Carlisle Troubles.

Mexican Elections.

Philadelphia, Oct. 13.—Yesterday afternoon Professor John W. Fraser, who occupied the chair of Natural History and Chemistry in the University of Penn., died suddenly while entering his apartment. He was 63 years old, and had held the professorship for over thirty years.

An Amusing Scene.

In connection with the case Watson et al vs. Pike, mentioned in the proceedings at Court, a rather amusing incident occurred. The defendant, who, by the way, has a strong touch of the Yankee about him, was so highly elated by the favorable result that, on the evening of the trial, he went to the hotel where Mr. Justice Gwynne's rooms were, and requested the Clerk to show him the Judge's parlor. He complied, and upon entering, the following conversation took place:
Pike—"I presume you're the Judge?"
His Lordship—"Sir!"
Pike—"Ain't you the Judge?"
His Lordship—"Yes; to what am I indebted for the honor of this visit?"
Pike—"Extending his hand—I just calculated so, and am glad to make your acquaintance, Judge. What is your address?"
His Lordship, (quizzingly)—"For what purpose do you require my address?"
Pike—"Wa-all, you see, I was the defendant in that saw case, and I almost guessed it had gone against me, if you had not acted so handsome."
His Lordship, (enquiringly)—"Well?"
Pike—"Well, I can't give you anything just now, but I will send you a present, so if you give me your address you may bet you'll get something."
His Lordship, (sternly)—"Will you please leave the room sir?"
Pike—"How?"
His Lordship, (angrily)—"Leave the room at once, sir."
Pike—"Why, Judge, you needn't get your ole up quite so fast as all that, I meant no offence, and I kinder reckoned it was the clearest thing to give you a fee."
His Lordship, (vehemently)—"I will have you arrested and brought before the Court, unless you leave the room instantly."
Pike wilted.—Cornwall Freeholder.

The Crops in Scotland.

A week or two of the most reasonable weather proved a godsend to farmers in the South, enabling them to save their average crops in excellent condition. Those in the North have been far less fortunate. We hear accounts even from the midland and northern counties, where the latter districts have been visited by insupportable bursts of wind and wet. But the news from Scotland is simply terrible. It has been a bad season from the first, with a higher and more steady rainfall than has been experienced for many years. Crops were somewhat late, and now when they should be ready for reaping, rain is descending heavier than ever. The treacherous gleams of sunshine which break the gloom, do the grain positive injury, by making it sprout. In the Lothians and Perthshire—that is to say, in the richest arable districts—the ripe grain is rotting as it lies broken down by the drenching rains. There is a strange absence of wind, too, so that nothing has time to dry in the intervals of more favorable weather. In the south the harvest has commenced, but in Aberdeenshire and further to the north we hear that, should the weather prove propitious, it is hoped that it may begin in a week or two. And all the time the down pour goes on, steady as ever. The potato crop is pronounced an utter failure. Turnips sown late are striking fingers and toes, and threaten a very inferior yield. The live stock is losing in condition, and there is a foot-and-mouth disease in many places, to say nothing of rumors of rinderpest, where the diseased animals which should have been sunk at sea were washed ashore in the Firth of Forth. Truly the season if one to try the constancy and drain the economies of the Scotch farmers.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Reclaiming Land in Sutherlandshire.

The Duke of Sutherland is reclaiming the wild tracts of his domain from barrenness. The moss and hill sides heretofore abandoned to the growth of stunted grass and heather, and serving no higher purpose than to gratify the artificial taste of the aristocracy, in supplying cover for game, are being converted into grain fields and pastures. A large capital in particular is being expended in providing against the contingency of drought as liable to overtake the sheep walks. The hill sides, which are specially devoted to this use, are being provided with lead pipes laid below the surface of the ground with openings which under pressure will furnish an artificial rain-fall sufficient for all purposes of irrigation. As indicative of the value of such generous forethought to social economies, it is stated that by the general adoption of this policy—and there is capital sufficient for the purpose—the number of sheep now produced by the north of Scotland could be increased ten or even twenty fold.

What Coyle Says.

After his release from custody, Coyle, in answer to the enquiries of two or three gentlemen, stated that he never felt as if the jury could bring him in guilty, but if they had convicted him he was prepared to die, though innocent of the crime charged against him. He stated further that his intention was, when the Judge, before passing sentence, asked him the usual question, "Why sentence of death should not be passed upon him," to make a statement of facts concerning the murder which would have made everyone's hair stand on end that heard it. He would give no hint as to what the purport of his dreadful secret is, but from the remark he made it would be inferred that the truth about the murder has not yet been revealed, and that it is more horrible in its nature than any version of it yet made public.—London Advertiser.

Noble Sentiments.

Condemn no man for not thinking as you think. Let every one enjoy the free and full liberty of thinking for himself. Let every man use his own judgment, since every man must give an account of himself to God. Abhor every approach, in any kind of degree, to the spirit of persecution. If you cannot reason or persuade a man into the truth, never attempt to force him into it. If love will not compel him to come, leave him to God, the Judge of all.—John Wesley.

Caution.

The Cornwall Manufacturing Company have pleasure in intimating the complete restoration of their works at Cornwall which are now in full operation, producing large quantities of White and Grey Blankets, and Heavy Medium Class Tissues. They regret, however, having again to call attention of the public to the continuance of the disreputable practice of importing English Blankets and selling them as Canadian. These Blankets are made largely of Shoddy and Cotton Waste, with a small percentage of pure Wool, and though slightly in appearance, closely imitating the Cornwall Blankets, and tickled with "Canadian Manufacture," have neither warmth nor wear, but can be sold at a lower price than the Cornwall Blankets (which are made of Pure Wool) can produce for.

The public are cautioned against this attempt to deceive, and respectfully informed that the name of the CORNWALL MANUFACTURING COMPANY is printed on the sides of every Blanket made by them. Cornwall, Sept. 16th 1872

Death of a Prize Horse.

Mr. James Coultier's fine stallion, Defiance, died at Guelph on Tuesday night last. He was a fine animal and had always carried the highest honors at the Provincial and others fairs when shown, the last he took was at the Guelph Central Exhibition. His death was partly from the present epidemic that is so prevalent among horses just now, aggravated by additional cold caught from exercise while being exhibited before the Judges on the Guelph Fair Ground, causing inflammation of the lungs. Mr. Coultier had refused $1,500 for him at the Provincial Exhibition at Hamilton the previous week.

Metamoras, Oct. 14.—

The vote of the people for Presidential elections was cast yesterday (Sunday). The electors met on the first Sunday in November to elect a President. There being no opposition to the present incumbent, Carol Tejada, the election passed off without unusual excitement. But little interest appears to be taken in canvasses.

Guelph Central Exhibition.

The Directors met at their office on Saturday afternoon to consider various protests that had been lodged against certain awards in some of the classes. One of the most important of these was that of Miss Lyons against the decision of the judges in certain sections of Ladies' Work. Mrs. Wilson, Hamilton, Mrs. James Young, Galt, Mrs. George Jeffrey, Guelph, and Mr. John Hogg, Guelph, the judges in that class, were present to explain and defend their award and respective action in the matter. The lady judges wished to know why their decision on the awards that had been protested. It was explained that from the evidence laid before those of the Directors before whom the Exhibition Grounds the protest originally came, it was considered that they had mistaken their duty in relation to the Society's rule where "fraud, deception, or dishonest practices are discovered or suspected," and that the responsibility of ascertaining whether articles are manufactured or made by the party exhibiting should devolve upon the Directors—the judges of course calling the Society's attention to their detection or suspicion of dishonesty in their award book. This the scores of judges did in the protest. The protest of Mr. Wm. Dunn, Waterloo Township, against the 1st prize in fresh (baked) butter being awarded to Mr. W. Phin, Erasmus, was next considered. It appears that the Judges attached the 1st prize ticket to the basket of Wm. Phin, but in their book wrote 1st prize opposite the name of Mr. Dunn's exhibit. Mr. Phin wrote to the Judges explaining the matter, and the result was a decided and distinct reply from two of the Judges, Messrs. Clark, Elora and B. Morrison, Messrs. Elora and B. Morrison, of London, not being heard from to the Secretary that they intended the 1st prize for Mr. W. Phin, and that the placing of Mr. Dunn first in the Judges' book was a clerical error. A number of the Directors regarded the Judges' book as unalterable, while others regarded the strong written testimony of two of the Judges, sufficient to warrant them altering the Judges' book, to correspond with the ticket affixed to the basket, which was agreed to on a vote of 8 to 7. The protest of Mr. Joseph Grant, Puslinch, against the collection of Mr. Donald Clark, in Class 47, Sec. 37, on the ground that the collection contained a crochets instead of a knitted shawl, was sustained, and the counter protest of Mr. Donald Clark, Puslinch, against that of Mr. Jos. Grant, in the same class and section, on the ground that certain articles were not manufactured by exhibitor's family, was postponed for the production of further evidence. The complaint of Messrs. Wood & Co., that Messrs. W. Bell & Co. were allowed to enter cabinet or parlor organs with the requisite number of octaves and reeds, but with an improvement in the shape of qualifying tubes, was an infringement of the rules, and the counter protest of Mr. Donald Clark, Puslinch, against that of Messrs. Wood & Co., that Messrs. W. Bell & Co. were allowed to enter cabinet or parlor organs with the requisite number of octaves and reeds, but with an improvement in the shape of qualifying tubes, was an infringement of the rules, and the counter protest of Mr. Donald Clark, Puslinch, against that of Messrs. Wood & Co., that Messrs. W. Bell & Co. were allowed to enter cabinet or parlor organs with the requisite number of octaves and reeds, but with an improvement in the shape of qualifying tubes, was an infringement of the rules, and the counter protest of Mr. Donald Clark, Puslinch, against that of Messrs. Wood & Co., that Messrs. W. The Lecture Season in the States.

An unusual number of illustrious literary and scientific men have recently come out from Britain to the United States, for the purpose of delivering series of lectures during the winter months.

We trust that sufficient inducements will be held out to some, or all, of these gentlemen to visit Canada, and lecture in our cities and principal towns.

Agricultural Exhibitions.

We publish to-day a timely and sensible article from the Stratford Beacon on the subject of Provincial and District Exhibitions.

In order to remedy this, our contemporary suggests the doing away with the Provincial, and establishing in its place a Dominion Exhibition, which would be open, of course, to all these Provinces, which might be held every year, and which should be permanently located in Toronto, as being the most important and most central city in the Dominion.

It is quite evident, as the Beacon says, that things cannot remain as they now are. The Provincial Exhibition is not what it was, and we very much fear never will be.

Mr. SHAW'S DEATH.—Governor Hoff has issued a proclamation on the death of W. H. Shaw, saying that in honour of his memory, until after the funeral, flags on all public buildings will be placed at half-mast, and that on Monday, business in the Executive Chambers and the several departments of State Government will be suspended.

The Provincial and District Exhibitions

A curious movement is visible in regard to our agricultural, manufacturing, and arts exhibitions; for while on the one hand the tendency is in the direction of decentralization, on the other, public feeling is obviously becoming more and more favorable to the merging of small shows into the larger and more imposing ones of a district.

The Provincial fair was until three or four years since the apotheosis of the people. It held supreme sway, and dwarfed by its magnitude the best of our country shows into insignificance. It was great, because it had, as it still has, the public purse to assist it, and the whole Province to lay under contribution for supplies.

Three years ago a western city (London) tried the experiment of holding a great fair of its own. It was thought by timid persons to be a bold undertaking, but it succeeded at once, and that, too, without legislative aid.

Perhaps, however, the unkindest cut, if they could but feel it, the directors of the Provincial exhibition received came from the dairymen. The extraordinary success attending the cheese making interest in Ontario, and the direct and indirect benefits to the country from bringing this great industry to its highest point of development, escaped recognition until it came from without.

Speaking of political parties in Canada, the London Times says:—Ontario is the Lancashire, the Ulster, and the "Great West" of the Dominion, and it is not too much to expect that what this Province thinks to-day the others will think to-morrow.

The HORSE EPIDEMIC.—A veterinary surgeon writes that he has attended to 420 cases of horse epidemic up to this time, and sends the following remedy:—Diuretics and stimulants for internal, and an ammonia liniment for external application.

AMONG our Merchants in Guelph, there are none perhaps so noted for thorough business enterprise as the celebrated Hardware Merchant, Mr. Jno. Horsman.

Mr. SHAW'S DEATH.—Governor Hoff has issued a proclamation on the death of W. H. Shaw, saying that in honour of his memory, until after the funeral, flags on all public buildings will be placed at half-mast, and that on Monday, business in the Executive Chambers and the several departments of State Government will be suspended.

GREAT BRITANNIA HOUSE, WYNDHAM STREET, GUELPH.

FALL AND WINTER IMPORTATIONS AT THE MAMMOTH CHEAP STORE!

Announcement Extraordinary! Unrivalled Success! Unequalled Display! Competition Defeated!

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS WORTH OF DRY GOODS TO SELECT FROM!

Heffernan Brothers have great pleasure in announcing to their patrons that, in view of the great advance which they knew must inevitably take place in the price of woollen Goods they were careful to place their orders with the leading European and Canadian manufacturers fully three months in advance of any house west of Toronto, and by means of a large cash capital have been able to make special and most advantageous terms, and are now prepared to show a large and magnificent assortment of NEW DRY GOODS AT OLD PRICES.

CATALOGUE:

We here give a short catalogue of prices in a few of the leading departments, but for a full and correct idea of the immensity of the stock and the unparalleled low prices of goods we invite every one to call and inspect the stock. One visit to our Mammoth Establishment will convince even the most incredulous that Heffernan Brothers advertise facts only, and that the Britannia House is beyond doubt the cheapest store in Western Canada.

Plain and Fancy Dress Goods at 12 1/2c, 15c and 20c per yd, worth 20c, 25c and 30c. A strong heavy Winsey at a York Shilling per yd, sold elsewhere at 20c. 500 lbs. of Wool Nubias, bought at auction—the best value in Canada; Factory Cottons at 10c and 12c., extra quality;

3 bales of Damaged Factories at 11c per yd, worth 15c.; 3 bales of Damaged Cottons at 6c per yd, worth double the money; 10 bales of Canada Blankets at less than last year's prices; A beautiful lot of Canada Tweeds at 50c, 75c, and $1 per yard, very cheap.

An Immense Stock of READY-MADE CLOTHING, in Mens', Youths' and Boys' sizes;

As all our Clothing is MANUFACTURED ON THE PREMISES, we can guarantee that it is well made and properly trimmed.

MILLINERY AND MANTLE SHOW ROOMS!

We are now opening a Gorgeous Stock of Millinery and Fancy Goods received direct from Paris, London and New York. Our Show Rooms will be open in a few days, when we show a display of fashion never before equalled in Guelph.

OCTOBER.

The brown leaves rustle in the wind, And golden is the oak tree's crown; The red beech drops her ripened nut, The chestnut hunk comes showing down October's kiss is on the woods, The garnered is Pomona's wealth; The squirrel thinks of winter rest, Begins to store his nuts by stealth. Gone are the roses, crimson flowers That crowned the virgin brow of June; And where the nightingale hath sung, The robin pipes his mellow tune. One touch of frost is on the blades Of grass beneath the forest tree; Close in his lair the dormouse lies, And nestled in her cell the bee. The last geranium still sheds On manor lawn a scarlet glow; The queen chrysanthemum hath donned Her robes of winter, rose and snow. The latest breath of summer stirs, Uppit the leaves and in the air; It shakes the cones amid the firs, And straight is gone we know not where. So oft a gleam of sunshine past, Beahines again in man's last days; Summer and Winter, smiles and tears— Wiser than cure are Heaven's ways.

The Foster Brother;

The Orphan of the Wreck.

CHAPTER XXI.

A DARK CLOUDS FOLLOWED BY A WONDERFUL BREAKING OF THE LIGHT.

What a tremendous reaction this revelation produced in George's mind. Its intensity was agonizing and alarming. There was not only the natural surprise at finding Lillias' companion to be his dearest friend, Harry Markham, and the amazement at learning he was her brother, but the revulsion of feeling and emotion which the knowledge caused. He was in a moment brought from a state of wrath and indignation, raised in his heart under the belief that Lillias was false, into the realization of her perfect integrity; and the immense strain involved in this sudden transformation of belief and feeling was terrible in its power. George's whole frame trembled under the surging of the inward sea; his great and high nature was moved to its centre; and his appearance was such that both Harry and Lillias became intensely alarmed on his account.

"George," said the former—"George, my dear fellow, command yourself. By what you shall all be able to laugh heartily at this mistake; but not just yet—the situation is too grave for it. You have had a shock, and I can well understand its cause. But call up your strength to assist you into calmness. Do—that's a good fellow—for my sake; for the sake of poor Lillias, who is frightened at your aspect."

"Take her, Harry," said George, in a broken voice—"take her into the arbour. I will join you in a little. A few turns on the grass will bring me back to something like composure."

"That's right," cried Harry, cheerily. "I know you will soon be yourself."

He took the arm of Lillias, and led her back to the arbour. Very slowly and unwillingly she went, and as she moved she continued to cast a wistful, yearning gaze on George, who had turned aside and was walking swiftly to and fro under the shadow of the trees.

Fully five minutes did he so perambulate, the length of time thus attesting the violence of the struggle he had to undergo ere the desired calmness was gained.

Then he came towards the arbour, and Harry met him at the entrance with outstretched hands. But instead of taking the hands thus fraternally extended, he gently put Harry aside, saying, "Not yet!" and entering the arbour kneeled at Lillias' feet, and murmured—

"Can you—oh, can you forgive me?"

"Forgive you, George?" said the astonished girl. "Forgive you for what?"

"For the greatest crime I could commit. Heaven help me Lillias. I charged you in my heart with faithlessness and treachery; and under the insane belief that you had turned to another lover, my anger was kindled against you—I upbraided you. I insulted you. Justly may you spurn me from your presence; and if for my unworthiness you banish me for ever, I shall go without a word, for heavy as the punishment must be, I fully merit it."

Lillias looked and listened in amazement; then with a low cry she flung her arms round his neck, and sobbed there with happy, happy emotion.

"You are not to blame, George," she said. "Oh, no, you are not to blame. How could you know—how could you think—? It is we who need your forgiveness—Harry and I."

"That is indeed true," spoke out Harry. "I at least—I most of all require your pardon for the deception I have practised toward you so long. Love for Caroline, affection for you, are the only excuses I can offer; and knowing the generosity of your nature, I am sure these excuses will not be offered in vain."

...I have indeed forgiven" which George in the ear of Lisa. "I have nothing to forgive, George, for you are not blameworthy," was the sweet response. "I am blameworthy," he emphatically rejoined. "Nothing ought to have tempted me to doubt you. No appearance, however strange and inexplicable, should have shaken my faith in your truth and constancy. The wrong I did you was great, Lillias—great beyond expression—but the lesson I have learned will never be forgot. Let me hear you say you forgive me, and my heart will return again to its quiet rest."

"What could you do that I would not forgive, George?" she murmured. "Never were you dearer to me, never did I honor and admire you more than at this moment."

"Bless you, my darling," he rejoined, pressing her in a transport of joy to his heart.

Then he rose and turned to Harry. "Now my friend, my brother, I can take your hand."

Instantly their hands were locked together with a warm and thrilling pressure by which, far more eloquently than by any spoken words, they exchanged assurances of unabated affection, and George's calmness was fully restored.

THE REASON WHY

Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya is called a Chemical Food and Nutrient because Phosphates constitute more than half the material of the human body, and are absolutely essential to the growth of Bone, Muscle and Nerve, which cannot attain full development without them. They promote a good appetite, perfect digestion, create pure, healthy, vitalizing blood, and supply the waste constantly going on in the system as the result of mental and physical exertion. Being combined with Calisaya, the Peruvian Bark, the only specific for Chills and Fever, and that condition of Nervous Prostration and General Debility arising from low vitality and exhaustive diseases, it forms an elegant and agreeable, invigorating Tonic, purely physiological in its action, that may be taken safely under all circumstances, and in all diseased conditions of the body, as it builds up the constitution in the same manner as our daily food.

Sold by all Druggists at $1.

POSITIVELY A FACT.

Mustard's Catarrh Specific

Cures Catarrh, Cold in the Head, Neuralgia, Toothache, Nervous and Sick Headache, Weak and Sore Eyes. The Specific is a new remedy, prepared from Medicinal Berks, Roots, Gums and Flowers. Free from poisonous Drugs, it is harmless, novel, and philosophic in its operation. Try it if you are afflicted with the above diseases. It is also one of the best Cough and Croup Remedies extant.

Mustard's Vegetable Pills should also be used in connection with the Specific for Sick Headache and Catarrh; and those who are afflicted with Rheumatism should try Mustard's King of Oils.

Sold in Guelph by McCallough & Moore, Druggists. Manufactured at Ingersoll by N. J. Mustard, Proprietor.
