TALE OF WRECK AND RUIN

Biggest Rain on Record---Two Railway Bridges Gone---Traffic Tied Up---Lumbermen Lose---Crops are in Bad Shape.

Thursday a gigantic bank of clouds rolled up from the southwest, seemingly miles high, rearing and tossing madly—a really fearful spectacle. During the night rain began to fall. At daybreak it fell merrily, by noon it poured, and without cessation until Sunday evening—full 60 hours—rain came in a continuous wild and reckless splinter.

Tiny brooks soon became raging torrents, the larger streams furious, uncoversable rivers; and the St. John, from its August demerence, was raised to fresher height.

No such rain, nor such floods have been known by this generation and the oft-quoted "old residents" are mum.

Ordinarily a good rain at this time of year is welcome. But this was not and we hope it may be the culmination of the wettest summer on record.

On Sunday the C.P.R. suffered more than $100,000 damage to this subdivision. The greatest loss was at Bristol and Bath. At the former place the smaller bridge across the Big Chikichewik was destroyed and 200 feet of the approach to the larger bridge was washed away. A repair crew and pile-driver was despatched to the scene on Sunday afternoon and by Monday night a temporary structure was completed on the site of the lost bridge and repairing the ruined approaches was begun.

At Bath the handsome steel truss span across the Monquart is gone by the reckless method of blowing up with dynamite. The piers were completely undermined by erosion and the only course was to complete the demolition of one of the finest bridges on the line to make room for a temporary structure.

Since the loss of the bridges passengers and mails have been transferred between Bath and Bristol and it is expected that this will continue for a week longer. Meanwhile freight traffic north of Bath is suspended. There were also washouts and weakened bridges on other portions of the main line and branches.

A peculiar situation of the railway company is that an unusual number of their locomotives happened to be north of the wrecked bridges, handicapping them in the movement of trains on this side.

The Haag Circus also met grief. It was due to come down over the road to show at Woodstock yesterday. Instead the engagement was cancelled, the second time within a week, and their trains were run over the international road to Campbellton, thence over the L.C.R. to Fredericton and to McAdam where the circus shows today.

Not alone was the railway a loser. The highways that had already been in bad shape from bad weather and neglect were rendered impassable for any considerable distance. The bridge across Stickney brook was badly damaged as were several others.

The dam at Lockhart's mill at Bristol went out and the lumber escaped.

A great many rafts belonging to the Peel Lumber Co. and to B. E. Smith were lost. Much other lumber from various places has gone adrift.

To the farmer the storm comes as more than a literal dampener. With haying not more than half done, harvesting is at hand. Grain is lodged about as bad as it can, and potatoes are beginning to rot.

This looks like a sure-enough off year, and because an off-year is so extremely rare in this province we feel it more keenly. It is severe only by contrast. In Western Canada they not infrequently have floods, cyclones, hail, drought and frost, one or the other, that would stagger New Brunswick.

Cheer up, boys, the sun still shines in spots.

GRAND FALLS WORK TO BE STARTED SOON.

American Millionaires Interested and Sir Wm. Van Horne is President of New Company Which Will Develop Power and Manufacture Pulp and Paper.

(From Telegraph, Aug. 9.)

The development and utilization of the water power at Grand Falls, which, chiefly on account of various speculative ventures, have for a long time been practically in a state of suspense, will now be proceeded with as speedily as possible, this being assured by the merger of the Grand Falls Power Company and the Grand Falls Water Power and Boom Company, which The Telegraph learns has taken place within the last few days. The new company will be known as the Grand Falls Company, Limited, and will have a capital of several millions.

American multi-millionaires are the chief financial interests in the new concern, while some of the biggest Canadian capitalists are also interested in this great project.

The big deal is not a wild speculation, it is announced, with uncertain intent, but is a sound business proposition, with a definite object, viz: the development of power and manufacture of pulp and paper. The privileges of this great water power, being thus redeemed from speculation, the Province of New Brunswick will be materially benefited in the development of one of the biggest industries, which will have a plant the cost of which is estimated at between five and seven million dollars.

Not only in itself will it mean so much to Grand Falls and the province, but if there is any distribution of power other industries closely allied will spring up. The president of the amalgamated company is Sir William Van

Horne, and the names of the other officers, whose positions at present are only tentative, are for the time being withheld from publication.

It will be remembered that by an act of the local legislature passed in 1911, the Grand Falls Power Company and the Grand Falls Water Power and Boom Company were to be absorbed by the Grand Falls Company, Limited, and this is the amalgamation which has just been effected. The shareholders in the Grand Falls Power Company have dropped out, their places being taken by capitalists in the United States.

The new company is to proceed immediately to revise the plans for the power development, and prepare plans for the construction of its pulp and paper mill, which, obviously, will be situated at Grand Falls. In fact, two of the most eminent hydraulic engineers in the United States are already engaged in this work and as soon as they have decided upon the scheme of development and plans the work of construction will immediately begin. The engineers mentioned are of wide experience, having had charge of some of the biggest power development schemes, and pulp and paper mill construction in the country.

The American capitalists who have bought out the Grand Falls Power Company, are men of large means, some worth as much as fifty millions, while the leading Canadian capitalists will include such men as Sir William Van Horne and Mr. Holt, president of the Royal Bank of Canada.

The new shareholders have bought the property solely for the development of power and manufacture of pulp and paper. While the erection of a plant of such magnitude will take some time, the company is determined to rush the work of construction and utilize the full power developed as soon as possible.

The scene of the conflict will be Noddin's field and a new grand stand has been erected for the occasion. The games will be called at 2.30 and 6 o'clock, sharp, and the admission will be 10 and 15 cents. The boys are at heavy expense bringing the McAdam team here and they deserve to be well patronized. The W.C.T.U. held their annual meeting last week at the home of Mrs. S. Hayden Shaw. The following officers were elected for the coming year: Mrs. H. Bradley, president; Mrs. S. H. Shaw, sec.; Mrs. H. N. Bover, recording sec.; Mrs. A. Plummer, treasurer. Mesdames Shaw and Bradley were appointed delegates to the provincial convention to be held at Campbellton in September. A picnic supper was held in honor of Mrs. L. E. McFarland, a valued worker, who later left for several months' visit in the west. Everyone enjoyed a very pleasant time. BREEDING OF PURE BRED POULTRY.

Growing Industry at Hartland.

Hartland Poultry Yards, established about twelve years on a small scale by C. W. Hurst, were taken over five years ago by a company of which Dr. L. deC. MacIntosh and Rev. J. B. Daggett were the leading spirits. They have now a thoroughly equipped and modern poultry plant equal to any found in Canada and the largest in the maritime provinces. The yards are splendidly located, about a mile above Hartland on the St. John River, and are in charge of Robert Kidney, who has had many years experience with poultry. There are in stock one hundred varieties of poultry, including many rare breeds. These have been carefully selected from the best settings of each breed. This careful selection with proper and constant attention give the Hartland yards an extensive reputation.

They are one the largest exhibitors in Eastern Canada and last year sent exhibits consisting of a car load of poultry to Halifax, Chatham, Fredericton, Woodstock, Moncton, Amherst and Hartland, winning over one thousand prizes, and as many as all other exhibitors combined. They also won a large share of special prizes, including the two handsome silver cups at Amherst, and have won well in St. John exhibitions. They cater largely to the selling of eggs for settings, for which there is a large and growing demand, so great that we in recent years have not been able to fill all orders, but send in the order they are received.

There is no place in the maritime provinces where there is such an awakening of interest in the breeding of pure-bred poultry, also in the fitting and marketing of dressed poultry as in Carleton county. This spirit has been developed by the annual poultry exhibition here in Hartland and which was started largely through the influence of the Hartland breeders, and now receive assistance from the provincial government.

In connection with the poultry yards they have started a small herd of pure-bred Ayreshire cattle founded on imported stock. They also have flocks of pure-bred Oxford Down and Horned Dorset sheep which have won well for them at St. John, Halifax, Amherst, Chatham and Fredericton Junction.—St. John Globe.

A vast amount of ill health is due to impaired digestion. When the stomach fails to perform its functions properly the whole system becomes deranged. A few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets is all you need. They will strengthen your digestion, invigorate your liver, and regulate your bowels, entirely doing away with that miserable feeling due to faulty digestion. Try it. Many others have been permanently cured—why not you? For sale by all dealers.

Power of Insects.

If asked to name the strongest animals, most persons begin with the largest, the elephant, and continue with oxen, horses, and so forth. This is, of course, correct in so far as their total horse power is concerned; but for real strength, proportioned to the size and weight of the animal, one must go to the insect world. Compared with the strength of insects the strength of almost any large animal, and man, is absurdly out of proportion to size.

A man is considered strong if he can drag a mass weighing three or four times as much as himself, but the beetle will walk with five hundred times his own weight. If a man were placed under a wooden box with five times his weight on top to hold it down, he would remain there, indefinitely, but to retain a tag beetle prisoner in the same way, one must pile on top of the box at least eighteen hundred times its weight.—Our Dumb Animals.

Mr. W. S. Gonsalus, a farmer living near Fleming, Pa., says he has used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in his family for fourteen years, and that he has found it to be an excellent remedy and takes pleasure in recommending it. For sale by all dealers.

Butter Will Be High.

Butter will be away up in price this winter, according to present indications. Only a few months ago a New York paper predicted 70 cent butter for that city in the winter of 1913. Prices at present are ranging so high and stocks are being so readily taken care of on active market, that little or no butter is finding its way into cold storage. This means a big decrease in the usual supply of butter and the market will have to draw from regular incoming winter supplies for a large part of the stock necessary to meet the demand. That means that butter is likely to climb to prices this year, much above those to which New Brunswickers have been used. Of course the farmer will benefit, but he is not getting any too much for his product at that.

Men's Foolish Questions.

The husband and the wife were starting for the theatre. As usual, the husband was kicking because the wife spent such an awful time dressing.

"What delayed you this time?" he growled as they left the house.

"Seeing the children to bed," she responded, quietly.

"What's the nurse for?" snapped the man.

"The nurse is for our convenience—yours and mine, but especially mine," she answered, evenly. "But the boy certainly takes after you. He asked the same kind of a fool question, just as I was kissing him good-night."

"Fool question, eh? Well, what was it?"

"I asked him if he had said his prayers. And he said no. And I asked him if he didn't want God to take care of him during the night. And he answered, 'What's the nurse for?'—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Why Does the Laying Hen Have A Red Comb?

Poultry keepers have long known that hens' combs do not always present the same appearance; a considerable increase in size takes place when the period of laying approaches. Mr. Geoffrey Smith, a British investigator, has been making precise measurements on young and adult hens, at different times, and he shows that the comb increases practically to double the size or more during the period of laying, without a simultaneous increase in the weight of the hen. Mr. Smith found that the increase in size in the hens' comb was due to a fatty deposit, and he gives the following explanation:

During the time of laying the blood is charged with fatty substances which accumulate in the ovary, where they enter into the composition of the yolk of the egg; the excess of these substances is deposited in the comb and thus contributes to the accentuation of secondary sexual characters.

A Time Monopoly.

An Irishman crossed to Canada on a Canadian Pacific steamer, took the Canadian Pacific train for Vancouver, ate at C.P.R. eating houses, stopped at C.P.R. hotels, was shown C.P.R. land, and finally got to Vancouver, much impressed with the greatness of that institution.

He went to a hotel, registered and asked the clerk how soon breakfast would be ready.

"Breakfast is over," said the clerk.

The Irishman looked at his watch. "It isn't time for it to be over," he answered.

"Oh, yes, it is," said the clerk. "You see your watch isn't right. We run our dining room on Canadian Pacific time."

"Good Lord!" said the Irishman, in an awed voice. "Does the Canadian Pacific own the time, too?"—Saturday Evening Post.

The Lucky Colors.

A rhyme gives information with regard to the significance to the color which the girl chooses for her wedding dress:

Married in white,
You have chosen all right;
Married in blue,
Your love will be true;
Married in pearl,
You will live in a whirl;
Married in grey,
You will go far away;
Married in brown,
You will live in town;
Married in pink,
Your spirits will sink;
Married in black,
You will wish yourself back;
Married in yellow,
Ashamed of the fellow;
Married in green,
Not fit to be seen,
Married in red,
You will wish yourself dead!"

Turned The Joke.

Pat was busy on a Hull road working with his coat off. There were two Englishmen laboring on the same road, so they decided to have a joke with the Irishman. They painted a donkey's head on the back of Pat's coat, and watched to see him put it on. Pat, of course, saw the donkey's head on his coat, and, turning to the Englishman, said:

"Which of yes wiped your face on my coat?"—Tit Bits.

Down And Out.

"And how is your mother?" inquired the parson who was making a parochial call at the home of one of his wealthy parishioners.

"She is in her room upstairs; she is very ill," replied the hostess.

"You don't say so!" exclaimed the clergyman, whose tact was not always reliable. "Well I sincerely hope she will soon be down and out."

Hen 21 Years Old Still Laying Eggs.

Marshall Hatch of Norwell, Mass., has a hen that is 21 years old this summer and still lays eggs. "I know she is 21," says Mr. Marshall, "because she was one of a setting of eggs that was set by my mother, and she's been dead 21 years this summer."

Bella Lockwood, the hen, has laid eggs regularly up to this year; now her eggs are few and far between. Last year she laid eleven, and when she was at the coy age of 16 she was producing 250 eggs a year with enthusiasm and industry of young broilers of two years.

"The only trouble with her," says Marshall, "is that she's a little blind. She seems to feel her way to her feed, but if I let her out she's likely to get lost, so I keep her locked up."

Bella Lockwood spends her winters under the stove in the kitchen, where Hatch, who lives all alone in a big old-fashioned farmhouse, treats her as an equal. In summer she lives in a private coop on the shady side of the house. She is considered by her owner to have done her life's work and is a pensioner.—Ex.

"Were all medicines as meritorious as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy the world would be much better off and the percentage of suffering greatly decreased," writes Lindsay Scott, of Temple Ind. For sale by all dealers.

A Dog's Love.

A seafaring man owned a dog, to which he was devotedly attached. When at liberty, the sailor would make long stays at his Midland home, near Birmingham. He grew so fond of his pet that he asked permission of his captain to have the dog on board with him. Being a valuable servant, this was granted; the dog sailed with him on several long sea journeys.

On returning to England after a rather longer voyage than usual, the sailor was landed at Portsmouth to die. The dog followed the funeral procession to the grave, and for days lay upon the earth over the coffin, waiting for his master's return. He was continually driven away, only to return when all was quiet. At last he was obliged to leave for good.

Several days after, he turned up at the Middlemore home; he had walked, or dragged himself, all that way to find his master. After searching all over the house in vain, he lay down, and never again opened his eyes. He had given his life to find his master.

"I was cured of diarrhoea by one dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes M. E. Gebhardt, Oriole, Pa. There is nothing better. For sale by all dealers.

A Poor Husband.

He regarded children as a nuisance. He did all his courting before marriage.

He never had time to go anywhere with his wife.

He doled out money to his wife as if to a servant.

He thought of his wife only as a cheap housekeeper.

He never took time to get acquainted with his family.

He never dreamed that a wife deserved praise or compliments.

He had one set of manners for home and another for society.

He thought his wife should spend all her time doing housework.

He married an ideal and was disappointed that it had flaws.

One of the most common ailments that hard working people are afflicted with is lame back. Apply Chamberlain's Liniment twice a day and massage the parts thoroughly at each application, and you will get quick relief. For sale by all dealers.

Very Suspicious.

A well known New York millionaire famed for his cautious habits was recently called upon by two promoters who tried to interest him in a new money making scheme.

They talked to the great financier for about an hour, when they took their leave, having been told that his decision would be forwarded to them in a few days.

"I believe we've got him," said the first, hopefully, as they left the office.

"I don't know," rejoined the other "he seemed very suspicious."

"Did you notice," was the reply, "how he counted his fingers after he had shaken hands with us?"

Wealthy By Advertising.

At Sedan Kansas, a town of 2,200 population, there is a general merchant by the name of J. H. Edwards. The remarkable thing about Edwards is that he spends over $2,000 each year with the local papers for advertising his business. He went to Sedan a few years ago with but little capital. Now he owns a magnificent store, a fine home and a nice farm. "My success is largely due to advertising," said Edwards in a recent interview.
