CHILDREN FLOCK TO FAIR ON SECOND SPECIAL DAY; ATTRACTIVE CROWDED

Indications at Queen's Park at Noon Point to Another Record-Breaking Attendance For Second Last Day of Big Exhibition.

FIRST PAGEANT PERFORMANCE TONIGHT

Attendance at Fair	This Year	Last Year
Monday	22,500	15,000
Tuesday	20,000	14,000
Wednesday	48,000	37,000
Thursday	55,500	12,000
Total	124,000	78,000

Repetition of yesterday's cool winds and intermittent showers did not prevent children from every section of the city taking possession of Queen's Park and Western Fair early this morning. Adults, too, turned out en masse for the second last day of the big exhibition, and indications at noon pointed to another record-breaking attendance.

The gates were stormed early in the morning, hundreds of school pupils free for the day, being ready to enter as soon as the turnstiles were working. Reinforcements arrived steadily throughout the morning and early part of the afternoon, and all parts of the grounds were rapidly filled up with youthful sightseers.

Perhaps it is the sharp tang in the air—anyway, visitors appear to get greater pleasure patronizing shows than they did the opening day before the seasonable cold snap broke. Crowds this morning preferred spending money watching side-show attractions rather than being subjected to the out of bitter winds, and every available space where shelter could be procured was occupied.

A special admission rates of 15c prevailed for the day so far as youngsters were concerned, and that they took advantage of it was evident as soon as one entered the grounds. Every school in the city was represented by hundreds of pupils.

The Crystal Palace and Manufacturers Building were crowded through the morning, the many fascinating displays keeping children happy for hours. Booths where fans, blotters, paper caps and other useful or otherwise articles were being distributed were particularly popular, and received a larger patronage than on any other day of the exhibition. Many were willing to accept any kind of literature, from articles on vacuum cleaners and automobiles to discussing of "How to take care of a pig."

Youngsters Welcomed. Everybody made the youngsters welcome. The grandstands were free, and many attractions on the midway lowered prices so the admission fee would not be too much of a drain on the supply of pocket money. The ice cream men did a tremendous business notwithstanding the chilly weather, and the wares of the popular vendors proved to be the most popular confections on the grounds. Dining halls were not as well patronized as usual, because nearly all small visitors brought their rations and ate them under the protecting branches of an odd tree or in the educational buildings.

Exhibits of the schools in the building where the ladies' work is displayed, were centres of interest. The Process Building was also well attended. Horse and cattle sheds had a fair share of visitors, but the majority of children were more interested in mechanical displays.

The total paid admissions will probably be as large as that registered Thursday, but it is unlikely that the immense crowd of Wednesday will be equalled. Since the opening of the gates on Monday the action of the city council in recommending a reduced fare of 25c, has reaped splendid results as a scrutiny of the attendance records will reveal. What may have been lost in prices paid for admission has been adequately made up in the increased patronage given shows and exhibits.

Hospital Patients Guests. Patients of local hospitals and institutions, such as Byron and Westminster, were given the freedom of the Fair grounds this afternoon without charge. Escorted by members of the fair grounds staff, they were taken to all the exhibits of major interest, and the tour proved delightful in every respect.

Residents along King, Dundas and Egerton streets, are doing a profitable business parking cars. This year at least 40 per cent more machines are to be seen lined up outside the gates. Some lawns hold as many as 18 cars an evening, and the income from this little sideline is substantial.

Farmers who are remaining in the city all week comprise the big proportion of racing enthusiasts who daily sit in the grandstand and watch the trotting and pacing races. At 2 o'clock this afternoon the track was turned to Page 2, Column 3.

NIAGARA FALLS WOULD PUT TAX ON HYDRO PLANTS

Manager of Local Utilities Condemns Move as Selfish Action.

WENIGE APPROVES

"Selfish Niagara Falls." Such is a brief explanation of the move to tax public utilities, as presented today by E. V. Buchanan, general manager of the public utilities commission.

The Niagara Falls chamber of commerce is inviting sister chambers of commerce, boards of trade and city and town councils, throughout Ontario to join an agitation to make possible the taxation of public ownership enterprises, as private corporations.

At yesterday's session of the finance committee, it was recommended, upon a motion by Mayor Wenige, that the London council lend weight and influence in this endeavor.

As the communication from Niagara Falls would indicate, Manager Buchanan relates that the Niagara Falls authorities, in content it would appear with such taxes as are now levied in that district, are seeking power to assess business income and other taxes.

"This would mean, in the case of Niagara Falls," Manager Buchanan explained, "that the people of that municipality would be practically able to get along without any other taxes. Who would be shouldering the burden? The people of London and the other hydro-consuming communities and districts."

Manager Buchanan is quite sure that there will at least be no increased hydro rates this year for London. Assurance has been given the local utilities authorities to that effect, he states, although there has been no definite statement whether any reduction is possible. London pays $25 per horse-power.

With the present cool spell, Londoners yesterday boosted the consumption to more than 16,000 horse-power.

Assessment Commissioner Bennett's salary should be placed at $3,000, in accordance with a recommendation to that effect from the city council, argues Ald. W. A. Wilson.

The latter insists that this figure was set at a meeting of the committee several weeks ago, but that the recommendation never reached the council. He wants to know why, declaring that their action had never been cancelled.

Snow Descends on the Fair For First Time In History

The Western Fair this year is breaking all kinds of records including that of the ancient weatherman. Sorrowing directors have seen the skies weep their eyes out on the Crystal Palace and the midway, but for the first time in history early risers at the Fair grounds saw sparkling snow flakes swirl to the ground or come to rest on the spring board of the diving girls.

The snow tap was turned on shortly after 5 o'clock this morning and at 6 o'clock flakes were still falling. The sun then broke through with a grin and the flakes turned to rain drops in a hurry.

The western bureau in London South, is quite sheltered and this account for the fact that 33 degrees was the lowest temperature registered. Despite the fact that it was but one degree above frost in the city, the surrounding country did not get off so easily. Market gardeners report that early tomato vines were laid low by the frost, and the late vines badly nipped.

The potatoes in low lying sections were also handed a wallop according to reports received by E. A. Finn of the department of agriculture office.

"It is a mighty lucky thing for crops in general that the sun did not come out warm today," said Mr. Finn. "It would have meant much more damage to crops than is at present the case." There hasn't been such an early frost since 1915 in this district, that I can remember.

Last night had been clear instead of cloudy, the loss to crops in this district would have run well into the thousands.

Four escape death in street collision. Auto Crashes Headlong Into Street Car Near the Armories.

Shortly before noon today three children and their parents narrowly escaped being killed when the motor car in which they were riding ran headlong into a street car at the corner of Dundas and Waterloo streets.

Humane Inspector G. A. Tustin, who saw the accident, stated that the auto, which was proceeding south on Waterloo street, tried to cross over the main thoroughfare and did not succeed, running square into the middle of the car. The front of the motor was badly smashed but beyond a shaking up, none of the occupants was hurt.

Citizens Make Use of Electric Heaters To Offset Chilly Weather.

The cold snap of yesterday cost Londoners about $2,000, according to E. V. Buchanan, general manager of the Public Utilities Commission. "I think every electric heater in London was going yesterday," he said this morning. "I have my own going in the office and I know how useful they are in this weather. I figure that it cost Londoners that sum, but I am sure they were glad to get the heat service. At least I am."

"At this time of the year, between winter and summer when furnaces are not generally in use, it is the white coal that is most popular with Londoners. Whatever their opinions may be to the hydro-electric system, there is no doubt of their appreciation of the heat that comes from Niagara, on these cold and almost frosty mornings."

YOUNG BULL RUNS AMUCK THROUGH MIDWAY CROWDS

A very amusing incident occurred on the midway at the Western Fair Thursday afternoon, when the crowd was at its peak, listening to the silver-tongued spouters as they told their audiences of the wonderful shows they represented. A young chap, leading two dusty young bulls, looked from between two show tents, accidentally dropped one of the ropes holding the animal. Discovering that he was free, the animal plunged madly through the crowd, scattering Fair visitors in all directions. Just as the excitement was at its height a young man ran to the centre of the ever-widening space where the frisky animal was performing, grabbed the trailing rope, and subdued the beast. Short though the escapade was, there was a lot of real excitement unfurled in a very few minutes.

PRINCE'S SPECIAL MAKING FAST TIME TO WESTERN RANCH

Freight Trains All Along Line Making Way For Royal Passenger.

CROWDS ALONG LINE

Special to The Advertiser. By a Staff Correspondent. Chalk River, Sept. 14.—The Prince of Wales' train is shattering speed records carrying the prince to Calgary. It was to leave Quebec at 3:45 yesterday but was an hour late, passed through Outremont at 7:50 p.m., cutting an hour off the fastest passenger train time for the run. It passed through Chalk River division at 2:45 a.m. again cutting an hour off regular time. At Chalk River Inspector McVeigh of the C. P. R. boarded the train and continued to Port William, the next division. Inspector McVeigh accompanied the train from there.

The freight trains on the Chalk River division were held at North Bay to let the royal special through. It is estimated that the special will beat regular time by one hour in each division.

AVOIDS PUBLICITY. Special to The Advertiser. Quebec, Sept. 14.—"I am just an American girl visiting Quebec, and I do not see any reason to make declarations regarding my dances with Lord Renfrew," was the answer given to The Advertiser this morning by Miss Stanley, the much-envied partner of his royal highness for several dances at the dance on Wednesday evening.

As The Advertiser representative was asking whether she did not have her photograph, as many would like to see the favorite, Miss Stanley added: "I have no photo, and furthermore, if I had one, I do not think it would be of any interest to give it for publication. Once more, let me tell you I am just a plain American girl, and that's all."

Miss Stanley expected to leave this afternoon, but she did not state where she was going.

DEFER DISCUSSING RAISE IN CITY MARKET RENTALS

Proposed elevation of city market rentals was not considered at yesterday's session of the city council.

Complain of Blockade. Serious complaints of persistent blocking of crossings by C. N. R. trains were made by city officials today. A 15-minute blockade this morning was charged by city garbage workers.

ANNOUNCED DROP IN HYDRO RATES BRINGS PLEASURE

More Than Hundred Municipalities Affected Welcome Revised Schedule.

LONDON NOT ON LIST

Reduction of hydro rates in more than 100 municipalities of Western Ontario is regarded with satisfaction by representatives of the towns and cities affected. This city is not included in the list of places awarded decreases but it is quite possible that London, too, may reap some benefit by the wholesale slashing of prices.

Sir Adam Beck, M.L.A., chairman of the hydro-electric commission, says the extent of the reduction would vary. Questioned whether London would enjoy a reduction, Sir Adam said he was not certain.

"London's name is not on the list, so it is not likely any decrease will be experienced here immediately," he stated.

Sir Adam was informed that the mayor of Windsor expected reductions in his city in spite of the fact that Windsor was not included in the names of cities published this morning.

"Windsor may be affected later on," Sir Adam replied. "I don't know. I can't say whether London will be affected either. Some towns will get lower reductions than others. In certain instances hydro used for commercial purposes will be reduced and in others only domestic hydro. Some places will enjoy cuts in both commercial and domestic rates."

Mayors and hydro officials from the towns of Western Ontario included in the list were not mentioned when they heard of the decision of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario to lower prices. Mayor H. Wilson of Windsor said he expected a reduction in hydro used for industrial purposes but thought no decrease of power for residents of Windsor would be announced. Windsor was not mentioned in the list of names broadcasted by the commission this morning, but Mayor Wilson thinks Windsor's reduction will come later.

Gives New Rates. A city official from Chatham announced the new rates would be as follows: Domestic lighting 2-12 cents per kilowatt hour with 1-14 cents per kilowatt hour as a follow up rate. The old Chatham rate was three cents with a follow up rate of 1-12 cents.

The commercial lighting rates in Chatham are now 10 cents per kilowatt hour with a follow up rate of 2-12 cents. The minimum charge there remains the same.

F. W. Atkinson of Strathroy, clerk of the board, was expecting a reduction rate of 2-12 per cent. A reduction was expected for Strathroy householders, but hydro used for civic and public purposes may be increased in price. He could not be sure until a definite statement was forthcoming from the hydro-electric commission.

Mayor E. A. Miller of Aylmer said that town had been expecting a reduction and word that it would be put into operation almost immediately was very welcome. In Aylmer a 25 per cent decrease is anticipated. The present rate is four cents per kilowatt hour and the rate which, it is expected, will shortly come into effect will be three cents. Aylmer officials were notified unofficially of these new figures but no substantiation of them has been received as yet.

Express Satisfaction. The commercial rate, Mayor Miller said, would probably be around 10 per cent less than the prevailing figures.

Reeves of Blenheim, Forest, Listowel and other towns affected expressed satisfaction that new and lowered rates were shortly to come into operation. They could not say approximately what the reductions would be but all are expected to be between 10 and 20 per cent.

Mayor A. S. Renzie of Tillsonburg is out of town but the reve informed The Advertiser the new rates would be gratifying to everyone affected by them. He could not say to what extent they would be.

Several new and reduced rates lists have been announced by the commission of recent years and local hydro officials believe London will probably be included in the next general reduction.

CITY MEN FAVOR FARMERS OPPOSE FERGUSON'S PLAN

Businessmen Think Two-Party Government Best For Province.

FARMERS RESENT IT

Premier G. Howard Ferguson's decision to recognize the Liberals in the Ontario House as the only official opposition meets with the general approval of London businessmen, although it is admitted that the Farmers have a "kick" coming.

The majority of the city men interviewed felt that the affairs of the province would best be administered by two parties, and one and all were opposed to group government as practiced by the Druryites, although it would not hurt to have some Farmer members.

"Group government is not the wisest thing for us," declared A. E. Silverwood. "I think that two-party government is by far the best."

Dr. Hugh A. Stevenson, a labor member in the late Drury government, was of the opinion that Premier Ferguson was storing up a great deal of trouble for himself by his high-handed action in ignoring the Farmer party.

"The premier ought to give the Farmers a chance," stated Dr. Stevenson. "The Farmer movement is not finished by any means, and the government will find it all too soon for its own well being. It is an insult that the Farmers will not be slow to forget."

Farmers Object. Among the visitors to the fair today several U. F. O. adherents showed up, and when questioned as to their views on the high-handed manner in which Ferguson is piloting the province, they were unanimous in the reply that this time Ferguson is going too far. If opposition during the coming session, were unanimous in the reply that this time Ferguson is going too far. If opposition during the coming session, were unanimous in the reply that this time Ferguson is going too far.

"It bears out what the U. F. O. has always contended, that the Conservatives and Liberals are very near alike, in reality just the 'ins' and 'outs.' The U. F. O. are the second largest party in the government and are still the biggest opposition party. If Ferguson does not already know this, he is in a fair way to find out."

Duncan and Peter Johnston, prominent anti-Fergusonists, were very near unanimous in their opinion that Ferguson's recent ultimatum, say that it will undoubtedly rebound like a boomerang and hit him in the end. Of course there are some who believe that Ferguson is a Conservative-Conservative.

"Queer Business." Peter Johnston says: "If Ferguson is trying to work up a friendly feeling between his party and the Liberals, this is his business. I am not going to the biggest opposition in the house to gain this end, he is taking rather queer course. Does he think for a moment that he can expect to make any headway after stirring up animosity which an insult like this can create? I think it is the most tactless move ever made by a political party in this province, and it yet remains to be seen whether Ferguson can, on his own initiative, say which group shall be termed the official opposition."

Stanley Merrill, of Delaware, who confessed to being formerly a Liberal, but now a U. F. O. declared: "The farmers are just as good as any of them. It doesn't seem quite fair. It isn't right at all. Of course there is no harm in talk of it out here."

The Advertiser Will Give Round by Round Bulletins and Reports by Telephone on the Big Fight Tonight

Tonight Firpo of South America meets Dempsey of North America for the fighting championship of the world.

They meet in New York. By special telegraph wires The Advertiser has arranged for the most rapid service possible and it is hoped that the story of the fight, round by round, will be in The Advertiser office a few minutes after each blow is struck.

The Advertiser will bulletin the progress of the fight round by round—a complete running story—and will give a telephone service until midnight. You are invited to take advantage of either source of information. First reports should come over the wire by nine o'clock.

Representing The Advertiser at the ringside will be Robert Edgren, W. O. McGeehan, and Wilbur Wood, famous sporting writers; W. A. Davenport, the novelist, who will write a description of the crowd, and Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, who will analyze the fight.

Firpo and Dempsey will both dictate their versions of the battle for The Advertiser after they leave the ring.

The Advertiser is covering the fight from every angle. Watch the bulletins and see the sporting pages tomorrow.

ALD. WILSON ADVOCATES $3000 SALARY FOR BENNETT

Assessment Commissioner Bennett's salary should be placed at $3,000, in accordance with a recommendation to that effect from the city council, argues Ald. W. A. Wilson.

WILL SELL DOMINION SAVINGS BUILDING BY AUCTION

LONDON'S LARGEST OFFICE BUILDING TO GO BY AUCTION

Dominion Savings Building Will Be Disposed Of On October 15.

COST NEARLY $100,000

On October 15, the Dominion Savings building on Richmond street will be sold by auction by Fred Genaux acting for the Canada Trust Company who is disposing of the assets of the Dominion Savings and Loan Company in the course of their efforts to obtain the greatest value for the stockholders of the defunct company who are now relying on them to act as their trustees in the matter.

The Dominion Savings building on Richmond street is the largest and one of the most up-to-date and imposing office buildings in the city, containing as it does some 40 offices which are rented by about 58 tenants. The present building which is absolutely fire proof, was rebuilt after the fire in the spring of 1914 by John Hayman and Sons and John Furdum, according to the plans supplied by W. G. Moore, the architect. There are several important offices on the ground floor of the building. On Richmond street from north to south are the following: Peels Toy Store, the C. P. R. Telegraph, the Canadian National Express, Nolan's Cigar Store, Dambra the optician, the Canadian National Telegraph, Jack Brennan, barber, and Johnston and Ward, stockbrokers.

On King street Johnston and Ward are a clothing and a boot store and the office of the Singer Sewing Machine Company. Facing the market square from south to north are the offices of the 9th division court, F. Highway, harnessmaker, the offices of the 1st division court, the Canadian National Express Company, and the back of Peels Toy Store.

The building is decorated on the outside with several plaques of well known Londoners and of highway artists, sculptors and men of letters. Going down Richmond street one sees the following heads from the north end of the building to the corner of King street. First there is Robert Stephenson, the inventor of the steam engine; then there is a fine bust of the late Queen Victoria; and next to it another of late King Edward, her son; then there comes Franklin, the great American scientist, followed by Christopher Columbus. The two last heads are those of Raphael and Rubens, the painters.

On King street, the head of Walter Scott; the Hon. David Milne; Nick Wilson, the best remembered of London's early schoolmasters; F. B. Lees, and Mollere the violent Frenchman. On the corner of King and the market is a plaque of Rossini. These were all included in the architect's plans when the present building was built at the request of T. H. Purdom, former Masonic site.

The history of the building is intimately bound up with the history of all the prominent masonic in London at the time of its inception.

According to the deed of sale in the registry office the original building, which was financed by the Masonic Temple Company, was held in trust by Robert Lewis, George S. Birrell and Herman Watermann. On June 1, 1881, a deed of possession was made over to the Masonic Temple Company who thereby became owners of the first building which included the Opera House, with its front doors opening on to King street.

The architect was George F. Durand, a London man who was then practicing in Albany, N. Y., and who was a brother of Andrew Durand, owner of the old saw mills which

Bans All Nurses with Bobbed Hair

Associated Press Despatch. London, Sept. 14.—Bobbed hair, which is rapidly passing out here, is getting a few kicks to help it along its way. The latest comes from Manchester Hospital where all nurses have been ordered to allow their hair to grow; in the future no young lady with short locks will be allowed to look after the patients.

stood on the ground now occupied by the Public Library. The building was erected at a cost of between $75,000 and $100,000 and when it was erected and in operation as a going concern the board of directors finding that it was difficult to maintain, organized a lottery to raise the extra money needed.

This scheme produced some $60,000 and they were in pretty good shape when the attorney general stepped in with the information that they were conducting an illegal device. Accordingly the money was disposed of by buying property in Winnipeg which the Masonic Temple Company held for some years. Later on a Masonic benefit scheme which was organized incurred a debt which the board were not able to meet, and in an endeavour to set things right the property in the west was sold. On August 5, 1920 the building was purchased by the Dominion Savings and Loan Company who owned it until their failure last year.

Fires have visited the Dominion Savings building on two occasions. In 1900 a fire swept through the northeast corner and necessitated a partial rebuilding and later in the spring of 1914 the whole building was gutted by a fire that cleaned off every office above the ground floor.

A coincidence is that in both fires the ground floor on the southeast corner was left untouched. This corner was occupied by a retail liquor store. In neither fire was it damaged by fire or water. W. G. Moore, the architect who drew up the plans of the present building, states that it is absolutely fireproof and that the brick walls run right from the basement to the top, which in turn is covered by a six-inch coating of concrete rendering the building fireproof and isolating any fire occurring in a private office to that one room. The cornerstone of the building which is on Richmond street, bears an inscription saying that it was laid on August 5, 1880. It bears the Masonic symbol of the compass and the square. On October 1 the hammer of the auctioneer will resound within its walls and the bidding of prospective buyers will echo round the halls. Seldom is a property of this size and value offered in this manner in London and it marks another stage in the history of a building in the city which more than any other is associated with prominent Londoners of the eighties.

Speaking of Food!

—If you are one of many some helpful suggestions people to whom a reducing diet has become a necessity you will find in the articles on the provision page of this edition covering selection, uses and preparation of foods.

WILL BE SOLD BY AUCTION.

The Dominion Savings building, corner of Richmond and King streets, will be offered for sale by public auction on Oct. 15. The building will be put up for public sale by the Canada Trust Company, who have charge of winding up the affairs of the Dominion Savings Company, which became defunct some months ago. Its assets were taken over at the time by the Canada Trust Company and Huron & Erie Mortgage Corporation. The sale is being made so that depositors in the savings company may realize as much as possible from the assets. The building is the largest office structure in the city.

slippery and muddy, but that did not prevent two thrilling harness races being held.

The London street railway is to be commended, directors say, for the splendid service it has rendered since the exhibition opened. All the ancient chariots of old have been requisitioned and the sturdy way in which they bore up under the strain of carrying hundreds of people proves they have lost little of the old pep.

Guardians of the several entrances to the Fair have been offered every sort of "pass" imaginable by persons desirous of seeking admission without going through the formality of paying for it. Milk tickets, bread tickets and even pawn tickets have been presented, but shrewd custodians of the golden gate have seldom been known to allow the would-be exhibition guest to pass the portals without handing over the customary fee. Gangs of hoodlums have been known to storm the entrance and pass through successfully, but this has only occurred once or twice, according to officials.

Pageant Tonight.

The big feature of the evening's program is the spectacular pageant, representing the growth and progress of Western Ontario. Four hundred amateur actors will take part and tableaux of extraordinary magnificence will be presented. The early pioneer days of civilization in this district and historical presentations of the habits and tribal life of Canada's original owners will here be offered. The hardships with which early settlers were confronted, the birth of London, and development of the city since its foundation in 1826, shall be reproduced in a remarkable series of living pictures, for which their participants have rehearsed and practiced many weeks.

Never in the history of this city has a pageant of equal educational interest and scenic gorgeousness been attempted, and citizens are expected to turn out in thousands for the purpose of witnessing the splendid performance.

The meeting of the Fair directorate this morning was another signal for general congratulations. In the past bad weather has had a singularly depressing effect on attendance records at the Fair, but this year citizens appear to be actuated with a spirit of "do it or die" so far as attending the exhibition is concerned. Tuesday's, Wednesday's, Thursday's and today's unfavorable weather has not proven the drawback anticipated, and officials of the Fair are naturally jubilant.

Many new ideas and suggestions were offered by directors as a result of the gratifying success met with since the opening, and 1924 will be an even larger and better equipped affair, they predict, than this year. They are inclined to attribute the unprecedented attendance to the added attractions in the Manufacturers' Building. The high quality of the Midway and grandstand performances demonstrated that Londoners and visitors will spend their money freely if they believe the attractions worth while.

A band will be in operation the greater part of this afternoon and the Midway will be going as usual. Several children reported at the Nursing Division headquarters who had strayed from their escorts, and these were rapidly returned to the adults who accompanied them. No serious accidents have been registered, the activities of the nurses being exclusively confined to patching up minor injuries.

RUMOR HAS IT ALFONSO ASSASSINATED IN SPAIN

Special Cable to The Advertiser.

London, Sept. 14.—The Paris correspondent of the Central News Agency telegraphed today that a rumor was in circulation in the French capital and Milan saying the King of Spain had been assassinated. The correspondent added that no information was available whereby the rumor could be confirmed or denied.

CLAIM PEOPLE OF CORFU THINK PATRON SAINT AGGRY

Associated Press Despatch.

Corfu, Sept. 14.—Inhabitants of Corfu attribute another miracle to their revered St. Spiridon whose body, entombed in the cathedral here, is exposed periodically at various religious functions and carried in procession through the town.

There is now a general belief among the common people that the Saint has locked himself up in his casket because he is angered at the occupation of the town by the Italians.

Another "Big" Addition To London's Population

"Mamie," She of Generous Avoirdupois, Weighing 703, Will Stay Here.

LEAVES TENT SHOW

Husband Gets Job in Silverwood's. So Mrs. Wilson Decides To Quit Road.

Mamie, the fattest woman in the world, is going to make her home in London. Mrs. Joseph Wilson, as she is known in private life, has decided to leave the Johnny J. Jones show tonight and with her husband live in the Forest City, where Mr. Wilson has secured employment with Silverwoods, Limited.

After ten years on exhibition, Mamie has finally decided to quit the show business, at least for a while. Although she has made her home in the States since she was 10 years of age, she picked London as the city which nearest approaches her memories of England. She was born in the County of Yorkshire to an exact.

Mrs. Wilson has had a varied career in exhibition life. She has exhibited 10 years ago in Missouri, where her parents made their home in the States since she was 10 years of age. From that time to the present she has travelled all over the United States, and although this is the first time she has been in London, she told The Advertiser this morning that she was very much in love with it, but did not know how she would like the city.

"Yes," she said in response to a query, "I like Canada, and there is no doubt but that I will be quite contented in London. That is, until next year, when I may again join the show people."

Seated in the tent where she is on exhibition, Mamie told about herself.

Only Mammoth in Family. "I was born in Yorkshire (I won't tell you how many years ago), and when I was 10 years of age, there came a big crowd of boys in the family, and we were all brought up together. When I was in my teens I started getting large, until I finally reached the awful weight of 703 pounds, when some enterprising showman offered to place me in a museum."

"My five sisters are all small and do not weigh over 150 pounds, while my brothers are not abnormal. I am the latest of six children, and my coincidence my father's mother, who weighed 250 pounds, was the smallest of six, so that I, therefore, get my weight honestly."

"I have been on exhibition in all the biggest museums across the line since 1896. I have been in the Philadelphia Museum, Philadelphia; the Harlequin Museum, London; and the Museum of the City of New York, New York."

Mr. Wilson, who formerly lived here for nine years, has also been in the show business off and on for a great number of years, having started in 1896. He worked for Silverwoods when he was here before, and renounced when a namesake of his was arrested and put on trial in police court, that The Advertiser printed a notice denying that he was the one concerned. Since that time he has always read the paper whenever he has been able to secure it.

Undoubtedly London will join in wishing Mamie and her husband well in their sojourn in the city.

STATES RETIREMENT WILL NOT HURT COUNCIL

Ald. McKay Declares Young's Action Does Not Forecast Collapse.

Fred Young's retirement as treasurer of the Trades and Labor Council will not mean the collapse of that organization, according to Ald. Frank McKay, who gave the assurance today that Delegate Young need not worry on that score.

"And neither should Secretary Burke worry," adds Ald. McKay. "I don't think that Fred Young knows anything of what he speaks or what the trades council will do. There'll be a re-examination of just the same, even if both of them leave."

Ald. McKay insists that the fight is not a political manoeuvre, but confined strictly among the members of the trades union movement. No complaint has been registered or any action taken by the political branch of the labor movement, he states.

Obituaries

MRS. R. M. GAFFRAY. Special to The Advertiser. Samia, Sept. 14.—The death occurred last evening at her summer home, Lake Huron shore, of Mrs. R. M. Gaffray of Windsor, aged 58 years. For many years she had summered here, and is particularly well known. She is survived by her husband and one daughter, Mrs. Harry Pendergast of Windsor. The funeral will be held at Kitchener, Saturday.

JOSEPH CARTIER. The funeral took place this morning of Joseph Cartier, who died Wednesday. The cortege left the house of Michael Cartier, son of the deceased, 197 Bruce street, at 8:30 for St. Martin's Church where requiem high mass was sung by Rev. Father Forster. At the interment, which was made in St. Peter's Cemetery, Father Forster took the service also. The pallbearers were W. Casey, W. Groom, P. Hurley, S. Amoro, Mr. Gibbs and Mr. Hanlon.

ADVISES STILL LOWER FAIR ENTRANCE FEE

Dr. Hugh Stevenson Advocates Cutting Admission Friday and Saturday.

Dr. Hugh A. Stevenson, ex-M. L. A. for London, thinks that attendance figures at the Western Fair on Friday and Saturday would be greatly boosted if the admission fee was placed at three tickets for 50 cents.

"Many of the citizens do not get paid until Friday or Saturday," said Dr. Stevenson, "and consequently they attend the Fair only on those days. Not only that, but many people are entertaining friends and relatives during the early part of the week, and the wife spends most of her time in the kitchen preparing meals for the visitors, who generally return home after a two days' visit."

"The Fair, after all is said and done, is merely an advertising affair, and the manner in which it is conducted the greater will be the success of the exhibition."

The city council is to be commended for the manner in which it insisted that the admission price be fixed at 25 cents this year. This action has increased the attendance wonderfully, as I predicted it would. The three tickets for 50 cents on the last days would increase the attendance even more so."

CITY HALL BALL TEAM WILL PLAY L. & P. S. STARS

The famous city hall players (baseball) have not retired for the season. "Home Run" Garratt, the manager, in an exclusive interview with The Advertiser today announced that they would play a return match next week with the L. & P. S. stars. The new manager was quite optimistic and plans already for several football games during the fall.

CITY MEN AND FARMERS COMMENT ON FERGUSON

We didn't expect such action. It came quite unexpectedly." Noel H. Gibson, of Komoka, had no opinion to express. He explained he had just arrived back in Ontario a short time ago, and had not followed Ontario politics well enough to give his views on the matter.

"Doesn't Seem Fair." J. H. Batten of Wilton Grove was one of the latter. He declared he had not followed the political situation for two months, and would not offer an opinion on the spur of the moment, as he had not gone thoroughly into all phases of the question. James Burford, who resides in Elgin County, south of St. Thomas, declared he had not followed politics for some time, and consequently, not being versed in political affairs, would not express an opinion.

"There are others who are better versed in politics than I am," declared J. V. Hogarth of Crediton. "However, I think Premier Ferguson will regret his move. I think there is a place for all parties. I don't think he should be turned down. It doesn't seem fair. Farmers as well as others, put Mr. Ferguson there. I will admit the farmers were badly beaten at the last election, but that is no reason why they should be treated this way."

EXTINGUISH SMALL BLAZE.

The fire department had a call to the home of J. P. Dewar, 363 Waterloo street, at 10:30 o'clock this morning to put out a blaze started on the roof by a spark from the chimney. The damage was slight.

You Can Choose Every Day In the Best-Ad Contest

Which is the best advertisement appearing in The Advertiser this week? The Advertiser wants to find out and the decision is being left to the public, because, of course, all advertisements are written to appeal to the public. One hundred dollars are being given in prizes for the best letters received here in The Advertiser Office before 6 o'clock next Monday, naming the best ad and giving reasons for the choice. Five judges will award these prizes.

|-----------------|--------|
| FIRST PRIZE | - $50 |
| SECOND PRIZE | - $25 |
| THIRD PRIZE | - $10 |
| FOURTH PRIZE | - $5 |
| and Five Others | - $2 |

There's nothing very complicated about the contest. Here are the only points to remember:

1. Any Ad appearing in The Advertiser this week may be chosen.
2. You may choose your best Ad and write a letter every day or as often as you like.
3. Your reasons for liking the Ad you pick may be based either on features of appearance or of contents.

ASSERT BRITAIN PREFERS WAR IN SOUTH EUROPE

Diplomats' Efforts Become Apparent as Air Clears Around Corfu.

FIUME DISPUTE OVER?

By HAL O'FLAHERTY.

Special Cable to The London Advertiser
and Chicago Daily News. Copyright.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—While British diplomacy has remained in the background during the heated dispute over Mussolini's angry demands upon Greece and Jugo-Slavia, its efforts are becoming more apparent as the atmosphere clears.

Lord Crewe, in Paris has undoubtedly calmed Mussolini's rampant temper by firmly demanding assurances that Italy would evacuate Corfu by the end of the month. Throughout the controversy Great Britain has insisted upon moderation, finally using a veiled threat to prevent a rupture of peace in Southern Europe.

The same method is being used in seeking a solution of the Fiume situation. In this matter as in the occupation of Corfu British diplomacy has stood firmly against Mussolini's methods. Experts have examined carefully all documents relating to the negotiations for establishing the boundary of the Free State of Fiume and have failed to find in them any excuse for Mussolini's ultimatum to the Jugo-Slav government.

Realizing the danger of offering Mussolini any pretext whatever for offensive action against Jugo-Slavia, both Great Britain and France have urged the Jugo-Slav government to keep all troops away from the Italian frontier. As the situation stands today, Mussolini has no grounds upon which to resort to war. It is believed here that a peaceful solution of the Fiume boundary question is now only a matter of a few days.

PARIS, Sept. 14.—Italy's promise to evacuate Corfu on September 27 or earlier, made through Baron Azevni, her representative on the Council of Ambassadors, came as a surprise to most observers here and the war clouds which had been gathering over the Balkans this week will open much of their terror through this action.

Italy's change of front resulted from pressure brought to bear upon her from the British and French in Paris. Great Britain and France finally had drawn together and formed a united front in the Council of Ambassadors with Jugo-Slavia and France representative, supporting Lord Crewe against Baron Azevni.

In addition Britain is reported to have hinted to Italy that she was obliged to share in the occupation of Corfu if Italy did not withdraw.

But more important than this was the menace to Italy's prestige in the situation. Premier Mussolini had called on Serbia to accept Italian control over the much disputed Adriatic port. Serbia had refused. The time limit set for a solution of the deadlock expired on September 15. Had the Corfu problem not been solved by that date, Italy would have had Jugo-Slavia and Greece united in arms against her, not to speak of Czechoslovakia and Rumania, allies of Serbia.

CANNOT USE U.S. NAVY TO ENFORCE DRY LAW

Attorney-General Daugherty Declares Express Authorization of Congress Necessary.

Associated Press Despatch.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Except in an emergency, the use of the U.S.
navy for enforcement of prohibition processes of enforcement impotent, which was held not to exist, the United States navy is not authorized in enforcing prohibition without the express authorization of congress.

Attorney-General Daugherty has ruled in an opinion on the question submitted to President Coolidge.

The attorney-general's opinion, published today, states that the negative brief questions submitted by the late President Harding last spring in asking for a ruling on the matter.
The opinion held there was no authorizing emergency because, although there have been numerous violations of the prohibition laws, there have been no unlawful obstructions of the functions of the courts or the executive agencies in enforce-ing the law.

GERMAN GOVERNMENT
CANCELS RUHR CREDITS

Endeavor to Influence French Opinion Before Poincare Speaks Sunday.

By HIRAM K. MODERWELL.

and Chicago Daily News. Copyright.

BERLIN, Sept. 14.—The government today was quietly cancelling Ruhr credits and withdrawing ordinances relative to passive resistance. This will not be published widely, but will be allowed gradually to penetrate the nation's consciousness. The government must spare German feelings because of the internal situation.

The purpose of this action is to influence French opinion before Poincare speaks Sunday. In the hope that Premier Poincare's Sunday speech will open the way to the formal German note on Monday. This note is already being drafted, and would have been sent today had the French reception of Premier Stresemann's Wednesday speech been more favorable.

For internal consumption the government will represent that passive resistance has always been a spontaneous affair of the Ruhr population, which will continue if they wish.
Actually, whole leadership has been given over to trade union leaders in the Ruhr, and they will undoubtedly continue some form of passive resistance until the occupation is modified if they can find a way to do so without absolutely starving.

Boxing Experts
Choose Dempsey
To Win The Fight

More Than 90,000 Persons Will Witness Championship Bout Tonight.

TICKETS SELL HIGH

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, Sept. 14.—When Jack Dempsey and Luis Angel Firpo step into a brilliantly-lighted arena at the Polo Grounds at 8:30 o'clock tonight, they will be watched by a crowd of more than 90,000 persons, some of whom have come all the way from Buenos Aires.

More than $1,000,000 will have been collected by Tex Rickard, who has arranged the details for the struggle.
Half of this amount will go to the fighters, 37 1/2 per cent to Dempsey and the remaining 12 1/2 per cent to Firpo. The rest goes to Mr. Rickard.

Some of the spectators have paid $27.50 for seats; others will pay $3.50 when the gates are opened at 4:30 o'clock. Still others have paid $150 to speculate. It was said.

The actual time Dempsey and Firpo will be fighting each other cannot exceed 45 minutes. The bout is scheduled to last fifteen rounds of three minutes each, with a one-minute rest between rounds.

Most of the prediction of this sort came from those who think Dempsey will win. They are mustering a furious attack from the start with the result that Firpo will be knocked down at the end of the first round and unable to rise before the count of 10.
Many others think differently.

Firpo faces his ordeal without the backing of the United States. Vially of them expect him to be floored by Dempsey.

Jack Dempsey escaped from the curious stares of admirers who followed him around wherever he went in the Hotel Belmont, where he was staying last night. He slid quietly out a back entrance and went to spend the night in the apartment of his wife.

After a good long sleep he got up this morning and went for a short walk through the park with Mike Tran, Chicago detective and a local bosom friend. The detective has been close to Dempsey during every one of his fights for several years.

Will Cost Billions

Calgary, Sept. 14.—"I have been unable to find out up to date who authorized the rumor that I had declared that I had absolutely no knowledge of it until I saw it in the newspapers," declared A. R. Mosher, position at the convention which opens here Monday.

C. H. Michen, reported to be Mosher's possible rival for the presidency nomination, also stated that he did not know whence the report came.

SPANISH ARMY REMAINS Loyal TO KING ALFONSO

Declaration of Fidelity to the Monarch Minimizes Danger of Civil War.

MAUL COMMUNISTS

By WILLIAM E. NASH.

and Chicago Daily News. Copyright.

PARIS, Sept. 14.—The most significant thing about the military pronouncement of revolution in Spain is so far as prominent Spaniards here can judge from reports, is its declaration of fidelity to the king. This minimizes the gravity of the situation, removes most of the danger of civil war, and brands the movement as a nationalist affair, similar in certain ways to the Fascist movement in Italy. Had the insurrectionist called out for a republic, then mischief would have been afoot with all manner of possible complications, domestic and foreign, say the writer's Spanish informants. The nationalist character of the coup d'etat at Barcelona is strongly marked.

In the first place it is the army that engineered it. Second, it is not a conservative politician and military man, Primo de Rivera, Marquis de Estella, and captain-general of Cata-lunia, who supposedly is leading it.
Third, Communists and Socialists are reported to have been roughly used in the streets.

Again, the army is "known to be centralist and anti-separatist in its tendencies, and is opposed to any movement for autonomy in Catalonia.
Expect Little Resistance.

Little or no resistance is expected by the revolutionaries. If the whole army favors the coup, as is indicated by latest reports, then the government of Premier de Alhucemas can do nothing but submit.

Although essentially a military affair, organized by Juntas, which have long been disgruntled, the revolt seems to have with it large share of public opinion in Spain. The recent Moroccan disasters lowered greatly the prestige of the civil government at Madrid. Internally, the coup d'etat probably will lead to the imprisonment and trial of politicians belonging to the unhappy Alhucemas cabinet, but to little else. No program of drastic reform is in sight
yet. Executions such as those which shook Greece after the fall of King Constantine, are regarded as unlikely.

Discuss Morocco.

It is in foreign politics that the greatest change is expected. No nationalist movement in Spain could possibly neglect the problem of Morocco. The international situation, the Straits of Gibraltar, which is claimed by France, Spain and Great Britain, and the Moroccan chieftain, who is a powerful force in the FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1923.

Where Mr. Ferguson Went Wrong.
Premier Ferguson's intimation that he will not recognize the U. F. O. as a political party in the Ontario Legislature makes interesting reading. The premier apparently bases his move on the fact that prior to the time of the last government only two parties were recognized in the Ontario House.

The view taken by Hon. Mr. Drury was that when he had a larger following than either of the two old parties in Ontario he would recognize them both, and made provision for a salary allowance for each leader of a group of over 15 members. So it was that when he had a following of 44 U. F. O. and 11 Labor members he recognized Hon. Mr. Ferguson as leader of the Conservatives and Mr. Wellington Hay as leader of the Liberals. That was the fair and reasonable thing to do.

Premier Ferguson, in taking what is undoubtedly drastic action, fails to recognize one cardinal point—that the electors themselves have first recognized the 20 members who were returned as U. F. O. representatives. It was the voice and vote of a large number of the farming population of Ontario that put these men back into the legislature. Now the leader of the Conservative party says in effect that he will put to one side the expressed wish of these people. They can take their seats, of course, but after that they must wander as Ishmaelites because they can have no leader who will be recognized as such.

Hon. Mr. Ferguson has not yet arrived at the stage where, by a wave of the hand, he can say to any group of 20 members: "You do not exist." The U. F. O. group in the Ontario House does exist, and Mr. Ferguson will find it out.

Moreover, Mr. Ferguson, when leading a minority group in the legislature, did not hesitate to take to himself the prerogatives of a complete majority when he set his hand to the work of blocking the passage of such legislation as the redistribution bill. He had been recognized as the leader of a minority group in the house, and this recognition he mistook for license to ride all over the premises.

A parallel situation exists at Ottawa, where the Conservatives are the smallest group in the chamber, yet Hon. Arthur Meighen is recognized as leader of that group, and as leader of the opposition, as far as the salary is concerned. He could not have claimed the latter right had it not been that Hon. T. A. Crerar at the very first opportunity made it clear that he was not going to press the advantage of his numerical strength to the disadvantage of Mr. Meighen. The speaker at Ottawa recognizes Mr. Meighen as leader of the Conservatives and Mr. Robert Forke as leader of the Progressives. One could hardly picture Hon. Mr. King as saying to Mr. Forke: "I have decided not to recognize you any longer. If a man is not Liberal or Conservative he does not exist as far as this house is concerned."

Hon. Mr. Ferguson has been poorly advised, or else, if he has acted on his own initiative, his bump of reason and toleration has been ironed out to give place to one of high-handed egotism. The premier has very unwisely placed himself in an impossible position.

A Problem Worth Solving.

Hon. John S. Martin, Ontario's minister of agriculture, was right when he admitted that farmers, under present circumstances, could not compete in paying wages that are offered in the cities.

The former occupant of his position, Hon. Manning Doherty, realized the same thing, and believed that the cure rested largely in the hands of the farmers themselves.

An organization of farmers, bent on bringing the business of agriculture up to the point where it can operate on the basis of costs plus reasonable profits must not be looked upon by people in the cities as something that is out to raid the purses of the buyers.

It has been demonstrated a good many times that when the farmer has money on the right side of his account he is a very good spender. The business world is so thoroughly convinced of this that there is no room for an argument.

Hon. Manning Doherty had a plan well under way to organize producers in a number of lines with the idea of selling their produce to better advantage. It would be well were Mr. Martin to call Mr. Doherty in some day and talk the matter over. It might be found that much of the work done by Mr. Doherty would stand upon its merit. There has been a great deal of missionary work done in this section of Ontario, and there is no reason to believe that many of the agricultural producers are not now in sympathy with what Mr. Doherty was trying to work out.

Your Health: How To Keep Your Home Free From Disease Dangers

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.

In the annual report of the owners of a model building are some interesting statistics about tuberculosis. They are worth thinking about. This company has erected a building in which hundreds of women who go to business every day have visited the establishment and on one occasion talked to a group of the residents. On this account the living conditions and the type of people using them are familiar to me.

In the report, there is contrasted the health conditions of the sanitary district surrounding it with the conditions in the home itself. Living in that area are one hundred thousand people. The death rate from all causes last year was 13.6 to the thousand. Among the tenants of the home the mortality was only 7.7 per thousand.

The tuberculosis rate in the large area was 9.49 per thousand; in the model building there were only 2.62 cases of tuberculosis to the thousand. The conditions of poverty are conducive to disease and death. Bad and insufficient food, overcrowding, lack of ventilation and sunlight, discontent—all these are factors which bring sickness and early death. Tuberculosis thrives in such surroundings.

But disease is not entirely the result of poverty. Too often it comes from ignorance.

There is no doubt that living in a well-conducted community, a place where there are really community interests, is certain to bring about health-giving practices, such as the less fortunate dwellers in some tenement houses do not have.

For a long time I have preached the doctrine of making health contagious. If you do not know the rules of right living seek out somebody who does know them and then imitate your model.

In the modern and sanitary house where the working women live, there are leaders who influence and direct the others. In this particular home there is an intelligent matron, a trained nurse and a conscientious physician. Under such direction and leadership health is made contagious. More and more, towns, villages and even rural districts have their visiting nurses. It is their business, not to treat the sick, but to give instructions in those things which promote health and prevent disease.

Good housing is vital to good health and for protection against tuberculosis. Everybody should be trained in what it means to be well housed. Almost any dwelling can be made a sanitary dwelling, if thought and well directed efforts are applied to it.

Suppose we take occasion today or tomorrow to survey the home in which we live. Are there some changes which might be made? Are the windows, or in the location of the furniture with reference to sunlight and air, trifling changes but which might mean much in improved health?

Are you using for a parlor, decorated with your precious furniture, the best room in the house, which is seldom entered except for weddings and funerals? It might better be the kitchen where the women of the household spend long hours, or a bedroom where about half your time is spent. Look over your home and, if necessary, rearrange it, knowing now that tuberculosis and general disease are very greatly decreased by proper housing. So the Rector Did Not Leave.

The members of the Anglican Church at Blenheim had made arrangements to secure the services of a rector from Mitchell, and apparently everything was in shape for the transfer until the Mitchell people got busy and told their man in very plain words that they did not want him to go—in fact, they very much wanted him to stay.

The result is that he is going to stay, and it is a good guess that if he were an acceptable man before, he will be a better man for the position now.

Rectors, like other people, are human, and subject to moods, influences, and all other currents of thought and feeling.

It is an experience highly to be prized to have the people with whom you have been working gather around when you have decided to leave and present a case strong enough to cause a change of mind.

After all, appreciation is a mighty force in determining the actions of men, no matter if they are in the service of a church, a private company, or a municipality.

There is no man who fails to respond to a little pat on the back now and then, and a word of appreciation and kindly recognition for well rendered service is sweeter than the honeycomb and finer than pure gold.

Speeches East and Speeches West.

Speaking in Winnipeg, Mr. Meighen said: "We need a definite and final negation of all impertinent demands for public works of pre-war political nature."

Nicely put, and very high-sounding. Meaning, of course, that those who sought to have public works undertaken in their constituencies because it would strengthen their chances for re-election should be led off to the edge of the camp and shown the wilderness.

Unfortunately, though, that just about the time Mr. Meighen was speaking in Winnipeg Hon. Mr. Lapointe should be addressing an audience in Quebec and telling of Mr. Meighen coming at the head of a deputation from Prescott, in his own riding, asking for a million dollars' worth of public works.

It makes Mr. Meighen's speech look like a flat tire four and a half miles from the nearest garage.

A Display Well Worth While.

In the display of flowers at the Western Fair the dahlias probably stands out above the others. Many an amateur gardener who has considered he made quite a showing with his bed will have come to the conclusion that he knew nothing about it before.

There they are, big, little, tight, loose, white, pink, red, salmon, and what not. One of the values of such an exhibition lies in the force that makes a man say, "Just wait until next season—I'll show them what a dahlia bed looks like." And so he sets to work to get rid of his ordinary bulbs and into the class where they grow real flowers. These take no more room and no more time.

Once a man succeeds in having a good showing of any kind of flowers he's very apt to become a confirmed horticulturist.

Why Design or Build Them?

The inquiry into the disaster at the Wawa summer hotel fire ought to provide a little serious thought for men who plan and build such places.

Fire protection, at best, is not the greatest thing at a summer hotel. The places are too inflammable. Chief concern should be for getting the people out, and a style of architecture that does not provide for this is bad, no matter what other artistic qualities it may have.

Builders and architects have a stake in this matter that may never be touched on or mentioned at an inquest. It is there, just the same, pertinent and pointed.

The big question of a fire at these summer places is not how are you going to save the property, but how are you going to get the people out.

Note and Comment.

One U. S. railroad sues motorists who run into its trains or engines at level-crossings. Damages are generally collected from the estate.

Jack Dempsey has bought a place on Long Island for $65,000, and is going to break into society. The Ottawa Journal wonders if the 400 there will be brave enough to snub him.

A magistrate west of here, trying a still case, described the product as "wild stuff." That magistrate is a diplomat, otherwise he would have said, "Is this the stuff they were making?"

Mr. McMullen has returned to Kingston, but his four friends are making a more extended visit in the country. The warden has not been informed whether they intend to use their apartments this winter or not.

Port Elgin Times complains that motorists use the sidewalks there for driving cars on. There are some roads in London that would make such a practice a delight, but no one seems to have had the nerve to try it yet.

My Friend

By ANNE CAMPBELL.

I have one friend on earth I know
One good, dependable and trusted friend,
If I need sympathy she comes right through,
And will I know, until the journey's end.

Her eyes have never looked into my own
With aught but kindness in their loving gaze,
And never once by an unfriendly tone
Has she brought sorrow to my tranquil days.

She loves me well, this only friend
Of mine,
And in a sweet companionship we jog,
She wags her tail, and how her brown eyes shine,
When I come home to her—my collie dog!

DUTTON WILL HAVE LESS TO PAY FOR STREET LIGHTS

Special to The Advertiser.

Dutton, Sept. 13.—According to a communication received from W. W. Pope, secretary of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, the rates for domestic and commercial lighting and power are to remain unchanged here, but the cost of the street lights is reduced from $12 to $11, taking effect as from January last. This will result in a saving of $200 per year on Dutton's street lamps.

FOUR WALLACEBURG LADS CHARGED WITH STEALING

Special to The Advertiser.

Wallaceburg, Sept. 13.—Three young lads were brought before Magistrate Caracellan, charged with housebreaking and stealing. Crown Attorney D. H. Smith prosecuted, and Frank Appleby watched the case on behalf of the Children's Aid Society. All three pleaded guilty and one was remanded, pending arrangements to send him back to the Industrial School from which he ran away some time ago. The other two lads were remanded to the Chatham Jail until Monday, when they will be brought back for sentence.

Another young lad was charged with stealing money on several occasions from Adam's Bakery, and was remanded until Thursday, pending further investigation of his case.

The Guide Post—By Henry van Dyke

CHOOSE YOUR PORT—THEN LAY YOUR COURSE.

It was determined that we should sail for Italy—Acts xviii, 1.
A captain should have a clear idea of what port he is to reach before he attempts to lay his course and determine his manner of sailing.

All these minor questions of ways and means must come afterwards. They depend on circumstances. They change with the seasons.

There are many paths to the same end. One may be best today. Another may be best tomorrow. The wind and the tide make a difference. One way may be best for you, another way for me.

The build of the ship must be taken into consideration. A flat-bottomed craft does best in the shallow water, along shore. A deep keel is for the open sea.

But before we make up our minds how to steer from day to day, we must know where we are going in the long run. Then we can shape our course to fit our purpose. We can learn how to meet emergencies as they arise. We can change our direction to avoid obstacles and dangers.

If we keep the thought of our desired haven clearly before us, all the other points can be more easily and wisely settled; and however devious and difficult the voyage may be, it will be a success when we get there.

How to Keep a Child Healthy

A GENERATION ago parents thought that sickness was a part of a child's life, but we know better now. The secret is in the food the mother allows the child to eat, and in watching that elimination occurs regularly two or three times a day. Mrs. W. E. Margeson, Centreville, N. S., and Mrs. Pratt, 45 Gillson Ave., Runnymede, Toronto, always keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin in the house, ready for use, and avoid many of the ills to which children are subject.

A Substitute for Physics.
Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a scientific compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and suitable aromatics. The formula is on every package. You will find it true. It has to be for children to take it, and it is much better for them than castor oil, calomel or cool-tar drugs like phenolphthalein even if covered with sugar or chocolate. Laxative Syrup Pepsin is mild and gentle action and your child will have an easy passage without gripping or strain. It does not contain narcotics, and you can give it with absolute safety to an infant at the breast.

Every store that sells medicines sells Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, and the cost is less than a cent a dose. Give half a teaspoonful to any ailing baby or child at night when you put it to bed and you will find a happy, laughing youngster in the morning. Take Laxative Syrup Pepsin yourself when constipated, and give it to any member of the family young or old, for any ailment due to constipation, such as biliousness, headache, lack of appetite, sleeplessness, bad breath, cankers, fever, sores, indigestion, and to break up fevers and colds. Stop that first sneeze or sniffle and you will have a healthy winter.

Search of 22 Years Ended Successfully

"Yes, sir, it's a fact. Four years ago Tanlac relieved me of troubles of twenty-two years' standing so completely that I haven't had a sick day since." is the remarkable statement of Lorne Johnston, R. F. D. No. 2, Lambeth, Ont., well-known farmer.

"I had asthma so bad I had to go to an open window all during the night in order to breathe. My eyes were watery and inflamed, and my head all stuffed up. In having time I suffered agony, and often couldn't even go into the fields. My stomach couldn't harness a horse at times. I spent money enough to buy a good tractor, and was terribly discouraged.

But now I never have a touch of asthma or hay fever, and my head is clear as a bell. My stomach is in fine condition; my nerves steady. I eat like a wolf, am strong as an ox, and can pitch hay with anybody. Tanlac has been a godsend to me."

BIG MOGULS LIKELY FOR LONDON DIVISION

Supt. Fish of Ontario Lines Expects Monster C. N. R. Engines For District.

That large passenger engines of the "6000" type would in all probability be placed in service on the Canadian National Lines west of Toronto within the very near future, was the statement made to The Advertiser last night by R. H. Fish, general superintendent of the Ontario lines, who stopped off in London overnight on his way from Detroit to Toronto.

Engine No. 6015, at present on exhibition at the Western Fair, is one of these latest models, and Mr. Fish explained that heretofore this type had been employed on mountainous routes and on fast limited runs, but that Londoners may hope to see them in the division before long.

The general superintendent was enthusiastic over the test performances of the big moguls, and spoke highly of their use where fast runs had to be made by heavy passenger. Sixteen of the most modern type have been completed to date, and their power has already proved their worth for passenger service. One of them is in regular service between Toronto and Montreal.

Commenting on the present situation of the government railways, Superintendent Fish declared that the eastern lines are experiencing an extremely heavy passenger and freight traffic, and that the future for the C. N. R. as a paying road looked exceedingly bright.

During his stay in London, Mr. Fish visited the Western Fair in company with Charles Forrester, superintendent of the London Division. He greatly enjoyed his tour of the exhibition, he said, and Londoners ought to be proud of the quality that has been attained in their annual show.

IN this painful malady nothing soothes and heals like herbal Zam-Buk. It speedily relieves the dull-gnawing pain and intense irritation; reduces swelling and inflammation and stops the bleeding.

Read the following proof!

"Eight years I was a victim to blind itching piles," says Mr. G. Lee, 85, Steiner St., Toronto. "I had tried almost everything in the way of ordinary ointments before I got Zam-Buk. This superbalm speedily relieved the terrible itching, and caused the protrusions to completely disappear. Piles have not troubled me for six months now."

Mrs. E. Boxall, 95, Scott Street, St. Thomas, Ont., writes: "I am glad to endorse the remarkable pain-soothing and healing qualities of Zam-Buk. Being for months a constant sufferer from bleeding Piles, I derived no permanent relief until I got Zam-Buk. All other piles sufferers should try this wonderful herbal balm." Use Zam-Buk also for abscesses, chaps, cold-sores, eczema, cuts, burns, scalds, ringworm, ulcers, poisoned wounds, and all sores and injuries. 50c. box, 3 for $1.25.

DUMBELLS EARN BETTER LAURELS

"Cheerio" Presents Overseas Company At Its Best Since Inception.

DELIGHTS AUDIENCE

The old Dumbell Company returned to the Grand Opera House last evening for a three-day engagement. As usual the S.R.O. sign was out early, and the number of disappointed people, who could not obtain admission at all, was large enough to provide a fair-sized audience in itself. It was the most successful opening any Dumbell revue has had in London. Tennyson once wrote something about a brook that went on and on forever. That tells the story of the Dumbells, except that Capt. Plunkett is sufficiently astute as a showman to provide a fresh bill of fare for his patrons each year. The "viands" may be the same, but the manner of serving is new. Thus it is, that while old favorites predominate in "Cheerio," the fifth annual revue presented under the Dumbell management, there is not a word or line in the production that has been carried over from former successes. Also the investment is, of anything, more gorgeous than before.

All the former favorites, headed by those perennials, Ross Hamilton and Al Plunkett, received such a rapturous welcome that there can be no doubt of their hold on their audiences—but, just by way of a prediction, keep your eyes on John Hagan. He is a new member of the company.

At the Movies Last Night

"The French Doll"

About the worst thing one can imagine happening to a vaudeville company is their arrival in a strange city without their all-important baggage. The Verna Hadsorth Company, who headline the program for the remainder of Fair Week at Loew's, found themselves in this unhappy predicament yesterday afternoon. Those portions of their act which were presented, however, gave sufficient guarantee that with full settings and costumes it would be in a position to command all sorts of satisfaction.

The remaining two acts were excellent. The two acrobatic dancers who opened the bill framed a splendid mood for the act which followed—comedians of an always popular type, with expert dancing and effective comedy. In conjunction with Mae Murray in one of her inimitable roles, they constituted a first-rate bill.

"The French Doll" gives Mae Murray ample opportunity to reveal in lavish effects. This dancing movie star has her own particular niche in the film hall of fame, and quite evidently no one is going to oust her from it. No one even dares imitate her. Her extravagant posing and her bizarre costumes are roundly rated by the critics as farcical, but even they admit that they sometimes en-

whose work is somewhat reminiscent of "Red" Newman, but executed with greater finesse and plainly evidencing a wider range of experience.

Provide Novel Opening.

There is a novel opening for "Cheerio" in a mammoth billboard is displayed against a dark background. Two ebony-hued billposters (Ben Allen and Jack Grace) are posing an eight-sheet advertising the show. After a suitable introductory verse, traps spelling the word "Dumbells" fall, disclosing the chorus. From that auspicious introduction, the scene changes to the lobby of the Grand Hotel, serving to present Pat Rafferty, Stan Bennett, Morley Plunkett, John Hagan, and Gordon Calder, who, with Ross Hamilton, carries the female impersonation end of the show, and other members in support.

In this a distinct hit is scored by Bennett and Morley Plunkett in their rendition of a parody on "Yes, We Have No Bananas," the parody being much of an improvement on the original. Pat Rafferty and Morley Plunkett also have a number, "Dirty Work," which carries a well while Calder and Hagan contribute a clever dancing turn.

"Too Many Girls" introduces Al Plunkett, who, with a delightful forerunner of a delightful cycle of new songs in which he is later heard. All his selections are well sung, but the one which caught the public fancy was "Oh Gee, Oh Gosh," a typical Plunkett song, done as he alone can do it with the infectious little Plunkett chuckle "neverythin' it is a worthy successor to his former hits.

Enter Ross Hamilton.

A quick change with appropriate lighting brings on Ross Hamilton, more strikingly charming than ever, and as in all his selections gorgeous, by gosh, Hamilton's songs are all well done, and his appearance—well, he is "Marjorie" of Biff Bing Bang memory, the most finished and altogether delightful female impersonation known to the modern stage.

Perhaps the finest Hamilton number is "The Life of a Rose," in which the appearance of the star alone is sufficient to cause the audience to sit tense in appreciation. This charming little selection has a delightful finale in which a huge vase discloses Gordon Calder posed as the rose girl, and with Hamilton making an unforgettable stage picture, Al Plunkett and Morley Plunkett contribute a duet number, "So We Go On," which could have continued indefinitely without satiating the audience.

A sketch, "Disorderly Room," billed as a near opera, and participated in by John Hagan, Stan Bennett, Morley Plunkett and Pat Rafferty, concludes the first part of the program. In this is introduced the only note reminiscent of the late war. Bennett as Col. Vere de Vere, looks as if he had stepped direct from the pages of Punch, Hagan as Sergeant Major Dubb, is a scream, while Rafferty and Morley Plunkett carry supporting roles adequately.

Captain Plunkett's overseas orchestra opens the second part. Such favorites as "Swinging Down the Line" and "Who's Sorry Now" are delightfully given. A piano solo by Fred Treener, from a musical standpoint, easily the gem of the evening, a novel setting of "Barney Google," ingeniously conceived, proves an effective finale, while a trip by the "Klondike" brothers, "Down By The Old Apple Tree," sends the audience into convulsions of mirth and appreciation.

Comedy and Patter.

A few minutes with Ben Allen and Jack Grace serve to introduce negro comedy and patter, in which these clever boys do well. Stan Bennett then sings his "Archibald" song—one of the outstanding hits of the production, in which Bennett's portrayal of the English Knut is splendid. Ross Hamilton and Al Plunkett in the numbers already referred to follow and score, while the program proper concludes with another skit, "O'Brien's Party," introducing Tom Lilly as O'Brien, Bennett as Lord Helopus, and Hagan as his man Matthias. These three carry the comedy and do it so well that the audience longs for more. Incident to the sketch, Al Plunkett, supported by the chorus, dressed in the uniform of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, introduces a patriotic number, and the curtain falls to the stirring strains of "O Canada."

But it is the spontaneity, the enthusiasm, and the delightful harmony of the whole production, that makes the Dumbells the most remarkable organization of the kind ever presented to the public. It was this that made for the initial success of the concert parties in France where the scenery was a minus quantity and the orchestral accompaniment often furnished by the wined whining of shells or the unforgettable pat pat of machinegun fire; it was the same spirit that caused theatrical managers in New York, Chicago and other large American cities to clamor for long Dumbell bookings and it still carries it to success today—making a performance by the Dumbells—no matter whether "Cheerio" or one of its illustrious predecessors—a thing from which to date time in matters of entertainment.

The Dumbells have no equals as entertainers. They are unique; they are wonderful; and in their latest effort are giving to the public the very best. Tonight and Saturday matinee and evening will afford the last opportunity of witnessing this masterpiece. You'll regret it if you miss it.

WILL CLOSE FAIR WITH OLD-TIME CARNIVAL NIGHT

Riot of Fun and Frivolity Will Begin at 6:30 o'Clock
Tomorrow Evening.

PARADE TO GROUNDS

Western Fair carnival night will be held tomorrow evening, when thousands of Londoners are expected to meet downtown and parade to the Western Fair grounds, where the last night of London's great exhibition will be spent in a riot of fun and frivolity.

Carnival night tomorrow will be a repetition of the hilarious nights of Old Boys' Week, when Londoners for three evenings went wild with ticklers, confetti and torpedoes. The masquerade will start from the corner of Wellington and Dundas streets at 6:30 o'clock. Led by the Forest City Flute Band, the procession of decorated floats and swarming people will storm the Fair grounds, where streamers and confetti galore will be given out.

Due to the wonderful success the celebrations of Old Boys' Week were, it was decided to stage a similar demonstration during Fair Week. It was Mayor Wenige's wish that the carnival should take place the last evening of the exhibition and that the great Fair should go out with the flourish of a huge demonstration.

Many unique stunts have been arranged for the merry-makers when they arrive at the Fair grounds on Saturday evening. Cash prizes for the most original and bizarre costumes will be awarded, but the novel competition for the evening will be for the best looking red-haired girl of the city.

When the best looking red-haired girl is announced by the judges at the completion of the competition she will receive her prize and will have her photograph taken free of charge. She will be proclaimed the queen of the carnival.

Other prizes for the most original float and out-of-the-ordinary comic costume will be given by the Western Fair board.

Leaving the downtown district in automobiles, the carnival procession will enter the Fair grounds at Dundas street entrance and will parade around the grounds and enter the grandstand, marching twice around the race track. Following the procession, the judging will take place in front of the new Manufacturers' Buildings, and the prizes will be awarded.

The parade and judging is expected to be over at eight o'clock, and then starts the round of movement. Ticklers, confetti and torpedoes will predominate, as they did during Old Boys' Week.

London and St. Thomas Tie For Floral Exhibit Award

London and St. Thomas have progressed horticulturally to the point where they are beyond the judges.

Professed experts in matters floral have announced that they are unable to reach a decision between the exhibits of the St. Thomas and London Horticultural societies at the Western Fair, and the only course open to them at present is to divide the glory and material results of the first prize equally.

The two massed exhibits in the Horticultural Building have attracted untold attention each day of Fair Week. Visitors are outspoken in their admiration of both, although none ventures to draw a comparison in favor of either one or the other.

The suggestion was offered this morning that the exhibitors select ten strangers at random from among the crowds at the Fair and have them make this decision, but it developed that this scheme was not feasible. The decision has to be made according to the number of points. In quality, one has won the prize, while in arrangement the other has won it. So the matter rests at a deadlock. St. Thomas and London will be forced to look to next season to break the tie.

MOTHERS APPRECIATE CHILD WELFARE TENT

One of the greatest boons to the mother who, with her small baby, is visiting the Western Fair at Queen's Park this week, is the child welfare tent, located next to the emergency hospital. At all hours of the day the tent is surrounded by mothers with children, either in their arms or in carriages.

Here the mother will find baskets and blankets for the youngster and if he is asleep she lays him down and goes off for a while. The nurses, of whom there are four in attendance, look after the children and when the mother returns.

No charge is made for this service but a box for donations is placed at the door and, according to the nurses, the milk fund has benefitted by it considerably, much more so than last year.

While it is requested that the mothers do not leave their babies longer than an hour, some of them go away and stay for the whole day, but the nurses think nothing of this and carry on as usual.

According to Miss Vera Vance, one of the nurses, upwards of 600 babies have been taken care of. This is a new record for this.

The tent, which is maintained by the Child Welfare Association, is in charge of Miss Bertha Smith, assisted by Mrs. A. Stapleton, Miss Gertrude Jeeves and Miss Vera Vance.

SUES FOR BREACH OF CONTRACT

The White Auto Wrecking Company, through its solicitor, A. R. Douglas, has issued a writ in the county court against Michael Noxall for damages, claiming the defendant failed to perform a certain contract for erecting a building on the south side of Simcoe street, between Rathburn and Bathurst streets.

CITY PROHIBITION FORCES OPPOSE SUDDEN ALARM

Will Await Developments Regarding Prospective Referendum on O. T. A.

EXPECTING A VOTE

A referendum on the O. T. A. is not only a possibility, but a probability. But at the present time it is extremely unwise for the prohibition forces to sound the alarm. This, in effect, is the attitude held locally by prominent supporters of the Ontario temperance act toward the statement in Brockville of Dr. T. Albert Moore, head of the Methodist Church department of social service, made public this morning, that Ontario will find a referendum campaign upon her hands within the coming year.

Mrs. May R. Thornley, known Dominion-wide as a temperance worker, and Rev. J. A. Agnew, pastor of the Riddell Street Methodist Church and former chairman of the London Methodist District, were interviewed at the Fair grounds this morning, where both are assisting with the work of the organizations they represent.

Mrs. Thornley made it plain that while the temperance forces were not waiting expectantly for a fight they were not going to be caught napping if the referendum comes about, as in all likelihood they believe it will.

"The O. T. A. didn't end the fight for us," Mrs. Thornley said. "I am not surprised at an announcement of this nature, although our policy has been to keep private any thoughts we might have of the possibility of another referendum. The Ontario temperance act has not yet been sufficiently tested. It will take as long again to give it the proper test. I hope the people of Ontario will bring the government to realize this before another vote is given them on the subject."

"The enormous revenue Quebec is deriving from the government control of liquor is no doubt having its effect upon the minds of the people of Ontario, and this will be an important element in the fight, if it should come. We are, however, preparing for it, but until a referendum is actually proposed I believe we ought to say as little about it as possible."

Mrs. Thornley spoke also of the proposal to form a separate police force to deal with the Ontario temperance act.

"I am not yet quite clear as to what the extent of this force would be. Something of this sort under the Scott act proved a miserable failure, with only one officer to a city, and he working apart from the regular police force. But if a force is organized large enough to deal with the situation and to work in conjunction with the regular police force, then it might be an excellent thing."

Mr. Agnew's comment on the statement attributed to Dr. Moore was brief and emphatic.

"We won't be surprised to find a fight on our hands, but it is extremely unwise for us to start giving the alarm. A scare of this sort will not help at all."

FEW SPEEDERS BROUGHT BEFORE COUNTY COURTS

County police courts are not being choked with speeders as they were in other years during Fair Week. Magistrate C. W. Hawkshaw, of Lucan, who holds court at London and St. John's, declared that a few speeders had been before him this week and paid fines.

Two years ago so many motorists were brought before county magistrates that a protest was lodged at Toronto to the effect that county courts were bringing motorists to court merely to obtain fees, that they were persecuting motorists who came to London for the exhibition.

Action was taken to stop the practice and ere long the average number of motorists arraigned as speeders each day took a noticeable drop.

Wild Ticket Scramble of Fight-Mad Fans Swarming In New York Marks Eve of Big Battle

BILLINGS MAY GO AT GALT AGAIN

Saints Hold Peppery Work-Out and Are Confident.

EXPECT GRAHAM

Special to The Advertiser.
St. Thomas, Sept. 13.—The Saints Terriers will have to exert themselves if they wish to defeat the Saints at Prestons Saturday. One of the best workouts of the season was held at Minors Park tonight, when every player on the team was given a chance to work in his own position and others they might be required to occupy in case of emergency. The Saints never looked better than they did Thursday night, and showed quantities of speed that should send them through to the championship of Ontario.

Fred Gadsby, former Canadian League and resident of this city, has taken a great interest in the team, and has spent many hours with them, coaching them in the art of boxing and hitting. The results of his efforts were quite noticeable Wednesday, when St. Thomas so decisively trimmed the Terriers.

It is possible that the same line-up will be used against Galt as was used here Wednesday. It is expected that Billings will again take the box, but if his leg does not permit him, Dan McPhee will be held in readiness. Either man should be able to deal it out with "Friendly" Graham, but the Galt team are more frightened of Billings than of McPhee.

Some of the fans here are displeased over the place of the play-off, nevertheless, hope to surprise the Terriers and beat them in their own backyard, as Prestons has been termed in reference to Galt.

HARD-OILS MAY NOT ENTER INTERMEDIATE O. R. F. U.

Special to The Advertiser.
Petrolia, Sept. 13.—It is very doubtful whether the Hard-Oils will be represented in the Intermediate O.R.F.U. group this year. Manager Keller says they are much disappointed, but two intermediates turned up for practice this week. Whether the players of the season too early to start, or whether their enthusiasm has diminished, so that they don't care to take the town's prestige, is yet to be ascertained.

However, over twenty enthusiastic juniors are turning out regularly, and if Petrolia does not have a fast intermediate outfit, it will be a pity to go far into the O.R.F.U. title chase.

If the rugby club decides to enter the O.R.F.U., it will be a pity to go far into the O.R.F.U. title chase.

MUSKEGON FILES SUIT AGAINST KALAMAZOO

Special to The Advertiser.

Muskegon, Mich., Sept. 13.—The Muskegon Michigan League Club has filed a suit against Kalamazoo, claiming damages of $100,000. The action was to reimburse Kalamazoo for damages sustained in several weeks ago when fans became angry and pulled on the roof of the visitors' dugout. It collapsed, Kalamazoo talked suit at the time but Muskegon Club contended the visiting players started the trouble by daring fans to pull on the roof. The club has already paid hospital bills and other expenses of $54.

Little Lessons In Golf

BY CHESTER G. HORTON, Nationally Known Golf Instructor.

It is a difficult thing to describe just how the golfer waits back with the clubhead when he starts his down swing. It is accomplished almost wholly by feel and touch rather than by intent. Once you sense the feel of it you will recognize instantly the golf swing properly made, and will have little difficulty with it thereafter.

If you will go about your swing in the following manner perhaps you can get the thrill of the "feel" of the proper swing. Center your mind on the thought that the ball will stay right where it is until your clubhead hits it; that is, make your mind know that you have plenty of time for the swing—all you want. Then take time. See the ball. Start your clubhead back slowly and close to the ground for a few inches, keeping clubhead even with your hands. Then let it go back, with a left arm and left shoulder push. Bend down your knees a little—just down on the ball, so to speak. When your straight left arm attains the top of the back swing you should feel a pull against your left wrist. The "feel" of it is right here. Let the clubhead come back, mostly with a left arm down pull. The right hand takes command near the ball and crashes the clubhead through. Keep the right elbow close to your side, coming down, but not noticeably tight. Keep your balance and keep your gaze centered on the line through the ball.

YANKS STILL HAVE TO WIN PENNANT

Cleveland Indians Still Have Possible Chance of Annexing Flag.

By JOHN B. FOSTER, Special to The Advertiser.

New York, Sept. 13.—Many fans are puzzled as to when the Yankees will actually become champions of the American League for the third time in succession. They see the New York team far out in front, with only a few games left to play, and they wonder why the Yankees cannot claim the championship now.

No championship is won until the team that is second in the race is in that position, that by winning all the games it has left to play it cannot tie or go ahead of the leader, if the latter should lose all its remaining games.

For instance, let it be said that the Yankees have 21 games to play in a 154-game schedule. If they lose all of them, having won 88, they will finish the season with 88 victories and 66 defeats.

Cleveland have 26 games left to play, with 71 victories already. If they win all their games they will finish with 97 victories and 57 defeats. It is evident, therefore, that the championship cannot be allotted to the Yankees until they have arrived at that point where Cleveland could not possibly catch up with their rivals.

Seek 100 Victories.

The Yankees are striving for 100 victories. Boston won 105 games in 1912, the year in which they played the famous World Series battle with the Giants. Hopefully beaten, seemingly, the series, and then lost it in the tenth inning of the final game.

If the Yankees win 100 games this season the Indians cannot possibly beat them. The nearer New York gets to the century mark, the sooner the day will come when the Yankees can tell the world the fight is over.

The Giants will have to take their fight further afoot. They, too, can win 100 games, and they may do it. It looks more probable now that they are through in Boston, where they made merry with the team that came to New York and nearly made merry over the Giants.

Confidence Counts.

It shows what a transformation seems to have come over the Giants the moment they strike the road. If New York had encountered hard going in Boston, they might have had a hard row to hoe for the next two weeks, but the winning of the first two games on the road will give them assurance that they are back in their old fighting trim, and once that team believes that it is going right, it is no team with which to trifle.

In all probability the Yankees will have a better record for the season than the Giants, due to the fact that the Giants have had both Pittsburgh and Cincinnati tugging at their coat-tails, while the Yankees have not had a runnerup with power nearly equivalent to theirs.

LUCAN HOLDS WINGHAM FOR SCORELESS TIE

Game Called in 8th. After Both Teams Play Air-Tight Ball in Mud.

Special to The Advertiser.

Wingham, Ont., Sept. 13.—Lucan and Lucan ball teams played a scoreless game here today, when they played the second game of the home-and-home series in the N. W. B. A. semi-finals to decide which team to oppose Owen Sound in the finals.

SCORES FROM 2ND ON SACRIFICE FLY

Associated Press Despatch.

Pittsburg, Sept. 13.—Pittsburg and Brooklyn divided a double-header here this afternoon, Brooklyn winning the first game 7 to 4, and the Pirates the second 6 to 2. In the first game Adams was hit hard in the first three frames and gave way to Hamilton. Brooklyn broke a 4 to 4 tie in the ninth by pounding in three runs. The feature of the second game was Carr's sacrifice fly to deep center in the third inning. This was the second time that this feat has been accomplished at Forbes Field.

First game: R.H.E. Brooklyn 7 10 100 102-7 18 0. Pittsburg 4 10 110 900-4 12 0. Vance and Taylor; Adams, Hamilton and Gooch.

Second game: R.H.E. Brooklyn 6 10 101 901-2 9 1. Pittsburg 2 11 120 100-2 9 1. Henry, Dickman and Taylor; Cooper and Schmidt.

REDS QUIT TRAVEL

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Cincinnati closed its road trip today by defeating Chicago 3 to 2, in ten innings, making a clean sweep of the two-game series and gaining one-half game in the pennant race. Great batting by Harper and Duncan, the latter making five hits in five times at bat, helped the Reds to victory. Going into the ninth inning, the Reds were leading 3 to 2. Harper drove the ball into the bleachers for a home run, which tied the score. The visitors then bunched hits off Aldridge and went ahead 4 to 2. Chicago tied it up again in the ninth, but the Reds won out in the tenth on a rally in which Harper drove home the winning run and Duncan cracked his fifth hit, a double, which sent home another marker.

The score: R.H.E. Cincinnati 3 10 100 902-3 14 1. Chicago 2 11 120 1001-2 13 1. McQuaid, Keck, Donohue and Horner; Aldridge, Osborne and O'Farrell.

Fighters Seek Seclusion As Fistianna in Suspense Awaits Impact of Giants

Gathering in Gotham Greatest in History of the Ring Is Drawn From Four Corners of Earth, Expecting Dempsey To Win, But Unexpected As Well.

By BOB EDGREN, Special to The Advertiser.

New York, Sept. 13.—Tremendous interest in the big battle at the Polo Grounds, has marked the last few hours before the all-day yesterday, and even before daylight this morning, long lines of people filled the approaches to the box office in Madison Square Garden. There was a scramble to grab the few thousand middle-priced tickets left around hotel lobbies and in ticket agencies, all through the theatrical district, the speculators were offering similar tickets at tremendous prices.

In some way the scalpers got control of blocks of tickets in the best ringside positions. Some of these were sold as high as $200 for each individual seat. Seats forty-five rows back from the press box, around the ringside, were sold for $50 and found plenty of purchasers. Even the cheapest seats were sold at three times their face value by speculators, at the same time that they were still selling for the original price, plainly printed across the face of the cards, in the official box offices.

The New York Athletic Club and other famous clubs all over the city, regular ticket agencies handled tickets that were sold to club members at a great advance over regular prices. In hotel lobbies anyone who pulled a ticket from his pocket, instantly became the center of a mad rush by fight fans crazy to buy seats near enough to the ring to see where the punches land. There never has been anything like it before.

The real gate receipts of this fight won't be handled by Tex Rickard, and Uncle Sam never will see his full percentage of the money actually paid for seats by the fight-mad populace. The real gate receipts—the amount of money actually paid by those who crush through the Polo Grounds gate tonight—will never be known, but if there was any way of checking it up, without a doubt the total would run over $2,000,000. The legitimate gate receipts taken by Tex Rickard's business organization in the sale of seats at the prices printed on the tickets, as required by law, will run well over a million, in spite of an unprecedented demand for "Annie Oke's."

Thousands of fight fans have come into New York from all over the world. Many came by steamer from the Argentine and other South American countries; others from England and France, and even from Australia. In the hotel lobbies I met men from every state in the country. Some of them I have seen at other fights, even far back as the Corbett-Fitzsimmons battle of the Ring. It is different from the editors from everywhere, bankers and merchants who found they had time, and rushed east. There are men from the backwoods of Maine, from Florida, from the mountains of Washington and California. It is the greatest gathering in all the history of the Ring.

The real reason for all this excitement is that Dempsey is in the ring, a fighter who has knocked out big fellows like Brennan and Willard—a class of men, and secured a reputation for himself. All the world wants to see it, whichever way the fight turns out. It is a fight that will be a Dempsey-Carpenter bout, which drew a more limited class of spectators. There are class men, however, who admired the gallant Frenchman, and another, a heavyweight champion, who was a heavyweight champion.

Here men go to see if Dempsey's swiftness and skill and fury in attack can wear down the rugged giant from the Argentine, who has suddenly and decisively, if he can, but to win no matter what resistance he has to overcome.

International Flavor.

There are of course, the international feature. Some who have been beaten by Dempsey in the past want to see him fight. Some who think it important of ring titles will remain in the United States, where it has been held by an unbroken succession of champions since John L. Sullivan's day.

There has been a lot of talk about betting, and some betting, but Dempsey-Carpenter, who has been a betting commissioner with unlimited Fifth Avenue real money, has been told that Corbett might be pleased to accompany him to the fight. Corbett, who is a man of few words and quick action, on his way to the fight, said: "I'll give you a 2 to 1 on Dempsey for any sum up to $50,000. Yet your money, if you go, will be lost."

"I'll take more of that—anywhere up to $50,000," chimed in Jack Kearns, a "bookie," said Corbett, opening his door, and the betting commissioner slipped out. Walter Hinder, who was standing near, stopped him.

ROVERS AND LEAF'S MIX TOMORROW IN FINAL

Fight For Thomas Injured Cup and Small-Sized Private Feud.

C. N. R. A. A. grounds will be the scene of another soccer final tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 when St. John's Rovers hook up with St. John's Leaf's in the finals for the Thomas Injured Cup.

Rovers beat the Leafs two weeks ago in a district semi-final and left a deep sense of injury in the breasts of the doctored Leafs. Leafs claim that it was the referee that beat them on that occasion, not the Rovers.

Rovers' morale, however, has been lifted higher by this victory, and some of their awe for the Leafs who made such a fine showing in the Connaught Cup competition has undoubtedly departed, and they'll give the locals a fine battle.

BY AHERN.

LUIS FIRPO

Down the Line In All Sports

All things in sport, and even international politics, fade away for a day until tonight settles whether a huge giant from Salt Lake City, Utah—and a likeable young party overnight sentiment has found him—is a better man than a huge hulk of a man who hails from near the Andes in South America. The affair will be settled by the modern version of bare fists. The struggle between Dempsey and the challenger for his crown, Firpo, would still hold a large part of the world's interest even though huge armies were facing each other and the death of thousands were a matter of certainty, despite the fact that the welter of war calls for courage not to be thought of in connection with the pale sort of courage required for tonight's encounter. It is one of the travesties on modern civilization, but practically the whole civilized world awaits the denouement.

Billings will likely face Galt tomorrow. Billings in St. Thomas Saturday, despite the lamentable blow-up of the Terriers in the field, treated the Terrier batters with a certain amount of contempt. He had them beaten mentally and every other way. In no exhibition game earlier in the season—never a very good criterion—he held the same sway over the heavy-hitting Galt crew. St. Thomas fans are confident that if the team stays on the ground Billings could pitch with one hand, roll the ivories out with the other, even limp, and still beat the Terriers.

Ever since Kid Roy, featherweight champion boxer of Canada, put the skids under Curly Wilshur and Eddie Pinchot at Montreal a few months ago local fans have been talking about the phenomenal French-Canadian scrapper. When it was learned that Wilshur got beaten in two rounds, Toronto fans were inclined to think that it was one of those "flukes" that happen pretty often in the fight game. Wilshur was known to be a slow starter, and it was figured that Roy slipped one over before the Toronto boy had a chance to get warmed up. Then Pinchot was matched with Roy, and everybody who saw how easily Eddie whipped Teddy Joyce figured the Charleroi lad would go down and make a "monkey" of the Canadian titleholder. Pinchot lasted half the time Wilshur did. Eddie was not knocked out, but it took quite a few minutes for him to recover. The next victim was Roy Moore of St. Paul, the tough veteran who stopped the triumphant career of Teddy Joyce when the latter was all the works here a couple of years ago. Then followed a bout with Joey Fox, featherweight champion of the British Isles and holder of the Lord Lonsdale belt. Roy gave him a neat lacing and won for himself the featherweight championship of the British Empire. And now Roy is angling for a battle with Johnny Dundee for the world's title. Only ten months ago this same Leo "Kid" Roy was a preliminary boy, glad to get $25 for a certain-raiser. His rise to the top has been nothing short of phenomenal. Those who have met Roy say that he is a well-behaved little fellow, quiet of speech and a credit to the game. He is ambitious, blessed with a powerful frame and a sock like the kick of a mule in both mauleys. He is neither a boxer nor a fighter, but possesses the fine points of both. He has a peculiar style, leading with an awkward-looking left swing, backed up by a smashing right that shoots out on the slightest opening. Roy is Montreal's fighting pet right at present.

MISS M. BECK AGAIN WINS JUMPING EVENTS

Visitors At Fair Applaud As Horses Are Put Through Rounds.

Sir Adam Beck, represented by Miss Marion Beck, again cleaned up the jumping events before the grandstand at the Western Fair this afternoon.

A much smaller gallery of horse lovers than yesterday watched the riders as they put their mounts over the high jumps, and in spite of the cool weather followed the performances keenly. As the horses cleared the various jumps rounds of applause from the packed grandstand greeted the riders. Miss Beck got a large hand as the judges pinned the first ribbon on her horse.

The results were as follows: Jumping, six jumps, four feet, four feet six inches, and five feet—Sir Adam Beck, first, second and third; Douglas Weld, fourth.

Jumping, six jumps, four feet six inches, five feet and five feet six inches—Sir Adam Beck; Mann Brothers; Ernest Weld; H. J. Darach, Listowel.

GOLF FINALS REACHED AT SIMCOE.

Special to The Advertiser.

Simcoe, Sept. 12.—Yesterday afternoon the stage was cleared for the final games for the golf championship at the Norfolk Golf and Country Club. Harry Fursell won from Jack McKie, 3 and 2, while Alf. Benwell defeated Dr. Wm. McGuire 6 and 4. The winners now meet for the championship honors.

CHAMP BECOMES HEAVY FAVORITE ON EVE OF BOUT

Odds of Four to One On Dempsey Find No Takers.

FIRPO LOOKS FIT

By FAIR PLAY, Special to The Advertiser.

New York, Sept. 13.—As the time of the meeting between Dempsey and Firpo draws near the champion becomes an overwhelming favorite. Odds as high as four to one were offered today, and no one was coming forward to take them.

If Firpo wins it will be a real upset in more senses than one. It will be a financial upset for one thing. For much of the betting has been done on the basis of two and a half and three to one on Dempsey to retain his title.

Firpo is now in the city and looks fit to put up the battle of his career. He is keeping in seclusion, but privileged persons who have seen him cannot discover that he is doing any worrying about the approaching battle.

Dempsey will journey from White Sulphur Springs to Albany by train and then take the night boat down to the city, reaching here on the morning of the battle. In this way he expects to get a good rest.

Jack Irritable.

He will spend Friday, until the time comes for him to go to the Polo Grounds, at the hotel in New York, where he always stops, but will receive only his closest friends that day.

As a matter of fact, only his closest friends find Jack in any way companionable when he is close upon a battle. He is touchy and jumps about like a black snake, and his mood, usually so genial and boyish, becomes irritable and unapproachable when he would be unable to conceal that fact.

Not Worrying.

Having watched him closely at his training quarters the writer does not believe Dempsey is worrying one bit about the outcome of the contest. He is the sort of fighter who shows all his feelings, and if he were worrying he would be unable to conceal that fact.

He is always willing to hand an opponent a chance to take him, and Dempsey is a usual line of talk about the outcome of the contest. The vein of conversation has been cheerful, and the suggestion has been that whatever chance Firpo may have in his heart does not reduce him as much as he outwardly appears to do.

LONDON ELKS UNABLE TO PLAY AT ST. THOMAS

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, Sept. 13.—The London Elks have sent word to Secretary Palmer of the local Athletic Rugby Club that they would be unable to play here Saturday, but would be prepared to make the journey here Sept. 29. According to the information received from the Elks, they did not organize until this week and were not prepared to enter a conflict. However, it is likely now that the two teams will meet here on the day suggested by the London aggregation.

It is doubtful whether a match will be played here Saturday.

It was hoped that the challenge would be accepted by the Elks, but the London Elks have put in several days of hard training, and have strengthened their weak points. There will be plenty of rugby in St. Thomas this season. The outcome of Saturday's O. R. F. U. meeting at Toronto will be watched here with keen interest.

When You Can Be Well, Why Be Sick!

Why Suffer Delay and Grow Worse?
Enjoy Life—Health—Happiness

To Have No Back Pains, No Nervousness, No Kidney Disease, With Plenty of Life, Energy and No Blood Disease, Is the Wish of Every Young, Old or Middle-Aged Person.

To you—if you are sick—if you suffer—if you are afflicted with any ailments of MEN—if you are worn out, tired or failing, if you need medical advice—if you are not in perfect health—if life is a dragging, miserable existence—if you lack energy, vim and vigor that make life worth living, to you—rich or poor—young or old—you need my treatment at once.

Nerves and Blood Are Life
The lack of nerve force is found among men of all ages. This is true with men in all walks of life, from the day laborer to the mechanic or professional man. Merchant and clergy are alike sufferers—no man is exempt from the ailment who has rebelled against nature's laws—so if you have the result of overwork, dissipation, sedentary habits or worry, and your vital organs are disturbed, remember, delay in seeing the right doctor makes it more difficult to overcome the symptoms, and you might reach an incurable condition beyond relief if you delay too long.

My Equipment
Is composed of the latest and best known agents in Electrical, Surgical and Mechanical Apparatus, and I am prepared by the knowledge of their uses and the experiences in prescribing them so as to get the greatest uniform results from them.

I Am Prepared to Give You
Serums, Bacterine, Vaccines and any and all forms of treatment of this character that have been tried and proved a success.

YOUNG MEN—THINK OF YOUR FUTURE

How about it, are you qualified to face it—are others doing more and getting more out of life than you are? Find out, if you don't know already, what is dragging you down. No one can violate nature's laws and succeed. I have helped thousands physically, mentally, morally. I believe I (as I have thousands of other men) can help you. Just be frank and tell us your troubles. Let me help you to regain and maintain your health.

Mysteries of the New Fashion Are Recorded

The Autumn mode, in all its richness of color and design, is to be found here. Faithful are the new fashions to their Parisian traditions, and with a charm of their own, if adapted here. Lovely fabrics. Glowing colors. Shown in no end of variations. Silhouettes, bouffant or slim. Hats that seem lovelier than any of their predecessors. Ah, but we can only give you hints of their charm! To fully appreciate their distinction, you must drop in and see them for yourself. It will be a pleasure.

Canton and Georgette Dresses

Georgette re-enters the mode in new guises, fashioning sheer and saucy little frocks, which are attractive for dinner wear, and yet sufficiently plain in line to appear on the most informal occasions. There seems to be nothing they cannot do—with fluttering panels, tassels and pleated skirts, ruffles of lace, or steaming embroideries. Sashed or girdled. They are lovely enough to wear anywhere. In colors for street wear, all of them lovely. Dress of Navy Canton Crepe, slip-over style, side panels extending from hip, front and back, beaded in steel, also edges of panel top of sleeve and girdle beaded. Price $45.00

MEN'S TOPCOATS

And if you want to be sure that your coat is as smart as any you'll ever meet, as finely tailored and as distinctive in pattern and in cut, you'll choose a coat that bears one of these names:

AQUASCUTUM RICHARD AUSTIN LEISHMAN
The slip-on is, of course, the accepted model—the loose, draping coat that is the choice of well-dressed men everywhere. It is to be seen with regularity and with Raglan shoulders, but in either case it is single-breasted and has a loose back that hangs from the shoulders. There are grays, browns, Lovats and greens, showing an interesting variety of herringbone, overcheck and mixed weaves that are unquestionably English. We offer now one of the most complete showings of fall topcoats in years, representing the three celebrated houses already mentioned, and priced moderately at $35.00, $40.00, $45.00, $50.00

Maudelberg Gabardines

Preferred by many men because of their double usefulness as shower-proof coats and light weight toppers. Obtainable in fawn, tan or olive shades; cut in the Raglan shoulder, slip-on style and lined to the waist and through the sleeves, $25.00 to $35.00

An Aquascutum Motor Coat

Made for the motorist who wants the comfort and appearance of a fall coat in combination with some of the protection of an ulster. This is a single-breasted garment, cut with the full draping back, with a half belt and cuffs on the sleeves; made from a tweed of comfortable weight in rich mixtures of heather and fawn. Price $55.00

Cravenette Shower Coats

A favorite with men who are more or less conservative in taste. These are in dark shades in slip-on style, with regular shoulder and half body and sleeve linings; made by Aquascutum. Price $45.00

New Autumn Millinery, $10.00 to $13.00

50 new model hats just unpacked from their boxes and placed in stock for your inspection. Beretta shapes, cloche and poke styles, as well as Oriental turbans and large dressy hats with elongated sides. Smartly trimmed in velveteen, pheasant feathers and ostrich fancies. Black, wood browns, gray, sand, pheasant and red. Ranging in price $10.00 to $13.00

Japanese Cotton Crepe Kimonos, $3.50

That nice heavy quality crepe embroidered in contrasting shades, on front, back and on sleeves. One style shows a white banding on cuffs and down front. The loose sleeve gives these kimonos a real Japanese effect. A splendid assortment of shades—rose, copen, sky, mauve and pink. Special $3.50

Thistledown Petticoats, $2.25

These are of black thistledown with a deep accordion pleated flounce of flowered heatherbloom. Elastic band at waistline. Regular and stout sizes. Special $2.25

Holstein-Friesian Exhibitors Get Most Money in Live Stock Classes.

CATTLE MEN LEAD

The prize money at The Western Fair this year had a total many thousands of dollars, according to the men engaged in making out the awards, the money for which will be paid to the winners this afternoon at the close of the grounds.

For days past the men have been busy checking up the awards and turning the money to be paid to the various exhibitors. The prize money has taken most of their time and this morning they were concluding their labors.

Several heavy prize winners are among the list, some of them having won as high as four and five thousand dollars. The highest carried off $709, the highest individual award. The following list shows the prize winners who won over $100 together with the prizes in which the entries were exhibited.

THIRTEENTH PROVES UNLUCKY FOR DRINKER

Officer Arrests Granton Man
Two Doors From Adjacent

The 13th proved an unlucky day for a respectable resident of the vilage of Granton. He came to London and was lucky enough early in the evening to meet a friend with a cargo of liquor, which he promptly took aboard. On his way home from the fair he had almost negotiated his

When questioned as to this statement, the constable stated he did not know anything about the prisoner's having been so close until after he had landed.

What Is Love—Thrills or Companionship?
Dorothy Dix
Diagnoses Love Symptoms
Thrills and Heart-Flutters Are Delightful, but the Ability to Chum With a Man or Woman Is the Acid Test of Love.

A man who says that he has always believed in love at first sight is greatly troubled by his inability to determine the state of his affections as regards a certain girl.
He didn't fall in love with her at first sight because they made mud pies together when they were children, and he has known her all his life. He isn't smitten with chills and fever when he sees her, and he doesn't experience any particular thrills when her hand touches his. But he is utterly nappy and contented when he is with her, and some and restless when he is away from her.
He depends on her, and relies on her strong common sense. He enjoys the things that she enjoys, and her presence gives him a zest to any occasion. He feels that life without her would be a poor, flat thing, and yet he doesn't know whether he is in love with her or not, because he isn't experiencing any of the wild, surging emotions he expected to feel when he fell in love.
If I were diagnosing the young man's case, I should say he had fallen in love with her. Love doesn't affect everybody the same way. It all depends upon the temperament of the individual. Some have violent attacks that are soon over. With others the temperature hardly ever goes above normal, but these are generally chronic cases that last as long as the heart beats at all.
The love-at-first-sight theory is a pretty and romantic one. It intrigues our fancy to believe that, as our eyes idly roam over a crowd, we shall single out the face of some man or woman, and know that out of all the world we have found our own. But in real life these sudden love hunches do not work. It may be that the man who jostles us in the street car, or the girl in the blue hat we passed on the street, is the mate nature intended for us, but no pricking of the thumbs or palpitation of the heart apprised us of it.
Occasionally, a couple of foolhardy young creatures, who pin their faith to the love-at-first-sight fallacy, do meet, like the color of each other's eyes, and rush off to the preacher without even getting enough acquainted to find out each other's first name, and how many minutes they like their eggs boiled. But these sudden weddings almost invariably end in disaster, and add one more proof to the assertion that those who marry in haste repent at leisure. For in nothing are we so easily deceived as in affinities. It is practically impossible to spot them at sight.
Of course, there are hysterical people who are always violently emotional. Such a man falls in love with a woman, and is mad about her until he gets her, and then he drops her with a dull, cold thud. Such a woman falls in love with a man, and dies of a broken heart if he doesn't return her love, but if he does she wears it and finds some other soul mate.
Practical, sane, well-balanced people rarely feel these storms of passion that sway the hearts of the neurotic. They do not consider committing suicide because of a blighted love. They do not believe that the world will have nothing left of joy in it if some man or woman fails to return their affections. They do not have hectic flushes at the sound of a footstep, or perish with longing if they are separated from the beloved one twenty-four hours.
This is nonsense. They must love according to their nature. With them love is a flower of slow growth, but it strikes its roots down into the solid earth, and is a hardy perennial that blooms year after year, instead of perishing within the hour, as does the wind flower of passion.
The man who waits to marry until he falls in love at first sight had as well wait to make any other move until he is struck by lightning, for the one is just as likely to happen to him as the other.
Just as few men are great lovers as are great tenor singers, which is a good thing for women, because great lovers seldom make good husbands. Emotional men are not only the hardest to live with, but they require fresh objects upon which to expend their sentiment.
The kind of love that endures the strain of matrimony best is a glorified friendship that is not based on thrills, like the common sense. It does not see a man as a romantic hero, nor a woman as a full-fledged angel, but as human beings, and recognizing them as such, loves them, faults and all. It does not ask the impossible, but it sees that it is getting companionship and sympathy and understanding.
This love looks before it leaps. It takes suitability into consideration, for it knows that the slogan, "All for love, and the world well lost," is the most misleading propaganda on earth. It loves with its head as well as its heart, and that sort of love stands the test of time and the wear and tear of life.
The ability to chum with a man or woman is the real acid test of love. Thrills don't count because they are canned after marriage, anyhow.

IRONING SITTING DOWN.
"I don't mind doing the ironing one bit; I love to iron, especially the baby's dainty things, and my table linen, but oh, my feet get so tired," was the plaint of a young housekeeper who was trying to do all of her own work, especially since she got the electric clotheswasher.
"Well, dear child, sit down to your ironing!" exclaimed the baby's grandmother. "You don't have to stand up at that ironing board hour after hour. The ironing of small pieces can be done just as well sitting down as standing up. In fact, only the really large things, like sheets, tresses, and so on, have to be hung, free board under them."
"Now sit down in this armless, cushioned chair, lower your ironing board to the level of your lap, put your basket of sprinkled pieces beside you, and begin. Lay this piece of oilcloth over your lap to keep the dampness from coming through, and start all the large things, such as towels, dinner napkins, and shirts, by hanging first the side farthest away from you. As you iron it, let it slip over the edge of the board and hang down the other side. This keeps the garment from becoming mussed on your lap."
"If you have a good many things to iron, you'll find it a rest to stand up at that ironing board hour after hour. The ironing of small pieces can be done just as well sitting down as standing up. In fact, only the really large things, like sheets, tresses, and so on, have to be hung, free board under them."
"Now sit down in this armless, cushioned chair, lower your ironing board to the level of your lap, put your basket of sprinkled pieces beside you, and begin. Lay this piece

WOMEN WRITERS TO ASSEMBLE IN WEST
An Elaborate Program Has Been Arranged For Women Writers of Canada.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 13.—Women writers from all sections of the Dominion will assemble in Vancouver on September 24 for the third triennial convention of the Canadian Women's Press Club. Business sessions will be held on September 24, 25 and 26, and on the 27th the members will go to Victoria, where they will be the guests of the Victoria branch of the organization.
An elaborate series of social functions are being arranged for the members, including a cabaret, luncheons, dinners, boat trips, receptions, motor drives and swimming, and riding parties. Feted from Monday morning when the Vancouver members will entertain at a luncheon, until the boat trip about the harbor Saturday, opportunities will be extended to see Vancouver and Victoria in all their September glory.
It will be the third triennial meeting since the Canadian Women's Press Club was organized in 1904 at the St. Louis World's Fair. Edmonton, Alta., was the scene of the first triennial in 1913, and Montreal of the second in 1920. The cause was a lapse of seven years between the two gatherings.
Members of the Women's Press Club are scattered over the Dominion from the Maritime Provinces to Vancouver Island.

WATFORD YOUNG PEOPLE HOLD JOLLY BANQUET

Special to The Advertiser.
Watford, Sept. 13.—The members of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of the Congregational Church of this village were the guests at a banquet at the home of Miss Maude Marwick, Huron and Wall streets, on Tuesday evening, when the losing team in the recent contest, captained by Miss M. Marwick, entertained the winning team, captained by Miss Estelle Craig, to a chicken supper.

It was a happy company which gathered around the well-laden tables and merriment ran high throughout the evening. The following toasts were honored: The toast to "Our Church" was responded to by the pastor, Rev. T. De Courcy Taylor; the toast to "Our Society" was proposed by the treasurer, Russell Duncan, and responded to by the president, Thomas McCormick; the toast to "Our Guests" was proposed by the vice-president, Miss Elsie Brown, and responded to by Miss Estelle Craig, captain of the winning team. Souvenir "C. E." buttons were presented to each member present. Following the supper Miss M. Marwick took charge of the program. Splendid reports of the summer school of the Ontario Christian Endeavor Union, which was held at Elgin House, Lake Huron, were given by the three representatives of the society to attend: Miss Jean McCormick, Miss Elsie Brown and Miss Gladys Lamb. Farewells were said to one of the members, who is leaving the village, Miss Carrie Healey, and arrangements were made for a large delegation from the society to attend the fall rally of the London and District Christian Endeavor Union, which is shortly to be held in the Southern Congregational Church, London.

Forms Checked Pattern. London, Sept. 13.—There is a novel use for the tiny platinum, so fashionable now. On an afternoon dress they are so arranged as to form a checked pattern across the front of the skirt.

Jewsharp Used For Lecture Purposes.
The jewsharp was recently used to illustrate a lecture on "rhythm in song." This recalls the fact there was nothing Hebrew about the origin of this instrument. It was known as "jaws-harp."

How To Sleep
3-IN-A-BED

YES, it CAN be done—but not like this.

The trouble is, most people go to bed with "something" on the mind—or ON THE STOMACH!

The answer is, no matter what the day has brought forth to upset your mind and digestive organs, take Becham's Pills when you retire.

Tough in no sense a "sleeping pill," this 80-years-famous household medicine so harmonizes
the system that you can sleep in quiet and perfect rest, even in two feet of bed space.

Becham's Pills are as efficient and harmless for children as for adults—sweetening the stomach, invigorating digestion and stirring liver and bowels to natural activity.

COLLEGIATE STUDENTS
ORGANIZING FOR FALL

Selection Committee Formed and Activities Commence in Few Weeks.

With the election committee already being formed the fall activities of the various student organizations of the Central Collegiate are expected to commence in two or three weeks.
R. U. R. L., chairman of the election committee, will announce the nominations next week, and society elections are scheduled for the week following.

The committee will be appointed by the advisory board of the students' union, and after the students' council has been formed, officers for the boys' Athletic Association, the Girls' Athletic Association, and the Literary Society will be chosen.

The advisory board of the students' union is composed of the following members: President, A. A. Afflick; vice-president, Miss Margaret Uren;
secretary, Miss Edna Holland; treasurer, Miss Alice Adams; and Miss Alice
R. Gray and C. K. Bluest.

FINANCE BOARD SESSION IS QUIET

Mayor Urges All Public Utility Enterprises Should Be Taxed.

RECOMMEND ACTION

Tranquillity personified was yesterday's session of the finance board of the city council with Ald. W. A.
Wilson presiding. It was, perhaps, the quietest gathering on record at the city hall this season, but as Ald.
Wilson remarked pleasantly: "Gordon Drake says that I was the best chairman they ever had in the board of works."

Mayor Wenighe thinks that all public utility enterprises should be taxed as private corporations, and a recommendation to that effect goes to Monday night's council session for further consideration.

Ald. Greer submitted that this form of taxation was nothing more or less than a question of bookkeeping. He was not opposed to having the matter finally disposed of by the council as a whole. Ald. Greer Burdick questioned if it was fair competition for other electrical dealers to let the public utilities free from a business as-essment.

No Further Action.
No action was taken to further the Oxford street paving project, Mayor Wenighe agreeing that the recent passage of the bylaw had been illegal. Ald. Wilson suggested that the issue could not be reconsidered without a two-thirds vote of the council.
Ald. Burdick seemed reconciled to the inevitable. "We can bring it up again next year," he said hopefully.

The finance committee directed City Treasurer James Bell to submit his 1924 estimates by Nov. 1 as a guide for next year's council.

City Auditor H. B. Ashplant reported that the 1922 audit was still incomplete, and the councilors wanted to know where the people were to do know where the people are who were appointed by the 1922 council to do this work.

"What's the delay?" was the question, and the mayor answered: "The thing is in such a mess that they haven't got the ends unravelled yet.
All I hear from these people is progress."

Questions Delay.
"What's the trouble?" inquired Ald.
Burdick. "It's up to us to see that this work is done. This delay is no good. We want no fooling. If there is anything wrong let them tell us."

"The chief trouble is that they do not finish," explained the mayor.
"They hop on and off the horse."
The committee directed that these temporary auditors be notified that a definite date for the report be forthcoming. It is explained that City Auditor Ashplant has nothing to do with the 1922 accounts, as independent auditors were appointed by the 1922 council.

During the discussion relative to the taxation of public utilities, Ald.
Wilson advanced the opinion that churches of all denominations should be assessed.

Questions Salary.

Ald. Wilson inquired casually during the afternoon's discussion if Edwin Smith was going to receive $1,500 for his services as secretary of the Old Boys' Association. "Nothing doing. All jobs were honorary without remuneration," responded the mayor, while Ald. Burdick ventured the remark that Mr. Smith would probably have been paid if the finances were available. It was finally called to the attention of the chairman that they were discussing a question which fell under the jurisdiction of the Old Boys' Association.

Three grants were authorized: One hundred dollars for the Humane Society; $100 for the London Poultry Association, and $200 for the Women's Institute, who stage an annual convention in the city of London.
The latter two are expected 500 delegates. Ald. Wilson and other members took occasion incidentally to voice commendation of the work being done by the Humane Inspector George Tustin.

PET LAMB IS WINNER OF EXHIBITION AWARD

"April," Voted a Nuisance, Surprises Her Owner
At Fair.

The much abused and hackneyed story of Mary and her little lamb was eclipsed for all time by an interesting story of one of the exhibitors at the Western Fair whose little lamb is April by name and nature as well.

It occurred this way. Warying of the life of a journalist, Peter Johnston of Appin, one-time editor of several well-known papers in this province, returned to the home of his fathers and took up the calling of farmer with emphasis on Shropshire sheep.
In the breeding of his favorites, Peter became very successful, and in time started exhibiting at the fairs.
On leaving for the Western Fair
last Saturday with his prize sheep, he was confronted with the problem of leaving behind him a pet lamb to which he had become very much attached. The lamb was named April from the fact that it arrived on the first of that month and in a way has been a "fool" of a lamb ever since.

When it came to preparing and trimming his sheep for the judges, he left April to the last, and had not completed working on her when the judging started. To his annoyance, April, who was not included as a member of his prize pen, insisted in jumping back among her sisters and when the judges inspected the pen he was forced to include her, as she refused to be excluded.

What was his surprise when April came out as the choice of the judges in the pen and was the one who got "into the money," leaving Peter displussed and astonished. April has taken on a new dignity since her award, but still insists on entangling herself around her owner's feet, and is, if anything, more of a pet than ever.

Place Occupied By Nuts In Well-Rounded Dietary

HOW TO USE THEM WISELY.

There is no need to urge the cultivation of a taste for nuts, for they are almost universally popular. Rather it is in order to suggest that any one interested in dietetics inform himself as to the food value of nuts, as to whether they are "indigestible" as many suppose them to be and also as to their place in a carefully planned dietary.

First, as to the food value. Using the popular English walnut as an illustration, we find that this delicious nut contains 16.7 per cent protein or body building material, 64.4 per cent fat, 14.8 per cent carbohydrate or heat and flesh forming material.
1.32 per cent the soluble mineral salts and 3.35 calories of energy to the pound. Other varieties of nuts vary upward and downward in these points but the above will give a good basis for comparison.

When we reflect that a pound of English walnut meat gives as much actual all-round food value as four pounds of lean beef or 12 pounds of oysters we have a fair idea of the theoretical value of nuts.

Now, as to the digestibility of nuts.
Authorities differ, but in most cases agree. Suppose we strike a safe mean between the extreme views and decide that we will not offer nuts to little children; that when we give them to children of the school age they shall be finely ground, and then only as a part of a carefully planned meal, and not as a dessert after a meal already adequate.

This brings us to the third point,
i.e., the place of nuts in the well-rounded diet.

As we have already pointed out, nuts are best reserved, for at least the school age. This is because of their large percentage of fats and also because of danger of imperfect mastication.

These precautions, once observed, however, we have a most valuable addition to the menu.

Rich in lime and iron, with a small percentage of the fat soluble vitamin, free from uric acid forming products.

Nutrition Nuggets

If you "wake up more tired than when you went to bed" it is a fairly good indication that you are over-tired. Nervous tension, with a continuous desire to move about and change the position is another sign of an overtaxed digestion. Depression of spirits is still a third symptom. If you have any or all of these, miss a meal, or even two. You will be surprised at the results.

For a variety in home-prepared fruit juices, try apple juice. The malic acid present is very wholesome, is good for cases of acidosis and is laxative. Wash the apples well before grinding.

The acids, sugars, vitamins and salts of ripe fruits are practically ready for digestion, therefore, in health fresh, ripe fruits may be eaten at any time when the stomach has not already been overloaded with other foods.

Whenever possible, allow at least five hours between meals. The stomach empties itself in about four hours and an extra hour is necessary for resting and self cleansing of this busy organ.

Limit the water drunk at meal time to one glass.
Remember that one pound of walnut meats is as rich in nutriment as four pounds of lean beef, five pounds of eggs or 22 pounds of lobsters. This will insure the giving to nuts their proper place in the diet.

Chestnuts, almonds, peanuts, pecans and walnuts are very rich in food iron.

A pint of milk furnishes a good proportion of the vitally important lime salts, whereas walnuts will supply all the lime that is needed by the body in one day.

CAMP COOKERY.

The days of early autumn are ideal for camping. We have been fortunate in securing permission to pass on to our readers some of the recipes prepared by a well-known expert in camp and out-of-door activities. Further information may be secured by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Winifred Stuart Gibbs, care of The London Advertiser.

ALBERTA COAL ARRIVES.

Special to The Advertiser.
Paris, Sept. 13.—Six of the eight cars of Alberta coal, ordered from Drumheller by the local committee, have arrived. The sample is good and the demand for it is keen. The orders are being filled in the order of booking.

Answers to Food Questions.

Answers to readers' questions regarding diet will be given by Winifred Stuart Gibbs, food specialist, writer and lecturer on nutrition.
Questions should be accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope, as only those of general interest will be answered in this column; others will be answered through the mail.—Address: Winifred Stuart Gibbs, 27 West 39th street, New York City.

Will you please give me a recipe for Chicken a la King. Also, have you a cook book for sale?—J. G.

Here is a recipe for Chicken a la King.

Melt two tablespoons of butter in a sauce pan; add a tablespoon of chopped onion, and cook in the butter. Then stir in six fresh mushrooms which have been chopped; add one tablespoon of chopped pimientos and a cup of cream. Boil fifteen minutes. Add the yolk of two eggs, stirring constantly. When the mixture begins to thicken add three cups of diced chicken. Serve on toast.

As to your other questions, the only cook book written by me is out of print. Should I publish a new edition I will gladly send you one.

I am interested in the latest reports on the dietetic cure for rheumatism. Can you send me a list of articles or books on this subject? For what reason do you not include oatmeal or tomatoes in the diet?—Mrs.
M. Mc.

The first question has been answered by mail. In regard to the second; in general there is no reason why oatmeal should be omitted. Cereals are almost pure-free and therefore not injurious in cases of rheumatism. As to tomatoes there is a difference of opinion among diet specialists. Perhaps the only reason to be sure is to experiment very carefully in your own case and always under the observation of someone with experience in dietotherapy.

I am a young man of eighteen and I am 40 pounds overweight. Would you kindly send me instructions to reduce my weight?—S. F.

Here is a suggested diet that was planned by a specialist with wide experience. Professor Mary Swartz Rose. You may be interested to know that the modern way of reducing by diet is to give a carefully planned mixed diet, with all the wholesome foods represented but each in smaller portion than those ordinarily served.
This is much safer than to put out all so called fattening foods.

A REDUCING DIET.

Breakfast.
1 apple, medium size
1 egg
1 cup of toast
1 cup of coffee (saccharine may be used for sweetening if desired)
1 1/2 tablespoonful of skim milk
10:30 a.m.
1/2 cup of bouillon
1 water cracker
Luncheon.
Medium serving of lean cold roast beef
2 thin slices of dry bread
Lettuce and cottage cheese salad
Lettuce, ad libitum
Cheese, 2 1/2 tablespoon French dressing, 1/2 tablespoonful.
4:30 p.m.
1 cup of tea with lemon (saccharine may be used for sweetening if desired)
1 water cracker
Dinner.
Large serving of boiled cod with lemon
1/2 medium boiled potato
Large serving of cauliflower (plain) 1 teaspoonful (scant) of butter
Watercress and egg salad
Watercress, ad libitum
1 egg
French dressing, 1/2 tablespoonful
1/2 large orange
Demi tasse of black coffee
10:30 p.m.
1/2 cup of hot skim milk.
Your recipe for mayonnaise is interesting. I have never made any and one day last week I tried it and wasted all the materials. It did not seem to get that rich yellow. Maybe because I failed to use an egg beater.
After putting in oil little by little I put it all in and it would not mix.
Do you think cooked or uncooked dressing is the best?

REDUCED $3,000.

$15,000 is the price we are asking for positively one of London's finest homes in the best location.

This home is a real achievement, a 2-story house of beauty and graceful proportions, with an interior arrangement that, in my estimation, cannot be improved upon.

There is nothing similar in London, so if it is individuality you want, you surely have it here.

Lawns are tasteful, well laid out with many flowers, trees and shrubs. The rooms are all bright and cheerful and there is considerable space between adjoining houses. A cozy breakfast nook and unusual upstairs arrangements add to the charm of this wonderful home. Below is a description:

2-story fancy brick and paneled etecoo. Third floor finished in 2 bedrooms and cedar closet; also storerooms.

Second floor contains a pretty den with fireplace and many windows, 3 large bedrooms, bathroom, walls and floor tiled, porcelain fixtures, the most expensive type with wall mirror and all other necessary fixtures.

First floor contains large living-room with fireplace and composition floor, room containing fish pond, dining-room, kitchen with composition floor, drain sink and built-in cupboards, pantry with built-in cupboards, basement in 4 parts with electric heater, motor pump, stationary tubs, grade entrance.

House is hot water heated.

A very attractive stone veranda, also rear porch.

A brick garage matches the house.

Back floors throughout, copper screens, new awnings on all windows.

Stone foundation.

Lot 61 feet by 130 feet.

Location, Richmond St. north.

VARSLY LIBRARY WILL BE ENLARGED TO 150,000 BOOKS

Will House Important Publications of Smithsonian Institute and U.S. National Museum.

ENLARGE AT ONCE

The public library act is clear and distinct, city officials stated today—the members of the public library board may ask for and receive 60 cents per book of population. They shall base their estimates upon the official population as submitted at the city hall.

It has been pointed out that the library board is spending a greater sum than set by the city council, but the library authorities state they are not expending more than the figure allowed by law.

According to the population figures available at the first of the year, the library authorities were entitled to more than $30,000 roughly. They did not ask the city council for this amount, and in fact, have never asked in past years for all they could demand.

In 1922 a special call for economy issued from the city council, and the library board asked for $200 more than in 1921. Early this year Mayor Wenige assured that they would be allowed as much as in 1921, but a new branch library was opened and the board officials stated that it would be impossible to get along without an increase. In certain years past the board has not been within $4,000 of the amount set by law.

Mayor Wenige has warned the members of the public library board that if they exceed their appropriation, as fixed by the council, a new board will be imperative in January. But the board points out today that the city council will be empowered next year to appoint but one member.

The board consists of nine members, three appointed by the council, three by the board of education, two by the separate school board, and the mayor.

The city council and board of education representatives are appointed for three-year terms, one retiring at the end of each year. The separate school delegates are appointed for two years, one retiring at the end of each year. In this manner the council has the appointment of one member out of nine next year.

BISHOP WILLIAMS LEAVES FOR CALGARY CONFERENCE

Right Rev. David Williams, Bishop of Huron, left the city this week for Calgary, where he will attend the annual meeting of the Canadian Council of the Church of England in Canada. Bishop Williams will also attend the meetings of the general board of religious education and the council for social service work at Paget Hall, Calgary.

Bishop Williams left the city on Tuesday, accompanied by Mrs. Williams. They will go from Calgary to the coast and will return to London on October 18th.

TO ENTERTAIN CHOIR AT HUGE CORN ROAST

Novel Function Planned at A. D. Jordan's Home For Saturday Evening.

Over a hundred people, including a large number of members and former members of the First Methodist Church choir, are to be guests at the huge corn-roast which is being arranged for next Saturday night on the grounds of the Grange, the Windsor avenue home of A. D. Jordan, recently retired choirmaster of First Methodist Church.

The corn-roast is being arranged by James Gillan, and is to include a great many delightful features, one of which will be an impromptu musical program.

The lighting at 8 p.m. of torch-lights which will be scattered in profusion about the Grange grounds will be the signal for festivities to commence.

FIRST DRINK BRINGS COURT FINE OF $200

Illicit Beverage Bought at Fair Proves Theodor Man's Undoing.

A trip to the Western Fair yesterday made by a resident of the thriving little village of Theodor proved to be rather an expensive jaunt. He was tempted by an individual who was grabbing off the odd dollar by selling moonshine at the Fair Grounds. This, being potent stuff, eventually led to the police cells and a $200 fine this morning for having liquor in a place other than a private dwelling.

The Theodor man was minus all the earmarks of a chronic "souse," which led the court to ask him why he did it.

"I didn't think much about it," was the reply.

"Don't you know that there is no salvation for you on a charge like this?" queried the court.

"It's the first time I ever did it," was the sad reply.

"He had a bottle of alcohol, and was brought in from the Fair Grounds," volunteered Chief Birrell.

"I don't want to fine people at a time like this," declared Magistrate Graydon.

"They come to the Fair to enjoy themselves, and then get into trouble. I can't do anything less than impose the minimum penalty of $200 and costs or three months in jail."

WARNS STEVE HE MUST NOT BEAT UP BETTER HALF

Magistrate Graydon Fines Prisoner After Giving Him a Severe Lecture.

BLAMES HIS WIFE

Steve Zarigick, who likes to take a friendly wallop or two at his wife when his "tummy" has an overload of "licker," received a few verbal swats from Magistrate Graydon in police court today. Steve was up on remand and was told if he did not mend his ways he would spend the winter working for the government in some jail that the court might pick out.

A $10 fine was tacked on top of all the free advice.

"This fighting with your neighbors and wife must stop," decreed the court.

"I never was drunk. I got lots of work," declared Steve vehemently. "I just go to drug store to get bromoselt."

"You've got to behave," went on the magistrate.

"Hey, let me talk, Mr. Graydon," exploded Steve, who was getting quite warm despite the chilly atmosphere of the court room.

"What's that?" asked Mr. Graydon, successfully hiding a smile. It was the first time he had ever been called "Mr. Graydon" in all his tenure of office.

"I know, I just want to talk to you," proceeded Steve.

"You were drunk," accused the magistrate.

"I don't know. I'm drunk all the time. I'm very nervous," wheedled Steve. "The policeman give me no time. I don't know no trouble."

"I'm going to let you off with the minimum fine of $10 and costs. If you come back again you will go to jail. You must not abuse your wife," declared Mr. Graydon.

"I don't know myself. She makes trouble all time. Me work all day. She do no work, no work, no nothing," half sobbed Stephen.

THE ASSORTED UNIONS.
Animals or humans that are joined together must be brothers or sisters. Not so trees. These need not be even of the same species. If two seeds sprout close together, the resulting plants may coalesce by a kind of natural grafting and in time become united so closely that they are one to all intents. After that, Mr. Andrews tells us, he has observed unions more or less complete between the following species: Willow oak and loblolly pine, white oak and white pine.

Death At the Steering Wheel

"Good heavens, Jim, you almost got that child!"

"Well, I didn't, did I?" snarled the man at the wheel, pale and quaking. "Close thing, though. I'll say that, honest. I never saw her till she was nearly under. And if it hadn't been for this traffic jam just ahead—"

"Exactly," responded his friend, in level tones. "You'd have been a murderer, no less; and all because you're too obstinate to get those wretched eyes of yours examined. You know that you can't see things down the street worth a cent!"

"That's my business!" muttered Jim resentfully.

"That may be true when you are not driving your car," replied his friend, "but your record of four accidents in four months makes your eyesight the affair of everybody who has to use the streets."

"All nonsense! Why, I can read without any trouble—and if I can read I can drive!"

In the twinkling of an eye.

Yet—four accidents had been meted out against him. That eternal effort to adjust short-sighted eyes to distance interfered with his ability to apply brakes and shift gears quickly. It cuts down the swiftness and sureness with which his hands and feet responded to the brain message that cried "Stop!" Although he could read he was incapacitated for safe driving.

Every second car you see is driven by a person who needs glasses; and probably every fifth car by one whose vision is so defective that he should never have been granted a license. Magistrate McAdoo, of New York City, declares that 60,000 people are injured by motor cars in this city every year. Over 1,000 a week in one city alone!

"The toll of life and limb from automobile accidents in this city," he said, "is frightful."

How to Remedy a Condition so Deadly.

Why not begin with yourself? You, unconsciously, may be a menace to public safety. You can't be sure you aren't until you have your eyes examined. Don't wait for a law compelling every driver to have his eyes examined before he is granted a driver's license. If you drive a car, you owe it to yourself, to your family, to every other driver, and to every person who drives or walks on the street, to have your eyes examined today.

Your careful examination of your eyes and scientific fitting will make your eyesight perfect, whether you pay $2.00 or more for the glasses.
