SRC presidential candidates

GERARD FINNAN
Arts 4

I am very interested in the future of the student union and I am certain that with good organization and direction, the student union can be a viable means of providing good services for the students which the union represents.

I was this year's Orientation chairman which I feel gave me the greatest insight into the operation of the student union. I was arts representative on the SRC and this gave me an idea of the problems of the student union.

I am also involved in many SRC committees including the Constitution Committee and the Ad Hoc Committee looking into Winter Carnival.

I am on the SUB board of directors and the Financial Planning Committee of the SUB. This experience has given me an appreciation of the problems the building faces and the needs of the building for the future.

Most of all my experiences with student activities have shown me where to go, how to get there and who to see.

If I am elected I will dedicate a lot of my time to clean up and improve the image of the student union. I will try to get as many people as possible working for the betterment of students. I feel the student union IS NOT A JOKE and I will make every attempt to see that the union functions for the students and that the students get their money's worth.

I also plan to strengthen and develop Campus Services Ltd. to its greatest potential. I will take very strong and decisive stands on any issue affecting students. These include cutbacks and student aid. I will also work very hard ensuring that students don't get a raw deal from governments and the university!

RICHARD RILEY

I am running for this position because I have a very suspicious feeling that the students of UNB do not have a fair shake in the affairs of the student union. If I am elected, I will see to it that students are given the right to speak on their own behalf and as well, give input into student administration.

I was previously employed by Harrison House in an administrative capacity. At that time (1972-73) we established the first bar system on the campus.

I plan to do a variety of things:

1. bring back football
2. enact certain rules in the affairs of the student union
3. employ campus security in a full-time nature.
4. employ students in a number of campus activities, such as dining halls, sports and security.

Candidates for all positions were asked the following questions:

1. Why are you running for this position?
2. What previous experience have you had that you feel will be relevant?
3. What would you plan to do in your position, if elected?

STEVEN J. KITCHING
Computer Science 4

As a computer science major, I have nothing to gain career wise from the SRC president position. Since I have no career aims in the position as president, I believe that I will be able to better serve the students of UNB.

I am so tired of all the money disappearing from the student body, who are having problems coping with tuition increases. You may have noticed that I haven't spent any of the SRC money on designing and printing tacky "Vote for me" posters and buttons.

I was the first person on campus to solve Rubik's Cube. In other words I have never been involved in any SRC or Orientation Committee fiascos.

I will cut out the frivolous expenditures that have been the mainstay of previous councils. As a member of the CAUSE executive, I am totally against three quarters of a million dollars to be spent on destroying and setting up walls in the SUB. I am also against the proposed increase in SRC fees. I am going to ask for the resignations of the SUB board executive and the members of the SRC executive (for forgiving the loan of past president Perry Thorbourne).

The issue of this campaign is the students' money.

SRC vice-president

SUSAN LYNCH
Engineering

My main reason for running for the position of vice-president of the SRC is to become involved in the SRC to a greater extent. Having been engineering rep for the past year I have had the opportunity to watch council operate and become involved on various SRC committees. I wish to hold a position on the SRC which has more responsibilities and is a little more challenging.

One of my main concerns will be to try to reach out to the student body and get people interested in what council is doing and how it functions. A few attempts have been made to bridge the communication gap but I feel this is just the beginning. How? A mass campaign for the SRC to promote its purpose and let the students, particularly freshmen, know why it's there.

I would also like to see the executive of the SRC set some long term objectives, perhaps a five-year plan, to ensure some continuity from year to year.

I am fully in support of Campus Services Ltd. and I intend to keep it anyway I can so that the students of UNB will benefit from CSL. Many students have nothing to do and it is my objective to look into this problem and find some solutions for it--i.e. underage students.

I was an executive member of the orientation committee this year, in charge of public relations. I also hold the same position for the carnival committee. I feel that this experience will be very profitable to me should I be elected as most of my objectives for office involve the student body and require a knowledge of public relations.

I was this year's engineering rep which has given me the necessary experience to be an executive member of council by understanding how council operates and what its functions are. I am also involved on various committees on the SRC which has given me experience in dealing with various departments within the university.

I think that the answer to this question will probably make more sense if I first explain what exactly a vice-president has to be: first of all, the vice-president has to assist the president in all his duties. I have worked with two of the three presidential candidates, and I have found them both very enjoyable to work with. Secondly, the VP has to be a public relations officer. I find that talking and dealing with people is enjoyable and thus I will put more effort into it. Thirdly, he has to serve as chief returning officer. I think a new approach to this could make elections smoother running. Finally, the VP, as with any executive member, has to be visible, I feel I could best provide that visibility, by going out and talking with the students.

Basically, my experience rests as being a member of the council for two years (I was rep-at-large). This position has provided me with an opportunity to "get a feel" for how this government works, and how it can best be improved. I have also been in various clubs: Orientation, computer science association, physics society and CHSR to name a few.

As with any new task, getting a familiarity with the finer details of the office work would be top priority. Given this, my main priority would be to deal with students on a personal level. Making the SRC office a tighter-running ship would free me from the bureaucracy which would allow me to get out and talk to the students. As for goals for the entire year, I think anything which helps make this university more fun for everyone, including those under 19 would be a great thing to see. I hope to get more events going for that part of the student body, because I see them as being left out when their first impressions of campus life are being formed.

SRC comptroller

DAVID T. LEBLANC
Business 4

It would be a great experience and will add the practical knowledge that a university degree in business does not. I feel that during my year as business rep, I gained the knowledge that I need to do the job of comptroller. Also with the loss of the administrator's position the job is going to be far more complex and important. With CSL and general office procedure and the new accounting clerk being directly responsible to the comptroller, it will require the comptroller to spend more time in the office, I would enjoy spending this time in the office and my low course load this year and next will allow me to spend the required time in the office. I believe that the SRC executive should become more vocal on issues that first affect students of UNB and secondly those of the Maritimes. I feel that the office of the comptroller should continue to be open to any student looking for answers to any question or to question any action taken by the executive council itself.

I have been involved for many years here at UNB. I have been treasurer of the Inter Residence Social Chairman Committee. I have been on the Orientation Committee for three years and vice-chairman of Orientation 81. I have been on the Winter Carnival Committee for three years and on the executive for one year. I was the SRC business rep for one year where I became well versed in the ways the office of comptroller and the SRC run. I am currently on a number of SRC committees; By-laws and Regulations, Applications, Constitution and Ad-Hoc Committee looking into Winter Carnival. I am also currently on the Board of Directors of Campus Services Ltd. All these committees and offices have taught me how to deal and work with people.

I plan on making CSL a viable corporation. If this is successful it will not only bring in entertainment to UNB but also if it makes money some will go to the SRC, hopefully, and thus to different clubs and societies. I plan on making sure the position of assistant comptroller more efficient. If

ANDY YOUNG
Business 3

It is an important job, and since the role of the comptroller will be expanding (due to the loss of the SRC administrator) I feel that it is essential that he be well versed in SRC policy and procedure. I feel that my experience as SRC assistant comptroller and as business rep has given me the necessary background to perform the job well.

I have been the treasurer and the president of the Business Society, SRC assistant comptroller, SRC business rep, a member of the administrative board, on CSL board of directors, on the Social Club board of directors, and am currently the treasurer of the SU5 board of directors.

The plan of a comptroller of the SRC is very much a prescribed one; there are certain duties which must be performed, such as preparation of the budget, revisions to financial policy, and a number of other responsibilities which come with the job.

My plans include continuing the trend started by the present comptroller; namely, to promote an awareness by the individual societies of the financial policy. I feel this will lead to better budgeting, and a better understanding of the responsibility of the comptroller.

this is done, a lot of problems currently and in the past will not occur again.

I plan on making the SRC more vocal on issues which affect UNB students first and those issues which affect Maritime students as a whole. Hopefully the stands that the executive or the office of the comptroller take will be the opinion of the majority of students and this can only be done if we hear the voice of the students. I plan on being available for discussion. I plan on following the financial policy as stated and dealing with new situations as they arise. I also plan on promoting an atmosphere of cooperation between the council and the executive.

Grad class president

BEV HICKMAN
Phys. Ed. 4

This being my fourth and final year at UNB has made me reflect upon the friends I have made and the experiences I have become involved with, all of which have provided me with many fond memories. Therefore, I would like to be given the opportunity to have an active role in the organization of grad activities, so that all the graduating students will have some good times to remember at UNB, just as I have had.

During my years at UNB, I have taken the initiative to become involved in a variety of organizations and activities, all of which have been both administrative, i.e. organizational and people oriented. I was social chairman at Lady Dunn Hall I was also involved in Red'n Black last year and will be again this year. I served as a group leader on the Orientation Committee this year and am presently holding the position of vice-president on the Phys. Ed. Society.

If elected to the position of grad class president, I would like to provide a variety of fun-filled activities for the graduating students to take part in. This would be achieved by extending the previous two-day period set aside for grad events to four days or possibly a Grad Week. This would allow an increase in the number of activities. To do so, I would like to incorporate past activities with new ideas from other similar organizations, as well as, obtaining feedback from the graduating students.

LYNN FRASER
Arts 4

During my three previous years at UNB, I have been actively involved with various aspects of university life; I cannot see myself spending my final term at UNB without having something other than school work to occupy myself. I feel I know enough of the "ins and outs" of this university to capably handle the position of life executive president.

During junior and senior high school, I was involved with student government; in a period of four years, I held the positions of secretary-treasurer, social chairperson and president of the student council.

At UNB, I was the representative of the arts faculty for three terms. During this period, I sat on the administrative board, SAAC, Campus Safety Council and three other SRC committees. I presently hold the position of director of this year's Red'n Black Revue.

The duties of grad class president seem to be somewhat vague; as I understand it, the president is responsible for the organization of the various Graduation Week events. If I am successful in this campaign, I would concentrate on creating a theme and format for Grad Week that would unify the "Class of '82" and perpetuate a feeling of accomplishment. In other words, I would like to see this year's Grad Week end our years at UNB with the biggest Bash we've ever experienced!

RICK WALLACE
Science 4

Basically I feel apathy is on the upswing in university life. I hope that I could use my position to increase interest among my classmates in future years in the university. I feel alumni support is important in all aspects of university life from academics to athletics and for this reason I feel I want to insure through personal action that this year's grads remain active.

My previous experience may appear to be limited in the areas of university politics however I am pleased to say that I feel I have been active in the non-limelight position. I have verbally represented my opinions on such issues as the closing of house bars to the dropping of sports on campus and I have expressed these opinions to my peers, representatives of the SRC as well as faculty members.

As class president I would hope to increase my peers' interest in the university in future years.

I would hope that it would be within my power to lead the students back to UNB with their support as well as to reunite them in spirit and in person.

After all university is really one big good time and we all should get together later to remember the good times and insure that they continue to happen.

Grad class vice-president

COLLEEN FLANAGAN
Business 4

I am seeking the position of graduation class vice-president because I see graduation as the high point of all our university experiences and therefore, I hope to make it an exciting, fun and memorable graduation for everyone. I'm hoping that the events and publicity provided by the graduation committee will encourage the majority of graduates to return for the ceremony, special events and to see their friends.

Firstly, my experience on university committees includes a year's service on Lady Dunn's House Committee acting as secretary, three years experience on both Winter Carnival and Orientation Committees. Secondly I served as prom committee chairman on my high school graduation committee and thus I'm familiar with hiring bands, decorating for events and organizing activities from start to finish. Thirdly having held public relations positions for the past three summers I feel that I have the abilities necessary to deal with various groups, alumni and students effectively and helpfully and widely publicize the events so that the graduates have a good idea of the graduation committee's progress with events.

Basically the graduation committee is responsible for planning and raising funds. In addition to the regular events such as the prom and the tree planting ceremony, I would like to see a drop-in social organized for the afternoon of the day prior to graduation—I feel that this enable all of the graduates to run into their friends and chat as well as providing a great warm-up party for the extravaganza. Another idea for graduation is a variety show similar to Red'n Black.

Because the graduation committee serves a life-long membership, this group is also responsible for class reunions. In this respect, I would like to see our class' tenth reunion a huge event, supplemented in number by the invitation of graduates for two years on either side of our graduation.

Valedictorian candidates

SUSAN BRIDEAU
Nursing 4

I am running for the position of valedictorian because I wish to represent and work for the students of the 1982 graduating class. I enjoy meeting people and I feel that being valedictorian would enable me to meet even more people in the grad class. I also feel that being valedictorian would be a learning experience as it would show me just how things are run during graduation. I guess, in the final analysis, I am running for the position because I think it will be fun. It will help me meet more people and it will be a learning experience.

A number of people have asked me what the valedictorian does. In case you are not sure, the valedictorian presents a speech, representing the graduating class, at Encaenia and he or she helps the graduation class executive organize the activities surrounding graduation. For these functions I feel I have certain experience that would enable me to do a good job as valedictorian. Because I have been on a number of executive committees I have had to speak in front of groups of people.

I also have experience in working with people to help organize activities. I have been the vice-president of Tibbits Hall, the governors, I made a very active vice-president of the nursing society, a group leaders, for two years, on the Orientation Committee and a proctor in Tibbits Hall.

KATIE LYONS

In running for the position which I now hold on the board of years of the life of a UNB student. I feel that this sort of contact with others has given me a good impression of the flavour of university life during my four years here. In addition, living in residence and being involved in residence life is also of value in enriching my perspective of university life. I would like to discuss as my topic "The Value of a University Degree."

The reason I have run for this position is that it is my last opportunity to make a contribution to university life and I feel that I could deliver an address in which each grad class member would find some aspect of themselves.

BETH QUIGG

I am running for the position of valedictorian because it would mean a lot to me to address the graduation class of '82 and to reminisce over the past four

Board of governors

CAROL ANN FOLEY
Business 3

I feel that student affairs are very important to the successful operation of this university. In the past I have been active in student affairs and feel that I have the necessary experience to continue this in the future. The board of governors is the governing body of this institution and I believe that student representation is a must.

As previously mentioned I have participated in various student activities. These have included the Business Society, Residence House Committee, Orientation Committee (group leader), business manager at the Brunswickan, SRC business rep and administrative board member.

I will attempt to represent the student populace of UNB through active participation at the board of governors meetings and related committee work.

DAVID KAY
Business 5

The financial crisis of the university mean that further cuts will occur to the university budge--students services, libraries, etc.--which will affect what services are provide the students. The faculty and administration have a strong lobby; the students also need a strong voice. I feel I can provide that strong voice based on my knowledge of the university, its problems and personalities through my terms on the senate and its committees.

Senate: 1980-81, 1981-82. Senate library committee, bookstore committee, ceremonials, student services and Academic Policy committees 1979-81. SUB board of directors 1980-. SRC chairman 1980-81.

Attend the meetings of the board of governors, participate in its committees to express the student's view, continue the regular meetings with students on the various senate committees

Grad class secretary-treasurer

JAMES CAVEN
Business 5

I feel I have something to offer. I work hard at whatever I do. Studying is another story though. UNB is an experience I don't want to abandon when I grab that degree, I want to keep in touch.

I have been involved in many clubs and organizations, usually I'm the one that runs around, but I am now promotions director of the Business Society and president of the Ski Club.

Communication is very important in this position. I will try to get news on recent graduates for the alumni's newsletter. I want to make our graduation a real bash you won't be able to forget or will forget to remember, whatever you're into. As for reunions I've got my lampshade ready for multi-year functions.

DAVID LEBLANC
Business 5

I wish to be involved in giving the grad class of 1982 a graduation to remember. Some people may wonder how I can run for the grad class and comptroller, well, I am going for a second degree in September. I feel that I can contribute a lot of experience to the grad class and I am lookin forward to, if given the chance, organize a class reunion.

I have been on numerous Winter and Orientation Committees as well as the executive of both. I was once social chairman of Naill House and as such organized events for our house. I enjoyed all the committees I was on and I hop I can organize a great Grad party.

I would like to see a few more events for the grads other than the two they have now. With discussion among the grad class executive, they could come up with more. One suggestion would be a grad Bar B. Q.
