SWIFT MONEY-MAKING.

A Gold Brick Worth $35,741 for Less Than Fifteen Days' Work in Mining.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 29.—The gold brick from the Cariboo Hydraulic mine is on its way here. It is valued at $35,741, and is the product of fourteen days, 20 hours run in on the pit. This makes $118,000 mined so far this season. The hydraulicing will go on until cold weather stops operations. The Two Friends Mining Company, owning a claim in the Slocan district, received returns yesterday from the Tacoma smelter of the first carload of ore shipped. It gives a net value of $164 20 per ton. Deducting the cost of mining and hauling to water, the net return is about $131 per ton. The mine will now be a regular shipper. About 750 tons of ore is being already blocked out on the camp.

THE MEDICINE FOR LIVER AND KIDNEY COMPLAINT.—Mr. Victor Auger, Ottawa, writes: "I take great pleasure in recommending to the general public Parmelee's Pills as a cure for Liver and Kidney complaint. I have doctored for the last three years with leading physicians, and have taken many medicines that were recommended to me without relief, but after taking eight of Parmelee's Pills I was quite relieved, and now I feel as free from the disease as before I was troubled."

The Premier at Quebec.

Hon. Wilfrid Laurier was entertained to a banquet by the citizens of Quebec last (Wednesday) night. The affair was a great success. It took place at the Chateau Frontenac, and was attended by 350 leading citizens. Had there been accommodation, the numbers present would have been doubled. Mayor Parent presided, and proposed the health of the Premier, who, in rising to reply, was greeted with loud cheering. He said the Government was a body of business men, bent on doing justice to all. In the forthcoming tariff revision, the interests of the producer and the consumer would both be looked after. Dealing specially with the interests of Quebec, the Premier said the canals must be deepened so as to increase Canada's trade by way of the St. Lawrence. But the Government had to look to its means in the execution of that great work, and to go slow. The policy of the Government was to have a fast Atlantic steamship service for freight as well as passengers. Mr. Laurier said he would keep his promise to have the Manitoba school question settled within six months after election day. The settlement, he added, will preserve all the rights of conscience.

The Premier concluded this reference as follows:

"Those who believe that religion should be taught in the schools shall have satisfaction. We have obtained all the concessions which any honest man would have the right to expect. I do not pretend that we shall meet the views of the extremists. There are those in Manitoba who are condemning beforehand the least concession, and we have those in the Province of Quebec who would not be satisfied unless we exacted the pound of flesh which we have the right to get out of the bosom of Manitoba, nor until we shall have inflicted upon that Province the direst humiliation. But speaking for the City of Quebec, for this Province, and, I may say, for the whole Dominion, the people are not of that opinion. We, especially French-Canadians, we know what it is to be a minority and to be oppressed. Had we the power we would not inflict any such humiliation. We wish to deal with others as we would have others do with us."

Such a settlement, sincere men of every religious belief could fairly be appealed to indorse. To the charge that the Government has proceeded too slowly, Mr. Laurier said:

"We have not been in power four months; give us time. As I have kept my promise concerning the school question, so shall we keep our promises respecting all reforms, and with the assistance of the eternal and immutable Providence, we shall give to the country peace, harmony and prosperity."

These sentiments were cheered to the echo.

KILLED FOUR MEN!

Sepoy A Soldier Runs Amuck With Frightful Results.

Simla, Oct. 29.—A Sepoy belonging to the British Indian troops stationed at Fort Sandeman ran amuck yesterday evening and killed Lieut. Yeates, of the Royal Engineers; Lieut. Downes, of the Bombay Lancers, and two private soldiers, besides wounding Lieut. MacLeachland. The murderer was captured.

Fever and Ague and Bilious Derangements are positively cured by the use of Parmelee's Pills. They not only cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, causing them to pour copious effusions from the blood into the bowels, after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passage of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

BREAD DEARER.

London, Oct. 29.—The price of bread has gone up one halfpenny, and the increase is being acutely felt in the poorer districts of London, where many families have, in consequence, been obliged to reduce their supplies.

JOSEPH THEIR FAVORITE.

Glasgow, Oct. 29.—The students of the Glasgow University held a meeting last evening and nominated Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, for the lord rectorship of that institution.

THE SULTAN IN A SHIVER.

London, Oct. 29.—A Daily Mail correspondent says an imperial yacht is anchored off the Yildiz Kiosk and is closely guarded night and day. A subterranean passage leading from the palace to the seashore is constantly lighted and heavily guarded.

CONSPIRACY OF THE PHILIPPINES.

Madrid, Oct. 28.—An official dispatch from Manilla says that a conspiracy has been discovered in the Sulu Archipelago, a portion of the Spanish colony of the Philippine Islands. Eight soldiers have already been killed in the attempt to suppress the uprising. Reinforcements of troops have been sent from Manilla.

LADY SOMERSET'S OFFER.

London, Oct. 29.—Lady Henry Somerset, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Great Britain, has sent the following cablegram to Mr. Edward F. McSweeney, assistant United States commissioner of emigration, on Ellis Island, New York harbor: "I have made the declaration and will give a personal bond that if any of the Armenians arriving in New York by the steamers Obdam or California become public charges, I will be answerable for their removal from the United States."

SALE OF COSTLY HORSEFLESH.

Newmarket, Oct. 29.—The entire stud of American horses belonging to Mr. Enoch Wishard were sold today at Tattersall's, and fetched 7,370 guineas. There was a large crowd present, including the Duke of York, Sir John Blundell Maple, Lord Rendlesham, and Sir Maurice and Lady Fitzgerald. Geo. H. Ketcham was sold for 1,200 guineas to F. W. Day. Mr. C. Hibbert bought Mack Briggs for 2,200 guineas; M. Lebsudy bought Wishard for 2,000 guineas; Count Lehndorf, the aide-de-camp of Emperor William, purchased Helen Nichol for 1,500 guineas; Rampoa was knocked down to Sir J. Duke for 400 guineas, and Hugh Penny went to F. W. Day for 420 guineas.

PERILS OF THE DEEP.

London, Oct. 29.—The Italian bark Africa (Capt. Cacase), from Chatham, N. B., Sept. 18, which has arrived at Bristol, reports having encountered severe weather on the passage. When off the Lundy Islands she shipped a great quantity of water, which washed off two-thirds of her deck load and did sundry damage about her decks.

The British ship Vanloo (Capt. Baker), from St. John, N. B., which went aground while entering Swansea, has been floated and docked.

The German bark William Bateman (Capt. Moritz), from Pugwash, N. S., for Havre, before reported ashore at Southport and seriously damaged, and which was subsequently towed to her destination, has discharged her cargo and been condemned.

DISTRESS IN INDIA.

London, Oct. 29.—In the course of his address at Leeds, the Marquis of Lansdown, Secretary of State for War, said that the India Government felt the gravest fears as to the possible loss of life from famine, and he suggested that the undertaking of irrigation works would do the most good towards relieving the distress.

Simla, Oct. 29.—The famine outlook in India is increasing in gloominess. It is not probable now that rain will fall, and the prospects are serious in the Northwest and Central Provinces and in the Punjaub. The scarcity is extending to Behar, and at Bombay prices have risen heavily. Large imports of foreign grain are expected. About 30 lakhs of rupees have already been given from the imperial revenues for advances of seeds, etc., and relief works in the Northwest, Central Provinces, Central India, and Rajputana are being started in addition to the irrigation works which are projected in the Punjaub. The Government will issue a detail and final forecast of the distress in December.

PLENTY OF DISCORD

Created by Bismarck's Organ the Hamburger Nachrichten.

London, Oct. 29.—The German Government is profoundly irritated at the disclosure made by the Hamburger Nachrichten, Prince Bismarck's organ, in stating that a defensive alliance existed between Russia and Germany during the last years Prince Bismarck was in office.

It is also stated that the Government is thinking of prosecuting the Hamburger Nachrichten and "those by whom it is inspired," evidently referring to the ex-Chancellor.

Paris, Oct. 29.—Two of the most conservative of the Paris papers—the Figaro, the representative par excellence of the burgeoise of France, and the Gaulois, the organist of royalist society—publish sharp attacks on Prince Bismarck on account of the revelations regarding the Russo-German relations in the Hamburger Nachrichten, for which he is held responsible.

The Gaulois concludes that the main effect of the Hamburger Nachrichten articles will be to weaken the triple alliance, which is already falling to pieces. The Gaulois says that it will be curious and instructive if he whose object was to isolate France should witness the isolation of his own country and be obliged to admit he himself contributed to it.

Baldness is Curable.

Hundreds of unsolicited testimonials prove that "Oriental" Rum and Quinine Hair Tonic is the greatest remedy for baldness ever discovered. BANK OF ENGLAND

Charging Four and a Half Per Cent Discount—The Weekly Statement.

London, Oct. 29.—Although the bank rate was not changed today at the meeting of the directors of the Bank of England, that institution has adopted the unusual course of charging 4 1-2 per cent discount. It is believed that the object is to make the rate effective in the open market.

The weekly statement of the bank, issued today, shows the following changes, as compared with the previous account: Total reserve, increased £354,000; circulations, decreased £271,000; bullion, increased £82,895; other securities, decreased £1,515,000; other deposits, decreased £2,199,000; public deposits, increased, £414,000; notes reserve, increased £181,000; Government securities, decreased £615,000. The proportion of the Bank of England's reserve to liability, which last week was 50.55 per cent, is now 53.10 per cent.

TOLD TOO MUCH.

But the German Government Dare Not Prosecute Bismarck's Organ.

London, Oct. 29.—A special dispatch from Berlin says that it is understood there that the proposed prosecution of Prince Bismarck's organ, the Hamburger Nachrichten, for publishing state secrets has been abandoned out of fear of the harm such a step might do to Germany's foreign policy. It is added that, however, should Prince Bismarck publish the circumstances under which he resigned office, the Government will be forced to act, and it is said it would probably treat Prince Bismarck in the same manner that the latter treated Count Von Arnim, who died in May, 1881, at Nice, as a result—it was said by Prince Bismarck's enemies—of the persecution which he had been subjected to by the Chancellor.

LEARNING HIS LESSON.

The Sultan Makes a Beginning in the Work of Reform.

Constantinople, Oct. 29.—Since the recent visit of the Russian ambassador, M. D. Nelidoff, to the Sultan, and the lengthy important audience which followed, it is noticeable that there has been another change for the better in the attitude of Abdul Hamid and his advisers towards the Armenians in particular, and the reform policy in general. It is known that M. De Nelidoff used very plain language in his conversation with the Sultan, and it is equally apparent that the latter wis convinced that the Russian ambassador was in earnest. This, supplemented by greve reports from the Turkish embassies at London and Paris, has brought about eager professions on the part of the Turkish Government of desires to honestly push the work of reform, and as a commencement, five Christian deputy governors have been appointed in Armenia, and it is probable that there will be changes shortly in the composition of the Turkish Ministry.

THERE is not a more dangerous class of disorders than those which affect the breathing organs. Nullify this danger with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil—a pulmonic of acknowledged efficacy. It cures soreness and lameness when applied externally, as well as swelled neck and crick in the back; and, as an inward specific, possesses most substantial claims to public confidence.

Good Feeling.

United States Warmly Welcomed to the Sunday School Convention.

"Coming to Canada Is Like a Breath of Heaven" Says One.

The American Visitors Greatly Enliven the Convention

By Eloquent and Instructive Addresses — Question Drawer Opened — The Sunday School of the Future Pictured.

Wednesday Afternoon.

The success of the convention becomes more apparent at every session, in increased enthusiasm and interest. This session was opened by devotional service, conducted by Rev. George Daniel, M.A., Ph.D., of the First Methodist Church, London.

WELCOMING VISITORS.

President Patterson, in introducing the visiting delegates from the Republic, said the convention would not be perfect without their presence, not because Canadians did not know how to carry on a convention themselves, but the exchange of ideas was invaluable. He was glad to know that there could be no tariff of customs affecting that interchange of courtesies. It was a great pleasure to offer the visitors the freedom of the convention. Canadians were patriotic, and the people of the United States were just as proud of their country as we were of ours. Continuing, he likened the relationship between the countries to that of brothers and sisters. "We don't care to wed," said he, "but we'll be sisters."

WARM PRAISE FOR CANADA.

Marion Lawrance, of Toledo, O., general secretary of the Ohio State Sunday School Association, extended the greetings of Ohio. The association there was three-quarters of a million strong. He said he was there to pay a debt contracted last June, when they had had a great day in Ohio. He referred to the visit of the secretary, Mr. Alfred Day, of whom he said in the words of the Hoozier poet, "There had never been a man who walked into their affections like Mr. Day." He was delighted to sit in the convention and absorb some of the zeal and interest of the workers, and take advantage of the interchange of ideas. As Mr. Paxton, who started Sunday school conventions in Ohio, said: "The object of them was to "swap ideas."

Mr. William Reynolds, of Peoria, Ill., field superintendent of the International Sunday School Convention, followed. He said that to come to Canada was like a breath of heaven. He spoke of the great difference between Canada and the United States in particular in the observance of the Sabbath. "Canadians will not enjoy heaven as much as we," said he, "because the change will not be so great. Whenever our people are in doubt as to how to get along with Sunday street cars, etc., I refer them to Canada." Here there was more thorough, real, genuine teaching of the word of God. In this country the parents raised the children, but in the speaker's country it was found that the children raised the parents and sometimes something else besides. Mr. Reynolds stated that the Sunday school should not do all the teaching. The work should be supplemented by home instruction. He had attended probably as many conventions as any man living, and had never noticed any that commenced more auspiciously than the present.

A PLEBISCITE MOTION.

The following motion was moved by Rev. M. S. Gray, and seconded by Rev. R. J. Gassford: "That inasmuch as the Dominion Government has declared its intention of submitting the question of prohibition to the electors of Canada; and inasmuch as a representative convention of delegates from the Christian churches and temperance societies has charged the executive committee of the Ontario Alliance with the arrangements necessary for the successful carrying on of the campaign, this convention desires to express its firm belief in the legal prohibition of the liquor traffic as a just and proper measure in aid of all moral efforts for the suppression of intemperance and the evils resulting from it; and declares its willingness to co-operate heartily in the proposed campaign, and calls on Sunday school workers generally to join with others interested in the matter and to do all in their power to make the popular verdict overwhelming."

The motion was referred to the business committee.

A QUESTION DRAWER.

The question drawer was conducted by Mr. Reynolds, and for three-quarters of an hour he was plied with questions from the delegates upon Sunday school work in all its branches. It was an opportunity purposely given for dealing with unsolved problems from the separate conferences of the morning. Mr. Reynolds, from his wealth of experience and readiness in speaking disposed of a great quantity of questions in a way highly satisfactory to the delegates. He was asked: "Do you recommend forming Boys' Brigades?"

Mr. Reynolds—I favor their establishment in cities and towns, where the boys are under bad influences.

"Should an unconverted person be a Sunday school teacher?"

Mr. Reynolds would not recommend it generally, but there might be cases where it would be impossible to get converted teachers, and it seemed desirable to have an unconverted person. It would hardly be expected that such good results would follow, however.

He was asked about secret societies, and said that though not a member himself, he would say nothing against them. But there were too many of them on the other side.

"And here, too," said someone in the audience.

The speaker was opposed to them if they impoverished the churches.

When the time for a change in the programme came, Mr. Reynolds sat down amid great applause.

A SPLENDID ADDRESS.

Mr. Marion Lawrance then took charge of the meeting. His is a marked personality, and made a deep impression on the audience. "The Sabbath school session, its necessary features and prevalent defects," was his subject. He asked suggestions from the delegates, and there followed a session of about 45 minutes that will figure as one of the principal features of the convention. Mr. Lawrance, with rare ability, greatly enthused the audience, and led the thought of the meeting to a logical consideration of the subject. He quickly passed judgment on the suggestions offered, and then summarized them.

Among the principal features of a Sunday school were worship, instruction and business. The defects included lack of variety, and in this connection the speaker gave an apt illustration. He told of the woman who could make only one kind of pie—apple—but she made that open-faced, cross-barred and covered-lid. Another defect was want of method. "Plan your work and work your plan," said Mr. Lawrance. Long lessons and sessions, allowing people to make addresses when they interfered with the Sunday school lessons; lack of life and snap (some schools were dead and didn't know it); lack of co-operation; lack of cheerfulness—these were other defects.

One delegate said a defect in the Sunday school was the telling of old anecdotes—the story of George Washington, for instance. Mr. Lawrance replied that "some of us have got beyond George Washington. We can lie, but we won't."

Mrs. Ford, of Troy, N. Y., illustrated her methods by teaching a primary class of 32 children from the text "Building the temple." The pupils entered heartily into the work, and the delegates derived much profit from Mrs. Ford's attractive and masterly exposition.

This closed the afternoon session.

Evening Meeting.

Before the evening session began, every available seat in the church was filled. Hundreds were turned away. The devotional exercises were led by the Rev. J. H. Moorhouse.

THE FUTURE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Mr. Marion Lawrance delivered an address on the "Sunday School of the Future." He said: "The coming Sunday school will never get here. What the Sunday school in the future will be we can only judge from the past. We have a right to look backward before we look forward. We never can tell of the promise of an institution without knowing something of its early history and surroundings. Before looking down the years before us, I would like to have you look back for a short time and group together in a few complete sentences the things for which we are indebted to the Sunday school and which give great promises for the future. Numerically the Sunday school is that marches under one banner. It numbers 23,000,000 of all nations, and of this number 16,000,000 million study one system of lessons. We are indebted to the Sunday school for the popularity of the Bible. We are told that the Bible is behind the times. And so it is like the wind is behind the ship—making it go. In North America last year 5,000,000 copies of the Bible were sold—1,506,000 were from one publishing house—more than the total output of the most popular books of today." It had been said the Bible has been upset 27 times, by actual count. The speaker thought this a good testimony. It was

LIKE A BLOCK OF GRANITE

—just as good upside down. He likened the Sunday school to a great cement binding the countries of the earth together. It was a mighty evangelizing agent; it had been estimated that of 100 persons who joined the church 83 came from the Sunday school.

"What the Sunday school of the future will be depends upon the ideals of the promoters of the present time. He believed we should attempt impossibilities.

"The Sunday school of the future will not be an institution separate and apart from the church; it is not the nursery of the church, as sometimes supposed. The millstone about the Sunday school neck today is the prevalent idea that such is the case." The speaker said he realized he was in

A CITY OF CHURCHES.

He had never before seen a city of the size of London with so many churches so suitably adapted for Sunday school work. The Sunday school of the future would have department rooms. It will be marked by

SEPARATIVENESS AND TOGETHERATIVENESS;

there will be a teacher's retreat in which will be a reference library, with Bible commentaries, dictionaries, maps, charts, etc. There will be blackboards, movable and otherwise. In the primary department there will be cabinets in which may be found samples of stone, etc., from the Holy Land. It should be the brightest room in the school, with sand maps, papers, music, etc., but there should be no bell. The tintinnabulation of the bell is a nuisance in the school room. The school room should be open and in cold weather always warm, always inviting. There should be an amusement room, where innocent games may be taken part in by the boys under proper supervision. There should be a room in the basement for checking wheels, for in these days almost everybody has a wheel, and some more than one. The kind in people's heads could not be checked. (Laughter.)

EVERY DAY AND EVERY EVENING,

After speaking along this line, he emphasized the fact that perfect equipments would not alone make a Sunday school what it should be. Another feature was the organization.

would be given, for they always worked harm, and bad blood resulted sometimes. However, rewards have not that effect. There would be systematic giving. The sick and afflicted would never be lost sight of. "There would be a splendid choir—like this," said the speaker pointing to the church choir. They would be identified with Sunday school associations.

"The Sunday school of the future," said he, "will be a recruiting station for preachers, missionaries and evangelists. Every member of the church will be identified with it."

In conclusion, Mr. Lawrance said all described in what he had spoken was within reach, "but even if not reached, they would be all the better for reaching after it."

CONVENTION ECHOES.

Rev. John Potts, D.D., Toronto, gave a sketch of the International Sunday School Convention which closed on June 23 last in Boston, under the title of "Echoes from the Boston Convention." The first impression of which he spoke was the cordial welcome the Sunday school workers of Boston had extended the delegates. Then he spoke of the devotional echo. D. E. Moody had conducted the devotional exercises, and the spiritual character of the convention was most noteworthy.

Under the heading of statistical echoes, he quoted the gains of the Sunday school in the past three years in North America. They were: Schools, 10,171; officers and teachers, 93,634; scholars, 1,239,324. The total numbers now are: Schools, 142,089; teachers, 1,476,363; scholars, 11,556,806; total officers, teachers and scholars, 13,033,175.

Speaking of financial echoes, he said every person would like to have more money than he had. "Let the man that doesn't, speak?" he asked, and no one spoke. The financial requirements of the association for the coming three years will be $25,000 a year. Dr. Potts spoke of the consecrated eloquence of Lorrimer, S. H. Blake and John Wannamaker, who were at the Boston convention.

Concluding, he spoke of the prophetic echoes. The international convention had gone into history. He dwelt upon the value of the international bond that united Sunday school workers.

GOOD SUBSCRIPTION LIST.

Mr. Wm. Reynolds was the next speaker. The name of the Bishop of Huron was on the programme, but other duties had prevented him from being present. Mr. Reynolds made a very humorous speech, which was greeted with frequent applause. Coming down to figures, he said the association required the sum of $830 and called for subscriptions. Over $500 was received in a short time. The following were among the number: R. J. Score, Toronto, $100; Mr. Bayly, Hamilton, $50; Wm. Bowman, London, $50; J. J. MacLaren, Toronto, $25; L. Jackson, North York, $25; Mr. Nelson, Guelph, $25; Rev. M. Gray, Dufferin, $25; ——, Peel, $15; P. C. Trebilcock, West Durham, $10; C. Livingston, Lambton, $10; Mr. Orr, South Wentworth, $10; C. R. Morrow, Welland, $10; Mr. Reid, Simcoe, $10; A. J. Donly, Simcoe, $10; M. H. Halliday, North Bruce, $10; E. R. Hutt, Oxford, $10; J. F. Simm, Lincoln, $10; C. E. German, Strathroy, $10. The pledges were made on behalf of the varous organizations.

Mr. Hewlett presided at the organ, and the Dundas Center Church choir led in the singing. During the evening they sung the chorus, "Hosanna," and Miss Roblyn gave an excellent solo.

ANGLICAN LAY WORKERS

Convention at Clinton—The Bishop's Address—The Great Want of the Church.

Clinton, Ont., Oct. 29.—The sixth annual convention of the Huron Anglican Lay Workers' Association opened here this afternon. The Bishop of Huron presided, having associated with him Principal Dymond, Chancellor Cronyn, and the Rev. J. Downie, The Rev. Canon Sweeney, of Toronto, also occupied a seat on the platform.

A large number of clergymen, laymen, and ladies, were present. Messrs. McWhinney and Ransford were appointed secretaries. After opening services the bishop gave an address of welcome, setting forth the objects of the meeting to be the development of lay help and of Sunday school work. The great want of the church in the past, was that she had not used the forces at her command as she should. There was much to be done at home and in the missionary fields. More consecrated laymen and women were wanted for the work.

Mr. Thomas Scullard, barrister, of Chatham, contributed an excellent paper entitled "The Teaching of Elder Scholars," showing the difficulties in the scholar's way; and pointing out some very common stumbling blocks that the learner had to encounter. These were, ignorance of the text of Scripture, and of the manners and customs of the people at Bible times. He pointed to the example of Christ in using illustrations, and said that the object of Sunday school teaching is to bring the scholar into contact with life-giving truth.

Rev. Canon Sweeney, of Toronto, read an admirable paper on "The Child in the Church," pointing out the duties of parents and teachers, and showing the methods by which the child should be educated for Christ.

Discussion followed, in which the Rev. Messrs. Hedley and Downie, and Messrs. Woods, Harrison, and others took part.

Principal Dymond spoke of the testimony borne by the prophets of Christ, and of the necessity for spiritual teaching. He also urged the importance of simple preaching that children could easily comprehend.

The bishop, in summing up, showed the necessity for exalting Christ in the pulpit, and of using simple language that young and old could understand. The bishop used many apt illustrations to enforce his words.

In the evening divine service was held in St. Paul's Church, the lessons being read by two laymen, Prof. Harrison, of London, and Mr. Genett, of Brantford. The bishop preached the sermon in his usual earnest and eloquent style.

TO BE ELECTROCUTED.

Bulletin, Albany, N. Y., Oct. 28.—Edward Hughson, convicted of murder in the first degree for killing his wife, has been sentenced by Justice Maynham to be electrocuted at Dannemora during the week commencing Dec. 14.

A HUNTER FATALLY SHOT.

Owen Sound, Oct. 29.—Mr. Robert Edgar, tax collector, accidentally shot himself in the abdomen yesterday while hare hunting with a party from here at Elliott's swamp, in the township of Derby, about seven miles from Owen Sound, causing instant death.

IT PAYS TO KEEP SOBER.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 29.—As a reward for five consecutive years of total abstinence from intoxicants, George Crocker has just been awarded $500,000. Charles Crocker, father of George, bequeathed a portion of his property to his son George, who was given to over-indulgence in intoxicants, if within 15 years after the death of the father, George should stay sober for five consecutive years.

(Correspondents should always date their letters and be careful in spelling names.)

On Monday the boiler in the fifth concession cheese factory, near Belmont, owned by Wm. Fitzpatrick and operated by Frank Jackson, was cracked, and an explosion which might easily have resulted seriously was averted. The water in the boiler had got down too low, and this caused the damage. No person was injured.

The East End grist mill, St. Thomas, owned by Alex. McGugan, has been rented by E. Davey, of Caradoc, who takes possession on Nov. 1. Mr. Davey was head miller in J. M. Clarke's mill at Mount Brydges.

Mr. W. E. Williams, who for the past year has conducted a grain and feed store in St. Thomas, in partnership with J. M. Clarke, has bought out the business. Mr. Clarke leaves on Monday to take charge of his mill at Mount Brydges.

It has been reported in some of the newspapers that the damage done by the fire at Mr. John Fox's granary in Lucan was estimated to reach into the thousands. This was a great exaggeration. The loss Mr. Fox has suffered is less than $100.

Miss Kate Barr, of Lobo, is home on a visit from Detroit, Mich.

MRS. HIGGINSON'S CHOICE

Latest Phase of a Remarkable Elopement Case.

New York, Oct. 29.—The Press this morning says: "It was announced in this city last night that Mrs. Julia Borland Higginson and James Wheatland Smith had been married in Paris yesterday (Wednesday). From the cable so little information has been had about the particulars of this last step in one of the most remarkable and sensational elopements that has been heard of in many a year. Mrs. Higginson sailed from this city in last November with Mr. Smith.

"Francis Lee Higginson was one of the most prominent and wealthy bankers of Boston, and a member of the most exclusive clubs of that city. Mrs. Higginson had been, as a girl, the reigning belle of Boston, and as a matron one of the leaders of Beacon street flights of society. She left four children when she eloped—one of them a daughter 18 years old, who had just made her debut in society. The man she eloped with was fifteen years her junior.

"After she got aboard Mrs. Higginson tired of her young lover, and wrote to her husband asking him to take her back. He sent $100,000 to her, but no intimation to return to him. A sensational divorce trial succeeded this, and now the announcement of the wedding comes from Paris."

Wheat Prices Going Up.

Holders of Grain in the British Market Ask an Advance.

London, Oct. 29.—At the "Baltic" today, holders of wheat were asking 3d advance. The market was steadier. Twelve thousand to fourteen thousand quarters of California wheat, November and December delivery, was sold at 33s 3d.

Winnipeg, Oct. 29.—There was but little doing in the grain business yesterday, and neither bulls nor bears seem so boastful as usual round the exchange. Buyers offered 75c for No. 1 hard, while sellers demanded a higher figure. Probably the farmers are showing most confidence, for since there has been a slight drop in prices they are holding and deliveries have fallen in some cases to at least two-thirds of what they were formerly. There is no falling off in the consumptive demand.

The Michigan earnings of railroad companies for August were $2,545,883.77, a decrease of $74,459.81 from August, 1895. The total earnings to Sept. 1, this year, were $19,201,865.10, an increase of $858,320.85, or 3.42 per cent. over the same eight months of last year.

Mr. Justice Street at Toronto on Tuesday gave the final order to compel the township of Chatham to pay over, as a result of their dispute with the Canadian Pacific Railway, the sum of $2,212 with interest since 1893, and all the costs of the action. The township has already paid $2,300 to the railway.

One of the new ten-wheel type of locomotives built for the Vandalia by the Pittsburg Locomotive Works, last week hauled 110 empty cars from Terre Haute to Brazil. These locomotives are guaranteed to haul 850 tons over any grade on the Vandalia lines, and last week one of them hauled a train of 900 tons from Indianapolis to Terre Haute, and made schedule time for a through freight train.

SHE DIDN'T SCREAM.

Mrs. Cleveland's Coolness in a Crisis—Her Coachman Was Plucky.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29.—The horses attached to the President's victoria, which contained Mrs. Cleveland and a friend, became frightened at the large iron derrick in front of the Treasury building. The bay horse reared, while the chestnut started forward and fell. The alertness of the footman, who jumped from the seat, and quickly jerked the fallen animal to its feet, kept the other animal from treading on its mate.

As soon as the chestnut had regained its footing, the team dashed around the corner into E street at a furious gait. Coachman Beckett held the reins and retained his presence of mind, and quickly checked the runaways before any serious damage happened.

The occupants of the victoria were the calmest people in the crowd. After letting the horses stand for a few moments, Mr. Beckett whipped them up and proceeded down F street, the same as if the accident had never happened.

A CAT CLOCK.

The Chinese are said to be very skillful in telling the time of day by looking into a cat's eyes. When they want to know what o'clock it is, they will run to the nearest cat, open her eyes, and at once tell what time it is. This they do by observing the size of the aperture of the pupil of the eye, which they have discovered is of varying size at different hours of the day, being affected by the position of the sun and the character of light, even when the day is cloudy.

Cod-liver oil suggests consumption, which is almost unfortunate.

Its best use is before you fear consumption; when you begin to get thin, weak, run down; then is the prudent time to begin to take care, and the best way to take care is to supply the system with needed fat and strength. Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil, with hypophosphites, will bring back plumpness to those who have lost it, and make strength where raw cod-liver oil would be a burden.

A Delhi Farmer's Horses Poisoned — Doon's Oldest Resident Dead.

Citizens of Wallaceburg now have to pay 7c a loaf for bread.

Wm. Clinton has sold his farm just west of Delhi to a Hamilton man for $2,250 cash.

The tank at the Wallaceburg Glass Works has been rebuilt, and the fires are now going again.

Ald. E. T. Dufton has announced himself as a candidate for the mayoralty of Stratford for 1897.

The new marble works at Delhi commenced work Monday morning. The canning factory also started to work eight hours.

G. R. N. Pentland, a resident of Sandwich for 40 years, has been married to Mrs. Barbara Fleming, sister of Postmaster Spiers.

S. Kindrick, farmer, south of Delhi, lost two of his horses this week, and another is sick. They are supposed to have been poisoned.

In St. Marys over 500 women have pledged themselves to do their Saturday shopping early enough to enable business men to close their stores at 8 o'clock.

At Chatham, a member of the Park Street Methodist congregation stepped up to Rev. Mr. Baker the other evening and handed him $7, to bring the Sunday collection up to $500.

The Bruce Avenue Baptist Church, Windsor, is to be remodeled at a cost of $4,000. Hardcastle & Wood have the contract. Service will be held, meanwhile, in Tara Hall.

Moses Barres, a junk dealer, at 110 Maple street, Detroit, has been arrested on a charge of converting to his own use a check for $42 50 which Max Burnstein, of Windsor, says he gave him to cash.

Capt. Tilt, of Delhi, recently caught in one of his traps a marten, an animal supposed to be extinct in this part of the country for the last 40 years. He also caught a minx that measured 34 inches from tip to tip.

Mr. Harry Smith, of Paris, received a charge of shot in the face, and shoulders from the gun of Mr. Arthur Wilson. They were members of a shooting party who went to the woods after game. The injured man is likely to recover.

Mr. C. W. Rowley, accountant of the Bank of Commerce, Berlin, has received a cable message from London, England, stating that his father had died there. Deceased was a prominent citizen of Yarmouth, N. S., and was 79 years of age.

Apple buying in Kent has not this season proved an unqualified success, from a financial standpoint. The buyers have consequently suspended operations there and a number of farmers have many barrels of picked apples left upon their hands.

The Messrs. Schell, Woodstock, say that they will ship about 2,000 barrels of apples to Liverpool this week. Last week's shipment aggregated about 3,000 barrels. The Liverpool market, they say, is improving, and the apples are landing in better condition.

A young man named Lang, employed at Stroh's tannery, was returning home past Seagram's stables in Waterloo Monday night, when he was assaulted by two highwaymen, who, after knocking him down with a heavy cane, took what money he had in his pockets.

Mr. Benjamin Schooley, one of Malahide's oldest residents, and for the past twenty years collector of taxes, started for home on Tuesday, and turning the corner of John street, Aylmer, his horse shied, Mr. Schooley being thrown out of his rig and seriously hurt.

At Galt Miss Alice Menhennick was married to Samuel R. Gillies, of Ailsa Craig. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Dempsey, of Ingersoll, assisted by Rev. C. O. McLaurin, pastor of the Galt Baptist Church. Miss Muriel Menhennick, niece of the bride, was a very pretty maid of honor.

At Brantford, Mrs. R. Thompson ran a splinter into one of her fingers and used a pin to take it out, having to do a deal of prodding in the course of the operation. This started a little fester, which soon resulted in a bad case of blood poisoning, and Dr. Henwood, who was called, ordered her removal to the hospital. She may lose her hand.

A bold attempt at robbery was made at Alma College, St. Thomas, Sunday morning. About 1:30 a.m. Misses Strachan and McCarthy, who occupy a bedroom on the third story, awoke to find a burglar in the room. The man had climbed the fire escape. When discovered the intruder quickly retreated the way he came.

Frank Currie, of the Royal Hotel, Blenheim, was forbidden to furnish liquor to Frank Sterling. Sterling came into the bar, and on being refused a glass of beer, appropriated a glass filled for another patron and drank it. Now Currie is summoned for giving the man liquor. The magistrate is puzzled.

Reuben Burt and Rob. Griffith, while doing King street, Chatham, on Tuesday, picked up on the sidewalk near the Standard Bank corner two checks, drawn by Samuel Glenn—one payable to C. Lawrence or bearer for $221 80, and the other to John Tiffin, or bearer, called for $90. The checks were returned to the gentlemen in whose favor they were drawn.

Mr. J. A. Story, some time ago farm superintendent at the O. A. C., and recently in charge of the famous Bow Park farm, Brantford, has secured the position of overseer for Railway Magnate Millionaire J. J. Hill's toy farm near St. Paul. Mr. Hill farms for pleasure, and Mr. Story, who will superintend the farm, is to get a salary of $1,500 per year, a free house and everything he requires for his sustenance on the farm. It is a nice fat job that thousands of farmers within a radius of 100 miles of Guelph would be willing to accept on the same conditions.—Guelph Mercury.

The main building of the new hub and spoke works and bending factory at Sarnia is completed, and the line shafting, made by Mr. John Goodison, of the Agricultural Implement Works, will be hung this week. The machinery will embody all the latest improvements and devices. It will employ a force of about 25 hands.

Francis Xavier, O.S.F., celebrated a nuptial mass on Tuesday, at which two highly-respected members of St. Joseph's Church were married. The newly-wedded couple are Daniel Donavan, Harwich township, and Miss Evangeline O'Rourke, daughter of James O'Rourke, of Raleigh township. Timothy Donovan was groomsman, and Miss Elizabeth O'Rourke, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid.

Mrs. James Craig, the oldest resident of Doon, died on Monday at the home of her son-in-law, Mr. Geo. Orr, at the age of 92 years and 11 months. The deceased lady was born in Roxboroughshire, Scotland, in 1804, coming to Canada exactly 50 years ago, settling with her parents in the vicinity of Doon. Her maiden name was Elizabeth Hope. In 1848 she married the late James Craig. They resided on their farm near Doon for 15 or 16 years, after which they returned to Scotland. Mr. Craig dying some eight years later. Mrs. Craig then returned to Doon, where she had ever since resided. Her daughter Margaret (Mrs. George Orr) survives, and it was at her house that Mrs. Craig passed peacefully away.

THE TRIGGER.

GOOD SHOOTING.

New York, Oct. 28.—J. L. Winston, the Louisville wing shot, appeared before the Elkwood Park traps yesterday in a match with Gustav Langdon, of New York. The conditions were 100 birds, handicap rise, Elkwood Park boundary, for $147 a side. The westerner grassed 46 out of his 50 birds, and drove his opponent to the wall in the 68th round. In this round Winston had a lead of 6, and Langdon withdrew. There was a one-handed match between Leonard Finletter, of the Riverton Gun Club, of Philadelphia, and Langdon. Finletter won by a single bird. The conditions were 25 birds, Elkwood boundary, for $50 a side, Finletter standing at 30 yards and Langdon at 28.

BASEBALL.

ON ANOTHER FIELD.

James Cookman, late shortshop for the Maple Leafs, and William Congalton, centerfielder, left this morning for Eramosa. They have been employed for a period by Robert Conway to pick turnips. — Guelph Mercury.

FLYS.

It may turn out that Hantford will take Toronto's place in the Eastern League circuit.

Providence, R. I., claims to be the banner minor league city of 1896. Its club won the pennant, captured the Sobey cup, paid a dividend of 120 per cent on its stock, and has $8,000 in the bank to begin next season with.

The $10,000 paid for Breitenstein's release has suddenly dwindled perceptibly, and it is said that the cash consideration was very small, while the absolute promise of Brush's support in the fight against the St. Louis magnate, which Von Der Ahe believes is imminent, was the big inducement.—Baltimore Herald.

"Pete" Hotaling was at bat in a game at Rochester many seasons ago. The end of the bleachers' stand was in fair ground, just reaching the line. "Pete" rapped a fly that lodged in the eavestrough of the stand. The first baseman rushed to the place, "shinned" up one of the posts, got the ball and got back to ground in time to retire Hotaling at the plate. This is vouched for by Jay Faatz, once the Cleveland club's first baseman.

THE TURF.

RACING IN ENGLAND.

London, Oct. 29.—At Newmarket yesterday, Mr. J. C. Sullivan's Wakefield's Pride won the Cambridgeshire stakes of 25 sovereigns each, with 500 sovereigns added. There were 24 starters.

JOHN R. GENTRY.

Philadelphia, Oct. 29.—At the Belmont track yesterday the pacer, John R. Gentry, failed to beat his record of 2:00 1-2. He made the mile in 2:03 1-2, the time by quarters being :30 1-4, 1:00, 1:32, 2:03 1-2.

JOE PATCHEN.

Medford, Mass., Oct. 29.—Yesterday was a great one at Combination Park. Guinnette made a new record (2:09), and Joe Patchen beat his record over this track of 2:05 1-4, going the quarter in :30 1-4, the half in 1:01 1-4, the three-quarters in 1:32 1-4, and the mile in 2:04 1-4.

AT WINDSOR, WEDNESDAY.

First race—Merry Saint 1, Infelice 2, Susie Howze 3. Time, 1:04. Cersilo, Foreigner, Hudson Bay and Idle Hour also ran.

Second race—Mrs. Morgan 1, Sagwa 2, Partner 3. Time, 1:31. Earl of Montrose, Master Fred and Gladiolo also ran.

Third race—Bloomer 1, Lord Zent 2, Cyclone 3. Time, 1:09 1-2. Reformation also ran. Hardenburg left at post.

Fourth race—If 1, Sauteur 2, Loyal Prince 3. Time, 1:18 1-2. Little Sadie, Edith, Ruth V., Lowther, Crocus, Austin also ran.

Fifth race—Bombard 1, Bounding Cecil 2, Lottie Alter 3. Time, 1:12. Legrande, Commissioner, Frank, Nellie Bland, Downing also ran. Blue Banner and Annie Sweet left at post.

THE WHEEL.

SMASHED.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 29.—L. H. George, the Brockport road rider, broke the century road record of America by wheeling from Erie, Pa., to Buffalo, N. Y., in the unprecedented time of 4 hours, 25 minutes, cutting the record made by A. D. McDonnell, of Rochester over the same course, Oct. 25, 1895, which was 4 hours, 40 minutes, 9 seconds. George was checked at the start and finish, also at Westfield, and at the 50 mile mark, this side of Fredonia.

A FINISHED WHEELMAN.

"Scorcher's a perfect wreck."

"What ails him?"

"The doctor says he has bicycle heart, bicycle head, bicycle face, bicycle eyes, bicycle teeth and bicycle knees."—Chicago Record.

AT BRANTFORD.

Brantford, Ont., Oct. 29.—The bicycle flyers were at Parkdale Driving Park again yesterday, and a large audience greeted them on their appearance on the track. Loughead, McLeod, Blayney and Westbrook were warming up behind a tandem and a general mix-up occurred, McLeod and Blayney being thrown, but luckily without much injury to the riders.

Fred Loughead had been announced to ride for the half-mile standing start. McLeod and Westbrook, mounted on a tandem, paced Loughead the half-mile in 58 seconds, nine watches out of ten doing it better. The last quarter was done in 26 seconds. This is a record.

Fred Westbrook, paced by Loughead and McLeod, made an attack on the quarter-mile, flying start. A bad slip on the turn made the attempt futile, and he finished in 30 1-2 seconds.

Blayney had been announced for the half-mile, standing start, paced by Boak and Tucker. He rode at a rattling pace, and finished in 59 seconds—fair time for the day.

Blayney, in the two mile, flying start, reduced the amateur record to 4:24 1-5; previous record, 4:47; paced by Boak and Tucker. This is also a tandem record for the two miles.

Sherritt, for the 1896 riders, did the half-mile in 1:01 3-5.

THE KENNEL.

THE NATIONAL FIELD TRIALS.

New York, Oct. 29.—The National Beagle Club began its trial on Hempstead Plains Tuesday, with perfect weather for the sport. In the forenoon three preliminary heats were run in class B, for 13-inch dogs and bitches. James L. Kernochan's Leader won the first heat; George F. Reed's Snifter the second heat. Leader and Wallingford's beagle Blue Bell were then put down, Leader winning. Howard Almy's Nancy Lee and Leader then contested, the former winning. In the afternoon Nancy Lee easily outpointed James W. Appleton's Audible.

GOOD-BYE!

Farewell to a Popular Westminster Farmer.

On Monday evening, Oct. 26, between 60 and 70 friends and neighbors assembled at the residence of Mr. John Bruce, con. 4, Westminster, to pay their parting tribute of respect to the family on the eve of their departure from the farm on which they had spent so many years. Mr. George Riddle, reeve of Westminster, was chosen master of ceremonies. After taking the chair, Mr. Riddle made a few pleasant and well-chosen remarks. Among other things he said: "We are gathered here not to honor a great statesman, but to do honor to an honest man."

Mr. A. F. Anderson was then called upon to read a farewell address to Mr. and Mrs. Bruce, expressing deep regret that it was their intention to depart from our midst, where he by his upright and obliging conduct had endeared himself to all with whom he had to deal, and wishing him health, happiness and prosperity in his new home, and as a slight acknowledgment of the good will and remembrance of his old neighbors.

Mr. Adam Nichol then came forward and presented Mr. Bruce with a gold-headed cane and gold spectacles and Mrs. Bruce with a set of silver teaspoons. Mr. Bruce made a very feeling reply to the address, in which he said he regretted leaving the neighborhood where he had so long lived in harmony with those around him, and would always remember with pleasure the many happy days spent in the neighborhood. He thanked each and all for their kind and unexpected presentation.

Singing, speeches and recitations were indulged in for a time. A sumptuous repast was provided by the hostess and the ladies of the company, to which all present did ample justice, after which the young people present enjoyed themselves in dancing, and all departed for their homes feeling that a very enjoyable evening had been spent.

The Elections Next Tuesday.

The popular vote, to be polled in the United States Presidential election on Tuesday next, will be the largest ever recorded in the republic. In the last Presidential contest 12,150,274 votes were cast. Estimating the population of the country now at 70,000,000, the number of native born and naturalized voters should be about 16,500,000. But as experience shows that only four-fifths of the voters ordinarily go to the polls, a vote of at least 13,200,000 can now be expected. This would be an increase of 1,050,000 over the poll of 1892. It is not unlikely that the increase will be greater than this, owing to the extraordinary interest taken in the election, and if there is a full poll at the South it is not unreasonable to look for a grand total of 13,500,000 votes.

There are eight Presidential tickets in the field. The Prohibitionists have two sets of Presidential candidates, one ticket having prohibition alone as a platform, and the other making the money question also an issue. Another ticket is that of the Socialist Labor party. Mr. Bryan is placed at the head of three tickets, he and Mr. Sewall being the nominees of the regular Democratic and Silver conventions, and he and Mr. Watson be in the nominees of the Populists. Opposed to him is Major McKinley, the nominee of the Republican party, on whose behalf millions are being spent and superhuman efforts made to secure election. Of the eight tickets, four are for silver, two for gold, and two are non-committal on the money question. Though outside of the regular Democratic and Republican parties, no candidate for President or Vice-President dreams of being elected, the unusual number of candidates will certainly help to swell the total attendance at the polls. In most of the States, what is known as the Australian ballot has been adopted in this election. The names of all the candidates for the several parties—Presidential, congressional, legislative, judicial and municipal—are printed on one sheet of paper, and the voter makes his choice. To facilitate business, only 100 voters will be polled at one booth. The counting of this comparatively small number of ballots will be prolonged, however, so plentiful are the candidates in many places, and it is doubtful if many results will be known before Wednesday afternoon. In San Francisco, for example, there are nearly 600 men in the field, including the National tickets, two Republican city tickets, two Democratic, two Prohibition, a non-partisan, a Labor.

Many forecasts have been made with regard to the result of the election, both parties claiming victory. For Bryan, it is asserted that he will carry the Southern States, a practially solid West, and Illinois and Indiana. If he does so, he will be elected. But it will be a big surprise. The most reasonable contention for Mr. McKinley is that he is fairly sure of the seventeen Eastern and Middle States—New England, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and Iowa. They cast 229 electoral votes—five more than a majority. But it is also claimed that other four States—Kentucky, Minnesota, West Virginia and North Dakota—are almost certain for Mr. McKinley. They cast 31 electoral votes. They will increase Mr. McKinley's vote from 229 to 260. That would leave South Carolina, Virginia, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, Texas, Nevada, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, Montana, California, Oregon, Washington, Wyoming, South Dakota, Kansas and Nebraska. Even were Bryan to get the whole of these States, and it is hardly possible, he would still be far short of a majority. He must carry two of the three great central States of Michigan, Illinois and Indiana to have a good chance of victory. Will he do it?

The probability is that McKinley will get the Presidency; that the new Senate will be for the gold standard by a small majority, and that the House of Representatives will be Republican. That would make it comparatively easy sailing for a McKinley Administration.

An envelope made of textile buckskin interlining is the latest invention. It is waterproof, and it has the further recommendation that it is impervious to the X rays, and consequently correspondence inclosed in it cannot be read through by means of the shadowgraph. As letters are always in some danger of being read by those for whom they are not intended, probably the best way is to write nothing which you seriously object to be made generally known.

The Early Shopping Pledge.

Five hundred women in the town of St. Marys have pledged themselves to do their Saturday's shopping early enough to enable the business houses to close at 8 o'clock.

This united agreement, if scrupulously lived up to, will do more to promote the early closing movement than a dozen meetings at which resolutions condemnatory of late business hours are passed. In these days of competition, it is most difficult to promote early closing of stores if those who buy late persist in the habit. With a very large number of people who indulge in it, it really is an unnecessary habit. If it can be corrected by taking the pledge, by all means let it be taken all along the line, in London as well as elsewhere.

There is no more occasion for shopping in this city at an hour sufficiently late to cause the delivery of goods after 11 o'clock on Saturday night than there is for Sunday trading.

Buy early in the day, and help the store-keeper and his assistants to a more tolerable existence than is now possible.

A Provincial general election is approaching in Quebec, and Sir Henry Joly, a member of the Dominion Government is announced to speak at Montreal in favor of the Quebec Liberal leader, the Hon. Mr. Marchand. Promptly, the Conservative press are urging that the Dominion political leaders should take no interest in Provincal affairs. How nice! But the other day, Sir Charles Tupper was in Toronto urging a union of Dominion party interests with those of the Provincial Opposition in the Legislature. He went to Montreal and other Provincial centers for the same purpose. It would serve the Tuppers' purpose most completely if the Dominion Liberal leaders were to refuse to aid in securing good government for the Provinces, while the Tuppers, and the Flynns, the Haggarts and the Whitneys conspired to promote their mutual interests by adopting that very policy.

The Week in Wheat.

During the past week the grain markets of the world have fluctuated somewhat. The advance in Great Britain has not been maintained, and the speculation dealings in Chicago have slackened up in face of heavy receipts from farmers. In some parts of Manitoba, there has been intense competition of millers to get sufficient supplies of No. 1 hard, and under their bidding farmers at some points have received as high as $1 01 per bushel for their grain. The nominal price, however, has got down to 62 cents where the rate of freight is 18 cents, and 60 cents where the rate of freight is higher. These prices, grain men think, will rule for some time. In the London market, the receipts of wheat have been small, and prices remain about the same as reported last week. In sympathy with the increased price for wheat, there has been a better demand for oats, and prices have advanced, much to the satisfaction of farmers, who this season seem to have an unusually large crop of this cereal.

As to the future, it is probable that these increased prices will be maintained. There are smaller crops of wheat this year in almost all the great exporting countries Canada, the United States, and the Argentine Republic are all short in yield this year. Australia is also short, and India, which has usually exported large quantities, is at present threatened with famine, and purchasing supplies from California. The European yield, in the main, has also been defective. Thus we are likely to have a good deal of the large surplus of former years used up, along with this season's yield, and those who need the grain will have to pay fair prices for it. In recent years, it has scarcely paid the average farmer to grow wheat for export.

How much, or how little, prices may yet advance, it is difficult to prognosticate. The outlook is always somewhat of a lottery. To Canadians generally, however, it must be highly satisfactory that the prices now paid are so much in advance of those which have prevailed recently.

The campaign in the United States has, as usual, many humors. It being alleged that some of the large employers are bulldozing their employes to vote against their convictions, one large firm in Erie county, N. Y., was determined not to have it so understood. It put up this sign this week:

: ANY EMPLOYE OF THIS CONCERN WHO DOES NOT VOTE AS HE PLEASES WILL BE DISCHARGED.

One of the oldest and most reliable magazines published in the United States is Littell's Living Age. It has, through its more than fifty years of existence maintained, invariably, the highest degree of literary excellence. The publishers now announce certain "New Features," which will greatly enhance its value in the eyes of every intelligent reader. The first of these new features will appear in a November issue—to be continued monthly thereafter—in the form of a supplement containing three departments, namely: Readings from American Magazines, Readings from New Books, and a List of the Books of the Month. This "Supplement," which cannot fail to be of great interest and profit, to its subscribers, will add about three hundred pages annually to the magazine, with no addition to its present price. In addition to the supplement the field of The Living Age will be still further extended so as to include, during the coming year, occasional translations of noteworthy articles from the French, German, Spanish, and Italian reviews and magazines. With these improvements and its reduced price, $6 a year instead of $8, The Living Age must become more popular than ever. Published weekly at $6 a year by The Living Age Co., Boston.

Scribner's Magazine for November, which is handsomely illustrated, contains a story by Joel Chandler Harris, the conclusion of Mr. Barrie's "Sentimental Tommy," a very interesting article on the "Renaissance of Lithography," an illustrated description of the Chilkoot Pass in Alaska, by Mr. Funston, and an account of "Panther Shooting in Central India," by Capt. Mellis of the Bombay Infantry. It is an unusually valuable number.

Sparks From the Wire.

Sir Donald Smith has cabled a donation of $500 to the Montreal firemen's relief fund.

The Dominion Government steamer Petrel will make its headquarters at Amherstburg the balance of the fall.

Sandy Hook has been transformed from a peninsula into an island. The recent storm cut an inlet 600 yards wide through the streak of sand, and now the breakers roll through it and disturb the placid bosom of the Shrewsbury.

The family of Mr. J. Burns, who lives on the extreme eastern limits of the town of Hespeler, were awakened the other night by one of the little girls crying fire. The inmates immediately ran outside, and just as they left the whole structure collapsed.

A mine car on the Mid-Valley Colliery Railroad ran away near Shamokin, Pa. Peter Gulick, a miner, was thrown against a telegraph pole and his brains dashed out. John H. Hubiot, Andrew Gerber, James Trewit, and Michael Dutchke sustained probably fatal injuries.

A letter from Tonawanda, N. Y., conveys the news that the death of Rev. W. G. Greer, formerly pastor of the Wentworth Baptist Church, in Hamilton, was the result of a fall from a load of lumber which he was drawing for the purpose of building a house for himself.

Dr. W. W. Palmer and Miss Fanny Palmer, his granddaughter, 15 years of age, of Keansburg, N. J., were killed on Tuesday, and William Hauran, of Atlantic City, was probably fatally injured by a train of the Central Railroad, of New Jersey, at Keansburg. The carriage containing the party was struck and wrecked by a train.

A telegram announces the death in Denver, Col., of Mr. Edward Wright, who went to the west from Hamilton about fifteen years ago. Mr. Wright was in his 34th year. He leaves a widow and one child. Deceased was a prominent Mason, and a 32 degree member of the Colorado Consistory. He was a nephew of ex-Ald. James Mathews, of Hamilton.

SIX IN ALL.

A Quartet Follows the Birth of Twins.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 28.—Mrs. Fred Gardner, of Chektowaga, early last evening gave birth to four children—three girls weighing six pounds each, and one boy weighing four pounds. All are doing well. Some time ago Mrs. Gardner gave birth to twins.

SNEEZED HIS EYE OUT

Peculiar Accident Which Befell an Ohio Man.

Cincinnati, Oct. 29.—Charles Doran, a business man of Glendale, took a pinch of snuff for a cold. So severe was the sneezing that followed that the inferior oblique muscle of the left eye was ruptured, and as he continued to sneeze the exertion forced the eye out of its socket.

Doran says he felt as if something had broken in his head. With his right eye he saw the left optic hanging down on his cheek. Dr. Heady replaced the eye and applied a lotion to the muscle. The eye was then bandaged so it could not fall out again. Dr. Heady believes the eye is not destroyed.

APPALLING ACCOUNT

Of Destitution in Labrador — Hundreds Starving.

St. Johns, Nfld., Oct. 29.—Dr. Greenfell, superintendent of the British mission to the deep sea fishermen, now operating in Labrador, sends appalling accounts of the destitution which prevails on that coast.

Owing to the failure of the fishery hundreds of persons are on the verge of starvation, living on the food which Dr. Greenfell and other philanthropists are able to dole out to them, and must perish within a couple of months unless the Government send prompt relief. This is likely to be done, though it will tax the Government's resources to the fullest capacity. The Government has started relief works at St. John's to assist the unemployed.

A CHILD BURNED TO DEATH.

Kingston, Oct. 29.—A special from Gananoque says: "Maggie Cowan, the 3 1-2 year old daughter of Harrison Cowan, Hickory street, was burned to death yesterday morning. She had been playing with matches and set her clothes on fire, and before it could be extinguished she had been so seriously burned that she died in a very short time.

At the residence of George B. Sherman, Park avenue west, Chatham, on Wednesday, Mr. S. F. Halstead, of Rat Portage, was married to Miss Allie Sherman, the popular daughter of George B. Sherman. Mr. Halstead is an old Chatham boy, and is interested in two mines near Rat Portage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. M. Holmes, of Leamington.

The proper distance between the eyes is the width of one eye.

Thursday Morning.

When the convention re-assembled this morning, Rev. J. G. Stuart led the devotional service.

The principal business of the session was the hearing of reports of committees and the separate conferences of the preceding morning.

The nominating committee presented the names of those proposed as officers for the coming year, which were adopted by the convention.

With regard to the nomination of vice-presidents the following resolution was recommended: "That those who have not been in attendance at the meetings of the executive for the past two years, or who have not contributed to the funds of the association, be stricken from the lists." In consonance with this the following were named:

President—Dr. J. J. MacLaren, Q.C., Toronto.

Vice-Presidents—D. W. Beadle, B.A., Toronto; Hon. James Young, Galt; William Johnson, Belleville; Hon. S. H. Blake, Q.C., Toronto; Geo. Rutherford, Hamilton; Wm. Bowman, London; J. K. McDonald, Toronto; W. N. Rossie, Brantford; J. A. McCrae, Guelph; R. J. Score, Toronto; H. P. Moore, Acton; John A. Paterson, M.A., Toronto, and the presidents of the county and city associations.

Minute Secretaries—Rev. J. Campbell Tibb, B.D., Streetsville, and W. E. Tilley, Ph.D., Bowmanville.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

The membership of the General Executive Committee consists of the presidents of the county associations and one representative appointed by each county association, and one representative from each county appointed by the annual convention. The following were appointed by the convention:

Duncan, Miss Jessie A. Munro, Miss C. Lawson, R.J. Score, Alfred Day, Rev. John McEwan, Rev. J. F. German, D.D., Rev. H. M. Parsons, D.D., Rev. Wm. Frizzell, Toronto; H. P. Moore, Acton; Rev. J. Campbell Tibb, B.D., Streetsville; W. E. Tilley, Ph.D., Bowmanville, and A. J. Donly, Simcoe.

THE INTERNATIONAL EXECUTIVE.

Dr. MacLaren, Q.C., Ontario's representative on the International Executive, reported the sitting of that body at Boston, and explained a number of interesting points respecting the work there accomplished.

Rev. J. J. Redditt, Bowmanville, asked why Ontario had not been represented on the programme of the Boston convention.

Dr. MacLaren showed that it was owing to their having been placed upon the overflow meeting programmes, which were not needed, owing to the capacity of Tremont Temple being sufficient for these sessions.

THE LESSON COMMITTEE.

H. P. Moore, Acton, representative on the nominating committee of the International Lesson Committee, to serve from 1899 to 1904, reported action taken by this committee at Boston represented 17,000,000 enrolled church members, including 688,000 Canadian church members. The committee were, after full consideration of all matters, perfectly unanimous in all conclusions arrived at. There is one member on the Lesson Committee for about 1,200,000 of Sunday school members. "The committee represents the very highest qualities of brain and soul in the whole brotherhood of Christ," said Mr. Moore in conclusion.

MISS MUNRO'S GOOD WORK.

Dr. MacLaren, in his report of the business committee, referred to the work of the corresponding secretary, Miss Jessie A. Munro. He said there were many ladies in Toronto getting a salary of $1,000 a year that were not doing as much work as Miss Munro does for $500.

Her work was heartily indorsed by the convention, Dr. Potts and President Patterson speaking highly of the manner in which she discharged her duties.

Mr. Wm. Reynolds made an appeal for pledges from the delegates for the current expenses of the association for the ensuing year. At least $3,000 will be required to maintain the work as it had been. Over $2,000 was subscribed in a short time, and additional pledges were rapidly coming in.

NOTES.

At the conference of primary teachers, Mrs. Ford ridiculed the idea of three-year-old children signing anti-liquor and anti-tobacco pledges. She thought it absurd to get children to sign a pledge before they could understand it.

On Tuesday and Wednesday, 574 delegates registered at the church.

Rev. C. J. Morrow is not slow. He and Provincial Secretary Alfred Day were standing at the postoffice in the church. Mr. Day asked for a letter and was told there was none. "Well," said Mr. Morrow, "if there is not one to-Day there may be one to-Morrow."

The billeting committee received applications at so late an hour previous to the convention that they were at work till 4 a.m. Tuesday morning.

Rev. John Thompson, M.A., of Ayr, is on the platform at each session, and leads the song service.

Last night about $600 was subscribed towards the extinction of the $830 deficit of the association.

The central committee will appoint the treasurer.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES

A Toronto laborer named John W. Dobson deserted his wife and small family on Tuesday, and eloped with the wife of his next door neighbor, Mr. Charles Goodwin.

C. C. Condie was sentenced at Brandon to one year's imprisonment at hard labor for the theft of an express package containing $3,000, from Oak Lake Station.

Rev. Dr. Sims has resigned from the pastorate of the Bond Street Congregational Church, Toronto. Financial difficulties are the cause, and the resignation has been accepted.

Tuesday afternoon, Mr. Walter Mason, an Ancaster farmer, fell out of his wagon, while apparently in a fit, and died. Heart disease was the probable cause. He was about 65 years old.

Joseph Girouard, employed in Booth's mill at the Chaudiere, was caught by a rolling log and pitched several feet. He fell through an opening in the floor into the millrace, and was swept over the falls and drowned.

Ko Da.

Wherever Ko Da has been introduced to the public it has made a permanent place for itself in the public estimation. The formal introduction will take place on Saturday, at 1 p.m., when the Mexican Medicine Company's office at 256 Dundas street, will be opened and 5,000 samples given away. It is a notable remedy for rheumatism, malaria, and all blood troubles.

Salted 'Em!

Students' Day at the Medical College.

The Freshmen' Thrust Into the Black Hole,

After a Lively, But Good-Natured Battle.

Heaps of Fun for the Sophomores — A Parade Around the Streets.

Today was "students' day," and the local medicos at the Western University "didn't do a thing" but nearly turn the college out the window. They turned everything topsy-turvey, freshmen included, who took their medicine in the same spirit in which it was given, and entered into the ceremonies with a determination to make things pleasant ofter the trying ordeal of being thrust into the dark pit—the black hole—the Chamber of Horrors—which has haunted their minds since first they crossed the threshold.

For the past week the freshmen have been anxiously awaiting this event, but they knew not the day nor the hour. Not a whisper of warning escaped the wary sophomores. it had been announced that Nov. 1 was to be the day on which they were to be "salted," but the second-year men took time by the forelock to give the freshmen no chance to prepare. During the past week secret meetings were held, and a course decided upon. Early this morning the doors and windows were fastened to prevent any of the freshmen escaping, but the long faces of the older boys betrayed nothing, and the innocent freshmen wended their way to classes this morning utterly oblivious of the fate that awaited them. The faculty had anticipated an uproar, and had engaged a squad of police for Nov. 1. This morning the dean of the faculty, Dr. Moorehouse, was to have given a lecture between 10 and 11 o'clock, but the boys telephoned him that there was a post-mortem being held at the hospital, and that all the students would attend. At 9 o'clock the lecture-room contained the whole seventeen freshmen. The victims were suddenly set upon by the sophomores, and a struggle commenced that lasted nearly an hour. The freshmen bunched themselves and fought with the energy of despair, but finally one by one the struggling students were lugged out of the room, along the passage, and deposited in the cellar, under the dissecting room. As each one went down and the lid closed upon him, there arose an unearthly yell, mingled with the musical strains of Prof. Clinton's band (which were seated upon a platform in the dissecting room), while the noise of tin horns could be heard blocks away.

When the last one had been dumped into the dark, odoriferous cellar, the sophomores assembled in the room, hooted and yelled, danced upon the door, and waved the femur overhead.

THE OATH.

The good-natured victims were kept in the hole until the place had been prepared for the administration of the oath. A subject which has been in alcohol all summer was placed on a table and pushed up in front before the platform, and the band and everybody requested to leave the room. The trembling freshmen were then brought up in pairs and stood before "Dr." George Seaborn and "Dr." Pardy Bucke, who administered the oath. The freshmen were commanded to take hold of the hands of the subject, and all that could be heard through the door was "caves" and "cavities," "noble profession," etc. When the oath had been taken, "Dr." George Seaborn, who was very decorously robed for the occasion, with a deep and funereal solemnity of tone, proclaimed each one a student. After all had been sworn in, they adjourned to the lecture room, where a lengthy programme of speeches, songs, etc., was indulged in.

THE PROGRAMME.

This room presented convincing evidence of the struggle which had been enacted in it a short time before. The chairs were piled upon the desks, and old hats, pieces of coats and remnants of firecrackers lay around the floor. Things were soon put right, and the programme entered upon. "Dr. R. A." was unanimously elected to the chair, because "Dr." Arthur Woodburn had left early, being unable to stand the strain.

After Mr. McGregor was placed in the chair and Norman Alexander comfortably seated upon the piano stool, the college cry was given with a vim, as follows:

"Western Meds, Western Meds.
M-e-d-i-c-o-s!
Western Meds, Western Meds,
M-e-d-i-c-o-s!!
M-E-D-I-C-O-S !!!
Rah! Rah!! Rah!!!"

After this had subsided the doxology was given, as follows:

"Good morning. Have you used Pears' Soap?"

The college anthem was sung to the air of "God Save the Queen," thus:

There are no flies on us, there are no flies on us;
No flies on us;
There may be one or two great big fat flies on you,
But there are none on us,
No flies on us.

In the lengthy programme Mr. Pardee Bucke was the first entertainer, and gave a comic song. The remainder of the participants each gave his little song and in the most acceptable manner, the freshmen being especially well received. They were as follows: Comic song, Wm. Cronyn, 1900; recitation, J. McDougall, '98; comic song, A. Becher, 1900. The chairman here said he believed there was a woman in the house, and that she would have to sing, and called up Sarah (E. G.) Egbert, '98, who sang a splendid comic song. Then came a speech by "Sandy" Bell, '97; song, Walter Ardiel, '98; instrumental selection and song, Norman B. Alexander, '98; song, F. Campbell, '99; story, J. M. Brown, '99; song, R. Kippen, '99; story, S. McEvoy, 1900; story, R. "Fatty" Thompson, 1900; speech, C. S. McLeay, '98; story, Samuel Morris, 1900; song, Thos. Foot Gray (the football player with the short hair), '97; story, Gemellus Superior, '98; song, J. Ryan, '99; recitation, R. A. Macgregor, '97; song, Frank Campbell, '99; song, Geo. Seaborn, '99; speech, Chas. Pigot, 1900; song, Thos. Orme, '98; speech, J. "One-eye Davis, '97; speech, F. McClay, '99; speech, A. Laidlaw, '98; story, J. McGrady, '99; speech, W. J. Tillman, '99; speech, Jas. Ellis, '98. The chairman here read the following:

"The Meteor Bicycle Club express their sympathy with their secretary, Doc. Ramsay, in his distress. (Signed) T. JONES, President."

Ed. Ramsay made a happy reply.

THE PARADE.

The programme at an end, the boys formed up in front of the college, and electing Jas. Ellis and Archie Becher chief marshals, they were escorted to the front of the procession, which, headed by Prof. Clinton's brass band, marched around the city. The marshals wore hats and coats that gave abundance of evidence as to the severity of the struggle with the freshmen.

When The Advertiser office was reached the boys halted, and the cry rang out, "What's the matter with the Advertiser?" "It's all right!" and after giving three cheers for the paper they continued their march around the city, several of them carrying femurs.

THE PROFESSORS' LIBERALITY.

After the day's ceremonies the boys called upon the professors and received liberal donations from all of them. They will meet at the college at 7 o'clock tonight, and attend the Opera House in a body.

The whole affair was conducted with the utmost good nature on both sides, and there are no hard feelings, save a few on the sophomores' bodies.

At 6:45 this evening the boys will meet at the school and march in a body to the Opera House. A good time may be expected.

TO BE GIVEN AWAY.

Five Thousand Samples of Ko Da on Saturday—A Great Chance for Sufferers.

At 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon the doors at 256 Dundas street will be thrown open to the public, and 5,000 samples of the noted Ko Da will be given away, free of charge. This is an opportunity for afflicted people which thousands will probably avail themselves of. The Ko Da managers have just arrived from Hamilton, where the remedy met with great success, many publicly testifying to its benefits. It is a Mexican blood medicine of peculiar virtues, and is guaranteed as an invariably sure cure for rheumatism, dyspepsia, malaria, diseases of women, constipation, liver and kidney complaints, pimples, and blood eruptions. The Mexican Medicine Company have established 45 different agencies in the United States. Their principal output is Ko Da, which has a continental reputation. Their cough medicine and pile ointment are very popular. Their spacious office at 256 Dundas street is being fitted up for the reception of a large stock.

SATURDAY'S GAME.

Next Saturday the University of Toronto sends its braves to London to scalp the denizens of the Forest City. But, as Instructor Pope and Capt. Stringer seem to think, there will be a little fun flying around Tecumseh Park before the operation is completed. This (Thursday) evening the home team will limber up at a practice match between picked teams, and anyone who chances to drop in at Tecumseh Park will see the London "lambs" ferociously agitating the pigskin. London will attempt on Saturday to rob 'Varsity of her clean record of not one game lost this year, and everything looks as though the game would be one of the most exciting ever played on Tecumseh Park. The officers of the home team request the presence of every football player at Tecumseh Park this and Friday evening, to see if they can distinguish much difference between the senior team and a four-foot stone wall.

FATAL STORM IN NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 29.—A severe rain, wind and thunder storm, which passed over New Orleans yesterday, caused one death and did other damage. The lightning struck five houses. SUBSTITUTE FOR GLASS.

New Translucent Fabric for Use as Skylights and Vault Covers.

The translucent fabric recently brought out by a New England firm to take the place of glass skylights has, after a continuous experimental service of seven years, been pronounced to be in as good condition as when first put in place. The material has many advantages claimed for it, chief of which is that by its employment in train sheds, freighthouses and similar buildings having skylights of large areas, the light weight of the material permits of a simple, inexpensive and light form of a skylight construction. The joints are made watertight by a special form of construction employed with this material. The fabric is said to have marked advantages over glass in being practically unbreakable, and for this reason leaks on account of breakage or cracking are not experienced. The translucent fabric consists of a transparent material spread over steel wire cloth, with twelve meshes per inch, which gives the panels a flexible and elastic property, permitting adjustment to any shape that the roof structure may take owing to the expansion and contraction of the framework. The manufacturers state that the skylights mentioned as having been in use for over seven years have never leaked during that time, nor have they cost anything for repairs. Several large industrial establishments have been fitted up with this material, among others the General Electric Co.'s new shops at Schenectady, N. Y., and the new forge shops of the Berlin Iron Bridge Co., of Connecticut. The fabric is strong and in panels 18x36 inches in size, has carried a weight of over 400 pounds per square foot. The amount of light transmitted is equal to that of ribbed glass one-quarter of an inch in thickness. The material will not burn unless set fire to at the edges, when it will burn very slowly. Brands or coals dropped upon it will not set fire to it. Its cost is much less—20 to 30 per cent—than that of ordinary glass skylights.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Eliza and the Ink.

Barry Pain in Today.

The ink-pot contained a shallow sediment, composed of short hairs, adipose deposit, grated bricks, and a small percentage of moisture. It came out on the pen in chunks. When I had spoiled the third postcard, Eliza said I was not to talk like that.

"Very well, then," I said, "why don't you have the ink-pot refilled? I'm not made of postcards, and I hate waste."

She replied that anybody would think I was made of something to hear me talk. I thought I had never heard a poorer retort, and told her so. I did not stay to argue it further, as I had to be off to the city. On my return I found the ink-pot full. "This," I thought to myself, "is very nice of Eliza." I had a letter I wanted to write and sat down to it.

I wrote one word and it came out a delicate pale gray. I called Eliza at once. I was never quieter in my manner, and it was absurd of her to say that I needn't howl the house down.

"We will not discuss that," I replied. "Just now I sat down to write a letter——"

"What do you want to write letters for now? You might just as well have done them at the office."

I shrugged my shoulders in a continental manner. "You are probably not aware that I was writing to your mother. She has so few pleasures. If you do not feel rebuked now——"

"I do not think mamma will lend you any more if you do write."

"We will not enter into that. Why did you fill the ink-pot with water?"

"I didn't."

"Then who did?"

"Nobody did. I didn't think of it until tea-time, and then—well, the tea was there."

I once read a story where a man laughed a low, mirthless laugh. I did that laugh then. "Say no more," I said. "This is contemptible. Now I forbid you to get the ink—I will get it myself."

On the following night she asked me if I had bought that ink. I replied: "No, Eliza; it has been an exceptionally busy day, and I have not had the time."

"I thought you had forgotten it, perhaps."

"I supposed you would say that," I said. "In you, it does not surprise me."

A week later Eliza said that she wanted to do her accounts. "I am glad of that," I said. "Now you will know the misery of living without ink in the house."

"No, I sha'n't," she said, "because I always do my accounts in pencil."

"About three months ago I asked you to fill that ink-pot with ink. Why is it not done?"

"Because you also definitely forbade me to get any ink to fill it with. And you said you'd get it yourself. And it wasn't three months ago."

"I always knew you could not argue, Eliza," I replied. "But I am sorry to see that your memory is failing you as well."

On the next day I bought a penny bottle of ink, and left it behind me in an omnibus. There was another bottle (this must have been a week later) which I bought, but dropped on the pavement, where it broke. I did not mention these things to Eliza, but I asked her how much longer she was going to wreck our married life by neglecting to [illegible] the ink-pot. "Why," she said, "[illegible] has been done days and days ago. How can you be so unjust?"

It was as she had said. I made up my mind at once to write to Eliza's mother—who really has very few pleasures. I felt happier now than I had done for some time, and made up my mind to tell Eliza I had forgiven her. I wrote a long, cheerful letter to her mother, and thought I would show it to Eliza before I posted it: I called upstairs to her, "Come down, darling, and see what I have done."

Then I sat down again, and knocked the ink-pot over. The ink covered the letter, the table, my clothes and the carpet; a black stream of it wandered away looking for something else to spoil.

Then Eliza came down and saw what I had done. To this day she cannot see that it was entirely her own fault.

THE APPLE MARKETS.

Montreal, Oct. 27.—A. R. Fowler, Montreal, received the following apple cable yesterday from Liverpool: Messrs. Siemans, Shuttleworth & Co. cable: Market opened with a stronger demand, and prices made a slight advance on our last quotation. Receipts continue in bad condition generally. The outlook for good round fruit is favorable.

London—Messrs. Garcia, Jacobs & Co. cable: Market active; prices today firm and prospects good.

APPLES IN BUSHEL BOXES.

Hamilton Times: Apples are now being shipped from this part of Canada to the old country in square bushel boxes. This innovation will improve the apple business for the Canadian grower. It has always been the fault of Canadian producers that the packages are too large. Complaint comes from nearly every country to which Canadian fruit, cheese, butter and eggs are shipped that the packages are too large, and that the produce would sell much better if it were put up in smaller packages. Bushel packages of apples sell much more freely in Great Britain than barrels. In addition to the preference for the bushel package in the British market it has other advantages. The quantity of fruit being much smaller and lighter there is no danger from crushing; the square packages fit tightly in together in cars and steamers, and no space is lost as in the case of barrels; it is so much easier to examine the fruit in bushel boxes than in barrels, and the price per barrel must be about the same for either package. We expect that these enterprising shippers who have adopted the new package will find good reason to feel encouraged by the result of the experiment.

American Produce Markets.

CHICAGO.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Wheat today recovered yesterday's depreciation. Many people have been feeling for the low point in order that they might benefit to the full extent by any advance which might take place. The popular belief today appeared to be that the buying point had been reached. This explained much of the courage which existed. Easier money at New York was also an important factor in developing confidence. Towards the close on realizing by the less sanguine of the bulls a moderate reaction occurred, but the final trades were at very firm figures. The market was not a broad one by any means, and the volume of trade was comparatively light. Liverpool cables, by showing an advance of ½d to 1d at the opening in the face of our decline of yesterday, contributed largely to the strength noted. Closing advices from that place were less firm, and continental markets quoted declines. December wheat opened from 69c to 69½c, advanced to 71½c, closing at 70¾c to 71c—2½c to 2½c higher than yesterday. Cash wheat was firm and 2c higher. Corn advanced ½c to ⅝c, and oats ½c to ½c. Provisions were steady.

The leading futures closed as follows:

Wheat—No. 2 Oct., 68⅜c; Dec., 70¾c to 71c; May, 75⅝c.

Corn—No. 2 Oct., 23½c to 23⅝c; Dec., 24⅝c to 24⅞c; May, 28⅛c to 28⅜c.

Oats—No. 2 Oct., 17½c; Dec., 18½c to 18⅝c; May, 21½c to 21⅝c.

Mess pork—Dec., $6 90; Jan., $7 80.

Lard—Dec., $4 31; Jan., $4 50.

Short ribs—Dec., $3 62½; Jan., $3 87½.

Cash quotations were as follows: Flour steady; No. 2 spring wheat, 66½c to 69c; No. 3 spring wheat, 62c to 66c; No. 2 red, 70c to 72⅝c; No. 2 corn, 23c to 23½c; No. 2 oats 17⅝c to 17⅞c; No. 2 rye, 35c; No. 2 barley, 35c; No. 1 flaxseed, 69c to 69½c; prime timothy seed, $2 40; mess pork, $6 90 to $7; lard, $4 25 to $4 30; short rib sides, $3 60 to $3 80; dry salted shoulders, $4 to $4 25; short clear sides, $4 to $4 12½.

Local Brevities.

—White straw hats were conspicuous on Dundas street today.

—Mr. A. G. Chisholm, city, was registered in Ottawa yesterday.

—Corp. Downey, of Kingston, has arrived to take a short course term at Wolseley Barracks.

—Miss Tillie Harris, of 489 Piccadilly street, has gone on a visit to friends in Woodstock.

—Rev. Mr. Shilton, pastor of Niagara Falls Methodist Church, is in attendance at the Sunday school convention.

—Jailer Kelly was reported so much improved today that his physicians now entertain some hopes of his recovery.

—The sale of Turkish rugs at Mr. J. W. Jones' is attracting admiring crowds of purchasers. The display is very beautiful.

—Capt. Wadmore is expected at Wolseley Barracks on Tuesday to succeed Capt. Denison. The latter is preparing to move to Toronto.

—Arthur Willis, who was remanded a week ago for drunkenness, was discharged this morning at the police court. He was the only offender.

—The London Hunt will have a special run tomorrow afternoon to Hyde Park. They will go by the road and return cross-country in time to arrive at the Glenmore Kennels by 4 p.m., where an "At Home" will be given to the members of the club and their friends.

—At Osgoode Hall, in Cameron vs. McLean, J. H. Moss for plaintiff, moved to strike out statement of defense of defendant, H. McLean, for non-compliance with order to produce or in alternative for further and better affidavit on production. E. R. Cameron, London, for defendant H. McLean, contra. Reserved.

—Hoyt's Comedy Company did not turn them away last night. Owing to the numerous strong attractions at other houses, but they had a good audience nevertheless, and put on "The Octoroon" in fine style. Marie Wellesley's rendition of Zoe, the Octoroon, was excellent. The specialties were good and brought encores. Mr. Doty announced that "Davy Crocket" would be put on tonight, and that owing to the cordial reception they had received, they proposed to reciprocate by admitting ladies free tonight. Ladies are simply invited to walk up and walk in. The vitascope views were away above the average last night, many new ones being shown, and the public expressed strong approval of those that were shown last night; more new ones tonight.

$16 FOR FAST DRIVING.

The London Proof Line Road Company seem bound to put a stop to fast driving over the bridges on their road. Today Mr. J. D. Pigott was convicted before Squire J. B. Smyth for traveling over Brough's bridge at a rate faster than a walk, and was fined $5 and costs, or in default ten days in jail. The fine and costs amounted to about $16. Mr. J.H. A. Beattie conducted the prosecution for the company.

CRAWFORD—SHILLINGTON.

At the residence of the bride's parents, 255 Oxford street, yesterday, Miss Jean Macdonald Shillington, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Shillington, was united in marriage to Dr. D. T. Crawford, of Courtright, Ont. The bride was assisted by Miss Monta McCarty, of Thamesford, and both were handsomely attired. The groom was supported by Dr. Byron Campbell, of Zurich. Rev. W. J. Clark, of the First Presbyterian Church, officiated. A goodly company of friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony, and showered congratulations on the principals, who are extremely popular.

DECLINED WITHOUT THANKS.

The city engineer received the following letter today from John J. West, contractor, Clyde, N. Y.: "A. O. Graydon: Gentlemen, Sir,—If you have any chance for me to furnish a some good workingmen for $1,15 cents for ten hours to work, or furnish men tools for $1 25 cents per ten hours compled the work, we will give to you one dollar for each men for job. Please let me know from her. Yours truly, John J. West."

This brilliant epistle was addressed to Toronto and forwarded to London. It appears to be an attempt to bribe the engineer into hiring West's laborers for the sewerage work, and it is hardly necessary to say that West will wait a long time for an answer.

DEATH OF MRS. F. MOULE.

Mr. John Moule, police court clerk, received the sad news of the death of Mrs. Fred. Moule, his brother's wife, which took place at Killarney, Manitoba this morning. Mrs. Fred. Moule spent the greater part of the summer here under medical treatment. She improved sufficiently to undertake the long journey to Killarney a few weeks ago. Shortly after her return she was again taken ill, and was removed to Winnipeg, where she underwent an operation a few days ago, from which she never rallied. Mrs. Moule leaves four children and a loving husband to mourn her demise. Edward, the eldest son, is at present attending Woodstock College. Mrs. Moule was a daughter of Mrs. M. Carfrae, of South London. The remains will be brought to this city for interment.

DEATH OF MR. T. W. STANDFIELD

Many friends in London will hear with deep regret that Mr. T. W. Standfield, of Vancouver, B. C., formerly of East London, died yesterday from the effects of typhoid fever. His son, Mr. Melville E. Standfield, received a card, and subsequently a telegram, yesterday, informing him of his father's illness. They were followed late last night by a telegram announcing his death. Mr. Standfield was very favorably and widely known here. He was in the sewing machine business for years, and subsequently traveled for Mr. C. F. Colwell. He was an active society man, being connected with the Oddfellows, the Canadian Order of Foresters, the Sons of England and the Commercial Travelers' Association. The remains will be brought at once to London and buried under the auspices of these orders. He leaves two children—Gertie, who is in Vancouver, and Melville E., of this city.

WOMEN'S MORNING MUSIC CLUB.

The opening of the season of the above club was the occasion last night of a very large gathering in the club's new quarters over the premises lately vacated by the Bank of Toronto. The rooms are very handsome and commodious. The concert was one of rare merit. Miss Quita Moore was the vocal soloist, and acquitted herself brilliantly in difficult numbers. Miss Edith Hyman recited Tennyson's "Lady of Shalott" with exquisite effect, showing much dramatic power. Clever George Angus gave several violin solos with his usual fine touch and technique. Mr. Knowles' baritone solo was highly creditable, and splendid double piano quartets were rendered by Misses Morphy, Baldwin, Fitzgerald and Boomer, and by Misses Raymond, Walker, Holmes and English. The work of the Ladies' Orchestra was of surpassing excellence.

VETERANS OF 1866.

A meeting of the Veterans' Association of 1866 was held last night in the room of No. 1 committee at the City Hall. There was a large attendance. Comrade Geo. Taylor was in the chair, and explained the object of the meeting, which was to deal with a letter form Lieut.-Col. J. B. McMillan to the association, asking that a subscription be taken up and forwarded to him to assist in defraying the expenses of the delegation which waited on the new Government with a view to securing some recognition from them for their services in the field in 1866. He asked that a medal and a grant of land be made. Comrades Essery and Duff spoke against any such course. They had pledged members on both sides of the House to do all in their power to assist them in gaining a medal at least. Comrade Taylor said it was for them to decide, but he didn't think it right for this association to throw cold water on the efforts of Col. McMillan, and the matter dropped.

THE LONDON CABBIES.

Four Thousand of Them Going Out on Strike.

London, Oct. 29.—In pursuance to a resolution adopted yesterday evening upwards of 4,000 cabmen are now going out on strike—another chapter in the long and wearisome dispute between the cabmen and the railroad stations. The dearth of cabs is noticeable.

Eganville, Oct. 29.—Joseph Robitaille, one of the best-known and most respected farmers around here, was thrown from his rig last night and instantly killed.

THE SLAYER OF MR. STRATHY.

Barrie, Ont., Oct. 29.—The second trial of Michael J. Brennan, who, on the 18th of February last, shot and killed Mr. John A. Strathy, at the deceased's own house here, was opened before Chancellor Boyd yesterday morning. The widow and two domestics repeated their evidence given at the former trial. Constable Joseph Marron, who took Brennan in charge at the market, gave evidence as to the prisoner's confession to the deed. Accused said he had done a terrible deed, when he shot John Strathy. Detective Green gave details of Brennan's confession to him. George F. Ockley, a gunsmith, of Toronto, swore that the bullet which had been taken from the deceased's body was shot out of the revolver which Brennan had. He had tested it. The defense is insanity.

Stop That Cough.

It was a cough that took her off and a coffin they took her off in, but cough and coffin would never have played so lamentable a part had she taken the Mexican Medicine Company's remedies, which are infallible cures. On Saturday next they will give away 5,000 samples of their great blood medicine, Ko Da, at 256 Dundas street.

A Lover's Triumph.

"But it is such an unnatural thing to do," persisted the doctor, with a deprecating gesture.

"Granted; but—it cannot be helped," replied the mother, firmly, an inflexible purpose written on her fair young face.

"Allow me to inquire if your husband is living?" Dr. Turner asked, after a moment of silence.

"Excuse me; I cannot answer that question," replied his companion with pale, compressed lips.

"Ah! there has been some trouble and a separation, perhaps," thought the doctor; then he asked:

"Do you think that he would uphold you in thus sacrificing your little one—his little one, to your selfish purpose—to abandon her, as you propose, to the doubtful charity of a cold world?"

An icy shiver seemed to run throughout the woman's frame at this. She shifted uneasily in her chair, her white lids quivered, her hands were locked in a rigid, painful grasp.

"I tell you there are circumstances which make it absolutely necessary for me to give her away," she said, in a strained, unnatural voice, after an evident effort at self-control. "My husband would—is as helpless in the matter as myself."

"I can conceive of no circumstances which should make the well-being of your child of secondary importance, especially since you have assured me that you are a lawful wife, and it is evident that you have abundant means at your command. She is your own flesh and blood, and it becomes your duty, as a mother, to give her a mother's love and care. I care not what fancied or real obstacle stands in the way, it should be resolutely swept aside for the sake of both duty and humanity," Dr. Turner argued, with impressive earnestness.

"You simply do not know anything about the matter, sir," retorted his patient, with an angry flash in her eyes, "and, if you please, we will not discuss that point any further."

Dr. Turner bowed a cold assent; then, as he returned the wedding-ring, which he had retained until now, he remarked:

"The name you have given here does not correspond with your husband's initials upon this ring."

The lady's lips curled in a little scornful smile.

"Did you imagine that I would use my true name in such a venture as this?" she asked. "But that is neither here nor there," she added, with an impatient toss of her head. "Do you know of any institution in this city where my child would be received?"

"No; there is no public institution that would so far countenance your conduct as to open its doors to her, and I would not designate it if there were. Such places are for children who have no parents, or for those whose parents are too poor to care for them," the physician indignantly replied.

Then, after a short pause, he continued, with great earnestness:

"Let me make one last appeal, to you, madame. You have given birth to a lovely little daughter, who bids fair to be a child of whom any parent might well be proud. It would be a continual delight to watch her grow and develop into womanhood, and she would no doubt be of the greatest comfort to you years hence, when you begin to descend the hill of life. Keep your child, Mrs. Marston, do not cast her off upon the doubtful care of strangers, to become you know not what in the future. Love and cherish her, nourish her innocence and purity, and do not I beseech you, commit the irreparable wrong which you are contemplating."

The woman before him threw out her white jeweled hands in a spasmodic gesture, in which impatience, pain, and anger were commingled.

"Spare your importunities, Dr. Turner," she said, coolly, "for I assure you it is only a waste of breath and sentiment on your part."

"Have you no love for your innocent babe?" he demanded, sternly.

"I have not dared—I will not allow myself to become attached to her," was the low, constrained reply.

"Have you no pity, then, that you thrust her thus remorselessly from your sheltering care?"

"I should become an object far more pitiable if I should keep her with me," returned the incomprehensible mother.

"I cannot understand it. Poor child! poor child!" sighed the sympathetic and perplexed physician.

"Doctor," said his companion, with a sudden start, her face lighting with eagerness, "have you children of your own?"

"No, madame. I should consider myself blessed, indeed, if I had," he sighed.

"Then will you adopt my daughter? I can assure you that there is no the slightest taint upon her parentage, and it is only the force of hard, obstinate circumstances, that compels me to give her up. Your sympathies seem to have been enlisted for her. I am sure you are a good man, and I know that she would find a kind parent in you."

The man flushed, and tears rose to his eyes at this appeal.

"Mrs. Marston," he said, sadly, "if your child had been born six months earlier, and you had asked me this question at that time, I should have answered you with eagerness in the affirmative; but she who would have given the little one a mother's care is no longer in my home. She died five months ago this very day, and I have no one else in my family to whom I could commit the babe."

"Then what shall I do?" murmured the woman, with knitted brows and sternly compressed lips.

"I can think of only one alternative that I should be willing to suggest," replied the doctor.

"What is that?" she demanded, eagerly.

"Advertise for some young couple to adopt the child. You will then have an opportunity to select a permanent home for her, and escape the anxiety which her uncertain fate in a charitable institution would entail upon you. I should suppose the mere thought of it would be torture to you."

"It is," replied the mother, with a quick, indrawn breath, while a nervous shiver ran over her. "I will do it," she added, the look of care vanishing from her face, which had now become to the high-minded physician more like the face of a beautiful fiend than that of a tender-hearted woman. "I will advertise in the Transcript tomorrow morning, and will offer the sum of $500 to any respectable couple who will take the babe and promise to rear and educate her as their own. I wonder why did I not think of that plan myself," she concluded, with a sigh of relief.

"I should propose omitting the reward from the advertisement," observed the doctor, with a slight curl of his lips.

"Why so?"

"Because in that case you would be sure that whoever applied for her was actuated by a real desire to have the little one; while, if money were offered, cupidity might be the main object in the application."

"Perhaps you are right," Mrs. Marston observed, thoughtfully; "and yet I believe I shall offer it. I shall, at all events, give that amount to whoever adopts the child."

She then adroitly changed the subject, plying the physician with numerous questions regarding Boston, its attractions and advantages, and so effectually led his mind in another direction, charming him with her rare conversational gifts, her evident culture and familiarity with both America and Europe, that he spent a delightful hour with her, and temporarily forgot the contempt and repulsion which he had previously entertained for her.

When the clock upon the mantel struck four, he started up in surprise, at which a sly smile curved his fair entertainer's red lips, for she knew that she had held him by her magic fascinations, as she had meant to do.

But she arose also, and cordially extended her hand to him at parting, while she remarked, smilingly:

"I have neglected a very important item of business, and came very near forgetting it altogether. If you have, with you, the bill for your services to me, I shall be very happy to settle it."

Dr. Turner flushed, and began to search his pockets, without appearing to notice the proffered hand.

At length he drew a slip of paper from his diary, and handed it to her.

She smiled again as she noticed the figures upon it; but unlocking a drawer in the table near which they were standing, she took from it an elegant purse, in which there appeared to be a plentiful supply of both gold and paper money.

BREACHES IN THE WALL.

The Weak Spot, the Kidneys—They Must Be Guarded as Life Advances—Defense Strengthened by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Port Hope, Oct. 26.—Citizens called on here to vouch for correctness of the following statement without an exception indorsed it as true. Mr. Chas. Gilchrist, Chief of Police and Government Fishery Overseer, of his own case said: "For ten years my distress increased until the doctor called it Diabetes. At times my suffering was intense, and medicine taken did no good. At last a friend assured me that Dodd's Kidney Pills would cure me. A few boxes have kept that promise, and I thank these pills for a perfect and I believe permanent cure."

LIFE SAVED.—Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs, and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice, I procured the medicine and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me any good."

Our Gold and Silver

Canada's Great Mineral Wealth Now Appreciated.

Old and New Processes of Treating the Ores.

Immense Wealth Likely to be Added to the Country in the Next Few Years.

(By G. M. Kirk, head master Aberdeen School, London.)

Prior to the year 1858, it was generally thought that British America was devoid of the precious metals. Then came wondrous tales of fabulous wealth to be won from British Columbia's streams, and during the sixties, adventurous spirits from east, west and south, with incredible toil and untold suffering wended their various ways hundreds of miles into its mountain fastnesses, and by laborious digging and washing secured considerable quantities of gold. Unfortunately the great cost of living, together with the primitive method of extraction, discouraged the majority, and for many years mining in that far western province languished. About the same time Nova Scotia, and subsequently Quebec and Ontario came into public notice as gold-producing localities. The day of Canada's opportunity was not yet. Now, however, it is generally conceded, by those qualified to judge, that a better day has begun to dawn.

Dr. G. M. Dawson, of the Dominion Government, geological service, has lately stated as his opinion, that the Rocky Mountain region of Canada contains as much mineral wealth as the group of American States west of the Mississippi Valley. English mining experts familiar with both Australia and South Africa, are enthusiastic in their praise of Canada's mines. One of the English mining men, after a visit to Rossland, declared that there are four times as much gold in sight in British Columbia as South Africa ever possessed. American mining men concede that the gold-bearing veins of the Kootenay district are several times as valuable as those of Cripple Creek, Colorado. French and Belgian capitalists are competing with those from Britain and the United States for possessions in Golden Columbia, or Ontario.

The explanation of this revived interest in gold mining is to be found in improved methods and cheaper processes of extracting the precious metals. A few years ago the world's gold supply was obtained almost entirely from washing river sand and gravels, or by uncertain amalgamation by mercury. The mercury process is applicable to what is known as free milling quartz only. The average gold ore is of the variety formerly known as refractory. Within the last five years the resources of chemistry and physics have been brought to bear upon the extraction of metals from their ores, and as a result, even low grade ores can be treated to advantage, thereby rendering mining as safe and profitable as any other great industry. The new processes are as superior to the old as the self-binder is to the reaping-hook, or the steam plow is to the crooked stick anciently used to tickle the soil.

The new methods for gold extraction are two only, if we consider the principles on which they are based. They are the leaching or filtering process and the smelting or matte process. The leaching process aims to secure a gold compound by the agency of free chlorine, bromine, iodine, or cyanogen, and then by a suitable filter to precipitate the gold from the solution. The chlorination process is carried on as follows: The ore is crushed, and, if necessary, roasted, to remove the excess of sulphur. It is then placed in a revolving cylinder, together with 1 1-2 per cent of bleaching powder and 2 per cent of nitre. Free chlorine in its nascent state forms a gold compound—gold chloride. The solution of gold chloride is then filtered through iron, brass, copper, zinc or aluminum borings. The gold is precipitated on the metal in the filter. The cost of the recovery of gold by this process is $3 or $4 per ton of ore treated. In South Africa mines producing $8 ores pay handsome dividends when treated by this filtering process. The bromocyanide process is the one most in favor. In it free bromine and cyanogen are substituted for chlorine. The cost is but little in excess of that of the mercury process. Aluminum is preferred in the bromo-cyanide process for the filter, as it does not combine with the cyanogen.

The matte process, however, is the favorite wherever the character of the ore permits of its use. No combination of metals so complex, no ore so refractory, no fuel so inferior, no impurity so gross, that the smelting process cannot be brought to bear upon its reduction. The value of the resulting matte alone determines its applicability. Gold, silver, copper, lead, cobalt, as well as the rarer metals, are all brought down in one conglomeration. The metals are separated by refining at a cost of about 5 per cent of the value of the matte. The conditions under which the smelting process may be applied are three in number—first, there must be sufficient metal in the ore to permit of its being melted; second, it must contain sufficient rock matter in the forhm of lime and silica (sand) to form with the other elements present a proper flux; third, a sufficient quantity of sulphur, arsenic or antimony to assist in forming the matte. The metal present is usually iron oxide or an ore of copper. The sulphur is present in the form of iron or copper pyrites. Sand and lime are abundant. Coal is also usually found near by. A simple chemical analysis determines the proportions of each substance to be added, if any. A part of the iron oxide is reduced to metallic iron and combines with the sulphur in the furnace and brings down the remaining metals. The remainder of the iron oxide unites with the silica, arsenic or antimony to form the slag. At Broken Hill, New South Wales, the matte process is very successful in treating silver ores. The ore at that place contains about 30 per cent of lead, 25 per cent of zinc, 10 per cent of iron, 10 per cent of gangue, and about 35 ounces of silver. The crushed ore is mixed with 1-4 of its weight of carbonate ore and suitable flux.

Our British Columbia ores are well adapted for treatment by these two processes. As yet only the matte process is being used. There are ores of both high and low grade, both free milling and smelting. Iron oxide, copper pyrites, carbonate ores, and fuel which will, by railway extension, through the Crow's Nest Pass, soon be available.

Our mining men are now clapping on all sail, and the mines are being worked with great energy and encouraging results. No one can foresee the vast good likely to result from mining prosperity. Our country is now again attracting both capital and population from every quarter. The manufacturing industries cannot fail to be benefited. A prominent visitor to British Columbia said he felt confident that Canada would soon equal the great republic to the south of us in wealth and population. Canadians have learned the principle of co-operation, and the eastern capitalist and the western mine owner are uniting to wrest from the rocks of our Pacific Province, as well as from our own Huronian schists, their treasures. Conservative estimates place British Columbia's contribution to the world's store of gold at not less than $50,000,000 for the year 1900.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Stratford.—I own a farm. My neighbor has banked the line fence so as to prevent the surface water on my farm following its natural course, which is through his farm. What redress have I got? Ans.—You have an action for damages, or you may proceed under the Ditches and Watercourses Act. Consult a lawyer as to which is expedient.

Westminster.—A owns a gravel pit adjoining B's lot, and has excavated to a depth of about 30 feet, so close to the boundary line that a quantity of B's fence and land have been washed into the said gravel pit. What redress (if any) has B, and what way will he proceed to obtain it. The owner of the gravel pit is away, and the place is now rented to the present occupant. Ans.—B has a cause of action for damages sustained, and for loss, or to have the lateral support to his land restored. Consult a lawyer.

Welland.—Is it necessary for me to make a new will? I would rather not, as I know my family would not differ in dividing up the property. Since making my will I have changed my money from the bank and loaned it out on mortgages and notes; also have got two judgments since. Ans.—If your will simply gives certain sums of money or shares of your estate to your family, it is not necessary to make a new will. The mortgages, notes and judgments are part of your estate, out of which the legacies are to be paid. A legacy of specific property would lapse if disposed of in your lifetime.

Sidewalk.—The owner of land, who is excavating a cellar, or his contractors, have broken the sidewalk with teams passing over it, leaving dangerous holes. If anyone is hurt at night in going along the street, who is responsible? Explain? Ans.—The corporation is responsible for the state of the sidewalks, and would be liable to a person injured if the holes are allowed to remain after they could have been noticed by a policeman or other officer or member of the corporation. The contractors are also liable in any event of damage caused by the holes to a person injured, or to the corporation in case it should have been compelled to pay damages to such person. The owner of the property is not liable unless he or his servants broke the sidewalk, or directed the contractor or his servants to perform the work so as to cause the damage to the sidewalk. Notify the chief of police or the city engineer. The former to prosecute the parties who damaged the sidewalk, and the latter to repair it.

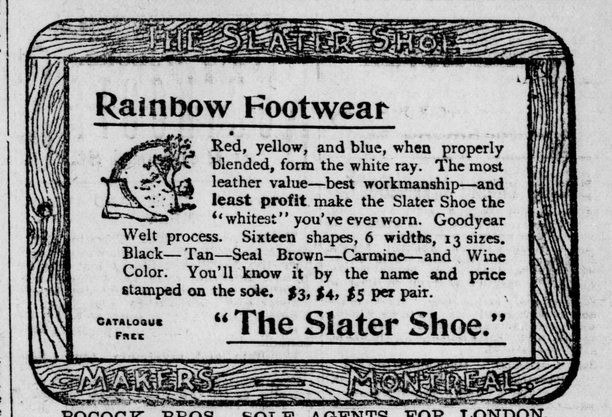

Husband.—My wife went to Michigan, where she has relatives, as I supposed, on a visit, nearly four years ago. I bought her ticket, and for two years I kept sending her money, more, I would judge, than enough to support her. I pleaded and urged, and even demanded of her to come home to me, but she persistently refused to come to Canada, or give a reason for not coming. Then I wrote and told her I would not send her any more money, and that I would never live with her again or support her. I have not heard from her since. Now I am rid of her, what can I do to be clear of her? I cannot dispose of property, and she could put me to a lot of trouble in other ways. We were married in Canada. Can I go to Michigan and get a divorce there on the facts stated, or would I have to do it in Canada? And what would be about the cost? I am not a wealthy man, so perhaps separation papers would suit my purse better than a divorce. Ans.—The facts stated would not be sufficient grounds for a divorce in Canada, which can only be obtained by act of Parliament. You could obtain a divorce in Michigan, but you would have to be a resident of that State before bringing suit. Cost, about $200, more or less. A capable solicitor might arrange a deed of separation, which would answer your purpose, unless you wish to marry again. The expense would depend upon the nature of the negotiations.

A Good Paying Investment.
$34 per annum invested at 4 per cent compound interest for 25 years yields $1,475, while the same sum applied to an insurance policy yields, with estimated profit, about $1,775 in the same time. The gain, therefore, would be $300, besides the protection given during that period, one premium securing payment of the sum assured, even if death takes place the day the holder receives his policy. By no other system of saving is it possible to provide immediate protection for a family. See the contract offered by CONFEDERATION LIFE. WE INSURE LADIES.

Funds Give Out.

And Petitions for New Lights Have to be Filed.

The Fire Alarm Matter Laid Over—Complaint of Incivilities by Market Officers.

The funds at the disposal of No. 3 committee are getting down to the last notch, and it seems unlikely that they will undertake any more than they have on their hands at the present time.

At the meeting last night there were present: Ald. John Heaman (chairman), McCallum, Douglass, Nutkins, Skinner, Chief Roe, Inspector Bell and Market Clerk Wilson.

The request of Wm. Bernard and others for an electric light at the corner of Carling and Talbot streets was again brought up.

Ald. Heaman said he had been informed that when they had finished paying for the lights they now had at the end of the year they would be $619 32 in debt for this one item alone, and he didn't see how they could put up any more. In answer to Ald. Nutkins, it was explained that there was a clause in the contract by which the lights were to be put out on moonlight nights, but there had been so many dark nights that the lights had been ordered turned on. This had used up quite a sum of money, as they had to pay for the extra lighting.

Ald. Douglass said if the agreement with the company was carried out, the saving would be about $3,000 a year.

Ald. McCallum had noticed the lights burning when they were not needed, and sometimes they were out when the night was dark and cloudy.

Ald. Skinner asked who had ordered the lights turned on, and Ald. Heaman said he supposed it was the engineer.

The communication was filed, as was a request from W. A. Eastwood for a light at the corner of Princess avenue and Maitland streets.

Inspector Bell submitted his report of license fees collected for the year, which was $1,364 50.

Ald. Heaman said the city swarmed with peddlers, and that it was not fair to the merchants, who paid taxes.

The secretary was instructed to write to the chief of police to look into the matter, and see that all peddlers had licenses.

Engineer Moore reported the cost of putting down ten hydrants and connecting them would be $50 each. This will be submitted to the council.

A letter was read from Mr. V. Cronyn, concerning the state of the sidewalk on the north side of the market square. He claimed the fall was toward the buildings, and that much damage would result, for which the city would be held responsible, if it were not attended to. The engineer will attend to the matter.

The matter of repairing the stove pipe at the market house was left to the chairman and the market clerk.

The fire alarm matter was again laid over, as the Gamewell Company had not yet given figures.

Ald. Douglass said the matter should be settled, as the Gamewell Company had been given ample time to give a quotation.

Ald. Nutkins said there seemed to be a good deal of child's play about the matter. He thought the company were laughing in their sleeves about the way they did business.

Mr. Alex. Anderson was heard in reference to the matter, and said he would reconstruct 28 boxes for $950. He explained the merits of his alarm, and said he had been serving the city for a long term of years, and did not like to see the contract go to an American company.

Ald. McCallum said the matter might just as well lay over until next year, when they might possibly be able to reconstruct the entire system at a greatly reduced rate.

The matter was laid over, and a special committee will be called to consider the matter.

Ald. McCallum drew the attention of the market clerk to a complaint that had reached him of incivility to a man and two ladies by the market police. He said that two ladies had been prevented from driving through the market from Talbot street to the market house, and they had been compelled to carry their crocks of butter there, because the man at the entrance, when he stopped persons from driving through, had not told them where to go.

Mr. Wilson said the man had received orders from him to allow no one to drive through there, as it would block the market. He thought the man in question understood his business, as he had been connected with the Royal Constabulary for 18 years.

Ald. McCallum said the man had been accused of being drunk.

Mr. Wilson said he knew the man had been falsely accused, and that if he were drunk it was later on in the evening. He promised that a repetition of the complaint would not occur.

—The many friends of Mr. A. S. McGregor, insurance agent, will be glad to hear that he is recovering from his severe illness, though somewhat slowly.

—Three couples on their honeymoons were registered at the Tecumseh House last week. They were W. J. Peacock and wife, of Woodstock; T. H. Guernsey and wife, of St. Marys; and A. E. Futchins and wife, of St. Thomas.

—Mr. Dugald Mackenzie, of Chicago, is visiting his mother at the family home on John street. Mr. Mackenzie is doing well in his new home. He is the inventor and manufacturer of a furnace which consumes its own smoke.

—Mr. Dan McIntyre, baggageman on the G. T. R. at Ingersoll, has been promoted to be foreman of the freight sheds at St. Thomas. Mr. Joseph Larkin, of this city, takes Mr. McIntyre's place on the staff at Ingersoll.

—Rev. Dr. Hunter, Rev. Dr. Milligan and Rev. J. G. Stuart were visitors at the Collegiate Institute yesterday afternoon, and addressed the scholars of the upper forms for half an hour, giving words of encouragement to the boys and girls.

—Dr. R. V. Pierce, the well-known Buffalo advertiser of proprietary medicines, has been raising a discussion as to whether much of the recent forced circulation of papers like the New York World or New York Journal does good to the advertiser. His argument is that the reliable and trusted papers of long standing really cover the ground, and that much of what may be called forced circulation is really not extra circulation, but duplicate circulation—that is, circulation in homes where the field is already covered by other papers which have through years acquired the confidence of their constituents.

THE CINEMATOGRAPHE.

The Cinematographe had a very large house again last evening, notwithstanding the numerous counter attractions. As the week wears on the audiences seem to increase, which is the best proof of the merits of any entertainment, and it is predicted that by Saturday it will be impossible to get a seat. About 150 delegates to the Sunday School Teachers' Conventon attended yesterday afternoon. There will be a special morning entertainment Saturday for children. The afternoon entertainment commences at 2 o'clock and the evening at 7:30.

THE JUBILEE SINGERS.

The third performance in this city of the Canadian Jubilee Singers and Imperial orchestra was given in the Adelaide Street Baptist Church last night. The entertainment was in every way a decided success, the church being crowded to the doors, while each number on the programme was heartily applauded and many of them encored. The selections which found the most favor were: Chorus, "Roll, Jordan, Roll"; Mr. Cockbin's bass solo, "A Jolly Good Hearty Lad"; and the solo by the boy basso, Mr. J. E. Lightfoot, entitled "The Mighty Deep." The company close their highly successful London engagement tonight with a concert in St. James' Church, South London.

ANOTHER WEDDING.

Last night, at the residence of the bride's mother, on William street, Mr. William O'Dell was married to Miss Carrie Blood. Both young people are respected members of the Epworth League of the Hamilton Road Methodist Church, and Miss Blood has been for some time the efficient organist of the church. The bride, who was attired in a handsome dress of cream silk, had for her bridesmaid Miss O'Dell, sister of the groom, and Mr. O'Dell was accompanied by Mr. Frank Blood, brother of the bride. Rev. F. Ferguson, pastor of the Hamilton Road Methodist Church, performed the ceremony. The presents were many and handsome. The newly-married couple will take up their residence on the Hamilton road.

LEWIS-WINNETT.

Mr. Harry Lewis and Miss Della Winnett were united in marriage last evening at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Richard Winnett. Mr. Lewis has been leader of the Hill Street Methodist Church choir and Miss Winnett organist of the same. The young couple are very popular with the choir and church friends. The bridesmaids were Miss Ina Winnett, of Toronto, and Miss Kate Ellison, of Port Stanley. About 35 guests were present, among them some from Toronto Port Huron, Hamilton and other points. The presents were very handsome. The happy couple left on the 8:15 train via C. P. R. for western points, where they will spend their honeymoon.

"THE BURGLAR."

The central character presented in "The Burglar," which will be the attraction at the Grand Saturday (matinee and night), is such a novel one, and is possessed of so much two-sidedness, at the same time so seemingly natural, that the audience marvel at the author's conception. A burglar on a midnight exploit is rather pleasantly surprised at the appearance of a little tot, who amuses him in a very astonishing way all the while he is preparing his plunder. Before his departure from the house he discovers in Editha his own child, whose mother he has cruelly wronged and deserted. The scene of recognition is one calculated to evoke no end of interest and to keep the audience absorbed until the climax of the play. During the unfolding of the plot a comedy vein of genteel quality prevails. It may thus be said with impunity that "The Burglar" lacks no elements necessary to acceptance by all classes of theatergoers.

"THE TORNADO."

"The Tornado," which appears at the Grand Opera House tonight, has cleared the way of every doubt as to the success of Lincoln J. Carter's second production of scenic melodrama. "The Fast Mail" was his first effort, and before its presentation wise heads scoffed at the things Mr. Carter said he could present to make it a novelty, but he did all he said he would, and made a fortune beside. His announcements for "The Tornado" were equally surprising, but the fourteen newspapers of Chicago, where he chose to launch his new work, were a unit in pronouncing it as the perfection of melodramatic work, the superior of every scenic melodrama before the public. The energetic young author and artist was called before the curtain after the first act, and had to speak his gratitude for the grand acceptance by the audience of his new work.

JACKSON—SMYLIE.

Miss Helen F. Smylie, of Detroit, (formerly of this city), was married at Grace Church, in that city, last night, to Mr. R. J. Stonewall Jackson. The music of the recessional and processional was written expressly for the occasion, by Edward J. Remick, and the singing was a feature of the evening. Bishop Davies, assisted by Archdeacon Carpenter, of Georgia, and Rev. Dr. McCarroll, rector of Grace Church, performed the ceremony. The ushers selected were Albert Russel, Hubert A. Dodge, William O'Brien and Harold Richardson, of London Ont. Miss Ruth Scott, of Quebec, and Miss Lillie Little were the bridesmaids, and Miss Louise Geraldine Smylie the maid of honor. Admission to the church was by card only. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the Detroit Club to the bridal party. The bride's gown was of white moire antique, with a folded empire belt. The ribbon garnitures on the skirt and the belt were fastened with orange blossoms. The tucked yoke and sleeves were of white mousseline de soie and the sleeves were caught at the shoulders with large bows of moire ribbon. The garnitures of the waist were pearl and sequin, embroidery, draped with a bolero of point de Venise. The tulle veil was fastened with an aigrette and a pearl and opal star, a gift from the groom. The only other ornament worn by the bride was a pearl and a diamond collar, given by her mother.

Clever Anna Fay.

Hundreds Turned Away From the Opera House.

Her Performance More Mystifying Than Ever.

Questions of Well-Known People Repeated and Answered—A Return Engagement Tomorrow.

Anna Eva Fay last night drew an audience bigger than the Grand Opera House has held since the last political campaign. Scores of people sat on the steps and stood in the aisles, while hundreds were turned away. Many citizens of the highest standing were in the house, and were named by Miss Fay in her Somnolency Act. The performance was more than ever mystifying.

Messrs. Sim Fax, J. W. Metherall, butcher, and W. G. Coles, of the Globe Casket Works, comprised the committee of investigation. Mr. Sim Fax's reputation as an able-bodied expos'e of cabinet manifestations was a guarantee to the audience that if there was any loose screw in Miss Fay's paraphernalia he would find it. Mr. Fax, after examining every article minutely, and after sitting open-eyed in the cabinet with Fay, while the spirits were doing all sorts of funny things, confessed that he could detect not the slightest sign of imposture. The alleged exposure in the San Francisco Examiner, in which it was stated that a trick staple was used in tying Miss Fay, was refuted by Mr. Fax, who studied the staple intently and pronounced it whole.

After an entertaining programme, the Somnolency Act, by which the audience had been chiefly attracted, was reproduced on a larger scale than ever, over 50 questions being answered. Strange to say, many of them were written on private paper, apparently precluding the possibility of Miss Fay securing duplicates. How she did repeat such questions can hardly be conjectured.

MR. LABATT PUZZLED.

One of the most notable of these cases was that of Mr. John Labatt, whose name in such a connection must necessarily carry weight. Miss Fay struggled to pronounce it, but it was some time before she could spell out L-a-b-a-t-t.

"He wants to get rid of some hay—a load of hay," she said.

Mr. Labatt shook his head.

"No; you want to get rid of hay fever, which is troubling you—that's your question."

Mr. Labatt admitted that was correct.

"Mr. Labatt, you wrote that question at home, didn't you?" asked Miss Fay's manager.

"No," said Mr. Labatt, "I wrote it here, but I used my own paper."

The audience applauded this remarkable evidence of Miss Fay's cleverness, or whatever it might be. She advised Mr. Labatt to go to the White Mountains.

MR. DAVID SMITH'S INVESTMENTS.

"The name of David Smith comes to me," said Miss Fay. "He wishes to know if he will be successful in an investment. I am rather doubtful. I am afraid you want too high interest, Mr. Smith." (Laughter.)

Mr. Smith was also told that he would have hard work getting back a sum loaned to a young lawyer who was now in Council Bluffs.

MR. HYMAN'S QUERY.

"Mr. W. Hyman wishes to know who walked down street with him," continued Miss Fay. "You walked down street alone."

"That's right," said Mr. Hyman.

Miss Fay—You and three other men were also talking about me before you came here.

Mr. Hyman—So we were.

THE LATE R. HUESTON.

"Some one asks about R. Hueston," said Miss Fay. "He is dead. He took his own life."

The person referred to was the ex-volunteer of Wolseley Barracks, who was found dead on the C. P. R. track near Adelaide street. This question was asked by Corp. J. Cockburn, of Wolseley Barracks. Mr. Cockburn wrote it on a leaf of his memorandum book and then put it in his pocket. To an Advertiser reporter who was sitting near, Mr. Cockburn expressed himself dumbfounded, as he had told nobody that he intended asking anything.

OTHER QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Col. Gartshore was told he was going to occupy a high position at Wolseley Barracks.

Mr. George Macbeth was informed that London would win the football game with 'Varsity on Saturday, but it would be a hard struggle. Miss Fay phophesied correctly last week when she said London would defeat St. Catharines.

Mr. Lee, a white whiskered gentleman in the rear, was told that he was thinking about a Mrs. A——.

"That's not my question," said Mr. Lee.

"Well, you are thinking of Mrs. A——, and you imagine there is no one like her in the world." (Laughter.)

"That's all right," sung out Mr. Lee, and the audience laughed.

Mrs. Waldon was told there was nothing seriously wrong with her stomach, and advised to eat senna leaf every night.

Mr. J. H. Brown was told that money for him would be forthcoming from the old country.

Mr. C. J. Nicholls was told that his investments in Heather Bell mining stock would prove successful, and his money be trebled if he could afford to wait.

Mr. H. E. Gates was told that he was in the life insurance business, and would be so successful that he would move to a larger place in a year.

Canon Dann was also told that he would be translated to a larger congregation.

Dr. Roome was told he would have lots of political work in eighteen months.

C. B. asked what he would do for a living. "Work, Charley," was the reply, amid laughter.

Many other questions were correctly answered by Miss Fay, and the performance closed about 11:15 p.m. Her manager announced that she had an open date tomorrow (Friday) night, and would return to London. Many who were unable to gain admittance will be glad of this opportunity.
