SOUTH LONDON Three Cases Alleged To Have

Been Reported in Week to Police.

DISTRICT TERRORIZED

The women of London South have been terrorized for the past week hv two "Jack the Huggers" to such an extent that a number of them will no. step outside the house unless accompanied by a male member of the family.

Three cases, it is claimed, have already been reported to the police, and it is said by residents of the district that plainclothes officers are now on duty in the southern section of the city. On Tuesday night a woman living on Carfrae Crescent was seized shortly after dusk by a man, who released his hold only after she had scratched his face.

This attack took place in the neighborhood of the old Traction bridge.
"I did not report the matter to the police, fearing publicity," said the lady in speaking of her experience to The Advertiser Monday afternoon. "The next day, a doctor's wife was subjected to the same treatment, and I understand that the doctor reported the matter to the police. I would know the man again if I saw him and when I do, publicity or no publicity, I am going to send for "Two little girls, living near here, were also picked up by an oldish man last Thursday. One of them screamed, and a man passing by on a bleycle in-terfered. It is a terrible thing and should be stopped. I am almost afraid to go down town. Don't you dare put my name in the paper. It has never been in the newspaper before, and I don't want it in now," she concluded. On Thursday night the same thing happened on Elmwood avenue, close to Grand avenue. A passing taxi driver saw two women struggling on the sidewalk with a man, and rushed to their aid. He succeeded in knocking the man down and carried him to his taxi, hoping to get him to the police station. However, the man made his escape, although the driver states that he will know him again when he sees him.

A purse-snatcher believed to be an Italian, tried his luck on the handbag of Mrs. Charles Singleton, Gerrard street, Friday evening in the vicinity of the traction bridge, but was foiled in the

As the man, who is described as being dark and stout, with a foreign accent, attempted to seize the purse, Mrs. Singleton quickly transferred it to the other hand and told her little girl to run back to the corner and get the policeman who was standing there. The would-be thief hurried to a nearby bi-

Ottawa, Oct. 31.-With the official nomination day still three weeks away, the interest everywhere taken and the nature of the fight to be waged in the coming general election, is shown by the array of candidates of all three parties as well as independents and Labor men, who have been chosen by party conventions and have accepted nominations. Of the 235 seats there are practically no constituencies where at least one candidate has not already been chosen and announced that he will stand for election.

That Ontario will be the main fight ing ground is evident from the fact that in the 82 constituencies practically all have two or three candidates named, and some have four.

The number of candidates already in the field for Ontario, according to press dispatches to date, is as follows: Government, 71; Liberal, 50; Progressive, 65, 12: a total of 198 cannumber of candidates already in and Independents, 12; a total of 198 candidates, and there are still many seats, where all parties have not yet held their Quebec Well Represented.

Quebec, according to the same dispatches, has practically its full quota of 65 Liberal candidates already named. There is only an occasional constituency formerly represented by a Liberal which has not again the same man as a Lib-eral candidate. In this regard, there are fewer changes in Quebec than in any other province.

Twenty Government candidates have been nominated in Quebec to date, four Progressives and half a dozen who have announced that they will run as independents.
For the 16 Nova Scotia seats, there are 16 Liberals nominated, 14 Government supporters, 5 Progressives and 2

ALD. WILSON ALARMED

Declares City Clerk's Statements Regarding Building's Condition "Not All Bunk."

Building Inspector Piper and Ald. W. and J. C. Wilson were in City Clerk Baker's office Monday morning looking over the condition of the structure, which, it is stated, may crash in at any moment. It was then decided, according to the city clerk, that Mr. Piper should notify the Soldiers' Aid Commission to immediately shift the three-ton load which they have in the offices directly above the clerk's quarters. Failure to obey the order will mean that the council will be asked to deal that the council will be asked to deal with the situation.

Ald. Cameron Wilson stated that since he has been a member of the council—he is on his second term—a resolution had been passed by the council limiting the number of persons that might be allowed to congregate at any one time in the city hall, on ac-count of its shaky condition.

Ald. W. A. Wilson, who was chair-man of the board of works in 1920, which committee has charge of city properties, and under whose jurisdic-tion the care of the city hall comes, re-marked that "it's not all bunk about the dangerous condition of the hall. We did pass a resolution last year limit-ing the number of people who might gather in the council chamber, because the place was shaky. That resolution should have been placed in the council inutes also.'

Mr. Wilson was not sure whether the esolution followed a report from the building inspector or not. Nevertheless he is satisfied that the civic structure inspector.

"I expected to see an army of accident insurance agents here this morning," said Ald. J. C. Wilson as he walked into the clerk's office.

Customs of Halloween Date Back Into Days of Antiquity

Young Canadians Urged To Refrain From Destruction and Observe Event as Ancestors Did by Aiding the Poor and Needy.

As Halloween approaches Canadians, young and old, view the event in different lights. The younger element look forward to an evening of unrestricted frivolity, while the elder folks anticipate certain things with trepidation.

Halloween customs date back into remote antiquity. They are all that are left to remind people of the present day that their ancestors believed in goblins, banshees, ghouls and other evil spirits that were supposed to roam the earth in the darkness of night. In the early days of the Christian Church, the first of November was set aside as All Saints' Day, it being impossible to observe a separate day for each saint.

November was set aside as All Saints Day, it being impossive separate day for each saint.

The night preceding All Saints' Day was known as Halloween. It was a fearful night, during which the evil spirits were believed to burst from their bonds and haunt the world, having a last fling prior to the sacred day.

The property damages which they were supposed to inflict have been pictorially passed on through the centuries in Halloween customs of carrying away gates, tearing down fences and heaping old cabbages and trash on porches of the propular.

There was, however, a brighter side to Halloween, as celebrated by many of the ancient peoples. It marked the end of harvest and the beginning of new terms of farm tenancy and landlordship. Renewing his contracts with his tenants, or making arrangements with new ones, it was the Halloween custom of landords to bring forth the flowing bowl, baskets of red apples and sacks of nuts.

Destruction of property has made Halloween a night to be regretted. This year, why not be sensible? Keep thoughtless frivolity chained up and observe fialloween in the spirit of All Saints' Day—by distributing food and clothing to Never before in all the history of Halloween has there been such an array of favors from which to choose in the local shops, and never before, so merchants say, has there been such demand for these.

"From a special business standpoint in favors Halloween now ranks next to Christmas," The Advertiser was told by a Dundas street dealer, who drew at-tention to his still lively but rapidly disappearing stock.

From the merchant's standpoint, never before has such quantity and variety been available. Last year, so it's said, orders were put in early, with subsequent "jackings up," but securing of anything that looked like an adequate supply was simply out of the question.

Possibly it is because the Halloween ablecloths. nut holders, lanterns, shades, fringed streamers are so artistic as well as suggestive of good times that young and old have been unable to look at them without thinking with appetite about parties. Never before, it seems, has there been so much Halloween entertaining and being entertaining entertain Halloween entertaining and being entertained in London town.

True, tonight is the night of mystery, when the witches sweep the clouds aside with their brooms, and black cats portend strange things, and fortunes divided among themselves. portend strange things, and fortunes are made or marred by the flutter of bats' wings. True, tonight, is the night of nights when the maiden, walking ackwards down the cellar stairs in the dark, or around the house with Dutch cut where her eyes should be. may peer into the mirror and behold, looking over her shoulder, the face of

KING CHARGES 'BIG INTERESTS' RULE CANADA

Declares "Organized Greed" Kept Meighen Covernment in Power.

"BLEEDING THE PEOPLE"

Profiteering "To Tune of Millions" With "Connivance of Authorities."

BOLTON, Oct. 30 .- (By Staff Correspondent Canadian Press.)-"Organized Greed" was what had kept Mr. Meighen at the head of affairs for the grinned out at you in black lettering last sixteen months in the absence of from the pumpkin-colored setting of a any authority from the people of Canpaper lantern, wouldn't you just nat- ada, said Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King rally get into the Halloween spirit of yesterday afternoon, speaking in the skating rink here.

It would have been impossible for the covered in the city this year, bearing the foregoing and equally apt legends, as out some powerful influence behind well as delectable pumpkin and black electric light shades with witches heads, vampirish bats, black cats and board of commerce proved that business firms, with the connivance of the authorities, were bleeding the people to the tune of millions of dollars. But said the Liberal leader, when the board of commerce would have brought these multi-millionaires to task members of the Government gently but firmly restrained them.

"Invisible Government."

"Big interests," said Mr. King, been the invisible government of Can-ada," and it was absolutely necessary that all who were in favor of govern-ment by the people and for the people should unite to overthrow their common enemy.

Once again Mr. King assured his hearers that there was no essential difference between the aims of the Farmers and those of the Liberals. That which would benefit the agricultural interests throughout the Do minion must inevitably rebound to the benefit of the dwellers of the town and cities. It was well to remember that the Conservatives were infinitely Liberals, and it would be a sorry re-divided among themselves.

The fine traditions of the old Liberal party were a thing to be proud of and a great asset not lightly to be thrown overboard for the sake of a new name. Charges Needless Division.

Mr. King accused R. W. E. Burnaby the U. F. O. candidate, of coming into North York with the intention of divid-ing the forces which were supporting him. There was no real issue between the farmers, as farmers, and the Liberal party. Mr. Burnaby did not represent the farmers as a whole, but only a section of them which was in favor of class legislation. For long, said the Liberal leader, Germany and Austria, arrayed against the forces of liberty and justice, seemed to triumph. England was right, France, as were also Belgium and IIAly, but unified effort was lacking. When this was at last secured the forces of evil went down to defeat. In the presorst part of the disaster was the cry-ag of injured or bewildered villagers. The flood came upon a community onfused by the sudden darkness, caused when the transmission lines failed and a torrential rain fell. The houses for the most part were without foundation and yielded readily to the surge of the flood. One man hurried with his wife to the attic when he found the water about his doorstep. By the time he could climb onto the roof his house was already out to sea, bobbing about in the rain-swept waters of Howe Sound. The two occupants were finally rescued in a launch.

Crushed to Pulpwood Other houses were crushed to pulpwood when they were caught between me obstacles and the rushing water. Many were injured by falling timbers Some of these owe their lives to the efforts of rescuers, who toiled throughout the night in and out of the maze of floating houses, guided to those in distress by cries and warnings. ### Lady Laurier Seriously III At Her Home in Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Oct. 30. — Lady Laurier is seriously ill at her home on Laurier avenue and her physician, Dr. Chevrier, is in almost constance attendance. This afternoon the last rites of the church were administered in anticipation of a possible relapse after a fairly restful morning. Lady Laurier attended a meeting of the Women's Catholic League last week and later suffered from last week and later suffered from last week and later suffered from a heart attack, which is today accentuated by a touch of pneumonia. The widow of the late Liberal chief is in her 83rd year and on account of her age grave fears are entertained regarding her condition.

Backache

Backache is the outstanding symptom of kidney disease. Women often make the mistake of attributing other causes and overlook the derangement of the kidneys until serious developments have made it difficult to obtain permanent relief.

This letter points to a treatment which has been so thoroughly tried and proven so effective in the great majority of cases that you cannot afford to overlook it when cause arises for its use.

Mrs. Albert Brunet, R.R. No , Ottawa, Ont., writes:

"I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for the past two months, hav-ing been afflicted with kidney trouble. I used two doctors' medicine previous to his, without any good results. ## You Citizens Surrounding London Are As Close to Merchants As Your Telephone Right at your elbow is your long-distance telephone. With it you can talk with any of the 12,000,000 telephones in Canada and the United States.

Every article advertised on this page is as close to you-for order-as you telephone. Do not wait for trains or for your car; save the time and expense-use long-distance telephone-it's economical.

Always think of long-distance in terms of time and money saved.

THE Classifications on long distance telephone calls in effect now are of interest to all users of that STATION-TO-STATION SERVICE. Station-to-Station service should be used when you are willing to talk to ANYONE at a distant telephone—that is, when you do not need to get a particular person on the line.

PERSON-TO-PERSON SERVICE.

When you make a call specifying that conversation is desired with a particular person at a given number, Person-to-Person service is used.

As this service requires greater operating labor and circuit time than a Station-to-Station call, the rate is about 25% greater.

APPOINTMENT AND MESSENGER SERVICE. Appointment calls and Messenger calls are special kinds of person-to-person calls.

An APPOINTMENT CALL rate, which is about 50 per cent higher than the station-to-station rate, is quoted for service when an appointment is made by the calling party to talk at a particular time.

When a person who does not have a telephone is called over long-distance and a messenger must be sent to summon the party to the telephone, the MES-SENGER CALL rate, which is about 50 per cent higher than the station-to-station rate, is charged, and to this is added the necessary messenger charges.

When you place a call for a particular person or persons and for any reason they cannot be reached the same day at the address given, or will not talk, or if you make a call and you are not ready to talk when the other person is ready within an hour, a REPORT CHARGE is made. The report charge is about one-fourth the station-to-station rate. It is intended to cover part of our expense of handling the uncompleted call.

SPECIAL EVENING AND NIGHT RATES.

The EVENING rate, between 8:30 p.m. and 12 midnight, on station-to-station calls, is about one-half the day rate. The NIGHT rate, between midnight and 4:30 a.m., is about one-fourth the day station-tostation rate.

However, no evening or night rates are quoted on station-to-station calls where the day rate is less than 25 cents. On such short-haul calls the day rate applies. For longer distances special evening and night rates are quoted.

Because it is difficult to reach particular persons at night, when many are away from their homes and places of business, there are no special evening or night rates quoted for person-to-person calls. They apply only on station-to-station calls.

Buying By Phone Saves Time and Weariness in Plodding in Stores

Movement Is Speeding Rapidly and Merchants Are Showing Appreciation by Offering Special Bargains-Phone Brings City Right To the Door of the Farm.

Do you get full value for the money paid out in telephone rates. The answer to this is that some do and some don't, but the buy-by-telephone movement is spreading, and rapidly at that.

The telephone is nothing new. It has been in use many years, but it seems that it has only been in the last few years that people have come to realize its true worth, and in this connection, as a ready buyer it stands

"I don't know how some of those stores get along. I never see anyone in there buying," was a remark heard about a store within the past week. It was a fact. The store was a prosperous-looking one, well stocked, yet it was never flooded with customers. The secret of this store's success was told by the fact that they found it necessary to have store's success was told by the fact that they found it necessary to have two telephones. They catered to the telephone trade, and they had steadily got their customers worked round to the point that about the only time they visited the store was when they paid their monthly bills.

And the movement is growing. It seems that the telephone really came into its own after the arrival of the automobile. It was then that the telephone started to come into general use.

Many Don't Appreciate Phone's Value.

the telephone started to come into general use.

Many Don't Appreciate Phone's Value.

But there are today hundreds of folks with the telephone in their homes who never think of ordering their groceries or other goods by phone. They don't know or appreciate the speedy and accurate little messenger they are harboring in their midst. Many of them unable to leave their home to run to the corner grocery will delay dinner, all the time forgetting that a call on the telephone would bring the needed article in a twinking. Those folks are to be likened to those who cannot appreciate an appreciate of the service of the ser getting that a can on the telephone would bring the needed atticle in a twinkling. Those folks are to be likened to those who cannot appreciate the value of owning a check book and paying their accounts by check. Instead they will go to the bank, draw out the cash and then stalk off to pay the bill. In the meantime taking the chance on losing the money or having it stolen. There are many old-fashloned like that, and those who hesitate to buy by phone are to be placed in the same class.

Not more than one out of five homes today is without the phone, and certainly no merchant can afford to be without one. It is true, that of late there has been much talk of phone rate increases, but as compared with the old way of sending by messenger, the phone wins hands down.

Of those who have shown the greatest appeciation of the value of the Of those who have shown the greatest appeciation of the value of the telephone, the farmer can perhaps be classed with the leading businessmen of the country. It is pretty hard to find the farmhouse today that has not the rural phone, and this gives a direct connection with the city, that practically places the country resident in as close touch with city life as the city dwellers. For instance, the phone company says that it is possible for anyone residing within a 32-mile radius of London to talk to the city for a five-minute period, the minimum charge for which is a Phone Cheap Salesman As Well.

It may also be of interest to the telephone buyers to know that many of the leading firms find it a paying proposition today to sell their goods by telephone. It is a cheap method of drumming up new business, it is accurate and swift in locating the custom and is an excellent thing for the merchant or buyer, inasmuch as it brings much swifter delivery. There is no delay while the order is being transmitted by mail. It is noted that not long ago the B. F. Goodrich Tire Company went into the question of phone selling with all their agents, and classed the phone as "a sure-fire, go-get-'em salesman."

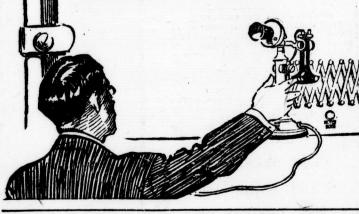

It will surprise many to learn how many of the leading business houses are today catering to the buy-by-phone trade. In some of the larger cities it is frequently noted that certain goods are offered for sale to "phone orders only." In some stores they will not accept phone orders, but such firms are not to be classed as the most progressive.
"Phone orders cut our costs and we are able to give our customers better value for their money," said one merchant. He also pointed out that the phone buyers are never present to paw over goods, and this resulted in a general benefit to their trade.

An impressive ceremony took place at the bishops have been notified from St. Peter's Cathedral Sunday morning Rome to see to the strict enforcement of the church law, which calls for the resentation of a baptismal certificate by each party before the sacrament of marriage can be solemnized. Monsignor McKeon said that this rule, not strictly adhered to in the past, would be lived up to in future. A person wishing to be married must get a copy of the bap-tismal certificate, no matter in what part of the globe they were baptized. When the marriage has been solemnized, word to this effect is sent back to the point where the person was baptized and the marriage date and place is recorded along with the baptismal regis-

"The twentieth century Christian looks the world squarely in the face, He looks the world squarely in the face, He recognizes its sorrow and pain, but nevertheless considers the world a wonderful old place in which to live, and determines to enjoy himself. We are prone to call this age an irreligious age. And yet, after close study, I firmly believe that never has there been such an intensely religious age as this age in which we live. There was a day when which we live. There was a day when Goldwin Smith believed that the triumph of modern science over the supernatural in religion, would produce chaos in the church, and his views up-set the youth of his time. But he was wrong. These very theories, and among them the theory of evolution, which he c. nsidered would produce religious chaos in the world, have given us a stronger faith in the word of God than ever

danger.

Canada has a momentous decision to make.

In no previous election has there been a more vital, clean-cut issue affecting the future of every individual Canadian and indeed the future of the Country.

The people are asked to decide between Reasonable Protection and Free Trade, between continued Prosperity and economic Ruin.

Everyone should look the facts squarely in the face-free from partisan bias or class prejudice—for as YOU vote so must YOU accept the consequences of your vote.

On the one hand there is the unassailable truth that Canada has enjoyed PROSPERITY during the past half century, due entirely to its policy of upholding a reasonable protective tariff, and to the diligence and industry of its people.

In view of present world-wide conditions of Uncertainty, Unrest, and Unemployment — the inevitable aftermath of War-Protection is needed today more than ever before. In fact, Protection, coupled with unflinching courage by the People and a strong, stable Government is the only hope Canada has of emerging from the crisis with its strength and economic liberty unimpaired.

On the other hand there is the spectre of national and individual RUIN—the spectre of Canada's industrial and economic collapse -a collapse certain to follow if the people adopt the Free Trade policies of Crerar, or the wobbling, indefinite tariff proposals of King.

Should Meighen fail to obtain a clear working majority Crerar and King will combine to destroy the Fiscal policy that has made Canada industrially great. Business stagnation would be sure to follow and the country would be set back twenty years

Under Free Trade the Canadian dollar would depreciate still more, Canadian industries would be driven to the United States, thousands of Canadian men and women would be deprived of their employment, and the Canadian farmer would lose his home market.

At this critical time Canada should vote for a leader who knows where he is going and why.

That 1917 Appeal.

The distribution of shoals of that attractive, appealing literature, evidently so popular with the Government organizers, is really not a brand new venture by the National-Liberal - Conservative - Union spellbinders, as thousands of Canadians who emerged more or less unscathed from that terrible conflict over yonder can well testify.

It is not only the confident goldbrick salesman with his alluring prospectus, or the sure-fire immigration agent with his neat little illustrated booklet, depicting to the trusting settler a land of flowing milk and 100 per cent honey, who can bewilder and confuse the unsuspecting.

[By Cynthia Grey.]

YOU'VE met the practical type of woman, have you not, the woman who is settled down to a systematic reckoning of grocery bills, water bills, gas bills and electric bills, who always does everything, in the serviceable way, and always has an eye out for the things that will last the longest, and cost the least?

She wears her engagement ring only when she is going out, and her wedding ring is off half the time, to protect it from the wear and tear of the housework.

It is wonderful to be a good manager and an economical buyer, but we should not permit ourselves to become so involved in our routine work that we lose all the romantic sentiment. It was should not permit ourselves to become so involved in our routine work that we ever possessed.

Intermediate rugby squad broke their losing streak on Saturday at Guelph's expense, when they took a hard-fought game from the Blue and White at Waterloo Park by a seven to six score.
Jack Hemphill was the star of the game, his sprinting and tackling being largely responsible for the local victory. Kitchener scored two in the first quarter, Bill Box getting one on a kick, while Jamieson added the other by bringing McLeod down behind the line. Box added another point in the second quarter. Guelph took the lead in the third, when they forced the locals up the field, Michael going through for a touchdown, but the position was again reversed when Kitchener added their three more points in the final session each team scored a point.

N EW YORK, Oct. 23.—Identified by the blind victim of two pistol shots, who claims to have recognized his voice, Thomas Rickerson, 28, was held today on a charge of felonious assault.

Andrew Anderson, aged and blind, but keen of hearing, detected a noise in his apartment last night and called out, "Who's there?"

The intruder mumbled a few words and fired a bullet into Anderson's abdomen. When the blind man called, "Tom! Why did you do that!" four more shots were fired, one of which took effect in his shoulder.

GREY HAIR NOW

their Saturday's closing figures of 69 Druggist Says Ladies Are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns grey, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur 11 lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her looks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been appared. nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a stonge or soft brush with it and draw this through brush with it and draw this through time. By morning the grey hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound"

PRAISE WORK OF BORDEN

Gideon Robertson Lauds Ex-Premier's "Tireless Efforts" At Geneva.

In a field of possibilities that finally narrowed down to three, S. Frank Glass of London, in open convention at the Masonic Temple Saturday afternoon, emerged after the first ballot as the National Liberal and Conservative noon, emerged after the first ballot as the National Liberal and Conservative selection for the east riding of Middlesex in the forthcoming general elections. The nominee, who has represented that constituency since the oyselection of October, 1913, accepted. King Hodgins of Lucan and William Boler of Byron were the others in Boler of Byron were the others in the running.

The meeting was fairly well attended, many of the supporters of the other parties being attracted, no doubt by the previous announcement that Hon Gideon D. Robertson, federal minister of labor, would deliver an address on "He was sowing the seeds of displication," would deliver an address on "Unemployment." The member of the Meighen cabinet, however, confined his remarks mainly to the "sterling qualities" of Sir Robert Borden and his crimarks mainly to the "sterling qualities" of Sir Robert Borden and his "tireless" efforts on behalf of the common people at the peace conference. non people at the peace conference.

Claims Canada Favored.

In the course of his address he de-clared positively that there "is less un-employment in Canada than in any country of the world." He also endeavored to minimize the chaos in-volving the Canadian National Rail-roads, and lauding the Canadian Mer-cantile Marine service. he predicted roads, and, lauding the Canadian Mer-cantile Marine service, he predicted "great times directly ahead."

The nominee, S. Frank Glass, spoke twice, once before his nomination, em-phasizing his contention that "he had no aspirations or ambitions as a politician," and once after, when he assailed at some considerable length the United Farmers in general and their leader. Hon T. A. Crerar, in parheir leader, Hon T. A. Crerar, in par-dicular. "What does Mr. Crerar and the Grain Growers, Limited, of which he is president and general manager, he is president and general manager, care for the poor down-trodden farmers?" thundered Mr. Glass.

A remarkable feature of the afternoon was the delicacy of manner in which each and every speaker handled the Liberal party. "Upright with care" seemed to be the order of the day, and it appeared that every effort. day, and it appeared that every effort was being exerted to refrain from compromising acts or remarks that might antagonize possible Liberal ectors who have not as yet chosen

Even when the minister of labor te-ferred to the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier traveling to Washington to arrange for the "reciprocity bill of 1911," he was somewhat apologetic and recalled that it was only after 800 farmer-fore-fathers of the U. F. O. had gone direct o Ottawa to force the issue.
Other names to be placed in nominaion, only to be subsequently withdrawn, were: Richard Rose, Glanworth; Dr.

Harry Doane, Harrietsville; Mrs. (Col.) Bart Robson, Ilderton; R. H. Harding, Thorndale, and Lieut.-Col. Robert M. McEwen of Byron. Upon withdrawing his name from the

Upon withdrawing his name from the contest Col. McEwen warned his audi-ence that "these are serious times, more particularly for the argriculturists. We recognize the fact that the past year has not been altogether satisfactory and there is no doubt a certain feeling of unrest prevalent. We should not, how-ever, allow ourselves to be carried away om our original line of political thought ithout good reason. Personally I on't know any good reason why we hould now change our way of voting."

He was quite alarmed that such had not meant the firish by any means. "These agitafirish by any means. firish by any means. "These agitators," he elucidated, "have gone among the farmers and told them that free trade was the only solution for the country. Any farmer who believes so is not studying conditions carefully."

Pointing out that although the companies for might be termed "desperate." ing fight might be termed "desperate," Dr. Doane, withdrawing his name from the list of nominees, expressed the opin-ion that the Conservatives were fighting the good fight. He urged the Tories of East Middlesex to "buckle on their armor and win."

'It would be impossible for me." clared S. Frank Glass, in his initial address, "to give a full account of my stewardship in four or five minutes. My service and work, however, during the past eight or nine years are not unknown to you, and if in the past I ave ever digressed from the path or ave ever digressed from the path of upported measures contrary to your rishes, I have never been advised or eprimanded, except once."

Explains M. S. A. Support.

"In the spring of 1918 I received a might message from a farmer club within my riding, demanding my resignation should I fail to oppose the military service act. I have no apology to offer for my action at that time and I do not think there is any man or woman of this constituency who will say that I did not do right." will say that I did not do right."

At this point Mr. Glass quoted at length from an address purported to
