BETTER BE REASONABLE, SAYS THE VORWAERTS

Criticizes von Hindenburg For Statement as to War.

[Canadian Press.] London, Oct. 31.—The Berlin Vorwaerts, commenting on the Hindenburg statement yesterday, in which he touched on many phases of the war, says, according to a Berlin dispatch forwarded by way of Amsterdam: "He advises France to be reasonable and not to act as a further obstacle to peace. This advice will have a better chance of being heard abroad if we show ourselves reasonable too. If we are going to drag this war on indefinitely, then the whole of Europe will bleed to death and America and the colored races would be our heirs. But we want Europe to live, not Germany only, but all the nations. We want France to live. We have never hated her. We want peace now for England and Russia, peace for the whole blood-stained world."

COAL AT NEW YORK IS NOW $12 PER TON

Dealers Attribute Increase to Tremendous Consumption.

COAL AT NEW YORK IS NOW $12 PER TON

[Canadian Press.] New York, Oct. 31.—The high cost of keeping warm took another jump here today. Householders in New York City learned that coal in the domestic sizes, egg and nut, now brings $12 a ton. Dealers attributed the increase to the tremendous consumption of coal in factories throughout the country, which are running day and night to fill war and other orders at this time of the year; to the natural increase of coal orders at this time of the year; to the inability of railroads, because of a shortage in equipment, to haul all the coal that is ordered, and to the large increase in shipments of coal to other countries, chiefly Canada. There is no shortage, it is said, in the coal supply. Anthracite coal operators declare that the shortage of labor is largely responsible for high prices. Thousands of mine workers have returned to their homes in Europe to fight and others have gone to earn better wages in war munition factories.

A Red Day for City of Quebec

[Canadian Press.] Quebec, Oct. 31.—October will leave a red date end in the memory of Quebec City, for since yesterday the city has registered three tragic deaths and a greater number of serious accidents. Yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Swift, wife of Lieut.-Col. Swift, who is at the front with the 2nd Battalion, was instantly killed by a team of runaway horses on the Grande Allee. Yesterday afternoon Lucien Parent was crushed to death under a street car in St. Sauveur. Yesterday afternoon Blanche Gosselin, two years old, was scalded to death, falling into a washbowl. Odion Turgeon and Glorie Lamontagne were seriously hurt at Levis, falling down with a collapsible scaffold. Saturday night, A. Aube, a private in the 171st Battalion, was shot dead in an accident at a local shooting gallery.

HOW ENEMY SEES IT.

[Canadian Press.] Sofia, Oct. 31.—Via London, Oct. 31.—A series of desperate attacks by the Serbians in the eCrna River region, southeast of Monastir, on the Macedonian front, resulted in a singularly defeat for them, the war office announced today.

In the Mesoglia region, to the east, Bulgarian troops expelled the Serbians from trenches in the vicinity of Fonia.

"In the bend of the Crna there has been serious fighting. During the day the Germans, by a counter-attack, repulsed two strong enemy attacks near Valineto. Towards evening the enemy made several further desperate attacks on a more extended front, but was driven back with sanguinary losses.

"We attacked the Serbians and drove them from trenches near Fonia. An enemy group north of the Lumnitsa (a western tributary of the Vardar, in Serbia), was annihilated by our fire."

OBSTACLES REMOVED TO THE SHIPBUILDING

[Canadian Press.] Toronto, Oct. 31.—In an interview here yesterday, H. H. Stevens, M. P. of Vancouver, referring to the initiation of steel shipbuilding for neutral nations in British Columbia, whose orders have recently been placed for several vessels of from 4,000 to 8,000 tons, said there had been several obstacles to the promotion of the enterprise. The first was the uncertainty whether Canadian builders would be allowed to build boats for delivery to owners under a neutral flag, contrary to the imperial edict which had been acquiesced in by the Dominion Government. About a week ago this permission was obtained, under certain safeguards. There still remained the duty, and the Government has agreed to a drawback of 99 per cent on the duty on imported shipbuilding materials, when the vessels to be built are of over 500 tons, of a quality to secure standard registration, and provided such vessels are either British registered in Canada or are authorized by order-in-council to be exported.

REPRISALS ORDERED ON RUSS PRISONERS BY HUN GOVERNMENT

[Canadian Press.] Berlin, Oct. 31.—Via Sayville Wireless.—Measures of reprisals upon Russian prisoners have been ordered by the German Government pending the Russian Government's acceptance of German demands for improved treatment of German prisoners of war in Russia, according to the semi-official North German Gazette.

This newspaper states that the German Government asked of the Russian Government that it put an end to conditions which were causing suffering to German prisoners of war, and that the period given by the German Government for compliance having elapsed without a satisfactory answer from Russia, the German Government has ordered reprisals. To this end, it is stated, a number of commissioned officers belonging to crack Russian regiments have been transferred to a special camp, where the discipline is especially severe, and where they will remain until the Russian Government complies with the German request.

TORPEDOES SPLIT MARINA IN HALF; HITS CAUSED TERRIFIC EXPLOSION; MISSING NOW REDUCED TO THIRTEEN

STATE DEPARTMENT MUST SIFT FACTS OF MARINA'S LOSS

Washington Views Case Graver Since Sussex Affair.

AFFIDAVITS ORDERED

U. S. Govt. Investigation To Be Thorough, Says Secretary Lansing.

[Canadian Press.] Washington, Oct. 31.—Secretary of State Lansing said today that his reports on the destruction of the British ship Marina, with probable loss of American lives, still were too incomplete to permit of any conclusions or to allow him to discuss the case. Fuller reports, with affidavits of American survivors, have been ordered by cable.

This morning's news dispatches, saying some of the survivors had seen the wake of a torpedo and thought the ship was struck twice, added gravity to the situation.

Officials noted, however, that the British admiralty was not prepared to say the ship was torpedoed and that Consul Frost's report yesterday said she was destroyed by gunfire.

Entirely aside from the first aspects of the case officials made it clear that no conclusions could be drawn until all apparently conflicting circumstances had been gathered up and evidence had been cleared in legal form.

Admittedly the case was viewed as more serious than any other since the destruction of the Sussex, for it is the first involving the loss of American life; but the state department gave no evidence of tension as it set about gathering the facts.

Mr. Frost's telegram from the British admiralty said it had not ascertained whether warning was given.

[Canadian Press.] London, Oct. 31.—The British steamship Marina sank within ten minutes after being torpedoed, Westley Frost, American consul at Queenstown, reported to the American embassy today. He said survivors state the vessel was torpedoed without warning.

Mr. Frost's telegram to the embassy today said: "Fifty-two more survivors of the Marina landed at Queenstown. Only 13 now missing, believed dead. Not less than 35 American aboard, of whom six stayed at Queenstown. There will probably be some American fatalities. Survivors state the vessel was torpedoed without warning in heavy sea, sank within ten minutes."

SECURING AFFIDAVITS.

Mr. Frost is obtaining affidavits from survivors and ascertaining how many Americans are among the Queenstown survivors.

The United States embassy today received a telegram from the consul at Glasgow stating that the Marina left Glasgow October 25 for Baltimore and Newport, with 30 Americans aboard.

NO POWERFUL FRIENDS OF FOE AT METROPOLIS.

Only Germans at Liberty in the City Are Considered Harmless.

[Canadian Press.] Montreal, Oct. 31.—Local bankers do not attach any importance to the statement made in general terms by Thomas Curtin of Boston, and published in London and New York that the Deutsche Bank is entrenched behind powerful Anglo-German backing, and that Germany has powerful friends in Montreal and all through South America. They point out that trading with Germany in any form is absolutely proscribed, and any Germans that are still at liberty in the city are regarded as thorough harmless.

One wealthy German is a director of the Bank of Montreal, but since the war he has not taken any part in the affairs of the bank, and the rest of the directors are such that they would not for a moment countenance anything which had even a suggestion of backing up any German interests. There is very little German capital in any of the big business enterprises of the city.

It is also recalled here that some years ago when the old Sovereign Bank enlarged its capital that J. P. Morgan and the Dresdner Bank took up the majority of the new stock, but this bank has since gone out of business.

Sir Frederick Williams Taylor, general manager of the Bank of Montreal, when asked for an opinion about the article, said: "I give no credence whatsoever to the suggestion that there are important interests in Montreal friendly to Germany behind the Deutsche Bank."

Big Bull Moosers Back Wilson in White House Race

[Special to The Advertiser.] New York, Oct. 31.—Without a candidate of our own for president, we are unalterably in favor of the retention in office of President Wilson, under whose guidance and leadership more progressive principles have been engrafted upon our government than in any other administration. The above endorsement of President Wilson was contained today in a statement signed by eleven of nineteen members of the Bull Moose resolution committee that drafted the Progressive platform in Chicago. Five of the remaining members were signed by Democratic managers to be in accord with sentiments of the full statement, but they refrained from making a presidential choice.

MORE GIRLS EAGER TO MAKE MUNITIONS AND SERVE COUNTRY

Offers From Western Ontario Show Readiness To Make Sacrifices.

Inspired by the example of London girls who have offered to give up their leisure or the positions they now occupy to serve in wartime by making munitions, a number of young women from various points in Western Ontario have written to the registration secretary of the Women's Emergency Corps of No. 1 military district, Miss Sophie Porter, asking to have their names enrolled in the list of those who have volunteered for munitions making.

Miss I. Doig, 202 Albert street, Stratford, has written as follows to the emergency corps registration bureau: "Would you kindly register my name along with the rest for munitions work. If any young man wants to enlist, I shall immediately take his place. Let me know, please, as soon as convenient."

Much credit for the practical results being achieved by the Women's Emergency Corps is due to the women to their personal responsibility in war time is due to the quiet, earnest and continuous efforts of Miss Porter, though she spends only a few hours daily in the registration office in the city hall, her home telephone is kept busy at all hours owing to the many inquiries made by women who are just really beginning to be effective now," she said in The Advertiser some days ago. "We are now beginning to see the results of the educational campaign of the first few months."

"I am having more and more inquiries all the time to get into the corps who see the importance of releasing men for active service and who are willing to take the places of such men in factories, stores and other positions."

Miss Porter, who has registered as a munitions worker, a few days ago received the following letter from Tillsonburg:

"After having a very interesting talk with my girl chum regarding the conversation she had with you while in London, and also the fact that you had received from you, I would like to say I would give up my present position with pleasure to accept one in a munitions factory, provided I could be along with my friend, I am at present employed as a bookkeeper, but would like to do something for my king and country. I am willing to give up anything to do so. May I have my name added to your list?"

If references are necessary, I can send them to you at any time. I have one brother with the 15th Battalion. It seems I cannot do enough for them to satisfy my conscience. May I look forward to an early reply?"

Yours sincerely,
More Names.
The following additional names have been added to the list of young women volunteers for munitions work, published several days ago in The Advertiser: Clara Burgess, 1285 English street; Kathleen Walsh, 31 Wilson street; Lottie Crouch, 755 Queen's avenue; Maud Tomlins, 624 Wellington street; I. Recruiting plans for the Borderer Highlanders for the next week or two include meetings and campaigning in Guelph, Mitchell, Goderich and other places in this district. In Guelph a committee has been formed under the presidency of Aid. Westeryby, and it has been decided to hold a recruiting meeting in the Grand Opera House, Guelph, on the night of Sunday, November 5, under the chairmanship of N. Jeffrey, at 8:30 p.m. The kittees will have one speaker and two singers from the battalion with their pipe band; also moving picture reels to run at least fifteen minutes. It is the object of the committee also to have a local speaker and a city band. The members of the committee are: Aid. Westeryby, president; N. Jeffrey, George Thorpe, Joseph Hughtitt, James Lawson, Lance Howett, Charles Crow, Raymond Crow, Hannigan and N. B. Dulmage.

7,000 Eligibles in County. It was noted that in the county of Wellington the committee had a prepared list of 7,000 eligible men. It is also to be noted that the recruiting spirit has during the summer months absolutely died.

In Mitchell a committee was formed under the presidency of A. J. Blows, secretary of the Mitchell Recruiting League. A date will soon be set for a big meeting there, with Sergt. Knight to speak.

Hope to Get Sailors. In Goderich a committee was formed under the presidency of Rev. J. B. Fotheringham, with whom are associated Dr. A. C. Hunter, George Porter, R. G. HEAVY MORTALITY AMONG CHILDREN UNDER ONE YEAR

Over 25 Per Cent Died in October—Statistics Show Slump in Weddings.

The month of October was unhealthy for infants, according to the statistics compiled at the office of City Clerk Baker. Of the 80 deaths recorded, 21 were of babies under one year, or more than 25 per cent. Sixteen had reached three score years and ten. There was no particular epidemic. Diphtheria caused the demise of 6 persons, cancer 7, pneumonia 7, tuberculosis 7, typhoid 1, infantile paralysis 1, whooping cough 2, and cholera morbus 1.

There was a great slump in weddings. In 1915, 180 marriages were recorded, while this year there were but 49. No reasons have been advanced for the decline save that men are scarce.

The police court docket contained a variety of cases this morning. George Sivanson pleaded guilty to the charge of discharging firearms and was fined $1.

Burned Leaves. Henry Stanton appeared, charged with burning leaves on the street. He claimed he had been instructed to do so by his employer. The case was adjourned for a week, that further evidence might be obtained, and a summons will be sent to his employer.

Case Dismissed. The evidence of the traffic policeman and that of Frank Haldow differed as to whether he had passed a standing street car on Dundas street, near Richmond street, last Saturday. Haldow claimed that he pulled his horse up as quickly as possible and turned in front of a standing automobile. The case was dismissed without cost.

Must Move Them. The cases of three citizens charged with maintaining public nuisances were adjourned for two weeks, to give them an opportunity of removing them.

His Peculiarity. William Frase said he drank local option beer and as a result zig-zagged considerably on his way home along Clarence street one night last week. The policeman thought he was intoxicated, but William claimed that it was only his usual method of homecoming. He will pay a fine of $10 or reposit for 21 days at Castle Carter.

Has Found a Bed. Roy Strong found a bed, and as a result has no place to sleep. Constable Logan of the G. T. R. found him sleeping at the depot, and he appeared before Magistrate Judd charged with trespassing. Roy will have comfortable lodgings with Governor Carter for five days unless he pays $5.

ANOTHER PAYS FINE FOR SELLING IMPURE SYRUP

Magistrate Imposes $25 Penalty—Other Cases Expected to Come Up Soon.

For selling "maple" syrup which was not pure maple syrup a local grocer was fined $25 and costs in police court this morning.

The defendant's plea was that the presence of a large "M" on the label of the bottle did not necessarily indicate that the contents were maple syrup. The product was from Maples, Limited.

In giving his decision Magistrate Judd stated that he was not basing it upon the bottle or the label but on the contents. According to the evidence the defendant had sold a quantity of maple syrup but was not pure maple syrup. Formerly a grocer could not be fined for selling impure syrup, but an amendment to the act in 1915 prohibited the sale of any syrup which was not pure. The Canada Syrup Exchange also supplied syrup for the sale of which grocers were recently fined. In no case did the court attach blame to the grocers who offered the syrup believing it to be absolutely pure.

PURE, RICH BLOOD PREVENTS DISEASE

Bad blood—that is, blood that is impure or impoverished, thin and pale—is responsible for more ailments than anything else. It affects every organ and function. In some cases it causes catarrh. In others, dyspepsia; in others, rheumatism; and in still others, weak, tired, languid feelings and worse troubles. It is responsible for the run-down condition, and is the most common cause of disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the greatest purifier and enricher of the blood the world has ever known. It has been wonderfully successful in removing scrofula and other humors, increasing the red-blood corpuscles, and building up the whole system. Get it today.

BRIDES AND GROOMS SHOULD BE TRAINED, PRINCIPAL BELIEVES

G. F. Rogers Discusses Home and School Relations.

HOME WORK A MISTAKE

Thinks Children Should Begin and End Day's Labors in School.

"There are five great agencies at work in the development of your children from the state of pure savages in which they start life to that of civilized, educated people, the home, the school, the church, the vocation, the state," said Principal G. F. Rogers of the London Collegiate Institute, addressing the first meeting of the season of the London Mothers' Club Monday evening, in the auditorium of the Ryerson school on the subject of "Home and School."

"In a country such as Canada," he continued, "where education is compulsory, the home and the school are the most important of these agencies, dealing as they do with the most plastic period of a child. Of the two, the home stands first because the whole trend of the career is shaped in the first few years of life. The first impression, the mother tongue, lasts through life."

"The home and school are the two most closely related agencies of development, but the home differs from the school in one particular. It isn't very often organized, and it isn't given a great deal of attention to the organization of schools, churches, labor unions, the state. Any kind of a man select any kind of a child of a girl, and they set up a home, and the mother has a deal of attention to the organization of the home, and the school is the upbringer and educator of children. It is not strange that the law doesn't step in and interfere, as it does in the case of the school, to the point of dictating for homemaking. You must take a special course of preparation, add to your academic theory practice."

"You must know something about homemaking," he said to the audience. "You must show a certificate for knowing home cooking, home nursing, marketing and housekeeping." The man might be let off as a matter, and receive his certificate for being a good wage earner, having a knowledge of how to tend a furnace and stay home at nights.

Serious Business. "Homemaking is a serious business, and there are as many dangers caused by ill-tended and badly trained children, and a badly tended mother, as by incompetability. Parental instinct will never take the place of training and there are as many homeless houses in the avenue of the rich as in the slums."

Mr. Rogers paused, then made a remark which evoked laughter. "But I am talking to the women audience, the fact that you have identified yourselves with Mothers' Clubs to study these very problems, is evidence that you need this kind of an address about as much as a member of the committee of one hundred needs one on prohibition."

The speaker next turned his attention to the school as a developing agency. "The school is the biggest industry in the state," he declared. "The raw material brought to the schools is the greatest asset of the nation, and the products of this industry the most valuable Canada or any country can produce. The process involved in the school is the most difficult, because personality counts in it more than anything else."

"The fine building we are in tonight with its splendid equipment, is not the greatest asset for the practical training of the pupils who come here. It is the personality of the principal, the man who for fifty years has impressed his splendid personality upon hundreds of young people."

"One thing I very much regret is that our schools and class rooms are crowded, no matter how much is done to relieve this. The school classes are too big for the personality of the teacher to be impressed upon the pupils strongly enough."

"I have a vision in my mind of a boy in a class of say 25, taught by Miss X, who will carry him through the primary to the 8th grade, and he will be a good citizen, and a good citizen to his mother. The biographies of all great men show that their lives have been strongly influenced by some teacher. We don't know about the school or college but we do know that it is important for us to know is that 'the sat at the feet of Gamaliel.'"

Co-Operation. Following upon this phase of his subject, Mr. Rogers directed the attention of his audience to ways in which the home and school can co-operate in bringing the personality of the teacher to bear upon the pupil.

He urged parents to make it their business to become personally acquainted with the teachers of their children. "Hundreds of parents should visit the schools of London every day," he declared, adding, "I believe many boys have been saved for good citizenship through the personal attention of parents and teachers, who help one another to understand him."

Trying the advantage of smaller classes, "the whole trouble is that the parents are not talking all the time. I believe much better results would be accomplished if teachers had smaller classes, and half the time were devoted to supervised study. The parents of the city are not prepared to supervise the study of their children. The parents of the city frequently follow what the parents undertake to do Johnny's home work."

Authorities to Blame. "But don't blame the teachers, the principal or the inspector for the trouble in regard to home work and the present system. The school regulations of the province make the changes. Conditions of home life have changed. The family no longer gathers night after night around the table, and in the living room. Meetings, clubs, automobiles and the movies have changed all this. The trouble is, that the educational authorities haven't met these

GENERAL SING DEAD

Was Formerly Commander of Rebel Army in China.

[Canadian Press.] Shanghai, Oct. 21.—Gen. Huang Sing, formerly commander of the rebel army in China, is dead.

Gen. Huang Sing, formerly was provincial minister of war, commander of the southern army, military chief of Southern Fukien and president of the National senate. He was acclaimed by the Chinese reformers as the real author of the Chinese revolution in 1911, but recognized Dr. Sun Yat Sen as head of the reform movement and of their chief. He fled from China, and came to New York in 1914 for the purpose, he said, of studying western governmental methods. Later he returned to China.

WILSON OR HUGHES.

BECAUSE OF THE attitude of President Wilson toward the war, the presidential contest in the United States which will be decided on November 7 is of more than ordinary interest to Canadians, as such, and also as a militant part of the British Empire. Does his stand meet with the approval of the people of the United States, or will they elect Charles E. Hughes in the hope, but without the assurance, that he will assume a different attitude? This probably is the question uppermost in the minds of the people in this country. Yet this is only one of the campaign issues. In fact, it appears to be a minor question except among certain classes of voters, notably the pro-Entente and pro-German elements. So far as the country as a whole is concerned it is considered as of vital interest in the Eastern States; the Middle States view it with little interest, and the West with more or less indifference. Both Wilson and Hughes have served notice that they do not want the hyphenated vote; both have proclaimed in clear language their unqualified support of Americanism, first, last and always. Wilson points with pride to the fact that he has kept the country out of the war, yet he has made a last-minute confession that it cannot keep out of another such conflict. Hughes has not said that he would have acted differently, although he calls his opponent a weakling in his negotiations with the belligerents. On Hughes' right hand in the campaign is Roosevelt, the militant, and on his left is Taft, the pacifist. Roosevelt does not mince words as to what he would do if he were president, but Roosevelt is not the presidential candidate, and Hughes' record shows that he seeks his own counsel when he is called upon to take action.

So far as is now known, the presidential election will not settle the question as to whether the United States is pro-Entente, pro-Teutonic, or pro-neutral.

Many other issues have entered into the campaign, including the Mexican problem, the West Indies question, the tariff, "preparationness," industrial conditions and the eight-hour law. Wilson's friends point to his record. They claim his intervention in Mexico was unavoidable and was successful; his opponents claim it has been a fiasco. His friends point to his intervention in Haiti and San Domingo when United States trade interests were threatened; they say he has kept faith with labor; has refused to legislate for the few; has revised the tariff in the interests of the people as a whole; has defined the anti-trust law and established the federal trade commission in the interests of business; has brought about currency reform, including the creation of the federal reserve law; has established rural credits and consummated a treaty with Nicaragua insuring territorial rights along the canal. They point to his army and navy programs as evidence of his broad view of the necessity for preparedness.

The Republicans claim that Wilson's administration has been puerile and vacillating, as well as costly; lacking the strength in its foreign policy which a great nation demands; that it has considered expediency rather than right. They claim the Democratic tariff policy will isolate the United States when the war is over and will make the country a dumping ground for the products of other nations. They criticize Wilson's Mexican policy, stating that he should have recognized Huerta rather than Carranza. They charge that Democratic principles in general, and Wilson's interpretation of them in particular, militate against the welfare of the country.

In the main, then, it is the same old party fight between Wilson and Hughes, but otherwise it is possibly the most uncertain political campaign ever conducted in the country. At least four new elements must be reckoned with: the pro-Entente and pro-German voters, the women voters, the voters in the states bordering upon Mexico, the Hebrew vote. The appointment of Louis D. Brandeis to the United States supreme court bench, after strong opposition involving the hearing of charges, is liable to create a broad Jewish sympathy for Wilson. For the first time, four million women, one-quarter of all the voters of the country, will cast presidential ballots; both Wilson and Hughes have come out in favor of woman suffrage. The Southern States have always been solidly Democratic, but there has been great dissatisfaction with the handling of the Mexican situation. In addition to this, the labor vote is a force which Hughes must reckon with, because of Wilson's activity in passing an eight-hour law and averting the railway strike, he has the support of the railway brotherhoods and he has the support of Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor. For the same reason and probably because of the tariff question, Hughes is said to have the support of the business and moneyed interests, which in past elections have been able to swing the dinner-pail in front of the workingman. There is no dinner-pail question this time; it has been full all over before during the Wilson regime.

As usual, both Republicans and Democrats predict victory. The Republicans point to the fact that in 1912 there was a three-cornered fight with the Republicans divided; that Roosevelt and Taft, who at that time polled together more than one million votes more than Wilson did, are this year united and behind Hughes.

The people, of course, do not vote directly for president, but for presidential electors, who cast their ballots according to the party which they represent. There are 531 of these electors, comprising what is known as the electoral college; 296 votes are required for election. In 1912, although securing less than half the popular vote, Wilson had 435 electoral votes, Roosevelt had 88 and Taft 8.

Writers, attempting to give a political forecast, vary according to their political affiliations. The Southern States are usually conceded to the Democrats. Indications are that the New England States, the Pacific Coast and a number of the Central States will vote Republican. All presidential elections since 1889 the final result has depended upon New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Indiana, which have become known as the "pivot states." Most American writers this year give Connecticut to Hughes. New Jersey is Wilson's own state, but it has recently shown strong Republican leanings. Both parties claim New York, where the German and Irish vote may count considerably. Speaking generally, the German vote is normally Republican and the Irish vote Democratic. This year there will be a state election in New York simultaneously with the national election, and the Democratic candidate for lieutenant-governor is a native of Germany.

The Indiana vote is likely to be much mixed. Both Republican and Democratic vice-presidential candidates are from that state, while the presidential candidate on the prohibition ticket is ex-Congressman and ex-Governor Hanley of Indiana, a vigorous and resourceful fighter.

Especially in an election where both Republican and Democratic candidates have repudiated the hyphenated vote, the Socialist candidates cannot be overlooked. If the Germans do not vote for Hughes or Wilson, they have Arthur E. Reimer of the Socialist Labor party and Allan L. Benson of the Socialist party, neither of whom has so far put up any barriers to prospective supporters. The Socialist party in 1912 polled over 900,000 votes and its candidate this year is a well-known writer on economic and political subjects.

A VOTE ON CONSCRIPTION.

WHEN last September Australia failed to secure its monthly stipulation of 22,500 men, the premier, William M. Hughes, called for a vote on conscription. Australia had its Bourgeois as well as Canada, and with their usual capacity for virile action, the mainly Australian faced the issue. The result remains in doubt.

THE VOTE AS A REWARD.

THE Hamilton Herald replies to the Advertiser's view that suffrage should be accorded to women as a reward for war time services, by stating that if woman deserves the ballot now for national service, she has deserved it for generations. But the fact is that while she has deserved it, an argument which the Advertiser admits, she has not received it. Do men not all advance by reason of reward, because of some shining deed or by wresting the plumes of victory from hands that have withheld them? Man never won the franchise until he struggled for it; woman has gained the right to it in years of toil and service, but she has yet to be given her "promotion" as men are given advancement for worthy acts in business life and on the battlefield.

This should be a great night for the Canadian boys at the front.

In the American dictionary there is no such word as "accountability."
Our hearts go out to Miss Columbia, with no father of his country to protect her.
The contemptible attack on the newly-appointed city auditor has been laughed out of court.
Come on, Candidate Hughes, what would YOU do about those drowned Americans? Are they men or rats?

headline. It's a long, long way back to the blowing up of the U. S. S. Maine.
Of course all of the older heads have the idea that they could teach the modern youngster how to stage a real Halloween.

How valiantly those American armies fight—"Somewhere in Long Island." The only thing they get shot with is a motion picture camera.
"I kept you out of war"—The president.
"You put us into a watery grave"—The lost sons and daughters of America.

A Detroit paper reminds the British that they have not caught the Kaiser yet. And a lone Mexican bandit named Villa has only been caught by the moving picture man at this writing.
"O ho!" said the Hun, "there's Yanks aboard."
As he shot from his undersea boat. "Let 'em drown like a lot of fear-stricken rats."
"Por all they can shoot is a note!"

A London insurance agent points out in his advertising that 24 automobile accidents were reported in London during October. Practically an accident a day occurs. Caution would have averted almost all.

If London had a public hall of its own it could now be securing the wonderful free films of the bureau of commercial economics, which treat matters of manufacture and science in a marvellously effective way.
Child Betterment, a social welfare journal, again calls attention to the destruction of child life by fly-poison. A long list of victims is printed, and a call sent out to parents to protect the lives of the little ones by using safe fly-catching devices.

"He kept us out of war," as applied to President Wilson, is about on a par with "He didn't strike the horrid man," as applied to one who would stand idly by and see a helpless person brutally beaten and take a few slaps in the face as well.

As usual, a number of people called up to ask The Advertiser if the 16th Battalion had been sent to the bottom. And when a resounding "No!" was shouted at them the indignation was excusable. The public may rest assured that the curbsome rumor on war news is almost always a lie and perhaps a pro-German lie.

Our Protectors, the Belgians.
To the Editor of the Advertiser: Would you kindly allow me space in your paper that I may say a few words on behalf of our friends, the poor Belgian people. If there ever were a people deserved our sympathy and help it is the Belgians. We are indebted to them. We owe them a debt which we can never repay. They have sacrificed their all, and in giving that whatsoever help we can, we ought not to consider it a case of charity, but I consider it is just simply paying our just debts. I often wonder how really value the great sacrifice that the Belgians made when they resisted the German army from having a free and unmolested march through their country. They could easily have let the Germans go through their country and thus have saved their beautiful country and homes, and also the lives of their friends and their friends. What would have become of the French nation? They were unprepared to meet the onslaught of the German army. How long would it have taken the German army to subdue the French and overrun their country, and they would have been in a position to dominate the English Channel. They would have been masters of the situation. They could have blocked the channel with their long-range guns and prevented the English troops from getting across. And the chances are that England would today have had to fight them on their own soil. The Belgians turned the tide of the war and upset the plans of the Germans, and now when the Belgians are in such dire straits themselves it is up to the Allied countries to help them, because if left to themselves it would mean starvation, and there would be only two courses left to them, either to starve or to place themselves at the mercy of Germany. So it is to our own interest to help them if we wish to shorten this war, because if the Belgians did commit themselves to Germany they could renege their own men in their ammunition factories and put the Belgians in their places instead, and thus Germany would be strengthened to fight against our boys. We dare not allow such a thing to come to pass at this stage of the war. So, reader, never complain nor refuse to help your friends the Belgians.

The Advertiser's Daily Short Story
Their Father's Friend
BY CATHARINE CRAMER.

"Anything startling in the evening paper, dad?" asked Betty Allen as she perched on the arm of her father's chair and bent her head to scan the headlines of the paper he was reading.
"Nothing exactly startling, but here's something that ought to interest us." He pointed to a paragraph and Betty began to read:
"Theron M. Clay, candidate for Congressional representative from the seventh district, will be one of the speakers at the political mass meeting at Stanhope Hall tomorrow evening. Mr. Clay has a brilliant record as an attorney and is said to be a gifted orator."
"Whew! That doesn't sound so interesting to me," said Betty. "Besides, I'm going to Mrs. Andrews' dinner dance with Jerry Davis tomorrow evening."

Butterscotch Recipe.
Dear Miss Grey—Am sending a blue block for "Aunt Nannie's" love quilt. Hoping it will not be too late and will fit in somewhere for this quilt.

Has anyone a good recipe for butterscotch candy?
I will sign as before.

MAPLE LEAF.
Ans.—Block will go forward with the rest. How would this recipe suit? Three cups white sugar, half cup water, half teaspoon cream tartar, and tablespoon butter. Boil without stirring to the crack degree; add 1/4 teaspoon soda and teaspoon lemon extract, and turn into well-greased pans, having it about one-quarter inch thick. When partly cool cut into squares with a well-greased knife.

A Baby's Comforter.
Dear Miss Grey—I want to make a baby's comforter from wool bats. In a catalogue I have by me these are quoted as being 70x75 inches, weight

2 1/4 lbs. Will someone who understands tell me would one thickness be enough? And can they be obtained in smaller sizes?
Not having an egg in the house and wanting some pancakes "powerful bad" I concocted the following with satisfying results: One cup milk, 1 cup flour, 1-4 teaspoonful salt, 1 good teaspoonful baking powder, 2 tablespoonfuls cornmeal (enough for two). Serve hot, liberally spread with butter and corn syrup.

An Englishwoman taught me to pour boiling water over chickens' feet, to stand five minutes, then take off toes and skin. These boiled in with giblets thickens and "richens" the gravy.
"Thank God, if I am killed I die doing my duty," and I know he did. It's hard to bear, but the best way is to busy yourself knitting for the others. I just think knitting is fine work, although I can't knit as good as older people. I would just love to send goodies and bits of home news to some very best friends, and would do so if I could. Would I just send them to you? And, dear friends, the most we can do is little enough. I know you will all think I'm an old maid, so will sign myself, who run and gossip with a neighbor and cry hard times. Of course, there is truth in some things "Scribble's" situation? There is a God above who will look after us, when other things fail, and if we trust in Him he will help us. We don't know what is in store for us, so we should not complain. In closing, I wish to state in my busy life I look as fresh as any young girl who has nothing to do but primp, simply because I am cultivating my mind as well as my garden. Hoping I have not taken too much space.
YOUNG SPINSTER.

How to Avoid It.

Dear Miss Grey—Lately I have seen a few letters on "The Cause of High Prices."
The first great cause is the great conflict now fiercely waging in Europe. This renders help scarce and the quantity of provisions needed by the soldiers leaves Canada short of food for her own people, and hence prices are high. Then, secondly, the summer was not a good growing season for grain. The spring and early summer were too cold and wet, which proved injurious to many crops that were sowed in low land, and immediately and suddenly after this rainy spell the weather became so dry that the crops were baked by the sun and did not get their growth. Then a great many of the wheat fields were ruined by rust. Even the crops out in the west were very poor (in some places anyway). This fall there is an insect working in the wheat fields which will no doubt render wheat as scarce next year as it is this. Wheat is now $1.50 a bushel, onions 65¢ a peck, flour $4.20 a bag and sugar $5.50 a bag. On account of the ill-filled heads of grain this year stands-a seed will be very scarce next year and prices cannot help but go higher to higher. Women can do the best they can, but on a hundred-acre farm that "best" would be very little.

When a suede bag becomes greasy looking, rub it with fine emery powder. Stains in carpets may be removed by rubbing with the half of a lemon.

Killing the Calves

—All sorts of excuses are offered for the high price of beef, the most plausible being the alleged demand for veal—"the killing of calves which should be allowed to grow into regular beef." You cannot have beef if you eat it as "veal," but you can have Shredded Wheat Biscuit which contains more real nutriment than beef and costs much less. Shredded wheat biscuit is the whole wheat steam-cooked, shredded and baked. Make it your "meat" for ten days and see how much better you feel. Wholesome and strengthening for any meal with milk or cream or in combination with fruits.

Daily Bible Question Club

By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D. D. (All Rights Reserved.)
The six daily studies for this week constitute the International S. S. Lesson for next Sunday. Read the Bible Story on which this study is based, as you ponder the following questions:
"Shipwrecked on Melita (Malta)," Acts, xxvii, 33; Acts, xxviii, 10.
Golden Text—"Jehovah redeemeth the soul of his servants; and none of them that take refuge in him shall be condemned." Psalm xxvii, 22.
5 Verses 40-41—Why may prayer and fasting when you ought to be eating and working, be as great a practical crime as scuttling the ship?
6 If a man's choice is between wrecking his business and saving his soul, which should he do and why?
7 Verses 42-43—What reason did the soldiers have for their advice to kill the prisoners to keep them from swimming ashore and escaping?

You have a bad cold!

Then listen! Cold attacks the lungs and the breathing passages direct. Ordinary cough mixtures and syrups do not touch the lungs, but go direct to your stomach, which is not siling. Peps, on the contrary, goes direct to the very seat of the trouble.

Peps are tablets containing essences and medicinal ingredients so prepared that when placed upon the tongue they immediately turn into vapor, and are breathed down the inflamed air passages to the lungs, direct.

Peps medicine takes the form of heating vapor, and cures colds, coughs, bronchitis and lung troubles, just as living in Pine woods and breathing Pine-needle air prevents consumption and cures chest weakness. Tightness across the chest, pain between the shoulders, hacking cough, sore throat, asthma and bronchitis are the ailments which, in particular, Peps have been designed to cure. Peps will soon end your bad cold.

Testimonials for Peps have been given by members of the Canadian Parliament, doctors, lawyers, eminent Canadian musicians; all going to prove that Peps have been found a cure for throat and chest trouble, often when other remedies had entirely failed.

FREE TRIAL—Cut out this article, and mail it, with 10 cents (for return postage) to Peps Co., Depot St., Toronto, and we will send you a free trial package of Peps. All druggists and stores sell Peps. 50c box or 2 for $1.25. See the name Peps (four letters) on each box before buying.

Dear Miss Grey—Would you be kind enough to print once more in your columns, directions for making a rose-jar?
What do you think of my writing? Thanking you in advance for an early reply, I am,
A FAITHFUL READER OF YOUR PAGE.

Ans.—I have located a formula contributed last summer by a reader: "Here is a recipe for pot pourri, which will endure for years, perhaps until we are grandmothers. Obtain a jar with a double top, and coat the inside with a mixture of five drops oil of rose geranium and one of glycerine; drop a layer of loose rose petals which have been dried in the sun 24 hours, and shake well; each day add more rose petals, shake jar and add three drops oil of geranium mixed with a tablespoon rectified spirits; when jar is full it must stand open for two weeks to ripen; then, stir among the leaves a mixture of one teaspoon ground cloves, one of oil of cinnamon, and let stand over night; in the morning contents of jar are emptied into a basin and three drops attar of roses and one drop of glycerine are poured into jar; put petals back and sprinkle into them six drops oil of lavender, six drops oil of rosemary, and one ounce powdered tonka bean; this completes the process; the jar is covered and put away; during next month when jar is full it must stand open and the contents stirred."
2. It is very neat and dainty.

VERSE--New and Old

OUR "SHUT-IN" FRIENDS.
"Twas a quaint old corner cupboard,
My friend unlocked one day,
Where the choicest bits of china
Were safely laid away.
And I wondered such things of beauty
Were hidden thus from sight,
Things that were surely made
For use and our delight.

But she said, "They are all too precious,
Too fragile for daily use,
Too fragile for careless touches,
Too frail for the least abuse;
We keep them here in safety,
Shut in from dust and dirt,
Shut in from meddling fingers,
From aught that can harm or hurt.

"But when on some festal day
We bring out the brightest and best,
Then we carefully take them away
And their beauty shines so bright,
It certainly does alone
For all of the many days
They are shut in here, alone."

Then I thought of the darkened rooms
Where so many are shut away,
From the pleasures and joys of earth,
And the cheerful light of day;
The Master may think them too precious
For the crowded walks of life,
So He keeps them safely hidden
From its troubles and its strife.

But when at the feast to come
He gathers His jewels bright,
He'll place them honored of all
Where they'll shine in His glorious light.
Their names he will proudly own,
For they've grown to His heart so dear,
Is it surely not proof of His love,
His keeping them 'shut in' here?"

Starting Savings Account.
Dear Miss Grey—I am just starting out for myself, and want to start a savings account. To whom would I apply at the bank—the ledger-keeper or the teller—and what is it necessary to say?
A person may draw checks on a savings account, may she not?
Thanking you in advance,
PRELUXED.

Ans.—Good for you, little business-woman; I like to see our girls learning to save. They are usually so good in the banks that one soon gets the scared feeling that accompanies the first visit. Go first to the ledger-keeper and tell him you want to open a savings account; he will give you a form to fill out with name, address, etc.; likely then you will be passed on to the teller, to whom you confide the amount of the deposit; he will make out your deposit slip (but afterwards you should do this yourself, there is always plenty of forms on the counter desk), and you proceed once more to the ledger-keeper's window to receive present your bankbook, all entered as nice as can

M'KENZIE AND TAYLOR TO FIGHT AT SARNIA

Jerry Dalton Sprains Wrist—Taylor Takes His Place.

MILL STAGED THURSDAY

Lively Bout Promised for the Tunnel Town Fight Fans in Auditorium.

(Special to The Advertiser.)

SARNIA, Oct. 30.—Tony Zaccano, promoter of London, was in the city on Saturday last, and a change has been made in the boxing exhibition which has been arranged for Thursday evening. In the main bout of the evening, the fight was to be between Billie McKenzie and Jerry Dalton awaiting the bell, Zaccano has received word that Dalton had the misfortune to sprain his wrist.

Taylor From Chicago. Taylor has been in Chicago and is reckoned a fast man around the Windy City. Tony has seen Taylor in action at Whitefish Bay, Wis., and says that he will make McKenzie chase right along to clean up on him. He is one of the fastest lightweights fighting around Detroit.

McKenzie sprained his wrist in the second round of his bout with the London last Friday night, but states that he will be in good trim for the Chicago lad. There should be a good crowd present to witness the first bout in Sarnia, as many of the boys who have a reputation for getting the best ones, and has grabbed two of the best for his initial bout here.

CONNIE'S CASTOFFS STILL IN GAME

Although in Philadelphia only a few members of the famous old Mackinac team are left working for Connie Mack, none of the lustrous players who took part in the wonderful playing of the Athletics, are missing from the club.

In nearly every club which finished well up among the leaders in the big league races just finished, there are one or two players who were cast off as cast-off or sold by Mack when he began the dismemberment of the club.

Among members of the world champion Red Sox are Jack Barry, who played shortstop in the 1909-1910 championship season, and Jimmy Walsh, outfielder.

The Dodgers, champions of the National League, also have a former Athletics star in Jack Coombs, one of the most remarkable comebackers of all time.

With the White Sox are Eddie Murray, Jack Lapp and Eddie Collins, all of whom were members of the noted Philadelphia juggernaut team.

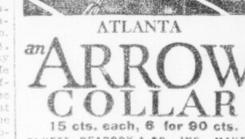

Frank Baker and "Rube" Claring took part in the fine race made by the most consistent winning pitcher of the New Yorkers.

Eddie Plank, victor in many a tough season's battle, went through a successful season with the Yankees in Philadelphia, but on the National League, another member of the former "Invincible" Athletics did duty.

Chief Bender, after a trip to the Yanks, went back to the city of his first love and worked the season for Pat Moran's Phillies.

The Braves held in their tepee no members of the famous team in which they put their trademark in four straight games two years ago.

But in the two leading clubs of both National and American League former Mack stars played a big part in keeping them in the race until late in the season. Bender's assistance to the Phillies was of the silent kind, but his work was good at times, and his advice was admitted by Moran to be worth more than one point in the race.

HERE ARE THE HOME RUN SWATTERS OF BIG GAMES

Sixteen Ball Stars Have Walloped Pill for Home Runs Since 1903.

Charles I. had his Cromwell, Napoleon had his Wellington and Johnson his Willard, but Rube Marquard had both his Baker and his Gardner, and between them they cooked him to a finish. Rube has been an unlucky world series performer, and home runs have been responsible in no small degree.

Three times he has been a bright and shining mark for round-trip raps. Baker homered off him in 1911 and 1913, and what Larry Gardner did to him is too recent occurrence to require retelling.

This game Gardner tore off a home run clout in 1912, and his two swats this year in him with Baker for his honors. The following record of home run swatting in world series is timely: 1903—Pat Dougherty (Boston Americans) 2; Seaver (Pittsburgh), 1; 1905, 1906, 1907, none.

1908—Fred Clarke (Pittsburgh), 2; 1909—Fred Clarke (Pittsburgh), 2; Duvy Jones (Detroit), 1; Sam Crawford (Detroit), 1.

1910—Danny Murphy (Athletics), 1; 1911—Frank Baker (Athletics), 2; Rube Claring (Athletics), 2.

1912—Larry Doyle (Giants), 1; Larry Gardner (Red Sox), 1.

1913—Frank Baker (Athletics), 1; Schang (Athletics), 1; Merkle (Giants), 1.

1914—Hank Gowdy (Braves), 1; 1915—Harry Hooper (Red Sox), 2; Duffey Lewis (Red Sox), 1; Luden (Phillies), 1.

1916—Larry Gardner (Red Sox), 2; Hy Myers (Brooklyn), 1.

GREEK PROTEST TO GERMANY SEQUEL OF TRANSPORT SINKING

Government Will Act Follow in Sub's Attack. LOSS OF LIFE GREATER

Said to Reach 200 Now—Rescuers Warned Off by Hun Ship.

ATHENS, Oct. 30.—The torpedoing of the Greek steamer Angeliki on Saturday near Piræus, with many Germans aboard, was carried out without warning, it is stated here. This action is believed to indicate that since the capture of Constanza the German submarines have obtained a new supply of benzine, enabling them to resume operations in the Mediterranean.

Greek naval officers are particularly bitter that the attack seems to have been made within Greek territorial waters, only a few miles from Salamis, where a formidable allied fleet has been stationed since September 1.

The loss of life is now said to reach 200, though the full number aboard the Angeliki is not known.

The submarine, it is further stated, warned ships endeavoring to rescue the Greeks, to keep off.

"FOGHORN" M'DONALD THE BEST KNOWN MAN IN CANADIAN ARMY

Miner From Everywhere Enlisted Two Years Ago as Private at 53 Years—Now an Officer of the "Black Devils"—Popular With His Men.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Correspondence of the Associated Press—"Foghorn" McDonald admits he's a "Scotch as caxine," but what he doesn't have to admit is that he is beyond doubt the best-known man in the wonderful big army Canada has sent to fight for the mother country.

How the Name Came. "Foghorn" was born Neil Roderick McDonald, but there are comparatively few who know him by the distinguished name.

There are plenty of Germans who know "Foghorn" too. In the days of the deadly deadlock, when trenches crept closer and closer together, he was back there from the very beginning.

Not to know "Foghorn" McDonald is to miss one of the big human personalities of this war. It is not difficult to realize what a tower of encouragement and strength he is to the soldiers at the front.

"He is the sort of officer whose men would follow him to the gates of hell," declared Major "Eddie" Holland, a long-time friend, and a V. C. of the South African.

"And speaking of hell," he added, "there may or may not be something in the Black Devils."

"The new Russian armies are as good and as bad as the former. The main quality of the Russian is their obedience. He makes no progress of a military kind; only the Russian artillery has been good."

"Well, sir," he explained, "it's a man's war, by God, sir, and every mother's son who's out there doing his bit. I was a full-fledged buck myself once, and I know what they've got to go through."

"A Transport Officer. "Foghorn" has been serving for some time as transport officer of the Black Devils, and you may remember that the front lines on what he describes himself as "a mighty fine horse."

"One night," he said, "we were taking some loads of ammunition away up an off-road in the dark, and the enemy opened up on us with a machine gun."

"A day or two ago a staff colonel from Canada, walked into my room, and he said to me, 'Hello, 'Foghorn.'" he called out. "I heard you a couple of blocks down the street and came in to see you. Do you remember me?"

"Remember you?" repeated "Foghorn." "Why, bless your brass-hatted old soul, I'd know your hide in a tanyard."

"A brass hat" is the army name for all staff officers, and it comes, of course, from the abundance of gold braid they wear on their caps.

"Gosh!" said "Fog." "Why, the boys are getting so gay out there one of our battalions came parading up to the front line trenches the other day with a brass band playing for all it was worth. They were right where you could get killed in minutes, too, and even my old boss thought they were crazy."

"Gross! I'll be getting back to the front soon myself," he concluded, with a sigh. "This quiet life of London is getting on my nerves."

VON HADENBURG SAYS WAR'S CONCLUSION IS IN HANDS OF ALLIES

Declares Nobody Knows When Peace Will Come.

WILL CONTINUE FIGHT Famous German Denies That Western Line Is To Be Shortened.

BERLIN, Oct. 30.—The situation is as good as possible, and all will be well also in the future.

This Field Marshal von Hindenburg, chief of the German general staff, described the present German situation to a representative of the Vienna Neue Freie Presse when he received at headquarters in the presence of Gen. von Ludendorff, first quartermaster-general.

Do Not Think of Peace. "We do not think of peace. We are absolutely determined to continue the war, as is shown with sufficient clearness by the preparations of the allied (British) army commands."

The correspondent in turn reported to Field Marshal von Hindenburg the general feeling in Austria-Hungary, declaring it was full of confidence and satisfaction, but that everywhere the end of the war was wished for.

The field marshal replied: "We all wish the end of the war. The Austro-Hungarian people have accomplished their full duty during this war, and have made all the necessary sacrifices which were necessary. But still new sacrifices must be made."

Gen. Ludendorff interjected: "Tell your Austrian friends that there is only one efficient means for ending the war; a firm will to end the war by victory. For who knows when the war will end together, they must realize that no way but war leads to peace. Munition is not abundant, and the number of the troops brings the final decision, and the morale of the German and Austro-Hungarian troops is superior to that of all our adversaries. Nevertheless, munitions mean much in this war."

Asked whether there was any chance that the war would end by a decisive blow, Gen. von Ludendorff said: "Perhaps. The trend of events must show this. I prefer to make no statement."

Says Russians Being Exhausted. As to whether the Russian masses shall be exhausted, Field Marshal von Hindenburg replied: "They are already becoming so. The Russian commanders have charged themselves with that. There is no doubt also that they have no difference. We, too, have enough men, Germany has enough men, Austria-Hungary has enough men, and in Austria-Hungary the reserves are by no means exhausted. We never were short of men. The Russian army is not so numerous as we are. We know no numerical superiority."

Gen. von Ludendorff, taking up the subject of the Russian army, said: "The Russian army is not so numerous as we are. We know no numerical superiority. The Russian army is not so numerous as we are. We know no numerical superiority."

Admits Russians More Efficient. "The new Russian armies are as good and as bad as the former. The main quality of the Russian is their obedience. He makes no progress of a military kind; only the Russian artillery has been good."

"During a certain period the Russians had more munition than we formerly had. Their munition supplies have now become diminished because of the end of importation by way of Archangel and Vladivostok."

The correspondent asked whether in the opinion of the chief of staff the Russian army was still a formidable force in the east, to which Field Marshal von Hindenburg replied: "It is a formidable force. One does not have to be an army commander by attributing to the Russian army a great deal of credit. Where and how that shall be done can only be decided each moment anew on the basis of events. Therefore, my decision can be looked for as well in the east as in the west."

"It is nonsense if they tell you that I intend to shorten my front in the west, never thought of it. Why should I do that? The front in the west stands as firm as a rock, and if our enemies by gigantic use of artillery have managed to break through, in order to do so they would still have to attack for 20 years, provided they had enough men."

SAYS DEUTSCHE BANK ENTRENCHED BEHIND BRITISH INTERESTS

George Nichols Must Serve Four Months in Auburn Prison.

ASTOUNDING STATEMENT IS MADE BY D. THOMAS CURTIN.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The Sun this morning published another installment of a series of articles written for London Times by D. Thomas Curtin of Boston, dealing with internal conditions in Germany, in which the astounding assertion is made that the Deutsche Bank is entrenched behind powerful British financial interests, and that German officials have frequently declared that the British Government "dare not close this mixture of spying propaganda, banking and export." According to Mr. Curtin, Montreal is named as one of the cities in which it is claimed Germany has such "powerful friends."

Excerpts from Mr. Curtin's article follow: "The Deutsche Bank bears no comparison to an English or American bank. It is a political and industrial enterprise promoting institution. It is entrenched behind powerful Anglo-German backing. I have been informed often that the British Government dare not close down this mixture of spying propaganda, banking and export that seems so foreign to the Anglo-Saxon way as to be almost inconceivable."

Exploit Resources. "Coincident with the plan of destroying foreign shipping and maintaining German businesses in the enemy's country is the exploitation of the coal and other mines, oil wells, and forests in the occupied territory."

LAKE OF THE WOODS MILLING CO., LIMITED, MONTREAL.

Winnipeg Contempt Case Postponed Till Dec. 11. Attorney-General Seeks Commitment of Editor for His Statements.

Winnipeg, Oct. 30.—The court of King's Bench will consider on December 11 or possibly at a still later date, the application made by Isaac Pitblado, K. C., on behalf of the attorney-general, to commit to jail for contempt of court Knox Magee, editor of the Winnipeg Saturday Post.

Mr. Pitblado also asked for a rule nisi, calling upon Edward Beck, managing editor and Charles Roland, president and general manager of the Winnipeg Telegram, to appear and show cause why they should not be committed to jail for contempt or otherwise dealt with.

Mr. Pitblado said the motion was made on behalf of the attorney-general to commit Knox Magee for contempt of court for certain articles published by him in the Winnipeg Saturday Post, and by reason of the publication of certain statements in the Montreal Star on September 27.

Mr. Pringle, speaking briefly, said the case was one "of the greatest possible importance, not so much as regards the individual, but because it involves the great principles of the liberty of press and liberty of individuals."

Mr. Pringle claimed the procedure adopted was not regular, and sought to show that Magee should have been proceeded against by information, and should have had a trial by his peers committed for trial. The procedure, he said, was obsolete, he said Mr. Pringle wished it understood that though participating in the case he was not waiving any of his objections.

Mr. Pitblado briefly defended the procedure adopted. He said that the articles complained of "tended to degrade the administration of justice and cast discredit on the courts."

Judges Not Prosecutors. Chief Justice Mathers read a brief statement to the effect that the judges were in no sense prosecutors in the case. The prosecution had been undertaken by the attorney-general, he said.

Mr. Pitblado expressed his agreement with this statement of the case, and added that proceedings were undertaken because the articles complained of "tended to degrade the administration of justice and cast discredit on the courts."

DRINK A GLASS OF REAL HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST.

Says we will both look and feel clean, sweet and fresh and avoid illness.

Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides with results that would be a blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is as necessary to attend to internal sanitation as to the external system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy nose, cold tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether sick or well, should, each morning before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary system.

The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating, clearing the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity, and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast, the phosphated hot water is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are both sick and constipated, bilious, spotted, stomach trouble, rheumatic stiffness, others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions, are urged to get a quarter pound of Limestone Phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

GIVEN COMMISSION TEN MINUTES BEFORE JUMPING TRENCHES. Another Ten Minutes and He Was Alone.

LIEUT. LYON'S EXPERIENCE. Won D. C. M. But Refuses To Talk About the Occasion.

Lieut. Allan Lyon, 16th Battalion, Canadian Scottish, is home on leave from the front. He reached the city Monday, carrying with him a slight limp to remind him of the attentions of the Germans.

Lieut. Lyon won his commission in the trenches after almost twenty months of hard fighting with the Canadian Scottish. He enlisted in Victoria in August, 1914.

After going through all the big fights, including Neuve Chapelle, second Ypres, Festubert and the trench fighting around "Mustard," he finally got his "big bite" last June during the "counter-attack" of the Canadians which retook the ground lost to the Germans near Arras.

He was notified of his commission about ten minutes before the 16th was ordered over the parapets. In ten minutes more he was company commander, as most of the officers of his company were wiped out.

Lieut. Lyon won the D. C. M. for conspicuous gallantry in the field, but one week later he was gazetted to the particular incident, as Lieut. Lyon is dumb on the matter. In fact he treats it as a joke.

Lieut. Lyon has been given three months' leave, and will not have to report to his battalion for some time yet. He is residing with his father at 207 Talbot street.
