53 Known Dead In Minnesota and Wisconsin

GERMAN PEOPLE JOIN LEAGUE

RAIN STORM WITH EIGHTY-MILE WIND WRECKS WIDE AREA

Death List in U. S. Middle States May Mount Higher.

HEAVY DAMAGE

Wires Down, Communication With Outlying Districts Cut Off.

(By Canadian Press.)

Mounting as new reports came in, the death toll of Sunday's storms in Minnesota and Wisconsin stands at three score persons, with sections of the latter state bearing the brunt of the havoc.

The known dead in Wisconsin had reached 53 tonight, while Minnesota's total remained at five, but the continued isolation of many Wisconsin communities caused fear that the list in that state might be further increased.

Many Injured Also. Patchwork wires permitted only meagre messages to trickle out of the devastated countryside in sections of central and northern Wisconsin gradually swelling the list of casualties and sending into high figures the estimates of monetary damage.

Besides the many dead, perhaps an equal number suffered injuries, from the Thorp-Owen district alone 25 seriously injured persons were sent to hospitals, principally at Chippewa Falls, Stoughton and Wisconsin Dells.

It was in Wisconsin, around Thorp and Owen, that the heavy burden fell, for there the storm nullified all communication with the stricken parts, and automobile couriers found their progress impeded by tree-strewn highways and occasional washouts.

An 80-Mile Wind. Violent wind and rain storms prevailed generally over Wisconsin, Minnesota and the Dakotas, and extended southward into northern Iowa, the entire district suffered damage to trees, some corn crops, and wire communication.

FINDS HANDLE-BAR RIDING A DANGER

Boston, Sept. 23.—In line with the policy of encouraging safety in motoring by attacking and removing specific causes of accidents, the American Automobile Association will urge the passage of bills prohibiting children from carrying other than the handle-bar riding bicycles on public streets and highways, according to a statement sent out from headquarters in Washington by the legislative board.

The A. A. A. sees in "handle-bar riding" a menace to motorists who are often innocently involved in unfortunate fatalities. According to the board's report, the percentage of accidents caused by riding the handle-bars on public streets and roads is small, in comparison with the percentage of accidents from other causes, but it is pointed out that the constructive policy of the A. A. A. has adopted calls for elimination of minor as well as major causes.

"The average child is menaced enough when he is riding a bicycle on a crowded thoroughfare, without the added chance of an accident by allowing him to wobble all over the road with another child perched on the handle-bars," the A. A. A. statement reads. "Two children should not be allowed riding one bicycle any more than three persons should be allowed to sit in the front seat of the average automobile."

"The bicycle stunt is prevalent in Washington where children have a long distance to go in reaching school. This increases the hazard because it means that children are then occupying the streets and highways at points where the motorist is not warned to look out for children."

"The desire for quick transportation is inbred in American children. They want to ride—and it is up to their parents and those who are interested in their welfare to see that they ride in safety. The American Automobile Association is, of course, primarily interested in helping the motorist avoid inadvertent injury of children, but it feels that an appeal to parents in behalf of the safety of their children will help to accomplish results as well as definite legislation."

Dr. Sutherland said the amount asked for this year was $180,000, because of the fact that the amount for last year, and it was hoped to make this up. Of this amount the Maritime Union of Canada has agreed to contribute $50,000 over last year. The union stated that it had interfered to the full extent of its funds in the matter of the budget but he failed to see why this should be so. This money was asked for 1924 and was not to be paid until 1925, the Presbyterian Church was in the same position that it had always been, and the members were expected to pay their just bills for carrying on the work. He felt that the St. John Presbytery had not done its full duty in the budget and special tax to be made to raise the full amount asked for this year.

The representatives of the congregation which had a deficit of $10,000 were asked to raise the allocation for the budget and most of them expressed the hope that they would be able to do so. No one expressed the opinion that the allocation was too high. No report was received from several congregations which had no representative.

Rev. Mr. Ramsay said he felt the reports were most encouraging and showed a desire to pay their just bills would do better than last year. As the hour of adjournment had arrived he would like to have the matter of raising the money taken up at the afternoon session and the special tax to be made to raise the full amount asked for this year.

CHURCH BUDGET IS DISCUSSED

Presbytery in Session Here Today—Finances Gone Into.

A conference on the church budget took up the greater part of the time of a session of the St. John Presbytery this morning in St. Andrew's church. The meeting will be continued this afternoon. The reports submitted by the various congregations were encouraging and the opinion expressed by most that the allocation would be reached this year. An eloquent plea for support of the budget to carry out the undertakings of the church for the year 1924 was made by Dr. Sutherland, who said that no matter what happened after June 10, 1924, until that time the Presbytery church in Canada was functioning and it was the duty of every member, whether for or against union, to support it.

GRAIN OUTLOOK AT ST. JOHN PORT

Grain chartering for late September and October loading for Montreal has reached a new high level, it is reported today. There are 94 tramp steamers chartered at present to take full cargoes of grain from that port during the next five or six weeks. This is said to be because of the drop in price of grain owing to heavy shipments later. All the earlier shipments, a local shipper said today were largely United States grain, and the price was higher than the Canadian product. However, as there would be a scarcity of U. S. grain, the Canadian products to Europe this winter would correspondingly increase, and St. John, he said, would be the gainer by this additional traffic.

Rev. Dr. J. S. Sutherland reported on special meetings, at which Rev. W. A. Patterson was ordained at Prince William and Rev. J. W. Brittain at Milltown.

A report from the Milltown congregation that it would likely join with the Methodist congregation and asking him to do this amount of $18,000 was read by the clerk and on motion the congregation was given permission to read the building fund.

The budget conference was led by Rev. J. A. Ramsay. He said that the condition of the church building was such that it was imperative that it be done to raise the amount necessary to come out even at the end of the year. He said that the amount of $18,000 had to be raised and of this amount the Presbytery of St. John was asked to contribute $5,000.

NEW BRUNSWICK MEN IN POLITICAL TALK IN OTTAWA

Correspondent Speaks of Copp, Foster and Pugsley in Reviewing Situation.

An Ottawa despatch to the Montreal Gazette under Saturday's date has the following of interest here:

"The appointment of H. B. McGivern, senior member for Ottawa, to the cabinet without portfolio, is the first step in the much discussed cabinet re-organization. Premier King's next step will depend on several things, and chief amongst them will be the result in the Northumberland, N. B., by-election. A Liberal representative, and constituency, and the election of another Liberal might tempt the Premier to reconstruct his cabinet in so far as representation from the Maritime Provinces is concerned.

"It is no secret that the Liberal defeat in Kent, N. B., last year managed the political reputation of Hon. Arthur Copp, the Secretary of State, and New Brunswick's representative in the cabinet, and Mr. Copp has been anxious to return to his native province if a suitable vacancy should offer itself. The appointment of Chief Justice McKeown of New Brunswick to the chairmanship of the railway board, renders the position of Chief Justice of New Brunswick vacant, and if a Liberal is returned in Northumberland, it might result in Mr. Copp being appointed to the Supreme Court of New Brunswick, with a resultant vacancy in his constituency in Westmorland county.

"Mr. Walter Foster, former premier of New Brunswick, would then be invited to join the cabinet. He is an intimate friend of Premier King, and the most powerful political force in New Brunswick. The speech delivered on Maritime rights by Hon. William Pugsley two weeks ago in Halifax, is regarded here also as significant, and an indication that the former Minister of Public Works in the Laurier cabinet may return to active political life again and contest St. John city in the Liberal interests. With Mr. Pugsley on the Government benches, Mr. King would not need to be so afraid of the attacks of Mr. Meighen, as Mr. Meighen is about the only parliamentarian who can successfully cross swords with Mr. Meighen.

"Mr. King can undoubtedly strengthen his cabinet if he will take the plunge, but he will not try his luck too often in by-elections if he can. He is determined to rest on the laurels gained in St. Antoine, and will make a tour of the west, with the result of that election as the chief fact of his speeches. At the same time he does not desire himself even as to that result. A series of unusual circumstances there made his luck for him, and it is questionable if they can occur again.

Cardin Going West
"Mr. King will speak in Northumberland and then leave for the west. Amongst those accompanying him will be Hon. Mr. Cardin, Minister of Marine and Fisheries. It is said here that since the result of the St. Antoine election Mr. Cardin, who had charge of the Liberal interests, has risen high in Mr. King's esteem, and that to show it he is bringing him even as to that result. A series of unusual circumstances there made his luck for him, and it is questionable if they can occur again.

DELIGHTED WITH ST. JOHN VISIT
Hamilton Canadian Club Delegates Impressed by the Maritimes.

The Hamilton Spectator, reporting the return home of the delegates of that city to the recent Canadian Club meetings in St. John, says:

"The party of Hamilton delegates which represented the Canadian Club and Women's Canadian Club at the annual convention for Canada, at St. John, on September 9, returned to the city greatly impressed with their visit to the maritime provinces.

"The hospitality of the maritime provinces was wonderful," said E. V. Ilsey, president of the Canadian Club. St. John kept open house for us, and the Lieutenant-Governor and other provincial and civic dignitaries accompanied us on our visit and the representatives of the various organizations and clubs were more than kind. The people showed a decided interest in Ontario's representatives.

"The business depression is still noticeable in the maritime provinces, according to Mr. Ilsey, although it is not so keenly felt as it is here. While not inclined to discuss the political situation, Mr. Ilsey observed that the great products of these provinces...

ices—fish and pulpwood—had been greatly hurt by the Fordney tariff. Freight to Portland.

"The people of New Brunswick feel the people of Ontario do not care much about their affairs, and that their problems do not interest us," said Mr. Ilsey. There is considerable bitterness over this, and it is felt that there should be a closer understanding between the two provinces.

"The people there are frankly resentful over the diversion of Canadian freight to Portland instead of routing it through Canadian ports. While we were discussing this question they showed us the wonderful new drydock capable of easily housing the largest ship afloat, and the harbor was greatly improved with the better facilities at the maritime ports.

"We are hopeful of having some of the more prominent club members in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick come here this winter and address the Hamilton and Toronto clubs," concluded Mr. Ilsey.

"The Hamilton and Toronto party was made up of about 50 members and they traveled to and from the convention in special cars."

NEW TURN GIVEN KEYMEN'S STRIKE

Action Followed by Statement by Canadian Press Gen. Manager.

Toronto, Sept. 22—A new turn was given the dispute between the Canadian Press and its former telegraphers, now on strike, by the decision of the latter today to accept the offer of the Minister of Labor at Ottawa of a board of conciliation. The Minister granted this board at the request of the Canadian Press, which latter nominating its president, E. Norman Smith, of the Ottawa Journal, as its representative. The men refused to appoint a representative and went on strike at 24 hours' notice a week ago last Thursday. They now have notified the Minister of Labor that they have appointed J. G. O'Donoghue, K.C. of Toronto, as their representative.

"The company has always offered to arbitrate," said General Manager J. F. B. Livesey today, "and so far as we are concerned this dispute has never been a question of wages. The men made exorbitant demands of a wage increase to which we replied by a notice of a small reduction which we think fair, seeing that since the agreement was made four years ago the cost of living has tumbled. We offered to arbitrate the question of increase or decrease under the arbitration clause we contend was inserted in the agreement for that very purpose. Or we would first of all arbitrate the interpretation of that clause. The men refused, offering instead to arbitrate only the existing wage or an increase, which from the company's angle was absurd. Being then threatened with a strike, we applied as a public utility to the Minister of Labor for a board of conciliation, which was then granted. The men struck in this and in doing so, placed themselves on very insecure grounds."

"In his statement, Mr. Livesey said that no newspaper had failed to receive a news service since the strike began. He said that automatic printers were being installed for copying the news report, and one circuit already was working. Some of the men, he said, had returned to work, and it was regrettable that places could not be found for all the 77 who went out."

"I today received a letter from the strikers' general chairman," went on Mr. Livesey, "when after notifying us that they were appointing their members to the board of conciliation. Mr. Clark went on as follows: 'This will be your official notification that all telegraphers in your employ are being instructed to return to work effective with all night shifts, Monday, Sept. 22.'"

Issues Ultimatum.
"This strikes the management as a little naive. They went out on strike and by that act ceased to be employees of the company. It is an unfortunate fact that we cannot take them all back even if we so desired. 'I am replying to Mr. Clark,' said Mr. Livesey, 'by sending him a memorandum of the conditions under which alone we can take back to work such of our former employees as we can find positions for. They must agree to these conditions and they must come back individually.'"

The memorandum sets out that, because of the course adopted by the men, the company cannot longer recognize the men's union and that the future course in this regard depends on whether the company can secure adequate protection against attempted paralysis of its functions as in the present case. It is impossible to state now how many of the men will be taken back, but any taken on now must be on a temporary basis. The seniority list is declared cancelled, and the men who have already returned will head the new list. The scale of wages will be the same as before the strike on the understanding that any changes arrived at by negotiation will be retroactive to the date of re-employment. Only Morse telegraphers will be included in any new agreement.

And now she intends to repeat the performance in campaigning for the general election. And she is confident she will be elected. FIRE SALE! FIRE SALE!

Watch for Details Tomorrow.

A great Fire Sale will be conducted by Amdur's, Ltd., this week, and full details will be announced in Wednesday's paper.

Amdur's, Ltd., have purchased the balance of the high grade stock of the Daylight Store, which was fire swept on September 18; that stock will be offered to the public at prices fixed so low that the goods will be speedily disposed of. The object in the quick removal of the fire stock is to provide space for the regular Amdur fall and winter goods.

From time to time, Amdur's conduct special sales, such as will be carried on this week. In those sales, prices are low enough to bring the articles offered within the reach of all classes.

The procedure is in keeping with the Amdur policy and practice of giving the best possible value at the least possible cost to the consumer. The special sales also tend to keep down prices, in that they enable people to buy necessary articles at low prices, and hence put the buyers in a position to hold off from purchasing while regular prices are at a peak. That is, shoppers, through special sales, are made independent of forced buying.

It is therefore evident that real values will be available at the Amdur fire sale and that the opportunity afforded of "buying right" should not be let pass. It should be kept in mind that the fire stock is not unlimited and that it behooves intending purchasers to go early and take their pick of the choice articles which will be included in the sale.

ST. JOHN, N. B., SEPTEMBER 23, 1924

THE HUMAN FACTOR.

The Province of Ontario is to pay more attention to the care of delinquent and subnormal children. Addressing the Rotarians of Guelph recently, Premier Ferguson made a very strong plea for a deeper public interest in this matter.

"The erection of a training school at Bowmanville has already been planned by the Government, and it is interesting to note that it is to be known as a training school and not as a school of correction. The Ontario Industrial school, the institution to which errant boys from this section of the province were consigned, has signally failed to correct, because it has been more of a prison than a school. How many of the boys who passed through this institution later took post-graduate courses, as hardened criminals, will never be known, but the list is unquestionably extensive. If the Provincial Government operates the training school at Bowmanville in the spirit of constructive leadership toward practical ideas of useful citizenship, as intimated by Premier Ferguson, a far advance will have been made. The Government seems to be awake to its responsibility. The human factor is of paramount importance."

The Province of New Brunswick has an Industrial School for boys, but it has no adequate provision for the care of the subnormal of either sex. It is a reform which must come ere long, and expense ought not to stand in the way, since it will yield large dividends in human welfare.

THE LOOK OFF.

Where the South Mountain runs down toward Blomidon, one climbs the mountain side over a good road for motorizing to the Look Off, and looks down upon a portion of Minas Basin in one direction, and in the other across and up the sheltered valley that lies between the North and South Mountains.

It is a picture unsurpassed. From a wooden tower on the Look Off portions of seven counties are said to be visible on a clear day. These are Kings, Hants, Annapolis, Cumberland, Colchester, and across Fundy the New Brunswick shores of Westmorland and Albert.

But it is the nearer view that attracts attention. Down an almost sheer declivity of nearly or quite six hundred feet one looks upon Peregé, with one bit of dyke that was first constructed by the Acadians. Far across, perhaps ten miles away, are the marshes of Grand Pré, behind which the memorial church may be seen. Nearer than Grand Pré is Kingsport, and a little steamer moves out on 's way to Parrsboro.

Those miles on miles of smiling land that stretch between Peregé, Kingsport and Grand Pré away toward and beyond Kentville are dotted with orchards, and through them ribbons of yellow road intersect the farms. Every shade of green delights the eye that roves over this vast panorama of nature's loveliness.

The whole area as seen from the Look Off appears to be flat, because seen from so high an eminence; but one motoring through discovers that it is diversified with low hills. When seen from above, moreover, it is discovered that the orchards, which seem to be everywhere along the roads, really cover but a moderate portion of the valley. There are marshes dotted with cattle, areas covered with young growth and capable of cultivation, and much farmland where orchards would flourish.

It is a delight to motor from Kentville through Canning and Canard, to Peregé on one side or Grand Pré on the other, but the crowning pleasure is found at the Look Off. The valley of the Cornwallis river lies spread out in all its beauty, merging at one end into Minas Basin and at the other in the reaches of the valley beyond Kentville and toward Annapolis. There it lies, sheltered and beautiful, inhabited by a prosperous people whose homes are supplied with every comfort and convenience, including the electric light transmitted from the hydro-electric station on the Gaspereau river.

One is not surprised that tourists seek this valley and the Look Off, and that they wish to return and enjoy over again a scene of natural beauty which, apart from the historical associations, possesses a never-fading charm. Truly, we do not ourselves appreciate what we have in these provinces by the sea.

AIR TRANSPORT.

There is a demand in the United States for regulation of air traffic. An aeronautic safety code has been drawn up, but lacks the force of legislation, and Congress has failed to act. The Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America sums up the case:

the one hand in the alarming increase in fatal accidents among itinerant fliers, with the consequent solidifying of public fear and prejudice; and on the other hand in the indefinite postponement of commercial operations upon a sound basis, thus depriving us as a nation of the economic benefits to be conferred through air transport and substantially weakening our national security in the air."

The Senate has twice passed a bill for the establishment of the essential new bureau, but the indifference of the House is still to be overcome, and the Herald-Tribune says:—"What the country needs is not state, but federal, regulation of air traffic. The manifest requirement is a Bureau of Civil Aeronautics in the Department of Commerce, with power both to regulate and encourage commercial aviation. The failure of Congress to act has left the industry out of hand, retarded its progress and needlessly jeopardized life."

The time is not distant when air transport will assume an importance far greater than has perhaps been anticipated. When we think of what has been accomplished in the conquest of the air in ten years who would venture to set a limit to what may be done in the next ten or twenty years?

The Ottawa Citizen says: "Mr. E. L. Newcomb's elevation to the Supreme Court bench is one which will add authority and strength to that assembly. None has a sounder knowledge of constitutional questions than the deputy minister of justice, who, contrary to the general practice, has acted in a personal capacity as government counsel when important issues have been raised. For more than thirty years Mr. Newcomb has ably filled the position of deputy minister of justice, the most important of the deputy ministerial offices. His promotion is merited, and it will be popular."

It costs almost as much now for a British subject to go to England as it does to go to the United States. In fact it costs more if one is only going to the neighboring republic for a visit or to spend a short time. A British subject living in Canada has to pay five dollars for a passport to England and he must also provide two photographs, which means that the cost may run to ten or twelve dollars for each person. Why should it be necessary for Canadians to have a passport to go to England now that the war is over?

The motor bus lines which compete with Ontario roads operated by the Hydro Commission of Ontario are to be regulated and put under traffic laws by the Provincial Minister of Highways. This is in opposition to the views of Sir Adam Beck, the Chairman of the Hydro Commission, who wishes the bus lines prohibited from competing with the roads, but Mr. Ferguson takes the stand that the people have been using the buses, are demanding the service and therefore the buses must be licensed, authorized to compete and made to pay.

CHICAGO YOUTH GRANTED REPRIEVE

GLOOMY BLACKSMITHS.

The delegate to the National Horse-shoers' Association who defined an optimist as "manifestly a horse-shoer" had in mind the dire threat of which every Henry takes the stand that the people have been using the buses, are demanding the service and therefore the buses must be licensed, authorized to compete and made to pay.

In the cities there is less and less use for the blacksmith's anvil. In 1910 the Census Bureau reported the number of horses "not on farms" to be 3,182,789; in 1920 the number had been reduced to 1,708,000. More recent figures are not available. In this city there were 108,000 horses in 1917; now there are about 60,000. Only on the water front, where the congestion is terrific, is the horse and wagon found more serviceable for short hauls than the motor truck. Not tomorrow or next year, but possibly in another generation, old Dobbin may be nearly obsolete in this country as an industrial factor. The aristocracy of his species will persist. There is no satisfactory automotive substitute for the polo ponies or for the Wise Counsellors and Seigniors.

NEW BRUNSWICK INTERESTED.

(Montreal Gazette).

The array of counsel appearing before the Board of Railway Commissioners in connection with the cases involving out of the Crow's Nest agreement, its suspension and its restoration, has probably never been equalled in the history of that body. The provinces of British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba have legal representatives present, and the province of New Brunswick has appointed a professional gentleman to look after its interests. The Canadian Manufacturers' Association is also on hand with counsel, as are individual business concerns from various parts of Canada, and a number of cities east and west. The discrimination alleged is in connection with freight rates on a wide variety of products, mostly manufactures. British Columbia fruit-growers have a grievance in that the Crow's Nest rates discriminate against them in connection with the prairie markets. Brantford shippers complain that those from Hamilton, London and St. Thomas are favored at the former's expense. Hamilton merchants say they are discriminated against, apparently to the advantage of Brantford. A Welland industry claims that Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton rivals are favored at its expense. From Montreal comes a plaint that Toronto is favored in the matter of rates on wire. The cities of Edmonton and Saskatoon allege that they suffer because of rates granted to Regina. The Canadian Manufacturers' Association alleges inequalities that are "intolerable." And there may be more to come. The situation has deepened after nearly a score of years of work by the Board of Railway Commissioners to equalize and otherwise secure just rates for users of railway facilities. The fact is not that of the board. It arises from the mixing of partisan politics with what should above all things be a business matter. There was a clamor for a new line of railway, such as that now heard for a line to Hudson Bay, and that which would British Columbia and the Pacific Great Eastern incus. There was a provincial grant of land for the building of the line, which included valuable coal-bearing territory. The promoters of the line could not carry the scheme through, and application was made to the Canadian Pacific to take over the work. To justify the subsidies the Government of the day announced that it had arranged for lower rates on a list of goods of freight shipped into and out of the territory. Such an arrangement was not in accord with a proper understanding of the principles that should govern railway traffic charges. It created favored districts and favored classifications of commodities. It gave the politicians in power something to talk about, however, and was heralded as proof of their regard for the interests of the people. It is giving them trouble today. The demand is made that the Crow's Nest agreement rates, as re-established after the war suspension, shall be regarded as a standard for all rates, and those for places and commodities not included in the favored schedules shall be lowered to their level. The action of New Brunswick suggests that, if the claim of the petitioners is granted, there will be a demand for a lowering of rates of freight to and from all parts of Canada, and without regard to the effect on the financial ability of the railways to fill all their functions as the great public carriers of the country. The Board of Railway Commissioners has before it a most serious matter. Its powers are wide, wider than those of a court of law. It does not need to be guided by legal technicalities alone in coming to a decision. Like the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, it may decide an issue with regard to justice for all parties and the greater public interest. What it will make out of the complicated problem and more complicated arguments now presented to it will mean much to the trade and finances of Canada.

BETTING VERSUS WORK.

(Toronto Globe).

Betting has become a craze in all classes of society in Great Britain. Henry takes the stand that the people have been using the buses, are demanding the service and therefore the buses must be licensed, authorized to compete and made to pay.

counts, can hardly be fewer than sixty thousand, exclusive of small shopkeepers who act as agents. Witnesses before the Select Committee of Parliament in 1923 variously guessed the year's stakes at £75,000,000 to £200,000,000. The chairman's draft report, which was dropped at the sudden dissolution of Parliament, suggested 2,000,000 annually as a reasonable figure. This means the transfer of a vast amount of money from certain hands to certain other hands, and the incidental maintenance of professional bookmakers and their employes. It means grave loss to millions who cannot afford it and whose families suffer accordingly. It means also, as the criminal courts only too plainly show, the yearly manufacture of a considerable amount of crime. The fact that millions are daily giving their minds to small bets, which represent a serious proportion of their weekly wages, must necessarily interfere with the efficiency of work.

As a remedy, Sir Leo thinks that there is room for further discussion of the taxation of betting. "We may also remind our selves," he says, "that not only continental nations who notorious bookmakers and their employes. It means grave loss to millions who cannot afford it and whose families suffer accordingly. It means also, as the criminal courts only too plainly show, the yearly manufacture of a considerable amount of crime. The fact that millions are daily giving their minds to small bets, which represent a serious proportion of their weekly wages, must necessarily interfere with the efficiency of work."

REV. G. C. LAWRENCE INVITED TO TRINITY

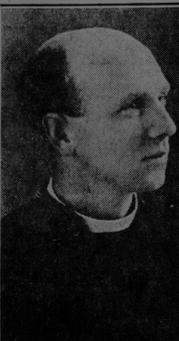

Congregation Decides to Ask Him to Become New Rector.

Rev. C. Gordon Lawrence, rector of Hampton, was unanimously chosen by the congregation of Trinity church to serve as the new rector, at a meeting held last evening, and it is understood Mr. Lawrence will accept the call. The meeting was presided over by W. Shivers Fisher, senior warden, and Miss Blanche Whitehead acted as secretary. Only two names were placed before the congregation, that of Mr. Lawrence and Rev. C. J. Markham, curate and acting rector of the church.

The nomination of Mr. Lawrence was made by H. A. Porter, who stated that this was the unanimous recommendation of the vestry, after they had considered names of men from the dioceses of Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Niagara, Huron and further west.

Mr. Porter told of Mr. Lawrence's qualifications, saying that he was 39 years of age, married and had one child, that he had been ordained in 1911, had been rector of Kingston and resigned to serve in the war, had been appointed chaplain of the 104th Battalion and while overseas had been elected rector of the parish of Hampton, the parish waiting for one year until he could return to Canada to take over his duties. Mr. Porter said the synd journal had shown how during the last seven years while Mr. Lawrence was rector of Hampton parish the parish had prospered and grown.

Archibald Parlee nominated Mr. Markham, speaking of him as a member of the congregation who filled all the requirements the vestry had outlined and who had shown in his present work his ability for the rectorship.

Balloting took place and of the 123 ballots cast 118 were in favor of Mr. Lawrence. The meeting immediately voted to make the choice unanimous and applause was given for the new rector.

Rev. Channing Gordon Lawrence was born in Dumfries, York county, 39 years ago on Sept. 15. He is of Loyalist descent. In his eighteenth year he attended the Normal School at Fredericton and after receiving his license taught school for two years. Then he went to the University of Bishop's College, Lennoxville, Que., where he graduated in arts with first class honors in philosophy in 1906, taking afterwards a postgraduate course in theology.

He was ordained a minister at Christ Church Cathedral, Fredericton, in 1911 and appointed to the rectorship of the old parish of Kingston, Kings county. There he remained building up a large congregation until 1918, when he enlisted for overseas and was appointed chaplain to the 104th Battalion. He served three years in the Canadian

Protect your gums and save your teeth

Just as a ship needs the closest attention under the water-line, so do your teeth under the gum-line. If the gums shrink, serious dangers result. The teeth are loosened. They are exposed to tooth-base decay. The gums themselves become tender and bleed easily. They form sacs which become the doorways of organic disease for the whole system. They often disfigure the mouth as they recede.

If used in time and used consistently, Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea or check its progress. Forhan's is safe, efficient and pleasant-tasting. It preserves gum health, corrects tender gum spots, hardens gum tissues so they will offer proper support to the teeth, and keeps your mouth fresh and healthy.

Forhan's is more than a tooth paste; it checks Pyorrhea. Thousands have found it beneficial for years. For your own sake ask for and get Forhan's For the Gums. At all druggists, 3¢ and 6¢ in tubes.

forces, 13 months of which he was on active service in France, serving the greater portion of this period with the 18th Infantry Battalion. During that time he was on duty at the taking of Hill 70 at Passchendaele and at the Battle of Arras.

Before he returned from overseas in 1918 he was elected by the parish of Hampton to succeed the Ven. Archdeacon Crowfoot, who resigned that rectorship to come to St. Paul's, St. John. Rev. Mr. Lawrence returned from France in May, 1918, crossing the Atlantic on the last round trip of the ill-fated Llandoverly Castle. At the present time he is the chaplain of the New Brunswick Rangers. He is also a member of the St. George's Society of St. John and was chosen by that body to deliver the address at the annual banquet in 1923. He is grand chaplain of the Grand Masonic Lodge of New Brunswick as well as a member of several Masonic bodies.

Other rectors of Hampton parish have been honored by promotion, two of them having been appointed as canons of Christ Church Cathedral at Fredericton, two as archdeacons and one, Rev. C. D. Schofield, is at present Bishop of Columbia in British Columbia.

SEPTEMBER BRIDES

Machado-Blair.

The following is from Monday's Montreal Gazette's Ottawa news: "The marriage was solemnized in St. George's church on Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock of Miss Elizabeth Blair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Blair and granddaughter of the late Hon. Andrew G. Blair, Minister of Railways and Canals in the Laurier Cabinet, to John Z. Machado of Montreal, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Machado of Ottawa. Ven. J. M. Snowdon, rector of the parish, officiated. The service was choral, the wedding music being played by the church organist, George Newington. Before the service the choir sang "Lead Us, Heavenly Father"; then, as the bride, with her father and attendants, entered the main door, the strains of the Bridal March from Lohengrin were heard. Later, during the signing of the register, the choir sang "O Perfect Love," and at the conclusion of the ceremony Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played.

It is interesting to note that both the bride and groom are the holders of the Canadian championship in pair fancy skating. The groom is also singles champion. They are both members of the Minto Skating Club of Ottawa.

Miss Blair is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Brewin of Toronto, formerly of Ottawa, and Miss Constance Fitz-Randolph of Fredericton, N. B. Mr. Machado and his bride have left on a motor trip and on their return will live in Montreal.

Mrs. D. S. Harper.

Moncton, Sept. 22.—The death occurred this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock of Mrs. D. S. Harper, one of its oldest and most highly respected citizens.

Mrs. Harper was a life-long resident of Shediac, being a daughter of the late Dr. Charles S. Theal, the first resident physician of the parish. Her husband, the late D. S. Harper, formerly Captain W. H. Talbot, of the Imperial Army, India, is a grandson.

The late Mrs. Harper is survived by two sons, D. Dehobis Harper, of Calgary, and D. W. Harper, of the Provincial Bank, St. John; also by four daughters, Mrs. W. E. Talbot, of Calgary; Mrs. H. B. Stevens, of Shediac, and the Misses May and Beatrice, residing at home. The late Mrs. Allen, wife of Prof. Frank Allen, of the University of Manitoba, was also a daughter. Mrs. Harper also leaves three sisters, Mrs. C. C. Carlyle, of Shediac; Mrs. Thomas Hicks, wife of Rev. Thomas Hicks, of Georgetown, and Miss Kate L. Theal, of Winnipeg. Staff Captain W. H. Talbot, of the Imperial Army, India, is a grandson.

FIRE IN CHATHAM.

Chatham, Sept. 22.—The fire department was called out about 6:30 o'clock this morning when fire broke out at the home of Charles Cameron on Front street. The blaze which was on the roof was extinguished before any great damage had been done. The town has been singularly free from fire for some months.

JUNIOR RED CROSS HAS A NEW BRANCH

A Junior Red Cross branch called the Martello Juniors has been formed in the Beausfield school and promises to be a very flourishing branch. While this branch is the third to be formed in St. John county it is the first to be formed in one of the regular day schools. The other two branches in the county are the group of C. G. I. T. in St. Andrew's church and the children of the school in the East St. John Hospital. From the number of applications which the Junior Red Cross supervisors are receiving for membership blanks there is every indication that the enrollment of junior members will be very satisfactory this year.

There is something wrong, and it is the duty of our citizenship to find out what it is, when it is considered that over 80,000 returned men had to go to the United States in search of work. Militia headquarters at Ottawa sends 11,000 monthly pay checks to American addresses. Professor Macdonald, of Acadia University, says it is an eastern matter to get up a parade of Canadian veterans in Detroit or Boston, and larger numbers will attend, than in either Toronto or Montreal. All these men fought for Canada, but they have been unable to find their post-war careers in life in this Dominion. What are the underlying causes? Is there apathy towards the fate of the returned man? Does the country want these men in war times, but disown them, as it were, in periods of peace? These thousands of returned men would undoubtedly prefer to be living in Canada right at this moment; but stern economic necessity has forced them to migrate across the line.

DEALS WITH LIQUOR QUESTION IN N. B.

Grand Lodge, I. O. G. T., Expresses Dissatisfaction Over Situation.

At its annual meeting, held at New Jerusalem, on Saturday night, the Grand Lodge, I. O. G. T. of New Brunswick dealt with the liquor question in the province.

The grand secretary's report contained an optimistic note also. While the order had suffered a loss of membership, new interest was being demonstrated and bright times might be looked for in the future, he said. A total increase in membership in the lodges now working was shown at $1. No deaths occurred in the membership throughout the jurisdiction, but feeling reference was made to the demise of Edward Wavrinaky, of Stockholm, Sweden, past international chief templar. In his report, the grand secretary viewed the prohibition situation in New Brunswick as being practically hopeless, due to the apparent uninterest of those having the responsibility for the administration of the New Brunswick Prohibition Act.

The grand treasurer reported a balance of $101.81 and spoke of the possibilities for organizing lodges if funds were available to meet expenses.

Political Report. The political action committee reported as follows: "We have noted that the chief inspector of the province is still dividing his working hours between that important vocation and his sheriffship. We believe that either of these positions is a full sized man's job and we must conclude that the Government of the province either consider Mr. Hawthorne a super-man or must know that both positions suffer. Should his work as Sheriff of York county suffer we are convinced that the Government would summarily dismiss Mr. Hawthorne.

Economy

use only enough Reckitt's to make the blueing water a pale blue shade

"We would reaffirm our confidence in the New Brunswick Prohibition Act, its fairness, workability and general benefit and, as the Premier has at many times through the press, signified the intention of his Government to give it a fair, honest trial, we would ask him when this will be done. "In the event of our soon having a general provincial election we would ask all friends of temperance to so act and vote that those favorable to law enforcement may be elected to represent them."

(Signed) Mrs. J. E. Mitton, S. T. Vallis, J. A. Triton, E. N. Stockford."

Officers Elected.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Grand chief templar, James A. McEachern; St. John; grand councillor, Jacob A. Triton, Moncton; grand secretary, George P. Kelly, St. John; grand vice-templar, Mrs. J. E. Mitton, Moncton; grand electoral superintendent, E. N. Stockford, St. John; grand superintendent of juvenile work, H. P. Gardiner, St. John; grand treasurer, T. B. Brown, St. John; grand marshal, William Vallis, New Jerusalem; grand chaplain, Miss Lily Machum, New Jerusalem; grand assistant secretary, Mrs. T. B. Brown, St. John; grand guard, A. Bailey, Moncton; grand sergeant, J. Fitzgerald, St. John; grand deputy marshal, Miss Elsie Machum, New Jerusalem; grand messenger, Alfred Garland, St. John; past G. The officers were installed by the N. C. T. E. N. Stockford, assisted by L. D. Owens and Mrs. W. H. Lockhart.

Henry W. McEachern, the deputy international chief templar, who is now at the Union Printers Home in Colorado Springs, was re-elected to that office.

SERGEANTS' MESS ENJOY BANQUET

Militia's Work Eulogized by Speaker—Rifle Team Presented Prizes.

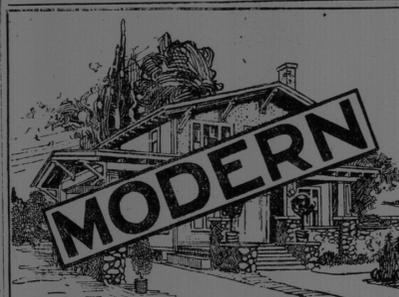

About 150 members and guests assembled in the Army last night at the Garrison Sergeants' Mess first annual banquet. The affair proved most successful from start to finish. The lecture room was tastefully decorated with hanging and streamers and in addition to the bright lights there were strings of colored lights along the ceiling. The whole brought forth great praise for the sergeants. Four large tables were arranged for the convenience of those present and with an able staff of chefs and waitresses, assisted by members of the mess, the service was all that could be desired.

At the conclusion of addresses, vocal and instrumental music as well as some literary numbers that were greatly enjoyed. Sergeant Major W. Ross, president of the mess, presided, and had on his right, His Worship Mayor F. L. Potts and on his left, Lt. Col. H. C. Sparling, D. S. O. Other guests at the head of the table included Major E. J. Mooney, Lt. Col. T. E. Powers, Major George Oland, Capt. G. Furlong, Lt. A. Morrison, Major A. Rainnie, Lt. Col. N. P. McLeod, Lt. Col. G. G. Corbett, Capt. Grant Smith, Lt. N. J. Scott, Capt. A. A. Dodge, Capt. A. W. Watson, Capt. Coolin and Capt. Donovan.

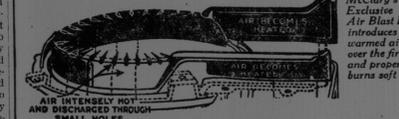

Respond to Toasts.

At the conclusion of the dinner a very enjoyable programme was carried out. The first toast was that to the King, and this was drunk to the usual musical honors. The city and its merchants was then proposed by Sergt-Major P. J. Griffin and responded to by Mayor F. L. Potts and Major George Oland. The toast to the national defence was proposed by Sergt-Major W. Ross and was responded to by Lt.-Col. H. C. Sparling and Lt. H. A. Morrison, Lt. C. N. V. R. The next item on the programme was the presentation of the shields won by the permanent force rifle team, composed of Sergt. W. J. Lake, Q.M.S. A. S. Jordan, Sergt. G. L. Landry, Sergt. D. Morrison and P.O. G. H. E. Thompson. The toast to Our Guests was proposed by R.Q.M.S. C. Moore and responded to by Capt. A. A. Dodge and Lt. M. J. Scott. During the evening vocal selections were given by F. J. Punter and Clyde Parsons, and musical selections by R. Layland and Master H. Thompson.

JOHANNY McINTYRE
OUTPOINTS BULL

Earns Decision by His Slashing Attack and Clever Defence.

SENSATIONAL BOUT

Fans at St. Andrew's Rink Thrilled by Great Showing of Local Boy.

Showing an uncanny skill at ducking and covering up and unhooking an overhead pivot which he delivered with remarkable speed and accuracy Johnny McIntyre clearly outpointed Johnny Bull, Canadian lightweight champion and claimant of the junior welterweight crown in St. Andrew's rink last evening. It was one of the best bouts staged in this city in years and it proved an eye opener to the large number of fans in attendance. Bull who has an enviable record in the roped arena was the general favorite in the betting and odds were offered that he would put McIntyre away, but although the hearts of the local boxing fans went for the youth who has made St. John the city of his adoption, they feared he would not be able to stave off the sensational Torontonian. However, there was a surprise in store for Johnny not only showed he was capable of holding his own against the Upper Canadian bewildered by his slashing attack and remarkable ability to hit from any angle. Bull had a big advantage both in reach and weight but these proved unavailing and he found his shorter and smaller opponent a veritable human dynamo. McIntyre put up the best exhibition of boxing of his career and proved conclusively that he is not only an adept at the art of defense but can assume the offensive and make a much better showing. Time after time he landed his right hand on Bull's face and body. The only time he left himself open was in the eighth round when he seemed bent on scoring a knockout and then willingly took three fast blows from the eight rounder to land his slashing right and left to the jaw. Flanking in this he quickly changed his tactics and started a terrific onslaught which brought the crowd to strict attention. From that on until the fight terminated he swapped punches and maintained an overwhelming lead which he secured in the first seven rounds.

In the first round McIntyre started after his man like a flash and using a fast overhead left and sweeping right swing hook Bull was completely bewildered and seemed unable to fathom the style and attack of Johnny. In the second round Bull was a better boxer and was met with an equally determined boxer who continued his terrific pace. This round ended with honors even. The third round went to McIntyre by a shade and the fourth was even. The fifth, sixth and seventh were close. The eighth and ninth were McIntyre's by a small margin. In the seventh Johnny shook Bull with a terrific onslaught to the head and it looked as if he might put over a finishing blow, but the bell ended hostilities and gave the Upper Canadian an opportunity to collect his wits. In the eighth McIntyre adopted different tactics and it was apparent that he was waiting for an opening to put across a knockout blow. In order to do this he held his arms lower and crept forward and in doing so fell a victim to three hard straight arm punches. The last a right to the jaw shook him and he immediately reverted to his former style. He started right after Bull but the attack came too late to prevent Bull from being credited with a pretty wide margin. In the ninth and tenth he seemed content to swap punches and maintain his advantage. When the bell ended hostilities the crowd eagerly awaited the decision of the judges and when McIntyre's arm was raised there was wild burst of applause. It was a consensus of opinion that if McIntyre continues to improve it should not be long before he becomes one of the leading contenders in his class.

In the preliminary bout between Young Palmer and the "Utah Kid" the fans were treated to a different kind of boxing. It was in truth a "slug fest" with Palmer being on the receiving end of the majority of blows. He seemed unable to guard his left jaw and time after time he was staggered with terrific drives that would have put away any ordinary man. In the fourth round he was sent to the canvas with a crash and it was apparent that he was nearly out. However, he was able to get up and working by instinct alone he weathered a storm of blows and held out until the bell sounded. He had difficulty finding his corner and unfortunately for him he lost valuable time reaching his seat. He made a mistake in the fifth by assuming the offensive and stopped a couple of hard punches which shook him to his heels, but he had evidently passed beyond the stage where feeling takes a part in the game and kept right on hoping to land a telling blow. It was not all one-sided by any means for he repeatedly reached his mark and slowed his opponent up. The "Utah Kid," however, was a better boxer and managed to hold him off until the bell ended. The judges' decision was a draw and this seemed to meet the approval of the fans.

AMERICAN TOURIST TRAFFIC

(The Maple Leaf, New York.) A really gratifying feature of the post-war period of Canada which has been characterized by such depression in so many phases of the national life is the marked and increasing favor with which the Dominion has come to be regarded by the people of the United States as a country of holiday diversion. Tourist traffic from across the line has developed at such a remarkable rate that it has come to be a great source of revenue, and the American tourist is now a major Dominion resource. Every summer Canada is flooded with Americans who penetrate into every section of the country. The year 1923 created a record in this regard, but it is evident that the present summer will establish new records.

Jack's Classic Profile
The Estimable Mr. Dempsey Takes His Synthetic Beak Out for an Airing

BUT YES, MY GOOD GOTTIEB, YOU WERE RIGHT THE FIRST TIME. THIS IS THE REAL MR. DEMPSEY. The picture, which was snapped while Gentleman Jack was watching New York police games at the Jamaica (L. I.) race track, affords a very good view of the new Dempsey proboscis—sometimes vulgarly referred to as nose.

Jack, you will remember, had his beak, which was somewhat shaggy and distorted from careless contact with flying gloves, done over by a surgeon. And whether our champion had his nose altered to improve his beauty, or, as he contends, to facilitate his breathing, is of slight matter. Of more momentous consequence is the fact that Jack's hand-made breezer gives him a rather wicked profile, if you know what we mean, and Jack Barrymore and Rodolph Valentino had best look to their honors.

BRITANNIA LAID UP FOR SEASON
King's Yacht is Dismantled—Scored Many Victories During Year.

Britannia, the King's yacht, has given up racing for the year and is being dismantled and laid up until next year. She is an old craft, but still in excellent condition and is one of the fastest sailers in England. She had a fairly open season this year and scored several notable victories. The King took a great deal of interest in racing, and was aboard the Britannia when she scored her most important victories. When the yacht was towed into the harbor at Cowes she hoisted twelve prize flags, seven first and five second place pennants. The season was a good one for her and in almost every race she won. The last race Britannia engaged in was the Dartmouth regatta and in spite of the heavy weather she did well. In heavy weather and when on a reach the Britannia draws a lot of green water on deck and is very slow, but she was well handled and scored over two of the most modern and fastest yachts in the regatta.

NO APPOINTMENT YET

Dr. J. S. S. Wetmore, Maritime director of the D. S. C. R., who was in the city yesterday, said that he did not expect any appointment to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. J. A. McCarthy, that of resident physician at the Lancaster hospital, would be made in the near future, and Dr. Skinner would carry on as at present for some time.

HELPING IMMIGRANTS

(Winnipeg Free Press.) There are almost insuperable difficulties in the way of a Canadian policy of putting up money to bring British emigrants here or advancing them money to get started here. Canada turned her back, years ago, on the "assisted immigration" plan of filling up the country and is still of the opinion that the balance of argument is against it. But if the British Government will "stake" a certain number of emigrants to a start in Canada the results ought to be happy all round if the system is carefully worked out and wisely applied.

WASHINGTON IS BASEBALL MAD
Events Postponed to Permit the President to Attend Opening Game.

(United Press.) Washington, Sept. 23.—So confident are Washington fans that "Bucky" Harris and his league-leading Senators will win the pennant that several ceremonies scheduled to take place on October 4, the opening day of the world series, have been moved forward or cancelled. President Coolidge was in danger of being able to attend but on the morning of Saturday, the twenty-seventh day of September, 1924, for painting Administration Building and Park of the New Brunswick Protestant Orphan's Home, St. John Co., according to specifications to be seen at my office, 147 Prince William street. No tender necessarily accepted. JAMES W. BRITAIN, 1924-9-25

The National capital continues to be baseball mad. Yesterday several thousand fans, both men and women, stood in front of the newspaper office in a driving rain receiving reports of the Senators-White Sox game in Chicago.

WORLD'S SERIES TO START OCTOBER 4

American League City Chosen for First and Second Games.

New York, Sept. 23.—The world's series will open in the American League city winning the pennant on Saturday, October 4, unless a tie in either league necessitates a play-off. This was definitely decided at a meeting of the club owners of the five leading teams with Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis. The first, second and sixth games will be played in the American League city, and the third, fourth and fifth in the National League city. Games will be played on consecutive days, the teams traveling at night. If a seventh game is necessary the owners of the two contending teams will meet and toss a coin to determine in which city the deciding contest will be held. All world's series games will start at 7 o'clock eastern standard time. If either league race ends in a tie, the president of the league in which the tie exists will call the owners of the tied teams together to arrange for a series of three games to determine a winner. In the event this is necessary, the dates for the world's series will have to be changed.

RUEL GETS CALL AS BEST CATCHER

Billy Evans Compares the Catchers of Contending Title Teams.

Ruel, Washington—Bats and throws right handed. Pronounced by no less an authority than the famous Ray Schalk as the greatest catcher in the majors. Fine mechanical performer with plenty of brains. Handles his pitchers well and is hard to outguess. Deacon at the bat.

Schwarz, New York—Bats either way, throws right handed. Great catcher, but a veteran who is getting on better with passing years. Has a wonderful arm, fairly accurate. Hits the ball hard when he connects. Very fast man as catcher goes. Does best work in pinch.

Bassler, Detroit—Bats left handed, throws right handed. Highly capable catcher who does his work in such an easy manner that he makes catching look easy. One of the best hitting catchers in the game. Healy is back in ideal temperament for a receiver. Woodall, who alternates with Bassler, is right handed hitter. Good performer.

Snyder, New York—Bats and throws right handed. One of the most valuable catchers in the majors. Handles his pitchers in fine style, has a fine arm and is a good hitter. Has played great ball in every world series in which he has taken part.

Taylor, De Berry, Brooklyn—Both bats and throw right handed. Capable performers back of the bat who are used about equally by Manager Robinson, the choice depending largely on the Brooklyn pitching selection. Only a few points difference in their batting last season, but this year Taylor enjoys a 50-point margin. Gooch, Schmidt and Smith, Pittsburgh—There is no one outstanding catcher here. Manager McKechnie decides on his backstop prior to each game, selecting the receiver he believes will best suit the occasion. Schmidt bats right handed, Gooch either way, Smith left handed. Rating—Regardless of which teams play in the world series, the catching will be well taken care of. Ruel, if he gets in the big series, should go strong in the game. Healy is wonderful. In all-round play he enjoys an edge on rest of field. Enjoying second successive big year.

GETTING READY FOR BIG RACE

Epinard, Wise Counsellor and Others Being Put Through Paces.

New York, Sept. 22.—It has been decided by the management of the Queens County Jockey Club that for International Special No. 2, to be contested at the Aqueduct track on Saturday, Sept. 27, there will be no reserved seat section in the grandstand. The whole grandstand will be open to the general public and first come first served, will be the order of the day. There will be no opportunity to purchase boxes for the race in which Epinard will meet the best of the American fillies. There are comparatively few boxes at the Aqueduct track and these were taken year after year by the regular patrons of the sport. They were long ago disposed of for the meeting. A half-dozen new boxes have been erected. One of these will be occupied by Pierre Weihenmayer, owner of the French four-year-old and his friends, while the others were snapped up as soon as they were constructed.

Those who are unable to find accommodations in the grandstand will have to spend the afternoon on the lawn or in the infield, which will be thrown open as was the case at Belmont Park. There will be a detail of mounted troopers from the State police to assist in handling the crowds. There was a departure made in the training methods for the big chestnut colt his miles at a gallop from 145 to 148. However, the colt was satisfied with them and they appear to have been a success. With Steve O'Donnell in the saddle, Trainer Walsh at the head of the stretch and John S. Ward at the finish line to restrain the horse in case he went a full mile fast, Wise Counsellor was a smoothly-riden mile, with the first quarter in 0:23 3/8, three furlongs in 0:35 3/8, the half in 0:47 4/8 and six furlongs in 1:13 3/8. It was an impressive work and great confidence prevails among the followers of Wise Counsellor.

Horsmen are becoming convinced that if there is a fast track the race will once more be among Wise Counsellor, Epinard and Ludkin, which finished in that order in the first event. Epinard worked his mile in the mud at Aqueduct in 1:40 2/8 and Ludkin the same distance at Belmont Park in 1:38. Those who have seen Epinard in his races in France and England consider that he is fast approaching the form which made him a great public favorite abroad in his own age. It is believed that he is becoming thoroughly conditioned and will be ready to give his best on Saturday.

PRINCE OF WALES A GOOD HORSEMAN

Said to Be One of the Most Daring Riders in England.

New York, Sept. 23.—(United Press.)—The Prince of Wales holds a strong feeling against the United States as a result of his visit it probably will be a slight resentment against the kidding he got from the parapsychic cartoonists about his horsemanship. The Prince probably would prefer to be handed the bird about anything but his riding, as it is his ranking passion and his greatest hobby.

The Prince, verge lately, does not resent the good natured jesting about the numerous times he has taken the trip from the saddle to the turf, but the British sportsmen of his royal highness do take exception to any wisecracks about his horsemanship. The sentiment of his subjects was aptly put in words by one of the grooms attending the Prince's polo mounts at Meadowbrook. The young lord was on the verge of demanding that the male members of the royal family take every morning in Hyde Park. The Prince is of very slight build and only weighs 130 pounds. He has been unsuccessful three times in riding the difficult steeplechase courses in England that are braved only by the gamiest horsemen. He insists upon riding horses far out of proportion with his weight and dashes over courses that the best steeplechase jockeys in England are thrown three times as much as the Prince, and there is no commotion made about it. The Earl Sande of the English steeplechase, might be thrown four days in a week and the news would be given in a paragraph buried down in the columns of the paper and that he went down at the such-and-such hurdle. But when the Prince falls, he shakes the world and every one makes mention of it outside of England.

It takes better than the average horseman to play polo, and the Prince has shown that he is very adept at the game. After he had played several first matches here some of the best critics on the sidelines remarked that he was a better rider than a player. So he can't be nearly as good as the cartoonists would make it appear. Being very strongly attracted to polo and horse racing, the Prince has tried his hand at broncho busting on his Canadian ranch. The leading British sportsmen went rather daffily over the riding of the American cowpunchers who completed in the rodeo that was staged as one of the big features of the Wembley exhibition in June. It was said at the time that the Prince had told Tex Austin and Al Day, who are nearly as good as the Prince would like nothing better than to take any bronk that came out of the shoot and give him a ride. Obviously he could not do it in public. It is probable that he would have given any of them a good ride.

The cowboys became quite a fad with the sporting element of the British nobility. Lord Derby, Lord Lonsdale and several of the leading sportsmen of their class attended the four opening shows of the rodeo and then threw a big party for all the cowpunchers. They were rather amazed when the punters showed up for the affair in the long-tailed soup-and-fish and under high hats, instead of twiggallon sombreros.

They were also surprised at the gentle manners of the westerners, much to the late Lord Northcliffe's who entertained Jack Dempsey at a fashionable luncheon and found that Dempsey would give an after-dinner talk as well as some of the most experienced speakers in the London clubs.

Dempsey, at that time, as the story goes, refused to take any beverage but milk, and ate so sparingly that his lordship thought the food was not to his liking. Dempsey told him that he always kept in training that he ate only one heavy meal a day, didn't smoke and drank only on rare occasions.

Doesn't know what it is. Other managers would give much to know how to handle men as well. Perhaps he whispers in the ears like some does with a horse's spurs. Perhaps 'em think they're great but they ain't. It is certain that he does whip them. But whatever he does, he certainly does it well.

Robby has something. Perhaps he certainly does it well.

Jackie Coogan Typifies Children's Dream Hero in Newest Picture

(By Jack Jungmeyer.)

Hollywood, Sept. 23.—Every youngster who feels he could, if opportunity afforded, perform prodigious deeds of valor in the face of horrid perils, even though he be afraid to go to bed in the dark, will cheer himself in the person of Jackie Coogan as the hero of "Little Robinson Crusoe."

The picture-story contrived by Willard Mack and directed by Edward Cline and Scott Dunlap for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer fairly bristles with terrors so creepy-delightful to little folks.

Jackie is a waif who finds himself shipwrecked upon a South Pacific island infested with cannibals. As he and his salvaged cat, together with a box of beans, drift across on flossing, he is hailed by the tribal medicine man as a long-expected war god.

Jackie's wit, nimbleness and resourcefulness under highly melodramatic circumstances, save the plants from being barbecued and the copra king's pretty daughter from being taken to a remote island. CHURCH CONCERT
GREATLY ENJOYED

De Moss Entertainers Give Stellar Performance—
Well Received.

The De Moss entertainers, known as "The Lyric Bards of America," gave an excellent concert programme before a large and most appreciative audience in the Douglas avenue church hall last night.

George G. DeMoss, leader of the troupe, was outstanding. Dr. DeMoss has been a professional musician since he was five years of age and he is still after the long period of 52 years as public performer an entertainer of the first rank.

Two of his numbers were something quite new to a St. John audience. In the first of these numbers Mr. DeMoss played as a cornet duet, the Miserere from Il Trovatore, giving a wonderful performance, equal to that of two cornetists of great skill.

As violinist and flutist the DeMoss Brothers, Elbert and Homer, gave every evidence of classic tuition and showed technique and feeling that would have done credit to much older musicians.

The vocal selection, "Sweet Arrogance," composed and written by Dr. DeMoss last night, has been adopted as a state song in his native state of Missouri.

Mr. Boudreau spoke along similar lines, urging specially that full support be given the association in its efforts to secure legislation.

Dancer Named "Miss France"

Mile Odette Florys, 17, dancer, has won the beauty prize offered by the French Cinema Syndicate.

Paris, Sept. 23.—Helen de la Croix, a girl just out of her teens, shot and killed Henri Durand, her sweetheart, in Paris after a drinking bout.

When she woke up at the police station the next morning and heard what she had done she burst into a hearty laugh and remarked, "What! I have killed Henri! That's a good joke."

The story, as the police have been able to extract it from the two survivors, seems almost incredible.

The evening started joyously. Henri, who was a commercial traveler, took Helen and Lucienne, one of the latter's friends, out to dinner.

They finished up with glass after glass of liquor, until they were all intoxicated.

Suddenly Henri accused his sweetheart of sharing her affections with a cobbler, naming their intention and asking forgiveness for the pain they were causing.

They then set out to put their plan into execution, after throwing the three letters into a pillar-box. But as they proceeded Henri sobered down and appeared to shrink from carrying out the pact.

At last Helen cried, "You are no man. Give me your revolver; I will kill you as you would kill me."

Henri handed her the revolver, and without a moment's hesitation she shot him through the head. She then fired at Lucienne, who was running away, but missed her aim.

Helen then fled and took refuge with the aforesaid cobbler, on whose premises the police arrested her a few hours later.

RAILWAY ELECTRIFICATION.
(Toronto Globe.)

The general manager of the Metropolitan Railways of London, Eng., and his engineers have discovered that the United States is far behind the Old Country in the electrification of steam railways.

They claim that electric power is a great improvement over steam for the lines running into London, because, for one reason, it becomes possible to operate with perfect safety forty trains an hour instead of fifteen to twenty over one line.

They will have still less to learn about railway electrification if they visit Canada. Although they have the finest water powers in the world, our railways are im-

PLAYERS SCORE IN THE HUMMING BIRD

Fashion Show is One of the Features in Play at Opera House.

"THE HUMMING BIRD," a comedy drama in three acts by Maude Fulton, produced at the Opera House by the F. James Carroll Players, staged and directed by Jack Matthews, assistant director, Philip A. Boland, scenic artist, Revard Graham, music by Opera House orchestra under the direction of J. Bayard Curtis.

Cast of Characters.
Herbert Smith.....Richard Pollett
Billie Newman.....Patricia Trevor
Philip Boland.....Nancy Duncan
Hendretta Fish.....Emma DeWaele
Latham.....Wynne Sullivan
Charles.....Clayton
Tolstedt.....Nancy Duncan
Leferrier.....Owen Cotter
Pollett.....Owen Cotter

A small section, carved out of the underworld of Paris, and transported to the lower east side of New York where the two are happily and touchingly blended into a delightful comedy that is the essence of the play which delighted a large audience in the Opera House last night.

Incidentally, Miss Duncan, the leading lady of the Carroll Players, was given her first real opportunity to demonstrate that she is a finished actress in all the phases of the character which was assigned to her.

Her frankly natural manner, with the most attractive of French dialects, she pictures the joys and sorrows, the peculiar criminal bent as well as the highly patriotic characteristics which were the stock in trade of the little Apache girl, who first of all led the Paris police a merry chase, and later—in the year years—proved herself the second Jeanne d'Arc of France.

Her bold composition of English proved the source of much delightful humor in the lines of the piece.

The balance of the honors in the play is fairly well divided amongst the other members of the company. Mr. Williams, as a budding newspaper reporter, has a light part from which he gets the greatest possible value, while the artist pal, played by Mr. Pollett, contributes a generous slice of the action and comedy in the play.

Miss DeWaele makes a charming picture of undisciplined, but too old, however, to be untouched by the charming figure of romance, finding a suitable vis a vis in the dashing figure of General Leferrier, played in excellent fashion by Owen Cotter.

Miss Trevor adds a spicy touch to the performance in her role of the sophisticated model, Billie, a role which she carried out with fine success. Miss Gilmore, although not prominent, has a nice little part, affording her some opportunity to display her excellent artistry.

Mr. Franklin looms up more in appearance than in actual dramatic work, but he makes a very good job of it in his usual complete fashion and he succeeds in making himself thoroughly disliked by the audience. Mr. Swift has a small English character part which helps along the action of the play.

The appearance of the various models in turn was greeted by applause.

As the garments seen last night was a very pretty turquoise Canton frock, with a pink front and outlined with many rows of crystal bugle beads and a floral beaded pattern in red and royal blue beads. Another striking frock was of cut velvet in royal blue on grey and trimmed around the skirt with blue and grey astrakhan. Then there was a gown of fuchsia canton with tiny sleeves, gold thread embroidery and pretty designs in self-colored and green beads.

A dinner gown of black crepe Romaine received unusually high praise. It was heavily embroidered in white with myriads of tiny white beads. One of the outstanding gowns of the evening was of sapphire blue crepe Romaine with pleated ruffles of alternate self-color and white down each side, and beautifully embroidered with colored beads.

Smart Hats.

Fifteen models embodying the last word in the milliner's art were displayed by the Spear Millinery Company. There were a director's model of black chiffon velvet, ermine trimmed, with scarf to match, and a Petrova turban of red buckle with neck pieces. The Ship hat and the Valentino salero were most striking. The dress models shown included a "Le Monnier," of gold cloth with cassia waist; "Lami," of black patent, off face shape with ostrich insets and brilliants; "Finner," model of grey angora cloth; "Gainsborough," with underbrim applique of flowers, and several very smart adaptations of the small hat for street wear, in all a very smart showing.

SEWING MACHINES INSTEAD OF TYPEWRITERS SEEM TO HAVE BEEN USED IN THE WRITING OF FIRST PLAYS OF BROADWAY'S NEW CROP.

By the New Play Jury.

New York, Sept. 23.—The first touch of cool weather sent impulsive Broadway, with its staff that might as easily be written on a sewing machine as a typewriter.

The season's new play, "Dancing Mothers," at the Booth, credited to Edgar Selwyn and Edmund Goulding, has been torn from the spreading fingers of the typist and rushed by taxi to rehearsal. The play itself is amusingly interesting.

It is a comedy in which the title character gets into a bad fix, as a matter of fact "mother" cannot dance, and has to "sit out" with the Don Juanish hero.

Up to a given point the play follows an easily recognized pattern. There is a rich husband who has a bathing beauty on the side. There is the "modern" daughter who gets full of cocktails and is beyond all control.

And the mother who finally rebels and steps out. Mother starts out to save daughter, only to stumble on to proof of her husband's unfaithfulness and steps out. Mother has three of the selfishness of the real and refuses to return home—despite tears and threats of all concerned.

Not a happy ending, many will say. Perhaps!

Cunning Helen Hayes is the flapper; Henry Stephenson, the husband; Mary Young, very fine in spots, the mother; John Halliday, a first-rate actor, is the sweetheart; Elsie Lawson, a perfectly thrilling "hard-boiled" type—altogether an excellent company. It is not likely the play will survive the season.

There came to the Vanderbilt "Dr. David's Dad," an adapted play that is doing a regular "Abe's Irish Rose" business in Berlin. There were things to indicate that in the German the play is probably built of good marketable stuff, but this is all lost in its adaptation. It is built along the "Friendly Enemies" line, but is fumbled.

"Easy Street," which came to the 59th Street Theatre, tried to be melodramatic, domestic tragedy—and all failed.

Disease Germs Doomed

Many have lost terrors for the Scientist

The progress of recent years in medical research is little short of marvellous. Daily, science kills germs by the million. Daily, new ones are being discovered, isolated and exterminated by the march of medicine.

Science is winning. What were once regarded as serious diseases are now laughed out of countenance by the doctors. Fearfully they plunge naked hands into swarms of them, their only precaution being to rinse their hands afterwards with a reliable germicidal preparation. We are witnessing the birth of an era when the world will have little to fear from microbes.

DENIES HE WAS OWNER OF LIQUOR

Man is Before Collector of Customs Lockhart in Case.

A man alleged to be the owner of a truck load of liquor seized by the customs authorities some time ago in the road near East St. John, appeared before Collector B. Lockhart yesterday afternoon. The customs officers had a declaration from the driver of the truck that this man owned the liquor, and it was on this evidence that the man was before the collector. Later, however, the truck driver repudiated his declaration and denied that this man owned the liquor. However, this did not satisfy the customs.

When the alleged owner appeared before Collector Lockhart yesterday afternoon he denied all knowledge of the liquor. As there was no other evidence available, the collector allowed the man to go pending further word from Ottawa, where the evidence has been forwarded.

The authorities refuse to divulge the man's name at present.

The truck, which was seized along with the liquor, has been valued and the duty figured on it, so that the owner can secure it again if he desires to do so by paying this amount. However, no application has been received from him thus far for repurchase of the machine, which is a valuable Reo truck.

PRESENTATION TO BISHOP LEBLANC

St. John Prelate Officiates at Anniversary Ceremonies in Verdun.

His Lordship Bishop LeBlanc blessed a carillon of 18 bells in the church of our Lady of Seven Sorrows, Verdun, Montreal, on Sunday in connection with the 25th anniversary of the church and the 25th of Rev. Mgr. J. A. Richards parish priest.

From dawn until well after dusk the town was the scene of church ceremonies and lay festivities. The celebration concluded at noon on Monday.

The celebration proper commenced at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, when clergy and laymen, headed by a band, went to the presbytery and waited upon Mgr. E. A. LeBlanc, Bishop of St. John, and escorted him to the church. There J. H. Garrau, representing the church wardens, presented an address to His Lordship, and, after a brief response, high mass was celebrated. Mgr. Richard officiated in the absence of the bishop, and presented the homages of the parish and of former parishioners. Following the mass, Major J. A. Leclair, in behalf of the city of Verdun, presented to Bishop LeBlanc an address and also a handsome cabinet. The service ended with the singing of the Te Deum.

Visiting clergy were the hosts at a banquet which was held at the presbytery at noon. At 2:30 Bishop LeBlanc, attending priests, the mayor and aldermen and leading citizens toured the principal streets of the city, with a band leading the procession.

At 4 o'clock, with the church crowded to the doors, the bishop blessed the bells.

In the hall beneath the church at about the parish was held at a banquet at which speeches were delivered by the principal guests, and the orations were continued at the foot of the Sacred Heart monument, which flanks the presbytery. On Monday Mgr. Richard claimed a requiem mass for the repose of the souls of deceased parishioners.

Rev. W. M. Duke accompanied Bishop LeBlanc on his visit.

BOYS SEND FUND OVER $1,000 MARK

Three Lads Hold Bazaar—Now On the Way to $1,100.

To three lads goes the credit of giving the Times-Star fund for milk for the babies a push that has sent the total over the $1,000 mark. They are Gordon Black, Donald McLeod and Travis Cushing. Realizing that there had been a slowing down in contribution towards the end of last week and feeling that they might do something that would bring not only their own results in dollars for the worthy cause but also perhaps remind others of the babies' milk fund, they organized a bazaar at 193 Queen street and then canvassed the neighborhood for support. Their announcement of enterprise was an attractive one. It read as follows:

SALE

For the benefit of the "Babies' Milk Fund," home-made candies and other goodies will be on sale in Mr. Black's garden, 193 Queen street, Friday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock. Admission 1 cent.

Committee in charge—Gordon Black, Donald McLeod, Travis Cushing. Convener ladies' committee—Frances Black.

A little picture of a baby was pasted in one corner. Their announcement having been judiciously circulated, they awaited results with much eagerness. And their hopes were justified, for when the receipts were counted it was found that the good sum of $12.50 had been realized. This was turned over to the treasurer of the Times-Star fund yesterday afternoon and came in nice time to send the total on the way to $1,100.

In addition, The Times-Star received today $8 from Mrs. H. A. Frank, Millerton, N. B., to add to the fund. These sums make the total today $1,008.88. It can be used at a good deal more, and it is hoped the money will keep coming in.

FROM WEST INDIES

R. M. S. P. Chaleur arrived last evening from Bermuda and the West Indies and docked about 8 o'clock at the Refinery wharf. The steamer brought 25 first class, one second class and three third class passengers in addition to 600 tons of raw sugar for the local refinery, a large general cargo and a consignment of mail. Among the passengers were the Misses Helen and Virginia Miller, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George Miller, Smith's Parish, Bermuda, who are on their way to attend Netherwood Girls' School at Rothesay. They are at present the guests of their grandmother, Mrs. Charles Miller, Douglas avenue. Rev. H. A. Melville, of Trinidad, was also a passenger. Charles G. Howell, of Leeds, Eng., arrived on his way home from Antigua. He is going home via the United States. The vessel was chartered on route to Hong Kong. The vessel, after discharging raw sugar at the refinery, will shift to the Pettigall wharf to discharge her general cargo.

SETTLES THE MATTER

As a result of doubts expressed about the city this morning that the boxer who opposed Johnny McIntyre in St. Andrew's rink last night, was not the famous Frankie Bull of Toronto, the sport editor of the Times-Star wired to Toronto to find out if it was Bull who fought here. The following telegram was received this afternoon from Lpu Marsh, prominent sporting man: "Bull boxed in St. John last night and was beaten."
