J. D. McKenzie Purchases Lawrence- town Creamery

A business deal of considerable importance has taken place recently, when the Lawrencetown Creamery was purchased by J. D. McKenzie, proprietor of the Creamery at Middleton.

For a few weeks the butter will be manufactured in Lawrencetown as usual, after that the equipment will be taken to Middleton and the butter manufactured there. It is expected that this will mean a considerable saving in operating expenses and shall result in the Patrons of both Creameries receiving a higher price for their butter than they would otherwise receive.

The combined output of these two Creameries is larger than any other Creamery in Western Nova Scotia, and the second or third largest in the Province, which means that the Annuals a Valley, is coming into its own in the Creamery business.

The former proprietors of the Lawrencetown Creamery Messrs. Neil and Johnson will both be employed at the Middleton plant.

Miss Miller Speaks at Women's Institute

MIDDLETON, Nov. 1.—The members of the Women's Institutes and friends met last evening in McDonald School Assembly Hall, when Miss Miller, Assistant Supt. of N. S. W. L. gave an interesting lecture on her work.

The speaker laid stress on the idea that members must be loyal to the society and to one another. Have confidence, and almost anything can be accomplished. Pay attention to educational work, to making the home a lovable place, study school law, and take an active interest in all legislation, to see that it lends to the common good, was some of her advice.

Miss Miller asked that the local committees keep in touch with the central ones as much as can be learned of the work in this way. Also pay attention to Parliamentary procedure. It fits members for many places in life giving them confidence and making them less self-conscious, and above all she urged, be a "good loser", remembering that others have opinions too, so learn to submit gracefully when over ruled.

Miss Brown, who is organizing home nursing classes in the Valley also spoke on her work, pointing out that the Red Cross peace time programme is war against disease. Appeals have come from various sources for instructions along health lines. The course is 12 lectures—three to be delivered by local physicians if possible. Age limit for class, 16 years and over.

A committee composed of Mrs. Starr, Miss FitzRandolph, and Mrs. Harold Rap was appointed to work with the committee on Public Health in the Institute, and see to the formation of a class. A surprise visit during the evening came from Miss McDougall, Supt. N. S. W. L. She spoke briefly, congratulating the Institute on the work accomplished and leaving the members with guide rules as an incentive to the organization.

A vote of thanks, moved by Mrs. Gwillim seconded by Miss FitzRandolph, was tendered by the President to the ladies.

A Grateful Letter

FROM A LADY MADE WELL BY DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

"I wish from my heart I could persuade every person who is run down in health to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial." Thus writes Mrs. Louise Mitchell, Oak Point, Man., who further says:—"About a year ago I was a weak woman, suffering from a run down system and impoverished blood. Any little exertion would cause my legs to tremble and my heart to throb violently. I could not sweep a room or walk fifty feet without being exhausted. Then I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after taking only six boxes I am as well and strong as ever. I can walk and run without stopping every few seconds gasping for breath as previously. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will be my stand by in the future if ever my blood needs building up again, and I shall always find pleasure in recommending them to anyone needing a tonic.

There are many troubles due to weak, watery blood which can easily be overcome by a fair use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The sale mission of this medicine is to enrich and purify the blood and when that is done all the varied symptoms of anaemia disappear, and good health returns. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Prince of Wales' "Little Grey Home in the West"

After having enjoyed about as much privacy as the proverbial goldfish during the international polo games near New York, the Prince of Wales retired to the quiet and seclusion of his Canadian "Little Grey Home in the West," 25 miles from High River, Alberta, a station on the Canadian Pacific, to rest for a few days, recreate and work far from curious crowds, reporters, still photographers and "movie" men. It is very pleasant, no doubt, to be the most popular young man in the world, but about once a year the rolling hills and rich prairie land of his "E. P. Ranch" call the Prince of Wales, Baron Renfrew or "Davy Windsor," as they refer to H.R.H. in Alberta, back to his land.

The prince is a real farmer and rancher, and is honestly endeavoring to improve the breed of horses, sheep and cattle in Western Canada. His pure-bred, imported animals and their offspring have won many prizes in competition at live stock shows in Western Canada, not because they were from the royal ranch, but because they were the very best exhibited. Since he bought his 4,100 acre ranch in Alberta in 1919, the prince has been sending to it the best stock he could secure in Great Britain, and every year he sells at auction the surplus animals for the benefit of live stock breeders in the western provinces. The Earl of Minto, who has a big ranch near-by, does the same thing. Also, King George loans the prince some of his best animals for the stud.

"He's a neighborly kid," said one of the members of the Alberta Shorthorn Breeders' Association. "When he comes out here we don't chase him as they do in other places. We just let him ride, and next thing you know he has all of us neighbors in as his guests, and meets us just as a neighbor. He wants to meet all the ranchers who are his neighbors, and there isn't a thing about ranching he doesn't want to know. His ranch is no fad. He is running it for the benefit of Canada first, and second for the purpose of making the 'E. P. Ranch' a business venture, just as any level-headed man would do. When he is on the ranch he wears a 'ten gallon hat,' the same as all of the cowboys, and he does his work daily like any other ranch hand. 'Regular feller,' that's what we call him, 'regular feller.'"

Cacti To Make Deserts Bloom

In hot, dry sections of America, particularly in Southwestern United States and Northern Mexico, grows a genus of peculiar plants known as cacti. These plants are rather widely distributed in the Old World but with the exception of a single species all are natives of this continent. Most of the cacti are shrubs with juicy stems bearing small, scale-like leaves and clusters of sharp spines. Originally these and other desert plants were essentially like plants which grow in higher altitudes where the rainfall is abundant and fairly evenly distributed throughout the year. Evolutionary processes, however, transformed them. To enable them to live in hot, arid regions portions of the stem were modified into flattened pads which largely supplant the leaves and serve as reservoirs for the storage of life-giving and life-preserving water; the sap became thicker in order that evaporation might be reduced to a minimum and sharp prickly spines were developed to discourage animals from devouring them.

If the three billion acres of desert land in the world are ever to be made productive, observes Dr. W. A. Merrill in Scientific American, it will be the cacti or plants similarly adapted to desert conditions that will accomplish this desirable result. About 1,000 species of cacti, half of them in Mexico, have been recognized, he says. They vary in size from plants no bigger than a man's finger to trees 60 feet in height. The cactus family is noted for the significance of its flowers, which are unusually large often fragrant and varying in color from white, yellow or orange to rose red, deep red or purple. The fruit in many instances is brilliantly colored, highly ornamental as well as useful, and lasts for a long time.

From the cochineal insect which lives on certain species of cacti comes the cochineal dye, a valuable red color. So minute are these insects that for a long time they were mistaken for the seed or bloom of the plant. The females furnish all the color.

In many parts of Western Canada the cactus plant can be found in great numbers, and bloom forth a very brilliant yellow flower. The plants possessing all the sharp points of other species.

VENTILATION MOST IMPORTANT FACTOR OF FALL HEATING

Householders who consider it too early to start the furnaces are using oil, gas or electric stoves to keep off the chill of the rooms. In many homes small coal or wood stoves are used until real cold weather sets in.

When using any of these heaters it is necessary to allow for ventilation. This is of prime importance. Oil, gas and electric stoves throw out a dry heat, which should be counteracted by a vessel of water set on the stove. This need not necessarily be the teakettle or any unsightly pan. There are attractive receptacles that can be used for this purpose, and these may really add to rather than detract from the beauty of the stove.

The electric stove, no doubt, is the most convenient and is recommended where economy need not be considered. An open coal stove is an ideal medium for supplementary heat ing. Fireplaces are now found in many homes, and these provide good ventilation, but much heat is wasted through the chimney.

Newspaper Asset To Any Town

There is, after all, no newspaper in the world that means so much to one as his own town paper. The daily, with its flaring headlines and its sensational news, coming red-hot off the wires, that tells us what is happening in the great outside world is a very necessary visitor to our breakfast tables. But there is another world—the world of our own home town—where all the actors on the stage of life are known to us where the way each acts his part in the drama of life is a matter of personal interest to all, where sickness and death, losses and accidents arouse something deeper than the passing curious interests with which we read of such happenings to unknown persons in the daily newspapers, and where the outstanding success or the winning of distinction by members of this little world become matters of pride and gratification to the whole community. And the recorder and chronicler of these happenings is the town newspaper. It is a community organization in which everyone should have a personal interest, and in which everyone should co-operate in an effort to have it present each week a correct history of the town and district.

BETTER GET A RADIO

By W. C. Besanson

If you live far from the town, And you can hardly get down, If you have a "radio," You will seldom have to go.

If a play you want to hear, It's on the radio nice and clear. If the markets trouble you, It's very easy what to do.

Get a radio and tune in right. Then sit and listen in at night.

If you are getting very bad, And a sermon you have had, Just tune in your radio And to church you need not go.

If you want to know the time, Or if the weather will be fine, Just listen in on the radio. And all these things you soon will know.

I have got a radio. It's a small one as you'll see. But I hear with bell-like clearness, Springfield and Schenectady.

Sometimes I can hear the others, When the air is clear and right. For the radio waves to travel Through the distance here at night.

It's a wonderful invention. And it's queer what men do know. So now if you want amusement Just procure a radio.

Generous Gifts

The immense value offered by The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal this season is meeting with the success the publishers deserve. These large calendars for 1925 with the beautiful pictures—"The Sale of Old Dobbin"—is proving a very popular premium, while the Ten Thousand Dollar Election Contest is a record breaker. For those who raise clubs of new subscribers, there is a catalogue of some very handsome and useful rewards. The Family Herald is securing thousands upon thousands of new subscribers by their generous gifts, added to the super excellence of the paper itself; in fact few homes will be found without that great weekly when Two Dollars will secure so much.

Odd Uses For Sawdust

Sawdust, which in the last century was one of those hopelessly waste products with which no one knew how to deal, is now in great demand. Builders use large quantities to pack between walls and so deaden sound, for sawdust is as bad a conductor of sound as it is of cold or heat. It is also compressed into roofing boards. Woodstone is simply sawdust mixed with magnesia cement, soaked in brine and subjected to heavy pressure.

xalic acid is made from sawdust, while both sugar and alcohol have both been distilled from the same substance. It has even been employed for the manufacture of paper, and of the wood silk now largely used as a cheap substitute for real silk.

CHANCE

He seldom lives frugally who lives by chance. Hope is always liberal and they that trust her promise make little scruple or revelling today on the profits of tomorrow.—Johnson.

Here and There

"Moose are plentiful in the Chapleau, Ont., district, and hunters can secure a good 'bag' of deer and bear," says J. W. McVey. Experienced guides can be obtained and hunters are assured they will get their limit.

"One of the things for which Canada is most to be congratulated is that she has established a system of education that compares favorably with any in the world. Canada is a nation of literates, she has a remarkably small proportion of illiterates," stated the Right Hon. H. A. L. Fisher, former Minister of Education in the British government, when disembarking at Montreal.

One of the many gifts offered by enthusiastic individuals to the Prince of Wales on his visit, the majority of which he could not for obvious reasons accept, was a package of French-Canadian tobacco grown on a farm at St. Roch l'Achigan, situated near the boundaries of Montcalm and Assomption counties. In a letter from the Alberta ranch the Prince through his secretary thanked the donor for the gift.

A cablegram from London, England, quotes an article in the "Financial News" dealing with the British Empire Exhibition. It stresses the exceptionally fine exhibit staged by Canada and the unquestionable benefit to trade relations it has effected. The article pays a high tribute to the Canadian Pacific Railway exhibit, describing the railway's gorgeously illuminated map of Canada, with its 5,000 incandescent lights as probably the most brilliant specimen of cartography ever seen at the exhibition or elsewhere.

It has been announced that H. J. Logan, M.P. for Cumberland, will accompany the Minister of Trade and Commerce to the West Indies to negotiate a new reciprocal treaty with those islands. The general purpose of the visit is to admit West Indian commodities free in return for Canadian manufacturers receiving similar treatment, the products of the two countries being entirely dissimilar. It is also hoped to build up a direct system of importations through Canadian ports instead of through the United States, by which route a great proportion of West Indian products now come to Canada.

The Canadian Pacific Railway has appointed P. A. Cox, general agent, to be assistant Oriental manager, at Shanghai, and E. F. L. Sturdee, acting general passenger agent for the Orient, to be general passenger agent for the Orient, with headquarters at Hongkong. Leo Solloway, recently appointed Asiatic freight agent, with offices at Montreal and supervision over Oriental and Australasian traffic via Pacific ports, has the distinction of being the youngest official in the Canadian Pacific Service. He was born in Vancouver, in 1895, and has been in the steamship freight service 14 years.

The winners of the Canadian Pacific Railway's Ontario bungalow camps fishing trophy competitions for 1924 were announced recently. The French River competition resulted in two competitors turning in fish almost identically alike. In this contest a tie was declared. The successful anglers were D. W. L. Hawkins, New York City, and H. H. Champ, Hamilton, Ontario, each entering a small mouth bass weighing exactly 4 pounds. The winning fish at Nipigon River Camp was a 6 pound, 10 ounce trout, caught by William Metzger, Detroit, Michigan. The Devil's Gap (Lake of the Woods) trophy was won by J. A. Furlong, Winnipeg, Manitoba, who entered a muskallunge weighing 20 pounds, 8 ounces.
