FRANCE ASSUMED INITIATIVE IN OCCUPYING GERMANY, ONLY WHEN DEVELOPMENTS JUSTIFIED MOVE

Reports of General Nollet, Head of the Allied Mission Into Germany, Indicated That the Machinations of the Militaristic Party Were Intended To Slowly, But Surely, Secretly Arm Thousands in Violation of the Versailles Peace Treaty.

Berlin, April 9.—A member of the French military control commission in Berlin is quoted by the Zeitung am Mittag as saying that the French advance is not due to imperialistic or militaristic influences, but was brought about mainly through reports of Gen. Nollet, head of the mission, who was able to look behind the scenes.

What is going on there, this authority declared, "is calculated to inspire the deepest distrust regarding the machinations of the German military leaders, who more than ever feel themselves masters of the situation.

"With growing concern," he said, "we observe a system of deliberate concealment on the part of the German military officials. It is impossible to discover what quantities of arms of all kinds exist. The suspicion grows that the leading German militarists are far from intending to disarm, and, if the scheme of the so-called temporary but continuous arming of local guards materializes, we must energetically object, for such a system means nothing else than secret militarization of the German operation."

FRANCE AND GREAT BRITAIN MUST HAVE A BETTER UNDERSTANDING

Paris, April 9.—The British attitude regarding the French occupation of Frankfort will cause the opening of a diplomatic conversation between the powers of the Entente concerning the whole subject of action with regard to Germany, it was said today in official circles.

In this conversation the French attitude will be based first on maintenance of the entente, and second, on strict execution of the treaty of Versailles.

The French, although declaring themselves not satisfied with some of the terms of the treaty accepted it as finally signed and now consider it sort of a charter as regards relations with Germany.

Great Britain, it is thought here, considers it rather as a sort of elastic basis of settlement of European affairs which is capable of divers modifications.

Conciliation of these viewpoints will be the object of the ensuing conversations, during which France, it is stated, will probably ask Great Britain whether it stands for execution of the treaty.

The opinion is expressed that while maintenance of the Entente is the first point on which future conversations must be based, there appears to be a need of readjustment of the relations of the Entente powers. The original understanding having been to ward off the menace of aggression by Germany, it was continued during the war with the view of not winning the war, but was never adjusted to after-war conditions, which, it is asserted here, require a more comprehensive accord.

MACHINE GUN WAS FIRED INTO GERMAN CROWD BY MISTAKE

Frankfort, April 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—Assertion that there was no intention to fire a machine gun into a crowd here on Wednesday, and that the incident was really a mishap, is made by a French officer who witnessed it. Fear on the part of a French soldier that the crowd intended to rush the patrol in the street led to the tragedy.

This man, it is declared, put a belt of cartridges into the gun for the purpose of firing one shot to disperse the crowd. The explosion of the gun, however, caused the soldier in charge of it to lose his head, and the whole belt was fired. It was explained by the officer that every care had been taken to prevent a repetition of the accident.

Inquiry has failed to obtain confirmation of a report given out at the mayor's office that a woman and girl were struck by revolver shots fired from the windows of the Imperial Hotel, where the French have established their headquarters, last night. This report stated a crowd gathered in front of the hotel, following the shooting in the Schillerplatz, and made a hostile demonstration until dispersed.

The ban on the publication of newspapers was removed yesterday, and several printed editions later in the day. Journals will not be subject to censorship, French officers declare, if they refrain from printing articles tending to incite the people to disorder.

A press bureau has been established by the French, and in it is hung a picture of a ruined French village. This picture bears the caption: "Germany has ravaged France."

BRITISH STATEMENT REGARDED IN PARIS AS "A BITTER PILL"

Paris, April 9.—Great Britain's attitude relative to the advance of French troops into German territory east of the Rhine, as defined in press dispatches from London, is viewed by newspapers here as a bitter pill for France, and it is considered the action of Belgium, supporting the policy of France, hardly compensates for it.

"Pertinax," the political editor of the Echo de Paris, writes an unusually savage article, attacking Premier Lloyd George, whom he calls a "demagogue."

St. Brice of the Journal is more impartial, and blames all of the allies of France in more measured terms. He incidentally declares:

"It is shown that false reports were spread by some American newspaper correspondents in Germany, and one of these, the rumor that President Wilson had sent an ultimatum to France, provoked the Frankfort incident."

U. S. TO BE OBSERVER.

Washington, April 9.—America's attitude toward any adjustment of the new situation created by entry of French troops into the Ruhr district of Germany, will continue to be more that of an observer than an interested participant, from what can be learned in official circles here.

INJUNCTION SOUGHT TO PREVENT MEMBERS FROM INTERFERING

Publishing Society Alleges the Christian Scientists Are Retarding Its Efforts.

Boston, April 9.—A bill was filed in the Massachusetts supreme court yesterday by Herbert W. Eustace and other trustees of the Christian Science Publishing Society, seeking a temporary injunction to restrain Luther P. Cudworth, of Brookline, and other members of the First Church of Christ Scientist, from "taking further action intended" to interfere with them in the discharge of their duties or to compel them to resign their offices as trustees.

The bill alleges that the defendants have entered into a plan and conspiracy for the purpose of nullifying the effect of the decision of Judge Dodge, master in the suit of the trustees against the directors, in favor of the plaintiffs. It is allege i that the defendants have conspired since the decision of the master was filed.

It is charged that the defendants in pursuance of the alleged conspiracy have undertaken to procure the cancellation of subscriptions by Christian Scientists to the periodicals of the society, have interfered with employees to hinder, delay, and prevent the publication of periodicals on their appointed dates, and have sent out false and misleading statements regarding the administration of the trust by the trustees.

Charlie Chaplin In Real Fight Over His Wife

Noted Film Comedian Comes Out Second Best in Scrap.

Los Angeles, April 9.—The rough stuff of "reel life" has nothing on the rough stuff of "real life."

Charlie Chaplin, film comedy star, today can so testify as a result of an encounter he had last night with Louis B. Mayer, manager of Mildred Harris Chaplin, in the lobby of a leading hotel.

According to witnesses, Chaplin challenged his wife's manager to "take off his glasses." Then the scrap was on. Chaplin swung and missed. Mayer swung and landed. Then came the clinch, during which Chaplin went to the floor. His head struck a scaffold used in hotel repair work and blood was drawn.

By this time hotel attaches were on the job. Chaplin was borne off to a room to staunch the flow of blood, and Mayer disappeared from the hotel.

Witnesses said Chaplin, who met Mayer first in the hotel dining-room, attributed the conflict to advice Mayer was said to have given Mrs. Chaplin in regard to her proposed divorce proceedings. Friends of Chaplin said the comedian had charged Mayer with using his influence to widen the Chaplin family split.

ST. KITTS ALDERMEN FIGHT FIRE WHILE FIREMEN STRIKE

Several False Alarms On First Night of Walkout.

St. Catharines, April 9.—The first night of the firemen's strike was marked by several false alarms and the burning of the grandstand at the lacrosse grounds, which was completely destroyed at 5 o'clock this morning. A total absence of wind enabled the volunteer firemen, chiefly aldermen members of the city hall staff, to prevent the flames from spreading to the bleachers and frame dwellings in the neighborhood.

Chairman Rose of the civic fire and light committee announced this morning that ten permanent men were at work at the fire stations today, in addition to the chief, assistant chief and volunteers. He declared that applications were coming in satisfactorily. Until the halls are fully manned, the men will be on steady duty of 24 hours daily.

BRITAIN'S ATTITUDE TOWARD FRANCE IS SCORED BY TIMES

London Newspaper Regards Anglo-French Situation As Delicate.

CRITICIZES PREMIER

Declares Government Statement On Occupation a "Rude Shock."

London's April 9.—The London Times says that a crisis has arisen in Anglo-French relations, and that, contrary to assurances that the differences of opinion between the Allies regarding the violation of the neutral zone by German troops were about to be composed by a friendly understanding, it appears that the British Government yesterday took steps to emphasize their disagreement with the policy of France.

The Times adds that during the day M. Camben, the French ambassador, had a long interview with Earl Curzon.

"Soon afterwards," continues the paper, "one of the premier's private secretaries, Philip Kerr, of Bullitt fame, invited the representatives of the provincial press to Downing street and informed them of Mr. Lloyd George's standpoint. Simultaneously a private communication on similar lines was addressed to the London press, and variously worded communiques were issued for publication through the news agencies. These statements are understood to have been on the same lines as Earl Curzon's representations to the French ambassador.

Independent diplomatic testimony, according to the Times, is to the effect that the German Government is in reality controlled by militarists. It is therefore held that France was justified in acting swiftly while her allies were talking.

Opposed to Lloyd George.

The Times has been consistently distrustful of Germany and strongly antagonistic to Premier Lloyd George. In an editorial this morning the paper expresses extreme indignation at the British Government's attitude with regard to France's occupation of German neutral territory, as set forth in the "authoritative" statement issued last night.

"We seldom have read a more lamentable or more shameful exposition of British policy," says the newspaper. "Is this the return we are to make to France for all that she has done and suffered by our side?"

The Times regrets the French "error in judgment" in sending so many African troops to Frankfort, saying this will give the Germans pretext for indignant protestations; but it thinks that otherwise the French action effected great good and "brought the Germans to heel." The newspaper then proceeds again to deplore the British Government's declaration, and says:

"For the sake of no national interest, no European interest; for the sake of nothing less ignoble than small personal vanities hurt by the independent action of the French, and of supposed personal and party interests baser still, all that has been accomplished is jeopardized, and those Anglo-French relations on which we hoped to rear the fabric of a new world have received the rudest shock since they were founded by King Edward and M. Delcasse."

LLOYD GEORGE'S STAND.

London, April 9.—In official quarters last evening it was alleged that a note had been dispatched to the French Government through the British ambassador at Paris.

The substance of the premier's argument is that by her occupation of German towns in the neutral zones France has acted against his views and the wishes of the other allied statesmen, and without consultation with them. Italy, Belgium and the United States are alleged to have been opposed to the French plan. As regards Belgium, the Brussels telegram shows this statement to be incorrect.

A discussion had been proceeding for some time in regard to various suggestions dealing with the situation, but no agreement had been reached. One proposal was that German forces should be permitted to occupy the Ruhr area under guarantees, to be defined by Marshal Foch. Another was that allied officers should accompany the German troops. A third was that matters should be left entirely with the German Government, with the intimation that if the neutral zone was not evacuated as soon as circumstances should permit, the Allies would claim the right to occupy important German centres."

ALBERTA CATTLEMEN ALARMED BECAUSE OF SHORTAGE IN FEED

Winnipeg, April 9.—The cattlemen of Alberta are facing a critical situation on account of the late spring. "We are in the lifeboat and can see the end, but are not sure whether we will get there or not," declared George Lane of Calgary, well-known rancher, who was in Winnipeg on his way to Montreal on business. "There is more snow in Alberta now than I have seen at this time of year in 35 years. The cattle cannot get out on the range to feed, and our supply of feed is getting very low."

NUGGET MINING AT PINE HILL

Schooner Captain Unable To Get Crew, Sails Craft Alone

Atlantic City, April 9.—Distress signals flown by the two-masted schooner Marion Curtiss, off Barnegat, late last night, brought coast guardsmen rushing to her "rescue." They were welcomed by Captain Constance Bowen, who was alone on deck.

"Where's your crew?" asked the guardsmen, suspecting there had been a mutiny aboard.

"Didn't have any," the skipper replied. "I navigated her myself."

Captain Bowen explained that when he left Mizpah, Conn., more than three days ago, he was unable to recruit a crew except at wages which would have eaten the profits of his voyage. He had aboard 12,000 seed oysters consigned to Atlantic City shippers.

The skipper declared that when he felt sleepy on his lonely voyage he anchored his craft and took a snooze. When he felt hungry, he said he hove to and cooked his meals. Just before reaching this port, he ran into a gale which crippled his gear and necessitated his calling for outside help.

Ordinarily, navigation of a vessel of the size of the schooner on a trip of this kind requires five men.

ONTARIO LIKELY TO HAVE OWN DIVORCE COURTS SOON

Ottawa, April 9.—Two bills were introduced in the Senate yesterday, the effect of which would be to give divorce courts to all the provinces except Quebec. This would have the effect of taking divorce cases out of Parliament almost entirely, since of the hundred odd cases now before the House, mostly from Ontario and Quebec, the proposition is about a dozen from Ontario to one from Quebec.

The only provinces which have not set up their own divorce courts are Ontario and Quebec, while the power of Prince Edward Island courts has been limited. The two bills introduced in the Senate yesterday give divorce powers to the supreme court of Ontario and to the courts of Prince Edward Island. In the latter province, it has been claimed, there has never been a divorce case so far.

WILL PROSECUTE TO LIMIT CHICAGO GRAIN 'CORNERERS'

Chicago, April 9.—Attorney-General Palmer today sent instructions to United States District Attorney Charles F. Clyne, here, to prosecute to the limit, on criminal charges, any persons shown by evidence to be connected with the bringing about of the alleged "corner" in corn.

The instructions from Mr. Palmer were received while the federal grand jury and government officials were checking over the books of nine big grain concerns subpoenaed by Mr. Clyne on Wednesday..

At the same time it was revealed that indictments are to be sought not only against those who performed alleged overt acts in connection with the "corner" which culminated in the $4,000,000 crash of Eugene M. Hoyne & Co., but also against persons found to be in league with the few who engineered the manipulations.

VETERAN DISAPPEARS AFTER VIEWING BODY

Kingston Police Are Searching For William Allen.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Kingston, April 9.—William Allen, aged 38, has disappeared from his home in Napanee, and the police are endeavoring to locate him. He had been missing for a week. He is a returned soldier, and has been confined to an hospital undergoing treatment. His father died, and he was called to his home. After viewing the body of his father he mysteriously disappeared, and up till the present no clue has been found of his whereabouts. The missing man is about 5 feet 7 inches in height, and is wearing khaki boots and shirt, but a civilian suit.

WANTS LIST OF NAMES OF MEN FORCED TO DO WAR DUTY AT HOME

Ottawa, April 9.—By Canadian Press.—Is a man who tried on several occasions to do his bit in the front line trenches during the war, but who was held back by the authorities for special work in Canada, entitled to the same consideration as the man who was able to go overseas at first application, is apparently the question in the mind of H. M. Mowat, member for Parkdale. He will ask in the House on Monday for a list of the names of men held in Canada as indispensable to the work at home. He will also ask: "Are those who reluctantly, but like good soldiers, cheerfully, obeyed orders to carry on in Canada entitled to equal treatment to those whose luck was greater?"

CANADA IS RIVAL IN IMMIGRATION

Subject Will Be Considered at National American Conference.

New York, April 9.—Canada's position as a rival to the United States in immigration is one of the matters to be considered at the first national American immigration conference, which opened here today. A statement submitted by the chairman, Gen. Coleman Du Pont, said: "America is 4,000,000 men short as a result of the dwindling of immigration since the war. Thousands of immigrants are going back; other thousands are migrating to Canada, Australia, and South America. These countries are making organized efforts to attract immigration. The United States is not."

The statement predicted the complete demoralization of industrial and credit conditions in the United States if the future supply of immigrant workmen is shut out.

Other matters to be considered by the conference include nationalization laws, the shortage of labor, and the cause of unrest among the foreign born.

ITALY'S PREMIER AND AUSTRIAN CHANCELLOR IN TRADE CONFERENCE

Rome, April 9.—Premier Nitti and Chancellor Renner of the Austrian Republic conferred yesterday on questions of finance, revictualing and raw materials. The Italian premier asserted that Italy desired to re-establish commercial relations with Austria as soon as possible, so that the republic might develop economically.

COASTGUARD CUTTERS SENT TO AID SHIP

Boston, April 9.—The coastguard cutters Cssippee from this district, and the Seminole, on duty off the Newfoundland coast, were ordered last night to the assistance of the steamer Mystic, which was reported disabled in the gulf of St. Lawrence. The Mystic left Avonmouth for New York on March 21, and in a wireless message intercepted here today, reported her boilers disabled, fuel supply low and water gone.

FLAVELLE ADMITS NO VISHNICK SUPPLIED BEFORE LAST FALL

Toronto, April 8.—Clashes between H. H. Dewart and J. D. Flavelle, chairman of the Ontario license commission, featured today's session of the public accounts committee of the Legislature, at which Mr. Flavelle gave evidence with regard to the vishnick supplied to Toronto Jews for the Feast of the Atonement last fall.

Mr. Flavelle denied that the liquor had been issued with any political purpose. He admitted that it had not been issued in previous years.

CHICAGO SWITCHMEN RETURNING TO WORK; CONGESTION PREVAILS

FACTORIES ARE CLOSED

50,000 Workers in Packing Houses Forced Into Idleness.

CANADIANS SUFFER.

Toronto, April 9.—Sperintendent Bowker of the Grand Trunk Railway today reported that the freight tie-up at the international boruer, as the result of the switchmen's strike in the United States, was the most complete that he had experienced in his railroading history. He declared that neither the Canadian Pacific or Grand Trunk is moving any Canadian freight to United States points, at present there is in sight no relief from this situation.

Chicago, April 9.—Switchmen, who have been on strike here for nine days began returning to work this morning.

Brotherhood officials, who have been fighting the "illegal" walk-out of their men, do not claim that the strike is broken, but were much encouraged by reports from several roads that the men, in small groups, were reporting for work. While the switching and freight situation showed improvement, the congestion in the yards grew so great that seven of the eight railroads entering the Dearborn Street station are unable to run passenger trains downtown. They are discharging passengers at suburban stations to complete the trip on elevated or surface cars.

Wage demands of five groups of railroad employees numbering 980,000 will be pushed immediately as the result of the spread of the unauthorized strikes, G. A. Worrell, general chairman of the railway clerks' organization of the Chicago and Northwestern system, said today.

Factories in many cities are closing down, because of lack of coal or raw material. In Chicago 50,000 packing house workers are idle. New York railroadmen, who have no part in the strike have likewise been locked out, because of the tie-up in the freight yards.

TIE-UP IN DETROIT.

Detroit, April 9. — Movement of freight in Detroit terminals was at a standstill this morning, as a result of the walkout of switchmen begun yesterday. The strikers today claimed 1,500 men were idle in the yards here.

ESCAFF DEFRAUDED IN POTATO DEAL

Thomas King Remanded One Week for Sentence.

Thomas F. King of Belgrave Place pleaded guilty in police court this morning to defrauding Charles Escaff of $300, and was remanded a week for sentence.

Escaff keeps a fruit store near the corner of Wellington and Dundas streets. King came to him and said that he had 900 bags of potatoes in Alexander Wilson's mill at Kippen, but had not the funds necessary to ship them. For $900, he said, he would take Escaff into partnership with him. The fruit man paid him $300 and said that he would pay the balance when he saw the potatoes.

On the following morning Escaff waited at the station for a train to Kippen. While there, King approached him and said that he had sold the vegetables to Gregory & Gregory, a Detroit firm. They were to meet a representative of the firm at the Grigg House. After a short wait there King said that he had discovered that the man they were expecting had gone to Thomas, but would be back later. Escaff still believed King's story.

King told him that his share of the sale would be $1,250. When the fruit man did not receive it he reported the matter to the police. It was discovered that the prisoner did not own one potato.

A similar complaint had been heard about King from another souce, the magistrate said.

"I don't think you realize the seriousness of your offence," remarked the court, as King stood in the prisoners' box unconcernedly and offered to make good the loss.

BRANTFORD WORKERS THINK "FRANK HALL" IS GEORGE DENSHAM

Believed To Be a Native of Exeter, England.

Brantford, April 9.—Employes of Massey-Harris Company of this city today expressed the belief that the mysterious "Frank Hall," the soldier whose identity has not yet been learned, is George Densham, who some years ago worked in the local plant, having come from Exeter, England. Employes, who had known Densham both in Exeter and Brantford were confident that the photographs published locally were those of him. When he lived here Densham was a single man.

ITALY AGREES WITH BRITAIN IN HER PROTESTS

London, April 9.—Italy's attitude respecting the French occupation of Frankfort concurs fully with that expressed in behalf of Great Britain in the statement issued last evening, Vittorio Scialoia, the Italian foreign minister, stated today.

Signor Scialoia said there had been no diplomatic exchanges which would justify the assumption of France that her action would meet with Italy's approval.

NEW BASIS FOR RATES.

New York, April 9.—Burglary insurance companies here announced today that property owners will in future pay premiums based on the popularity of their neighborhood with burglars. New rates are to be based on the danger involved, and in the meantime the general 25 per cent increase announced last week is temporarily suspended.

ESTABLISH RENT COURTS IN ONTARIO AS MEANS TO PUT CHECK ON EXCESSIVE RATES

Hon. Walter Rollo Believes Such a Plan Would Tend To Solve Problem of High Rents—Special Bodies Would Be Conducted Along the Line of Courts of Revision—Would Give Owner and Tenant Equal Chances.

Toronto, April 9.—Establishment of rent courts may prove the solution of the problem of high rents in Ontario, according to Hon. Walter Rollo, minister of labor. Mr. Rollo's proposal, as outlined today, is to give municipalities throughout the province, authority to appoint local courts with power to regulate rents.

"The courts would be appointed and constituted along the line of courts of revision," the minister explained. "They would receive applications from tenants who felt that they were being charged excessive rents, or from landlords who desired to increase their rents. The court would determine what constituted a fair rent for the property in question, and both parties would be bound by their finding, with the right, of course, of appeal to a higher court. The publicity attendant on this system would help to check mate profiteering."

MYSTIC SEER IN LONDON

A barefoot holy man, Sadhu Sundar Singh, who is preaching in different parts of England in some of the Anglican churches. The Sadhu is a guest in England of the famous Cowley Fathers. His life story is one of the romances even of the romantic East. He is 20 years of age, is six feet in height, with an extremely handsome face.

NO CHARGES HERE OF RENT PROFITEERING

Charges of rent profiteering in London have not been made to any official body so far as can be learned. Evidently none of the aldermen have been approached on the matter, as it has never been mentioned in the council. Several of them stated to The Advertiser today that the question had never been raised.

Windsor's real estate board has passed a strong resolution condemning the practice and arranging to arbitrate any definite complaints, but so far indications do not point to the need of such action here, although the housing situation is acute.

Raising assessments in proportion with the rents charged was one suggestion made here to curb any tendency to charge unfair prices for houses.

SAYS INDIANS' CLAIM OF BEING ALLIES IS PURELY MYTHICAL

MINISTER EXPLAINS

D. A. Scott Goes Into History To Prove Contentions.

Ottawa, April 9. — (By Canadian Press).—Continuing their opposition to the proposed amendment to the Indian act, delegates from British Columbia and the Six Nations tribes located in Eastern Canada, charged before the special committee today that the amendment meant more than compulsory enfranchisement. It would force an Indian from his tribe and his reserve, according to A. E. O'Meara, representing British Columbia tribes. At the outset, W. A. Boys, chairman, declined to allow Mr. O'Meara to tell of a conference with Hon. Arthur Meighen, minister of the interior, yesterday. Mr. O'Meara also incurred the chairman's wrath by failure to produce citations in support of contentions. "We have the welfare of the Indian at heart, and you are not helping them any by fooling with this committee. For the last time I say emphatically, we will not waste time parleying with you all morning," said Mr. Boys.

D. A. Scott, deputy minister of Indian affairs, described the claim that the Indians were not British subjects as mythical. He went at length into their history, showing that in 1891 the British king paid huge sums of money as presents when the Indians of the Six Nations declared themselves his subjects. In 1761, King George III wrote Sir William Johnson, defender of the Six Nations, describing them as "subjects and allies."

Mr. Desisle interjected to urge that white people were the subjects and the Indians were the allies. In reply, the deputy minister said the crown designated them allies until it was strong enough to assert its rights.

CONSERVE SPACE OR GO WITHOUT PAPERS WITHIN TEN YEARS

Cleveland, April 9.—American newspapers will be without print paper at the end of ten years, unless there is conservation of advertising space, declared Jason Rogers, publisher of the New York Globe, at a meeting of the Cleveland Advertising Club today.

"The output of print paper is dwindling rapidly," he said, "and the outlook is all the pulp mills of Canada and the United States will not be adequate to meet the demand, even if the supply of spruce timber holds out."

MONTREAL LAWYER COMMITS SUICIDE

Montreal, April 9.—A telegram from Elk Creek, B. C., today, announces the death by suicidal drowning of George E. Cousins, one of the leading lawyers of Montreal.

Mr. Cousins came into great prominence in 1913 when he acted on behalf of Mrs. Eugene Hebert in her attempt to have the superior courts set aside a judgment of the ecclesiastical authorities, and the lower courts annulling her marriage, because she and her husband, both Roman Catholics, had been married by a Methodist minister.

HON. RODOLPH LEMIEUX RETURNS FROM FRANCE

Visited the Battlefields and Graves of Canadians.

Quebec, April 8.—Canadian Press.—Hon. Rodolph Lemieux and Mrs. Lemieux are in the city, the guests of Sir Louis Jette, Mrs. Lemieux's father.

In an interview here yesterday Mr. Lemieux stated: "I am returning from a glorious pilgrimage. I have seen with what motherly care France is looking after the memory of the Canadians who died on her battlefields. I left here with Mrs. Lemieux and my two daughters to see the battlefield where my son, Lieut. Roddy Lemieux, had given his life, and when I was in Ligny Flochelles, in the parish where my son with 800 other Canadians are buried, I heard the parish priest asking for prayers for the souls of the heroes of Canada. This parish is not the only one, many others have not forgotten the Canadian boys who answered the call."

Vancouver, B. C., April 9.—Frank Hall, shell-shocked soldier, is unknown in Vancouver. There is no family named Rhodes in the city, which has any knowledge of him. The address, 150 House street, Ashcroft, mentioned in the St. John dispatch, probably refers to 150 Mile House on tthe Cariboo Trail. Hall is unknown in Vancouver.

ASK RAILWAY BOARD TO CONSIDER SUBWAY AT RECTORY STREET

Special Committee of Council Discusses Methods of Reducing Danger From Railway Crossings—Additional Lights To Be Placed.

Immediate appeal to the Railway Board to consider the building of a subway at Rectory street, and possibly other points on the G. T. R. system in the city was recommended by a special committee of the city council last night. The committee, consisting of Ald. Cameron Wilson, C. G. Moorhead, F. R. Watkinson and G. B. Drake, was appointed to review the whole situation in regard to level crossings. Ald. Wilson, who was instrumental in having the committee appointed, was elected chairman. The board will be asked to send a representative here to investigate conditions.

Other steps taken by the committee were to recommend additional lights at the crossings; have the city engineer report on fences and billboards which interfere with a clear view of the approach of crossings; to ask the railway board to authorize the protection of the crossings twenty-four hours a day, instead of twelve as at present, and to see that young, alert men are appointed as crossing watchmen.

City Engineer Brazier said that additional lights had been placed on some of the crossings last year, and that provision had been made in the estimates this year to put 50 more 400-watt lamps in these localities. The erection of these would be commenced at once. He did not think it would be possible to light the centre of the tracks, as this might interfere with the railway's system of signal and track lighting. He thought, however, that a light could be placed on each side of the track with a reflector which would concentrate the light on the track. This system will be tried at one crossing immediately to see if it is satisfactory.

In regard to securing protection during 24 hours a day the city engineer pointed out that the city might have to bear a portion of the additional expense.

"It makes no difference if the city does have to pay," said Ald. Wilson. "Even if we have to supply the money from our own pockets the protection should be obtained."

Whhy, Indeed?

"Why should the citizens have to pay fo rbeing protected when they are crossing other people's property?" asked Ald. Watkinson. "The railroad runs its tracks through the city and it is up to them to give the protection."

"I agree with you that they should," replied Ald. Wilson, "but they have a ruling of the railway board to the opposite effect and we must get the protection."

"The people would sooner pay for the protection than be killed," observed Ald. Drake.

Ald. Wilson touched on the question of crossing watchmen. He stated that many of these positions were held by men who were unable to take any other position on the road. He thought the work required young men, physically and mentally alert. Ald. Moorhead thought the present watchmen might be satisfactory in the day, but that younger men should ake the positions at night.

Another suggestion made by Ald. Wilson was that automatic signal bells and lights might be placed at some of the crossings.

Ald. Moorhead submitted a motion to the effect that Major Hume V. Cronyn, member of parliament for London, be asked to lay the situation before the Government authorities. It was pointed out that the quickest way was to appeal to the railway board.

Mr. Moorhead stated that subways could be built at Ridout street and in the eastern section of the city before the tracks were elevated. He was of the opinion that if the city paid for the roads in connection with the subways the railroad should bear the remainder of the cost.

HOUSING COMMISSION OPPOSED TO WAIVING DEPOSIT RULE IN THE CASE OF WAR VETERANS

Members Unanimous in Their Views, But Will Consult City Council Before Final Decision Is Made—Will Build Seventeen Houses On Garfield Avenue.

Seventeen two-story brick houses are to be erected by the housing commission on Garfield avenue, between Ridout street and the old Traction right-of-way. This decision was reached at a meeting of the housing commission held Thursday evening.

Eight of the houses will be erected on lots with a frontage of 35 feet on the north side of the street, eight with a frontage of 36 feet and one of 42 feet will be built on the south side. The houses will contain three bedrooms and will cost $4,565 each, exclusive of the lots.

Although the same plan of building throughout the whole number will be followed, the architects will be instructed to relieve the monotony resulting from so many houses of one style, by changing the appearance of the fronts in minor ways. The roofs will be constructed of fireproof material, and probably will be green and grey in color. The houses will be built of red brick.

Make Application.

City Clerk S. Baker will make formal application to the director of the housing branch of the department of municipal affairs in Toronto for a loan covering the cost of the building. When permission has been gained from Toronto the city council will be asked to back up the loan by depositing debentures with the Government as securities.

Considerable discussion took place regarding the selling of municipally constructed houses to returned soldiers without the customary ten per cent deposit. Although the commission was unanimously opposed to the scheme, no definite decision was reached, as it was felt that the city council should be consulted regarding the matter.

Ruling Was Made.

G. N. Weekes, solicitor of the Commission, had previously written to J. A. Ellis, the director of the housing branch of the department of municipal affairs, for information regarding the ruling in the matter. Mr. Ellis in reply stated that the question had come up in a number of municipalities. The act as passed by parliament stated that a housing commission may make a loan to returned soldiers covering the full value of a house on an agreement for payment of a sum covering the cost of the house and the value of the lot, the land of course being already owned by the commission.

When the bill was before the House he continued, the point was fully discussed and it was quite well understood that this was the meaning to be put on the section referred to. Several municipalities had already taken actions along these lines.

Mr. Ellis said that the matter lay entirely with the different housing commissions. He advised that the power should be used sparingly and used only in proper cases. Considerable depended on the character of the man applying, and his ability to make monthly payments.

Should Be Made.

Chairman E. R. Dennis in opening the question said that the point impressed upon the commission last year by the mayor was that in order that the business might be carried on successfully a deposit of 10 per cent should be made in all cases. When at the time it was impossible for the purchaser to raise the amount, bonds covering 20 per cent could be accepted.

He informed the meeting that the comission had no money of its own, and as it made no profits it had no ways of making up losses. Any losses experienced by the commission would have to be made up from the taxes. The commision was responsible to the council for its actions, so for this reason he thought the council should be consulted in the matter.

Aid For Soldiers.

Mr. Dennis was of the opinion that the Soldiers' Aid, the G. W. V. A. and other soldier organizations should seek to aid the soldiers who were in straitened circumstances to raise the necessary 10 per cent. On April 22 the commission was to meet the chamber of commerce and an attempt was to be made then to get that organization to underwrite the returned soldiers requiring houses for the amount required.

E. Lance of the Soldiers' Aid Commission, put up a strenuous fight to secure exemption from the ten per cent for the soldiers. The commission suggested to him to take the matter up directly with Toronto. Mr. Lance thought that as the act made allowance for the returned man, there was no reason why the commission should not take advantage of it.

Bylaw Explicit.

Mr. Baker pointed out that the by-law distinctly said that in every case thorough investigation was to be made, and that a deposit of 10 per cent, or bonds covering 20 per cent, must be made. Good reputable citizens all had to do this, so he could not see why a returned man shouldn't.

Mr. Lance asked if the minutes of the meeting covering the point could not be amended. He said that things were coming to a crisis, and that the men could not find houses to live in. The commission should see to this out of kindness of heart. It was the primary duty of any community to see that there were enough houses to supply the residents.

Mr. Baker said that the minutes could be amended and that even a bonus of $500 could be given, but when the commission went to the council for the money the members of the commission would probably have to pay the promised money out of their own pockets. It was not a question of goodness of heart, but of taxes. What the men could not pay would have to come out of the city's coffers.

Mr. Dennis said that some provision should be made for the returned man if, through serving his country he had suffered financially. The Government should establish a fund to aid them, but the commission could not be expected to take action, because it had no money.

There was no rush about the matter, he continued. The commission had no houses on its hands. The council should be consulted, he said, and so at his suggestion the matter was laid over until the next council meeting.

FATHERS AND SONS ENJOY BANQUET IN TALBOT ST. CHURCH

Boys Take Prominent Part in Offering and Responding To Toasts.

Fathers and Sons of the Baptist congregations had one of the most enjoyable banquets of the season when they met in Talbot Street Baptist Sunday school on Thursday evening.

After the inner man had been satisfied, a series of toasts in which the boys took a very prominent part were proposed.

Speaking of "Our Training," T. H. Yull of Maitland Street Church declared that the boy could be trained for church work, but the man could not, as the man worked out a way of his own. The Brotherhood movement was helping greatly in the training for the church. Many men were becoming more active in their religious life as a result. Ross Warner also spoke on this subject.

"Father Through the Boy's Specs" was discussed by a boy, Frank Hockney. He was of the opinion that every boy should make a pal of his dad, and should take him wherever he went.

Dr. J. F. Bryant, talking on "The Boy Through Father's Specs," compared boys to the weather. Like the weather there were all kinds of boys. Some were fine, while others were storms and even tornadoes. To the boy, father was his first hero, then a policeman or a fireman took this position, then a famous athlete, later a young lady, and later still another individual.

Rev. N. S. McKechnie, speaking on "The Boy and His Fun," said that he liked a boy who took an interest not only in books but in outdoor sports. He advised the boys always to play fair. Rev. A. C. Bingham responded to this toast.

Father, Son & Co.

"Father, Son & Co.. Specialists in Citizenship," was the last toast of the evening. Charles Folks of Talbot Street Church, told the boys how they could live better lives. "Christ increased in wisdom and stature and in favor with God and man," was the Bible quotation given them as a model upon which to base their lives.

Rev. T. S. Roy emphasized the importance of citizenship. He thought that the franchise was being treated too lightly nowadays. He expressed his objections to persons voting for a certain party because their ancestors did so. No party, Mr. Roy remarked, could be right all the time. In the schools, although there was every other kind of course, there were not any courses in citizenship. The average individual was supposed to fall right into his place by some instinct or luck, and make a good citizen.

The toast to "Our King and Country" was spoken by D. H. McDermid and responded to by Harold Porter of Egerton Street Church.

Rev. T. S. Roy gave a much appreciated solo. The entertainment was brought to a close with the singing of songs popular with Y. M. C. A. and Tuxis groups.

Lloyd M. Houlding of the Y. M. C. A. was responsible for the publicity and Rev. T. S. Roy for the program.

BRADSTREET'S CLAIM ONE MILLION DOLLARS TO BE SPENT HERE

On Factory Construction This Year—Plenty of Money Available.

London reports to Bradstreet's say that the housing problem continues to absorb a great deal of interest in this city as the number of residences available does not keep pace at all with the growth of the city. During the part of April which has already gone, building permits have promised to show a record-breaking total for the month, if the present rate of issue keeps up.

While factory construction for the year has not yet begun, it is claimed by those in touch with the situation that over $1,000,000 will be spent here this year. It is also expected that an active building program for South London will shortly be initiated. Trade at the various wholesale houses in the city is good and there is a good strong tone in business generally. Payments are good and there seems to be plenty of money available for good legitimate enterprises. Conditions in the surrounding district are reported to be good.

BIG PREPARATIONS FOR WINTER PICNIC

1,500 Employees of Carshops Together At "Y" Saturday Night.

Extensive preparations are being made by the employees of the carshops for the winter picnic which is to be held in the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday evening. It is expected, by the committee in charge, that over 1,500 employees and their friends will attend the outing, and that it will be the greatest of its kind ever held in this city.

The employees as a whole seemingly have entered into the spirit of the event in a way that is gratifying to those behind the movement, according to the officials at the shops. Music will be supplied throughout the evening by the employees' band.

The relatives of former employees who died while in the service of the country are especially urged to be present. The committees are desirous of getting in touch with the families of these men so that they might give them as great a welcome as the employees themselves.

TODAY IS THIRD ANNIVERSARY OF VIMY RIDGE

April 9, 1917, Will Long Be Remembered by Canadian Veterans.

The snow today will no doubt remind a great many of the veterans that this is the third anniversary of the taking of Vimy Ridge.

April 9, 1917, which was Easter Monday, came in with a heavy snow flurry, which lasted for about an hour after the attack on the Ridge had started.

Vimy at that time was one of the hardest pieces of line on the British front to penetrate, but it will be remembered that the Canadians, with the aid of the 14th Irish, 52nd Scots and Guards Divisions, took the stronghold with very few casualties.

The lightness of the fighting on the part of the infantry on the morning of the 9th speaks volumes for the artillery barrage, which was the heaviest and most accurate one ever produced on the western front up to that time.

The infantry advanced so fast over the ridge that the artillery, with the exception of a few of the more advanced heavy guns, was out of range at noon on the 9th.

It was after this time that the Canadians paid so dearly for the capturing of Vimy, as the infantry had very little artillery support for the next two days, and, being on the offensive, they came in for a great deal of heavy shelling by the Hun, as he retired with his guns to the Avion-Mericourt-Fresnoy line.

Kindly Inspector Reunites Family; Gets Husband Job

Detroit, April 9.—Inspector William Good Thursday reunited a family that has been separated since the husband and father deserted his wife and child in Cleveland several weeks ago.

Michele Michetti, alias Pietro Leone, left his wife and child in Cleveland without telling them where he was going. He came to Detroit, but was unable to find work, and did not communicate with his wife. Wednesday the wife heard her husband was in this city and came here and asked Inspector Good to find him. He was located at 433 Wilkins street, and when members of the bomb squad brought him before Inspector Good and his wife, he broke down and wept.

Inspector Good secured Michetti a job in an automobile factory, and he promised to take care of his family in the future and not desert them again.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARIES BEING CATALOGUED

Work on Medical School Books About Completed.

Good headway is being made in the work of building up and cataloguing the university libraries. The work on the medical school library, which is in the hands of W. J. Hodder, is nearing completion. When the medical department moves into its new building later on this year they will be able to take with them a library that will be fully catalogued and quite up to date in its arrangements and equipment.

The collection of bound medical journals is one of the particularly valuable sections of the library, and is being added to continually. At the meeting of the university library committee yesterday it was reported that on the part of the students there was a steadily growing use being made of the current medical journals.

Work on the arts library has gone ahead well this last year, and the original arts library, together with the purchases of the last two years, is now practically all catalogued on the most scientific lines. From now on, until the fall, special effort is to be directed to the task of cataloguing large sections of the Barnett collection, which is housed at 313 Cheapside street. At least two members of the university library staff will be at work on the Barnett library all summer, and the books put through in that time will then be incorporated in the general library of the arts department. In view of the importance of the modern language work a special addition is to be made to this section of the library, the books being imported direct from France.

"PALS" ARRANGEMENT FOR THE SEVENTH

Recruiting Campaign Will Start Monday Next.

In connection with the recruiting campaign of the 7th Regiment, which will be sent off to a good start next Monday night at the Armories by means of a band concert and informal dance to all who have the interest of the regiment at heart, the recruiting committee has decided to encourage the "pals" idea, which met with such great success both here and in England during the late war.

The committee realizes that there are many young men in the city who are friends and like to stick together, and the officers of the regiment are determined to assist them. The company rooms will be encouraged to be looked upon as club rooms, and the men will be welcomed every night in the week. It is the intention to make the re-organized regiment both social and athletic centres, as well as military.

Young men who join the regiment will be given the opportunity to select the company and platoon they wish to join, and, as far as possible the junior N. C. O.'s will be selected from their number if they have the qualifications.

Arrangements are pending whereby rooms at the Armories will be furnished as club rooms, and the men will be encouraged to use them as much as possible. Informal dances and other gatherings of a similar nature will be encouraged, and as a result it is expected that the regiment will soon be up to strength.

Owing to the majority of the men who will join having had plenty of experience as soldiers, it is not thought that much time will be taken up in elementary training, and therefore it will not be long before the more enjoyable parts of training will be indulged in to the satisfaction of all.

Plans for the regiment will be outlined by Lieut.-Col. Eric Reid at the band concert and dance on Monday night at the Armories at 8 o'clock, and everyone interested is cordially invited to attend. All the officers and senior N. C. O.'s will be present to receive any who are desirous of joinng.

CANADIAN BOND SALES.

Toronto, April 9.—Canadian bond sales in March, 1920, according to the Monetary Times record reached the sum of $48,101,575, the largest amount of new financing during one month on record. This total compares with $7,984,514 in March, 1919, and $8,551,495 in February, 1920.

BULLDOG AND COLLIE STAGE REAL BATTLE ON WELLINGTON ST.

Burning Torches Held Under Singed Jowls Went For Naught in Grim Struggle.

If there had been an Irish terrier anywhere within ten blocks, one side or the other would have enjoyed a decisive victory within three minutes, but down around Wellington and Bathurst streets there are no Sinn Fein bow-wows, and so the English bull and the Scotch collie who mussed up the pavement Thursday afternoon fought for a full hour or more before they lay down, panting and exhausted, a few yards apart, to glare and snarl unsatisfied defiance at one another.

The regular customers of Dad's Old Inn heard the cataclysmic commotion, which registered clearly in the Orangeade seismograph, and the section hands and yard men and a police constable, who hurried up from Horton street, were soon crowding the observation arena of the battlefield.

"Fee Fo Fiume," cried an Italian fruit vendor, counting fourteen bananas for a dozen, in his excitement to see what new d'Annunzio had come to conquer the little world of trade and commerce that lives, moves and has its being on the west side of Wellington street between Bathurst and Ottaway avenue. Was it Austrian artillery or another Detroit hold-up man that was blocking the traffic at the gates of the city? shivered the son of sunny Ee-talie, as he locked his cash register.

Some Excitement.

Babel of strange tongues, polyglot exclaimings, vocabulary consternation of many races unwittingly spurred the combatants to fiercer fangfuls. Some kind-hearted pacifist proposed enforcing a truce, but kicks, tail-tuggings and daring neckholds were futile efforts to separate the interlocked jaws. Burning torches were held between them, but singed jowls held mercilessly, unflinchingly to their tasks.

A black cat maliciously ventured across the danger lines, but the canines continued their ill-starred battle. Real beef bones would not tempt them to a social meal. Bleeding, battered, grimy, but relentless they fought on, mincing each other into a semblance of hamburg horsesteak. Temporarily separated several times, they escaped from the peace patrols and returned to the combat.

At last, hours afterward it seemed, their straying began to weaken and soon they fell apart limp and inert, and were lugged feebly protesting still to opposite sides of the street. When the shades of evening fell, each was ready to make a strategic retreat, and each of them today is probably telling his neighborhood friends how he "won the war." But, as has been pointed out, the Irish terrier was not there.

HARDWARE PRICES STILL ADVANCING

All Lines of Woodenware Are Marked Up This Week.

Hardware and Metal, April 10, will say:

The situation which has developed in iron, steel and wood materials is believed to be the main factor for the persistent advances which are being made on hardware commodities. Nearly all lines of woodenware have been marked up this week, including stepladders, washboards, clothes pins, clothes bars and dryers, etc. Manufacturers have decided to make only two grades of stepladders, in order to conserve their supply of lumber and also in order to increase production. Paris green and arsenate of lead have advanced. Higher prices have also been named on shovels, spades and scoops as well as extra handles for same.

Other Lines.

Other lines that have advanced in price are: Bake and ironing boards, axle grease, horseshoe nails, wrought washers, wood choppers' wedges, screw plates, brick trowels, sweat pads, safety fuse, fireware, wall and floor thimbles, some lines of builders' hardware, sash weights, lawn fence, steel wool, egg beaters, candles, refined wax, cattle chains and stall fixtures, leg vises, cistern pumps, hatchets, wrenches, automobile parts, seine twine, galvanized and black sheets, bar iron, oil stoves and ovens and canvas belting.

Trade in nearly all hardware lines is very brisk. Spring lines are all moving freely and merchants generally are well satisfied with the business offered. Prices are very firm and the scarcity of supplies is becoming more pronounced each week. Collections are very good.

WAR NURSING AND ITS PROBLEMS IS SUBJECT OF SPEECH

Nova Scotia Nurse Relates Story of Work.

Ottawa, April 9.—"Some aspects of war Nursing," was the subject of an address delivered by Miss M. C. MacDonald, of Nova Scotia, yesterday, at the seventeenth annual convention of the Graduate Nurses' Association of Ontario.

Matron MacDonald said that never during the war was it necessary to ask for volunteers for nursing. The blighting influence of the money question never entered into their calculations. Honors were granted by the king, but these were regarded as more or less accidents, and as of necessity being limited in number. Of the bravery and fearlessness of the nurses not half has been told, she avowed, and gave an instance of what occurred in her own office the morning after the hospital ship "Llandovery Castle" was sunk by submarine action.

A lady entered and said that she would like, if she could be "utilized for hospital ship services."

"You cannot have read the morning papers," replied Matron MacDonald.

"Oh, yes, I have, and that is why I am here," was the answer.

PAULIST CHORISTERS UPHOLD REPUTATION, "SECOND TO NONE"

Famous New York Choir Heard in Two Splendid Concerts Yesterday.

It was an impression somewhat ethereal and other-worldly which was left with the large audiences privileged to hear the famous Paulist Choir of New York in recital at St. Peter's Hall yesterday afternoon and evening under the direction of the Rev. Father Finn. The clear piping of the childish voices against a background of the deep basses and golden tenors produced an effect which was amazingly beautiful and confirmed the choir's reputation of being second to none. Although the secular music rendered during the latter part of both recitals was indeed exquisite, it was the sacred music in which the choir excelled. This is the second visit of this organization to the city, and it was received with no less enthusiasm yesterday than at the first time of hearing about two years ago.

It was a thrilling moment when the choir, all in surplice, first appeared upon the platform in massed formation yesterday afternoon, and rendered Grieg's "Ave Maris Stella" in a manner in which it is rarely heard. Something of the religious fervor of the Middle Ages has been instilled in the choir, which, together with the beauty of their voices, the perfection of shading and exactness of attacks and releases, goes to produce an effect indescribably beautiful. The choir appears as one great instrument upon which the conductor plays with masterly fingers, to produce music, true and beautiful, even though sometimes the piano is silent.

Most striking of all the afternoon numbers was one not written upon the program, Bach's "Alleluia" Fugue, an intricate piece of technicality which but one other choir ever attempts, and that a famous choir in London, England. The infinite patience required to teach young boys such a difficult composition was surely amply repaid in the resultant music, not altogether pleasing, but something producing wonderment and awe. Another Fugue number was Rheinberger's "Quando Corpus."

Rachmaninoff's "Praise Ye the Lord" was delightfully rendered, the men's voices ringing sonorous and clear against a delicate accompaniment of boys' voices. Another very beautiful number was Gounod's "Jerusalem," whose opening bars were rendered by the high-pitched, silvery voices of the boys. The latter half of the program was devoted to secular music, a very dramatic choral selection being Gardiner's "Cargoes."

There were three very fine solo numbers in this half of the program, including "Ah! Moon of My Delight," from Liza Lehmann's "Persian Garden," exquisitely sung by John Finnegan, the tenor soloist of the choir. Mr. Finnegan has a beautifully clear-toned voice of resonant quality and sings with dramatic fervor and abandon. His encore was no less than the old Irish favorite "Mother Machree."

Perhaps the very highest pitch of delight was reached, however, when Master Billy Probst stood up alone and sang "L'Ete" by Chaminade. The simple, flute-like quality of his voice, softened by intelligent training, was beautiful beyond words and turned many a listener to thoughts of angels. Master Thomas Huber, another small member of the choir, with an exceptionally fine voice, was heard in Godard's "Florian Song" to the delight of the audience.

In the evening the program was divided into three parts, mediaeval church music, modern church music and secular music. The first section included Antonio Lotti's "Crucifixus," Giovanni De Palestrina's "Kyrie Eleison," "Gloria in Excelsis," "Benedictus" and "Agnus Dei," and Tomasso Vittoria's "Vere Languores." "The Day of Judgment" (Arkhangelsky). "Tota Pulchra Es Maria" (Sir Edmund Hurley), and Bach's Fugue, "Alleluia," formed the second part, while the last part of the program included Spanish and Russian folk music, "Where I Go" (Brahms), and "Christ in Flanders" (Ward-Stevens), as well as solos by John Finnegan, Master Coates and Billy Probst.

HEARTLESS WEATHER MAN SPOILS EASTER HOLIDAY PLEASURES

Baseball and "Hop Scotch" Out of the Question For Youngsters This Week.

Concerted protest by public school pupils against the type of weather being handed out for the Easter holidays is among the latest probabilities. Ever since Good Friday individual complaints from juvenile residents of the city have been registered, but matters have come to such a stage that united action may be necessary.

Spring training and early schedules of the Vacant Lot Baseball Association have been completely disorganized. A few attempts have been made to hold preliminary games on some of the league's several score of diamonds, but these have in every case been checked by the failing snow or the low temperature, which removed all the joy from the game. It is absolutely impossible to get out in regulation baseball uniform and warm up when the snow is falling so fast it is impossible to see the home plate.

This is the chief cause of complaint. The weather is absolutely useless. Although it is impossible for baseball, it is equally impossible for hockey and the other sports which made the Christmas holidays so welcome.

Predictions are being made frequently that a change will come about Monday, April 12, as this is the day when school reopens. Weather from that date on is expected to be ideal for all summer sports. There is a possibility of rain on most Saturday's however.

WOMAN BIGAMIST PLEADS GUILTY; WEEPS COPIOUSLY

Henry Pierce To Be Tried At Assizes.

MUCHLY MARRIED

Ethel Maude Little Has a Long List of Matrimonial Ventures.

Henry Pierce, who was charged with bigamy in police court this morning, elected to be tried at the assize court, and was bailed to appear in one week for examination. He pleaded guilty to the second marriage, but said that there was justification for it. Ethel Maude Little pleaded guilty to a similar charge, and was allowed to go for a week on her own bail. She, however, wanted to change her plea. Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon has not accepted her application yet, but has not ruled it out.

Pierce declared that he had not heard from his wife for eleven years. He thought that after seven years, according to English law, he could remarry.

Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop will consult the attorney-general regarding the obtaining of the evidence of Pierce's first wife, who resides in England. Either the evidence will be taken there or she will be brought here.

The female prisoner said that since her marriage to Pierce she had lived in the United States with a Mr. Pickerell as his wife, and also with a John Walsh as his wife. She had been deported from Canada.

Her counsel declared that she had two children and had been supporting them. If the courts were going to punish persons for such little escapades as she had engaged in they would be busy 24 hours each day, he thought.

When the examination was about to commence, and the woman was put in the box, she burst into tears and cried: "If I had known he was married I would never have married the man. He had no right to court me at all. I don't think the right thing has been done by me. I am not allowed to speak."

At this juncture the man's mother stood up and sought to speak, when the woman in the case interrupted: "His mother knew he was married, but did not tell me. I had to find out for myself."

She was told that she could go until next week if she provided $800 cash bail or two sureties of $400 each. Pierce was given the same opportunity.

Inspector W. E. Kelly of the Children's Aid Society asked her if she had any friends in the city who would provide bail.

"I have no friends in the world," she exclaimed, weeping bitterly. "I am an orphan. It's an awful mess to be in. It's terrible. I realize it."

On her promise to appear she was allowed to go. She could not go out of the country if she wanted to do so.

REAL INDIAN PRINCE FROM OLD MEXICO A LONDON VISITOR

Prince Aguila, who lays claim to being the only Indian of royal blood on the North American continent, is in London appearing at Loew's Theatre in a presentation of native songs and dances. The prince was born in the state of Senora in Old Mexico, the home of the world famous Yaquis Indian tribes. The prince was smuggled into the United States in the year 1883, and for ten years drifted through the country, living the life of a wanderer. In 1893 he entered the show business, and has appeared in nearly every city and town on the continent.

Prince Aguila served with the famous Indian Scouts in the state of North Dakota, and tells many thrilling narratives of his life in the service. He speaks several different tongues with ease, and his knowledge of world events and politics is marvelous considering his earlier education. His partner, Miss Elona, also a full-blooded Indian from the famous Yaquis tribes, is a finished vocalist, and speaks several different languages with ease.

IS SENTENCED TO ONT. REFORMATORY

Duncan McIntyre Made Home Unfit For Children To Live In.

For making the home of Margaret Weatherall a place unfit for children to live in, Duncan McIntyre was sentenced to not less than three months and not more than two years less one day in the Ontario Reformatory in the police court this morning. The violation of the law was described as a most flagrant one. Mrs. Weatherall, who was charged also, was remanded for a week.

"Have you anything to say?" asked the court of McIntyre.

The prisoner declared that he had boarded with Mrs. Weatherall for nine years, two years of which was during her husband's life.

He was married, but his wife would not live with him. As a result of his two and one-half years in the army she had received $1,200, he said. Mrs. Weatherall had always treated him all right and had looked after his children. Mrs. Wetherall had supported her children.

Once before McIntyre had been in court. He was charged on that occasion with using insulting language. "It was so filthy that it had to be written out and submitted," remarked the court. "All these things can't be products of imagination."

Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop was of the opinion that the 10-year-old child should be made a ward of the Children's Aid Society.

Only five cents of every dollar collected in taxes is controllable by the City Council, according to a statement made by Ald. O. I. Cunningham.

PLUMBING INSPECTOR GIVES BYLAW HISTORY

Inspector James Young Comes To Defence of the Act.

Formation of the plumbing bylaw, which is now engaging the attention of a special committee of the city council was explained today by Plumbing Inspector James C. Young. His statement was to the effect that the bylaw had been given careful consideration before it was passed and was not a hastily-drawn piece of legislation which had been "slipped over" on the public.

"I was appointed in October last year as plumbing inspector and placed under the direction of the board of health," he said. "The chairman of that body instructed me to go to Toronto to get in touch with plumbing regulations there. This I did and also obtained copies of plumbing legislation in York County, Detroit, Winnipeg and other cities. Using the former plumbing bylaw as a basis the best features of the other bylaws were picked out. The board of health adopted this new draft. It was then sent to the city engineer and the building inspector, and finally to No. 2 committee of the city council.

"That committee took it up, clause by clause, just as the special committee is doing now. Every clause of the old bylaw contained in the new draft was taken as read, but the new clauses were discussed before being finally approved.

"The bylaw was brought before the council for its final reading November 24. After much deliberation clause 70 was amended to provide of a citizen doing plumbing work in his own home so long as it was in accordance with the plumbing regulations.

"Following the approval of the bylaw a special committee was appointed to consider ways and means of financing the new department. The members discussed license and inspection fees, and suggestions for master plumbers' fees ranged all the way from $5 to $50, while those for journeymen plumbers ranged from $1 to $5.

"The committee finally decided to recommend a fee of $25 for master plumbers and $5 for journeymen. There was no hint of the plumbers having anything to do with setting these fees. In fact the local union of plumbers requested that journeymen's fees be $2 for the first year and $1 for renewal each year. But this was not taken into consideration, the committee declining to act on its own judgment.

"It was decided to make no charge for permits, but as inspection was a service that it should be charged for at the rate of $1 an inspection of jobs with five or less fixtures, and a charge of 25 cents for each additional fixture."

BETTER DRAMA FROM NOW ON, SAYS ARLISS

Better drama and higher class productions may be expected by theatregoers from now on, according to George Arliss who appears at the Grand tonight in Booth Tarkington's new play, "Poldekin." "The drama is going to get better," he said emphatically. "Everyone knows it kept getting worse and worse during the war, but that was because the managers said the people must be kept laughing to counteract the morbid influences of the war. So they gave the people something to laugh at, instead of something to think about.

"Now, people are getting tired of useless plays. History repeats itself, and always after great upheavals there has been a revival of quality in the drama. I believe that we are going to see better, deeper and more instructive and inspiring plays from now on."

Mr. Arliss, who played in this city four years ago in "Disraeli," has now returned to London with a brand new play that New York has not seen yet. It has been presented in Toronto and several other cities, and it will next go to Philadelphia for a short run. After it concludes its performances in the Quaker City it will brave the white lights and frivolous atmosphere of unthinking and laughter-loving Broadway. Judging by the painstaking efforts of Mr. Arliss, who spent all morning and was still busily occupied this afternoon superintending a rehearsal at the theatre, the performance will certainly not suffer for lack of finished acting.

COMPLETE EMBARGO ON AMERICAN FREIGHT

Local Officials Will Not Accept Merchandise Going To States.

With complete embargoes placed upon Windsor, Detroit and Port Huron this morning, because of the switchmen's strike, which is spreading to all parts of the United States, Western Ontario is now almost completely cut off from the United States, as far as freight traffic is concerned.

No goods will be accepted for transportation to the United States by way of Sarnia Tunnel or Windsor on the Grand Trunk, as a result of the latest order. Practically the only route by which freight can move to the United States is by means of the ports of entry east of Montreal. Through freight consigned to the New England States follows this route.

The Niagara frontier is almost completely cut off. A tight embargo has been placed on Black Rock, and nearly all roads running out of Niagara Falls, N.Y., are embargoed. Passenger service however, is still running.

Although a great many of the local firms have been affected, none have been tied up seriously, as far as it could be ascertained. Officials on the local roads reasserted this morning that there was no probability of the switchmen on the local divisions joining the strikers.

MISUNDERSTANDING WAS CAUSE OF C. P. R. WRECK

Augusta, Maine, April 9.—Misunderstanding of an order was the primary cause of the collision on the Canadian Pacific Railway at Onawa on December 20, by which 24 persons were killed and 39 received injuries, according to a decision by the Public Utilities Commission today. The commission finds that the order was received at Morkill, by the conductor, engineer and a brakesman of the freight, which collided with an immigrant train.

TURNED INTO STREET

Erection of houses on Garfield avenue by the housing commission may mean that the right-of-way of the extinct London and Lake Erie Railway may be turned into a street. This has been considered several times, but no action has been taken. The city council has not been approached yet to make such a change.

Last year the city purchased a portion of the right-of-way extending from the river to Grand avenue. Extension from this point past the property which the commission contemplates using may be urged. At present Ridout street is the nearest parallel thoroughfare.

Opening the street would make it possible to erect several more houses on the property facing this direction.

CO-OPERATION IN DAIRY INDUSTRIES

F. Hern Thinks the Western Counties Will Adopt Plan.

EASTERN ONTARIO LEADS

Co-operative Butter-Making Likely First Step in West.

Although the movement to link the cheesemakers of the province into one co-operative company is confined at present entirely to Eastern Ontario, and particularly to three counties, F. Hern, secretary of the Western Ontario Dairymen's Association, sees no reason why the same plan will not be adopted by the cheesemakers of Western Ontario in the near future.

According to Mr. Hern, the agitation to bring the co-operative company into being has been in progress in the counties of Peterboro, Hastings and Prince Edward for over two years. The first definite step to be taken, however, was at the meeting held in Ottawa Thursday morning, when the co-operative plan was adopted.

Under the co-operative plan all factories associated with the company will ship their cheese to Montreal, where it will be sold by the Montreal Board of Trade, and probably by auction. It was pointed out at the meeting in Ottawa that by this system district cheese boards and the services of buyers and salesmen, can be abolished, and a great saving made. Mr. Hern pointed out that Montreal is the natural outlet for dairy products of Eastern Canada, except what are shipped west.

Although there is no agitation in Western Ontario to bring about a similar plan, there undoubtedly will be a movement for the purpose in the near future. New conditions are steadily growing up in the marketing of farm products, and new methods are continually being adopted.

The idea of co-operation is not a new one. The Western Provinces have adopted the system in marketing grain and it has met with a huge success. Farmers throughout the whole of Ontario are gradually adopting the system of marketing products, and so there is no reason, according to Mr. Hern, why cheese cannot be handled in the same way.

It is a natural thing that any new method in handling cheese should be adopted in Eastern Ontario first, for according to statistics compiled by the Inland Revenue Department, it is by far the greatest cheese producing district in Canada. In the year 1918, 88,000,000 pounds of cheese was produced in Eastern Ontario compared with approximately 20,000,000 pounds produced in Western Ontario in the same year. Cheese produced in the other provinces would run into only hundreds of thousand pounds.

The co-operation plan may be extended to cover the buttermaking industry as well. Western Ontario produces more creamery butter than Eastern Ontario, for in 1918, 25,000,000 pounds was produced as compared to 20,000,000 in Eastern Ontario. Buttermaking, especially in Western Ontario, is steadily gaining predominance over cheesemaking, and there is indication, according to Mr. Hern, that this movement might extend to Eastern Ontario, for there is a tremendous demand for butter.

If the co-operative plan is adopted by the dairymen of Western Ontario, 130 cheese factories and 132 creameries will be affected. Condensed milk and milk powder are among the greatest products of the dairies in Western Ontario, and over 200,000,000 pounds of milk is used in the manufacturing of these commodities annually. The industry is rapidly growing.

DRAMA LEAGUE IS TO BE ORGANIZED SOON

Outcome of Many Splendid Productions Staged by Local Talent.

The outcome of the many splendid dramatic productions being staged in the city by local talent, will be the formation of a Drama League here in the near future. It has long been felt that London possessed some fine dramatic talent and the thought has been verified by the occasional appearance of men and women, who excelled in individual roles.

Up till now, there has been no concerted effort in the city along the line of dramatic study. Recently the Forest City Players presented "It Pays To Advertise," the H. and K. players were seen in "The Mollusc," and last year the St. George's Church Dramatic Club produced "The Black Feather," starring Sidney Sims, whose interpretation of the leading role reliable critics considered better than that of the well-known actor, Albert Brown, who played it on the professional stage.

In May the Western University is to present one of Oscar Wilde's plays and next week the Women's Press Club will offer "Liberty Hall," by Richard Carton, an eminent English dramatist.

All this dramatic effort in the city has led the cast of "Liberty Hall" to the point of organizing a dramatic club in the city some time in the near future, probably early in May. The object of the club would be to encourage good drama by urging attendance at the best productions which come to the city, studying the works and methods of playwrights and the different ways of staging and producing plays, although the actual production of plays would not by any means be the chief aim of such a dramatic club. It is expected that eventually the membership of this club will reach the 100 mark, when it may become associated with the Drama League of America.

That the movement for fostering good drama is spreading rapidly is instanced by the organization of a Drama League in England this year.

VETERANS' COUNCIL

Hold Session in A. and N. Rooms Thursday Night.

At a meeting of the Veterans' Council, representing all the organizations in the city last night, in the rooms of the Army and Navy Veterans, a discussion was held regarding the appointment of the bursar at the Ontario Hospital.

The man appointed, the veterans claim, never had overseas experience, and was given the position in spite of the fact that two returned men who were capable of looking after the work, made application for the position.

This is the second meeting of the council formed a month ago, and which has been working at great length on questions of interest to all returned men in the city.

Comrades Tustin, Lavender and Young were appointed to look into the matter regarding the 10 per cent deposit on houses to be erected by the local housing commission. The committee will also carry out an investigation of the statement made by Ed. Lance that the deposit was not necessary.

Just what will be done in the matter regarding the exemption from taxation on incomes of veterans, up to $3,000, is not known. The amended provincial assessment act, makes it permissible for a city to exempt incomes up to that amount for men who have served overseas.

It was pointed out by the committee that city officials were "stalling" and were making numerous suggestions that only the men who served in some theatre of war be exempted.

TREE CUTS OFF HYDRO POWER IN EAST LONDON

Factories Obliged To Shut Down—Manager Buchanan Indignant.

A tree felled across a 13,000 volt wire on Hale street, shut off power throughout the whole city for five minutes Thursday afternoon. The eastern section of the city was without power for two hours. All the factories in that district were obliged to shut down. In addition hundreds of citizens were inconvenienced through the lack of current for domestic uses.

General Manager Buchanan was somewhat indignant that such heavy loss had been caused unnecessarily. In all cases where it is probable that a tree will fall across electric wires when being felled the hydro department should be notified. The branches which are likely to touch the wire will then be removed, he stated.

In addition to causing a complete shut-down of the city's system, the man cutting the tree also greatly endangered his own life.

WHY SHOULD CITY SHOULDER EXPENSE?

Of Preparing Voters' List For Provincial Government?

Some proposed U. F. O. changes in administration unfairly discriminate against urban centres is the opinion of some Londoners, and the matter may be taken up by the city council.

The bill recently brought before the House as an amendment respecting elections and the preparation of the provincial voters' lists, is particularly singled out in this regard. It is claimed that this amendment as at present constituted will throw the entire expense of registration for the voters' lists on the municipalities, although the lists are required for the general use of the province. It is claimed that as the province requires the lists it should bear a portion of the cost of preparing them.

London's council may give the matter consideration, and if it comes to the conclusion that an appeal should be made it will likely ask other Ontario cities to co-operate.

JUST AS COMPETENT AS DOMINION SENATE

Supreme Court Should Handle Divorce Problems Just As Well.

That the supreme court of Ontario is at any rate as competent an institution as the Dominion Senate to deal with the matter of divorce, is the opinion of Dev. Dr. R. G. Peever, pastor of the First Methodist Church.

Dr. Peever added that he was inclined to expect that the supreme court would guard carefully against making divorce easy, while it would remove some difficulties and injustices existing under the present Canadian divorce system. While avoiding abuses and conditions now existing, it will probably do justice to both rich and poor.

London, April 8.—The nations whose representatives attend the world-wide financial conference which the league of nations planned some time ago to call, will be asked to lay before the conference their balance sheet proposal for the forthcoming budget, their full debit and credit position, and their peculiar financial difficulties. The headquarters of the league in London announced today that invitations might be expected in a few days calling for a meeting to be held at Brussels early in May. The specific subjects to be dealt with, which will be mentioned in the invitation, include trade credits, taxation values, the standardization of budgets and foreign exchange.

TORONTO FINANCIALLY SOUND.

Toronto, April 9.—The financial position of the city of Toronto is thoroughly sound, its credit unimpeachable, and the municipality is in a favorable position to finance the large obligations which must be assumed, in connection with the coming acquisition of the Toronto street railway, according to the official letter of resignation of Thomas Bradshaw, finance commissioner, to Mayor Church today. Mr. Bradshaw's resignation from the city service, to accept, it is said, a $30,000 a year treasurership with the Massey-Harris Company, was announced early in the week.

New York, April 9.—The New York Stock Exchange today started an investigation of this week's trading in Stromberg Carbureter, and refused to accept Allan A. Ryan's terms for settlement with other members of the exchange, who were short in Stutz Motor when trading in the latter was suspended by the exchange. Both Stromberg and Stutz are controlled by Ryan.

The committee on business conduct of the exchange ordered members to report immediately all their transactions in Stromberg from Monday to Thursday, inclusive, with prices and names of customers.

Stutz was quoted at 391 when trading was suspended, having risen from 100. Recently it sold at auction at 701. Stromberg opened at 110 today, half a point off, then declined 8 points.

CROP INDICATIONS GOOD

Some Peach Orchards Have Suffered From Bud-Freezing.

TORONTO, April 8.—The following is a summary of reports made by the agricultural representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture for the week ending April 3:

The strong, keen winds prevailing during the latter part of the week have been somewhat trying to the fall wheat, which is looking a little brown, but the roots of the plants are said to be strong, and a vigorous growth is expected with the first warm rain. Up to date there has been less heaving than usual of either fall wheat or clover. The latter crop is doing very well where there was a good catch last season, which, however, was not general.

Many farmers in Essex and Kent and some in Norfolk seeded grain, chiefly oats and spring wheat during the week just closed. Considerable plowing and discing was also done on high, well-drained land in various sections of the province.

Bud-Freezing.

Norfolk is the only county definitely complaining of orchard injury, many peach orchards having suffered from bud-freezing.

Kent predicts an increased acreage of tobacco, and Haldimand also states that there will be an extension of the crop in that county.

Prince Edward states that more peas will be raised there, both for canning factories and for seed. Canners in Lincoln have contracted as follows: Tomatoes, 50 cents a bushel; spinach, $55 a ton; beets, $40 a ton, and a few contracts for strawberries at last year's prices.

Maple syrup is selling at from $3 to $4 a gallon. The run of sap so far has been comparatively light.

Hay, owing to the scarcity of straw, keeps up in price, the price per ton ranging from $28 to $40 a ton.

Hogs are being marketed slowly at from $17.50 to $19 a hundredweight.

Many cattle are selling in an unfinished condition, owing to the scarcity of grain and the high price of mill feeds. Young beef animals, however, are in good demand, vealers selling at from 12 to 17 cents a pound. Oxford reports that in Dereham Township a few beef calves are being brought in and put on inferior dairy cows, with the object of producing baby beef, and also to lessen the labor of milking.

Horses range in value from $120 to $300 according to weight and quality. A team of horses sold in Chatham last week for $660.

High Wages Paid.

The Kent representative claims that the very high wages paid by tobacco growers, truck gardeners and manufacturers has a very unsettling effect upon the rural labor question in that district, as farmers producing food cannot pay such rates. As an example he quotes some local expert workers on land as being offered $1,200 for ten months' employment.

Auction sales are frequent in many counties, and surprisingly high prices are being paid for machinery and live stock.

SPEECH OF CURRIE IN NEW YORK LEFT A DEEP IMPRESSION

ADDRESS WAS SIMPLE

NEW YORK, April 8.—The speech delivered by Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, commander of the Canadian corps on the western front, and now inspector-general of the Canadian military forces, appears to have left a deep impression here.

Gen. Currie's recital of the deeds of Canada's fighting men was heard by the largest gathering of members of the Canadian Club and their friends that has assembled to hear any speaker during the past year. The big ballroom of the Biltmore Hotel was crowded, many Americans being present as guests of members of the club.

"I never before realized the extent of Canada's sacrifice in the cause of humanity," said one American guest afterwards. "The forceful way in which Gen. Currie told of the wonderful work of the Canadian corps made a deep impression upon me."

Gen. Currie's speech really was a simple, straightforward tribute to the Canadian soldier. He told of the men in the ranks, of their suffering and their heroic qualities of self-sacrifice and service. He put forward no claims for the higher officers, said little or nothing of himself or of the others who had directed the battles. The Canadian "Tommy" was the subject of his address, and he kept his audience keyed to a high pitch of interest as he described the achievements of the men in the ranks.

He told story after story of incidents which had come under his personal observation, little tales of heroism unsurpassed by anything which has been said or written, and each was greeted with a round of applause that was a tribute to the men who had upheld the honor of the Dominion.

There is a general feeling among Canadians here, that Gen. Currie's visit has helped to create a better understanding of Canada, and a keener appreciation of the great war record of the Dominion on the part of hundreds of citizens of New York.

At The Theaters

AT LOEW'S.

A vaudeville bill that is excellent in every respect is presented at Loew's Theatre the latter half of this week. Clean comedy and good fun and dances that can be danced in the most select ballroom are included in the program. One act which drew forth unstinted applause yesterday was the appearance of the two Yaquis, who are full-blooded Indians. Clad in regular Indian costumes, including gay feather headdress and wonderful colored shawls, they sang Indian love songs and danced the picturesque war dance and the Indian maid dance.

Hunter Randall and Senorita, in a little military comedy, provoked ripples of laughter from the audience and were recalled. "On the Border of Mexico" is the title of their pleasing little skit. The Bison City Four, who dress as comical characters roam the streets at large, uttering gay chatter and then they form a quartet and sing some of the most popular songs. No music accompanies any of their songs.

Graser and Lawlon appear in stylish costumes and after presenting a few snappy songs treat plain London folk to some of the new fancy dances now being danced in New York. Some clever stepping is shown here. Fairmont and Clark, who give an offering of songs and comedy stuff, complete an all-round good vaudeville showing.

Enid Bennett, the lovely blonde of filmdom, stars in "What Every Woman Learns." Her dying father tells her that a merry-hearted husband is the best kind of husband to get. To live up to his last wishes she marries a man of this sort, who turns out to be just the opposite after he marries her and gets her money. His jolliness has been assumed during the love affair, and is quickly cast aside when his ends are accomplished. To marry this man she has turned aside a lawyer, a life-long friend, because he was not gay. After a few months of unhappy married life, in a domestic scene Enid's husband is shot and she marries the man whom she before cast aside. Lovely gowns are worn by Miss Bennett in this film, and her dramatic ability is of the highest order.

AT THE ALLEN.

Capacity houses were in vogue at the Allen Theatre yesterday, and those present were delighted with the added attractions on the special Easter week program. On the screen bill Charlie Chaplin in a travesty on "Carmen" vied with Jack Pickford for premier honors, the latter appearing in "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come."

As "Chad" Buford, a homeless lad of the Kentucky mountains, Jack Pickford is seen at his best in juvenile roles. This scenario is adapted from the well-known novel of the same name by John Fox Jun. Chad runs away from a brutal foster father, and hikes to "Kingdom Come" in the mountains, where he lives with the simple pioneers. Later journeying to Lexington he is met and adopted by Major Buford. He meets Margaret Dean, and here the inevitable romance creeps in. Margaret reciprocates his love, but as she comes from an aristocratic family Chad is subjected to considerable snobbery, and as a result of which he returns to the mountain folk.

Major Buford sends for the lad, and while he is in the city the former foster-father on his death bed reveals the orphan's identity, and he is accepted in southern society once more. At this time the civil war breaks out, and Chad enlists with the Union forces. A portion of the film carries him through the campaign with distinction, during which he saves the life of Margaret's brother, serving with the Confederate forces. Upon the conclusion of hostilities, reconciliations are in order.

This vehicle is tinged with pathos and replete with dramatic situations, with Chad's little sweetheart of Kingdom Come pining away because Margaret is the girl of his choice. The scenes depicted are picturesque of southern life, and the entire production is beautifully portrayed.

Assisted by the popular comedian Ben Turpin, Charlie Chaplin kept the house in an uproar in his burlesque on "Carmen." The ludicrous attitudes of this pair serve to chase away the blues, and the sub-titles presented in the vichle fairly scintillate with wit. While all the scenes presented are mirth-provokers, possibly the best is the comic Spanish duel, in which Charlie participates. Edna Purvience plays the title role, and economy was a secondary consideration in the filming of "Carmen." Other screen features are included on this excellent photo-play program.

Special Easter musical selections are rendered by the Allen concert orchestra under the leadership of Maurice Poure. The overture as presented by these artists yesterday brought forth rounds of applause at all performances, being a treat to all lovers of good music. The above special feature program will be repeated at the Allen Theatre today and tomorrow.

HAVE YOU COME TO THE END OF THE ROAD?

If you have not yet seen "The End of the Road," that wonderful film which is being shown to capacity audiences at the Majestic this week, you must do so. There is no one who will not benefit by the forceful lesson which this great picture presents.

AT THE GRAND.

Those who were unable to see the H.-K. Players in "The Mollusc" at the Grand Theatre a week ago, were given the opportunity again last evening, when the play was presented under the auspices of the St. John Ambulance Brigade. Once again Miss Lorraine White appeared in the difficult and lengthy role of the mollusc, playing her part with skill and understanding. With her were Miss Mary Granger, as the very young governess whose activity shows up in marked contrast to the utter laziness of the mollusc; Russell W. Knight as the impetuous brother who has educated himself out of the hereditary state of mulluscry in the rough and ready west, and Wendell L. Hughes as the enslaved husband of the mollusc.

Although the whole drama revolves about the one character "The Mollusc," there is a very pretty little love interest introduced between her brother and the pretty governess, with complications where the husband is concerned.

With their presentation of "The Mollusc" the H-K players have gained a name for themselves in the local dramatic arena, and if they should decide to present something else in the future, it will be looked forward to with interest.

GEORGE ARLISS AT THE GRAND TONIGHT AND TOMORROW.

Tonight at the Grand, the noted English actor, Mr. George Arliss, and his company of associate players, appear in a new play entitled "Poldekin," by Booth Tarkington. The theme of the play is the proposal of industrial and political revolution. "Poldekin" is written in four acts, the locale of the first Russia, and that of the last [illegible] New York City. While the new drama deals with a vital question of today, it is both amusing and thrilling. In Mr. Arliss' company are Carl Anthony, Manart Kippen, Edward Donnelly, Norma Mitchell, Jean Robertson, A. Stapleton Kent, Guy Cunningham, John Ellis and William H. Barwald. "Poldekin" will be presented at the Grand again tomorrow, matinee at 2:30, and evening at 8:15.

RETAIL CLERKS ENROLL FORTY NEW MEMBERS

Some forty new members were enrolled at the meeting of the recently-organized local branch of the International Retail Clerks' Protective Association, held in the Higgins Block, 212½ Dundas street, Thursday night. The membership of the local now slightly exceeds two hundred. Partial election of officers took place, the remainder to be elected at the next meeting. Addresses were given by Ald. John Ashton, Arthur Mould, Frank McKay and Harry Wray, representing the local Trades and Labor Council.

BURSTING CHEMICALS INJURE EXETER LAD

EXETER, April 8.—Fred Heaman, son of W. J. Heaman, hardware merchant, was painfully but not seriously injured when some chemicals with which he was experimenting, exploded. The lad had mixed up some chemicals for making fireworks in a wooden dish and not being satisfied with the results was going to throw the mixture out. Before doing so, however, he poked his finger into it and it exploded. The end of his finger was nearly blown off and a piece of the wooden dish struck him in the forehead, inflicting a gash. The injury is not serious. Young Heaman is a grandson of Wm. Heaman, coal merchant, London, Ont.

Doris Schroeder, 5-year-old daughter of Daniel Schroeder of Usborne Township, had the middle finger of her left hand cut off by an axe in the hands of her brother. The children were playing in the sugar bush and when the boy was chopping a chip on a block his sister tried to pick it off and was struck.

At the regular meeting of the Junior Farmers' Association held in Senior's Hall, a feature of the program was a debate, resolved, "That Electricity on the Farm is a Profitable Investment." Enos Herdman, Wesley Johns and Verne Pincombe supported the affirmative, while the speakers for the negative were Ernest Pym, Earl Shapton and Edgar Monteith. The subject was well handled and a decision was given in favor of the negative by one point.

FRANCE READY.

France has no illusions as to Germany, and it is well for the rest of the world that this is so. There isn't the slightest doubt but that the Ruhr situation was brought on by influences at Berlin in sympathy with the old regime; that and the German determination to evade, if possible, carrying out the conditions of the peace agreement. The sending of troops into the neutral zone in heavy force will silence those who, of late, have been moved by Germany's whines into pleading for less harshness on the part of the Allies. Germany every hour since the signing of the armistice has been moving towards just such a crisis as has developed in the Ruhr Valley. Only France seems to have realized this. Clemenceau and Foch repeatedly warned the Versailles conference that Germany was unrepentant for her crimes and would do everything to embarrass her conquerors and evade punishment. France insisted passionately upon the most powerful safeguards against a new attack from the north by the establishment of neutral districts, prolonged occupation of some portions of Germany, the cutting down of Germany's army to a mere handful and the retention of strong allied forces at strategic points on both sides of the Rhine. The wisdom of this is spectacularly shown by France's swift occupation of the Ruhr district with a strong army. Germany has been headed off in a bold attempt to elude payment and at the same time secure a position from which to menace France.

The French can be depended upon to keep an iron grip on the Germans until they have paid in full for their crime. They haven't been bamboozled by the skillful propaganda of the Teuton as have some of the other signatories to the peace pact. France has shown herself ready for any move the Germans may make. The Allies should give her every support.

BRITAIN'S TRADE IN INDIA.

There is a very widespread belief that in her Indian Empire Great Britain possesses a great exclusive trading ground, and that this is the reason she guards that empire so closely. While it is true that in India the supremacy in trade is held by Britain, an examination of trade figures shows that per capita that trade is exceedingly small. In the year 1918-19 Indian imports amounted to but 5½ rupees—about $2.25—per capita, and exports to less than 8 rupees—about $3.00—per capita. In the same year Canada imported to the value of $115 and exported $160 per capita. The vast population of India brings the total of trade to large figures, but it must be remembered that costs of administration are in similar proportion.

During the war there were some noticeable changes in the character of Indian trade. Deprived of European goods and European markets there was a diversion to the Orient and to the United States, both for the disposal of surplus goods and for supplies of raw material. Imports from Japan increased from 22 million rupees in 1907-8 to 362 millions in 1918-19, that is fifteen times; exports meanwhile increased three times. Japan has been losing her Indian trade since the close of the war, but trade with the United States has increased somewhat and that country now stands second to England in both Indian exports and imports. This, of course, is to be expected, as Britain has not the goods to export and is less able to buy than she was a few years ago. During the war India was unable to import the usual amounts of railway material, machinery and other metal goods, and her imports of cotton cloths from Britain also decreased. Japan supplied the lack of cottons, and since machinery and metals were not available the money of the country was used to buy sugar, silks and other luxuries produced in the Orient. Now that the metals are again available they are being purchased, but there seems to have been an advance in the standard of living since the "luxuries" continue to be brought into India. The cotton trade with Britain is showing signs of rapid recovery since peace was signed, and this gain is being made at the expense of Japan. High prices, however, tend to conceal the small volume of cotton imports, since in reality only about one-quarter as much in volume was bought from Great Britain in 1919 as was bought in 1913. The Lancashire mills are completely unable to supply the Indian demand.

The war produced some interesting changes in the character of Indian exports. Jute, raw and manufactured, was exported in enormous quantities during the war years, but the recent exports have been more largely in the raw than the manufactured article. Exports of skins and hides have also largely increased, and the tendency is to export them in the dressed or tanned state rather than raw. This, of course, is advantageous for India. Oil seeds form another large export item.

The upward trend in the standard of living is perhaps the most significant fact in Indian trade, since it points to a wider market for foreign goods. Stability in this respect will be bound up, of course, with steadily increased production which, in turn, requires industrial development. Railway building has not made much progress, there being an increase of but 6,000 miles in the last eleven years, while it is also true that large portions of the government railroads have been built primarily for strategic rather than industrial purposes. Undoubtedly great economic changes are taking place in the Indian Empire. There is more travel on the railroads, industries are developing, the lower classes are living better and housing, clothing and food expenditures are higher than they were. The world will continue to call on India for large quantities of raw products, which her abundant cheap labor can supply, and if the standard of living among her people maintains an upward movement they in turn will be purchasers of the manufactures of other nations and profitable fields for foreign investments. It may indeed be that a new era has dawned for India as a result of the great world changes the war has brought about.

FACING EVILS FEARLESSLY.

Crowded attendances that have thronged to witness the presentation of a play emphasizing the importance of sex hygiene and sex knowledge in a London theatre this week, are a striking demonstration of the marked change in public opinion in very recent years in regard to unpleasant facts and evils threatening the stability of society and the health of humanity. The evils against which "The End of the Road" sounds a much-needed warning are perhaps more serious and alarming than in previous years, but they existed to a deplorable extent long before the Great War was fought. Physical culturists, sex purity crusaders and social reformers who dared to name and oppose these evils a dozen years ago were ostracized from polite society, shunned by respectable circles and in a number of instances thrown into prison for sending their books and periodicals through the mails. The motion picture today is effectively carrying through to splendid results the work of education that these heroic but misjudged pioneers began.

THE TRUE GRANDEUR OF NATIONS.

No. 4.

As we cast our eyes over the history of nations, we discern with horror the succession of murderous slaughters by which their progress has been marked. As the hunter traces the wild beast, when pursued to his lair, by the drops of blood on the earth, so we follow man, faint, weary, staggering with wounds, through the black forest of the past, which he has reddened with his gore. Oh! let it not be in the future ages as in those which we now contemplate. Let the grandeur of man be discerned in the blessings which he has secured; in the good he has accomplished; in the triumphs of benevolence and justice; in the establishment of perpetual peace.

As the ocean washes every shore and clasps with all embracing arms every land, while it bears on its heaving bosom the products of various climes, so peace surrounds, protects, and upholds all other blessings. Without it commerce is vain, the ardor of industry is restrained, happiness is blasted, virtue sickens and dies!

And peace has its own peculiar victories, in comparison with which Marathon and Bannockburn and Bunker Hill, fields held sacred in the history of human freedom, shall lose their lustre. Our own Washington rises to a truly heavenly stature—not when we follow him over the ice of the Delaware to the capture of Trenton—not when we behold him victorious over Cornwallis at Yorktown; but when we regard him, in noble deference to justice, refusing the kingly crown which a faithless soldiery proffered, and at a later day, upholding the peaceful neutrality of the country, while he received unmoved the clamor of the people wickedly crying for war. What glory of battle in England's annals will not fade by the side of that great act of justice, by which her legislature, at a cost of one hundred million dollars, gave freedom to eight hundred thousand slaves! And when the day shall come (may these eyes be gladdened by its beams) that shall witness an act of greater justice still, the peaceful emancipation of three millions of our fellowmen, "guilty of a skin not colored as our own," now held in gloomy bondage, under the Constitution of our country, then shall there be a victory, in comparison with which that of Bunker Hill shall be as a farthing candle held up to the sun. That victory shall need no monument of stone. It shall be written on the grateful hearts of uncounted multitudes, that shall proclaim it to the latest generation. It shall be one of the great landmarks of civilization; nay, more, it shall be on of the links in the golden chain by which humanity shall connect itself with the throne of God.

As the cedars of Lebanon are higher than the grass of the valley; as the heavens are higher than the earth; as man is higher than the beasts of the field; as the angels are higher than man; as he that ruleth his spirit is higher than he that taketh a city; so are the virtues and victories of peace higher than the virtues and victories of war.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

France has shown that the "Watch on the Rhine" is in good running order.

If the robins could talk they would tell us there is nothing in that "early worm" stuff these mornings.

John D. Rockefeller, jun., says he will devote his time and energies to the cause of church union. Well, a Rockefeller should be able to pour oil on the troubled waters of church differences.

EXCHANGE AND THE TOURIST TRAFFIC.

[Vancouver World.]

There is an almost hypnotic force in a phrase. "See America First" is said to have been worth $150,000,000 to tourist agencies, hotels and railway companies in the United States.

"See Canada First" might easily become as popular on this side of the international border and with proportionately profitable results. The time is opportune. Any Candian who crosses into the United States nowadays finds the money he takes with him has lost from 12 to 15 per cent in value, and that he has added that amount to his expenditures. If he remains at home he can avoid the loss and use the money to have a longer holiday.

A phrase to attract United States tourists would do good service for Canada this year. The visitor from the south of the boundary, when he crosses to this side, finds that his money has appreciated surprisingly. His American dollar is at a premium, and he has more money to spend than he would have had he taken his holiday at home. If this fact, together with the other attractions of Canada, and of our own beautiful province in particular, were brought to notice, as the politicians say, "in the proper quarter," there would be a record tourist traffic this year.

From Here and There

"DECLARING" PEACE.

[Springfield Republican.]

Mr. Lodge insists that Congress can "declare" peace, but even he admits that Congress cannot "make" peace. Thus the situation in which our proud government finds itself is suggestive of comic opera. It may be asked, if Congress can only declare peace, but cannot make it, what is the use of declaring something that isn't made. The chambermaid might as well say: "I declare this bed 'made'," without making it.

THE TWENTY-FOUR-HOUR CLOCK.

[Adelaide Chronicle.]

Among the post-war changes for which the British people are invited to prepare themselves is the substitution of a 24-hours for a 12-hours clock, a proposal to divide the day into 24 hours reckoned consecutively without the affix of a.m. or p.m. having found favor with a committee of the House of Commons. The suggestion is not novel, since astronomers have always employed this method of counting the hours, and in several continental countries and Canada it is largely used, especially on the railways.

THE OPPORTUNITY SLIPPED BY.

[Manchester Guardian.]

The whole problem of preserving elementary order in Asia Minor has now become as complicated as it was simple sixteen months ago. But matters have reached a point at which even the most cynical powers and futile statesmen of the Entente can no longer afford to sit still with folded hands. They must try to forget their jealousies for a few weeks and strike again one stroke in a concert worthy of those great days of wholehearted alliance which saved Amiens and Ypres and broke the Hindenburg Line.

A SURPLUS OF WOMEN.

[Hamilton Spectator.]

Lady Astor, the flower of the forest in the British House of Commons, has little faith in metaphorically fondling, caressing or even using sweet persuasiveness to enlist the sympathy of her male colleagues, as emphasized by her statement that men have made such a mess of things in the past that women would be fully justified in disfranchising them. As there is said to be a surplus of one million marriageable women in Great Britain at present, the men had better watch their step.

HONOR VERSUS FACTS.

[Washington Star.]

A cabinet member was talking about a certain strike. "Sometimes the employers," he said, "and sometimes again the workmen, have a queer idea of honor in these strike troubles. They remind me of a chap who repented of his engagement. 'So,' said a friend, 'you can't see any way of getting out of the engagement honorably, eh?' 'No,' the chap groaned, 'not unless I can lick her six brothers, all biggger men than I am.'"

THE SCOTTISH CHURCHES.

[Montreal Gazette.]

The movement for reuniting the Presbyterian churches of Scotland, which lay somewhat dormant during the war, is again to the fore. A correspondent of the London Times says nine-tenths of the church-going population of the country are concerned in it, and adds:

It is now nearly thirteen years since the general assemblies of the Church of Scotland and the United Free Church of Scotland respectively appointed committees to consider and explore the possibilities of reunion. These committees have met, at times separately, at times together, throughout these years, with a continuity only interrupted for a period during the early years of the war. While in England (so far as union or co-operaion with other churches is concerned) the question of Orders, with all its ancillary problems, holds the field, in Scotland the engrossing topic at these conferences has been that of spiritual independence. Within the boundaries of Scottish Presbyterianism the question of Orders is not acute, for the Scottish Presbyterian regards his Orders as above the region of cavil. But in the matter of spiritual independence it is different.

To realize this is to understand the ecclesiastical situation in Scotland. For in this light is clearly revealed the historical occasion of those divisions which it is now the ambition of Scottish Churchmen to heal. The patronage act of 1712, imposed upon Scotland after being carried in the English Parliament by a trick, has been the occasion of each of the successive schisms in the Scottish Church. It was when the state, in the guise of the lay patron, came into conflict with the church as to its right to grant or to refuse to a particular candidate the cachet of the holy ministry to be exercised in a particular way or in any locality, that the seeds of division were sown. Even then opinion differed, not so much as to whether the liberties of the church had been invaded, as regarding the manner and spirit in which the invasion should be repudiated. Time after time there were the two policies —that of making the best of it, and the policy of protest by scism. The "residuary" Church of Scotland, in 1843, adopted the former policy; the Free Church, which "went out," adopted the latter.

By the act of parliament of 1874 the "accursed thing"—lay patronage—was abolished. By its abolition the main, though perhaps not the only, raison d'etre of separation among Presbyterians in Scotland practically disappeared. From that day onward, at any rate, the nobles and most far-seeing spirits in Scotland have labored, with a reasoned ground for hopefulness, in the cause of reunion. At first their efforts met with sharp rebuff. Thirty years of estrangement had raised new barriers—excuses rather than reasons—for continued separation. The political cry for disestablishment was unfortunately raised; and it found loud echo, for a time, within the walls of the church which "went out" in stout assertion of establishment as a principle.

There have been two landmarks, standing a quarter of a century apart, in the gradual discrediting of disestablishment as a working policy in Scotland. The first was a scheme for secularizing the religious endowments. The second was the House of Lords' decision of 1904, which descended like a thunderbolt upon a "free" church which had sincerely believed that dissociation from a state connexion conferred of itself an unlimited spiritual independence. It was in proportion as the expedient of a political solution faded from view that the growing spirit of conciliation and compromise and the desire for reunion and ecclesiastical peace now found an invigorating environment; and plans began to take shape for finding what Principal Rainy, shortly before his death, described as a "middle way." The first years of conference led through anxiety to hope; the last years have given birth to confidence. The almost enforced co-operation of the war—during which the ministers of the different denominations have interchangeably officiated in the war-absences of one another, congregations have worked together, divinity halls and faculties have become fused—revealed to the Scottish people in growing measure the beauty and pleasantness of brethren dwelling together in unity. With a truly Scottish ardor, the two committees have persevered in working out a scheme under which the ideals of a Christian state in equal and free alliance with a spiritually independent Christian Church can, in their view, be realized. And with these proposals in their hands the representatives of the Church of Scotland are understood to be in a position to approach the government with a view to the early introduction of a measure embodying the agreed modifications of the constitution of the church.

The position, therefore, is this. The Church of Scotland has drawn up a series of "draft articles" which so reassert the freedom of the church in spiritual affairs as so to modify—but only to that extent to modify—the ancient statutes as to remove the last scintilla of a doubt in the mind of the United Free Church as to the spiritual freedom of the church with which it is proposed it should join. The presbyteries of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland have by large majorities approved these articles. The United Free Church Assembly has given them a like emphatic indorsation. It remains for parliament, by an enabling or declaratory act, to give the Church of Scotland this fresh charter, in virtue of which it will be "enabled" to proceed to the proposed union. The British Parliament is not likely to refuse what the great preponderance of Scottish opinion desires. The dissidents in Scotland—a very vocal company, but few in numbers in the general assemblies, and entirely unsupported by the secular press—are mainly the extreme Erastians and the doctrinaire disestablishers, whose criticisms of the draft articles to a large extent mutually cancel out one another. When parliament has fulfilled its part, the churches will proceed afresh to consult their presbyteries—and not improbably their kirk sessions and congregations. The "barrier acts" of the churches would retard further procedure of a year or more. But if all went well—and the auguries are favorable—the Church of Scotland might be reunited by 1922.

WHITE MAN

[By George Agnew Chamberlain.]

"You seem to be a great admirer of the native social system," said Andrea quietly.

"I am," answered M'sungo. "For natives, of course."

"Are you sure you're not a bit tainted with it for yourself?"

"Sure," he answered promptly. "That's part of the secret of my grip on every country I've shot over. I'm aloof. I've never turned my back on the White Man's God. Circular A is not for me."

"What's Circular A?"

He hesitated. "Circular A," he said finally, "is the regulation that governs the relations between British officials under the colonial office and the women of the tribes they govern."

"I'm British," said Andrea, after a pause, "and I blush for the necessity."

"You are prompt, like most of us," said M'sungo, "to sit in judgment before any force of nature that you've never felt. Poor devils of clean-bred youngsters! Take one that I knew. Three weeks' training under his predecessor, crazy to leave; a hundred thousand natives under his sole rule; one, perhaps two, bearded white faces a year. The long, long days after the sportsman has been swallowed by the pot-hunter, when game becomes just meat! The hallucination that here is eternity, come before its time! And then, the fatal hour at dusk when a passing native girl—any girl—looks at him like some woman at home! He marries, damn it, not by canonicals perhaps, but by the common law of the land, and the 'people at home' shout 'crucify him,' but in the end it's God alone that will judge his agony and measure the price."

He stopped speaking and for a long time they traveled in silence. The sun was sinking fast—so fast that it seemed to be dropping by jerks, like the loose hand of a grandfather's clock. Its long level rays, robbed of heat, swept over the plains and appeared to bank up against the young leaves of the temba forest into billowing heaps of copper. In the distance, the huts of the craal cropped into view above the level of the high grass. The sun glorified them, too. They looked like a covey of partridges snuggling down, keeping very still to evade the eye of the hunter.

"There is no twilight in the tropics," said M'sungo, "by the deliberate judgment of God who knows the capacity of the heart of man and would not have it burst."

"I can feel what you mean," answered Andrea, "even though you haven't really said it in words. The heart can hold just so much beauty and no more; and even now, mine is aching!"

"Andrea Pellor," said M'sungo, "you have the faculty of your sex. You have pinned the butterfly."

She felt a sudden revulsion, a rage at this man, this stranger, who talked as she imagined he would fight, without gloves. Her eyes narrowed, "When I asked you," she said presently, "if you weren't tainted with the native viewpoint toward women, I didn't have in mind anything physical or nasty. It seemed to me— By the way, when Marguerite bolted, just what was it you shouted at me?"

He paused in his stride so suddenly that the dozing donkey butted into him and almost knocked him over. "Eh, What?" he asked to gain time.

"Come on," persisted Andrea. "Just say it again,—what you shouted."

"Well," lied M'sungo. "I may not remember the exact words, but it was to the effect that you'd better head him off or jump off."

"Something like that," said Andrea incisively, "only shorter. You yelled, 'Marry him or jump off!'"

"I believe you're right," said M'sungo and added apologetically, "You see, I didn't have much time to think."

"Exactly!" said Andrea. "Instinctively all you saw was a joke like every nigger in the line. You didn't care what happened to me. I might have been brained under that tree and you knew it, and all you could think of was that you just had time to get in one more nasty bit of cleverness before—before I died."

"Oh, no," protested M'sungo. "Go easy, now. Why, Marguerite has done that dozens of times. He knows exactly how to slice off his rider. And besides, he always stops."

"But what if he hadn't—what if he had?" continued Andrea hotly. "Oh, you know what I mean. What if he had killed me?"

"But he wouldn't," insisted the man weakly. "He wouldn't think of it."

Andrea pounded the horn of her saddle. "But—what—if—he—had?"

M'sungo suddenly whirled, thereby winding the quiescent neck of Marguerite around his waist. He caught Andrea by both arms and fixed her startled eyes with the blaze of his own. "You will have it!" he said, shaking her lightly, "your damned personal element! Well, I'll give it to you. If he'd hurt so much as a hair of your head, I'd have shot him and then myself and left word with you to bury us both in the same grave."

She flushed and looked away. When her eyes came back to his set face there were three kinds of sparkling wickedness in them—tenderness, the forked tongue of a serpent, and a two-edged knife. She chose the knife.

"White Man," she said, "that would have been adorable at the price—simply adorable!"

CHAPTER XI.

The weeks that followed were the remaking of Andrea physically. Each day she walked more and felt it less. From head to toes her body was without blemish and in her eyes, her cheeks and in the spring of her light step, sheer health flew its rejoicing banner. Day by day she followed M'sungo farther afield, took more of an interest in what he was doing because she understood it better and learned to wait before she sat in judgment on his actions, often surprising, always swift and assured. She even hardened herself to accompanying him on his hunts for meat for the camp pot and there was nothing that he did that gave her a deeper insight into his composition than this same butchering.

He made no secret of his distaste for the job and never an apology. Having a disagreeable task on his hands he faced it squarely and going out to kill, laid his plans, held to them with unswerving concentration and killed with a dispatch that was blood-curdling but admirable. Many a time Andrea saw his face light up at the sight of a lone spoor, sign of a lordly trophy. He would stop and discuss it in murmurs with the trackers and in the end, invariably turn from it with a sigh and march on to strike the wide swath of the herd.

Coming up with the rabble—the mere cattle of the plains—he never lost sight of the main chance. "Chala-le," would implore the "boys" in the dead whisper that does not carry, and he would refuse to shoot, measuring the wind, testing the light and choosing his distance with a deliberation that was maddening to the unarmed looker-on. But when finally the rifle—one shot in the chamber and five more in the magazine—rang out, his prescience was revealed, his care rewarded. The bewildered game milled, ran toward him or by him—never into the eye of the sun. Standing like some bullock appraiser in a paddock, he chose his victims for their weight and felled them with a far, sure blow.

It was during the return from one of these expeditions that he expounded his definition of justifiable plunder. With his memory raw, as is the whole world's, from contact with the long-heralded Superman come to life to expose in the flesh the brutalizing doctrine of "thine is mine if I can take it," he found himself on treacherous ground, and his words picked their way slowly as though bent on avoiding all misunderstanding.

"It is the truth," he said thoughtfully, "that the spirit of man advances only by plunder and the corollary to that is the fact that the plundered world is always the more fruitful, but the unpardonable sin as far as peoples are concerned is the failure to define robbery under arms from productive plunder, and you can almost say the same thing of individual relationship."

"Oh, Mr. White Man," said Andrea, "won't you please look at the sunset?"

"No, I won't," he answered. "I won't because it means a great deal to me to make you see what I've taken months to think out. If I can make you—"

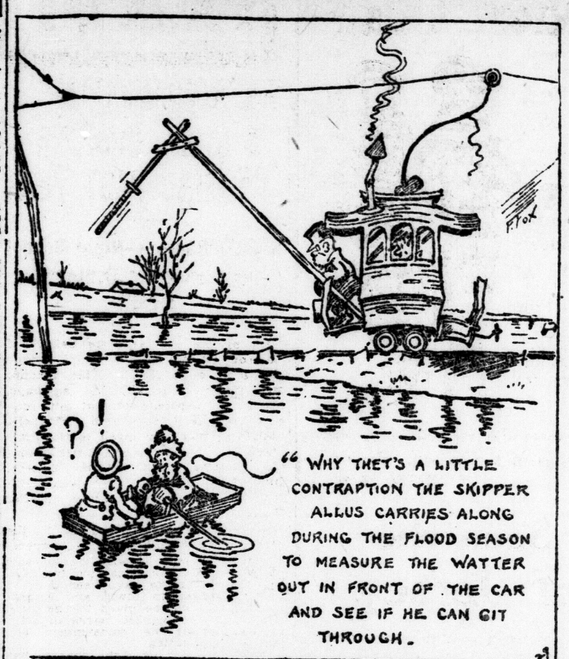

"If you can make me comprehend," interrupted Andrea truculently, "then you can put it safely in a Primer. Is that the idea?"

"More or less," he replied calmly. "It takes simple words to reach the hearts of men and women."

He glanced at her and something of his earnestness passed to her with the look. "Go on," she said kindly. "I'll really try."

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

TELL IT TO THE SOCIETY EDITOR.

Mr. Joseph Edward Kelley and Mrs. Michael Francis Kelley are spending their Easter vacation with Mrs. William Hogan of Ashfield.

Miss Martha Ursula Kelley is spending her Easter vacation with her parents in Lucan. She will return to "The Pines," Chatham, Ont., on Tuesday.

Tonight is the occasion for another of those enjoyable Western University "Meds" dances, which have become important social affairs in the community.

A farewell shower was held at the home of Mr. B. F. Jeffrey, Newbury, in honor of his daughter, Miss Ella Jeffrey, bride-to-be. A goodly number of young people were present and an enjoyable evening was spent, during which some very fine cutlery was presented to Miss Jeffrey.

Mrs. A. H. Smith and Mrs. F. J. Greenaway are to be representatives of the Children's Hospital committee at a dinner given by the president of the United Welfare Funds Association at the Tecumseh House on Friday evening, when budgets and reports of the various committee will be received.

The departure of the painters from the Day Nursery, King street, has at last permitted an invasion of scrub women and cleaners, and rumor hints that it won't be long before they, too, will give way before the prattle of tiny voices and the patter of little feet, secure and happy while their mothers are away at work. A definite date has not yet been set for the opening, however. This will be announced in the press shortly.

The annual "At Home" of the Trinity Chapter, Order Eastern Star, will be one of the big social events of the week, taking place this evening at the Masonic Temple. Conveners of the committees in charge of making arrangements are Mrs. E. Noble and Mrs. (Dr.) Cunningham. The dance is to be a delightfully informal affair, lasting until midnight, and cards as well will be a feature of the evening's enjoyment. This is the first big undertaking of the chapter since its organization about a year ago, and is being looked forward to with pleasure and interest.

A great deal of interest is being shown in the coming "tea dance" to be given at the Winter Garden on Saturday afternoon, April 10, by the Princess Patricia Chapter, I. O. D. E. This will be the last dance of the series of delightful tea dances given by this chapter during the past season in aid of the Sick Children's Hospital, and will consequently be largely attended. Although no tables will be reserved for the occasion, refreshments will be served from tiny private tables, as well as in buffet fashion. Several ladies will pour tea at four long tables, prettily decorated. These include Mrs. J. S. Niven, Mrs. E. B. Smith, Mrs. Fred White, Mrs. A. E. Miller, Mrs. M. Panet, Mrs. Arthur Smith, Mrs. David Williams and Mrs. Hale.

Some very fine musical numbers are being prepared by the orchestra, and it is expected that this dance will be one of the jolliest of the season. Miss Eula White, regent of the chapter, and her associates are sparing no energy to make it an overwhelming success.

GREENAWAY—BARTLETT.

A quiet wedding took place at the Ridout Street Methodist parsonage, when Reta S., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Bartlett of Thamesford, was united in marriage to Russel O. Greenaway of Ingersoll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Greenaway, Ingersoll. The marriage was performed on Tuesday, March 30, by the Rev. J. A. Agnew, the young couple leaving immediately for points east. On their return they will reside in Ingersoll.

STEVENS—KNOTT.

On April 2 a pretty wedding took place when Miss Elsie Knott was united in marriage to Mr. Thomas Stevens, the Rev. Mr. Roy officiating. Mr. Thomas Jeffries, uncle of the bride, gave her away. Frederick Jeffries acted as groomsman, and during the signing of the register Miss Barborn Daly played the wedding march. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served to about 25 guests. After a brief honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Stevens will reside in Kitchener, Ont.

GRAY—BROWN.

A quiet home wedding was solemnized by the Rev. T. A. Symington of Knox Presbyterian Church, at No. 165 Wharncliffe road south, when Robert F. Gray and Mrs. Harriet Brown were united in marriage.

After the ceremony the happy couple visited the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Berry of Oxford street west, where a dainty wedding breakfast was served.

The guests of the evening comprised only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Gray will be at home to their friends at 165 Wharncliffe road south.

WHEN TICKLES RETURNED.

Part 13.

Tickles had not known what it was to be chased by animals so much bigger than himself before, but his heart was so filled with fear he did not think of that. Faster and faster he ran, though he did not know where he was running to, or where he would stop. The old queen cat and the princess, Rosemary, were fleeing ahead of him, and little Pete, the white rat, was at his heels. The worst of it was he could not run as fast as he used to when he was a dog, for being disguised as a cat made his legs different altogether, and the big long cat-tail was for ever tangling itself around his back legs.

Suddenly he heard the dogs getting closer and closer. He turned around and then what a fright he got. Almost upon him where three great big dogs, and the strangest part of it all was that every one of them was exactly like he used to be, only they were fully ten times his old size. Of course, their size was due to the great change that had come over the world.

It was then that Tickles knew what it was to be a cat and be chased by a dog. How often he had chased cats just like he was being chased, he thought. And this was his punishment. In another minute the dogs would have him. But no! A tree was close at hand, and imagine Tickles' surprise when he found he could climb right up the trunk and hide himself in the branches.

"Get out of here," cried an angry voice. It was the old queen cat. "We don't want any dogs up here, even though they do look like cats," and so saying she gave Tickles a scratch and a shove that landed him from his branch. Down down he was falling. The dogs were barking and biting under the tree. In another minute he would be in their mouth. Then Tickles woke up.

"Why, it's Tickles!" cried a familiar voice. It was his old master, and he had found Tickles asleep on the veranda of the empty house. Of course, he was surprised to find how frightened Tickles was, but then he could not know that Tickles had had a terrible dream. Just the same it was a good dream, for Tickles never chased a cat again.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

PANSY

Demure little Pansy is named after the modest flower, but there is charming sentiment connected with her christening. Pansy means "thought" since it was so called from the French pensee, "thought." The flower is a species of violet, as its velvety purple petals are mute witness, but it is frequently called heartsease and is supposed to have cardiac qualities.

The lucky possessor of the name of Pansy may be called by many other names, "None-so-pretty" is an English interpretation, which later became "Nancy-pretty," "Love in Idleness" and "Kiss Me at the Garden Gate," are other titles for the modest little flower which is the namesake of many a pretty miss.

The vogue for flower names, which originated in the ultra romantic era of literature, bids fair to be immortal. Though Rose and Violet and Lily had their origin in a dim but gloriously sentimental past, Pansy is of more recent growth. History records no famous lady, who bore the name, and it must be assumed, (regretfully, if is true) that the flower-named women are not "the stuff that heroines are made of."

Pansy's talismanic jewel is the beryl. It will bring her great good fortune, according to ancient legend, and will secure for her true love and constancy. Sunday is Pansy's lucky day and three her lucky number.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

Living in the Country.

Having been a very interested reader of your page for some time, thought I would have to write a letter to you also. I live in the country, and enjoy farm life, like many of the readers do. I am also a lover of books, and music. I don't live very far from Lake Huron. I go fishing quite often in the summer time. Don't some of you readers wish you could fish, too? I am also a lover of children, and therefore am sending ten cents for Children's Hospital. I enjoy letter-writing, and would like a few girl correspondence between 22 and 24.

I have had a wart, and found out a sure cure for them. Any one wishing for same will write to me, my address is with Miss Grey. I will sign myself, SURE CURE.

Bring May Flowers.

Dear Cynthia Grey,—As this is my first letter to the Mail-Box, I am still a little timid. Perhaps I shall do better next time. I would like to correspond with some girl about my own age, 18. Hoping to see this in print, I will sign my pen name, MAYFLOWER.

Ans.—We are so glad to know you are blooming so early, it must be April showers.

Wants to See It in Print.

Dear Miss Grey,—I enjoy reading your letters very much. This is the first time I have written, though I see where Grey Bird wants to correspond. Please address and forward inclosed letter. I am of no use this time, but hope to be of some next time.

I would like to see this in print. How is my writing? WATER LILY.

Ans.—I have forwarded your letter. Your writing is a trifle cramped.

She's Generous.

Dear Miss Grey.—I have been a silent reader of your page for some time, and find it very interesting and helpful. Would you please send me the stocking-foot pattern? Am sending 25 cents for the children's hospital. Inclosed is an addressed envelope. Hoping I may call again. Sincerely yours, MAYFLOWER.

Ans.—Indeed, I will. Thank you for your generous donation.

She Wants To Write.

Dear Miss Grey,—Your Mail-Box is growing greatly. I think It was S. of T. L. who wanted "J. R. Berchell," so I am inclosing it. That little girl that was 12 years old, if she will write first I will write to her. I am her age, 12 years. Will anybody please send me the song, "The Rise of Jenny McNeil," as a friend of mine wants it? Well, I had better close. K. P.

P.S.—My address is with C. G.

Ans.—Thanks, K. P., I will forward any letter received to you.

Who Wanted Pillow Lace?

Dear Miss Grey,—I read in your paper where a lady would like to have someone crochet her some pillow laces. I will do it for her, as I have several patterns I have made and they look very nice indeed.

I will leave my address with Miss Grey, so if this lady cares to ask for it for the crochet pillow lace it will be there for her.

I have written several times to your paper, but I failed to see the letters appear in print.

I also send the words of "The Little Hero" and how to make salt beads; also 10 cents for children's fund.

I hope this escapes the W. P. B. and appears in the paper. Wishing you all good luck and health. I will sign myself as CARNIVAL.

ANS.—The reason is, Carnival, everybody has been working overtime writing to the Mail-Box, with the result that there is a deluge and your other letters are no doubt in the pile. Will forward you address of the lady if she will send it in.

From a Mother of Three.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have been a silent reader of The Advertiser for some time and find your page very interesting.

Please answer the following questions: 1. What is a good remedy for freckles? 2. What is a good cure for chilblains? 3. Is a girl of 15 too young to go with a fellow?

Here is a hint: When mixing stove polish put 1 teaspoon of molasses in it. I find it makes the polish stick much better, also makes it shine better.

An excellent recipe for jelly roll—Two eggs, 1 cup white sugar, ½ cup sweet milk, 2 teaspoons baking powder and 2½ cups flour. Spread with jelly and roll while hot.

Hoping to see this in print, MOTHER OF THREE.

Ans.—1. Referred to readers. 2. I find hot water and salt very beneficial. 3. Yes. Glad you enjoy the Mail-Box.

Wants Patterns.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have read your page a long time and enjoy it very much Have no helps this time. There are so many bright ideas, I do not feel as though I could think of anything new. Would like the S. F. P., also the mitt pattern. Inclosed 20c for same, also addressed envelope. ILDERTON.

An Invitation in Rhyme.

Dear Miss Grey,—In answer to Guy's request for an invitation in rhyme to a party the following verse may help:

Won't you come to my tea-party?
All my playmates will be there.
Come and bring your half a dollar,
Or whatever is the fare.
We will promise you a good time,
If you meet us on this date (April),
As the folks are from the city,
And the ladies bring a cake.
POPOVER.

She Wants to Correspond.

Dear Miss Grey,—This is my second letter to the Mail-Box. I enjoy your page very much. I would like to correspond with a boy of 15 or 16. I will leave my address with Miss Grey, and wish him to write first. I will sign my name as, STAR OF THE EAST.

A Prairie Maid.

Dear Cynthia Grey,—I had not thought of venturing out this cold evening to make my first call at your Mail-Box till I read Mrs. Home-At-Times' letter in today's Advertiser. I was so glad to see that someone really had a cure for asthma, that I thought I would write and see if she would mind sending me her remedy, as my hubby suffers from it quite badly at times. My address is with Miss Grey.

Now that I am here, I wonder if any of the pageites are experts at fern growing. I have a couple of young ones, which did real nicely for a while, but now they are turning real brown, and I don't know what to do for them. I do like to see nice healthy plants around a home.

I see where some of the readers enjoy Harold Bell Wrights' books. I wonder if they have read "The Recreation of Brian Kent." It is the last of his that I have read, and I think it is splendid. I also enjoyed reading "Contrary Mary," by Temple Bailey; and "Daughter of the Land," by Gene Stratton Porter. Now I think I have written enough for my first letter, and I do hope Mrs. Home-At-Times will be nice and generous to me, or should I write her personally? As I lived in Manitoba for fourteen years, will sign myself, PRAIRIE MAID.

Ans.—Will forward address as soon as received.

Success to the Page.

Dear Miss Grey,—May I just drop in for a few minutes this fine day?

I would like to get that stocking foot pattern if there are any left, and also Katherine's address. I would like to get some of those seeds she is offering. I enjoy reading your page, there are so many helpful hints for us all.

I will just drop a mite for the S. C. H., wishing you every success.

A FLOWER LOVER.

P. S. What day did December 25, 1877 fall on.

Ans.—Indeed we've plenty of patterns left, but it keeps me busy keeping my stock equal to the demand, but as long as it is helping our wonderful fund I'll keep the scissors working overtime.

Tuesday.

Should She Dance?

Dear Miss Grey,—Here comes another torment. Don't you get tired of having so many people bothering you? If you don't your patience must be pretty good. Aren't you just tickled to death to see the few signs of spring that are appearing? I am. I saw a robin today, too. I threw out enough crumbs to feed a dozen birds, just to coax him back again. I am a member of a girls' club, in which I am much interested. Would you give me some suggestions for a roll call?

Is a girl of 14 too young to dance, if she does not go to fashionable balls, and such things?

Do you think there is any harm in dancing?

Didn't the people in the Bible dance?

Well I must get out before I am kicked out.

I remain, DOLLY DUSIKINS.

Ans.—1. On answering each member could recite a short verse or rhyme, or recipes are sometimes given.

2. No.

3. I do not think so, as long as it is not carried to excess. You are too young to go to public dances, however.

Re Wedding Invitation.

Dear Miss Grey,—Inclosed please find my mite for the hospital fund.

Have just received a wedding announcement. Is it necessary to acknowledge same? And if so, how soon? Will call myself.

GIRL OF MY DREAMS.

Ans.—It is an act of courtesy to reply promptly to all invitations. Thanks.

Lift the Latch and Walk In.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have just finished reading the numerous letters on your page, and one receives many useful hints there. Poor Crippled Annie needs someone to cheer her in her lonesomeness. Say, I have just nicely gotten over the "flu," and it is no treat. Hope I can be some help next time, but now I have one favor to ask. Old 66 says she will tell one, who writes to her, how to raise turkeys, at least the way she does. I hope she will tell me, as I used to manage them fairly well when I was first married, but now my luck has failed. Say, Old 66, I am sending Miss Grey my address to send on to you, and would be greatly obliged if you would help me in the turkey business. Hoping I have not asked too much. May I come again sometime? Will sign myself, MARY ELLEN.

Ans.—Have forwarded your address on to Old 66. Call again, the doors is always open to you.

A Rat In the Mail.

Dear Miss Grey,—Inclosed please find the two yoke patterns, which I am returning to Freckles, also am inclosing a rat pattern for pillow slips. Hope I haven't kept you waiting too long. With thanks. HURON ROBIN.

Ans.—I have returned them all. There's a real live little mouse, who sneaks into my desk sometimes. I wish somebody would get close enough to get his pattern.

We Are So Glad to Hear From You.

Dear Miss Grey,—Something tells me that I am coming too often, when there are so many letters, but I could not resist expressing my appreciation of Just a Spring Maid's kind words, and her request. Our Mail-Box is very interesting indeed, and so many subjects are being discussed that it is difficult to find a new one.

I was very much interested one day in a conversation between two young girls, who seem to have the idea that because it is leap year, that they were expected to wear their heart on their sleeve, and propose to the young man of their choice. Now tell me, why should leap year change the matrimonial routine? Why should it give woman a privilege, that other years would not? Did I hear someone say, "Men and women are equal?" That is all right, but men have certain privileges which women have not. One of the privileges a man has is proposing, and it should not be taken away from him, even if it is leap year. I heard a man say one time that the women really did the proposing. Well, if they do, it is not done in words. A man would not propose to a lady unless he had some hope of being accepted. Yet it seems to me that the strongest sort of encouragement that a woman can hold out to mankind is the attraction of thorough womanliness and no other influence may be quite so captivating, or no other characteristic so awaken the admiration of men, and nerve them to express that admiration sincerely. It is a woman's privilege to increase by all means at her command her charm of genuine womanliness. If this is proposing she has a right to propose, but beyond that I think that a woman lowers not only herself, but the standard of womanhood, when she makes any further advances.

It may be true that many a young man has failed to marry the woman he loved, because he was afraid to propose. Perhaps her father's home was better than the one he could offer. Perhaps her salary was larger than his, and he may have left her to marry some less faint-hearted and perhaps less worthy suitor, while her heart may have been his to such an extent that no one else could fill his place in her life. But men have their privileges, and women have theirs—Let us not rob one another of them, for in so doing we are robbing ourselves, and losing much more than we gain.

MARGARET LINDLEY.

Ans.—We are all glad to hear from you again. I happen to know Spring Maid, and when I tell you she's a highly appreciative lover of beautiful things, you will understand the compliment she pays is very sincere.

More Heart Trouble.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am writing to you for advice. I am a young girl, eighteen years old, and am pestered to death by two young men wishing me to become their wife. One of these is a young farmer, the other a lawyer. I cannot decide which one I want. I like the young farmer very well, but do not feel able to do all I will be expected to do on the farm. Which one do you advise me to take? Yours truly,

MISS MARY ANN OVERALLS.

Ans.—When it comes to these matters of the heart, I feel quite incapable of prescribing. It is safest to let your heart decide. You know, marriage is not a matter of work and money, that love has a large part to play. Now, Mary Ann Overalls, which one do you really love?

An Ideal Mother.

Miss Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box.—In regard to that kitchen "Sunshine" speaks of, it could be papered by tackling old washed muslin or cotton on boards first, then hang wall paper in the usual way, and the paper will not crack. This I learned by living in a beach house, but if it were my kitchen, I would simply paint it in a pretty color, like tan or sap green or white with a stencilled border. It would be much more sanitary than paper.

I like Comic's letter about babies. "Keep Daddy's Smile for Baby." After daddy comes home tired, he surely does not like to hear all sorts of tales about the misbehavior of his children after they have already been corrected by the mother. Usually children mis-

TOO MUCH STARCH.

Starch is a most valuable part of the diet. The starchy foods are the cereals, wheat, flour, rice, corn, oatmeal, macaroni and tapioca, and such vegetables as potatoes and beans. Their function in the body is to produce heat and energy. People who live too largely upon starch, work, and seem to get on well, but after a time they suffer from digestive troubles. Children particularly, who are fond of starchy foods, suffer from their excessive use. Most of us eat bread three times a day, as toast for breakfast, and with both the other meals. Some people also have potatoes three times a day, and more have them twice. Now to this, which is surely enough, there are very often added a cereal for breakfast, a rice pudding for dessert at noon, and perhaps beans for supper. Indeed, there are very likely many more starches tucked in here and there, in cake, biscuits, gravies and puddings, made of bread crumbs, or tapioca or cornstarch. It is easy to see how apt we are to overload the ration with starch, however, valuable the foods are in themselves.

Excess of starch clogs the digestive organs, and makes a child constipated, irritable and lethargic. This condition is in turn the cause of many other ills, headaches, colds and childish infections. Let every mother consider the meals her children actually eat, and see that a reasonable balance is kept among the essentials. Two kinds of starch at any one meal are surely enough. A clear skin, bright, unshadowed eyes and a normal appetite are evidence that a diet is correctly chosen. The lack of them is evidence, ordinarily, that it is not. Only a mother can understand fully the conditions surrounding her children; she must, therefore, be the one to choose his diet and adjust it to his needs. Children need some starchy foods, but should be protected from excess of it as from any other excess.

Many Londoners Will Go To Look Wilde Over Monday

Windsor Appearance of Wonderful British Fighter Is Big Attraction—Both Are Go-Get-'Em Fighters

There'll be no concerted invasion of Windsor by London fight fans on Monday to see the Wilde-Zulu Kid fight, but nevertheless there are a lot of fans who will be present at the border on that date. The opportunity of seeing one of the most marvelous fighting machines ever seen in a ring is one that few of the red-hot fans see themselves missing. There are lots of chances, too, of being in on a surprise. Wonderful as Wilde is, the fact that the Zulu Kid three years ago as a novice at the game stood up to the British wonder for eleven rounds in London leaves a lot open to speculation.

Jimmy Wilde is a boxer who believes that the best defence is a good offence. He exemplifies this theory in every move he makes in the ring, and the Zulu Kid, whom he boxes in Windsor armories Monday evening, will find a wide-open boxer opposing him, but one that by no means will be easy to hit.

The "British atom," as Wilde is called, is as aggressive as they make them. He keeps after his man all the time, seldom covers up, and always is in a position to hit from almost any angle as the opportunity presents. This he has shown in his workouts.

Principal ingredients of Jimmy's defence is his shiftiness. He sways from side to side from his hips up. He does not duck like most boxers to evade a coming blow, but shifts his body to let it shoot by or just graze his head. This accounts for the fact that he has no cauliflower ears. He doesn't take the punishment that most boxers do on the side of his head.

It is surprising that such a mite of a boxer as James can hit the way he does. The power of his blows rest in his fine shoulders. His forearm is not large, but the flyweight champion darts in and out he lets fly with excellent judgment of distance and with a quick, snappy blow that usually hits the mark and stings.

The Zulu Kid also is a "tear-in" boxer, who always is willing to take a blow to land one. He has impressed fans that he will make the Windsor bout a good one, because he will mix matters, and he also has a good punch which emanates from a much stockier body than that of Wilde.

A shift of activity was made by the two boxers Wednesday. Wilde, who has been working out at the Clark A. C. to capacity crowds, went to the Greater Detroit A. C., while the Zulu Kid now is working at the Clark A. C. for two days. Friday and Saturday Wilde will work at the Allied Athletic Club, 32 Monroe avenue, Detroit.

With the Trotters and Pacers

Al. Pennock of Cleveland, O., who has made a success of everything he has touched in the horse business, from driving trotters to championship records in Europe to managing one of the most popular half-mile tracks in this country, will handle a matinee stable this season in connection with Dr. Watterson and W. L. Murphy of the above city, and they have rented a barn at the North Randall track. The combination may be represented at the inter-city matinees.

Will Rosemire of North Randall, O., has leased the racing services of Bob the Great, 2:15¼, by Caduceus the Great, and will campaign him the coming season. He won seven races, was second four times and once third last season and trotted a mile in 2:12¼, over a half-mile track.

J. C. Adams of Phoenix, Ariz., last week sold to Trainer Marvin Childs of Omaha, Neb., the famous California bred trotting mare, Edith Carter, 2:06¼, that was prominent in Grand Circuit racing last season in the string of Fred Ward. The consideration is said to be $7,000. The mare is five years old, and was got by Kinney de Lopez, 2:23, son of Kinney Lou, 2:07¼, dam Louise Carter (dam of Wilbur Lou, 2:10½) by Chestnut Tom. Last season she filled eighteen engagements on the Grand Circuit, and won twelve, including two $6,000 purses. She is being entered in early-closing purses down the line again this season.

Mr. Orr is a far-sighted breeder and thoroughly appreciates that a young stallion must have a chance, so he has gathered together a superior band of brood mares of his own to send to the court of Ortalan Axworthy, son of Axworthy, including such fast record performers as Sister Bingen, 2:06¼; Native Belle (3), 2:06½; Sister Strong, 2:06¾; Sister Spier, 2:07; Miss Hilda, 2:08½; Santos Maid, 2:08¾; Lady Elmhurst, 3:10, and others. This is significant to owners of mares, for the man who has faith enough in his stallion to book such mares to him as these believes in doing what he solicits others to do.

James Clarke, assistant secretary of the American Association of Trotting Horse Breeders, advises that nearly 30 half-mile tracks in Ohio have signified their intention to affiliate with the Union Trotting Association.

The Rochester, N. Y., horsemen are working energetically for a new track in one of the parks, where they can entertain the public. Recently a committee of the Rochester Road Drivers' Association, composed of President Claude Luddington, William Webber, Dr. Carr Webber, William Morrison and J. G. Ideman, was appointed to call upon the mayor to urge the scheme. It is understood that the mayor has given assurance to the association that he will back the plan. At any rate, if the city fails to put a track in shape, the horsemen will incorporate and sell stock in a company to boom the racing game there.

For the June meeting at Canton, O., seven handsome silver cups have been donated by the public-spirited citizens of that city to the winners of the 2:10 trot, 2:14 trot, 2:18 trot, three-year-old 2:24 trot, 2:09 pace, 2:13 pace and 2:17 pace.

Kerrigan, 2:09¼, goes to Holland.

Harvest Lou, the 3-year-old filly, by The Harvester, 2:01, and out of Lou Dillon, 1:58½, was bought at the New York sale by W. Harry Orr, Reading, Pa., the price $1,600.

Paul Kuhn, proprietor of Forest Park Stock Farm, Terre Haute, got the 4-year-old trotting filly, Harvest Stream (3), 2:14, by The Harvester-Zarrine, 2:07¼, at $1,150, at the New York sale.

Tommy Murphy paid $13,500 for Hope Frisco, a yearling by San Francisco, 2:07¾; dam Harvest Hope, 2:21½, at the New York sale. Some price for a youngster.

The Lucan Race Association intends holding their first race meeting on June 23. There will be three races on the card of $300 each. They will be announced in The Advertiser later.

Henry Thomas has opened a public stable at Omaha, Neb., and already has several head in charge, including the fast pacer, O. U. C., 2:02½, and Lella Patchen, 2:04¼, the latter purchased last week from Clarence Cole, Indianapolis.

Dolly D., 2:08¼, a new 2:10 pacer last season, and which raced well in the Northwest, is a sister of Memonia, 2:09½, being by Demonio, 2:11¼, and out of May Norris, by Norris, 2:24¼. The latter sired the dams also of Lady Maud C., 2:00½, Hedgewood Boy, 2:01, and others.

Wilbur J. Myers, Springfield, O., purchased Czarada, 2:16¼, the past week, and will use her as a brood mare in the future. She is by the one-time champion Colorado E. (3), 2:04¾, and out of Czarevna (3), 2:07¼ (dam of three, including The Cossack (3), 2:09, by Peter the Great, 2:07¾; grandam Orianna, 2:19¼ (dam of six, including Grace), by Onward, 2:25¼.

Geo. Arnold, the well-known Virginia, Ont., horseman, has moved to Uxbridge, Ont.

J. T. Payette of Penetang has purchased one of the aerodromes that were used at Camp Borden and will erect the same in his driving park for stables.

The great 2-year-old colt Eternal (1), 2:24½, owned by T. W. Ready, Niles, Mich., still remains the property of Mr. Ready, he having failed to sell it at the New York sale, and was sent to Lou McDonald, in whose charge he will probably be until he has filled his stake engagements during the present year and in 1921.

Al Pennock is now jogging four head at Cranwood Park and is well pleased with their present condition. His quartet is made up of Timeworthy, 2:24¼, and Louise Reveridge, 2:17¼, both by Axworthy (3), 2:15½, and Marie Antoinette, 2:28¼, and a brother, they being by Malcolm Forbes.

Robert Burrees, Winona, Ill., owner of Calcary Earl, 2:02¾, Eva Abbe, 2:03, and Boro B., 2:09¼, a trio of fast free-legged pacers in Sep Palin's stable at Indianapolis, Ind., has just added another highly-regarded side-wheeler in Oro B., by Copa de Oro, 2:01. This California product was a mile in 2:07¾ last season with but moderate training.

Out in the little town of Semans, Sask., they race horses and offer purses just like a real big city does. Last year this town paid out $1,475 in purses, and this year they will pay over $1,600. They race here on July 8 and 9, and are advertising a $500 early closing event for 2:30 pacers and 2:25 trotters, that will surely interest western horsemen.

John Decher, Jun., of Zurich has sold a 2-year-old colt by Azoff, dam Lady Useful, sister of Little Sweetheart, 2:12¼, to Thomas Yearly, Crediton, Ont., for $500. The colt has never been beaten in the show ring, defeating aged stallions at the London, Ont., exhibition last fall. The picture of his sire and gaited like him. Mr. Yearly was the first man to own Louie Grattan, p., 2:02¼, Roy Grattan, p., 2:03¼, and Freddie Grattan, p., 2:09½.

Fred Metcalfe, the popular Canadian trainer, who has driven on English and Scottish tracks for the past eighteen years, returned to Canada this week, and is not likely to be seen on our tracks again for a longe time. Mr. Metcalfe arranged to take his children to his native country several years back, but the war delayed his going.—Trotting World (England).

Buffalo road drivers' stakes received an overflow of entries. Canadians are well represented in all the events.

S. B. Russell, the Lewistown, Pa., banker, gathered in a very select lot of yearlings at the New York sale, his purchases including Mogantle, by Moko, out of Ella Tregantle, 2:09¾; Frankie Hall, by Walnut Hall, 2:08¼, out of Frances Tipton, by San Francisco, 2:07¾; The Gleaner, by Native King, 2:11¾, out of Twilight Maiden, by Peter the Great, 2:07¼; Worthy Rico, by Manrico (3), 2:07¼, out of Lema Worthy, 2:26, by Guy Axworthy, 2:08¾, and Director Guy, by Guy Axworthy, 2:08¾, out of Chatty Direct, 2:07¼.

7TH REGIMENT TO TAKE UP A BIG SPORT PROGRAM

Armories Will Again Be Scene of All Kinds of Athletics.

With the reorganization of the Seventh Regiment all branches of amateur sport in this city will be given a big lift, according to the plans tentatively drawn up at a meeting of the sports committee of the regiment, held on Wednesday afternoon. The plans as at present formulated will be presented at a meeting of all members of the regiment as soon as the recruiting campaign, now about to be started, is well under way.

It is the intention of the regiment to engage in practically every line of sport popular in this district, and strong committees will be appointed for every branch of the Seventh's activities. Just at the moment nothing definite has been decided upon, as the plans will have to be adopted by the regiment as a whole, before they can be proceeded with. One thing certain, however, is that whatever the athletic association decides to do will be carried through to a successful finish.

The armories used to be the centre of local athletes about ten years ago, and the crowds who attended the indoor baseball fixtures in past years, was sufficient evidence to show that the soldiers had the backing of a large portion of the population of the city.

The branches of sport that were particularly discussed at the meeting, were indoor baseball, basketball, baseball and soccer. Rugby and hockey were also considered, and the chances are that the volunteers will be represented in these branches of sport when the respective seasons roll around. Indoor baseball is a certainty as the armories is the only building in the city, which is large enough to allow the game to be played with any degree of class. This past season the City League without practically any assistance outside of itself had a very successful year, and the sport took hold of the fans. Next season, following the reorganization of the militia, the armories will be solely for the use of the militia, and as a result many of this year's players have signified their intention of joining the Seventh. Already there is material for a good team in the regiment, and arrangements are being made for several exhibition games, both in and out of the city, with other military teams.

Basketball has died out in the armories, but Col. Reid is determined that the floor there will be the scene of classy basketball encounters, and as the accommodation for spectators is the best in the city, it is expected that soon the armories will regain its lost laurels as the centre of basketball in London.

It is the intention of the committee to apply for entrance to both baseball and soccer leagues in the city this summer, as well as foster the sport by means of intercompany and interplatoon leagues. The outside games will be staged at the Cove Ranges, where there are ample facilities for staging all kinds of sports.

The success of the old Seventh Regiment hockey team of years ago is responsible for the proposition that the militia take a hand in hockey and rugby. For the latter there is considerable material among the officers, seven or eight of whom have played on the city teams during the past few year. The regiment is well fixed financially to back any of these sports, and the chances are that rugby at least will be under the direction of the Seventh.

Another branch of sport that has not been heard of in this city for some time has been brought forward, and was received with enthusiasm. That is indoor athletics. The armories is large enough to cope with all branches of indoor athletics, and the chances are that there will be several indoor meets held there as soon as the new association is under way. Several well-known Canadian athletes have promised that they will be among those present whenever the word goes out that there will be a meet, and the success of the endeavor is practically assured.

That the association will be a success is already assured both on account of the enthusiasm shown by all connected with the regiment, and the fact that the regiment will be behind everything, and that everybody who is a member of the regiment is given every opportunity to make use of all the facilities that will be at the armories.

BROUSSEAU KNOCKED OUT BY M'TIGUE IN FIFTH ROUND

Quebec Aspirant For O'Dowd's Crown Gets Setback At Halifax.

HALIFAX, April 8.—Nearly 6,000 boxing fans watched with interest tonight the changing of the middleweight championship of Canada from the hands of Eugene Brosseau of Montreal to those of Mike McTigue of New York, in one of the most scientific bouts ever staged here.

McTigue won by a clean knockout in the middle of the fifth round, after having rushed Brosseau into a corner, and then with carefully calculated lefts to the head finished his man with a short right-cross, which crumpled Eugene and brought him crashing to the mat.

One Spring Day

The Detroit Tigers and Boston Braves, in their tour through Georgia and the Carolinas, and it goes for all the clubs, have been performing on some of the most wonderful playing fields that a land-looker could discover in an exhaustive exploring expedition. It is very doubtful if the experience gained on such fields will be of benefit to the players, as they will never be called upon to perform under such conditions.

Walter Hapgood, business manager of the Braves, who outlined the trip, has business instincts superior to the baseball playing instincts, and he picked the towns which would pay the money. The larger towns see good baseball in the summer and refuse to pay $2 a game to see big league rookies perform in practice contests.

The little towns in which the teams have played have turned out crowds that would do credit to some big league towns, where the teams exhibiting in the big cities often play before empty seats. As a result the Detroit and Boston clubs will end their training period about even financially, whatever the benefits to the players from a training standpoint.

Probably the "training" trip has done the players more harm than good. For instance, the field they played on at Valdosti the other day was a swamp filled with tangled underbrush and roots, a week before the game. The ground was plowed up and rolled. There were holes under the surface into which baseballs could roll and elude the eyes of the fielders, deep furrows crossed and recrossed the outfield and in one place was a deep ditch too wide for Bob Veach to leap and he was obliged to let a fly drop on the far side for a triple. Had the field been open he could have got the fly easily.

In another city the boys played on a vacant common in the heart of the town in such cramped quarters that the merchants were obliged to board up their windows to keep batted balls out.

On still another field when the teams went to practice, they found no bags on the bases. Finally they used a couple of automobile cushions and a pillow from the sleeping car which was parked close at hand. On one field Slim Love was forced to borrow a shovel and dig off the top of the pitcher's box.

On one field the groundkeeper was all steamed up on corn whiskey and wouldn't let the Detroit players in without tickets even though they showed up in uniform. The obdurate person wouldn't listen even to Manager Jennings, but wielded a large club when approached. Finally one of the newspaper men got behind him and seized his club, disarming him. Then the team filed in, ignoring his indignant protestations.

KILMARNOCK WINS.

LONDON, April 8.—(Canadian Press.)—A Scottish League game played today resulted in a win for Kilmarnock over Queen's Park by 1 to 0.

Next Thursday Sees London Club At Work on Southern Diamond

All But Four Players Given Later Reporting Dates Will Be On Hand—Wetzel After Shortstop.

With only three days to workout in, the London Tecumsehs will play their first exhibition game at Galion, O., on Sunday, April 18, and everything points to a well-arranged pre-season training sojourn for the team which represents London in the M.-O. League. Exhibition games with strong Ohio teams have been fixed with the exception of the week previous to the opening of the season here. Manager Wetzel is going to several Indiana points to make final arrangements to fill those dates.

Thursday For It.

Manager Wetzel is depending on his squad of players reporting on April 15, and nothing in the way of transportation has been overlooked in order not to disappoint him. He has the assurance of all the players in the list except Kennedy, Shader, Donnelly and Witry that they will be ready for the word at Delaware, O., next Thursday morning bright and early.

The latter quartet have been favored with permission to report at a later date.

The team that Wetzel has signed will be within the salary limit set for this year, the London manager having adhered to strict orders issued by President Maines at the annual meeting. As a result he has lost many a good player this winter.

With an additional shortstop, whom he has lines out for now, and the arrival of Mickey Shader and Kennedy, Wetzel is of the opinion that he will be ready for anything the seven other managers of Mint League clubs can trot out this season.

Ballmer (Marry) In Flint.

Perry Ballmer, who pitched for London last year under the name of Marry, is working in an automobile concern in Flint, and will play independent baseball this summer, despite the fact that he is the property of the Birmingham (Ala.) Southern Association club, whose contract he returned unsigned.

Manager Wetzel tried to make a deal for Ballmer, but Manager C. Molesworth of the Birmingham club exacted too heavy terms in order to teach Ballmer a lesson for running out on him last year, knowing that a class "B" club would not enter into such arrangements.

Louis Heilbroner of Fort Wayne, Ind., publisher of baseball matters, with Joe Carr, held a meeting at Richmond, Ohio, last week, the first steps towards organizing an Ohio-Indiana league.

NORTH WELLINGTON BASEBALL LEAGUE MEET CALLED SOON

HARRISTON, April 7.—The North Wellington Baseball League is again being brought to the notice of baseball fans, and a meeting will likely be called very soon for the election of officers. For some time past the meeting has been held at Palmerston, and for many nearby clubs is not just the most convenient place to gather, as the train connection is something to be considered, and for clubs on the C. P. R. lines, both east and west, it is very inconvenient to meet at Palmerston.

The most convenient place for the representatives to gather is right here in Harriston, where all representatives could be present by 12 o'clock noon, and could get back home again that same evening.

Washing Won't Rid Head of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Advt.

Flashed From Obscurity by Winning 250-Mile Sweepstakes At Los Angeles Speedway.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 8.—Jimmy Murphy, who flashed from obscurity into fame by winning the inaugural 250-mile sweepstakes on the Los Angeles speedway, has entered the eighth international 500-mile race on the Indianapolis speedway May 31.

Practically an unknown before the Los Angeles event, Murphy demonstrated that he is entitled to rank among the world's greatest drivers by his showing during this contest, which he won at an average of 103.2 miles an hour, after a non-stop run.

A brilliant future is predicted for the youthful phenom by racing experts, his headwork during the Los Angeles race being on a par with his driving skill. Content to roll along within striking distance of first place through seven-eighths of the distance, while his adversaries were setting what was afterwards proven to be too fast a pace, he came to the fore during the closing moments of the contest and thereafter was never headed.

To win his first championship race is an experience that has never before been vouchsafed by a driver, and the fact that Murphy succeeded in turning the trick is held to prove that there is a lucky star somewhere in the firmament that is shedding divine effulgence for Murphy's special benefit.

As a matter of fact, his luck lasted exactly long enough in the Los Angeles race, his supply of gasoline running out on the back stretch while he was making an extra lap of the track after crossing the finish line. Had this happened the lap before, forcing him to walk to the pits for fuel, he would still be a novice instead of the championship contender that he is today.

Murphy acquired his driving skill under the tutelage of the veteran Tommy Milton, an expert in every trick of the trade, with whom he rode as mechanician for several seasons. Milton, with greatest good sportsmanship, coached Murphy in everything that he knew, and derives as much satisfaction out of his protege's triumph at Los Angeles as though he had captured the event himself.

Milton and Murphy teaming together last fall established an entirely new series of speedway records on both the 200-inch and 183-inch classes that promise to stand for some time, since the Sheepshead Bay race track on which they were made, is now being dismantled. They are also scheduled in the near future to attempt to hand up a new series of similar straightaway records at Ormond, Fla.

Murphy's mount in the next Indianapolis classic will be a specially constructed 183-inch flier developed by Fred Duesenberg, master designer of American racing cars and motor-boat engines, to uphold the prestige of American engineering genius and skill against the best the world has to offer. With Duesenberg looking after his gasoline steed, Murphy is certain of an opportunity to demonstrate his ability to the limit in the next Hoosier international, and must be figured as ace high among the home breds who will endeavor to stem the foreign invasion.

SARNIA SOCCER SEASON STARTS ON APRIL 13

SARNIA, April 8.—The games of the Sarnia Football League for the first half of the season will start on Tuesday, April 13, and run until May 13. The games will be played at the Athletic Field, and the referees chosen for the spring are Tommy Needham, H. Imeson and Mr. Cambrey. Considerable interest has been aroused. The Point Edward team held a practice tonight at the fair grounds.

Friday night Eddie Gallagher of Hamilton will meet Terry Brooks of Detroit at a boxing show in Port Huron. Many Sarnians intend to take in the fight.

MATCHES EARLY IN JULY.

Antwerp, April 9.—By the Associated Press.—The committee charged with the arrangements for the world's golf championship, which is to be played for in connection with the Olympic games, probably will hold the matches early in July, instead of a later date, as originally had been planned.

The stadium at Antwerp for the principal events of the Olympic games is so near completion that the inauguration of the building, which will be characterized by gymnastic exhibitions by Belgian athletes, has been set for May 8 and 9.

Twenty-six countries have accepted invitations to participate in the Olympic games.

DOWLERS NOW LEAD INDOOR LEAGUE; PLAY-OFF LIKELY

Beat Veterans Last Night—Utilities Win Out Against the Pats.

Public Utilities won their game from Princess Pats 11 to 7 in the first game, and Dowlers made no room for doubt in their postponed pastime with the Veterans by handing the latter a 14 to 3 walloping.

Dowlers by virtue of their win last night, if the games played stand, now lead the league. They play a postponed game with the deposed leaders, the C. A. M. C. crew on Monday night, and unless they win, will find themselves tied for first place, necessitating a play-off. The batteries were:

First game—Princess Pats, Willetts and Edgar; Public Utilities, Burt and Land.

Second game—A. N. V., Walker and M. Wray; Dowlers, R. Wray and Dutton.

"Rule 172.—A: Every horse running in a selling race may be claimed by anyone except his owner or any person acting in his interest, after the race, for his entered price, plus the value of the race to the winner, and as much more in addition as the claimer wishes to bid. WILL ASK LEGISLATURE TO CUT GORDIAN KNOT

Brantford Wants New City Hall and Market Place.

BRANTFORD, April 8.—At a special meeting of the city council tonight it decided to make an application to the Legislature to empower the City of Brantford to sell or otherwise dispose of the market square subject to the vote of the people. The aldermen were assured that the title to the property was vested without a doubt in the City of Brantford, but with the provision that it must be used for market purposes. The new power sought would enable this string to be cut. Any move to improve market conditions here in years past have always met with the obstacle that under the deed the present property must be used for market purposes, and every effort to get a new city hall or market square has failed.

WILL INTERVENE IN BOSTON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH SUIT

BOSTON, April 8.—Attorney-General J. Weston Allen, announced today that he would file suit for intervention in the litigation involving governing boards of the Christian Science Church and its publishing society. He said the papers would be presented to the court today or tomorrow.

His action will be taken in behalf of the members of the church as beneficiaries of a public charity, under a law which requires that the attorney-general shall enforce the due appropriation of funds of public charities within the commonwealth. Virtually all the funds of the Christian Science Church are located in this state, through the presence here of the mother church and the headquarters of the publishing society.

The report of Frederick Dodge, as master in the suit of the trustees of the publishing society against the directors of the mother church, held that the funds of both the church and the society constituted public charities through deeds of gift executed by Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy.

Attorney-General Allen said that he received requests from several parties to the controversy that he take action in the case, and has determined that his motion would seek intervention in the principal suit between the directors and trustees.

HOUSING PROBLEM IS ACUTE IN BRANTFORD

BRANTFORD, April 8.—While it is found fairly easy to place returned men in positions in this district, the housing problem is creating much trouble. Local employment offices report that a number of men placed here cannot afford to keep their jobs, as they cannot find homes in which to house their families. Several so placed have had to go back where they came from, one as far as Collingwood.

With a view to the protection of all children, the local Children's Aid Society at the annual convention of the Ontario Associated Children's Aid Societies will move that in all cases where children are given out for adoption they shall be made wards of the Children's Aid.

SLUMP IN MOUSE MARKET IS REPORTED FROM COLUMBIA UNIV.

Large Stocks Kept Bring Price Down.

USED FOR EXPERIMENTS

Hosts Were Required During War For Medical Investigation and Research Work.

New York, April 8.—A big slump in the mouse market is reported from Columbia University, where large stocks of the little rodents are used for experimental purposes. Quotations for mice have fallen far below pre-war levels and many breeders have been forced out of business, according to Dr. Francis Carter Wood.

Hosts of mice were required during the war for medical experiments and high prices offered for them by the Government stimulated the breeding of these animals. When the armistice was signed the breeders were caught "long" on mice, and they found themselves carrying a heavy overload of a useless commodity.

This situation in the mouse market is disclosed in Dr. Wood's annual report as director of the George Crocker special research fund, made public today. This fund was created to conduct scientific cancer investigation and many mice not used for experiments at Columbia University are shipped to other laboratories. As one means to reduce the surplus, the directors of the research fund have attempted to ship some of the mice to the Pathological Institute of the Imperial University of Tokio.

COURT ORDERS 166 CASES OF LIQUOR TO BE CONSFICATED

Stories of Men Claiming the Liquor Are Not Believed.

WINDSOR, April 8.—Magistrate Miers in police court today ordered the confiscation of 166 cases of liquor, half of which was seized on a truck recently along the river front, and to which Samuel Glickman laid claim on the ground that it had been stolen from his residence only a few hours previous to the capture of the rum runners by the police.

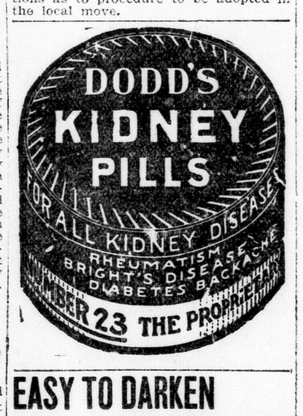

The balance was taken from the home of R. Moore, Windsor avenue, who claimed he had not obtained the whiskey for illegal disposal. Letters from the shippers at Montreal gave conflicting stories, one communication stating that the liquor had been sent to Moore in error, having been ordered by P. Maretsky, while another letter declared that the consignee was Robert Spiers of Chicago, a former Windsor man.

The already large stocks of liquor now awaiting removal at the Windsor police station was today increased by the seizure of 100 bottles at the home of William Stein, Glengarry avenue, to whom it had been consigned by James Bonito of Detroit, who was removing the amber fluid from the residence when caught by the police. Bonito paid a $1,000 fine and Stein is now out on $1,000 bail.

NAVAL TRAINING SCHOOL AT WINDSOR IS PROPOSAL

Lake Erie, St. Clair and Detroit River Will Be Training Field.

WINDSOR, April 8.—The establishment of a boy's naval training school in the Border cities with the Detroit River and Lakes Erie and St. Clair as a training field was under discussion at a special meeting of the Windsor branch of the Navy League, held in the chamber of commerce tonight, at which H. B. Smith, who has just returned from Toronto gave his report on the station there, with recommendations as to procedure to be adopted in the local move.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GREY HAIR

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all grey hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Grey, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's years younger.

HOUSING COMMISSION ORGANIZED AT GUELPH

GUELPH, April 8.—At its regular meeting today the Guelph Housing Commission organized for the year, D. M. Sanson being elected chairman, C. L. Dunbar, vice-chairman, and Geo. M. Yates, secretary. Three tenders were received for the construction of twenty houses each, all from local parties. The tenders average from $3,000 to $4,000, but the commission will not come to any decision until the figures have been fully analyzed.

DRAGGING RIVER FOR BODY OF F. BONDY

WINDSOR, April 8.—Tugs are dragging the Detroit River today for the boy of Fred Bondy, a young Sandwich man who was accidentally drowned two weeks ago. Bondy was rowing up the river from Fighting Island, when his rowboat capsized. Charles Meloche, who accompanied him, swam to safety, but Bondy was unable to swim and was drowned. He leaves a widow and three children.

FORM FEDERATION OF TEACHERS TO GET SALARY INCREASES

The Public School Members Launch New Body.

TORONTO, April 8.—The outstanding feature of the annual convention of the Ontario Educational Association, which closed today, was the formation of a federation for the avowed purpose of securing salary increases for public school teachers.

Charles G. Fraser of this city, secretary of the new organization, gave an address in the public school section of the association this afternoon on "How To Conduct a Salary Campaign." He expressed a belief that the trustees would respond to the movement and pay better salaries, but declared: "If they do not want us to form a labor union and threaten to strike they should do the fair thing without compulsion."

W. J. Robb of St. Thomas criticized country school trustees for not attending the convention. "There are 20,000 trustees," he said, "but we see only about 40 here year by year." Mr. Robb said he thought there were too many trustees. In view of the large number of mental defectives in the schools, the public school section passed a resolution to the effect that before people are allowed to marry they should be obliged to present a certificate showing that they are physically and mentally fit.

In a spirited address to the male teachers, the president, Martin Kerr, declared that ten years would be lost if the teachers of all grades did not this year organize their federation for "financial protection" to be incorporated under the laws of Canada. These remarks were greeted with practically unanimous approval.

AUSTRALIAN BISHOP MAY BE CARDINAL

WARSAW, April 8. — The constitutional commission of the Diet adopted a resolution recently providing that to be eligible to the presidency of the Polish Republic, a candidate must be of Polish nationality, at least 40 years old, and Roman Catholic or Protestant in religion. The commission began its task of framing the Polish constitution nearly a year ago.

RESOLUTION OF PEACE LIKELY TO PASS SENATE

Vote On Limiting Debate Forecasts Victory For Republicans.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 8.—The peace resolution had passed the halfway mark on its way through the House when echoes of the storm of oratory and debate it provoked died away tonight. For six hours it was the centre of discussion on the floor, yet no one questioned that it would be adopted. The final vote will come late tomorrow.

There was a vote today on adoption of the special rule limiting debate and preventing amendmtnt of the resolution as drawn by the committee on foreign affairs. The rule was carried 214 to 155, seven Democrats joining the Republicans in its support, and one Republican opposing it. This was taken to indicate action on the resolution itself, but Republican leaders said more Democrats would join them on the final vote.

Elections Enter In.

The November elections figured almost as prominently in the debate as did the international situation, wartime legislation, or even President Wilson's share in the treaty fight. A statement made by Representative Pou, Democrat, North Carolina, that the president had been without personal ambition in his action, brought a roar of laugher from the Republican side. It was echoed from the Democraic side a moment later, when, to support charges of partisan purposes, Representative Montague, Democrat, Virginia, asked Chairman Campbell of the rules committee, why peace with Austria-Hungary also had not been proposed.

Challenged Right.

On the technical side of the discussion, the Democrats repeatedly challenged the constitutional right of the Congress to pass such legislation, insisting it was a contemplaaed invasion of the treaty-making powers conferred on the executive branch and the Senate. Historical and legal precedents were marshalled to support th's view and the writings of authorities on international law quoted at length. The Republicans quoted other authorities and precedents and explained that all that was sought was legally to end a war that had in fact ended long ago. The treaty-making powers were not affected, they insisted, and a formal treaty with Germany could be drawn and ratified as provided by the constitution.

SAYS DECREASE IN RURAL POPULATION 16,000 PER ANNUM

Secretary of United Farmers Tells of Problems To Be Solved.

GUELPH, April 8.—J. J. Morrison, secretary of the United Farmers of Ontario, speaking at the O. A. C. this afternoon before the members of the senior class, dealt with the organization of farmers from its inception to the present, and referred to many of the problems which are confronting them today. Dr. Creelman occupied the chair.

A strong attack was made by the U. F. O. secretary on the system of watering stocks. Railways and large industrial concerns being instanced where the consumers were forced to create dividends, while the farmer, who is a producer solely, has no watered stock. He doesn't begin to get the actual value for his farm if he sells. He declared paying dividends on watered stock is depressing the agricultural industry. Agriculture was in a bad way, and must be put right.

People who work and raise large families, he said, are frowned upon. He considered this a tendency to penalize the man who raises a family. The population must increase, or lose the race. Mr. Morrison dealt with rural depopulation, which was altogether wrong, and the U. F. O. was going to find the remedy. He went on to state that the debt of the rural population was only $2 per capita, while that of the urban population was $50 to $100 per capita.

The decrease in the rural population of Ontario was 16,000 per year, while the increase in the urban population was 25,000 per year. These were facts which must be faced. The agriculturists have not developed with the commercialists.

"In order to cure some of these conditions the laws of nature must be obeyed," he said. "We must lessen the cost of production and also the cost of distribution. One way to lessen the cost of production is to give the producer all the implements of production at the least possible cost, and the way to do this is to wipe out the tariff. The extravagance of city living must also be lessened."

DR. CREELMAN TO BE AGENT GENERAL

TORONTO, April 8. — Important changes in the office of the Ontario agent-general in London, England, and in the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, were officially announced by Hon. Manning Doherty, minister of agriculture, today. General Manley R. Sims, agent-general in London, has resigned office, and will be succeeded by Dr. G. C. Creelman, president of Guelph Agricultural College, on July 1. Dr. Creelman will be succeeded at Guelph by Dr. J. B. Reynolds, B.A., now president of Manitoba Agricultural College.

General Manley Sims has been agent-general in London since the death of Mr. J. H. Reid in 1918. Early in 1919, however, he asked to be relieved of his duties, but at the request of the Government was induced to remain in office. Dr. Creelman has been president of the O. A. C. for many years, and for a time held the post of commissioner of agriculture in addition.

NEW Y. W. C. A. BUILDING PROPOSED AT STRATFORD

STRATFORD, April 8.—Plans for the erection of a new Y. W. C. A. building are under way, the board of directors having taken the question under consideration. It has been felt for quite a long time that the work of the association has been greatly hampered because of inadequate facilities. To meet the needs of the city an adequate and well equipped gymnasium, a swimming pool and club rooms for young women are necessary.

PRESENTED WITH JEWEL.

MYSTERY SOLDIER MAY BE TAKEN TO BRANTFORD SHORTLY

Thought That Visit May Help To Stimulate His Memory.

BRANTFORD, April 8.—As yet the identity of "Frank Hall" is unsolved. One woman called at the office of Secretary Geo. MacDonald of the Soldiers' Aid Commission to state that she believed him to be her cousin, reported killed. His name was not Hall, but he married a girl named Hall and this may have confused his memory. Inquiries have been made by five other people, but no definite information could be given or secured. There is no house at 82 Brant avenue, given as his address, and it is suggested that he be brought to Brantford in an effort to stir his memory.

A suggestion has been made to Brantford City and Brant County by Hon. F. C. Biggs that the Brantford-Hamilton road be made 30 in place of 24 feet wide, and that proper ditches and curbs be constructed at the start. It is thought that the changes proposed will be accepted.

Governor Johnes of the county jail reports that it costs an average of 18 cents a day to feed the 40 prisoners who were his guests for the first quarter of the year.

The garbage collectors are now asking that they be supplied with uniform from the city treasury the same as the policemen and firemen. They are asking for overall outfits, however, not serge suits.

The hydro-electric commission has been asked by the trades and labor council to explain how it is that while manufacturers can get new or additional supplies of power, domestic consumers cannot get any. No electric rances can be installed on account of connections with hydro power being forbidden. The chairman of the commission will be asked to address the council on the matter.

W. H. Torrance, for a number of years accountant of the Royal Bank here, has been appointed manager of the Watertown branch and will report shortly. He will be succeeded by C. East now at Bowmanville.

To Fight Rent Profiteers Windsor Real Estate Board Decides on Strong Action

Investigation of Complaints Made by Tenants Made by Board and Resolution of Condemnation Passed.

WINDSOR, April 8.—Investigation of all complaints of profiteering in rents in Windsor with a view to curbing high rentals is to be undertaken by the real estate board here. Following a searching discussion of the methods of some local dealers, the following resolution was passed:

"Whereas it has been brought to the attention of the executive committee of the Border Cities Real Estate Board that certain men dealing in real estate have been or are in the habit of purchasing houses and ordering the tenants out,

"And either raising the rent to an exorbitant figure or holding out prospects of immediate possession to obtain abnormal prices for the property,

"And generally taking advantage of the temporary shortage of houses to obtain prices for the same which do not comport with our conception of fair dealing,

"Be it, therefore, resolved that this board strongly discourages such procedure, and that if any definite complaints come before the board they will be referred to the arbitration committee for immediate investigation."

SIXTY PERMITS.

Approximately 60 permits for buildings have been issued already this week at the Windsor city hall, indicating the urgency for new homes here. The high cost of materials and labor is reflected in the large proportion of frame buildings listed.

MAYOR NOT SCHOLAR

QUEBEC, April 8.—Claiming that Thimoleus Carrier, mayor of Saint Louis De Pintendre, County of Levis, is not qualified to sit as mayor, because he can neither read nor write, C. H. Robertson, a ratepayer of the parish, today applied to the Quebec courts for a writ of "quo warranto" in disqualification proceedings.

Some time ago a similar action was entered against one of the village councillors.

FERGUSON ATTEMPTS TO FORCE GOVT. TO FATHER "DRY" BILLS

TORONTO, April 8.—Government supporters sat up and took notice today in the Legislature, when Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Conservative leader, heaved a bomb in the temperance program of the Government side, but the bomb was a "dud."

Maintaining the persistent efforts that have been made to force any temperance measures that may come down to be brought in as a Government measure, the Conservative leader declared that the bill for the stopping of short circuiting could not be brought in by a private member. It had just been introduced by F. G. Sandy (South Victoria).

Mr. Ferguson argued that the bill imposed duties and could not therefore be brought in by a private member. He sought a ruling by the speaker who promised that he would look into the matter and announce his decision tomorrow. Meanime, the bill was to stand. It is understood that the bill is regarded as quite proper, and will be proceeded with tomorrow in the usual way.

Have Not Seen Bill.

The Conservative leader admitted that he hadn't seen the bill, but if it was as reported in the newspapers, he was afraid that the member from South Victoria could not introduce it. If it was not as reported it was an entirely different thing.

"It imposes no duties," said the attorney-general.

"We don't know. We have not seen the bill," interjected an Opposition member.

No further opinion was ventured by the Government at that time. Members were rather taken back. Everything seemed to be going smoothly with the program on the Government side. No one expected the move on the Opposition side.

However, doubt cleared up after the adjournment when members learned that the bill was not subject to the objection of the Conservative leader.

The bill introduced by F. G. Sandy of South Victoria, supplementing Dominion legislation prohibiting the importation of liquor into Ontario, is calculated to render this province as nearly "bone dry" as rests within the power of the law.

The bill which is to be known as "The liquor transactions act,1920," provides that every person within the Province of Ontario who, either by himself or his servant or agent, transports or carries liquor within Ontario, for sale or consumption within the province, or who delivers liquor to any person in Ontario for sale or consumption within the province, shall be guilty of an offense and subject to the penalties provided by the Ontario temperance act. Any liquor transported contrary to the provisions of the bill may be seized and dealt with in the manner provided in the Ontario temperance act.

The provisions of the Ontario temperance act respecting offences, penalties and punishment, and the enforcement of the act shall so far as are applicable, apply to the liquor transportations act.

Specific Mention.

Specific mention is made that the act does not forbid sale, transportation or delivery of liquor for export from Ontario; transportation of liquor through Ontario from any place outside of the province to any other place outside the province; sale and delivery of liquor by or under the order of the Ontario License Board for any purpose for which liquor may be lawfully sold, supplied or delivered under the provisions of the Canada temperance act and its amendments.

It is also specified that the act does not affect the right of the license board to purchase, import, sell, supply or deliver liquor for any purpose permitted by the Canada temperance act, nor does it apply to the sale, carriage, transportation or delivery of native wines so far as the same may be lawful under the Ontario temperance act. The act is to come in force on a date to be named by the lieutenant-governor-in-council. The definition of "liquor" is the same as in the Ontario temperance act.

RAIL WALKOUT HITS DETROIT; 1,500 ARE IDLE

Michigan Central Places Embargo On All But Perishables.

FACTORIES MAY CLOSE

Strike Spreads To Other Cities —Expect Break in Forty-Eight Hours.

DETROIT, Mich., April 8.—Approximately 1,500 switchmen and enginemen were idle here tonight, and nearly every railroad entering the city was powerless to move any but perishable freight and passenger traffic as the result of the sympathetic walkout of switchmen today.

The Michigan Central declared an embargo on all inbound and outbound freight, except fuel and foodstuffs, which was being handled by the few men remaining on duty. Other roads, it was stated, probably would take similar action tomorrow.

Up to tonight railroad officials had received no demands from the men who, they said, had left the yards on appeals from the 1,500 strikers for united action. So far as could be learned, the roads were confining their efforts to breaking the strike, to recruit enough men to keep perishable freight moving, while officers of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the Switchmen's Union were endeavoring to induce the men to observe their contracts.

Heads of the city's industries were viewing the strike with some anxiety, some of them predicting that a number of factories would be forced to close within a few days if the tie-up continued.

STRIKE TO BREAK WITHIN 48 HOURS

CHICAGO, April 8.—The unauthorized strike of the switchmen and railroad enginemen, which started in the Chicago district and spread today to several cities, will be broken within the next 48 hours, A. F. Whitney, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, and S. E. Heberling, international president of the Switchmen's Union of North America predicted tonight.

The strike situation in Chicago showed some improvement during the day, but Whitney said that the traffic handled was still less than 50 per cent of normal. One thousand brotherhood men from other cities have answered the call to come here as strike breakers, he added.

The Railroad Managers' Association reported that more engines were operated today than at any time since the strike tied up the switching district.

While conditions here showed improvement, the strike was spreading throughout the country from coast to coast.

Switchmen and yardmen at over a score of important railroad points, from Detroit to Memphis, and from Jersey City to Los Angeles, have struck, or will strike at an appointed time, unless demands are granted.

The strike, according to officials, is an outcome of the "personal grievances" of John Grunau, a yardmaster of the Chicago and Great Western, who was ousted from the brotherhood for alleged pro-German utterances.

Grunau was recently displaced as acting conductor of a work train, because the addition of a passenger car made necessary the employment of a road conductor, whereupon he organized the Yardmen's Association among the switchmen, ex-members of the Brotherhood of Trainmen, and called the local strike.

SOME FREIGHT MOVES AT BUFFALO

BUFFALO, April 8.—Officials of the railroads affected by the strike of switchmen, after a conference late today, issued a statement declaring that lifting of the embargo on freight shipments was "not in sight."

Union leaders continued today without success their efforts to induce the men to abandon their unauthorized strike. At meetings of the strikers there was no sign of weakening.

The New York Central, Pennsylvania and Lehigh Valley continued to move freight today. The New York Central claimed that its Gardenville yards were handling about 35 per cent of their normal business; the Pennsylvania said that it was moving nearly half of its freight, while the Lehigh Valley reported movements on Wednesday of 50 per cent and today 25 per cent.

Local industries today began to feel the effects of the strike.

GERMANS DEPORTED FROM ENGLAND IN WAR ARE RETURNING

Worked Way From Continent As Sailors.

GET WARM RECEPTION

When Identity Discovered, German Businessmen Forced To Leave Country.

London, April 8.—Large numbers of Germans and other undesirables who were deported from England in the war have managed to make their way back to London, but have encountered warm receiptions when their identity has been discovered. They managed to cross from the continent by working their way as sailors on tramp steamers to northern English and Scottish ports.

These Germans who have come back to England to take up business again find it a hard row to hoe, says the Evening Standard. One German businessman gave it up and returned to his fatherland after being refused admission to five London hotels. He found rooms in a Bloomsbury boarding house, but two days later the other boarders discovered him, and notified the manager they could not live under the same roof with a German, and he was turned out.

A German butcher in a London suburb was prevented by his neighbors from reopening his old store the other day, although he had lived in England for 40 years, and there are many similar cases.

Neither captain or crew of the steamer Spica, the first German cargo ship to enter the Firth of Forth since August, 1914, were allowed ashore at Methil, and in deference to local feeling, the vessel did not display the German flag.

On the other hand, a revival of "Tannhauser" at Covent Garden Opera recently, drew a crowded and appreciative audience of society people. The cast, however, was wholly English.

CANADIAN MARRIED THROUGH PRISON BARS

Kokomo, Ind., April 8.—Holding hands through the steel bars of a cell door in the county jail here, William Buckland, reported by the police to be a Canadian, and Claudia Mae Stover were married by Rev. Frank McGibbons. They met while serving jail sentences, fell in love with each other, and decided to be married. Claudia Mae's time was up, but she returned to the jail for the wedding, the bridesgroom being still detained for chicken stealing. They say they intend to start life all over again as soon as Buckland is released.

PHONETIC SCRIPT FOR CHINESE OF FUTURE; TYPEWRITER ALSO

Missioners' Efforts To Reduce 10,000 To 39 Characters.

ABOLISH HIEROGLYPHICS

Would Simplify Handwriting By Brush Used For Last 4,000 Years.

Shanghai, April 8.—(By Associated Press.)—Chinese of future generation will write in phonetic script, and use a typewriter with only 39 characters, instead of plying a brush to draw 10,000 or more hieroglyphics, if mission ink block and ink tablet will have to give place to more modern methods of communicating ideas.

Their purpose is not only to simplify China's handwriting system, but to give the country a common tongue to replace the present-day Babel which renders even the native who is away from his own home district almost as helpless as a foreigner.

The system of phonetic script now urged upon the Chinese was worked out in England in 1903 by Wang Chao. Besides its 39 characters, it contains 10 numbers. There are no capitals.

Rev. E. G. Tewksbury of Shanghai, secretary of the China Sunday School Union, and a member of the Phonetic Promotion Committee, who has devoted 30 years to teaching in China, has put the new script into use on American typewriters with complete success. For this purpose typewriters with blank type faces are obtained from the factories and the characters are cut from these faces here by Chinese engravers.

That the Peking Government attaches importance to the effect being made is seen in the following excerpt from a recent mandate issued by the ministry of education:

"We recognize that because of the difference between our classical and spoken language, education in the schools makes slow progress and the keen edge of the spirit of union, both between individuals and in society at large, has thereby been blunted. Moreover, if we do not take prompt steps to make the written and spoken language the same quickly, any plans for developing our civilization will surely fail."

FORT WILLIAM TO LIVERPOOL DIRECT

(By Canadian Press.)

If the projected deep water St. Lawrence route is constructed, an ocean vessel will be able to carry grain from the elevators at Fort William direct to the old country. Assuming that a ship has passed through the lakes to Fort William and has loaded a cargo of Western Canadian grain, here are the different stages of her voyage to Liverpool:

Across Lake Superior, open navigation, 240 miles.

St. Mary River, 63 miles long, open navigation except 33 miles, which is improved river channel, and a canal 1.6 miles with one lockage.

Past this restricted channel, the vessel will have 220 miles of free sailing through the deep water of Lake Huron.

It will then pass 27 miles of open navigation and 13 miles of restricted channel in the St. Clair River, 13½ miles of open and 3.5 miles of restricted navigation in Lake St. Clair, and 22 miles of open and 9 miles of improved navigation in the Detroit River.

Again it will have free navigation on the great expanse of deep water of Lake Erie for 219 miles.

It passes 25 miles of the Welland Canal, with its seven locks, and then has 160 miles more of deep water and open navigation across Lake Ontario.

It has 182 miles from Lake Ontario to Montreal, but of this distance only about 20 miles are canal navigation. At present there are 46 miles of canals, but in the proposed improvement, with slack-water navigation behind the dams, there would be less than 20 miles of restricted channel.

Down the St. Lawrence River to Belle Isle, a distance of 1,003 miles, ships navigate regularly today.

From Belle Isle to Liverpool there is the ocean crossing of 2,186 miles, making a total of 4,386 miles from Fort William to Liverpool.

Less than 74 miles of improved channel and 50.1 miles of canals will interrupt full speed steaming from the Canadian lake elevators to the English ports.

MONKEY AFRAID OF WHITE-BEARDED MEN

NEW YORK, April 8.—Andy Holmes, guardian of the monkey cages at a circus, which is now showing here, evidently keeps posted on all the latest scientific discoveries. He was found by a newspaperman the other day, "shooing" away a man with a long white beard.

"If one of our monkeys sees a set of white whiskers he becomes hysterical," said Andy.

He explained that the monkeys have been annoyed all winter by octogenarians trying to steal their interstitial glands.

SAYS DENTISTS PULL TOO MANY TEETH

Chicago, April 8.—At a recent convention of dentists, Dr. V. H. Fuqua, president of the Chicago Dental Society declared dentists were pulling too many teeth.

"There's a wave of tooth-pulling on this continent," he said. "We must put a stop to it."

He stated it was not always necessary to pull an aching molar. Asked what should be done instead, he said: "It all depends. Filling, cleaning, scraping, cutting, adjusting, pounding, sawing—any of these things may help."

NEW BUILDING WILL BE CLOUD-TICKLER ON CHICAGO PLAZA

Wrigley Structure Will Loom 398 Feet Above Street.

NO ELECTRIC FLASHES

Absence of Advertisements Will Be Feature of Latest Structure.

CHICAGO, April 8.—Pretty nearly every one of us has paid our nickels and worked our jaws toward financing what will be Chicago's tallest building—to loom 398 feet above the plaza at the north end of the new Michigan boulevard bridge. And the strangest feature of this great cloud-tickling monument to spearmint is that, although it will be on the most commanding site in the middle west for a wonderful electric display of the virtues of William Wrigley Jun.'s chickle sticks, there won't be an advertisement on the building.

When one realizes that Mr. Wrigley pays a good fraction of a million dollars annually just to let the mazdas flash the fame of his gum to Times Square passersby in New York, his modesty and restraint in keeping snaky electric advertisements from luring the eyes of the boulevardier in Chicago to his building is something to commend.

Wrigley—That's All.

This $3,000,000 structure, which Mr. Wrigley is striving to make the finest office building in the world, will have a simple brass plate at the main entrance on the plaza, with merely the words Wrigley Building.

The main part of the Wrigley Building will be only 210 feet high, no attempt having been made to change the plans because of the new height limit. It will cover an area of 11,496 square feet. On top of the sixteen stories will rise a 188-foot tower 42 feet square. It will have four clock dials each 20 feet in diameter.

The crowning feature of the tower is to be a searchlight lantern nine feet in diameter.

All the elevators, stairways, stacks, pipes and utilities will be in the centre of the building giving space for offices on all four sides of the building.

By a fortunate jog the boulevard link moves far enough eastward as it crosses the river to make the Wrigley building tower appear to the spectator in Michigan avenue south of the river to stand in the middle of the boulevard.

PRINCE JAMIE, second son of the King and Queen of Spain, who is in London, being treated by specialists for his speech and hearing. He is seen strolling past Buckingham Palace.

The whole question of war and peace comes to a head here, where all the powers are struggling to get through this narrow passage to the East. It seems impossible, therefore, to urge strongly enough the necessity for America's entering Turkey in some authoritative capacity. No other solution can bring more than temporary peace.—Constantinople Cable Dispatch.

CHAMPION RATTLESNAKE CATCHER TAKES PECULIAR DELIGHT IN HIS WORK

Baraboo, Wis., April 7.—"Rattlesnakes is my hobby. What is yours?"

This is what you read on a card which a tall, bashful man of 32 may hand you as you step from the train in the little village of Merrimack, on Lake Wisconsin.

He is Elmer Keitel, known as the "Rattlesnake Catcher of Devil's Lake." He has done more than any other person to preserve bird life in the state park and allay the fears of thousands of tourists wha visit there every year.

Likes to Fight 'Em.

Like all real sportsmen, Mr. Keitel prefers to beard his game in its lair. On spring mornings he seeks the sunny slopes of the Baraboo bluffs, carrying a box with a trap-door, and a pair of long tongs. When he finds a den containing about forty rattlers, the fun begins.

Setting his tongs over the thick part of the body of the nearest one, he throws him into the box and shuts the trap, and then seizes another. When a den of rattlers is aroused, he says, it sounds like a beehive.

"Rattlers are not half as dangerous as most folks think," says Mr. Keitel. "I find them as interesting as birds, cats or dogs.

"The first inclination of a rattler in the spring, when he gets thawed out, is to get a 'big feed.' Sometimes he will devour fifteen mice for a single meal. But one good meal like this will last him all season, if he has another good fill before he retires for the winter."

Takes 'Em Alive.

Of the 1,500 or more rattlers which Mr. Keitel has to his credit, practically every one has been taken alive.

"It is not true that snakes give warning before they strike," Mr. Keitel continued. "Neither do they hypnotize or charm their prey. I have watched them capture birds, mice and other animals, and they simply get them because they are quicker in their movements than almost any other living them I know of. It is also untrue that snakes can poison each other."

Mr. Keitel is particularly interested in the destruction of rattlers in and about the state park, because he claims they are very destructive of bird life. He says that hundreds of nests are robbed every spring, and many more hundreds of young birds killed.

MRS. LUCILE HIXSON of Kansas City only weighed 79 pounds when she began taking Tanlac. She has already gained 36 pounds and says this wonderful medicine has been the greatest blessing of her life.

"I weighed only seventy-nine pounds when I began taking Tanlac, but now I weigh one hundred and fifteen and am feeling better than I have in seven years," was the unusual statement made by Mrs. Lucile Hixson, living at 2032 Broadway, Kansas City, Mo., a few days ago.

"Before I began taking Tanlac," continued Mrs. Hixson, "I had become so weak from seven years of suffering that at times I wasn't able to stand on my feet. What I ate nearly always disagreed with me, and made gas form so bad that I could hardly get my breath. I was badly constipated and had a pain across the small of my back, and my nerves were upset. I was troubled with dull headaches just about all the time and often I had fainting, dizzy spells and I was never able to walk any distance before I felt exhausted.

"My uncle recommended Tanlac to me, and now since it has entirely overcome my troubles I will never get through praising it. I am not troubled with indigestion or gas at all and I am eating anything and everything I want and digesting it perfectly. Headaches and dizzy spells have all left me and my constipated condition has been relieved. My nerves are in fine condition and the pain across the small of my back has disappeared altogether. I have gained thirty-six pounds in weight, can do my housework by myself, and I am stronger than I have been in years. Tanlac has certainly been the greatest blessing of my life, and I will never be able to praise it enough for what it has done for me."

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug, Limited, and by an established agency in every town.

LATEST THEORY IS THAT FRANK HALL LIVED IN HAMILTON

Mystery Veteran Recognizes Resident of Hamilton.

HAMILTON, April 8.—There is reason to believe that Frank Hall, the unidentified soldier, lived in Hamilton during the year 1912. Yesterday R. Robinson, 36 Oak avenue, visited the soldier, hoping that he might be his brother, Richard Robinson, who was reported missing while with the 4th C. M. R. Hall recognized Robinson, as a Hamilton man as soon as he walked into the ward, and told him that he worked for the Canadian Westinghouse in September, 1912.

He also remembered having boarded with people whose name began with "W." and who lived near the police magistrate's home. The unfortunate man struggled to recall a connection with Christ Church Cathedral, claiming that it was Dean Abbott who secured employment for him with the Westinghouse. Hall asked Robinson if he knew a Jack Raymond who had worked for the Otis Fensom Elevator Company or Sawyer-Massey Company, and who lived on Simcoe street east. Raymond is said to have been engaged to Hall's sister. Inquiries at the local factories mentioned brought forth the information that they had no record of Hall or Raymond.

The theory that Hall might prove to be a Hamilton soldier named Berkovitz is exploded. The latter was reported missing in 1916, whereas Hall remembers the battles up to and including Passchendaele in 1918.

CRITICISM OF FRANCHISE BILL DELAYS ACTION

Peterboro Member Would Prevent Farmers' Campain Collection.

EMPLOYEES TO VOTE

Employers Must Allow Hours Other Than Noon Hour For Polling.

OTTAWA, April 8.—(By the Canadian Press.)—Discussion of the franchise bill in the House of Commons today followed consideration of such varied topics as inspection of fish, civil service insurance, certificates for master mariners, and a bill to carry the Bulgarian peace treaty into effect. The franchise bill was again in committee. Presumably non-contentious clauses were under discussion, but so constant was the stream of bantering criticism that comparatively few clauses were passed.

Under the bill, a chief electoral officer is appointed. His appointment will mean abolition of what Hon. Hugh Guthrie, solicitor-general, termed the "ancient and honorable office" of the clerk of the crown in chancery, an office which dates back in Canadian history for a century or more and links with the spacious days of Wolsey. Under the bill, too, it is proposed that the parliamentary counsel of the House (at present F. H. Gisborne, K.C.) shall also be chief electoral officer, that the chief electoral officer shall be appointed for life and removable only as a superior court judge may be removed.

Free From Control.

"It is desired to keep the office free from partisan control," Mr. Guthrie explained.

The committee concurred in Mr. Guthrie's desire, but there was sharp criticism of the clause. Col. J. A. Currie (Simcoe North) opposed life appointments. They savored of Prussianism. Suppose the parliamentary counsel should be removed; what then would the position of the chief electoral officer be?

S. W. Jacobs (George Etinne Cartier) and S. W. Jacobs (George Etiene Cartier) the remark that the present parliamentary counsel had been appointed chancellor of the diocese at Ottawa. Was this compatible with an appointment as chief election officer, Mr. Jacobs demanded. "Will he not have to play the parts of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde?" Mr. Jacobs pressed. The committee roared. Discussion was proceeding when the deputy speaker called attention to the fact that the clause actually before the committee was one abolishing the office of the clerk of the crown in chancery and not the subsequent clause relating to the appointment of the chief electoral officer. His ruling led to a clash with Frank S. Cahill of Pontiac.

Mr. Cahill had protested and declared his intention of appealing from the ruling.

Persists in Appeal.

"Do you persist in your appeal?" Mr. Bolvin, the deputy speaker, asked.

"I certainly do," Mr. Cahill sharply replied.

Hon. W. S. Fielding intervened, suggesting that the appeal should not be pressed. For a time Mr. Cahill insisted on his appeal, but eventually withdrew it and the incident passed.

Again on a later clause disqualifying ecclesiastics from acting as returning officers, the appointment of Mr. Gisborne was before the committee. Was the chancellor of the diocese an ecclesiastic, inquired D. D. McKenzie. He was not, the solicitor-general replied. The minister of justice added that a chancellor of the diocese was a legal adviser. Here Mr. Jacobs proposed to read a sermon by Mr. Gisborne, but the deputy speaker demurred, and Mr. Jacobs did not insist.

Reference to campaign funds brought from J. A. Sexsmith (Peterboro) the remark that it would be a good thing to prevent the "disgraceful way in which farmers were going from door to door with hat and basket collecting a campaign fund." This brought a rejoinder from Dr. Michael Clark of Red Deer.

The House rose at 11 o'clock. Discussion on the franchise bill will be continued tomorrow.

Resumed After Dinner.

When the House resumed after dinner the Bulgarian peace treaty bill was given its third reading, and the House went into committee on the franchise bill.

An opinion, which was coincided in by a number of members, was voiced by H. B. Morphy (Perth), who said that the clause forbidding the chartering of any vehicle by a candidate for the purpose of conveying voters to the polls should be cut out. Mr. Morphy remarked that it tended to reduce the standard of honesty in elections. The candidate's friends "volunteered" their conveyances and winked the other eye.

Mr. Guthrie answering Mr. McMaster, said the Government had considered the subject of compulsory voting, but had not yet seen its way to the introduction of such radical legislation.

Consideration of the two clauses covering collection of campaign funds and publication of election expenses was deferred until Tuesday.

Slandering of candidates at election time took some time for consideration. Mr. Guthrie stated that slander was never a criminal offence in Canada, and was mostly indulged in by the men of little or no financial standing.

The clause providing that if a man had what he believed to be reasonable grounds of slander, he could not be convicted, was struck out, several members on either side of the speaker favoring such a move.

Malicious Slander.

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King heartily indorsed E. W. Nesbitt, who urged that the man guilty of malicious slander of a candidate should be rigorously punished.

Clause 15 of the bill which provides that employers must allow at least three hours other than the noon hour to employees who desire to vote on polling day was carried. It states that no reduction shall be made from the pay of any employee for his or her absence during these two hours, nor shall any penalty be exacted. The section extends to railway employees with the exception of those who are actually engaged in the running of trains and to whom such time cannot be allowed without interfering with such work.

Bulgarian Treaty.

In committee a bill to carry into effect the peace treaty with Bulgaria. Hon. Mr. Rowell said that among other things, the bill dealt with adjustment of debts owing by Canadians to Bulgarians and by Bulgarians to Canadians.

Mr. Fielding wanted to know why Canada's contribution of $64,000 towards the expenses of the League of Nations had been paid out of the demobilization appropriation.

Mr. Rowell said the auditor-general and the department of justice had both approved of this method of payment.

Mr. Rowell told D. D. McKenzie, who asked how many of our late enemies Canada and Great Britain were now at peace with, that we had been at peace with Germany since January 10; that the treaty with Austria had not been ratified, although all portions of the British Empire had given their consent; that a state of peace with Bulgaria would be reached when the treaty now before the House had been ratified by Bulgaria, and three of the allied and associated powers, and that in the case of Turkey the treaty had not been placed in the hands of the Turkish plenipotentiaries, but it was hoped to have that treatly also before the House before the close of the present session.

Looking To Washington.

Hon. Mr. Fielding asked why the treaty between France, Britain and the United States for protection of France had not been brought before the Canadian Parliament.

Mr. Rowell replied that the United States had taken no action on this treaty, and, therefore, it was not requested of Canada to do anything. Our consent had not been asked.

"Then we are looking to Washington for guidance?" queried Mr. Fielding. He went on to say that in the past a certain man had been known as "Look-to-Washington" McDougall. He feared a similar title might be attached to another prominent Canadian soon. Mr. Rowell replied that his questioner was very touchy on the subject of foreign treaties, and the incident closed by the deputy speaker leaving the chair at 6 o'clock.

ASKS AUTHORITY FOR PENSION TALK

OTTAWA, April 8.—William Duff (Lunenburg) asked in the House this afternoon if Col. Margeson of the board of pension commissioners had any authority for a statement he is alleged to have made at the G. W. V. A. convention at Montreal that "should a small amount of gratuity be asked for it would quite likely be granted to the soldiers."

Hon. Mr. Rowell replied that there was no authority for any such statement being made.

Mr. Duff—"Is it the intention of the Government to allow prominent officials of the board of pension commissioners to take part in such conventions and to suggest to the delegates any plans either for increase or pensions or otherwise?"

Mr. Rowell replied that the board of pensions commissioners was appointed under statute and had powers and authority under that act. They were not under the control of the Government.

P. F. Casgrain (Charlevoi-Montmorency) asked if the Government intended to continue the office of the two parliamentary secretaries, i.e., F. H. Keefer, parliamentary under-secretary for internal affairs, and Hugh Clark, parliamentary under-secretary for the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment.

Sir George Foster replied that an announcement as to continuance of the offices would be made later in the session.

JUDGE SENDS DOWN BOOTLEGGERS FREED BY A MAGISTRATE

Hamilton Court Reverses Decision Previously Given.

HAMILTON, April 8.—Judge Gauld today allowed the appeals of the Ontario License Board against the decision of Magistrate Jelfs in the case of thirteen bootleggers rounded up by Government whiskey sleuths. The magistrate threw all the cases out, insisting that the evidence of the spotters must be corroborated. Judge Gauld held that this was not necessary. He sent four foreigners, whose second offence it was, down for six months each, and fined the others $200. So that there would be no doubt he announced there would be a reserved case on the point raised by the defence counsel that the detectives were accomplices.

TWO STEAMERS FAST IN LAKE MICHIGAN ICE

MUSKEGON, Mich., April 8.—The Goodrich steamer Alabama and the Crosby Line steamer Petersky are fast in the ice in Lake Michigan today. The Petersky has drifted out of sight of the local coastguard station, while the Alabama, which attempted to return to Grand Haven yesterday, is icebound off that port.

ALDERMEN—FIREMEN

ST. CATHARINES, April 8.—This city is at present dependent upon volunteers for its fire protection. The entire fire brigade, except the chief and assistant chief, walked out at 6 o'clock this evening after their resignations had been accepted at a special session of the city council this afternoon. No difficulty was experienced in procuring drivers for the horse and motor trucks and the stations are being manned by the aldermen and city hall staff.

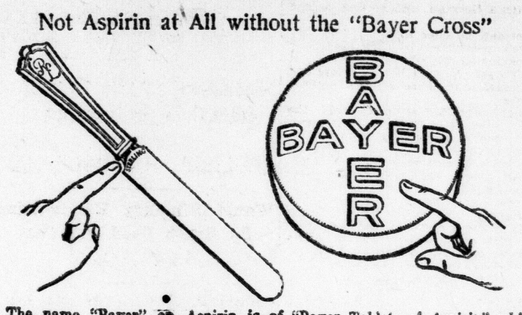

The men quit because of the refusal of the city council to vote them a 25 per cent increase in pay. The council offered them a 14 per cent increase. The firemen held a parade early this evening, but there was no excitement over it.

WOMEN'S VOTE WILL SAVE WORLD, SAYS EMELINE PANKHURST

KITCHENER, April 8.—Speaking in Trinity Methodist Church here tonight before a large audience, Mrs. Emeline Pankhurst, the famous English suffragette leader, issued a strong warning against the rising tide of Bolshevism in the world and claimed that the world's salvation from the "red terror" lies in the woman's vote.

The danger of class differences was reviewed by the speaker at some length. "Class distinctions," she said, "open the way for the advance of Bolshevism, and I hope that Canadian women will lead the way in the fight against the unnecessary and harmful differences and bring about that unity and fellowship, which will prove the firmest and most powerful antidote to the spirit of unrest which breeds Bolshevism."

Mrs. Pankhurst whose stated subject was "Civilization and the Future," made a good impression and was well received by her large audience. She spoke under the auspices of the Kitchener and Waterloo Women's Canadian Club.

The Hacking Cough

STRAINS THE LUNGS

The terrible, hacking lung-racking cough that sticks to you in spite of everything you have done to get rid of it is a great source of danger to your health, and the longer it is allowed to stick the more serious the menace becomes.

You can easily get rid of the cough or cold at its inception by using Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, a remedy that has been universally used throughout Canada for the past 30 years.

Mrs. Samuel Matthews, Portage, P. E. I., writes: "Last winter I caught a heavy cold, and was laid up for some time. I had such a hacking cough I could not sleep at night, and did not think I could ever get over it. One day a friend dropped in to see me, and was surprised to see how bad my cough was. She advised me to use Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, so the next day I sent for a bottle and soon got relief, and by the time I had taken two bottles, my cough was all gone. I doubt there is anything to equal it."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is put up in a yellow wrapper; 3 pine trees the trade mark; price 25c and 50c. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

FIRE GRIGG FOR KAPUSKASING WORK, DEMAND

Lieut. Stover, Liberal, Wants Deputy-Minister Dismissed.

SOLDIERS WANT ACTION

Settlers Sick of Being Told What Tories Were Going To Do.

TORONTO, April 8.—Without handing out any bouquets to soften the hard knocks of his speech, Lieut. K. S. Stover, Liberal member for Algoma, in teh debate of the Kapuskasing affairs in the Legislature today demanded the dismissal of Alfred Grigg, deputy minister of lands and forests. Other speakers were inclined to talk of soil and bush and pioneer conditions without touching on the personal end of it, the soldiers who have suffered.

Lieut. Stover was different. He put up a case for the soldier as a returned man himself. He informed the House that when people made promises to soldiers that they must "come through" with those promises. In France, and he was sorrow to say it, when a colonel didn't come through with his promises, he was given a D. S. O. and sent back to Canada or made a staff officer and sent upwards.

Deputy Minister Blamed.

"I say that the deputy minister was responsible for much of this, and the proper thing to do is to fire Alfred Grigg and not promote him," said Mr. Stover. "Mr. Grigg was not sympathetic towards the soldier. If this matter is cleared up, with him at the head, it will not be satisfactory to the soldiers."

Lieut. Stover said that on one occasion the deputy minister had told the head of the soldiers' deputation that he was a d—— fool. He referred to Mr. Grigg taking up a matter with the head of the veterans confidentially because he didn't want it made public. "If conditions were right," said Lieut. Stover, "it would have made no difference, if the public did not know them. The soldiers, were sick and tired of hearing of what was going to be done for them, and what had been done for them. It's action we want. And the action is to fire Alfred Grigg." Liberal applause greeted the member's remark.

Should Know Conditions.

The only other member mentioning the deputy was Sam Clarke, and while he did not demand his dismissal, he said that Mr. Grigg having come from that country should have known conditions.

Other speakers gave the former government credit for having good intentions, and lamented the failure. Few, however, made any real suggestions as to settling of the present affairs. Everyone defended the north against any insinuation that it wouldn't produce. They dwelt on the fact that the right kind of men hadn't been chosen, and there are eulogies of some class as being finest pioneers. This was particularly appied to the French-Canadian, and the brother Canadian got more praise in the House than is usual. Members went back to the times of their fathers and grandfathers to prove that Old Ontario had the same trouble with frost when not enough land was cleared. Over half a dozen members had their say, and the debate promises to get in as many members as the debate on the speech from the throne. However, they are making their remarks short.

Not Afraid of Work.

Z. Mageau (Sturgeon Falls) said the kind of men to open up the north were men who were not afraid of work, bear or to wear moccasin, and go barefoot when they could not get them. It was born into men to be pioneers, he said. The trouble about frost and other conditions was not new to Kapuskasing. The same had been true in his riding in Temiskaming. But they would eventually triumph. He proposed that they let those who wanted to go, leave. He would sell the farms to the highest bidder after advertising.

R. M. Warren (North Renfrew) would carry on the colony despite the terrible mistake made. He did not think it would work properly without hardened pioneers.

The North could not be settled with men from the cities, said Sam Clarke. It would be better to pay every settler in the northland $300 than to have losses like Kapuskasing had cost. It was a mistake to "mislead settlers and then leave them there." Move the poor ones and help the remainder was his suggestion. G. G. Halcrow (East Hamilton) moved the adjournment of the debate.

Aid Township Roads.

Hon. F. G. Biggs, minister of public works, is arranging a bill to help township municipalities in their local road-making. He will probably introduce a measure that will allow residents who want to contribute to good roads to do so. This measure will make it so that those who desire better roads by paying their own money may have it done. The townships will be given greater freedom than they now possess and given the right to accept these offers of citizens who are willing to pay more than others for road improvement.

A deputation to Hon. F. C. Biggs, minister of public works, today from Dufferin County wanted the road from Arthur to Orangeville made a provincial highway. They were told this was impossible. It has been designated as a county highway.

Tolmie For Soldiers.

Major Tolmie after reviewing the establishment of the soldiers' colony, referred to conditions there as "a disgrace and a dishonor." On behalf of the returned men he demanded that the issue be fairly faced. If the report of the commissioners lacked in anything, he considered it was criticism which those responsible for the prevailing conditions merited. He criticized the deputy minister of lands and forests for a remark attributed to the latter to the effect that he could have filled the colony with French-Canadians, but that none were wanted there.

"The evidence does not show that the deputy minister was given an opportunity to reply to this charge," put in Hon. G. H. Ferguson.

Major T. L. Kennedy of Peel, who was formerly connected with the settlement, defended the assistant superintendent of the colony from charges of evading military service. He stated that the official in question had lost an eye and had several times volunteered for service, but had been rejected.

Rev. Edgar Watson, North Victoria, was called to order by Hon. G. H. Ferguson when he criticized what he termed "kaleidoscopic changes" in the system of payment followed at Kapuskasing. Mr. Watson stated that the contract system had first been adopted and had given way to payment by the day.

Not First Employed.

"That is not so," declared Hon. Mr. Ferguson. "The contract system was not first employed. Don't develop into a demagogue in this House."

"I'm not developing into a demagogue," Mr. Watson retorted, with strong emphasis on the personal pronoun. "I am speaking the truth, and I will not accept advice from the member for Grenville on this matter."

"Your sermonst were as reckless as your utterances here," Mr. Ferguson shot back. The remainder of his remark was lost in a roar of laughter.

"I should like to request the honorable member for Grenville to confine his remarks to this report, and leave my private affairs alone," Mr. Watson protested. With reference to Hon. Mr. Ferguson's connection with the Kapuskasing settlement, he expressed the opinion that Mr. Ferguson has been guilty of nothing more than an error in judgment.

Zotique Mageau, Liberal member for Sturgeon Falls, expressed the opinion that the settlement had been administered in methods far from businesslike.

M. M. MacBride, South Brant, expressed the belief that only one side of the case had been aired in the press. He asked for further light on complaints against the deputy minister of lands and forests.

"If Kapuskasing was not fit for interned Germans, how much more disgraceful it was to put war-worn Canadians there," observed R. R. Hall, Parry Sound.

MINTO TO SUPERVISE RANCH IN ALBERTA

MONTREAL, April 8.—The Earl of Minto this morning announced his intention of taking an active interest in his ranch in Alberta, which borders upon that recently purchased by H. R. H. the Prince of Wales.

Lord Minto expects to leave Montreal for Ottawa on Saturday next, where he will spend a few days with friends prior to proceeding to his western home. EFFORT TO LINK ONTARIO CHEESE PRODUCERS INTO ONE CO-OPERATIVE FIRM

OTTAWA, April 8.—To link the cheese producers of Ontario into one co-operative company was the purpose of a meeting of Eastern Ontario dairy farmers held in the Windsor Hotel this morning. Officers and directors of the United Co-Operative Dairy Company of Ontario were in attendance and addressed the gathering, and a resolution was unanimously adopted indorsing the plans of the company, and pledging those present to affiliation with it.

It is contended by the officers of the company that the co-operative plan, as outlined at the meeting this morning, will effect large savings by the elimination of cheese boards and the cheese salesmen and buyers as well as in the purchase of cheese factory supplies.

Ship To Montreal.

Under the co-operative plan all factories associated with the company will ship their product to Montreal, where it will be sold on the Montreal Board of Trade. It is pointed out that in this way the district cheese boards will be abolished, and the service of cheese salesmen and buyers will no longer be necessary.

Engage In Other Lines.

Eventually the company purposes to engage in other lines of the dairy business, but for the present will devote its attention solely to cheese.

Asked if the company had any political affiliation with the United Farmers' party, it was stated that the United Farmers had one director on the company's board just to keep the organization in touch with each other. It was not intended to take political action.

ITALY WILL OBTAIN SOVEREIGNTY OVER FIUME, IS REPORT

Geneva States Commission Has Reached Agreement.

GENEVA, April 8.—A telegram received at Lugano from Triest asserts that the Italo-Jugo-Slav commission which has been in consultation regarding the Adriatic settlement has reached an agreement concerning the Adriatic ports under which Italy obtains sovereignty over Fiume.

The Jugo-Slavs, under the reported agreement, would receive Susak, the Canale Della Fiumara, the Porto Baross and the Port of Volosca. The Port Abbazia, just to the southwest of Volosca, would remain Italian, with the Jugo-Slavs receiving Scutari, on the Albanian coast, as compensation.

The report credits Premier Lloyd George as being the author of the settlement proposition, regarding which the opinion of President Wilson was not asked by the Allies, it is declared.

LLOYD GEORGE LEAVES.

LONDON, April 8.—David Lloyd George, the British prime minister, will leave for Sanremo, Italy, next Saturday for the coming session of the peace conference. Mr. Lloyd George will travel by boat to Marseilles.

Earl Curzon of Kedleston, the British foreign secretary, and Viscount Chinda, the Japanese ambassador to Great Britain, will proceed overland to Marseilles.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(By Canadian Press).—One of the strongest supporters in Washington of the proposed international water route from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic, is A. P. Nelson, representative of the eleventh district, Wis., in the House of Congress. Representative Nelson is an outspoken advocate of the the co-operation of Canada and the United States in everything which tends to the mutual benefit of the citizens of the two countries, and he sees in the proposed deep water St. Lawrence route a means, not only of promoting the interests of his own country, but a further strengthening of the bonds of friendship which unite the peoples of the Dominion and the United States. He recently presented a very forceful and lucid argument in favor of the projected route in a speech delivered in Congress.

Representative Nelson believes that if the United States neglects the present opportunity Canada will ultimately have an all-Canadian route from the lakes to the sea, forcing the United States to find a route of its own. In an interview with the Canadian Press, he said:

"In a broad way, there are three possible routes from the Great Lakes to the sea; one all-American, one all-Canadian, and one joint Canadian-American. From every point of view the joint Canadian-American route, down the St. Lawrence, along the international boundary line, is the only logical, practical and economical route to construe. But it is evident that if you Canadians should build, as I believe you ultimately will do, an all-Canadian route, we Americans would be compelled to do likewise, and the duplication of the cost of construction and expense of upkeep of two routes would have to be borne by Canadian and American commerce and paid by the producers and consumers of the two countries.

"The only opposition to the project," Mr. Nelson continued, "has come from Montreal, in Canada, and New York, in the United States. Montreal argues, 'Why should Montreal give up her prestige for the benefit of ports of the United States on the Great Lakes, and a few Canadian villages on the north shore?' Meantime, New York argues, 'Why should we spend our money to develop a waterway through Canada and promote the commerce of foreign ports and lessen the commerce of the port of New York?' Both are wrong; both are selfish. It is merely the case of selfish monopoly by reason of stragetic position on the seaboard, against the welfare and happiness of the entire peoples of the two countries.

"Our nation as a whole, and the great Middle West in particular, should not be sacrificed to the selfish and narrow provincialism of any one or two port, or any one province of the state or terminal. I cannot, of course, speak for Montreal, but as for New York, I believe when she sees this project in its broadest aspect she will enthusiastically support it. The opposition in New York is very limited, and the rank and file of the people of the state will overwhelmingly support this project when they realize the tremendous advantage to be derived from it."

Representative Nelson flatly contradicted the argument presented by some of his fellow-countrymen that the proposed route would give Canada too great a military advantage.

"The naval terror can be dismissed as a mere nightmare and bugaboo, which will neither scare nor delude any well-informed American citizen," he said. "Hostilities with Canada, our friend and neighbor, are well nigh inconceivable. Such a situation would mean that both Christianity and civilization had completely broken down. Over 100 years without a fort or gun on our 4,000 miles of international boundary assures us that we can build in perfect faith and peace. And closer international business relations will undoubtedly tend to bind us closer as friends and neighbors.

"From a military point of view the joint route is the only correct one for my country, as we would continue to have, as now, absolute joint control of all war vessels entering the lakes from the sea. Independent routes might place either government in a position of military suspense and in an attitude of feeling called upon to provide military fortifications and defences upon the Great Lakes, which I fervently hope may never maintain. I hope that the only line of defense between Canada and the United States may continue to be that imaginary boundary line.

"Sooner or later," continued Mr. Nelson, "the immense power of the St. Lawrence must be developed. So great a natural resource cannot much longer be neglected just because it happens to lie on an international boundary. If there are complications, business diplomacy must overcome them. As there is a prospective preponderance of benefits, engineering skill must adjust them. Coal is getting each year more costly to bring to the districts removed from the mines. Hydro-electric power is every year becoming more of an economic necessity. The people of Canada and the United States cannot afford not to use the St. Lawrence.

"If within ten years the major portion of the available horsepower could be utilized at the present price of coal, the total cost of the entire project would be saved in two years. Lake access to the sea is not only an expenditure to encourage navigation, but also an investment in hydro-electric power that promises to pay large dividends.

"I sincerely hope that my country will not hesitate to join Canada in the St. Lawrence development, particularly as competent engineers have declared the project is perfectly feasible and that the return of the water power alone, leaving out all advantages of transportation, will more than pay for the entire investment.

"Courageous and far-sighted, Canada, with a population of less than one-tenth of that of the United States, and with an estimated national wealth of less than one-twentieth of that of the United States, is ready to join hands with the United States on a fifty-fifty contribution basis to develop this marvellous waterpower and navigation project. The United States must not and will not hesitate."

CRACKED FIVE SAFES; SECURED ONLY $26

NEW YORK, April 8.—A gang of expert burglars spent an entire night breaking into offices in a lofty building on Barclay street. They "cracked" five different safes, and the total proceeds of their night's work amounted to just $26.

NO CRIME TO KISS GIRL, SAYS JUDGE

PATTERSON, N.J., April 8.—That it is no crime to kiss a girl, was the weighty decision rendered by Recorder Young here, when Dorothy Kuhnle brought long belated action against Jere Trinkal, as a result of an incident, which occurred last Christmas eve. Jere told the court the kiss complained of was the result of the hilarity of the season, and the fact that Miss Trinka has just presented him with a gift.

WARSAW HUMMING WITH WAR ACTIVITY; POPULATION JUMPS

TENEMENTS JAMMED

Many Seek Shelter in Stables and Basements Used For Storage.

WARSAW, April 8. — Warsaw is humming with war activity and is crowded to its very doors with hordes of poverty-stricken refugees from the areas for which the Poles and Bolsheviki are fighting. Travelers say it is the most crowded city in Eastern Europe. The population is estimated to have increased from 800,000 to 1,300,000 since the world war began.

Everywhere there are officers and soldiers. Military automobiles, tractors and various other vehicles of war traverse the streets all day and most of the night. The cafe life is as bright and gay as ever, but the restaurants and theatres close at 10 p.m. to save food, light and labor. The refugees from the war-stricken areas began streaming into the city about a year ago, and have been coming ever since, hoping to find food and places to sleep. The problem of providing for them has baffled the city officials.

In the poorer districts, basements, which for generations were used for storage purposes, have been used for refugees' sleeping quarters. In instances 15 to 20 persons, and even more, sleep on a basement floor, on straw. Others have found shelter in stables or in buildings intended for schools. Many of these refugees are women, with children who have come out of the east virtually without funds. During the day these people are partly supplied with food by the municipality or some of the welfare organizations. Many exist only by begging.

Warsaw's tenements, always crowded as New York's east side has been for years, are jammed with humanity as never before, and during the severe winter weather when there was an epidemic or influenza here old men and women and children died by the hundreds every day in this land of the poor.

City officials see no relief in sight until warmer weather comes when they hope the people will gradually begin leaving for the country to work on farms.

INGERSOLL OFFICER MAY IDENTIFY THE MYSTERY SOLDIER

Remembers Similar Incident to That Told by Injured Man.

TILLSONBURG, April 8. — Local soldiers who read this morning's dispatch from Toronto concerning the identity of the soldier now lying in the Dominion Orthopedic Hospital, in that city, with much interest, owing to the fact that in the interview he mentioned the name of Lieut. Reginald Brookfield as belonging to his unit in France.

Lieut. Brookfield left Tillsonburg with the 71st Battalion under the command of Lieut.-Col. Sutherland, and in an interview today stated that he remembers a case very similar to this happening to a member of his unit. "I could not be positive about the name, but I could identify the man if I saw him," said Mr. Brookfield, "if I had an opportunity to see him."

The incident which Lieut. Brookfield has reason to remember happened to a fellow soldier who was driving a transport when he was seriously injured. This fact and Pte. Hall's recollection that he was riding the nigh horse of a team when struck by a piece of shrapnel in the back, blends together in several details.

TESTED HIS LOVE BY TWO YEARS' SEARCH

YOUNGSTOWN, April 8.—Mrs. Mary Hefferman, 53, was courted by Russell L. Richman, 23. In order to test his love by discovering whether he would carry out his oft-repeated intention to follow her wherever she might go, she disappeared two years ago, and a nation-wide search by the police failed to locate her. Meanwhile young Richman went to war, and on his return took up the search. He found her here, and the wedding took place recently.

WHY EXPERIMENT?

Food scientists claim that the leavener is largely responsible for the flavor, texture and wholesomeness of your home baking. That on no other one ingredient does so much depend. It is important, therefore, to use a baking powder that you know possesses the necessary leavening qualities.

bring bad tempers and bad health. Why? Because most mankind are shut-up in the house, or factory all winter and do not have the opportunity to breathe in good oxygen, the system is filled with toxins (poisons), and in consequence one feels blue, tired and miserable, perhaps "aches all over." The very best way to get rid of the poisons and to build up for another and better day is to obtain a vegetable tonic, made without alcohol, and known favorably for over fifty years as Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This will put vim, vigor, vitality, into your blood. You will feel young and buoyant instead of old and "seedy."

At this time of the year people feel weak, tired, listless, their blood is thin, they have lived indoors and perhaps expended all their mental and bodily energy, and they want to know how to renew their energy and stamina, overcome headaches and backaches, have clear eyes, smooth, rudy skin, and feel the exhileration of real good health tingling thru their bodies. Good, pure, rich, red blood is the best insurance against ills of all kinds. You are apt to suffer from an attack of "Grip" if your health is run down. Purify the blood and you can defy Grip or "Flu." This is the time to clean house and freshen up a bit. Get the "Discovery" TO-DAY, in tablet or liquid form. HELENE'S MARRIED LIFE

BY MAY CHRISTIE

Copyright, 1920, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate

XLVIII.—In a Glass House.

I could have wept bitterly over the compromising scene that Mrs. St. Aubyns had just witnessed.

Of what use now to tell her that I was not engaged to Tony—never had been—nor ever would be either! For, in the first instance, I had had no time or chance to contradict Tony's statement. And—following that—both she and Tony had taken me utterly unawares.

"Tony! How can you?" I jerked myself away from him.

"Where are you going?" he inquired. And then he added:

"I'm awfully sorry the good lady saw me holding you in my arms, my dear. And yet I'm glad—and proud!"

"She—she'll really think that what you said to her was true!" I stammered.

"It's going to be true," said Tony, briskly. "I want to marry you, Helene. I want you to believe it."

(Going to be true, indeed? Oh, the conceit of man!)

"Now," he continued, quite complacent, "you can ask me anything about the St. Aubyns family. And I'll tell you. For I can see that your curiosity has been aroused."

"And you've come to the conclusion that it's better to admit a few things to me, privately, than to be forced to admit them before the whole house. Eh?" I fixed him with a level gaze. "You realize that, to a certain extent, the fat is in the fire That I've been 'hearing things'? That I may cause trouble?"

"You're quite a female Sherlock Holmes. And the role is not becoming!" remarked my companion. "But we won't quarrel over that! So fire away, Helene. I'm waiting."

I sat down on the divan beside him. Now was the time to tell home-truths. Besides no doubt that I would corner him!

"When Jim St. Aubyns was carried into this house, unconscious, why did you pretend you didn't know him, Tony?"

Tony smiled.

"I expected to hear that, my dear," said he, quite unabashed.

"Well, answer it."

Tony crushed the glowing point of his cigarette against his boot. And then he said:

"I didn't catch a proper glimpse of young St. Aubyns, on that particular occasion."

"Oh yes, you did. You went quite white," I cried. "For a moment, I thought you were going to faint! And then I decided that you were one of those—those cowardly souls—who can't bear to see an accident—or stand the sight of blood—"

"Yes, such an interpretation would be flattering, compared to the real one," I went on, in cutting tones.

"And the reason was——"

"Awkward? How?"

"Oh, your whole past would be brought up, then! Scarcely a pretty revelation for your friends!"

"Helene, you're growing bitter! Quite an old-maid-ish trait, my dear! Struggle against it——"

"I utterly despise you, Tony," I cried sharply. "And—let me tell you this—if you won't admit the kindness of the St. Aubyns family to you, then I'll proclaim it from the housetops!"

I flushed.

"So I wasn't the only person who knew him, and said nothing, eh?" sneered Tony. "Although—mind you"—here he pulled himself up—"mind you, I hadn't seen Jim St. Aubyns in three years, and wasn't certain if it was the same——"

I tried a different tack.

"Mrs. St. Aubyns tells me that she and her husband adopted you when you were quite a little thing."

"And if they did?" Tony looked sullen.

Tony sprang angrily to his feet.

"I'm sick of he word 'gratitude'," he cried. "Why on earth should I be grateful? Yes, it's true they did adopt me. But for their own ends. I was companion to their spoilt child—the scape-goat for his sins—the one that was always blamed for everything. And old St. Aubyns never did believe in me! Why, just for a little scrap in college he sent me off abroad. Kicked out, that's what I was!"

There was real resentment in his tones.

I spoke.

"But if Mr. St. Aubyns was harsh with you, his wife was not! I'm positive of that."

"Oh, well, women are always softer——"

Softer? So that was the gratitude that Tony felt towards his foster-mother!

Tony wheeled round, with angry eyes.

"Jim?" He gave a short, harsh laugh. "Jim was a conceited little prig—he was—and always will be! His future was plain sailing—mine was not! He had a home—adoring parents—money he would inherit—position—everything." A note of sheerest jealousy and hatred tore Tony's voice. "He had everything he wanted, stretching out before him—and I always hated him!"

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

behave unconsciously. They forget. They are so eager to please as long as mother is pleasant, and does not get impatient too quickly. The last verse in "Mary Had a Little Lamb," expresses it exactly.

"And you each gentle animal
In confidence may bind,
And make them follow at your will,
If you are only kind."

We have two children, a boy and a girl, and wish we had two more like them. Children are just what we make them, sometimes I feel a sense of fear creeping through me, with the thoughts am I intelligent, patient and religious enough to be a guide for these children? I know I am responsible to them. Their future depends on the education or training they get. It shapes their life. There are parents who speak saucily to their children, then dare them to sauce back. They think we have ours trained not to sauce back, but that is a wrong impression. They simply have not learned to talk back, their being no reason for them to do so.

In many cases the parents are at fault as much as the youngsters. Yet all we need is just a little more love towards one another.

This is my third letter to the Mail-Box, with a new pen-name every time.

DAFFODIL.

I judge you are an ideal mother. Patience plays a big part in raising children, and they will respond more readily to a kindly understanding, rather than harsh impatience.

A Fine Idea.

Dear Miss Grey,—May I join your large family? We always read your page, and gets lots of help from it. May I have the stocking foot patter, if it is not worn out? Am sending 10 cents for the sick children's hospital, which I think is a fine idea.

HAWTHORNE.

Ans.—Move over, Pageites and give Hawthorne a seat. The pattern is still working overtime, but is as popular as ever.

Will Help Some Day.

Dear Miss Grey,—Would you kindly send me that stocking foot pattern that is asked for so much, and also the mitt pattern? I would very much like to have the asthma cure, but I am afraid I am asking too much. Am sending 10 cents for the children's hospital fund. Some day I will be able to help in some way also. Thanking you in advance, yours truly, PANSY.

Ans.—Have all your order in stock, with exception of asthma cure, and I will send it later. Thanks.

Wants Information.

Dear Cynthia,—Thou fountain head of all wisdom, may I be among those who come seeking for light? I would like some information on community kitchen laundries, canning centres, etc. I have been told that a recent letter in your columns gave a good description of these institutions, but I missed seeing it. Probably some of the readers could let me have a copy containing this article. I would like to know, also, when they were instituted and whether they have been operated successfully in a rural district. Am inclosing a stamp for reply, also ten cents for Children's Hospital.

Sincerely yours,

COYOTE.

Ans.—Will try to locate copy and forward it. Perhaps readers will help.

Finds Recipes Good.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am sending back the recitation you sent me, and thank you very much for it. I have tried many recipes, and find them good.

I enjoyed the letters about country and city life. I live on a farm, and think there is no place like it.

I am sending a recipe of "Potato Souffle," it is delicious if followed by directions.

Potato Souffle.

Take two cups (warm or cold) mashed potato, and stir into it two tablespoons melted butter, beating to a white cream before adding anything else. Then put with this two eggs whipped very light, and a teacup of cream or milk, salting to taste. Beat all well, pour into a deep dish, and bake in a quick oven until it is nicely browned. If properly mixed, it will come out of the oven puffy and delectable.

I remain,

MUSTNOTTELL

P. S.—I am corresponding with Pansy, and have received a lovely letter from her last week.

More About Books.

Dear Miss Grey,—This is my second letter to your wonderful Mail-Box, which I enjoy reading immensely. I thought talking of books, a nice subject, so will say what I think of some: "Seventeen," to me, is about one of the books that I like least, because the story doesn't seem to end as I should have liked it to. I love the Mary J. Holmes' books. They are my favorites. I have quite a few of E. P. Roe's books, but have read none of them, and would like the opinion of some of the readers. I love books, and am what you call a "bookworm."

I wrote especially Miss Grey, to have you give A Wild Rose of Sixteen, my address, for she said she wanted correspondents from 14 to 18 years, and as I am 15, I would like to correspond with her. Please, Wild Rose of Sixteen, write first.

Miss Grey, will say, Just Mona isn't a bit brief in writing, but I am sure she will be next time.

Please criticise my writing!

JUST MONA

Ans.—Have forwarded your address on to Wild Rose of Sixteen. Your writing is good.

About Bulbs.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have enjoyed your Mail-Box ever since you started it, I don't know how long ago. I am very much pleased with your recipes and letters, and have been helped very much. Could you Miss Grey, or some of your readers, tell me how to plant bulbs, hyacinths, as I have planted them and they never have any stem. You will find inclosed a mite for the Sick Children's Hospital.

Could you tell me what cavies are.

I remain,

JOHNQUILL.

Ans.—We have lots of flower lovers in the Mail-Box, who will advise you, I am sure, re bulbs.

Cavies is another name for guinea pig. Thanks.

He Should Know.

Dear Miss Grey,—Here I am again. I am a bother, but I had to tell you spring is here.

Hello, there Sweet Sixteen. You better keep in out of the cold, or you will get the flu. You know this is leap year, girls. I would like to correspond with somebody. Where is Hay Seed. Now look out, Harry Somebody will be cutting you out. I am sending a recipe for chocolate cake, the best make.

Chocolate Cake.

1 cup of sour milk.
2 cups of flour.
2 eggs.
1 teaspoon of vanille.

Dissolve chocolate in ½ cup of boiling water.

Filling

½ cup of chocolate.
1 cup of granulated sugar.
1 tablespoon of butter.
1 teaspoon of vanilla.
1 tablespoon of cornstarch.

Dissolve cornstarch in ½ cup of cold water.

I remain your friend,

A FARMER BOY.

Ans.—I think that recipe must be extra good, because as a rule a boy's a fair judge of cake.

A Happy Little Woman.

Dear Miss Grey,—Here it is the first of March, and no sign of spring. Oh, well, most of us like the winter, don't we? I find it some different though, living in the country in winter from town. Here the snow is piled so high we can hardly get through in places, and we do not always get out every day the way we can in town. You see, I lived in town, too, before getting married, and came to the country to live, but I do love the country. I believe as others have expressed, that we are happiest where our interests are, and when one has a home, how can you help but be happy? I have all I can do and more, having three men and a babe to work for, and not being used to much housework, or cooking before, I find I have my hands full, but can easily say, "I love my job."

I am sure, Miss Grey, you will not want to waste precious time on my blathering, so will get down to business. Noticed in a recent issue of The Advertiser, where Mrs. Home-At-Times has a cure for asthma. Now I wonder if she would be so kind as to let me have this cure, as I have an uncle, who is greatly troubled with asthma, and would be so glad of some relief. If Mrs. Home-At-Times so wishes, I will write to her direct if I may have her address. Wishing everyone the best of wishes. I am,

F. J. W.

Ans.—I am very late in answering your letter, but letters have had to wait their turn, as there are so very many.

I will send the address requested, as soon as I receive it. I can read between the lines, that somebody is very happy.

You needed a flashlight badly enough to buy it keep it on the job

ALLIED OPPOSITION TO INVASION PLACES THE ONUS UPON FRANCE

French Stand Alone in Occupying German Towns — Great Britain, Belgium, Italy and United States Would Let Germans Restore Order—British Government Protests, Is Report.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT PROTESTS.

LONDON, April 8.—It is stated that the British Government tonight sent a protest to the French Government with regard to the occupation of the Ruhr region.

LONDON, April 8.—(By the Associated Press).—After a long conference which the French ambassador, Paul Cambon, had with Premier Lloyd George today and a full discussion of the Franco-German incident by the cabinet council, at which the French view was fully explained to the British ministers, an authoritative statement was issued to the effect that France acted entirely on her own initiative in deciding to occupy German towns; that Great Britain, the United States, Italy and Belgium were all opposed to the plan, and that France's action has caused a delicate situation.

The matter is under discussion of the British and French governments, and the hope is expressed that the situation may be eased.

The statement recites various expediencies suggested for dealing with the Ruhr situation, among others, the sending of Allied officers with the Germans to supervise the German withdrawal. Another alternative was that the decision should be left with the German Government, with the stipulation that unless the status quo was sufficiently restored the Allies themselves would occupy German points to enforce their demands. The statement proceeds:

Acted Precipitately.

"The German Government appears to have acted precipitately, and France to have responded by adopting a plan which was only intended as a last-resort method, and even then to have been the affair of the Allies and not of any one of them simply."

Great Britain, Italy, Belgium and the United States, it is declared, all felt that the task of restoring order should lie with Germany, and all were opposed to their regular forces being called upon, except as a last resort, to undertake what are virtually police duties.

Feared Ulterior Motive.

It is pointed out that France feared some ulterior motive on the part of Germany, and doubtless acted in good faith, but adds the statement, "the immediate result is that the responsibility for her action cannot be shared by the Allies as a whole, and certainly there is no intention on the part of the British Government to allow British soldiers to act as a police between hostile German factions and incur all the odium of such a position, to say nothing of its risks."

The statement concludes: "If, and when France's suspicions of Germany's ulterior motives and deliberate flaunting of the terms of the peace treaty become accomplished facts, the Allies would doubtless be prepared to act instantly and vigorously in concert to vindicate the position and respect for the provisions of the treaty. But for the time being, it may be taken that no British soldier will participate in the occupation of German cities in the neutral zone."

Montreal, April 9.—The annual meeting of the Canadian Intercollegiate Amateur Athletic Association will be held at Toronto on Saturday afternoon, April 17. At this meeting the various championships will be awarded for next season and the changes made in the rugby rules for next season will be ratified. An effort will be made to have the rugby season open earlier this year than formerly, which will not run the final game so far into November. The first game played by McGill will be at their own stadium, while they will play their last game away from home.

BUILDING COST TOO HIGH

GALT, April 8.—For the second time the parks commission has decided not to proceed with the construction of the new grandstand in Dickson Park. Last fall tenders were called, but the figures were too high. Recently the plans were revised and tenders again called, but this time the figures are beyond consideration, and the stand will not go up this year.

Messrs. Alex. and B. Ferguson today were advised of the death this morning at Barhead, Scotland, of their brother, James W. Ferguson, aged 62.

SHOT IN MISTAKE FOR RUM-RUNNER

Windsor Man Is in Critical Condition.

WINDSOR, April 8.—As the result of a double mistake, in which provincial and Royal Canadian Mounted Police mistook Ernest Bergernon and his wife, Erie street, for rum-runners, and the latter thought the officers were hold-up men, Bergernon was seriously wounded in the head and his wife's clothes and the automobile in which they were driving riddled with bullets following a gun battle on the Ojibway road.

According to the story told by Bergernon, he was returning from Amherstburg, where he had been collecting bills for the Ripley-Peck Hardware Company, Windsor, with which he is connected, when four men jumped from a clump of bushes near the roadside and ordered him to stop.

Thinking they were bandits, he ordered his wife to hide in the bottom of the car, and speeded past, driving at a furious pace toward Sandwich.

The police jumped into their automobile, which was waiting nearby, and gave chase until the race was terminated by a bullet hitting the driver of the fugitive car in the back of the head. The automobile showed over twenty holes where bullets had penetrated.

PROPERTY DOUBLES IN VALUE AT PORT; MANY SALES MADE

ST. THOMAS, April 8.—Property at Port Stanley in the older settled sections has advanced nearly 100 per cent over the figures of a year ago. The possible erection of the large summer hotel, with modern indoor and outdoor appointments, on the Begg farm, north of Orchard Beach, has influenced the values of building lots from Prospect street east for a couple of miles, and parcels of land are being sold for nearly double the price they would have brought two years ago.

Among the principal sales transacted during the winter were the purchase of a lot on Orchard Beach from the Campbell estate by John M. Moore of London for $820. Nathaniel Mills of London purchased a lot in the same locality from the Campbell estate for $950. Margaret E. Ward sold to Robert Savage of St. Thomas a cottage for $1,250. Cyrus Stockton sold to Dr. George H. Jackson a house on William street for $1,000. James Hosack disposed of a lot on Willow Beach to James Handley, St. Thomas, for $500. M. Payne sold a lot on Willow Beach for $500. Mary L. Quinlan of St. Thomas purchased a parcel from F. Bartholomew located on the Carlow road for $500. James H. Wainwright of London sold to Fred J. Webb of London property on Orchard Beach for $1,150.

GO ON WORKING

Biblical Three Score Years and Ten Should Be Lengthened.

Baltimore, Md., April 9.—"Until a man is 100 years old he ought to take his birthdays very lightly." Thus cheerfully does Dr. William H. S. Welsh, for some thirty-five years the distinguished pathologist of the Johns Hopkins Medical School, and now directing the destinies of the school of hygiene and public health, contemplate the rounding out of the Biblical three-score years and ten. Having come into this world as long ago as 1850 is not in the least disturbing the doctor's peace of mind.

Tomorrow will be his seventieth birthday, but to Dr. Welsh it is only another busy day.

"I am not old enough to dwell only upon reminiscences," he said. "A man who reaches the age of 70 may look as though he is approaching antiquity to a young man like you, but that is really not such an advanced age. I expect to go right on working just as I have been."

"But what of the Biblical three-score and ten years that seems to be set forth as the average span of life?"

"Oh, but we have changed that," exclaimed Dr. Welsh. "The span of life has been lengthened. Our greater knowledge of life, and its preservation has added twelve and a half years to the span of life in the last century, and mostly in the last half century.

"It is true that this applies to the early period of life. We have learned how to control and remedy conditions and diseases which have made the death rate among individuals between birth and the attainment of 50 years of age. Infant mortality has been greatly reduced. What I mean is that every child born has a better chance of living to be 50 years old than was the case a century or a half century ago.

"Little has been accomplished in the way of promoting longevity for those who have passed their fiftieth year. After a person reaches that age death is usually caused by some organic trouble. The heart, the arteries, the kidneys, the other organs, are prey to diseases and deterioration against which little progress has been made."

JERUSALEM ARABS ARE ANTI-SEMITIC

Moslems Attack Jews When Two Religious Processions Meet At Jaffa Gate.

Cairo, April 9.—While details of the clashes between Moslems and Jews in Jerusalem are lacking, which may indicate that a censorship has been imposed, it is pointed out that the Moslems are now celebrating the "Moussa," the Jews the Passover, and the Christians Easter.

There is always the risk of collisions during the processions incidental to these observances, of which there have been a number during former years.

Travellers say that anti-Semitic feeling has developed acutely recently among the Arabs, but that there has been no show of hostility between the Moslems and Christians. When processions of Moslems and Christians met on April 2, not an unfriendly word was uttered, but bands of Moslems and Jews clashed the same day at the Jaffa gate, the Jews crying: "We won the country by the sword and will keep it by the sword." A melee ensued, in which knives and stones were used. British soldiers arrived quickly and calmed the trouble, but there were subsequent disturbances as processions were passing through the city's narrow streets, Jews being attacked whenever met.

INGERSOLL

INGERSOLL, April 7.—The funeral of Thomas Waterhouse, was held yesterday from the family residence, Merrit street, to the Ingersoll Rural Cemetery and was largely attended. It was under the auspices of Samaritan Lodge, I. O. O. F., many of the members attending in a body. The service at the house was conducted by Rev. E. Sheppard of the Methodist Church. Among those present were many from a distance. The pallbearers were R. T. Agar and J. M. Curry, representing Samaritan Lodge; Harry Clements and Geo. Merrick, representing Gordon Lodge, I. O. O. F., Palmerston, of which deceased was a member, and A. MacAulay and F. A. Acker.

Death claimed one of the town's oldest and best-known residents yesterday in the person of Robert Staples. He was in his 75th year, and had been in failing health for some time. He was born at Dorchester, but spent part of his life in the vicinity of Culloden. He was a veteran of the Fenian Raid, and was widely known throughout the district. He was a member of the Masonic, Orange and C. O. F. lodges. He is survived by his widow, three sons and five daughters.

INDIAN DELEGATION OPPOSES PROPOSED NEW LEGISLATION

One Delegate Says It Means Disintegration of Bands.

Ottawa, April 8.—"It simply means expropriation and the disintegration of the band, and as such is entirely unconstitutional. My opinion is that it should go to England to be decided by the highest courts there," said Delegate Delisle of the Indian deputation, opposing the proposed legislation here.

Andrew Paul, a young Indian, representing the Squamish nation of Indians of British Columbia, corroborated the claims of Delisle. His people, he said, had no copies of the proposed bill and did not want any. "They do not want to understand it; they do not want it anyway, whatever it is," he said, and then left the room.

Other delegates urged that they should not be enfranchised because they did not pay any taxes.

Mr. Delisle charged that Indian voters in the past had simply been exploited. In the present case the Indians themselves had not been consulted.

A. R. Chisholm, counsel for the petitioners, said the members of the tribes of the Six Nations did not want the franchise.

W. D. Lighthall, K.C., thought the Indians should be admired for wanting to govern themselves in municipal or parish council matters.

Another plan was for an "ambassador" for the Indians in the House of Commons. W. A. Boys, chairman, replied that this could be done through the department.

GIRL IS WITNESS AGAINST FATHER

Mrs. Harris Sobs As Daughter Testifies in Divorce Suit.

Detroit, April 9.—At the resumption of the hearing in the contested divorce case of Leon Harris against Elizabeth Harris in Judge Henry A. Mandell's court Friday morning, it is expected that the husband will present testimony in refutation of that given against him Thursday by his wife, their 16-year-old daughter Dorothy and women relatives and friends of Mrs. Harris.

While her mother sat at the attorney's table, weeping, during the hearing Thursday, Dorothy testified that she wrote letters to her father, unknown to Mrs. Harris, criticizing her father for his alleged conduct toward her mother. The girl was asked if she had been instructed by her mother to ignore her father, or to forget her love for him.

"No," said the daughter. "My mother had told me that in spite of what happened I should respect my father. But I could not see how I could do so."

Mrs. Harris testified as to the alleged "other woman" in the case, and claimed that her husband had represented himself as a single man to the woman in question. She admitted that since she and her husband separated Harris has been sending her $48 every four weeks for the support of Dorothy. This, however, was insufficient, she said.

Harris has a cleaning and dyeing establishment in the city. Mrs. Harris has a store of her own on Twelfth street.

WOMAN ON TRIAL UNDER MANN ACT

Girl Accuser On Stand For Seven Hours in U. S. Court.

Detroit, April 8.—Carged with conspiring with her husband to bring Charlotte LeClair, pretty 17-year-old girl, from Syracuse, N. Y., to Detroit, in violation of the Mann act, Mrs. Genevieve Muskileno, alias Wilson, went on trial in federal court Thursday. She is the first woman to face a "white slave" charge in this state, according to Jomhn Kinnane, district attorney. Her husband, Joseph Muskileno, was pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to three years in Leavenworth penitentiary. He will testify in his wife's defence Friday.

The young girl, whom Mrs. Muskileno is alleged to have induced to come here, was on the witness stand seven hours Thursday. She told of meeting the woman in Syracuse, where she was employed in a theatre, and of chumming with Mrs. Muskileno, who she believed at the time to be single. The girl swore that Mrs. Muskileno and her husband, whom she met early this year, induced her to come to Detroit. She said she was taken to various hotels by Muskelino.

Mrs. Gladys Dunham, Syracuse, with whom the girl worked, testified that Charlotte told her Muskileno and his wife had asked her to come to Detroit. The night the girl left for this city she had promised Mrs. Dunham she would not leave Syracuse, the witness said. Mrs. Muskileno followed her husband and the girl to Detroit shortly after, it was testified.

HOG PRICES RISING ON LOCAL MARKET

Wheat Brings $1.96 Bushel—Dairy Produce Steady.

Hogs are again rising in price on the local market, and have touched the $18 and $24 mark again for undressed and dressed respectively.

Wheat is selling at $1 96 pper bushel on the market. This is a direct payment from the buyer, who also gives the seller a voucher on the government for every bushel bought. Each voucher may be cashed for 40c.

Hay and straw are firm. Hay is selling this morning at $26 per ton. The demand and supply are good. Straw holds firm and is scarce, at $12@13 per ton.

Potatoes are still a scarce commodity in spite of the high price which has prevailed for some time. The reason given for this is that a great many of the farmers have not yet taken the tubers out of their pits.

Chicago, April 9.—Corn advanced in price today largely as a result of the continued spread of the railway strike. Renewed attention was also given to the bullish showing of the government report in regard to the winter wheat crop. Besides, gossip that a month or more might elapse before indictments, if any, would result from the federal investigation of the suspected corner in corn, tended further to strengthen the market. Opening prices, which varied from ⅛c decline to ¾c advance, were followed by material gains all around.

Oats showed relatively greater strength than corn. A house with seaboard and Winnipeg connections led the buying. After opening ⅛c lower to ⅝c advance, the market scored a decided general upturn.

WALL STREET.

New York, April 9—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m., New York time.—An undercurrent of caution pervaded the stock market at the opening of today's session. This was attributed in large part to overnight developments, particularly the spread of the railroad strike and latest advices dealing with the Franco-German situation. There were indications of considerable short selling, based on these factors. Changes were fractional in the main, although several of the leading steels and equipments gained 1 to 2 points. A firmer tone set in before the end of the first half hour.

Noon.—The early rally failed to hold, fresh selling being induced by reports that the railroad strike had caused partial suspension of operations at western industrial centres. Reactions of 1 to 3 points were made by speculative issues, and Stromberg lost 9 points, but soon recovered most of its decline. Before noon another buying movement occurred, oils, shippings and equipments leading the rebound with sugars, some of the latter making sensational advances. The volume of trading, however, was far below that of previous days of the week. Call money opened and renewed into next week at 6 per cent.

1:30 p.m., New York time.—Shippings, sugars and several of the prominent miscellaneous shares continued to advance during the dull noon hour, but the usual industrial leaders became more irregular. Equipments and steels were conspicuous exceptions, however, many of those issues rallying to prices above their best of the morning.

PHOTOGRAPHIC COPY OF WILL MADE IN HOLLAND SHOWN IN DETROIT COURT

Estate of Mrs. Alice M. Mesritz Valued at $500,000.

WINDSOR, April 8.—A photographic copy of a will drafted last year in the Hague, Holland, by Mrs. Alice M. Mesritz, who died in Detroit on January 24, was introduced in the circuit court, Detroit, this afternoon by Dr. Thaddeus Walker, Walkerville, one of the executors, and Charles B. Davis of Detroit, executor. The estate involves $500,000. The document bears the seals of the consular and other officials of two nations. A petition filed simultaneously asked that an order be issued authorizing a commission to take evidence from witnesses to a will made in the Netherlands. Dr. Walker is one of the beneficiaries, he was a brother-in-law of the deceased.

STRATHROY COUNCIL TO CONSIDER REPORT OF AUDITORS TONIGHT

STRATHROY, April 8.—At the regular meeting of the town council the tax rate for 1920 was struck at 44 mills. This will be necessary to cover the following expenditures: Schools $18,100, school debentures $3,863.12, local improvement debentures $3,766.42, debentures $9,358.65, county rate $9,000, general $13,859.81, a total of $57,948.

The report of the provincial auditors of the town accounts was received and laid over for further discussion on Friday evening. This report was made after complaint had been made by the citizens, who stated that the accounts of the town seemed to be in a very unsatisfactory condition.

In their report the provincial auditors state that outside of the municipal cash book practically no accounts were kept and that the records were not in a very satisfactory condition. It is also pointed out that the remuneration of the town treasurer of $200 appears to be inadequate, considering the responsibility of his position, as each year about $70,000 passes through his hands.

The annual report of the fire department showed that the total loss for the year was only $380. Chief McWhinney and Captain Glover were reappointed at salaries of $75 and $50.

The resignation of C. W. Robinson was received and accepted.

Richard Lewis who has been accountant at the Royal Bank here, has been transferred to Corunna as manager. His place here is being taken by J. H. Schugell of Kincardine.

The death occurred in Kamloops, B. C., recently of Frank D. Hueston, aged 30, son of John Hueston. Owing to ill-health he had been in the west for some years.

IN MEMORIAM.

ANDERSON—In loving memory of James A. Anderson, who died at Vimy Ridge, three years ago today, April 9, 1917.

Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears of sorrow often flow,
Whom God claimed three years ago;
Never will he be forgotten,
No, nor shall his memory fade,
Precious thoughts shall ever wander,
To the spot where he is laid, somewhere in France.

—Mother, Father, Sister and Brothers. b

CARNELL—In loving memory of Pte. Jack Carnell, who fell at Vimy Ridge on April 9, 1917:

This day brings back the memory
And those who think of him today

b —Mother and Sister.

JENKEN—In loving memory of my dear brother, Pte. John Wesley Jenken, who laid down his life three years ago today, 9th of April, 1917, at Vimy Ridge.

In a cold and silent shell hole,
Where the Allied banners wave,
Lies a true and loving brother
In his cold and silent grave.
You are not forgotten, dear,
Nor will you ever be,
As long as life and memory lasts,
I will remember three.
The happy hours we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still,
But death has left a vacant place
The world can never fill.

b —His brother, B. R. Jenken.

NEELY—In loving memory of Wilfred Neely, who died at Vimy Ridge, three years ago today.

—Father, Mother, Sisters and Brother. b

WOOLLEY—In loving memory of Pte. Benjamin Woolley, 18th Battalion, formerly of the 70th, who gave his life at Vimy Ridge, April 9, 1917:

Three years have passed since that sad day,
When the one we loved so dear was called away;
We've tried our best not to grieve and fret,
But, oh, how lonely, we cannot forget.
How cheery he was, good-hearted and true;
We miss him most who loved him best.

MEN! Canada's Finest $40 Suits Are to Be Sold Saturday at $29.50! --Tremendous Value

"QUICK TURNOVER" is our successful motto. This week has brought dozens of new Spring Suits to our store, and as our shop space is limited we will sell all these suits Saturday at a very small profit, and as the selling is very fast, why it is undoubtedly the best way to beat old "H. C. of L.," as goods carried in stock cost more every day they stop in our shop. So be in line Saturday for a real suit offer for spring wear and save $10, which is, in most shops, extra profit and cost of doing business. The suits are in Wool-Tweeds, shades of browns, greys, greens, and in many new stripe and check effects. Styles are here in young men's and conservative models. Sizes complete, 34 to 42. Real $40.00 Suits, at $29.50

BEST $60 GUARANTEED FAST DYE

Blue Serge Suits $47.50

We have 34 suits to offer, being the last of an old contract for Blue Serge purchased one year ago. So if you want the finest in Blue Serge suits at big saving, we strongly advise every man who wants a Blue Serge suit for spring to see these. They have the quality, right shade, and "they fit." All sizes 34 to 42. We make the necessary alterations. Regular $60.00, at $47.50

PURE WOOL TOPCOATS IN A CLEARANCE SALE—REGULAR $40, AT $28.75

These coats, in many cases, just came in this last week. You can choose from the entire range—greens, greys, browns. Made in form-fitting, single and double-breasted models to please young and old. Regular $40.00, at $28.75

Waterproof Topcoats

A REAL COLLECTION OF GOOD COATS AT $27.95.—The April showers are sure to come—and the lucky chap owns a waterproof topcoat these days. Select yours from a range of the FINEST IN CANADA, at a right price, with little overhead expense added for profit, and NO OLD STOCK to add to this expense as a result of selling goods in the old way of enormous stock and slow turnover. We can offer these coats at $27.95

WE ARE PROUD AND HAPPY THESE DAYS BECAUSE—

We have served our men folk with better tailoring than they expected money could buy. Many a lucky chap had a Hobberlin Tailored Suit delivered to his home for Easter.

MR. MAN, HERE IS A FAIR ARGUMENT!

Has it occurred to you that when you want a good suit (in quality like you had four years ago), and when you go out to find it, that the price is so enormous that instead of paying $60 to $80 for a ready-made suit, you can buy the best "custom-tailored" in Canada for just such a price. And you DO get what you want. First, you select your own bolt of cloth; second, you buy the style that suits you; third, you are fitted and measured. So, your suit is yours, even before you have to go through the trouble of finding just such a suit in a ready-made store, where high prices prevail. And your suit is the suit you will always wear with pride, because it was yours from the very start of making.

TRY THIS OUT.—Look at the high-grade garments, ready-made. Then allow us to show you the way we build a Hobberlin Suit for you at the same—yes, in many cases for less money—say from ..... $39.00 to $85.00
