Editorial Brevities.

Cleveland, one of the largest and most progressive of the Middle West's manufacturing cities, two or three years ago adopted daylight saving not as a summer expedient but as an all the year measure, and could not now be induced to forego the many advantages thereby obtained. Young and old, rich and poor, laborer and capitalist alike support the movement.

Students of local politics and students of world politics will find food for thought in this editorial comment by the Boston Globe:

How the standing of the Socialists has changed! Not so many years ago Socialism was generally spoken of in terms of condemnation. Now many Socialist ideas are accepted without question, and the world looks to the Socialists of the German Empire to end the war.

The women's suffrage bill has been given the three months hoist in the Nova Scotia Legislature, ostensibly on the ground that the enactment of this measure at the present time would serve no practical purpose and that public opinion was indifferent. The Premier, however, expressed his opinion that women's suffrage was inevitable in Nova Scotia. The proposed law would hardly have satisfied the advocates of woman's suffrage at any rate, until it had been greatly remodelled.

Washington reports say that Germany has already suffered the loss of 2,250,000 tons of merchant shipping through mines, torpedoes, captures and seizures. This total will be increased by 576,000 tons should Latin American countries now neutral break with Germany, as appears probable. These losses, aggregating approximately fifty per cent. of the German tonnage, and the fact that British and American yards are today building with far greater rapidity than are the German yards is significant of what the conditions will be after the war. Great Britain will retain her supremacy and America, not Germany, will be in second place.

The Finance Minister has adopted the proper and logical course in increasing the taxation of profits as a means of meeting the ever increasing burdens of war. Those who are making money in this time of sorrow and distress are the ones who must and should contribute liberally. War, besides increasing the financial burdens of the country, has increased the financial burdens of the individual, and because that is the fact the government, regardless of other considerations, should provide the relief which tariff reduction, even to the point of free trade, would give to those necessities of life which Canada must import and which now have a fictitious value, because of the tariff.

It is the duty of every Nova Scotia farmer to do all in his power this year to add to the productivity of his farm. This is not a question of profit, although that should be a big incentive when prices are so large for all kinds of farm products as they are at present. The country's need and the opportunity that the farmer now has to do his share should be all the inducement that is necessary to cause the greatest effort to be put forth. Our brave boys are doing their 'bit' for King and country upon the far-flung battle fields of Europe, and the men at home can now do, perhaps, an important work on the fertile fields of this province. Let men and boys do their best now. Every ship-load of food sunk by enemy submarines adds to the need of greater productivity in Canada.

Fur Markets.

A million musk rat skins were sold Monday at the St. Louis fur sales for half a million dollars. Newspaper reports of the sale do not disclose whether all these were secured by trappers or whether a portion was from animals bred in captivity. The enormous number of skins of all kinds disposed of at this and other further sales is a revelation of the value and importance of a business which grows in value and importance with the years. The war has raised St. Louis to the front rank as a fur centre and has attracted there buyers from all parts of the world to secure skins from all lands. Among the offerings on the same day the muskrats were sold were 26,800 Australian opossum skins, while enormous numbers of seal, mink, fox, otter, sable, ermine and other skins were placed before the bidders. While many thousands of the skins sold at these fur auctions come from hunters and trappers each year sees an increased number of skins of fox, skunk, mink and other animals which can be successfully bred in captivity. The speculative days of the fur industry may have passed never to return, but the production of skins is a business industry yearly becoming more important and destined in time to control the supply.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Percy Blanchard, of Ellershouse, received a despatch last week informing them that their second son, Henry, had been severely wounded. Their eldest son, Benjamin H. C., was in the first contingent. He returned last year after recovering from severe wounds. Henry enlisted last year. He was in Pine Hill at the time, completing his divinity course.

Food Waste.

Discussion over the possibility of a world food shortage has directed attention to many phases of waste which deprives man of the benefits of his productive efforts. By no means the worst waste, so far as quantity is concerned, is that arising from the conversion in America into strong drink of food products capable of maintaining 7,000,000 people a year. At a recent meeting at Springfield, Mass., the statement was made that public health officials of the United States figured the yearly food loss in the United States through rats and mice at not less than $182,000,000. Another form of waste not wholly preventable, but capable of being greatly reduced, is that through the destroying agency of grubs and other insects. The possibility of the food problem becoming acute and the demands everywhere being made for increased production should direct the thoughtful consideration of political leaders and men of science to the necessity of using every known means of curtailing the waste and reducing the preventable loss to the lowest possible minimum. Individuals in their homes and hotel keepers and merchants who handle large stocks of provisions should unite in a campaign of extermination of food destroying vermin, while every scientific method of fighting insect pests should be employed. One individual can do little, but if the whole people of Canada and the United States unite in eliminating waste in their homes and in fighting the enemies of destruction, the sum total of their effort will be tremendous.

Baby's Own Tablets Cure Constipation.

Childhood constipation can be promptly cured by Baby's Own Tablets. These Tablets never fail to regulate the bowels and stomach thus curing constipation, colic, indigestion and the many other minor ills of little ones. Concerning them Mrs. Louis Nicole, St. Paul du Baton, Que., writes: 'My baby suffered from constipation but thanks to Baby's Own Tablets he is a fine healthy boy today. It gives me much pleasure in recommending the Tablets to other mothers.' The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Miss Edith Brown who has been a trained nurse at Boston recently was obliged to enter Corey Hill Hospital at Brookline, Mass., to undergo an operation on Monday last week. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown, of Port Williams, received word of the operation being performed and last week Miss Edith Brown left for Boston to spend a week near her sister. The former is recovering rapidly from her illness.

The Honor Roll.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. William Foster, at White Rock, was saddened last week by the official announcement that their son Audrey was killed in action on April 9th. Audrey Lester Foster answered his country's call by joining the 112th Batt. in November, 1915; being transferred later to the 25th Batt. He was twenty-two years of age on Dec. 25th last, and being of a very bright and amiable disposition was very popular with all who were privileged to know him. He leaves three brothers: Stanton R., now serving with the 40th Batt.; Fay, in Springfield, Mass.; and Bert at home, and two sisters, Mildred and Evelyn.

In the loss of this promising young life Mr. and Mrs. Foster and family will have the deep sympathy of all.

Rev. Dr. DeWolfe received word last week that his son Burton had again been wounded. The telegram from Ottawa stated the news but gave no particulars as to the nature of the wound or the hospital where he has been sent.

Word was received this week that Lieut. Douglas Borden, eldest son of the late Clarence H. Borden, had been wounded in the shoulder and had been admitted to hospital. Lieut. Borden's many Wolfville friends heard the news with sorrow.

Miss McMahon, of this town, received word last week that her husband, Pte. J. Wallace McMahon, had been admitted to hospital suffering from shell-shock. It is hoped that it may not be of a serious character.

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN.

DEAR EDITOR.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier announced in the House of Commons a few days ago that he was not a prohibitionist. This will be a great disappointment to those moral reformers who are seeking for faults in the present federal government. It will be remembered that neither the Dominion Alliance nor any other thing ought diligently for prohibition. Sir Wilfrid was Premier. His announcement will positively bar the door against a federal Prohibition Act at the present meeting of Parliament. An election is in sight and every rum dealer and warm friend would drop their ballot against the making of such a law.

Funeral of W. S. Wallace.

The funeral service of the late W. S. Wallace which was held at the house on Thursday afternoon of last week was conducted by Rev. J. A. Harkness, assisted by several friends of the deceased. Dr. Spidle spoke very feelingly of the departed who had been a student. Dr. Gates led in prayer and Rev. M. P. Freeman gave a short address. Mr. Wallace will be greatly missed from the streets of his native town. He was well known for years and had a host of friends. He leaves a sorrowing widow and two sisters to mourn their loss.

The one act play "Dr. Baxter's Great Invention," which was to have been given at the Opera House on Wednesday evening, was postponed owing to illness of some of those who were to have taken part until Wednesday evening of next week. It will be worth waiting for.

This is a Tribute to the Women of Nova Scotia

And it is a suggestion also.

From the day war broke out the women of Nova Scotia have borne their full share of sacrifices and have been at once a source of pride and an inspiration to the men of the Province.

With the call for recruits, the women of Nova Scotia did not hold back their husbands and sons. More than a score of thousands of Nova Scotians donned the khaki, embraced their wives, mothers and sisters, and marched away to the training camps. Scarcely a home in the Province was left that did not give up one loved one.

Those who were privileged to attend the excursions to Aldershot will never forget the wives and mothers who came to see their khaki clad men and say good-bye. Many of these women knew in their heart of hearts that their loved ones would never return. Yet they kept a stiff upper lip and saved their tears for the privacy of their homes.

Such are the women of Nova Scotia.

Belgium, trampled, torn and ravaged, cried out in her anguish—and the women of Nova Scotia were the first to answer. Grandmothers, mothers, wives and daughters knitted, sewed, patched, mended; they helped the men folk pack the vegetables, they put their womanly hearts into the task, made one of love and sent two ship loads of goods across the seas to naked, starving Belgium.

As water is to the man dying of thirst, as food is to him, dying of hunger, so the good ship 'TREMORVAH' and her cargo of food and clothing were to the stricken Belgians. That prompt and generous action has been declared by men who were in Belgium at the time to have come just in the nick of time. It was indeed a ship of mercy.

Nova Scotia and the women of this Province will ever be dear to the people of that unfortunate country—Belgium.

Then the Red Cross sent out its call. And nowhere was the response greater than from the women of our little province by the sea. Every hamlet, village, town and city formed a branch. Thousands of women

Progress of the War.

There has been a great deal of argument in the United States, not only through the newspapers but in Congress, over the matter of what is called 'Selective Conscription.' Selective Conscription means the calling out of a certain class of people. The class suggested in that most valuable to the trenches—the young men between 18 and 25. United States could easily get a million men that way, which would be the pick of the conscription. As first the cry was heard that this would be undemocratic, but, after taking the experience of both Canada and Great Britain, it has been decided that the most undemocratic form of military service is the voluntary one. Conscription of any kind falls upon all classes alike.

It seems now as though it might have been better to have had conscription in Canada, at least since the time that Great Britain decided that this was the best plan. We still have numbers of young men in the country who feel no obligation of military service, whose criticism of those who have tried to enlist has been very severe. Arrangements cannot be made too soon to call these young men to the colors in order that they may take their responsibility of real military service. In the meantime, however, it is necessary that every fit man should feel his responsibility and voluntarily come forward to do his work.

There is considerable demand for Forestry men at the present time. In order that the units now recruiting may be brought up to strength and started in on their work on the other side at the earliest date.

The United States will need over 4,000 to 5,000 trained aerial flyers to assist the Allies, within six months, many of them within a few weeks.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" is the only medicine in the world that is made from the juices of fresh ripe fruits. Thus, it is manifestly unfair to say, "I won't take Fruit-a-Tives because I have tried other remedies and they did me no good". On the other hand, the fact that "Fruit-a-Tives" is entirely different from any other preparation in the world, is just why you should give it a fair trial, in any trouble of the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys or Skin. Think On These Things.

A good many years ago when I was a young girl one of the much talked of evangelists of the day was Sam Jones.

He was spectacular, not to the same degree as Billy Sunday but he had a knack for saying things in a way you would not forget.

When he and Sam Small conducted a long remembered series of meetings in Toronto, one Saturday afternoon was set apart for an address to "daughters."

The meeting was held in the rink and the papers said at the time that it was probably the largest gathering of women and girls ever seen in Toronto. The speaker approached his subject in a way that was unusual to the point of uniqueness, but with desired effect of catching and riveting the attention of every girl present.

Before announcing his text he said: "There is not a girl here this afternoon that I would not make better, praver, nobler. We have selected perhaps one of the most comprehensive verses in this Book. I need a good deal of territory to talk to so many girls and I find all I need in this text:—"

"Finally, brethren—suppose I make it read Finally young ladies—what recover things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things." I suppose we may notice the last clause of the text first—"Think on these things." As we think so we are.

The Saloon Versus Business.

A well known business man of Peaget Sound who is neither a Church member nor a total abstainer, recently made the remark to a few friends with whom he was taking lunch. Talking of business losses he said, "The only cure for such conditions is total prohibition."

When asked for his reasons for such a statement he replied substantially as follows:

"For some years I was a resident in a Colorado City of about 15,000 people, my business being in connection with a department store in that place. There were ten saloons in the city all of which were respectable places as no dives were permitted. This department store had among the many names carried on its books 800 debt-

Woman Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Columbus, Ohio.—"I had almost given up. I had been sick for six years with a pain in my right side and could not eat anything without hurting my stomach. I could not drink cold water at all nor eat any kind of raw fruit, nor fresh meat nor chicken. From 178 pounds I went to 118 and would get so weak at times that I fell over. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and ten days later I could eat and it did not hurt my stomach. I have taken the medicine ever since and I feel like a new woman. I now weigh 127 pounds so you can see what it has done for me already. My husband says he knows your medicine has saved my life."

Sleepless Nights With Eczema.

Mrs. Link, 12 Walker St., Halifax, N. S., states:—"After three years of miserable torture and sleepless nights with terrible eczema, and after trying over a dozen remedies without obtaining anything but slight temporary relief, I have been perfectly and entirely cured by using Dr. Chase's Ointment. After the third or fourth application of this grand Ointment I obtained relief and a few boxes were sufficient to make a thorough cure."

An Unclean Thing.

Had Ge many given he would the smallest opportunity, there are times when a feeling of pity would creep into the hearts of the nations for the sufferings and straits to which men and women are driven, but ways that feeling is strangled by the news of some fresh horror, some denunciation of those things which humanity has come to regard as sacred. Little by little there has come to the recognition of the world the fact that the national mind of Great Britain is unclean thing. This is shown clearly to Madame Howard in her descriptions of the deification of her home and the mal-treatment of the women of her village. It was no necessity of war. Very much can be understood and forgiven, and the safety of even an invading army depends upon a certain course of action, but the violation of homes and of women for pure wantonness is horrible to be condoned on any grounds whatsoever. The new papers and the official reports have told many terrible acts on the part of the German army of occupation, and the pictures of the destruction of Madame Howard's home, typical of what has occurred in hundreds of other homes where the German army staff have their headquarters, are an evidence of the morale of this nation who are great desire is to impede its ideas of right living on the world—the world whose civilization it despises! Madame Howard made a plea for the carrying on of her hospital; but her words are well carried with them a wider plea to the womanhood of the Allied Nations to leave no stone unturned that will aid in silencing forever the German menace.

BRITAIN'S MUNICIPAL SYSTEM DESCRIBED

Officials Are Experts And Members of Council Usually Experienced—Departments Co-operate Badly

In Great Britain the towns (boroughs) and cities are usually governed by a Council, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Councillors. The Mayor is always elected by the Council and is usually the Councillor with the longest term of office. His position is considered one of honor, but he has no individual authority over the administration of the various civic departments. He is assisted over the deliberations of the Council by a Mayor's Committee.

Aldermen of the Council are elected each year for a term of years by the Council. They have among its members men of experience and knowledge of the town's affairs and a continuity of policy is consequently assured. It is usually the Councillors who ratify the Mayor's proposals for a term of years upon the Ward System, one third of the Council being elected each year.

QUEBEC FIRE LAWS

Provisions That Made Spread of Forest Fires Difficult

The Legislature of Quebec made several amendments to the fire laws calculated to add materially to its strength and efficiency. One of these provisions required that sections of burning be held in large areas between April 1 and November 15 of each year, secure a burning permit from an authorized forest officer before setting out clearing fires. Wherever this provision is properly enforced, it effects a very material reduction in the forest fire loss. One of the most serious features of the fire situation throughout Canada is the tendency of sections of burning during dry periods, when fire is likely to spread and cause serious damage.

Another amendment to the Quebec act provides that the debris from sections clearing operations must, before burning, be piled in large rows at a distance of at least fifty feet from the forest. On this basis, it is much more practicable to control the fire than where the old method of broadcast burning is employed.

Holders of timber licenses on Crown lands are required to clear away the debris on a depth of one hundred feet from railway rights of way. Another provision of the Quebec act is that any fire ranger or forest officer may require any landowner to assist in extinguishing any forest fire; the rate of pay being specified in the act. The failure to obey the summons. The fire laws of the province of Quebec are among the most progressive in Canada.

SHORTHORNS FOR MILK

English Experts Claim Their Superiority To The Dairy Breeds

English Shorthorn farmers are proclaiming the merits of their breed. The Professor says the best producing farmer has studied how to increase the flow of milk maintaining the character of the milk. The qualities of the Shorthorn breed, and has succeeded. On the other hand, some of the pedigree breeders have failed to produce milk of the highest quality. But in its native land the Shorthorn is pre-eminently the best dairy cow in the best dairy country of the world. The milking qualities of the English Shorthorn are shown in a remarkable way by the results of the tests made at the London, England Show. In the eleven years, from 1894-1904 inclusive, first place in both milk and butter production was won by a Shorthorn in every case, competing against all dairy breeds, commonly bred there. The ability of the Shorthorn to produce high-class milk is too well known to require discussion.

Avoiding Fire Losses

In Canada, as well as in other countries where such food conditions have prevailed, it has frequently been pointed out that food losses which have occurred to some interests, might have been avoided, if not entirely, had been avoided, if when building structures, sufficient weight had been given to such evidence as are afforded by the watermarks and the indications of former high water stages.

BRITAIN'S MUNICIPAL SYSTEM DESCRIBED

Officials Are Experts And Members of Council Usually Experienced—Departments Co-operate Badly

The work of administration is conducted by different departments of experienced officials, the head of each department being an official member of the Council. The departments principally consist of the following: Finance, Works, Hospitals and Public Health, Highways, Police, Parks and Open Spaces, and Education.

This system has met with fair success and there has been no decided deterioration in the services rendered. The work of the Local Authority is conducted as a general rule in the ordinary way, but in some instances of a special nature, a special committee is appointed to deal with the matter. This committee is usually composed of one or two members of the Council and one or two members of the public.

The Council is elected each year for a term of years by the Council. They have among its members men of experience and knowledge of the town's affairs and a continuity of policy is consequently assured. It is usually the Councillors who ratify the Mayor's proposals for a term of years upon the Ward System, one third of the Council being elected each year.

PROPERLY COOLED CREAM

Cool the cream immediately after separation by setting the cans in cold water. The spoiling of cream, as well as the decomposition and putrefaction of other food stuffs, is caused by germ life, bacteria, yeast, and molds, like other living organisms, germs require warmth to thrive. In the absence of warmth they are inactive and are unable to continue their work of destruction.

When the cream comes from the separator it is warm and in ideal condition for bacterial decomposition and spoilage. If it is cooled promptly the activity of the bacterial is checked and the cream will keep sweet for a reasonable length of time. The lower the temperature to which it is cooled the longer it will keep in normal condition. Cooling to the temperature of the water available on the average farm alone greatly retards bacterial action and prevents spoiling. Cream should be cooled at once after it leaves the separator.

Prompt cooling is not possible by merely letting the cans stand in the shade. Air is a very poor conductor of heat. The cans must be set in water. Water cools cream about thirty times as fast as air. Set the cream cans in a trough, light box, tank, or half barrel containing water.

If water is available, let the water run through the tank continuously. If not, fill the tank up with fresh water at least once every twelve hours. If the cooling tank is connected with the stock watering trough, the water needed for the stock serves to cool the cream by running through the cooling tank first.

DRIVE AUTOS PASTER

Driving over rough roads at the slowest possible speed is not always the best plan for the motorist. It often happens that a very slow rate will result in the setting up of much more severe vibration than a slightly higher speed, which would tend to interrupt the swing of the body on the springs.

It is usually not advisable to turn or cool the eggs after the 15th day of incubation.

Safety first is the protection of human life. The conservation of the human factors of production.

OUR LUNGS ARE DELICATE

Overwork, lack of fresh air, mental strain or any sickness disturbs their functions. Stubborn coughs tear and wear the sensitive lung tissues.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

should be taken promptly for hard coughs, unyielding colds, or when strength is lowered from any cause. Its high nutritive value creates resistive force to ward off sickness. The rich cod liver oil improves the quality of the blood to relieve the cold and the glycerine is soothing and healing to the lung tissues.

Refuse Alcoholic Substitutes Which Exclude the Cod Liver Oil.

"I Owe My Life To Gin Pills"

Every one who has suffered from Kidney and Bladder troubles should read this letter from a gentleman in Fort Milway:

"I was once a terrible sufferer with Kidney and Bladder troubles, and at times got so bad that I would lose my weight and my strength would go away from me with-out my knowing it. I got Gin Pills and after taking the first box or three doses I got relief. I continued to take them until I got completely well. I owe my life to Gin Pills."

—E. M. Kempton.

ROLL OF HONOR

Several thousand officers and employees of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company enlisted for active military duty with the Canadian Expeditionary Force, and the majority of them are now in Europe, bravely battling for Canada and the Empire. This list of those who have given up their lives for their country or been wounded in action does not include the Army Reserves.
