Driven to Drink

Many a good man has been by home laundry work, with lumps of starch and waves of bleaching, and his shirt front, and saw edges on his collar to annoy him. It makes his heart glad when he can see his linen immaculate and with a snow white color and artistic finish that he can have put on by expending only a few cents. It is worth dollars in comfort and satisfaction to have your linen laundered at the Steam Laundry.

A FEW POINTS FOR RIFLEMEN.

Marksmen, or those desirous of learning to shoot may have much amusement and at the same time acquire a goodly store of knowledge, that will be valuable later with a rifle, but undertaking to estimate distances.

In the days to come more and more attention will be paid to shooting at unknown distances and to get into the first rank of shooters, skill in estimating distances is essential. Practice in this way may be obtained very easily by first learning to step distances correctly one step to the yard, and then, in course of a stroll through town or country, selecting an object estimating the distance and counting the number of steps necessary to reach it.

This proposition appears to be a simple one, but it is more difficult than it seems and the results especially if the trials are made of parties of four or more, will be amusing as well as instructive. Some time ago a party of thirty-five or forty men, the most expert rifle shots in the country, were gathered at Sea Cliff, New Jersey, for the matches on the result of which depended the selection of a team to go to England to shoot for the Palma trophy. Someone asked how far it was to a certain fence and immediately every man estimated the distance.

After much good-natured bantering the distance was paced and the result was ludicrous. Every one had over-estimated the distance, the closest guess being fifty yards out of the way while the majority exceeded it by 200 yards. Yet twelve of those same men went to England and won the biggest international rifle match the world has ever seen.

Do you know?

That, at 30 yards, the white of a man's eye is plainly seen and the eyes themselves up to 50 yards?

That, at 100 yards, all parts of the body are seen distinctly, slight movements are perceptible, and the minute details of the uniform can be distinguished?

That, at 400 yards, the face is a mere dot, but all movements of the legs and arms are still distinct?

That at 600 yards, details can no longer be distinguished, though files of a squad, if the light is strong, can be counted?

That, at 800 yards, the men in a squad cannot be counted?

That at 900 yards, the men in the squad cannot be counted, nor their individual movements distinguished?

At 1,000 yards, a line of men resembles a board belt; the direction of their march, can, however, be readily determined. At 1,200 yards, cavalry can be distinguished from infantry, and at 2,000 yards a mounted man usually appears as a mere speck.

Yet in these days of long range weapons battles are fought at a distance of 1,000 yards, and it is desirable for marksmen to "qualify" at that range. The new rifle, with which troops are to be equipped has a maximum effective fighting range at 4, 750 yards or more, than two and one-half miles. In other words, a

The following County Presidents were appointed:—Mrs. York, Mrs. C. D. Jordan; Carleton, Mrs. I. C. Prescott; Albert, Mrs. W. J. Miller; Northumberland, Mrs. Ruth Clarke; Charlotte, Mrs. Joseph Reid; Westmorland, Mrs. W. J. King; Kings, Mrs. J. S. Benedict; Restigouche, Mrs. S. Williamson; Gloucester, Mrs. Week; Kent, Miss Slipp; Queens, and Mrs. C. Hayward, Sunbury.

Thursday evening the Convention closed with a public meeting in the Baptist Church, Mrs. Lindow presiding. On the platform with the president were Miss Wiggins, Mrs. Atkinson, Mrs. Phillips and Miss Asker. After, "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name" was sung. Rev. D. Hutchinson read the bible lesson, and Rev. J. W. McConnell led in prayer.

After another hymn, Miss Wiggins was introduced and spoke of the work of the W. C. T. U. is trying to do. She said they had the "do everything" policy. All educational lines of work are taken up. They seek to inculcate good principles into the youth of our land, to lift up the fallen, and make all citizenship better and purer. The character of our citizens is our most important asset. When womanhood is degraded the ballot with manhood, our halls of legislature will be better and purer places for the men who make our laws. It isn't good for man to be alone, even in halls of parliament. Men are poor housekeepers alone. Man and woman are the complement of each other. There is no temperance reform that means moderation. The liquor business is an enemy that assaults the dearest womanhood of this country of ours, and is a leech on every other business enterprise. There must be no compromise. When we compromise with an evil, then we lose our leadership of public opinion. We must help others by our influence and stand by the principles which tonight we advocate.

A selection by the choir followed. Mrs. Atkinson was asked to present the banners. The "W." banner presented to the Union having the greatest percentage of increase in membership was won by the Campbellton Union, and the money prize to the Band of Hope was won by Moncton.

Mrs. Phillips read the last resolution passed at the afternoon session, that the thanks of all be extended to the Moncton people for their kindness and hospitality to the clergy, I. O. G. T. S. of St. Press, Mr. Jackson, Railway authorities, the little girls who acted as pages, and the young lady accompanied.

The members then formed a circle with hands joined, and sang "God be with you till we meet again," and repeated together the Aaronic Benediction. The president then declared the ninth annual convention of the New Brunswick Women's Christian Temperance Union closed sine die.

The Moncton Union presented each delegate with a souvenir postal card, containing a good photo of the "Bore".

Too much praise cannot be given the members of the local union, for all they did to insure the convention so great a success.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Absolutely Harmless.

It may be a piece of superfluous advice to urge people at this season of the year to lay in a supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost sure to be needed before winter is over, and much more prompt and satisfactory results are obtained when taken as soon as a cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system, which can only be done by keeping the remedy at hand. This remedy is so widely known and so altogether good that no one should hesitate about buying it in preference to any other. It is for sale by all druggists.

MR. BLAIR DOES THINGS.

"He performs in politics as he does on the bourse. He never plays a small game. His speech after the resignation was a determined play. His acceptance of the chairmanship of the railway commission was another great stroke.

And such a man is Mr. Blair, according to Mr. Tarte's La Patrie. So! And Mr. Blair plays for high stakes. We might have surmised as much. Mr. Tarte's La Patrie evidently knows whereof it speaks. And Mr. Blair plays so high and so attractively that he commands so much attention in Canada as does the philosophic Mr. Donley in the United States. The people whose mental storehouse cherishes recollections of the famous Northumberland deal have watched Mr. Blair's career with interest—some with a personal interest, others with an impersonal one. They know Mr. Blair, perhaps better than either the colleagues of Sir Wilfrid Laurier or the lieutenants of R. L. Borden. They are familiar with the reasons which led Mr. Blair to enter the Laurier cabinet. They are familiar with the reasons which led Mr. Blair to leave the cabinet. They are familiar with the reasons which led Mr. Blair to become chairman of the Railway Commission. And they are familiar with the reasons which led Mr. Blair to resign the chairmanship of the Railway Commission. In short, they are familiar with the reasons which actuate all his moves. His future plans he has seemingly kept discreetly to himself despite the repeated assertions that he will stump against the government. Mr. Blair is a man of surprises. He may surprise us again by stumping for the government. But this is hardly likely. Whatever move he makes, however, will doubtless be spectacular. His future like his past will be well worth watching.

NEGLECTING THE SOLID.

There are so many things to demand the attention of the preacher in the pulpit, so vast a field of things knowable and known, helpful, practical and fitted to the daily needs of the human souls that have been committed to his care and culture, into which the preacher may go, so inexhaustible and valuable a mine of riches in the daily experiences of men and women that he may successfully operate, that it is a thing inexcusable for him to lead his people into the realm of negations; to disintegrate the foundation of their faith with his own uncertain misgivings; to persuade them to abandon the solid rock of Christian assurance for the quagmire of dismal doubt; to take them out of the bracing sunshine of satisfying Christian joy and thrust them into the dark and dreary caves of religious despondency and disappointment. But that is what some preachers are doing, and they not only fail to appreciate the enormity of their turpitude but they seem to glory in it.

EVILS OF IMPERIALISM.

"Our imperialist friends will find in the frightful slaughter of human beings in the ten days battle near Mukden food for serious reflection.—Baltimore Sun

The butchering that is going on there is a concrete illustration of the evils to which imperialism leads.

Under the caption of "Minor Matters" the St John Monitor announces the resignation of the Hon. A. G. Blair.

LAURIER'S RETIREMENT.

Solicitor-General Lemieux is credited with the observation that the present one would be the last political campaign which Sir Wilfrid Laurier would conduct. There seems to be a widespread impression that Sir Wilfrid will retire shortly after the opening of the next parliament. If he is elected he will no doubt see the Grand Trunk Pacific project on a safe and solid basis before he considers the question of retirement. There is every reason to believe, however, that Sir Wilfrid will retire from active political life before the expiration of the term of the next parliament. Mr. Fielding is generally regarded as his successor, that is, providing the Liberal party is returned to power. At least, we, in the Lower Provinces regard Mr. Fielding as the coming man. Whether or not he will fill the shoes of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, is a matter of conjecture. At the present time he is certainly not as big a man as Sir Wilfrid but when he becomes leader of his whole party he may develop into as great—if not greater even than the present Premier.

HATLESS GIRLS.

Complaints of the condition of woman's greatest glory are now heard and the chief sufferers appear to be the "out-door crowd", those damsels who pride themselves on not having worn a hat last summer. The accumulation of dust, the direct rays of the sun, the moisture caused by extreme exercise and a very hot season all combine to destroy the silken texture of the hair. Shampooing is powerless to arrest this degeneration with its inevitable falling out of the precious chevelure. On the other hand the hatless claim that the all day millinery destroys the quantity and quality of their hair and as the aborigines went uncovered and never became bald, they shall do the same. All right girls, but then you must live on the same diet as the aborigines and abandon luxuries which are second nature to you.

PRESIDENT BELIEVES IN ADVERTISING.

The magazine advertiser who adorns his prodigious ads. with photographs of himself as well as the "testimonial barker" have now every reason to regard themselves with pride. A likeness of President Roosevelt, surrounded by extravagant eulogies of his statesmanship from such eminent men, as secretary Hay appears in the advertising columns of many American periodicals. John W. Douglas, Democratic candidate for governor of Massachusetts, who advertises his shoes along with a likeness of himself is seemingly not the only politician who believes in advertising.

A GENIUS? NIT.

It is reported that the Globe will announce to-morrow that the true explanation of all these recent sensations is that Dave Russell has bought King Edward and Joe Champlain and has arranged to make him and Mr. Blair the head liners at a great vaudeville theatre he will build in connection with his hotel at Caledonia Springs.

—St. John Star.

Mr. David Russell appears to us to be the William Randolph Hearst of Canada. And we all know or should know where the American adventurer landed. Mr. Russell, we fear, will get much muddled some of these days.

WANT IT TOO.

New Brunswick Liberals may not want the earth, but they have the Globe.—North Sydney Enterprise.

But what good is the Globe without the Sun.

Disregard partizanship and vote according to your conscience.

ELECTION RETURNS.

Events will be held on Thursday evening next week until after the complete returns of the election throughout the Dominion have been received, consequently our town subscribers will not receive their paper till Friday morning. Out of town subscribers will receive the paper as usual.

Chances of a candidate's election in a constituency are estimated too often by the length of his pocket-book. But the pocketbook is mighty for a time in a corrupt borough. It is easily knocked out by an honest electorate.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather over one hundred electors listened to speeches delivered last night by Hon. C. H. LaBillois who during an hour made an able defence of the Liberal party. He was followed by Gustave Hamel, Barrister of Quebec, who spoke for Mr. Crockett and received a good hearing. Mr. LaBillois spoke again in reply to Mr. Hamel for fifteen minutes and his appeal to the people to be grateful to their faithful servant Charles Marcell was applauded by seven eighths of the meeting. The meeting was presided over by James Greene.

A correspondent sends the following

A very successful political meeting was held last evening at Michael Johnston's Miguasha, presided over by James Greene. The speaker was Hon. Mr. LaBillois who for an hour dealt with the issues of the campaign. He referred particularly to the improvements recently made for the farmers to get their produce to the markets of Dalhousie and Campbellton in the shape of wharves at Cross Point and Miguasha. About 75 votes will be polled in Miguasha and Mr. Marcell will receive at least 65

ARE YOUR KIDNEYS SICK?

Let your morning urine stand for 24 hours in a glass or vessel, and then if it is milky or cloudy, or contains a reddish brick-dust sediment, or if particles or germs float about in it, your kidneys are diseased. If the kidneys are well they filter out so much blood, but if they are sick or weak from any cause, they leave the poison in the blood, and this poison affects the entire system.

It is natural to pass urine three times a day, but many who regard themselves as healthy are obliged to pass water six or ten times daily and are obliged to get up frequently during the night. They have sick kidneys and bladder and don't know it. Smith's Backed Lithia Pills cure Rheumatism and all Kidney and Bladder diseases, and make new, rich blood.

CHARLES CLARK MUNN

Copyright, 1900, by LEE & SHEPARD

A girl smile crept over Albert's face at this frank admission, but he made no reply, and as he scanned his friend's face, now turned slightly away from him, and recalled that last evening at home and how Alice had so persistently devoted herself to the entertainment of this young man, a revelation came to him.

"So it's that heart breaker's blue eyes that have begun to work mischief in Frank's feelings, is it?" he said to himself after he had left the club, and he almost laughed aloud at the thought. "His has been rather pronounced ideas about Alice, and may be she has read my young friend a lesson in a few words. She is capable of it."

When Frank came to the office next morning, Albert met him to work and gave him all possible encouragement. "I think for mere of you, Frank," he said earnestly, "for this resolve, and when you get fairly into it you will be glad you took hold. I believe every one in this world is happier and healthier for having an occupation, and certainly you will be."

Frank showed a persevering spirit as the weeks went by and became an ardent student. In a way, too, he was a help to Albert, for he could call on him any time to find some references or some decision bearing on a case in hand.

It was soon after Frank's new departure in life that Alice received a letter from her brother, and among other things he wrote:

"What was it you said to Frank the last evening of our visit at home? He has decided to study law in my office and admit his resolution to do so was the result of a remark you made then. Knowing that you were of such a nature, I was not until the last evening of my visit that she discovered her mistake and realized that he had more depth of character than she had thought. It is likely the keen enjoyment which he seemed to feel when she sang for him had weight, for we are prone to like those who like us, and it was natural that she should feel a little gratitude for what he had done for her brother."

Her life, hidden as she was in a by-way corner of a country town and seeing no one all the week except her small band of pupils, gave her plenty of time for thought. Once a week, usually on Saturday, she received a letter from her brother, and that, together with the mild excitement of Sunday church-going, was all that broke the monotony of her life.

A week after the Christmas visit she received a package containing a new book, three of the latest popular songs and a box of candy, and phrased to the candy Frank Nason's card, on the back of which was written, "For the girl who wanted to kiss her teacher."

She wrote a polite note of thanks. It was midwinter and two weeks after her brother wrote that Frank had begun studying law in his office when she received a letter from that young man that surprised her. He wrote:

My Dear Miss Page—I trust you will pardon me for intruding myself upon you, but I wish you to know that a few pointed words spoken by you while I was enjoying your hospitality have not been forgotten."

is the grandest, most scientific and safest cure for any kind of headache. Without being a laxative, it regulates a disordered stomach, and is therefore something entirely new for a bilious headache. It clears the brain and makes you fit for the day's duties, and to those who are troubled with nervous headaches at night, it acts as a calmative, and insures refreshing sleep and bright mental activity the next morning.

Your physician will tell you that the safest and best form in which to take a headache cure is a tablet. Powders and wafers vary, containing either too much or too little of a prescription. All Hedrite tablets contain the same ingredients in a steady pace at a grain. They can be easily broken or crushed and swallowed with a drink of water. You will find that after taking Hedrite for a few attacks that your headaches will come less frequent, and in time will altogether disappear, unless brought on by careless and irregular living.

gotten and have influenced me to make an effort to be something better than an idle in the world. Your brother kindly consented to let me read law in his office, and I am now hard at it. I do not imagine this will interest you, but I felt that you had meant respect for useless people, and as you could rightly so regard me I wanted you to know that I am capable of rising above my aimless life.

I have recalled so many times all the little incidents of my visit to your home and lived over those evenings graced by your presence and it by a cheerful fire tell Bert we are corresponding. Not that I am ashamed of it by any means, but he is inclined to tease me, and I love him so dearly I can't bear to have him do so. The little girl you sent the candy to was both astonished and grateful. I did not tell her who sent it, for the fact would have been all over town in a week if I had, and I do not like to be gossiped about. I merely told her a good fairy had sent it, which was better."

Once a week thereafter Alice received a long letter from Frank and as regularly answered it.

"Frank is getting along nicely," Albert wrote Alice in the early spring. "I believe he has the making of a capable lawyer in him. He grinds away harder than I ever did when reading law and has never yet complained of how dry and dull it will be. He is a big, warm hearted fellow, too, and I am growing more fond of him every day. He is more devoted to me than a brother, and we have made a lot of plans for a night's outing on the Grassy this coming summer. I like his family very much, and Mrs. Nason and both her daughters have invited me to bring my dog down when you are in town. I shall run up in June and stay over Sunday and bring Frank with me. I imagine he would like to be in the city. I have overheard him bawling 'Ben Bolt!'"

"A very nicely worded little plot, but don't you imagine, my dear Bert, I do not see through it?" was the mental comment of Alice as she read the letter. "The young gentleman has bravely set to work to become a man instead of a cipher. My brother likes him; he whistles 'Ben Bolt' my horse is to be brought up here again; I am expected to fall in love with Mr. Copher that was and help him spend his money, and am to be largely tolerated by mamma and both sisters! A most charming plot, surely, but it takes two to make a bargain. I think I know just the sort of people mamma and sisters are. He told me she read him a lecture every time he danced twice with a poor girl, and now I am expected to walk into the same trap and cringe to her ladyship for the sin of being poor. I guess not! I'll teach school till I die first, and he can think of me as having a 'slab of granite so gray' to keep me in place."

But this diplomatic "Sweet Alice" wrote to her brother: "I am delighted that you are coming up, for I am so homesick, and the weeks drag so hard! Bring your friend up by all means, and I'll sing 'Ben Bolt' till he hates the name of Sweet Alice. The country will be looking fine then, and he can go over to the cemetery and select the corner I am to occupy. Pardon the joke, and don't tell him I uttered it."

To Frank she wrote: "Be sure to come up with Bert. I will sing all the old songs and the new ones you have sent me as well. If you come up on a Thursday you may visit my school Friday afternoon, and then you can see the girl you sent the candy to. She wears a calico pinafore and comes to school barefooted."

Alice's tactful reply to her brother's letter, coupled with his own sincere affection for her, brought her a response by return mail in the form of a check for $100, with explicit orders to spend every cent of it before he came.

CHAPTER XVII
SANDGATE was just bidding forth in a new suit of green, the meadows dotted with daisies, and here and there a bunch of tiger lilies waved in the breeze when one Friday afternoon the teacher at the north district school heard a knock.

The class in reading, then in evidence, were halted in their singing of concert utterance, and Alice Page opened the door to find two stalwart young men standing in the doorway. A quick impulse of propriety she stepped out and closed the door behind her, only to find herself clasped in a big brother's arms and to receive a smacking that was heard by every pupil in the little schoolroom. With a very red face she freed herself and then presented a small hand to the other young man with the remark:

"I think you are both just as mean as you can be to surprise me in this way."

When explanations were duly made, the two visitors were invited inside and given seats. The class in reading was then dismissed and that in spelling called to what was now seemingly to them an unexpected mystery. A bombshell or a ghost at the window would not have produced any more consternation than those two strange visitors. This class, that one by one slipped up in front of the teacher's desk and ranged themselves in line, stood trembling, and the boy at the head, to whom was put the first word, was unable to utter a sound. The next one spelled it wrong, and it was tried by two others and finally spelled right by a girl who could hardly do better than whisper it. She was wild to go to the head, and after that the rest did better. The search for knowledge in that school had received a setback, however, for that day, and Alice decided to do the wisest thing and dismiss her band of pupils without delay. When the room was cleared of them she turned to her two callers and with much consciousness, "The first class in department will now define propriety."

"Propriety is—propriety," replied her brother, "propriety is in two young men surprising one small and very saucy schoolma'am and letting a lot of imprisoned boys and girls escape to the woods and enjoy an extra hour of freedom."

"Not right," said Alice severely. "The next pupil will now answer."

"Propriety," answered Frank, "consists in the young man accepting of the city and relieving one tired school-teacher from her duty and permitting her to go and gather flowers if she will, and the girl who was the schoolma'am to be a good girl and not a bad one."

"The only one in the spelling class you two bold, bad men didn't scare half out of her wit," she answered.

Frank walked about the room, peering curiously at its rather primitive fittings.

"So this is what you call a temple of learning," he remarked as he surveyed the barnlike room. "It is a curiosity to me, and the first time I was ever in an old time country schoolhouse."

When she had locked the schoolhouse door they got into the carriage the two young men had come in and left the little temple to the solitude of the trees and bushes that almost hid it from sight.

"I will stop in the village," said Albert when they drove away, "and leave you two to go home or take a ride, as suits you best; only, mind, be home by tea time, for I shall be hungry."

There was no time when a drive along wooded country roads is more charming than when the trees are fast growing green and the meadows spangled with daisies and buttercups.

As he looked by the side of the road, Alice after leaving her brother in the village. "The road to it follows the brook up a mile. We may find a few lilies in the pond."

The brook beside which they were soon walking the horse was a charming bit of scenery as it came leaping over mossy ledges, laughing, chattering and splashing with foam, and with the mill mill, with its great wheel dripping and clattering, and the mill itself proved, even a greater curiosity to Frank than the schoolhouse. He hitched the horse, and, helping his fair companion to alight, the two went inside the mill and watched the rumbling wheels. Alice introduced her guests to the miller, and after they had been shown the mysteries of grinding he invited them out to the pond, and after bathing the old lady boat, as it was called, the two visitors started after the lilies.

"Mind you don't tip me over," said Alice. "I can't swim."

"I do it to you or drown with you," he answered gallantly. "What silly notions these two young people uttered as they made the circuit of that long wood bordered mill pond! One at least was just tasting the first sweet illusion of love, and the glassy surface of the water that reflected the trees bending over it, the bunches of water flag growing here and there and the scattered patches of broad lily pads, with now and then a white blossom, made a most picturesque background for the girl who sat in the stern. Her pliant face, shaded by a broad sun hat, was fairer to his eyes than any of the lilies she plucked, and as she drew one sleeve up a little to reach for them the round arm and dimpled hand she thrust into the water looked tempting enough to kiss."

The miller had shut the gate and gone home when they returned to the mill. "Do you know," remarked Frank when they had left the mill behind and were driving through a bit of woods, "that I have anticipated this visit for weeks? I know scarcely anything about the country, and it is all a revelation to me. I've seen pictures of old mills and ponds covered with lilies, but no painter can ever put the reality on canvas. Why, that great wheel, covered with moss and churning away all day so steadily, with a willow bending over it, is a poem in itself!"

"The mill was built over a hundred years ago," observed Alice, "and has been grinding away ever since. I love to visit it, for it takes me back to childhood," and she added, a little sadly, "It makes me live over the happiest days of my life, when father used to take me with him everywhere he went."

"But the mill will never grind with the water that has passed," quoted Frank, "and the tender grace of a day that is dead will never come back to me. I wish I had been country born. I think I've missed countless pages of pleasant memories. Do you know," he added, turning to his companion, "I am rapidly falling in love with the country and—and its pretty sights?"

"Whose idea was it to pounce upon me that way at school?" exclaimed Alice suddenly, throwing off her retrospective mood and smiling again.

"Was it yours or Bert's?"

"I confess I coaxed Bert to do it. We had to take the train at 6 o'clock in the morning and have coffee and rolls at the station for breakfast and pie and sandwiches for dinner."

"And all to surprise one poor little schoolma'am and break up her school," put in Alice. "Was it worth all that annoyance?"

"Up to the present moment," answered Frank, "I must honestly say it was. This drive and the mill I consider cheap at any price."

"I don't mean this part of the surprise," said Alice, blushing a little at his open admiration. "And then in self defense she added: 'What has become of the Grassy? Bert writes me that you two are planning trips in her already.'"

"She is still in winter quarters," answered Frank. "I've been too busy."

"Not right," said Alice severely. "The next pupil will now answer."

"Propriety," answered Frank, "consists in the young man accepting of the city and relieving one tired school-teacher from her duty and permitting her to go and gather flowers if she will, and the girl who was the schoolma'am to be a good girl and not a bad one."

Annual Convention Held at Moncton

INTERESTING PROGRAMME

Campbellton Union Secures Banner for Largest Increase in Membership

The ninth annual convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of New Brunswick was held in Moncton from the 10th inst to the 13th of this month. Executive and sub-executive meetings were held on Monday the 10th, and the convention opened Tuesday morning at nine o'clock, a large number of officers and delegates enrolling their names. Mrs. Lindow of St. Stephen, the Provincial President, occupied the chair and Miss Wiggins of Toronto, Mrs. Philipps, Fredericton, (Treasurer) and Miss Asker, Campbellton (Corresponding Secretary), occupied seats on the platform. After singing a hymn Mrs. Lindow read a bible selection, and Mrs. Seymour followed with prayer.

Encouraging reports were received from the Superintendents of the following Departments, Evangelist, Jail and Prison (Mrs. Seymour) Scientific Temperance Instruction (Mrs. Philipps) and press (Mr. Cahill). The morning session closed with a bible reading by Mrs. Seymour.

The afternoon session opened at two o'clock with a conference on Anti-Narcotics, led by Mrs. Troy, Superintendent of that Department. This was followed by a brief discussion of the cigarette habit.

Mrs. Lindow gave a very bright and helpful address which was listened to with great interest. Miss Asker submitted her report for the year which was most encouraging. She reported twenty-four Unions in New Brunswick with an active membership of 583, honorary members 102 and new members during the year 111. 37 public meetings were held, 57,678 pages of literature were distributed, and the sum of $1,565.00 was raised. 95 copies of the Canadian White Ribbon Tides were taken, and one new union was organized at Marysville.

The Treasurer's report came next. The amount on hand at the beginning of the year was $229.12. During the year $501.03 was raised and $331.27 disbursed. At the close of this report little Miss Marion White presented Mrs. Philipps, a faithful and appreciated officer, with a beautiful bouquet of carnations.

A telegram of greetings was received from the Honorary President, Mrs. Turnbull of St. John 14-4 and 4.

A communication from the Dominion Executive was received, and Mrs. Lindow read an interesting article from the Toronto News re the Scott Act and its enforcement (2) in Moncton.

A letter was read from Mrs. Thornley.

Tuesday evening the delegates and visitors were entertained by the member of the local union, and spent a very pleasant social evening in their hall, where all the business meetings were held. An informal programme was carried out, which included a cornet solo by Mr. F. McMurray, vocal solo by Miss Floyd and Mrs. Spencer, pianosolo, Miss Baxter reading by Mrs. Malcolm, and the final number was a pretty solo by Miss Myrtle Hawkhurst, the youngest delegate present (11) years.

Miss Wiggins made a few remarks, after which refreshments were served.

Wednesday morning the convention opened at 9 o'clock with a bible reading led by Mrs. Hutchinson, president of the Moncton Union. "More love to Thee O Christ" was sung, Mrs. Seymour led in prayer, after which Mrs. Hutchinson read John 14, 1 to 11, taking for her subject abiding in Christ, its conditions, advantages and results. "The thoughts expressed by Mrs. Hutchinson were very beautiful and helpful.

At 9:30 Mrs. Lindow took the chair, and after singing, the White Ribbon Hymn—"Some Glad Day" business was resumed. Reports were received from Mrs. V. Mullins, Sackville, on the Flower and Fruit Department, read by Miss Asker, Mrs. Troy, Newcastle, on Anti-Narcotics, Mrs. Carson, St. Martins, Parlor Meetings, read by Miss Asker, Mrs. (Dr) Grey "Y" work, read by Miss Asker, a supplemental report of "Y" work by Miss Myrtle Hawkhurst of North End, St. John, read by Miss Asker; Mrs. Bullock was unavoidably absent, attending the Sunday School Convention at Woodstock. She urged that the Quarterly Lesson Leaflet be used by all the Unions.

During the session Mrs. R. Atkinson former Provincial President, was introduced to the Convention, having come from Dorchester in response to a telegram of urgent invitation. All the members rose to their feet and gave Mrs. Chataqua salute. She was made a member of convention.

A telegram of greetings was received from Mrs. Adams, Campbellton, president of the local union of that place. Psalms 32-8.

At 11:20 a memorial service was held by Mrs. Colter of Fredericton. After singing "Crossing the Bar" and prayer by Mrs. Atkinson, Mrs. Colter read several scripture selections from Revelations. The names of deceased members during the year were read over, and responded to by friends who had known them.

Mrs. Shaw responded to Mrs. Nevins and Mrs. McAdams, Mrs. Lindow to Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Retalick to Mrs. Ham, Mrs. Troy to Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Atkinson to Mrs. Crandall, Mrs. Hutchinson to Mrs. B. Jones, Mrs. Gilman to Mr. Wm. Leonard, and Mrs. Todd to Mr. and Mrs. Griggs, Mrs. Philipps to Mrs. Leonard. A letter Mrs. Jordan, president of Woodstock Union, was read, giving a glowing tribute to Mrs. Smith.

Miss Weldon sang "One Sweetly Solemn thought" with piano accompaniment by Miss Maud Lounsbury.

At the close of the service the hymn "Safe Home in Port" was sung.

Wednesday afternoon session was opened at 3 o'clock, Mrs. Lindow in the chair. Mrs. Seymour led in prayer. Mrs. Vanwart of St. John, North read a report on Juvenile work. Next followed a conference on Press work and Literature, led by Mrs. Cahill. She took for her motto, Heb 8-10, and spoke strongly of the power for good or evil which the poor can wield. The medal for the greatest amount of printed matter was awarded to Mrs. Ruth Clarke of St. Stephen. It was stated by Miss Lounsbury that the St. John Sun would give a column of their paper for W. C. T. U. Literature.

A model local union meeting was next conducted by Miss Wiggins. She said that a model meeting consisted of three parts, devotional, business and educational. "All Round the World the Ribbon White" is twined was sung, then Miss Wiggins read a few verses from Philipians, and followed with some interesting remarks. After silent prayer, and prayer by Miss Wiggins, the business half hour was given over to a parliamentary drill on "Woman Franchise" conducted by Miss Wiggins and assisted by members of the Union. This was most interesting.

Miss Nugent gave a vocal solo, after which the question box was opened and questions answered by Miss Wiggins.

Miss Taylor read a paper in "Y" work.

The local Union was asked to collect Surprise Soap Wrappers and send coupons to Miss A. Williams for on to, said the Francis E. Willard Home.

Wednesday evening a public meeting was held in the Presbyterian church and largely attended. After a hymn was sung, Mrs. Hutchinson read the 14th Psalm. Mr. McOdium led in prayer. Another hymn followed, then an address of welcome was read by the Mayor—Mr. J. T. Ryan on behalf of the city of Moncton. Rev. J. W. McConnell, central Methodist Church, welcomed the delegates on behalf of the city churches, and spoke energetically of the work being done by the W. C. T. U.

On behalf of the local union Mrs. Hutchinson welcomed the delegates. Mr. J. V. Jackson on behalf of the I. O. G. T. and Mr. G. A. Wilson on behalf of the S. of T. welcomed the delegates. Mrs. Lawson replied to the words of welcome.

A hymn was sung, then Miss Wiggins was introduced to the audience and gave a delightful and interesting address, the keynote being prohibition. She said that the prohibition law says "No man shall sell." It doesn't say "No man shall drink."

The law does not say you must not read a bad book, but it does say that you must not print or sell a bad book. The postal authorities will not allow obscene literature to go through the mails.

The Premier of this country had a chance to strike a blow for freedom against the rum power, but he did not avail himself of it. He turned his back on it, and on his tombstone should read "Died for Corruption." It could never read "Died for a Righteous Principle." We should outlaw the liquor traffic. It only fights for selfish reasons. We look in vain for a political man who will come out on the temperance question near an election. When women get the ballot a glorious victory will be won.

After the collection, a quartette was sung by Mrs. Lyman, Miss O'Brien, Messrs Thompson and Murray.

Thursday morning convention opened at 9 o'clock with consecration service led by Mr. Weyman. After a few minutes silent prayer, members joined in singing, "Nearer my God to Thee." Instead of Scripture reading, each member present repeated a text. Several members offered prayer, and "Rock of Ages" was sung. "In the Sweet Bye and Bye" was sung and Mrs. Lawson pronounced the benediction. A message was read from Mrs. McLeod of Newcastle, Vice-President, who was detained at home by the illness of her husband. Special prayer was offered for her.

At 9:30 convention work was taken up. The president presented a very beautiful "Y" banner to the Union. Also a white and gold gavel. A rising vote of thanks was given Mrs. Lindow.

The page of the day—Miss E. Hutchinson was introduced to the convention.

A discussion on Juvenile Work next took place, and a prize of $3.00 was donated to the Juniors having the greatest increase in membership.

Mrs. Shaw presented her report on "Lumbermen and Kaitimen." A discussion in regard to sending Mrs. Alahy as missionary to the camps took place, and it was finally decided to cooperate with him by paying his expenses and supplying him with hymn books literature, etc.

The credentials committee reported to officers, 9 superintendents of departments, and 32 delegates enrolled.

Election of officers next took place, which resulted as follows—Mrs. Lindow, St. Stephen, President; Mrs. McLeod, Newcastle, Vice-President; Mrs. Nellie Asker, Campbellton, Corresponding Secretary; Miss Carrie Weldon, Chatham, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Philipps, Fredericton, Treasurer; Mrs. Gilman, auditor; Miss Lounsbury, Fredericton, "Y" Secretary.

Miss Wiggins pressed the matter of generous subscriptions to the W. C. T. U. official organ of Canada—"Canadian White Ribbon Tidings."

Mr. Seymour presented a report on Seamen's Missions. She also gave a message from the P. E. I. Union, asking to join with the New Brunswick Union. It was unanimously decided to extend them an invitation to unite with the N. B. Union.

A telegram was sent to Mr. Lindow thanking him for allowing his wife to be our president.

The report of the "Little Girls Home at St. John" was read by Miss Asker. Convention adjourned at noon and the members proceeded in a body to watch the arrival of the "Bore" in the cotton factory, of which he is the manager.

There was no report on "Peace and Arbitration." The department of "Petition and Legislation" was dropped.

Reports were received of "World's Mission, Mrs. Adams, Supt; (read by Miss Asker) Systematic Giving Mrs. Lawson, Miss, Mrs. Colter, School of Methods, Mrs. McAvity.

Report of Plan of Work Committee was read by Mrs. McAvity. "Some Glad Day" was sung, and Miss Oliver sang "Hide with Me." Report of Revolutions committee was read by Mrs. Philipps.

Greetings were received from Mr. Pollock, Cor. 3-9 and from Sunday School Convention.

WHAT SOME NOVA SCOTIA BAKERS SAY about the success they have had with

Royal Household Flour

The largest bakers in Eastern Canada, Flour, Limited, Halifax say:

In answer to your inquiry as to whether we could suggest any change that would be an improvement to "Royal Household," we emphatically answer "no." The great satisfaction we have had with your "Royal Household" this last nine months, using over 5,000 bbls. in that time, has been an extreme pleasure to us. We are using this flour mostly for Bread, also using nothing else for our pastry, for which we have a very large sale.

(Signed) MOIRS, LIMITED.

Halifax, Sept. 2.

The oldest bakers in Dartmouth say:

"Royal Household" flour is as near to perfection in the results obtained as it is possible for any flour to be. In the history of our baking business, now established half a century, we have never had anything to equal it.

(Signed) JOSEPH H. GENTLES.

Dartmouth, N. S., Sept. 15, 1904.

The leading baker in Annapolis says:

This is to certify that I have used considerable quantities of "Royal Household" flour during the present year and find it to be a good article indeed; suitable for family purposes in all the requirements of bread, biscuit and pastry. I regard it as equal to any flour on the market. It is the best hard wheat flour for pastry that I have ever used.

A prominent club woman, Mrs. Danforth, of St. Joseph, Mich., tells how she was cured of falling of the womb and its accompanying pains and misery by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Life looks dark indeed when a woman feels that her strength is fading away and she has no hopes of ever being restored. Such was my feeling a few months ago when I was advised that my poor health was caused by prolapsus or falling of the womb. The words sounded like a knell to me, I felt that my sun had set; but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound came to me as an angel of life; it restored the lost forces and built me up until my good health returned to me. For four months I took the medicine daily and each dose added health and strength. I am so thankful for the help I obtained through its use."—Mrs. FLORENCE DANFORTH, 1007 Miles Ave., St. Joseph, Mich.

A medicine that has restored so many women to health and can produce proof of the fact must be regarded with respect. This is the record of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which cannot be equalled by any other medicine the world has ever produced. Here is another case:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For years I was troubled with falling of the womb, irregular and painful menstruation, leucorrhoea, bearing-down pains, backache, headache, dizziness and fainting spells, and stomach trouble.

"I doctored for about five years but did not seem to improve. I began the use of your medicine, and have taken seven bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, three of Blood Purifier, and also used the Sensitive Wash and Liver Pills, and am now enjoying good health, and have gained in flesh."

I thank you very much for what you have done for me, and heartily recommend your medicine to all suffering from these troubles."—Mrs. Emma Sarvas, 218 East Center St., Marion, Ohio.

British Government Sends Protest to St Petersburg

BRITISH FLEET

Cruisers off Coast of Spain and Will Intercept Russian Fleet

Hull, Eng., Oct 23.—A. M. Jackson & Co., solicitors for the owners of fifty Hull fishing boats, have notified the foreign office and admiralty of an attack on the Hull fishing fleet by the Russian second Pacific or Baltic squadron (commanded by Vice Admiral Rojestvensky) The official information is that shortly after midnight Friday the Russian squadron fell in with the Hull fishing fleet in the North Sea. The first portion of the fishing fleet passed safely. Then the Russian ships turned their searchlights on the British vessels for some time and a little later opened fire. The steam trawler Crane was sunk and the decked bodies of her skipper and mate have been brought to Hull. The boatswain and other members of the crew who are understood to be seriously injured, are on board a mission ship. The only slightly injured members of the crew have arrived at Hull.

The steam trawlers Moulmein and Minto have arrived at Hull seriously damaged by shots, the latter having sixteen holes in her hull. It is feared that other damage was done to trawlers and that at least one more trawler was lost with all hands.

According to other reports the affair occurred 200 miles off Spurn Head. The Russian ships were steaming in line. The leading ships passed without incident though most of the vessels turned searchlights on the trawlers long enough to prevent any mistake as to identity. After the bulk of the squadron had passed it opened fire nearly all participating in the firing. The Crane was struck below the waterline and raked above deck. Skipper Smith and third hand Legott had their heads carried clean away by a shot, many of the crew being seriously wounded. Another trawler also was sunk, but the Moulmein, which brought the news to Hull, has no particulars as to her fate.

London, October 24, 4.52 p. m.—The British Government this afternoon sent urgent notes of protest to the Russian Government on the subject of the Russian attack on the British fishing fleet in the North Sea, through both Ambassador Hardinge and the Russian Ambassador in London.

Of the 160 fishing vessels, through which the Russian squadron passed, five are still unaccounted for, and some anxiety exists regarding their safety. The Wren, one of the boats reported last night as missing, has arrived at Hull. It will probably be some days before the foreign office is in full possession of all the facts, although the examination of the witnesses at the Foreign Office to-day established the general correctness of the first accounts.

London, Oct. 22.—A large British fleet is cruising off the coast of Spain and will intercept the Russian Baltic fleet on its way to the Far East unless an immediate apology is forthcoming from Russia for the destruction of British fishing vessels and the killing of British sailors. Compensation to the mourning families is demanded and also an investigation into the reason for the Russian fleet's unwarrantable action and prompt and sincere punishment of the officers to blame.

The British people are thoroughly incensed and it would not be surprising to see war declared within forty eight hours. Up to noon to-day Russia has not answered.

London, Oct 25.—The inevitable delays of diplomatic procedure appear to retard a complete and satisfactory settlement of the scute difference between Great Britain and Russia arising from the deplorable North Sea affair.

King Edward has received from Emperor Nicholas himself a cablegram expressing the deepest regret and a practical acknowledgment that Great Britain's peremptory note will meet with a reply conceding every demand for apology.

To the Electors of the County of Restigouche,

Gentlemen:—At the Liberal Convention for the County of Restigouche held at Dalhousie, on the Eleventh day of October instant, I was nominated as the Liberal standard-bearer for the County of Restigouche, and if elected I will as in the past do my utmost to further the interests of the County.

The remarkable prosperity of Canada under the Liberal Administration led by the Right Honourable Sir Wilfrid Laurier, has given this Dominion such an era of prosperity that even our conservative friends bear testimony to her remarkable growth. Not only is this true in the Dominion at large, but the County of Restigouche is sharing in this prosperity.

In the town of Campbellton the Shives wharf has been acquired, and a contract let for an extension eastward of the same which will provide two additional steamer berths. The ferry landing has been acquired and is now being put in first class condition. A contract has been awarded for the building of a post office that will not only be a great convenience, but a credit to the town of Campbellton. An appropriation was also made for the improvement of navigation on the Upsalquitch River. At Dalhousie a contract has been let for the building of a wharf 300 feet in length, a new lighthouse is in course of construction which will be of great advantage to mariners. Nor has the lower end of the county been neglected—and an appropriation has been made for a suitable wharf in the Parish of Durham. I have given a good deal of attention to improved mail service and as a result great improvements have been made in this branch of your public service.

I take particular pride in pointing to the splendid railway service which has been provided for our county and the magnificent equipment of the whole I C R. y. Many other matters are deserving of attention and if I am elected I will lose no time in pressing upon the Government the needs of our rapidly growing and prosperous County.

I remain, your obedient servant,
JAMES REID

To the Electors of the County of Restigouche,

Gentlemen:—At the solicitation of a large number of electors and at the unanimous request of the Liberal Conservative Convention of the County I have accepted nomination as a candidate in the approaching election for a member to represent Restigouche in the Dominion Parliament. I am a Liberal Conservative and if elected will support the policy of that party in general and especially in regard to the tariff and in its opposition to the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway scheme. I have no sympathy with the present government and submit that its administration has been characterized by a complete disregard of its pledges to the people. Pledged to free trade they secured power in 1896 and since then have only evidenced their belief in Protection by substantially continuing the Conservative policy.

They "viewed with alarm" and condemned as unjustifiable the annual expenditure of the old Government of less than thirty seven millions and since coming to power have each year increased the appropriations until last session when the expenditure for the current year exceeded double that figure or to be accurate amounted to $78,878,008.00. Since their advent to power the taxes of the people have been increased more than four dollars per head of the population. Pledged to free the country from bribery and corruption the conduct of the Liberal party in their mad pursuit of power has in the past eight years alike in the federal and provincial arenas shocked the conscience of every liberty loving citizen; witness the elections of South Oxford, West Elgin, West Huron, Brockville, North Renfrew and the "Soo", St. James, the Routhesay and many other instances where corruption and crime has not only been condoned but its perpetrators rewarded at the public expense.

I condemn the contract with the Grand Trunk Pacific Corporation and view it as a scheme which mortgages the bright future of the country for many years, involves a reckless waste of money, increases the public debt by about $150,000,000 or more nearly $200,000,000, and destroys the character of the Intercolonial as a national highway. I am a supporter of Government ownership and believe in the management by the people of the public franchises—it insures freedom from combines, high rates and strikes by vesting in the people themselves the power of regulation and gives to the Treasury in reduction of taxation the legitimate profits of the industry and development of the country.

Concurrent with my condemnation of the Government's course on its Railway policy on broad principles I especially exclaim against the inevitable result to the people of Restigouche and Northern New Brunswick by the construction of the proposed line. We now possess a national route which according to enlightened expert opinion is better capable of handling the trade of the West than the proposed Moncton-Winnipeg section and we stand to lose not only the prestige and advantage of our present connections and the immense traffic that must grow out of the development of the West but we hand over the emoluments and profits of a Railway built by the people to a private Corporation whose aim and interest lie in shipment from a foreign port.

Assuredly the issue is as Mr. Borden has placed it before you "Shall we have a Government owned Railway or a Railway owned 'Government'?" To Liberal and Conservative alike I make an especial appeal for a serious judgment upon this issue and in all candour humbly submit my own opinion that the Grand Trunk Pacific contract is not only framed against the best interests of Canada but especially threatens with the gravest danger our home interest in the expansion and growth of this section of the country. To quote the language of Hon. A. G. Blair who resigned from the Government in deference to his own convictions against the contract "Turn it which way you will I see nothing in it to commend."

Respecting Railway matters the Government when purchasing the Canada Eastern has stated that it is not its intention to treat similarly any of the other branch lines connecting with the Intercolonial and in this connection I think their supporters might well have directed their attention to the expropriation of other roads whose improvement under State ownership would make for development and better accommodation. I have especially in mind at the moment the only railway possessed by the Gaspé Peninsula—the Bay Chaleur Road. The trade relations of this section with the Bay Chaleur are already large and intimate and must naturally increase and our adjacency to the Counties of Bonaventure and Gaspé renders their development of especial interest to us. With a population of over 54,000 and their great wealth of forest and fishery to say nothing of agriculture they require only proper rail connections to expand

I believe with Mr. Crockett, who is at present a Candidate in the County of Bonaventure in favor of its expropriation and who speaks with the knowledge of an expert Railway man that even under present adverse conditions the taking over of the A. & L. S. Ry would be a fair investment but apart from that, the Treasury would be well repaid by the immense benefits which would flow from its extension and improvement. I can see in it much more to justify its expropriation than in the purchase of the Canada Eastern which is in no sense an equal feeder of the Intercolonial and as far as lies in my power I will endeavor to strengthen Mr. Crockett's advocacy of its expropriation and connection at Campbellton with the I C R and the International Railway now under construction.

I wish to remind those interested in the Fisheries—the value of which in this County is easily conceived—that as yet there has been no adjustment between the Federal and Provincial authorities respecting its control and while the Governments of Canada and New Brunswick are jointly responsible for the present unsatisfactory conditions both alike have evinced little regard for the necessity to constitutionally adjust the authority under the Privy Council judgment of 1897. I think that long ere this fishermen should have been acquainted with the terms of their holdings and the positive announcement of the source of authority.

Respectfully soliciting your endorsement and support I beg to remain
Yours faithfully,
W. A. MOTT
