

DRAFT PLAN TO HELP HOSPITAL

Finance Committee Members Find Way To Relieve Congestion At Victoria.

Will Permit Indigent Sick To Be Treated in Own Homes.

The finance committee of the city council on Wednesday night authorized the preparation of a bylaw which will relieve Victoria Hospital of caring for indigent sick who can be treated in their homes.

Under the new scheme, which has been under consideration for some time, Dr. W. A. Downham, M. O. H., will look after these patients. Superintendent Heard of the hospital thought that at a conservative estimate the saving to the city would be $20,000 to $24,000.

In the meantime, Dr. Downham has withdrawn his salary increase demand, which he intended taking to the county judge, had it been rejected by the council. It is the intention for the council to give him additional remuneration when he takes on his added duties.

The committee spent a short time discussing board of education matters.

City Clerk Baker read a letter from Mr. Tanner, explaining the expenditures to be met by the issuance of $5,500 Technical School debentures. The information will go on to the civic commission.

Mr. Baker said he had no word from the board in regard to the conference on public schools. In answer to Ald. Cunningham, he said that he had not notified the board by letter of the proposed conference, which was the alderman to remark that there was no official notification given in that case.

Figures Presented.

However, Dr. Cunningham presented some figures which he gathered on the cost of education in the annex, and said his conclusion was that the city should not plan schools for greater than the needs of the annex until such time as the annex came under the full tax rate of the city.

The reason he gave for advancing this point was that it had been given to understand that four rooms would meet the present need in the annex, and an eight-roomed school was being erected. He pointed out that in South London high school pupils were being crowded into the old Victoria School.

"Yes," said Mayor Wilson, "it is first rate as a college, then why did they want to build a new school, and then suggest tearing the old one down?"

Ald. Childs ended the discussion with the remark that the matter could not be dealt with as "we are going to have a conference with the board." He did not suggest when.

May Close Fire Hall.

Fire Chief Aitken recommended to the committee that No. 4 fire hall, in the north end, be closed. The six men from this hall will make up for those whose services are being dispensed with.

The W. C. A. wrote, complaining that their regulations on the admission of patients to their home were not being complied with. The result was that they had patients in the home they did not consider should be there. These were five in number, and they wanted them removed, and suggested that in future the specified "red tape" be complied with.

Inspector McCallum will report on the complaint.

A bylaw to make the following grants for the year will be introduced: Victorian Order of Nurses, $1,200; Y. W. C. A. Travellers Aid, $300; Humane Society, $100; Y. M. C. A., $200, the amount of their taxes, it being understood that the taxes will be paid; Y. W. C. A., $100; Mayor Wilson asked whether they pay taxes. Mr. Baker said they paid improvement taxes; Children's Aid, $2,000; Day Nursery, $500, in lieu of rent; Teachers Association, $75; London Post Office, $500; G. O. W. V. A., $100; Western University, $50,000; Trades and Labor Council, $100; charitable institutions on per diem basis; Sisters of St. Joseph, $700; Protestant Orphan's Home, $700; Salvation Army Rescue Home, $500.

City Clerk Baker threw a panic into the committee when he told the aldermen that Justice Latchford, sitting at Ottawa, had held the aldermen of that city personally liable for a grant of $2,000 to the Kiwanis Club of that city for its safety first work.

Ald. Ashpman said that London's council should be careful. He noted that there were organizations coming to the council for grants that had not been heard of before. The city was getting to be a regular sink-hole for money.

Mayor Wilson said there was no doubt the city was playing Santa Claus too many.

The question of hucksters operating on the market was brought before the committee, along with the complaint of a grocer that he had been unreasonably and discourteously talked to by the market clerk.

Fears Produce Corner.

Ald. Cunningham said there were many hucksters who might at any time corner all the supplies of any given line. Some of these he related a stall from the city for $2, and he did not think this amount enough.

Chairman Childs has been keeping his eye on the market, and he will go into this phase of the question.

REMINDS PUPILS OF "SAFETY FIRST"

School Trustee Edwin Smith, chairman of the board of education, stresses the point that school children who proceed to Springfield, Friday must bear in mind all the "safety first" rules that they have been taught.

"We don't desire any accidents to mar the events of the day," explains the chairman, "and they should remember in particular that they are to keep seated while proceeding to and from the grounds, and not stick their heads out of the windows."

THE OFFICE of the local Soldiers' Aid Commission closed its doors Wednesday night. Today Assessment Commissioner Stephen Grant's staff is making plans to take over the offices occupied by the commission.

president, reviewing the "recent revelations by Mr. Raney."

"The time has come when the Christian forces of this land should present the impact of a united front against this pernicious business. It destroys the foundations of true economics, sets up a dangerous standard of ethics, and saps the moral and spiritual fibre of the people."

The pastoral address also presented greetings and warned of the great issues being faced in the world, including the Washington and Geneva conferences and the approaching Hague tribunal.

Concluding the address, the speaker urged a better recognition of the Sabbath, asserting that the call of the hour presents an unprecedented opportunity to serve mankind and honor God.

Presents New President.

Introducing the new president, the retiring head paid a tribute to his eloquence, executive ability and personality, which he declared augured well for London Conference.

President-Elect Millard, in a few well chosen words, thanked the conference for the honor bestowed upon him, and expressed gratitude that he was enabled to step into the office which his father held twelve years ago.

Mr. Millard mentioned the fact that election of a president for London Conference, who had never served as a district chairman, was without a precedent.

"I am not a spiritualist," he said, "and I do not think that it adds to the force of that cult, that a man who cultivated fame by writing detective stories, is now giving it his blessing at so much 'per blessing'."

"But I do believe that my father knows his son is elected and rejoices in the fact. On my father's behalf and on my own I thank you. I have been 22 years in London Conference, and I can assure you that 22 years ago this office seemed a dizzy height."

Paid $520 a Year.

"My first church paid $520 per annum, but that did not deter me from asking a certain little woman a question, which was received with favor. That may encourage some members of the ordination class."

Rev. G. A. Barnard of Florence was then elected conference secretary for 1922-23.

Speaking on church union, Superintendent Chown said in part: "The question most frequently asked me as I journey about the country is this: 'When will church union take place?' to which, through no fault of mine, I am compelled to reply: 'I do not know.' The next question usually is: 'Will it ever take place?' Since I have rather strongly supported and advanced church union, I feel that I am put upon my defence by such questions, and my usual reply is that the three churches concerned have in various ways so committed themselves, each to the others, that to me it is inconceivable that it should not take place, unless prevented by an impossible legal barrier. My confidence in its certainty rests, among other things, upon my belief in the good faith of the churches concerned."

Deplores Delay.

"One of the consequences of delay is that the whole movement may become 'sickly' over with the pale cast of thought, and lose the name of action by swinging discussion into an estimate of petty temperamental differences and preferences, and losing sight of the great convictions which inspired the movement at its beginning, and which alone can sustain it with that breadth of Christian outlook, and maintain that dignity of procedure which is germane to this great issue."

"We can each recall how on one of those rare mornings when we rose early from our downy couch to greet the coming of the King of Day we saw him slowly rise from his fleecy bed, as though gravely deliberating whether he would grant our old world another new day, then suddenly parting the clouds which long obscured his coming, he burst into unexpected splendor, and the whole earth was bathed in sheen of unexampled glory, while the morning stars sang together in celebration of another victorious day."

"Somewhat similar has been our experience in the church union movement. The day seemed about to break in full splendor years ago, but clouds of uncertainty gathered in the sky, and still the dawn lingers, but shall we not join our prayers with those of the Christian in faith that the clouds will break, and the true glory of the church of God, now dimmed and distorted by many visions, may shine forth upon the world, for surely this is the way of God?"

Too Individualistic.

That the Protestant is too individualistic, was the declaration of Dr. George Elliott, of New York, who addressed the conference at devotional exercises Thursday morning.

Continuing his series of sermons on "Prayer," which was commenced on Wednesday, Dr. Elliott said in part: "Prayer is a divine activity. It is God's way of war, God's method of bringing His mechanism to accomplish His task in the world."

"We Protestants neglect the corporal. Protestantism has been too individualistic, just as Romanism has been too collectivistic. A complete conception of the church has the body of Christ. God works in and through it."

"His son prays in all human want and woe, whenever broken hearts cry out. Prayer links us with the Eternal."

"I want to be the signet ring on God's finger, which expresses his power in all the world, but above all I want to be God's sword, by which he puts down sin and conquers evil."

Get Tired of Word.

"We are getting a little tired of that word kingdom. Of course, you are not, but then King George is democratic. A president can be as autocratic as a dollar, and a king can be as democratic as Abraham Lincoln. Prayer is turning the kingdom of God into a republic. I thank God there is a free vote and a fair count here."

"In Canada and New York, the convict casts his ballot beside the Christian; the fool with the philosopher, but in heaven it is not counted that I want to be God's sword, by which he puts down sin and conquers evil."

City Decides To Protest Stamp Tax, But Fear Effort Will Avail Nothing

"It's one thing to put a tax on and a horse of another color to get it taken off," wrote Finance Commissioner Ross to the city, in asking that London join in protesting against the new stamp tax.

This little remark brought out some sharp repartee at a meeting of the city finance committee Wednesday night.

Mayor Wilson: "The trouble is that it is a horse of another color that we need."

that a sinner cannot pray, but he cannot pray with power for anybody but himself.

"And so we see in prayer today this divine partnership for the coming kingdom. We should feel that you and I are linked up with God. Prayer is our alliance with him for the saving of souls. He works through us and by us."

Presents Report.

Rev. Dr. Louis Barber, a former member of the London Conference, and now financial secretary of Victoria College, addressed the morning session, and presented a report of the above institution. He pointed out that last year's deficit of $16,000 at the college would likely reach $30,000 in 1922.

"This grand old London Conference has always been loyal to Victoria College," he said. "Next year will again be a test of that loyalty." Conference then passed a vote of appreciation of Dr. Barber for his report.

Dr. F. C. Stevenson, secretary of the young people's forward movement in the Methodist church, also spoke. He pleaded for a greater interest in the work, and more reading of church books.

"The people are sick of mushy movie pictures," he asserted, "and they want reading."

Accepts Invitation.

The conference accepted the invitation of the Methodists of London, who will act as their hosts Saturday afternoon, when a motor trip to Springfield will be held and luncheon served at this popular resort.

The ministerial and lay association delegates met jointly Thursday, and in the afternoon were officially accorded a civic welcome to London.

Thursday evening the lay association is holding a public session in Centennial Church, the speaker being Rev. Dr. M. Rice, of North Woodward Tabernacle, Detroit.

Discussion of requests of several young ministers and probationers to occupy the time of the session Wednesday afternoon. While the consensus of opinion of the ministers present was that these young men should not be encouraged to leave the conference, and thus cause a dearth of pulp supply, they felt that as these men desired to complete their education and better themselves for the ministry it would not be wise to stand in their way.

Many of the young men desire to qualify at a Boston college, which caused Rev. Edwin Edwards of Seaford to remark that the ministers are "letting the young men go to seed at Boston."

When the request of John Aycerst, B.A., provincial license inspector, to be left without a station, Rev. G. N. Hazen of Listowel said, "He is the provincial inspector and is doing a great work for God."

"There never was a time when J. A. Aycerst was needed more than now," declared Rev. W. E. Millson, social service and evangelist secretary. Mr. Aycerst is attached to Ridgeway district. His request was allowed, as were also those of L. Chester McRoberts, Percival Caven, A. C. Montger, George McKelvey, Fred Manning, LeRoy White, J. C. Millan and W. G. Fagan.

During the session, Rev. N. D. Drew of London, R. Wilson of Bluevale, Rev. Dr. George Daniel of Chatham, Rev. R. J. Garbutt of Glenora and Rev. Dr. George W. Henderson of St. Thomas, were placed on the supernumerated list.

Will Be Ordained.

Reception into the conference was decreed for A. J. Love, Thomas Hazelwood, John W. Button, Godrich, S. Hosking, London; O. Gerald Lawson, London; Stanley M. Sweetman, Windsor; Wallace Handley Moss, St. Thomas; Robert E. Cumming, Ridgeway. The first three named men were ordained a year ago, while the others will be ordained next Sunday.

During the afternoon session, Dr. E. N. Baker, principal of Albert College, Belleville, who has been in the service 32 years, seven of which were spent in London Conference, addressed the ministers present. He declared that this year the class at Albert College is the finest in years, with 28 preparing for active Christian work.

"No young man or woman should be kept out of college for want of money," said Dr. Baker. He pleaded for the conference to send young men to Albert College, mentioning that foundations for new buildings have been laid, and a debt of $250,000 must be cleared off. He expressed the hope that the college could continue to accept all classes of students without being compelled to raise the tuition fees.

"If I had another fifty years to spend in the ministry," concluded Dr. Baker, "I would be more passionate in my demands for Christ. Never in my life before have I met the time to manage a little home of her own. Gordon was informed of the parental decision, but as consolation was told that if he would wait for a few years, his dream of a cozy little home, shared by he and "Crisie," would become a reality.

Tuesday evening a quarrel of the kind all true lovers have developed. They parted on unfriendly terms. That same night "Crisie" realized the foolishness of the affair, and strong in her devotion to Gordon, wrote the note to him.

Was "Going West."

On the evening of the quarrel, Dibs-dale quit his job without the usual notice, telling his foreman he was "going west." At home he told his family of his action and repeated the statement that he was going west.

When he left the house at three o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Dibs-dale declared he intended to go to St. Marys to see Sidney Near, the girl's uncle, who lives at Oliver, near Thorndale.

Not until newspapermen arrived at Dibs-dale's home did the father and mother know of the tragedy.

For fifteen minutes the mother bore up stoically under the strain, but she broke down utterly when her fifteen-year-old daughter Elsie began to weep.

"That's what I was telling Albert (the father)—he'll do something to himself. He's been so melancholy."

"Tell me the whole story," pleaded Dibs-dale's father. "I think I will be able to stand it."

Having heard the details, the father could hardly believe it, but on finding the shotgun missing from the house, he was convinced. Then he left for the hospital to see his wounded son.

Near Family Stricken.

All members of the Near family are grief-stricken. The mother was prostrated as soon as she heard of her daughter's fate.

"She was a beautiful girl in every way," said the victim's young brother William.

"If I had only gone down the street sooner than I did and when I intended to, I would have met Dibs-dale before he met my sister. And I would have known something was wrong, for he should have been at work at that time."

"I was one of the first to arrive after the shooting. Dibs-dale, who was lying on the sidewalk, spoke to me."

"Please bring my picture back, it is all we have. She is gone. That is all we have left. We would not want to lose that."

Confiscate Gun.

Detectives first saw the slayer at the hospital. They confiscated the gun, which contained one discharged and one full cartridge. Dibs-dale wore a cartridge belt, containing five full cartridges. At his waist hung a dirk, with an eight-inch blade as sharp as a razor.

At the time of the shooting the girl was dressed in a plain white waist and black skirt. She did not wear a hat. Dibs-dale wore a dark cap and a navy blue suit.

The youthful victim is survived by her parents and a brother and a sister, while Dibs-dale has besides his parents, two brothers and two sisters.

Although the police have not been preparing detailed evidence as yet, they have obtained a list of witnesses of the tragedy.

The Near family came to London from St. Marys two years ago.

"Crisie" was well known and beloved by all who knew her in St. Marys, where she received her education at the public school.

Four uncles—John Henry Near, Joseph Near, Jasper and Levi, all reside in St. Marys.

For a short time the family lived in Waterloo, but returned to their home on Wellington street, St. Marys, prior to coming to London.

DISTRICT BAPTISTS MEET AT SARNIA

Several representatives from London Baptist churches met in Sarnia for the meetings in progress of the Middlesex and Lambton Association, the delegates from the Women's Mission Circles going down for a meeting of the women's section on Wednesday.

The following are representing the London Baptist churches at the association: Adelaide Street Church, St. Paul's, St. George's, St. John's, St. James', St. Peter's, St. Thomas', St. Vincent's, St. William's, St. Mary's, St. Elizabeth's, St. Anne's, St. Agnes', St. Margaret's, St. Ursula's, St. Clare's, St. Francis', St. Basil's, St. Nicholas', St. Demetrius', St. George the Martyr, St. Andrew the Apostle, St. Philip the Apostle, St. James the Apostle, St. John the Apostle, St. Peter the Apostle, St. Paul the Apostle, St. Stephen the Deacon, St. Timothy the Deacon, St. Titus the Deacon, St. Onesimus the Slave, St. Phileas the Martyr, St. Nereus and St. Achilleus the Martyrs, St. Eustachius the Martyr, St. Symon and St. Iude the Apostles, St. Matthias the Apostle, St. Barnabas the Apostle, St. Titus the Deacon, St. Onesimus the Slave, St. Phileas the Martyr, St. Nereus and St. Achilleus the Martyrs, St. Eustachius the Martyr, St. Symon and St. Iude the Apostles, St. Matthias the Apostle, St. Barnabas the Apostle.

Not many months ago the girl and boy met, and both fell victims to a case of love at first sight.

"Crisie" the hero of a near drowning episode in the treacherous waters of the Thames a year ago, was pretty and the idol of the neighborhood. Gordon was regarded by all who knew him as a hard-working youth, upright in all his dealings with others.

Worked Steadily.

For more than two years he had worked steadily at the car barns, being a member of the night mechanical staff. Previous to two years ago he had resigned from the post and gone away, but had returned again. His fellow-workmen said that he saved his money, and had almost paid for a little home in the east end.

Three days ago Gordon decided he could not live without "Crisie," and he importuned her eagerly to be his bride. Her parents, it is said, objected, not because they did not like the youth, but because they thought their daughter was still too young.

RAPS TEACHERS' VACATION WORK

Trustee Smith Raises Objection to Drawing of Two Salaries.

Ten Instructors To Mark Examination Papers At Toronto.

A little cross-fire on the subject of collegiate teachers drawing pay in addition to their regular salaries for marking departmental examination papers at Toronto, in which Trustees Ed. Smith and Thomas Rowe and Principal H. B. Beal took part, enlivened what promised to be a prosaic session of the advisory vocational committee meeting of the board of education, held in the technical school Wednesday evening.

The recommendation of Principal Beal, that the technical school should close on Friday, June 16, on account of the departmental examinations, immediately brought a protest from Mr. Smith.

Point To Be Settled.

"The question is, are London teachers going to be treated differently from teachers in other cities?" asked Mr. Beal.

"That is the point to be settled," replied Trustee Smith. "The department says the school should be closed on June 29. They have control of such matters."

"What about the school picnic?" questioned Mr. Rowe.

"The picnic has not been objected to," retorted Mr. Smith.

"Just wanted to know," replied Mr. Rowe mildly.

"What are the technical teachers going to do? Are they going to Toronto?" demanded Trustee Smith.

"Yes," said Mr. Beal, "I think so. That, however, is for the board to say."

"You wouldn't tell a man in your business to take a few weeks off and pay him, while he went away and made $12 a day, would you?" went on Mr. Smith.

"If the board says the school is to remain open, it will be open," declared the principal.

Mr. Smith said that in Hamilton the upper and middle schools of the collegiate did not close until the end of June.

"The advertisement act would not be necessary if the teachers taught the full number of days," declared the chairman of the board.

Trustee Rowe observed that there was much dissatisfaction over the working of the advertisement act.

"Let's petition the government to have the act changed," suggested Wm. Reed.

"Have the teachers asked you if they might go to Toronto?" questioned Mr. Smith.

"No," said Mr. Beal.

"That's funny," commented Mr. Smith.

"Not at all. It is the usual custom," came back Mr. Beal, who stated that he understood that there would be ten teachers go to Toronto to mark papers, six from the collegiate, and four from the technical school.

He thought that the question was a provincial matter, but Mr. Smith thought it was local, as London paid the teachers salaries.

Should Be At School.

"The teachers should be at school, whether the scholars are there or not," stated the chairman of the board.

Mr. Rowe thought it was a matter that should be dealt with by the board of education, and the other members of the committee agreed to leave the question to that body.

C. M. Trace, M.A., of Woodstock, was engaged to fill the vacancy in the commercial department at an initial salary of $2,600 per annum, duties to commence September 1.

H. Marshall was re-engaged as assistant in the machine shop department at $1,800 per annum, while Miss M. A. Fitch, B.A., of Toronto, will commence her duties as general academic teacher on September 1. She has had 10 years experience.

The authority of the board of education will be secured to make necessary arrangements for instructors for part time classes for adolescents as soon as the requirements are shown from the general survey now being made.

"As soon as the reports are in, we can do something," declared Mr. Smith.

The report of Principal Beal showed that the average attendance of technical and commercial scholars during the day was 440, out of an enrollment of 469 while the average attendance at special afternoon classes was 23.

Accounts for $2,649.12 were passed.

Aldermen Do Not Favor Holding Dominion Day On Third

ON what day will London celebrate Dominion Day?

This question arose at the meeting of the finance committee on Wednesday night.

July 1 falls on Saturday this year. St. Catharines city clerk wrote asking whether it was the intention to keep the holiday on the day it falls or if the celebration would be put over to Monday.

The local aldermen leaned to keeping the day on Saturday, but Mayor Wilson said that as it was a federal holiday there would likely be a federal pronouncement on the matter.

BOARD WILL NOT MEET THIS WEEK

Street Railwaymen Think Too Much Time Being Frittered Away.

There will be no meeting of the government board of conciliation to consider the local street railway situation until early next week.

Such was the declaration, Thursday morning, by John M. McEvoy, K.C., chairman of the board, who states that as he will be kept continually engaged all this week while the supreme court session is in progress, he finds it utterly impossible to arrange for another sitting until that date.

While appreciating the fact, John Colbert, president of the Street Railwaymen's Union, expressed the opinion Thursday morning that sufficient time had already been frittered away, while no progress had been noted in either direction.

"We want to see this matter proceed as rapidly and as soon as possible," he explained. "Considerable delay has now occurred to no purpose. It is quite evident that the company has no provision to offer that would be satisfactory to us. The recent visit of the company president, Charles Currie, has seemingly resulted in nothing. Now we desire that the board proceed."

Realizing, however, that this week is practically spent, the union president is reconciled to the fact that the earliest that any real start can be made by the board would be Monday next.

Church, and the soloist, Mrs. A. W. Hayward.

AN unexpected bit of humor was introduced at the Wednesday evening session when Rev. A. E. M. Thompson rose to announce that a policeman was on the back steps of the church, stating that he wished to cause no trouble in such an august gathering, but car-owners must turn on their motor lights. About fifty men made a hurried exit.

THOSE who preach the gospel of pessimism and predict all sorts of oncoming disasters received a number of well-aimed blows during the session last night. Mr. Moore's beamy, genial face was eloquent as his words to the effect that, in spite of all dire predictions to the contrary, this world was getting a better place to live in all the time, and that even the trouble in Ireland would be smoothed out and peace return.

BUILDING PERMITS EXCEED MILLION

The building permits for the month of May totaled $439,825 for 223 permits.

This total is the second highest in the history of the city in point of value and is over 100 above the previous high point in the number of permits.

The highest value for any previous month was June, 1921, at $525,000, the boom coming from the permit for the new Collegiate.

To date the 1922 permits total $1,049,145 for 708 permits, as compared with 553 permits, valued at $852,530 for 1921.

During May permits were issued for 99 residences, which is about 40 more than was ever issued in any one month before. The value of the residence permits was $225,845, or an average of $2,270 each.

The latest permits include: R. H. Smith, McAlpine avenue, two brick-veneer dwellings, $2,000 each, a 15-story brick on Garfield avenue, $2,000, and a brick cottage on Wharncliffe road, $2,500. J. C. Wade, 578 Grosvenor street, two-story brick, $4,500; Charles Percy, two-story brick, Ridout street, $6,000; W. J. Brandy, 15-story brick, Colborne street, $3,000; Thos. McNabb, Beattie avenue, brick cottage, $2,700; Western Fair, new roofs and repairs to fair buildings, $4,900.

RAIL MEN TO VOTE ON AGREEMENT

Acceptance of Rules by Brotherhoods Left Out of Conference Asked.

At special meeting of the Federated Shop Trades in the Labor Temple Friday evening, ballots will be distributed to approximately 900 railroad men in the city to determine whether the revised agreement between the shop men and the Canadian Railway Association, drawn up a few weeks ago, will be accepted or rejected.

Immediately after the ballots have been cast they will be returned to Montreal and the result of the referendum will be known within the next few weeks.

With each ballot is a circular giving in detail the clauses of the revised agreement and also pointing out clearly how each man will be affected by the change.

This is the first vote to be taken regarding the tentative agreement, but it is known that many men in the district are opposed to many of the changes.

Should the new agreement be rejected by the Federated Shop Trades it will be then decided by the committee whether or not a strike vote will be taken. Joseph Corbett, general chairman of the Grand Trunk Carmen of Canada, is at present in Montreal overseeing the distribution of the ballots and will return to the city the latter part of the week.

On Tuesday last the Grand Trunk Railway Company refused to concede representation to three railroad brotherhoods at negotiations concerning the revision of working rules applicable to railroad employees outside the running trades and shop mechanics.

Just what effect this refusal will have on the men or what action will be taken by the three brotherhoods is not known at the present time. The company, however, opened negotiations with the representatives of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, and the International Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks.

This arrangement entailed that the three brotherhoods not given representation at the negotiations—the International Brotherhood of Railway Stationmen, the International Brotherhood of Stationary Firemen and Oilers, and the United Federation of Railways—would have presented for their acceptance a schedule of working rules the formulation of which was carried out irrespective of their wishes.

The game was in progress in the center of a field, the officer testified, and Brown was standing up when he first saw him.

"They all grabbed for the money except Brown when they recognized me," declared Pope.

Frank Steele, in the witness box, stated that a friendly little game of Casino was in progress when the officer hove into view. Smith wasn't in the game, witness said. The constable had come shouting down the hill, "Leave the money."

"We didn't have any," declared Steele. "The constable got half the deck of cards, and we got the rest. We went there at 2:30 o'clock, and were playing just as a pastime."

The main reason we were there, declared witness, "was because we didn't have enough money to go to Port Stanley."

"You might have had enough to play Casino," opined Chief Birrell.

"We might have, but we didn't," retorted Steele.

John Howe declared that "there wasn't a cent there."

"I don't think I can convict these men," stated the magistrate. "It was not a very creditable thing. There is no law against playing cards. You might have been charged with being disorderly, playing cards in a public place on Sunday."

"Can I have the cards back?" asked Steele.

"What for, to play cards on Sunday?" questioned the court.

"No, we won't do that again," replied Steele.

"You may have the cards," declared the bench.

FARMING EXPERT PRESENTS REPORT

Statistics compiled by the local branch of the Ontario department of agriculture for the month of May show that 244 persons sought information at the London office during that time.

One hundred and twenty-eight letters were received and 138 mailed. Bulletins issued were 119, circular letters sent out 386, number of telephone calls 144, meetings attended 8, farm surveys 17, milk tests 3, while 28 ex-soldiers desirous of taking up land under the soldiers settlement board made inquiries at the local office, which is presided over by R. A. Finn.

City Clerk Baker drafted the by-law. He was asked if any amount was included for aldermanic salaries. He said not.

Early in the year the council approved of the policy of paying the aldermen reasonable remuneration for services rendered, but so far no steps have been taken to fix the "reasonable remuneration."

DUNCAN WOOD.

The death of Duncan Wood occurred suddenly Wednesday evening at his residence about a mile east of Hensall. Mr. Wood was presumably in his usual good health when he retired Wednesday about midnight, and it is thought that his death, which occurred a short while after, was due to heart failure. Mr. Wood was between 55 and 60 years of age. He had been at one time in the insurance business and was also a cattle buyer. He was unmarried.

FREES QUINTET OF GAMBLING CHARGE

Magistrate Finds Evidence Insufficient to Warrant Conviction.

Frank Steele, Robert Brown, John Howe, Charles Raison and George Smith, all admitted playing a friendly game of Casino in Thames Park last Sunday afternoon, but denied most strenuously that they had been gambling despite the fact that Constable Walter Pope declared he had seen money on a board as he approached the scene of the game. Mr. Graydon dismissed the case in police court Thursday morning.

The game was in progress in the center of a field, the officer testified, and Brown was standing up when he first saw him.

"They all grabbed for the money except Brown when they recognized me," declared Pope.

THREE QUIT POSTS IN CHURCH WORK

St. Catharines, June 1.—It is indeed gratifying to find no criticisms leveled at our ministers at this critical time, when Methodist ministers are particularly under observation, stated R. D. Hamilton, president of the Hamilton Methodist Conference, at the opening session this morning.

Resignations from the ministry were received from Rev. P. Gardiner, who has taken charge of his father's business in Hamilton; David A. Lane, a probationer, who has taken up newspaper work; and Rev. H. B. Storey.

The conference at this morning's session confirmed the nominating committee's choice of new officers for the ensuing year as follows:

President, Rev. J. W. Shepperson, Brantford; first vice-president, Rev. John Taylor; second vice-president, Rev. W. Trevelyan, Galt; secretary-treasurer, Rev. A. Scruton, Brantford; convener of missionaries, H. E. Plewman, Hamilton; convener of evangelism and social service, J. F. Fritchard, Hamilton; executive, D. B. Colbeck, Wilmot; C. Bliger, Dunnville; T. Number of Police Court Cases In May Exceeds All City Records

The Carling street mill of justice over which Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon presides, ground out decisions on 512 non-indictable cases during the month of May, the largest number for one month in the history of the city, according to Police Court Clerk John Moule who has compiled the statistics for the past three months.

For the quarter ending May 31, some 1,248 cases were heard, convictions registering 835. The majority of fines collected, which totalled $12,499.60, were imposed for breaches of the Motor Vehicle Act, city bylaws and O. T. A.

Many vagrants and trespassers on railway property appeared in court during the months of April and May, most of them being unable to pay the $10 fine.

Compiling the quarterly returns means a great deal of work for Mr. Moule and his capable assistant, as three copies must be made, one for the provincial government, one for the crown attorney, while the third is kept at the police station for reference.

BOARD IS WILLING TO MEET MAYOR

Members of the board of education, notably Edwin Smith, chairman, expressed every willingness Thursday to meet Mayor Cameron Wilson and his associates in connection with the contemplated public school at Dakin and Price streets.

"I am ready any time," the chairman declared, "the sooner the better, as we should make some progress in this matter without any further unnecessary delay. We are ready, however, to listen to whatever the mayor and aldermen may have to say on the question."

TRACK MEN WILL VOTE ON WAGE CUT

Maintenance-of-way employees in the London division of the G. T. R. are today receiving their first pay checks affected by the reduction in wages resulting from the elimination of the eight-hour day clause from the agreement, drawn up some time ago between the men and the Canadian Railway Association.

Formerly, time and a half was received for overtime after the eighth hour, but under the new agreement the men now receive straight time for the two hours, and overtime pay is not in force until after the tenth hour.

A referendum vote is being taken this week by the employees to determine whether the United Brotherhood of Maintenance-of-way employees will accept or reject the new agreement.

McCLARY ESTATE TOTALS $1,209,583

John McClary, the late head of London's largest individual industry, left an estate valued at $1,209,583. This is the valuation just arrived at after checking up the estate.

A few days ago the court of revision was asked to reduce the assessment against Mr. McClary's personal estate by $1,803, the amount of personal earnings on which he was assessed. Income taxes must be paid on the income from his investments by the estate.

All Except Weather Now Arranged For School Picnic On Friday

"WEATHERMAN, be kind!" Arrangements are complete for the annual public school picnic at Springbank Friday, at which it is roughly estimated more than 9,000 children will participate.

The board of education has arranged for the MacDonald Juvenile Pipe Band to be in constant attendance at the grounds from 1 p.m. until evening, and a lengthy and attractive program of band selections and Scotch dances has been prepared.

Special arrangements were made with the London Street Railway management, and the company undertakes to carry all children from any part of the city to the park for ten cents. Tickets for this purpose were distributed through-out the city schools Wednesday.

Should the worst happen, and the Kingston Construction Company, contractors who built the new London Collegiate Institute, by the time their contract with the city expires July next, fail to pay plumbers and other sub-contractors who participated in the undertaking, the board of education will still have sufficient cash available to meet this charge, and thus prevent any legal action that might result in the seizure of the building.

This is the frank opinion expressed Thursday morning by School Trustee A. E. Silverwood, chairman of the collegiate institute committee, who has considered the entire problem narrowly, and now appears quite confident that the day will not yet come when the ratepayers will be compelled to sit idly by and watch their new institution confiscated, if only temporarily, for non-payment of just debts.

Takes Optimistic View.

"The idea has become uppermost that we have only about $3,000 with which to meet these expenditures, should the contractors fail to adhere to their contract. That report is highly erroneous, and anyone who says so is talking through his hat several weeks ago the board ordered that the sum of $15,000 be withheld from the Kingston company. We still have this money. As I say, even should the latter fail entirely to meet its obligations, and not pay the sub-contractors, we shall be able to pay them ourselves, and still have a balance remaining of perhaps $5,000.

"As a matter of fact, the sub-contractors have not approached us on the question as yet. I was talking with one of them but yesterday, and he explains that he will make every effort to collect in the ordinary way, as the contractors have already given their promise to make good."

Time Limit Not Expired.

"The company has until a week following the closing of the school for the summer holidays in which to settle with their debtors and leave the grounds and buildings in a condition

All Hope of Success of Tory Amendment.

ELLIOTT IN FIRST SPEECH

Frank White Thinks Agrarians
Are Satisfied With "Slight Concessions."

BY RANDOLPH J. CHURCHILL.
Advertiser Staff Correspondent.

HOUSE OF COMMONS, OTTAWA.

May 31.—Listless debating enlivened only by a surge of awakened interest in the evening, following a sparkling speech by R. A. Hoey, Progressive member for Springfield, who delivered the session's choicest bit of oratory, marked today in the House of Commons.

Spring fever, accentuated by midsummer heat, combined with the call of horse racing at Connaught

Park meet, drained all party benches during the afternoon, leaving less than 50 members to carry on the budget debate.

Nothing new, except a novel idea

sandwiched between arguments

many times repeated and a few discussions from the subject on the part of some members, developed as the result of the many speeches.

The battle waged for the most part between the Progressive benches and the Conservative party, with the Liberals occupying a position chiefly as spectators applauding whenever the point was scored against the official opposition.

Criticizes Amendment.

The Progressives took keen delight

seemingly in tearing to pieces Sir

Henry Drayton's amendment to the budget speech and in revealing the true motive of the Conservative party in making such a move. While they continued to criticize the government for not making greater cuts in the tariff, the followers of Hon.

T. A. Crerar showed beyond a doubt today that they never will link up with the opposition.

The Conservatives, on the other hand, embittered perhaps by the continuous harassing, directed many cutting remarks at the Progressive benches, even accusing several of being of being Liberals.

During the course of Mr. Hoey's speech, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen

rose to his feet at least five times to defend his party against the attacks of that brilliant speaker.

William Elliott of South Waterloo, in his first speech of the session, suggested the establishment of a special tariff commission to regulate tariff duties. He believed that such a body alone could give protection to the public and to the manufacturers needing help.

"There are some slight reductions,"

said Frank White, London, discussing the budget, "but if we consider the 50 per cent addition to the sales tax, the reduction is so slight as to be almost insignificant. It has been said by Progressives it is a step in the right direction. I think those gentlemen are satisfied with very slight concessions.

It is rather significant that the budget does not contain any new source of revenue. The minister has

Hunt Son Missing After Mother's Body Is Found Floating in River

PETERBORO, May 31.—The efforts of the local police to locate Roy

Cherrett, whose mother, Mrs. Agnes

Cherrett, was found in the Otonabee

River Monday morning, have ended in failure.

The twenty-year-old youth has completely disappeared. Today the police are without any definite clue

and have abandoned dragging operations in the river.

A postmortem examination will be made on the body of the mother to determine whether she was dead

when placed in the water, which police say would account for the body floating.

only added to those we had before,

and I think it is a compliment to the previous finance minister and late government. In the case of the slight reductions I would point out that Canada is the only nation I know of that is reducing the tariff.

In the past two or three years the tariff in most countries has been increased.

"Since coming to this house I have been much interested in speeches of the Progressive party. The Ontario members, who number about one-third, have been strangely silent on this subject. We have just heard the member for South Waterloo, who advocated before the election, I believe, the tariff commission he has spoken of now. He also is in favor of tariff for revenue. I was wondering if a few more Ontario members of that party would express that view, where we would not have as cosmopolitan a membership in that party as in the Liberal party."

Elliott's First Speech.

He went on to point out that abolition of the regulation regarding depreciated currency would have no protection except a duty which at the present value of the mark figured out at about 10 cents on an article valued at 25 marks. The member who called it free trade with Germany was not wide of the mark. It had been said by the finance minister that customs act was evaded, but so were all laws, yet it was not proposed to abolish all law. Instead, this regulation ought to have been strengthened.

Utmost confidence in Hon. W. S.

Fielding was expressed by William

Elliott, Progressive member for South Waterloo. He believed that

Mr. Fielding commanded the faith of the country at large, and that the finance minister could be safely followed.

Mr. Elliott was satisfied that the budget with its reductions was a step in the right direction, and believed in the course of time the goal of tariff for revenue only would be reached. The speaker claimed that changes must be made gradually, owing to the stress throughout the country.

The necessity of meeting the expenditures of the country year by year was pointed out by Mr. Elliott. He believed that Mr. Fielding was making an honest effort to meet the ever-increased debt.

The member for Waterloo advised strict economy. In this respect he believed that far too many civil servants were in the employ of the government.

Urges Wider Markets.

Wider markets, he claimed, were the great need of the country. The

Mrs. Agnes Cherrett was a widow, and her one aim and object in life

was to provide her son, Roy Cherrett, with an adequate education. To this end she took in washing, and the two were inseparable as companions.

A few weeks ago the son was married, and since then the mother, son and daughter-in-law have resided in the one home.

Both Mrs. Cherrett and her son were last seen alive on Sunday evening at 9 p.m., when they left the house to visit a friend. They did not reach the house of their friend, and early the next morning the body of Mrs. Cherrett was found floating in the river.

Oriental immigration. British Columbia had not wanted promises; it wanted immediate action.

The British Columbia workmen had asked for an eight-hour day, and had been told by the provincial government that this was a Dominion matter. When they approached the Dominion they were told that it was a problem for the provincial government. The eight-hour day was a considerable plank in the Liberal platform.

The lumber industry in British Columbia only wanted one thing, and that was a reduction in the freight rates. A large number of British Columbia lumber mills were practically idle because of the high freight rates.

The tariff reduction on mill machinery was an irony because machinery already there was rotting through lack of use.

The coal miners were asking for conditions which would permit them to work more than two days a week.

While the coal miners were laboring under these conditions they had a vision of ships of the Canadian government merchant marine going to Japan and freighting Japanese coal back to the coast for the use of their government boats.

British Columbia fishermen were hardly affected by the reduction in the duties on gasoline. Only about 10 per cent of the fishermen used gasoline engines in their boats. The dairy industry, which needed assistance, had been helped by a tariff which proposed admitting free of duty the ingredient of oleomargarine.

The fruit industry, which only wanted to be left alone, was now faced with changes in the dumping act.

Protests Against Rates.

F. N. McCrea (Liberal, Sherbrooke)

did not feel very happy personally

over the budget, but when he considered that the country needed half a billion dollars he had nothing much to say except that each should bear his share of the burden. He was willing to leave the allotment of that burden to the finance minister, in whom he had the utmost confidence.

Mr. McCrea devoted most of his remarks to the railway question. The present freight rates were paralyzing business, which was stagnant largely because of that influence. Yet under these rates the national railways showed a deficit of 72 millions of dollars, if there were a proper accounting and audit. He was surprised that there were those in the house who favored government ownership.

In his view the time when the public would be proud of the national rail-

the minister of railways; he denounced the minister of labor, who blushed through it."

"I am not opposed to organized labor," Mr. McCrea declared, "but I am opposed to them ruling the

country."

Mr. MacLean persisted that Mr.

McCrea's speech had constituted a denunciation of the right of labor to organize, in spite of the fact that

Mr. McCrea himself belonged to organized industry.

LONDON STREET RAILWAY BILL PASSES HOUSE

Dr. H. A. Stevenson's Amendment Is Defeated On Division.

DRURY LENDS SUPPORT

Dewart Clashes With Raney On Questions Submitted.

TORONTO, May 31.—The Legislature this afternoon passed the third reading of the London Street Railway bill which gives the company authority to increase its fares.

Dr. Stevenson of London made a final effort to halt the bill by an amendment to postpone its coming into effect until three months after it received royal assent, the city council in the meantime taking a vote of the electors to decide whether the city would take over the road. This amendment was defeated on division, 50 to 24. Four members of the ministry supported the amendment, Premier Drury, Hon. W. R. Rolfe, Hon. D. Carmichael, Hon. H. C. Nixon. The other members of the cabinet present voted with the majority. Most of the support for the amendment came from the government side of the house, the only members of the opposition voting for it being Major Tolmie, Windsor; W. R. Nickle, Kingston; A. C. Lewis, Toronto; G. O. Halcrow, Hamilton East; H. P. Hill, Ottawa.

It was a lively afternoon in the Legislature. Aside from the London Street Railway bill, which has been fought out for weeks at every turn, there was a heated clash between H. Hartley Dewart, K.C., and Attorney-General Raney over the jockey club litigation, in which Hon. G. Howard Ferguson joined. Then the investigation into the death of Captain Orville Huston came into prominence. The professional engineers' bill passed through committee of the house. It provides that only men registered with the Engineering Association may assume the title of professional engineers. But it does not prevent other men from doing engineering work.

The prime minister introduced a motion appointing a committee to take up the question of town planning during the recess.

Dewart Questions Raney.
When the premier introduced a motion that for the remainder of the session government business would take precedence, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson wanted to know if there would be further government legislation introduced. Mr. Drury replied that there would be none of any importance.

H. H. Dewart then submitted a series of questions to Attorney-General Raney as to whether the government intended to carry to the courts of appeal the points of law raised by the act taxing race track winnings and the subsequent declaratory act. Mr. Raney replied that he had no intention of starting such litigation. Pressed by Mr. Dewart, the attorney-general said that in addition to the advice he had received from officials of the government as to the constitutionality of the bills in question he had been advised by Hon. N. W. Rowell.

"Will you give us these opinions?" asked Mr. Dewart.

"I will consider that," Mr. Raney answered.

This brought on a sharp clash between Mr. Dewart and Mr. Raney.

Mr. Dewart claimed that Sir William Meredith, chief justice of Ontario, had written the attorney-general, advising in regard to the present situation and suggesting that his letter be made public. He wanted to know if the attorney-general had received such a letter and if so, would he lay it before the house.

Mr. Raney refused to answer, explaining that these questions had been burst upon him and he was determined to consider what reply he would make.

"Let me tell the attorney-general," said Mr. Dewart, "that a letter from the head of the judiciary of the province to the head of the law department, unless it is for the personal guidance of the attorney-general, is not his private property. It is the property of the house. Will the attorney-general tell me, did he get the letter?"

Mr. Raney maintained his position that such questions should be asked in the regular way on the order paper. He would answer it tomorrow. The dispute ended when Mr. Raney undertook to answer questions tomorrow.

A. C. Lewis (Toronto) brought up the question of whether R. T. Harding had ever acted as solicitor for the F. W. Backus interests. He said Mr. Harding and Mr. Backus had both sworn that he had not, whereas the prime minister had sworn that he had.

The attorney-general replied that Mr. Harding had been asked by Mr. Backus to perform certain services, but the relationship was never perfected. He followed this up by stating that since Mr. Lewis had chosen to open up the question of the investigation into the death of Capt. Huston, he would like to ask Mr. Lewis why, on the floor of the house, he implicated Mr. Backus in the case. But he got no further, for W. F. Nickle (Kingston) raised a point of order that this could not be discussed while it was still under investigation. The speaker ruled in his favor and shut off the debate.

Stevenson Motion Ruled Out.

The third reading of the bill which gives the London Street Railway Company the right to increase its fares was halted when Dr. H. A. Stevenson of London moved that the third reading be not proceeded with, and that the city council be instructed to submit a by-law to the electors to decide whether they would take over the railway.

R. L. Brackin, who is sponsoring the bill, claimed Dr. Stevenson should have introduced this amendment when the house was in committee.

He said it was deathbed repentance now on the part of London. When the mayor of London was asked by the committee if steps that effect would be taken the mayor would give no such undertaking. Dr. Stevenson retorted that this was not putting the question fairly. The mayor had no right at that time to speak for the council on this question. Since that time it had been taken up by the council, and it was unanimous to submit a by-law. The speaker ruled Dr. Stevenson's motion out of order. Mr. Nickle suggested that the third reading be delayed until Dr. Stevenson could get a motion which would come within the rules of the house. Premier Drury explained that he was about to suggest the same thing.

After several proposals Dr. Stevenson accepted an amendment drafted by the prime minister, that the bill should not come into effect for three months after receiving royal assent, the city council in the meantime to submit a question to the electors whether they wished to take the road over.

K. K. Homuth claimed the London City Council was not sincere in its proposal to submit the question to the electors. J. W. Curry and Wellington Hay also took the position that the city council should have made this move long ago instead of the last minute. Major Tolmie, on the other hand, supported the amendment.

Harbour alleges that on the night of Nov. 9, 1916, he managed to push three children who were crossing the street from the path of an approaching automobile, but that he was unable to avoid being struck himself. He sustained serious injuries, but was retained on the force, though unable to do further street duty. He was given the position of guard in the recorder's court, and then put in charge of an elevator, both positions under reduced pay. In Feb., 1916, he was, he alleged, dismissed without warning.

FEAR RESULTS OF WASHINGTON CONFERENCE

Australians Look With Apprehension On Limiting of British Navy.

PREMIER VISITING CANADA

Thinks Ideal of White Australia May Not Be Practicable.

Special to London Advertiser.

LONDON, May 31.—"Many Australians looked with apprehension upon the results of the recent Washington disarmament conference, because of the limits imposed upon the British navy. For out in Australia we look upon that navy as our shield and bulwark from all harm."

This from Henry Newman Barwell, prime minister and attorney-general of South Australia, who will make a brief visit to H. N. BARWELL.

Canada en route home. He has reached New York, and from there he will go to Quebec, Montreal, Toronto and across the continent via Canada.

His official business is to interview expert railroad men. South Australia is in the market for a crack railroader to run her state railways. Premier Barwell has a number of English applicants and he wants to confer with Canadians also.

"Australia's apprehension about the British navy limitations," Barwell said further, "was somewhat allayed by the closer and friendlier relations between America and England, growing out of that conference."

"So long as the English-speaking commonwealths are on good terms and work together for peace, I believe peace is assured—at least, in the Pacific Ocean."

"Australians by a considerable majority have set up for themselves the ideal of a white man's Australia. It's a beautiful ideal, but I am not sure that it can be worked."

"I am in entire sympathy with Lord Northcliffe's warning that a great empty Australian continent is both a menace to peace, and an incitation to other and more crowded nations."

"Some of the most fertile lands we have are in northern Australia,"

Cost $200 For Privilege of Burying Liquor in His Garden At Brantford

Special to London Advertiser.

BRANTFORD, May 31.—That you can't bury your liquor in your garden is now the conviction of Nick Loeckli, because it cost him a fine of $200 and costs when he was found guilty in police court today of having liquor in an unauthorized place. Evidence given did not implicate his boarder, Naum Pawlick, who stays at 76 St. George street, but showed that a man had been seen digging in Pawlick's garden and whiskey was afterwards found there. Court was held before Magistrate R. Blake. Mr. A. H. Boddy acting for the crown, and Mr. M. W. McEwen for the defence.

Sergt. John Borthwick told of seeing a man come out the rear of 76 St. George street, a house nearly his own residence, a week ago Sunday night. The man had made five trips to and from the house inside of twenty minutes, each time going down on his knees and apparently digging in the earth.

"It was not a religious ceremony he was going through," asked Mr. W. McEwen for the defence.

"No," he was not at church. "I found these bottles in the garden of 76 St. George street right on the fence line," declared Detective Stanley. Mr. McEwen argued that the two bottles produced were dug up a few feet over the line and really in the adjoining garden. The detective swore the liquor was in the prisoner's garden.

Detective Rogian had accompanied Detective Stanley, and had seen him come from behind Pawlick's barn and carrying two bottles of liquor. The liquor was 115 per cent proof, according to Excise Officer I. Newsome.

OPPOSE PUTTING TAX ON SUGAR

Deputation From Western Ontario Waits On Minister of Finance.

Hon. W. S. Fielding Promises To Give Requests Consideration.

Special to London Advertiser.

HOUSE OF COMMONS, Ottawa, May 31.—Strenuous protests against the proposed tax of almost 1/2 cent a pound on beet sugar was made today by a deputation from Western Ontario, who waited upon Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance.

The deputation, consisting of Harry Gilroy of Alvington, secretary of the Ontario Beet Growers' Association; C. H. Houston, Chatham, secretary of the Dominion Sugar Company; Hon. Geo. P. Graham, member for South Essex; Hon. James Murdoch, member for Kent; B. W. Fansher of East Lambton, and John Drummond of West Middlesex, was introduced to the minister of finance by Archie McCoig, who returned to Ottawa from Chatham for the purpose.

Mr. Gilroy placed the case of the beet growers before the minister, explaining how a tax on the manufactured product would have a serious effect on the farmers and beet-growers who can be worked.

"I am in entire sympathy with Lord Northcliffe's warning that a great empty Australian continent is both a menace to peace, and an incitation to other and more crowded nations."

ing industry in Western Ontario. He stated that the beet growers would be unable to produce beets at a price lower than what was received at the present time. If the companies were forced to lower the price to the farmer, as undoubtedly they would, the farmer would be forced to quit growing beets.

C. H. Houston presented the case for the manufacturers. He urged that the minister suspend action for one year, so that in the meantime a careful investigation could be made into the industry. He claimed that the profits of the manufacturers were less than supposed, and to prove it he offered to produce the books of the company he represented for inspection. He said that the protection supplied by the tax on raw sugar did not affect the sugar beet industry greatly, because it cost much more to produce beet sugar than it did the cane product.

Fansher Presents Case. Mr. Fansher presented the farmers' side of the story also. He stated that the question must be divided into two parts for consideration:—the production of the beet by the farmers and the manufacturing of the finished product.

If the excise duty of 48c a hundred was placed on sugar it would surely be passed down to the farmer. It would mean that the price of sugar beets would drop $1.10 a ton, giving a return that would force the farmer out of business. It would mean a reduction to the farmer without a corresponding reduction to the consumer. John Drummond spoke along similar lines.

Senator McCoig summed up the case for the deputation when he related for the benefit of the minister the history of the beet growing industry. It started while Mr. Fielding was finance minister on a former occasion, and since then had grown until it was one of the chief industries of Kent, Middlesex and Essex Counties. He believed that it would be wrong to endanger the industry with extinction.

The minister received the deputation, and promised to give the matter much consideration.

BRANTFORD BOY DROWNS IN POND

Firemen Fail in Efforts To Restore Life With Pulmotor.

Cap Floating On Water Leads Father To Suspect the Worst.

Special to London Advertiser.

BRANTFORD, May 31.—The first drowning fatality of the season occurred here this afternoon when little 7-year-old Robert Gibbons, son of Robert Gibbons, 214 West Mill street, fell into the mill race behind the Watson Milling Company.

The lad had been playing in the vicinity of the race and about 3:45 o'clock he went into the house to get some bread. That was the last the lad's parents saw of him, until he was pulled out of the water by the firemen about 4:15 o'clock.

The parents wanted the lad about 4 o'clock and the father went out to where he was last seen and could not find him. Becoming alarmed he rang in an alarm for the life boat to the fire department. When the life boat arrived dragging was at once commenced with no more success than the finding of the lad's cap. This confirmed the theory that the lad had fallen into the water, which is quite deep and a very heavy current runs at the point as it enters into the flume at that point. Despite the extensive pains taken by the firemen, no trace of the missing lad could be found until one of the workmen suggested that the sluice be opened. This was done and the body of the lad floated to the surface.

Just at the time that the body was found, Dr. Brewster and an undergraduate finishing his course at the General Hospital happened to pass and saw the body pulled to the bank. He at once offered his services and although he did all that was possible to resuscitate the lad, the latter had been in the water too long and was beyond aid so far as he, Dr. Brewster, was aware.

Dr. Nichols and Dr. Bennett were called and they were of the same opinion, that the lad was beyond human aid, despite the fact that the firemen had used the pulmotor for over an hour and used all the oxygen. While the time is not known as to when the accident happened it is presumed that it happened about 4 o'clock.

Firemen By and Bremner in charge of Assistant Chief Kingsmill, were responsible for the body being found in the short time that it was and all are deserving of great commendation for the very able manner that they acquitted themselves at the scene of the fatality.

The lad is survived by his father

WORLD NEWS CUT SHORT

LONDON, May 31.—The gold fever is widespread as a result of gold discoveries in the western part of New South Wales, says a Reuters cable message from Melbourne today. The discoveries were reported from Cambelego Township, near Cobar, and in Lucknow Township, near Orange. A portion of the main street in Cambelego has been pegged out, intense excitement following the finding in a street gutter of a stone showing signs of gold.

NAIROBI, British East Africa, May 31.—For ten days there has been unprecedented torrential rains at Mombasa. The town is flooded and business is at a standstill. The railway to Nairobi has been cut off and the harbor schemes have been seriously damaged. The rainfall one night was ten inches.

GENEVA, May 31.—The vatican protest against the proposed British mandate over Palestine, as advocated by the Earl of Balfour, was received by the secretariat of the League of Nations today. The document, signed by Cardinal Gasparri, the papal secretary of state, makes its protest on religious grounds, objecting to the alleged privileges position given to Zionists in Palestine. The protest will be discussed at the next meeting of the council of the league. Its contents will not be made public before that meeting.

VEVEY, Switzerland, May 31.—Budapest telegrams to the Geneva newspapers say that the Hungarian police have arrested six employees of Budapest University, accused of trafficking in human corpses.

The accused are alleged to have received about 100 bodies from Paris, Berlin, and Dresden hospitals, which were afterwards sold to Copenhagen and Stockholm. The price of a body sometimes reached as much as 60,000 crowns (nominally $12,000, now less than $10).

Several other members of Budapest University were arrested, but temporarily released, so that the work of the anatomical section might not be interfered with.

BERLIN, May 31.—Chancellor Wirth informed the Reichstag today that the government was unable for the present to enter into a public discussion of the reparations situation, as the negotiations at Paris had not yet been concluded. For the time being, he said, the Reichstag would have to confine itself in debate to consideration of the government's policy at Genoa.

"The recent tension about reparations and mother and one small sister. Dr. Fisset, coroner, has not decided whether an inquest will be held or not. The funeral arrangements are not yet completed."

Alberta Man Stunned When His Glass Eye Explodes In His Home

CALGARY, Alta., May 31.—With a report which could be heard three or four yards away, and a feeling that he had been suddenly sand-bagged from behind, H. P. Schlitt of Three Hills, Alta., had the unpleasant and extraordinary experience of having his glass-eye explode, as he was sitting quietly reading in his home after supper.

Mr. Schlitt, although badly stunned, seemed to have the presence of mind to understand what had happened, and immediately dropped his head. This action, with the flow of tears, which accompanied it, evidently washed out any glass which might have remained, as he is feeling no ill effect from the shock.

considered as over," he said. "We must not connect the great aims of European policy with the negotiations going on at Paris. As the Genoa difficulties were overcome, so must the difficulties of the next few weeks be overcome, in order that a settlement may finally be reached which will give the nation the possibility of continued existence."

PARIS, France, May 31.—A mistake on the part of an official at the Mairie at Toulon has led to a Gilbertian situation.

A young woman with the Christian name of Marie Josephine applied for documents for the purpose of getting married. The clerk issued papers in the name of Marie Rose, a woman of the same surname, who was born the same year. No one noticed the mistake and the marriage took place.

In her turn, Mlle. Marie Rose wished to get married, but on applying for the documents was told to her surprise that she was already married. The intimation came as such a shock that she fainted. The point to be decided by the authorities is who of the two women is married. Pending the ruling as to the bigamy laws, any further marriage ceremonies between the parties have been forbidden.

SYDNEY, Australia, May 31.—Great interest has been aroused in the swimming world by the victories of W. Morris, a legless swimmer, of the Sydney Swimming Club, who has twice won the final of a 50 yards handicap event in an open competition.

Mr. Morris was looked upon as one of the Commonwealth's most promising swimmers eight months ago, when he lost both legs in a tramway car accident. As soon as he had sufficiently recovered he determined to swim again.

"The first time I swam after my accident," he said, "friends carried me in and pushed me off, but I surprised them by splashing off at a wonderful pace. The funniest thing of all was that I fancied I was kicking my legs again. When I brought my right arm over in the crawl my left leg rose and gave the regular kick. Of course, it was only imagination, but it seemed so real. In fact, I've only to get waist high in water to feel as I was before the accident."

WINDSOR POLICE UNCOVER PROTECTED "DOPE JOINT"

Italian Proprietor Found Guilty and Fined $1,000, Which He Will Pay.

WINDSOR, May 31.—One of the best protected "dope joints" in the border cities was uncovered in a police raid Tuesday night, at 447 Mercer street. This morning James Raimonde, Italian, the proprietor, was brought before Magistrate Gundy in Windsor police court, and fined $1,000 and costs, with the option of six months jail term. He intends to pay the fine late today, he told court officials.

Raimonde, together with Dominik Magnotta, worked a system of selling drugs, with the aid of a sign system. All the drugs were kept on the second floor, which is not connected with the small confectionery store beneath. When a purchaser entered the store he would state the amount of drugs he wished to purchase. One of the men in the store would then press a button and a buzzer would ring on the second floor. In this manner the drug was ordered, in the person with the stock on the upper floor dropping the "decks" of the drug through a hole in the ceiling.

WILL FEEL EXTRA TAX ON CHECKS

Special to London Advertiser. STRATFORD, May 30.—The tax of checks as announced in the budget will be an additional expense to this city. Treasurer Lawrence states that the city issues an average of 200 checks every month, varying in amount up to $250, besides other checks for larger amounts.

Thus an extra tax of two cents on each $50 will amount to a considerable sum at the end of every year.

REFUSE REDUCTION IN ASSESSMENT

TORONTO, May 31.—The municipal committee of the Legislature today turned down the application of the distillers of the province that their business assessment be reduced.

At present the business assessment is 15 per cent of the regular assessment on property devoted to the manufacture, storage, etc., of liquor for beverage purposes. The assessment on portions of the plant used for alcohol for industrial purposes is at 60 per cent. The distillers asked that the business assessment be made 60 per cent throughout.

LASCELLES TO BE GIVEN EARLDOM

LONDON, May 31.—The king is expected to announce on Friday that Viscount Lascelles has been created an earl, when Princess Mary gives her first dinner dance of the summer season.

Sends Hurry Call for Stomach Pump

W. H. Conners Was in Bad Shape Before Using Andes.

"Really Wonderful," He Says of His Discovery.

So run-down was the condition of W. H. Conners, of Gary, that he had to have his stomach pumped before using Andes. Now he is a well man and in a statement that rings true with heartfelt gratitude he indorses Andes, the medicine that is accomplishing such wonderful results. Mr. Conners said recently: "I have been a great sufferer from stomach trouble for about 10 years, as near as I can remember. My digestion was bad, and I could scarcely eat anything for fear of the awful pain that would be sure to follow. My condition became one of a general run-down nature, and my blood was in bad shape. I had to have my stomach pumped out not less than once each month for more than a year. It always gave me relief; that was all. I became very skeptical as to the merits of anything. I had tried so many medicines without the least benefit that I had no idea that Andes would help me. However, it has. In fact, it has done more good than anything else I have tried. I hope the others who are suffering with stomach trouble as I was will at least give Andes a trial. There is nothing to equal it. My own change is really wonderful. It is truly remarkable the results that were given in this case, as the party only used four bottles of Andes. It put him on his feet again, and he can do as much work as any man in the city. Men and women who have stomach trouble, nervous indigestion, sleeplessness, liver, kidney and bladder disorders, and are badly constipated will find Andes the medicine that they have needed for years. It goes to the root of the disease and removes the cause and in this way gives permanent results. Strong's Drug Store sells Andes, and the Andes expert is here. Call and have free talk—Adv't."

Women's Canadian Club Makes Mrs. F. W. Hughes New President

All Canadian Program in Past Year, One of Most Successful Since Organization Twelve Years Ago—Members Say With Roses Appreciation of Retiring President, Mrs. F. E. Leonard.

Mrs. F. W. Hughes, a former secretary, was unanimously elected president of the Women's Canadian Club at the coming year, to succeed Mrs. E. Leonard, who insisted that her resignation should be accepted, at the annual meeting held Wednesday afternoon in the school hall of Talbot street Baptist Church. Miss E. Leonard presided for the election. Mrs. Leonard presented a report of the nominating committee, in which the only blank occurred opposite the office of president. Under the circumstances the nominations for this office came from a floor of the house. The name Mrs. John Stevely was proposed, then she declined to stand, the election of Mrs. Hughes was made an acclamation. Other officers elected (about a dissenting voice were): First vice-president, Mrs. Harry H. Coleman; second vice-president, Mrs. E. Yeates; third vice-president, Mrs. A. B. Greer; corresponding secretary, Miss Jennie Weir (re-elected); assistant corresponding secretary, Miss Ethel Teasdale; recording secretary, Mrs. W. G. R. Armstrong; assistant recording secretary, Mrs. (Dr.) Hodgins; treasurer, A. T. Edwards (re-elected); executive committee: Misses S. Blackburn, M. Harvey, Grace Hill, Mrs. H. B. White, Mrs. (Dr.) Morris, Miss Isabel Armstrong, Mrs. Gilbert Porter, Mrs. Nelson George, Mrs. M. T. Nelson, Mrs. Benson.

The honorary presidents are Mrs. E. Leonard and Mrs. Harry Barty, and the immediate past president, Mrs. E. Leonard, who remains on the executive in this capacity.

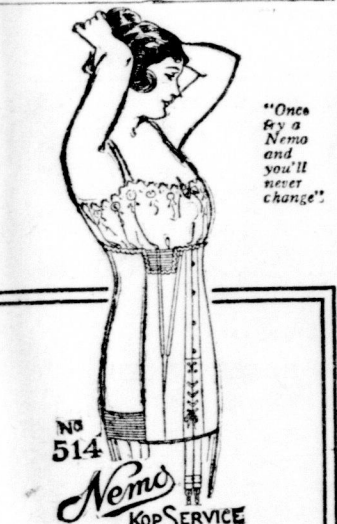

Both in the graceful valedictory address of the president for the past year, Mrs. F. E. Leonard, and in a report of the retiring recording secretary, Mrs. Harry H. Coleman, special reference was made to the All Canadian (as far as possible) program of the past season, one of the richest in lecture treats in the history of the club, organized twelve years ago.

Should Lead in City.

Enthusiastic applause greeted the address of Mrs. Leonard, "The Canadian Club in a Canadian city," and as it does for loyalty, education and the development of all that is best in the national life.

A suggestion for insuring a large membership another year was this: if every member would be responsible for another member, the executive would be assured of backing in their work.

Expressing her great appreciation of the support she had received from executive and club members during her terms of office, and genuine regret at laying down the work which has been the most enjoyable of any in which she has engaged in public service, the retiring officer declared that she was giving up the club, that her active interest will remain with it as in the past.

Following the meeting of the Grenfell Mission Wednesday afternoon a delightful tea was held in honor of Miss Annie M. Warne, general secretary of the mission, in the First Presbyterian Sunday School. The attractive tea table, centered with peonies and lilies, was presided over by Mrs. Donald McLean, who was assisted in serving by Mrs. Sherwood Fox, Mrs. Ernest Yeates, Mrs. Percy Millman, Mrs. R. She will begin her duties here in September, immediately after the holidays. On her way home she will visit her sister, Mrs. David Sutherland, Cranbrook, B. C.

A very pleasant surprise greeted the bride-elect, Miss Laura Blair, when the members of class 23, Dundas Centre, of which she has been president for the past year, met at her home in Queen's avenue. Much excitement prevailed while the bride-to-be followed the white ribbons which led to the hiding places of many dainty and useful presents. After the gifts had been duly admired Miss Blair very fittingly expressed her appreciation. The remainder of the evening was pleasantly spent in games and music, and a dainty supper the guests departed, leaving with their classmate a shower of good wishes for future happiness.

A happy surprise for Miss Josephine Campbell, soloist of Askin Street Methodist Church, was the birthday handkerchief shower given for her Tuesday evening by a number of friends at the home of Mrs. George A. Young, Beaconsfield avenue. The first part of the evening was spent on the beautiful back lawn of Mrs. Young's home, where the gardens are a mass of early summer bloom. Old-fashioned games were played, after which a tempting supper was served in the house. An amusing contest followed, Mrs. Young providing the guests with sheets of tissue paper with which they were to tax their ingenuity in making articles. Mrs. Will Orchard carried off the prize with a bewitching lady doll. Mrs. James Smith, Miss Fynn and Miss Campbell delighted with solos. ## INVITING MRS. SMALL TO COME IN AUTUMN

Local Council Postpones Y. W. C. A. Building Campaign Luncheon Until After Holiday.

The Local Council of Women executive has decided to postpone until the autumn the luncheon to launch the Y. W. C. A. building campaign, with Aid. (Mrs.) Sidney Small of Toronto as guest of honor and chief speaker. Owing to the fact that a number of prominent local council workers will be out of town on the only date in the early summer on which Mrs. Small can come, Wednesday, June 7, and also because the next few weeks are to be crowded with events and preparations for holiday migrations, the executive at a meeting held Tuesday evening at the home of the president, Mrs. E. R. Smith, "Tullyn," agreed there would be much more assurance of the campaign beginning aggressively if inaugurated in the autumn.

Other important business dealt with was consideration of resolutions to come before the National Council annual meeting in Port Arthur in June. In the main, decision, when it comes to voting on these, has been left to the discretion of the London delegates. The executive, however, voiced its opinion in resolutions dealing with fixing the status of women as citizens. The London executive indorses the stand taken by the Toronto Local Council in opposing a resolution of a member of parliament to the effect that foreign-born women on marrying Canadians should automatically become Canadian citizens. The London executive strongly expressed the view that foreign-born women should qualify for Canadian citizenship before having it conferred upon them.

CLASS TWENTY-SEVEN CLOSES BUSY SEASON

Aids Needy, Funds Provide Milk For Babies in Summer Days.

Class 27 of Dundas Center Methodist Church, which has been untiring in social service activities during the past winter, as for many years, brought the season to a close with the annual meeting, held Tuesday evening in Dundas Center Methodist Church. While meetings are to be withdrawn for the next few months, this does not mean the influence and aid of the organization will cease. In the summer days a number of babies will be assured an abundant supply of sweet, pure milk, provided by the class funds, and distributed by arrangement of Miss Verna Vance of the public health nursing staff, a member of the class.

Presenting her report, Miss Vance expressed deepest appreciation of the support given her by the class in social service work in connection with her duties. Two beds and bedding were supplied to needy families, as well as dishes, clothing and other necessities, and five babies were supplied with milk through the winter.

After adding many causes during the season, the treasurer reported a balance on hand of $24.78 with which to carry on during the summer. The class has given much assistance to the Tuxis Boys of the church. The election of officers was an important item of the business, resulting in the re-election of the popular president for the past two years, Mrs. John Adams, and also of the treasurer, Miss Emily Trace. Other officers are: First vice-president, Mrs. W. M. Lowry; second vice-president, Mrs. B. Noble; third vice-president, Mrs. W. B. Bailey; fourth vice-president, Mrs. Alden Jones, these to act as committee conveners. Miss Wilson was made secretary. Plans were made for the class picnic to take place at Springbank on June 7.

Mabel Stevens, Iva Smith, Marjorie McCormick, pianists; Misses Gertrude and Dorothy Cahill, violinists; Mrs. W. H. R. Smith, reader. Mrs. B. Harkness is taking charge of tea-room arrangements, the dining-room, in which the predominating color is blue, to be further adorned with blue, purple and yellow lilies. Mrs. R. Daragh is looking after the refreshments, and Mesdames Charles T. Glass and Mrs. H. E. Boomer pouring out tea. The committee conveners are receiving with Mrs. Lowry.

A charming affair of Wednesday was the post-nuptial reception held by Mrs. T. L. Hayman, formerly Lucy Norton of Sheffield, England, at her pretty home in Hayman Court. The hostess, wearing her wedding gown of white tulle, was assisted in receiving the many guests by her mother, Mrs. J. W. Norton, also of Sheffield, wearing a gown of black tulle, and Mrs. J. Hayman, wearing a smart frock of white crepe de chine with touches of orange and a white hat worked with pearl beads. Assisting in serving in the tea room were Mrs. William Hayman, wearing a graceful gown of henna canton crepe trimmed with gray, a smart gray hat and a corsage of Ophelia roses; Miss Marian Hayman, wearing navy crepe de chine, trimmed with coral, and a black moiré hat; and Miss Evelyn Hayman, wearing in king's blue georgette, with figured overdress and a black maline hat; Mrs. Arvida Smith, wearing black trimmed with jade green and silver, and a black hat, ushered to the tea room.

BEST PEOPLE NEEDED FOR THE LABRADOR

Miss Warne Tells Story of Grenfell Mission To Date.

Miss Annie M. Warne, general secretary of the Grenfell Mission in Canada, gave a most interesting address at the meeting of the London auxiliary held Wednesday afternoon in the First Presbyterian Sunday school.

Miss Warne spoke chiefly of the work being carried on in Labrador by the mission, but first of all thanked the London branch, on behalf of Dr. Grenfell, for the splendid work they had done, and also congratulated the members on reaching their objective of $1,500 in the recent endowment campaign. Miss Warne stated that she was sorry to say that Dr. Grenfell was greatly in need of a rest and that he has become wearied out by his extensive traveling and speaking throughout the country.

Speaking of the work being done, Miss Warne referred chiefly to Harrington Hospital, where the bales from this branch are sent to be distributed. "As this is the Canadian hospital, I feel you are most interested in it. We have procured a very capable medical officer, Dr. Theodore Yeates, who has signed a contract for a year, and who, I am sure, will accomplish great things in his new position. We will have a staff of nine persons for the summer, including Miss Murray, who has been with us five years; a nurse from Ottawa, a student of Toronto University, Harry Drummond; a dentist, and a V. A. D. We also have the promise of two "Wops" University students, who gave their services for the heavy work, such as hauling coal, etc."

Miss Warne told of the completion of the orphanage at St. Anthony. "We were greatly delayed in the building of this institution, as the foundation was not deep enough. In order to get beneath the level of the frost it should be 15 feet below the surface, showing the great depth the frost goes in that part of the country. The building is a straight block building, built as simply as possible so as to retain the heat, as coal is very expensive, costing us as high as $34 per ton. There is accommodation for 85 children, 45 being there at the present time. It is practically finished, but we are still in need of money for furnishings."

Miss Warne told of three children who were being educated by the Ontario branches. One girl is receiving the Home Science course at Macdonald College, Guelph, where she was sent by the branch at Uxbridge, another girl is going through for a teacher, and is at present going to school in Brockville, and a young boy is at the preparatory school of Upper Canada. These three children, when they have completed their courses, will return home and help carry on the work of the mission. "Americans have taken a large number of children and educated them, but this is the first venture on the part of the Canadians, and if it proves successful a larger number will be taken next time."

Need First-Class People.

Miss Warne also referred to the orphanage at Cartwright, which is maintained equally by the Anglican Church, the Grenfell Mission and the Newfoundland government. "We have a great number of volunteer workers come to us each summer, between 20 and 30, and they are always first-class people, which proves that the ordinary individual could not stand the work which is carried on, with Dr. Grenfell as the example."

"Dr. Grenfell has his own hospital ship, and cruises about, going into every little port and hamlet, which possibly others have overlooked, taking a large supply of provisions and clothes with him, which he distributes to the poor and needy."

When asked about the religious sect which are established in that part of the country, Miss Warne stated that the Anglican, Methodist, Roman Catholic, Salvation Army, Presbyterian and Congregational churches were there. Rev. Henry Gordon, an Anglican clergyman, also a graduate of Oxford, was greatly loved by the people, and was called the "Bishop of Labrador."

Violin solos by Mrs. Gordon Tennant and vocal numbers by Mrs. Arthur Lile, the president, accompanied by Mrs. Harris Elliott, were greatly enjoyed. $91 was the amount raised from the recent rummage sale, and the following list of donations was read, for which the members are very grateful: One plaid skirt, 2 dressing gowns, 2 pairs woolen mitts, 5 woolen scarfs, underwear, smoking jacket and vest from Mrs. S. A. Hodge, Mitchell; woman's cloth suit, dress, man's serge suit, and magazines, Mrs. George Reid; 1 pair socks, Miss Nellie Macklin; two quilts from friends of the mission in Hyde Park Anglican Church; one pair of socks, Miss Bertha Clarke; three pairs of socks, Mrs. Laurence Gibson (for Dr. Grenfell's personal use); 1 scarf, knitted by Miss Graydon; 1 woolen petticoat, donated by Miss Graydon; woolen scarf and cap, from a friend; parcel of clothing, from a friend; 3 pairs wristlets and sweater, Miss Minnie Raymond; $15 worth of Kilim, from a friend; two men's overcoats, Mrs. A. E. Miller; woman's heavy coat, Mrs. C. H. Rogers; Sarnia; 6 pairs of socks and child's knitted suit, Mrs. C. R. Hoover; Sarnia; sweater, Miss Mary Burnett; Miss Norma McKenzie; Hyde Park, knitted 3 pairs of socks and donated 1 pair; Mrs. Jared Vining; $2; Mrs. Arthur Miller, $2; and Mrs. W. H. Line, $1. The mission is sending the bale Monday, and will be grateful if those who care to send articles would deliver them at Cronyn Hall, not later than Saturday morning.

PIERROT TROUPE MAKES ITS BOW

A new and most creditable addition to London's many entertainment organizations, musical, dramatic, etc., is the Pierrot Troupe, which has recently been formed by members of the staff and patients of the Westminster Hospital. The first public appearance, made on Tuesday evening of this week, proved a howling, unqualified success, with the hall packed to its utmost capacity with members of the staff, patients and their friends, and residents of the district, a number who could not get inside endeavoring to share in the mirth-provoking program by peeping through the windows.

While the troupe was the idea of Major T. L. Towers, Mr. J. Mitchell, who has had much experience with amateur minstrel shows, gave most valuable assistance in whipping the company into shape for the grand debut, and with R. Liddle of the Y. M. C. A. acting as stage director opening night. Major Towers, the interlocutor, was general manager, W. Sinclair, curtain operator, and R. Walsh electrician.

Costumes worn were of the pierrot order in black and white and green and white, loaned by the Y. M. C. A. Mr. E. S. Little made a much appreciated donation. The troupe differed from a minstrel show in that there were only two black-face and comedians, W. Henry and T. Hayter. Those in the circle were: Messrs. Small, Norton, Jones, Johnson, Cornish, Hodges, Lewis, B. Smith, White, B. Ayton, and Adamson. Mr. J. Thomson, step dancer; B. T. Pale, Hawaiian music; Sergt.-Major Stewart, club swinging.

THE OLD QUESTION. Hello, Everybody—How is the world using you all? It would be very fair to me if I did not have to get up and wash dishes in a few minutes. This verse really explains my feelings:

"I'm forever washing dishes, Dirty dishes in the sink, They're piled up there till the cupboard's bare, Then it's my job to wash them up."

Sometimes when I'm lazy I feed them to the pup, I'm forever washing dishes, Dirty dishes in the sink.

Aren't these just lovely May days? It makes one feel like going to the woods for a ramble. We had enough April showers, so we ought to have one or two May flowers. Don't you think so? Cynthia, when is your birthday? Mine is in the good old month of May.

Oh, say, I have the loveliest correspondent from the Mail-Box. My sister would like to have the addresses of "A Lonely Fellow" and "A Faded Lily." I am writing to A School Kid, and like her fine.

Well, it is housecleaning and gardening time. My mother and I put in some radishes, lettuce, peppers, and beans today and we have onions in. I am a great lover of flowers. We have some pinks, balsams, dahlias in, and will put in some different kinds later.

The old, old question, My eyes are blue and my hair is brown. What colors should I wear?

I am as before, JOLLY JEAN.

Am mailing the addresses your sister wants. I hope she is as fortunate as you in receiving an interesting correspondent. I am sure your garden will be lovely. My birthday was last month, Jean. I think you could wear any shade of blue very well.

Radio Radiations

Amateurs are requested to make their queries as brief as possible to facilitate the publication and answering of the questions. Address your communications to the Radio Editor, The London Advertiser.

BY THE RADIO EDITOR.

RADIO fans have been puzzled during the past few weeks by noise in their receivers which they have variously described as "scraping," "scratching" and "clicking." Many of them have jumped to the conclusion that something has gone wrong with their receivers. But the sets aren't to blame at all. The fault is entirely nature's brand of radio-static.

This is the main source of disturbance in wireless communication. Engineers for many years have diligently applied themselves in an effort to discover some way of eliminating the effects of static.

No method has yet been discovered which will entirely eliminate static, although many methods have been put forth for minimizing its effects.

When several of the best devices are used simultaneously in connection with any one receiver, it is possible to get as high as 90 per cent improvement in that set.

The measures necessary to secure this improvement, however, are of a nature entirely unsuited to application.

and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

tion on the home radiophone set because they are bulky and expensive.

Single-Circuit Set.
The first means discovered for the reduction of static interference was the "tuning" of the receiver circuits.

The next step was one where this tuning was carried still further—a second tuning circuit was added to the receiver and "coupled" weakly to the tuned antenna circuit.

A great many radio receivers in use today are of the "single circuit" type. But considerably greater freedom from static disturbances is to be had by the use of a "two-circuit" receiver.

Two-Circuit Set.
The two-circuit receivers of the crystal type are usually composed of

TWO-CIRCUIT RECEIVER.

an "inductive coupler" (loose coupler) together with variable tuning condensers used in both antenna and the second circuit (closed circuit).

Unfortunately, the receivers which have been exploited most during the last few months have been single-circuit receivers. As the radio public becomes educated, it will demand receivers of the higher grade. They do not cost a great deal more.

Three-Circuit Set.
The use of "regeneration" in the circuits of a vacuum tube receiver ("regenerative receiver"), where the receiver is built around the coupled circuits with an outdoor antenna, will give the greatest freedom from interference.

Decide on the size of this first, fasten it in a circle and then tie it to the spokes, clipping off any spoke wire that extends beyond the brim.

More circular wires can be put in the weight of the hat fabric demands them.

Next a band about an inch high should be built, this for the crown to fit down over. It is built just as ference now possible for the radio fan. Such sets are known as "three-circuit receivers."

To go beyond this necessitates the use of a receiver in connection with a "loop" or "coil" antenna.

The coil antenna consists of a few turns of wire on a frame three or four feet square, the potentials developed in it by the advancing waves are, of course, very much smaller (about 1-200 part) of those developed in the outdoor antenna. Greater amplification—more vacuum tubes, batteries, etc.—are necessary where such an antenna is used, and this means more expense.

RADIO PRIMER

SPARK TRANSMISSION.—A method of damped wave radio telegraphy, in which the radio waves are formed by the spark action between two electrodes. This form of radio transmission is fast being supplanted by continuous (CW), or undamped, wave transmission by which radio telephony is made possible.

Do You Like To Make Your Hats?

HAT making is without doubt one of the most confusing phases of domestic art the home worker must face.

The woman with limited means, however, cannot let the difficulty of an art deprive her of the pleasure of being well hatted. And, once one understands the basic work of hat building, the question of making the headwear is simple.

The head size is a matter of major importance to the woman who would make her hat, frame and all. Thus first the head size must be taken with a tape measure. Get the circumference of the head at the place where your hat band is most comfortable.

Then make a paper pattern which you can keep for future use. Take a sheet of newspaper, fold it through the center, again through the center, and then, getting the sides even, fold it so that it is wedge-shaped.

Cut this then circularly at a point far enough from the center to allow width for an ordinary hat brim. Then cut the center of the paper out to fit your head size. Use your general way, but fit it to your head by cutting—it naturally will not be round.

When the paper is of quite the right size and shape one must begin to think in terms of wire. There should be a roll of the ordinary covered milliner's wire and a roll of tie wire. The latter is very fine and is used to tie the wires together.

Bend the heavy wire circularly to fit the paper head size, fasten it with wire and clip it from the roll. Then, as in Figure 3, the spokes should be put in.

They should be tied to the wire head size and each one left a little longer than the brim of the hat is to be wide. The outer wire edge of the brim should next be fastened to the spokes.

Decide on the size of this first, fasten it in a circle and then tie it to the spokes, clipping off any spoke wire that extends beyond the brim.

More circular wires can be put in the weight of the hat fabric demands them.

Next a band about an inch high should be built, this for the crown to fit down over. It is built just as

THE combination of fruit and meat cooked together is most unusual, but most delicious. Apples are an old combination, the apples often being roasted with the meat or baked in casserole with chops. Lemon broiled on fish adds much to the flavor, but few women realize that pineapple

How Fairies Plan To Make Lad Happy

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]

"After a while it boiled so hard a thick steam arose."

ONE little Towssie, called Wink, boiled a sweet dream in Snooze-lum Town on the Moon. First he put in some horse-hairs and a few oat grains, then he put in a shiny buckle and bit of a new strap. These he moistened with water and stirred thoroughly.

Next he wrote an invitation and stirred it in, then he dropped in a bit of candle and a snip of birthday cake.

After a while it boiled so hard that a thick steam arose. This Wink caught in a poppy-leaf bag and tied it up tight.

"Too, hee, hee!" he giggled, holding it up proudly to his next-door neighbor, called Blink. "Here's a fine dream for Tommy Brown. He's going to dream tonight he's going to get a pony for his birthday." "I never make dreams that are too disappointing when they wake up," declared Blink. "Tommy will have a bad time when he finds it isn't true."

"Oh, ho, ho, ho!" laughed Wink. "But this is going to come true. Tommy will tell his dream to his daddy and you just see if it doesn't work."

"I'm going to mix up a dream for his daddy, too, and one for the man who sells ponies. The three of them ought to do some good."

Now someone heard every word Wink and Blink said. It was Comet-Legs, the ugly fairy, who was jealous of the Man-in-the-Moon.

"Humph!" he grunted. Every time somebody has a nice dream they give the credit to the Man-in-the-Moon and his fairies. I'll have to see about this dream for Tom Jones."

So he ran to the edge of the moon and straddled the shooting-star he used for a horse and scooted off to Eena Meena, the Magician, who cooked up bad dreams.

"See here!" he called. "I've a job for you! Cook me up a dream about a growly bear at once!"

Organdy For Your Best Bib-Or Swiss

GIRLS! LEMONS

WHITEN SKIN AND BLEACH FRECKLES

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin.

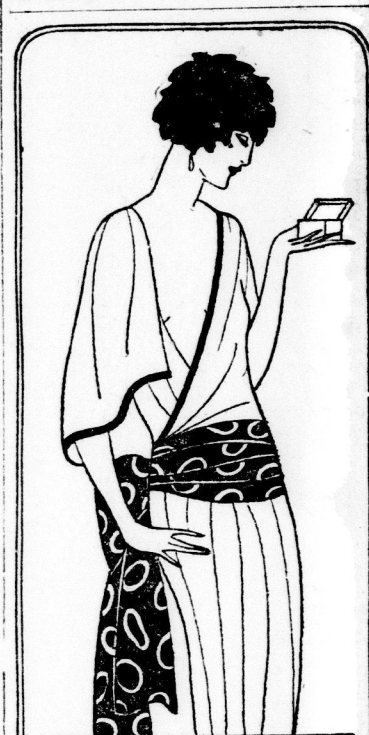

Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach, because it doesn't irritate.—Advt.

FOR one's best bib and tucked tucker, organdy is recommended. Or dotted swiss, if you prefer.

Sea green with white or black dots, bright red with blue dots, blue with green dots are some of the variations of the dotted Swiss fabrics this summer season.

They are trimmed with organdy—white or colored—or with bands of sheer net. The organdy dresses, too, use bands of net to excellent effect.

Most of them are very simply trimmed—with many rows of narrow tucks, a little lace or some ribbon flowers. The style illustrated lends itself to the airy stiffness of either material.

TEC SWATSMITHS PIT ON REVERSE TO LINE OF 9-2-2

Carmen Allows Only One Hit Until 6th, and Whiffs Seven — Matuzak Mauled.

BAY CITY, May 31.—London swatmen came through with a vengeance Wednesday to partially redeem themselves for the double loss on Tuesday, and pounded out a 9-2 victory over the Wolves, hitting Matuzak hard in the eighth inning to score six runs. The game for the most part was extremely listless, lacking all pep and dash that characterized the twin bill that opened the series.

London carried a Weaver's selection for the mound, and he turned in a nice game, whiffing seven and allowing but one scratch single until the sixth inning, a hurt that Brown let roll, thinking it was going foul. Only three times during the game did the Wolves come anywhere near scoring, once in the first inning, when they had the bases full with one out, only to have Wire miss the ball, and another squeeze play, with the result that Laabs turned the play into a double, catching Hedges and Zinn flat-footed on a double killing that ended the inning, and again in the eighth and ninth, when one marker was sired in each frame.

London went after Matuzak right from the start, grabbing a run in the opening frame on a walk, an infield hit and two sacrifices, Laabs' sacrifice, Brown's sacrifice and Beecher's screaming single to center scored another in the second, and the third runner came in the sixth on Schaefer's fielder's choice, an infield out and Laabs' second single.

The eighth was a big inning. Stimpson and Schaefer singled in succession and advanced on Fisher's sacrifice. Laabs scored both with a double. Then Brown singled, Beecher whiffed, Carmen singled, Boyle tripled and Malmquist singled to score four more runs. Stimpson, batting for the second time in the inning, grounded out to retire the side.

Hedges' triple and Koehler's single gave Bay City her first run in the eighth, and the final count came in the last inning on Fisher's fielder's choice and Guest's double.

LEAFS HIT IN BUNCHES. BUFFALO, May 31.—Taylor held Buffalo today, although hit hard in the fourth inning. The Leafs made their mark in bunches. The final score was 9 to 5 in Toronto's favor.

HUSTLERS' EASY WIN. SYRACUSE, May 31.—Rochester took a lopsided game from Syracuse today by 10 to 8, the home team being able to hit effectively only in the opening and closing innings.

IF THIS PLAY COMES UP
Here's Your Decision
If with a runner on runners on the bases, the batsman hits a fly to the outfield, the runners on the bases shall have the right to advance the moment the ball touches the hands of the fielder making the play. Often the fly ball is juggled a number of times before the fielder finally retains possession of it. Such juggling, however, must be no consideration relative to the runner. If the runner was forced to hold his base until the ball was finally held, fielders would constantly juggle the ball as they ran in with it toward the infield. That would deprive the runner of any protection. That is why the rule reads that the base runner shall have the right to advance the moment the ball strikes the hands of the fielder making the play.

AS JOE MCGINNITY ONCE LOOKED

Old Iron Man Still Capable "Pro" in Own Minor League Club.

JOE MCGINNITY IN THE GIANTS' UNIFORM.

HOW many men of 49 could step out on the mound and pitch nine full innings of baseball in a professional league, even though only a minor one? And how many could perform this stunt and win?

In answer to the second—Joe McGinnity. Once Joe was known as the Iron Man of the New York Giants. Now he is manager and owner of the Danville club of the Three-Eye League.

Finding his pitching staff short to pieces, he undertook the twirling himself, and for seven innings held his opponents scoreless. In the eighth he weakened, allowing three runs, two of which were earned. In the ninth he tightened up again and prevented further scoring. Danville won, 6 to 2.

Joe struck out three men during this performance, hit one and issued one pass, pretty fair control for a man of 49.

McGinnity started ball playing at Rock Island, Ill., his native town, at the age of 15. He has lived an athlete's life ever since. Famed though he was, in his days in the big leagues, for his ability to pitch and win double headers, the strain never told on Joe's arm, as his present ability proves. Irregular living, not work, he holds, sends men to the scrap heap, and he never took better care of himself than Joe.

INDORSE SIFTON'S IMMIGRATION PLAN

Chamber of Commerce to Secure Information for Investing Public.

To secure information, on investments for inquirers, the board of directors of the chamber of commerce at a meeting Wednesday afternoon decided to appoint a committee on immigration. The personnel of the committee was not named at the meeting.

The board thoroughly indorsed the resolution passed by the Hamilton Chamber of Commerce concerning the immigration of experienced farmers into the Dominion.

The resolution was based on the treatise by the Hon. Clifford Sifton on the matter, which suggested that it would be possible in ten years to bring into Canada 500,000 farmers, who were experienced, and who were of a high order in qualities of thrift, morals, and other attributes of good citizenship.

In the treatise the thought was expressed that the major economic troubles of the country rested in the annual loss resulting from the operation of the national railways. This was a condition that could only be improved by a growth in population through immigration.

Request Suggestions.
A request for suggestions that would improve the commercial intelligence department of the government, was responded to with the answer that in the opinion of the chamber, greater speed in communicating information required by the trade commissioners abroad to the actual manufacturers was essential.

Steps were taken at the meeting to give the United Welfare Workers of the city the necessary co-operation needed by them from the directors.

The directors approved of the action of the secretary of the chamber in having the Dairyman's Exchange removed from the clearing house to the rooms of the chamber, and for providing accommodation for the exchange there.

Funds Not Provided.
Members of the agricultural committee of the chamber reported that the projected covering building for the west side of the market, which was not built this year, on account of the shortage of the necessary $7,000 needed as the initial fund had not been provided for by the city council in its estimates, and as a consequence no money that could be used for such a purpose was in the treasury. The amount might have been raised by a debenture, it was thought, but this suggestion was not adopted because it was considered inadvisable to issue debentures for such a meagre sum.

Next year, however, the council will be asked to set aside the $7,000 for the building. This $7,000 is the necessary principal needed for building, the interest and the upkeep being provided for in the rentals.

A letter of appreciation for the aid rendered the Canadian Fraternal Association in its recent convention in London by the chamber, was read at the meeting.

SIX FIREMEN DROPPED FROM PAYROLL THURSDAY

Chief Aitken Gives Approval to Reduction—Further Cut Depends on Council.

Six firemen were dropped from the force of the London fire department on Thursday morning.

These are the men who were to have been dismissed on May 16, but were kept on by order of the council, pending the settlement of the wage question.

The wage committee of the council also agreed with the fire fighters that two fire halls, Nos. 4 and 5, should be closed, but Chief Aitken, who opposed the closing of two halls, has just recommended that one hall be closed.

Until the council approves, the north end hall will not be closed, and while it remains open, the department will be a little short-handed. Of the dismissed men, two are from the central hall, one from No. 3, one from No. 4, the hall to be closed, and two from hall No. 5.

At the time the reductions were made, two men were supernumerary, and since then one has been dismissed, and another is quitting, making a reduction of ten men in the department in all.

LONDON CAN TALK TO SHIPS AT SEA

Through the establishing of a continuous wave wireless station at Louisbourg, Nova Scotia, by the Marconi Wireless Company, telegraph communication via this station can be established between residents of London and passengers on ships at sea in all parts of the earth.

A message, sent by the C. P. R. Telegraph Company at London, is dispatched to Louisbourg, and from there sent on the ether waves to the wireless cabin of the ship, to which the message is addressed.

The position of the ship does not enter into the matter owing to the continuous wave system, which enables the message to be wireless to any one of the seven seas.

SOCIAL WORKERS LAUD PROHIBITION

T. D. McCullough and Dr. Albert E. Moore Commend Ontario Temperance Act.

Relief workers in connection with social service organization in Ontario show in the reports of their activities that the cases of distress which are the direct result of intemperance are in an extremely small minority. Speaking on the growing effectiveness of the Ontario temperance act Thursday morning, Rev. T. D. McCullough stated that reports from Toronto show that while 4,000 cases of distress and poverty were attended to last winter, only four of these were due to intemperance.

"A few years ago," said Mr. McCullough, "instead of about 4,000 cases in which relief was necessary, the number would have been trebled. In London during our work last winter, out of all the cases investigated, only a very few could be traced either directly or indirectly to intemperance."

That this approbation of the O. T. A. is by no means confined to one particular body of social service workers was evinced in an address at Centennial Methodist Church Wednesday evening, when Dr. Albert E. Moore, general secretary of the social service department of the Methodist Church of Canada, declared, without qualifying the statement in any way, that the O. T. A. was the best thing which had ever come to Ontario in the way of legislation.

CAR ENDS WILD CAREER
BY CRASHING INTO POLE

Studebaker Automobile Lurches Up Waterloo Street, Damaging Two Other Motors.

Police are searching for the driver of a Studebaker car, license number 69-744, who, Wednesday night, while driving north on Waterloo street, crashed into the pole, damaging two other cars owned by William Donahue, 443 Pall Mall street, crashed into a large touring car owned by Richard Forstall, 804 Talbot street, and then careened into a telephone pole at the C. P. R. track—and vanished.

Witnesses and owners of the damaged cars state that the automobile, before its journey ended by contact with the pole, pursued a swaying and winding course for some distance.

When the car hit the telephone pole, the front axle was broken and the headlights smashed.

The drivers of the two machines that were struck, and several other motorists who had been narrowly missed, rushed to the wayward auto and found the driver missing.

WANTS MACAROW CASE
SUBMITTED TO GRAND JURY

Sir Lomer Gouin, Minister of Justice, Makes Official Announcement.

OTTAWA, May 31.—(By Canadian Press).—Official announcement was made in the House of Commons by Sir Lomer Gouin, minister of justice, this afternoon, that the government has asked the attorney-general in Quebec to submit the case against D. C. Macarow, formerly general manager of the Merchants Bank, to the grand jury at the next assizes, "upon the charges and proof with a view to finding of a bill of indictment."

While the proceedings are pending the government does not propose any further action, said Sir Lomer.

"And is it the intention of the government," asked T. L. Church (Conservative, North Toronto) "to amend the criminal code so as to compel presidents, auditors and directors and general managers of chartered banks to direct and fulfill their functions as bank officials and to provide for breaches?"

"These are matters for consideration," replied Sir Lomer, "when the question of a renewal of the bank act comes before Parliament."

MEDICAL COUNCIL
ELECTS OFFICERS

OTTAWA, June 1.—Hon. Mr. Norman of Three Rivers, Quebec, a representative of the Quebec Medical Board, was elected president for the ensuing year at the Medical Council of Canada, which completed its annual session held in Ottawa yesterday. Dr. J. McCallum, who represents Toronto University on the council, was elected vice-president. Dr. R. W. Powell of Ottawa was re-elected registrar, and F. H. Chrysler, K.C., of Ottawa, was appointed general counsel.

Matters of medical education and licensure and the appointment of the boards of examiners to conduct the examinations in French and English at Montreal and Halifax on Oct. 10, and examiners for the examinations to be held in Toronto on June 12, 1923, constituted the chief business of the sessions.

PRESBYTERY WILL INDUCT MINISTER

Rev. John Richardson To Be Welcomed as Pastor at Chalmers Church.

London Presbytery will meet in special session at Chalmers Church at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night for the induction of Rev. John Richardson, who comes from Bridgeton to assume the pastorate of Chalmers congregation.

In the absence of Dr. D. C. MacGregor, moderator of the London Presbytery, it is expected that Dr. W. Beattie of the First Presbyterian Church, will conduct the induction services, while Rev. James MacKay will address the people and Rev. T. A. Symington, who is a life-long friend of Mr. Richardson, will give the address to the minister.

The congregation of Chalmers Church, which for some time past has been laboring under financial difficulties, put forth every effort to obtain Mr. Richardson, and is confident that under his ministry, Chalmers Church will enter into a new era of usefulness and prosperity.

He is well-known for his splendid work among young people, being a specialist in the department of religious education, a fact which makes him doubly suitable for Chalmers Church, which congregation is anxious to stimulate the interest of young people in the work of the church.

Mr. Richardson is a graduate of Knox College, Toronto University, and since entering the ministry has been in charge of congregations at Kippen and at Bridgeton, having spent six years at the latter charge. He is a native of Woodstock, and Joseph Richardson, who is a life-long employee of the Woodstock Sentinel Review.

RESOLUTION THAT RANEY EMPLOYED THUGS IS LOST

Conservatives and Liberals Declare Judgment Outside Sphere of Public Accounts Committee.

Toronto, June 1.—The public accounts committee of the legislature this afternoon passed a resolution declaring that Col. T. M. Lennox (North York), had not proven in his evidence before the committee the charges made on account of the fact that Attorney-General Raney had knowingly "employed thugs and criminals" to enforce the Ontario temperance act. By a rather unexpected succession of circumstances the vote was unanimous.

When the resolution was introduced it was opposed by the Conservatives and most of the Liberals as being outside the sphere of the committee to pass judgment. Its sole function, it was argued, was to conduct an inquiry and submit the evidence to the public. It was for the house and house to pass judgment. An amendment was introduced by W. E. N. Sinclair, setting forth the facts as to the functions of the committee.

This was followed by an amendment to the amendment that simply ordered that the evidence be submitted to the house. On the vote on the amendments being taken separately, the government supporters were in the majority, and also R. H. Hall (Barry Sound), J. W. Curry and D. McAlpine (Brockville), Liberals.

The remainder of the opposition voted for the two amendments with the exception of W. F. Nickle (Kingston) who declined to vote. Then followed the vote on the main resolution, and all the members who have been opposed to the amendments, declined to vote on it. Thus, while the vote on the amendment stood 13 yeas to 23 nays, the vote on the main motion stood 24 yeas, with no nays. Attorney-General Raney also declined to vote. A resolution was also passed to have the evidence printed and submitted to the house.

MANUFACTURERS TO HOLD CONFERENCE AT SEASIDE

Make New Departure To Give Delegates Few Holidays Between Sessions.

Toronto, May 31.—In convening its 1922 convention at St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, N.B., the Canadian Manufacturers' Association is making a new departure. In the past its annual meetings have invariably been held in large cities. This time, however, a seaside resort has been selected partly to enable the members of the association to work in a pleasant little holiday during the week of the convention.

This year the meetings will spread over four days, June 20-23. Business sessions will be limited to the mornings, leaving the afternoons free for the enjoyment of the out-door sports. In the evening a series of lectures and other views will be delivered in the Hotel Casino. These will include a lecture on the British West Indies, one on the Maritime provinces and one, provided by the department of trade and commerce, on the industrial development of Canada.

AUTOMOBILE THEFT RING

Chicago Police Believe "Can" Shea To Be Leader of Nation-Wide Gang.

Chicago, May 31.—Operations of an alleged nation-wide automobile theft ring, with headquarters in Chicago, and of which "Can" Shea, labor leader, now under indictment for murder in connection with the deaths of two police officers, following labor bombings, is said by the police to be the head, were revealed by the authorities yesterday, following the return from St. Louis of officers with William Smith. Smith was arrested as an alleged "field agent" of the ring.

According to the police, operations of the alleged automobile theft ring, which are in progress in months, Smith was responsible for two new cases, making seven in all, and whooping cash ten cases, making 59 in all.

LAUDS TREATY OF VERSAILLES

Lloyd George Defends Reparations Commission in Legislative Debate.

Declares No Cause For Disagreement Between France and England.

LONDON, May 31.—With German undefiant, Premier Lloyd George had planned to make a brief statement on reparations in the House of Commons this afternoon, but when John Robert Clynes, Labor member, opened the debate and attributed the present difficulties to the government's election pledges of 1918, the prime minister launched into a lengthy defence of the reparations commission and the treaty of Versailles.

Praised German Attitude.
Lloyd George praised the German attitude toward the reparations commission, and indicated that so long as she was not defiant Germany could count on Britain's sympathy and understanding of the difficulties involved in meeting the treaty conditions. He declared, however, that there was no cause for disagreement between France and England, for should Germany refuse to attempt to fulfill the commission's proposals, Great Britain's place would be at the side of the Versailles signatories, despite the misrepresentations which were being made.

Great Britain believed in the traditional policy of moderation and fulfillment, continued the prime minister, and he gave warning that isolated action on the part of any one of the Allies would be disastrous to the entire treaty system.

"It is the policy pursued after Waterloo toward France, when Prussia and Russia and the other victors urged that France be trampled," said Lloyd George. "The government in that day refused to countenance such a policy; we are pursuing the same course. But if Germany is defiant, if she should say 'this treaty we decline to carry out,' it would be different. A German policy of non-fulfillment would be a policy of immediate disaster."

Are Committed To It.
"It is not a question of France acting alone, if there is defiance of the Versailles treaty, we are signatories to the treaty, which the House of Commons ratified. We are committed to it. In spite of all misrepresentations we still stand for the policy of moderation and fulfillment."

The prime minister concluded by saying that the circumstances which had arisen rendered it unnecessary to refer to any discussions of recent weeks, and he hoped it would be unnecessary to resume those discussions and enter into the question of the effect of isolated action, declaring:

"I would say would be that I agree that any isolated action on the part of any one of the Allies would be disastrous to the entire treaty system."

HENDRIE DENIES RECEIVING BISHOP LLOYD'S LETTER

Ontario Jockey Club President Claims No Interest in Criticism of Pamphlet.

HAMILTON, May 31.—Col. Wm. Hendrie, president of the Ontario Jockey Club, this morning stated that he had not received the letter sent to him by Right Rev. Bishop G. E. Lloyd of Saskatchewan, in which the bishop made a vigorous and scathing attack on a pamphlet entitled "Race Track Gambling" sent him by the Ontario Jockey Club.

"Apparently the letter had been received in my hands," remarked Col. Hendrie. He added: "However, I'm not worrying about it any, and I'm not interested enough to read it in the newspapers."

"If his letter describes that pamphlet as 'your pamphlet' he's wrong. It was sent by the Ontario Jockey Club, and merely signed it as president of the club."

When informed that the bishop's letter contained some very strong language, including a comparison of the club officials with the Germans, Col. Hendrie simply observed: "Lots of these people use very strong language."

He is the first member of the English bar to be executed for murder.

TO REPORT ON SETTLEMENT OF WAR VETERANS

Special Parliamentary Committee Concludes Investigation On Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment.

MAJ. BARNETT TESTIFIES

Declares Four Years Too Short For Repayment of Farm Loans.

OTTAWA, May 31.—Taking of evidence by the special parliamentary committee of the House of Commons on soldiers' civil re-establishment has been concluded, and the committee will shortly present its proposals to parliament. The committee began its consideration of the problems of the soldiers' civil re-establishment as they are today, by hearing evidence and collecting information about the recommendations, given to it by C. G. Neill, secretary of the G. W. V. A., on behalf of the alliance of returned soldiers' bodies.

These proposals of the soldiers' bodies alliance include:

1. Revaluation of land;
2. Revaluation of stock and equipment;
3. Exemption from interest for a period of years in addition to the exemption already allowed;
4. The spreading of the stock and equipment loan over a longer period;
5. Reduction in the rate of interest.

Major John Barnett, chairman of the soldiers' settlement board, gave evidence before the main committee bearing on these proposals. He also appeared before a sub-committee of which Alfred Speakman, M.P., is chairman, and every phase of the land settlement situation was thoroughly gone into. On the recommendation of Major Barnett's evidence he was complimented by the chairman on the full and lucid explanations which he gave in response to the inquiries of the members.

Cultivate New Land.

The first line of questioning dealt with the national advantages derived from soldier settlement. Major Barnett gave figures to show that over 600,000 acres of new land had been brought under cultivation—land that had hitherto been raw and unproductive. There were 1,553 men to whom the board had given training. They were not farmers. Three thousand three hundred men had completed training, but some had not taken up land. A great many men who enlisted had been brought up on a farm, but had been in the cities following ordinary industrial occupations. The bulk of soldier settlers were of that type.

Mr. Speakman asserted that the soldier settlers were mostly farmers' sons who had gone into other walks of life, and after their experience in the army had a hunger for the open air—they wanted to get back on the land. His own experience was that a great number of new farms had been opened up, and that a very definite encouragement had been given so far as production was concerned. Eleven per cent of the 21,000 men settled with loans had abandoned their farms, including those who had a recurrence of war disability, and some cases where the settler had sold out in the same manner as abandonment cases.

Successful in Repayments.

The next point on which Major Barnett was questioned dealt with the success of the settlers in making their repayments to the board. The first of the heavy payments, he said, came due this year and collections up to the end of March amounted to about 30 per cent. That was as good as an ordinary farmer was doing with a loan company loan. The amounts due were very large in comparison with the previous two years, and he was quite prepared to admit that they were a great deal too heavy for many settlers.

Four years for repayment of stock and equipment loans was too short a time, but the great militating factor against the settlers had been the general economic conditions and the collapse of agricultural prices. Last year some 12,000 settlers had their first large payments, and nearly 10,000 made their payments in full or substantial payments on account, and in addition a large number made prepayments. Altogether, last year, the board collected $12,000 more than was due, which was an exceptional showing. This year the first stock and equipment payments fell due, and this brought the total up to twice the amount due the previous year. Compared with the rural credit societies, the old line companies and the implement companies, the showing this year was remarkably good. Altogether, the board had received from the finance department $87,749,884 for loans, and had returned to the finance department on account of these loans, $11,885,781, so that there was outstanding roughly, $75,864,103.

Could Not Stick It.

Major Barnett did not think that the salvage cases which had occurred so far were due to the burden of payments, but rather to the unsuitability of the land and to the unsuitability of the man. In many cases the man had a vision of farm life which the reality did not bear out, and when he got back on the farm he could not stick it.

The only men to whom the board would not grant deferred stock or equipment loans were the men who had not completed their stock or equipment loans.

Asked if a time limit should be placed on the time when applications might be received, Major Barnett said this might result in a crowd of men rushing in saying, "This is our last chance."

A number of members of the committee were asked by Mr. Marler their opinion on this point, and the consensus was that this would not

Wall Paper May Be Clue In Chatham Murder.

CHATHAM, May 31.—Blood-stains which are said to have been found on the wall-paper and the bedclothes in an upper room of Gus Noel's home at Charing Cross are at present forming a very important part in the weaving of a web of evidence in the murder case. High Constable Peters visited the home today, secured the bedclothes, and cut part of the paper off the wall.

The exhibits will be sent to Toronto, where they will be examined by experts to determine definitely whether or not they are bloodstains.

be an opportune time, as soldiers could be established this year under more favorable conditions than heretofore on account of the lowering of prices of their requirements.

Major Barnett also expressed the view that the men going on the land now were more apt to make good than those who went on three years ago. The men coming in now were, on the whole, a very much better type than those who went on the land in 1919. The bulk of the later applications were from men who were afraid of the high prices which prevailed in 1919. They said: "We can wait, because this thing cannot continue," and they had been holding off in the expectation of a drop in prices.

If 75 per cent of soldier settlers made good on the land it would be a wonderful success—an outstanding success from a national point of view. Mr. Marler thought that 75 per cent was rather too sanguine an estimate. Mr. Speakman agreed that it was too sanguine, but he said a better class of men were going on the land now, and they were going on under absolutely different conditions. He was satisfied that they had a working chance of going through.

Grateful for Deferment.

Major Barnett replied that his expectation was that 75 per cent of the men would make substantial payments this year, notwithstanding the adverse conditions. He had received a great many letters from settlers in regard to the deferment privileges, some of whom had said: "We don't want deferment; we are going to pay you all." The general tenor, however, was that they were grateful for the deferment, but they had with hope and confidence of the development which they had done on their farms.

Asked for his opinion on re-valuation, Major Barnett said he did not think it could be worked out equitably. As a matter of fact, many of the settlers would go up in arms if there was any question of a general re-valuation, because their lands were worth more today, and much more, than they had paid for them. Moreover, re-valuation of the land would entail an enormous expense. He believed, however, that the terms of repayments of stock and equipment loans were too short.

The difficulties of the soldier settler had increased immeasurably since 1919, and some measure of relief was necessary. While land in the west had not decreased in value, stock and equipment had. The reasons why soldier settlers' lands had not depreciated as other lands had were because, where the board's work was handled efficiently, land had been bought at an absolutely cut price and paid for in cash. Thousands of farms in the west were bought away below their market price as advertised. Where the board did not have an efficient organization there had been a default in price. So far as the purchase of lands was concerned, the board's worst cases were in the Vancouver district and in the Quebec district. Generally speaking, land had not depreciated in value, because, as a general rule, the lands were bought so closely that the depreciation had not overtaken them yet.

TABLES LETTERS ON WATERWAYS

Premier King Places Before Commons Correspondence With United States.

OTTAWA, May 30.—(By Canadian Press).—Correspondence between the American and Canadian governments relative to the St. Lawrence waterways development proposals, tabled in the House of Commons today by Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, prime minister, includes a letter from Charles E. Hughes, United States secretary of state, to Sir Auckland Geddes, stating that President Harding "favors the negotiation of a treaty to be framed on the basis of the report of the joint commission, or such modifications as might be agreed upon."

The reply of the Canadian government was, as stated in the House of Commons yesterday by the prime minister, that "the government had not yet had opportunities to give to the report of the international joint commission and the accompanying report of the board of engineers appointed to examine the subjects that careful consideration."

Moreover, having regard to the magnitude of the project and the very large outlay of public money involved, the government is of the opinion that it would not appear to be expedient to deal with this matter at the present time.

The Canadian answer was in the form of an order-in-council under yesterday's date, setting forth that the letter had been received from President Harding, and that the Canadian government had no objection to the publication of a statement at Washington pointing out what steps the United States had taken in the matter.

BLAZE DAMAGES STORE IN BARRIE

BARRIE, May 31.—Fire broke out at noon today in the rear of Simmons & Co.'s store, and spread rapidly to adjoining buildings.

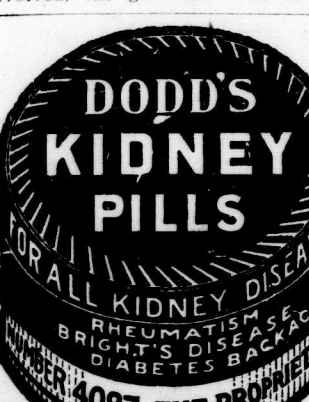

Before the blaze was under control the upper stories of three blocks on Dunlop street were damaged, causing a heavy loss.

A bonfire in the rear of one of the stores is believed to have caused the conflagration.

While the excitement ran high, and fighting the flames was not easy, nobody was injured.

The loss to buildings and store stocks was estimated at $50,000.
