates, was taken up in the police court yesterday morning, continued until five o'clock in the afternoon, and was adjourned until 10:30 o'clock this morning.

The Chinese were represented by G. Gerow, who informed the court that Daniel Mullin, K.C., had withdrawn from the case. G. H. V. Belyea appeared for Ham Lee, but the latter, who was out on $100 did not put in an appearance and the deposit was forfeited.

Thomas McCullough was sworn in as shorthand reporter, and Lee Hughes, Chinaman from Montreal, was accepted as interpreter.

Son Keen, Wan Hing, Kith Suel, Ee On and George Lee were allowed out on leaving deposits of two hundred dollars each, while the fourteen others were remanded to jail.

Inspector Wickham took the stand as first witness for the prosecution. In consequence of information received on October 10, I, with Sergeant Scott, Patrolmen Linton, Elliott, McFarland, Hopkins, Young, Ward and Donahue and Detectives Barrett and Briggs, at 11:50 p. m., we entered the store of Hop Lee, 126 Mill Street. After entering we came to a partition with a locked door. We forced the door and went through a store-room. We next came to a room where there were a number of men sitting around. The table was divided into partitions, between a double top. In a corner of the room we found a blanket full of dominoes, which looked as if it was just swept from the table. In a box under another table we found a box containing $170 in small change. We also discovered some Chinese coins and some buttons, which are used for gaming."

"While we were endeavoring to enter the shop the Chinamen endeavored to escape by the rear exit. I found these lottery tickets in a small room off the 'back.'"

Cross-examined by Mr. Gerow, the witness said he did not know of his own knowledge, but had been informed by a pretty good authority. "A bundle of papers were found in Sing Lee's store in the supposed opium room. I moved a trunk in the supposed gambling room and picked up a small bottle of red ink. Hop said, 'Oh, that's only red ink.' Behind this, however, we discovered a door partly papered over. We forcibly entered and found Kith Suel there in a stupid condition. He was lying on a bench and made no effort to move until Barrett grabbed him. We broke into Sing Lee's shop. Two men were taken out of beds, but I cannot identify them, as my back was turned. We had flashlights with us, but there were electric lights in all rooms except the store-room. The bench on which Kith was lying is similar to ones which I have seen in other opium places. Witness produced a small flat stick coated with a dark substance, which he had taken from Kith. "In another room we found some broken glass, and freshly spilled liquid. We gathered some of it up, but not sufficient to analyze. There was one policeman at the front, three in the rear and seven of us entered. There was a very heavy, sweet, stinking odor in the room where we found Kith Suel. We found an opium pipe in the shop of Sing Lee. Hum Lee told witness that he had been there to arrange about the burial of a cousin of Sing Lee's who died in the hospital."

Officers Hopkins and Detective Barrett corroborated Inspector Wickham's testimony, and the hearing was adjourned till afternoon.

Afternoon Session. Constable Elliott testified that he was one of the squad under Inspector Wickham who made the raid on Sunday night, October 10th inst. Witness discovered a pipe on a window behind some boards and it was seized by Detective Barrett. Witness searched Hop Lee's bedroom and found two more pipes. While Constable Young was searching a Chinaman the latter had a piece of stick with some black liquid on it and did not wish to give it to the officer. The room was full of smoke, it did not hang round the room and did not have the odor of tobacco smoke. Witness said that he had worked with forty-one Chinese on a ship and saw them smoke opium and knew the smell of the drug pretty well. They would not work on board the ship unless they were supplied with opium. The witness then gave the court a description of the pipes in which opium is smoked.

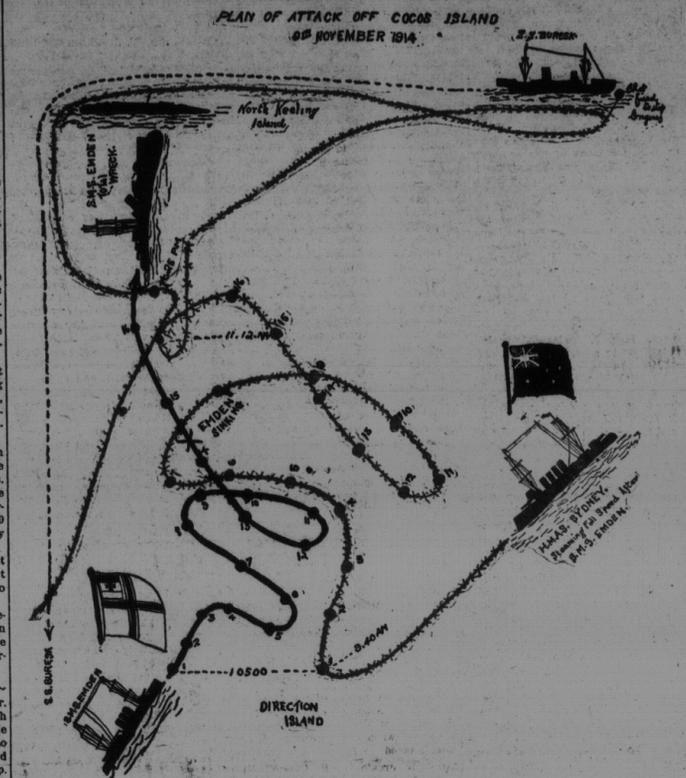

To Mr. Gerow witness said that it was the custom of Chinese to smoke tobacco in any kind of a pipe. When first you get opium to smoke, it is thicker and blacker than molasses and it will smoke to a powder.

To the magistrate witness said that the odor of the smoke he was satisfied that the Chinese had been smoking opium.

Witness said that with two other officers he was stationed at the rear door of Hop Lee's when the raid was made. There was a crash of glass as the front door was broken in and the Chinese came rushing for the back door. When he entered the place he found two tables with removable tops, and underneath were dominoes and dice. Rolled up in a blanket found in a corner of the room were concealed some dominoes.

To Mr. Gerow he said he assisted in the search of Hop Lee's apartments and found two packages and some paper with some sort of stuff in it. He also found two wooden pipes which

HOW THE SYDNEY SANK THE EMDEN BRINGING PRAISE TO AUSTRALIA

The above cut, illustrating the attack by the Australian cruiser Sydney upon the German commerce-raider Emden, which took place off Cocos Island on November 9th, 1914, was made from an interesting and unique drawing sent to Mr. H. M. Lee of West St. John. Mr. Lee's son procured the drawing in St. Lucia from a member of the Sydney's crew.

On the occasion of the attack the Emden was being coaled from the steamer Buresk, a British steamer captured by the Emden with a cargo of coal. The Germans put a prize crew on the Buresk and took coal from her.

The Sydney sighted the Emden at 9:40 a.m. and opened fire on her, finally putting her out of business in less than an hour and a half. The Sydney fired seventeen rounds at the Emden before the German flag was hauled down and the commander surrendered.

After sinking the Emden the Sydney started after the Buresk and fired a shot across her bows to stop her. It was discovered that the Buresk was sinking fast as the German crew on her had opened the flooding valves and allowed the water to come in. The crew then abandoned the ship and the Sydney sank her.

In the accompanying diagram the Sydney and her course appear in red. The Emden and her course in black. The dots and numbers indicate the relative positions of the ships as the shots were fired. It will be noticed that the Sydney was skillfully manoeuvred, keeping out of range of the Emden's guns while pouring a deadly fire from her superior armament. The broken red line shows the course of the Sydney in the chase and sinking of the Buresk, and the broken black lines the effort of the German crew on the Buresk to evade the enemy.

GREATEST WHEAT CROP IN HISTORY OF CANADA

Yield Even Greater than Previously Estimated — Total Crop About 336,258,000 Bushels, or 45 per cent. in Excess of 1913, Which was Previous Record Yield.

SPECIAL TO THE STANDARD

Ottawa Ont., Oct. 15.—The immensity of Canada's wheat this year is shown by an official report out today. For wheat, oats, rye and flax the fields are even higher than those reported a month ago, but in the case of barley and oats the present estimate is less than that of August 31. The total wheat crop of Canada is now placed at 336,258,000 bushels from 12,986,400 acres, representing an average yield per acre of 25.99 bushels. This total is 174,978,000 bushels more than last year's inferior yield of 161,280,000 bushels, the crop this year being therefore more than double, or 108 per cent. more than that of last year. It is 104,541,000 bushels or 45 per cent. in excess of the previous highest yield of 231,717,000 bushels in 1913 and 1,009,600 bushels or 72 per cent. in excess of the annual average yield of 196,026,000 bushels for the five years, 1910 to 1914.

Of oats the revised total yield is 481,035,500 bushels from 11,365,000 acres, an average per acre of 42.33 bushels. Barley comes out at 50,868,000 bushels from 1,509,350 acres, an average per acre of 33.70 bushels. Rye is now 2,478,500 bushels from 112,300 acres, or 22.07 bushels per acre, and flaxseed 12,604,700 bushels from 14,009,600 acres, or 12.48 bushels per acre.

The remaining grain crops of Canada, whose yields are now reported for the first time this year are as follows: Peas, 3,240,400 bushels; beans, 594,000 bushels; buckwheat, 8,101,000 bushels; mixed grains, 17,128,500 bushels, corn for husking, 14,594,000 bushels. The condition of wheat, oats, grain varies from 90 to 93 per cent. is the standard quality fixed at 100.

Detective Briggs told of the search and of finding three Chinamen hiding dominoes and witness found three small bottles containing what looked like pills on a shelf behind some cans. The court then adjourned.

GERMANY HAS POWER TO STOP MASSACRE OF THE ARMENIANS

Viscount Bryce Declares Outrages Against Armenian People Due More to Envy on Part of Turks than to Religious Fanaticism—Horrors of Massacre Unequaled in History.

London, Oct. 15.—"There is only one power that can stop the Armenian atrocities, and that is Germany," declared Viscount Bryce at a meeting today at the Mansion House in support of the Lord Mayor's fund in aid of the Armenian sufferers. He declared that the only remedy was to bring the pressure of world opinion, particularly neutral opinion, to bear on Germany and force her to take action.

Viscount Bryce who proposed a resolution condemning the reported atrocities, paid tribute to the intelligence and progressiveness of the Armenians, who he said, were far superior to the Mohammedans, and he declared that the case was not so much one of religious fanaticism as it was of deliberate extermination of a people of whom the Turks were envious.

The horrors of the massacre exceeded anything in the history of persecutions, declared the speaker. Women and children, he said, had been driven across the Arabian desert with whips by the Turks, who went mad, and at Trebizond carried their victims out to sea in boats and drowned them. "Women, many of whom were as highly civilized as any of us," he declared, had been sold into slavery, where they were Mohammedanized. He declared untrue excuse offered by Germans for the Turks to the effect that the Armenians had rebelled, the speaker declaring that the Armenians were quiet and unoffensive until forced to defend themselves.

In seconding the resolution Cardinal Bourne said that the evidence was so strong that even Germany was not able to deny the massacre. Neutrals, he said, should follow the example of Pope Benedict, who wrote a personal protest and plea to the Sultan.

Sir Edwin Pears, who had been the leader of the British bar in Constantinople, apparently surprised his hearers by saying that the persecution was not an article of Mohammedan faith and that the massacre were deplored by the mass of the Turks.

T. P. O'Connor mentioned the work of Americans in raising a fund, and also praised the efforts to the same end being made by the Lord Mayor.

ALLEGED ORDERS OF GEN. JOFFRE ARE DENIED CAMPAIGN FOR PATRIOTIC FUND

Copies of supposed order of French Commander to troops before battle of Champagne published in Germany and Switzerland.

Paris, Oct. 15.—The official press bureau's characteristics as unauthentic the version given out in Germany of General Joffre's order of the day before the battle of Champagne, as well as the latest version, published in Swiss newspapers. The German account said Gen. Joffre's order had been found on a dead officer. The press bureau states that there is only the slightest chance that an army order would be found under those circumstances, because officers do not carry such documents into action but destroy them after reading them to the men.

The Swiss version is described as a better imitation of the style of General Joffre than that given out in Germany, but as equally apocryphal. It follows: "Soldiers of the republic: After months of waiting, which enabled us to increase our forces and resources, while our adversary wasted his, the hour has come to attack, to vanquish, and to add new pages of glory to those of the Marne, Flanders, the Vosges and Arras.

"Behind a storm of iron fire, unchained, thanks to the labor of the factories of France where your brothers have worked for us night and day, you will go to the assault together, over the entire front in close union with the armies of our allies. Your impetus is irresistible.

"It will carry you even to the enemy's batteries, beyond the fortified lines he has prepared against us. You will leave him neither trace nor repose until the completion of victory.

"Forward with all your hearts, for the deliverance of the soil of the Patrie, for the triumph of right and liberty."

Not a Fake, Berlin Says Berlin, via wireless to Tuckerton, Oct. 15.—The following statement was issued here officially today: "The official French press bureau dares to assert that General Joffre's order, as published in the German army headquarters report of October 3 was invented. German headquarters copies in our hands. Furthermore, captured French officers and soldiers frankly admitted their knowledge of this order, copies of which some of them had."

A Home Laundry Hint

Never wash white silk blouses in very hot water or they will get a yellow look. Wash well in a lather of good white soap and tepid water. Don't rub the silk, but squeeze well, working it up and down in the water. Use two or three different lathers if necessary until the blouse is quite clean.

Be very careful to get the soap well out of the silk in rinsing, and rinse first in tepid and then in plenty of cold water, allowing it to remain in cold water for some time. The thickest bit of blue added to the rinsing water will keep the blouse a good color.

Pure Milk Prolongs Life

Did you ever stop to consider WHY you should KNOW SOMETHING OF THE MILK YOU ARE DRINKING—Think—You've seen milk (haven't you?) that LOOKED clean, and, you were inclined, probably, to think it pure for that reason, and yet, that very milk may have had in it germs of deadly disease which, in milk, multiply with alarming rapidity.

Now that TYPHOID has made its appearance in THIS CITY, it is VITALLY IMPORTANT that YOU should have definite knowledge of how your Milk Supply is Produced. How it is Taken Care of, and How it is Delivered—first, for the protection of your own and your children's health (life, perhaps), secondly, as an important measure towards prevention of typhoid epidemic.

UNCLE WIGGLY AND SAMMIE'S SAND MILL

By HOWARD R. GARIS (Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate).

Down at the seashore, where Uncle Wiggly Longears, the rabbit gentleman, was spending a few days to cool off, the animal children, as well as the others who play on the beach, have fun with sand mills.

"Ah, ha! There is that same old rabbit gentleman who was here last year, I tried to catch him, but I couldn't. Not he is asleep, and I'll have no trouble."

"Ah, ha! This is a lucky day for me! I'll just creep out on the sands and grab him before he wakes up. He wonders what that red thing is he has with his paw on! But no matter, I guess it can't hurt me."

"Now I have you!" whispered the sea lion. "But a sea lion's whisper is almost as loud as thunder, and, of course, Uncle Wiggly heard it and woke up."

"Now I have you!" said the sea lion, and he made a grab for the rabbit gentleman.

Uncle Wiggly was hardly awake, but he managed to jump back just in time. "Oh, kerchoo! Kerchoo! Kerchoo-snoo-zo-nozo! Umph!" and he had the hiccoughs so hard that he hiccupped himself back into the ocean, and didn't hurt Uncle Wiggly a bit.

"It's a rabbit!" cried the unpleasant animal. "Oh, kerchoo! Kerchoo! Kerchoo-snoo-zo-nozo! Umph!" and he had the hiccoughs so hard that he hiccupped himself back into the ocean, and didn't hurt Uncle Wiggly a bit.

That is my message, boys. Badly written, badly expressed, I know, but I hope you understand. Now for a few tips. When we are in the trenches (we are sometimes in the front line trench for a week at a time), we always long for a hot drink of tea or cocoa, but if the Germans see smoke coming from the trench they know that men are there and so they shell it. Many commanders now forbid fires in the front trench because of the smoke, but so long as there is no smoke the fire is permitted, so the problem is how to make fire with no smoke. This is how Tommy does it. Once or twice a week he gets an issue of bacon for his rations; this he wraps round a piece of rag, and in this manner he has fuel that makes no smoke. He lights the rag, puts it in a tin which he stands his belly, and he gets his tea. True, he loses his bacon, but he can't have both tea and bacon; he prefers the former.

Work With The Wind

long ago, as we were walking a street, we came across a boy who was sweeping the pavement in front of the shop where he was employed. The boy was using a broom which was blowing, and as he swept his pitch very clean, in the wind he was using room vigorously. I didn't take us long to see that he was a Scout!

you ever try sweeping against the wind? As we should have to wait several weeks for your guesses, we will tell you—he was sweeping against the wind.

of, of course, as fast as he swept, at the dust came back again. He saw that his despatching looks, he saw that, despite all his efforts he never swept clean. We approached we quietly suggested that he should start from the way. We watched him begin, when he saw what a difference the direction made he was most anxious in his thanks.

you ever try sweeping against the wind? We have difficulties in your troop which you endeavor to overcome by calling in your Scoutmaster's assistance, when you know that a Scout with him would make all the difference.

Do you have any secret trouble which do not like to confess, we will tell you—laughed at?

at all the help you can, and work the wind. Life is full enough of disappointments for which "wind" provides no remedy. Don't let your number when it is to get assistance.

at there is one occasion when you go against the wind, that is when you are out tracking. If you are before the wind, your scent will be blown before you and your quarry will hear any noise you make, so get the alarm and having time to get to safety.

LONG ARMY COAT IS STYLE FOR WINTER
 Fur Wraps are Longer and More Tailored Than Previous Years.

Russian, Polish, French army coat—call it what you will—that long outer garment that has cropped up in the fashions through the cycles, is to be the foundation through our winter wardrobes. If you do not like it so much the worse.

Each designer in France, in and out of the great houses, has sent over a version of it, so it is entirely possible to suit each type of woman with the garment. It looks as though a determined effort was made to give the plain-tailored coat suit a second place, and advance the interests of the thin one-piece frock covered by a long cloth coat. The designers contend that such a combination is more easily worn at all times than the coat suit, which must carry so many separate pieces, few of them serving for an important occasion. This has always been the continental idea. The women there have taken up the habit of wearing the two-piece coat suit only because it was English, as it has been exceedingly smart to imitate anything British in France for several years. Possibly this social turning toward the "Isle Inconnu," as a French writer named England, has made the military and governmental "conté cordial" more pleasing and acceptable.

More Fur Used
 American women cannot be easily turned against, or from, the reliable coat suit, which answers their purpose more than any other kind of costume, but there has been shown a notable fondness for the one-piece frock of the last generation, especially since the reappearance of fur coats.

This season the fur garments are to be longer, more lavish, more tailored than ever, and, as France is laying much store by them for the daylight hours as well as for the night, it is probable they will become more fashionable than ever, over here, says Ann Ritterhouse in the Washington Post.

In the openings that are now taking place every day where the new French clothes are exhibited, the multiplicity of long coats, especially the cloth affair that we call redingote (certainly suggested by the long military coats of the officers in the various army staffs), is astonishing. How we can avoid wearing them is the question that arises in the minds of those who do not lean cordially to them.

In Robin Hood Green
 Here and there, among the exclusive shapes, is a green cloth that used to be known as Lincoln green, the shade that Robin Hood wore. It is often placed over a one-piece frock of black satin and green cloth, the satin showing beneath the hem of the coat. Another model is put over a frock of black chiffon voile, which is hemmed with a wide band of skunk-dyed opossum, merely the hem showing when the redingote is worn. There is another one of Lincoln green cloth, which is trimmed with gray astrakhan, a kind of ornamentation that has sprung into fashion along with all the other peltry so luxuriously used this autumn.

In this coat the shoulders are cut on narrow lines, the long small sleeves are put into regulation armholes, and the chest has not a particle of fullness; even that which is necessarily left from the width of the arms is taken up in small tucks at the waistline. Remember, that snugness, not looseness, is the motto for the season as regards the body part of any garment. You must be little above the waist and big below.

All the redingotes that are marked, whether or not the waistline is marked depends on the French house that has made it. Few of the garments are straight from shoulder to hem; they are more or less curved to take on the shape of the new corsets, but nearly all the hems are ornamented, usually with fur.

The word "mousette" is creeping into fashion so stealthily, but you ever try sweeping against the wind?

Reliable Recipes
Eggless Corn Muffins
 Mix and sift one cup of granulated cornmeal, one-half cup of pastry flour once sifted, one-fourth cup of sugar, two tablespoons of baking powder, measured level, and one teaspoonful of salt; then add gradually, while stirring constantly, one cup of milk. Beat one minute and add two tablespoons of melted butter. Bake in a hot oven twenty minutes.

Green Peas and Carrots on Toast
 Ten or twelve button carrots, half pint of green peas, a little more than a gill of stock, an ounce of each of butter and flour, six rounds of toasted bread to make "green peas and carrots on toast." Scrape and slice the carrots very thin and stew them in the butter until quite tender; stir in the flour; then add the peas. Pour in the stock, and stir over the fire for ten or fifteen minutes. Butter the toast, then spread the mixture on very thickly and serve hot. Salt and pepper should be added to taste, and a sprig of mint may be used for flavoring, if liked.

Redingote Frocks
 Very attractive frock is the redingote, very well adapted for the street, for shopping, traveling and morning gowns of all sorts. It is made in a variety of materials. Of course, there are plenty of taffeta models. One seen was of ink-colored brocade, drawn into ruffles around the bottom which ran up the left side to meet the buckle. Another, ideal for a journey, was of soft blue satin, the top part buttoned in front from the neck to the knees, where it ended in a long point, while the lines of this point sloped up to any empire effect in the back. A circular skirt was joined to this by a cording.

Often big pockets are placed below the waistline at each side. All these frocks repel the idea of the pulled-in waist and unconfined hips which the bodice and full-skirted types encourage.

Smart Collure
 A smart but rather trying new collure makes rank display of the forehead. The hair, slightly waved, is drawn back from the face and up from the neck and the ends are rolled out of sight under a French twist.

The contour of the head is perfectly defined and the pompadour does not bag over the forehead in the least but instead forms an inclined plane, so to speak, from the line where the hair grows above the forehead to the peak of the French twist at the crown.

Use of Brassieres
 The brassiere continues to have liberal use, being worn by practically every woman who is careful as to her attire.

Several of the new brassiere models are intended to be worn next to the body as a direct support and confiner of the bust. The materials employed for this purpose are flexible and washable, including jersey silk, crepe de Chine and crystalline.

Swansdown Scarfs
 For autumn, before heavy furs are needed, a scarf of swansdown is delightfully comfortable. These scarfs are made in the same shape as full scarfs, and came in various shades of brown. One in the color of red fox costs $15.

Raised Brown Bread
 Two cups corn meal, 1-4 yeast cake, 3 cups boiling water; pour boiling water on corn meal; when luke warm add dissolved yeast cake and remaining ingredients; beat well; let it rise over night; beat and pour into a buttered brown bread tin; bake in a moderate oven from 1 to 1-1/2 hours.

Peach Shortcake
 Sift one quart of white flour, rub into it three tablespoonfuls of cold butter, a tablespoonful of white sugar. Add a beaten egg to a cup of sour cream, turn it onto the other ingredients, dissolve 2 teaspoonfuls of soda in a spoonful of water, mix all together, handling as little as possible; roll lightly into two round sheets, place on pie tins and bake from twenty to twenty-five minutes in a quick oven. This crust is delicious for any fruit shortcakes.

Never-Fail Cake
 Sift together three times; one and one-half cups flour, one cup sugar, two teaspoons baking powder, a little salt. Into a cup put one-quarter cup melted butter; break in two eggs. Fill cup with sweet milk. Beat thoroughly and bake.

Tomato Catsup
 Peel ripe tomatoes, crush and pass through a sieve to free them of the seeds. To each three pints of pulp so obtained add two ounces of salt, one-half ounce of white pepper and one pint of vinegar. Macerate for two weeks, stir occasionally and strain.

Helpful Hints
Hint for Cabbage Cooking
 The disagreeable odor of cooking cabbage can always be avoided by placing a bag containing a lump of bread the size of a hen's egg in the saucepan with the boiling vegetables. This serves to absorb the gases, which otherwise escape, and permeate the entire house. A few pieces of charcoal in the cooking pot are said to serve the same purpose.

Wire Nets for Flowers
 A little wire net to fit any dish that holds flowers gives the dish wide possibilities. For with this net a flat dish can be made to hold tall flowers, and a few flowers can be gracefully arranged in a wide dish.

Don't Leave Broken Glass
 It is dangerous to leave broken glass lying about on the floor, especially if there are children or animals about. Don't be content just to take the pieces up with the brush and dustpan, but take an old flannel, dampen it and dab the floor with it. This will take up any minute pieces of glass that the brush passes over.

To Preserve Eggs
 Allow 14 parts of water to one part of the "water glass" (silicate of soda); mix well, and when the silicate of soda has dissolved it is ready for use. Pack strictly fresh eggs, the small ends downward, in a clean crock or kegs and cover with the liquid. Fit on a close cover and keep in a cool place.

To Preserve Books
 To prevent books from becoming musty and possibly moldy in moist weather, place a few drops of oil of lavender and Canadian balsam in a back corner of each shelf. This will not injure the bindings of leather books as sulphur compounds do, but help to preserve the bindings.

When Washing Colored Materials
 When washing and rinsing colored materials, add a teaspoonful of Fomson salts to each gallon of water, and even the most delicate shades will neither fade nor run.

To Separate Postage Stamps
 In damp weather postage stamps sometimes stick together in such a way as to be difficult to separate. When this happens, place them on a newspaper in a hot oven for a few moments. As soon as the stamps get hot, the glue dries, and by pressing between the fingers it is readily broken and the stamps may then be easily separated without the least damage.

Is it a Good Egg?
 Eggs when held up to the light should look perfectly clear. If they are cloudy looking or have dark specks they are stale. The shells should be dull looking. Shiny and mottled looking ones are not in their first youth.

MRS. WILLIAMS' LONG SICKNESS
 Yields To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Elkhart, Ind.—"I suffered for fourteen years from organic inflammation, female weakness, pain and irregularities. The pains in my sides were increased by walking or standing on my feet, and I had such awful bearing-down feelings, was depressed in spirits and became thin and pale with dull, heavy eyes. I had doctors from whom I received only temporary relief. I decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial and also the Sarsaparilla. I have now used the remedies for four months and cannot express my thanks for what they have done for me.

"If these lines will be of any benefit you have my permission to publish them."—Mrs. SARAH WILLIAMS, 455 James Street, Elkhart, Indiana.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and is a day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham, Medicine Co. (Confidential), Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

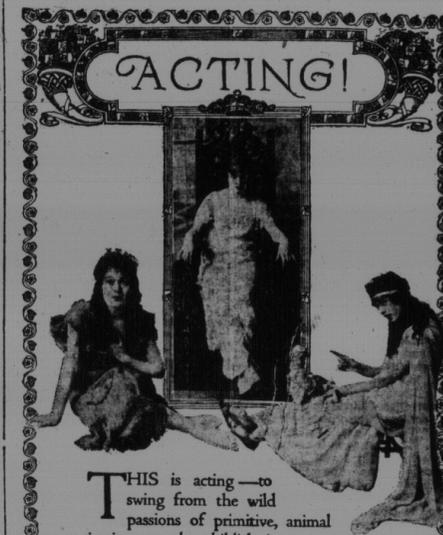

How She Acquired "Feminine Charm"
 A nicely-dressed woman sat beside me in the train. Everyone stared at her. It was not her beauty of feature that held our eyes, nor her costume. But there was something about her face and expression—I risked it and asked: "Would you mind telling me how you keep your complexion so dazzlingly pure? Don't think me impatient, but you seem over 20, yet haven't a line in your face, and your cheeks are quite peach-like. How do you do it?"

Laughing, she said: "That's easy; I remove my skin, sounds shocking, doesn't it? But listen. Instead of cosmetics I use only pure mercuric wash, procured at any drugist's. I apply this nightly, thus revealing the fresh, clear under-skin. Every woman has a beautiful complexion underneath, you know. Then, to ward off wrinkles I use a face bath made by dissolving powdered axolite (one ounce) in one-half pint witch hazel—a harmless astringent which 'tones' the skin wonderfully. Very simple, isn't it?" I thought so. I'm now trying her plan and like it immensely.—Millicent Brown in The Story Teller.

After Washing Brushes
 To stiffen hair brushes after washing, dip them in a mixture of equal parts of water and milk and then dry before the fire.

To Remove Stains
 A solution of chloride of lime and water, a tablespoonful of the lime to two gallons of water, is an excellent medium for removing the most stubborn stains. Soak the stained garment for hours in the solution and in time the offending spots will disappear, and this without injury to the fabric.

ACTING!
 THIS is acting—to swing from the wild passions of primitive, animal instincts to the childish innocence and pathetic quaintness of a simple, unsophisticated mind; from the majestic mien of the Princess of Power to the pleading loveliness of the ragged, beggar lady of the plains.

Here is Anita Stewart—Celestia—Goddess—in her myriad personality! Here is Anita Stewart, actress, child of the muse, gifted with the rarest of arts, successor of Siddons, Duse, Bernhardt, Modjeska.

And yet, how different, how distinct, how utterly apart from these queens of the stage in her methods is Anita Stewart. With the smooth, sweeping gestures of the knowing screen player, with the saintly beauty that makes Celestia so truly the Goddess, in form, manner and very individuality—her audience is the world at a single bow; her world is every type of mankind—rich, poor, wisdom-mellowed and unschooled.

And after Anita Stewart has been praised for her genius in "The Goddess" the palm must be given to Ralph W. Ince, for direction which could produce such masterly classics of motion pictures.

PRESBYTERIAN

The new St. John's Church in Moncton, is nearing completion and will be dedicated early in November.

Rev. Captain Harrison of the 6th Battalion preached in First Church, West St. John last Sunday morning, and in St. John Presbyterian Church in the evening. He also addressed a patriotic meeting in the Imperial Theatre after the church services, and on Thanksgiving Day was the preacher at a united Presbyterian service in St. John Presbyterian Church.

Rev. A. D. Archibald of Banff, Alberta, well known in the Maritime Provinces, has been elected moderator of the Presbytery of Calgary for the ensuing six months.

D. A. Guilford, one of the students of Halifax Presbyterian College, who last winter volunteered for the front, is at present in Sussex, a lieutenant in the 6th Battalion.

Rev. J. W. MacMillan, D.D., has completed his ministry in St. Matthew's Church, Halifax, and has gone to Winnipeg, where he enters upon the duties of Professor of Social Ethics and Practical Training in Manitoba Theological College.

Last Sunday there was a general exchange of pulpits throughout the congregations of Halifax Presbytery for the special presentation of the whole work of the Church.

Rev. Principal Mackinnon represented Halifax Presbytery at the recent dedication of the new Knox College, Toronto, during the last week of September. A writer in last week's Presbyterian Witness says of new Knox: "There is no other building in all Canada whose builders can all compare with it. American visitors have generously admitted that, while in the United States one or two divinity schools are as costly, none are more artistic. Indeed it is questionable if in the British Empire outside of Oxford and Cambridge its rival can be found."

Considerable Anti-Tion literature has come to hand within the past week or two. Rev. Dr. McLeod, of Barrie, Ont., has issued in pamphlet form "The Present Duty to Preserve the Presbyterian Church." A new periodical entitled "The Presbyterian Advocate," Vol. 1, No. 1, has come to our desk. The first issue is for the month of September, and will be published monthly by the Committee of the organization for the preservation of the Presbyterian Church. It is published in Montreal.

Rev. J. C. Robertson, of Toronto, general secretary of Sabbath schools and Young People's Societies, is at present fulfilling an itinerary in several presbyteries of the Maritime Provinces. He has already conducted institutes at centres in the presbyteries of Lunenburg and Yarmouth and Truro. Tomorrow he begins in Pictou Presbytery following upon which he will visit the presbyteries of Wallace, Inverness, Sydney and Halifax. He expects to be in the city of St. John on the first Sunday of November.

A catalogue for 1916 of Church, Sunday School and Young People's Societies' supplies with practical plans for their use has been issued by the Presbyterian Publications Board of Toronto, of which Rev. R. Douglas Fraser, D. D. is editor and business manager. The catalogue is superior to anything yet issued by this board and indicates the growing service which is thus being rendered to the Church.

Opening of Pine Hill

Pine Hill Alumni

The Pine Hill Alumni Association held their annual dinner and business meeting in St. John, Oct. 7, during the noon day recess between sessions of the Synod. The dinner service provided by the ladies of St. John Presbyterian Church was in every way praiseworthy and the atmosphere of the post prandial felicities delightful. Rev. A. V. Morash was the retiring president and after the secretary, treasurer, Rev. J. A. MacKean had given his report for the year, election of new officers for the ensuing year was made as follows: President, Rev. D. A. Frame; 1st vice-pres., Rev. A. V. Morash; 2nd vice-pres., Rev. P. T. 3rd, Rev. John Macintosh; sec-treas., Rev. E. Layton; auditors, Revs. F. M. Milligan and H. M. Upham. College library committee, Revs. G. A. Christie and E. H. William Carey's House

One of the most interesting events of a series of interesting meetings held in Leicester, Eng., recently under the auspices of the local auxiliary of the Baptist Missionary Society was the opening of the "William Carey" House in Harvey-lane. For many years the Baptists of Leicester have sought an opportunity to acquire this historic building in which the great pioneer missionary lived for four years, and from which he went forth to India, but until recently all efforts to purchase have been unavailing. The opening ceremony, which attracted a large number of people, was of an inspiring character. Next in importance to the formal opening by the Mayor was the thrilling story of Carey's life in Leicester, eloquently told by the Rev. S. P. Carey, M.A., a great-grandson. The house, which is situated opposite the Harvey-lane Chapel, in which Carey ministered, is to be used as a museum for Carey relics, and it is anticipated that it will become a centre of interest and attraction to Baptists from all parts of the world.

I am exceedingly grateful to 'Fruit-atives' for such relief, and I hope that others who suffer from such distressing diseases will try 'Fruit-atives' and get well."

BATTLES IN AIR MAY BECOME ONE OF BIGGEST FACTORS IN DECIDING THE WAR

Remarkable Development of Battle Aircraft in France is expected to give to Allies Control of Sky Routes as Effectual as their Control of Sea Lanes.

Washington, D. C., Saturday. The Allies are to take command of the air just as they have taken command of the sea.

Berlin soon may receive calls from the new battle aeroplanes that France has manufactured, and which are said to be the largest of their kind in existence.

These are two of the most important conclusions drawn by United States naval officers here from the reports printed in today's newspapers that the French War Office has an aerial armada such as was not dreamed of a few months ago. It was the consensus that the day of the big aeroplane, with its limited cruising radius and its very limited lifting power, will soon go the way of the old torpedo boats, which disappeared when the modern destroyer made its appearance.

As the battle cruisers have driven the small light cruisers off the seas and the big, fast commerce destroyers have eliminated the old type of ships constructed for this purpose, so the big battle aeroplanes are going to drive the small aeroplanes to the junk heap. At least this is the theory of American naval officers, who are going to proceed on the theory that bigger, better and more powerful flying machines are the essentials of the day from a military standpoint.

May Decide War in Air.

It is even suggested that the European war may be decided in the air. As far as it can be decided on water, military experts are willing to concede that Germany has failed. With her fleet cooped up and her submarines rendered innocuous, United States naval officers believe that the Allies have achieved about as successful results on the high seas as they could have hoped for in their most optimistic moments.

If the Allies can develop the air dreadnought as they have developed the ocean dreadnought, it is thought, the logical end will be that the air will come under their control. Such control means that the German armies will lose their aerial channels of information of the Allies' movements, while the Allies will be fully and completely informed as to what the Germans are doing. The German aeroplanes no longer will be able to pass the French and British lines, whereas the British and French battle aeroplanes will be able to cross the German lines at will and carry out whatever bombing expeditions are considered expedient. German munition plants and arsenals eventually would be at the mercy of these aerial cruisers; railroads and bridges could be destroyed at vital points and the movement of troops and supplies hampered and harassed to an almost fatal degree.

What Battle Aeroplanes Mean

The development of the big battle craft, in the opinion of aeronautical experts, means:

Greater speed and greater flying radius; ability to make expeditions calling for sudden action and the carrying of large quantities of explosives.

Greater reliability, as the big ships are able to make long cruises at a uniform high speed and are more certain of reaching their destination at just the time appointed for them, so the big battle aeroplanes can be depended on to do just what is laid out for them.

Greater efficiency; with the increase in the size of the parts the weight can be reduced in some parts of the machines and increased in others, and there will be greater exactness in strains and ability to lift loads.

As a military expert put it, the big battle aeroplane will be able to ride the air waves more smoothly. The jolts and jars that disturb the progress of the small machine will be missing. The air billows that throw the little machine back will not affect the big machines.

Naval officers were not surprised at the announcement from Paris of the development of the big air craft. They have been expecting it and have been attempting to increase the size of the machines in the United States navy. Last spring the navy let contracts for large Burgess-Dunne tractor, by far the largest machine yet built for the navy.

As a matter of fact, the best naval opinion is that as fast as more powerful motors can be developed it will be easy to increase the size of the aeroplanes.

PALE, FEEBLE GIRLS

Weakness Generally Comes on as Womanhood Approaches.

Girls upon the threshold of womanhood often drift into a decline in spite of all care and attention. How often one sees girls who have been strong and lively become suddenly weak, depressed, irritable and listless. It is the dawn of womanhood—a crisis in the life of every girl—and prompt measures should be taken to keep the blood pure and rich with the red tint of health. If the blood is not healthy at this critical stage the body is weakened and grave disorders follow. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have saved thousands of young girls from what might have been a life-long invalidism or an early death. They are a blood-builder of equalled richness, strengthening weak nerves and producing a liberal supply of red, healthy blood which every girl needs to sustain her strength. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have proved their great value over and over again to young women whose health was failing. Miss Minnie Duffield, Eramosa, Ont., says:—"It gives me great pleasure to tell you what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. When I was approaching the age of womanhood I suffered greatly from bloodlessness, or anaemia. My work was a drag to me. I had no appetite and never felt rested in the mornings. I could scarcely walk for five minutes at a time without taking a rest. I was troubled with severe headaches, and things looked gloomy indeed. I doctored for a long time and got but little, if any benefit. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and did so and after taking them for a time felt better. I continued taking the pills until I had used six boxes, when I felt like a new person, and was again enjoying splendid health. I would strongly advise any girl who is weak or run down to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

You can get these pills from any dealer in medicines or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NEWSPAPER MAN SHOT DEAD IN ELECTION RAID

Charleston, S. C., Oct. 15.—Sidney A. Cohan, a newspaper reporter was killed and four men shot in a melee that occurred here today just outside the room where the Democratic city executive committee was to meet to canvass the returns of the municipal primary of last Tuesday.

Police were stationed in the committee room adjoining, but no arrests had been made two hours after the shooting, and as far as known at that hour no one seemed to know who fired the first shot, or who kept it up.

The Democratic municipal primary developed into such a bitter fractional fight between the adherents of Mayor John P. Grace and Triestram T. Hyde, running at the head of the tickets, that serious trouble was feared.

REPAIRED LEAK AND CONTINUED VOYAGE

Passengers aboard French Liner say steamer changed course when day and night and half out from New York.

Paris, Oct. 15.—The French liner Espagne arrived at Bordeaux on Wednesday night after an eleven day voyage from New York which she left October 2. When a day and a half out from New York the passengers were amazed to see the liner turn about and steam westward. A volley of questions from passengers brought the explanation from the captain, they said, that the steamer had sprung a leak and it was thought wise to return to New York.

The Espagne will go into drydock for a few days. The new liner Lafayette will sail on her first trip to New York at the end of the present month.

VENERABLE POET HAS PASSED AWAY

H. L. Spencer died in General Public Hospital yesterday.

H. L. Spencer died at the General Public Hospital yesterday forenoon in his 87th year. He had not been in good health for a long time, and it was apparent lately that his end was near. Born at Castleton, Vt., on April 25, 1829, he was educated there, taught school for a time, and then engaged in business. He was engaged on the Rutland, Vermont, Herald in 1849, later on the Boston Daily Bee, and from 1853 to 1877 was engaged in mercantile business in St. John. After 1877 he did work on St. John newspapers, and contributed largely to British and American periodicals and newspapers, besides furnishing copy for the American Cyclopaedia of Biography, published in New York. He also did much work in correspondence for the outside press. Mr. Spencer was a man of literary talent. As a poet he earned a reputation in early life, and for many years was a valued contributor to periodicals and the press. When the late George Stewart printed his quarterly—in the seventies—Mr. Spencer was a contributor—"Zephyra Allyne," whose poems were very highly appreciated. Within a few years some of his poems were gathered and published in book form with the title "The Fugitives," and many residents of St. John thus became acquainted with the beauty of his verse. A few years ago he retired to a pleasant spot on the Kennebecasis, and there wrote some delightful prose. All of Mr. Spencer's contemporaries have passed from the stage, but everybody who knew him entertained for him feelings of the sincerest regard. Mr. Spencer's wife and son died some years ago; a daughter lives in the United States.
